

STRIKES THREATENING AIR TRAFFIC

United Press International
Labor disputes involving several airlines Saturday threatened to cut passenger traffic on skyways over a wide section of the nation. Planes of an intercontinental line, Trans World Airlines, already were grounded by a strike of machinists, and walkouts also threatened to idle planes of American and Eastern airlines early next week.

Meanwhile, a fourth major airline—Capital—planned to resume some of its flights Sunday after a 37-day strike by union mechanics which halted its operations. A fifth air carrier, Lake Central Airlines which mainly operates in Indiana, faced a walkout of its stewardesses but was expected to continue its flights.

The labor disputes arose against a background of a stiffened attitude by management of major airlines. Six of the lines—American, TWA, United, Capital, Northwest and Eastern—have agreed that increased profits, resulting from a strike against any of the six, shall be returned to the idled airline.

A walkout of 6,700 machinists early Friday morning grounded planes of TWA, whose 198 daily flights normally carry about 12,000 passengers across the United States and to and from 23 foreign cities. Planes in the air at the strike deadline were allowed to finish flights. About 19,000 TWA employees—including some in Europe and Asia—were given furloughs without pay.

The machinists, who worked without a contract since Oct. 1, 1957, rejected a company offer in the dispute in which wages and length of contract were main bargaining points. But TWA President Charles Thomas said the union also asked the company to limit authority of foremen and supervisory personnel.

Pilots of American Airlines threatened to walk off the job at midnight Tuesday to enforce demands for pay boosts and changes in working conditions. C.N. Sayen, president of the Air Line Pilots Assn., notified the National Mediation Board that the 1,491 pilots of American will "withdraw from service." Sayen said the pilots were unable to reach an agreement with American, which flies from coast to coast and has service into Mexico and Canada.

The Flight Engineers International Assn. at Miami also called a strike for Monday against Eastern Air Lines. A union spokesman said the engineers "expect to completely snuff the airline down." But a spokesman at the airline's New York headquarters said no notification of strike had been received.

Crux of the dispute was the airline's decision to make the third cockpit crew member of new jet airliners a qualified pilot. The engineers contend this 'crewman should be a flight engineer. Stewardesses of Lake Central Airlines scheduled their walkout for a minute before midnight Sunday after negotiating since last April for a 43% increase in their present base pay of $20 a month. The airline said its pilots had pledged to continue flying as long as only supervisory personnel replaced the stewardesses.

The bright note, meanwhile, was the resumption of service by Capital Airlines, which reached a settlement with the International Association of Machinists. The IAM ratified a new contract calling for 41 cents an hour additional over a three-year period for 2,474 ground crew employees, plus about $320 each in retroactive pay. Capital hoped to have service back to normal by midnight Tuesday.

The machinists also were in negotiation with National and Northeast airlines.

No free government, or the blessings of liberty can be preserved to any people but by a firm adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, frugality, and virtue, and by a frequent recurrence to fundamental principles.

HARRY, 3,000 HELP GARNER CELEBRATE

By O.B. LLOYD JR.
United Press International
UVALDE, Tex. (UPI)—Former Vice President John Nance Garner, still sturdy enough to get about under his own steam and talk animatedly about politics and whisky, celebrated his 90th birthday Saturday with the help of former President Harry Truman and 3,000 friends.

The celebration ended in Garner's back yard, with him munching on a piece of cake and Truman, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, House Speaker

Sam Rayburn and Texas Gov. Price Daniel singing "Happy Birthday."

They all spoke earlier at a formal ceremony under the giant live oaks in front of Garner's home.

Garner, known as "Cactus Jack," walked 75 feet to a platform, and in a four-minute speech, his first in six years, said, "I love everybody. I haven't any hatred in my heart."

He apologized for not being physically able to speak longer, but said, "I am deeply moved..."

as you may know from the weakness in my voice."

Behind him, as he spoke, sat Truman, Johnson, Rayburn, Daniel and Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.). Three thousand friends and neighbors sat in front of him.

Politics was not mentioned in the formal ceremony at which Garner spoke. But Truman, talking to a reporter after breakfast, said Vice President Richard Nixon is a "squirrel head."

He contrasted him with Garner, whom he called "the greatest living officer the Senate ever had." Garner served as vice president from 1933-1941.

Truman and Garner, with a new blue suit on and a red carnation in his lapel, talked about Republicans, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Tennessee sour mash whisky before the ceremony started.

One of 300 messages of congratulations was from the nation's No. 1 Republican, President Eisenhower. Nixon also telegraphed him his wishes for "many more years of good health and happiness" and signed it, "Dick Nixon."

Garner was not disposed to talk unkindly about Republicans. He told Truman he is still against a third term, the issue over which he broke with Roosevelt.

But he said he feels that if a Democrat does a good job in his first term as President, the people should send him back for a second term. And, he said, the same thing should go for Republicans.

Truman broke in: "You can't trust those damned Republicans!" (See HARRY, Page 3)

UNITED FUND STANDS STILL SHORT OF GOAL

The Pampa-Lefors United Fund has vaulted past the $48,000 mark and is still going strong.

Workers of the drive have responded to Campaign Chairman Clyde Dickerson's plea that they renew their efforts and report in to the UF headquarters with money and pledges. The drive has seen an increase of over $10,000 in the last 10 days.

Dickerson reports the divisions of the UF have all seen the possibility of coming up short unless a renewed emphasis is placed on 100 per cent participation by all of Pampa and Lefors citizens.

Saturday's final count revealed the following accomplishments:

Retail Division — $7,711.59 — 78 per cent of their goal.
Oil and Gas — $5,356 — 58 per cent of their goal.
Professional — $4,792.50 — 83 per cent of their goal.
Services — $5,101.35 — 70 per cent of their goal.

Wholesale — $1,215 — 63 per cent of their goal.
Individual — $6,588 — 79 per cent of their goal.
Lefors — $568 — 44 per cent of their goal.
Industrial — $17,132.76 — 81 per cent of their goal.

The total contributions and pledges as of closing time Saturday was $48,641.23. This represents 76 per cent of the fund's goal for the remainder of this year and until the drive next year.

According to Dickerson, many of the citizens of the area are waiting until a volunteer worker comes to their home before they contribute. Dickerson says there will be no house to house canvass for UF contributions. All gifts are made through places of employment. So those who have been waiting to be contacted at home should call the UF office Monday morning and request that a worker stop by to pick up their donation.

If it comes from a home, store, we have it. Lewis Hdw. adv.

Western Military Ordered To Meet Force With Force

ON OCCUPATION

Soviets Hold Off Formal Statement

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International
MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia kept the West in suspense Saturday and held off formal announcement of its plan to "liquidate" the occupation of Berlin.

Western diplomats had expected to receive the statement from the Soviet Foreign Ministry. They attached no significance to the fact that it did not materialize.

They assumed it would be announced early next week, possibly Monday. It was obvious that there had been no change in the Kremlin's plans.

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda referred again Saturday to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's Nov. 10 proposal to "liquidate the occupation status and normalize the situation in the capital of the German Democratic Republic." But it said nothing about the formal announcement which would hand Soviet occupation rights to Easy Germany and demand Western withdrawal.

The East Germans apparently believed, with the West, that it would be forthcoming Saturday. A broadcast said Russia would make its proposal on the "eradication of the occupation status of Berlin" Saturday morning.

When the Foreign Ministry asked the ambassadors of Austria, Belgium and Holland to appear for separate conferences, Western diplomats were certain the long-expected statement would be issued.

But instead, the envoys conferred only on trade matters between their countries and the Soviet Union.

The ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France, the nations sharing occupation rights with Russia in Berlin, received no invitations.

Safe Is Cracked Here, $117 Taken

Three burglaries were reported in Pampa Friday night, one at Wallis Automotive Service, 220 N. Somerville, where a safe was pried open and $117.44 in currency and change taken.

In two other burglaries losses were set at $1.25 in five-cent pieces, and about $5 in change.

Police reported the burglar at Wallis Automotive pried open the company safe with an unknown instrument. The method of entry could not be explained. No windows or doors were broken. Police surmised the burglar either had a key or was locked in at closing time Friday.

Friday night's other burglaries were believed the work of the same man. The break-ins occurred at the Ideal Steam Laundry, 221 E. Aichison, and the Post Office Service Station, 117 S. Ballard. At the Post Office station entrance was gained by squeezing through a 13 by 13 inch opening in the station's east wall.

2 Cars Damaged

Two cars bumped at the intersection of Francis and West Streets Saturday, Pampa police reported.

Negligible damages were reported to a 1958 sedan driven by Beatrice Rake, 30, 712 N. Wells, and a 1957 coach driven by Christine Spotts, 42, Pampa. No tickets were issued.

CARIL FUGATE
...tearful teen-ager

Caril Insists She 'Didn't Do It'

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—An eighth grade schoolgirl convicted of homicide went about her regular chores Saturday and refused to discuss the life imprisonment term to which she probably will be sentenced.

Caril Ann Fugate, 15, wept bitterly and insisted "I didn't do it," Friday when a seven-man, five-woman jury found her guilty of first degree murder and recommended life imprisonment.

The jury decided after nine and one half hours of deliberation that Caril helped her boyfriend, Charles Starkweather, 19, along his murderous course last January when 10 persons, including her mother, were slain. Caril's contention that she was an innocent hostage, was rejected.

Caril's attorneys have 10 days in which to file their motion for a new trial. Until this is done she will be held in the Lincoln State Hospital, where she has been kept since her arrest last

If Communists Start New Berlin Blockade; Plan Set

BERLIN (UPI)—Authoritative sources reported Saturday night that Western military commanders have orders to meet force with force if the Communists start a new Berlin blockade.

The sources emphasized any Western military action would be defensive. They said the plan was to take to the air and supply the West Berlin garrisons by transport rather than attempt to force passage over the rail, land and canal routes to West Berlin in the event of a blockade. Fighter planes at Western European bases would be on the alert to protect transports should the Reds make any effort to interfere with flights to free Berlin.

It was this system which broke the Red blockade of the city 10 years ago.

In Bonn, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer called in U.S. Ambassador David K. Bruce for a conference. Bruce was scheduled to fly to West Berlin next Friday for a first-hand survey.

Statement Expected Monday
American, British and French border guards maintained a vigil as West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano flew through thick fog from Bonn to West Berlin's Tempelhof Airport in a show of solidarity with the 2,200,000 residents of the three Western sectors of Berlin. He called the situation "serious" but said the West would not back down.

Russia's promised "liquidation" of the four-power occupation rights and transfer of Soviet occupation controls to the East German Reds failed to materialize Saturday although the East Germans themselves had expected such action.

The Communist East German radio twice broadcast an announcement that: "The Soviet Union will today inform the nations of the former anti-Hitler coalition of its proposals for

Jan. 25.
She was supported from the courtroom where she heard the verdict and taken to the sheriff's office until she regained her composure. She was dry-eyed when she left for the hospital 30 minutes later.

Starkweather, who has been sentenced to death, was not officially informed of the verdict and Warden Joseph Bovey of the State Penitentiary refused to permit questioning. If the traditional prison grapevine had not informed him of his ex-girl friend's fate, Starkweather read about it in the newspaper he receives each evening.

Caril's weeping grandmother and 18-year-old sister accompanied her to the hospital. She talked to them about "various things," Sheriff Merle Kanot reported, but refused to discuss the verdict.

"She was a pretty well-beaten up little girl when she came back (See CARIL, Page 3)

Big School Bond Issue To Be Talked

The Pampa School Board will meet Monday to consider a $1,250,000 bond issue, Knox Kinard, superintendent of Pampa Schools announced Saturday. The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. in Kinard's office.

Five improvements are needed for the Pampa Independent School District, according to the Board. They are:

1. The construction of an elementary school on the site now owned in northwest Pampa (North Crest Addition), with 18 classrooms, 1 gymnasium, auditorium and cafeteria facilities.
2. The expansion of Pampa High School to accommodate 1,500 students. This would involve 14 classrooms, one choral room and one publications classroom.
3. The construction of six new classrooms at Baker School and replacement of the cafeteria.
4. Remodeling Pampa Junior High School.
5. The construction of a metal shop and vocational agriculture shop at the High School.
6. Purchasing two sites for future expansion and financing a site at the Junior High School.

By 1962, the Board estimates, enrollment will have soared to 7,460. Current enrollment is 6,048. In 1954 it was 4,794.

"There are now 127 elementary students housed in Pampa Junior High School. Our estimates indicate that by Sept. 1959, that number will be more than doubled. All classrooms in the elementary schools are now in use," said Kinard.

"The Pampa Senior High School was built for an enrollment of 900 students. At this date, the enrollment in that unit is 983 and our estimates indicate that by 1960 the enrollment will be more than 1,100.

"The Baker Elementary School attendance area continues to increase in school population. With the housing projects now under way in that area, we believe an increase of six classrooms at that unit will be necessary.

HAPPY HUNGARIANS

The fun loving DeNardini's, once of Hungary, share the rays of the Pampa sun from the steps of the N. West apartments where they make their home. They are Mr. and Titus DeNardini, background, Stephen, 11; and Henriette, 17.

Former Hungarians Find No Oppression In States

By WALLY TRUESDELL Daily News Staff Writer

It was hard to accept Communism for such genuine people as the Titus DeNardini's. So Hungary's loss was Pampa's gain, 19 months ago. Pampa was enriched by a family of five.

The DeNardini's, four of them, live in Apartment 5 at 418 N. West. Titus DeNardini, a former purchasing agent, works for the First National Bank. A daughter, Henriette, is a junior in Pampa High School while Stephen, age 11, goes to Holy Souls School.

The oldest son, 14 year-old Anthony, began his freshman year in Mary Knoll Seminary, Clark Summit, Pa., this fall. And Mrs. DeNardini keeps house, like before.

On Oct. 23, 1956, Hungarian workers and students rose against the Russian regime. At that time DeNardini resided in a Budapest hospital. He was in no hurry to get well.

Six months of constant interrogation would make a wreck of any man. When he was well, he knew all he would have to look forward to would be more of the same. His offense: refusing to turn Communist. The Russians called it "spying against the government." DeNardini feared that back in prison his two year sentence would be increased.

Leaving the hospital by car, he returned to his home outside Budapest. A month later, he led his family toward the border, 300 kilometers (130 miles) away. They were picked up by a truck used to carry refugees to a train and getting off the train near the border, walked into Austria.

They went from Austria to Germany and back to Austria to catch a plane for the United States. For a week they were in New York City. In Midland they have relatives who found a Pampa sponsor for them. Sponsored by the Medical and Surgical Clinic, they came to Pampa-March, 1957 was their arrival date. This year Henriette joined the Latin Club and the Junior Red Cross. Latin was one requirement she did not have in Hungary. She is also taking government. In Hungary, she had 12 required subjects, including Russian history. To get them all in, she had to go to school 10 months a year and four hours on Saturday to boot.

She wants to go to college in the States and be a chemist. Although her English is beautiful, she doesn't like the subject so well. Recently she was guest speaker at an Altrusa Club luncheon.

Stephen is a Daily News paper boy. He is blessed with an insatiable curiosity.

The DeNardini's still receive letters from relatives in Hungary, that is when they get through. Censors stop all mail at the borders and "if they don't like them, they don't send them," DeNardini says.

In 1949, the workers wanted Communism, he recalls. After 1945, working conditions were poor. When the Communists took over they were worse. "The working people think they bring good. They bring not," he declares.

"There was too much propaganda. No one could hold a job in Hungary unless he toed the Communist Party line. Until the Russians put him on trial, DeNardini was "vice boss" in the purchasing department of a Budapest Baukite Plant. He had graduated from the College of Agriculture, Budapest University.

Teachers were forced to teach Communist lies and high school students were forced to join Communist youth groups, according to Henriette.

Elementary students did not have to join youth groups but "it was better if they did," she says. "And they didn't want us to go to church."

The Communists could not keep her out of school. Her straight A's were all that saved her. When she was expelled her father took her from school to school to find one that would take her in.

The DeNardini's remained in Hungary until Oct. 21. During the month of revolution, they abided with the reassurance that the United States would send aid. Finally they turned off the radio and headed for Austria.

On The Shelf

Jeane Stuart has done it again. His latest collection of short stories, "Plowshare in Heaven," is in Lovett Memorial Library.

Stuart, the voice of the Kentucky mountains, writes tales that are warm with the South and cannot be equalled for mountain imagery. "Surely the dark Monarch Hills will call her back," he says in the title story. It is his way of saying that the departed must return, at least as a wisp of smoke, to the land they love.

St. Francis of Assisi has his author in Louis DeWohl. At Lovett, "The Joyful Beggar" is now a seven day book. The little brother is contrasted with Roger, Count of Vandria, who lived a worldly life. DeWohl brings fresh insight to the life of one of the most Christ like saints the world has even known.

For pure nostalgia, try "The Music Man," musical in book form by Meredith Willson. If you can't see the show, this is the way to make up for it. Willson introduces the unforgettable traveling con man who sells the town of River City on band instruments and makes it a singing, dancing town.

Feeling guilty? You aren't the only one. Read "Justice of the Heart" by E. Arnot Robinson. Its about a British newspaper gal who goes to Zanzibar with a burden of guilt on her heart.

In a different key is "The Mountain Is Yours" by Han Suyin. The setting is Nepal. Another British newspaper woman finds that love can be carnal but divine. Her British being is severely challenged by the oriental ways of the Himalayas.

James Hilton captured this feeling in "Lost Horizon," the land of fantasy, Shangri-la. Han Suyin provides a realistic setting and an international cast of characters that will amuse you and lift you up.

What Does Little Rock Do Next?

By JACK V. FOX United Press International

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Where does Little Rock go from here? How long will it go without public high schools?

You can't find anyone here who can give you a confident answer to the first question. On the second, the widespread feeling is that the public schools will certainly not reopen this year.

The Arkansas Legislature convenes again in January and Gov. Orval Faubus gave a hint of things to come when he said it was obviously impossible to operate private schools indefinitely on voluntary contributions.

Then, he added significantly, he "hoped" to find a way to use public funds.

The Little Rock School Board has resigned. A new one is to be elected Dec. 6.

The moment it takes office it will face the federal order to integrate the high schools. But it can't integrate schools that are closed and it may resign, too. So it goes round and round.

Dr. Dale Alford, Arkansas' newly elected congressman, speaks for a great many of the substantial citizens of Little Rock when he says the remainder of the nation is simply going to have to accept the fact that by decades of custom the white people here will not mix whites and Negroes in their schools.

His position is that Little Rock already has provided equal but separate facilities for Negro high school children and will do so for all grades.

Another equally substantial segment, whose spokesman is the Pulitzer Prize-winning Arkansas Gazette, said that no state or community can defy the law of the land without bringing chaos to the nation.

The victims, of course, are the children.

There is considerable question whether their graduation from the makeshift private schools and extension courses will be accepted for entrance by colleges in other states. Undoubtedly it will handicap them in winning scholarships.

One thing you find here is that Little Rock's children have realized that going to school is a privilege as well as a right. Teachers in the private schools report they are the best behaved bunch of kids in memory.

Abraham Lincoln was the first U.S. president to be born outside the original 13 states.

Matter of FACT

The two polar regions of the earth are marked by more differences than similarities. Antarctica is an ice- and snow-covered continent surrounded by a cold and stormy ocean while the north polar region consists of the Arctic Ocean surrounded by margins of North America, Europe and Asia. Men, animals and plants have slowly migrated north, but Antarctica, hundreds of miles from all continents but South America, has no land animals or native population.

Pampa Now In Color

A set of ten post cards in living color made in and around Pampa is now available to Pampa stores thanks to the Publicity and General Information Committee of The Chamber of Commerce, Irl Smith, chairman, reports.

Bob Fugate, chairman of the sales committee on distribution of the cards, said that business concerns that usually stock cards of this type will be called on this week.

"Pampa has been needing cards of this nature for some time and it is expected that the response to sales will be good," Smith said. The first sale was made Saturday afternoon to Richard's Drug. The constant demand for picture post cards of this type prompted the action of the committee in making this set of pictures available. Smith, a local photographer made most of the color transparencies, but the finished cards were produced in New Jersey by the Shelton Color Corporation, specialists in this type of work.

But there was dead silence from Moscow. The expected announcement was not made. Western observers in the Soviet capital said it would not be issued until Monday, at the earliest.

In London, there were unofficial reports that some details of the "agreement" for transfer of Soviet controls to East Germany had run into snags.

Supplies Are Stockpiled
The East Germans insisted flatly again Saturday that they will take over the occupation duties now handled by Soviet troops at check points along the West Berlin-West Germany lifeline for the 7,500-man Western garrisons in Berlin.

The Soviets and the East Germans were fully aware of the Western intention to remain in West Berlin and maintain its lifelines to the isolated city, 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

West Berliners, long used to Eastern threats, went placidly about their work. Cafes were crowded. All residents knew that unlike the blockade 10 years ago, which caught the city short, Mayor Willy Brandt has stockpiled essential supplies that could last West Berlin for six months.

Travelers arriving in Berlin, both West German civilians and Allied servicemen, reported no difficulty. Saturday the West Germans said East German customs officials had shown them "friendly treatment."

Two British soldiers coming from West Germany said they had no difficulty.

(Continued From Page 1) they ruin the country," Garner guffawed. "I loved Roosevelt and he returned it," Garner said. "There is no question about it," Truman said. "He was a very sweet man," Garner said.

They also talked about Tennessee sour mash whisky, a subject on which Garner is supposed to be an expert. He used whisky and cigars for 70 years, but gave them both up last month in the interests of better health.

Eisenhower telegraphed him from Augusta, Ga.: "As a leading American statesman for a half century, you have contributed much to the life of the nation. As a distinguished son of Texas, you have become a legend, even in a legendary state, and now, in retirement, you can survey the scene with some satisfaction, and, I pray, with contentment, in your years. On your 90th birthday, it is a privilege to join you many friends in wishing you the best."

Former Postmaster General and Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley telegraphed him congratulations and then telephoned to congratulate him personally.

As the Truman-Rayburn-Johnson-Daniel quartet finished "Happy Birthday" in his backyard, Garner offered each man a piece of his birthday cake. Truman was the first to take a piece.

SCHOOL

Lee Schools eliminated the proposed remodeling for which that program called. For the same reason, building a combination metal shop and vocational agriculture shop at Senior High School had to be postponed.

"The tentative purchase of the present Pampa Junior High School site will need to be financed. Two additional sites for future expansion also need to be purchased," Mr. Kinard concluded.

6 Churches To Engage In Service

A Community Thanksgiving Service will take place in the Pampa First Christian Church at 8 a.m. Thursday. Rev. Dick Crews, pastor, announced. The high school A Capella Choir will take part in the service.

Besides Fryman and Crews, participants will be Dr. E. Douglas Carver, First Baptist; Rev. Ronald Hubbard, First Presbyterian; Rev. David Mills, Lamar Christian; and Rev. Woodrow W. Adcock, First Methodist.

The Choir, directed by William A. Hunt, will sing three numbers. An offering will go to the Christian Rural Overseas Program. Adcock will make this Community Food Appeal.

Members of the Ministerial Alliance planned the Thanksgiving program at their last meeting. They also elected new officers.

"If she had been brought up correctly, she probably would have made a real good member of society," he said. "But society is too busy building large buildings and super highways to take care of their people."

Scout Installation Slated For Tuesday

The District Scout organization Tuesday will honor leaders who have given their time to Scouting, since a recognition banquet last year. Scouters and their wives will gather in the Pampa First Methodist Church for this year's banquet, Bob Curry, District chairman, announced. The banquet will begin at 7 p.m. in Fellowship Hall.

Over 90 reservations at $1.50 a ticket, have come in, Carlton Nance, ticket chairman reported. The annual banquet will feature an installation of District officers and the recognition of all unit personnel for service to boyhood.

1916 NEWS SHEET PROVES HUMOR HASN'T CHANGED

An old newspaper sheet, dated May 28, 1916, was among little items found by Ruby Daniels, 428 N. Dwight, last week as she did some fall house cleaning.

"I was actually cleaning up some of the old things my mother had owned, when I found the news sheet," Mrs. Daniels exclaimed.

It's amusing indeed how little life changes in 42 years, especially as far as jokes are concerned.

Under a column heading, Our Spice Box, was a joke that has recently been making the rounds of today's teenagers. It goes like this:

GRANDMA: "How useless girls are today. I don't believe you know what needles are for."

YOUNG GIRL: "How absurd you are granny. Of course I know. They're to make the graphophone (hi-fi today) play."

Chain store sales last month had their biggest year-to-year gain since August, 1957. October volume ran 7.1 per cent over the similar 1957 period, according to a survey of 49 major retail chains. Nine of 10 chain categories registered increases over 1957.

The Commerce Department reported national output of goods and services was at an annual rate of 439 billion dollars or 10 billion dollars greater than the second quarter level this year. Government economists say the GNP now is running at 450 billion dollars yearly, topping the previous high of 445,600,000,000 in the third quarter of 1957.

The Bank of England cut its discount rate from 4½ to 4 per cent. The change in the key rate was seen as an effort to reverse declining business activity and stem a drop in employment. It was the fifth reduction in a little more than a year in the rate which is the fee charged for loans to private financial firms.

Stockholders of American Screw Co. rejected a bid by Textron Inc. to buy its assets for $5,897,000 or about $50 a share. Textron could still gain control of the company by buying more than half its stock.

Borger Demolishes Harvesters, 66 To 13

HOW BAD CAN THINGS GET?—You don't need a scoreboard to tell who's winning here. You can tell from the expressions on the faces of the Harvesters and their coach, Babe Curfman (far right). This picture was taken just after Borger scored its last touchdown, in beating the Harvesters 66-13. This game ended the Pampa season on the sourest note possible. Pampa Takes Worst Licking In Its History

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

BORGER — Look out, Wichita Falls!

The Borger Bulldogs, champions of District 3-4A, handed the Pampa Harvesters the worst football licking in the history of the school here Saturday afternoon, 66-13.

It was only the sixth time the Bulldogs have beaten the Harvesters, but it made up for about a dozen of the losses.

Next stop for the Bulldogs will be the Wichita Falls Coyotes, champions of 4-AAAA, at 2 p.m. Saturday in Borger. The Coyotes beat Pampa by only 34-2, in their own den.

The Bulldogs scored in every quarter, going four times by land, five times by air. Jim Dawson threw four touchdown passes for Borger, as he completed six passes for a total of 205 yards.

Borger made 244 yards passing and 371 rushing, for a total of 615. They made 28 first downs.

The only real bright spots for the Harvesters were the passing of quarterback Bobby Stephens and the catching of end DeWayne Glover. Stephens completed 5 of 8 passes for 58 yards, and a touchdown. Glover caught 6 tosses for 69 yards and a touchdown.

The Stephens - to - Glover touchdown pass came with 2 minutes, 33 seconds left in the game. It covered 11 yards. A 15-yard Stephens-to-Glover toss had set it up.

Lucky Dunham went for the first Pampa touchdown, in the second quarter. Harold Stokes then kicked the conversion. It took three tries to get it over from the 1-yard line.

Moments later, Gary Willis passed 22 yards to Glover in the end zone, but the play was called back on a penalty.

The Pampa Harvester basketball team opens a 27 game schedule next Friday, Nov. 28, in Mangum, Oklahoma.

The defending Class 4-A champs, originally scheduled to open the season at Vernon, were canceled out there. Vernon's return date here Dec. 2 was also canceled.

The Harvesters will move into Quanah for a game Saturday, then come back to Pampa for a three-game home stand. They'll meet Mangum here Dec. 1 and San Angelo Dec. 5 and 6.

Non-district play continues through Dec. 30, then district play begins Jan. 6 here with Borger.

The Harvesters are defending state champions, having beaten Fort Arthur last year in the state finals. They had a season record of 28-2 last year, losing only to Childress and Borger.

Coach Clifton McNeely has three returning regulars from the state championship squad, plus another letterman and a squadman. Five men up from the B team, and a sophomore, complete his team.

The team averages over 6 feet, 1 inch in height, despite the fact that four of the guards stand less than 6 feet.

Heading the list of returnees is all-state forward Coyie Winborn, who is 6-4. Mack Layne, 6-5 center, and Charles Minor, 5-11 guard, are other returning regulars.

The other returning letterman is Bob Gindorf, 6-4 forward; and Don McGuire, 6-3 guard, is a returning squadman. All the returning regulars, lettermen, and squadmen are seniors.

The five former B teamers fighting for positions on the team are Craig Winborn, 6-3 forward; Joe Timms, 5-10 forward; Hershell Terrell, 5-9 guard; Phillip Glat, 5-11 guard; and Bill Wray, 5-11 guard. All are juniors.

McNeely said that sophomore Pat Carter, 5-10 guard, will probably see action on both the A and B squads.

Lost from last year's squad by graduation was all-state guard Bill Brown, the team's leading scorer. Brown was named the outstanding player in the coaching school game last August.

Other regulars lost were Ray Stephenson and Larry Cruise, now playing for San Angelo College, and Darryl Ammons, now playing for Decatur Junior College.

McNeely and the Harvesters are, as always, on the spot. The Harvesters have gone to the state meet for five straight years, and have captured the state championship three times — in 1953, '54 and '55. They finished second in '57 and fourth in '55.

The Harvesters have never finished lower than second in district play, in the 12 years McNeely has been coaching here.

Terry Culey has 11 sophomores and two juniors on his B team, and expects two more sophomores out after football season ends.

Sophomore guards are Pat Carter, 5-10; Eden Warner, 5-9; Bill Neslage, 5-1; Oscar Watters, 5-8; Harold Green, 5-9, and Jim Wilborn, 5-10.

Other sophomores are Allen Wise, 6-2 center; Larry Stroud, 6-1 forward; Don Curry, 6-2 center; Jerry McGuire, 6-0 forward. Juniors are Lester Stanfield, 6-1 center, and Kenny Dulaney, 5-9 guard.

Schoolboy Playoff Contests Begin

United Press International

All five defending state schoolboy football champions — Highland Park in AAAA, Nederland in AAA, Terrell in AA and co-champs White Oak and Mart in A — were another big step nearer repeat titles Saturday.

Highland Park and Nederland won the crucial showdown games within their districts to project themselves into the playoffs starting next week, while Terrell, White Oak and Mart won their district openers as the playoffs got under way in the two smaller school divisions.

Highland Park whipped Garland 21-12 for the 7-AAAA crown. Nederland downed Beaumont French 14-8 for the 11-AAA flag. Terrell surged from behind to crush previously undefeated-untied Borham 35-9, White Oak romped to a 70-12 verdict over Edgewood and Mart blanked unbeaten-but-tied Madisonville 28-0.

Friday night's action determined the makeup for the AAAA-AAA playoffs except for two districts — 2-AAAA where Abilene needs to beat San Angelo Saturday afternoon for the title, and 12-AAA where Bay City's 20-14 upset of El Campo threw those two teams into a three-way tie with Alvin, which defeated Lamar Consolidated 26-0.

Grand Prairie Crushed A district committee must delegate which of the three goes into the playoffs since El Campo beat Alvin and Alvin beat Bay City.

Other teams sewing up their honors Friday night included Wichita Falls, which closed with a 61-0 rush over Grand Prairie in 4-AAAA; Dallas Jefferson, which whipped Dallas Sunset 20-0 in 6-AAAA; Houston Reagan, which beat off Houston Milby 12-0 in 8-AAAA; Fort Arthur, which defeated Fort Neches 27-0 in 11-AAA; Waco High, which pipped Temple 6-0 in 13-AAAA; Corpus Christi Miller, which beat Harlingen 28-8 in 14-AAAA; and Laredo, which downed San Antonio Lanier 25-0 in 16-AAAA.

Also Levellad, which blanked Littlefield 16-0 in 1-AAA; McKinney, which romped past Gainesville 44-12 in 6-AAA; Carthage, which edged Nacogdoches 22-20 in 7-AAA; Athens, which downed Waxahatchee 26-0 in 8-AAA; San Marcos, which turned back Kerr-

Ponies Outscore Baylor, 33 to 29

DALLAS (UPI) — Southern Methodist, with daring Don Meredith at the throttle, scored on its first play of the game, then had to scramble for its first play of the game, then had to scramble for its life against Baylor's bustling Bears before pulling out a breathless passing duel victory 33-29 Saturday.

Meredith almost met his match at the throwing business in Baylor's busy Buddy Humphrey, but the SMU star's ability to hit his targets while swarmed by tacklers was the difference as he whipped out an 80-yard scoring heave on the first scrimmage play, ran for another to push SMU in front 14-0, then scored the clincher with 71 seconds left.

It was a smug-looking little front start to finish as Baylor pulled ahead 15-14 before the first quarter was over, but it to 22-14 by halftime and 29-26 with five minutes left, only to see Meredith, who hit eight of 19 passes for a whopping 206 yards, engineer an 85-yard victory surge against the clock.

Miami Wins Bi-District Tilt; Regional Playoff Set Here

By MRS. JOE CUNNINGHAM
Miami Correspondent

HALE CENTER — Miami ran wild here Friday night in the second quarter, scoring four touchdowns, on their way to a 48-26 bi-district win over Cotton Center's Elks.

The Warriors scored three of the second - period touchdowns, running for 25, 30, and 10 yards. Jimmy Seitz rambled 45 yards for the fourth touchdown. Jimmy Bowers drop - kicked for four extra points (two points each on two kicks).

The passing of Toby Cunningham helped set up the four touchdowns. His receivers were Harris, Bill Breeding, and Jimmy Seitz.

During the first half, the champions of six-man district 2-B were completely baffled by Miami's wide spread formation. They had not faced anything like it previously this season. Cotton Center coaches said that Miami was by far the best team they had faced.

The Elks came charging back in the second half, but they didn't charge quite fast enough or hard enough. They did, however, score twice in the third quarter while holding Miami scoreless, and a match a Miami touchdown in the final period.

Jesse Master tallied both the Elks' first - period scores, running 10' and 15 yards. Masters ran across the extra point after the first touchdown.

In the fourth quarter, Joe Hollis went five yards for a Miami touchdown; then Jim Terry passed 20 yards to Don Fisher for the final Cotton Center score.

The two teams were tied in first downs, 10-10, but Miami led in penetrations, 8 to 5.

Early Scoring

Miami had taken an early lead in the game, moments after the opening kickoff. Cotton Center received, but on the second play from scrimmage, they fumbled. Terry Gill of Miami pounced on it at the Elks 20.

A short time later, Harris scored on the 5-yard line.

Cotton Center came back to take the lead in the game for the first time, as Fisher ran 7 yards for a touchdown and Jan White ran the conversion. The Elks led 7-6.

Harris, who scored a total of five touchdowns, got his second late in the first quarter. He galloped 75 yards, the longest run of the night, and Bowers drop - kicked the two extra points.

Miami led 14-7 at the end of the first quarter. After that, the Warriors were in their happy hunting grounds.

Sooners Wrap Up Conference Crown

By CARTER BRADLEY
United Press International

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Oklahoma won its 11th straight Big Eight Conference championship and its second consecutive Orange Bowl berth Saturday by crushing Nebraska, 40-7, in a blazing display of football power.

The Sooners, rated fourth in the nation, didn't give Nebraska a prayer in their final home game of the season before a Dad's Day crowd of 45,000.

It was Oklahoma's 71st consecutive league game without defeat. Oklahoma fans quickly noted the other bowl entry, Oklahoma defeated West Virginia at the start of the season, 47-14, compared with the 3-point victory Syracuse gained Saturday over the same team.

Despite Nebraska's upset victory over Pittsburgh last week, Oklahoma had been granted a four-touchdown edge. In the first quarter, the Sooners lived up to their billing with scoring drives of 55 yards in 12 plays, 52 yards in five plays and 55 yards in nine plays. Halfback Brewster Hoffman tallied on a nine-yard run after seven minutes of play. Alternate halfback Jackie Sandefur and his quarterback running mate, Bobby Boyd, each scored on one-yard plunges.

Nebraska rallied to hold Oklahoma scoreless in the second quarter, getting to the Sooner 27-yard line. Halfback Pat Fischer passed to halfback Clay White for 23 yards, but on the next play Nebraska quarterback Harry Tolly was smothered behind his line of scrimmage.

It was not until Nebraska got the ball again that the visitors got on the plus side of the net yards rushing column for the first time.

Nebraska ended with only 80 yards net on the ground against Oklahoma's 354.

Gaunt Leads Rushers

Wahoo McDaniel kicked three extra points for Oklahoma and David Baker one. Leading rusher for Oklahoma again was junior fullback Trentice Gaunt—with 56 yards in 12 carries. Gaunt put Oklahoma in scoring position for the first time with five bruising runs good for 24 yards. He had run 39 yards to Nebraska's 23 in the third period, but Nebraska's lone touchdown play cut-off the thrust. Halfback Larry Naviaux intercepted Jim Carpenter's pass and ran 93 yards for the Nebraska touchdown. George Harshman kicked the extra point.

In the final stanza Oklahoma's third team went 59 yards in six plays with halfback John Fallow skirting end for the final four yards.

Houston Stops U. Of Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — Houston staggered Miami with a whirlwind three-touchdown opening and then weathered a storm of Fran Curci passes to outpoint the Hurricanes 37-26 in a free-scoring football game Friday night.

Houston quarterback Don McDonald, whose brother Joe plays center for the Cougars, engineered the early offense with two scoring runs and a pass to Billy Ray Dickey.

That made the score 21-0 in favor of Houston and saddened a hometown crowd of 24,822 in the Orange Bowl, a slim representation of the once mighty Miami following.

Even though Miami lost its seventh game against one victory, Curci's passing was remarkable. He completed 14 of 19 to account for 201 yards and two touchdowns. But Houston more than made up for that with 236 yards rushing. The victory made Houston's record four wins and four defeats.

Bucks Roll On; Rangers Halted

White Deer Rips Gruver By 46-6

By RICK PEZDIRTZ
Daily News Managing Editor

WHITE DEER—Coach Otis Holladay's White Deer Bucks, starting off like something out of Cape Canaveral, buried Gruver under a 14-0 first quarter landslide and then really went on to prove that their undefeated meat-grinder is a precisioned machine by making a slightly soggy hash out of the Greyhounds, 46-6, here Friday night.

The Bucks, growing hungrier every passing week, dined to a point of gluttony as over 3,000 excited spectators screamed with every bite and watched Holladay clear his bench of sophomores and freshmen as the Greyhound dish was turned to mince.

The 40-point licking went on record as a bi-district title for the Blue and White-clad Bucks, their second in as many years. It'll be the same song, second verse this Thursday as White Deer pokes its nose into the regional playoffs again, with a feared Farwell outfit providing the opposition.

The Thanksgiving Day classic is slated for neutral Canyon at 2:30 p.m. and the Bucks are figuring on doing some more tasty eating. However, the chewing might be a lot tougher Thursday. Farwell laughed off a 12-0 deficit at the end of one quarter to come back and romp past Idalou, 40-18, in a Friday afternoon frolic.

White Deer lost in regional, last autumn, 28-7 to Ralls.

The Bucks struck swiftly and surely, like a power-mower amuck on your living room rug, here Friday night with Allen Harmon, back in full harness from the sick list, and bulldozing Herschel Powell sipping off 135 and 103 yards respectively.

All together, White Deer totaled 505 yards for their night's work or maybe you should say pleasure as Gruver, the state top Class A defensive team's, had its massive line torn to tiny shreds. Only 32 yards were netted through the sky by a ground-minded Buck squad, and it was substitute quarterback, Mark Hannah, who accounted for the air-yardage with three strikes on four throws.

There were many features. The steel-armed defensive work of Bryan Coday and Scotty Barnes for one; the terrific punting of Gruver's Sonny Blankenship who averaged 43 yards on four boots, one an eye-opening 66 yarder; and the crowd-pleasing appearance of Tom-Thumb sized Shelby Sharp, a gitty 95-pound ninth-grader, who ran once for four yards, completed a two-yard pass on the game's last play and tied into a 50-pound heavier Sonny Blankenship on a kickoff tackle.

Another White Deer star was born in the fourth period too. Sophomore Don Carter ran like a seasoned veteran, clicking off 67 yards in seven tries to rank as the game's third top rusher behind Harmon and Powell. Carter had a seven-yard TD scamper nullified by a penalty, his third such bad-break in the past two games. He had two TD runs rubbed out the previous week against Memphis.

It was not a merciless conquest for Holladay. There was no display of greed from the White Deer bench. Holladay and his aides, Sam Christy and Bob Moore, pushed every uniformed player into the melee. And every uniformed Buck seemed to grab the ball and run for miles and miles, or block Greyhounds by the busload lot, or tackle or bruise or do just about everything but sing the school song.

White Deer worked hard for its first touchdown. They took the opening kickoff and grimly trudged 73 yards in ten plays to score. Harmon started the rush with a 22-yard dash on the game's first scrimmage play. Powell climaxed the drive, racing around right end from one yard out to score standing up. Except for a six-yard run by Jackie Burns, Harmon and Powell accounted for the other 67 yards on the ground.

Halfback Don Driskill dashed over the two-points on the conversion and it was 8-0 with only 3:45 gone in the game. Cody set the Bucks in business moments later, recovering a fumble on the Gruver 44, and it took six plays to hit paydirt with Powell going 17 to the four and Harmon riding over from there. Burns ran over the conversion and it was 16-0 with 4:05 left in the first stanza.

Blankenship got off his 56-yard punt and the Bucks started their longest scoring trek of the night, a 91-yard spree that required eight plays, and carried into the second quarter. Harmon and Powell knif-

Stamford Pops Perryton, 34-14

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

CHILDRESS—Will history repeat itself this year?

Some 5,000 fans in Fair Park Stadium here Friday afternoon might have been willing to bet that it will. Stamford beat Perryton on its way to a state championship in 1956, and they may have done the same thing here Friday.

The Bulldogs certainly looked like state champions for 48 minutes as they walloped a very good Perryton Ranger team, 34-14, in a bi-district game.

It was Perryton's first loss this year to an AA team, but it was a worse beating than was handed to them by two powerful AAA squads, Phillips and Dumas.

The Bulldogs moved well both on the ground and in the air, getting 370 yards rushing, and 118 yards passing, for a whopping total of 488 yards.

A streak of condensed lightning in human form, known as Don Davis, accounted for three-fifths of the Bulldogs' total yardage, making 251 yards on 25 rushing attempts, and completing his only pass attempt for 47 yards.

Davis scored all but one of Stamford's touchdowns, plunging 2 yards in the second quarter, and galloping for 33 yards in the third, 16 in the third, and 64 in the fourth.

Quarterback Fred Upshaw scored Stamford's first touchdown, in the first quarter, on a 2-yard sneak. He also accounted for most of the Bulldogs' passing yardage, completing 5 of 14 attempts for 71 yards.

McKinley Campaign
Earl McKinley passed for both of Perryton's touchdowns, and a end Gale Good was on the receiving end of both tosses. McKinley threw 45 yards to Good in the first quarter to tie the score at 6-6, after helping set up the touchdown with a 22-yard loss, also to Good.

Then in the fourth quarter McKinley again passed to Good for 30 yards and the final touchdown of the game. McKinley also converted after the score.

McKinley was the second leading rusher of the game, although he was bottled up much of the time by the alert Stamford defense. The speedy halfback gained 76 yards on 15 carries.

Others making fairly good yardage were Keith Shaffer of Perryton, 48 yards; Charlie Helmer of Stamford, 60 yards, and Tom Elzey of Perryton, 31 yards.

Despite the one-sided score, the Rangers had their defensive standouts. End Gary Black fell on two Stamford fumbles; Good intercepted ed a pass; and tackle Charles Lovett and end Robert Neely got downfield fast on kicks to hold Stamford to zero yardage on punt returns.

For Stamford, Davis and Upshaw were outstanding on defense as well as offense. Davis intercepted two passes and recovered a fumble, and Upshaw intercepted two passes.

One of ironies of the game was that the longest and fastest march of the game went for nothing. Stamford moved 94 yards, from its 5 to the Perryton 1, in a minute, 17 seconds at the end of the second quarter; but time ran out before they could score.

Groom's Gay As Happy Falls

HAPPY—During the war, there was some kind of relief organization known as "Bundles for Britain."

This has nothing to do with football, except that Groom residents would probably collect a bundle for Britten, if it weren't against NCAA rules.

Melvin Britten, Groom Tiger fullback, scored two touchdowns here Friday night as Groom upset Happy in a class B bi-district contest, 24-16.

Groom, the 1-B winner, will take on New Deal next week in the regional playoff.

Groom, which had a 6-3-1 record prior to the bi-district game, was an underdog against Happy, which had lost only to AA Friona. It was Groom's first bi-district win in three tries.

Britten, who picked up 157 yards, scored for Groom in the second period, going for 4 yards to climax a 71-yard march. Ernest Lewis passed to Joe Thornton for the conversion.

Happy tied the score in the second quarter when Dub Oler circled end for 3-yards, then ran the conversion.

But Robert Reed dashed 54 yards to the 4-yard line in the third quarter, to set up the score that put the Tigers in front to stay. Britten ran across from the 4, then Lewis went over for the conversion.

Lewis ran 4 yards for Groom's final touchdown, in the fourth quarter, then ran the extra points.

PAMPA BOXERS TRIUMPH

Win 8 of 11 Against Hereford, Dumas Boys

Pampa boxers won 8 matches and lost 3 Friday night in their first home boxing show of the year.

A good crowd of about 350 to 400 fans watched the first boxing matches ever held at Pampa Optimist Boys' Club. The Pampa fighters slugged it out with fighters from Dumas and Hereford.

Hereford won three matches, and Dumas took three. In three matches, no Pampa fighters were involved. There were no knockouts Friday, but there were three TKO's.

Charles Coffee, a Pampa 136-pounder, knocked down R. C. Willy of Hereford three times in the third round, and was awarded a technical knockout after 1 minute, 40 seconds, following the third knockdown.

Charles Kimbell, a Pampa middleweight, pummeled Robert Willy of Hereford against the ropes as the second round ended in their bout. Willy was unable to answer the bell for the third round.

Robbie Wilkins of Hereford, 97 pounds, battered Joe Holland of Pampa for two rounds, getting credit for a TKO when Holland was unable to come out for the third round.

In other top matches of the night, Dickie James, 122, of Pampa, knocked down John Tobias of Dumas; Glenn Ward, Pampa middleweight, knocked Douglas Aldrich of Dumas; Herman Giese, Pampa heavyweight, outslugged Juan San Miguel of Dumas for a split decision and Pete Garcia of Dumas outpointed Johnny Ironmonger, Pampa 105-pounder.

The Ironmonger-Garcia match was the best boxing exhibition of the night. The classy Ironmonger dropped one of the new decisions of his career to an even classier fighter.

Garcia had the best of it almost all the way, and was battering Ironmonger against the ropes as the fight ended. The partisan Pampa crowd, in a show of good sportsmanship as well as tribute to a fine fighter, cheered the unanimous decision in favor of Garcia.

The Giese-San Miguel heavyweight match, the final fight of the night, got the biggest reaction from the crowd. It was strictly a slug-fest match all the way.

The 212-pound Giese carried the fight to his opponent, and got the best of several furious slugging exchanges. He was awarded a split decision—the first win of his brief ring career.

James and Ward both took fairly easy decisions, as they outboxed their opponents all the way.

In other fights, Trent Olsen of Pampa, 95-pound class, outpointed Paul Garcia of Dumas; James Morris, Pampa lightweight, won a split decision over John Willy of Hereford; Chester West, 60, of Hereford, outpointed Ronnie Fudge, Hereford.

Also, Larry Byrd, 60-85 pound class, of Dumas, outpointed Lupe Sanchez, Hereford; Don Dale, 85, outpointed Peanut Bennett, Pampa; and James Williams, Pampa, outpointed Johnny Dale, Dumas.

NPBA Slates Legal Institute At Perryton
 PERRYTON — A legal institute here Saturday, Dec. 6, "will be mutually beneficial to lawyers and the public they serve," President Robert Lemon of the Northeast Panhandle Bar Association reports.
 The intensive study, sponsored by the Association in cooperation with the State Bar of Texas, will include probate law, estate planning and a review of the two-year-old Texas Trust Act. "These legal topics are of practical significance to most families," Lemon said.
 Lawyers of ten area counties will attend the one-day institute, to be held at the Perryton Hotel.
 Speakers will include Amarillo attorneys A. J. Foley and Harold C. Rector; Kenneth N. Sloan, vice president and trust officer of the First National Bank of Amarillo; and Austin attorney R. Dean Moorhead. Foley, president-elect of the State Bar, will speak at the institute luncheon. The former justice of the Texas Supreme Court will succeed Fort Worth attorney Leo Brewster as chief executive of the big state legal organization in July, 1959.
 Lemon, a Perryton attorney, will preside over both institute sessions and the luncheon. Lecture topics are: "The Texas Trust Act" by Moorhead; "Administrative Provisions of Testamentary Trusts" by Sloan; and "Taxes as They Affect Estate Planning" by Rector. The closing session will feature an open forum, the speakers serving as panelists.
 The Perryton institute is part of the Bar's continuing legal education program to keep Texas lawyers informed on new and revised laws and improved legal techniques and procedures.

Wheat Prospects Improved With Recent Texas Rainfall

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Rains which delayed the start of the 1958 harvest season and land preparations for 1919 also improved prospects for wheat in the Panhandle and Rolling Plains.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service reports in a weekly survey prepared for United Press International that small grains and pastures also were helped in most every section of the state.

In the South Plains, where farmers were using every minute of favorable weather to harvest cotton, the one million mark and over half-way period has been reached.

Deer Hunters Busy
 Grain sorghum harvest generally had ended and only "scraping up" remained for other crops. A few fields of rice still are to be harvested in the Gulf Coast area.

The big harvest this week has been deer as hunters from urban and rural areas alike migrated to the woods and hill country. Leasing rights has become an ever increasing money item to landowners.

Livestock, ranges and pastures continued to make excellent progress after rain helped some spots which were dry and growth stopped. The only areas which reported a need for more rain were a few Rolling Plains counties centered around Ford county, and in the Panhandle to promote root growth of wheat. Frost which speared as deep as Central Texas will stop grass growth somewhat.

Fields Still Wet
 Some losses of livestock were reported in Brazoria county due to anaplasmosis, and in some Rolling Plains counties due to leptospirosis. External parasites and foot rot are causing trouble to livestock in the Del Rio Bracketville area, but cool weather has decreased the number of cases of screeveworms in much of the state.

In South Texas farmers have been able to do some planting of oats, transplanting of vegetables and harvest some peppers, peas, tomatoes and citrus after much delay, but it's still too wet for field work further north in much of the state.

Peanut harvest has made some progress with good yields, after a delay early in the week. Peas are being gathered in most sections, but generally the crop is much less than last year.

School Bids Are Accepted In Perryton

PERRYTON (SpI) — The School Board has let contracts for a new elementary school building to be constructed in the south of town. Total bids of $396,404 were accepted. Although this topped an estimate of $368,000, the Board considered bids the best possible. There were ten bidders on general construction.
 The Wes-Tex Construction Co. of Borger was given the contract for general construction at $298,800. Dean Wright co-owner, said his company will get started as quickly as possible and that work on the filling and leveling will begin immediately.
 Other contracts were awarded to the Pantex Plumbing and Heating, Inc., of Amarillo for $60,639. Shorty's Electric Co. of Guymon received the electrical contract on a low bid of $28,308. Three companies entered bids for the kitchen equipment but the awarding of the contract was delayed pending possible revision of the plans.
 The new elementary building is to be located at the corner of 17th and Grinnell, on a 15-acre tract of land owned by the School District. It will have 18 classrooms, library, lunch room, all purpose room, and other facilities to care for approximate 400 students. It is designed by the Lubbock firm of Brasher, Spencer and Goyette.

Bomb Questions Of Ike's Administration Reasonable

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A fair and reasonable question to the Eisenhower administration right now could be this:

If local law is deemed sufficient to cope with bomb outrages in labor disputes, why is it not also sufficient to cope with identical violence in civil rights disputes? "The question seems to arise reasonably," on Nov. 13, Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said the administration was considering broad new civil rights legislation aimed particularly at dynamiters of schools and churches. It was explained that specific proposals to be submitted to Congress had not been worked out. Rogers said, also, that the federal government did not desire to infringe on local responsibility or to relieve local officials of their duty to clear up the bomb cases.

These qualifications to the Justice Department's plans for new legislation aimed particularly at dynamiters somewhat clouded Rogers' intent and meaning. Something, however, evidently is on the fire. Moreover, Republican Sen.-elect Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, with 11 others, has announced plans to propose in the new Congress several federal penalties against church and school terrorists and to put the FBI in charge.

Support Local Officials

In Atlantic City last September, Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell took a more definite stand on the question of federal legislation to punish bombing and other violence at the community level arising from labor disputes. "It seems to me," Mitchell said, "that we don't need federal laws to check mugging and goon squads and criminal tactics. What we do need is a recognition at the community level that these (local) laws should be enforced; and what we do need is support given to the law-enforcement people so that intimidated workers can testify without fear of reprisal, and that grand juries can indict arsonists and thugs at the local level. No one has to wait for Washington to pass a law to check these evils."

On another occasion, Mitchell said: "What I have stressed, has been the fact that federal law can never cope with such things as assault, destruction of property through arson and bombing, intimidation, blackmail and just ordinary hoodlumism and thievery. There are local laws to deal with these types of crimes, and these laws must be enforced, in addition to the passage of a federal law." AFL-CIO President George Meany sees the problem about as does Mitchell. In a speech before an AFL-CIO affiliate, Meany gave Mitchell a fast okay on the idea that there is plenty of unenforced law on the local level to deal with union goon squad violence. Meany complained, however, that the local citizenry does not support organized labor's efforts to utilize those laws in cleaning labor's house.

"There doesn't seem to be a district (county) attorney in this country," Meany said, "who is interested. In not one single instance of violence or other violation of local law do we find where any local district attorney has taken interest."

If that be true, Mitchell's policy of leave-it-to-the-locals would appear to be founded on considerable misplaced confidence in local law enforcement. Local officials have been quick to act in school and church bombings, yet the Justice Department contemplates federal action of some kind. Maybe the difference depends on who bombs whom.

Do Doctors Forget Patients Are Human

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—In this day of wonderful scientific know-how physicians can become so enraptured with their knowledge of diseases and of fancy medications with which to cure them, that they forget their patients are human beings.

Thus spoke Dr. David Woolfolk Barrow of the Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Francisco, in lecturing his fellows on the values of humility and the human touch in the practice of a highly scientific medicine.

scientific medicine.

"The human body has a prodigious capacity for recovery," he told them. "This, added to the self-limited nature of many diseases, means that almost any therapeutic regime—in fact none at all—will often eventuate in the patient's recovery."

Beware of Drugs

As a matter of fact, he continued, there is "a real danger in the administration of some generally harmless agent (drug) alleged to shorten morbidity or prevent complications to which any specific patient may be unduly sensitive."

He cited some of the grave "side effects" which can be caused by some of medical science's potent new drugs in the "unduly sensitive," and added: "The number of such tragedies is small, but if the agent is not really needed, why use any? When the patient's comfort is the sole consideration, simple medication suffices."

Scientific doctors were also warned against "the little joke." It is all very well to put patients at their ease with a joke, but jokes go astray. "Interest, concern and kindness can all be expressed with some formality and are then less apt to be misinterpreted," he said.

Demos Are Considering New Plan

By GEORGE J. MARDER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congressional Democrats are considering a plan that would enable them to enact new welfare legislation yet blunt the spendthrift charge made against them by President Eisenhower in the recent election campaign.

The idea is still in the formative stages, but it would work this way: Push through such welfare programs as increased social security benefits, aid to economically depressed areas, and expanded housing. At the same time, and in the same Congress, provide money to pay for the new programs by plugging loopholes in present tax laws.

Democrats figure this not only would cut the ground from under the President's spendthrift charge but also would highlight his opposition to the programs themselves rather than to their cost. If he vetoes them.

The strategy is a new version of an idea put forth by some Democrats for several years. Early in the last Congress, when proposals for tax cuts were the rage, the administration was flagging down the tax-reduction drives by warning that such cuts would unbalance the budget and further feed the fire of inflation.

Some Democrats had the idea of combining tax cutting with a program to plug special exemptions and loopholes so that there would be no loss of revenue but merely a shift in the source of revenue.

Nothing ever came of the tax-cutting schemes. The present idea is merely to substitute new welfare programs for tax reduction.

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) already has announced that tax revision will be considered by the next Congress, and Chairman Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.) of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee long has called for a major drive to eliminate tax advantages given to certain groups.

Mills says that billions could be saved the government by plugging tax loopholes.

Peg O' Pampa

ON THESE CHILLY semi-winter mornings, we like to see lots of the children going to school with the "new" lego-tards, c-leotards, or knit "tights" on their legs look so nice and warm and cozy. Reminds us of the "good old days" when girls were expected to wear those awful long socks, or cotton hose. And how we rebelled at the ugly things. Now, if we had had these colorful ones then, we may not have had such a hatred of the things. These are downright cute. In fact, we will go along with the newspaper article we read a few days ago that they are just the thing for girls from two to ninety. In some version or other. Lots prettier than the old flannel long-handles.

FITS AND FACTS Thursday was a real whopper of a day. Millions of people when the Pampa merchants sponsored the "Turkey in the Mall Day" and oh, what gorgeous new automobiles. And we had a good look at the pilot's training plane brought over by the Amarillo Air Force Base people. And for once, the weather was kind to an outdoors "festival" and, speaking of festivals, the annual affair cooked up by a Borger art and craft group. Country Kitchens smorgasbord, was attended by hundreds of people. Among them several from Pampa. Florence Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sloan, the Bill Waters and Betty and Don Cain and Marge and Charles Brauchle, along with George and Francis Hofsess and the Hofsess' daughter, Julie, who had as her guest, Patsy Holloway. Heard Patsy bought her mother one of those cookbooks they have for sale there, telling how to make the goodies they serve at the Smorgasbord. Mrs. Jimmy McCune was there, also. Since last year, the group has covered the walls of the house with burlap, which makes a wonderful background for the paintings they display. And in the little back room, where there are craft items made, there were horses on sticks, and prickley pear preserves, and homemade bread, and other Christmas goodies. Mrs. Raymond Harrah bought a small stuffed toy, a very attractive white horse. Lacie loves horses of any kind. Everybody is wondering if Matt and Lvey Duncan made it to the fishing grounds. They were intending to, but no report yet. As of this writing, there was a golf players luncheon last Thursday. To install new officers in the women's golf association. President Betty Garren, and V. P. Ellen Campaign. They are certainly a good choice. They turn out for golf usually, no matter what the weather. Really shows their enthusiasm. Lucile Woelfl, visiting from Guam, has been seeing old friends. Staying with her mother, Mrs. W. R. Ewing. On Somerville. Wondering, we are, if Clinton and Fanny Fern Henry are back from West Virginia. When they left they were going to "prowl" around that section of the country and see the Fall colors. Guess the Great Smoky Mountains are on their itinerary. "reckon" we've yapped enough for one paragraph.

IDLE COMMENTS gee, we realize that we need a new typewriter ribbon something awful. Around town we have seen a couple of pretty sights. Perla Mitchell is missing a grand sight of her tremendous clump of Pampas Grass in the corner of her lawn. It is really in its prime now, and you should really drive by and see it. And also, while you are out, take a look at the attractive yellow house at 108 Sunset Drive. There is or was, when we last looked, a beautiful pot of yellow chrysanthemums on the porch, that just matched the housepaint. Jesse and Geneva Turner live there. With a lovely view of Central Park. And we were just thinking what a nice sight it is to see the fruit and vegetables displayed on the various fruit and vegetable stands scattered throughout Pampa. Pretty apples, and pumpkins and squash, and other kinds. And during the summer months the tomatoes always are so bright and red.

'ROUND AND 'ROUND THE MULBERRY BUSH seems as good a title as any for this section. We sometimes run out of "cute" little introductions. Grapevine has it that Forrest and Mahunta Hills threw a party at the Elks last week. Were you one of the lucky ones with an invitation? There was dancing and playing of cards, and fun for all. Also, we've heard about Bob Norton's lobster sculpture. And he's doing some ash trays in the same material. See that Maria and Walter Stein have moved into their newly-bought home in the section west of Hobart. It is a lovely house. We're glad they are settled. Very nice thing we think is the pebbly concrete Claudine Vail used in big blocks for the drive end parkway at their home. Which we think is one of the most attractive in Pampa, by the way. And one of the most original. Mr. and Mrs. Don George, and the two boys, Scott and Barry, visited over a long weekend in Nebraska, where we understand Don's parents live. Making it before the Thanksgiving holidays, weren't they? Noticed this week how fast the work is going now, toward completing the drive-in facilities at the First National Bank. Don't tell us Pampa can't keep up with the big cities, with such things. Did you see the movie "The Big Country" a week ago. You should have looked as if it were shot right around this section of the Panhandle. And it was a pretty dog-gone good movie, too. Saw Ted Gikas walking jauntily down the street the other day. One of the fall breezes was whipping up the leaves in the park, and we actually envied him his walk in the beautiful Fall day. Best time in the world for a walk. Heard that Bob Mitchell just returned from a trip to Roswell, New Mexico. And reported that there was lots of pretty country to see there, too. Friends of Maryl Jones were happy to have her up and out of the hospital. And, speaking of hospitals, there is a bumper crop of babies lately to report on. Betty and Bobby Helms have a new little daughter. And they were thinking of naming her Melissa. They already have one girl named Melinda. Won't that be a very pretty set of names for two fine girls? We think so. And Mr. and Mrs. H. F. McDonald have a new daughter, and have named her Gayle Lynne. Edwlad and Betty Ledet have a new little boy. A brother for their daughter, Donna. Viola Jordan won a prize for an editorial entitled "I Am the Wife of a Law Enforcement Officer" which was submitted to and published in the TEXAS LAWMAN, the official paper of the Texas Peace Officers Association. Congratulations to her. She should surely know the subject! Heard that, in connection with the up and coming Harvesters' Homecoming weekend the Sub Deb club is planning a tea for former club members Friday morning, and a semi-formal dance that evening. That is the 29th of November. Weren't you shocked about the death of Tyrone Power? What a loss to the movie company. And what we want to know is, how can Yul Brynner possibly substitute his bald dome for Tyrone's shock of black locks?

SAY, GIRLS remember, a couple of weeks ago when we clued you in on an eligible bachelor? Well, we have more news for you. There is another one running around loose. And this one can cook up a storm. Ray Fowler, heard he furnished refreshments at a party at Tom and Charlene Atkins' the other evening. A date pudding and a gorgeous German Chocolate cake. Our parting comment. We think that this year the design of the Christmas Seals is one of the prettiest ever. So we intend to buy double the usual amount to seal our Christmas Cards with. How about you?

Yours for a big holiday,
Peg

A report was given by the special project-committee, comprised of Mmes. John Nutting, Yorel Harris, and Norman Pulpis, and their investigation of the need for assistance for the mentally retarded children (and/or exceptional children) in Pampa.

The sorority voted unanimously upon the recommendation of the committee to adopt, as the ESA project for the current year, the sponsoring of a class for the mentally retarded.

Mrs. Harris reported that Mrs. L. L. Harkins, owner of the Lollypop Nursery and Kindergarten, had been contacted and had agreed to conduct the class in private classrooms in addition to the regular enrollment of her school. Due to the fact, that this is an experimental venture, Mrs. Harkins advised that only a small number would be enrolled for the remainder of the year. By next fall, it is hoped, when the true need for a class of this nature can be determined, plans to enlarge the enrollment would be considered. Mrs. Harkins expressed her sincere desire to attempt to meet the needs of exceptional children. January 1 is the date set for the opening of the class.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

"Our daughter who just turned 14 has started 'going steady' with an older boy," writes Mrs. F. "We don't particularly like him and feel she's too young for his kind of relationship. Her father wants to send her to boarding school to break it up. Somehow I feel that this would be a mistake. What do you think?"

Generally speaking I think it's risky to try to organize a child's friendships for him as it is to manage his digestion.

Not that I'm for "steady" dating by young adolescents. I'm not. But we parents ourselves have asked for his distasteful custom.

We are the people who bought the idea that "group adjustment" is the big test of a child's value, aren't we?

Of course we are. Then what happened was that we found our "cliques" and "gangs" weren't coming up with "groups" to which Patty and Billy could "adjust." So we started manufacturing them. We sent Patty and Billy to nursery school groups, after-school groups, summer camp groups and any other kind of group we could dig up in the fond expectation that "acceptance" by other children contained the answer to all our problems.

Is it any wonder that children themselves now measure their importance by this acceptance? Or that in early adolescence, they should crave "steady" dates as security against group disapproval? We mustn't blame ourselves for this artificial state of affairs. The days of Tom Sawyer-Huck Finn friendships are over. We'd have had to be marvels of stability to resist the temptation to create synthetic friendships for Patty and Billy in a world that feeds them processed food, substitutes TV viewing for climbing haystacks and offers chlorinated pools in place of the old swimming hole.

Now the thing we've all got to remember is that friendships made for security purposes are not lasting.

For children still grow, despite our mistakes. As Mrs. F.'s daughter becomes assured of her desirability, she'll begin to lose her need of "group acceptance" and the boy who gets it for her. If we interfere, we may delay this development. Having fallen for this "acceptance" business, we can't now walk out on its consequences.

Homer Craig Speaker On Education At Pampa Junior High PTA Meeting

Homer Craig, business manager for Pampa school system, was guest speaker at the Thursday evening meeting of the Pampa Junior High PTA in the school auditorium.

Speaking on the topic, "American Education . . . Why?" Mr. Craig said, "We, as parents, must keep clear before us the purposes of public education in a democracy such as ours. It is not, and I hope never will be, a contest to select a winner. It is instead, a process by which every child, the slow child, the indifferent or handicapped child, is helped to realize his own highest potential. It seems to us, cruel and heartless, to expect more from our children than they can possibly deliver."

Mr. Craig went on to say, "After the Sputnik, our interests suddenly went to everyone being a scientist and abandoning everything else, but this isn't true. First of all, we have to have students with an IQ of 140 and these students are very rare individuals. I'm afraid that it matters to me, if a Sputnik revived interest in education because of competition with Russia in the game of power politics or desire for greater economic abundance."

Mr. Craig closed by saying, "We, in Pampa, have the finest in counseling and teachers."

Preceding Mr. Craig's talk, Mrs. J. H. Trotter presided during the business meeting. Mrs. Essie Mae Walters gave the opening prayer. Mrs. Shirley Nickols read the treasurer's statement. "Love And Learning" Important Factors Pointed Out At Sam Houston PTA Meet

Mrs. Harold Miller, program chairman for Sam Houston PTA, introduced Jon Jones, minister of Mary Ellen and Harvester Church of Christ, at the unit's Thursday afternoon meeting in the school auditorium.

His topic, "The Home and School" discussed problems in the home today wherein he pointed out that before World War II one marriage in 12 ended in divorce; "the ratio has now gone to one in three. During a recent year, the number of divorces exceeded the number of marriages in Potter County."

In discussing a mother and father's role in the home, Mr. Jones said, "Husbands should accept their place in the home, but it is not always the father's fault that he is not allowed to participate other than to make the money, mow the lawn and carry out the garbage."

"Mothers should be keepers at home first of all." From Titus 2:4, he quoted, "That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children, to be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed."

Illustrating the needs of a home, Mr. Jones stated, "Keep faith with your children. Put Christianity in your home. Every child is entitled to a Christian father and mother. Go to Sunday School and church together. Children brought up in Sunday School are seldom brought up in court."

He went on to say, "Teachers are the most important asset to a school. Not only must they be prepared academically and intellectually, but they must also be prepared in heart."

"The size of house or financial security of the family does not make a real home. It is the give and take between parent and child. The little signs of love that count. Superficial things can't make a school or home. We must be prepared in heart to deal with these things personally, tenderly and lovingly. We must put people in contact with learning, with God, with love."

Mr. Jones concluded with "Preacher, do you know God? Teacher, do you know your pupils and Parents, do you know your children?"

Mr. Jones opened the general meeting with prayer, after which a business session was conducted by Mrs. Kirk Duncan, president. Reports were given by Mrs. Dot Francis, secretary, Mrs. Chris Walsh, treasurer, and Mrs. Ronald Hubbard, study course chairman.

L. C. Davis, school principal, reported on the recent family night, which he reported was successful and expressed appreciation to all who had made it so.

Mrs. Duncan was winner of the door prize, a cake baked by Mrs. Joe Daniel.

The executive board convened, prior to the general meeting with Mrs. Duncan presiding. Mrs. Chet Henry, health chairman, reported that 300 tuberculosis tests had been

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you do about an office pest who is forever begging rides home from work? She lives right on the bus line but she wouldn't think of taking a bus when she can get one of us to drive her. Not only does she beg rides, but as soon as she gets in the car she asks if I would mind stopping "to pick up a loaf of bread" and then she holds me up while she does her marketing. I get so mad at myself for getting stuck with her I could explode. Please tell me how to handle this problem before I do something I might regret.

MAD AT MYSELF
DEAR MAD: There will always be people who will impose as long as they can get away with it. Make it plain that you don't intend to go one block out of your way if the "office pest" asks for a ride. And hold your ground!

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 9 years and we have 3 children. My husband is very good looking and tends bar, which is a bad combination let me tell you! My kid sister is 22 and she goes down to the bar where he works and sits there. She waits for him to close up at 2:00 a.m., and then they go for eats to an all-night spot and he takes her home about 5:00 a.m. Everyone tells me this looks like heck and I know it but what can I do? I told my mother and she said I should be glad it is my SISTER and not some other woman. What should I do?

GEN
DEAR GEN: Tell your sister to find her own man and to leave yours alone, and vice versa.

DEAR ABBY: We have three questions we would like you to answer.
(1) How do you get rid of a boy without hurting his feelings?
(2) How do you keep a boy from kissing you too much — but not entirely?
(3) What are some good exercises for reducing the hips?

"37 HIPS"
DEAR "37":
(1) Tell him you like him "as a friend."
(2) Study up on his favorite sport and be full of conversation.
(3) Rock (and roll) on the floor about 15 minutes every night.

DEAR ABBY: That woman who thought it was terrible to see a man come out to get the morning paper in his pajamas, barefoot, should live where WE live. The lady across the street comes out to get her morning paper in her nightgown — and it ain't flannel!

DISGUSTED NEIGHBOR
DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married 15 years and have four lovely children who are 5, 8, 10 and 12. My husband refuses to kiss me or show any signs of affection in front of the children. He says he wasn't raised that way. Why does he act like that? I think it is important to show your children that you love each other. Am I wrong or is he?

UNKISSED
DEAR UNKISSED: Your husband is the product of his own cool upbringing. There is nothing wrong with Mamma and Papa showing honest affection.

Ivan Ceresna Is AAUW Speaker

Ivan Ceresna, chemical engineer for Colombian Carbon Company of Borger, spoke to the dinner meeting of the Pampa Branch of the American Association of University Women on Nov. 18, in the Colonial Inn. Mr. Ceresna was introduced by Mrs. J. E. Gunn, chairman of the International Relations Committee.

The speaker described his experiences in escaping from behind the Iron Curtain and his work in the Anti-Communist Underground. He emphasized that our indifference has helped Communism to grow and strongly urged that we, as citizens of a free country, should place greater value on, and appreciate more fully, our priceless heritage and privileges in a free America.

If you answer the telephone and it is for another member of your family, don't stand at the telephone and yell for the person who is wanted. Say, "Just a moment, please," and go to the person and tell him that he is wanted on the telephone.

YOU... and YOUR HOME

by Jack Foster

CAREFREE ELEGANCE

To be completely satisfying, a room must make a psychological as well as a physical contribution to the well being of its occupants. This means that as well as providing comfort and convenience around the calendar, it must be emotionally satisfying, fulfilling the human need for beauty of color, line and form. And it must afford freedom from worry about upkeep and wear.

Today's home makers have inherited the wealth of all the creative design of all ages. What you personally do with this inheritance, the way you translate its beauty, is what makes your home an expression of you, stamps it with the imprint of your personality.

The room sketched above is truly a room for today. Casual elegance is the keynote here. The five-piece sectional sofa curved around the corner forms the room's focal point and provides abundant seating space. Note the absence of visual confusion. The walls, draperies and wall-to-wall carpet and the furnishings blend well, yet each stands on its own feet—decoratively.

The room has a northern exposure so a warm pinkish beige was chosen as the basic color. Wide expanses of draperies, a shade deeper than the walls and floor, give a sense of shelter and soften the effect of the smooth, plain walls.

Whether your home is modern or traditional, large or small, formal or casual, we have the furnishings for it here. Graceful designs, exquisite fabrics and superb workmanship. Price, with us, is always commensurate with quality. So make us your store, always.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dunwoody stand watch over their front-yard collection of curios, a $600 a year business that began with $6.40. At 65, the Dunwoody's are newcomers in the curio business.

Shoestring Investment Is Reaping Good Rewards

By MARVIN OLSEN
Daily News Staff Writer

In May, 1956, a shoestring investment of $3.40 in a small collection of plaster lawn animals seemed like a safe enough investment to Guy and Maude Dunwoody, a Pampa couple, both in their mid-60's. They hoped to begin a modest little curio shop, give themselves a hobby and perhaps make a few extra dollars.

As the months passed, however, their hobby grew to business proportions of selling — and making portions and slowly but surely the plaster curios began to absorb their utmost interests.

Today, as described by the Dunwoody's, it is still a "modest business" (1957 profits were a about $600). "But it's growing. We hope it keeps growing. Most of our income is tied up in it."

Their place of business is a building at 1410 Alcock St., "Dunwoody's Trailer Court and Gift Shop." It is a large, old-type building which serves as both a home and office for the Dunwoody's trailer court.

The building itself was built in 1915 and was first known as the Old Schneider Annex, one of Pampa's first hotels. Its original site is now the site of the Pampa Hotel swimming pool, and its original size was 34 rooms.

In 1917 it was sold to the Dunwoody's, dismantled down to eight rooms, and carried to where it now stands on Alcock St. The moving took two days and $1,000.

The Dunwoody's home and shop is literally a small world of plaster animals and myriads of curios, ranging from cypress root lambs to bottles of home-made cherry cider.

Today most of their curios are made in a back-yard shop on the Dunwoody's own version of the assembly line. Mr. Dunwoody has mastered the techniques of making rubber moulds and mixing plaster, while Mrs. Dunwoody has become an expert painter. Among their plaster are casts of cats, chickens, jay birds, alligators, rattlers, prairie dogs and ducks.

The "hottest seller" is a plaster chicken with hooks attached to hang potholders. A pair of chicken potholders costs $1. Prices on other curios range from 25 cents up to $10, largely dependent on the plaster's size.

Cypress wood lamps, the Dunwoody's finest pieces, range from $10 to $40. Since going into business the Dunwoody's, still spry and hopeful at 65, have experienced the inevitable ups and downs or good times and bad.

"We have had 'off' months," Mrs. Dunwoody said, "but we know better times are ahead. We're very hopeful."

Now It's The Whitney's Who're Off

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Whitney's seemed today to be following in the footsteps of the Astors and the Vanderbilts—OUT of the New York Social Register.

For the first time in its 73-year history society's Who's Who has dropped a member of the socially supreme Whitney clan without being requested to do so. The 1959 register, just off the presses, gave the gate to Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney.

The register's mysterious "advisory committee" apparently bounced the mining tycoon turned film producer because he divorced his second wife to marry Mrs. Mary Hoford, a divorcee he met when she was playing a role in one of his movies.

Whitney's cousin, U.S. Ambassador to Britain John Hay Whitney, asked the register to discontinue his listing several years ago because he felt it was undemocratic. But the Whitney cousinship still makes up a sizeable bloc in the little black volume, compared to the three Astor listings and three Vanderbilt listings that have managed to survive divorce, scandal and other Social Register bugaboos.

There was many a shock in the register for sensitive socialites. Barbara Hutton apparently gave the kiss of death to the listing of young author Philip Van Rensselaer, descendant of one of New York's oldest Dutch clans. Barbara, who was dropped years ago, traveled all over Europe and Mexico last year with Philip, and it was widely reported that they were thinking of marriage despite the fact that he was 20 years her junior.

Rosemary Warburton, who has been vying with Mrs. Thomas Bancroft Jr. for the title of No. 1 New York hostess, failed to get back into the register by marrying one of its listees, poet Hugh Chisholm Jr., scion of a Maine paper manufacturing family.

The register dropped Chisholm, although Rosemary was once listed in its pages as Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt's debutante daughter. She made the mistake of marrying an unregistered doctor for her first husband.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (UPI)—Magistrate R.M. Grant today refused to allow British seaman Brian Bishop to remain in New Zealand despite his testimony that he skipped ship because of the appearance of a piteous St. Nick on Christmas seals which are being sold by a Danish children's welfare organization.

"These seals bear a symbol of a pagan goblin," he said. "You should refuse to buy them. Find some other way to aid the welfare organization."

The outburst of protest that resulted inspired a strongly-critical editorial in the Copenhagen newspaper.

"Maybe Santa Claus IS a pagan goblin, but the Christmas tree and mistletoe are not mentioned in the Bible, and yet they have been depicted on the stamps," the editorial said.

"Who says their motif has to be religious? The purpose is to collect money for children's welfare. We don't believe a goblin will hurt the sale of Christmas seals—but a clergyman can harm the good cause."

No one appeared to be paying much attention to Nedergaard's call for a boycott of the seals. Business was reported brisk.

Chisholm, a physician who was then director of the World Health Organization, touched off an uproar here by remarking that Santa Claus doesn't really exist.

The Work Picture

Most of us are so close to our immediate problems that it pays us once in a while to pause and step back from our labors. Then we can acquire a broader view, a panoramic comprehension of what has been happening during, say, the past twenty years.

Conditions are rarely static. Frequently, as we perform our daily tasks, we see ourselves standing in the same places, apparently accomplishing little.

We are aided now in obtaining this more general outlook by figures furnished us by the Institute of Life Insurance of New York City. Our super-view encompasses a period of time from 1939 to '58, just under 20 years. During that time some changes have occurred which are worthy of note.

For example, in 1939 white collar workers, which include management, and the immediate aides to management such as clerks, stenographers and bookkeepers, numbered approximately 31 per cent of the nation's working force.

That same year, what could be called the blue collar classification including factory employees, craftsmen, and ordinary laborers, made up about 40 per cent of the nation's working force.

In 1939 about 17 per cent of all working people were employed on farms.

And another 12 per cent were in the service category.

In 1958 we find a decided shift in emphasis. For example, white collar workers, including management now consists of approximately 41 per cent of all gainfully employed.

The blue collar field has shrunk to 33 per cent. Service personnel have increased to 13 per cent. Farm workers have been reduced to about 8 per cent.

Clearly the shift has been away from the farms and blue collar categories and into service and white collar fields.

We are reminded that this is precisely the opposite direction to the one forecast by Marx and various labor bosses. It is the blue collar class which is most susceptible to trade unionism. And this field has been growing smaller, thanks to an increased use of tools. However, more and more people are getting into business at a managerial or a

Libertarianism

The other day we had a telephone call from a reader who advised us to avoid using the word "libertarian" or "liberal."

"I know what you mean when you say these things," she advised us. "But many do not. There are, for example, certain persons who are strongly anti-communistic, who wonder what you are up to when you use the word libertarian. Can't you use some other word?"

We would like to. We have gone through any number of published efforts in our search for a word which denotes the meaning we want. When we find a person who is strongly in favor of human liberty, what do we call that person?

Years ago, there was a person who did not wish to see his liberties curtailed. Usually he advocated a minimum of government, a minimum of regulation and control. Today, the self-styled liberal has perverted the term. Today's liberal in the political sense, is one who wishes to be generous with your money. That isn't what the word ought to mean. It ought to mean a devotee of liberty. But the connotation, thru much political manipulation, has been changed to imply that a liberal is one who is broadminded, who will permit you to do a bit of sinning if you wish; who fancies the government in the roll of pater familias; who assumes that the rich should be compelled to pay for all the follies and mean ambitions of the rest of us.

The word liberal, clearly, is now out of bounds. The collectivists have taken it and made it their own.

Then, how do we use a word which means a person dedicated to liberty? The search disclosed the fact that Thomas Paine, Thomas Jefferson, Ben Franklin, and a host of those who founded this great nation, called themselves libertarians. Here was a word, substantially the same word as liberal, which could be used. We adopted it.

But now it seems that the left-center collectivists are using this one, too. But their use is later than ours. And they already have a word they have fouled up. We intend to resist their encroachments into the meaning of words.

white collar level.

Additionally, it should be noted that a large part of this shift indicates not so much an improvement in tools as it does a rise in real wages. This, of course, is true in government and inadvertently true in business as well. Thanks to governmental demands for figures, reports, statistics and so forth, many a business nowadays hires considerably more white collar statisticians than is economically sound or even remotely necessary.

While we're getting this broader view of things, it might be wise to look at the economy itself.

Between the years mentioned, our gross national product has zoomed upward by 374 per cent. In 1939 we had a gross national product of just over $91 billions. Today it exceeds $431 billions.

Meanwhile, personal incomes have climbed. In 1939 they stood at $72.9 billion. Now individuals earn $351.5 billion annually. The increase is 382 per cent.

Consumer spending has increased by 327 per cent. Gross private investment has gone up 449 per cent and private debt has risen by 264 per cent.

The biggest increases of all, however, have come in the mammoth growth of government. Government debt, for example has climbed by 593 per cent. And taxation, that bane of freedom and free enterprise, has increased generally by 1,692 per cent.

In point of fact, these percentages are misleading for they fail to take into account the enormous inflation we have been experiencing. All of the above figures have been determined dollar-wise and the dollar has been depreciating in value at an alarming rate.

Still, it is encouraging to realize that even with our watered currency, private persons in this nation own at least a trillion dollars' worth of assets.

The American people own something like $300 billion worth of non-farm structures and $70 billions in farm land and structures. They own about $250 billions worth of corporate stock. They own about $125 billion in life insurance and government bond obligations. And they have about $490 billion in life insurance protection coming to them.

We do not intend to surrender "libertarian" to them without a struggle.

So will our readers kindly recall when we use the word libertarian, that we are not using it in a political sense, but in its true and classic sense. To us, a person who could be called a libertarian is one who adheres to the principles of human liberty which are enunciated in our Declaration of Independence, in the great moral commandments and in the Golden Rule. A true libertarian would be he who would adopt a philosophy of liberty, so that he could never advocate by word or deed any program which would run counter to human liberty.

Now, is it possible for a libertarian to favor communism or socialism? No, it is not possible. The communist and the socialist favors a society in which human liberty sinks to the nadir of human values. Individuals have neither rights nor purposes which are not given to them by the state. The state is supreme, the individual is useful only as he serves the state. Under either communism or socialism, liberty becomes an empty word. Only the state has rights. Only the state may decide. All choices belong to the state. None is left to the individual.

The communist or socialist who uses the word libertarian as a desirable word, is contradicting himself. He cannot mean to support human liberty and at the same time support the state. The two are incompatible. Noe does the one produce the other. Governments do not provide freedom.

The founders of the American form of government understood this point well. They sought to establish a government which contained within it an automatic system of checks and balances, so that the pinnacle of human liberty could endure OUTSIDE of government. The government was intended to provide a negative protectionist device which would preclude some from depriving others of their liberty. But the government did not provide liberty. The liberty of human beings preceded any government, and this fact was clearly set forth in the declaration, wherein it was stated that all men are equally endowed with certain unalienable rights, including liberty.

Meanwhile, if any of our good friends can find another word which denotes a person who loves and is devoted to liberty, we'd be much obliged.

Four Basic Essentials of Effective Total Educational Structure

In the last issue I was quoting from Ben Moreell's article in "The Freeman" magazine on "Bases of Sound Education." He mentioned four essentials:

"First: Good teachers." "Second: Good raw materials, i.e., a highly selective system for determining those upon whom the educational effort is to be expended."

"Third: Proper curricula." "Fourth: Bricks and mortar—suitable equipment for use in instruction."

The last article discussed the subject of "Good Teachers." Then Moreell proceeds to discuss "Good Students" in this manner:

"The second essential is the raw material, i.e., students who are able to learn, to mature in understanding, and to develop a sensitive appreciation of the true, the good, and the beautiful. Here in America we have as fine a supply of raw material as can be found anywhere. Our children have a cultural heritage equal to that of any others and superior to many. We have the potential if we can but avoid the error of assuming that all men are born with the same talents and the same capacities to learn and to grow in wisdom. The law of human variation is not man-made, it is God-made—a fact of nature. Just as there were never two human beings born with the same fingerprints, so do no two humans have the same mental, physical, or moral capacities."

"If we concede that individualities and inequalities in the physical, mental, and moral characteristics of mankind is God's intent (and there is every reason to believe this), it is evident that any effort to repeal this natural law of variation by means of educational procedures is attempting the impossible. We might as well try to repeal the law of gravity."

"It is clear that no two students have the same capability of learning; and if we treat them as though they do, we will waste the talents of one or the other or both. The insistence that every educational system take account of individual differences is not to relegate certain people to an inferior status. Every person has aptitudes which permit him to excel in something. An engineer would probably make a poor metaphysician and vice versa, but it is improper to label one man inferior to the other on this ground."

Let me quote here from an authority on this subject, Dr. Roger J. Williams, Director of the world-famous Biochemical Institute of the University of Texas. He said: "It is my confirmed opinion based upon diverse considerations and upon prolonged thought, that one of the most constructive and harmony-producing moves that we, as inquiring human beings can make, is to get acquainted with, in the most scientific manner possible, the inherent differences that exist among members of the human family."

Why choose our own schools, our own amusements, our own books, our own church? Why not have someone tell us what to eat, what to drink, whom to marry, and when we can have children? The fundamental reason is that each of us is a different individual—with profound differences—and each of us wants to live his own life. . . . There is not the slightest danger that humanity will put up indefinitely with any scheme which involves the thoroughgoing regimentation. It is not human nature to tolerate this. There are too many potential Patrick Henrys, and they will continue to reproduce."

Proper Curricula
"And what of the third essential, the curriculum, with which I include the method of expounding the curriculum?"

"Specifically, what is our present situation with respect to preparatory processing of the raw material for our schools of higher learning? Even before the hysteria engendered by the Sputniks, those interested in engineering and scientific education, many educators, and industrialists who have to use the products of our high schools generally conceded that something is amiss in our primary and secondary educational systems."

Spelling
"I shall not enter into the details of the holly contested controversy over the worth, or lack thereof, of so-called 'progressive' education. I have been studying this subject for the past ten years. My conclusion is that many, but fortunately not all, of our preparatory schools are not only failing to improve the raw material which comes to them, but are actually spoiling it."

"It is impossible to do justice to such a difficult, complex subject in a short time. Perhaps I would do well to summarize my views and those of some others. They are that the preparatory schools have in large part abandoned their emphasis on specific academic disciplines designed to develop the capacity of the student for creative thinking, and they have substituted an emphasis on social activities with attractive labels, such as group awareness, life adjustment, and something frequently referred to as 'togetherness.'"

If You Join the Democrats—

Robert Allen Reports:

Rackets Committee Heading For Battle

WASHINGTON — The Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, whose jolting disclosures have been making sensational news for several years, is heading for a stormy battle over its composition in the new Congress.

A powerful group of Democratic senators is preparing to demand that the Committee's present bipartisan line-up of four Democrats and four Republicans be replaced with a decisive Democratic majority of seven to four Republicans.

The GOP will determinedly oppose this Democratic move. Already a "last ditch fight" is being promised by Senator Barry Goldwater, Ariz., ranking Republican on the Investigating Committee.

Vigorously supporting this back-stair plan are top labor leaders, headed by George Meany and Walter Reuther, chiefs of the AFL-CIO.

The potential Democratic group seeking this significant change includes:

Senators John Kennedy, Mass., member of the Committee; Thomas Hennings, Mo., member of the Democratic Policy Committee; members of the Labor Committee; Estes Kefauver, Tenn.; Hubert Humphrey, Minn.; and Joseph Clark, Pa.

This explosive issue is due to be among the first important show-downs of the next session as the Democrats' authority expires January 30.

The full Senate has to vote on extending that, as well as the party line-up of the Committee. But the first salient test on the latter controversial question will take place in the 13-member Democratic Steering Committee, headed by Senator Lyndon Johnson, Tex.

This key group will determine the number of Democrats on all Senate committees. Its decision can be overruled by the full Senate, but that's a rare occurrence.

However, the Democratic group is serving notice it will attempt to do exactly that if unsuccessful in the Steering Committee.

WHAT'S BEHIND IT? — Chief basis of this Democratic demand for a decisive majority on the Rackets Investigating Committee is the party's top-heavy alignment in the next Senate — 62 Democrats to 34 Republicans, without counting the two new senators to be elected in Alaska next Tuesday.

WHAT HIT THE GOP?

(N. Y. Daily News)

What hit the New York Republicans in Tuesday's elections was a landslide victory for the state ticket headed by Nelson Rockefeller.

What hit the Republicans in many other states was the biggest Democratic victory since New Deal days.

Most of the pollsters and educated guessers were right about all this, though some of them underestimated the Democratic sweep.

Sen. Knowland lost out for governor of California; Sen. Bricker for re-election. Republican losses in various farm states were heavy. The Democrats took all of Connecticut's six House seats, in addition to re-electing Gov. Abraham Ribicoff. So it went, across the nation.

We think there were —

SEVERAL MAIN REASONS — for the Democratic sweep.

Lingering unemployment here and there, and discontent with the Eisenhower Administration's farm policies, were clearly two of these reasons.

But we're also convinced that another reason was the general Republican failure to work energetically and purposefully toward this 1958 election from the time President Eisenhower was triumphantly re-elected in 1956.

The Democrats made no such mistake. Their Northern radical wing, aided and heavily sugared by the labor leaders who hope to run the party sooner or later, was on the organizing and propagandizing job from the morning after a 1956 election till Nov. 3, 1958.

Messrs. Eisenhower, Nixon and Meade Alcorn realize this GOP mistake now, and swear it won't be repeated. It's to be hoped they'll live up to that oath — and that large, medium and small business men in great numbers will become politically active on the Republican side in a hurry.

The new Congress will be loaded with spenders, as the President says. If business and industry won't fight to save themselves (and the people, though most of the people may not realize this at first) from inflationists, labor barons and ever higher taxes, then they'll deserve what they'll get from an unchecked Congress, and they'll get plenty, all of it in the neck.

As for the President, we can't imagine a better service he can render in his last two years in the White House than the unrelenting fight he promised at his news conference yesterday against those same spenders.

The Doctor Says:

Dr. Edwin F. Jordan

A writer asks whether glaucoma can be avoided and, if so, how. She also inquires how long a person with glaucoma can expect to retain vision. Another respondent says that she has been told that blindness sets in from glaucoma after 18 years.

To the first question I shall have to reply that as yet there is no way known to avoid or prevent glaucoma. It is certainly not accurate to say that blindness sets in after 18 years. Blindness may never come at all, or may come much more rapidly. The important thing is to make a diagnosis of glaucoma early and begin proper treatment promptly.

Glaucoma is a condition in which the pressure inside the eyeball increases. Several different causes are recognized. The disease may develop rapidly or slowly.

The eye often appears inflamed and becomes hard to the touch. What happens is that there is a blockage to the free flow of eye fluids so that they gather in the eye instead of draining out normally. Unless treated early, all this leads to a progressive loss of vision.

The Committee on Glaucoma of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness has adopted a number of rules for glaucoma sufferers. However, it is not sufficient to use general measures — since there are medicines and other advice which can be given only after the eyes have been carefully examined.

One of the rules is to avoid as much as possible excitement, anger, worry, fear or depression from disappointment. Though easier said than done, it is worth striving for.

Some of the other rules mentioned include limiting coffee or tea to one cup a day, the avoidance of alcoholic beverages, the avoidance of dark rooms as much as possible, keeping the blood circulation active by walking or other appropriate exercise and the avoidance of tight fitting collars, corsets or belts.

It was pointed out in a letter published in the Journal of the American Medical Association that the early diagnosis of glaucoma depends on a high index of suspicion. This suspicion should exist, the writer said, when the following conditions are present:

The patient is over 40 (two of every 100 people over 40 have chronic glaucoma); a family history of glaucoma; unexplained aching of or about the eyes.

In many instances the medicines

Move Over Bears, You've Got Company!

By HENRY McEMORE

If I were a lion, tiger, polar bear, or even just a balding emu, one of my goals in life would be to take up room and board in the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo.

Indeed, I wouldn't mind living there myself, and if the directors ever want a Red-Headed Americanus Homo Sapiens for their collection, I'll talk business.

I have seen many of the world's great zoos — those in Sydney, San Diego, New York, London, St. Louis, Berlin, and pre-war Berlin, to name a few — but none of them has the elegance of the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo.

Yes, elegance. It is the Cartier's of zoos. Owned and operated by the Broadmoor Hotel of Colorado Springs, it is situated some 7,000 feet up on the side of the mountain whose name it carries.

With the snow-topped Rockies on one side, and the rolling prairies on the other, it commands a view that makes even the three-toed sloth rouse from his torpor to take a look.

It is small, compact, but complete, and housed in buildings which neither your eyes nor your nose associate with zoos. And there is a climate to suit every animal. The sun is warm even when the snow is deep, a combination which pleases grizzly and tiger alike.

There are hotels and hotels with a room and a view, but the Broadmoor goes them all one better in that it offers a room with a view and a zoo.

My primary purpose in visiting the zoo today was to renew an acquaintance made four years ago with Skeeter and Charlie. Skeeter being a black panther, and Charlie, a Sumatran tiger, then only a few weeks old.

Skeeter wasn't there, having been sold to Disneyland, and I can't say I was too sorry. The last time I was at the zoo, the animal handler who was showing me through, said Skeeter was as gentle as a kitten, and to prove it took him out of his cage and held him.

The handler then commanded Skeeter to jump into my arms, which he did, giving me the double distinction of being the first McEmore ever to hold a black panther on his lap, and the scariest McEmore.

I didn't recognize Charlie, he having grown from a snarling but cuddly eight-or-nine-pounder, into 475 pounds of muscle and princely colors. He didn't resemble anything I had ever chucked under the which are available are quite effective, especially in acute glaucoma. They may have to be taken for a long time, but this is better than going blind.

Sometimes an operation is necessary. There are several varieties of surgery used and all of them have the aim of making new paths for the drainage of the excess eye fluids.

UNDRESSED TRUANT
LONDON (UPI) — A magistrate freed Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hayter of a charge of failing to send their young son to school regularly when Mrs. Hayter testified the boy refused to get up and dress in the morning.

TAX LITTLE GIRLS
LONDON (UPI) — Laborite Victor Yates demanded in Commons there be an explanation for "discrimination against little girls."

He said Brownies must pay a 30 per cent sales tax on their badges while Girl Guides — British equivalent of the Girl Scouts — get their badges tax free.

Everybody Gets Into The TV Act

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Dinah Shore and George Montgomery are so darned proud of their two youngsters they'll show them off on Dinah's show Sunday night, and again next month on Papa George's "Cimarron City" TV series.

A glamour girl on her own weekly show, Dinah was an attentive mother this week—when her brood filmed their western stint.

"Missy," she called to 10-year-old Melissa, "if you leave the soundstage don't forget to put on your coat. It's cold outside."

Missy whipped off her own wrap and slipped it over her daughter's shoulders. The cameras began turning unexpectedly and Dinah pantomimed a "shush" to 4-year-old Jodi, her energetic son, who chose that moment to unlimber—a six-shooter from his holster.

"Where's your other gun?" Mama Montgomery wanted to know. "I washed it," Jodi explained after the cameras stopped.

"This was George's idea," Dinah smiled. "It's just a little gag and we thought it would be fun for the kids."

Montgomery put his arm around his blond wife, saying "this is going to cost me more money than I counted on. Have to pay Dinah $80, and the kids must join the union—at $20 each. They're getting paid, too.

"But they don't have to worry about memorizing lines. Jodi would give us a bad time. Missy, though, is getting to be an old campaigner. She just finished filming a Danny Thomas show."

Dinah giggled with motherly pride, adding, "We'll do anything to get in front of a camera."

"Missy did a wonderful job with Danny, and was terribly excited about being paid. But on the way home in the car she wanted to know what her salary would be for appearing on my show. I teased her, saying it would be labor of love—and that she would be doing it for free."

"The little gal thought about it for a minute, then burst into an exaggerated soprano version of 'There's no business like show business.'"

Dinah's tiny role in "Cimarron City" marks her first characterization since she starred in the movie "Aaron Slick from Punkin Crick" in 1951.

"It's been seven years since I've had a chance to play anybody besides Dinah," she said. "But I'm not out of practice."

Every time I sing a song I sorta play a role. A singer is more effective if she puts herself into the character who is supposed to be singing the song."

Daily oil production of the United States totaled 6,264,135 barrels during the first week of April, 1958.
