John Leaves Martha

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Martha Mitchell, describing in detail the erosion of her marriage, said Sunday night her husband, John, left her four days ago on advice of his lawyers. She said she will see her lawyer today.

But in early evening phone calls to United Press International, Mrs. Mitchell called the possibility of separation "horrible."

She denied reports in Newsweek magazine that she and her husband, President Nixon's former attorney general and campaign manager, engaged in "violent outbursts" after previous telephone calls to the news media and that he had tried to hospitalize her for psychiatric care.

Mrs. Mitchell said, "I never had a fight with him." Speaking to UPI's Helen Thomas, she called the Newsweek report "a damned lie."

Newsweek quoted an "intimate friend" of the family as reporting John saying, "You'd think the media would understand and leave Martha alone. It's obvious to anyone who knows her that she's a sick woman."

"Friends say Mitchell feels his wife needs medical help," Newsweek said, "but add that he cannot bring himself to the necessary legal steps to have her committed."

Mrs. Mitchell said, "He walked out, yes. But I've been trying to get him out," she said. "If you've got a man 24 hours a day, I couldn't stand it. He was watching the football games."

She said the marriage was strained because of Mitchell's indictment on charges of perjury and obstruction of justice for allegedly influencing the Securities and Exchange Commission to drop an investigation of Nixon campaign contributor Robert L. Vesco.

He is also under investigation by the Senate Watergate Committee and various grand juries for his role in allegations of campaign sabotage.

Mrs. Mitchell said it was her husband, not her, who was distraught. "Whenever anyone came into our apartment, he was so kind to them. When they left, he got mean with me and Marty," her 12-year-old daughter.

"My God, I've done everything for him that I could," she said. "I've been through hell. I've been the best wife you've seen in your life, but I can't forget what I went through in California."

She was referring to an incident in June, 1972, when she claimed she was being held a "political prisoner" at Newport Beach, Calif., and was manhandled by bodyguards.

For the first time, Sunday, she blamed her husband for that incident.

"How could you respect a man who has done to me what was done in California?"

Aides Cautious About Easing Of Food Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two of President Nixon's top officials have cautiously predicted an easing of food prices.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said in a copyrighted article in the magazine U.S. News and World Report, published Sunday, that "the worst is over" in the upward spiral of food prices.

"As a matter of fact," Butz said, "the way things look now, the cost of food in the last three months of this year might even be less than that in July through September."

He said there have been substantial drops during the last month in farm prices of cattle, hogs, corn, soybeans and wheat.

"At the same time," Butz said, "shoppers in the supermarkets are finding the price of many foods, especially meat and chicken and eggs, is down moderately. I think the worst is over."

He said, however, that "our track record in forecasting food prices the past year has not been a very good one."

MS DRIVE — Mrs. Jimmie Williams, center, and Mrs. Beverly Aufleger call on Mrs. Ben Sturgeon, 1820 Fir, in preparation for the Multiple Sclerosis fund drive tonight. Volunteer workers will conduct a house-to-house campaign from 6-8 p.m. to raise money in the fight against the disease.

FBI DIRECTOR SAYS

Time, Effort Suggested For 'Victimless Crimes'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Law enforcement officials must expend time and effort on victimless crimes such as gambling and prostitution in order to prevent a takeover by hoodlums, FBI director Clarence M. Kelley said today.

In an interview with UPI, Kelley said that in the areas of narcotics, gambling and prostitution "there is too much chance for hoodlums to take over, and neglect by the police merely serves to milk the public dry."

"When crimes without victims become an open field," he added, "it can become a playground for hoodlums."

So-called crimes without victims, including homosexuality, have become the subject of debate in recent years. Many critics have said police spend too much time on them at the expense of fighting more serious crime.

Kelley, former police chief in Kansas City, Mo., has headed the FBI for two months. He discussed his philosophy in a wide-ranging interview which included his opinion of the Mafia, FBI agents overseas, women agents and safety in the streets.

Kelley said that, despite concerted efforts by law enforcement agencies, he is discouraged by the extent of progress against organized crime.

"Certainly the Mafia families are still operating," he said.

The President's program is not designed to meet the temporary problem of a shortage of mortgage money which has stopped many from buying homes, say officials of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

"We are laying down goals for the long run to meet the 1968 congressional mandate for 25 million new housing units by 1978. The transitory disjuncting in the money market cannot be corrected by this message. The President knows it and Secretary (James T.) Lynn knows it," a HUD official said.

Lynn and Nixon met last week in their final joint review of the housing message to be delivered in a few days to Congress, where major opposition is expected.

One of the primary objectives of the closely guarded Nixon plan is apparently to provide for low-income buyers the benefits of subsidies that are now received by builders and sellers.

Several thousand political prisoners were reported to be interned in Santiago's 70,000-seat national soccer stadium and several thousand others to be held in Chilean naval ships anchored off the port of Valparaiso.

The four-man junta has refused to reveal the number of dead and wounded in the country since the coup took place. Unofficial reports have ranged from 1,000 to several thousand dead.

Housewives packed stores in Santiago today during the early hours stocking up on food and drugs. Military officials said the government was giving top priority to the distribution of food.

Newspaper stands across the capital put little blue, white and red Chilean flags on sale today to mark the country's Sept. 18 Independence Day.

Allende, 65, the Western hemisphere's first freely elected Marxist president, committed suicide in his crumbling La Moneda presidential palace last Tuesday as army troops moved in on him.

Housing Program Prepared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's housing goals for the nation will be revealed this week after six months of analysis and preparation, administration officials said.

But some lenders, prospective buyers and builders are pessimistic about any immediate effect on the slumping housing industry.

"It's going to be only frosting," said a spokesman for the National Association of Home Builders when asked about the program that Nixon polished over the weekend at Camp David.

The President's program is not designed to meet the temporary problem of a shortage of mortgage money which has stopped many from buying homes, say officials of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Jury Indicts Don Segretti

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Donald H. Segretti has been indicted by a federal grand jury in Tampa, Fla., on charges of conspiracy and illegal publication of political statements against Democratic presidential hopefuls, it was announced today.

Watergate Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox announced the indictment in Washington. He said in a statement that Segretti had agreed to have the case transferred to Washington so that he might plead guilty.

Segretti, 31, a Los Angeles attorney, formerly was a Treasury Department aide who reportedly was recruited for President Nixon's 1972 campaign effort by Dwight L. Chapin, Nixon's former appointments secretary, and was paid with campaign funds.

The indictment, returned in Tampa Aug. 24 but kept sealed until today, named Robert M. Benz, 25, and George A. Hearing, 40, both of Tampa, as co-conspirators but not as defendants.

This was the second time Segretti was indicted by the Tampa grand jury.

He was indicted May 4 on two counts relating to distribution of a letter on stationery of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's campaign in the Florida Democratic primary early last year.

The letter contained accusations against other Democratic presidential hopefuls.

The new indictment supersedes the May 4 indictment and contains four counts, including one of conspiracy and three counts of distributing political literature which failed to contain the names of the parties responsible for its distribution.

A federal grand jury in Washington is expected to hand down indictments soon in another case which, like the allegations against Segretti, is an outgrowth of the Watergate investigation. Time and Newsweek magazines said Charles Colson, former presidential special counsel, may be one of those indicted in connection with the 1971 burglarizing of the office of Dr. Lewis Fielding, psychiatrist of Daniel Ellsberg.

Ellsberg won a directed verdict of acquittal on charges involving disclosure of the Pentagon Papers.

Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, said earlier "overabundance of money" was the root of campaign undoing and the Democrats might have been guilty of unethical conduct in 1972 had they been richer.

"I'm certain that if the McGovern campaign had an overabundance of money, some of the overzealous members of that campaign organization might have been involved in activities which would not be quite ethical," Inouye said in a UPI Washington Window interview released Sunday.

Asked why the Watergate affair happened, Inouye's first answer was that "an overabundance of money" made it possible for President Nixon's campaign aides to carry out "grandiose ideas." He said the campaign of Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., "apparently didn't have this type of luxury money."

In related developments: —Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, Sunday agreed with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., that President Nixon should face impeachment proceedings if he refuses to obey a Supreme Court order to produce his Watergate tapes. To be afraid to use the impeachment process, Hughes said (on ABC's "Issues and Answers"), "would be placing in the hands of this president and all future presidents... an implied power that they could do anything they wanted in defiance of the law."

—Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., said on CBS' "Face the Nation" that such a refusal by the president would result in "the most grave situation that's arisen in maybe a hundred years."

CANADIAN FRONT

Cold Air Covers Panhandle Areas

Pampa received .16 of an inch of rain last night officially. Combined with the moisture received Sunday, that amount gave the city a little over a half inch of rain for the two days of premature fall weather.

Skies will remain mostly cloudy through tomorrow with temperatures increasing slightly Tuesday from the chills of today.

Winds will continue northeasterly tonight, changing to southerly tomorrow with Gulf Coast winds taking over from the winds brought into the area by the Canadian cold front which passed through the Panhandle over the weekend.

There is about a 20 per cent chance for rain tonight. Temperatures should be in the low 50's tonight with the high tomorrow near 80 degrees.

A chilled drizzle engulfed the Texas Panhandle and South Plains today, but the cold front which brought the premature autumn-like weather to Texas was having trouble penetrating deeper into the state.

The front hesitated along a Paris-Abilene-Midland line at dawn, but National Weather Service forecasters said it was expected to generate enough push later today to move to a Marshall-Austin-Marfa line by late afternoon.

Behind the front the weather was dreary, chilly and damp. But, ahead of it skies generally were clear to spiky cloudy with only a few scattered showers remaining in South Texas from the system which dumped up to five inches of rain and touched off numerous flash flood warnings Sunday.

Chilly at Dalhart
At 7 a.m., the mercury had dipped to 44 degrees at Dalhart, 49 at Amarillo, 53 at Childress, 57 at Wichita Falls and 58 at Lubbock, Abilene and El Paso. It was drizzling or raining at these points except for clear skies at El Paso.

The overnight lows ranged to the mid-70s at Galveston and Brownsville.

The cold front kept readings on the chilly side Sunday in the north west with a high of 66 degrees at Amarillo and 67 at Dalhart and Childress. Readings in the 90s were confined to the far west, where El Paso hit 97 degrees, and from Corpus Christi into the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

FOR LT. GOV. HOBBY

Taxpayers Foot Newsletter Bill

By ANN ARNOLD
UPI Capitol Reporter

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas taxpayers are paying $7,384 for 106,000 "newsletters" mailed by Lt. Gov. William P. Hobby last month to his former and prospective supporters.

The four-page letter contains 19 pictures of the lieutenant governor.

The state official who usually screens such "newsletters" said he was not aware it had been mailed and did not know that the state was paying for it.

Hobby's aides said he personally paid $2,169.51 to get the newsletters addressed — apparently to speed up the process — but the state is paying the $7,384 bill for printing and mailing the "Report From Your Lieutenant Governor."

Some state senators began mailing "newsletters" to their constituents several years ago, but no prior lieutenant governor has done so at taxpayer expense, according to Senate officials.

Correct Postage
Senate Secretary Charles Schnabel normally screens senators' mass mailings to make sure any newsletters sent at state expense are "educational and informative" and not just campaign brochures.

But Schnabel was not aware that the state was paying for Hobby's "newsletter" until a reporter asked to see the bills. As lieutenant governor, Hobby presides over the Senate.

"As long as it's informative and educational then we'll print them," Schnabel said of such newsletters by state senators. "If it's politically oriented, we won't."

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Monday, Sept. 17, the 260th day of 1973 with 105 to follow.
The moon is approaching its last quarter.
The morning stars are Mars and Saturn.
The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.
Those born on this date are under the sign of Virgo.
Baron Frederick William Augustus von Steuben, a Prussian officer who helped train American soldiers for the Revolutionary War, was born Sept. 17, 1730.
Also on this day in history:
In 1787, the United States Constitution, completed at the constitutional convention in Philadelphia, was signed by a majority of the 55 delegates.
In 1796, President George Washington delivered his farewell address, warning the American people to avoid foreign alliances.

In 1939, Russia invaded Poland in World War II... 16 days after Nazi Germany moved into the same country.
In 1968, Alabama Gov. George Wallace was nominated for president by the American Independent Party.
A thought for the day: First American President George Washington advised, "Labor to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire—conscience."
Grand Ole dollars
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The Grand Ole Opry, Opryland, U.S.A., and other attractions bring in $130 million in tourist dollars every year to Music City business.
Texas draws
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — More than 22.9 million tourists visited Texas in 1972, pumping an estimated $2.2 billion into the state's economy.

WTSU Establishes Economic Education Center

AMARILLO — The new chairman of the Department of Economics at West Texas State University has announced the establishment of a Center for Economic Education at WTSU.
Dr. Barry L. Duman said the center, only one of three or four in Texas, will "enhance the economic understanding in the public schools in the region that we serve."
The center was established through a grant from the Texas Council on Economic Education, and affiliate of the Joint Council of Economic Education.
Liquor learning
JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — The first Southeastern School of Alcohol Studies was held at Millsaps College in Jackson in August, 1961. This was the first time southeastern states had joined to study alcoholism.

Duman, 30, succeeded J. Herschel Coffee as department head Sept. 1. Coffee retired after 48 years of service to West Texas State.
The center will provide seminars and special courses for teachers so "we may educate the teachers who will in turn educate the students in the classrooms," Duman said.
Dr. Paul Gowens, assistant professor of business, will be director of the center.
Courses of study relevant to the Panhandle area are being developed by the department in the economics of natural resources — primarily oil and gas, Duman said.
"This is relevant because of the energy crisis, and we will consider issues such as distribution and pricing," he added.
Noting the Panhandle's growing importance in international trade in cattle production and other commodities, Duman said he wants to "add vitality to our offerings in the areas of international trade and finance."

Other areas of study being considered for the department are the economics of aging, health care and migrant workers, he said.
A course to be offered next fall: Economics 101 — Current Economic Issues, is hoped to reach the student "who has no prior exposure to economics and whose major does not require any economics work."
Duman sees the future as bright for economics majors, with relatively good starting salaries and numerous employment opportunities in banking, government service and private industry.
An economics major could be "anybody who has a desire to confront controversial issues and be willing to logically reason through them," he said.

Duman, who came to WTSU in 1969 as an assistant professor of economics, was an Emma K. Carr Scholar at George Washington University, where he received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in government. He held a fellowship at the University of Delaware, where he was awarded a Master's Degree in Economics in 1966.
The New York City native received a Ph.D in 1971 from the University of Southern California.

The child's not a boy;
the problem's solved

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR READERS: On July 23, the following item appeared in my column:

DEAR ABBY: It seems I have a problem. I am 47 years old, and last year I married for the second time and my wife is expecting soon. Since this is the first child I have ever fathered, and probably my last, I want him to have a special name. (No argument, please. I KNOW it will be a boy.)

My surname is "Huffman," so I would like to name our son "Manhuff." My wife's maiden name is Wolfe, therefore I want his middle name to be "Wolfgang," his full name being, "Manhuff Wolfgang Huffman." (His nickname would of course be, "Manny.")

My wife objects strenuously. She says it will be a burden to the boy and people will make fun of him.

What do you think, Abby? If you feel the boy will be handicapped by such a name, please let me know, as I have his best interests at heart.

JACK [OF ALL TRADES]

DEAR JACK: Never mind what I think. Since your wife objects strenuously, forget the "Manhuff Wolfgang," and name him "Jack Jr." (P. S. If he's a "she," you'll have no problem.)

For an interesting follow-up, please read on: This morning, I received this delightful letter:

DEAR ABBY: The dilemma of "Manhuff Wolfgang" has been solved. We are pleased to announce that our baby arrived, three weeks early. After I was assured that both mother and baby would be all right, I realized that nothing else mattered—including the fact that it was a GIRL!

We have decided to name our beautiful, four-pound, red-haired daughter "Heather Ann Huffman."

JACK [OF ALL TRADES]

DEAR ABBY: We just received a beautifully engraved wedding invitation which included (in engraving, mind you!) the name of the store where the bride was registered.

Don't you think the establishment that engraved it is just as much at fault as the bride for not having advised her that this is in the worst possible taste?

FLABBERGASTED

DEAR FLABBER: Don't blame the engraver. He may have advised the bride against it, and she may have insisted on it anyway. Engravers can only make suggestions. In the final analysis (with very few exceptions), the engraver will defer to the wishes of the customer.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TOUCHY SITUATION IN CONNECTICUT": If you are not sure where a friend's child is, but suspect that the question might be embarrassing or painful to the parent—DON'T ASK!

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 88706, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Altrusa Conference Scheduled Oct. 19-21

The Altrusa Club of Pampa met for their regular luncheon meeting in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn Monday, Sept. 11. Plans for the District Nine Conference which will meet in Pampa Oct. 19-21 were discussed. Mrs. Billy Tidwell and Mrs. C.L. Sullins were elected voting delegates.

Mrs. Russell Kennedy introduced Miss Debra West.

FIRST BAPTIST WOMEN
The Baptist Women of First Baptist Church met at 10:00 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 5, in the lower auditorium of the church for their regular monthly Royal Service Study, with Mrs. Jack White, president, presiding.

The opening prayer was given by Mrs. Jerry Allen. The group repeated the WMU watchword for the year from Psalms 2:8. The study from the Royal Service magazine entitled "Structuring for the Future" about mission work being done in the country of Ethiopia was directed by Mrs. Tom Wilkerson. Assisting were Mes. Jimmy Free, Luther Robinson, Bill Greer, and Fred Epperly. Mrs. Greer led the "Call to Prayer" remembering missionaries having birthdays on this day.

After the study, a business meeting was held. Various committee chairmen reported on mission accomplishments of their groups. Mrs. White then announced several upcoming dates to remember, which included the Week of Prayer, Sept. 9-15. These meetings will be from 9:30 to 11 a.m. every morning at the church. The

Opera premiere
NEW YORK (UPI) — Benjamin Britten's opera, "Death in Venice," based on the Thomas Mann novella, will have its American premiere at the Metropolitan Opera on Oct. 18. Peter Pears and John Shirley Quirk will take the leads in the English Opera Group production originally presented at Aldeburgh, England.

Altrusa Girl for September

Mrs. Libby Shotwell introduced Mrs. Lois Still who discussed the theme "Port in a Storm" when she told about the girls who are finding a port in the local Genesis House. She said a sweeper, iron and bed linens are needed for the home.

Thirty-one members and two guests were present.

The church has set a goal of $1200 for this mission offering. Installation of new officers for the coming year will be Wednesday, Sept. 12, before the week of prayer program. Also noted was the Fall WMU Workshop to be held in Amarillo First Baptist Church Friday, Sept. 7, and a bus will be provided for all who wish to attend.

The next Royal Service study will be Oct. 3, with a luncheon at 12 noon, with business meeting at 12:45 and study at 1 p.m. All women are urged to attend this first meeting of the new church year.

Approximately 30 members attended this meeting with two guests, Mrs. Nina Kimball and Mrs. Ken Presson.

The closing prayer was given by Mrs. D.B. Jameson.

Oswald: "The suit preference convention is a necessary part of every expert's kit of signals. Invented more or less independently by William McKenney, who wrote this column up to his death in 1949, E. M. Lagron and Hy Laventhal, it is valuable when used with intelligence."

Jim: "Used with intelligence means that you consider it as a supplementary signal that does not conflict with such normal signals as high for strength; low for weakness; fourth best leads, etc."

Seitz Family Holds 51st Annual Reunion

Sunday, Sept. 2, marked the 51st consecutive summer that the Seitz families have met for their annual reunion. Approximately 90 relatives and friends attended the get-together at the Community Barn at the rodeo grounds near Pampa.

Nine Seitz brothers and sisters came to the Panhandle at the turn of the century. They were the ones who originated the reunion and started the annual affair in the early 20's. Every member of the older clan—Bill, Pink, Fayette, Jeff, George, Ann (Heath), Mary Jane (Johnson), Belle (Van Meter), and Pearl (Burgess)—had at least one son or daughter present for the reunion Sunday.

Respective sons and daughters for the day were four each from the Jeff and George Seitz families; three each from the Bill Seitz and Pearl Burgess families; two each from the Pink Seitz, Ann Heath, and Mary Jane Johnson families, and one each from the Belle Van Meter and Fayette Seitz families.

There are just three left in the Bill Seitz and Pearl Burgess groups, so they represented their late parents 100 per cent. Jeff's family had the most present—28 dependents and in-laws—and the Burgess family was second with 14.

The oldest ones there Sunday were Willie Johnson, age 83, and Mrs. Eva Richardson, 80, both of Pampa. The ones coming the farthest were Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips from Stockton, Calif. and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Van Meter, Hawthorne, Calif.

Glen D. Hodges of Mobeetie was elected president for next year, and Mrs. Alma Seitz, Miami, was re-elected secretary. Hodges replaces W.B. Burgess of Pampa, who had asked that he be retired this year after serving as president of the group for about fifteen years.

Persons not already named who were present for the visiting, the big dinner, and the all-day affair were the following: Mrs. Earle Wright, Mrs. W.B. Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Jones, Mrs. Loy Seitz, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Washington and son, Mrs. Willie Johnson, Mrs. Sue Frazier and children, Mrs. Mattie Scott, Miss Edna Daughtee, Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey, Johnny Isbell and daughter, Mrs. Ethyl Betchan and children, Mrs. Jerry Stanley and children, Mrs. Kelly Robison and children, Mrs. Rosa Lee Wedge, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. H.V. Mackie, and Ray DeWitt of Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gripp, Panhandle; Mrs. Alice Hardin, Miami; Mrs. Glen D. Hodges and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Seitz, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Galmor, and Brenda Seitz of Mobeetie; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Smith, Lefors; Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Seitz, Mrs. Joe Seitz, and Mrs. Johnnie Mae Newman and children of White Deer.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

TUESDAY, SEPT. 18
Your birthday today: Like any other day, your birthday is the point of transition from past to future, with all factors balanced delicately on what is designated, at the present moment. Awareness opens now, for substantial productive results all through a year of normal growth and maturity. Relationships flourish, tend to draw more attention than do career matters. Today's natives have an esthetic eye for art, the knack of making other people feel at home.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Choose the mildest of anything today. Fortunately, routines almost take care of themselves. Younger people keep you busy, at perhaps a faster pace than you'd like. Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Get your financial situation onto paper so you can review the whole spread. Make definite moves today and tomorrow. A change of companions and scenery is very helpful.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Find a quiet spot where you can do some deep thinking. Compare past conditions with present ones. See what makes the transition, then what you may do to change things. Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Gather your courage and resources; move ahead with plans. Following the mood of the moment is natural, gives special opportunity of coming to terms with inner conflicts.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Nothing is now likely to be absolutely private or uninfluenced. Everybody gets into the act with at least an opinion or two. Stay in contact with those whose knowledge you trust.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: There's just enough resistance to provoke you to definite action. Make a tidy job of it with nothing wasted on side issues or irrelevant questions. Trust your intuition. Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: A little follow-up on yesterday's details turns this into a smooth and swinging day. Make the most of whatever opportunity offers by prompt decisions and actions.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Everything is running a trifle better than is realistic. Get on the ball to find out what's amiss that can be corrected easily now. Check up on household conditions. Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Be flexible; look closely at the bright idea before brushing it aside. A abrupt turns of circumstances in another's life bring changes for you too. There's much to learn.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Now you need a bit of help, perhaps taking for granted that it will come. Actually, you must ask, and in good time. Credit facilities open up unexpectedly.

Aquarius [Jan. 20 - Feb. 18]: You can do much to make others happy, if you will. Too heavy a drive on the job makes for fatigue, future difficulties. Easy does it, with time out for your loved ones. Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Be up and going early to get clear of half-done work started yesterday. There's no point waiting for others to come to the job for you. Do it yourself and take the credit.

BARELY HOLDING ITS OWN

Petroleum Industry On A Treadmill

By MICHAEL O. WESTER
United Press International
Despite record production, the petroleum industry is barely holding its own in the race to supply the nation's consumers, according to an executive of the American Petroleum Institute.

"We're like a man on a treadmill—running faster all the time and barely staying in the same place," said John B. Howard, manager of research and analysis for API.

Howard said gasoline production during 1973 has risen substantially in response to increased demands. He said that during the first six months of 1973 more gasoline was produced than in the same period of any previous year.

"But despite all that production we are just barely holding our own," he said. "It is evident that despite record output in the first half of 1973, gasoline stocks remain well below normal levels. We are not losing ground, but as one can easily see we are not closing the gap either."

Demand Vastly Higher
Howard said that in the past decade gasoline demand had risen nearly 50 per cent. Recently, he said, these increases have been averaging around 6 per cent a year. During the first half of 1973 the demand was up close to 7 per cent from the same period last year.

"One reason is brisk new car sales," he said. "In the first half of 1973 auto manufacturers produced nearly 15 per cent more cars than in the same period last year, and June auto production set an all-time record."

Emission control devices on new cars, he said, have increased gasoline consumption. "Earlier this year, the Office of Emergency Preparedness estimated that pollution controls on automobiles have already increased consumption by 12 million gallons a day—or almost 4.5 billion a year," Howard said. "Every new car purchased adds to this heavy fuel penalty. The Chase Manhattan Bank has estimated that half of the increase in gasoline demand this year is due to these devices."

Big Cars Popular
Howard said that although the public showed signs of interest in smaller cars, it continued to buy large ones and to purchase gasoline-consuming power options and features. About 90 per cent of the new cars have automatic transmissions and almost 70 per cent have air conditioning.

"These and other options, together with pollution controls, explain why some new cars average only 8 to 10 miles a gallon," he said.

Howard said there had been a rapid rise in purchases of vacation travel trailers, pleasure boats, snowmobiles and other leisure time or work-saving vehicles and equipment that also consume much gasoline.

"Refineries have turned out almost 3 billion gallons more than in the first half of 1972," he said. "But, despite these record outputs the first half of 1973, gasoline stocks remain well below normal levels."

WORRY CLINIC

Father Donlan asked me to describe some of the notable changes in American attitudes since 1935. Some have been beneficial but others are undermining both the moral and economic fabric of this great Republic. Note the 4 changes below:

CASE Y-519: Rev. Thomas C. Donlan, aged probably 40, is the executive editor of the Catholic Digest.

It has over 2,000,000 readers and wields a great restraining influence on the trend toward moral decay in America.

We sat together during the 80th birthday dinner at Chicago's Blackstone Hotel, honoring Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, sponsor of the Carcalon treatment for cancer.

"Dr. Crane," Father Donlan suggested, "you have written a daily newspaper column on human relations for 38 years."

"And have received millions of letters meanwhile from readers."

"So could you prepare a 3,000-word article for Catholic Digest, outlining the changing psychology that has occurred in America since 1935?"

"For your letter input must offer a splendid spontaneous poll of the public's attitudes."

1935 vs. 1973

Briefly, I'll digest a few of the most significant changes:

(1) Among young people, the focus has turned from a girl's charm to her "measurements." This shift from "personality" to "anatomy" shows a decay in romantic idealism.

(2) Discussion of sex problems has been liberalized, but in many respects the pendulum has swung too far.

For example, in 1935, we couldn't mention the word "syphilis" in the newspaper and even in 1942, the Chicago TRIBUNE deleted that word when I was writing about the scourge of venereal disease!

Moreover, some publishers cancelled this column just because I had run the following sentence, without any elaboration thereof:

"Divorce usually starts in the bedroom."

Many churches are now conducting wholesome Marriage Clinics to help young couples avoid the common pitfalls to happy homes.

But again the pendulum has swung so far that homosexuals are publicly demanding to be "married" by official clergymen.

Women's Libbers have also become such sexual militants till our U.S. Supreme Court has finally legalized abortions.

And a new version of the Bible has altered Ecclesiastes 3:8, which originally said "A time to love and a time to hate" but now makes that same verse read: "A time for sex..."

Yet love and sex are not synonymous!

(3) Television is an innovation that has also been both an asset as well as a liability, for it keeps many husbands at home nights, whereas they used to squander their pay checks at taverns.

But it has also helped convert millions of Americans into "Worry Warts" about their health, partly due to the many patent medicine commercials.

Even worse, however, has been the effect of the medical TV shows that portrayed Dr. Kildare and Dr. Ben Casey.

For the latter taught Americans to worship the hospital till they often have replaced God with the M.D.

"Hospitalitis" is now a tragic epidemic, driving millions to expensive hospital beds who could be treated more economically at home or in medical offices.

(4) As a corollary, psychiatry has now zoomed, to deal with millions of guilt-ridden patients who formerly went to their pastors for confession and advice.

The popularization of abortion has indirectly abetted this rise of psychiatry, for such women often develop phobias of cancer of the womb, figuring God is going to punish them there for their abortions.

Send for my booklet "How to Avoid Nervous Breakdowns," enclosing a long-stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Worry Clinic, 440 N. 10th St., Pampa, Texas 79860. Enclose a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents in covering and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

O.J. Breaks Rushing Record As Bills Lick Pats

By United Press International
It took O.J. Simpson just a couple of hours to prove that pre-season results mean nothing.

Simpson gained only 242 yards in pre-season action as the Buffalo Bills dropped all six of their exhibition games. But Sunday, when it counted, Simpson opened the National Football League season with an awesome record-setting 250-yard rushing performance as the Bills overran the New England Patriots 31-13.

Simpson carried 29 times, scored twice on runs of 80 and 22 yards and left Patriot defenders strewn across the field all afternoon.

"It was like Grant going through Richmond," said a disappointed Chuck Fairbanks, making his NFL coaching debut with the Patriots. "We were just helpless. We couldn't slow him down."

"Funny thing, I was supposed to be a decoy today," Simpson laughed after breaking the record of 247 yards set two years ago by Los Angeles' Willie Ellison. "But our offensive line did such a great job opening holes that I ran."

"The Patriots apparently knew that Oakland was successful the previous week shutting off the outside so they tried the same thing. We just turned all our plays up (cut them to the inside) and we had great holes. I can't say enough about the offensive line."

In other opening day action, Miami overcame San Francisco, 21-13. Washington crushed

San Diego, 38-0. Minnesota beat Oakland, 24-16. Pittsburgh whipped Detroit, 24-10. Dallas defeated Chicago, 20-17. Los Angeles stunned Kansas City, 23-13. Denver upended Cincinnati, 28-10. The New York Jets trounced Houston, 34-14.

Cleveland topped Baltimore, 24-14. Atlanta embarrassed New Orleans, 62-7, and St. Louis downed Philadelphia, 34-23. The New York Jets meet Green Bay at Milwaukee tonight.

Miami erupted for 15 points in the final period to beat the 49ers and move to within one victory of the NFL consecutive game winning streak. San Francisco led 13-6 entering the final quarter but Bob Griese threw a 10-yard TD pass to Paul Warfield. Garo Yepremian kicked 45 and 22-yard field goals, his third and fourth of the game, and the Dolphins scored on a safety to break open the game.

Washington converted three Mike Garrett fumbles into first period touchdowns and intercepted John Unitas three times to rout the Chargers. Verlon Biggs and Brig Owens scored on fumble recoveries. Larry Brown crashed a yard and Bill Kilmer threw TD passes to Charley Taylor and Frank Grant in the rout.

Fran Tarkenton threw a nine-yard TD pass to rookie Chuck Foreman and Bill Brown ran six yards for another TD in the last quarter as the Vikings rallied to defeat Oakland. Oakland led 16-

10 in the third period before Tarkenton, who earlier threw a 43-yard TD pass to John Gilliam, rallied Minnesota. Oakland's George Atkinson had a 63-yard punt return for a score.

Terry Bradshaw threw a 24-yard TD pass to John McMillin to snap a 10-10 tie in the fourth quarter and clinched the game with a six-yard scoring pass to Ron Shanklin as the Steelers beat Detroit. Greg Landry's 84-yard pass to Ron Jesse accounted for the only Lion TD.

John Hadl threw two TD passes and Steve Preece turned a bad snap into another score as Los Angeles upended the Chiefs. Hadl passes two yards to Pat Curran and 31 to Lawrence McCutcheon and Preece ran 11 yards for a score on a botched field goal attempt as the Rams took a 23-0 lead and held off a last quarter rally by Pete Beathard, who threw two TDs.

Chicago gambled on a fake punt and missed and Dallas turned it into an 11-yard field goal by Toni Fritsch and a victory over the Bears. With the score tied at 17-17, Bob Parson was stopped on his own 23 on a fourth and one fake punt and Fritsch kicked the deciding field goal with 1:26 left.

Ron Johnson ran for two TDs and Norm Snead passed to Don Herrmann for another as the Giants belted Houston. Mike Phipps threw two TD passes to Frank Pitts and Clarence Scott ran an interception back 45 yards for another score as Cleveland topped the Colts.

Floyd Little had three short TD runs to carry Denver over Cincinnati and Dick Shiner threw three TD passes and Atlanta intercepted six passes to crush the Saints.

Donny Anderson scored three TDs, including a 26-yard run that broke open a close game, as the Cardinals beat Philadelphia.

USC WINS 17-0

Davis' TD Enough To Beat Razorbacks

By United Press International
The best is not good enough for Southern California Coach John McKay.

Defending champion and ranked No. 1 in pre-season ratings, Southern Cal tried its best to overwhelm unrated Arkansas, but all the Trojans could manage was a 17-0 victory.

Highly publicized Anthony Davis, failing to break loose on his heralded touchdown romps, scored on a one-yard plunge with 45 seconds left in the first half to provide Southern Cal with all the scoring the Trojans needed to wrap up their 13th consecutive victory. A 14-yard TD run by quarterback Pat Haden and 130-pound Chris Limahelu's 23-yard field goal were insurance tallies.

McKay, however, was "very disappointed and displeased" with Saturday's win.

"I don't know or care if we're rated No. 1," McKay fumed. "If you're not ready for the first game of the season after practicing all spring and during the fall, then you must be awfully stupid."

McKay offered that if his players had so much trouble on a cool Saturday night, what will "our big, fat football players do in 95 degree humidity and heat next weekend in Atlanta against Georgia Tech?"

Conversely, No. 3 Ohio State, the team Southern Cal mauled, 42-17, in the Rose Bowl last New Year's Day, ripped Minnesota, 56-7, as 1972 national scoring leader Champ Henson ran for three short yardage touchdowns and tailback Archie Griffin returned a kickoff 93 yards for another touchdown.

Coach Woody Hayes unveiled another scrambling quarterback in sophomore Cornelius Greene, who gained 86 yards in 16 carries.

Coach Brent Bryant's quarterback problem has caused a delightful dilemma at Alabama. Bryant, concerned over the inexperience of quarterbacks Richard Todd and Gary Rutledge, saw them fire two touchdown passes apiece in a 66-0 romp over California. Joe Dale Harris, a third-string sophomore, caught two scoring throws as No. 5 Alabama set a school offense record of 667 yards in the game.

Michigan, ranked sixth, trampled Iowa, 31-7, as the nation's stingiest point yielders held the Hawkeyes in check; No. 7 Penn State kept Stanford to minus eight yards on the ground, while John Cappelletti reeled off a touchdown and gained 76 yards rushing in a 20-6 Nittany Lion victory, and ninth-rated Tennessee edged Duke, 21-17, as quarterback condredge Holloway ran for a 48-yard score and threw a 27-yard TD pass.

Colorado was the only team in the elite to lose as the 10th ranked Buffaloes bowed to Louisiana State, 17-6, for their first opening game loss in seven seasons. Mike Miley's 30-yard scoring strike and linebacker Gary Champagne's 25-yard interception run for a TD ruined Colorado.

In other top games, Oklahoma buried Baylor, 42-14, as Steve Davis and Joe Washington each scored twice; Auburn downed Oregon State, 18-9, on TD's by substitutes Wade Whitley and Sedrick McIntyre; Dave Bowden passed for three touchdowns in Florida's 21-10 win over Kansas State; a 5-yard Nick Vidovic to Jimmy Jerome north with 2:02 left gave North Carolina a 34-27 decision over William and Mary; Jeff Grantz scored twice and threw two scores in South Carolina's surprise 41-28 win over Georgia Tech; Pitt surprised Georgia and scored a 7-7 tie in Johnny Majors' debut as the Panthers coach, and small college champion Delaware routed West Chester State, 49-14.

Field Goal Downs Bears

CHICAGO (UPI)—Once it worked, and when the game was at stake, the Chicago Bears tried the same play again, got stalled and lost to a last minute Dallas Cowboys field goal.

Toni Fritsch kicked two field goals for Dallas, from 25 yards and from 11, and it was the latter that won the game 20-17 with 1:26 left to play.

Bears Coach Abe Giron took the responsibility for calling the play which gave the Cowboys field position and Fritsch the opportunity to win.

It was fourth and one on the Bears' 29 with 3:45 left to play. Chicago's Bobby Joe Green went back to punt. Instead the ball went to Bob Parsons, in blocking position behind the line. Billy Joe DuPree came in from left end with no blocker to avoid, smeared Parsons for a three-yard loss, and Dallas took over.

"I called the play," Giron said. "I conferred with Parsons and Bobby Joe and we decided that if the Cowboys lined up as expected, we'd go for the win instead of the tie."

"Parsons could have called it off with an audible, if he'd seen anything he didn't like," Green said. "But he didn't and we went for it."

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said he wouldn't "second guess anyone. It was a gamble. There were only about two routes left and they might have gotten the ball back. I'd just jumped in and did the job."

It was the same play they Bears tried the first time they had the ball, when Parsons ran five yards for a first down on the Dallas 47. That time the crowd of 49,970, leaving 5,731 empty seats in the sold out house, cheered. In the fourth period they boomed.

The play, while it made the Cowboys' victory relatively easy, might not have produced the winning score, had the Bears avoided mistakes earlier. The Bears fumbled six times and lost five of them. Bobby Douglass had a pass intercepted by Charlie Waters, who returned it 44 yards. The team committed six turnovers.

One of the Bears fumbles gave the Cowboys the ball on the Bears' 23, setting up Fritsch's first field goal, another fumble gave the Cowboys the ball on the Dallas 40 preceding a 21-yard TD pass from Roger Staubach to Otto Stowe and Waters' interception put the Cowboys on the Bears' 40.

preceding an 18-yard scoring pass from Staubach to Bob Hayes.

Calvin Hill set a Dallas club record with 31 carries and gained 130 yards rushing and 28 yards on pass receptions to account for 158 of Dallas' total 282 yards.

Ike Hill produced one Bears TD with a 59-yard punt return and Carl Garrett, who had three of the Bears' fumbles, ran 15 yards for the other. Mac Percival kicked a 33 yard field goal for the other points.

SWC Roundup

The Texas Longhorns are expected by some to be a wonder team this season, and Longhorn coach Darrell Royal is wondering why people think that.

He might point instead to that big bully of a team from Oklahoma, which meandered into Royal's neighborhood Saturday night and put on a rather ominous show.

Texas sees its first action this Friday night, traveling to Miami to unveil Marty Atkins at quarterback and to display this year's edition of Roosevelt Leaks.

And already fans in the Southwest are looking forward to the Oklahoma-Texas showdown Oct. 13 in Dallas.

The Baylor Bears were the unfortunate victim of Oklahoma's opening night performance Saturday, falling 42-14.

"This bunch looked better than the Oklahoma team I saw on film last year," said Grant Teaff, whose shell-shocked troops gave up touchdowns on five straight possessions in the first half. "I don't believe I've ever seen a team with as much size and speed combined."

The Southwest Conference had some pretty good offensive shows of its own on the opening weekend of the season, but they were not against any kind of powerful opposition.

SMU ran up a 49-7 win over Santa Clara with Alvin Maxson sprinting for 139 yards and two touchdowns and Texas A&M to LSU.

Christian opens its season against Texas Arlington.

Of the two teams expected to give Texas its toughest time in the league this year—SMU and Texas Tech—the Mustangs looked by far the most powerful Saturday night even though they had little opposition.

New head coach Dave Smith, however, was concerned that his wishbone attack was sluggish and inconsistent. Smith has the most talented pair of outside running threats in the league in Alvin Maxson and Wayne Morris.

There will be the Texas appearance in Miami to start things off, then Arkansas will have a chance to show its performance against the Trojans was not a fluke when it entertains potent Oklahoma State in Little Rock.

Baylor must show it can bounce back from its drubbing by Oklahoma, and it has a tough foe to do it against—Pittsburgh on the road.

SMU and Texas A&M each draws a more difficult task this week for their high octaned offenses with the Mustangs traveling to Oregon State and A&M to LSU.

overpowered Wichita State, 48-0, with Skip Walker scoring three times.

The only other conference victory was a close call, Texas Tech, the heavy favorite over Utah, had to score twice in the final period to pull out a 29-22 victory.

On the losing side Arkansas gave No. 1 Southern California a lot more than it expected before falling, 17-0, and Rice finally was worn down by Houston, 24-6.

This week's slate should help uncover a few mysteries in the conference strength.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Government Inflation

We can't imagine anyone who would not be aware of the fact that it takes more dollars today to buy the things one needs and wants. That is commonly called inflation, and most people seem to be talking about it.

Politicians like to say the government is doing something to curb inflation, but it is rare indeed when one of them confesses that it is government which is causing it.

One such person is Congressman William L. Dickinson of Alabama, and we'd like to pass along his remarks.

"Why is the United States, the greatest nation in the world, having economic problems? What can be done to solve these problems? Everyone, of course, has his or her own answers to these questions, but I think a few facts should shed some needed light on the situation.

"As recently as 1940, our national debt was $43 billion. Today it is over $455 billion, more than a tenfold increase in just over three decades. The interest alone on this debt is nearly $25 billion a year. Regardless of how we spend it, the fact remains that we spend nearly half a trillion dollars more than we took in during this period.

"No wonder we spent so much — it has always been popular to advocate government spending. Since public money doesn't belong to anyone, there is always the temptation to bestow it on someone. The fact is, we cannot continue these same 'political economics.' We can no longer afford to embark on massive fiscal fantasies, broad-scale programs with small-scale planning.

"In addition, government is our single biggest business.

Meddlers At The Dike

Take the latest effort of the government to regulate business. Simply, it is called Phase 4. Tragically, it is just another bumbling, stumbling effort of governmental regulators trying to control an economy that knows only one control — supply and demand.

Trying to regulate any economy with artificial controls is like trying to plug a leaky dike. No sooner do you get one hole plugged when there are a dozen others-leaking worse than the first.

We passed through Phase 3's, a complete disaster. This phase froze prices but not wages. It played havoc with some businesses, set the stage for near collapse in some segments of agriculture and clearly demonstrated that government planners ought to play tiddlywinks on the days they believe they are businessmen.

In an era when nobody seems to know what to expect next, about the only thing one can expect is for everybody to jack up their prices every chance they get. Tomorrow might bring another control, a new set of high prices.

Phase 4 says that the June 13 price freeze on all processed foods, except beef, is removed. We now hit a slick spot and will serve merely as propellant for prices to go sky-high. Since the freeze on beef prices will come off Sept. 12, they say, eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow that steak you want could very well be beyond your reach.

Perhaps we have reached the point in our country's history when governmental leaders need the help of super computers to figure things out. Program the prices and wages, add dollars for adjustments, calculate the cost-of-living hike, add something for incentive, don't forget Social Security, medical payments, etc., throw in enough for graft, turn the dials to 'operate' and then sit back and wait for the answers.

There have been a thousand economic theories tried the world over since man first realized that he could get what he wanted if he had something to offer that the other man wanted. But none has worked quite so well as that proved theory which says that everyone lives better, from the producer to the consumer, in that system known as supply and demand.

Should We End Foreign Police Aid?

By RAY CROMLEY WASHINGTON (NEA) — Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., is at it again, attempting to end American aid and instruction to foreign police. He argues our assistance unavoidably invites criticism from those who seek to identify the United States with every act of police brutality in countries where the program operates.

This is cowardly retreat. In many countries police have little regard for human rights. If U.S. economic aid is to mean anything, and if we are to help foreign developing countries in ways which will make for a world of the type in which we and almost all other human beings wish to live, then we must use whatever influence we can on national police departments.

This is a slow, difficult task. The way to measure progress is to note here and there a shift in police attitude. Begin with Chief Isidoro Relative, Nabua Police Department, the Philippines, a graduate of the U.S. International Police Academy. On his wall is his objective (taken from AID). "To the man on the street, the police are the government. When the police are fair, the government is just. When the police are competent and compassionate, their government is efficient and humane."

Some 7,500 foreign police have been trained in the academy. Since 1954 the Office of Public Safety has given assistance to 52 countries. Eighteen nations now receive this aid.

There have been some modest results in curbing corruption. In Zaire, 11 out of the top 14 police administrators are graduates of the AID International Police Academy. Early this year these officials issued three direct anti-corruption warnings, then took several hundred offending policemen to a remote area in the bush where they worked eight hours a day in the boiling sun building a village and spent the evenings at lectures on honesty.

In the Philippines, OPS helped develop guidelines for a police inspection-audit division. In Laos, OPS assisted in creating an inspector general office. With OPS assistance, several Latin nations have adopted inspection systems designed to weed out corrupt officers.

Then years ago, the police approach to demonstrators and rioters in many countries was fixed by nations. Non-lethal tear gas is being substituted in AID-assisted nations.

In Ecuador's El Oro Province, when a student strike escalated into violent mob action, the restraint of the National Police was so marked the students themselves published a handbill praising the officers for their attitude.

In Jamaica, Guatemala, Colombia and Venezuela, recent demonstrations and riots have been controlled more effectively with less injury and loss of life to rioters and demonstrators than in the past.

Improved police behavior in the questioning of suspects has not been as pronounced. But as one adviser put it, more local police now realize "a chip of paint or a fingerprint is a more reliable piece of evidence than a worthless confession beaten out of a suspect."

American advisers and instructors make suggestions; they cannot order other nations to change their police methods. There is heavy dependence on the indirect approach. It has been felt that if the police could be encouraged to go strongly into civic action, this mingling of officers with the population would improve police attitudes.

In Zaire, police have started baby clinics. Philippines police have established youth opportunity programs. In Ecuador, new rural police buildings include centers for educating local illiterates; police dentists man clinics for rural children. Border patrol police in Thailand instruct hill tribesmen in crop rotation and the proper use of fertilizer and have erected hundreds of simple one-room rural schools. None of this is meant to imply police departments of the developing world have suddenly become professional, nonpolitical, incorruptible, with scrupulous regard for human rights. But indications are that changes are being made.

It seems like falling six stories would be a matter of a few seconds, that you'd have time to think of something. I wish I could describe the fall, but actually I do not remember it at all. —Paul Wilson, Miami steelworker who survived six-story head-first fall.

By Bruce Blossat

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The University of Michigan's Center for Political Studies, running counter to much conventional thinking, reports that Sen. George McGovern's stands on issues, perceived as too far to the left, had more to do with his crushing 1972 presidential defeat than the Eagleton affair or anything else bearing on the candidate's qualities.

The Center's 90-page report, one in a continuing series on U.S. elections, was founded on personal interviews with 2,705 persons, all eligible voters, who were questioned both before and immediately after the 1972 election.

The Michigan probers set the foundation for their more particular findings by asserting that their researchers show a "mild shift" toward the left in the general population from 1968 to 1972.

The issues used as measuring rods in this determination included the Vietnam war, urban unrest, inflation, campus unrest, ecological pollution, amnesty, abortion, the racial struggle (with school busing the symbol).

What mainly did McGovern do, the surveyors said, is that he was widely perceived as going far beyond the population's asserted leftward shift. Indeed, he was seen as further left than any other political object (man or party) in 1972.

The Center concluded that, in consequence, President Nixon was seen as closer to the population mean (the middle point on the spectrum of attitudes) on 11 of the 14 issues examined. Only on inflation, urban unrest and pollution did McGovern's policy positions get closer than Mr. Nixon's to the decisive midpoint of the population's views.

It is the Center's judgment not only that McGovern was "quite distant from the population's policy preferences," but that "the issues had an exceptionally potent effect on the 1972 election."

Well — probed by the surveyors is the corollary of this finding — that loss force must be given to McGovern's alleged bungling of the Thomas Eagleton dumping in the South Dakota's soft-asserted general ineptitude as a campaigner, to his moralizing language and supposed lack of dynamism. These are regarded as indirect, reinforcing factors rather than as matters central to the voters' choice.

The Michigan analysts noted, for instance, that among the Democrats, whose broad support of their own party nominee was an obvious necessity, nearly 60 per cent of voters had made their final selection before the Eagleton affair developed. Other survey evidence indicates a fair number of Democrats already had decided to defect.

Body Needs Carbohydrates

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would like your opinion on sugar in the diet. I read an article that stated that anyone who eats ordinary meals containing fruits, potatoes and other vegetables, cereals, breads, meats, eggs and milk is getting ample carbohydrates for his needs. He could go through life comfortably without using a spoonful of added sweetener. In fact, this article states some nutritional observers think we'd be better off if our sugar supply were to disappear. What is your opinion? Also, when one is told by his physician that he has low blood sugar, should he add more sugar to his diet or use less.

Dear Reader — It is important to have a sufficient amount of carbohydrates in the diet from foods that contain important vitamins and minerals. The body doesn't function well without carbohydrates. This can cause a disturbance in the body chemistry called ketosis. The accumulation of ketone bodies in an untreated diabetic leads to diabetic coma, a serious medical problem. Continued loss of ketones from the urine in this condition also depletes the body of important minerals, including calcium, which accelerates or aggravates the problem of degeneration of the spine and loss of calcium from the bones.

The term carbohydrates includes vegetables, cereals, fruits, as well as the sweets, which include sugar, honey, syrups, jams and jellies. It is probably true that a person can get along quite well from a health point of view if they never use any sweets at all, and, instead, got all of their carbohydrates from fresh fruits, vegetables and cereals. Milk, our principal source of calcium, also contains appreciable amounts of carbohydrates.

Earliest man was more of a vegetarian and early fossils show grinding-like teeth of the vegetarian as seen in other primates, as opposed to the canine overhanging teeth seen in carnivores. Early man was probably both a herbivore and carnivore. Those living in the jungle and tropical regions in places where plant food was abundant were more apt to be vegetarians. It is not true that early man did without carbohydrates. Early cave drawings show primitive man obtaining honey from wild bees.

Sugars or sweets are sometimes very useful, particularly if you need to provide large amounts of energy in a small amount of bulk for some medical reason. The biggest drawback of most of the sugars and sweets is that they do not contain any significant amounts of vitamins and minerals (blackstrap molasses though is a good source for iron). When true low blood sugar is present and is responsible for the symptoms, then the diet should be one which restricts concentrated sweets, specifically sugars and syrups, jellies and jams. In most instances these individuals can continue to use vegetables and cereals without added sweeteners.

Not all cases of low blood sugar are related specifically to the diet. There are rare examples in which a tumor of the pancreas is the cause. When the tumor is removed this usually will solve the problem.

AMAZING ASTRONAUTS

The astronauts who man the U.S. space station continue to amaze the world with their initiative and their accomplishments. The first crew that went up to the flying laboratory had two strikes against it. The station was overheating, but the men rigged a sun shade that corrected that problem. They then set about doing their jobs of scientific research. The assignment was completed and they returned to earth.

The second crew of Skylab II had been in its new home in the sky for a very short time when motion sickness became a problem. The astronauts overcame that ailment, but they found their transfer spaceship leaking propellants that would be necessary for guidance when they returned home. Quickly, a rescue ship was made ready, but the space agency and the spacemen themselves found upon reexamination of the leaks that they probably could make it back with the vehicle docked to the skylab. Meanwhile, they continued to do their work. They devoted themselves to their tasks even on their days off.

Our astronauts have demonstrated the same type of toughness and dedication to work that the explorers of old possessed. There seems little doubt that their mission will be accomplished and that they shall return to mother earth with highly valuable information for the improvement of the lot of mankind. All of us should follow the example set by our brave astronauts. A fresh dedication to work and the fine causes of our country can enrich our lives. We can be proud of Republic USA. The astronauts have made a new dream come true.

Arab Disunity Stronger Than Arab Oil Threats

By Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — There is a lot more bark than bite behind those dire Arab threats to drastically slash oil output. Their tough talk is mostly bluff and bluster. Those scare headlines they are so ominously making don't square with the blunt facts and realities.

Latest highly-revealing instance of this is what happened at that little noticed conference of oil ministers of 10 Arab countries which took place in Kuwait last week. Avowed purpose of this meeting was to formulate a common policy to force the U.S. to be "more evenhanded" in the Middle East. The parley was a complete bust.

The Arab oil ministers got absolutely nowhere. They couldn't even agree on an innocuous wind-up statement. Viewpoints and proposals were so torridly diverse and hostile that it finally was decided the best thing to do was to say and do nothing — for fear of wrecking the organization. Illustrative of one extremist demands was an Iraq scheme to suspend all oil production for ten years, with only enough being exported to "finance internal development."

Participating in this futile conference were Egypt, Algeria, Saudi Arabia, Libya, Iraq, Kuwait, Syria, Bahrain, Qatar, Abu Dhabi. Inexplicably, this extremely important development was virtually ignored by the U.S. press. In striking contrast to the big headlines and extensive coverage given Arab threats to crack down on the U.S. unless it changes its pro-Israel stand, the complete failure of the Kuwait parley to reach an accord on such action was disregarded.

More Of Same There is a sequel to the Kuwait fiasco which further underlines its import. This is the conflicting, inconsistent and paradoxical reports subsequently emanating from Arab capitals. While Saudi Arabia's King Faisal was widely quoted as warning that, unless the U.S. changes its "biased attitude in favor of Israel, it would be extremely difficult to supply petroleum to the U.S.," decidedly different sentiments were being voiced in Cairo and Beirut.

In the latter, in an interview in the magazine Al-Hawadess, Prince Saudi Al-Faisal, son of the King, and undersecretary of the Saudi oil industry, flatly shrugged off a crackdown on the U.S. He was quoted as saying: "Curbing the rate of increase in our oil production wouldn't hurt the U.S. Even if we cut off all oil exports, the U.S. would be the last to be effected. It is not dependent on Arab oil and won't be for years — if ever. Cutting off oil and reducing the amount of increase of our annual production would merely adversely affect Europe and Japan, who are dependent on Arab oil." In Cairo, a "high authority" was equally out-spoken — in direct contradiction to King Faisal's threats. "Saudi Arabia is publicly committed to support Egypt with a $200 million annual subsidy," he told Western newsmen. "In addition, Saudi will provide Egypt with another $50 million in low interest loans for a number of major industrial developments, one of them a key arms plant. President Sadat is determined to make Egypt militarily self-sufficient, and has King Faisal's personal promise to help do that."

Manifestly, if these unchallenged Egyptian claims are true, Saudi oil output will continue to expand to an annual rate of 20 per cent — regardless of what Faisal says for propaganda purposes at home and abroad. (Saudi oil production is currently 8.5 million barrels a day; oilmen are proposing that be gradually raised to 20 million barrels.)

Basic Facts While the U.S. unquestionably has a steadily intensifying "energy problem," it's not due to a shortage or threat of shortage of Middle East oil. Arab oil is of minor consequence in the U.S. Following are the real facts: — While the U.S. imports about 28 per cent of its oil, only around 6 per cent comes from the Arab states. Upwards of 75 per cent of our oil imports comes from Venezuela, Iran and Nigeria — not Arab. Radical-ruled Libya is one of our smallest oil sources; only about one per cent of our total energy consumption comes from there.
