

Benson Says Farm Prices Drop Ending

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today that the long lag in farm income "is largely behind us" and called on Congress to adopt President Eisenhower's "middle-of-the-road" farm program.

County Agrees To Help With Armory Service

County commissioners this morning voted to pay half of the cost of installing sewer lines or constructing a septic tank for a proposed National Guard armory.

The group put a $1,000 limit on what the county will spend on the project. Commissioners said the county will contribute $1,000 or half the cost, which ever is less.

Deed Forms For Freeway Arrive Here

Deed forms will arrive here Friday for widening Highway 80 to freeway proportions from Big Spring to the Martin County line.

Rea also reported that engineer's plans for construction of that portion of the freeway are about 65 per cent complete. He said the Highway Department hopes to be ready to start construction as soon as Howard County commissioners secure needed right-of-way, probably several months in the future.

A board of appraisers this morning started work in connection with the county's condemnation proceedings against five property owners from whom land must be acquired for widening Fourth Street, another phase of the Highway 80 improvement program.

Appraisers inspected land owned by J. R. and Jewel Tucker and set $65 as amount the county should pay for needed right-of-way and damages.

Judge R. H. Weaver said boards of appraisers will be appointed as quickly as possible to appraise land held by the four other persons named in condemnation suits. Appraisers in the first suit were A. L. Cooper, R. L. Cook, and C. B. Lawrence.

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators reported today the military services are piling up billions of dollars worth of surplus equipment faster than they can dispose of it through present "uninspired" methods.

Rep. Riehlman (R-NY), chairman of a Government Operations subcommittee, added that the services themselves don't know how much excess military equipment they have but that some estimates reach 10 billion dollars.

The subcommittee in a report to the House scored all three services for showing a "serious lack of concern" for this "critical problem."

gradually lowered price supports would bolster farmers' income.

"The road to economic growth is through expanded production—production that finds its way into consumption and not into warehouses," Benson declared.

"Even though the price support level for basic crops under the administration proposals would be governed by supply, rather than by high and rigid government supports, the support price would be close to present levels, Benson predicted.

"This would be true, he said, because adoption of Eisenhower's plan to set aside, or "freeze" from commercial channels, 2 1/2 billion dollars worth of government-held stocks would relieve the market of much of the overhanging surplus which now depresses the market.

"The latest price report of the department issued last Friday showed a widespread improvement, averaging 4 per cent from mid-November to mid-January," Benson told the legislators.

"There is much reason to believe that the agricultural price adjustment to peacetime conditions is largely behind us, providing that a high level of economic activity is maintained in this nation.

"For 1954, we believe that agricultural prices and agricultural incomes will be maintained fairly close to those of 1953."

The rigid, high-level price supports in effect since the war, the secretary said, have abnormally stimulated output of some crops, hurt consumption of some products because of "unrealistic" high prices, damaged farm exports, and attracted lower-priced imports and thus necessitated trade barriers against friendly nations.

If this program continues, it "could offend our populace to such a point as to discredit all forms of direct aid to agriculture," he said.

Meanwhile, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey kept alive the issue Democrats have been hammering on—whether individual taxpayers are getting enough consideration in the proposed tax changes.

Humphrey, who defended administration-backed proposals before the committee Tuesday, declared last night on an NBC radio program that "strictly relief provisions for individuals" would amount to about 600 million dollars of the 1 1/2-billion-dollar tax reduction envisaged.

He said that if the tax cuts that went into effect Jan. 1 were considered together with those proposed, "strictly individual relief will be about three-fourths and about one-fourth of the relief will be to stimulate business."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Post Office Committee voted today to raise the cost of mailing first class letters from three cents to four cents. Action is, of course, not final.

GARDEN CITY—Tonight enough mutton and beef to add up to more than 1,000 pounds when it's done, will be put over the mesquite fires in the barbecue pits here.

This is just a part of the preparations for the 15th annual Glasscock County Livestock Show and Sale which will be held on the Garden City school grounds tomorrow with the barbecue being served the usual hundreds of visitors at noon.

WAGON MARE FARES BETTER THAN DRIVER

EATON RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Mollie the mare and her milk wagon driver, Leslie Davis, 47, have their adventures.

With a tire iron and a screw driver, Davis rescued Mollie last week when her shoe caught in a railroad track and a train was coming along. Davis pried her loose.

Presently Davis is laid up with a broken leg. An automobile hit Mollie's wagon. The worst Mollie suffered was the loss of her harness.

Mitchell Report Probable Friday

COLORADO CITY—The Mitchell County Grand Jury will wind up its investigation today, but District Attorney Eldon Mahon said this morning he is sure the jury won't make its report before Friday.

This was the jury's fourth day of inquiry into the case of David Leach who was wounded in a gun battle which followed a chase and car wreck here Jan. 16.

Leach went before the grand jury Wednesday. Witnesses this morning included Dr. Melvin Crymes, Jack Doss, Sheriff R. E. (Dick) Gregory, and L. E. Robinson Jr. of the police department, Mahon said.

Other witnesses questioned Wednesday were Dick Hickman, former police chief who was in the car with Leach at the time of the wreck; Tom Keeling, another passenger in the car; Bob McGuire, John Plummer, and W. L. Claxton, all sheriff's deputies; Mose Allen, constable; Joe Boatright, Doyle Kiker, Juanita Schaffer, and Mollie Washington.

Leach, Hickman and Keeling were in Hickman's car when it was chased by Colorado City policemen early on Jan. 16. The car overturned and Leach was wounded in a gun battle with Police Sgt. Henry Yeager. He escaped but was later captured at the home of Mollie Washington.

He has been charged with assault with intent to murder.

Grand Jury Is Back At Work

The Howard County Grand Jury went back into session this morning and it was reported the group intended to consider the recent series of school burglaries.

District Attorney Elton Gilliland said the jury scheduled today's session at the close of three days of work which started on Jan. 25.

He said he understood the grand jurors wanted to study the school burglaries.

Big Spring High School, the school tax office and other buildings have been broken into recently. One occasion, Supv. W. C. Blankenship surprised a prowler in his office.

The grand jury also was expected to question David O. Parker who has been charged with theft of merchandise from a service station. Parker was arrested in Midland and was transferred to Big Spring this morning by Deputy Sheriff Miller Harris and Constable W. O. Leonard.

Judge Refuses Railroad Ban On Benefits Dispute

CHICAGO (AP)—A federal judge today turned down a request by the nation's railroads for a declaratory judgment to bar demands for "extraneous" benefits.

But Judge Win G. Knoch ruled that the railroads cannot proceed under the declaratory judgment act. He then dismissed the railroads' suit.

The railroads, in a suit filed Nov. 4, contended the Railway Labor Act requires the railroads to negotiate with their employees only on questions of wages, rules and working conditions.

Counsel for the 15 non-operating rail unions had asked the judge to dismiss the suit, claiming that the issue could be settled only by mediation or arbitration.

The non-operating unions, representing more than one million workers, have threatened to strike to back up their demands.

They have no pending wage increase requests, but seek a number of health-welfare and other benefits. These include life insurance to be paid by the railroads; hospital, sickness and disability benefits for employees and their families; and greater free pass and vacation benefits.

President Eisenhower has set up a three-man emergency fact-finding board to hold hearings on the dispute. The sessions were begun here last month, but are in recess until Feb. 15.

The non-operating unions, made up of clerks and others who do not work on moving trains, made their demands under the Railway Labor Act.

The railroads' suit was, in effect, a request for a court interpretation of the 27-year-old act in the light of the current trend toward demands for so-called fringe benefits.

Turncoats Attend New Year's Party At Commie Center

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Twenty-one Americans who "spurned their homeland for communism" attended a Chinese New Year's party last night at Kaesong.

Communist correspondent Wilfred Burchett said a number of Korean and Chinese girls attended the party, and there was plenty of Chinese wine.

"I think they will be leaving soon" for Red China, Burchett said.

Fifteen anti-Communist Koreans were turned back to the Allies today by the Indian command. They presumably will be handed to South Korea. They had wanted to go to America but the Indian command ruled out their request because the United States was a belligerent in the Korean War.

There still are 12 Chinese and 74 North Koreans in Indian custody who do not want to go to the Communists or the Allies. There also are two pro-Communist South Koreans who want to go to neutral states.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today sent to the Senate the names of 272 nominees for postmasterhips in as many communities in a total of 40 states.

Laughlin Charges Jury To Question Shepperd Panel Told To Get Duval 'Lowdown'

ALICE (AP)—Seventy-ninth District Court Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin told a grand jury to ask Texas' attorney general to come and tell what he knows about law violations in Duval County, stormy hot-spot of Texas politics.

He also charged the Duval County Grand Jury to make a full probe into county affairs and of the Benavides Independent School District.

Investigations of state and federal agencies already were probing deep into the affairs of this oil-rich, desolate county of South Texas where George B. Parr has long been the dominant political power.

Gov. Allen Shivers said yesterday he was going to "clean up the mess in Duval County."

Laughlin today gave reporters copies of his charge to the Duval County Grand Jury at nearby San Diego, yesterday. San Diego is the county seat of Duval.

"There have been lots of accusations made," Laughlin's charge said in part. "The court feels that you should investigate these accusations and give these people so free with their language as to Duval County the opportunity to present evidence to you for your consideration."

It said, too, that "I further charge to you to extend to the attorney general of Texas and x x x other state and government officials an invitation to appear before you and present any evidence of any law violation occurring in Duval County to their knowledge x x x."

Laughlin said in his charge that grand jury should make a full investigation and that if it found any law violations take the necessary steps to indict any person the grand jury found to have violated the law.

He ordered the grand jury to make a report of its investigation.

Laughlin noted in the charge that he had never been asked to aid in any investigation and that District Attorney Hasbroun Norris said he had never been asked.

Laughlin said he had read in the newspapers of certain investigations allegedly being made in Duval County by state and federal agencies.

Duval is part of the four-county 79th District, along with Jim Wells, Starr and Brooks counties.

Eleven attorneys who practice in the district requested the State Supreme Court to remove Laughlin from office. They allege he is unfit to hold office.

Panel Told To Get Duval 'Lowdown' been the dominant political power: 1. A threat by Gov. Allen Shivers yesterday to declare martial law or send "five or fifty" Texas Rangers to Duval County to crush what he called "political thieves and ballot gangsters."

2. Investigations by the state attorney general, federal internal revenue department and postal inspectors. 3. A probe by the Duval County grand jury.

4. The indictment here by a Jim Wells County Grand Jury of two Texas Rangers on charges of assault to murder Parr. The charges grew out of a courthouse scuffle.

The governor yesterday promised a San Antonio women's club he would "clean up the mess in Duval County."

The grand jury of Duval County, which adjourns Jim Wells, questioned a former acting secretary of an independent school district. The grand jury recessed at 9:15 last night after questioning Diego Heras, former school district official.

Jack Donahue, Houston Press newsmen who is writing a series on stormy Duval County politics, was told to be on hand at this afternoon's session.

An assistant to State Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd—Frank Pineda—sat in with the grand jury in yesterday's and last night's sessions. Pineda said he had been working "on this case for over a year."

Shepperd announced earlier this week that the use of state school, public welfare and highway funds in Duval County had been under investigation by several agencies for a year.

The indicted Rangers, Capt. Alfredo Allee and Joe Bridge, were released on bonds of $5,000 each. As he sipped his coffee, Parr told a reporter the indictments were a surprise to him.

Shivers Asks U.S. Warrant Issuance For Accused Killer

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers has asked the U.S. Department of Justice to issue a fugitive warrant to speed extradition of Alfredo Cervantes.

Cervantes is a Mexican national whom the state has charged as the alleged "trigger man" in the mistake slaying of Jacob S. Floyd Jr., of Alice. He has never been apprehended and was reported to be in Mexico.

Jacob S. Floyd Sr., South Texas political leader and father of the slain youth, has testified that the fatal bullet was really intended for him "for political reasons."

The Court of Criminal Appeals recently held that Mario (El Turko) Sapet conspired in the slaying of young Floyd, and must serve a 90-year penitentiary sentence in the case.

Webb Cadet Parachutes To Safety From Stalled Plane

A-C Robert Curtis Green, 21, Webb AFB, parachuted to safety when his propeller-driven trainer sustained complete motor failure east of Colorado City at 10 p.m. Wednesday.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Green, 118 Virginia, Norfolk, Va.

Green was making his first solo night navigation flight when the incident occurred, said Col. Fred M. Dean, commander of Webb AFB. En route to Webb AFB after a flight to Abilene, Green's T-28 trainer experienced complete motor failure. He gave a distress signal at 8,000 feet while vainly attempting to restart his engine.

A Webb AFB flight instructor, 1st Lt. Wesley L. Mattonen, who was flying nearby on a similar mission, instructed Green to "ball out" if his engine was not running by the time he descended to 6,000 feet. Falling to start the engine, Green jumped from the airplane over open farm land.

Both Green and the airplane landed north of U. S. Highway 80 in an open field, approximately five miles east of Colorado City. The airplane was heavily damaged, but Green was unharmed. He hopped the nearest road and hailed a passerby who drove him to Colorado City to report his successful bailout.

"Aviation Cadet Green's cool-headed handling of the emergency, making sure his airplane was headed away from a populated area before using his parachute, is a fine example of utilizing standard emergency procedures and flight safety equipment to avoid a possible serious mishap," said Col. Dean.

Green is a member of Pilot Class 54-J which entered training at Webb Air Force Base, in the basic flight school phase, in January. He was in a month's training period in propeller type aircraft before learning to fly the T-28 jet trainer.

Green is a 1949 graduate of Norfolk High School, Norfolk, Va. He later attended Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg, Va., where he majored in industrial engineering and business administration.

According to an old Air Force custom, Green owes a carton of cigarettes to the airman who packed the parachute he used Wednesday. Also, the company which manufactured his parachute will send Green a certificate and badge of membership in the world-famous Caterpillar Club.

Sheriff John E. Babb last night said he had issued new orders to his 125-man police force to intensify the drive against stray dogs. He said he had directed the police to shoot any dog which becomes vicious during efforts to capture it.

Chicago Suffers Mad Dog Terror

CHICAGO (AP)—Strict enforcement of a rabies quarantine was intensified by police and sheriff's forces today in Chicago's worst mad dog scare in 18 years.

Nearly a score of persons have been bitten by two rabid dogs in South Side districts since Tuesday night. In the current outbreak, which has resulted in the city and which manufactured his parachute being placed under a rabies quarantine, one child died after being bitten by a rabid dog. The order requires dogs to be muzzled and leashed.

Texas Farm Income Gain Is Announced

AUSTIN (AP)—A four-point gain in the mid-January index of prices received by Texas farmers was reported by the U.S. Department of Agriculture today.

The increase over mid-December brought the index to 267 per cent of the 1910-14 base.

Higher prices were recorded for all meat animals, potatoes and sweet potatoes, commercial vegetables and most grains and hay. All other items averaged lower in price than a month earlier.

The index of livestock and livestock product prices rose 9 points to 305. The meat animal index advanced 28 points but was partially offset by price declines for dairy products, poultry, eggs and wool.

Hogs prices gained $1.70, advancing to $23.90 per hundredweight, the highest mid-month price since last July. Beef cattle at $13.90 was up $1.40 and calves at $15.20 were up $1.20, the highest mid-month price for both last May.

Labor Department Closing Bracero Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department said today it is closing down tomorrow its temporary program for bringing Mexican farm workers to this country.

A spokesman, in making the announcement, said the action was taken because of an administrative ruling that the program is no longer legal without specific authorization from Congress and because funds have run out.

INTELLIGENCE VICTORY

Agent Who Won U. S. Asylum Leading Commie Spy In Japan

By JOHN RANDOLPH
TOKYO (AP)—Lt. Col. Yuri A. Rastvorov was revealed today as Soviet Russia's chief Red spy in Japan and a youthful protégé of Lavrenti Beria, recently executed chief of the Soviet secret police.

Informed American sources said Rastvorov, who asked an American Army intelligence unit for political asylum Jan. 24, was trained on the "Japan desk" of a special Soviet Foreign Office section under direct control of Beria's MVD organization.

Once a personal courier for Beria himself, Rastvorov apparently was headed for a brilliant future in the Soviet secret service.

But, the source said, "weakness" for Americans, possibly Beria's execution, and finally direct orders to return to Moscow sparked his decision to change sides.

His conversion, long and deliberately sought by crack U.S. Army operatives, is called by observers here the most brilliant piece of American intelligence work publicized since the start of the cold war—and a blow at Soviet espionage in a key Far Eastern area.

"Intelligence work is subterranean war," the source said. "This is a great victory that may be decisive in Japan. It is the intelligence equivalent of a Midway or a Normandy."

Rastvorov, reported yesterday to be cooperating with American agents at the big U.S. base on Okinawa, was described as a handsome, dashing Soviet spy who moved easily in Tokyo social circles and who cultivated Americans.

"He even ate and drank at American Army officers' clubs," the source said. Some of his hosts did not know whom they entertained. Some knew all too well.

It also was revealed that at the time of Beria's execution Dec. 23, Rastvorov made contact with American Army agents who shadowed him continually and sounded them out on changing sides.

Much as the Army wanted him, it moved cautiously until Rastvorov—apparently in panic at personally delivered orders to go home—called the agents on the telephone and asked them to protect him as a political refugee.

The unit then had no choice but to grant his request for a flight to freedom, the source said.

The American source, who is well informed but who cannot be identified, said Rastvorov, 2 feet 10, blond and blue-eyed, spoke almost flawless American English and affected an American manner.

He dressed in clothes of American cut—"some may have come from the Tokyo PX"—American shoes, carried an American Portable radio to the Tokyo Tennis Club and seemed interested in several non-Russian women.

Actually, the informant said, Rastvorov carried his Americanization so far that it began to become less of a pose than a real state of mind.

"He apparently associated with Americans so much that, as an intelligent man, he could not but have been educated on the official source said. "He became convinced that communism itself was a fraud."

Rastvorov is believed to have been the No. 2 man in the Red mission here, but in direct charge of setting up the Red spy apparatus.

His main missions and that of his network were:

1. To report constantly on American ground force movements in Japan, especially in the northern island of Hokkaido. Air Force capabilities and troop movements to Korea, also came under his jurisdiction.

2. To penetrate the Japanese government—an enterprise the source insisted has been successful despite a Japanese government denial.

3. To infiltrate into the Japanese labor movement.

4. To push Soviet cultural relations with the Japanese to stimulate left-wing sympathies.

A spectacular, brilliant explosion, right, followed the crash in Grand Prairie, Tex., of an F-80 Air National Guard plane into the Lone Star Boat Works, setting the boat works on fire. The explosion in the picture was believed caused by extreme heating of light metal parts of the plane. Two persons were killed, but the pilot, Capt. James Smith, ejected himself as the plane hit and survived. Both persons killed were working in the yard of the boat works. The tail of the plane can be seen, center, and stacked in the background at left are boats. Smoke almost obscured rescue workers seeking a reported body under the plane. (AP Wirephoto).

Witness Says IRS Agents Made Threat

DALLAS (AP)—A witness said Internal Revenue Service agents declared they'd haul him into court on fraud charges if he didn't testify in the income tax evasion trial of former Tarrant County Sheriff J. R. (Sully) Montgomery. W. H. Getzender made the statement yesterday in federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson's court. Getzender is one of two Fort Worth men who testified they gave money to Montgomery. The ex-sheriff's second trial on the tax charges continued today. An earlier conviction and 7-year sentence was reversed by the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals. Getzender testified he started giving Montgomery money after the latter called him to his office in the spring of 1948. A few days later, the witness said, Montgomery called on him at his (Getzender's) combination restaurant, florist shop and horse parlor. "What happened?" asked U.S. Dist. Atty. Heard Floore. "I put $50 in his pocket," Getzender replied. The witness said he paid $50 a month until he (Getzender) opened a crap game in 1950. Then, the witness said, he started paying $75 a month. Under cross-examination, Getzender said IRS agents told him they would take him into court on fraud charges if he didn't testify in the Montgomery case. On re-direct examination, U.S.

Asst. Atty. Cavitt Binion asked whether agents had promised Getzender anything to get him to testify. "No, they didn't promise me anything. They just told me what would happen if I didn't," Ernest Cavitt of Fort Worth told the court he gave Montgomery $300 between June, 1948, and year's end. Binion asked why. "I just gave it to him because I like him," Cavitt replied. Later, he said the payments didn't start until he opened a dice game. Montgomery is 51 and a former boxer and professional football player. He is accused of trying to defraud the government of $5,515 in income taxes during 1948, 1949 and 1950. Another witness, Internal Revenue Agent Robert E. Baskett, testified Montgomery misled him about the extent of his real estate holdings, the amount of jewelry he had bought, the number of bank accounts, and safety deposit boxes he and his wife maintained, the number of cashier's checks he had bought and the amount of stock and bonds he owned.

'Sweetheart Town' Bracing For Rush

LOVELAND, Colo. (AP)—Postmaster E. M. Ivers and his assistants in this "sweetheart town" of the nation are bracing for the great rush of mail which hits here each year about this time. The practice of sending Valentines to the Loveland post office for remailing started in 1947 and has become an annual practice for sweethearts throughout the world. Last year about 60,000 Valentines were received from all 48 states and seven foreign countries. A special crimson ink cachet is applied to remailed Valentines. The cachet is altered each year.

Frail Priest Completes Study Of Navajo Religious Ceremony

By STEVE LOWELL
ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—A frail, white-haired Franciscan priest has completed the first study of the ceremony on which the Navajos base their lives. The Rev. Bernard Halle, OFM, who has lived with the tribesmen 54 years, has finished the story of what the Navajos call "blessing way."

Then he was ready for this advanced work. You might compare the ceremony to Biblical legends on which Christians base all their varied interpretations. This prehistoric ceremony explains why, if a Navajo holds to his religion, he always will have a traditional dome-shaped Navajo home, the hogan, regardless of how wealthy he may become. For in blessing way are found the strict delineations not only of the homes of "the people," as the Navajos call themselves, but of their entire life. In general, it's a prayer for a blessing on the Navajos and their property.

It was a tremendous task for the little priest who always says "we" when he speaks of the Navajos. Although they affectionately call him "The Little One Who Drags the Garment"—his cloak—he encountered great difficulty in digging out details. "I had to ask specific questions about every part," he said, "for the Navajos think they lose something when they impart their knowledge. It's their breath—their life. They won't offer any more than what is specifically asked and paid for." Chicago University supplied his "field costs."

Lawyer Acquitted Of Bilking Charges

CHICAGO (AP)—A judge, who as prosecutor had accused lawyer Maurice Weinzalbaum of running off to Brazil to escape a half million dollars in debts, heard a jury acquit the man of a fraud charge last night. The Criminal Court jury reported to Judge Richard B. Austin after deliberating nearly four hours. Weinzalbaum, 44, was acquitted of bilking a suburban Evanston jeweler and optometrist of $10,000 by promising a big interest on short-term loans. Only two men, including Jeweler-optometrist Marshall A. Stone, 38, signed complaints against Weinzalbaum. Austin contended others were owed a half million dollars but declined to sign complaints because they feared publicity. Weinzalbaum was seized last June by police at Houston, Tex., after his return from Brazil.

'Strike It Rich' Defies New York City Regulations

NEW YORK — New York City's drive against radio-TV giveaway programs that get money from the public was defied last night by "Strike It Rich," first of the shows to be criticized.

The program went on the air without changing its format or waiting for the license the Welfare Department said it should have.

Welfare Commissioner Henry L. McCarthy yesterday declared that "programs like this are a national disgrace" and "play into the hands of the Communists."

The program questions people who tell hard-luck stories. They win prizes by correctly answering the quiz, and then people phone in to offer cash, jobs, homes and other aid.

This puts it in the same category as a charity, the Welfare Department rules, and should be licensed.

McCarthy's ire was directed at "Strike It Rich" because, he said, at least 55 families, lured by the promise of "easy money," have chased the program's rainbow from all over the country right onto New York City's relief rolls.

The Welfare Department suggested that producer Walter Frazer change the program's format.

Warren Hull, the "Strike It Rich" master of ceremonies, briefly told listeners last night about the "Heart Fund," the part of the program under fire.

"We have never asked for any contributions whatever," Hull declared and told how the fund is audited.

He insisted that it's all gravy for the recipients, none of the money going for overhead.

"Some people sort of criticize 'Strike It Rich,'" he said, "I don't get it—it's a funny world."

People who appear on the show also get money put up by the sponsor, the Colgate-Palmolive Co., if they answer questions correctly.

Sidney J. Dubroff, the show's public relations man, told a news conference, "We do not want to step on Mr. McCarthy's toes (but) we do not feel any laws were being violated."

"We have courts for the adjudication of such problems."

Landlady Unhappy Over Python Living In Her Apartments

CHICAGO — Leona Rohrer, operator of a South Side apartment building, doesn't want tenants keeping pythons in her apartments, she told Municipal Judge Casimir Cwikinski yesterday.

She is seeking to dispossess Rajah, a 10½-foot Indian rock python owned by Mrs. Victoria Kocourek, who appears as "Princess Elvera" in a night club dance with the snake.

"I've lost 20 pounds worrying since that monster moved into my building," Miss Rohrer told the court.

Said Mrs. Kocourek: "Rajah has more brains, honor, intelligence, loyalty and devotion than many people I know. He is a perfect dear." But she promised the court she would find another home. Meanwhile, Rajah is being boarded with friends in another building.

Cousin Of Eden Is Elected In England

LONDON, Feb. 4 — A cousin of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden Conservative Thomas Lascelles Ironmonger, is the new member of Parliament from the London suburb of Hford.

Ironmonger defeated Laborite Tom Richardson, a schoolmaster, almost 2-1 in a special election yesterday to fill the House of Commons seat vacated by Conservative Sir Geoffrey Hutchinson upon his appointment as chairman of the National Assistance Board.

The count in the traditionally Conservative district was 18,354 to 9,927.

Texarkana Declared Labor Surplus Area

AUSTIN — Texarkana has been classified as an area of "substantial labor surplus" by the Federal Bureau of Employment Security, thereby qualifying for placement of more federal contracts.

It is the first such classification of a Texas city in four years.

Metropolitan areas are designated as having a substantial labor surplus when unemployment reaches more than 6 per cent of the total labor force.

Texarkana's labor force was calculated at 46,197 in December of last year. Of this number, 3,350 were unemployed as of Dec. 31. There were additional layoffs during January in the Lone Star Ordnance plant and in the Red River Arsenal, a federal installation.

95,000 Death Toll Counted From U. S. Accidents In '53

CHICAGO — This is the tremendous price the nation paid for accidents in 1953: Killed: 95,000. Injured: 9,600,000. The cost: $9,100,000,000.

The bill was added up today by the National Safety Council.

It noted that the 1953 accident death toll was 1,000 below the 1952 total. But it also noted that it was more than three times as great as the toll of American dead during the entire Korean War.

The motor vehicle held its place as the No. 1 accident killer. Traffic deaths numbered 38,300. That was a gain of 300 or 1 per cent over 1952.

The traffic total was the third largest in history, exceeded only in 1927 and 1941.

Fatalities in home accidents numbered 28,600, a decline of 1,000. Accidental deaths at work were unchanged at 15,000.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council, said, "No civilized nation can long endure this tragic and disgraceful waste of manpower and resources from accidents that are avoidable."

There were some relatively bright spots in the otherwise grim array of statistics.

The 1953 death rate for accidents of all types was 60 per 100,000 population. That was the lowest on record.

Nevertheless, one out of every 16 persons in the United States suffered a disabling injury last year.

The 38,300 traffic deaths were recorded during a year when the number of vehicles on the road and the number of miles they traveled reached an all-time high.

Thus, the death rate per 100 million vehicle miles was estimated at 7—the lowest rate on record.

Traffic accidents resulted in about 1,350,000 nonfatal injuries. Falls brought death to 20,200 persons, 1 per cent fewer than in 1952. Burns cost 6,400 lives, a 4 per cent decrease. Firearms fatalities rose 4 per cent to 2,450. Drownings were unchanged at 6,800.

Accidental deaths showed an increase among the new generation—victims 5 to 24 years old. There was no change in the 25 to 44 age bracket. Decreases were shown for children under 5 and adults over 45.

The estimated economic loss of $9,100,000,000 covers both fatal and nonfatal accidents. It includes wage losses, medical expenses, insurance costs, production delays, damage to equipment and property.

Record Income Listed In '53

WASHINGTON — The American public had a record income in 1953, the Commerce Department said Wednesday, despite a dip in personal income at the end of the year.

And, the department said, in terms of real spending power, as well as total dollar income, individuals had more than ever in 1953, despite continued price rises and division of the income among a bigger population.

The department's monthly report on personal income said that in December the annual rate of personal income fell off about 1 billion dollars to 285 billions which was 4 billion less than in December a year before. Personal income declined in four out of the last five months of 1953 after reaching an annual rate peak of 287.5 billion dollars in July.

The decline in personal income followed closely the decline in employment which took place during the last half of 1953. As employment took a sharp drop in January, it appeared that personal income probably fell again in January.

But for 1953 as a whole, personal income totaled 284½ billion dollars, which was 6 per cent more than in 1952 when personal income totaled 269½ billion dollars.

Corinne Colvet, Mate Okay Split

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — French actress Corinne Colvet and John Bromfield have signed a property settlement and she filed suit for divorce yesterday, alleging extreme and habitual cruelty. She did not ask for alimony.

The couple, married five years, parted last year on a trial basis. Her press agents said then the split was "because we are getting to look alike." They were reconciled but separated again Jan. 28.

Combined Communist Air Force In Far East Twice U. S. Power

By ROBERT EUNSON
TOKYO (AP)—The combined Communist air force in the Far East—Russian, Chinese and North Korean—totals over 6,500 warplanes, more than twice the size of the Far East Air Forces of the United States, says Gen. O. P. Weyland, FEAF's head man, in an interview, put Chinese and North Korean strength at 2,900 combat planes, and said the Russians have at least 4,500 more based near Vladivostok on Sakhalin and in the Kurile Islands.

Targets there were to hit. "The entry of China into the war and the threat of the United Nations forces brought columns of enemy troops out into the open and again gave the Air Force targets to hit."

Poison Candy Guilt Solved

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The mystery of the poison candy sent to members of the First Baptist Church of Lake Wales was solved yesterday with an admission from a 49-year-old housewife, wife of the church's Sunday school superintendent.

The American plane came out on top of its Russian rival nearly 14 to one—58 Sabres were lost in air-to-air combat to 802 MIGs.

One question often heard during the Korean War was: "Why not bring out the B36s and jet B47 bombers?" Says Weyland: "The answer is the B29 was plenty of airplanes for Korea, so long as our range was limited to the Yalu River on the Manchurian border. The B36 has great range, but it wasn't needed since our B29s reached all North Korean targets from Okinawa and Japan with lots of fuel left."

West Expecting Molotov To Air Elections Plan

BULLETIN
BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov demanded tonight that the Big Four get on with forming a provisional all-German government including Communists to handle national elections and achieve unity for the divided nation.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
BERLIN (AP)—The Western Big Three saved their big ammunition today for the new plan for all-German elections they expect from Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. They brushed aside as a trick his proposal for a plebiscite to decide whether the Germans conclude a peace treaty with the Big Four now or an alliance with the West.

The Westerners said Molotov's plebiscite proposal, made late in yesterday's session of the Big Four foreign ministers conference, contributed nothing to German unity. American, British and French officials agreed that the election proposal anticipated from Molotov would have to be taken much more seriously than the plebiscite idea. Molotov was believed ready to pop his plan almost any minute. If it resembles in any way the free election proposal put forward by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, the West will certainly be surprised.

As the conference went into its 10th session, with British Foreign Secretary Eden presiding in the Soviet Embassy, Western officials expressed considerable disappointment that Molotov in the previous sessions had not come to grips with the free election issue on which the Western Powers base their plan for German unification. There was some feeling among American officials that Molotov was stalling to avoid making clear Russia's position on German elections. Speculation was that he may have been consulting with Moscow on precisely what line the Soviet Union should take on this issue.

Western diplomats regarded the plebiscite proposal as more of a propaganda gimmick than a serious policy maneuver. They did take seriously Molotov's promise that he would have a new proposal later on and they believe this would be on free elections. The way Molotov has jumped from crag to crag without settling down in any one valley of thought has led the West wondering if it isn't time to try to salvage at least "smaller potatoes" out of the parley.

Still pending in this category were the long-deadlocked Austrian independence treaty, possible conferences with Communist China about peace in Asia and perhaps further talks between Russia's V. M. Molotov and U. S. Secretary of State Dulles on President Eisenhower's proposal for an atomic pool for peace.

A possible outcome also was a simple mechanism for building up a larger exchange of goods between West and East Germany, a trade now largely throttled by political differences despite mutual needs.

One Western informant said the Big Four ministers probably would spend the balance of this week in more fruitless talk on Germany, then move on to Austria.

One wide-open indication of the end to Western hopes for any major German settlement came last night when Russia's junior partner, East German Premier Otto Grotewohl, seconded Molotov's latest gimmick for Germany.

French Foreign Minister Bidault speaking for the West, brushed the Soviet proposal aside. Let all the Germans elect their own unified government in the free elections the West has proposed, said Bidault, and that government can make its own decisions.

Testimony For Defense Starts In Trial Here

The defendants started presenting their side of the case Wednesday afternoon in the suit to try title to four sections of Howard County land.

The suit was brought by J. S. Garlington and others against A. L. Wasson and N. H. Reed.

Clyde E. Thomas, one of the attorneys for the defendants, was the first defense witness. Thomas formerly was an attorney for Garlington. During the time he was on the stand this morning, numerous instruments reflecting proceedings of previous litigation were introduced.

Plaintiffs were sustained in objecting to the introduction of a transcript of testimony of J. S. Garlington in 1946. Lawyers for the plaintiffs contended the transcript was not a proper record in that it was not signed.

Scheduled to testify this afternoon as defense witnesses were R. L. Cook, J. E. Walker, J. W. E. Rod, Willis Winters, Dr. G. T. Hall and others.

The Garlington's suit is to try title of Sections 20, 21, 22 and 23, Block 25, H&T.C. survey. The plaintiffs claim J. S. Garlington was of unsound mind at the time he lost title to the land on foreclosure of a deed of trust in 1940. They also contend he was not properly represented when a district court proceeding subsequently upheld title of Wasson.

Burglars Get Beer And Coins At Cafe

Five cases of beer and over $2 in dimes were taken from the Central Cafe, 501 NW 4th, some time last night. Police said today that entry was made to the building through the west window in the women's lounge.

Mrs. G. F. Wilkerson, 311 West 3rd, also reported that a bicycle had been stolen from her home. Police received two prowler reports Wednesday evening, two men were arrested for being absent without leave from army posts, and two run-away-boys were apprehended.

The prowlers were reported in the 2200 block of Runnels and the 100 block of East 12th. One of the men charged with being AWOL was arrested in the 100 block of North Benton, and the other was taken into custody in a local cafe.

The two boys who ran away from home were returned to their parents in Midland last night. Both were 16 years of age.

Martin Predicts Eisenhower Program Enactment Quickly

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker of the House Martin, saying there is a new "zip to things" in Washington, predicted today the Eisenhower program will be "well on its way to complete enactment" before Congress quits this summer.

But the veteran Massachusetts legislator said in a talk prepared for a luncheon meeting of the Republican National Finance Committee that President Eisenhower's broad legislative recommendations would never be finally approved unless a "Republican Congress" is returned in the November elections.

"It is a big, complex program, but in my opinion we will be able to enact the great bulk of it," he asserted, adding: "Nothing can be more vital to us than the re-election of a Republican House and Senate this fall."

Republicans were here from every state for a three-day rally and campaign talks. The finance group met first to decide on an expanded 1954 campaign budget.

Among what he termed accomplishments of the administration, Martin listed a "firm, understandable foreign policy based on strength and leadership rather than appeasement."

Domestically, he said, inflation "has been checked and the cost of living is going down."

Club Has Report On 'Y' Project

The ins and outs of practical politics were detailed for Lions Club members Wednesday by two young people who had a hand in the Youth-in-Government legislation.

Libby Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Jones, and Wade Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Simpson, were the speakers.

Libby, a leader in the Tri-Hi-Y Club here outlined preparations necessary in naming representatives, senators and others from here. She also told what was involved in preparation of bills to be introduced, and then something of the early maneuvering in organizing the state government. Robert Angel, Big Spring Hi-Y president, was elected lieutenant governor, and he was succeeded by Glenn Rogers as president pro tempore of the Senate.

Wade gave Lions a glimpse of the workings of committees and of the House and Senate. Big Spring Lions arranged in committee and when they were reported out, the glut of the calendar prevented action on the floor, he said. His scrapbook was judged the best of any in the state. Glenn Rogers, although not one of the originally elected state officials, was runner up in competition for the outstanding boy officials. Wade told Lions.

Grover Good, executive secretary of the YMCA, spoke briefly in introducing the speakers. He stressed that the YMCA belonged to "all of you."

Administration Eyes Indochina In Concern

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration showed growing concern today over the situation in Indochina, where Communist-led rebels are pressing a new assault in a war that has dragged on for eight years.

President Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday he views the battle as critical in the sense that there is some lack of enthusiasm for it. Later he put out a clarifying statement—the first such expansion of a news conference remark since he took office a year ago.

The statement said he meant no reflection on the Indochinese who are combating communism. It said he referred to "a number of people in Indochina who have not committed themselves to the struggle."

The President's comments came against a backdrop of reports that France, bearing the brunt of the battle for the free world, is seeking 400 or more B26 attack bombers and mechanics to keep them flying. There also were reports from authoritative sources that at least a dozen C119 Flying Boxcars had been lent by the United States to the French in Indochina.

In Hong Kong yesterday Civil Air Transport, an American-owned airline which grew out of the volunteer Flying Tigers of China fame announced some of its American pilots, under contract with the French, would fly the U.S.-loaned C119s.

There was neither denial nor confirmation from the President, the Pentagon and the State Department on reports that some 125 U.S. Air Force technicians are at work in Indochina. These 125, it was said, are members of the Military Aid Assistance Group (MAAG) stationed there.

Eisenhower said he could not say whether members of the Indochina group are servicing planes. But one of its jobs, he added, is instructing in air.

The United States has sent 350 shiploads and hundreds of plane-loads of military aid to Indochina during the eight years of fighting. More than 800 million dollars has been earmarked as U.S. aid to the beleaguered French and native forces during the year which ends next June 30.

French Admit Loss Of Important Post

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—The French high command today conceded the loss of the important military post at Muong Ngoi, guarding the approaches to the royal Laotian capital of Luang Prabang.

The command said that forces of the Communist-led Vietminh rebels occupied the post in the Nam Hou River valley as part of their advance along a 60-mile front. Muong Ngoi is 65 miles northeast of Luang Prabang.

In the same drive, the Vietminh captured two other French forts, one at Muong Sai, about 60 miles northwest of Luang Prabang, and the other at Ban Nam Bac, about 60 miles north of Luang Prabang. Muong Sai was considered important because of its airstrip which the French could use as an auxiliary airfield.

The Vietminh were reported to be steadily advancing in the jungle despite the rain of bombs and napalm showered by French aircraft. Scores of refugees from the combat zone were streaming toward Luang Prabang.

Earlier, the French lifted their blackout curtain on northern Laos operations to disclose the establishment of an airlift to pump men and supplies into the threatened capital.

Lions Prepare For Minstrel

Lions are getting under way on their seventh annual Minstrel show.

Dates have been pegged on March 5-6, said Louis Carothers, general chairman of the 1954 minstrel.

Several specialty acts have been selected and already are rehearsing. End men have been selected and so far there are 21 who have joined the chorus.

"We are anxious to have anyone interested participate in the chorus," said Carothers. "This is not confined to club members and we welcome others who like to sing and who would like to have a part in the show."

Net proceeds go to various Lion welfare projects.

All rehearsals will be held at the Girl Scout Hut on Lancaster Street between 14th and 15th Streets. Time is 7 p. m. on Tuesday and Friday evenings from now until show time. Carothers stressed need for promptness so practice can be started on time, thus permitting those in the cast to attend other engagements they might have.

End men selected are Jack Y. Smith, Roy Worley, Cliff Fisher, Willis O. Underwood, Dr. Charles Deats and Byron Wolf. This year there will be a seventh and end man whose identity is not to be revealed until the curtain goes up.

Martin To Shoulder Task Of Fielding Club Here

Bobby (Pepper) Martin announced this morning he had shouldered the task of trying to bring professional baseball back to Big Spring. Martin said he had instructed the printer to prepare for him several hundred season tickets, which he hopes to have on sale as early as next Monday. The former manager of the Odessa Oilers, who gave that city two

Talk Catching

Yogi Berra, left, New York Yankee catcher visiting the Yankee's spring training club house in St. Petersburg, Fla., talks over catching problems with coach Bill Dickey who was elected to Baseball Hall of Fame this year. (AP Wirephoto).

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Confident that Big Spring and area people will support him if he fields a half-way decent baseball club, Bobby (Pepper) Martin has rolled up his sleeves and gone to work.

Between now and April 20, Pepper has mountains to move. He has to get Steer Park ready for play. He's got to gather in enough shekels between now and then to pay spring training expenses and, most important of all, he's got to assemble himself a ball club.

Pepper is new at this business of operating a ball club. There are more than a few who have told him he couldn't do it, because the $10,000 he had hoped for to see him through until the Longhorn League season began isn't in sight.

But, by penciling out an item here and there in his budget, Pepper figures he can make a go of it.

Martin can't afford to guess wrong on this venture. This isn't like fielding one of those slow rollers down third base that coasts in with a big hop.

The trail has been blazed, though. Pat Stasey proved the game could thrive here. In six years, he never lost money at the venture. Furthermore, Pat thinks Martin is just the party to breathe life into the corpse that curled up and died on Bill Frank and Company here the last few days of July, 1953.

As stated before, Pepper isn't well heeled and he has no angel to ease him over the rough spots. The drought is a year older and good times are supposed to be in the decline.

Still, he feels he has a veritable army of good wishers and go-gooders (if there is such a word) who will embrace the club as their own and help see him through.

Pepper wouldn't be embarking upon this new career if he didn't feel Longhorn League Prexy Harry James has every intention of keeping all the flock strictly within the salary limit.

"This is a C league and it's going to be operated as one," James has been quoted as saying. Maybe the man means what he says.

Professional baseball has a place here and in other area cities, if the operators don't go off the deep end. They're supposed to have seen the light and resolved to retrench. Whether they stick to those vows when the war of attrition begins is something else again.

While every one is wishing Pepper well here, all know that two chances are about all any city could expect in a venture like baseball. One more flop here and they can lay the body to rest for a long time to come.

For that matter, too, the league might suffer a mortal blow if Big Spring tries, and fails again. All eyes within the circuit will be upon us and all hearts with us.

This writer is confident that Martin can keep his head above water here, if any one can. He's a home-town product. He's controversial—which always helps in a controversial sport like baseball—and he's got a fighter's jaw and a fighter's wallop.

Pepper is no gimmick man. He hasn't the Bill Veack touch, nor does he seek it. He'll give us straight baseball, with perhaps a dash of Gas House Gang thrown in, but he'll depend mainly upon straight baseball to see him through.

That's the way it should be. Anytime the game can't sell itself, it might as well fold its tent and take its place with the dodo bird.

Martin is in a good position to win back the affections of local fans. It's ironic but true that we attach more significance and treat it more kindly, something we have almost lost and then regained again.

Martin plans to place his season tickets on sale next week. If the fans grab them up enthusiastically, he'll feel like he hasn't guessed wrong on the whole venture.

He'll offer them to the public for $45 a copy, which means the customer will be saving more than $7. Perhaps a fan doesn't plan to go every night but Pep says these ducks will be a fistful of ducks, you can call up the in-laws and ask them to be your guests at the ball park. Artesia saved the game with a season ticket drive. We can do it, too.

Bobby Thomson Inks Pact; Walker Cooper On Waivers

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ

NEW YORK (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, after recently obtaining Danny O'Connell from the Pittsburgh Pirates and then acquiring Bobby Thomson and Sam Calderone from the New York Giants, continued to hog the "hot stove league" spotlight today.

Thomson wasted little time in reaching a salary agreement yesterday by phone with General Manager John Quinn.

The best guess was that he would receive close to $35,000, which would make him one of Milwaukee's highest salaried players.

Veteran catcher Walker Cooper, a 13-year National League veteran, was placed on the waiver list by the Braves.

The New York Yankees didn't figure in any transactions, but Mickey Mantle's right knee was back in the news again. The 22-year-old outfielder underwent a knee operation in Springfield, Mo., and his physician advised that he would be ready for spring training if he doesn't try to do "too much, too soon."

The Brooklyn Dodgers brought their list of contented players for 1954 to 18 with the announcement that they had signed three more pitchers—Preacher Roe, Erv Palica and Ben Wade.

Other players who agreed to terms yesterday included: catcher Wes Westrum, second baseman Ron Samford, outfielder Ray Berns and first baseman Gail Harris; Giants: pitcher Bob Rush, Cubs: outfielder Jim Rivers, White Sox: infielder-outfielder Vic Power and pitcher Ed Monahan, Athletics: outfielders Hot Evers and Charles Maxwell, infielder Ted Lepcio and pitcher Bill Werle, Red Sox: outfielder Gene Hermanski and pitcher Cal Hogue and Vernon Thies, Pirates: pitcher Duane Pillette and Rocky Kramlich and pitcher Herm Wehmeier, Redlegs: outfielders Gil Coan and Kite Thomas and catcher Joe Tipton, Senators:

Longhorn League titlists in two years, said he had no partners in the venture and would depend entirely upon the sale of the season tickets to get him started here.

Revenue from such things as box seats, fence signs and the score card would be pro rated to him during the season, he added.

The season ticket, he disclosed, would retail for $45 each. It offers the customer a savings of $7.30. Martin will concentrate on the sale of the season tickets rather than appeal to the fans for donations, as is the custom in many cities.

"We're trying to bring baseball back here without an undue hardship on anyone," Martin stated.

"The season ticket may be the solution. It not only gives the fans a chance to feel like they're a part of the campaign and the club but will extend to them a chance to save on their tickets, as well.

"I want the fans to regard this team as 'our team,' rather than 'mine,'" he added. "I can't do it without their help. Big Spring belongs in the Longhorn League and I'll make every effort to see that they stay there."

He said he would go to work immediately toward building a team and already had a line on several players.

As for the club itself, he said he had designs on signing two pitchers and a hard-hitting outfielder as his other class-men. He said he would be a playing manager and would be available both as a third baseman and as a relief hurler.

He added the club would hold spring training at home and he planned to line up exhibitions with several WT-NM League clubs.

Lindbergh's Birthday
Sees Him News Again

Associated Press Aviation Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Charles A.
Lindbergh, half-forgotten for years is 52 today, and the birthday finds a re-awakened interest in the man, the enigma, the contradiction.

The younger generation, those who never knew the thrill of Lindbergh's solo flight from New York to Paris in 1927, is reading of his exploits in a magazine last year, a fuller version in book form has become a best seller. Reports are that the Lindbergh story has been sold to the films for more than a million dollars.

Only last week the man himself emerged from a Garbo-like seclusion of more than four years, made a rather unusual speech, smiled, shook hands and then retreated again to his Darion, Conn., home.

Lindbergh has managed to make himself so unknown to the public that he can—and does—go anywhere these days without being recognized.

Last week, for example, he and Mrs. Lindbergh walked into the Astor Hotel on New York's teen-ing Times Square, registered and went to their room, with no one giving them a second look.

He had come to address the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences, and to receive the institute's Daniel Guggenheim Award for
"pioneering achievements in flight and air navigation."

More than 2,000 persons assembled to hear the famed flier. But for his position, in the center of the head table, few would have recognized him. Even fewer were able to spot his wife.

For Lindbergh takes satisfaction that no "recognizable" photograph of him has been taken in more than seven years. He has told friends he was driven to avoid photographers after he and Mrs.
Lindbergh were followed about
New York in 1947 by rude and curious passers-by.

The pictures of Lindbergh most frequently reprinted were taken in the decade following his transatlantic flight.

The Lindbergh of today has a round, full, almost cherubic face.
He is stouter than of old, but not fat. His hair line has receded halfway back across the head.

Detroit-born, Minnesota-reared Charles Lindbergh took easily to fame, despite an inborn shyness, when it was thrust upon him on his arrival in Paris May 21, 1927.
His modest behavior in months of travel to many countries contributed to American prestige.

His courtship of Anne Morrow, their marriage in May 1929, the birth of their son Charles Jr. in 1930, were events the whole world read and talked about.

Then came the kidnapping and slaying of 21-month-old baby
Charles, the arrest and trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, and the retirement of the Lindberghs to England a few months before
Hauptmann's execution.

The Lindberghs endured their upon Pearl Harbor, he offered his services to the War Department, early in 1942 became an adviser at the Ford bomber plant. Later he advised the air services and flew combat missions in the Pacific.

Since the war he has made a number of trips as an Air Force adviser but has been seen in public rarely.

In his book "Of Light and Life," published in 1948, he embarked upon the "third cause" of his life.
He said his first was to preach the wonders of flight to all who would listen.

The second, before World War II, was to keep America "out of Europe's suicidal internal wars."

And now, he said, he believes that "if we do not control our action by a higher moral force, it will destroy us with its materialistic values, its rocket aircraft and its atom bombs."

In his speech last week he reiterated that spiritual theme.

"Short-term survival may depend on the knowledge of nuclear physicists and the performance of supersonic aircraft, but long-term survival depends alone on the character of man," he said.

"While we concentrate our attention on the tools of economics, and war, we must not neglect the basic means of surviving, the basic reason for survival, man himself."

Leading Colorado Demo Figure Dies

ALAMOSA, Colo. (AP)—William H. (Billy) Adams, 92, grand old man of the Democratic party in Colorado and the state's only three-time governor, died today. He had been bedridden in his hotel room here the past several months. In early manhood, Adams was a store clerk, cowboy, teamster and hay hand. He gradually acquired land and cattle until he became one of Colorado's most widely known cattlemen. He voluntarily retired in 1933 after serving six years as governor, 38 years as state senator, two years in the State House of Representatives, two years as Alamosa mayor and two years as county commissioner.

Marlon Brando Is Sick, Studio Told

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Twentieth Century-Fox studio officials say they have been notified by Marlon Brando's New York physician that the actor is "very sick and confused," and that he will not be able to fulfill his contract in the movie, "The Egyptian." The picture was to have started production yesterday but a postponement was announced until next Monday. Studio officials said they were attempting to reach Brando in the East and still have hopes of having him for the movie, a four million dollar enterprise.

Bar Candidates

R. N. Gresham, San Antonio, left, and E. V. Nichols, Fort Worth, have been nominated as candidates for president of the State Bar of Texas during 1954-55. Everett Looney, Austin, president of the State Bar, announced the nominations following a meeting of the directors in El Paso last weekend. Nichols currently is a vice president of the state unit, has been a member of the bar since 1929 and is a graduate of Baylor. Gresham, a tax attorney, has practiced in San Antonio since his graduation from the University of Texas in 1916.

Arizona Boasts Atomic Age Shangri-La In Deep Canyon

By JACK LEFLER
SUPAI, Ariz. (AP)—The modern world of atoms, taxes and war scares hardly casts a shadow in the deep, incredibly beautiful Havasupai Canyon near here. It's a veritable Garden of Eden where the peaceful Havasupai Indians live in tranquil isolation comparable to the storied Tibetan retreat of Shangri-la. It can be reached only by horseback over two twisting trails, one 14 miles long, the other eight. Both drop 2,800 feet from a plateau to Supai village. Three sides of Havasupai land are ringed by towering canyon walls. The fourth opens into the Grand Canyon at the edge of the Colorado River. The Havasupai have lived in their canyon home for hundreds of years. The first white man to visit them was an exploring priest, Padre Garcia, who descended into the gorge in 1776. He found it a lush garden of shimmering cottonwood trees, meadows, cultivated patches and cascading waterfalls. The canyon took its name, Havasu, from the blue-green, lime-impregnated waters which have painted the boulders over which cataract creek flows. Pal means people in the Indians' language. Through all the years since Padre Garcia discovered the canyon dwellers, the white man's hand has fallen lightly on the Havasupai. Only four outsiders live among them today. They are the Indian service agent and his wife, a bachelor schoolteacher and a woman missionary.

The circuits will travel on microwave beams between relay towers. The company hopes to have the first portion ready for service by late summer. Iron is about four per cent of the earth's crust.

Decision Due On Boys Held In Shooting

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—The county juvenile board meets tomorrow to decide what to do with two 16-year-old boys held for investigation in the death of another teen-ager. Thomas Dearing, 13, of Collinsville, Okla., was shot to death in a hotel room here Monday. Tommy Thomason and Raymond Eaton, both of Tennessee, told police the three were arguing over money taken from an Arkansas filling station. Thomason said he was holding a gun and, as Dearing grabbed for it, the gun went off. Juvenile Officer J. W. McCormick has said he would ask the board to hold the pair in jail here until they become 17 and could be tried for murder. Eaton will be 17 July 2 and Thomason on Dec. 17. The board is composed of three district judges and the county judge.

Indian Burial Ground?

James Bruce Frazier, HCJC instructor, and two youths who found an ancient skull, make a further investigation of a draw east of Big Spring in search of an Indian burial ground. Left to right are Ronnie Phillips, Newlin James and Frazier.

Search Revived For Indian Burial Site

When an ancient skull and several bones were uncovered just east of Big Spring recently, it revived talk of a possible Indian graveyard in the area.

But so far the graveyard, if there is one, has not been found.

The skull and bones were dug out of the ground near the site of what amateur archeologists call an old Indian village. This accounts in large measure for the burial ground theory.

One of the strongest advocates of the Indian burial ground idea is James Bruce Frazier, natural scientist and teacher at Howard County Junior College. He believes there must be such a graveyard around the city somewhere.

The bones were found about two weeks ago by Ronnie Phillips and Newlin James, two high school students who were looking for arrow heads. They were digging in a draw just off Beale's Creek on land owned by D. D. Crawford when the bones were uncovered. The draw is about half a mile south of Highway 80 just in front of Cosden Refinery.

On the south side of the draw is a large mesa which Frazier says was at one time an old Indian village. This mesa has steeply sloped sides on the west and is separated from Big Spring by the creek.

Both the village and the spot where the bones were found are some three miles east of Big Spring. The draw in which Phillips and James found the bones is about 30 feet deep, and it is filled with many years accumulation of trash in the extreme east end.

The skull was the first item spotted by the boys while they were digging. It was about 10 feet from the top of the embankment in a little gully which had been washed out. Digging further they found a tibia (leg bone). Frazier heard of the discovery.

got in touch with the boys, and did a little digging himself. He and the two youths found several other chest bones in the spot where the skull and tibia were uncovered.

Although Frazier has dug up quite a bit of soil in the area, no other bones have been found.

Since the dirt in which the bones were found was slightly darker than the top soil around the draw, it is Frazier's belief that the bones washed up to the spot where they were found at some time when Beale Creek overflowed.

This means that if there is a burial ground in the area it must be at a lower level than on the mesa where the village was located and at a lower level than the spot the bones were found.

Frazier says the skull appears to be quite old, but it is still in good condition. He believes it belonged to an Indian because of the teeth, which have been ground down in front. The Junior College teacher says the Indian was possibly killed by a tomahawk blow, as the mid-part of the skull has been caved in.

That the mesa above the spot where the bones were found was an Indian village is almost definite, Frazier says that arrow heads and other Indian relics have been found there for many years. Discovery of the skull marks the first time any Indian bones have been uncovered here, Frazier says. He believes that in the future the soil will yield other secrets which will lead to discovery of a burial ground.

If a burial ground is ever found, quite a bit of information can be learned concerning the Indians that used to live around the "big spring." Reason for this, Frazier explains, is that the Indians' possessions were buried with them on death.

Social Security Benefits Go To 3,400 In Area

At the end of 1953—the 17th year age and survivors insurance payments of about $117,000 in monthly benefits were going to 3,400 persons in the 18-county area served by the Odessa social security office, according to an estimate released by Jack Calvert, manager.

In September of 1950 the Congress enacted an amendment to the law which greatly expanded the scope of the program. At that time only three million people were getting benefits. The number has just about doubled in the last 3-year period. Calvert pointed out, having reached 5,970,000 by year's estimate made in December.

Since the program was originally designed to give a measure of protection to the nation's aged people, Calvert says it is significant to note that about 40 per cent of all aged persons who are without income from employment or self-employment are now getting old-age and survivors payments. The number of such beneficiaries nationwide shows an increase of almost 600,000 since the close of 1952.

Social security program is financed from taxes paid employees and employers, which amounted to $4 billion in 1953 as against expenditures of $3 billion. SS taxes go into a trust fund and only expenditures are for paying benefits or administration. Unused funds are invested in U. S. Government bonds, which last year returned $400 million in interest to the fund, now $18 1/2 billion.

Calvert stated that during the year 1953, the Odessa social security office received 1,240 claims for old-age or survivors insurance benefits; issued 4,561 original social security cards to persons that had never before had cards and 3,701

'Informalities' Are Over In Court Room

Modern facilities in Howard County's new courthouse have signaled the end of some "informalities" that existed in the old building.

District Judge Charlie Sullivan has prepared a list of rules to govern decorum in the District Court Room. Most of the new rules apply principally to members of the bar, and the local bar association has wholeheartedly endorsed the list.

However, the first rule applies to spectators as well as those involved in court work, and it has been enforced rigidly since the new court room was first occupied. It prohibits smoking anywhere in the court room.

In fact Judge Sullivan announced his intentions to invoke the "no smoking" rule when construction was first started on the new building. He had observed that plans for the new building called for cork floor covering in the District Court Room, and also had noted that smoking was prohibited in the more modern courthouses in other counties.

"We have a fine place to hold court, which means that the members of the bar have a fine place to practice, the jurors have a fine place to serve and spectators have a fine place to accommodate them, and I believe we should take care of it," Judge Sullivan said.

The other rules, as outlined by Judge Sullivan and endorsed by the bar association, are for members of the bar exclusively.

They are as follows: Please wear your coats. Please keep your feet on the floor and not on the furniture. Please remain within the railing provided during voir dire examination of jury panels.

Please remain seated while interrogating witnesses, except when handing exhibits to a witness, or when making reference to exhibits; when finished please return to your seat immediately. During the trial of any case in

Uranium Claims In Utah Are Purchased

DENVER (AP)—Purchase of 10 uranium claims adjacent to the Charles Steen holdings in Utah's San Juan County by a group of Texas, Indiana and Colorado men was disclosed today.

A. K. Swan of Evansville, Ind., an attorney for the group, told a reporter "the total consideration will involve in excess of $600,000." One of the claims, Swan said, borders the Mi Vida claim from which Steen recently said $2,400,000 worth of ore was dug last year.

In the 10-claim deal was Roger L. Bauman of Dallas, oilman. He added the holdings are close to the Big Buck claims bought for two million dollars recently by a group including Lucien Cullen, Houston, Tex., oil man.

which you are participating please do not leave the court room without permission of the court: in other words, when one attorney is examining a witness or prospective juror or arguing, co-counsel, as well as opposing counsel will please remain in their seats, except when making objections.

Please obtain permission when you desire to approach the bench. Please avoid side-bar remarks. Judge Sullivan said he felt that the rules would enhance respect for the bar as well as the bench, and he is confident that the rules will result in more orderly procedure in the court and help protect the new court room and its facilities.

Westminster Choir Slated For Appearance In Midland

The famed Westminster Choir will appear on Feb. 12, at 8:00 p.m. in the Midland High School Auditorium. This year makes the 31st season this distinguished concert group of 40 voices has been before the concert public.

The Westminster Choir was first organized to serve as the volunteer choir of the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Dayton, Ohio.

Though the choir retains the name it had in its affiliation with this church, it is no longer a church choir, but the touring concert unit of Westminster Choir College in Princeton, N. J. John Finley Williamson, founder and conductor of the choir, is also founder and president of the Westminster Choir College.

The highly-trained personnel of the group is selected from the college student body of 300. Since the initial tour in 1921, the Westminster Choir has sung throughout the United States, Cuba and Canada, made European tours in 1929 and 1934 which included England, Scotland, 13 countries on the continent and Russia. It has made over 125 orchestral appearances in the past 13 years with many of the nation's outstanding symphony orchestras.

Dr. Williamson was in his youth a promising young baritone at Otterbein College but a throat operation ended his singing career. He turned, however, to choral directing and achieved startling success.

Jimmy Lee Pitts, young Big Spring vocalist, was a member of the Westminster Choir before her graduation a year ago.

The appearance in Midland is being sponsored by the First Methodist and First Christian Church choirs. There will be an admission charge in order to defray the choir's expenses.

Next Of Kin May Obtain U.S. Flags

Next of kin of soldiers officially declared dead after having been listed as missing in Korea may now obtain a flag of the United States at the nearest Veterans Administration office or post office.

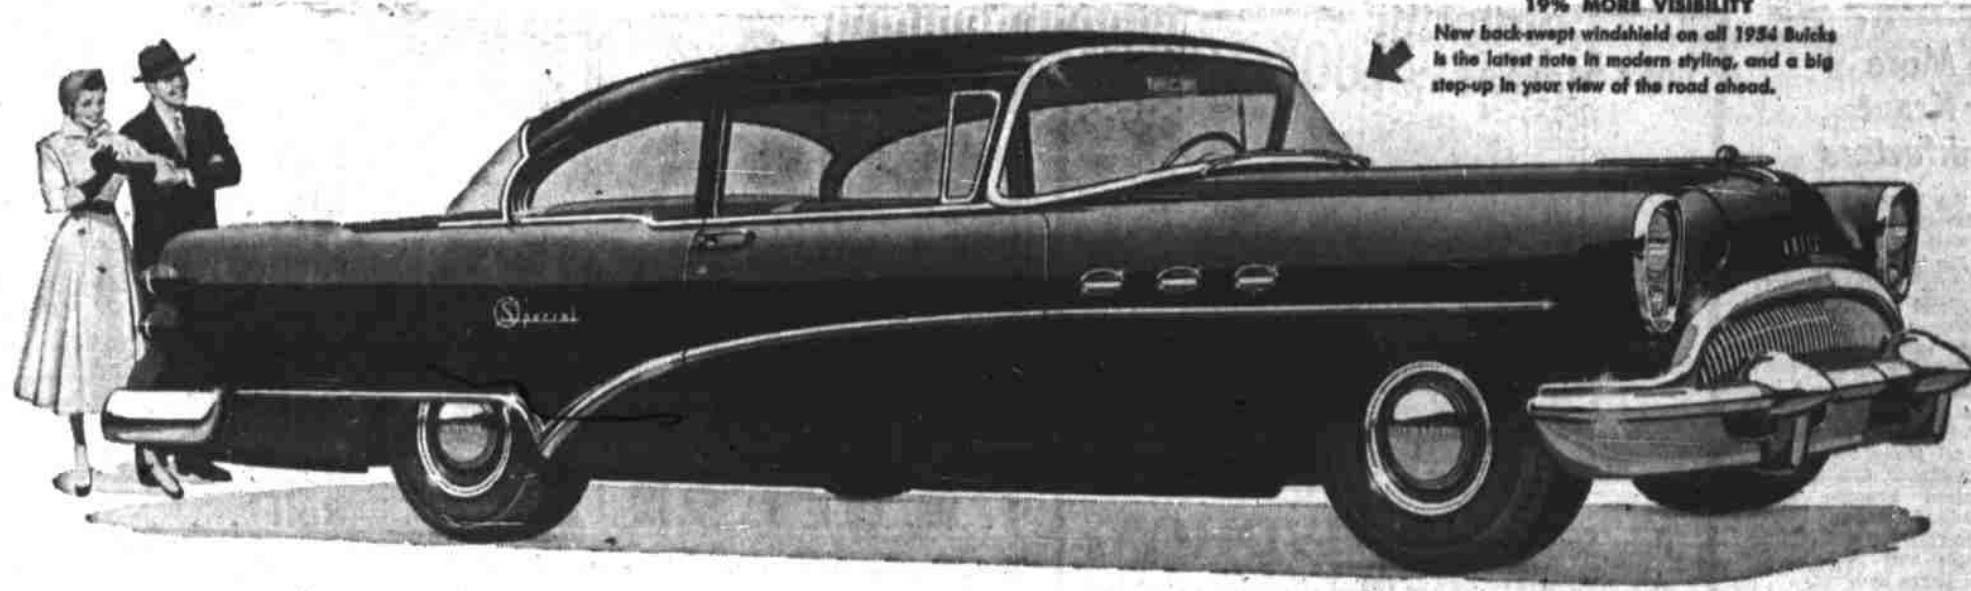

According to a Fourth Army headquarters announcement, a copy of the official notification of death must be presented at the time a flag is requested.

Next of kin are entitled to flags when military personnel are buried outside the United States. When death occurs in the United States, or remains are returned to the United States for interment, the military service normally supplies a flag.

Federal directives state that a flag may be obtained at VA offices or post offices whenever a flag cannot be supplied by the military service in time for burial.

Here Are More Ideas For Kraut And Frankfurters

February is the month for paying tribute to favorites. Two great presidents as well as the special person in your life traditionally are honored this month. Another favorite receiving official recognition is the popular dinner combination, frankfurters and sauerkraut. This year during National Kraut and Frankfurter Week (February 4 to 11), you'll find many grocers featuring specials on this twosome. Here are several ideas for kraut and frankfurter dinner dishes:

1. Kraut-stuffed Franks: Mix kraut with shredded cheese and season lightly with caraway seed. Pile into split franks and heat in a moderate oven. Serve in buns.
2. Frankfurter and Kraut Skillet Special: Season kraut with caraway seed, brown sugar, a little chopped onion and some chopped tart apple. Cook over low heat until apples are tender, then add frankfurters and heat.

Out-Of-This World Lobster Chowder Can Be A Meal

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

A hostess trick from a famous cook book author! Irma Rombauer, the distinguished and charming author of "The Joy of Cooking" (Bobbs-Merrill), has been visiting in New York City, and while I was cooking dinner for her at my house one night, she let me in on one of her own secrets. Mrs. Rombauer lives in St. Louis and has a small country house in the Ozark foothills. It's in the country that she has lots of company during weekends; it's there, she says, that she finds it a big help to serve soup as a first course. She ladles it into cups and brings it to her guests—before they sit down to table—on a tray. Then as they are enjoying this, she says, she has time to put the last touches on the main course and get it ready to be brought to the table as soon as she has seated her guests. This is, of course, a fine idea for the hostess who has to be cook and waitress, too.

That conversation started us on an Ode to Soup. Mrs. Rombauer and I are both devoted to this good course, and we agree that a hearty and delicious soup is a wonderful main dish for a company lunch or Sunday night supper. You can serve a salad after it, if you like. Or you can follow it with an assortment of cheese, offered—as they do in France—with crusty bread and sweet butter.

It goes without saying that a substantial dessert should follow a soup meal. A good choice would be a favorite of Irma Rombauer's—nut cake.

If you like the idea of an easy-to-get soup meal, we urge you to try this Lobster Chowder. Our taster-testers were enthusiastic about its combination of flavors.

FRENCH DRESSING ILLINOIS STYLE

Ingredients:
1 can tomato soup
1 cup salad oil
1 cup vinegar
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon (or 1 1/2 teaspoon) salt
1 teaspoon paprika
Method:
The mixing is easy. Merely combine all the ingredients and beat with a rotary beater, or better still, with an electric mixer. If you like, a little grated onion can be added; this is especially good on string-bean salad. This salad dressing doesn't separate and keeps beautifully.

1 1/2 cups water
1 small bay leaf
One 10-ounce package frozen mixed vegetables (defrosted)
One 3-ounce can chopped broiled mushrooms
1 tablespoon cornstarch
One 8-ounce can tomato sauce
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
One 6 1/2 - ounce can rock lobster
Method:
Melt butter in saucepan over moderate heat. Add onion and celery; cook 5 minutes, stirring often. Add water, bay leaf and contents of package of defrosted vegetables. Cover and bring to boil. Cook until vegetables are barely tender, from 5 to 10 minutes. Remove bay leaf. Drain mushrooms, reserving broth. Mix mushroom broth with cornstarch until smooth; add to saucepan, stirring constantly until liquid thickens. Add drained mushrooms, tomato sauce, milk, salt and pepper. Coarsely flake lobster and add. Heat slowly to serving temperature; do not boil. Simmer a few minutes and serve. Makes 4 generous servings.

During this sale grocers carrying Morton's fine food products are authorized to give an 8-ounce jar of Morton's Bestyett Honey with each purchase of a 30-cent bag of Morton's Potato Chips. Another two-for-one offer during the anniversary sale is an 8-ounce

During the year, the Bestyett line of food products was added to the Morton line through the merging of the Vinnedge-Bestyett Company and Morton Foods. This gives Morton Foods three modern food processing and distributing plants in Dallas, Fort Worth, and Lubbock. Lubbock operations recently moved into a new, modern plant completed the latter part of 1953. The Morton-Bestyett line includes potato chips, twisters, salad dressing, sandwich spread, mayonnaise, syrup, honey, tea, coffee, tamales, chili blend and numerous other food products.

MRS. OTIS GRAFA JR. AND MICHELE
... an apple for that "yummy" French apple pie

Pie Recipe Comes Via Mother-In-Law

Mrs. Otis Grafa Jr., 802 W. 17th, thanks her mother-in-law for a tasty apple pie recipe. Mrs. Grafa Jr. says she always adopts the recipes that her mother-in-law has success with because that's a guarantee they're good.

This French Apple Pie recipe whets the appetites of her whole family, young Mrs. Grafa says. It's the one thing that pleases them all.

Michele and Michael are the Grafa children and Mrs. Grafa calls them "a full time job." But somewhere between caring for them and her charming early American house she sandwiches in P-TA work, teaching a Sunday school class at the First Baptist Church and membership in a bridge club.

Here's her recipe that she promises is quick and simple.

FRENCH APPLE PIE

Ingredients:
4 apples (cut up)
1 tablespoon butter
4 tablespoons water
2-3 cup white sugar

Method:
Arrange apples in loaf pan, sprinkle sugar, water and cut-up butter over apples. Put in 350 F oven.

Then mix:
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
1 cup flour

Cream together. Then remove apples from oven and spread this mixture on top. Bake in a slow oven until brown. Pecans may be added to flour mixture if preferred. This pie can be served with or without cream.

Heed These Hints For Gravy-Making

Half the enjoyment of a roast for dinner is the rich brown gravy to serve over whipped or oven browned potatoes. To get best results, it's important to know a few basic facts about gravy making:

1. Meats which are cooked to the well-done stage—pork loin roasts, beef pot roasts, veal rump roasts—yield more gravy than roasts cooked rare to medium—rib roast of beef.
2. Most of the fat must be poured from the drippings before you start to make gravy; otherwise the gravy will be greasy.
3. The amount of flour for thickening depends upon the amount of brown drippings in the bottom of the pan. If there are only a few, as in the case of rare rib roast, carefully spoon off all but about two tablespoons of fat, stir in two tablespoons of flour and slowly add one cup of water, stirring constantly. If gravy is not meaty enough in flavor, add a little meat extract or a bouillon cube or two. Pork loin roast usually yields at least two cups of gravy.

Registration Reforms Needed In More Than Single Direction

April 1 is the deadline for registering motor vehicles in Texas, and tax collectors are urging motorists to be forthcoming and avoid the last-minute rush. Long queues of procrastinating motorists usually infest courthouse corridors during the last days of March.

D. T. Harkrider, director of the motor vehicle division, announced there would be vigorous enforcement of this law this year. He points out that a county is allowed to keep half the registration fee up to a total of $175,000. This enables about 25 counties, thanks to the traffic in illegal registrations, to profit at the expense of their neighbor counties.

Power To Conceal Still Strong Despite New Order Imposition

Our Washington scouts inform us that although President Eisenhower's new security information order has been in effect six weeks, it has had no noticeable effect on the freer flow of news. This bears out predictions freely made at the time—that the new order would have little effect in loosening up tight sources of public information.

Estimates of the number of subversives among the 2,200 dismissals range from none to 90 per cent, the latter figure being Senator McCarthy's. Nobody really knows, but a lot of people would like to find out. So far press representatives have got nothing but the runaround, and there seems to be no way to get a positive answer unless Congress itself takes a hand.

Washington Calling—Marquis Childs Clarification Of Records On Security Risk Firings Needed

WASHINGTON — If the White House intends, as is now reported, to give out a breakdown explaining the reasons for the dismissal of 2,200 government employees fired as "security risks" last year, it will end a situation that has become acutely embarrassing for the Administration.

government jobs since the President assumed office." Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield used the 2,200 figure to talk about "security risks (who) are no longer using your tax money" and in a following sentence declared that, "somehow I do not feel too amiably inclined toward people who make treason a preoccupation."

Car Wreck Gives Joy

"Now, Don't Be Shocked"

The World Today — James Marlow Eisenhower Busy Guarding Presidential Front Yard In Bricker Plan Controversy

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is like a man who needs the help of his neighbors at harvest time and has to be careful he doesn't make them mad when they get a notion to trample his flower bed.

He could run them off with a shotgun when they come trooping into his front yard, heading for the flowers. But then they might not come when he called them to get the crops in.

He chose a more moderate course, making it impossible for anyone to say he was unreasonably stubborn. He said he'd compromise, that if the senators really thought some kind of amendment was needed he wouldn't object to one that said no treaty could override the Constitution.

President Has Sound Basis For His Medical Re-Insurance Plan

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

A few reasons why President Eisenhower's medical "re-insurance" plan, or the one proposed by former President Truman, should be put in operation: Illness costs Americans about $10,250,000,000 per year.

Today And Tomorrow—Walter Lippmann

Regime's First Year Points Up Advantage Of Flexible Policies

The story of the first year, as told in the President's Economic Report, is a strong argument against letting policy become frozen. In fact, it would not be going too far to say that the most serious question which hangs over the current contraction is whether the Administration will be able to carry out "flexible policies" if and when they are needed.

In this connection it is important that we understand the hypothesis on which, according to the report, the Administration is now acting. It is that the slight decrease in production, the small increase of unemployment, and the other symptoms of contraction reflect "primarily a decline in the rate of inventory accumulation," especially of consumer durable goods.

The history of the Administration's economic policy during 1953 is a strong and concrete illustration of why "flexibility" is needed, and of how it works. The report shows that when the Administration took office it believed that we were entering "a new phase of inflation" but that by the late spring various agencies, some sooner and some a little later, realized that they were dealing with "depressive tendencies."

This optimistic outcome is not predicted in the report, and cannot be counted upon certainly. That is because the outlook for consumer spending is uncertain. Fixed obligations of consumers are now very high. What with installment buying, insurance premiums, rents, the cost of operating homes, fixed obligations took up about 30 per cent of consumer expenditures last year.

coffee too high? try tea

Don't misunderstand us. We like Folgers, Maryland Club, Maxwell House and the other famous brands. We like the folks who pack these fine coffees. But we've reached our limit. The price of coffee is too high. We just don't have the heart to encourage you to buy it. We firmly believe in the "tried and true" law of supply and demand - If there is less demand, the price comes down.

We assure you of this: we make no more money on coffee now than we did when it was 30 or 40 cents a pound cheaper. We sincerely hope, along with you, that the price of coffee soon returns to "normalcy." Until then - TRY TEA AND SAVE!

Merchants Doubtful Tax Slash Would Boost Trade Immediately

By CLIFTON LAWHORNE
 Local merchants are of the opinion that business in Big Spring would not be stimulated by any cut in Federal excise (sales) taxes.

All agree that the consumer and retailer will experience a savings, however, if the proposal for such a cut is passed. Most dealers here are in favor of the tax slash.

The tax is now levied on luxury items and toilet preparations. In most instances the sales tax totals 20 per cent of the selling price. In rare cases only a 10 per cent tax is levied.

The cut was proposed in the House of Representatives by Speaker Joe Martin. Although there has been no organized support or opposition from this area, active interest has been expressed all over the nation.

Many merchants over the country favor the cut in excise taxes on the grounds that it will stimulate business.

Big Spring merchants discount the business stimulation theory, however.

"People aren't going to run out and purchase a lot of items just because the tax is cut," one dealer said. "Such a cut would be permanent, and customers would buy the items as they needed them."

Several merchants here did point out that if a depression was in progress that such a cut would stimulate business. "With times as prosperous as they are, people buy items without thinking of the tax," a retailer explained. In fact, most retailers think that people are used to the excise taxes now. "We seldom have anyone to say anything about the taxes any more," one man said. "A number of people used to gripe."

Local merchants also pointed out that the tax brings in a lot of revenue for the government. Some are of the opinion that if the sales tax is reduced that some other tax will be increased to compensate for the loss. Jewelry items would be heavily affected by any tax reduction. It has been estimated here that 99 per cent of all jewelry items are subject to sales taxes. Most of the items are taxed 20 per cent. Watches priced under $17.50 are taxed only 10 per cent, however.

When jewelry prices are sold, the dealer usually includes the tax. Consequently the customers in the majority of cases do not know how much they are being taxed. If excise taxes were cut, dealers explain that jewelry items would show attractively decreased prices. Jewelry costing $120 now would cost only $110 if a 10 per cent cut in the tax were effected.

But when it comes to purchasing cosmetics, luggage and hand bags, the price and the tax are quoted separately. Consequently a cut in tax would not mean that dealers could quote a lower selling price. Overall costs would be lower, though.

Big Spring merchants say many of the "luxury" items taxed now are actually "necessities" so far as modern families are concerned. This accounts in large measure for the opinion that sales will not be affected one way or another in case of a tax cut.

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday vetoed three bills to permit coinage of commemorative 50-cent pieces.

He contended that commemorative coins tend to create confusion among the public, facilitate counterfeiting, and detract from the fundamental function of coins as a medium of exchange.

The vetoes, first of this session of Congress, were returned against bills to authorize issuance of a million 50-cent pieces to celebrate the tercentennial celebration of the founding of Northampton, Mass., 2½ million coins in honor of the 150th anniversary of the Louisiana Purchase, and five million coins commemorating the tercentennial of the founding of the City of New York.

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP)—A 35-year-old Negro gunman said to have broken up a party in Cleveland a year ago by killing his wife and another woman and shooting two bystanders was put on the FBI's list of "10 Most Wanted Fugitives" today.

He is Apepe Hamp Chapman, who was being hunted for an $11,000 payroll robbery in Philadelphia at the time of the Cleveland affray.

The FBI described him as "a cop-hater," reputedly habitually armed with a knife and automatic.

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP)—The City Welfare Department ruled Wednesday that the "Strike It Rich" radio-TV program requires a license from the department. It held that the program constitutes public solicitation on behalf of persons in need.

Welfare Commissioner Henry L. McCarthy said yesterday 55 of the families that came to New York to appear on the program had wound up on city relief rolls.

The program is sponsored by Colgate-Palmolive-Peet. The networks and the sponsor declined immediate comment on the Welfare Department ruling.

A Welfare Department spokesman said there was no charge for a license, but that the department practice was to issue one only after making an investigation. Length of the investigation depends on the individual agency case.

THE SPRINGBOARD

News From Webb Air Force Base
 By A-2C FERD BORSCH

EDUCATION

Webb's enrollment under "Operation Bootstrap" at Howard County Junior College is expected to crack the 100 mark for the spring term according to the Education Office.

Registration will remain open at the Education Office in Building T-48 until Saturday noon.

A total of 104 officers and airmen attended the fall-winter term just completed at HCJC.

SHORT STORY

All Air Force personnel on active duty are eligible to enter the third annual AF-wide short story contest now in progress.

Stories submitted will not exceed 6,000 words. Manuscripts will be typewritten (double spaced) on 8 by 10½ inch paper only.

Complete rules for the contest, which closes March 31 at Webb, will be distributed at squadron level.

TELEVISION

Webb is scheduled to make its official debut on television later this month.

Called "Silver Wings" and accenting the Air Force aviation cadet program, this show will be produced over KMD-TV in Midland.

In addition to an explanation of the aviation cadet program by the 207th Aviation Cadet Selection Team, Webb talent will be featured on the show.

Personnel with entertainment background who would like to appear on the teevee show should see A-2C H. G. Harris at the Information Office in Wing Headquarters.

WEBB STORY

The January 23 edition of the Army-Navy-Air Force Journal featured a page one lead story by Colonel Fred M. Dean, base commander.

Under the heading of "For National Defense" Colonel Dean explained the mission of Webb Air Force Base.

In describing Webb's progress since re-activation, Col. Dean covered jet training in Texas dust, aid given to the NATO program, good community relations achieved, and the many problems confronted and overcome in the course of operating a jet fighter pilot school.

CONSTRUCTION
 Webb's construction program, recently focused on the base chapel and theater projects, has extended to the flight line ramp and adjacent area.

On the south end of the ramp an extension of the refueling area is now in progress. When completed, this can also be used for transient aircraft parking.

Also an extension to the ramp is under construction on the south end of the flight line.

On the north end of the ramp a new access is under construction leading to the parking area on the northeast end of the ramp and an access taxiway is being widened.

CLERK-STENOGRAPHERS
 A need for civilian clerk-stenographers still exists at Webb, according to W. A. Farrow, Civilian Personnel Officer. Persons interested in these positions must fill out form 5000-AB available at the Post Office or at the Civilian Personnel Office in Building T-48.

Wage scale is $2,950 per year.

COLONEL HAGINS
 Colonel Newton D. Hagins, commander of Maintenance and Supply Group, was one of a group of 96 U. S. Air Force senior officers and high-ranking civilians who completed the Air Force Manpower Management Training Program at George Washington University in Washington, D. C., last week.

The class included 90 officers, ranging in rank from lieutenant colonel to brigadier general, and six civilians.
