12-Ounce Baby Dies Tuesday

CHICAGO (UPI) — The death Tuesday of premature, 12-ounce infant Gloria Hanses marked a loss by medical science to nature's birth regimen.

The record now stands at 1-1. Only hours before the baby's death at 1 p.m. in Swedish Covenant Hospital, the only other recorded 12-ounce baby to survive—now a pretty 22-year-old school teacher—comforted Gloria's mother.

Doctors pronounced the incubator-enclosed baby dead at 1:40 p.m. When Mrs. Hanses heard the news, a hospital spokesman said, "She took it calmly. She was somewhat expecting it. She was a major problem—feeding the 10 inch baby—appearing more than a half day before she died. The 24-hour team of physicians had inserted a tube through the baby's mouth to her stomach and were feeding her eight drops of sugar water regularly every two hours. It was the only nourishment she had received since birth.

Physical surroundings and facilities for the 53-hour, 58-minute battle were as near perfect as humanly possible. An alert nurse rushed the baby to an incubator when the first spark of life showed.

Covered by a diaper, Gloria kicked and squirmed in 88-degree controlled temperature, but did not open her eyes. All visitors were barred, and her mother saw the infant only briefly.

"She was just like a little kitten," a nurse said, "You could hold her right in the palm of your hand."

Gloria was born nearly four months early, after Mrs. Hanses suffered a fall Christmas Eve down two flights of stairs. Her husband, Philip, took the mother of two other children to the hospital when he returned home.

Hospital spokesmen could not pinpoint a specific reason for the infant's death.

"She was just not developed enough to keep going," they said.

Allies Want Talks On Berlin

But Won't Yield To Soviet Threat

LONDON (UPI) — The United States, Britain and France today invited Russia to discuss the Berlin question in the wider framework of a German settlement and of European security.

The West also firmly rejected as unacceptable the substitution of the East German Communist regime for the Soviet government's responsibilities towards the West.

The Western notes, fully backed by the NATO alliance, left the door open to Russia for a climb-down from her Nov. 27 Berlin ultimatum, however.

The notes told Moscow that the Western governments "could not embark on discussions with the Soviet government upon these questions under menace."

"It is assumed that this is not the purpose of the Soviet note of Nov. 27, and that the Soviet government, like themselves, is ready to enter into discussions in an atmosphere devoid of coercion or threats."

The notes invited Russia to make her views known on this point "at an early date."

They made it clear at the same time that the West still stands by its demand for a solution of the German problem by free all-German elections and free decisions for an all-German government, or any other proposals "genuinely designed to insure the reunification of Germany in freedom, in any appropriate form."

They also underlined that they regard the solution of the German problem as essential if a lasting settlement in Europe is to be achieved.

These Western views were sent out earlier in notes to the Soviet of Sept. 30, 1958. Today's notes specifically referred to these Western conditions for a German settlement, and reminded the Soviets that it has not yet replied to them.

Most Pampa Stores Will Be Closed

Most Pampa stores will be closed Thursday as New Year's Day is one of the six major holidays set up by the Merchants Activities Committee, Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

Lucian Young, MAC chairman, notes that a few stores, such as cafes and drug stores will remain open.

Rebels Lay Siege To Strategic City

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY United Press International

HAVANA (UPI) — A life or death struggle for the central Cuban city of Santa Clara raged today. Informed sources here said the rebels still were unable to crack government defense lines, after four days of bitter fighting.

Wild rumors circulated in Havana, but Cuban army sources said the rebels had barely been able to penetrate the outskirts of Santa Clara, the capital of the province of Las Villas at Cuba's narrow waist.

Within the city itself, the army said, there was only sniping but on the city's outskirts the rebel and government forces were engaged in frequent and heavy fighting, with both sides suffering heavy casualties.

Foreign diplomatic sources in Havana said they had heard "rumors" of an estimated 1,500 rebel casualties, but they said this referred to fighting throughout Las Villas Province and not in Santa Clara alone.

Key Communications Center Cuban army authorities said they were not worried by the status of the fighting there.

Cuban officials described as "highly exaggerated" reports abroad that thousands had died in the fight for the city.

The rebel radio claimed that more than 300 government troops had deserted to the insurgents in the fighting for Santa Clara. But another rebel broadcast said the attempt to capture Santa Clara, a city of 150,000 and a key communications center in central Cuba, had developed into a "life or death struggle."

Santa Clara is the capital of Las Villas Province at the waist of central Cuba and its capture by the rebels would cut the island in two and seal off Havana from the rich farmlands there and in Oriente Province in the extreme eastern end of Cuba.

The rebel radio stations also reported major rebel victories in Oriente Province, some of the main rebel hideouts, and said the army garrison at Guantanamo site of the U.S. naval base, had surrendered to rebel forces.

There was no confirmation of the report but early reports from Oriente said the army was pulling out from the small outlying garrisons to the major cities to prevent their being picked off by numerically superior rebel forces.

The blazing battle for Santa Clara continued to dominate the war news out of Cuba but there were a series of other major developments.

could be a "model" for unionized police forces.

Kennedy scoffed at Feinstein's assurance police would never be called on to strike.

"Does anyone seriously believe an outfit like this, after starting with picketing, would hesitate to strike to get what they want?" he said.

"If the police are unionized I would advise people not to waste their money paying a commissioner his salary because Hoffa, not the commissioner, would be in fact head of the Police Department."

Recalls Boston Strike Kennedy recalled the 1919 strike of Boston police when the city was terrorized for five days as hoodlums roamed the streets and citizens hid in their homes.

The New York force, whose annual wages total about 130 million dollars are now represented largely by the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association with a membership of about 18,000. The group can present grievances informally but they cannot participate in collective bargaining. Joining a union is grounds for dismissal.

Cuban Cops Grab Teachers

MIAMI (UPI)—Two vacationing Louisville, Ky., schoolteachers who were yanked from an airliner and held overnight by Cuban police arrived here Tuesday night on route home to Kentucky, Delta Airline officials disclosed today.

The men were James W. Reid, 38, a native of Scranton, Pa., and Larry F. Brantley, 22, teachers in the Waggener High School in Louisville. Both went into seclusion on their arrival here and could not be reached immediately.

The men were placed under arrest Sunday as their plane stopped over in Havana on a flight from Montego Bay, Jamaica, to New Orleans. Fellow passengers said they were seized and roughed up by Cuban police after they had chatted at the airport about the Cuban revolution.

Cuban police said they were arrested because of their "drunken, abusive, loud talk" which indicated they might be agents of rebel leader Fidel Castro, but fellow passengers denied the men were drunk or abusive.

United Fund Meeting Set

Directors of the Pampa-Lefors United Fund will hold their annual meeting Jan. 8, E. E. Sheahan, president, has announced. The purpose of the meeting will be to elect new directors and officers and review the 1957-58 fund campaign.

Clinton Evans, Nominating Committee chairman, is expected to present a slate of nominations for approval of the board of directors. Five new directors are to be elected for three year terms. Another director will be elected to fill the unexpired term of H. V. McCorkle.

Directors will also elect a secretary, two vice presidents, a secretary and a treasurer.

Serving with Evans on the nominating committee are C. P. Buckler and Ivy Duncan.

Clyde Dickerson, general campaign chairman, is slated to report on the recent fund drive which has netted about $54,000 for the United Fund.

Fire Destroys Original Cabot Office Building

Fire late Tuesday night destroyed a one-story office building owned and operated by the Cabot Carbon Co., Pampa plant.

The sheet-iron constructed building, three miles southwest of Pampa, was an original Cabot building built in 1928.

SNOW STILL COATS PANHANDLE

Frigid Weather Hangs On

There were icy streets and roads deep into Central Texas and far into East Texas. A freezing drizzle ended at Tyler early today and a heavy overcast covered the city, with the temperature well below freezing.

It was freezing at Longview and at Lufkin, where there was a light rain. There was light rain at Beaumont, where the temperature was 38 degrees.

At 9 a.m., the storm was in the area east of Paris, Tyler, Longview and Lufkin. It was clearing along a line from Dallas to Bryan near Brownsville.

Traffic Tie-Up At Dallas It got down to 38 degrees at Brownsville and farmers in the Lower Rio Grande Valley feared a hard freeze tonight. If it does freeze, citrus crops may be badly nipped.

A freeze earlier this month killed tender vegetables and it was not believed that another freeze will hurt the vegetables that survived.

Dallas, where there was two inches of snow, had one of the worst traffic jams in its history last night. The streets were slick with ice today, but traffic moved steadily, if slowly.

Traffic accidents on snow-clogged and slick streets in Fort Worth hurt at least eight persons. There were multiple-car smash-ups at other points.

Clear Weather for Game Six automobiles were involved in a smashup on the South Street bridge in Waco. Three were wrecked in another smashup on the Waco Drive bridge.

The Cotton Bowl football game Thursday will be played in clear weather, with the temperature in the lower 40s. The temperature in the Dallas-Fort Worth area today was not expected to get above the middle 30s.

The weather raised the likelihood that many persons driving to the Cotton Bowl game will never get to it. Some drivers were still out on slick highways.

By night, all of the rain was expected to be out of Texas.

Wichita Falls reported four inches of snow. Dalhart had three inches and there was at least an inch at Mineral Wells.

The lowest temperature in the state today was Abilene and Alpine's 9 degrees.

Other low temperatures included: Amarillo 12, Lubbock 13, El Paso 17, Presidio 23, Junction 17, Fort Worth 21, Austin 26, San Antonio 28, Laredo 36, Brownsville 38, Victoria 34 and Galveston 36.

Clear skies in West Texas — except for the Panhandle — were expected to melt much of the snowcover before freezing temperatures return again tonight.

The Department of Public Safety warned motorists Tuesday not to use roads covered with dangerous ice-glaze, unless in emergency, and the glossy surfaces were expected to hold until around noon today.

In Dallas Tuesday, cars piled up on one busy street and sat for two hours without moving. On another downtown street, cars idled an hour before moving one block.

COUNCIL WARNS 390 WILL DIE

The National Safety Council warned today that as many as 390 persons will be killed in traffic during the New Year's holiday unless celebrants show "sober, thoughtful, considerate behavior."

"Surely the tragic highway toll over the Christmas holiday must have shocked all of us into more sober, thoughtful, considerate behavior behind the wheel," the council said.

"We appeal to everyone to carry the memory of that huge and needless toll into the heavy traffic of the weekend just ahead and do his part to see that it doesn't happen again."

The 102-hour holiday weekend begins at 4 p.m. New Year's Eve and closes at Sunday midnight.

During last week's Christmas holiday of the same duration, United Press International counted 599 traffic deaths, or 21 below the council's pre-holiday estimate.

The council said it expected a lower toll over New Year's because of lighter traffic and because motorists generally are more wary. In addition, December is one of the worst traffic months of the year while January is usually one of the safest.

The council's prediction of 390 deaths over the New Year period is only 40 above the average of 350 traffic fatalities which could be expected during a non-holiday period of the same length at this time of year.

The worst previous four-day New Year holiday toll occurred in 1952 when 423 persons were killed on the nation's streets and highways. The four-day New Year holiday in 1956 killed 412 persons in traffic.

Night spots around the country looked for booming post-recession business on New Year's Eve. Top prices included $37.50 for a gourmet's feast in Los Angeles and $25 for a night's entertainment in Chicago.

The Cocoanut Grove of the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles reported a sell-out crowd of 860 persons would sample its $37.50 package of food and music tonight.

Hoffa Plans Police Union

By JACK V. FOX United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union was revealed today set to try to organize 15 American police forces. First step is a New York drive involving picketing of headquarters, precinct stations and supply depots.

Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy, a cop risen from 30 years in the ranks, angrily pledged to fight with every legal weapon any interference with operation of the 23,600-man force.

Henry Feinstein, teamster representative in New York, said the picketing, set to start Jan. 12, was in no way a strike move and that no attempt would be made to interfere with police supplies by asking truckers or other union members not to cross picket lines.

"We do not believe policemen should go out on strike," he said. "We do not believe police should have the right to strike. This will simply be a demonstration to bring home to the public the policemen's plight."

Scuffs At Feinstein Feinstein disclosed organization drives were underway in 15 cities, including Denver and the Florida area "from Palm Beach down to Key West." He said New York could be a "model" for unionized police forces.

Kennedy scoffed at Feinstein's assurance police would never be called on to strike.

"Does anyone seriously believe an outfit like this, after starting with picketing, would hesitate to strike to get what they want?" he said.

"If the police are unionized I would advise people not to waste their money paying a commissioner his salary because Hoffa, not the commissioner, would be in fact head of the Police Department."

A woman is bound to be boring if she—
Works harder at staying thin than at anything else.
Takes greatest pride in being a "perfect housekeeper."
Assumes that everyone else is as interested in her health as she is.
Quotes her husband whenever she is expected to give an opinion of her own.
Is still trying to be "cute" at forty or fifty.
Consistently does more than her share of talking and less than her share of listening.
Talks about her children all the time.
Wants everyone to know how rushed she is, and how hectic her life is.
Never reads anything—but depends on TV to keep her both amused and informed.
Never really listens to any voice but her own and will even break into the middle of someone else's sentence to have her say.
Is sure that nothing is as good as it used to be, and is always saying so in a petulant voice.
Is easily hurt, so that you have to watch what you say for fear of hurting her tender feelings.
Has no sympathy for others and isn't really touched by any tragedy or any bad luck that doesn't directly affect her.

The Great Crippler Prospect Bright for Discovering Answers to Riddle of Arthritis

Editor's Note: This is the third of three articles on the nature, cause and prevention of arthritis by Dr. William S. Clark, director of medical care of the National Foundation.

By WILLIAM S. CLARK, M.D.
Director of Medical Care, The National Foundation

Our position in relation to arthritis and the rheumatic diseases, foremost crippling of mankind in the U. S. today, might be likened to standing on a small island of knowledge surrounded by a sea of ignorance.

Yet in the past few years our attitude toward this cruel, unpredictable disease has undergone an enormous change. We no longer believe that nothing can be done about it. Today the small vanguard of research scientists combating arthritis is growing. New recruits are joining them from many scientific fields; the prospect for the future was never more hopeful.

Dr. Clark

The arthritis picture today is not unlike that of polio 21 years ago. In 1938 we neither knew how to prevent polio, how to cure it, or how to treat it effectively. But in that year the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was formed, and soon after it conceived, organized and financed with the aid of Dimes money one of the most fruitful medical research programs of our time. Within two decades these research workers broke through barrier after barrier of darkness concerning virus disease until they found the Salk vaccine. There is still much to be done in polio. No cure has yet been found. But at least we have at hand a sturdy weapon against its ravages.

With this victory behind it, the National Foundation now turns to arthritis and the rheumatic diseases. The next few years may give us "the answer" to these maladies that have plagued the joints of man since the dawn of time.

Avenues of Research
In the first article of this series I described what arthritis is and how it affects the human body. In the second I told what can be done about it: treatment and relief. In this column I shall discuss the avenues of investigation we must explore in the future.

To begin with, the common denominator of several rheumatic diseases, including osteoarthritis, rheumatoid arthritis and rheumatic fever, is damage to the connective tissue. This tissue consists of a fibrous protein imbedded in a mucoid carbohydrate called "ground substance." But our ignorance of its nature and function is still profound. We need to learn much more about its origin, physical and chemical structure, metabolism (rate at which it absorbs and uses food), behavior under normal and abnormal conditions. We may confidently expect our research to shed more light on this vital area.

Causes Unknown
We still know almost nothing about the causes of arthritis. Virus infection is not ruled out, though we have as yet isolated no responsible virus. Heredity may be another source, but we have no proof beyond the observation that certain types of arthritis run in families. Psychological tensions have been known to "trigger" attacks, but we don't know how this works. Allergy and hypersensitive reaction is yet another avenue for causative research. These tentative clues lead us into such varied sciences as virology, genetics, biochemistry, enzyme chemistry, psychotherapy, immunology and epidemiology. Promising leads to the causes of arthritis already exist in all these fields. Now they must be followed up.

We have, again, no simple, accurate test for diagnosing rheumatoid arthritis. It stands to reason that the earlier the disease is detected, the better our chance to treat it and to stop its crippling. Work already has progressed to the point where we may soon hope for a simple and reliable diagnostic test.

"The Rheumatoid Factor"
The most promising clue in this direction is the recent discovery of "the rheumatoid factor." This is a difference between the blood of a normal person and a person with rheumatoid arthritis. In the blood of an arthritis patient there exists a heavy protein which, under certain laboratory conditions, forms clumps on foreign substances like the red blood cells of sheep. In about 75 per cent of rheumatoid patients this test works. Further research may refine it and make it almost 100 per cent accurate.

But the rheumatoid factor raises still more fascinating questions for medical science to answer. Just what is its nature and significance? Is it a cause or a symptom? Could it be an antibody—a resistance that the blood sets up against disease? If so, does this not suggest that rheumatoid arthritis may spring from a virus or similar infection, perhaps one that has been latent for years? Or might it denote a hypersensitivity reaction to some other element in the body—a so-self lucky.

DEAR ABBY: Will you help an 83-year-old widow? I have no children, and only one nephew and several cousins but none of them have bothered to visit me in years. I have a neighbor who comes in to see me every day and I feel free to call on her any hour of the day or night. She's always bringing me goodies she has made and I don't know what I'd do without her. So what little money I have I would like to leave to my neighbor, but friends tell me that anyone over 80 is not of sound mind, according to the law, and kinfolks automatically come first. Is this correct, Dear Abby?

OVER 80 BUT SOUND MIND
DEAR OVER: "Soundness of mind" is not determined by age. Ask a lawyer or call your local Legal Aid Society.

DEAR ABBY: I have mother-in-law trouble! My husband and I have been married for 13 years. We have three lovely children. After she visits us (which is often) I find clippings from newspapers and magazines on how to raise children and how to work out

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: If I told you how much my husband and I wanted a baby you wouldn't believe it. We've both been going to doctors for 8 years and they say there is absolutely nothing wrong with either one of us. We've tried every suggestion we've ever heard of from friends and doctors, but so far no luck. My doctor says there is only one thing left for me to try and that is having all my teeth pulled. I never had any trouble with my teeth and I am only 27, but if that's causing my trouble I am willing to do it. Have you ever heard that this would help? Let me know right away as I'm wanting to hear.

WANTING A FAMILY
DEAR WANTING: I don't know what kind of doctor you are pres-entally consulting, but I urge you NOT to have all your teeth pulled until you have seen another doctor. Ask your American Medical Association to recommend a specialist for your difficulty.

DEAR ABBY: I like a boy from school and he is 15 and I am 14. He asked if he could see me some time and I said sure if he would come to my house. He said he wouldn't come to my house but he would meet me anywhere else I said. My mother doesn't like me to meet boys she has never seen. What should I do?

FOURTEEN
DEAR FOURTEEN: Tell him if he won't come to your house like a gentleman, you can't see him. If he doesn't come, consider your-

Manners Makes Friends

If you have to introduce a speaker, be sure to get his name right and also to check all the facts about him that you intend to mention. And you certainly should be able to make a simple introduction without reading from notes.

The complimentary things you say about him sound much more sincere if you don't have to keep prompting yourself from written material.

marriage problems. I find these clippings in my drawers and on top of the refrigerator. She doesn't hand them to me, she just puts them around my house. I found one yesterday that just burned me up. I was going to mail it back to her, but thought I would ask for your advice first.

FED-UP
DEAR FED: Say nothing and ignore the clippings. When she finds that she is getting no reaction whatever from you, she'll give up.

DEAR ABBY: I am 45 and have been going with this man for four months. He is 50. Is it right for a woman to tell a man friend what she wants for gifts or should they be of his own choosing? He suggested I name several things I would like and he would surprise me with one.

Tech Designers Discover Draping

LUBBOCK (Sp1) — What do you do when you have to produce dresses for the national premiere of a leading pattern maker—but have no patterns?

Texas Tech coeds are facing that very problem without any quams—well not many quams anyway. Their job is to produce garments for a Jan. 27 national premiere here of Vogue's new spring patterns plus fabrics and accessories of other fashion firms.

But some of the designs are so new that the actual patterns aren't ready yet. Only sketches are available.

The answer: draping.

Yes, skilled fingers and artistic eyes of 17 coeds in Tech's clothing and textiles department are capturing the essence of new patterns from sketches and transferring them directly to premiere fabrics on dress dummies of other Tech coeds who will model in the show.

If you think this isn't an art, try it sometime—especially with the pressure of preparing fashions for a national premiere which later will be traveling to other cities throughout the nation.

Here's how it's done. A girl takes the length of a piece of material to be used in a dress and drapes and pins it on the form, copying the design from an artist's sketch.

After the fabric is draped, it is cut according to the design and constructed. Approximately one-fourth of the garments to be presented in the premiere will be draped from sketches, according to Dr. Gene Shelden, clothing and textiles department head.

DALLAS—Anyway you wanna look at it on this grey and frigid 1959 New Year's eve, tomorrow's Cotton Bowl game here is an expert's dream.

That's because everybody knows Coach Martin's team is going to win.

It's easier to understand than a Hitchcock movie. Abe Martin tutors the TCU's and Ben Martin mentors the Air Force Academy.

BEN MARTIN ... has I.Q. and guts

And at halftime here tomorrow heavily hung-over heads from tonight's whole-sale whoop-up will be made lighter as a trio of the Air Force cadets use leather decoys to prove the swift maneuverability of the Academy's mascots: a pair of superbly trained falcons.

They're maybe going to bill it: Martins and decoys? Jack Harrison, an old but friendly Lufkin foggy of ours, who now earns his keep as the Dallas answer to Dan True, informs the weather keenly competitive but the final outcome with a dark tint for the visiting Falcons.

"All we got is I.Q. and guts," claims assistant Air Force coach, Alfred Miller, who is reportedly one of Colorado's biggest bluffs. Even bigger than Pikes Peak they're saying here.

Robb'll Rock Falcons
This is the metropolitan area of Texas culture, or so the chamber of commerce brochures here blurt out in box-car letters.

hours to fill their seats for tomorrow's game. Fresh and tanned a lobster-red from a sweet Alcupulco sun rushed our elders. Like we say, everybody jams Dallas at Cotton Bowl time.

Another old Lufkin buddy, Joe Robb, who once doubled for a football in a school play, will be hand-slapping with after the big battle. Robb, who used to rely on for blocking patterns in the Lufkin Panther line, is the muscled young gentleman who'll captain the Frogs of ex-Lufkin coach Abe Martin in the bowl tomorrow.

It's Robb and his other front line shock troops who Abe's hoping will paddle the benches of the Cadets who'll soon be pushing around through the jet traffic upstairs.

Abe the veteran Frog who's got a life-time contract to contentedly croak on his Fort Worth lily-pad on the TCU campus has been jumping like a goosed kangaroo here all week.

How can they rate us seven point favorites when we finished tenth and the Air Force was sixth in the final AP poll? Abe has groaned over and over like a sunstruck desert nomad who can't read the logic in them kinda going-ons.

Ben Martin figures the point-spread, as established by the bookies, about right. Both Martins tend it'll take no less than three TD's to win.

Win, lose or draw the Falcons will have one feather for their cap, besides the fact they already have no campus cliques, no fraternities, no situations where the Thissas aren't talking to the Thattas.

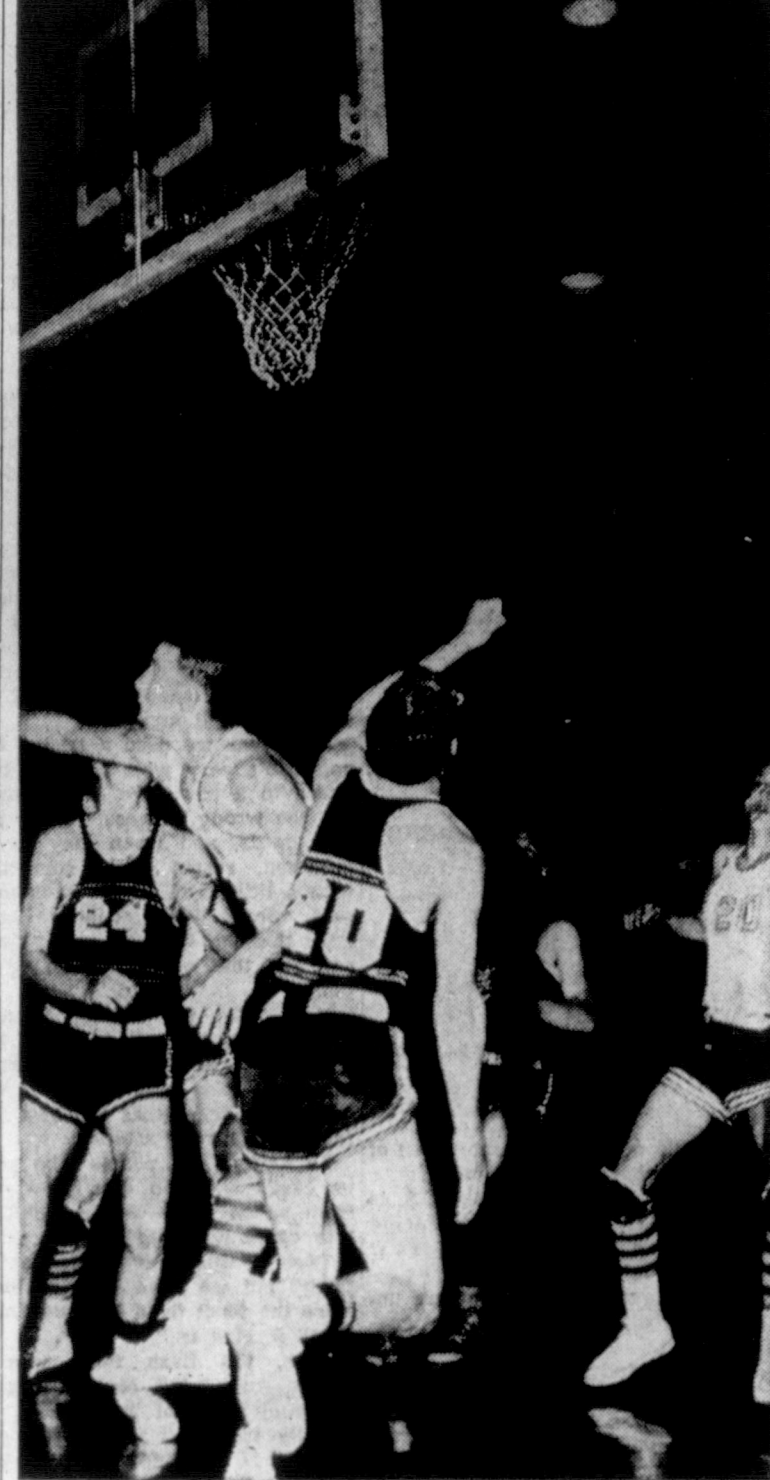

TCU will have to split its Cotton Bowl loot with other members of the SWC, but the Air Academy is unattached and can keep the lion's share of its swag. This is why the cabbage will be split into two unequal parts: Christians' and the lion's.

It was the first time this year the local ring outfit blinked the opposition. In eight outings now, they've won six, lost one and tied one as a team.

A former snowed-out match with Dyess Air Force Base of Abilene has been carded for the Optimist arena here Saturday night. Initial matches are due to start at 7:30 if roads are cleared so that the sirmen can make the 280-mile jaunt.

The slated Saturday night bouts are the last on tap here until Pampa's annual district Golden Gloves tournament, Jan. 21 - 24.

Harvesters Blast Quanah For 26 Straight, 76-44

UP, UP, UP—Charlie Minor goes up for a rebound and knocks the basketball high in the air, in Tuesday night's game against the Quanah Indians. No. 20 for the Harvesters is Joe Timms. No. 20 for Quanah is Butch Tabor.

Indians Become First Team To Take Intermission Lead

After a shaky start, the Pampa Harvesters dominated the last three quarters Tuesday against Quanah, and breezed to their 26th straight win, 76-44.

This was the last non-conference game of the year for the Harvesters. Their next game will be the district opener against Borger, here next Tuesday.

Before going to their happy hunting grounds, the Indians did something no other Pampa opponent has been able to do — take a quarter-time lead over the Harvesters.

Quanah led 12-11 at the end of the first quarter, and this marked the first time this year that the Harvesters trailed at the end of a quarter.

Both teams started very sluggishly. Butch Tabor sank two free throws to give Quanah an early 2-0 lead. The game was 2 minutes, 30 seconds old before the Harvesters scratched on a free throw by Charlie Minor.

Pampa dunked its first field goal, a jump shot by Coyle Winborn, at the four minute mark; and the Indians sank their first fielder exactly one minute later, on a jump shot by Tabor. At that point, Pampa led 7-6.

During the next two and a half minutes, a hook shot and a long jump shot by Tabor were sandwiched between a layup by Bob Gindorf and a jump shot by Coyle Winborn.

Then with 10 seconds remaining in the quarter, Langford sank a long set shot, to give Quanah a 12-11 first quarter lead, and a brief moment of glory.

Quanah stayed in or near the lead for the next couple of minutes, but then the Harvesters lowered the sky. Mark Layne dunked a jump shot, Coyle Winborn sank a charity toss and a fielder, Minor went under for a layup. Coyle Winborn sank a field goal, and Craig Winborn connected on a jump shot — all this while Quanah was scoring just four points.

The Harvesters led 27-20 at half-time.

Quanah didn't make much of a ball game of it in the third quarter, as they never got closer than eight points. Pampa led 46-32 at the end of the third period.

In the fourth quarter the Harvesters went on a scoring spree, hitting 80 percent of their shots and racking up 30 points. Both the percentage and point total were one-quarter highs for the year.

Three Harvesters hit in double figures. Coyle Winborn netted 22, Minor dunked 17, and Layne bucketed 16.

The Indians (6-4 average height) gave the Harvesters (6-3 average height) a close race in the rebound department, but the Harvesters managed to grab 44 to Quanah's 33.

Tabor of Quanah was high point man for the game, with 42 points; but his team-mates were unable to find the basket. Their best shooting percentage was 33 percent, in the third quarter, and they took their first quarter lead with only a 28 percent mark.

Table with 4 columns: Player, fg, ft, pf, tp. Lists stats for Pampa (76) and Quanah (44).

Score by Quarters: Pampa 17 16 19 30=76, Quanah 12 8 12=32.

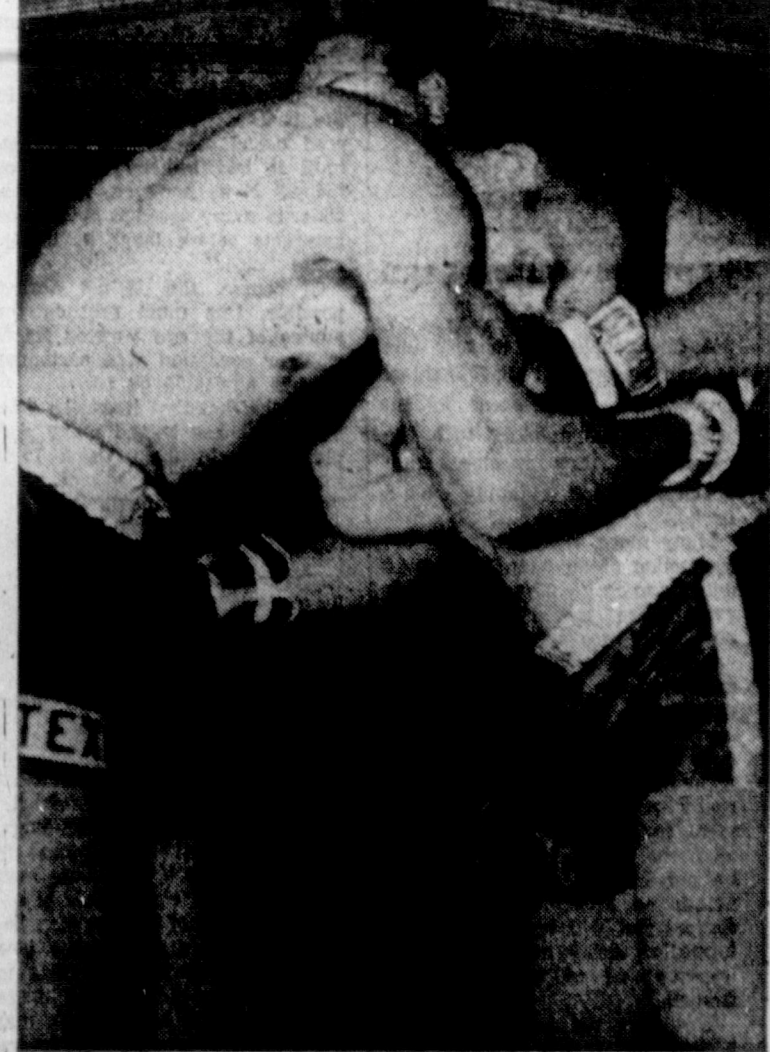

Pampa Boxers Take Seven Matches From Blackwell

By RICK PEZDIRTZ
Daily News Managing Editor
It was a bad night on the cap-pock, snow covered as it might be, for seven Blackwell, Oklahoma, boxfighters here Tuesday night as Pampa's impressive Optimist Boy's Club punchers punnished out a clean sweep of a lucky seven matches from the Okies; and another from a lone Borger representative.

It was the first time this year the local ring outfit blinked the opposition. In eight outings now, they've won six, lost one and tied one as a team.

A former snowed-out match with Dyess Air Force Base of Abilene has been carded for the Optimist arena here Saturday night. Initial matches are due to start at 7:30 if roads are cleared so that the sirmen can make the 280-mile jaunt.

The slated Saturday night bouts are the last on tap here until Pampa's annual district Golden Gloves tournament, Jan. 21 - 24.

IN A CLINCH—Carl McClure, Dumas heavyweight fighting for Pampa, goes into a clinch with Dale Nicholson of Blackwell in a Tuesday night bout. McClure won an impressive decision. (Photo by Marvin Olsen)

Prior to that the locals will travel to Fort Sil, Okla., for a return engagement and enter the Borger district GG meet, Jan. 15.

There were no knockouts, technical knockouts or even a clear-cut knockdown in ten matches (two all local events), but the action was hot and heavy all evening just the same.

In the night's featured events, a fierce and well seasoned Bobby Wilhelm, home from Corpus Christi University where he is on a boxing scholarship, and Carl McClure, the Dumas boxing coach whose face is a familiar sight on the local ring scene, scored brilliant victories.

Wilhelm's class told from the outset of his match with Blackwell's Bob Astron. In the first round Wilhelm was content to take several soft blows from his opponent in order to gain the foot-hold he wanted. In the second the Pampa slickster bruised the right eye of Astron and in the third he really went to work. Outweighed by a good ten-pounds, Wilhelm had Astron reeling all over the ring during a wild final 30 seconds, but the dark-skinned youth couldn't find the right combination to sack his challenger on canvas.

McClure, who appears to harbor a killer-type instinct every time he dons the mitts, swung a pair of vicious and respect-demanding pair of iron pistons at the Blackwell coach, a very flabby Dale Nicholson, who had a dumb-founded look planted on his kisser all evening.

McClure had his opponent groggy and staggering and bouncing off the ropes at the finish. In the hardest fight of the night, Pampa's Dickie James won a split decision over Jey Burris, former Kansas champ in the 118-pound class. Both fighters had messy and scarlet faces at the bout's climax from bloody and bent beaks.

Lucky Dunham also won a split decision for Pampa, outpointing Jerry Cooper, who carried impressive press credentials into the ring with him as a former Kansas, Oklahoma and national AAU champ in the 128-pound division.

Other results: James Morris, Pampa, over David Southerland, Blackwell, unanimous decision, 126 pounds. John Mathis, Pampa, over Neal Tranthan, Blackwell, Decision, 85 pounds. Ronnie Goodwin, Pampa, over Tommy Day, Blackwell, Unanimous decision, 85 pounds. Kenny Powell, Pampa, over Joe Hanson, Borger, Split decision, 125 pounds. Richard Vinyard, Pampa, over Ronnie Browning and Jimmy Watson, Blackwell, Decision, 80 and 70 pound divisions respectively. All four boys from Pampa.

Whatever happened to ... Paul (Daffy) Dean
At the height of Dizzy Dean's career as a pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1934, his brother Paul reported to the club as a rookie and Dix promptly promised magnificent things for "me n' Paul." They delivered—Dix with a 30-7 record, Paul with 19-11. They swept the pennant and the World Series against Detroit. The next year Paul had a 19-12 record but his arm soon gave out and he never again carried out his promise of the first two seasons.

Whatever happened to Paul Dean? Now 45 and with a son of pitching age, Paul operates a service station at Dallas, Texas.

Red Griggs
the pipeline

Today, the football predicting champion of Texas (six-month-old class), Eddie Griggs, is risking his reputation on one of the riskiest of all enterprises—bowl game predictions.

It was only after much pleading that little Eddie consented to this hazardous task. However, when I pointed out to him that he had guaranteed results on everything but the Southwest Conference, he couldn't refuse.

Now, some may have doubted that a six-month-old boy could hit a .700 plus percentage in football predictions (without a week under .700), while his father failed to hit .700 at any time.

I'll admit that Eddie can't talk or write, but he does have an almost infallible system of prediction, based entirely on chance and his own whims—and that is, after all, the only sure way to predict football.

Today, we'll let you in on his system.

Eddie Picks Oklahoma Cries For California

"Very good, very good," I commended him. "Now let's try the Cotton Bowl in Dallas — TCU against the Air Force."

He held out his hands to me, indicating that he wanted to get up on his feet. I picked him up, and he immediately looked up into the air and bent his knees, as if he wanted to jump. I helped him jump into the air a couple of times.

"Hm," I thought, "that could mean he thinks Air Force will win. But I've got to be sure." I moved him into the center of the bed, so he couldn't get hurt when I tested my idea. I jumped him into the air again, but the next time he bent his knees, I let go. He fell flat on his face.

"Just as I thought," sez me, "he thinks Air Force will fall flat on its face. TCU 28, Air Force 13." As I picked Eddie up, he gave me a dirty look and debated whether or not to cry, but finally decided not to.

"The last game," I said, "is the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, California — Iowa against California."

While he had started laughing at the mention of Syracuse, he now started crying at the mention of California.

"Must be a Cal rooter," I surmised, "so I don't blame him. This will make about 12 out of 13 for the Big Ten. Iowa 37, California 13."

Not wishing to be stuck with a prematurely crying California rooter, I called for the wife, ducked out of the house before she knew what was happening, and came to the office to write this column.

AMERICA TAKES THE DAVIS CUP

BRISBANE, Australia (UPI)—Alex (The Chief) Olmedo, a Peruvian on lend-lease to the United States Davis Cup team, whipped Australia's tennis monopolists almost single-handedly and the Yanks reclaimed the famed mug today by winning the challenge round, three matches to two.

Olmedo clinched the best-of-five series for the U.S. by out-classing Ashley Cooper, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 8-6. Then, with the Cup already in American hands, more than 18,000 groaning fans watched Mal Anderson turn back Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, 7-5, 13-11, 11-9 in a "who cares" final match.

The Yanks' stunning victory will go down as one of the greatest upsets in the 36-year history of the challenge round. The odds were stacked high against them when the matches began Monday, for Australia had won the Cup seven times in the last eight years and had kept it "down under" since 1965.

But now the cherished trophy—symbol of world amateur tennis supremacy — is headed back to the States. And all the credit belongs to Olmedo, a fearless netman with Indian blood in his veins who tomahawked Australia's greatest stars with cool deliberation.

The 22-year-old student at Southern California had a hand in all three American victories. He spanked Anderson in Monday's opening singles match and then teamed with Hamilton Richardson to win Tuesday's doubles match and give the U.S. a 2-1 lead.

However, the chief saved his most devastating tennis for Cooper, who had defeated MacKay on opening day.

Cooper won the Wimbledon and U.S. titles this year and generally is regarded as the world's greatest amateur player. But he didn't scare Olmedo, who slipped to a 2-0

Unemployment Of The Least Capable

In the last issue I was quoting Paul L. Poirot's essay on "The Humanity Of The Minimum Wage." He has a subhead under "Unemployment Of The Least Capable."

"Setting a minimum wage, below which no man may sell his services, is like setting a floor price for potatoes. The higher the floor price, the less demand there will be for potatoes..."

"Denying a man the right to offer his services, by fixing the minimum wage at more than his services are worth, is to deprive him of a market for the only thing in the world he could have justified as his own..."

Forgot To Send Christmas Cards

When a check of Christmas cards received against a list of Christmas cards sent revealed that we had overlooked, lost the addresses, or plain forgotten an even 137 of our friends and acquaintances it was obvious that something drastic had to be done...

Now, after much thought, and with 137 cards staring us in the face, we have decided on a bold measure. It is based on the old military concept that the best defense is a strong attack...

Such a card will more than make up for our Christmas oversight. At least, we believe it will. We hope those who get the cards will say: "Those McLemores! They never forget a holiday. Think of them taking time off in this weather to send us a greeting. Bless them!"

Marine Corps Goes Soft Under Present Policies

The marine officer who had command of the Weapons Battalion at Parris Island when six boots were drowned has written a furious criticism of the present shape and administration of the corps. He calls it "Ribbon Creek; The Marine Corps on Trial."

The problem of the Marine Corps today is comparable to that of Major League baseball. With not quite enough major league players for two leagues, numerous promoters and politicians are trying to build one or two new major leagues and dilute the quality of the game with bushers...

There were, and are, at Parris Island, as General McKean put it: "Institutions with complexity and intrigue. An exchange capitalized at $800,000; the golf course; the postwar special services empire with its Education and Information program; varsity teams whose amateur status and primary service as marines are open to challenge..."

The Doctor Says:

by EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

A few people like to rush into having surgery at the slightest provocation. They seem to enjoy the attention under such circumstances they receive from doctors, nurses, family and friends...

Unfortunately, there is no generally accepted medical treatment for a cataract. There are no drops or medicines which can be put in the eyes or given by mouth or injection which most doctors feel will prevent cataract formation, delay its progress or improve one which has already formed...
