Horror Scenes Follow Fire

Many Were Saved, Many Were Lost

By IRA LURVEY
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI)—A sobbing nun who led fear-stricken children out clutching her skirts, then rolled them down the stairs.

A father who stood below a window and begged and begged his son to jump into his arms. The boy couldn't do it.

A seventh grader who stood on a second floor sill and thought how he would look dead.

A little girl who didn't want to stay home from school with just a cold. Her mother finally let her go back at mid-day.

An old man with a bad heart trying to catch children plummeting down into his arms, their hair and clothing afire.

Those were some of the horrifying vignettes in the overall heartbreaking tragedy of the fire at Our Lady of Angels school.

Rolls Down Stairs
The nun was teaching a geography class when she heard the fire bell. She opened a door leading into the hall and smoke billowed in.

"The children began to cry," she said. "I told them to get down on their knees and to crawl out through the door one after another. I crawled out first and the first ones held on to my skirt. But they were afraid to go down the stairs. I carried down six and went back for more."

"A couple wouldn't go down and I rolled them down the stairs. I rolled them down even though they screamed."

Max Spachura lives just across an alley from the school. Two of his children go there. He was one of the first to run to the burning building. There, face pressed against a window on the second floor, was his son, Mark.

"Jump! Jump, Mark." He shouted. "I'll catch you."

Someone broke the window with a book. Twelve children jumped. Spachura caught several of them, helped break the fall of others.

"Now you, Mark," Spachura pleaded. The boy stood frozen. Smoke blotted him from sight. Later, he was found dead.

Needed Fire Escape
Tommy Raymond's seventh grade class was singing when they heard the shouts of "Fire."

POLICE SEEK MISSING GEMS

CHICAGO (UPI)—FBI agents hunted today for $1,500,000 worth of diamonds, missing from the supposedly "inaccessible" vault of a downtown hotel.

Lt. Charles Pierson of the police burglary squad said it looked like a "good gang of jewel thieves" was behind the theft.

Diamond salesman Charles Stager said he first missed the gems Monday, when he went to the vault to put in another half-million dollars' worth.

Stager is an employee of the New York diamond brokerage firm of Harry Winston & Co.

It was Winston who recently donated the famed Hope diamond, valued at one million dollars, to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. The 44 1/2 carat diamond was sent safely from New York to Washington through the mails.

16 Yanks Captured

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY
United Press International

HAVANA (UPI)—Reports from eastern Cuba said today 16 Americans are in rebel hands and upwards of 60 others have been deprived of water and milk supplies by insurgent action.

None of the Americans was believed to be in serious danger.

The United Fruit Co. reported that 14 Americans at its agricultural station in Guara fell into rebel hands 10 days ago when the village was captured by a rebel band which has since cut off water and milk supplies from the company's Preston sugar mill.

United Fruit officials said, however, that it is not yet thought necessary to evacuate 30 American families from the Preston mill, which also is the home of about 6,000 Cubans.

At the same time, the rebel radio called on the U.S. embassy and the Inter-American Press Assn. for help in getting an American reporter - photographer team back to civilization. One of the newsmen was identified as Pat Farley Zopane, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The insurgent broadcast said the two Americans cannot leave the rebel-held hills "because their arrest has been ordered." The report was denied by police in Cienfuegos, the city through which the Americans entered the hills.

FALLEN BEAM

Holding the frayed ends of a rope that snapped Monday, causing a mishap that injured three workmen, is Broke Foreman Archie Jackson, left. With Jackson is Curtis Wilson, Dallas, a bricklayer. The rope held a huge steel roof beam, (in picture above) which was being welded in place in the roof of the partially-built Calvary Baptist Church auditorium 824 S. Barnes. The rope snapped and the beam swung down, striking Thomas Green, about 65, 801 Brunow; O. H. Ernst, 922 E. Campbell, and a motorman Benny Lee White, Dallas. Green suffered a concussion and a broken left ankle. Doctors at Highland General hospital report his condition as fair. The other injured workmen were both released.

US Pledge Bolsters Election Chances of Berlin's Mayor

BERLIN (UPI)—Renewed American pledges to fight an all-out war if necessary to maintain the U.S. position in West Berlin have boosted the chances of Mayor Willy Brandt to win a smashing victory in Sunday's city elections.

On Sunday West Berlin's 1,550,000 electorate goes to the polls to elect a new 127-seat city parliament which in turn will elect a mayor. Brandt's Social Democrat Party has ruled since 1954 and his strong position on Berlin and Western support were raising his stock.

He was helped late Monday when informed sources passed the word in the city that the United States would support its garrison against any military attack by the Communists against West Berlin. West Berlin newspapers accepted it as the strongest pledge yet.

It followed a declaration Sunday by Gen. Henry I. Hodes, American Army commander in Europe, that the United States would consider an attack against the American garrison as an attack against the United States.

Sound trucks toured the streets of West Berlin today urging the citizens to get out and vote on Sunday. From the trees of Berlin's once-legendary boulevards, posters carried huge pictures of the mayor and the slogan "Berlin needs Willy Brandt."

UNSAFE SCHOOLS

Official Claims There Are Others

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dr. William Carr Jr., executive secretary of the National Education Assn., said today there are "a large number of unsafe schools in the nation."

Carr, whose organization has led a fight for more adequate schools and federal aid for school construction, learned of the Chicago school tragedy from United Press International in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Carr did not elaborate on other unsafe schools or give any figures.

He voiced "profound sympathy" for the parents, students and teachers caught in the Chicago disaster and paid tribute to the "gallant conduct" of the teachers at the school.

U.S. Education Commissioner Lawrence G. Dertlich said his agency was ready to help in any way possible to avert similar future tragedies.

1937 TEXAS FIRE WAS WORST EVER

United Press International
The Chicago school explosion and fire Monday was among the worst such disasters ever to strike in the United States.

According to the World Almanac the worst school tragedy occurred on March 18, 1937, at New London, Tex., when an explosion destroyed a schoolhouse, killing 294 persons.

The almanac says a total of 174 children and two teachers were killed in a fire and panic at the Lakewood School in Coltonwood, Ohio, a Cleveland suburb, on March 4, 1908.

Other school fires listed by the almanac were at Camden, S.C., killing 76 persons on May 17, 1923, and at Hobart, Okla., killing 35 persons on Dec. 25, 1924.

Difficult to identify
In the noisy lobby, Vincent Mucchi tugged at the sleeves of coroner's deputies and newsmen — anyone with a slip of paper in his hand-seeking word of his niece, Elaine Pesoli.

"She's 9," he said, "wearing red bobby sock and black suede shoes. My brother and I were taken down into that hell-hole to see if we could find her. My brother thought one body was hers, but I didn't. I don't see how anyone can identify anyone down there."

Hours later, Elaine's name was posted on the official death list in the Our Lady of Angels school holocaust.

The small bodies, covered with blankets, were carried into the morgue from ambulances and squad cars that drew up 10 and 12 deep in the street outside.

Police carried the bodies into a waiting room and put them gently down on the cold concrete floor. They arrived faster than morgue

87 Children, Three Nuns Burned To Death In Blaze

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI)—Police today investigated the possibility that a careless student may have accidentally set a fire which killed 87 children and three nuns in a Roman Catholic school.

The investigation of Chicago's worst fire in 55 years turned to pupils when it was learned a number of boys had been assigned to carry trash to bins near a basement stairwell where the blaze apparently started.

The flames and blinding, black smoke swept our Lady of Angels parochial school at mid-afternoon Monday, less than a half hour before classes were to be dismissed.

The fire killed 65 little girls, 34 boys and 3 nuns. The children ranged in age from 9 to 15.

An inquest was set by the coroner's office for Thursday at 10:30 a. m.

Nearly 100 children were injured and 82 of them remained hospitalized today. Four of the injured were near death.

Question Some Boys
Many of the children leaped from the upper floor of the two-story building, their clothing and hair afire. Others suffocated as they sat at their desks.

Deputy Chief of Detectives Frank Pape and his squad questioned two 13-year-old boys during the night. He said the boys, Daniel O'Shea and Patrick Machaj, told of carrying rubbish to the basement shortly before the fire broke out.

Authorities sought a third boy who was in the basement with O'Shea and Machaj, and planned to question other boys assigned to carrying trash to the basement.

"It would seem to me that some youngster was smoking down there when he thought he heard someone coming," Pape said. However he emphasized that no one was under suspicion at the moment.

"At the present time the origin of the fire is still undetermined," Pape continued. He said it didn't "make sense that a child would set the fire deliberately" and then return to his classroom.

The FBI offered its cooperation in the probe in the event investigators turned up evidence of arson. Authorities said they had not ruled out arson as a possible cause.

Sgt. Drew Brown of the arson detail said the thick smoke, at first believed to have been oil, apparently came from thick wax on the school floors.

He said the flames spread quickly when second floor windows were opened by panicked youngsters seeking an escape route and sucking the smoke and flames up through the stairwell to the upper floor.

He said the fire could have been smoldering for some time in tightly packed papers under the stairwell before it broke out. The building had only one outside fire escape.

Heroic nuns and men who dashed into the burning building from the street helped save most of the 1,300 children in the school. Firemen carried down others on ladders from upper floors.

A crowd of 10,000, many of them hysterical parents, swarmed around the burning building. They had to be restrained by police cordons. The officers wept openly.

It was the worst school fire in Chicago's history and the city's most tragic blaze since the Iroquois Theatre fire killed 575 persons in 1903. It was the nation's worst school fire since 234 were killed in an explosion at New London, Tex., in March 1937.

In Teeming Neighborhood
The school, formerly a church, is located in Chicago's teeming West Side in a neighborhood made up largely of working people of Italian, German and Irish descent.

In recent weeks, a number of Chicago schools have had bomb threats and scares, tied in with Negro-white integration. There were no Negro students in Our Lady of the Angels.

Anguished parents rushed from the school to hospitals and, finally, to the Cook County Morgue in search of their children. They filed past rows of hastily erected benches in the morgue basement, looking with horror at the charred, blanket-covered bodies.

For many the effort was futile. Some bodies were burned beyond recognition.

Coroner Walter McCarron said he would impanel a "blue ribbon jury" today to investigate the cause. Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn ordered an investigation by arson experts.

The FBI made its full facilities available in an effort to determine if the blaze was set deliberately.

Dense Smoke Fills Building
Quinn said the fire broke out in the lower part of the rear stairwell in the northwest corner of the U-shaped school. Dense smoke indicated burning oil, rolled through the building. There were reports the fire was preceded by an explosion but the reports could not be confirmed.

Quinn said the speed with which the flames flashed through the building prevented the children (See SCHOOL, Page 2)

Taken To Rectory
A policeman walked up to the woman and, speaking softly, led her to the rectory where the Red Cross had set up a missing children's desk. She took her place in line with other mothers and fathers who had come to look for their children.

"We'll notify you as soon as we learn something," the heavy-set man with the small mustache said, taking names and telephone numbers.

The men and women paraded before him in all manner of middle-class street attire. Their accents were Polish, Italian, Irish and just plain midwestern American.

"We'll notify you as soon as we learn something," the man said to each parent, trying to make it sound a little different each time.

They nodded silently, then stepped outside into the milling (See BOY, Page 2)

City Studies Hike Of Hobart Limits

The thorny issue of raising speed limits on N. Hobart St. was brought up again this morning at the weekly meeting of Pampa City Commission.

Mayor Lynn Boyd said the Commission can only make recommendations to the City Traffic Commission, but he felt there was more support for higher limits this morning than last week when the issue first arose.

Two commissioners said they have received many phone calls raising limits. Commissioner Ed Wyatt, opposed to higher limits at this time, said he may favor a higher limit when traffic lights are operating at Highland General Hospital and near Horace Mann school. Similar opinions were expressed by other commissioners.

Police Chief Jim Conner first raised the Hobart speed limit question last week. He urged that limits be raised to either 35 or 40 miles per hour except in the areas around the Highland Hospital and Horace Mann school.

The commission suggested this morning that a traffic count be made on N. Hobart. It also decided to leave the matter of speed limits up to the Traffic Commission.

Turning to other matters the commission turned down a request from Fred Blackwell to lease the dump grounds for the grazing of hogs.

The commission also approved on second reading an ordinance to annex almost two blocks of the Jarvis-Sone West Addition on the city's Western limits.

from fleeing through the six exits.

Quinn said, "they just couldn't get out into the corridor to go downstairs."

The school had been inspected by the Fire Department only a week ago and its safety precautions and equipment pronounced satisfactory.

Mothers in the crowd fainted as they saw children jump from the second-story windows and crumple on the ground below. The jam hampered the efforts of ambulances and fire equipment responding to the five-alarm blaze.

Archbishop Arrives

Among the first to reach the scene were the Most Rev. Albert G. Meyer, newly appointed Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, and Mayor Richard J. Daley. The mayor called the fire "a terrible disaster for our city."

At the morgue, ambulances were backed up 10 deep waiting to unload the small bodies. They were taken to the basement and parents, in groups of seven, were led down to attempt identification.

"Oh my God, my boy my boy," sobbed John Jakowski Sr., as an attendant lifted a sheet from a charred body.

The fire had its share of heroes who dashed into the hooch to save children petrified with fear.

Max Spachura, who lives across an alley from the school and has two children there, ran to the building and caught or broke the fall of 12 children who jumped from windows. Then he saw the face of his own son, Mark, 9, at a window.

"Jump, jump, Mark," he shouted. "I'll catch you."

Can Not Move

The boy could not move. His face disappeared. His body was found later.

A man teaching the seventh grade led her class out into the second floor corridor, some of the children holding onto her skirt.

"But they were afraid to go down the stairs," she said. "I carried down six and went back up for more. A couple wouldn't go down and I rolled them down even though they screamed."

Three of the nuns of the Order of the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary died with their students. Others formed chains, with children holding onto each other's shirts and dresses, to lead them to safety.

Some Misses

The fire broke out at 3:42 p. m. e. s. t. There were 400 more children in an addition to the building which was not affected. The first indication of the blaze was black smoke seeping under classroom doors.

Score of children clambered to second floor window sills and jumped or were pushed to the ground.

Daniel Grimaldi, 32, was getting a haircut around the corner when he heard the children's screams. He raced up to a second floor hallway.

Black Cloud in Smoke

Mary Brock sat in her second floor classroom and saw smoke "crawling across the floor like water."

"I turned to the boy next to me and said, there's a fire. He thought I was just a silly girl. He poked me and said, 'Shush. Don't make so much noise.' I jumped out of my seat and threw open the door. This big, awful black cloud of smoke came in and the sister made us close the door and all get by the window."

Margaret Chambers awoke with a cold. Her mother said, "Stay home from school today."

throng. Flood lights still bathed the brick school building. Thousands of people had gathered to look at the ruins. Except for the broken windows, the firehoses and the aerial ladders it looked like a parish carnival.

A ladder rested a couple of feet from the cross atop the school. Firemen, policemen and newsmen stood in little groups around the building, occasionally looking up at it.

Across the street, beyond the ropes, stood the curious—shoulder to shoulder and 10-deep at spots. They didn't talk, just looked.

Parents made their way through the crowd, then stopped at the church with its drab exterior. Inside, it was beautiful and still.

Derthick, who first learned of the extent of the tragedy from United Press International, said: "It's horrible beyond words to imagine. This will shock the whole country."

Also apparent in official quarters was a sense of helplessness—a questioning of, "What can we do about it?" "What could we have done that we didn't do?"

Derthick and officials of his agency said the federal government has no supervision over school safety standards, although the U.S. Office of Education has participated in conferences which recommended standards to local authorities. The agency itself has published two pamphlets on "school fire safety" and "school fire exit drills."

Asked if the Office of Education might take further steps in the wake of the Chicago tragedy, Earlier, the rebel radio had launched a bitter attack on the United States, accusing Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith of "meddling" in Cuban affairs.

"Enough is enough," a rebel announcer said. "We are tired of being branded as Communists by the American State Department. If any (U.S.) Marines land on Cuban soil, they will be fought the same as (President Fulgenio) Batista's soldiers."

'Wonderful Town' Loses Oomph In Transition To TV

By WILLIAM EWALD United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — It is, of course, unfair to compare the TV production of "Wonderful Town" with its Broadway cousin, but I will anyway.

I remember the Broadway piece as an essay in unhinged revelry, a musical in which paroxysms of tumult were tumbled atop each other. It was all a little like an amiable explosion.

The two hour "Wonderful Town" on CBS-TV Sunday night was amiable, too. But it was more like an amiable romp, a gambol through the woods of a rather hygienic bohemia. What it lacked was ferment.

It is impossible to do a bad "Wonderful Town" with Rosalind Russell in tow. Miss Russell is a player with style and spirit. She funnels out a kind of elegantly clumsy whoop-it-ness that adds flair to any production. She reminds me a little of a high-mettled and very chic kangaroo.

Sunday night, Miss Russell was in pretty good form and she juiced the proceedings considerably. So did Jackie McKeever, who played Miss Russell's sister with a nice sense of bounce. Along with Sydney Chaplin, who owns a pleasant if undistinguished voice, they were the vehicle's principal assets and spanked alive such numbers as "Ohio," "Conversation Piece" and "A Quiet Girl." A dance number, "Swing!", with Miss Russell should also be included in the asset grouping.

But where "Wonderful Town" went wrong was in some of its supporting parts where the acting was not housebroken for TV and in its direction which tended toward the sluggish side. I should add that the frequent insertion of commercials didn't help any—they impeded the flow of the production and prevented it from any possibility of breaking loose.

All in all, a pleasant offering, marred mainly by the unevenness of its playing and by its lack of rollicking, headlong lunacy.

Short Shots: Leonard Bernstein, who wrote the music for "Wonderful Town", had an hour to himself Sunday on CBS-TV and conducted the last movement of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. Bernstein is an unabashed ham—he sings, he hums, he shushes, he gloats, he turns on looks of rapturous joy—and I must say I enjoy every minute of him.

Victor Borg's one hour special for CBS-TV Saturday night was moderately ingratiating, not quite up to the high level he set in his previous spectacles. Borg seems to have skimmed on writers and as a result, the show leaned heavily on sight jokes and large chunks of father unadventurous music. What the show needed were some extended routines of the nuttier Borg sort.

"I agree with you," was the most frequently uttered sentiment during the Harry Truman-Clement Attlee chat on Ed Murray's "Small World" on CBS-TV Sunday, but even though the show failed to provide much meat to chew on, it was an agreeable half-hour. NBC-TV's "Steve Allen Show" did a funny spoof Sunday night of NBC-TV's "Arthur Murray Party." However, when Allen teamed with Pat Boone to sing their latest joint recording, "Loyalty," it seemed to be a bit too much. The pair plugged the same tune only last Thursday on Boone's ABC-TV show.

The Channel Swim: CBS TV's "Armstrong Circle Theater" will scrap its dramatic formula on Christmas Eve and substitute a program of readings, carols and comedy. Victor Jory and Dick Van Dyke will star.

CBS-TV will bury "Keep Talking" on Jan. 11 — "Richard Diamond" is shaping up as temporary fill-in. ABC-TV is readying a second Dick Clark nighttime show for early 1959. Art Linkletter will take a one week break from CBS-TV's "House Party" starting Dec. 5 to vacation in Guatemala — his son, Jack, will spell Linkletter.

SHAH VISITS ITALY ROME (UPI)—The Shah of Iran arrived Thursday for his first visit here since Italy and his nation broke Mideast tradition with an oil prospecting agreement giving Iran 75 per cent of drilling profits.

West Rejects Anti-Attack, Red Proposal

United Press International

GENEVA (UPI) — The West has rejected a Soviet plan for prevention of surprise attack, branding it a maneuver to turn the conference into a new cold war battle ground.

French Ambassador Pierre de Laussane said the Russian plan was unacceptable because of its political character. He restated the West's insistence that the conference be confined to technical discussions.

The Communist plan, submitted last Friday, called for ground and aerial controls in NATO, Warsaw Pact and Baghdad Pact countries to guard against surprise attack. Nearly all the Soviet proposals had been rejected previously at other East-West conferences.

The West held higher hopes for today's nuclear test ban talks. It expected Russia to give the green light to talks on three-power test ban agreement. Western sources said a surprise

Conservatives Not All Dead And Gone

By LYLE C. WILSON United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Further evidence to support the belief that the conservatives are not all dead is this:

The right wing weekly newsletter "Human Events," which is published in Washington, D.C., cast up before the November election a list of 42 Republican members of the House, all 55 years of age or younger, who were standing for re-election and who could be classed as conservative politicians.

Their conservative tag arbitrarily was conferred because all of them in the 85th Congress had cast more than 70 per cent of their votes on controversial legislation against the recommendations of Americans for Democratic Action.

ADA is a non-Communist but quite left wing political faction of which Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is honorary national chairman. Other notables in the ADA high command include Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), Sen. Wayne L. Morse (D-Ore.), Walter P. Reuther of the United Auto Workers, and former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-N.Y.). ADA is the heir and embodiment of FDR's New Deal.

From 17 States "Human Events" called the list of 42 conservative Republicans a roll of honor and reported in October that 38 of them were seeking re-election. Of those 38—4 lost and 34 were re-elected, a high percentage in any circumstances, but especially so in an election generally regarded as an unrelieved catastrophe for conservative citizens and a triumph for the left wing.

The 34 winners came from 17 states too widely scattered to make anything like a pattern. The winners were: Rhodes, Ariz.; Teague, Jackson, Hosmer, Smith, Holt, Lipscomb, Wilson, Calif.; Cramer, Fla.; Budge, Idaho; Collier, Ill.; Adair, Ind.; McIntire, Maine; Bates, Mass.; Johansen, Cederberg, Mich.; Weaver, Con-ningham, Neb.; Derounian, Bosch, Robston, Miller, Pillion, N. Y.; Jonas, N. C.; Scherer, Betts, Henderson, Minsall, Ohio; Alger, Tex. Poff, Va.; VanPelt, Laird, Byrne Wis.; and Thomson, Wyo.

Other and older Republican conservatives also were re-elected. "Human Events" noted, however, a peculiar significance in the re-election of the younger men, as follows:

"The high proportion (89.5 per cent) of 'young' conservative voters is reassuring to the Republican Party, for it runs contrary to normal expectations.

"An opposition sweep usually causes the most devastating losses among the younger and newer members because they are the ones who lack the prestige and power which comes with seniority in committees. In addition, they have not had as many years to be of service to constituents."

These 34 youthful Republican conservatives, a handful of their conservative elders and those southern Democrats who refuse to march the left-of-center path will add up to a considerable bloc of votes in the 86th Congress.

All of them together are not likely to muster a majority on any vote in the House. They will be the hard core of support, however, when President Eisenhower begins to fire veto messages at ride a veto requires a two-thirds vote. Eisenhower will use the veto freely in the next two years.

SKUNKED BOUNTY SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI)—Marin County, overpopulated this year with pesky varmints, offered a $1 bounty for tails of skunks and raccoons. Some 38 tails later, country agricultural commissioner Thomas W. Peryan wasn't sure it had all been worth it.

Twice claimants walked into his office with skunk tails and both times he was unable to use the office for the rest of the day.

Abraham Lincoln was the first U.S. president to be born outside the original 13 states.

'Shoot Back' Order Given Berlin Troops

By JOSEPH E. FLEMING United Press International

BERLIN (UPI) — The tenth anniversary of the Communist split of Berlin Monday found American, British and French troops under orders to shoot back if Soviet or East German troops invade the Western sectors of the city.

The West Berlin city government called for a minute of silence at noon to mark the 10th anniversary of the division of the city; the Communists celebrated Sunday with anti-Western demonstrations and new demands the West get out.

The Western allies also were pledged to defend the city's lifelines running 110 miles through Communist territory. The pledge might well have to be redeemed; East German Communists emphatically have said the Western powers will need their permission to supply their garrisons here.

They warned a new Allied air lift would be considered a military threat. Western plans to defend the city were disclosed Sunday by Gen. Henri H. Hodes, U.S. Army commander in Europe. He told a news conference the United States not only will defend the city itself against Communist attack but will safeguard the city's lifelines to the West.

Hodes said a Communist blockade of the city will be considered an attack upon the United States. Another pledge came from President Eisenhower Sunday after a conference in Augusta, Ga., with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He said the United States would enter into no arrangement which would abandon the responsibilities of the Big Three toward the freedom and security of West Berliners.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The letters from the 82-year-old woman who wanted to live alone sure hit home with me. Why, oh, why wasn't my Aunt Alice like that? My mother's old maid sister came to live with us when I was ten. She couldn't eat this and didn't like that and all she did was complain and criticize. She almost drove my poor mother crazy, but Mother always gave into her and wouldn't let us say anything because we were supposed to "respect our elders." We never went on a vacation because Aunt Alice didn't care for motor trips and we couldn't leave her home alone. Dad was easy-going and didn't interfere. Besides he was gone all day. Mom and Dad had passed away, but Aunt Alice's now where she should have been 30 years ago. With her own generation in a rest home, still complaining and criticizing. I wonder how many others have had their childhoods ruined by an "Aunt Alice?"

DEAR ABBY: I am almost positive that my wife has another man at the house while I am at work, but I can't get any definite proof. Little things like the place smelling of smoke (neither of us smoke) I have never been and I even found my razor wet once. I don't want to come out and accuse my wife in case I am wrong, but I have to find out. I can't afford to hire a private eye. Please advise me how to handle it?

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to the sweetest boy in the world. I don't know how this should be put, but here goes. I've dated William for three years and I've never once seen his ears clean. He is very well groomed other than this. Also his mother never taught him table manners. William is studying to be a minister so I think cleanliness is very important and table manners, too. Should I be the one to tell him about things or maybe wait until after we're married and then mention them? I've tried hinting around but it doesn't work. He's so sweet I hate to hurt him.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of four children. My husband is 22 and he still wets the bed once in Miss Lou Ann Taylor registered guests as they arrived. Background music was played by Miss Jan Foster and Miss Barbara Baer.

Miss Marilyn Pitt, president, gave a welcoming talk. The program was presented by Miss Anita Gundry who performed the dance of "Helen Of Troy" and by Miss Marilyn Myatt, who sang "Tenderly."

Matter of Fact
Fort Severn, an Army post, built on Windmill Point on the Severn River at Annapolis, Md., before the War of 1812, was transferred to the Navy in 1845. Under Secretary of the Navy George Bancroft, a naval school was established there. In 1850, it was changed to the U.S. Naval Academy.

ALL-ALUMINUM AUTO FOR 1967—Sleek new design for an all-aluminum car of say, 1967, is embodied in the Pele (Pay-Lay), named for the goddess of volcanoes. Body panels are of stamped aluminum sheet with enameled finish. Side trim is brushed and gold-color anodized aluminum while the bumpers, roof rails and roof are made of the same metal, utilized for lightness and strength. Shown above is a three-eighths-scale model of the car which would have a 126-inch wheelbase, an overall length of 225 inches and a height of 52 1/4 inches. Frame, wheels and engine would also be aluminum. Production line changes would be minimal, according to the designer, Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Sales, Inc.

Russian Tourists Give Away No Secrets In Movieland

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—If Soviet summit meetings are anything like Russian press conferences it's no wonder the international situation is suffering from the bends.

This week a junketing delegation of 21 Red movie moguls (and two actresses) visited Hollywood to get the lay of the glamourland. But they were more interested in Disneyland than movieland.

Still, they agreed to a press conference—ostensibly to exchange information about Russian and Hollywood films.

But first they had to hold a private conclave to determine what they'd talk about. Hollywood's press corps cooled its heels while the Russians yakked it over. Occasionally a Russian head poked out of the door, shouted something in Russian and retreated. Finally the press was ushered into a room thick with smoke (from American-made cigarettes) where reporters were greeted with owlish suspicion.

Seated around a giant oval table, the visitors looked more like a bunch of farm-machinery salesmen than bigshot movie-makers.

Sets Off Explosive Babble

A travel-bureau translator explained we could ask any questions we desired, and that they would answer as best they were able.

First question: "Why are you in Hollywood?"

This set off an explosive babble during which every Russian discussed the knotty query with his neighbor. Finally, director Sergi Lutkevich (who proved most talkative) answered solemnly, "We are tourists."

His fellow-travelers nodded approval, though none spoke English.

Next they were asked who was the favorite American performer in Russia. It was a bombshell. They shouted 21 different names, which shrank to only two within a few minutes. Spokesman Lutkevich made it clear that Henry Fonda, indeed, was the Russian favorite.

But one of the actresses, an elderly Bette Davis type, held out for Katharine Hepburn until one of her associates convinced her she meant Audrey Hepburn. Once this was settled, Lutkevich said, "Henry Fonda and Audrey Hepburn," which cheered the actress considerably.

"What percentage of the 120 films you produce yearly have a political theme?" was the next question.

Lordy, "you" have thought they'd been asked for the Russian H-bomb secrets.

Russians Lose Interest

Again, Lutkevich came to the rescue.

"Every picture made in every country has some political theme. It is a matter of degree," he said, in the Russian equivalent to "no comment."

Obviously by now the Russians had lost interest in the conference. They began talking to one another in loud voices, paying not the slightest heed to further questions.

In the ensuing confusion Audrey Hepburn's name was heard several times, but nobody paid much attention.

At last the translator thanked the press and we filed out along with the Russians, one of whom stopped on the sidewalk to give a Russian postcard to a 10-year-old boy.

"It ain't autographed," the youngster complained.

Cold Weather Covers Nation

United Press International

A record cold wave surged into the East Monday on the heels of a paralyzing snow storm to extend winter's grip across most of the nation.

The arctic air mass plunged temperatures to near or below zero in northern New England early Monday, while temperatures near 10 degrees ranged southward across western Pennsylvania into West Virginia. Freezing temperatures reached to near the Carolina coast.

A nationwide snowstorm swept out of the Southwest on Thanksgiving Day and dumped deep snow in its northeasterly paths through the Midwest and into western New York.

At least two persons died of exposure in the bitter cold. Snow and ice glazed roads caused hundreds of traffic accidents.

In western New York, snow plows bucked drifts up to six feet Sunday to free thousands of cars snowbound in a near blizzard the day before.

Motorists blinded by snow whipped by gale winds abandoned their cars along the New York thruway between Rochester, N.Y., and the Pennsylvania state line, a distance of about 150 miles.

State police and highway workers helped rescue the stranded who took shelter in nearby service areas, state police buildings, motels, hotels and private homes.

In Pennsylvania, about 13 inches of snow hit the Erie area, blocking secondary roads with deep drifts. Highway crews kept main roads open.

A warming trend eased into the Mississippi Valley, the eastern plains and the western Great Lakes during the night, raising temperatures an average of 15 to 25 degrees higher than the previous night.

At International Falls, Minn., where temperatures plunged to a record 27 below zero early Sunday, the mercury "climbed" to about five above zero.

stopped on the sidewalk to give a Russian postcard to a 10-year-old boy.

"It ain't autographed," the youngster complained.

Business Views

United Press International

Shoe manufacturers expect to produce 590 million pairs of shoes in 1958 or only 1 per cent below the record 598 million last year, according to officials of the National Association of Shoe Chain Stores and the New England Shoe & Leather Assn. They said in 1959 they look for a new high of 605 million pairs.

New construction awards in October jumped 37 per cent from October, 1957, to $3,309,024,000—an October record and the sixth straight month this year awards have set records. The largest single dollar increase over a year ago occurred in residential contracts.

Prudential Insurance Co. predicted a 475-billion-dollar economy for the U.S. in 1959—$34 billion greater than the total of goods and services produced in 1958—with all major areas of national output higher. The report saw renewed dangers of inflation toward the end of 1959 when the economy approaches capacity operations.

Steel order backlogs are increasing, according to industry reports. While this will not produce any appreciable increase in shipments in January, it is expected to produce a better first quarter for 1959 than had been generally anticipated. Steel magazine predicted that during the first half of 1959 consumers will add five million tons to their inventories—two million in the first quarter and three million in the second.

Quotes In The News

WASHINGTON—Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate rackets investigating subcommittee on the scheduling of new hearings this week into gangland infiltration of the coin-operated machine business:

"We are endeavoring to discover the extent of racketeer infiltration into this multi-billion dollar industry."

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (UPI)—Kansas University sophomore Lowell Lee Andrews, 18, after slaying his mother, father and sister:

"I was tired of arguing with them about money, so I shot them."

NEW YORK—British actor Kenneth More on bust six becoming the gauge for an actress's success:

"The idea that girls can get to the top on bosoms is extraordinary. I like a little bit of wit and polish, but that kind of actress has sort of died out due to the bosom cult."

HOLLYWOOD — Dramatic actress Barbara Rush on her desire to play the role of a sexy siren:

"Playing languid, sexy parts are the easiest of all because an actress can be a female animal doing what comes naturally. All Brigitte Bardot does is take off her clothes—and I do that every day of my life."

Shockers Take Easy Victory

The Shockers won their third straight victory Monday night, in a game preceding the Harvesters-Mangum contest. The Shockers downed Mangum 87-43.

The two guards, Bill Neelage and Pat Carter, led the Pampa B team's attack. Neelage tallied 13 points, and Carter netted 10.

Coach Terry Culley sent 11 Pampa players into the game, which was never close after the first quarter. The Shockers led only 14-10 at the end of the first quarter, but they went on to take a 37-17 halftime lead and a 48-22 lead at the three-quarter mark.

Harvesters Never In Trouble; San Angelo Scheduled Next

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

The Pampa Harvesters went big game hunting in their own field house Monday, and bagged the Mangum, Okla., Tigers 87-43. It was Pampa's home opener, and their 19th consecutive win.

Next opponent for the Harvesters will be another breed of cats, the San Angelo Sabots. San Angelo will be here for a two-night stand Friday and Saturday. The Harvesters were never behind and never in trouble Monday, as they jumped off to a fast 15-3 lead less than five minutes deep in the game, and kept building up the score from then on.

Mangum showed its only real sign of life late in the first quarter, as they matched the Harvesters briefly in scoring. Pampa led 21-10 at the end of the first quarter.

Neither team looked the same as in Friday's game at Mangum, won by the Harvesters 55-42. The Harvesters were much sharper this time — hitting 47 percent of their shots from the floor, grabbing most of the rebounds, and handling the ball almost flawlessly.

It was hard to believe the Tigers were the same team which matched the Harvesters almost point-for-point just four nights ago, for three quarters.

Forward Bobby Gindorf was lord high executioner of Monday's slaughter, as he dunked eight field goals and three free throws, for 19 points. Forward Coyle Winborn and guard Charles Minor each had 18.

Winborn and Minor combined in the second period to lead the Harvesters to a 49-17 halftime lead — a margin safer than a Communist party lead in East Berlin.

Winborn scored 11 points in the first four minutes of the second stanza — four on tip-ins, four after passes from Minor, and three on charity tosses. Minor netted eight in the next minute-and-a-half, on three shots under the basket and two free throws.

With 2 minutes, 40 seconds remaining in the half, Chifton McNeely had mercy on Mangum and sent in the reserves. Pampa scored five more points, to the Tigers' four.

The starters came back after intermission, and built up a 71-30 lead at the end of the third period. Then the reserves came in to play the entire fourth quarter. They outscored Mangum 10-13.

Boxers Take On Fort Sill Wednesday At Boys' Club

Pampa boxers take on one of the best service boxing teams in the country Wednesday night, when they meet Fort Sill at 7:30 p.m. at Pampa Optimist Boys' Club.

After Wednesday, Pampa's next boxing match will be in Hereford Friday night.

In the probable feature match Wednesday, Kenneth Wood, Pampa's five-time regional champion, will go against Shedd Smith, Fort Sill boxing coach and 1955 NCAA champion from Michigan State.

That match, if it takes place, will be a lightweight scrap. However, Smith has not said definitely whether he will fight Wood.

Cari McClure, the state heavyweight runnerup, will definitely box Wednesday, according to Pampa coaches. McClure is expected to go against Robert Burgess, rookie heavyweight from Dallas.

In a middleweight scrap, Gary Wilhelm is expected to go against Vernon Wilson, runnerup in the Fourth Army tournament. Charles Snider will probably fight Don Shields, a light-heavyweight, who is also a Fourth Army runnerup in his division.

Other probable pairings will be Lucky Dunham against Rudolph Harris, a second-year man, in a 120-pound battle; Gary Willis vs. Chet Nelson in a welterweight clash; and Glenn Ward vs. Ken Hunt in a middleweight scrap.

Several preliminary intra-squad bouts will precede the main fights as expected to get underway about 8 p.m.

Texas Teams Join American Assn.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth joined the American Association today and swelled the Triple-A baseball association to 10 teams in return for $75,000 to the Class AA Texas League.

In the biggest minor league realignment in history, the expanded association finally agreed to pay the five teams remaining in the Texas loop $75,000 for damages.

The realignment was announced jointly by President Ed Doherty of the association and Dick Butler, president of the Texas circuit.

The association needed at least one new member to replace Wichita, which is pulling out.

Butler said he would start immediately to line up three new teams for the Texas circuit. Amarillo, Tex., Albuquerque, N.M., and Wichita have been prominently mentioned as possibilities.

Doherty and Butler emphasized that the new realignment is subject to guaranteed working agreements with major league clubs for the remaining eight teams in the new Texas League.

Meantime, the majors moved to assure firm working agreements with the eight teams in the prospective new Texas League, temporarily reduced to five clubs Monday when three of its mainstays — Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth — joined the Triple-A American Association. The big shift expanded the association to 10 clubs.

Expect No Trouble

The only formality remaining for the shift to become final was for the majors to assure working agreements with whatever eight teams make up the Double-A Texas loop next year. No trouble was expected. Baseball coordinator William O. Dewitt has been working a league shift which will let the Triple-A association tap the heavily-populated Houston and Dallas-Fort Worth customer markets.

Best Cage Teams Win Opening Tilts

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press International

The first returns of the new college basketball season indicated Kentucky, Cincinnati, Kansas State and West Virginia are ready to pick up where they left off last March.

Although Coach Adolph Rupp used three sophomores in his starting lineup, Kentucky's defending NCAA champions opened their campaign Monday as Kansas back Purdue, 96-83, and West Virginia, voted the No. 1 team in the nation by the UPI Board of Coaches at the end of last season, opened with a 76-67 victory over Furman.

Rupp Not Pleased

Kentucky got off to a slow start against Florida State but managed to open a five-point lead at halftime and then smothered the Seminoles in the second half. Johnny Cox, the lone holdover from last season's starting five, led the Wildcats with 27 points.

Rupp, who admitted he did "a poor job of substituting in the first half," wasn't too pleased with Kentucky's debut.

"We didn't play nearly as well as we are capable of," said the coach. "Our defensive work was bad and our offense wasn't too solid."

Robertson, the nation's leading major college scorer last season with a 35.1-point average, helped Cincinnati run up an 11-1 lead in the first six minutes against Indiana State. The Bearcats held a 45-31 advantage at halftime and led by 30 points throughout most of the second half.

Hines Wins; Loses Money

Bad Boy Hines won a wrestling match here Monday night, but the victory cost him $200. Hines took the first and third falls, and Tommy Phelps was unable to come out for the fourth fall.

Then Hines hit the referee and refused to leave the ring when he was told. He was fined $25 on each count. He also hit Phelps six times after he was warned not to, and drew 325 for each time.

The Phelps - Hines match had been scheduled for five falls.

In the first event, All Bey also got into the referee - slugging act, but all it cost him was the match. Red Donovan was the winner.

Red and Doug Donovan took two of three falls to win a tag team match from All Bey and Alex Perez (who was substituting for Dan McDonald).

Red Donovan took the first fall with a half Boston crab on Perez, but Perez came back to take the second with an atonic drop and body press on Doug Donovan.

Red Donovan captured the third and deciding fall with a body press on All Bey.

Majors Hold Player Draft

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seven former major leaguers, including up-and-down first baseman Rocky Nelson, today were given another chance to make good in the big show as the result of the majors' annual draft.

Nelson, the International League triple crown winner at Toronto, earned his sixth major league chance when he was drafted by the Pittsburgh Pirates as one of 11 minor leaguers for whom nine major league clubs shelled out a total of $300,000.

Also headed back for another try are such familiar figures as second baseman Wayne (Twig) Terwilliger, a veteran of four major league clubs; infielder Johnny O'Brien, formerly with the Pirates and Cardinals; pitcher Art Ceccarilli; outfielder Jim Pisoni; outfielder-infielder Lou Skizas; and outfielder Joe Durham.

In the annual draft, the Kansas City Athletics picked up the 32-year-old Terwilliger from Charleston, W. Va., of the American Association. The Chicago Cubs claimed southpaw Ceccarilli, formerly with Baltimore, from Vancouver.

Skizas went quickly from the Detroit Tiger roster to the Chicago White Sox when the Tigers assigned him to Charleston to make room for another draft choice.

Earlier, another "trading on the floor" deal sent outfielder Earl Hersh from the Milwaukee Braves roster to the Tigers when Milwaukee consigned Hersh to Wichita to make room for draftee Pisoni. Detroit promptly claimed him.

Claim Two Players

Pisoni, out formerly with the Baltimore Orioles and the Athletics, batted .313 for Richmond in the International League.

The White Sox and Cleveland Indians were the only clubs claiming two players each at the new $25,000-a-head price. Besides Skizas, the Sox chose righthanded pitcher Claude Raymond from Wichita, where he was 3-8.

Cleveland, with Frank (Trader) Lane at the helm, picked off outfielder Dale Bennett from Buffalo. He hit .282 for Williamsport in the Class A Eastern League. The Indians also claimed shortstop Ray Webster, a .246 hitter at Sacramento in the Pacific Coast League.

In the other draft action, the St. Louis Cardinals picked up southpaw pitcher Dick Luebke, who was 11-7 with San Antonio in the Texas League, and Durham, former Baltimore player who hit .285 at Vancouver last season.

Pro Grid Draft Takes Top Players

By RUSS GREEN
United Press International

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — National Football League owners after giving Commissioner Bert Bell a vote of confidence, today set about the business of signing their first draft choices for the 1959 season.

Bell, in his criticism of the bickering, said of the league that "I couldn't run it any other way — I couldn't change. Now if I can't go along as I have, I'm ready to step out."

However, the owners, who rewarded Bell with a 12-year contract in 1954 at a $10,000 annual salary plus a $10,000 yearly pension, met immediately afterward and gave the commissioner a vote of confidence.

The executive meeting, during which owners discussed financial problems of "four or five teams" despite an impending 3 million record paid attendance this year, came after the owners selected 48 players from among the top flight college stars eligible for the draft.

The Los Angeles Rams reaped the biggest harvest — nine choices — the result of their swapping players for the draft rights of other teams during the off-season. Detroit picked up seven through the same system, while Cleveland and San Francisco each came up with five.

No Choice For Steelers

Pittsburgh didn't have a choice because its first seven picks already were traded away.

The biggest catch in the Rams' net was Dick Bass of the College of the Pacific, the nation's lead-

OSU, Fla. State In Bowl Game
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Oklahoma State and Florida State, two teams with identical records but widely varying backgrounds, were matched today to meet in the first Blue Grass Bowl football game here Dec. 13.
Oklahoma State, a "novice" member of the Big Eight Conference, and Florida State, a brass but fast-climbing Southern independent, each completed the season with seven victories and three defeats to earn the bowl bid — the third for the Cowboys but the first for the Seminoles.

Army Captures Lambert Trophy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Army received all but one first-place vote to win the 1958 Lambert Trophy, symbol of Eastern major college football supremacy.

The Cadets, who finished an undefeated season by whipping arch-rival Navy last Saturday, received 9.9 of a possible 10 points in the final balloting by a 10-man selection committee of coaches, sports writers and broadcasters.

It was the seventh time since the trophy was initiated in 1936 that Army was named No. 1.

Syracuse, 8-1, the only other team to receive a first-place ballot, finished second in the voting with 9.6 points.

Navy, last year's Lambert Trophy winner, placed third this season with a 6-3 record and 7.2 points. Penn State (6-3-1) was fourth with 6.95 points and Pittsburgh (5-4-1) was fifth with 6.55 points.

Harris Beats Don Fleeman

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Roy Harris, the Texas heavyweight champion who retained his title in a bout with Donnie Fleeman here Monday night, says he may meet Willie Pastrano in a return match next.

Sitting in his dressing room after the unanimous decision over the 180-pound fighter from Middleton, Tex., Harris, showing only a faint scratch on his brow, said "At least I heard Lou Visconti (his manager) say that."

Harris, who weighed in at 200 for the 12-round match, was never in trouble throughout the fight. The colorful backwoods schoolteacher seemed bent on a knockout to wipe out criticism after his Aug. 18th fight with world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson that he was a light hitter.

Harris shook Fleeman with both lefts and straight rights to the chin in the ninth round Monday night, but the game club fighter wouldn't go down.

Fleeman, in his dressing room after the one-sided encounter, said Harris "will be a real champion when he learns how to put some weight behind his punches."
