

US Says It's In Berlin To Stay

Reds Warned By Americans Note About Activities

By WELLINGTON LONG
United Press International

BERLIN (UPI)—The United States emphasized today that the Western powers are in Berlin to stay, and warned Russia that the Kremlin will be held responsible for the activities of its German puppets.

U. S. political adviser Findley Burns set forth the U. S. stand in a note to Soviet headquarters here protesting Sunday's attempt by Red police to kidnap a television cameraman from Berlin's American sector.

The note stressed the right of the Western powers to free movement to and from this Communist surrounded city.

The American note, whose text was not immediately available, was filed as a result of the border attack by the Reds on Ernst Lechner, 37, West German cameraman for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Police Invade West Berlin

BERLIN (UPI)—Armed Communist police, violating Berlin's sector borders for the first time in the current crisis, "invaded" Western territory Sunday in an attempt to seize a CBS television cameraman.

The newsman, a 37-year-old German named Ernest Lechner, fought off three Red "stormtroopers," but they made off with his camera. West Berlin police standing a few yards away did nothing to help Lechner.

The CBS man said he was shooting pictures on the American side of the sector boundary in Potsdam Square, where the U. S., British and Soviet sectors meet, when a Red policeman darted across the border and grabbed him.

"He threatened to shoot me," Lechner said. "He said he would use his revolver if I did not give in."

"I fought like a wildman," I knocked him down, but he pulled me down with him and we rolled around on the ground.

"Then two more Eastern policemen came to his aid. They were too much for me. I broke away from them, but in the struggle they took my camera and tripod."

Lechner, whose jacket was torn off in the struggle, complained that West Berlin police didn't raise a finger to block the kidnap attempt.

"Two West Berlin policemen and a customs inspector were about 25 yards away during the fight," he said. "They made no attempt to come to my aid."

Ernest Leiser, chief CBS radio and television correspondent here, went to East Berlin police headquarters today, demanded the camera's return, and had it delivered to him immediately.

Meanwhile, a Soviet embassy spokesman in East Berlin said today he did not know when the promised Soviet announcement on the status of Berlin will be made.

The spokesman asked why West Berliners were worked up over the issue.

Told that some West Berliners feared a war might break out, the spokesman said "There has been no talk of war. Khrushchev's statement has been misunderstood completely in the West."

"There has been no thought of the use of force or that Soviet tanks will drive into West Berlin and disarm the Americans," he added.

The spokesman cited the statement of East German Premier Otto Grotewohl that all foreign troops should get out of Germany.

He said this shows that the Soviets are thinking of negotiation as a means of withdrawing all foreign troops and are not thinking of force.

The Soviet press and radio suddenly dropped the subject of Berlin over the weekend, after the expected Russian "liquidation" of four-power rights in the divided city failed to develop.

Communist organs in Red Berlin continued attacks on the Western powers, but the Red radio in Berlin has been silent since noon Saturday, when it got the word that the Kremlin's surrender of power had been postponed.

Some Western diplomats believe the Russians were daunted by clear American policy statements that interference with the routes over which Allied cargoes in Berlin are supplied would not be tolerated.

In Bonn, it was reported that the West Germans may propose a new Big Four conference on the Berlin question, but there already were indications that that is just what the Russians want.

West German government sources said the Western Big Three may hold a top-level conference in Berlin if the Soviet transfer of power to the local Communists is accompanied by overt threats to the city's security.

Such a Big Three conference, they said, might be attended by foreign ministers of the Allied nations—or perhaps by their chiefs of government.

BLOCKADE? — Isolated West Berlin fears a total Communist blockade despite an American pledge to fight if necessary to hold the city against Communists. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev says the Russians will transfer control of the city's air, land and canal lifelines to the East German government. EASTERN HIT

Strikers Still Plague Airlines

United Press International

Two unions went on strike against Eastern Air Lines today and within a few hours the line was expected to join Trans World Airlines in idleness.

American Airlines faced a threat of walkout Tuesday. Capital Airlines went back to work.

The Flight Engineers called the first strike against Eastern, and just before the strike deadline, the International Association of Machinists called a strike. A union official said the mechanics' action was separate from that of the engineers.

Stewardess on Strike Eastern was gearing for the start of the usual winter traffic to Florida. Last year, Eastern carried more than 8,700,000 passengers, more than any other U. S. airlines.

A company spokesman said the line had no choice but to "discontinue all services in the interest of public safety," and said the line would be shut down within a few hours. Planes were expected to run out regular flights to their destinations before they were grounded.

A strike against TWA entered its fourth day with no progress reported in efforts to settle the walkout.

American Airlines was faced with a scheduled strike of its 1,500 pilots Tuesday night in a dispute over wages.

Stewardesses on Lake Central Airlines, a feeder airline, went on strike early today in the first walkout of stewardesses in airline history.

A spokesman for the line's 22 stewardesses said she had expected the pilots to refuse to cross the all-girl picket lines. However, at least one flight this morning landed in Indianapolis and took off on schedule. The company said the walkout would not curtail service.

Meanwhile, Capital Airlines resumed limited flights Sunday after a 37-day strike by 2,600 mechanics and other ground personnel. The line hoped to resume full operations by Tuesday.

The mechanics, members of the International Association of Machinists, had demanded a 42-cent hourly wage increase and voted to return to work after agreeing on a 41-cent pay hike. Prior to the walkout, the mechanics' wage was $2.54 per hour.

PRINCESS GRACE HOME FOR HOLIDAY

Big School Bond Election Is Dec. 6

The Pampa School Board today ordered a $1,250,000 bond election to cover improvements in the Independent School District. The election is called for Dec. 6 in Pampa Junior High School.

Meeting with its financial advisor, Howard W. Kenyon, this morning, the Board accepted five petitions calling for an election. The petitions, according to School Superintendent Knox Kinard carried 312 names and were circulated by five different groups. A bond election cannot be called without a petition.

The interest on the 14 year bond will amount to $349,400. Kenyon told the Board. The interest rate is three and one-half per cent of the $1,250,000 bond.

The maximum tax rate is based at a maximum 51 cent collection on the 1958 assessed valuation.

Kenyon, a financial agent for Ratuscher Pierce and Company, Lubbock, did the paperwork for the bond issue. He was appointed financial advisor.

A motion, made by Aubrey Steele and seconded by D. E. Holt, ordered the election. Voting will be limited to those who own taxable property in the School District.

The Board also approved a Certificate of Certification for submission to the Texas Education Agency. This is a form signifying that the school audit, for the year ending Aug. 31, is correct.

The bond issue, if passed will provide for five innovations in the Pampa school system. A new elementary school, a six classroom addition to Baker Elementary School and a High School metal shop and vocational agriculture shop are slated for construction.

Plans are to expand High School facilities, remodel Pampa Junior High School and purchase two sites for future expansion.

Enrollment figures show that Pampa is rapidly outgrowing existing facilities in both elementary and secondary schools.

Former Film Star, Prince Arrive In US

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former movie queen Grace Kelly, who abdicated her throne in Hollywood to become the real-life princess of Monaco, came home Sunday to eat Thanksgiving turkey with the folks in Philadelphia.

The radiantly smiling princess, bundled against a chill wind in a full-length mink coat, was greeted at Idlewild International Airport by her father, John B. Kelly Sr., a millionaire contractor who's never been ashamed of the fact he once worked as a bricklayer.

At his daughter's side was her royal husband, Prince Rainier, who seemed as sorry as she that their regal offspring, Princess Caroline, 22 months, and Prince Albert, 8 months, won't be with them for their month-long stay in the United States.

Her grace said there were many reasons why the children couldn't come along.

"The main difficulty," she said, "is that the youngest one is still too small. I hope the next time we will be able to bring them."

The princess said she planned to spend an old-fashioned Thanksgiving with the folks in Philadelphia, where all the Kellys will gather in the family mansion for the holidays.

While in this country the royal couple will see some Broadway shows, buy Christmas gifts for the little princess and prince, and visit friends. They do not expect to visit any cities other than New York and Philadelphia.

Grace's arrival at Idlewild was marked by a mob scene in which an eager crowd pushed airport police around trying to get a close look. Two hours earlier, another Hollywood beauty, actress Marilyn Monroe, arrived at Idlewild and only two photographers were there to record the event.

BASKETS ARE NEEDED HERE

The Pampa Welfare Index, with high hopes of brightening Thanksgiving Day for underprivileged families, is in dire need of about 30 more baskets of food.

Churches, civic clubs, boy and girl scouts or other such organizations usually donate enough baskets for the needy, but this year a little holiday good cheer has been lacking.

"We've already got 30 baskets ready to be sent out, but we need 30 all together," William Leonard, national guard commander and chief warrant officer said.

Leonard reports he is hopeful calls will still come in before noon Tuesday, pledging help.

Ike Sets Up New Study Committee

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press International

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—President Eisenhower set up today a high-level committee to evaluate the relative merits of military assistance and foreign economic aid preparatory to submission of a new mutual security program to Congress next year.

The committee, which will begin submitting recommendations to the president sometime in March, will be headed by the boss of the postwar Berlin airlift, William H. Draper Jr. He conferred this morning with Eisenhower at the Augusta National Golf Club where the President is vacationing.

Draper flew here early today with Robert E. Merriam, deputy assistant to the President for governmental affairs and who headed organization of the study group for the White House.

Draper, Merriam and Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, president of the American National Red Cross and a member of the new committee, flew back to Washington immediately after the meeting in the President's tiny office over the golf shop at the Augusta National.

Draper declined to hazard a guess on whether his committee would come up with recommendations for lower or higher expenditures for foreign military assistance.

"This is neither an economy or anti-economy drive," he told reporters. "It is meant to be a non-partisan, cold-blooded and careful evaluation of the military assistance program."

Merriam confirmed that one of the principal chores of the study group will be, in this administration season of stringent economy, to balance the relative financial needs of military versus strictly economic aid overseas.

Others named to the committee were: Dillon S. Anderson, John J. McCloy, George C. McGhee, Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, Adm. Arthur W. Radford (ret.), James E. Webb, and Marx Leva.

The arrival of Draper and Merriam marked the start of a round of official meetings here this week dealing with administration legislative recommendations for the

Funny Man, Harry Einstein Is Dead

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)

Famed comedian "Parky" died of a heart attack early today during a star-studded Friars Club banquet.

"Parky," whose real name was Harry Einstein, slumped in his chair at the speaker's table against Milton Berle. He died several hours later despite pocket-knife surgery by doctors in a desperate effort to save his life by cardiac massage.

Einstein, 54, was carried backstage from the banquet in the Beverly Hilton ballroom.

Dr. Alfred Goldman, chief of professional services for the City of Hope Hospital, used a borrowed knife to cut into the chest cavity. Goldman and four other doctors who were in the audience took turns for nearly two hours massaging the heart.

After the victim's talk before the Friars, master of ceremonies Art Linkletter said:

"We miss you in the entertainment world, Parky. Why don't you get your own show?"

Parky replied, "Why doesn't somebody hire me?"

Then he collapsed.

His wife, former actress Thelma Leeds whom he married in 1937, was in a state of collapse as the doctors labored dramatically in a vain effort to save the comedian's life.

"Parky" was best known for his Greek-type sputterings and the Cantor radio show during the 1930s and was father of Charles Einstein, author and columnist for the San Francisco Examiner.

He appeared in such motion pictures as "Strike Me Pink," "The Life of the Party," "Night Spot," "New Faces of 1937" and "She's Got Everything."

The banquet was in honor of Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz. They were to receive an award for their own contributions to charity.

"I can say nothing," Miss Ball sobbed after tragedy struck the gay gathering.

Arnaz told the Friars early today that the award had "meant so much to me now it means nothing. Please everyone pray to your own God."

FOGGY DAY IN OLD PAMPA TOWN!

It was a foggy day in old Pampa town Monday morning with a low hanging mist cutting visibility to nearly zero.

Tuesday morning's forecast calls for the possibility of more of the same—heavy fog. Grey skies with scattered showers looms for the Top O' Texas area, although the upper Panhandle and South Plains are both due to warm up a little by tomorrow.

Pampa's high during the next 24 hours is expected to reach 56 while an overnight low of 32, freezing point, has been forecast.

A slight cold front pushed across North and West Texas Monday morning, bringing with it sub-freezing temperatures to the Panhandle and cloudiness to the entire state.

Dalhart reported a low of 27 degrees, while Amarillo had a 29 and Lubbock 39.

Services Will Be Held For Tracy Widow

SAYRE, Okla. (Sp) — Funeral services will be held here today for Mrs. D. W. "Annie" Tracy who died Saturday in Sayre Hospital, following a week's illness.

Only two weeks ago, Mrs. Tracy attended a family reunion at the home of her nephews, C. E. and F. E. Cary of Pampa.

Services will be held in the First Baptist Church with burial in Sayre-Doxey Cemetery.

She was the daughter of William W. and Susan Anderson, who were among the early settlers of Mobeetie. There she was born on Dec. 11, 1878.

She married Judge D. W. Tracy in Cheyenne, Okla., 1902. Her husband served as judge of Roger-Mills County before Oklahoma was a state. He was president of the County Bar Association in the day of its organization.

The Tracys moved from Cheyenne to Sayre in 1909 and to Pampa in 1928. Judge Tracy was for ten years associated with the Pampa law firm of Tracy and Cary, before returning to Sayre where he was County Judge until his death in 1952.

Mrs. Tracy had lived with a daughter, Mrs. Ollie Sides in Sayre. Mrs. Tracy was a Baptist Church member and a benefactress of Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee. She contributed hundreds of volumes to the University Law Library.

Survivors, in addition to her daughter, are two sons Raymond C. of Stillwater, Okla.; and Mack A. of Dallas, a sister, Lela of New Mexico, twelve grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

She is survived by a sister in law, Mrs. Doshia Anderson of Pampa, and numerous nieces and nephews.

Jaycees Are Hard At Work

The Pampa Jaycees are hard at work preparing for the club's annual Pancake Supper to be held again this year immediately after the Santa Day Parade on December 5.

The Pancake Supper has met with hearty approval of Pampans during past years and attendance has increased every year. Mainly the increase is because one adult can eat for only $1 and children for 50 cents. It makes it easy for Mom too, to take the kids to the Santa Day Parade and then meet friends and their families out at the pancake supper.

Santa will be there too. He will be there to greet the kids who saw him in the parade and hear what he is to bring them on Christmas Eve.

Tickets for the event are everywhere! All 65 of Pampa's Jaycees have tickets for sale. They are also on sale at Crouch Office Supply and Richard Drug.

The Jaycee committee for the Pancake Supper is headed by James Crouch. Sub committee chairmen are A. J. Carubbi, food; Buck Worley, ticket sales, and Clyde Dickerson, publicity.

Matter of FACT

The first college in the United States was Harvard, named after its first benefactor, John Harvard. It was founded at Cambridge, Mass., in 1636. By the time of the Revolutionary War, the colonists had founded 10 colleges. The number has steadily increased until today there are more than 1,700 institutions of higher learning in the United States.

against TWA began last Friday, grounding 196 flights which normally carry about 12,000 passengers in the United States and 23 foreign countries. About 20,000 TWA employees were given furloughs without pay for the duration of the strike.

The machinists, whose wages range from $1.45 per hour for kitchen helpers to $2.61 for senior mechanics, are seeking a wage increase and retroactive pay. The TWA machinists have been working without a contract since Oct. 1, 1957, and recently rejected a company offer in the dispute.

The National Mediation Board stepped into the TWA dispute by sending field mediator Frank K. Switzer to the firm's main offices in Kansas City in an effort to help resolve the strike issues. Switzer was expected in Kansas City this afternoon.

Wages also were the issue in the walkout by stewardesses on Lake Central Airlines.

TURKEY ASPIC MOLD—Both flavor and colorwise nothing could be more appropriate for a Christmas buffet than this turkey aspic mold. Turkey, traditionally the favorite holiday bird makes its flavorful contribution to the bottom layer of the salad. And the shiny red aspic together with sliced green olives and garnishing greens are so festive... that the salad is decorative enough for a centerpiece while it lasts!

Taste-Tempting Turkey Tetrazzini

When this recipe was tested, the taste-testers not only thought the Turkey Tetrazzini delicious — they insisted on having the recipe as soon as possible!

You'll find your family and friends will look forward to eating this turkey (or chicken) main dish many times. It's so creamy and good with mushroom soup and rice. The top is so nice and crisp with cracker crumbs and cheese. It's just too good to try to tell about — so fix this casserole soon.

INGREDIENTS
 2 1/2 cups cooked white rice
 1 can (3 oz.) chopped mushrooms
 3 cups cooked diced turkey (chicken may be used)
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
 1/2 teaspoon celery salt
 1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup soda cracker crumbs
 1 cup grated American cheese

METHOD: Place the rice in a well greased 2-quart glass oven dish. Top with the mushrooms and turkey. Mix together the salt, pepper, celery salt, mushroom soup and milk. Pour over the turkey. Just before baking, sprinkle the cracker crumbs over the top. Cover with the grated cheese. Bake in a preheated 350 degree F. oven about 35 to 40 minutes or until the top is browned and most of the liquid is absorbed.

This recipe makes 6 to 7 generous servings.

Mince Pudding Pie High Fashion Dish

Now that the battle of the sack vs. the sheath has quieted, let a little, let's consider fashions in food. Sometimes food experts dip into the past for ideas just as designers do who create fashion trends from costumes of another era. And, with food, as with fashions, when history repeats itself, the revival always carries a new "twist."

This season we've revived an old-time dessert, pudding-cake, a delightful combination of cake and sauce served warm from the oven. The twist — new style pudding-cake is made from a mix, and all the ingredients come in one package, bake together in the same dish. In the oven miraculously, the sauce seeps down and a light, fluffy cake layer floats atop the smooth, rich sauce.

And for a really high-fashion dessert, combine orange pudding-cake and mincemeat in a pie shell as the climax to a holiday dinner. Luscious orange sauce blends with the mince filling; tender cake layer forms the top crust. Here's how you do it:

MINCE PUDDING PIE
 9-inch unbaked shell
 1 cup prepared mincemeat
 1 package Pillsbury Orange Pudding-Cake Mix
 1 egg plus water to equal 1-3 cup
 1 cup boiling water

Prepare 9-inch shell; (do not prick or bake). Spread prepared mincemeat in bottom of unbaked pie shell. Combine egg with enough water to equal 1-3 cup. Blend with contents of Package A from Pillsbury Orange Pudding-Cake Mix in small mixer bowl. Beat 1 minute at medium speed. Spread evenly over mincemeat. Sprinkle evenly with contents of Package B. Pour boiling water over all. Bake at 375 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes or until golden brown. Serve warm.

Festive Turkey Aspic Mold Creates Pretty Centerpiece Good Enough To Eat

Having a cooked turkey on hand during the holidays can be a lifesaver. Hurry-up lunches for extra guests and bedtime sandwiches are well provided for, and you also have the "makings" for a partyish salad as this turkey aspic mold. You might want to make this as something special for the family or it would be admirable, too, for a late buffet supper party.

The aspic for this salad is quite a simple one made as it is with tomato sauce. The bottom layer is rich and hearty, but has a nice lightness of texture due to a beaten-egg-white that is folded into the gelatin mixture. Evaporated milk adds a lot to that richness and contributes to the pretty creamy color, too.

You can imagine what a beautiful salad this really is with its shiny red aspic and green flecked creamy colored bottom layer. Garnishes of green will make it even more in keeping with the holiday colors and you'll find it a most decorative addition to your most decorative addition to your table or buffet.

TURKEY ASPIC MOLD ASPIC LAYER:
 2 teaspoons lemon juice
 1/2 teaspoon celery salt
 Pinch garlic powder
 1/2 cup cold water
 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 1/2 cup boiling water
 1 can tomato sauce (8 oz.)
 Place lemon juice, seasonings and cold water in a small bowl. Sprinkle gelatin on top and let soften five minutes. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in tomato sauce. Cool, then pour into a lightly oiled 6-cup mold. Chill until set.

TURKEY LAYER:
 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 3 tablespoons cold water
 1 egg yolk
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 1/2 teaspoon paprika
 2 1/2 cup evaporated milk
 3 tablespoons lemon juice
 1 1/2 cups diced cooked turkey
 1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper
 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 1 egg white
 Sprinkle gelatin over cold water in a small bowl and let soften.

Cranberry Ham Sandwich Treat

To your many friends who truly love fine food, serve this dainty and delectable Ham Cranberry Sandwich.

The sandwich itself is somewhat traditional — however, it does have that certain holiday touch... cranberry sauce.

You couldn't ask for a more slick or quick trick when entertaining.

In purchasing the meat for this unusual ham sandwich, be sure to ask your meat retailer for "boiled" ham.

HAM CRANBERRY SANDWICH
 6 slices white bread
 Butter or margarine
 Lettuce
 12 slices "boiled" ham
 1/2 cup whole cranberry sauce
 6 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing

Toast bread slices on both sides. Spread with butter or margarine. Top with lettuce, 2 slices ham, about 3 tablespoons cranberry sauce and 1 teaspoon mayonnaise or salad dressing. Yield: 6 sandwiches.

Sure Cure For Case Of Sagging Spirits Is Purchase Of New Glamour Dessert

Remember the classic advice about how to cure a case of sagging spirits or a blue Monday mood? "Go out and buy a new hat" was the prescription, and though it might have worked well enough, it was very expensive medicine and notoriously unpopular with husbands.

We recommend a more up-to-date and very much more practical version; whenever you feel listless about your three-meals-a-day job, go out to the grocery store and buy a new product. Pick one of the glamour items that gives you a chance to serve some special treat and you'll raise the spirits of the whole family, your own included.

Just such a product is the bright new Fluffy Orange Frosting Mix now appearing on grocery shelves. Its cheerful color and fresh, tangy flavor give a touch of elegance to the simplest cake, and it swirls so beautifully you might well describe it as self-decorating.

Member of a famous family of frosting mixes, this appealing newcomer is another homemade "cooked" frosting you don't have to cook, another that can't fail to turn out satiny smooth.

Best of all, Fluffy Orange Frosting Mix and its relatives in other flavors and sizes are versatile, fun-to-work-with products. By a few simple twists on the basic directions you can turn them into an amazing array of menu-brighteners like these:

TRIPLE ORANGE ALASKAS
 1 package Pillsbury Fluffy Orange Frosting
 1/2 cup boiling water
 8 oranges
 1 pint orange sherbet

Wash and cut oranges in half crosswise; hollow out fruit sections. Quickly fill shells level full with orange sherbet. Freeze immediately.

Just before serving, cover top of each orange shell with 1/4 cup Fluffy Orange Frosting, being sure to seal in sherbet completely. Place 3 to 4 inches below broiler for 1 to 2 minutes until delicately browned. Serve immediately. Makes 16.

FROZEN FUDGY-PIE
 1 8-inch pie shell, baked
 1 package Pillsbury Loaf-size Creamy Fudge Frosting Mix
 2 tablespoons soft butter
 2 tablespoons lukewarm water
 1 cup whipping cream

Prepare Pillsbury Loaf-size Creamy Fudge Frosting Mix as directed on package. Beat whipping cream until thick. Gradually fold frosting into whipped cream. Fill in cooled pie shell. Store in freezer until serving time. Serves 6 to 8.

MILK CHOCOLATE SHADOW FROSTING
 1 package Pillsbury Chocolate Fudge Cake Mix
 2 eggs plus water to equal 1 1/2 cups
 1 package Pillsbury Milk Chocolate Frosting Mix
 1/4 cup butter
 1/4 cup lukewarm water
 1/2 square (1/2 oz.) semi-sweet or bitter chocolate
 1 teaspoon butter

Bake Pillsbury Chocolate Fudge Cake Mix in two 8-inch layers as directed on package. Fill and frost with Pillsbury Milk Chocolate Frosting. Melt chocolate and 1 teaspoon butter; spoon around edge of cake, allowing to drip down sides.

ELEGANT SAUSAGE ENTREE

Gather your 'round and try these delicious Sausage Cornettes. To prepare, simply combine 1 1/2 pounds bulk pork sausage with a 14-ounce can of crushed pineapple. Be sure the pineapple is drained. Shape this mixture into 8 patties, about 1/2 inch thick. Dip patties into beaten egg, then roll in crushed corn flakes. Brown patties in melted lard, turning occasionally until done, about 45 minutes.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
 A. Top Round Steak.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
 A. It comes from the round of the carcass. This cut is the boneless top or inside muscle of the beef round. Outer surface is partially covered by fat. Generally speaking, it is considered the most tender of the beef round cuts.

Q. How is it prepared?
 A. It is prepared by broiling, a moist heat method of meat cookery. The meat is broiled in lard or drippings and cooked slowly in a small amount of liquid.

Asthma and Hay Fever Relief Comes in Minutes... and Lasts For Hours

Tiny Tablet Now Available Without Prescription!

New York, N. Y. (Special) — Medical Science has developed a new, tiny tablet that not only stops asthma spasms, but brings relief to those who suffer from hay fever attacks. Authoritative tests proved this remarkable compound brings relief in minutes — and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful spasms.

This fast-acting formula is prescribed by doctors for their private patients who suffer from asthma or hay fever. And now sufferers can obtain this formula — without prescription — in tiny, easy-to-take tablets called Primatene.

Primatene opens bronchial tubes, loosens mucous congestion, relieves nasal passages. All this without taking painful injections and without the inconvenience of nebulizers. The secret is — Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma and hay fever distress.

So look forward to sleep at night and freedom from asthma or hay fever spasms... get Primatene, at any drugstore. Only 98¢ — money-back guarantee.

THE JET AGE COMES TO AMERICAN CITIES

SHRINKING AMERICA—In the months just ahead, the impact of commercial jet air travel will begin to be felt in many American cities. By January, the giant jet liners will be spanning the continent in 4½ hours. Newsmap above spots those cities which are presently classified ready for jet traffic, together with their alternates. By mid-1960, according to Civil Aeronautics Administration schedules, 62 U.S. cities will have airports redesigned to handle jets.

Hearts Miss A Beat While Crossing Helmstedt Bridge

By WELLINGTON LONG
United Press International

BONN, Germany (UPI)—Every one's heart seems to skip a beat when he crosses the bridge at Helmstedt where freedom ends on the road to Communist-surrounded West Berlin.

The bridge crosses a dry gully. At the western end, West German police and American, British and French military police have their little shacks. Inspection there is cursory, often indifferent.

Not so on the eastern side of the bridge. There the barriers, manned until now by Soviet and East German soldiers in almost-identical uniforms are raised to let only one car, truck or bus through at a time.

American, British or French soldiers or civilian officials and their families hand their travel orders to a Soviet guard at a special box. He withdraws behind a curtain to do whatever he does with them. It always takes a long time before the documents are returned, usually without a smile or even a grimace, and one drives on.

tens of thousands of foreign tourists who cross every year, or because even a good Communist's nerves can take just so much.

The 110-mile drive on to Berlin usually is uneventful. Occasionally, a Communist policeman will stop a Western driver and fine him on the spot — in Western currency — for alleged speeding. The highway is not posted, but there's no use arguing, because you are beyond help from any Western policeman.

The East Germans have built roadside parking areas at scenic locations along the route, and equipped them with picnic tables and benches.

Emphasis on Utility

Many West Germans stop at them to enjoy the fresh air. Some even pull into the two restaurants the East German state operates along the highway. But the food is poor, the service worse, and the atmosphere — the walls are decorated with murals of such Communist landmarks as dams across the Yangtze River — is appalling.

Approaching Berlin, the traveler must be alert, particularly if he is unfamiliar with the essential principles of "double-think." Just outside Berlin there is a check point, where papers are given a quick once-over, and the driver is passed on.

Right after that, the driver sees signs saying "This way to the democratic sector of Berlin."

But beware. That way leads to distress. In East Germany, "democratic" means "Communist." It is the other part of Berlin the Western traveler is trying to reach.

When John Marshall Harlan was sworn in as a Supreme Court justice in 1955, he became the 89th man to sit on the high bench.

GINGHAM PIN-UP—It's turning time backward for Connie Towers. From her real-life night-club career she goes back to Civil War times for a movie, "The Cavalryman," now making. She rides on a 600-mile raid—but not in this costume.

Poland Hopes For Soviet Dismissal

(EDITORS NOTE: In the diplomatic backrooms where policy is aired before East-West conferences, U. N. sessions and foreign affairs debates, the words "Rapacki Plan" are much heard these days. Some experts believe this plan of Poland's foreign minister may yet form a basis of a start toward disarmament on both sides of the Iron Curtain. A veteran foreign correspondent analyzes it in the following dispatch.)

By WELLINGTON LONG
United Press International

BONN, Germany (UPI) — The proposal by Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki for neutralizing Central Europe militarily may be an attempt to ease Soviet troops out of Poland.

So believe West German and other diplomats who have studied carefully Rapacki's previous plan of a year ago, and the latest plan Rapacki's latest proposal call for great attention. It is not already equipped with atomic weapons shall receive in the future, atomic strength on either side, the Poles reason, thus would be stabilized.

Thereafter, his plan foresees discussion and eventual agreement to reduce both the existing conventional and atomic forces in Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

most Western powers to reject the first Rapacki scheme out of hand. It would have left the Soviets, with their armies massed in East Germany and Poland, with a great superiority of force over the U. S. forces in Europe, whose strength depends to a great extent on their atomic weapons rather than on numbers of men and conventional weapons.

But Rapacki's newest plan at first glance, pretty well meets this criticism.

West Germans who still oppose it now say the chief difficulty is that it does not attack the key problem of Central Europe, which is the continuing division of Germany into two states, one free, one Communist.

Better Reaction Noted

Nevertheless, the reaction here to the newest version of the Rapacki plan has been much less violent than it was to his first scheme.

For one thing, many diplomats here are convinced that Rapacki is not just a tool of the Moscow Communist bosses, but really is trying to conduct an independent foreign policy.

Poland's chief difficulty, and the most delicate part of Poland's relations with the Soviet union, is the continuing presence of Soviet troops in Poland itself, and to Poland's west in East Germany.

This bulk presence seriously restricts Polish sovereignty.

Complicated Process

Crossing the Iron-Curtain border into East Germany is far more complicated than crossing any border in West Europe.

A few years ago, loudspeakers blared Russian music and propaganda speeches at those waiting their turn at the border. Today, the loudspeakers usually are silent, either out of courtesy to the

Proposes Atomic Ban

The Polish Foreign minister's original plan, as published, called for simple agreement that no atomic weapons be on the ground in Germany, Poland or Czechoslovakia. No mention then was made of conventional weapons or forces.

It was this omission that caused

The 1889 Dollar Might Be Worth Absolutely Nothing

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Application of a sharp pencil, simple arithmetic and the facts of life to the U.S. national debt can produce some figures so terrifying as to be almost unbelievable.

For example: If the national debt increases in the next 30 years as it has in the past 30, we all would be busted by 1989. By that year we all would be earning dollars which wouldn't be worth much, if anything. For a real switch, it probably would be easier then to earn deflated dollars than to spend them.

Who, with real goods or services to trade, would want to exchange either for phony dollars worth a ha'penny, or less? Such a hard decision may never have to be made by American citizens, although it has happened elsewhere in recent years and could happen here.

Perhaps it is a shade less than likely to happen here because the past 30 years' increase in the national debt—on which all of this unhappy speculation is based—was enormously furthered by the extraordinary expenses of World War II and of the cold war which has come after it.

Debt Increased 18-Fold

Another war of the magnitude of World War II and the national debt probably would scuttle the United States economy. And who is there here or anywhere to say not one day be under way? The cold war compels government spending at a rate which steadily increases the national debt, but not at the destructive rate of hot war outlays.

What happened to the national debt in 30 years from 1929 was that it increased about 18-fold. It had been reduced by 1929 to a mere $16,900,000,000. It is moving toward 298 billion dollars today. The shocker in the story of the national debt is the annual cost in interest to the holders of government securities.

The Treasury must pay out nearly eight billion dollars in interest in the present fiscal year. Interest paid on the national debt in the past 10 years comes to more than $66,500,000,000. Peanuts you might say, compared with what the national debt will cost 30 years from now if it continues to increase in the future as it has in the past. Eighteen times more debt would require 18 times more interest for the bond holders.

There Are Alternatives

That would be an interest bill of 144 billion dollars in the 1989 fiscal year and somewhere in that great sum would be the dime that broke the taxpayer's back and broke the back of the American economy, to boot. That much money would run the government for nearly two years right now at the present levels of spending which are not by any means low.

There are alternatives to the steady and very large increase over the years of the national debt. They are either to reduce spending within the limits of government income or to increase taxes to cover the difference. A combination of both would be doubly effective and, probably, more acceptable to the U.S. taxpayer.

The alternatives confronting government in 1989—assuming that the debt should by then have increased 18-fold—would be these: Pay the interest or repudiate the debt. There would be another way out, however.

TOKYO — Attorney George T. Davis, on his plan to have American soldier William G. Tefft, 24, who he is defending on a murder charge, testify in court under the influence of truth serum:

It is the way Germany chose in the middle 1920s when her interest debt became unbearable, unmanageable and unpayable. The Germans simply paid off with inflated, worthless printing press money. It worked.

"It's a gambling proposition any way you look at it. You're putting all your chips on the table."

WASHINGTON — "Old Guard" Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater, on whether he will accept Nelson A. Rockefeller as the Republican presidential candidate in 1960:

"I'm not going to buy, so to speak, a millionaire in a poka."

LOS ANGELES — Queen Frederika of Greece, on the eye-ravaging effects of the city's infamous smog:

"I never suffered so much with the eyes."

Free Book on Arthritis And Rheumatism

HOW TO AVOID CRIPPLING DEFORMITIES

An amazing book entitled "Arthritis and Rheumatism" will be sent to anyone who will write for it. It reveals why drugs and medicines give only temporary relief and fail to remove the causes of the trouble; explains a specialized non-surgical treatment which has proved successful since 1919.

You incur no obligation in sending for this instructive book. It may be the means of saving you years of untold misery. Write today to The Bail Clinic, Dept. 2348, Excelsior Springs, Missouri.

A workshop is in progress at a local beauty shop and an anonymous woman is getting her beauty treatment free. Beauty operators are as civic minded as anyone. As their project this year they gave 14 free beauty treatments to women who otherwise would be deprived of this service. At left is Warren Phillips, owner of La Bonita Beauty Shop. Other participants are Naomi Weidler, up right, and Hope A. Osborne, Modern Beauty Shop girls.

Cinderellas Flock To Harry Winston's

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — One way to play Cinderella is to visit Harry Winston's.

Here, a girl without a dime toward a diamond is free to dream, to admire, even to try on some of the world's most fabulous jewels. I spent a morning doing same, just to see what all was behind those doors at the House of Winston, which the other day gave the million dollar Hope diamond to the Smithsonian Institution.

It takes never, unless you're rich, to walk through the heavy, iron grill doors of the sedate gray stone house, once the home of a countess, now identified only by a small bronze plaque on the front.

But nobody stopped me. No armed guards crowded around to check my credentials (one press card) or my checkbook. I might have been a customer.

The whole atmosphere was so casual, I asked Don Carnevale, a vice-president, if thievery of some of that ice wasn't a simple thing. Who would miss a few small stones from a collection insured at well above 25 million dollars?

Complicated Alarm System

"We'll just X-ray you as you leave," Carnevale laughed.

I found later that although there was little obvious security, the house has a complicated communications and alarm system which can call the cops, both city and private, in a hurry. And every gem, whether worth $50 or $500,000, is carefully photographed and inventoried.

Carnevale gave me the grand tour of all six floors to show that the Winston business is, if I may say so, many-faceted. Here, some 250 employees design and finish jewels for both the wholesale and retail trade — for customers ranging from Egypt's exiled King Farouk who bought the Star of the East diamond (94.8 carats) to a mail order house which buys thousands of 1/4 and 1/2 carat engagement rings in a single order.

Bernard De Haan, chief of the cutting department and the fourth generation of his family in the jewelry business, said that a lot of carats — sometimes 60 per cent of the original stone — are lost in the cutting. He swiped his hand across a counter — "once a diamond, now a carbon smudge," he said.

Farouk Still Owes

Carnevale pointed to an assembly counter littered with sketches and casually commented, "about five million dollars there."

I began to feel equally casual about all that glitter until Winston took me into his second floor office, with its period furniture and crystal chandeliers, and said: "There are still plenty left, even with the Hope gone."

"Farouk still owes me for the Star of the East and some other stones, about $1,150,000 all told. The Star of the East has not been found," said the jeweler, who also once owned the Jonker. The Jonker, one of the six largest diamonds ever found, weighed 726 carats before it was cut into 12 stones and Winston said "number eight, the Marquise, just came back to me the other day."

INAUGURATES HIGHWAY

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (UPI) — President Tito Sunday inaugurated an 80-mile section of a modern highway which will cut across Yugoslavia from the Italian border to the Greek frontier.

Legal Log Jam To Be Cleared

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) — Judge George H. Boldt will rule Monday on a legal log jam that has temporarily roadblocked the Dave Beck income tax evasion trial.

Beck, former president of the Teamsters' Union, is charged with evading $240,000 in income taxes during the years 1950-1953.

Friday, check stubs were admitted as evidence of financial dealings between Beck and a Chicago labor relations expert.

The exhibits were described as "informal records" of Nathan Shefferman, head of labor relations associates of Chicago, by Shefferman's bookkeeper, Miss Florence Ouska.

Shefferman's contribution to Beck's wealth is one of the key pieces in the government's jigsaw puzzle by which it hopes to depict that Beck evaded income taxes during the years 1950-1953.

Boldt had admitted two of the check stubs but after a conference among attorneys for both sides withdrew the two stubs and said he would rule on the matter Monday.

The defense contends the stubs are not admissible because they are not "business records." The government admits they are not business records, but contends they are part of the transactions involving Beck and Shefferman.

R 'n' R RESTORES HEARING

SUTTON, England (UPI) — Metal worker William Gregory today credited an Elvis Presley rock 'n' roll song for restoring his hearing. Gregory, deaf for eight years, said "something went click" while the song was blaring on the radio during the weekend. He said his hearing suddenly returned.

Both George Washington and Abraham Lincoln had been surveyors before becoming presidents.

TV Putting Kink In Movie Output

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Movie business has never had it so bad. This year fewer pictures were made than in any previous year, going all the way back to nickelodeon days. Production is down 34 per cent from the 1947 output.

Only 194 feature films were produced, compared with 293 last year.

For the first time since the silent era less than 200 new flickers were canned — a disastrous drop from the 1936 high of 265. Distressed producers who used to say, "wait 'till next year," a bit 1917 may be worse. Every major studio, except MGM, made fewer pictures this year than last. Independent producers dropped off from 131 films last year to only 76 in 1958.

Recalcitrant actors, high costs and that old "debbit," television have ganged up to put motion pictures in the worst slump in history.

Salad Days Gone

In the old days Columbia, Metro, Paramount, RKO — now defunct, Universal - International, 20th Century-Fox and Warner Brothers ground out 50 to 60 pictures each. But those salad days have wilted forever.

Universal laid the biggest egg, filming only seven flicks this year as against 27 last year.

However, the usual panic is missing among movie employees. During the 1949 crisis actors, electricians, carpenters, painters, prop men and all the rest were unemployed and mutinous. Not so in 1958.

They're all working on filmed TV shows, which have taken up the slack.

Nor are the sound stages dark and echoing. Braash video companies have moved in — mostly with horse operas — keeping the 6000 movie workers happily employed.

Those studios which moved into the TV field early are booming. Columbia (through its Screen Gems subsidiary), Warner Brothers (with five westerns) and 20th Century-Fox have no financial problems. But Paramount and Universal, which hoped TV would evaporate, are hurting.

Few TV Shows

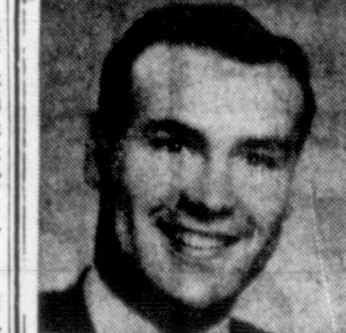

MGM still produces few TV shows, but its movie production has climbed to 24 pictures this year compared to 20 in 1957. How come?

"We've rooted out the dead-wood and injected some new blood in the top echelons," a studio spokesman said, then added wryly, "and some of our films have made much more money than we anticipated."

Metro, largest of the majors, could be among the missing next year if its 15 million-dollar gamble, "Ben Hur," is a dud at the boxoffice.

Another reason for the movie nosedive is slumping boxoffice receipts abroad. As television grows in Europe, theater suffers more.

Also frozen assets in foreign countries have been used in the making of location pictures, cheaping up a financial and dry-labor pool that had hoped keep producers afloat.

Why don't you make plans for the future now, for education for children, for cash or old age, when income earning power stops. The best retirement and savings plan ever, "The Protective Investment Plan," Gibraltar Life of America. See or call Bob Hudson.

Sign Language

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press International

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House: When President Eisenhower hops about in his helicopter, he encounters a language difficulty that would stop the government's most talented translator. The rotors make so much noise that vocal communication is virtually impossible, even between two persons wedged together side by side. This leads to all sorts of sign language: Pointing to another person while patting one's own tummy. Fasten your seat belt if you don't want to lose your upper fillings when we land. Pointing upward (this only for the benefit of first trippers)—"See, we're taking off." Pointing upward (for a veteran of helicopter hopping)—"I wish the heck this guy wouldn't come so close to the TV aerials." Pointing out window, excitedly—"If your seat was as good as mine you could see a whale-of-a-foot-ball game going on below." Pointing out window, casually—"Still raining."

These signs, as one can see, are fairly simple. The passenger in a White House helicopter has to be up on current events, however, to understand some of the more complicated communications: Pointing downward with shrugged shoulders—"Lousy crowd." Pointing downward with hands in pockets—"Looks cold down there." Nodding downward, arms folded—"I'm nearly asleep." Waving hands excitedly in all about Harold Stassen—"I've heard enough." Clapping hand over fellow passenger's mouth—"No smoking." Slapping self on top of head—"I left my hat on the other plane."

VOTER CASTS CHECK
BORDEAUX, France (UPI)—Sunday's election nearly cost one confused voter 150,000 francs ($357). He placed an envelope containing a check for that amount in the urn, and walked out of the polling place with his ballet. The envelope with the check was found by a vote counter, who knew just what to do with it. He happened to be a local bank teller.

FIREHOUSE BLUE

Rebekah Team Illustrates Work

Pampa Rebekah Lodge No. 355 met Thursday evening in the Lodge Hall, 210 W. Brown, with Mrs. Lucille Kessinger, noble grand, presiding.

Members reported ill were Mrs. Maybelle Campbell, Mrs. Theima Longan's father; also, Mrs. Irene McCoy of Skellytown in Worley Hospital.

It was announced that a Thanksgiving basket, filled with grocery items donated by members, will be delivered on Tuesday.

It was also announced that the Esther Club will meet with Mrs. Lillie Stafford, 1140 Terrace on Monday night.

During the combined meeting of the Panhandle Circle, Miss Addie Fern Lick, Circle vice president, reported that there will be no meeting held in December and that the next meeting will be with Tri-City Berger Lodge the first meeting night in January at which time there will be an election of officers.

The Pampa Degree Team, put on their work with nine members to illustrate that a small lodge can confer the Rebekah degree with nine members instead of the usual 16 team members.

During the social hour, pie and coffee was served by the refreshment committee.

Present were seven members from Berger No. 286: four from Skellytown No. 58; seven from Perryton No. 225 and 20 from Pampa No. 355.

Mr. Vernon Hall's name was drawn for the travel fund.

The lodge will not meet this week, due to Thanksgiving. The next meeting will be Dec. 4 at which time there will be an election of officers.

Turkeys Plentiful During Holidays

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Turkey news! According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, turkeys will be abundant in November and December. Retail prices will probably remain at the present level right through the holidays. There will be good supplies of all sizes.

Apples are making history this year — the second largest crop in two decades and the largest since 1949.

Other plentiful for November include poultry, pork, medium and small eggs, potatoes, cabbage and cranberries.

Here are some apple suggestions: New England Baked Applesauce: Peel and quarter apples; place in a bean pot or casserole in layers. Sprinkle each layer with sugar mixed with cinnamon, nutmeg and salt. Cover with apple cider. Cover and bake until fruit is tender, but has not lost its shape.

Jersey Apple Pie: Peel and core medium baking apples; place in an unbaked pie shell. Tuck sliced apples into the spaces between whole apples. Fill centers of apples with brown sugar mixed with crumb consistency with butter, flour and cinnamon. Sprinkle some of the crumbs over the top. Bake.

Apple Pudding: Alternate in a casserole layers of peeled sliced apples, crushed graham crackers mixed with sugar, nutmeg, salt and melted butter. Bake. Serve with lemon sauce.

Sundays Dinner: Cranberry juice, roast turkey, celery stuffing, giblet gravy, stuffed baked potatoes, green beans with almonds, soft rolls, butter or margarine, ripe olives, raw carrot sticks, pickled onions, New Jersey apple pie, cheese, coffee, tea, milk.

RUTH MILLETT

One of the biggest mistakes women make is letting themselves be hurt over and over again by the same person in the same way.

A woman married to a man who is less sentimental than she is will be hurt each time he forgets an anniversary or fails to bring her a gift on days she considers important.

She would save herself a lot of hurt and be far happier if she would admit that "John just isn't the sentimental type."

A wife whose mother-in-law is jealous of her will be hurt over and over again by the mother-in-law's little jibes, instead of telling herself, "Jim's mother is jealous of me and she'll probably never get over it — so I mustn't be hurt by what she says. It would have been the same no matter what girl Jim married."

A woman whose closest friend is often too busy to do the things she wants her to do needn't be hurt at the seeming indifference each time the friend is too busy for this or that.

She should face the fact that she is more dependent on the friend than the friend is on her, and make other good friends so that she isn't so dependent on one person.

A woman whose grown children are too busy with their own lives shouldn't let herself feel hurt by their "neglect."

Instead she should remember back to the days when her own

DEAR ABBY: You were out of order reminding that person who wanted to leave money to animals that there were crippled children and mentally ill people who could also use the help. She knew that! People can ask for food when they're hungry and tell you where it hurts when they're sick, but dogs and cats have to depend on humans for help. Be fair, Abby, and print this.

ANOTHER ANIMAL LOVER
DEAR ABBY: To "Animal Lover" who wanted to know how to go about giving some money to help animals: I have a little seven-year-old girl who is wearing a thin summer coat because we can't afford even a second-hand winter coat for her. Maybe you know a dog who would like to share his nice warm natural coat with my child?

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for almost two years and I still haven't gotten him to do anything around the house. The only thing I want him to do is to fix our bed so the mattress will not sag. It is a simple thing to put a few boards across the frame and I would do it myself but I am in my seventh month, and am afraid to lift the mattress. But he will drive to his uncle's farm, which is 2 hours each way to help his uncle put up a shack for a tractor while I sit and wait in the car for four hours. How can I get him to do his own chores first?

DEAR ABBY: If my dear deceased parents could have seen the way 22 relatives fought over a measly little estate of $5600 they would have left everything to dogs. DISGUSTED WITH PEOPLE

Human Rights Date Noted By WSCS

The tenth anniversary of the adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights by the United Nations was observed by St. Paul's Methodist WSCS on November 19.

Devotions were led by Mrs. A. N. Rogers. Mrs. R. A. Newton had charge of the program. Speeches on the progress being made in human rights in various countries were made by Mrs. W. F. Gaines, Bill Malejowski, Don Stephens, and Walton Martin.

The annual Christmas party to be held at 2231 Duncan, was postponed until December 16. Members decided to bring gifts of toys for the preschool classes of the church school.

Mrs. Ruth Davis attended as a visitor. Members present were Mrs. M. G. Helton, Bennie Walker, W. J. Fletcher, Bill Sargent, and S. T. Holding.

life was pretty hectic and acknowledge the fact that it isn't lack of love for her but lack of time.

A woman who is hurt again and again because her family seems to take her for granted and expects more from "Mom" than they give back shouldn't allow herself to feel unappreciated.

She should remember that her children are at an age when they are naturally self-centered — but that they will grow out of it and one day appreciate all the things she has done for them.

It is far wiser for any woman to be realistic about others and to accept their weaknesses and faults than to expect more than she is likely to get.

White Deer Circles Meet For Review

Kezzie Mae and Lillie Hundley Circles of the Women's Missionary Union of White Deer First Baptist Church met in a combined session for mission study and a covered dish luncheon at noon.

Mrs. Glen Robertson presided over the meeting and gave the devotional and opening prayer. Other prayers were given by Mrs. Rick Ramming, Mrs. Joe Seitz, Mrs. C. C. Kelly and closing prayer by Mrs. W. G. Shair of Skellytown, WMU president.

Japanese lanterns decorated the meeting room with a center of interest holding Japanese idols and ornaments.

Centerpieces on the luncheon table were native huts with individual places marked with miniature flags of various countries inscribed with the guests' names.

Maps and posters were used to bring out the highlights of the missions book study, "Into A New World" written by J. W. Winston Crawley, secretary of the Orient of Southern Baptist Church, which was given by Mrs. Andy Simons, dressed in a Japanese kimono.

The book was a study of the life and history of people and the mission work being done in the Philippines, Indonesia, Malaya and Thailand.

Attending were guests from the Skellytown Baptist WMU, Mmes. Ray Lowe, June Butler, M. L. Mills, A. R. Baker, H. M. McClendon, C. G. Grandstaff, H. K. Rochelle, Jimmy Davis, Elizabeth Tinsley, Truman Luther, W. G. Shair and Cletus Collins.

Local members attending were Mmes. A. G. Adams, Jay Phillips, Eugene Richardson, E. J. Keith, Tom Ingram, Ted McCurley, Edward Dittberner, Joe Seitz.

Rebekah Team Illustrates Work

Pampa Rebekah Lodge No. 355 met Thursday evening in the Lodge Hall, 210 W. Brown, with Mrs. Lucille Kessinger, noble grand, presiding.

Members reported ill were Mrs. Maybelle Campbell, Mrs. Thelma Longan's father; also, Mrs. Irene McCoy of Skellytown in Worley Hospital.

It was announced that a Thanksgiving basket, filled with grocery items donated by members, will be delivered on Tuesday.

It was also announced that the Esther Club will meet with Mrs. Lillie Stafford, 1140 Terrace on Monday night.

During the combined meeting of the Panhandle Circle, Miss Addie Fern-Lieck, Circle vice-president, reported that there will be no meeting held in December and that the next meeting will be with Tri-City Borger Lodge the first meeting night in January at which time there will be an election of officers.

The Pampa Degree Team put on their work with nine members to illustrate that a small lodge can confer the Rebekah degree with five members instead of the usual 16 team members.

"Good Life" Topic For Exemplar Meet

Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met Monday evening with Mrs. John Phelps, 1037 Huff Road, with Mrs. Byron Hillburn, president, in charge.

Mrs. Hansford Ousley gave the report from BSP City Council. Exemplar Chapter voted to have a dinner-dance in February in preference to an all-chapters dance.

Mrs. Bill Bridges, Mrs. Roy McKee and Mrs. Dot Francis presented a program entitled, "The Good Life," wherein each member was asked to give her own conception of what a "good life" is.

Mrs. Bridges told of the life of Alexander Fleming, the father of penicillin, to illustrate the contribution of scientists to the "good life." Mrs. McKee talked on the life of Andrew Carnegie and other philanthropists and their contributions to common good.

Mrs. Phelps served pie and coffee during the social hour.

The next meeting, it was announced, will be a model meeting for pledges in the home of Mrs. Ousley, 2228 N. Russell on Nov. 24 at 8 p.m.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. S. M. Chittendon, Stanley Simpson, Hansford Ousley, Jack White, Yvonne McCracken, John Plaster, Jeff Truly, John Phelps, Roy McKee, Bill Bridges, Byron Hillburn, C. G. Goodwin Jr., Thelma Bray, Joe Fischer, Dod Francis, and Miss Virginia Vaughn.

If your skin is red and flushed and your color is "high," you can tone down its color by using a beige powder and foundation. Avoid any make-up having pink tones.

If your hips are just a touch too wide, get out the tape measure and find the widest point. Never, but never, let your suit jacket end at that point. It would only emphasize what you wish concealed.

DEAR ABBY: You were out of my father treats me like I was five. He says I can't go in a car with a boy unless the boy drives him around the block in his car. He says he wants to make sure the boy is a good driver and he wants to be sure the boy's car is in good enough condition to be safe. OH, BOLOGNA!

A Sunday night supper for the gang might include slices of bologna and hot potato salad. If you brown the bologna slices, as they heat, the slices will curl into small cups. Serve the potato salad in the cups.

GREASES GUNMAN

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI) — Service station attendant Horace Brown, 37, used oil to foil a holdup mar, Saturday night. When a customer pulled a gun and demanded money, Brown let him have it with the only weapon at hand, an oil siphoner.

He said the gunman fired three blank shots and fled in panic and oil-spattered raincoat.

FRED BLACKWELL... dinner speaker

D-D Club To Hear Blackwell

Fred W. Blackwell will be guest-dinner speaker for the Desk & Derrick Club tonight at 7 p.m. at the Pampa Hotel. His subject will be "Safety."

Blackwell resides in Lefors, and is employed by the Texas Co. Company, having been with this Company since 1918 where he first worked in Burkburnett for the Texas Company.

Blackwell has been active in the development of Lefors, having served as Mayor for eight years, 1950-1958. He organized the first Fire Department in 1952, and serves as a volunteer fireman.

INSTALL PATRIARCH

DAMASCUS, U.A.R. (UPI) — Theodosios III, 73, was made new patriarch of the ancient Greek Orthodox see of Antioch during the weekend in a three-hour coronation ceremony. Antioch is the seat of the church for the entire East, and North and South America.

Virginia's state flower is the flowering dogwood.

Nixon To Dine With The Queen

LONDON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrives here Tuesday for a four-day visit during which he will dedicate an American memorial chapel, meet with government leaders and dine with the Queen.

Most Britons are welcoming the opportunity to get their first real look at Nixon, who many feel could replace President Eisenhower in the White House. The vice president has passed through Britain twice in the past two years en route to Vienna and Ghana, but he never has made an official visit.

The official reason for the trip is to represent President Eisenhower at the dedication of the American Memorial Chapel at St. Paul's Cathedral. However, Nixon has a very heavy schedule. He will meet with government leaders, dine with Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace, visit Oxford University and have tea with the Anglo-American parliamentary group.

A U. S. Embassy spokesman said there are no specific problems up for discussion with British leaders. But informed sources said Nixon probably would discuss the Berlin situation and the Middle East with members of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government.

Teachers To Fort Worth, For Convention

Mrs. W. M. Ledbetter and Miss Mary Dean Dozier will represent Pampa High School at the opening of a three day Texas State Teachers Association convention in Fort Worth Friday. It is expected that other teachers will attend from Pampa's elementary schools.

Mrs. Ledbetter heads the PHS science department. Miss Dozier is a teacher of English.

Sessions will begin Thursday afternoon with a vesper service, and will close Saturday morning with a meeting of the group's house of delegates.

Gov. Price Daniel will address a Thursday night meeting, when Dr. Cylvia Sorokin, St. Louis, Mo., economist and lecturer, also will speak. The afternoon vesper service will be led by Howard E. Butt Jr., of Corpus Christi.

Other convention speakers will include H. Roe Bartle, mayor of Kansas City, Mo.; Lester Buford, superintendent of schools at Mt. Vernon, Ill.; and Dr. Ruth Stout, president of the National Education Assn.

Sessions will be presided over by Mrs. Sadie Ray Powell, president of the association and principal of Crockett elementary school at San Antonio.

At the close of the convention, Superintendent Vincent W. Miller of Pasadena will take over as association president. Mrs. Mary Alexander, Palestine classroom teacher, is scheduled to become vice-president.

Other convention speakers will concentrate on biology or physics.

The group of 15 Russians is part of an exchange program arranged by the Interstate University Committee on travel grants. They will study in seven American universities.

Southwest Oilmen Hot Under Collar!

By MAC SEBREE

United Press International
TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Southwest oilmen are getting hot under the collar about a proposed hike in the federal gasoline tax, a United Press International spot survey indicated this week.

One oilman suggested the multi-billion dollar federal highway program has been padded. Another predicted that even a one-cent rise in the tax would defeat itself by cutting down on motorist.

And the influential American Petroleum Institute's board of directors countered with a proposal that the federal government consider using general tax revenues contributed by all taxpayers to the road program if more money is needed.

That the proposed tax increase would be a political hot potato was underscored when most major oil firms and some independent oilmen refused to be quoted for publication on the subject, though privately stating their opposition.

People Getting Skeptical
In New York City, the API's board of directors this week announced a firm stand against any further hike in the federal gasoline tax. There were indications, the API said, that such a tax boost might be requested to meet deficits anticipated in the federal highway trust fund in fiscal years 1960 and 1961. The tax was boosted one cent (or 50 per cent) in 1956 to launch the highway program.

Charles W. Alcorn, Houston oil operator, drilling contractor and president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, told United Press International: "The petroleum industry is strongly opposed to singling out consumers of our products for more taxes. I think the congressmen will hear from the people on this proposal."

Said Alcorn: "People are getting skeptical about the cost of the road program. They will probably want to know how much padding has gone into the program since it started. The last one-cent increase in federal taxes was accepted when the program was discussed in terms of $27 billion. Now they learn it is costing $40 billion."

Taxes Hurting Industry
Dean A. McGee, president of Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc. of Oklahoma City, agreed. "I think the federal government could tax gasoline to the point they would be actually getting less money... taxes are already a substantial load on the gasoline price."

A Houston oilman, Johnny Mitchell of Christie, Mitchell & Mitchell Co., an independent oil firm, pointed out that the cost of gasoline has not increased in 30 years "and high taxes are hurting the industry."

A Dallas crude oil producer, Esull Heyzer Jr., put it this way: "If Congress wants to show any real concern for the consumer's welfare it will deny the road building another whack at the motorist's pocketbook. State and federal taxes on gasoline already exceed what the producer realizes from crude oil that goes into gasoline."

"The tax averages about 9 cents per gallon and crude oil sells for less than 7.5 cents per gallon," said Heyzer.

294 WELLS BROUGHT IN

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas oil drillers brought in 294 wells this week, boosting the year's total to 11,060, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The comparable total a year ago was 12,944.

Gas well completions totaled 46 for the week and 1,916 for the year, compared to 1,772 a year ago.

Dry holes numbered 144 for the week and 5,589 for the year.

Wildcaters drilled 15 oil wells, 4 gas wells and 74 dusters during the week.

The average calendar day oil allowable as of Saturday was 8,661,483 barrels, an increase of 8,071 barrels daily over last week.

Colts Lead By 2 In Pro Football

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

The Baltimore Colts are galloping toward their first pro football division title in 10 seasons and the Cleveland Browns are edging toward their 12th in 13 campaigns.

Coach Weeb Ewbank's Colts, led by John Unitas and Lenny Moore, scored 21 points in six minutes during the final period Sunday to crush the Los Angeles Rams, 34-7. Baltimore, which has whipped its closest pursuers in its last two starts, held its two-game lead in the National League's Western Division with only three to play. The Colts kicked the Rams three games off the pace.

Coach Paul Brown's Cleveland club clung to its one-game margin over the New York Giants in the Eastern Division by defeating the Philadelphia Eagles, 28-14. New York, which slipped out of a first-place tie with Cleveland by bowing to the Pittsburgh Steelers Nov. 16, bounced back by blanking the Washington Redskins, 30-0.

The Chicago Bears, 17-0 victors of the Colts a week ago, remained two games behind Baltimore by rallying to down the Detroit Lions, 20-7. The defeat officially ended Detroit's slim hopes of keeping the Western Division and league titles.

Pittsburgh remained a game behind New York and two behind Cleveland by defeating the Chicago Cardinals, 27-20, on Bobby Layne's 78-yard pass-run touch-down to Jack Orr in the last six minutes. Ollie Matson of the Cardinals raced 101 yards to score with the first kickoff. In the other game, Y. A. Tittle threw two scoring passes to Billy Wilson and one to R. C. Owens to spark the San Francisco Forty-Niners to a 33-12 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

Each of the 12 clubs has three more games.

Unitas, who missed two games with cracked ribs, returned to Baltimore's quarterback post Sunday and bombed the Rams with their own favorite weapon on the first play from scrimmage. He fired to Moore and Lennyaced 58 yards to score.

Moore also ran eight yards to score in the second period but the Colts were clinging to a 13-7 lead when they thrilled a capacity home crowd of 57,557 with their last-period spree. Unitas passed 12 yards to Jim Mutschler and plunged a yard while L. G. Dupre ran six for three quick touchdowns.

Hogan Loses Links Meel

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Angel Miguel, a dapper Spaniard who looks like a prize fighter, ruled the international golf world today at the end of a tournament which proved conclusively that Ben Hogan no longer is the killer of the fairways.

Hogan, the four-time winner of the U.S. Open, at 46 still thinks he can win that title a record fifth time. He said so just before the International Trophy and Canada Cup championships opened here.

And then he proceeded to prove that the feared "Hawk" has dulled claws.

You might be able to seek an excuse that it was trying for the players to go 72 holes in four days in this mile and a half high city. But Hogan is a man who prides himself on his condition and never desponds.

And it was Harry Bradshaw, a 45-year-old Dublin boy who looks like a retired New York City cop — corporation and all — who plodded through the rarefied atmosphere to tie the younger Spaniard at 286 blows.

Each of them shot a final round 70. Hogan finished up with a two over par 74 for a 291 which left him tied for seventh place, a matter of five shots back.

There was a day when, if you put the "Hawk" that close to the lead, you could expect him to come swooping over those first holes to victory. But while he was close all the way, he never could give it that old garrison finish.

Ben shot a 72 in the first round which left him three shots behind pace-setting Miguel Sala, the Colombian who is so thin the Mexicans call him "Spaghettini." The second day, Bradshaw took the lead at 140 and Hogan's 72 left him five shots behind. The third round leader at 213 was Belgium's Flory Van Donck and Hogan, with a 72, was only four shots away.

San Angelo Match Set

Pampa boxers will fight a team from San Angelo Friday at Pampa Optimist Boys' Club. San Angelo, coached by Joe Valdez, is reported to have an excellent squad, from bantamweights to heavyweights.

The San Angelo match will be the third of the year for Pampa's boxers. They took 8 of 11 fights last Friday at the Boys' club, and won 4 of 10 earlier in Amarillo.

Pampa's third scheduled match will be against Fort Sil, Okla., at the Boys' Club Dec. 3. Fort Sil has one of the best service boxing teams in the nation.

Shawchuck Guards Goal Well in NHL

United Press International

Even Phil Watson was willing to admit today that Terry Shawchuck of the Detroit Red Wings "is the best goalie in the National Hockey league."

"He's playing goal like the Sawchuk of old, and that's for sure," the New York Rangers' coach admitted after the Red Wings handed the Broadway skaters their first defeat in seven games, 3-1, Sunday night at Madison Square Garden.

Square fanned on a rebound shot by Andy Bathgate in the second period that gave New York a 1-0 lead.

Army, Navy Clash Saturday

United Press International

Army and Navy tangled next Saturday and practically every one in the nation will take sides except a handful of other teams, which will be concentrating instead on taking a trip to a bowl.

Although the traditional service classic between the Cadets and the Midshipmen at Philadelphia figures to overshadow all other football business on Saturday, the Air Force Academy, Clemson and possibly a few other teams can clinch bowl berths depending on how they fare this week.

Army, which has won seven games and has only a 14-14 tie against Pittsburgh to mar its season record, undoubtedly will be at least a one touchdown favorite against Navy, a six-game winner this year but a two-time loser to Tulane and Notre Dame.

The Black Knights own a slight edge in the inter-service rivalry that dates back to 1890. Since then, Army has won 29 of the games, Navy 24 and five of the clashes wound up in ties. Navy won last year's game, 14-0.

Kiwanis Captures Civic Club Meet

The Kiwanis team won its eighth straight Civic Club golf tournament Sunday — but not by much.

The Kiwanis team won by two strokes over the Rotary Club and the Noon Lions' Club, in the eight-hole tournament held Sunday afternoon at Pampa Country Club.

Private Education

It is in character that a majority of our government school supporters will do almost anything in their power rather than permit private schools to flourish as they should. Consequently, they are about the business of increasing taxes and building new and bigger school buildings from dawn to dusk.

It should be apparent to us in this generation that when it comes to education, the tail has been wagging the dog. Government, which should have nothing to do with education at all, has been running the whole affair.

Junior tells us with much gusto that the important things he is getting out of school relate to the football team, the debate society, automobile driving lessons, orchestra and a chance to date the neighbor's daughter.

It is time we got back to the essentials of education, even if we have to forego the air-conditioned, steam-heated palaces bought with tax money, and corral Junior and Junior Miss under the proverbial oak. They should go to school to acquire education, not to display the fondness of their parents.

Beware Of Soviets

If we can take the word of a medical practitioner, a lay preacher in the Baptist denomination, a lecturer in mathematics and science in Queensland, teachers at college and an active Communist fighter for nearly 30 years — we have no chance of making a deal with the Communists.

The man who presented these views on Communism, its cost, Australia and educated in that country. Recently Dr. Schwarz was interviewed in Washington on his views on Communism, its concepts, its expansion and other points. Dr. Schwarz was questioned by members of the staff of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Part of the interview is presented herewith:

DR. SCHWARZ: The tragedy of Communism is not simply that it murders, but it transfers murder into a moral and righteous act. When a person does evil and he is conscious he is doing evil, you have a basis of approach; but when evil becomes a good, you have no starting point, you have nothing about which to argue. The great evil rests in the philosophic, basic concepts of Communism when it rejects God, when it materializes and deifies man, and when it denies the inherent dignity and value of human personality and individuality.

MR. ARENS: It is our information, Doctor, that there are in the world today approximately 25 million Communists. Is there any cohesive force that is opposing them?

DR. SCHWARZ: Unfortunately, MR. ARENS: How do you account for the fact that this ideology of Communism, which is contrary to all that you and I as Christians — and I say it in the broadest term — people who believe in God and believe in spiritual values, how do you account for the fact that this force called Communism, evil as it is, unappealing as it is to those with any sense in them, of goodness, is sweeping across the world, that it now encompasses about one-third of a population of the world? How do you account for that?

DR. SCHWARZ: First, the reason is their recruitment of the student intellectual, who is susceptible to the appeals of Communism by reason of his educational conditioning. He accepts that materialist foundation on which Communist ideology and morality is built. He is recruited in terms of his ideological pride. He is more intelligent than the average man, and he sees the opportunity to mold man and

Deterioration In Quality Of Education

Ben Moreell, in his article in "The Freeman" magazine on "Engineering Education," has considerably to say about the deterioration in the quality of education.

It seems to me that this deterioration in the quality of education is the cause of injustice and partiality we have in many of our laws. If we were properly educated as to what was right and just, we would not have laws as we now have that take away from every employe working under a union contract, his right to make an individual contract that is in harmony with his best judgment and his conscience. It also takes away from the employer his right to make an individual contract with his employes.

These employes are at the mercy of the labor unions almost as much as the employe in Russia is at the mercy of the Russian government.

We have certainly neglected teaching what justice, equity and fairness are. And how can schools that are based on injustice and inequity successfully teach respect for creative energy? How can they teach what is fair and just when they are practicing that the majority need not respect the inalienable rights of the individual?

"No Lack of Demand" Mr. Moreell, in substantiating his heading, "Deterioration in Quality of Education," writes:

"Commenting on the deterioration of standards of learning in our public schools, Felix Morley, noted educator, author, and editor, had this to say in a recent article: 'There is no lack of demand for competitive education in the United States—the failure is in the supply. Several factors have combined to create this anomalous situation. Perhaps the most influential is the extreme to which the plausible theory of progressive education has been carried. Starting from the reasonable thesis that schooling should be enjoyable, the trend in public education has gone on to eliminate all coercion, all task-work, and almost all sharply competitive training. Unfortunately, this misguided kindness has altogether failed to make the lives of teachers, pupils, or parents happier. We do not need psychologists to tell us that the child whose will is never crossed is the one who makes himself and others miserable.'"

"The results are inevitable and might well have been foreseen. The pupils have acquired smatterings of much unrelated information of little value as mental training and, for the most part, they have failed to acquire a capacity for that self-discipline which is essential to learning."

"As for the teachers, the emphasis has now shifted from efficiency in their subjects and is directed toward acquiring a handiness with teaching methods, with corresponding neglect of the substance and content of knowledge. As Dr. Morley has stated so well: 'The whole public school system is top-heavy with educationists who know how but not what to teach. Talent is no longer as important as the mere number of credits which teachers achieve in mandatory courses concerned with procedures rather than with content. Undoubtedly techniques are useful, but they do not of themselves make teachers any more than typing ability justifies the author.'"

"Four years ago, I participated in a seminar on scientific education. An assistant high school principal and teacher of science in one of our largest cities asserted that in his state, one of the most popular, only 10 per cent of the high school teachers of science had received extensive training in the methodology of teaching!"

"Canon Bell, the great Episcopal scholar, and my dear friend, in the chapter on 'The School' of his book, 'Crowd Culture,' has this to say: 'There is no getting around the fact that while our present teachers, and any we are likely to get, may be fairly competent to work in old-fashioned subject-matter and mind-training schools, they are simply not up to acting as preceptors, fathers and mothers, priests or rabbis or other ministers of religion, skilled counselors, trained nurses and psychiatrists, all these rolled into one. It is not honest, not intelligent, for professional theorists to talk as though this is not the case, thereby leading the general public to suppose that the public schools ought to do, are doing, what in fact they cannot do; encouraging teachers to neglect what they are able to do in order to dabble about in any number of tasks at which they are necessarily incompetent.'"

"Father Bell quotes a West Coast high school teacher, one of many hundreds who wrote to him, as follows: 'What do we teach here? Scraps of literature and art, some unsystematic applied math, bits of history and geography, in fact, smatterings of almost all things academic and otherwise. These we try to 'integrate around vital central interests' such as how to date and mate and, if possible, war and their victory is impossible. To think that we can do it is to indicate a failure to understand Communism so completely that it approaches mental illness.

Just Got My New Calendar—

Robert Allen Reports:

Like Considers Attending The NATO Convention

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is considering again attending the annual NATO conference in Paris in mid-December.

This is being urged by top State Department and Pentagon officials, as well as by Premier de Gaulle and Chancellor Adenauer. The latter particularly is stressing the importance of the President's personal participation.

Adenauer is even proposing the President include a visit to Kremlin-threatened Berlin.

Last year, the President decided to take part in the NATO parley following Russia's spectacular surprise launching of Sputnik I. His primary mission was to bolster allied confidence.

The following month, on January 31, the U.S. Army successfully put into orbit Explorer I. This year, less startling but more immediately urgent problems confront NATO.

In Geneva, Soviet political and propaganda tactics have virtually torpedoed the East-West conference on halting nuclear tests and preventing surprise attacks. In Berlin, the Reds appear bent on provoking a new highly explosive crisis. The Middle East is again ominously restive, with Syria's deliberate attack on King Hussein's plane, and a military coup in recently-independent Sudan.

And Paris and Washington have stirred up hornets' nests inside NATO.

Premier de Gaulle's proposal, for what would amount to "Big Three" control of NATO planning and strategy, is strongly resented by the other allies, especially West Germany. And Defense Secretary McElroy evoked even greater alarm with his announcement the U.S. intends to further reduce its ground forces and sharply limit the production of intermediate range ballistic missiles for Europe, while speeding up the development of intercontinental range missiles to be based in this country.

Fair Enough

New Attack On FBI, Hoover Underway

by WESTBROCK PEGLER

A new attack on the FBI and J. Edgar Hoover is now in force and may be reasonably regarded as an emprise of Americans for Democratic Action. Although this is not a Communist front, some of its political purposes are not in open conflict with those of the Communist movement. The Communists, of course, have been the most vigorous political fighters against the FBI ever since the Harding Administration. But other critics and enemies of the Bureau have no connection with the Muscovite movement. In a long, tiresome article of 57 pages in the Nation, the early history of the FBI recently was examined with scorn by Fred Cook, who recently published also a book in vindication of Alger Hiss. Cook is a reporter on Roy Howard's New York World-Telegram. His political slant is his own and the fact that he imparts to this nation propaganda the skill of a good news-writer adds gravely to the campaign against the FBI.

After the Nation had teed off with Cook's discussion, the New York Post, owned by the Schiff family, sent reporters to interview Sherman Billingsley, the owner of the Stork Club, and Toots Shor, the Steakhouse man, about Hoover. Hoover has patronized both places. However, he is not a drinker and neither place is a hangout for the underworld although, inevitably, some notorious individuals do happen in for drinks, food and conversation. For that matter, Frank Costello recently related that Hoover accosted him in the Waldorf lobby saying "I have sold you, I want no part of you." Costello said he asked in surprise, "Why? What did I do now?" and that Hoover said, "You are a phony; I just heard you didn't own the Waldorf!"

There had been crazy rumors, some still persisting, that Costello owned J. P. Morgan and Co., and Tiffany's.

The Post has a system of organized, fierce attacks on individuals. However, like others who live in glass houses, the members of the Schiff family are sensitive to unappealing facts. Thus, John Schiff, of the current generation, protested when a reminiscent article reviewed a historic outrage in which a friendly Swedish bullet in the household of John Schiff's father got 30 years in Dannemora Prison on a frame-up. William Randolph Hearst led the expose that liberated the bullet, but the motive for the frame-up never was clearly proven. But notwithstanding many savage attacks on unoffending individuals by the Schiff's Post, John Schiff querulously asked the author of the expose story, "Why don't you quit picking on my family?"

Hoover was only a clerk in the FBI during a long phase of the discussion in the Nation. After he became director in 1924 he organized the Bureau for efficiency and reliability and naturally made enemies by investigating Communism.

The method of such publicity campaigns is not provable. For example, an expatriate kooch dancer flogged out of the Stork on a busy night, squawking that she had been ill treated because she was a Negro. Within a few minutes she was on the air by means of a microphone at a rival restaurant patronized by "integrationists." The "Master of Ceremonies" was a propagandist of that school and after Billingsley had been sent to expensive boycott, the "Master of Ceremonies" became a "columnist" for the Post. He later admitted, in print, that he had been imposed on, but no amendment was offered to The Stork.

Max Lowenthal, a lawyer of enormous pomposity, wrote a book of 559 pages attacking Hoover and the FBI. Later Jonathan Daniels, the owner-publisher of the Raleigh (N.C.) News and Observer, revealed that, as Harry Truman's confidential man in the White House, he had learned that Lowenthal was the first one to pick Truman for the vice presidency.

When the House Committee on Un-American Activities tried to nail Lowenthal down concerning his acquaintance with questionable figures, Lowenthal wiggled away with bluster and evasions. Congressman Dondero of Michigan later said in a speech on the floor: "By pulling strings Lowenthal acquired the title of Adviser to General Clay in Germany. . . He had as assistant George Shaw Wheeler, the American traitor, Communist and renegade who shocked all America when he denounced the land of his birth and asked Czechoslovakia for asylum."

In one of the Senate investigations of subversion, Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, named by witnesses as Chief of a Communist cell in the Alger Hiss days, refused to answer whether he knew Frederick Philip Weber, who said "I plead my privilege" concerning questions about Lowenthal.

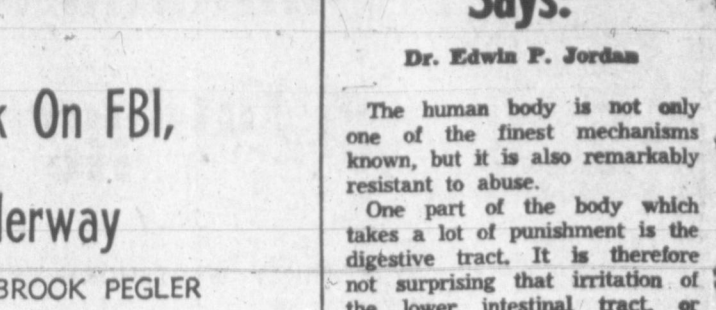

Hoover has said that he takes pride in the character of his friends and of his enemies.

Looking Sideways

By Whitney Bolton

NEW YORK — Be not dismayed because conformism seems to be sweeping the land and to be an individualist is to invite the jacket of a pariah. Help is at hand. It is true that "The Organization Man" and "The Hidden Persuaders" blew loud, brass horns in the field of conformism and under the kind eye of Heaven there is no conformism as rigid and inelastic as life in a housing development in the suburbs. If your neighbor buys a blue, transparent garden hose you feel guilty and not belonging unless you, too, go out and buy a blue, transparent garden hose. Your neighbor laughs long and loud at Jackie Gleason on TV and looks upon you with plain suspicion if you find the rotund fellow less than shattering. If the next five houses in your row are dwelled in by men with two cars, no matter what debt they may be in because of it, you will be an outcast unless you also saddle your self with a second automobile.

The Doctor Says:

The human body is not only one of the finest mechanisms known, but it is also remarkably resistant to abuse.

One part of the body which takes a lot of punishment is the digestive tract. It is therefore not surprising that irritation of the lower intestinal tract, or bowel, is frequent.

The condition to which I refer is known as spastic colon, or irritable bowel. I receive a great many inquiries about this, asking what can be done to treat it and whether it increases the chances of developing cancer.

Chronic irritation of this portion of our anatomy is almost certainly one of the most common ailments today. Its most common signs are abdominal distress, growling or gurgling sounds in the area and disturbances in waste elimination, particularly alternating diarrhea and constipation.

Apparently many factors enter into the development of spastic colon. Some are irregular eating habits, the consumption of irritating foods, the too frequent use of laxatives or cathartics, and by no means unimportant, emotional stress and strain.

Many people labor under the delusion that in order to keep themselves healthy they should "cleanse" their insides regularly with a laxative of one sort or another.

Actually, nature is well equipped to do this job, and does it a lot better most of the time than can be done artificially. Certainly the long continued use of cathartics is generally recognized in medical circles as one of the most important causes of bowel irritation or spastic colon.

A lot of people eat irregularly and choose foods which do not give enough bulk or which are themselves too laxative in nature. This can also contribute to the development of spastic colon.

The pressure of modern life, particularly on a "high strung" temperament, has a lot to do with bowel trouble. Anyone who has a spastic colon learns that the condition gets worse under nervous tension and this often brings on an acute attack.

Too many victims of spastic colon think they are constipated because they may go for a day or two without emptying the bowels. Often this is because they have had a little diarrhea and there is simply nothing left to eliminate. This causes concern, a laxative is taken, and the spastic colon is irritated again.

On the encouraging side it can be said that spastic colon does not cause cancer nor will it do itself lead to anything else that threatens life. It responds reasonably well to treatment with a bland diet and sometimes medicines, but it is hard to get rid of entirely.

Most of those who have this trouble have experienced periods of great relief, suddenly followed by a recurrence after a single unwise chosen meal or an emotional upset.

When the House Committee on Un-American Activities tried to nail Lowenthal down concerning his acquaintance with questionable figures, Lowenthal wiggled away with bluster and evasions. Congressman Dondero of Michigan later said in a speech on the floor: "By pulling strings Lowenthal acquired the title of Adviser to General Clay in Germany. . . He had as assistant George Shaw Wheeler, the American traitor, Communist and renegade who shocked all America when he denounced the land of his birth and asked Czechoslovakia for asylum."

SANDERS' UNIT

Tom Sanders, Yucca Company operator, stands by his automatic hot oil unit, that has brought faster, more economical service to large and small well alike. Sanders' unit provides the only fully automatic hot oil service in existence. Sanders designed the unit himself.

Money Will Go To Roads Of County

The Texas Highway Department will spend $78,000 for farm to market betterment in Gray County during 1959. D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer, has announced. At the November meeting of the Texas Highway Commission, $20 million was appropriated for improvements on 3,601.8 miles of existing farm to market roads in 187 counties. Not only surface and base strengthening but also bridge widening and replacement and shoulder improvement is included in the work which specific farm to market roads are scheduled to receive, Greer stated. This is in addition to the regular construction and maintenance program already programmed for the counties concerned, the State Highway Engineer stated. Projects for Gray county are as follows: Resectioning and erosion control work on FM 2373 extending from State Highway 273 easterly three miles. Seal coat and erosion control work on the newly designated Farm to Market road extending from State Highway 273 east of Lefors easterly 2.4 miles. Seal coat and erosion control work on the newly designated farm to market road from a point about two miles east of Lefors to Colton. The construction of additional drainage structures, erosion control work and seal coat on the newly designated farm to market road extending from State Highway 273 8.5 miles north of McLean north and west a distance of 4.9 miles. It was announced that work would begin on these projects as soon as final planning is completed. Mr. G. K. Readig, Supervising Resident Engineer, will be in charge of the work in this area.

Yucca Hot Oil Unit Is Noted For High Speed, Efficiency, Low Cost

Are you tired of seeing your oilwell tubing lying on the ground every time paraffin gets it clogged? Your flow lines can be cleared of paraffin without ever leaving the well. If you want modern hot oil service in your oilfield, the man to see is Tom Sanders, who runs the Yucca Company, 108 S. Wynne. Sanders will open your eyes to what real hot oil service can do for your line. Sanders operates the only fully automatic hot oil pumping unit in the business and can clear your tubing, flow lines or tank batteries of paraffin in a fraction of the time it would take a conventional hot oil unit to get it out. Compact and efficient, it can roll up to any well and do the job it's there for, saving you time and dough. Everything it will do is guaranteed but formation work. No one can guarantee that. Coming up through the ranks as a production manager, Sanders saw the need for new equipment, something for the five barrel well. Four years' planning and four months of hard work went into a unit which is virtually foolproof and is adaptable to all wells. Then he formed the Yucca Company and was on his own. The Yucca unit is completely insured and is winning wide acceptance on the Panhandle as oil men see what it can do. Phone MO 9-9771 for the Yucca Company or write PO Box 26. The invention of an automatic hot oil unit is the biggest thing that has happened on the Panhandle in years. All oilmen can cash in on the benefits that come from this new application of hot oil.

HAROLD SMITH ... with dust stopper

Get Dust Stoppers For Wintry Blasts

Harold Smith brought the first aluminum storm window to Texas in 1946. At that time Storm Windows were unheard of in this part of the country. Now 12 years later in 1958 there are still thousands of people who are still putting up with sweating windows, wasting fuel in winter time and needless house cleaning after sandstorms when the answer is so simple. Dust Stoppers. Smith set up the first plant in the Texas Panhandle which is better known as Plains Aluminum Industries, to completely manufacture a full line of storm windows. Smith served as an apprentice in the weatherstrip business 27 years ago in Detroit, Mich. And has spent his life working with windows. Since that time he has worked on just about every kind of window that has been made. And from the ideas gained over this long period of time, the idea of the Dust Stopper storm window was developed. Dust proofing is accomplished by the style and type of weatherstrip which has made the Dust Stopper famous today. He uses a combination of wood pile, special weatherstrip felt and neoprene plastics, a new material designed for both extreme cold and heat. Every part of this window was designed to do a specific job and it does it. Hail was taken into consideration with the Dust Stoppers. With the result that four lines of the windows are designed to go under the screens. The new Hollywood line features a half screen. Plains Aluminum Industries also builds the most complete line of 100 per cent dust proof storm doors. All doors are custom built and with features never before found in a door. If you are interested in bringing your home up to the standards desired, as far as your windows and doors are concerned, call Harold Smith, collect at Panhandle, Texas, 2621, or write to Plains Aluminum Industries, Box 38, Panhandle, Texas.

Face It, You'll Always Be Cold!

MacPherson's position was that such a mechanism just doesn't exist and science might as well give up dreaming there is one. The idea of there being one, he said, is based on the notion that the temperate climate is the one in which the human body is under no temperature - adaptation strain. This notion is based on the fact that people flourish in temperate climates. Not ideal. Just the same, MacPherson said, it is not the ideal temperature for people. Consider man only as an animal, he continued. He is naked and he has no shelter and like other animals he has no knowledge of fire. He has little hair with which to insulate his body, poor fellow. When it gets cold, this animal suffers. But when it gets hot, he's okay. No other animal has the ability to sweat that he has; and no other animal can enlarge his surface blood vessels the way he can. Thus, he can discharge heat from his body more efficiently than any of them. In cold weather, however, he is the worst off. The climate in which man can exist without body strain is one in which the temperature is 78 to 80 degrees, day and night. That is the climate of a tropical forest, whose inhabitants are protected from heat gain from the sun during the day and heat loss at night. GIANTS SLIGHTLY INJURED NEW YORK (UPI) — Quarterbacks Charlie Conerly and Don Heinrich suffered slight injuries in the New York Giants' 30-6 victory over the Washington Redskins Sunday but each is expected to see action next week against the Philadelphia Eagles.
