Reds Accuse US Of Violating 4-Power Status In Germany

Soviets Say Cold War Has To Be Halted

NO FLIGHT CHANGES

US Planes Will Fire Back If Attacked By Red Migs

BERLIN (UPI)—The Soviets today accused the United States of violating the four-power status of Berlin by using it as a base for agitation against the Communists world.

By LEE NICHOLS
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States refused today to change any of its military flight schedules and made it clear that U.S. airmen may fire back if they are attacked again by the Russians. and the other over the Sea of Japan on Nov. 7.

Russian fighters fired twice on the plane over the Baltic. Simulated attacks were carried out on the plane over the Sea of Japan. Neither plane was damaged.

On Training Flights
An Air Force spokesman told United Press International that there will be "no curtailment of any of our training or routine flights." He emphasized that these flights are not provocative planes—one over the Baltic Sea, Soviet attacks. The Pentagon has steadfastly maintained that all U.S. planes involved in recent Soviet incidents were engaged in training or navigational flights.

In disclosing the recent Red attacks, a formal U.S. note to Moscow noted neither of the American planes involved fired back despite what it called the "dangerous, offensive and provocative actions of Soviet fighter aircraft."

But it told the Kremlin in unusually stern language:

"If such dangerous tactics are in the future repeated by Soviet aircraft in close proximity to American aircraft in international airspace, the Soviet government should be aware that commanders of American aircraft will be under instructions to take any defensive action which they consider necessary and appropriate."

Causes Some Puzzlement

This statement caused some puzzlement here. American pilots have been authorized for some time to fire back if attacked, and to pursue their attackers. A state Department spokesman, asked Monday whether new instructions would be issued to American pilots, said this might be done but he did not know. He referred newsmen to the Pentagon. Defense spokesmen said they knew of no new orders as yet.

State Department officials told UPI later that, in general, U.S. plane commanders are under instructions to shoot back if necessary but are cautioned to exercise utmost restraint.

They said the language of Monday's note was intended to warn Russia it must halt such attacks or they might lead to "serious incidents."

Man Admits To Mutilation

CHICAGO (UPI)—An unemployed stone mason Monday admitted slaying his 15-year-old girl friend, police said, and then returning to her body in a forest preserve three times to mutilate the victim.

The admitted slayer, Charles Melquist, 23, a lanky man with sideburns and a pencil mustache, threw suspicion on himself Monday when he called authorities to report he had received a telephone call from the girl, Bonnie Leigh Scott, the night of her disappearance Sept. 22.

Authorities noted discrepancies in his story and Melquist insisted on taking a lie detector test. After several tests, which showed he was lying, Melquist broke down and admitted smothering the girl and dumping her body in a suburban forest preserve.

"I don't know why I did it," Melquist was quoted as saying when asked for a motive in the killing.

Police quoted Melquist as saying he returned to the scene three times, and the last time he slashed the body with a knife and severed the girl's head, carrying it about 15 feet from the body where he dropped it and fled.

Melquist dictated and signed a seven-page confession in the office of John Reid & Associates, a private lie testing firm. He denied molesting the girl sexually.

"She was a nice kid, but mixed up," Melquist said of Bonnie. "She regarded me as a big brother. Every time she had a problem, she'd call me."

Chief Deputy Sheriff Tom Smith said Melquist would be given more lie tests today concerning several other unsolved child murders in the Chicago area.

He was to be questioned about the deaths of Barbara Grimes, 15, and her sister, Patricia, 13, whose nude, frozen bodies were found in a ditch near where Bonnie's body was found, and the slaying of Judith Mae Anderson, 15, whose dissected body was found floating in oil drums off Chicago's lake front last year.

Police said Melquist revealed he smothered Bonnie with a souvenir pillow as they sat in his car parked outside his home in suburban Villa Park, Sept. 22.

He removed the clothes from her body, Melquist's confession said, and then drove 18 miles to a forest area where he dumped the body in a ditch.

Bonnie's body was found last Saturday by Boy Scouts hiking along U.S. 45 past the preserve. A dentist identified the body Sunday night through dental charts.

Melquist said he tossed Bonnie's clothes into a bonfire he noticed burning alongside the highway the night of the slaying. He said he returned to the body a day or two later because he thought "I killed her in a dream and I went to see if the body was there."

He returned again about two weeks later, according to the confession, but was frightened away by passersby. About three weeks ago he returned a third time and mutilated the body, Melquist said. He said he threw the knife into a ditch on his way home.

Six Deaths Blamed On Storm, 18 Still Missing; Cold Front Misses Texas

Blizzards Whip Dakotas, Minnesota; Southern Wyoming Has 20 Inches

Mercury Skids To Chilly 12 Degrees At Dalhart; Amarillo Man Dies In Fire

United Press International
A record storm, which lashed the West and Midlands with devastating tornadoes, deep snow and drenching rains, veered northward today with blizzard conditions whipping sections of Minnesota and the Dakotas.

At least six deaths were blamed on the storm which began on the West Coast during the weekend and rolled across the Rockies to batter a vast region from the Canadian border to Mexico.

Another 18 persons were missing, including three boy scouts and three airmen lost in snowy western wilderness regions. Scores of persons were stranded temporarily in lodges and along snow-clogged highways.

The vicious snowstorm smashed records in southern Arizona's vacationland, left snow 20 inches deep in southern Wyoming and 16 inches in the Dakotas. Nearly 100 schools were closed in Kansas.

The Chicago Weather Bureau said the storm also probably set a record for its extent and ferocity this early in the season.

Fear Scouts Dead
Ahead of the wintry blasts, southerly winds pumped mild weather into the east, setting the stage for a rash of twisters which skipped Monday through Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois.

Hardest hit was Elkader, Iowa, where a tornado swooped down on the town's main street "like a fireball" Monday afternoon. About 14 buildings were damaged and the roof of the county jail was torn away. Six to eight automobiles were demolished.

In the west, searchers slogged through deep mountain snows for three thinly clad boy scouts missing since Sunday in the frigid Santa Rita Mountains south of Tucson. There was little hope the youngsters would be found alive. However, hope mounted that two missing airmen might still be alive high in the Rocky Mountains west of Fort Collins, Colo. A search pilot reported sighting a series of fires arranged in an "L" shape near the summit of Hayden Peak.

An Air Force rescue team camped overnight about four miles from the summit in near-zero temperatures and resumed

PANHANDLE SNOW

It only amounted to two or three inches, but the first snow of the season was beautiful to wheat farmers in the Panhandle of Texas and Miss Barbara Wilbanks, 18, a freshman at Amarillo College. Snow, sleet, and rainstorms have lashed a wide section of the country from Canada to East Texas in prelude to winter.

destructive windstorms and tornadoes, chilled the entire state, but the freezing line didn't penetrate as far as earlier predicted.

The weather was blamed for two deaths. Luke Rhodes, 48, of Amarillo died when a fire swept his apartment early today. The other death came at O'essa Sunday night when winds toppled an oil derrick a worker was climbing.

The Amarillo fire was blamed on a defective gas heater, which Rhodes had left on as the temperature edged down toward the 20-degree low there.

Only the northwest corner of the state recorded freezing temperatures, while the morning's high minimums of 60 degrees were recorded at Laredo and Brownsville.

Other low readings included 23 at Childress, 28 at Lubbock and El Paso, 29 at Wichita Falls, 30 at Alpine and 32 at Midland and Abilene, 35 at San Angelo, 37 at Mineral Wells, 38 at Presidio, 40 at Dallas, 41 at Fort Worth, 48 at Waco and the 50s elsewhere.

An inch of snow still covered the ground at Dalhart and the upper tier of Panhandle counties, causing the mercury to drop lower there than elsewhere in the area, where only spotted traces of Monday's fall remained in evidence.

Skies were clear in West Texas this morning and cloudy over East, Central and South Texas.

Rain still fell along the coast and over the southern half of East Texas, but was expected to move on eastward out of the state during the day.

Rainfall totals for the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. included 1.75 inches at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, which Monday had the nation's highest temperature reading of 87 degrees.

Two Russians who defected to the West and then returned to the East testified they had been victims of American-backed anti-Soviet organizations.

A former deserter identified as a Lt. I. W. Ovchinnikov, in a statement obviously prepared for him, said American-financed underground organizations in West Berlin violated the Potsdam agreement and the city's four-power status.

Items developed at the news conference brought no direct threats against the Western position in the city nor did they refer to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's demand that the four-power occupation of Berlin be ended.

But the news conference seemed to be part of the Soviet build-up for some sort of action against the city.

Soviet embassy press attache M. V. Bebrudov said the conference had been called to tell the world public about the cold war tactics used against the Soviet Union by the "imperialists."

Actually, the conference had been expected to produce new word on Soviet views on the Berlin crisis, perhaps through an interview with Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Pervukhin, who has just returned from Moscow. But all it produced was a rehash of the same old charges by the Soviets against the West.

Belief that a major statement was in the works followed a statement today by Johannes Diekmann, president of the Communist East German parliament, who said the question of a blockade was up to Khrushchev.

The Russian ambassador had been expected to give this view.

City Tax Assessor Aubrey Jones told Pampa City Commissioners this morning he expects to meet with City Attorney R. F. Gordon Saturday to begin concrete action against Pampa's delinquent property tax - payers.

Jones, at the Commission's request Nov. 7, was asked to draw up delinquent tax statements as the first step in the city's crackdown on citizens neglecting their tax obligations.

Mayor Lynn Boyd, at the commission's Nov. 7 meeting, informed commissioners that about $41,000 in taxes had not been paid the past three years. He urged immediate action, and explained the city's urgent need for more operating funds.

Assessor Jones said this morning delinquent statements must be drawn up in triplicate, and that the work takes some time. He expected his office would complete the work by Saturday.

Jones also discussed with the commission the vacant lot situation in Pampa. Several lots, which at present are tax liabilities, will likely be put up for public sale following lengthy legal steps. Lots mentioned were in the Talley, and the Wilcox additions.

Turning to other matters the Commission heard a suggestion from Mayor Boyd that television antennas and two-way radio aerials be given inspections to determine if they are properly grounded. The mayor also saw the possibility of heavy damage if a poorly installed antenna should fall or be struck by lightning.

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne advised the commission he knew of "only a few fires" caused by lightning striking antennas, and knew of only two or three that fell under adverse weather conditions.

In other business the Commission approved a final payment of $9,078 to Lyle K. Stout; approved payment of $40,338 to Stockton Construction Co. for water service line work in north Pampa; and paid $947 to Roberts, Merriman, Bowen and Isbell, engineering consultants, on contract No. 358.

It was also decided that a $21,000 debt to Ray Boswell Contractors, will be paid over a one year period. Boswell, over the past year, has been doing city pavement work.

It was explained the delay in (See ACTION, Page 2)

THE GRIDIRON & THE CLASSROOM

The post-Sputnik era of increased respect for learning takes concrete form at Asbury Park (N. J.) High School where good scholars as well as varsity athletes are awarded the school letter. Charles Willingham, left, wears his football letter no more proudly than does Ralph Vanderstout his for a 97 scholastic average. The scholar letter is the same size but distinguishable by a differently colored border and a lamp of learning. It takes a 90 or better average in the classroom to win a scholastic letter, and a certain amount of time or quarters on the gridiron to earn the football letter.

Winds Kill Two

In Utah, the frozen body of a third airman who bailed out of a plane over the mountains southeast of Huntsville was recovered Monday and searchers sought a fourth airman still missing and believed dead. Four members of the eight-man crew, who abandoned the crippled plane last Friday, were rescued. Other storm victims were a man killed Monday when winds smashed an Odessa, Tex., oil derrick; a Morris, Okla., woman found dead in the tornado wreckage of her chicken coop, and a Colorado motorist whose car skidded on an ice down a 30-foot cliff near Eagle, Colo., Sunday. Among the stranded were four persons caught by treacherous road conditions at the Mt. Lemmon resort lodge near Tucson. Twelve other persons were brought out of the Arizona snowdrifts by ambulances and search parties, two of them hunters suffering from exhaustion and starvation. Ten hunters still were missing in the Arizona snow, but authorities believed they were safe and talking refuge in cabins. Flight Brings Atlas Closer To Perfection

By RICHARD F. ROPER United Press International CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The spectacular and apparently successful halfway flight of another intercontinental Atlas brought the powerful missile a step closer today to the ocean-hopping capability for which it was designed. The Air Force did not disclose whether the Atlas, the nation's first ICBM, achieved the objectives desired in the shoot late Monday night. But if it did, the next firing is expected to be an all-the-way shot of 6,300 miles. Flames shot from the base of the 100-ton giant at 11 p. m. e.s.t. and grew into a huge orange ball that turned the starlit sky into near-daylight as the Atlas picked up speed and thundered beyond the earth's atmosphere. Visible For Minutes The 80-foot missile was visible for four and a half minutes, the duration of its powered flight. Just before engine burnout, when the Atlas appeared only as a tiny speck in a starry sky, it apparently hit a layer of cold air and a shimmering wreath of white surrounded it for several seconds. It was the 14th Atlas firing, and the fifth launching with the power of all three engines, which generate some 300,000 pounds of thrust. Monday night's Atlas was the first fired since Sept. 18, when an attempt to send the missile 6,300 miles to the south Atlantic ended in explosion after only 80 seconds of flight. Hit Any Target The Air Force declined to disclose why the latest shot was only a halfway flight. But it was learned the intricate plumbing system of the missile has been giving trouble, and Monday night's test was aimed at solving this problem. When the Atlas reaches operational status, the United States will be able to hit almost any target in the world with a hydrogen warhead from a base in this country.

We're putting the pyramids right back where they were!

Recently we have been testing a slightly different label on the Camel package. The experimental design changed the illustration and the wording a little. That's all. No change whatever was made in the famous Camel blend of choice Turkish and domestic tobaccos.

What we learned in the test is that Camel smokers prefer the original package, so we're putting the pyramids right back where they were, as quickly as we can do it. The test package is being discontinued, so you will soon be getting your Camels in the package you know so well.

We have always been proud of the loyalty of Camel smokers, and we thank you for helping us decide not to change the looks of the package that brings you the best-liked cigarette of them all! (Yes, we are happy to say that again this year, for the 10th straight year, Camel outsells all others!)

UNUSUAL FORMATION
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Louisville's football team isn't much impressed with Army's famed "lonesome end" offensive pattern this year because it has a formation in which it employs three ends and two fullbacks.

Baker PTA Has Annual Dad's Night

B. M. Baker PTA held its annual Dad's Night in the school auditorium on Thursday evening in observance of American Education Week.

Miss Sibyl Turner, parliamentarian, was in charge of the program in the absence of the president, Mrs. Warren Jackson who was in Ft. Paso at the State PTA convention.

Mrs. Don Haynes announced that the Baker PTA is sponsoring a standard Red Cross First Aid course beginning Nov. 17 in the First Christian church. Mrs. Flaude Gallman, music instructor, presented the evening's program, which included choir numbers, hula-hoop dances and a sextet composed of Baker pupils.

The executive board of the PTA met in the school cafeteria on Tuesday evening presided over by Mrs. Evan A. Jones, vice president in the absence of the president. Reports were given by Mrs. Boyd Bennett, secretary and Mrs. Roy L. Jones, treasurer.

Mrs. Jack Robertson in giving the radio committee report stated that the next Baker program would be in January.

Attending the meeting were John Evans, school principal; Mmes. Glen Dearborn, Roy L. Jones, Don Haynes, Lois Dittmeyer, Jean Pennington, Walter Simms, C. N. Gage, Evan A. Jones, Boyd Bennett, and Jack Robertson.

Timetable For Techniques In Roasting Lordly Turkey

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor To get the newest techniques in roasting the lordly Thanksgiving turkey, we consulted Kathryn H. Niles, noted home economics director of The Poultry and Egg National Board in Chicago.

Here are some of her suggestions:

Don't guess how long to roast your turkey. Use the chart below. It gives the approximate time required to roast fresh or completely thawed birds. Unstuffed turkeys require approximately 5 minutes per pound less time. Differences in individual birds may necessitate increasing or decreasing cooking time slightly.

Ready-to-Oven Temp. Total Cook Time (pounds) degrees F. (hours)

Table with 4 columns: Weight (pounds), Temperature (degrees F), Time (hours), and Notes. Rows include 4 to 8, 8 to 12, 12 to 16, 16 to 20, 20 to 24.

If you buy a dressed turkey, subtract 15 to 20 per cent of the dressed weight to obtain the approximate ready-to-cook weight.

When dinner is set for a definite hour, start the bird 20 to 30 minutes ahead of schedule to avoid delay should the turkey take longer to cook than estimated. This also allows time to make gravy, remove trussing cords, and arrange the bird attractively on the platter.

After the bird is done: Allow the bird to stand in roasting pan 15 to 30 minutes so that juices may be absorbed. Remove all trussing equipment, such as skewers and cord. Place the bird on a warm large platter. Use a simple garnish. Don't overdo it. Carve at table so everyone can enjoy the full glamour. Carve with a very sharp, thin-bladed knife and a fork with a guard. Carve enough meat at one time to serve all the guests.

Miss Niles suggests celery, carrots (both cut on bias), lima beans and kernel corn, all seasoned with herb butter for the feast. Her centerpiece is a straw turkey basket with bitter-sweet chrysanthemums and wood roses.

HERB BUTTER FOR THANKSGIVING VEGETABLES (Makes 6-8 servings)

One-half cup butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon minced chives, pinch of marjoram, pinch of rosemary, 3 cups hot, quick-cooked vegetables (celery, corn, lima beans, peas, carrots, or other favorites).

Heat butter or margarine to a golden brown; avoid burning. Add chives and herbs. Pass hot herb butter in preheated small pitcher. Or, drizzle over vegetables in vegetable dish.

Thanksgiving Dinner: Shrimp cocktail, roast turkey, garlic-flavored potatoes, stuffing, giblet gravy, whipped potatoes, sliced carrots and celery, kernel corn and lima beans with herb butter, spiced apples and spiced pears, yeast rolls, butter or margarine, steamed chocolate pudding, hard sauce, nuts and raisins, fruit bowl, coffee, tea, milk, cider.

Civic Culture Club Hostess To Citizens

Civic Culture Club was hostess to Senior Center Citizens on Thursday afternoon. Door prizes were won by Mmes. Ollie Daniel, E. H. Merchant and Van Huss; Messrs. T. O. Thompson, Tom Lane and J. M. Patton.

Hostesses were Mmes. R. E. Damer, president, Katie Vincent, J. B. Townsend, Emmett Osborne, Raymond Darsey, Ophelia Morris, Louise Sewell, Vera Lard, A. D. Hills and W. C. Scott.

Forty-two guests were present. The County Home Demonstration Club will be hostesses for the Center party this Thursday in Lovett Memorial Library, according to the Altruistic Club Senior Center's chairman, Jay Flanagan.

Holiday Fashion Gifts To Make

NEW YORK (NEA) — The women who appreciate handmade gifts are legion. And fortunately, there are many women who feel that a Christmas gift that they make with their own hands carries a special holiday wish.

A really pretty apron and a chic little ascot are gifts any woman will welcome. They're easy to make, too, even if you're not much at sewing. A consultant for Burlington ribbons suggests that you use plain white broadcloth for the apron. To make the tree, cut two yards of one-inch-wide red satin ribbon into bands, the first of which is 12 inches long. Cut each successive band two inches shorter. Place them one-half-inch apart and tip each with a gold star.

The ascot requires 6 1/4 yards of red and 3 1/2 yards of white taffeta ribbon in the one-inch width. Cut the ribbon into lengths of 1 1/2 yards and join the selvage edges, alternating the color. Now, you have a band 5 1/2 inches wide and 1 1/2 yards long. Fold it at the two corners in triangular fashion. Stitch triangular folds in place. Turn up one inch at center back and tack lightly at the center to shape it slightly. Lap the fronts slightly off center for a perky effect.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My father has a bad temper. For example when the Yanks won the game he kicked the TV set and it doesn't work any more. My main problem is this: He curses us kids out in a foreign language so loud that everybody on the block can hear. All I said was, "Pa, if you are going to cuss us out in front of the neighborhood the least you can do is to learn it in English." For this, he hit me right in the mouth. Was that fair?

JOEY (age 11)

Dear Joey: I don't know what your father said when he lost his temper, but maybe you should be glad he didn't say it in English.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year old girl who let a man sweet-talk me into ruining my life. He said he was 30 but I found out he was 49. He lied about his religion, his past and where he worked. He served time and has been married. I had to find this all out by myself. After he learned I was pregnant he offered to marry me, but I wouldn't marry him if he was the last man on earth. My mother says I am a disgrace to womankind to turn down a chance to marry and give my baby a name, but I can't see myself married a lifetime to the likes of him. I intend to put my child up for adoption, as I have nothing to give it, not even a dozen diapers. Am I being selfish or am I doing right?

MESSED-UP LIFE

Dear Messed-Up: You are wiser than most girls who have found themselves in similar circumstances. Marriage is forever and not a momentary cure-all for one mistake. A girl who ties herself to a hopeless character in order to give her baby "a name" — lives to regret it.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I had a good laugh over that letter from the lady with the large nose who was afraid to marry the man with a still larger nose for fear their children would have "noses to end all noses." Both my husband and I have large noses and when I was pregnant I prayed for a boy because I didn't want a little girl with a nose such as could have come from us. We have two lovely daughters and they have the cutest little noses in town. So I say, "Go ahead and marry — God takes care of those little details."

MARGIE

Dear Margie: And if God doesn't — the plastic surgeons do.

DEAR ABBY: I am the most broken-hearted person on earth. I always found time to go everywhere else but to see my dear old gray-haired parents. They sat home alone, loving me just the same. It is too late now to give them those few hours of happiness I was too selfish and too busy to give and now when I go to visit their graves and look at the green grass above them I wonder if God will ever forgive me for the heartaches I must have caused them. I pray that you will print this, Abby to tell those who still have their parents to visit them and show their love and respect while there is still time. For it is later than you think.

Creative Art of Floral Arrangements Demonstrated For Lamar PTA Meeting

"An open eye on a trip is worth more than a charge account at the florist," Mrs. Tom Price told the monthly unit meeting of Lamar PTA as she presented a program on dried compositions and arrangements to the group on Thursday afternoon.

David Mills opened the meeting with prayer and presented a devotional on mental health. He listed five pillars of mental health and suggested that they be used as a check list. These pillars are: individuals need to work hard every day; need a feeling that their work is constructive; need time for recreation; need to love and have love returned; need to worship. Rev. Mills said that it had been found that nine out of 10 mental patients had at least one of these conditions missing.

Mrs. Price and Rev. Mills were introduced by Mrs. W. C. Puryear, vice president and program chairman.

Mrs. K. H. Cambern, president, presided at the meeting during which the secretary's report was given by Mrs. Carl Thomas and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Jim Cunningham.

Room count was taken by Joe Page in the absence of Aaron Meek, school principal.

Shamrock Ups Rates

SHAMROCK (Spi) — An Ordinance was made mandatory by recent voting of revenue bonds, giving official sanction to rate increase in water bills. The new rate increase became effective Nov. 15, but due to meter readings the December bills will be at the old rates. The schedule is as follows:

First 2,000 Gal. . . $32 minimum.
Next 4,000 Gal. . . 60 per Minimum 4,000 gallons.
Next 4,000 Gal. . . 50 per M Gal.
Next 40,000 Gal. . . 40 per M. Gal.
Next 50,000 Gal. . . 35 Per M. Gal.

All Excess . . . 25 Per M. Gal.
The setting of rates was not done at the direction of the City Council, but was a requirement of the finance companies handling the preparation and sale of waterworks and sewer revenue bonds, according to W. A. Sims, City secretary. By setting the rates at these figures it will bring in enough revenue to retire the bonds.

SETS PEDALING RECORD

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) — Alfred Ruegg, a 24-year-old Swiss amateur, pedaled 28.4 miles in an hour Sunday on the Zurich Oerlikon track before 5,500 fans. An Austrian named Edwin Simic had been credited with the "world record" at this sort of thing — 27.9 miles in an hour.

What's new at Lovett Memorial Library? Books of adventure, archeology, theatre, dance, religion and biography are in stock.

"Quiet, Yelled Mrs. Rabbit" by Hilda Cole Espy is remarkably adult. The author, former Fred Waring press agent, tells of her experiences as a mother of five children, who threw out old fashioned ideas in favor of old fashioned fun. The qualities that make a good press agent, also make a good parent, the author concludes.

"The March of Archeology" by C. W. Ceram is a dramatization of the modern discovery of ancient civilization, presented in words and pictures. The story begins with the discovery in Rome of the body of a nude girl in a sarcophagus and ends with the interpretation of such finds.

"In 'Go With God,' Jim Bishop, author of 'The Day Christ Died,' presents a treasury of the great prayers of all time and all faiths.

For mystery and adventure, read Thor Heyerdahl's "Aku-Aku." Eight years after his famous Kon-Tiki voyage, Heyerdahl returns to the South Seas to ferret out the ancient secret of Easter Island, loneliest outpost of Polynesia. This is his account of the expedition.

Admirers of Albert Schweitzer will fight over "African Notebook" in which the humanitarian doctor recalls "Taboos and Magic," "Hospital Stories and Scenes."

"Anne Frank" by Ernest Schnabel will fill a need in readers intrigued by "The Diary of Anne Frank." To write this book, the author sought out and interviewed

Zale Jewelry Co. Authorized To Purchase Uncut Stones

Authorization for Zale Jewelry Company to purchase rough (uncut) diamonds direct from the Diamond Syndicate in London was announced today by Ben A. Lipshy, president.

With completion of its first purchase, Zale's thus becomes the world's first exclusively retail jeweler to be accorded this privilege. The Dallas-based firm will be able to effect substantial customer savings since only rough diamonds can enter this country duty-free to be cut and polished by Zale's.

For many years, Zale's mass-marketing concept has allowed the firm to provide considerable customer savings. Buying offices have been maintained in key European and Near Eastern diamond markets to supply 102 stores throughout 21 states from Virginia to California. But further cost-reduction could be secured only through purchase of rough diamonds direct from the mine owners and then do its own cutting to further trim costs between the mines and its stores.

Diamond mining today is tightly controlled by the syndicate in order to maintain a stable market and to protect the purchaser of a finished diamond.

Production at the mines is based on the quantity of finished diamonds moving into consumer hands. Thus, during a six-month period, the mines produce only the amount of diamonds sold during the preceding six months.

The manner in which rough diamonds are sold by the mines is unique. Back in the 1880's Cecil Rhodes—who established the famed Rhodes Scholarship for Americans to study at Oxford—brought the mine owners together and organized a syndicate to control the output. Today, each mine produces only the amount assigned to it.

Each month, those privileged to buy from the syndicate make application for a quantity of uncut diamonds. The syndicate then makes up a "sight" to its customers on a planned basis. Each "sight" consists of a "box" and the size of each "box" depends on the total amount of diamonds the syndicate wishes to sell during a six-month period. The value of each "box" can vary anywhere from $100,000 to $1 million.

Red Griggs
the pipeline

This will indeed be a busy week, sports-wise, in Pampa and the surrounding area. On the schedule are several bi-district football games, a boxing match, and the final Harvester game of the year.

Two bi-district games Friday could well decide the state championship in classes A and AA.

Gruver and White Deer, two undefeated squads, clash Friday night in White Deer. The Bucks are ranked second among state class A squads, and Gruver is rated eighth.

Friday afternoon, Perryton's rangers meet the always-tough Stamford Bulldogs in neutral Childress. Both teams are rated among the top five AA teams in the state. Both beat the rugged Quanah Indians—Stamford by 32-14 and Perryton by 27-12.

Moving back to Friday night, Ollie Wilhelm's Pampa boxers fight their first home match of the season, and the first match scheduled at Pampa Optimist Boys' Club.

Last Call for Harvesters

The Harvesters get their last chance for a district win — if you call it a chance — Saturday afternoon in Borger. The Bulldogs have rolled over everyone else in the district, and only Lubbock and Monterey gave them a ball game.

Borger doesn't figure to be stopped by a Pampa squad which has won only one game all year. The Harvesters' only chance is to hit the Bulldogs in the middle of an extreme slump.

It could happen, because the Bulldogs have already clinched the district championship, and so have nothing at stake in the game except prestige. They may be thinking more about Wichita Falls than Pampa.

At least four times this year, the Harvesters could have turned victory into defeat by just not making any mistakes. This week, that won't be enough. They'll need to play a perfect game, and hope for a Borger letdown, besides.

Rock and Roll Upsets

Six-man teams don't go to a state championship, but if they did we'd be willing to bet even money that Miami would take it. The Warriors will be playing Cato Center Friday night in Hialeah.

If they win that one, the Warriors will go on to the regional playoffs. The regional championship is the end of the line for six-man teams.

By the way, did you know that Bill Hines guided Miami to a district championship in his rookie year as a coach? Not bad for a beginner, especially when you consider that Miami had not beaten Mobette in a district game for seven years, before Hines arrived on the scene.

Speaking of rock and roll, some

Urbanczyk, Wills Place Silver Lining in Cloud

GET 'EM, DUNHAM—Dwaine Dunham, a 170-pound junior center, will be back to plague Harvester opponents next year. The middle of the line should be well protected.

Gary Wills proved last week that he's as good a passer as he is a runner, and Dwaine Urbanczyk showed that he can still pick up good yardage running.

A few Harvesters broke into the Plainview backfield to throw Bulldog ball carriers for losses, but the Pampa rushing defense on the whole was pretty weak.

Those Harvesters who either made tackles behind the line of scrimmage or recovered Plainview fumbles were DeWayne Glover, Halley Clements, Delbert Simmons, Rowland Stone, Richard Newberry, Harold Stokes, Dwaine Urbanczyk, and Kent Mitchell.

Wills paced the Pampa backfield, both in running and throwing, to keep his rushing lead for the year and move over the hundred-yard mark in passing. He ran for 75 yards and completed three of four passes for 67 yards.

Urbanczyk, the Harvesters' number two runner, made his first big splash on offense since the Bowie game of several weeks ago. The little speedster swiveled his way to 54 yards, and also caught a pass and did a pretty good job on defense.

Quarterback Bobby Stephens, pushed from the number three signal calling slot to a starting position, because of injuries to Buddy Rawls and Ronnie Smith, did a fine job. He engineered three drives which carried deep into Bulldog territory, and completed three passes.

Glover became the first Harvester to move over the century mark in pass reception yardage, as he snagged a couple of toasts.

Mert Cooper boosted his punting average slightly, as he got off one boomer of 55 yards and kicked three, altogether, for an average of 34 yards.

Despite the individual standouts, however, the Harvesters hit one of their season lows last week in losing 28-0 to Plainview. Their pass defense was no better than usual, and their rushing defense usually pretty good, didn't work.

The offense hit possibly a season low in futility and frustration, as two threats flailed out inside the 25, and three other threats were stopped inside the 10 on two fumbles and an intercepted pass.

Plainview was playing probably its best game of the year, but Plainview at its best should be about as good as Borger at its worst — so the Harvesters will have to do better this week, to even make a respectable showing. Much better.

LSU Remains Number One; Air Force, TCU in Top Ten

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Louisiana State Tigers, a band of night stalkers who make their first 1958 daylight appearance next Saturday, remained No. 1 today in the United Press International major college football ratings with two weeks left to decide the mythical national championship.

The undefeated national Tigers, who have swept nine night games, received 23 first-place votes and a total of 309 points from the 35 coaches who rate the nation's teams for UPI. The Tigers meet Tulane in an afternoon game Saturday—probably to accustom their eyes to sunshine for a New Year's Day Sugar Bowl date in New Orleans.

The Air Force Academy, surprise team of 1958, made its first appearance in the top 10. Texas Christian landed in the select group for the first time since the first week of the season and Ohio State moved back into the top 10 after knocking Iowa out of the top 10.

Ohio State's triumph caused a shuffle among the powers grouped behind LSU. Army, third last week, replaced Iowa in second place while Auburn advanced from fourth to third. Oklahoma moved from sixth to fourth.

The Big Ten's "6-1-1" teams—Wisconsin, Iowa and Purdue—ranked 5-6-7, Texas Christian was eighth, Ohio State ninth and the Air Force Academy tenth.

Syracuse headed the second 10 group with 82 points. It was followed by Notre Dame, Northwestern, Mississippi, Southern California, Rice and Clemson in that order. Mississippi State, Florida, Oklahoma State, California and Pittsburgh tied for 18th. No other teams received votes this week.

Mort Cooper Dies Of Lung Ailment

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Mort Cooper, who teamed with Walker Cooper to give the St. Louis Cardinals one of the most famous brother acts in baseball history, died Monday night at the age of 45.

Cooper, a three-time 20-game winner, died of a lung condition in St. Vincent's Infirmary, where he was admitted Oct. 31. The body was shipped to Independence, Mo., but funeral arrangements are incomplete.

The Cooper brothers were acquired by the Cardinals' late Sam Breadon for a mere $75 in 1937 and went on to lead the Redbirds to National League pennants in 1942, 1943 and 1944. Mort, two years older than Walker, was named the league's Most Valuable Player in 1942 after a season in which he had a 22-7 record, 10 shutouts and a 1.77 earned run average.

Fans Five Yankees

Big Mort — he stood 6-2 and weighed 210 pounds—had a 2-2 mark the following season and a 22-7 record in 1944. He had a 3-3 record in World Series competition and in 1943 struck out the first five batters he faced in one game against the Yankees.

Walker, who joined the Cardinals in 1940, caught Mort in the "glory years" of 1942, 1943 and 1944 before entering the Navy in 1945 for service in World War II. That season Mort was traded to the Boston Braves for pitcher Red Barrett and $60,000 and a few months later was operated on for the removal of bone chips from his right elbow.

Mort had a total record of 9-4 with the Cardinals and Braves in 1945 but never recovered his previous effectiveness after the operation and was sold to the New York Giants in 1947. He pitched one game for the Chicago Cubs in 1949 and then called it a career.

Woman Bowls Near-Perfect 290 Game

To arms, men! Something must be done, and fast, or the women will be taking over in every phase of sports around here.

First, about a week ago, Mrs. L. L. Garren shot a hole-in-one only 30 hours after her husband got a hole-in-one at Pampa country club. Now, a woman has come within 10 pins of bowling a perfect game.

Tuesday night at Harvester Bowl, Mrs. Quita Hurst spared on her first attempt, then rolled 11 straight strikes for a 290 game.

Mrs. Edna Stevenson also bowled a fabulous game Tuesday night, getting 254. Both Mrs. Hurst and Mrs. Stevenson received a blanket from George King Insurance Agency for their efforts. Mrs. Hurst also was awarded a necklace by Harvester Bowl.

The Obstructionists

This country, this state, this city, are full of obstructionists.

They are the people who stand four-square against progress. They are opposed to opportunity. Virtually without exception they attempt to thwart, ridicule, hamstring or otherwise prevent every honest effort made by individuals to become self-supporting, self-determining, responsible people.

In the conflicting and confusing language of our times, these obstructionists are frequently called "progressives." But the "progress" they envisage is simply movement in the direction of slavery. True progress is abhorrent to them.

They are the security seekers, feasting the light of day and the chances that opportunity brings. They are fearful of freedom, fearful of individual decisions. All that pleases them is the huddling together of masses, the conformity which reduces all to the lowest common denominator. "Togetherness" is their creed, "submit and conform" their watchwords.

And, in the idiom of our times, it is characteristic that the obstructionists will accuse those who honestly seek to make progress by calling them obstructionists.

Since the same words are used to mean different things by different people, something like a definition is clearly in order.

Who are these people who are against everything, who constantly take a negative view and who oppose progress?

These are, inevitably, the people who seek to pass regulations, laws, codes, rules and prohibition which will prevent other people from conducting their affairs in a normal and wholesome manner. In short, these are the laws passers and their sycophants, pushing to prevent progress by creating obstacles over which others must wearily make their way. They are the high-taxers, the "there-ought-to-be-a-law" boys, the "freedom-is-dangerous" sophists. They are the promoters of big government, of zoning and planning by government, of regulation and control by government, of even education and mental health by government.

They are irresponsible and infantile. They cloak their own mean ambitions for protection and security, as the noblest of the desires. They resent the vigorous and successful. It is their constant aim to reduce the vigor in others and to undermine the success of others. They cannot bear to see a victory shining on the face of a man who has won a battle. It is their purpose to compel a sharing of success with those who have failed.

These obstructionists are the plague of our time, the bane of this generation. They are a brood of vipers, incapable of lonely aspirations, filled only with the conceit which says that all others must be as they are.

They consider it glorious to topple the giants of the forest by means of governmental decree. Their aim is a uniform sea of grass each blade as flexible as each blade as much alike as it is possible to make grass; each blade worthless by itself.

This is why these security-craving conformists must forever wear the brand of obstructionist. They prevent the progress which can come only with strong and vigorous individuals hard at work. They decay any new idea. They cannot imagine a condition of mental pioneering and integrity. To them, the only god is uniformity. And progress to them is the same horizontal position taken in death.

An end to their sniveling maledictions! The obstacles they raise must be overcome. The taxing, licensing, controlling, regulating, hampering dogma they advocate is the cringing counsel of slaves. We will have none of it. We seek the superior man. We know that the long record which history has left that all progress originates in the minds of single dedicated humans.

Governments do not make progress. At best, they can only declare a neutral corner. At worst, they become the arch foe of freedom and liberty. Good citizens should avoid these negative souls. And they should and can correctly see that the man who sets himself up to regulate others today, will set himself up to regulate you tomorrow. What this nation, this state and this city need are strong, resourceful, independent human beings who can overcome all obstacles, even the unnatural and unnecessary barriers created by the obstructionists. It is on the free man that our future depends.

Illiterates

The schools, the politicians and our various entertainment media are combining to produce a race of illiterates. Tell us not that progress is inevitable. What is inevitable is motion. We can never stand still. But we can regress, and so far as a use of words is concerned we are in the midst of retrogression.

The debilitating process begins when we are young, in school. The subjects of reading, writing, spelling, literature and that scapegoat of the progressives, "phonics," are being put into pre-masticated pabulum for our juvenile consumption. Time was when a course in literature provided a reading program of some of the classics in which the thoughts, emotions and conclusions of the authors were readily available to the young and probing mind. Alas, no more. "Literature" today as it appears in course after course in our high schools and colleges, consists of condensations which take the reader thru the plot but leave the subtleties to extinction.

This process is actually begun in the lower grades where even such standbys as Red Riding Hood and Robinson Crusoe have been condensed into short resumes of plot and action. A sixth grade student of our acquaintance stunned us the other day by revealing that he had read "Robin Hood," "King Arthur" and "Ivanhoe" all in one afternoon.

Our amazement at the rapidity of his eye work was dampened somewhat when we learned that all of these "books" plus a few other items such as "Odyssey," "The Iliad" and "The Aeneid," were also in this collection of classics and readily contained in one volume less than an inch thick printed in large, bold type. Fortunately, the youngster had gone thru the whole series without a single salient feature being retained, so the joy of reading these great works can still be his at some future time. His mind is innocent of all pertinent data.

When the student emerges, cap on head, from some such course in the classics he only knows that he has read "everything" and is now ready for life.

Immediately he discovers that life as it is lived outside of school is much the same as it was in school, thanks to our politicians. In the great everyday world, politicians run everything. To do this, they have devised a vocabulary as confusing and inaccurate as the condensations of literature are inconclusive.

What he first learns is, the state is always right, individuals who oppose the state are crackpots. Not wanting to be a crackpot, the neo-voter is constrained to vote FOR "good" government on all occasions. He does not ask what the government is to do. He doesn't know good from bad. He has been managed all his school life by the heavy hand of political authority. It is no change at all to emerge from school. The big difference is that when he votes now (as he did all the way thru school) his voting affects everyone, not just other students in the same school.

But he is quickly accustomed to this enlargement of his powers, for he hears the politicians on every hand telling him that he must vote or welfare for the poor, job security for those with jobs, wage payments for those out of jobs. He learns that looking into a file for a letter that came last week is called "research," and that a lobbyist is a word that should always be attached to a person whose views are different from his. His own lobbyist is always a "legislative research specialist" or a "congressional liaison officer." Taxes are not taxes, sounds which pour in and out as a force, it is the will of the majority. If he flees from this arena of the paltry and unworthy, he undoubtedly has recourse to entertainment. For most, books are not entertainment, since they are entertained in his mind with the meaningless condensations with which he is familiar. Instead, he darkens the lights and sits mutely before a TV screen watching the meaningless antics of a group of highly paid mummies and jugglers murder each other and the king's English in the process. If his eyes grow weary, he resorts to radio and the constant stream of sounds which pour in endless stream from that harmless little box. From start to finish, today's citizen is conditioned NOT to think, but to cover as much ground as possible with the least possible expenditure of mental energy. This is the way illiterates are being manufactured.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOYLES

USSR Public Schools

Newspapers invariably receive propaganda issued by the Russian Embassy in the United States. A short time ago they announced in one of these releases that they would send two magazines devoted to education in Russia. Since I am interested in education, I requested these magazines. The first one on grade schools in Russia arrived.

It is beautifully printed with some 170 beautifully printed pictures on glossy, enameled paper. Some of the cuts are three and four colors. It, of course, is a very expensive magazine to publish. It is a 64-page magazine with a beautiful cover.

They certainly have picked out intelligent and good-looking children to use in this magazine. Some of the children, however, are used in several different pictures. The children are all neat and clean and intelligent-looking, and the teachers in most cases are beautiful ladies.

They work a little love into the story. On one of the first pages they have a nice-looking boy and a girl getting acquainted by asking, "What's your name?" Ten years later they have a picture of a beautiful girl and a boy under the caption "Small wedding." The first page has a picture of beautiful children on the first day of school bringing flowers to a beautiful teacher. Then the article says:

"The goal of the Soviet public school is the broadly educated citizen not the narrow specialist. It aims at education in the round—to provide the student with the cultural and pre-vocational background with which he can interpret the past and contribute creatively to build the present and the future."

Of course, it is very difficult to understand how any educational system either in Russia or the United States can broadly educate the citizen when they cannot emphasize the wisdom of having faith in a higher power than man-made laws. Russia, of course, is very similar to the United States in public schools inasmuch as neither can teach that there are eternal principles that no man made and no man can unmake, that govern human relations. Such is planned by each and every person getting what he gets on a voluntary basis by benefiting others rather than by injuring them. Of course neither Russia nor United States can teach these principles in tax run schools.

39 Languages

One advantage the United States has over Russia in their educational systems is that Russia attempts to educate the youths of the land in 39 different languages. The book says: "... Textbooks and visual aids are prepared in 39 of the languages spoken in the country."

"Although schools are supervised by local board of education and curriculum is planned by the Ministry of Public Education of the Soviet Union, all schools are part of the single nationwide system and are supported by government funds."

You will note that in the final analysis the education is a pure monopoly, just as state education in the United States is a pure monopoly where people must study what the state prescribes and must pay for it whether they believe it is harmful or not.

The book relates: "The curriculum, drawn up by the Ministry of Public Education of each republic after consultation with teachers, parents, leaders in industry, agriculture, science and culture, is followed by all the schools of the particular republic."

They, of course, admit that the final okay comes from the government that pays the salaries and costs.

They relate how many hours a year are devoted to different subjects: In the middle and upper grades the subjects are grouped into the humanities—Russian language, literature, foreign language and history; the science and mathematics courses—arithmetic, algebra, geometry and trigonometry, physics, chemistry, botany, zoology, anatomy, principles of Darwinism, geography, astronomy and drafting; technical training—which includes the principles of industrial and agricultural production and practical work; and aesthetic development—singing, drawing and physical culture."

Textbooks

They point out that textbooks are published experimentally and are not actively small editions, that only after testing are the textbooks finally approved by the Ministry of Public Education of the republic for general use and issued in the usual large editions. You will note that the Ministry of Public Education has the final say on what education is, and, of course, they will not allow free enterprise schools to operate as we do so far in the United States.

The whole booklet is a splendid method of propagandizing for state communism and collectivism.

From start to finish, today's citizen is conditioned NOT to think, but to cover as much ground as possible with the least possible expenditure of mental energy. This is the way illiterates are being manufactured.

Gets Squabbles, Not Squabs

Robert Allen Reports:

US Already Taking Steps In West Berlin

WASHINGTON — The U. S. is already taking one unmistakable step in answer to Premier Khrushchev's provocative threat to torpedo the four-power occupation of Berlin.

Within several weeks, the U. S. will start equipping West Germany's new army with ground and air rockets and missiles.

These weapons can be armed with either conventional or nuclear warheads. The backstage decision to greatly reinforce the Bundeswehr's firepower in this manner was made a few months ago at a series of conferences between Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss and State Department and Pentagon officials.

These plans are now being speeded up as a result of Khrushchev's truculent avowal to put Berlin under the rule of satellite East Germany.

West Germany is being provided with three types of missiles: By December 1 — HONEST JOHN ground-to-ground rocket. This 27-foot, three-ton projectile with a range up to 40 miles, is fired from a self-propelled launcher that is considerably lighter and more mobile than long-range artillery guns.

By January — MATADOR surface-to-surface missile. A winged, jet-propelled pilotless dive-bomber, it has a speed of more than 600 mph and a range of around 700 miles.

By March 1 — NIKE-AJAX ground-to-air anti-aircraft missile, with a range up to 25 miles.

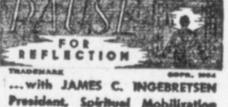

Only conventional warheads will be supplied for these new weapons. However, the U. S. has stockpiles of nuclear warheads in West Germany.

In preparation for receiving these weapons, "several hundred" German troops are completing training in the U. S. Initially, they will be used primarily to train Bundeswehr missile units.

The U. S. already has a number of its own rocket and missile units in West Germany.

OUR INCONSISTENT LABOR LEADERS

A.F.L.-C.I.O. President George Meany, in a recent speech, according to the Associated Press, "put in a plug for a proposed union of the Chemical Workers Union with the separate A.F.L.-C.I.O. Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, but he said it is a matter of free choice and there will be no compulsion on the part of the federation."

However, in the same speech, Meany reportedly defended "contracts providing for compulsory union membership." And a labor union international vice president, writing in the Chicago Sun-Times, claims: "unions have, and I hope will always have, the right to compel, force and coerce non-union members to become members..."

If union leaders are now ready to acknowledge that each union should be free to join or not to join another union, why don't they confess that each worker should also be free to join or not to join a union? Will someone please explain to me why there should be compulsion in one case and not in the other?

I fear that consistency is not an outstanding virtue with today's politically minded labor union leaders.

Whereas, An Old Soldier Almost Passes On Out!

By HENRY MCELORE

Old soldiers never die. No, but they come awful close!

I found that out yesterday at Fort Carson, here in Colorado Springs, where the plains and Rockies meet. With the permission of Maj. Gen. Martin J. Morin, commanding general of the 8th Infantry Division, I took basic combat training for one day with a battalion of recruits.

When the sun sank beyond the Rockies — or wherever it did sink, for I was too weary to look — I was a feeble pulse throb from a tombstone, and was down to three corpuses, two of them white.

I took the training for only one reason — I did not realize what sixteen years can do to a man. For it was just that many years ago, give or take a few draft notices, that I started basic training at Camp Wheeler in Macon, Georgia. That lasted fourteen weeks, and so did I.

But had yesterday been one second longer, had I had to take another step, or dig my foxhole one inch deeper, or do one more about face, then the population of the United States would have dropped overnight from 184,774,213 to 184,774,212.

Father Time's tricky, he's a sneak. He never lets on what he is doing to a fellow, and then a foolish fellow tries an obstacle course only to find out that his knees are made of Portland cement, his lungs are about the size of matching pistachio nuts, and the calves of his legs have a way of feeling as if they had been in a freezing compartment overnight.

I had no more than finished the physical training which starts the trainee's day — correction: the physical training had no more than finished me — when I would have bet my last nickel that I never stood 14 weeks of basic, even if I had been shown my honorable discharge to prove it.

Early in the afternoon, when it was obvious that I no longer had the makings of an infantry private, I was urged to stop by to see an old friend, Major Loehr M. Rigby, executive officer of the 2nd Howitzer Battalion, 4th artillery, who was keeping an eye on me.

He offered me a jeep ride to the rifle range, and lest I offend him, I took it. As I sank back into the jeep's luxurious cushions, felt its airy, cloud-like ride, I wondered why I had ever wanted a Hollis Royce.

As near dead as I was at the end of the day, I am glad I took the day of basic. If you are troubled about America's youth, a day with them in the army will cheer you up. Carson has a cross-section of America's youngsters, and they're real solid boys. The training is hard, but they take it like men.

The vast majority of them are proud to wear the uniform, happy to serve their country, and conduct themselves like what they are — fine, clean citizens.

It was a pleasure to be near collapse among them, even if it did mean the discovery of how long a time sixteen years is.

No wonder people make a fuss over cats and dogs who live to be sixteen!

ASYLUM FOR PASTERNAK

The Russian Communists have invited Boris Pasternak to leave the Soviet Union. He is the author of the novel "Doctor Zhivago," which, with his poetry, was adjudged sufficiently meritorious to win him the Nobel prize for literature. Because the novel is sharply critical of the evolution of communism in Russia, it has not been published in the Soviet Union, and all of the organs of the state have ganged up to assail Pasternak for his "treason."

This pressure has compelled the writer to refuse the honor and the money award awaiting him in Sweden, but the renunciation is not enough to satisfy the Communists. Inasmuch as their suggestion that Pasternak get out was broadcast in 10 languages, it is a fair inference that the Kremlin really means it when it proposes that the novelist choose another domicile.

The Doctor Says:

Dr. Edwin F. Jordan

Sometimes a person can have two apparently unrelated disorders at the same time.

Q—I am suffering from high blood pressure of around 200 and have a heartbeat of 52 a minute. This has been as slow as 40 beats a minute. Would you please discuss this and say whether there is any relationship? — Mrs. E.F. A.—There are several possibilities for the high blood pressure. In a good many instances the cause cannot be identified. A slow heart, by the way, is not a disease, it is likely the result of what is known as a heart block. This means that the electrical impulses passing through the heart are in some cases stopped by failure of the conduction system.

It is possible that both the high blood pressure and the slow heart could be the result of some similar hardening process, but it is also possible that they are unrelated. It is true, too, that some people normally have a slow heartbeat without apparent relation to disease. A good many athletes show a slower than normal heart-beat.

Without knowing all of the circumstances and making technical studies, one could not say what should be done, either for the high blood pressure or the slow heart-beat.

Q—Please give an explanation for a clicking sound in the ear. — K.M.

A—It is said that there are three possible sources for such sounds: An abnormal amount of sticky mucus in the eustachian tube, and nearby areas; a rhythmic spasm of certain muscles lying laterally; and last, as a result of injury to the eardrum or its nerve supply.

Q—I have been told that my uterus is double and I should have an operation. It was supposed to have been almost impossible for me to become pregnant, but I am. What are my chances for carrying this baby for nine months? — B.

A—This is an unusual situation. I should not want to hazard a guess as to the chances of carrying the infant to full term, but certainly hope that it will occur. The double uterus is what is known as a congenital anomaly and, of course, will not disappear of itself.

Q—Have the hormones ACTH and cortisone been used with success for multiple sclerosis? — H.

A—Not so far as I know, and I should doubt that they would have any favorable effect.

their homeland despite its inhospitality to intellectual freedom is often said to amount almost to a mystic compulsion, and it may be that Pasternak prefers to remain, even to the persecution may continue. If, however, he chooses to take the Communists at their word and strike out on a new life at the age of 67, the United States should declare its readiness to receive him. It should be made clear that he will be under no obligation to propagandize against communism if he comes here, and that he may write as he pleases, even if he is impelled to judge that some things American are not as ideal as they might be.

Asylum offered with no strings attached would emphasize the unfettered mind and that it has enough strength and confidence to accept criticism if it rests on truth, instead of resorting to political suppression. Hospitality on these terms would provide a text which no one could misread.
