Warehouse Hit During The Night

By RICK PEZDIRTZ
Daily News Managing Editor

A rash of minor October burglaries has Pampa Police Chief Jim Conner and his 16-man force working overtime these days and nights.

The 13th break-in since Oct. 9 was reported to the police department this morning by O. G. Trimble, manager of the Cities Service Wholesale Warehouse, 516 S. Gray.

The warehouse break-in apparently took place last night or in the very early hours this morning. Trimble reported the theft of $7.00 in small change from a desk drawer to officers at 7:55 a. m. today.

The warehouse was entered through a window that was apparently left unlocked. The window frame was barred and no glass was smashed for the intruder to gain entrance to the building.

The latest burglary trails closely on the heels of five Sunday night North Hobart Street break-ins.

Chief Conner said this morning that the series of burglaries could be work of juveniles. Seven Pampa teen-agers were questioned by local police officers Monday, but turned loose when they were not connected with any of the recent crimes. The youths were described as frequent hooky-players.

Local officers have attempted to take finger prints at most of the break-in sites, but have had little luck in that employees and customer prints were numerous too.

A similar pattern has been followed in each of the crimes; only small change reported stolen, cash registers and vending machines rifled, and little or no equipment or other items disturbed. The rash of crimes may have been committed by juveniles on the prowl for pocket change or extra spending money.

However, on one occasion a sweet-toothed culprit with a taste for candy and cigarettes broke into Leland's Grocery, 400 N. Cuyler, and made off with three boxes of candy, 50 cartons of cigarettes, (See POLICE, Page 2)

Publications Deny Smear Charges Made Against FBI

In Answer To Slap By American Legion Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two publications have denied charges by the national commander of the American Legion that they are "determined to discredit the FBI" and its director, J. Edgar Hoover.

The New York Post and the "The Nation" said the charges by Preston J. Moore were unfounded.

Moore issued a statement Monday declaring there were "some individuals in this country and certain publications determined to discredit the FBI" and Hoover.

"It is difficult to attribute any purpose to these attacks," he said, "other than a desire to destroy this federal law enforcement agency and its leader as an effective deterrent to undetected, unopposed Communist subversion in this country."

The Legion commander said the entire October issue of "Rights" magazine, official publication of the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee, was devoted to a "biased one-sided attack on the FBI." He said the magazine omitted "any reference to communism's denial of human dignity or humanitarianism."

Moore also accused reporters of the New York Post of approaching former FBI agents "seeking derogatory material" on Hoover. He said these reporters have extended their efforts as far as Paris in what "must be a discouraging attempt to do a character-assassination job."

He said Post newsmen later told New York sources that the Post plans to assign reporters to Washington and other cities "to skulk around restaurants and other public places in the hope of digging up information that could be used against Hoover and the FBI."

Moore also said the magazine, "The Nation," recently printed an article "attempting to discredit the FBI." He added that some reviewers "evaluated this piece as 80 pages of distortion, half-truths and innuendoes."

James A. Wechsler, editor of the Post, said his newspaper "is preparing a factual study of J. Edgar Hoover. We are interviewing a wide variety of sources in many places in an effort to obtain a complete and balanced report."

"It seems extraordinary that the national commander of the Legion should make this crude attempt to discredit an independent study of Mr. Hoover even before the search is completed," he said.

WHEW, GLAD THAT'S OVER

ROME (UPI)—Giuseppe Magri is a married man today, but he found the wedding service such a strain that he may have to spend his whole "honeymoon" in a hospital.

The 26-year-old groom fainted twice during the ceremony in a church in suburban Centocelle, once just as he should have been saying "I do" and again just after the priest had pronounced him married.

He was hospitalized for treatment of "severe nervous exhaustion."

AMENDMENT NO. 2

City And County Heads Affected

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is another in a series on nine constitutional amendments to be voted upon in the Nov. 4 general election.)

By LLOYD LARRABEE

United Press International AUSTIN (UPI)—Four proposed changes to the state constitution on the Nov. 4 general election ballot will vitally affect city and county officials if they are adopted.

The measures are among nine approved by the legislature last year for submission to the voters. They would: —Broaden the present county employee retirement system to include elective officials of counties or precincts. The ceiling on contributions made by the officers and employees, and on matching funds provided by the county, would be boosted from 5 to 7 1/2 per cent of salary.

Time Limit Proposed —Change the constitutional provision for filling vacancies in the office of county judge or justice of the peace. Under the proposal, a county commissioners court would fill such vacancies until the next general election. At present, such vacancies are filled for the remainder of the unexpired term — up to four years.

—Provide for "automatic resignation" of a district, county or precinct official if he announces his candidacy for another office while he has more than one year of his term to serve. The mere announcement would constitute resignation.

—Allow cities to set up four-year terms for elective and appointive officials, rather than the present two-year terms.

Advocates of the county officers' retirement plan point out the measure is permissive, and would go into effect only if a majority of the voters in a county approve. They also contend that elective officials should be allowed to take part in such a program.

Arguments Outlined Arguments against the proposal include the fact that no period of service is required nor is there an age limit set for pension eligibility.

The change in procedure for filling vacancies for the office of county judge and justice of the peace would bring those offices in line with the intent of a 1954 constitutional amendment which set up four-year terms for those officials.

Chief argument in favor of the "automatic resignation" plan for district, county and precinct officials is that it would keep them on the job rather than campaigning for a different office at taxpayers' expense.

Dulles also said the magazine, "The Nation," recently printed an article "attempting to discredit the FBI." He added that some reviewers "evaluated this piece as 80 pages of distortion, half-truths and innuendoes."

James A. Wechsler, editor of the Post, said his newspaper "is preparing a factual study of J. Edgar Hoover. We are interviewing a wide variety of sources in many places in an effort to obtain a complete and balanced report."

"It seems extraordinary that the national commander of the Legion should make this crude attempt to discredit an independent study of Mr. Hoover even before the search is completed," he said.

PAMPA TAX-PAYERS TO SHELL OUT MUCH

By MARVIN OLSEN
Daily News Staff Writer

Pampa tax-payers, most of whom received their city tax notices Saturday and Monday, will pay a 1958 tax levy totaling $527,122.33 this year, according to city tax rolls completed Friday.

That figure is about a $36,050 jump over the levy for 1957 when Pampa property owners paid a city tax bill of $492,072.83.

The tax rolls, filed in the office of City Tax Assessor Aubrey L. Jones, show that the 1958 assessed valuation (for tax purposes) of Pampa real estate and personal property is $37,121,235, or about $11.2 million over the 1957 figure.

That is almost a 31 percent "increase," Jones said, but it is an increase that is deceiving and needs some explanation.

In 1957, according to figures on the tax rolls, residents paid taxes based on a rate of $1.90 per $100 of their property's "assessed valuation for tax purposes." The assessed valuation, however, represented only 75 percent of a property's full appraised value.

In other words, Jones explained, a taxpayer with a $1,000 property paid taxes on property with a $750 assessed valuation. He got a "discount" of 25 percent on his property valuation.

This year property owners will pay a reduced levy — fixed last week by the City Commission — of just $1.42 per $100, but there will not be the former 25 percent "discount" on his property's assessed valuation.

A citizen with $1,000 in property will pay a levy based on his property's full valuation, but under a rate reduced in proportion from $1.90 to $1.42.

Jones reminds that the date to make final payment of city taxes is Dec. 31. However if a partial payment is selected, Pampa residents can pay one half of their levy by Dec. 31 and the other half by May 1, 1959.

COMMISSION EXTENDS PAMPA CITY LIMITS

Pampa's City Commission this morning approved a plat of the new Monterey Addition, a 101-lot area located on the eastern limits of Pampa.

Approval came after a close examination of existing sewage lines, roads and easements, and a look at present zoning restrictions.

The Commission also passed, on its final reading, Ordinance 510, an ordinance extending the Pampa city limits to take in E. Fraser Addition No. 3. The four-block addition lies between the 1700 and 2300 blocks on Evergreen St.

Turning to other business the Commission decided to hold off for a few days its acceptance of a letter of resignation from Melvin L. Armstrong, member of the city's electrical board.

Armstrong is moving from Pampa to a new position at Perryton. City Manager John Kooz said Armstrong's resignation will be accepted as soon as a replacement can be named, probably next week.

Other items under consideration this morning included the transfer of $15,000 from the water and sewer fund to the general fund, and the proposed establishment of special parking zones for armed service recruiters.

WHERE 70 HAVE DIED SINCE '54

Probe Opens In 'Jinx' Mine

By WILLIAM R. BARRETT
United Press International

BISHOP, Va. (UPI)—A team of investigators search today for the cause of an explosion that rocked a deep tunnel of a coal mine killing 23 miners, apparently instantly.

The blast Monday touched off the tragedy only 1,500 feet from the spot where 37 miners died in a tumbling gas explosion 20 months ago. The mine was operated by the Pocahontas Fuel Co.

The safety division of the United Mine Workers headquarters in Washington said the Bishop mine "has one of the worst accident records of any coal mine in the country." A UMW spokesman said 70 miners have died in the mine since Jan. 1, 1954.

West Virginia Investigators The investigating team was headed by Crawford L. Wilson, director of the West Virginia Mines Department. Wilson, who said the explosion apparently was caused by gas as was the 1956 explosion, was in charge of the inquiry because the main shaft of the mine is in West Virginia.

He was joined by federal mine inspector William Clark, UMW safety director Charles Ferguson and Pete Ferrell, company vice president in charge of operations for Pocahontas.

Work in the soft coal mine will not be resumed until after the team holds a formal hearing Tuesday.

A crew worked during the night to re-establish ventilation in the shaft.

UF On Way Up

The Pampa-Lefors United Fund now has $21,341.07 in the till for the operation of its eight agencies, General Campaign Chairman Clyde Dickerson reported.

Monday Dickerson reported $20,865.87 in the United Fund. Since Monday morning the campaign total has risen by $475.40.

The torn bodies of the victims, brought to the surface nearly 10 hours after the 8:30 a.m. explosion Monday, were taken to funeral homes in communities around this tiny border town.

Rescue workers, wearing gas masks and oxygen tanks and inched through the gas-filled tunnel 500 feet underground to recover the bodies, 17 in one group and 5 in another.

The torn condition and position of the bodies indicated the miners were killed by the explosion, apparently instantly.

James Leeber, area safety director for the UMW, accompanied the rescue teams and said the men were identifiable only by their dog tags.

Eight of the victims had finished their night work shift a half hour before the blast and were waiting to be relieved. The others were starting the regular day shift.

Company officials said 108 other miners fled on foot and by narrow-gauge rail cars from the labyrinth of tunnels and shafts.

Relatives, mostly wives of the victims, clustered weeping near mine entrances throughout the long recovery operation which ended when the bodies, wrapped in sheets, were brought up on an elevator.

Juniors Romp On With 'One Foot'

By WALLY TRUESDELL
Daily News Staff Writer
Pampa High School juniors this year have come up with a class play that is a preacher's joyride. The play is "One Foot in Heaven," dramatized by Ann Coulter from the reminiscent novel of the same title.
The paragon comedy will go on the High School stage for the last time tonight; it opened Monday night amid much coughing and then much applause.
Tickets, sold at the door, are priced at 75 cents for adults and 30 cents for students. The curtain will rise at 8 p.m.
The play is taken from Hartell Spence's novel about his boyhood in Laketon, Ia., where his father was a Methodist minister. The prodigious and frequent narration is done by Robert Green in the role of the Rev. Fraser Spence, Hartell's brother.

Questions Set For Caril's Jury

By MARGUERITE DAVIS
United Press International
LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Defense attorney John McArthur warned he will put prospective jurors through rough questioning today in the robbery-murder trial of 16-year-old Caril Ann Fugate.
"I like to get a lot of personal information," McArthur said. "I want to know how old they are and I'll try to find out if they know the difference between willing and unwilling participation. It may be rough."
Caril is charged with the first degree robbery-murder of Robert Jensen, 17, with the aid of her garbage collector boyfriend, Charles Starkweather, 19, last Jan. 27.
Starkweather was convicted last May of the murder and sentenced to death. The conviction has been automatically appealed to the Nebraska Supreme Court.
Caril pleaded innocent, contending she was Starkweather's hostage and feared for her life throughout the week-long rampage last January when 10 persons were killed before Starkweather and Caril were captured in Wyoming.
County Atty. Elmer Scheele tentatively approved 33 of the 34 prospective jurors from which the jury of 12, plus two alternates, will be chosen. The 34th was expected to be selected today, and the defense will then take its turn at questioning.
Scheele's questioning of each prospective juror lasted less than five minutes, but McArthur said he would need more time. He doubted that the jury would be impaneled before Wednesday afternoon.
It was not clear whether either side would call Starkweather, who first cleared Caril of taking part in the string of murders which terrorized this city of 120,000 and then implicated her.
Scheele did not include the bandy-legged youth's name among the persons he expected to call as a state's witness, but he did not rule out that possibility.
"I wouldn't use Starkweather as a witness, but I might use him as an exhibit," McArthur said.

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Russia won an unprecedented second Nobel Prize today when the Swedish Academy of Sciences presented the physics award to the Soviet experts who discovered and developed the "Cherenkov effect," which may have been put to practical use in Russia's Sputniks.
The Russians who will share the $41,250 prize are Pavel A. Cherenkov, Igor E. Tamm and Ilya M. Frank.
The academy said that work done by the three Russians paved the way for the University of California's recent discovery of the anti-proton and facilitated Stanford University studies of nuclear structure by electronic diffraction.
It is also the basis for new methods of studying cosmic rays.
The chemistry prize is expected to go to British Prof. Frederick Sanger, whose analysis of the structure of insulin contributed to man's understanding of the processes of life.
Russia has never before won two Nobel prizes in a single year. The physics award is not expected to arouse any such storm as

Pampan Injured In Car Accident

Marvin C. Moody, 35, Pampa, suffered undetermined injuries today when his car went off the Borger Highway five miles west of Pampa and rolled once into a ditch.

Credit Group Elects Three New Directors

Three directors were elected to the Pampa Retail Merchants Association Board at the annual meeting Monday. Dr. H. H. Hampton was chosen to represent the newly formed Doctors Bureau and A. A. Schuneman and Floyd Inel to take new terms.
President Lucian Young reported on the progress of the Association since the called meeting in May when a board of five was elected. Manager W. L. Veale, who started work June 1, brought the report from auditor Price Dozier who recommended raising the Association's rates to increase operating efficiency and value to members.
Veale said that the aim of the Association was to give maximum service at minimum cost; he explained that the Association does not charge for information but "for the time and what it cost to put it in a central place where you can get it with one call."
"You can attract new customers to your store with good sound credit policies and attractive merchandising," he added.

The collection bureau, nor operated by the Association, can collect accounts for member merchants whether the money is here or in other states.
One of the newest aids to Association office procedures is a study course given every Friday for the office workers, Veale noted. The course is approved by the Associated Credit Bureaus of America.
The Board recently voted to elect a sixth director, who would represent the Doctor's Bureau, formed to extend credit practices to the medical profession.

SOMETHING TO SQUEEZE AT—Pretty Karin Black of Barrington, Ill., wonders if you can guess what this old-looking instrument she holds was ever used for. It's a lemon squeezer, common in households in the early 1800s, which was on display at a Chicago antique show. The wooden device was designed to close over a lemon half set on the knob.

Like The Song Says, There's Been Some Changes Made; Such Is The Case With Pampa

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is reprinted from a 1923 Pampa Chamber of Commerce pamphlet booming the growing young city of Pampa. "The Wheat City of the Plains." The pamphlet, which is reprinted in its entirety was submitted to the Daily News by M. K. Brown, a long-time resident of this city.)

Location Pampa is located on the Plains, in the north part of Gray County, Texas, on the new main line of the Santa Fe Railway.

Elevation The altitude at Pampa is 3228 feet.

Population Over 1200 within the city limits.

Soil Black, deep, and very fertile; somewhat similar to the "black waxy" lands in Central Texas, but more easily cultivated.

Crops Wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn, kafir corn, maize, fetaria, sorghum, broom corn and cotton are successfully grown in the country surrounding Pampa.

Wheat is the primary crop, as anyone visiting Pampa for the first time will readily surmise after seeing the five large elevators located here.

Vegetables and Fruit. Almost all kinds of vegetables and fruits are profitably grown here, including potatoes, tomatoes, beans, peas, popcorn, turnips, squash, water-

25 Million Acres Might Be Closed

DALLAS (UPI) — A committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America has warned that at least 25 million acres of the public domain was in danger of being closed to oil and gas development.

The association's Federal and Public Lands committee, in a report to the 28th annual convention, said the so-called "Wilderness Bill," if it became law "would lock up and prevent the exploration for a development of minerals underlying many millions of acres of the public domain."

The bill failed in the last session of Congress, but the committee said there is evidence of increasing support developing for such legislation.

meloons, cantaloupes, cherries, peaches, apples, pears and others too numerous to mention.

Climate Climatic conditions are excellent, and as an early explorer once expressed it: "Perhaps no part of the habitable globe is more favorable to human existence, as far as the atmosphere is concerned, than this. Free from marshes, stagnant waters and all other sources of poisonous malaria, this plains country is purged from impurities of every kind, and the air imparts a force and vigor to the body and mind."

Modern Conveniences Pampa has an excellent water works and sanitary sewerage system, as well as an electric light plant, which furnish an abundance of water and light for the city's requirements. Good water is obtainable on the farms from wells.

Schools and Churches Pampa is justly proud of its school facilities. A new school building, modern in every respect, was erected in 1921, at a cost of $115,000, and with the former brick building, now has two good school buildings, furnishing ample accommodations. A corps of 17 teachers is regularly employed in the district, and six huge motor trucks daily transport the pupils to and from school. The enrollment for 1923, is 462. Pampa has four church organizations holding regular services, and active work is being carried on in each.

State Highways Pampa has excellent highway connections, being traversed by the Southwest Trails, from Chicago to El Paso; the Fort Elliott Highway, giving the shortest route from Amarillo to Oklahoma City, and the Adobe Walls Highway, from Clarendon to Guymon, Okla.

Gas and Oil A gas well, with a capacity of 40 million cubic feet per day, is located eight miles west of Pampa, and plans are now under way for piping this cheap fuel to Pampa in the near future.

Several test wells for oil are being drilled in this section, and Pampa is in direct line between the field in north Carson County and the new field at Sayre, Okla.

Tourist Camp Located adjacent to the business section is a tourist camp ground, with modern conveniences, which is extensively used by tourists during the season.

General Information Pampa is one of the few towns in the Panhandle where the local American Legion Post owns its own hall. The town has several hotels with ample accommodations, and every line of business necessary for the needs of a live and progressive town, is represented. The citizenship is 100 per cent white, and is not excelled by any other county in the State. An active Chamber of Commerce (affiliated with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce) will cheerfully give any further information about the town or community upon request.

Nasser, Not Reds Rule The Mideast

By WILBUR G. LANDREY
United Press International

CAIRO (UPI)—Things are likely to keep going the way of Gamal Nasser in the Middle East during the coming months and years.

The UAR president is the symbol of Arab nationalism—he may even be its prisoner. In practice, his non-alignment has meant hostility toward the West while accepting the helping hand of Russia. But Nasser is his own and not the Communist's man.

Any one of several countries could come under Nasser's sway in the coming year, whether he encourages them or not. Nothing succeeds like success. When Western diplomats talk of the Arab nationalism which Nasser represents, they agree: "You can't stop it." The hold-outs against his policy since the revolution chased Western influence from Iraq are isolated and shaky.

Jordan Most Explosive Jordan is potentially the most explosive. In spite of British troops (now on their way home) or a United Nations "presence," one bullet could end King Hussein and his regime. Hussein is the poorest insurance risk in the Arab world.

The Middle East has fooled its prophets before, but diplomats believe Hussein may go sooner than later, one way or another. Nasser probably would prefer to see the West go on footing the bill for impoverished Jordan for the present, taking the political blame and worrying about the long border with Israel. But if a revolutionary government in Jordan asks to join his UAR, he can't say "no."

His radio and press continue their attacks against Hussein.

Victory For Nasser In Lebanon, the appointment of rebel leader Rashid Karami as premier represents a victory for the rebels and at least a moral victory for Nasser.

Lebanon will have enough to do licking its political wounds in the coming months and trying to prevent outbreaks of new trouble. The monarchy of Saudi Arabia may not be immune to revolution indefinitely. Crown Prince and Premier Feisal, the real power in the country, came here last month and patched things up between the Saudis and Nasser, who earlier this year charged King Saud with trying to assassinate him.

But observers believe revolution in Saudi Arabia is one of those things which could come tomorrow—or in five years.

Colombians Open Series Of Conferences

HOUSTON (UPI)—Seven Colombian financial and industrial leaders have begun a week-long series of conferences with U. S. government officials and businessmen on the possibility of private American investments in Colombia.

Heading the Colombian delegation was Salvador Camacho Roldan, president of the Bank of Cuba. Thomas Mann, a U. S. State Department economic expert; Samuel Waugh, president of the Export-Import Bank, and Robert Gardner of the World Bank were to take part in the discussions.

The Colombian group also was expected to formally consummate two years of negotiations between Tico Inter-American Corp. of Houston and Coordinadora de Inversiones Nacionales y Extranjeras of Bogota, a corporation formed to help industrialize Colombia.

Under the agreement, the Coordinadora will channel through the Houston corporation all projects developed by the Colombian group that require American technology or equipment.

The Coordinadora is Colombia's largest non-governmental agency working on the industrial development of the country.

Accompanying Camacho Roldan are Misael Pastrana Borrero, general manager of Coordinadora; and Alvaro Saenz Camacho, Bernardo Saiz de Castro, Eduardo Zuleta Angel, Dr. Carlos Echeverry and Emilio Toro, all directors of the Coordinadora and leading businessmen in Colombia.

The delegation was welcomed today to the city of Houston by Mayor Louis C. Cutler at City Hall. Following ceremonies at City Hall, the group planned to visit Rice Institute and have luncheon with officials of the Federal Reserve Bank. They will be honored tonight at a reception by the International Trade Community at the Houston Club.

UNIVERSE ONLY 7-13 BILLION YEARS IN AGE!

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—The age of the Universe has been estimated at between 7 to 13 billions years by astronomers who completed a study with the 200-inch telescope at Mt. Palomar Observatory.

The Caltech-sponsored scientists announced their 10-year study included photographing of stars 10 billion light years away, meaning that the light which made the photograph left a distant star that many years ago.

Pampa's Ed Dudley was one of the heroes in A&M's 33-27 "storybook" win over Baylor Saturday night. The former Harvester engineered the two touchdown drives which put the Aggies within striking distance, then Charlie Milstead came in to finish the job. After Baylor scored in the third period to take a 27-7 lead, Dudley came right back, moving the Aggies 27 yards to the Bear 10. Then Ed passed 10 yards to Travis Nevill on the last play of the fourth period, for a touchdown. Dudley got another chance to show his stuff almost immediately when Baylor fumbled the kickoff and A&M recovered at the Bear 25. The Pampa flash wasted no time, because he passed to Nevill on the 1-yard line, on the first play from scrimmage, and Luther Hall put it over from there.

Should A&M Have Kicked?

Milstead then came in and engineered two more quick touchdowns. Baylor almost came back to win it on a long pass, but that play was called back. One play which will be tossed around quite a bit by the Monday morning quarterbacks was A&M's attempt to make two points after their fourth touchdown. The Aggies trailed 27-26, at that point, with some seven minutes remaining. Milstead could have played it safe, called for a kick, and accepted a tie, at least temporarily. The Aggies would still have had enough time to come back and win it. However, Mister Milstead evidently wasn't in a play-it-safe mood — he wanted to win that ball game or the heck with it. So he passed, and Baylor intercepted it. The Aggies came back to win anyway, but if they hadn't Milstead's call would have been a bone of contention for a long time. The dramatic situation in that case was created by the controversial extra-point option rule, which gives two points for a run or pass and just one for a kick. In the old days, it would have been a routine play. The quarterback would have called for a kick, and nine chances out of ten the game would have been tied. Now it's different, though. Confronted by such a situation, the quarterback must decide if he wants to try to win the game, and take a chance of losing it — or play it safe and settle for a tie.

Bring Back The Field Goal!

No play in football is more packed with suspense and drama than one like this. It seems to us that a rule which creates such a situation is a good one, even if it does have other drawbacks. The main disadvantage, some coaches say, is that it takes the foot out of football. Unfortunately, that's true. Most teams now run or pass the ball for the extra point instead of kicking it. However, the extra-point kick was never a very exciting play anyway. The thrilling "foot" play in football is the field goal, which is seen only rarely in college ball and almost never in high school games. Instead of replacing the extra-point option rule and bringing back the routine extra-point kick, why not move the goal posts up to the goal line and bring back the field goal? The professionals have the goal posts on the goal line, so the kicker has a fair chance. As a result, the field goal is a common, crowd-pleasing play in pro games. However, the posts are ten yards back of the goal in college and high school games, so the kicker is working under a handicap of ten yards to start with. Few college graders, and almost no high school boys, can beat those odds.

Who's Gonna Win SWC?

Going back to Milstead's play for a moment, there's one good reason, besides reckless courage, why Milstead should have called that play as he did. A tie would have knocked the Aggies out of the Southwest Conference race. The Aggies aren't out of it yet, and neither is anyone else, except Arkansas, Rice and TCU are still unbeaten, and Texas, Baylor, A&M, and SMU have lost only one game. Lots of teams have gone to the Cotton Bowl after losing one game. No team looks weak enough to be a doormat for the others, either, so the crown could go to just about anyone — as is the usual case in the Southwest Conference. Rice and A&M have looked especially good, after being picked to finish anywhere from fourth to last. One sportswriter, Rick Pezdirist reminds me, even said they would finish six and seven. In the first place, we don't know who predicted such a stupid thing, and in the second place we'll deny we ever said it unless we're put under oath. Speaking of predictions, though, my four-month old son, Eddie, has done a pretty good job for me since I gave him the job of predicting ball games. While I was doing it myself, I couldn't even hit 500. However, last week when Eddie took over he got 21 out of 30 for 790, and this week he hit 22 of 30 for 786. I've decided to turn the entire job over to Eddie, permanently. He guarantees results on everything but the Southwest Conference.

Iowa Named Nation's Top Team

Army Drops to Second; LSU Moves Up to Fifth

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Once-tied Iowa, which has spoiled opponents' perfect records for the past two Saturdays, replaced Army today atop the United Press International college football ratings in an extremely close four-team race for the No. 1 spot. Ohio State and Auburn were right behind second-ranked Army, only 32 points separating the four leading teams. Iowa was the fourth team to lead the UPI ratings during the first five weeks of the present season. Ohio State led the first week, then Auburn, followed by Army for the past two weeks. Oddly, the top four teams have identical records of four victories and one tie. The 35 leading coaches who comprise the UPI rating board chose those four over Louisiana State and Mississippi, both of which have perfect records. LSU was ranked fifth and Mississippi sixth, followed in order by Oklahoma, Purdue, Wisconsin and Pittsburgh. The last three teams in the top 10 were newcomers to this week's select group. All but one of the first-place votes were scattered among the top five teams. Iowa had nine, LSU eight, Auburn seven, Army six and Ohio State four. The other first-place ballot went to 11th-ranked Colorado, which is unbeaten and untied. Another big shakeup in the ratings can be expected after next Saturday's clashes between several of the leading teams. Iowa, which knocked both Wisconsin and Northwestern out of the perfect-record ranks on the previous week.

Southwest Loop Coaches Fearful of Week's Games

United Press International
Regularly defeated Arkansas footballers heard warnings from Coach Frank Broyles Monday that they have not faced "such an offense this year" as they will meet against Texas A&M Saturday, as the Razorbacks held a night workout and looked at films of the Mississippi game. Broyles said "no player on this team has ever gone against the single wing in college." He predicted the Razorbacks' offense may suffer as a result of "the time we are going to have to spend on defense this week."

Tackle Billy Michael, stunned in the 14-12 loss to Ole Miss last week, was expected back in the next day or two. The Baylor team took to the field again Monday after hearing a warning that their coming opponent, Texas Christian University, "has great downfield blocking, great pursuit and makes fewer mistakes than most football teams." Abilene Holds Top Ranking In UPI's 4A Football Poll

DALLAS (UPI) — Temple surged into the top 10 for the first time and Port Arthur and Odessa made return appearances in the select list today as Abilene continued to hold the No. 1 spot in the United Press International coaches Board Class AAAA ratings. Most of the changes in the ratings this week occurred in the second five, although Wichita Falls did manage to earn two additional points and ease into a tie with Highland Park for second place. Austin High, beaten 6-0 by Temple, Corpus Christi Miller, 24-0, and Wichita Falls, and Orange, 12-6 loser to Port Arthur, dropped out of the top 10 to make room for the three newcomers. Austin had been rated sixth, Miller seventh and Orange 10th. San Antonio Jefferson and Dallas Jefferson held firmly to the Nos. 4 and 5 spots, but below that every position had a new occupant. Pasadena, 10-7 winner over Galena Park, jumped from ninth to sixth; Idle Longview one notch to seventh; Port Arthur from 18th to No. 8; Odessa from 14th to ninth and Temple from nowhere to 10th.

4A Leaders

1. Abilene (7) (6-1)	138
2. (Tie) Wichita Falls (5) (5-1)	135
Highland Park (4) (6-1)	135
4. San Antonio Jefferson (5-1)	95

8. Port Arthur (4-2-1)	42
9. Odessa (5-3)	30

Abilene's lead was getting slimmer and was pared to only three points this week as compared with a 10-point bulge the week before. The Eagles whipped San Angelo 38-8, while Highland Park battered Denton 74-0 and Wichita Falls beat Miller. Abilene earned seven first-place votes to five for Wichita Falls and four for the defending state champion Scots. San Antonio Jefferson breezed 30-14 win over Victoria, while Dallas Jefferson manhandled Dallas Adams 44-7.

Colorado Buffs Gunning For Oklahoma Sooners

By JERE COX
United Press International
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Oklahoma puts its string of 67 consecutive Big Eight Conference games without a defeat on the line Saturday when it meets Colorado, a team which has given the mighty Sooners more fits over the past seven years than any other. A trip to the Orange Bowl is at stake in this battle of Midlands giants in the mountain air of Boulder, Colo. Colorado hasn't beaten Oklahoma since 1912, but played them to a 21-21 tie in 1952 and forced them to come from behind the past two years. That's unusual in the Big Eight which has seen Oklahoma win the back Larry Hickman, who drew praise for his ball carrying and line backing against the Texas Aggies last week, went through practice at full speed, despite a leg bruise. Hickman was expected to be ready for the TCU game, barring new developments. The Texas Aggies, meanwhile, got their promised day off which Coach Jim Myers told the squad Friday they would get, whether or not they defeated Baylor — which they did, 33-7. A steady, all-day rain canceled plans for the varsity coaches to work with the freshmen. The Rice Owls also took a brief vacation from workouts Monday. Coach Jess Neely told his charges Saturday night after the victory over Texas not to report back to work until Wednesday. The Owls take a breather this Saturday, then meet Army's powerhouse the following Saturday, with three tough conference games in a row after that.

Pass Defense TCU worked on pass defense Monday as Coach Abe Martin moved Harry Moreland from the third to the second team left half-back spot. Moreland, who does the 100-yard dash in less than 10 seconds, is one of the fastest men on the TCU squad. In the Texas A&M game last week, he returned a punt for 45 yards and a touchdown and accounted for more than 100 yards of TCU's net yardage in the game. Day-long rains kept the Texas Longhorns indoors, and the team watched movies of the loss to Rice last week. Larry Stephens was moved up to the No. 1 right tackle slot ahead of James Shillenburg, and Dick Jones returned to the No. 1 left tackle post ahead of Tillman O'Brien in team shifts announced by Coach Darrell Royal.

Quarterback Club To Meet Tonight Every town has its Monday morning quarterbacks, but Pampa has its Tuesday night quarterbacks — the quarterback club, that is. The club, more than 118 strong now, holds its weekly meeting tonight at Lee Junior High School. Football movies will be shown and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Football Group Honors President

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Eisenhower, a fullback when he was a West Point cadet, will be honored tonight during the first annual dinner of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. The foundation, which will install nine new members in its Hall of Fame during the program in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Astor, will present the President with a gold medal. The award is inscribed: "Presented to Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United States, in recognition of a lifetime of devotion to American football." The nine former stars who will be admitted to the Hall of Fame are: Charles Barrett of Cornell, David Campbell of Harvard and Thomas Albright Dwight (Tad) Jones of Yale, all deceased; Marshall (Biggie) Goldberg of Pittsburgh, Harry Kipke of Michigan, Francis (Pug) Lund of Minnesota, Frank John (Dutch) Schwab of Lafayette, Harry Stuhldreher of Notre Dame and Harry Killinger (Cy) Young of Washington and Lee.

'Me Quit?' Says Ez

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion Eszard Charles said today he knows of no reason to quit boxing because of his sixth round knockout Monday night at the hands of nationally unranked Texas lightweight champion Donnie Fleeman of Midlothian, Tex. Charles was battered about the ring almost from the beginning of the fight, dropped twice in the fifth round and took the full count a 2:24 seconds of the sixth round. "These losses," Charles said in his dressing room, "are just a series of circumstances."

Hawk-Wood Team Wins Tag Match

Rip Hawk and Jerry Wood won Monday's tag team wrestling match at Top of Texas Sportsman Club, taking two out of three falls from Dory Funk and Tommy Phelps. In the preliminaries, Wood took a one-fall match from Phelps and Funk captured a one-fall event from Hawk. Wichita will host Villanova.

STRIKE THREE — Sylvia Wene, women's world individual match game champion, delivers a strike down the alley. Sylvia stays in good shape by bowling.

PGA HONORS SMITH DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI) — Horton Smith, two-time Masters champion, today was voted into the Professional Golfers' Association Hall of Fame by a landslide vote. Harold Sargent, president of the PGA, announced that Smith received 821 votes in a nationwide poll of his fellow PGA members. Election to the Hall of Fame is based on playing ability. A man must be 50 years old or more and out of active competition.

Now Is The Time To Make Santa's List Of Beauty Items For Yuletide Giving

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

It's about time to get out those little notebooks and pencils and decide what you plan to give Cousin Jane and Uncle Joe for Christmas. You might have a problem on what's just right for Uncle Joe, but Jane won't present the least bit of difficulty.

Gifts to please the gals are never hard to find, for it's a rare woman who isn't delighted to receive perfume, cosmetics or toiletries. They're a touch of glamor, and give a gay lift to the feminine morale.

This year, along with the familiar all-time beauty favorites, there is a wealth of new scents and cosmetics to choose from.

Waterproof mascara, so important to eye beauty, is now made by one famous beauty house in an attractive container that resembles a smart fountain pen, complete with its own applicator.

Packaged by itself in a box with a golden eye "masque" on top, or combined with an eye shadow stick and eye pencil in a handy purse-size case, this eye make-up is an ideal holiday gift. And you don't have to settle for black. It comes in royal blue, emerald green and violet as well.

Not to be outdone by the Empire look in fashion and hair styles, four colognes that have been favorites for many years now make charming apothecary bottles, reminiscent of another, more elegant era. And when the fragrance is finished, the bottles themselves make beautiful decor items.

Pressed powder, so handy since it won't spill in your purse, now comes in beautifully styled compacts—some in brushed gold or silver, others in handsome black or white plastic.

There are ever so many items to choose from on the cosmetic counters, and all make attractive gifts. What woman wouldn't be pleased to have a package of pretty scented soap—a luxury in which she might not indulge for herself?

Even lipsticks are made now in cases so beautiful that they make charming as well as useful gifts.

There's a wide choice of perfume, too, now that many women no longer feel that they must use just one scent that can be identified with them.

It's not rare anymore to find an array of different scents on the dressing table—a variety for different occasions and moods.

So go forth and shop for Christmas with a light heart. At least the gals on your list won't create any problem. Any gift carefully chosen from the wide array of toiletries is sure to be a hit.

COOK'S NOOK

Mincemeat Cookies Make A Halloween Witch's House

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Here's an amusing novelty for the youngsters! Halloween party—a witch's house made with mincemeat cookies.

For the house: two 8 x 12 pieces of cardboard for the side walls; two 8 x 8 pieces for the end walls; two 12 x 6 pieces for the roof.

Turn an inch under on both sides of the end walls and join to the side walls with staples, adhesive tape or paper clips. When the four walls are in position, turn on one side. Cover the top wall with frosting made by adding just enough water to confectioners' sugar to make a thick spreading consistency. Place the cookies, three rows of four 2-inch cookies, with one omitted for a window if desired. Let the frosting "set" thoroughly, then turn house to other side and continue spreading frosting and placing cookies. Finally, do same with the roof.

EASY MINCEMEAT COOKIES
(Yield: about 5 dozen 2-inch cookies, enough in 2 batches to cover and fill house)

One package cookie mix, one 9-ounce package condensed mincemeat, 2 tablespoons grated cheese rind, if desired.

Mix cookies according to directions. Add orange rind and condensed mincemeat broken into small pieces. Mix thoroughly. Bake as directed in recipe booklet, so that cookies are about 2 inches in diameter.

MINCE MEAT COOKIES
(Makes about 60 two-inch cookies)

Three and one-quarter cups sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 cup shortening, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 3 eggs, well beaten.

One 9-ounce package condensed mincemeat, 2 tablespoons grated orange rind (if desired).

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have read to believe that I am the neighbor who is "terrific with children but has a filthy kitchen." May I speak my piece? I have had eight, ten and twelve little neighbor children in my home at once. I love to read them stories, play games with them and I have even scrubbed them up and washed their little heads. I let my housework go until the last as late as 10:30 p.m. Certainly I feed them! How can I eat my meals with twenty big hungry eyes on me? My kitchen may be "untidy" yes, but "filthy," no! When I flop into my unmade bed at night and put my head on my unironed pillowcase I thank God for these little neighbor children who have brought so much sunshine into my life, for without them I would have none. You see, I can never have a child of my own.

"FILTHY KITCHEN"

DEAR ABBY: I've tried my family doctor, talked to a marriage counselor and even went to see a psychiatrist, so now I may as well ask you. At least your advice is free. I have been married three times and divorced three times. Each time I married a woman who was at least ten years older than myself. All they wanted was someone they could order around. None of them would talk to me when I was jonesing or listen to me when I had it rough. All I wanted was somebody who would give me some attention, but I got fooled every time. What is the matter with me? I am 44 and still looking.

THREE STRIKES

DEAR THREE: You are looking for a mother, not a wife. When a man starts to think in terms of what he can GIVE to a marriage, instead of what he can GET out of it, he will be a man, my son.

DEAR ABBY: I am a normal, developed High School girl with a good reputation. The boys at school are always talking about a girl's measurements. They think nothing of coming right out and asking a girl for her measurements. My mother says to have nothing to do with these boys as they couldn't be very decent, yet they are the most popular and nicest boys at school. How should I act and what should I do?

Picture Of Elegance Often Ruined With Careless Grooming That Spoils Effect

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The lady was tall, slim, well-groomed and mature. She wore an expensive suit, a becoming hat and carried a handsome handbag. At first glance, it added up to an attractive picture.

Then, suddenly, the picture fell apart. For there were some things badly wrong with it. Her hair, under the chic hat, was streaked and frizzy. Her shoes were shabby with run-down heels. They had not seen polish in many weeks. And her white gloves were soiled.

Little things, and probably she was unaware of them. But because of them, the money spent on suit, hat and handbag was very nearly canceled out.

The unkempt hair, worn shoes and grubby gloves made the lady appear careless, sloppy and indifferent. Her clothes indicated that she was not, but that she simply failed to check on herself.

A little care, a thoughtful glance at herself in the mirror and she could have been wearing trim, polished shoes, neat with white gloves and well-coiffed hair. She could have been a picture of elegance.

The teen-ager who has attained her full height and is disappointed to find that it's 5 feet 3 inches can do something about it in addition to complaining.

She can start, right now, learning to pull herself up to her full height. She can walk tall and think of herself as tall. But if she wants to fool other people into thinking she's tall, she will have to see to it that her body is both slim and well-proportioned. This means diet and exercise. It means that she cannot afford to have lumpy hips (which never seem quite so bad on a really tall girl). She cannot have a tire around the middle.

She cannot slop along in flat, shapeless shoes. She can wear low heels, to be sure, but they must be well-fitted and they should have a heel more than one inch in height. And she should be wary of blouses and skirts which tend to split her height in two.

What shape are your beauty tools in? Are they clean, spruce and well-tended? If they aren't, they can't do a good job for you. Wave nets, brushes, combs, bobby pins and hand brushes should all be in mint condition.

The best way to guarantee this is to own more than one of everything, including toothbrushes. This gives you a chance to give your beauty tools a rest and get them cleaned up in between jobs.

Omnibus' Capital Punishment Show Was Straight-Forward

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—At a couple of points Sunday, emcee Al Stewart Cooke warned that NBC-TV's "Omnibus" was not meant for children. It was an admonition which I'm sure brought them to the sets in droves and quite possibly their parents as well.

If so, I would say it was all to the good. Sunday, "Omnibus" mared the start of its seventh season with a program on "capital punishment." It was a peculiarly chilling show, not so much because it dealt with chilling matters—hangings, electrocutions, gas-chamberings—but because James Lee's script approached these handicrafts with such matter-of-factness.

I must admit that the show looked like a terrible loser at the start. It was nervous and jumpy and unable to quite focus in on its subject. But once it settled down, caught hold of a single thread and let narrator Joseph Chew on it, it became a very satisfying show in a horrifying way. "Our condemned criminals die by Rote in the name of a theory in which their executioners no longer believe. If they believed in it, it would be known, and above all it would be seen," said Albert Camus, the French writer, in an article last year on capital punishment.

This, too was the dilemma posed by the "Omnibus" show—that if the aim of capital punishment is to discourage crime, why all the secrecy about executions? If the hangman's job is an honorable one, why the anonymity? If the aim is truly to deter, why not make executions really brutal?

It's to the credit of "Omnibus" that over its last half-hour—the good half-hour of the show—it didn't pussyfoot around the cruelty of contemporary executions. And if nothing else, "Omnibus" deserves applause for rejecting a tired old subject and shaking up the mental attitudes of its audience just a little bit.

The Channel Swim: Princess Grace and Prince Rainier objected to a cheesecake firm (Sarah Lee) sponsoring the ABC-TV telecast of the Imperial Ball in New York on Dec. 4, so it won't be seen on TV at all—the royal couple had been scheduled to appear live on the program.

Los Angeles Dodger shortstop PeeWee Reese will make his dramatic debut on "A Question of Romance" on CBS-TV's "GE Theater" Nov. 9. Anne Bancroft of Broadway's "Two For The Seesaw" is booked in for CBS-TV's "Person To Person" Jan. 23. Jackie Gleason has blocked out two novels—one of them is about show business; the other, "Brother Miracle," centers around a monk.

Perry Como's newest kick is cashmere sports shirts—he buys them by the dozen. Ray Thomas, Danny Thomas' brother, has written a musical comedy, "Heavens To Betsy," which Danny will produce on the West Coast with hopes of bringing it to New York. David Nelson of ABC-TV's "Ozzie and Harriet" will play Clifton Webb's son in the movie, "The Remarkable Penny" packer.

LOVE SONG?—London rumors are linking romantically the name of American-born beauty, Lady Beatty, 36, with singer Frank Sinatra. The warbler, in town for a film premiere, reportedly paid several visits to the twice-married lady, whose marriage to Lord Beatty ended last June.

New Jersey Has A Political Pillow Fight On Its Hands

By JOSEPH D. HUTNYAN
United Press International

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)—New Jersey's senatorial campaign has been a political pillow-fight which could have a bearing on the future of Gov. Robert B. Meyner even though it apparently has failed to stir the enthusiasm of the voting public.

The combatants are Republican U.S. Rep. Robert W. Keane, a veteran of 30 years in Congress, and Harrison A. Williams who served in the House from 1953 to 1956.

They are vying for the seat now held by the retiring Republican Sen. H. Alexander Smith.

Both are keeping the campaign on a relatively high plane, devoid of the head-knocking that characterized some past election fights in New Jersey.

Meyner, considered a hot prospect for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, injected himself into the campaign last spring when he personally selected Williams as the nominee.

He subsequently had to defend his choice in a bitter primary contest in which Williams barely defeat Hoboken Mayor John J. Grogan who was backed by the powerful Hudson County Democratic organization.

Because of Meyner's close association with Williams, the election outcome is sure to be interpreted as a boost or a blow to his national standing as a Democratic presidential front-runner.

The 65-year-old Keane has been emphasizing his work in the field of social security legislation during his tenure in the House.

He refers to Williams as "a nice, young man," but says his mere three years in Congress makes him eminently unqualified to sit with the august body of the U.S. Senate.

Williams, a handsome 39-year-old attorney, is seeking to become the first Democratic senator elected in New Jersey since 1936.

He has dubbed his opponent "an old fashioned isolationist" and sharply challenged Keane's claim to being "Mr. Social Security."

TV's 'Families' To Outlast Fast Guns!

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Play the soft pedal, Charlie, the customers are getting gun-shy and saddle-sore.

That sums up the attitude of network moguls in search of high ratings and long-lasting programs "for the whole family."

The new trend is to homespun family programs epitomized by "The Danny Thomas Show" and "Father Knows Best." They've been around for years, and from all indications, they'll be going strong when the horse operas, situation comedies and quiz games are blasted from the pond.

"Ozzie and Harriet" is a steady pacer, and last year's entrant, "Bachelor Father," has found its niche.

No revolution, the "wholesome hit" (as TV execs are wont to call the move to family shows) gradually is being slipped into network programming. This season another pair of low-key human-interest goodies, "The Ed Wynn Show" and "The Donna Reed Show" were edged in.

Esposes Clean Living
The latter might well be titled "Donna Knows Best" inasmuch as it espouses clean living, bright children and understanding parents—the same formula that has kept Robert Young and Jane Wyatt in cakes and ale.

Nobody ever gets shot, horses are unheard of, and to date there have been no reports of quiz-type skullduggery.

Sex, narcotics and gambling also are strangers to the format.

Donna, after four weeks on the air, admits there are similarities among easy-going "me and the kids" programs.

"How can you escape, comparison with 'Father Knows Best' and 'Danny Thomas'?" she asked. "We hope to follow through the same way, too. The kids will grow up on the show, and we'll keep the situation believable."

"It took us a year to find the right format, now we're satisfied it will be successful. My TV husband is a pediatrician, which gives us a slightly different flavor, another dimension."

Not Same as Films
Isn't a video series something of a comedown for an Oscar-winning (From Here to Eternity) actress?

"Nothing in television measures up to the movies," she said. "TV is not in the same league with pictures. But it is giving me an opportunity to play comedy. I'd never have had the chance in movies."

"You're lucky in a TV series if you come up with one outstanding show in every 13."

One element of the new show pleases the fresh-faced actress. Her husband, Tony Owen, is the producer.

"I love working with Tony," she beamed. "We haven't had a single argument since we started the program. He's a good boss."

Producer-husband Owen winked broadly, saying, "I treat her the same way I would any other actress. I keep reminding Donna she can be replaced."

Penn Demos Are Real Confident

Editor's Note: Here is another in our series of dispatches on the political situation in key states.

By NORMAN L. BRAUN
United Press International

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Pennsylvania Democrats, seeking to elect a second senator and retain the governorship, evidenced confidence today in the wake of declining Republican registration in a one-traditionally GOP stronghold.

Making the political pot boil was a study in contrasts—a Democratic "old pro" and a Republican newcomer fighting for the executive mansion, and a rural, bred governor and urbane congressman battling for the Senate.

The gubernatorial race pits Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, the "Mr. Democrat of Pennsylvania," against Republican Arthur T. McGonigle, a Reading pretzel manufacturer who never has held public office.

In the close senatorial race, Gov. George M. Leader is battling Rep. Hugh Scott of Philadelphia, who is riding on one of the Republican Party's most liberal state platforms.

Democratic Party leaders base their optimism on the steady decline of the heretofore overwhelming edge in Pennsylvania Republican registration.

Only four years ago, the Republican registration lead was nearly one million. Today it has dwindled to 215,432.

Since the May primaries, Democratic registration has increased by 102,142 to bring the number of registrants to 2,583,556. The Republicans gained 53,809 in registration to a total of 2,771,988.

Despite the big bulge enjoyed by the GOP four years ago, Leader was elected by a 280,000-vote margin.

In addition to the senatorial and gubernatorial contests, Pennsylvanians will send 30 members to Congress and elect a lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs and a state Supreme Court judge.

In Lawrence, the Democrats have a proven vote getter, the only man to be elected mayor of Pittsburgh for four consecutive terms. He is Democratic national committeeman for Pennsylvania.

McGonigle, a successful businessman who has been stumping Pennsylvania's 67 counties with vigor, has promised a "businessman's approach" and a "business-like" administration if elected.

Leader, also a political unknown four years ago, is standing on the record of his administration, which stressed rapid improvements in the fields of labor, education and social welfare. He is seeking the seat being vacated by Sen. Edward Martin, a Republican.

Rep. Scott, an eight-term member of Congress, has not stumped as much as Leader because of his congressional duties. He has blasted the spending policies of Leader's administration. Leader's inexperience in national affairs and the administration's efforts to put across some type of state income tax.

Millis will produce more steel this week than they did in the comparable week a year ago. Steel magazine predicted. The weekly trade magazine said that steel making operations will continue to increase for at least the next few weeks as automakers build up inventories to take care of needs caused by double shift operations and overtime work.

Fortune magazine listed a brace of sharply rising economic indexes and said they add up to a business recovery that is "beginning to develop the steam of a real boom." The rate of gross national product "probably is reaching the 1957 prosperity peak in the current quarter and will surely be setting new highs in 1959," the publication said.

Matter of FACT

During seven generations, the Bach family of Weimar, Thuringia, produced 40 musicians of whom Johann Sebastian Bach is the most famous. His fame did not come until almost 100 years after his death, however. Until then he was remembered, if at all, merely as a church organist. Then Felix Mendelssohn and other musicians of the 19th century discovered his many compositions. Today Bach is hailed as the composer who brought religious music to its highest artistic point.

West's double of two spades was strictly a duplicate double. He was sure that his side could make two or three hearts for a plus of 110 or 130, but he hoped to get a top score by setting South two tricks.

and continued the suit when East signaled with the ten spot. East took his king and led back the three of hearts which West ruffed with the six.

This three spot lead is a good example of the well-known suit preference signal. East knew his partner was going to ruff and he played his lowest heart to ask for a return of a club (the lower side suit). East would have led the nine of hearts if he had wanted a diamond return.

West dutifully returned a club. East took his ace and led a fourth heart. South ruffed with the ten and West discarded. Now South played a diamond to dummy and led a trump. East went up with the king and led a fifth heart. South ruffed with the nine and West discarded again. Now there was no way to keep West from making two trump tricks and South was down two tricks. West's double had succeeded.

The Pampa Daily News YOUR FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is not license. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, The Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOLES

The Free Rider Argument

The Rev. Edward W. Greenfield, in "Faith and Freedom" magazine under the heading of "The Rightness of the Right to Work," pretty thoroughly demolishes the "free rider" argument of the union.

Under the heading of "Dues For More Than Collective Bargaining," the minister writes: "There is further difficulty with the argument for 'sharing the costs of collective bargaining,' for a considerable portion of union dues is not used for collective bargaining at all.

"This use of dues for political purposes is no secret, Joseph L. Raub, Jr., attorney for the UAW, testified before the Supreme Court on Dec. 7, 1956, as follows: "The only funds available to the union are those that come from dues, for the purpose of buying radio time, television time, and newspaper advertising.

"The impasse between the Arab states and Israel brings out to the full the anomalous character of the relation between this country and the State of Israel. The situation has such explosive possibilities for world peace that even a person who would a thousand times rather keep silent is impelled to speak out, and call for a clear termination of our false position.

Seems Obvious

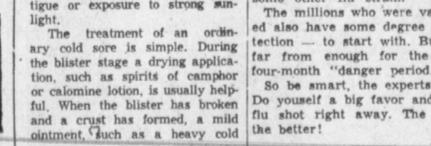

Robert Allen Reports:

Play It Smart, Get An Anti-Flu Shot

WASHINGTON — You would be very smart to get an anti-flu shot right now! Don't wait. Do it TODAY! That is the emphatic advice of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Disease, whose specialists are wary on the alert for a repetition of last year's costly epidemics of Asian flu.

The Doctor Says:

Dr. Edwin P. Jordan This is the time of year when I begin to get an increasingly large number of questions regarding cold sores. This common disorder also goes under the name of "fever blisters." The correct scientific name is herpes simplex.

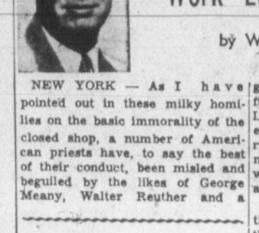

Suppose you were sitting at home minding your own business, and I bustled into your living room and grabbed the clock off the mantel. You'd yell, "Hey! What goes on? Then after we'd fought a little, I'd say, "Okay! Let's negotiate. You keep the clock and I'll take your silver candlesticks." And you, eager for peace, would let me get by with it.

Fair Enough

Priests Holding 'Work' Laws Immoral

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — As I have pointed out in these milky homilies on the basic immorality of the closed shop, a number of American priests have, to say the best of their conduct, been misled and beguiled by the likes of George Meany, Walter Reuther and a

Looking Sideways

By Whitney Bolton NEW YORK — CUFF NOTES: Whoever that fellow was who wrote about the world beating a path to your door if you invent a better mousetrap has just been proved right.

My secret Detroit informant says that nothing, but nothing, in years has caused so much buyer tumult as swivel seats in the new cars. "It looks to me in the years to come that testing swivel seats on used cars will replace tire-kicking. Swivel seats have been available in barber shops and the better saloons for years, but it took my Detroit a long time to harness the idea into a car. Also, my Detroit doesn't believe in Togetherness, obviously. The seats swivel away from each other instead of toward. The boys from Bloomfield Hill have struck a blow for spartan. The kind of swain who makes reluctant girls walk back from a ride has a new help now. All he has to do is throw open the door and give the seat a spin—she'll fly into the night like a pig down a greased chute.

There was a TV movie ad in a New York paper the other day showing a blank-faced monster plotting evil. And right next to him was a professional model showing a new coat for women. Darned if they both didn't look enough like zombies to be brother and sister. A gentleman from New Jersey observed the resemblance and sent along the clippings to prove that fashion models may know how to wear clothes but factually resemble something from the grave.

An actor friend of this reporter has a warped sense of humor. He brings a Geiger counter to parties and at an opportune moment says: "You think all this atom bomb testing isn't poisoning the atmosphere? Listen. . . . Then holding the counter in his right hand he balances it across his left wrist on which he has his illuminatingly fluorescent watch. "Not to worry, the counter chatters freely and fiercely, scaring people silly. "Want a personal skeleton for your closet? . . . I know where you can get a 16-inch plastic replica of the human frame, and all the bones come apart for individual study. . . . What is all this ghoulish information today? . . . But the same actor who does the Geiger bit has bought a little skeleton and has named them for the drama critics. They hang from his living room ceiling with miniature hangman's ropes around their bony necks.

The Nation's Press

RIGHT TO WORK IS SACRED (McComb, Miss., Enterprise) Journal

Mississippi's future is brightened by virtue of our "right to work" law. This law provides that a man does not have to join a labor union in order to hold a job. It does not deny a man the right to join a labor union if he so desires.

The right-to-work law takes the compulsion out of a laboring man's decision as to whether or not he shall be a union member. In the absence of such a law a man could be compelled to join a union in order to hold his job. Advocates of repeal of the right-to-work law insist that unions provide benefits to all of the workers involved—and by virtue of these benefits a worker should not be allowed to work without contributing to the union.

If this is true then every citizen in this city should be made to join the Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber of Commerce benefits every person who lives in this city. But compulsion is not the American way. A man can belong to the Chamber of Commerce if he wants to do so. Or he can refrain from being a member if he wants to do so. The American Red Cross is an organization essential to our country. We support it because we believe in it.

But suppose some one should advance the idea that since the nation needs an organization to meet the emergencies of disaster that everyone by law should be compelled to join? Quickly, it would be charged that such a law would be un-American. Our people have already lost too many of their personal freedoms. We must guard the freedoms which do remain. To deny a man the right to work is to subject him to compulsion — the kind of compulsion which characterizes tyranny. Regimentation is a tool of dictatorship. It is one tool not needed in American production.

ery and confectionary workers, weavers and longshoremen, perhaps two million souls altogether. He truly said these acts were autocratic purges of all those toolers and that this "policy" of the executive council smacked strongly of a labor movement under government control. I am not informed on the Vatican's opinion of government unions, although I remember that Mussolini had them, but the American political psyche rebels at the very idea which conjures an Akes Rosenberg or Haroldikka commanding with total authority.

Mr. Waldman said: "The leadership of the AFL-CIO are, for the moment, being patted on the back by government agencies, but they will either degenerate into government unions or that pat on the back today may be a kick in the pants tomorrow." I observe, in a negative way, that the loudest of the clerics in a moral issue which is not an other-handed proposition, but a matter of right or wrong, have never discussed the terrible anonymity of the faceless man as the Pope, Himself, saw the aggregated worker in the massive unions. They seem to endorse the contract labor system under-licensed padrones of the job trust.

I wonder if with all their education they know not what they do.

Mitchell Is Against All 'Work' Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell has taken a campaign-time stand against "right-to-work" laws that may anger some Republican candidates in next week's congressional elections. "I would question the wisdom of such laws," the administration's top labor spokesman said. President Eisenhower has avoided publicly taking any side of the controversial right-to-work question. Mitchell has previously gone on the record against such legislation, which would restrict "union shop" agreements between unions and employers. But this is the first time he has spoken on the matter since the election campaigning entered the home stretch.

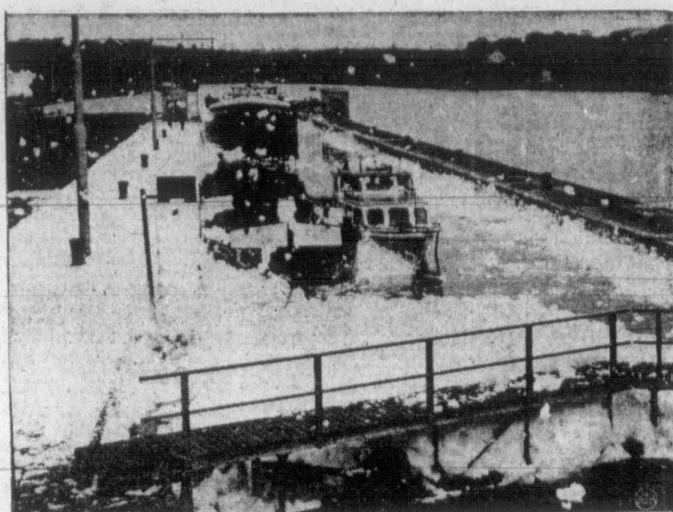

Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) is campaigning for the California governorship on a platform favoring a state right-to-work law. Mitchell's statement opposing the law is not likely to help the chances of the retiring Senate Republican leader who is generally believed to be running far behind his Democratic opponent, State Atty. Gen. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown.

Among other GOP candidates up for re-election next week is Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of New Mexico, who sponsored an unsuccessful bill in the recent session of Congress calling for a national right-to-work law.

Mitchell gave as his reason for opposing restrictions on union shop clauses the fact that 70 percent of all collective bargaining agreements now in force include such provisions. These provisions have been agreed to in free bargaining by management and labor, he said.

"I question the wisdom of states in prohibiting that," he added. Voters will cast ballots on right-to-work proposals in six states next week — California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Washington and Ohio.

Eighteen other states already have such laws, enacted under a provision of the Taft-Hartley law which provides that a state may outlaw the practice of making union membership a requirement for employment.

NOT YET ALREADY! — Winter, it appears, has come early to the town of Lauffen, West Germany, judging from this snowy scene. But relax — the "blizzard" covering the waterfront is really a heavy foam caused by pollution of the Neckar River with industrial wastes. It was churned up by water being pumped into the river locks, then blown about by winds.

TOURISTS FIRST SERVE THE CHINESE CHILDREN

By GAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor

HONG KONG (UPI) — It's the Chinese children who first get to the heart — and pocketbook — of the American tourist in this British crown colony.

The shopkeepers practically haul us off the streets and into their stores, to show and sell us their bargains in clothing, jewelry, cameras, and knickknacks for the house.

But the children, with their dirty, outstretched hands, first must be served. The appeal in their small faces can't be ignored, no matter how often the residents warn that they are tools for the avaricious adults, who organize whole blocks or neighborhoods. They turn them over to these fagons and occasionally are tossed a small coin in return.

Give to Charities "Give, but give through organized charities," one young Chinese woman, the wife of an American resident, warned me. "Otherwise, you're just encouraging the system."

I agreed. We should support the organized charities in any land. But even with the mental picture of the adults profiting on children's need, I still found myself unable to resist the small hands and the looks in their eyes.

Apparently the children have an "underground" operating just as efficiently as any government spy network, in this city of mystery and intrigue. Because news that strangers with ready change are in town spreads rapidly. My personal charity program began when I got off a ferry between the island and the mainland, where my hotel was located.

"Please, Missy," said a voice beside me, and I looked down. "Please..." I just happened to have some change not yet pocketed from my ferry ticket. Three Shoeshines From then on, anytime I left my hotel, I had an entourage of small beggars, some seeking coins only, others offering faded flowers or shoeshines in return. On one morning of shopping I had three shoeshines — not the most expert of jobs, but with each went a wide smile from beneath a bowl haircut.

They tell you, the residents, that the direct giving is wrong, but I didn't see any visitors saying "No." Maybe we were thinking, we have so much; these are children whose home is the street, whose meal is a bowl of

Mamie Is Best Dressed Woman

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower was named Monday as the best-dressed woman in public life by the Fashion Foundation of America.

The foundation, one of several organizations that issue a "best dressed" list each year, said the First Lady "selects clothes which best bring out her natural charm. They said her choice of costume "stimulates high interest in American designed fashions and serves as an inspiration to young designers."

Other names on the list, according to category, included: Ambassador of fashion — Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former ambassador to Italy. Society — Mrs. William Paley, wife of CBS board chairman William S. Paley and one of the famed Cushing sisters of Boston. Debutante — Eileen Kingsbury-Smith, a New York deb of the current season.

Stage — Cornelia Otis Skinner, now appearing in "The Pleasure of His Company" on Broadway. Television — Dorothy Kilgallen and Arlene Francis of "What's My Line."

Screen — Ingrid Bergman. Santa Fe, N. M., founded in 1610, is the oldest state capital in the United States.

The word "academy" is derived from the olive grove of Academe, the name given to the philosophic school founded by Plato, situated in the suburb of the Ceramicus on the river Cephissus about a mile northwest of Athens. It was said to have belonged to the ancient Attic hero Academus. Plato taught at the "Academe" for approximately 40 years until his death in 348 B.C.

US Income Has Bounced Right Back

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government says the national income has bounced back from the recession depths to within a few percentage points of the all-time record rate of last year.

A Commerce Department report said the nation's income picked up slightly from April through June of this year and hit an annual rate of $382,400,000,000. It said this was up $2,200,000,000 from the rate in the first quarter of the year and within 4 per cent of the all time peak of $388,700,000,000 attained in the third quarter of 1957.

Third-quarter national income figures for this year were not yet available, the report said, because not all data was in on corporate profits.

However, national income did rise "more substantially" in July-September than in April-June, the department said.

The optimistic new report followed release last week of figures showing that by October the economy had regained about three-fourths of the recession slowdown in production.

Sunday's report said business activity firmed in the spring and expanded from July through September in factories producing

YUP, TEXAS IS STILL A GROWIN'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commerce Department has reported that Texas was included among the six states which marked up population gains of more than one million between the 1950 census and July 1, 1957.

Revised state population estimates showed Texas had a population gain of 1,464,000. The other five states showing gains of more than one million were California, Florida, Michigan, New York, and Ohio.

Mozart produced more than 600 compositions during his 35 years of life.

manufacturing equipment and other investment goods.

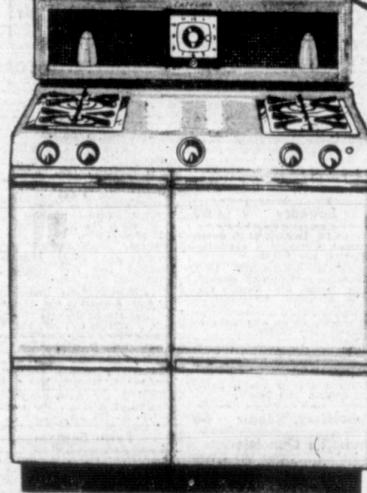

The department previously predicted that these capital goods outlays, a focal point in the recession, would turn up slightly in the final quarter of this year.
