

'I WANT TO LIVE'

President Shooting Humphrey's Quail

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White-House Reporter

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (UPI)

Backstairs at the White House:

It was here on the beautiful

Glenn Arven Country Club golf course that President Eisenhower regained a large measure of physical confidence after his 1953

heart attack.

Eisenhower came down to

Thomasville in February of 1956 and for the first time since his grave illness of the previous

September got in some real physical exercise.

His first post-attack visit to the course was a study in caution, but he picked up steam with each

ington Wednesday for his annual visit to the estate of former

Treasury Secretary George M.

Humphrey, the long-range weather forecast indicated rainy conditions in this area for the rest of this week.

This may inhibit the President's golf somewhat, but it is fine for quail shooting. Bird dogs have an easier time picking up the scent of quail in heavy brush if the ground is damp.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower, as do most Americans, have their television favorites and one of them is George Gobel, the crew-cut comedian. In fact, the Eisenhowers like the Gobel shows

so much that on some past occasions, the White House has borrowed film copies of telecasts

they missed.

Gobel was in Washington last weekend for a party at the National Press Club. George is quite a golfer, himself, and he swears

this is a true story:

A few years ago, the President was playing at Cherry Hills, his home club in Denver. A hot-shot golfer and a friend of Gobel was passing through town and stopped off for a round at Eisenhower's club.

The resident professional suggested that the visitor, being a man of talent on the fairways and greens, join the President's foursome. The President was delighted, but the visiting golfer was a bit shaky at the start.

Instead of firing his best down the center of the fairway, the visitor was hitting to the right and left. About the third hole, he thought he'd settled down. The President hit first and marched down the fairway, staying to one side as golfing courteously requires.

The visitor, after two bad previous holes, was last man to drive from the third tee. He hit a mighty blow, but shanked the ball. The white pill went screaming straight at the President and struck him smack in the seat of the pants, rebounding forcefully into the fairway.

The visitor raced to the President's side, as did the Secret

Service, a White House doctor and the other golfers.

Eisenhower patted his hip gingerly and fished out a wallet. He grimaced and quickly assured the anxious men around him that he was not hurt.

"But I must say," Eisenhower added with a characteristic choice of words, "that was the first time

I've been hit in the pocketbook

when it didn't hurt."

Matter of FACT

Benjamin Franklin, the youngest son in a family of 17 children, taught himself to read while he was very young. By the time he was seven, he was writing letters in verse to an uncle in England. His father, who hoped that Benjamin would become a minister, put him in school when he was eight, but could afford to keep him there for only two years.

'THAT'S MY BOY'

Mrs. J. J. Rance, left, presents a copy of her son-in-law's book, "The Impact of Airpower," to Mrs. Lillian Snow, chief of Lovett Memorial Library. The book is edited by Eugene M. Emme, an authority on aviation. Mrs. Snow has a pretty famous son-in-law, too. He, John Rosenfeld, is associate science editor of Life magazine. (Daily News Photo)

Airpower Keeps Us Free! They Say

By WALLY TRUESDELL
Daily News Staff Writer

A jet breaking the sound barrier may have caused the mysterious "boom" that rocked the Top O' Texas last Tuesday afternoon. Who knows? Jet planes and ballistic missiles are a far cry from the rickety crate that the Wright Brothers launched at Kitty Hawk about 50 years ago. It would take a lot of reading to catch up on all that has been written about aviation since the son-in-law of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Rance, 109 W. Browning. The Emme's have every reason to be proud of their industrious son-in-law who spent nine years getting all this material together.

Appropriately titled "The Impact of Airpower," Emme's book has been placed on the memorial shelf of Lovett Memorial Library. It was published simultaneously in the United States and Canada by the D. Van Nostrand Company. Emme, a former professor of international politics at the U.S. Air University, is in the office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, Battle Creek, Mich. He holds from Sioux City, Ia. where he attended Morningside College and married Miss Rance.

A perusal of "The Impact of Airpower" should tell the average reader exactly where we stand in relation to Russia. Emme has dedicated the book to "Those freedom, who must respond and well to the challenge posed by militant authoritarianism in the difficult days ahead."

In the selections, some of the great voices of history speak again. To name a few: Franklin D. Roosevelt, Wendell Willkie and Brigadier General William Mitchell.

We also hear from Winston Churchill, Herbert Hoover, Charles Lindbergh, Major Alexander P. de Seversky, General Omar N. Bradley, General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Pampa Youths Recognized At Cadet School

Earl Bogard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Bogard, and Jim Osborne, both of Pampa, received high honors in a mid-year honor ceremony conducted by Maj. Gen. J. P. Cleland, president, at Kemper Military School, Booneville, Mo.

The two Pampa youths are among only several cadets designated to two of the school's honor societies. Bogard was named to the military and general societies, and Osborne to the military and athletic societies.

Only a small percentage of the Kemper corps is eligible for membership in any one of the school's honor societies, and membership indicates high level of achievement.

In further honors, the two cadets are ROTC company commanders and cadet captains. Osborne is commander of Co. B, which was awarded the athletic rosette at the honor ceremony for the best athletic record and was honored as the second best overall company of the five companies in the corps. Bogard is commander of Co. H, which received the general rosette as the company having the most points in extra curricular activities. Co. H is the band company at Kemper. Osborne also was named to the dean's scholastic honor roll for the last grade month of the first semester.

First Aid Classes Set

A standard first aid course, sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson PTA, will begin at 8:45 a.m. Monday in the school cafeteria. The class will meet Monday through Friday, according to John Gikas, instructor.

A make-up class will be held next week when the PTA sponsors a night course, taught by Dan Lewis.

Both courses will be open to the public. Nursery facilities will be provided.

Alvin Lewis will begin an advanced first aid course at 8 p.m. Wednesday in White Deer High School. The course will be open to anyone who has passed standard first aid.

Lewis will be in Pampa March 30-April 3 to conduct an instructor course. The course will be completed by H. H. Gilliam April 6, 7.

On The Shelf

A dozen provocative works of non-fiction are new at Lovett Memorial Library. The following summaries were prepared by Mrs. Lillian Snow, librarian.

Prehistoric Man
by Andre Lerol-Gourhan
This brings to light our indebtedness to our earliest predecessors, and points up the continuity of our cultural history from the time of the first appearance of our oldest relatives along the banks of European streams until the arrival of homo sapiens, the "wise man."

The Army of Tennessee
by Stanley Horn
Nowhere in the annals of U.S. military history is there a more tragic, yet valorous, story than that of the Army of Tennessee. It is one of ever-changing commanders, of bickering and wrangling among its leaders, and a discouraging succession of disappointments and might-have-beens.

Oklahoma (A History of the Sooner State)
by Edwin C. McKeynolds
History in the making; the run into the Cherokee Outlet, Sept. 16, 1893. Of all the Oklahoma runs, this one attracted the largest number of contestants for free land, with 100,000 on the starting line. More than six million acres were available to the white settlers after the Indians, who were the original owners of the Outlet, had received their allotment. Thus began the great wheat farming, ranching and general agricultural development of Oklahoma's northern counties.

Robert E. Lee in Texas
by Carl Coke Rister
This book introduces a little-known phase of the great General's career—his service in Texas during the four turbulent years preceding the Civil War. We see through the eyes of the "Academy Man" the raw life on the frontier and hear from his lips his impressions of the country and people.

The Coming of The New Deal
by Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr.
This book tells of the assault of the American government and people on the Great Depression during the turbulent years of Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term in the White House. It follows the reform and recovery efforts of the New Deal in industry, finance, agriculture, the monetary policy, conservation, labor policy and relief.

Pioneer Women in Texas
by Annie Doom Pickrell
These biographical sketches have been prepared in the hope of preserving for future generations a correct idea of the lives and characteristics of the women who lived in Texas prior to 1845.

Portrait of A Statesman
by Dennis Bardens
A frank and objective biography of a man who Sir Winston Churchill, the greatest Prime Minister in British history, considered a worthy successor. It presents a brilliant, living portrait of Sir Anthony Eden.

GRADUATE AIRMAN

Technical Sergeant Bobby J. Brown, left, of Pampa, graduated from Crew Chief Training School at Castle (Calif.) Air Force Base last week. Colonel David C. Jones, director of material, presented him with a certificate of completion during the graduation ceremonies held at the Base school. Brown is assigned to the 329th Bombardment Squadron as a crew chief.

Pampa Bands Set Monday Concert

Four Pampa school bands will take part in the Annual Winter Band Concert Monday night, Knox Kinard, superintendent of Pampa Public Schools, has announced. The public is invited to the Robert E. Lee Junior High Auditorium for the 8 p.m. concert.

The High School Band, two junior high school bands and a combined elementary school band will be represented. The groups are the Harvester Band, directed by W. E. Tregoe; the Pampa Junior High Band, directed by Sen Gollehon; the Robert E. Lee Band, directed by Joe DiCosimo; and the "All-City" Elementary Band, under the direction of Charles Meech.

The program for the Annual Winter Band Concert follows:

Shoplifting Bill Introduced In Legislature

A bill to combat the $15,000,000 a year shoplifting racket in Texas has been introduced in the Texas Legislature. W. L. Veale, Manager of the Retail Merchants Association of Pampa, said today.

The sponsors of the legislation are Senator Robert W. Baker of Houston and Representative Carl C. Conley of Raymondville.

The main purpose of the legislation, Veale said, is to provide stiffer penalties for habitual offenders. The bill will also permit agents to detain suspected shoplifters without fear of subsequent charges of false arrest or other civil suits.

He said that when shoplifting losses are absorbed by retail outlets they constitute a major item of overhead and that to cover such tremendous losses, it is necessary to raise the prices of merchandise.

It has been estimated that shoplifting costs the average buyer at least $2.50 each year in most cities and sometimes as high as $5 per year.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Al Capone's boys delivered their Valentines in person on St. Valentine's Day, 1929.

The Valentines were lead or dying on the floor of a North Clark Street garage in the bloodiest single outbreak of Chicago's prohibition era gang warfare, 30 years ago today.

The St. Valentine's Day Massacre demoted George (Big) Moran, then the leader of a North Side bootlegging gang, into a leader without a gang.

It left Capone, a former bawdy house bouncer, virtually unchallenged at the summit of an incredible empire he built on bootleg booze and ruled with bullets.

It shocked even the sinful, gin-fu-ful 20s, when Chicago boasted 10,000 speakeasies, gang ruffians mounted beyond the 800 mark and "taken for a ride" became part of the language.

It was a date with their heads still in use as a garage and warehouse.

But the walls which were raked with machine gun bullets have been refinished and police say few curiosity seekers visit the building.

What happened that morning—while roosters' sacks sagged with lovers' missives and snow flurries wet the pavement outside 2122 North Clark—might have come straight from a modern TV or movie scenario.

But it didn't. An open automobile resembling a police squad car drove up and parked. The two men, disguised as policemen and carrying shot guns, got out and walked into the garage.

They rounded up seven Moran henchmen who were breakfasting on coffee and crackers while waiting for their leader. They disarmed the rival mobsters and lined them up, hands in air, facing the whitewashed north wall.

Someone gave a signal. One Tommygunner swept his weapon, like a gardener spraying a row of bushes, head high from left to right. His partner pivoted from right to left. The Tommygunners swept back again, and then again.

The killers walked out the front door of the garage, the two "policemen" pointing their guns at the backs of the ones in civilian dress. To passersby it looked as if police had rounded up a couple of hoodlums.

I got to the scene 10 minutes after Capone's men had left. I found six bodies perforated with bullets. The head of one almost had been shot off. The corner said each victim got at least 50 slugs.

The seventh, Frank Gusenberg, an Air Force colonel asked, "Does he always come in so high with the Columbine?"

Instead of landing at the forward end of the runway, the Columbine seemed to come down at an unusually high angle and touch down about midway the length of the landing strip.

After the presidential party motored away from the field, personnel at Moody understood why the Columbine seemed to have landed "high." On one side a training center for air cadets outside Moultrie, Ga., Spence, however, was closed in by miserable weather and Col. William G. Draper, the Columbine pilot and Air Force aide to the president, decided to try Moody.

Thunder storms and heavy rains were sweeping the area. The press plane, a commercial liner chartered from Eastern Air Lines, landed at Moody about an hour before the President.

When Draper got over the field, conditions were too bad for landing, even with the fine instrument navigation aboard the Columbine and the navigational aids offered by the big air base. Draper circled the area for about 40 minutes, then let down through the soupy, wet weather.

The ceiling was around 400 feet when reporters and Air Force personnel saw the Columbine break through the menacingly dark weather and walls of rain.

Star Sheds Buckskins For Fancy Clothes

By VERNON SCOTT UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Guy Wild Bill Hickok Madison is trading his sixgun and spurs for a "Second and the Arrow"—which happens to be the title of his new television series.

In shedding his buckskins for lace cuffs and fancy duds, Madison also hopes to switch from juvenile viewers to adult audiences.

Can Madison make the switch successfully? Why not, he asks, Ann Sothern, Dick Boone and Gale Storm traded old series for new and managed to come up with winners.

"You might say I started the whole western trend," Guy said. "I began nine years ago, and made 119 'Wild Bills.' But during that time I continued to star in movies, and no one ever complained that Wild Bill was showing up in modern roles."

Guy, a handsome, self-effacing character, will be without a sidekick, and a horse in his new venture.

The series, more historical than western, deals with a young man in the Florida Everglades in the 1800s prior to the war of 1812. His weapons, as the title indicates, are a sword, bow and arrow, plus a whip, knife and occasionally a gun—not a six-shooter.

"The hero is a return to the days of Douglas Fairbanks Sr.," Guy grinned. "And it's a good thing I'm in top physical shape."

"Thanks to all the action pictures I've made I'll be able to handle fight scenes and weapons—all except the sword. Right now I'm taking dueling lessons, and it'll be four or five months before I learn how to fence convincingly."

"Our stories involve the English, French, Spanish and early American settlers in Florida, so we'll have a different set of characters and circumstances to work with every week."

Area Girls Named To TWU Festival

Pamela Goodlett, Pampa, has been named for the All-Girl Band Festival at Texas Women's University Feb. 27-28. Four Canadian High School girls have also been invited. They are Linda Adams, Anne Hobbler, Judy Jackson and Carolyn Sutton.

Three hundred and thirty-two girls were named from more than 800 applicants for the third of these annual music workshops. Three bands will be formed under the direction of Lowell Little, TWU director of bands; Floyd Weger, Paris High School band director, and Charles F. Jones, Ball High School (Galveston) band director.

DIXIE LESSON—Versatile actress-singer Connie Tower had to learn her English all over again—southern style—for a movie, "The Horse Soldiers." Miss Tower plays a Dixie belle in the Civil War period film.

Local Men Take Insurance Honors

DALLAS (Sp) — A. Cecil Houchin has been cited as a director and Vernon Hall as a member of the President's Club, top honor sales organization at Great American Reserve Insurance Co., according to Travis T. Wallace, president.

Both men achieved the honor because of outstanding sales records during 1958, Wallace said.

Active in local life underwriter activities, Houchin is past president of the Pampa Life Underwriters Association, and Hall serves this year as vice president and program chairman of the association.

Houchin and Hall are leaders in Great American's Amarillo Branch Agency, with offices at 1306-A West Eighth in Amarillo. In Pampa Houchin resides at 1542 William St. and Hall at 2234 Duncan.

Six Top O' Texas Students Become Sigma Nu Pledges

CANYON (Sp) — Six students from the Pampa area are among the Epsilon Betas who have recently become pledges of Sigma Nu at West Texas State College.

The four men's social clubs at West Texas have been tapped by national fraternities. The members of Epsilon Beta social club officially became pledges of Sigma Nu national fraternity recently in ceremonies conducted at Lubbock by the Texas Tech chapter of Sigma Nu.

Those students from this area who are pledges include Jimmy Goff, Wayne Smith, both of Pampa, Eugene Worsham of Alameda, Donald Broome of Kellerville, Leon Pepper of Shamrock, and Wendell Seitz of Mobeetle.

Jimmy Goff, sophomore, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Goff of 409 Russell. He is a member of the Buffalo Band, WT Choir, woodwind quintet and trio, and was a member of the WT Drill Team.

Wayne Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith, is a junior English major. He is vice president of Buffalo Bills, campus service organization, Student Education Association, president of the English Club, and has been selected to "Who's Who in American Universities and colleges."

Eugene Worsham of Alameda is a senior business administration and accounting major. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Worsham of Alameda. Worsham has held offices in Epsilon Beta social club and has been a member of Sigma Beta Mu, organization for business majors.

Donald Broome, son of Mr. J. J. Broome of Kellerville, is a senior accounting major. He has held several offices in the Sigma Beta Mu, business majors organization, has been commander of the Sam Houston Rifle's Drill Team, and has held offices in the Epsilon Beta social club.

A Shamrock junior, Leon Pepper, is a mathematics major. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pepper of 201 Texas. Pepper is a 1958 graduate of Shamrock High School.

Wendell Seitz, son of Mrs. Alma Seitz of Mobeetle, is a junior physics major. He is a member of Alpha Chi, honor society for junior and seniors, and he has been selected to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

I want to Live!

Her scream bounced against the steel walls as they dragged a twisting raging Barbara Graham back to her cell!

They had just branded her a murderess—but this wasn't the only mark that life and her underworld "friends" had seared on her body. There were the marks of the petty crimes she committed—stains that all the police blotters in the country couldn't soak up.

And there were the scars you couldn't see. The scars that Barbara Graham, the party girl, carried in her heart... one for every man.

Barbara Graham's affairs... her mistakes... her trial... a thousand incidents defied the censor. Then a Pulitzer-Prize winning reporter, Ed Montgomery—who had led the pack howling for her conviction—uncovered startling evidence that shed doubt on her guilt... and her story became something more than it was—a story that will never die!

It took courage to bring Barbara Graham's real-life, real-shock story to the screen... and the producers of "I WANT TO LIVE!" did not compromise with reality in exposing life to film!

And to all this add the superb performance of Susan Hayward, who won Academy Award nominations for "Smash Up", "My Foolish Heart" and "I'll Cry Tomorrow". From the flesh and fire that was Barbara Graham... she has fashioned a portrayal that will burn itself into your memory.

Above all—this story was lifted body and soul from life... with no whitewash or watering down... and that is the hurricane force that makes this picture so different... so important... so great!

WALTER ROGERS SAYS: Eighty-Sixth Congress Will Be Operative In Short Order

The 86th Congress Begins to Move through the federal government through their elected representatives. The Economic Report was tied into the Budget Report. The President said that if we would do what he said to do, insofar as the budget was concerned, our economy would remain strong and healthy. I do not agree with the President that more taxes are needed. I am firmly convinced that sharp reductions in many governmental expenditures would provide the means for a balanced budget. The question is whether or not we will be successful in cutting down the federal expenditures. President Frondizi was expected by many to be seeking foreign aid. However, his visit to this country and his speech were welcomed. He explained the position of the Argentine Republic in no uncertain terms and left no doubt that the good people of that Republic want to be able to stand on their own feet and maintain their own economy as a free, independent and friendly people. I say, more power to him.

Visitors last week included Mr. Harold Dunn and Mrs. A. E. (Ollie) Herrmann of Amarillo; and Mr. George Cree, Jr. and Mr. Gene Green of Pampa, who were in Washington on business. Paul Martin of Amarillo, a student at Catholic University here in Washington, also dropped by the office. WALTER ROGERS

Karamanlis Negotiating With Turks

Personality Spotlight
United Press International
CONSTANTINE KARAMANLIS
Greek Prime Minister

Greek Prime Minister Constantine Karamanlis, whose negotiations with his Turkish counterpart appear to have led to a solution to the thorny Cyprus issue, has helped solve a problem he once hoped to avoid. The handsome 6-footer, whose profile and build have been compared with statues left by his ancient forbears, made it clear when he formed a new cabinet last October he did not intend to raise the Cyprus issue. Now, at least partly because of his ability as an international negotiator, he has helped solve the problem.

The 51-year-old premier, Macedonian-born son of a tobacco farmer, has been a successful politician since 1933. An avowed friend of the West and enemy of Communism, he first became premier in 1955. He quit the job last March, climaxing disputes over his proposed election law. But he was back forming a new cabinet 12 weeks later. By weathering a series of domestic political crises, Karamanlis has earned a reputation as one of the most experienced and able statesmen in the Mediterranean, a role bolstered by his background as a practicing lawyer.

Karamanlis did not support the Cyprus "partnership" plan proposed by British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan last June. He proposed setting up of separate legislatures for Greek and Turkish residents on the island for seven years while the island itself remained under British international control. The Greek premiere complained the plan only "put aside for seven years" a real solution to the island's problems. He favored, instead, a temporary solution "on the basis of self government under British sovereignty," postponing a settlement of the main issue "until a more appropriate time." Demands from Cypriots-Turkish and Greek—for an end to terrorist activities apparently have convinced Karamanlis that the "appropriate time" is now.

Bishop Garriga 'Mr. South Texas'

A UPI TEXAS EXTRA
LAREDO, Tex. (UPI)—Bishop Mariano S. Garriga of the Catholic diocese of Corpus Christi will be honored Saturday, Feb. 21, in Laredo as "Mr. South Texas" at the president's lunch of the 1959 Washington's Birthday celebration. The celebration committee chose Garriga because of his contributions in religion, education, youth work, understanding between peoples of all faiths and his leadership against communism. He promoted "Operation Understanding" throughout his diocese several months ago to promote the understanding which he says is urgently needed between Catholics and persons of other faiths. Garriga is the spiritual leader of more than 500,000 Catholics. Seventy-eight per cent of the population of his diocese is said to be Catholic, making it the most intensely Catholic area in the country. Native Texan. He formerly was Coadjutor Bishop and pastor of St. Peter's in Laredo. Since leaving Laredo to take over his bishopric in Corpus Christi, three hospitals, 16 schools, eight rectories, eight convents and two homes for the aged have been built in the Corpus Christi diocese. These Catholic facilities are in addition to 42 churches and chapels. Garriga was born at Point Isabel, near Port Isabel, on May 31, 1886. He was ordained in San Antonio in 1911. He was chaplain of the Fourth Texas Infantry, which became the 144th Infantry Regiment of the famous 36th Division in World War I. After his return from overseas, he was president of Incarnate Word College in San Antonio. In November, 1919, he gave up that job to organize the south side parish of St. Cecilia in San Antonio. He became a domestic prelate on Nov. 26, 1935, and less than a year later was named Coadjutor Bishop to the Bishop of Corpus Christi and Titular Bishop of Siena on June 30, 1936. On Sept. 30, 1936, he was appointed vicar general of the diocese and assisted in its administration. He assumed the pastorate of St. Peter's in Laredo in 1943. Cardinal Spellman appointed him vicar-general for the armed forces, effective with the beginning of World War II, and Catholic military personnel in Texas and Louisiana were under his spiritual jurisdiction. When Bishop Ledvina resigned, Garriga took over the full administration of the Corpus Christi diocese on March 15, 1949.

Senate Racket Hearings, Washington's Comic Opera

The Lighter Side
By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—There is something about the Senate Rackets Committee which inspires witnesses to turn away. Some can't even seem to recall what kind of business they're in. Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), a patient man, is reconciled to this. He does think though that a man smart enough to take the Fifth Amendment ought to know approximately how to pronounce it. But here was Frank Zito about whom the committee was voicing assorted dark suspicions, pleading the Fifth in one form or another and an almost total innocence of the American language. The wispy-haired Zito, a retired juke box man from Springfield, Ill., had been cited by the committee for numerous black marks, including alleged control of "practically every racket" in the Springfield area. "I refuse to answer," Zito began, because "I may incriminate myself." "Relines" to answer "You better say you decline to answer," advised McClellan. "The committee certainly is entitled to some show of respect." "Reline?" puzzled Zito. "Well, I decline to answer." "Decline?" McClellan roared. "I can't said it," managed Zito, regretfully, after a few tries. "You'll hafta excuse me, I don't mean I don't wanna said it, I can't said it right." "Well," directed McClellan, "whatever he says, let the record show he means decline." Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, "look-over-the-questioning," although he was not sure how Zito could "understand what we are saying." Kennedy got Zito to confirm he was born and that this event took place near Palermo, Sicily, on Feb. 21, 1893, that he came to the U.S. in 1910, that he once worked in coal mines in Alabama and Illinois. Where else had he worked? "I refuse to answer." "I told you to say decline," McClellan ordered. "Write it down. You can write can't you?" "A little bit," Zito conceded, dubiously. His lawyer, who had sat in obvious pain at his right, took a Senate note pad and wrote for Zito in big block letters: "I decline to answer on the ground that it may tend to incriminate me." Zito did better. But he did shorten it up some, and what usually came out was, "I decline, may criminate myself."

The abbreviation was just as well, it turned out, considering the number of times he felt constrained to use it. He wouldn't talk about the committee's claim that he had been boss of Springfield's juke boxes, dice games, and slot machines, and an experienced hand in the whisky business. He also felt it would be unbecoming to acknowledge association with a long list of persons the Rackets Committee is interested in.

Brown Was 'Most' In Pro Football

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Jim Brown, former Syracuse All-American who recently was named America's outstanding athlete of 1958 by the Philadelphia Sports Writers Association averaged 5.9 yards for his 257 carries and scored the most touchdowns, and carried the most times, and scored the most touchdowns by rushing while winning his second straight ground-gaining championship with an all-time record.

Brown, with 1,527 yards in 257 carries in 12 league games for a single season mark in the NFL, smashed the former record of 1,444 set by Steve Van Buren of the Philadelphia Eagles, and finished 754 yards ahead of Alvin Ameche of the championship Baltimore Colts. The Browns back gained 100 or more yards in nine games, according to official NFL figures released Saturday.

Cleveland won the team rushing championship with 2,526 yards followed by the Colts with 2,127.

Ameche, who won the title in his first pro campaign in 1955, was second with 781 yards in 125 carries. Joe (The Jet) Perry of the San Francisco Forty-Niners, who also pumped a Van Buren record from the books, was third with 758.

Redlegs Seeking Stronger Pitching

By MAYO SMITH
Manager, Cincinnati Redlegs
Written for UPI

LAKE WORTH, Fla. (UPI)—Cincinnati has a fast, well-balanced team—and pretty good power—but we need another pitcher if we want to beat Milwaukee out of the National League pennant.

Of course it's hard to say now what will happen. But it looks like the Braves are the team to beat. Pittsburgh and San Francisco will be tough, too, but Milwaukee has a little more depth in its pitching staff.

The Redlegs got off to a slow start last spring, but still finished in fourth place. Certainly we hope—and expect—to do better this year.

This is my first year with the club, and I'd like to have a winner.

professional ball. Before that he played college ball for Notre Dame. This will be his first trip to the majors and we shouldn't expect too much from him right away, but you never know.

We have another newcomer in Orlando Pena, who pitched a few games last year after coming up from Havana. And we got Bob Mabe in a trade with the St. Louis Cardinals last September. He's a right-hander and has a good major league future.

White Deer Cage Teams Take Titles

WHITE DEER (Spl)—The White Deer Bucks mathematically clinched the District 2-A basketball title here Friday by edging Clarendon, 74-71.

At the same time, the Does clinched a tie for the girls' district title by walloping the Clarendon girls, 78-47. The Does are 10-0 in district competition, while Clarendon suffered its second loss last night to Panhandle. Only two games remain on the schedule.

The Bucks have a 10-0 record in district play, with two games remaining. They closest rival, Le-fors, is 7-3. For the season, the Bucks stand 14-1 and the Does are 18-2.

Mary Ann Freeman, the Does' amazing little shooter, blistered the nets for 41 points in the girls game. Miss Freeman has hit the 40 plus mark several times this year. Others hitting in double figures were Juanna Jo Moore, 18, and Marilan Kotars, 18, for White Deer, and Joan Bennett, Clarendon, 17.

The Bucks pulled away in the third quarter to break open a nip-and-tuck contest in the Boys' game. Going into the second half tied 35-35, the Bucks outscored Clarendon 23-13 in the third period. Clarendon came fighting back in the last minute, with five points, but it was too little, too late.

Four of the Bucks scored 15 or more points. Jeff Bearden and Ellis Knight each netted 19. Jack Burns plunked in 18, and Ronnie Cade tossed in 16 points.

CARRAMBA! WHAT A BASEBALL GAME

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—Brazilian base runners ran until their tongues were burnt in an exhausting Chile, 51-2, during a South American championship baseball game Friday.

Chile helped matters along by committing 19 errors.

The Brazilian team had some "fingers," though. Most of their players were Japanese.

LEAS TOWER—Lewis Qualls doesn't need the chair he is standing on. A student at Smiley High of Houston, this 19-year-old stands seven-feet-one.

Pitching Big Problem

The biggest problem at the moment seems to be pitching. We have some fine pitchers like Ed Purkey and Don Newcombe, but one more real solid pitcher would make a big difference. Either a left-hander or a right-hander would do if he can throw the ball.

We may have just the man we need in a young left-hander from Nashville, Tenn., named Jim O'Toole. He was a 20-game winner last year in the Southern Association in his first year of pro-

Has Hopes For Ennis

In that same trade, we picked up Eddie Kasko and Del Ennis. Kasko can play almost all infield positions. Ennis had a bad year with the Cards, but he could be a big threat for us at the plate. It was a gamble, but we think he'll pay off.

Frank Robinson probably will continue to bat cleanup for us. He hit 31 home runs and had almost 100 RBI's last year. He should do just as well, if not better, again.

Our catcher, Ed Bailey, and outfielder Gus Bell ought to improve also, along with everybody else. I'd say prospects are bright in all departments.

We'll have a good defense, speed, and our hitting will be okay. Johnny Temple and Roy McMillan at shortstop and second base give us a good double-play combination.

JUDGE DISMISSES TV SUIT, WITH WARNING

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal court judge has warned the major leagues they may be courting "serious trouble" unless the minor leagues' problem of television and radio is settled soon.

Federal Court Judge Edward J. Dimock issued the warning Friday even though he dismissed a $250,000 suit against Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick and the 16 major league clubs filed by former minor league club owner Frank Lawrence.

Dimock conceded that radio and television broadcasts of major league games into minor league territory had raised a serious problem for Lawrence and all minor league operators.

Lawrence claimed that "invasion" of major league broadcasts had forced him to suspend opera-

Depends On Pitching

For pitchers, besides those I've named, we have Brooks Lawrence, Joe Nuxhall, Harvey Had-dix, Tom Acker and Hal Jeffcoat—all steady, reliable performers.

I might also mention Bob Thurman in the outfield, Walt Dropo, Smoky Burgess, and Don Hoak at third base. And we hope to get a lot of work out of a rookie outfielder, Vada Pinson, who hit .346 for Seattle last year.

ADELAIDE, Australia (UPI)—Law Hoad reached the final round of the Adelaide pro tennis tournament Friday night by defeating Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, Ohio, 4-6, 10-8, 6-1.

MUSTANGS TOP RICE IN SWC CAGE GAME

HOUSTON (UPI)—Southern Methodist kept its faint Southwest Conference title hopes alive by nipping Rice, 60-57, behind Max Williams' 19 points in a regional televised game Saturday.

The victory was SMU's sixth against three losses in conference play. For Rice it was the seventh defeat against two victories.

The Mustangs, who turned an 8-2 deficit into a 15-8 lead midway through the first half, had to fight off four challenges in a battle of hot and cold spurts by both teams.

Southern Methodist's 29-14 advantage with 4:19 left evaporated to 31-27 at halftime, as Dale Ball, who led the Owls' scoring with 19 points, sparked a rally with two baskets and three free throws.

The Mustangs pulled away to their biggest lead in the second half at 42-29, with 16:20 left, but the Owls hit a hot streak and sliced the margin to 42-41 on Tom Robitaille's jump shot with 13:05 left.

Better Read Great Poems During Lent

(EDITORS: This is another in a series of special Lenten messages written for United Press International by leading American clergymen.)

By the Rev. J. Carter Swalm
Executive Director
Department of the Bible
National Council of Churches
Written for UPI

As we celebrate this year the 150th anniversary of Darwin's birth, it is profitable to remember his regret that he had allowed science to crowd every thing else out of his life. "My mind seems to have become a kind of machine," he said, "for grinding general laws out of a large collection of facts. If I had my life to live over again, I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once every week."

Highlander Opens Doors To Public

The Highlander, a model home, will have its formal opening at 1 p.m. today, according to Ed Griffin, manager of Highland Homes, Inc. The three-bedroom house, located at 2100 N. Dwight, will be open from 1 to 7 p.m. today. Coffee and cookies will be furnished. The public is invited to the opening of the home and the sales office in the adjoining garage. "The style of architecture is described as 'contemporary with traditional flavor.' Besides the bedrooms and the garage, there is an extra-large kitchen and a living room. The furniture in the model home came from the Texas Furniture Company. The interior, designed by Glenn Dawson and Ivon Jones, is done in beige and brown, apricot and mint green. The kitchen cabinets are mahogany.

Pampa High Students Set For Career Clinic Here

Next Wednesday the entire student body of Pampa Senior High School will participate in its first Career Clinic under the sponsorship of the Altivusa Club, the Pampa Jaycees, and the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose of this clinic is to give students accurate, firsthand information about job opportunities, personality requirements, and the occupational outlook for every phase of business from accounting to writing.

Fifty-eight consultants have been secured to participate in 51 roundtable discussions. Before a speaker for a roundtable was accepted, he had to meet certain qualifications and each applicant was carefully selected so that the best representatives of each field will be appearing before Pampa High School students.

Of the 58 consultants, 27 per cent will be from cities other than Pampa and will be appearing through their own generosity. As a result of a survey made by the School Counselor, Evelyn Milam, last November, each roundtable group represents at least 30 students, expressing an interest in a specific field.

The clinic will start with an hour orientation period for the consultants at 8 a. m. in the School Cafeteria under the supervision of L. J. Edmondson, Principal. At 9 the students will gather in General Assembly to hear Mevin F. Munn, Public Relations Director of Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Texas. Two roundtable discussion periods will then be held, and the clinic will be concluded with an evaluation period of the program by the students, consultants, and faculty.

This program will be reviewed on KGNC-TV's "Perspective" next Sunday, February 22; KPND will tape Munn's talk for rebroadcast February 18; and Linda Skewes and Richard Newberry, President and Vice President of the Pampa Student Council, will discuss this program over KHHH during the breakfast club on February 19.

Participants in the Clinic will include: Price-Dosier-Accounting: Weldon Moore-Architect; Margaret Cochran of KLM, Elizabeth Brown of TWA, and Vera Kerr of Braniff-Airline Hostess; L. Ervin Thompson of Amarillo Air Force Base-Armed Forces; K. M. Parker of McCormick Advertising Company, Amarillo; Commercial Artist; Aubrey Steels of Security Federal-Banking; Jackie Tynes of Bob-Ette Beauty Salon and Jimmie Jones of Modern Beauty Shop-Beautician; Paul Brown-Bookkeeping; L. R. Minadeo of Cabot-Business Machine Operator; Dr. Harbord L. Cox-Dentist; E. C. Juenger of Celanese-Draftsman.

Also Tom Brooks-Electrician; representative of Amarillo Air Force Base-Aeronautical Engineer; Dudley Steels of Cabot-Chemical Engineer; Wayland Merriman-Civil Engineer; Gene Lumford of Celanese-Electrical Engineer; J. # Analogy Of Will Rogers, Abe Lincoln Presented For El Progreso Meeting

Mrs. John Gill, 1501 Hamilton, was hostess to El Progreso Club on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Elmer Fisher, president, presided over the business session during which the club voted contributions to the Top of Texas Foundation, Community Concert Association, and to the Council of Clubs for its project of a loud speaker system to be installed in Lovett Memorial Library as a memorial for Dr. Walter Purviance.

Mrs. Bob Banks, president-elect, was elected as delegate to the Texas Women's Federated Women's Club district convention to be held in Borger on April 2-3.

Mrs. Fisher announced that Edward R. Murrow would interview Mrs. Chloe Gifford, president of the general foundation, in national headquarters in Washington, D.C. on his Friday-night, Feb. 20 "Person to Person" program.

Mrs. J. G. Lyons gave an interesting paper on the Pampa Future Nurses Club sponsored by the Gray County Medical Auxiliary. She stated that there are 20 high school members of the club, whose purpose it is to acquaint the girls with the nursing profession. "They work on Saturdays in the hospital here and visit the Amarillo hospital to observe the trainees there and visit with them. It's aim, of course, is to interest girls in a nurses' career, where a national shortage exists."

Mrs. W. R. Ewing gave a paper, "Will Rogers, Abraham Lincoln, Philosophers." Mrs. Ewing said both Rogers and Lincoln were born on the frontiers of civilization: Lincoln in 1809 and Rogers in 1879. "Both were pioneers in their homelands and both could have qualified for membership in any southwest Pioneer Club." She said that there were many points of similarity in the life stories of these two men, but there are differences, too. Both have been called humorists. Lincoln had a story to fit any occasion usually a funny story and Rogers had a short, apt comment that always brought out the truth and also a laugh. "Both men," Mrs. Ewing continued, "were tolerant of the opinion of others and both had a respect for the ideas of others, even when they did not coincide with their own. Rogers expressed his this way: 'I never met a man I did not like. Lincoln expressed his for all and malice toward none.' "Both men liked to mix with their fellow human beings and both insisted on being themselves to the end of their days."

Mrs. Ewing said, "You will agree that Lincoln was the greater man. At last 3,000 books have been written about him."

"When Lincoln became President of the United States," she went on to say "and facing a civil war over slavery, it is said, he seemed to carry the burdens of the world on his shoulders. His great heart suffered with all others who suffered and at times his face seemed to drip with grief."

"At the age of seven, Lincoln walked four miles a day to school to learn to read and write and to learn about handling numbers. From earliest childhood, he had an insatiable thirst for learning. Lincoln himself once said, 'Love of truth is my strongest trait of character. In a speech one time he exhorted his audience to live in freedom and let live, to believe that the American idea of freedom is inseparable from the rest of the world. Lincoln also believed that labor was prior to capital, but he was no champion of labor.'"

"Will Rogers on the other hand never cared for book learning. He always said, 'All I know is what I read in the papers.' He might be called an apostle of love. He possessed that most enviable trait of being able to get along with everyone, kings, rulers, presidents and the man in the street. He had a marvelous understanding of all men, but his comments were always kind. He understood people and loved them and they loved him."

In concluding remarks, Mrs. Ewing said, "President Roosevelt said when he heard of Will Rogers' death: 'The American Nation to whose heart he brought gladness will hold him in everlasting remembrance.'"

Following the program, Mrs. Ewing and Mrs. Fanny Ledrick reminisced about Will Rogers. They had both known him personally. Mrs. Ledrick said that she had once danced with Will when he was a 30 a month cowboy. Members attending were Mrs. Bob Banks, D. V. Burton, Jess M. Clay, J. F. Curtis, V. J. Drew, W. R. Ewing, Elmer Fisher, John Gill, George Hrdlicka, Knox Kinard, J. G. Lyons, J. G. Morrison, Carlton Nance, Tom Parkins, Glenn Radcliff, George Walstad, Harold Wright, M. McAnally, and P. C. Ledrick.

The February luncheon meeting of the Altrusa Club met in the Pine Room of the Pampa Hotel with Mrs. V. L. Hobbs, president, presiding.

During the business meeting, reports were given by Mrs. Irl Smith, recording secretary, Mrs. Jack Bertolin, treasurer, Miss Jean Chisholm on Youth Counseling; Jay Falanagan, Senior Center; Mrs. Grant Anderson, Council of Clubs.

The Mystery Gal of the Month, as described in the Altrusa Views newspaper, was correctly guessed as Mrs. John A. Hall.

Mrs. Clyde Vanderberg, chairman of the Public Affairs committee, introduced A. Wayne Carlton of Amarillo, who is associated with Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith and who spoke to the group on "Stocks and Investments."

Mr. Carlton pointed out that investors usually buy one of three types of security, 1) Common stock, which means the purchaser in reality owns a portion of the business he is buying stock in; 2) Preferred Stock, Mr. Carlton explained, has prior claim on dividends and assets, in the event a business is sold, but the dividend rate is set at the time of purchase. Stock is issued and there is not much chance for the stock to increase its dividend value; 3) Bonds, actually the purchase is lending money to the purchaser of the bonds, which also carry a set rate of interest.

"Two factors to consider before investing in any of these securities are: Do you have an adequate life insurance plan and can you maintain a cash reserve?" Reservations offered by Mr. Carlton for investing were safety and additional income. He remarked that one of the best protections against inflation is common stock, but check with a reliable investment firm before you invest money," he cautioned.

Following the program, Mrs. Inez Carter read a letter of appreciation from Gail Harris, who received her scholarship award last year.

WSCS Circle Begins Middle East Study

MIAMI (Sp)—Circle Two of the WSCS met in the First Methodist church recently with Mrs. Clyde Hodges as hostess.

Mrs. Bryant Flowers gave the devotional on "Rekindling the Gift." She told of the three religions of the Middle East: Islam "A Religion of Submission"; Hinduism "A Way of Life"; and Buddhism "A Religion of Compassion."

Mrs. Wm. E. O'Loughlin, study leader, gave the beginning lesson of the new study "The Middle East Pilgrimage."

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Orval Christopher, W. R. Holland, Joe Cunningham, Bryant Flowers, Wm. E. O'Loughlin and Clyde Hodges.

Nearly $500,000,000 was spent for foreign cars in the United States during 1957, almost double the 1956 figure.

Tot Garden Club Plans Parkway

Top O' Texas Garden Club met Tuesday with Mrs. Tom Patton, 2511 Christine with Mrs. Raymond L. Welch, president, presiding as plans were made for luncheon to be held on Feb. 17 in the Colonial Inn. Plans were also discussed for landscaping the parkway at the intersection of Perryton Parkway and 23rd; and at Duncan and Louisiana.

An interesting and informative talk on "Soil" was given by guest member of the Pampa Garden speaker, Mrs. H. H. Boynton, member of the Pampa Garden Club, who gave a resume of the history of soil, soil composition, and methods of preparing compost.

She also quoted statistics that reveal that this area has one of the richest and most productive soils found anywhere in the U.S. "The problem of lack of humus may be remedied by the addition of compost, peat moss or cotton gin waste to name a few," she said.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

The club will meet next with Mrs. Kenneth Osborne, 200 N. Sumner, at 1 p.m. on Feb. 16.

Brown and black make a wonderful color combination but only when fabric and styling are superior. Otherwise, these two together can present a shabby, dowdy appearance.

51st Year THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1959 15

Peg O' Pampa

WELL hardly know where to begin this week... seems as if this time of year, things are up in the air, so to speak. We are coasting along on the momentum from Christmas, but not yet ready for the coming Spring with its renewal of energy... all the clothes in the wardrobe are old and drab, and even favorite dresses don't look so nice any more, at least it seems that way... just a sign of the times, we guess... and also because all the new Spring clothes and fabrics are coming out in stores... Easter is quite early this year, it seems to us... and we are ready for it.

ALL AROUND THE MULBERRY BUSH... simply must say how grand the coffee or Open House Benefit for the March of Dimes was... we never saw so many people... it was held, as you know, in the home of Mrs. Joe Gordon on Tuesday of last week... and was hosted by members of the Twentieth Century Club... we were absolutely bowled over by the stunning color scheme of her home... the living room is in white, grey, black, and yellow... and is the most restful room we have seen in a long time... and has some perfectly lovely accessories in brass, tile, and mosaic which the Gordons have acquired in Mexico at various times... but most striking of all was the three-foot "stable" on the stair-landing... lit by a spotlight, and made of fantastic metal shapes intricately woven, it was indeed fascinating... everyone remarked on it... heard it was made by Dord Fitz, the Panhandles "circuit riding artist"... and in the living room, over the coffetable was a handsome kapashell hanging light fixture... with seedpod-like shapes hanging... it was very interesting... such a wonderful home... and not at all what one expects to see inside a rather Colonial house... what's off to Anna Lee Adrienne Foster was wearing a stunning two-piece ribbon-knit dress... of a rich orangey brown that was one of the most beautiful creations we have seen in ages... and we understand that she made it herself!... and we have seen Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer working on a blue-ribbon knit... wonder if she also is going to be so enterprising as to create for herself a beautiful dress... we shake our heads at such ambition and persistence as it must take to knit a dress... we can't even get some mittens done.

WE ARE GRADUALLY working our way through the blank sheet it takes to make up this column... have seen the Floyd Imels and the A. J. Beagles tanned and healthy-looking after their vacation in Phoenix, Arizona... they were planning, when they left, you know, to go to San Francisco, California... but they had so much fun in Phoenix that they just stayed on the whole time... seems there were horse-races in the daytime... and dog-races at night and between the two activities they were fantastically busy and happy... more power to them... but we're happy they came back to Pampa and didn't just stay out there permanently!... and speaking of trips... J. R. and Zee Holloway are planning a gay, mad whirl in Las Vegas, Nevada... and that's just the place for it... my word the adventures Pampa people do have... and Brian Thorley left last week for France... understand Pmpa will soon be losing its English couple... Blanche made many wonderful friends here who will miss her... and both of them have been wonderful residents... we HEARD... and we can't be wrong, that Bob Vail is on his way across the Pacific to Australia... wonderful, if true... how Claudine could let him get away by himself without going with him on such a jaunt is more than we know... and while we are on the subject, we may as well do it up brown and mention the trip to Brussels for Mrs. J. R. Spearman and her daughter, Nina... it seems Nina has been awarded a study course by the airline for which she works... and has to go to Brussels, so she is taking along Mrs. Spearman to join in the fun... my word, but this is getting to sound like a mass exodus from the city, isn't it?

ON AND ON the ocean rolls, and on and on we type until our fingers are flat on the ends like a piano player... we think that Marion George deserves a vote of thanks for the job she has done with the adult education meetings this year... in particular those of the Great Religious discussions... she has done a lot of work to put the thing over and speaking of it, last Thursday was a very interesting meeting of this "class" with Mrs. Robert McCarthy of Amarillo, who talked about Islam... Mrs. McCarthy is a native Lebanese... and was very interesting... golfing often these days are Ellen Campaign and Eva Kitchens... and Blanche Thorley... and Barbara Dobbin... and Sally McGinnis... and the two Halls... Lil and Ruthie (no relation) are often seen together playing the strike and walk game... and we saw Frances Hofess playing last Sunday... that was a real wing-ding put on by the Rotarians for their wives last week... the annual Valentine party... at the Country Club... over two-hundred people showed up for the festivities... and enjoyed immensely the color slides and talk presented by Miss Florence Coffey of Canyon on Australia... Arthur and Jeanette Aftger were there... and the Joe Tooleys and Frank and Anita Fata... the E. O. Wedgeworths... obviously we have got to stop somewhere in mentioning names of those there, considering the two-hundred we mentioned above... but we don't have to stop talking about Valentine parties... for instance... the Sub Deb Valentine Ball was a huge success... and the decorations were very attractive... a huge cupid and hearts... and Linda Kay Buchanan was surprised and deliriously happy when she was chosen Queen of the Ball... her attendants were Carolyn Hudson and Jan Foster... and they made a sweetheart pretty picture for the occasion... have you seen Johnny and Fern Hines in their new Cadillac?... and also Mrs. J. H. Kelley in her pink one... Bill and Penny Nichols have a new baby girl... we're happy that the Floyd Watsons are not leaving Pampa after all... hope Perle Mitchell is recuperating nicely after her bout with the icy streets... a nice new couple are Jerry Boston and his pretty new wife, Mary Beth... heard that Ruth Nensiel has redone her house, and that she has a dream of a kitchen with one of those gorgeous new hanging electric ranges... with an instrument panel which looks as if it would compete with that of a jet plane in complexity... Bill Hunt has a cute little boy named Jimmy who looks like his daddy... and we bet he can sing, too... Mrs. Fred Ammeter, party chairman for the March of Dimes Benefit for Kappa Kappa Iota certainly did a fine job... orchids to her... last Saturday, a week ago, there was another party shindig in Amarillo... Helen and Ruff Huff went... and Florence Jackson... amongst others we feel sure, from Pampa... the occasion was a huge art exhibit of the work of sculptor Bartsch... and painters Elaine deKoonig and Charles Bunnell... heard that it was a fine exhibition sponsored of course by the Dord Fitz galleries... what a luscious trip was had this week by Ray Wilson and Cecil Tedrow and "Buzz" Barton and "Gris" Rogers... in a converted B-25 plane they flew to Houston and dined at swank restaurants... all in the line of business... they had dinner in the swank Petroleum Penthouse Club and so forth... some people can really combine business and pleasure and more power to anyone who can!... well, getting any more information out of us would be like getting the proverbial blood out of a turnip... so, until this time next week... bye, bye.

Mary Frances Cantrell Repeats Vows With Carl Langford Jr. On Valentine's

Mrs. Carl Langford Jr. (Photo, Clarence Studio)

Miss Mary Frances Cantrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Paul Cantrell of White Deer, exchanged wedding vows with Carl Langford Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Langford Sr., 1632 E. 15th, Amarillo, in the White Deer First Baptist Church on February 14 at 7:30 p.m. with Rev. Harold Elliott of the Friendship Baptist Church, Amarillo, officiant for the double-ring vows.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Cantrell, wore a dress of Baby Blue lace. Mrs. Langford, mother of the bridegroom, chose a wool suit of French flub. Their off-shoulder corsages were of white carnations. Mrs. Howard Brown of Amarillo, bride's sister, was guest registrar.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the social hall of the church, immediately following the ceremony. The serving table was draped with floor-length bridal satin and tiers of tulle ruffles centered with a silver candelabra holding white tapers. The tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Keith DeShane, bride's sister, of Amarillo. Mrs. Harold Sorrell of Dumas ladled the punch.

Mrs. Langford was graduated from White Deer High School and is employed by the American Quarter Horse Association. Mr. Langford was graduated from Amarillo High School and is a veteran of the Korean conflict. He is employed as a supervisor by Pinkney Packing Company.

For a wedding trip, the bride travelled in a dark brown wool suit with avocado green accessories.

After Feb. 16th, the couple will be at home in Amarillo.

SHOWER

Just prior to her marriage, Mrs. Langford was honored with a miscellaneous shower on January 31 in the home of Mrs. Eugene Richardson of White Deer. Red and white, the bride's chosen colors, were used in the decorations. Pauline Brown presided at the guest register. Helen Ruth DeShane served punch. Valentine cakes, nuts and punch were served from a white linen covered table centered with red carnations and candles.

Approximately seventy guests attended or sent gifts.

Panel Discussions Planned By AAUW

A panel discussion, "Who Makes Up Your Mind?" will be the basis for the program of the February meeting of the American Association of University Women on Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the City Club Rooms.

Appearing on the panel will be Linda Skewes, Student Body President from Pampa High School; Henrietta DeNardini, representing the view-point of a person from a foreign country in America; Mrs. Kenneth Walter, Junior High School counselor, discussing the younger teen-ager's views; Mrs. John Myers, representing the homemaker and mother; and Miss Nova Mayo, speaking from the adult's angle. Miss Sybil Turner will act as moderator.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. Earl Casey and Mrs. Hershel Wilks.

Impressive Service Installs Miss Brown As Worthy Advisor Of Rainbow Order

Miss Kristi Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brown, south of the city, assumed the office of Worthy Advisor with 19 other officers of Pampa Assembly No. 95, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, in an impressive installation held recently before family and friends.

Her officers are Marianna Perkins, worthy associate advisor; Glenda Finkelstein, charity; Gail Chisum, hope; Judy Neff, faith; Nora Wells, recorder; Susan Quible, treasurer; Marjorie Warrick, chaplain; Susan Kay, drill leader; Priscilla Goodwin, love; Ellene Jones, religion; Gay Ann Simmons, nature; Paula Bullard, immortality; Mary Alice Coombes, fidelity; Karen Bonnell, patriotism; Linda Warden, service; Linda Gray, confidential observer; LaNell Riley, outer observer; Linda Meech, choir director; Sue Carole Crumrine, musician.

Serving as installation officers were Sylvia Grider, installing officer; Linda Skewes, chaplain; Sharron Summers, marshal; Kay McMurray, recorder; all Past Worthy Advisors of Pampa Assembly.

Installing musician was Lynn Egan, Worthy, Adjunct of Boyer Assembly No. 97.

Mrs. Eunice Spear, Grand Visitor, installed Mrs. Howard Brown as Mother Advisor. She also installed the advisory board.

Owen Handley, Past Worshipful Master, Pampa Lodge No. 956, presented the gavel of office to Miss Brown.

Following the introduction of her father and little sister, Sylvia, Miss Brown introduced honored guests, Marsha Bruns, grand representative from Vermont to Texas; Mrs. Eunice Spear, Grand Visitor; Jo Ann Speir, Past Grand Confidential Observer; and Shirley Hankhouse, past junior member of the Grand Examining committee.

Miss Brown was escorted through the Rainbow Garden where she was presented with a flower representing each color station.

The new Worthy Advisor received her Worthy Advisor's pin from Kay McMurray at the same time Miss Brown presented the Past Worthy Advisor's pin to Miss McMurray.

Each of the new officers carried a rainbow. A huge Rainbow and Pot O' Gold in the east decorated the Assembly Room.

The worthy advisor's favored colors of red and white were carried in the table decorations, where a white net cloth highlighted with tiny red bows was centered with a rainbow surrounded by red and white flowers.

Flora Glenn Simons, James E. Wooley Repeat Vows In First Christian Church

Wedding vows were pledged by long sleeves closed with white pearl buttons. She wore a fingertip hairline veil of Brussels lace secured to a half-hat and carried a colonial bouquet of white French carnations centered with a gardenia.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Simons of Abilene. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wooley, west of the city.

Double-ring vows were made amid a setting of magnolia leaves from a 76-year-old Magnolia tree planted by the bride's great-grandfather in Gladewater.

Mrs. Sandra Rhodes at the organ and Gaston Dixon of Ranger, soloist, provided the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in waltz-length white velveteen fashioned with a scoop neckline and long sleeves.

Miss Joyce Henderson of Abilene served as maid of honor. Miss Phyllis Shipp, bride's cousin of Gladewater, was bridesmaid. They wore street-length sheaths of emerald green velveteen designed with three-quarter length sleeves. They wore white lace chapel caps and carried colonial bouquets of white French carnations.

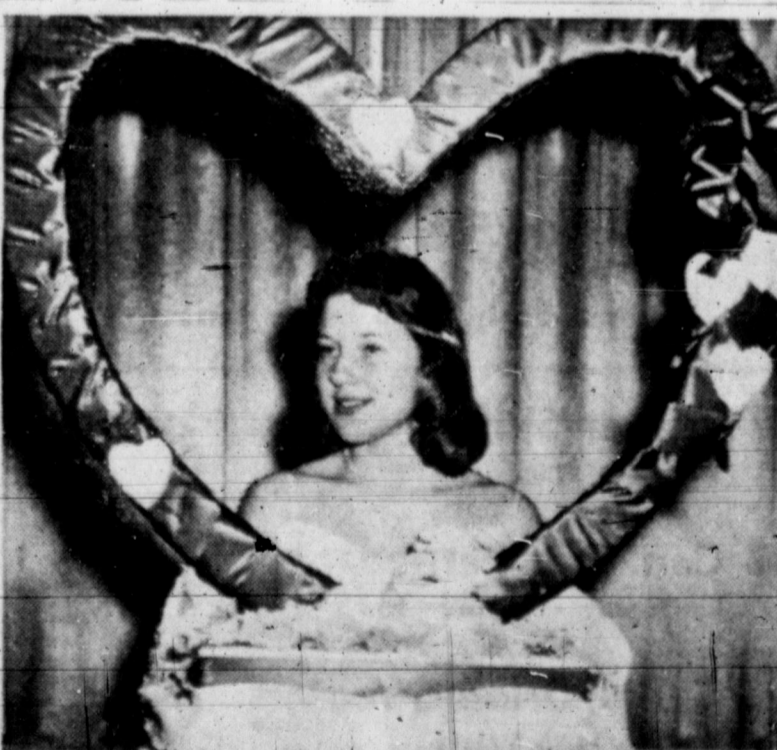

For Wooley, bridegroom a brother, was best man. G. W. Yeargain of Lubbock served as groomsman. Seating the wedding guests were Jim Pritchard of Lubbock and Charles Ely of Pampa.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Assisting with the reception were Linda Musick, Neta Milner, Grace Keller, Cella Black, Johnny Wilson, Betty Peterson, Mary Wilson, Jeannette Shipp and Clarence Shipp.

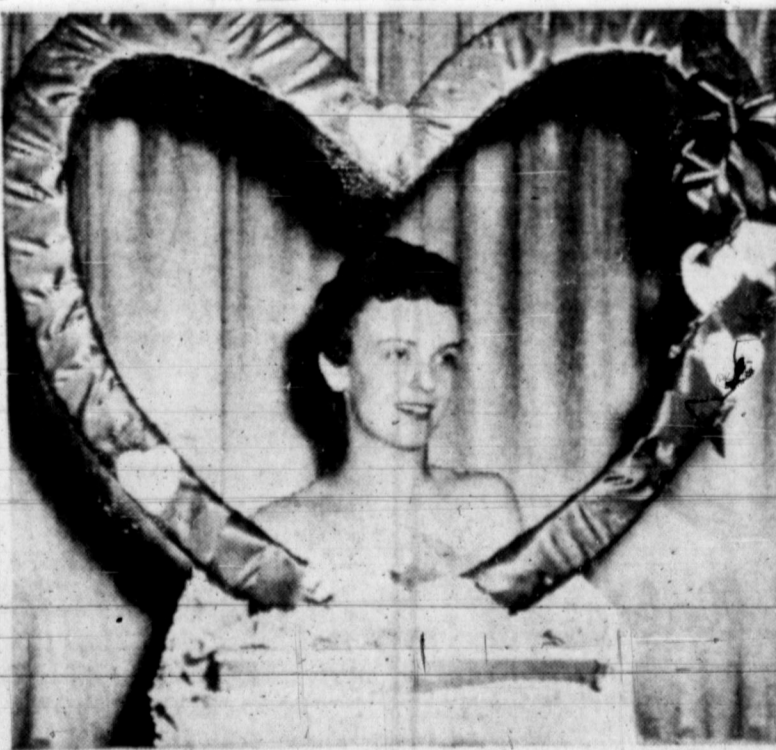

For a wedding trip to Dallas, the bride traveled in a two-piece blue wool suit with matching blue sather bag and shoes complemented with a white felt hat and white kid gloves.

The bride attended Texas Technological College. The bridegroom has served in the Marine Corp and is now a junior student at Texas Tech. They will make their home at 1511-28, Lubbock, where the bridegroom will continue his studies.

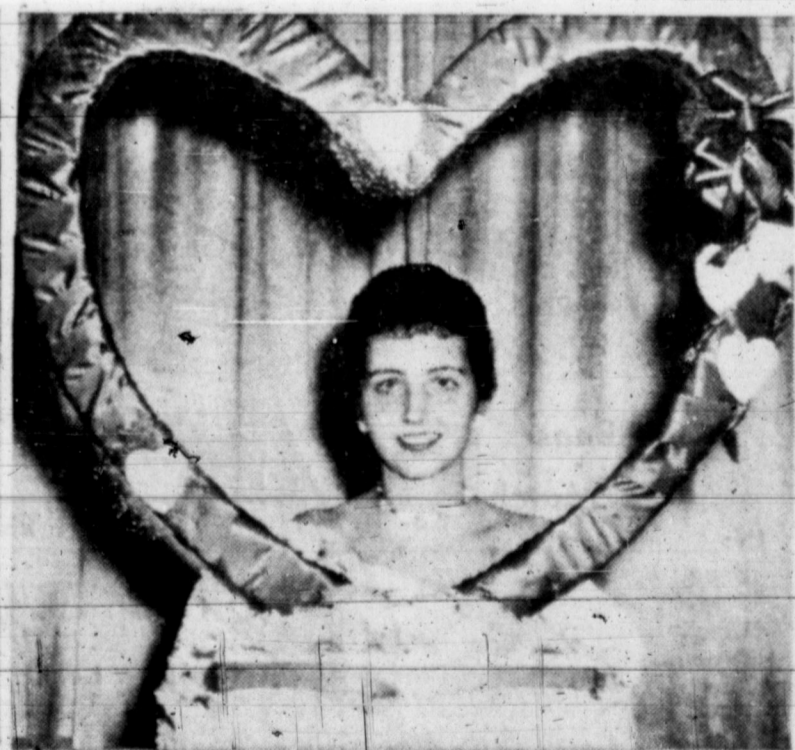

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Paxton, of El Dorado, Ark., aunt and uncle of the bride, were hosts for a rehearsal dinner in Arthur's Cafeteria, for members of the wedding party.

YOU and YOUR HOME by Jack Foster

Planned For Today And Tomorrow

One of the most outstanding features of the successful "home of today" is its adaptability. Every detail is worked out to cope with the changing needs of family members... individually and collectively. This, of course, calls for a furnishing and decorating plan that is readily adaptable to the expanding interests of the growing family. Often rooms which were formerly limited to one special activity — the kitchen, for instance — become dual and even triple-purpose rooms.

The combination kitchen and children's playroom sketch above is a case in point. Open shelf units combined with chest form a convenient room divider, separate play space from work center, and make it easy for mother to keep an eye on the toddlers while she does her kitchen chores.

Drop-leaf table placed against the back of the chest-and-shelf group, saves kitchen space and is handy for serving breakfast, noon-day snacks, and family dinners. Desk in corner of play area accommodates the entire family. Play pen can be folded away when not in use.

Here is a room well-planned for today and tomorrow. Later on, when the children have outgrown the toddler stage, these furnishings can be rearranged to convert the present play area into an attractive dining setting.

You'll love the note of honey cheerfulness that maple furniture will add to your dining area. Choose from a large selection in our stock, ready for your inspection today!

FEBRUARY BIRTHDAYS — Celebrating birthdays this month along with other illustrious citizens are a group of senior citizens, who meet each Thursday in Lovett Memorial Library. Celebrating the occasion at a recent meeting, completed with birthday cake and gifts, were seated, left to right, Mrs. Mattie Fountain on Feb. 5; Mrs. Eva Conley on Feb. 3; Mrs. Lola Webster on Feb. 20; Mrs. Mandy Little on Feb. 8; Mrs. Nellie Osborne on Feb. 18; Mrs. C. T. Nicholson on Feb. 2; standing, back row, left to right; A. G. Richards on Feb. 8; F. E. Barnes, on Feb. 5; Jerry Towie on Feb. 15; Jack Leshar on Feb. 11; N. A. Cobb on Feb. 11.

Twentieth Century Forum's Program Brings Out "Alaska Is Not For Sissies"

Mrs. D. M. Lawrence was hostess to the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Twentieth Century Forum Club with Mrs. W. Calvin Jones, president, presiding during the business session.

A program on "Alaska" was given by Mrs. Arthur Teed and Mrs. Roy Bourland. To begin her paper on "Alaska," Mrs. Teed said, "The name Alaska means 'the unknown country.' Its area is 585,000 square miles, which is 2 1/2 times the size of Texas. The coastal region has mild winters, cool summers, and much rain. The scenery there is spectacular, the harbors are quite good."

"The central plateau has cold winters often 70 degrees below with hot summers, temperatures range from 90 to 100 degrees. There are broad expanses of plateaus dotted by mountains and drained by the Yukon River. The subsoil is frozen the entire year; only the top soil thaws and is fertile.

Fairbanks, with its two large airforce bases, is the largest town in this area, it has a population of about 35,000 and is the center of most tours over Alaska. Nome, well known because of its colorful history, is also located on the east coast. The third division of Alaska is the Arctic slope. Mostly Eskimos live in this region; it consists of mountains, valleys, and is mostly barren. On the arctic slope or Eskimo Country, the two main cities are Kotzebue, which is the largest Eskimo village in Alaska; however, there are hotel accommodations located here. The other city is Pt. Barrow with a population of 600. Located here is a monument for Will Rogers and a Wiley Post whose plane crashed nearby.

"The Eskimos," Mrs. Teed continued, "are described as a merry, gentle, intelligent people. More than any other natives, they have preserved their ancient customs, traditions, habits, and languages; yet, they are a mixture of ancient and modern. They are mostly fur trappers and fishermen, but still do ivory carving, drum-making and basket-weaving."

"Probably," she said, "the most important contribution, next to aviation, in the development of Alaska has been the Alaska Highway, which links Canada with the unexplored interior of Alaska. It begins at Dawson Creek, B.C., follows a north-westerly direction 1527 miles to Fairbanks. It is 26 feet wide, is dirt with a compact gravel surface; it can get very muddy in spots in the rainy season and dusty in the dry season. It is not an easy drive to motorists accustomed to paving, but if taken slowly and with good sense, it is an experience one will never forget. One should have two extra tires, flashlight, heater, fire extinguisher and tire changing kit, but one will marvel at the beauty and grandeur every mile of the way."

Mrs. Bourland continued the program by telling of Alaska and its statehood. She said that on the last day of June, 1958, there was much celebration with the Anchorage newspaper spelling out the reason for the pandemonium in seven inch headline that shouted, "We're In."

"Alaska's struggle for statehood has been a long hard one. It began as early as 1891 when gold was first discovered in Yukon territory. In 1912, Congress gave Alaska some self-government by making it a territory under the Interior Department. It was in 1916 that Alaska's delegate to Congress introduced the first bill asking for statehood; this was the start of Alaska's uphill struggle — a 42-year fight. There was much opposition to statehood from both Alaska's people and the people of the United States, but gradually, this hard-core of opposition melted. One reason was strategic... to protect and to counter the Soviet threat, the U.S. Army and Air Force built a shield of air bases and radar centers across Alaska. The Red Fortress of Siberia lies only 54 miles away. A second reason, why Alaska achieved statehood was economic... only two percent of Alaska's area has been probed, but 31 of the 33 strategic minerals required to keep U.S. defense in tip-top shape have been discovered in Alaska."

Mrs. Bourland continued, "What does the future hold for Alaska? The number one problem is transportation; it has fewer than 5,000 miles of roadways, only 1200 miles of this are paved. Another major problem is agriculture; only 3,000 acres of Alaskan land is tillable of 1 per cent of the total land area. The Federal government encourages homesteading and will give a man 160 acres of potential farm land, but the homesteader must live on the land and build a dwelling on the homestead. Today, Alaskans import more than 95 per cent of their food. That, alone, poses another problem. Food prices are from 20 to 65 per cent higher than in Seattle... everything costs more; haircut, $2.50, shoe shine, 50 cents and milk, 60 cents qt."

"Last year's discovery of oil could not have been more fortunately planned. Revenue from leases, royalties and severance tax on the oil and gas taken out could be substantial. Oil will not only help Alaska financially, it will bring in the kind of people who are needed, the people who have risk capital to spend."

Mrs. Bourland concluded, "Most Alaskans have great expectations. They are prepared to make their state not only the biggest, but the

Story Of "Lady With The Lamp" Told At Tuesday Meeting Of Varietas Club

Varietas Study Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Price Doster, 2301 Duncan, with Mrs. Joe Weaver in charge of the short business session during which reports were given from the club women and the Council of Clubs.

Mrs. Lee Harrah gave the thought for the day. From an unknown writer, she quoted, "Let us be faithful to duty; let us be loyal and unselfish, let us be true to our obligation; let us obey rules and regulations; let us love one another. Last, no garden is complete without turnips; Turn up for meetings, turn up with a smile; turn up with new ideas and turn up with new determination to make everything count for something good and worthwhile."

"So long as we love, we serve" was the theme for the program on "The Need For More Nurses" presented by Mrs. C. L. McKinney. She stated, "Charles Dickens caricatured Mrs. Sairy Gamp with her grimy clothes and gin bottle was no overdrawn portrait of the nurse of his day. The spiritual decadence following the Reformation was also marked by a decline in the ministry of healing and the art of nursing." Mrs. McKinney remarked "It was no small wonder that the parents of Florence Nightingale tried to stamp out her desire to be a nurse, manifested at the age of six. Her American contemporary and counterpart Clara Barton, started nursing at the age of eleven.

Mrs. McKinney introduced Miss Beverly Russell, graduate nurse, who was the afternoon's speaker. Miss Russell told the group that Florence Nightingale, foundress of the nursing profession, was born in Florence, Italy in 1820. Her family had both wealth and social position and believed in equality of educational advantages for men and women.

"For the times, she was fortunate to be well-educated. At seventeen, she wrote that God had called her. The epitome of modern nursing and immortalized as the Lady With the Lamp, she lifted this loathed and lowly occupation to the level of high calling worthy of heaven's blessings. Because of her parent's opposition, she did not enter nursing as a life work until she was 30 years of age.

Miss Russell said, "While there are more fields open to nursing graduates, more rising educational standards, nursing improvements, such as a five-day, forty-hour week, in that group few stay with the profession."

"The end result of all this," she continued, "is that while there has been a definite trend towards bettering professional nurses in education and working time, we still are losing in the numbers of nurses that are graduated and qualified each year. We need to improve the nursing care rendered but for the time, at least, the hope that the nursing problem will be met by professional nurses is just that, a hope."

Miss Russell listed six functions of professional registered nurses in a hospital: 1) supervision of a complete and comprehensive nursing care plan for the patient; 2) observation, interpretation, and evaluation of patient's symptoms and needs, both physical and mental; 3) carrying out the legal and complete orders of physicians for medication and treatment; 4) performing nursing procedures and techniques, especially those based on technical information; 5) supervision of auxiliary help including LVN practical nurses and health workers; 6) accurately recording and reporting facts and evaluation of patients' care.

In conclusion, Miss Russell said, "The effect of the nurse shortage on the hospital staff makes it less able to give adequate nursing care for hospital patients." She pointed

Tourists Eye-View Of Guam And Hawaii Highlights Civic Culture Guest Day Tea

Civic Culture Club entertained with a Guest Day Tea on Tuesday afternoon in Lovett Memorial Library. "Guam" as seen by Mrs. Emmett Osborne and "Hawaii" as seen by Mrs. A. D. Hills comprised the afternoon's program.

The tea table was covered with a handmade linen cloth, brought back by Mrs. Osborne, centered with an arrangement of woodrosettes, brought back by Mrs. Hills, arranged in a low, black lacquered bowl inlaid with pearl, pineapples and coconut cookies, and nuts were served from dishes of inlaid mother of pearl. Mrs. R. E. Dauer presided at the Hawaiian punch service. Japanese paper napkins completed the table appointments.

Hostesses were Mrs. A. C. Houchin, Willis White, W. C. Scott, R. E. Dauer, Emmett Osborne and A. D. Hills.

Guests were registered in a Japanese handprinted guest book, and presented with courtesy tickets, decorated with a miniature paper lei, to Guam by way of Wake Island and Hawaii.

Guam, as seen by Mrs. Osborne, brought out that the island is about 6,000 miles from San Francisco and is the largest and most southern of the Mariana Islands in the South Pacific. It is an unincorporated territory of the United States. Guamanians were granted U.S. citizenship in August, 1950. Agaña is the capital.

"The temperature rarely goes below 70 degrees nor above 90 degrees. However, since Guam is approximately 800 miles from the equator, the temperature is deceiving," Mrs. Osborne said. "They have two distinct seasons, wet and dry. Most of the over 70 inches of annual rainfall comes in July through September.

"It is the biggest little place," Mrs. Osborne continued, "One is not aware of its small size while there, but it is less than 225 square miles in area. The water of the ocean is so very blue. It appears almost as if it had been dyed. The scene at Umatic City and Bay is one of unique beauty. The jungle and abundant undergrowth is sure to take over any man-made structure that is left unattended in a short while. Matter of fact, the abundant growth soon covered many of the war scars and horrible zens. Pearl Harbor was most enjoyable and educational. The guide gave a running account of the happenings of that horrible day, Dec. 7, 1941, when Pearl Harbor was struck by the Japanese.

Auxiliary Buys Grave Markers

American Legion Auxiliary met Tuesday evening in the City Club Room with Mrs. W. A. Breining, president, presiding during the business meeting. Following the treasurer's report by Mrs. J. M. Turner, it was decided that since the Poppy Fund is depleted one of the bonds be sold and the money placed in that fund.

It was announced that 24 grave markers had been purchased. Members voted cooperation with the American Legion in their district convention to be held in Pampa, April 25-26. A committee composed of Mrs. J. M. Turner, Bessie Foster, Joe Shelton, Lee Harrah, W. A. Breining, F. M. Shokell, J. C. Coston and Ray Martin, were appointed to meet with the Legion for further planning.

Mrs. Coston was named as Girl's State chairman. It was voted to order 4,000 poppies to be sold on Poppy Day.

For the program, Mrs. Turner read an article on Americanism. The next meeting will be held on March 5 with Mrs. Joe Shelton and Mrs. Jack Graham as hostesses.

out factors that have helped create nurse shortage were the growing population, increase in the number of hospitals and increase in number of patients in hospitals between 1946-56, an increase of 40 per cent; number of hospital beds increased 20 per cent; admissions to hospitals showed a 41 per cent increase.

To conclude the program, Mrs. McKinney remarked that opportunities unlimited await the industrial nurse, the school nurse and the nurse in teaching and administrative fields. "Wherever she goes, she will touch a myriad of lives, her training is matched by commensurate dedication. Her reward will not always be found in remuneration for her fire, but she will find unsurpassed joy in walking in the footsteps of the Master, who went out doing good and healing all that were oppressed."

Refreshments were served to Miss Russell and Mrs. Cecil Dalton, C. L. McKinney, P. E. Yarbrough, J. H. Hopkins, R. W. Lane, Lee Harrah, H. H. Bratcher, Joe Weaver, Ralph Thomas, Sherman White, J. E. Kirchman, W. A. Waggoner, Luther Pierson, J. H. Volmert, W. H. Hampton, S. C. Evans, J. G. Doggett, C. O. Drew, H. H. Butler, J. R. Speakerman, and Otis Nace.

Bookkeepers Lament

There are such things as useful forms!

We are referring to the paper variety, and we repeat this phrase over to ourselves many times a day during this time of the year. The reason is that this above all is the period of time in which government forms descend upon us in an avalanche. And it is imperative that tempers be controlled. Now, where did that "W" form for "Cladibus van Leperschwartz" go?

As we were saying, some paper forms do have a use. For example, there are the coupons you can see in the newspaper which contain a place for your name and address and which, if torn out and forwarded, will inform an advertiser that you want his product at the same time. It tells him where to send it. Now, that's a useful form.

And there are the ordinary printed forms for single and double entry bookkeeping. They have a practical application and make sense.

And there are price tags and guarantees and other printed memoranda that help to spin the wheels of industry and progress.

But by the exploding masses from Cape Canaveral, whoever or whatever dreamed up all the various governmental forms and the complicated sets of instructions necessary to wade thru them? And to what purpose?

Now, let's see, where did we stop? Oh, yes. Form 1040 Schedule C.

Did you file an Employer Quarterly Tax Return, Form 941? How do we know?

What was that, Mr. B? Yes, this year we have to file state Form 104 E.S., because we have to estimate earnings for the coming year both for the state and the federal government. Sure, it's double taxation! Well, it's what the voters seem to want. They keep voting for these lunk-heads in office.

Temper, temper. "Salaries and wages not included on line 4, rent on business property, interest on business indebtedness, taxes on business and business property, losses of business property — attach statement — bad debts arising from sales or services, depreciation — explain in Schedule C-1 — Repairs — Explain in Schedule C-2, Depletion of mines, oil and gas wells, timber, etc. — attach schedule — amortization." Who do they think they are kidding?

Yes, there must be some forms that are useful. But what does the government do with all this paper work? There must be miles and miles of blank forms gathering dust in thousands and thousands of filing cases somewhere along the Potomac!

Here's one for you. "Schedule D. Computation of Alternative Tax — Use only if the net long-term capital gain exceeds the net short-term capital gain or if there is a net long-term capital gain only, and you are filing (a) a separate return with taxable income exceeding $10,000, or (b) a joint return, or as a surviving husband or wife, with taxable income exceeding $30,000, or (c) as a head of household with taxable income

"Can Labor Clean Its Own House?"

Sylvester Petro, in his address before the Congress of American Industry, published as an essay on "Can Labor Clean Its Own House?", relates how the National Labor Relations Board does not declare unfair labor practice for labor unions to intimidate members into joining.

On the other hand, the board found it easy to declare the employer unfair as prescribing every conceivable type of employer pressure as unfair, but not the unions unfair for doing the same thing.

Under the above heading Dr. Petro completes the article in this manner:

"And so, while the Senate committee has been rehashing in the case of employer 'corruption' only conduct which the board has been very curiously retrained, thus far at least, from inquiring into the methods by which unions are daily coercing the free choice of employees. To put the matter another way it has been preoccupied with the surface manifestations of trade union corruption — the 'cheap bribery, double dealing, and the embezzling.' It has not been concerned at all with even the deeper manifestations of corruption — the violence and the compulsion which underlie so much of modern American trade unionism. More important even than that, the committee has not revealed any understanding at all of the fundamental causes of both the deeper and the more superficial forms of corruption.

Submarine Markers Due Some Scrutiny

WASHINGTON — Those mysterious "radioactive submarine position markers" are slated for official congressional scrutiny.

The headline-making Senate Preparedness Investigating Committee has decided to look into this secrecy-shrouded matter in a new series of hearings starting later this month.

These extraordinary large, steel radioactive underwater devices are strongly suspected of being Russian.

Navy authorities are convinced they are "position markers" for use by Soviet submarines for launching nuclear-armed missiles against U.S. and Canadian coastal cities and other targets.

The Senate committee's inquiry into these sinister Red devices will be part of an overall survey of Navy strength, weapons and capabilities. Particular emphasis will be placed on underwater warfare, and the development of effective defenses against Russian submarines and admitted numerical superiority in submarines.

This explosive probe will be directed by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, Tex., assisted by Senator Stuart Symington (D., Mo.), long a militant critic of Administration defense policies.

As disclosed by this column several weeks ago, the Canadian Navy first discovered the mysterious underwater "position markers" off the Atlantic coast. Subsequently the U.S. Navy found them off both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, in some instances imbedded on the ocean floors up to depths of 1,000 ft.

A few were located within both the U.S. and Canadian three-mile limit.

While only about a score of these Soviet devices have so far been uncovered, U.S. and Canadian officials estimate "hundreds" have been planted off the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean.

The latter two are vital shipping lanes, especially for oil.

Since this column's disclosure of this grim discovery, Navy press officials have given a variety of replies to inquiries regarding it.

First, newsman were told nothing was known about the "position markers." That was followed with "No comment" and "We can't discuss the matter." Latest answer to reporters is, "It's classified, and nothing can be said about it."

However, Navy sources have privately admitted the existence of these submarine "position markers."

"Workers who have become accustomed to being pushed around, who, owing to the failures of government to do their basic job, are used to the rigorous controls of compulsory union methods, are in a position to do very little about cleaning up things. They can do nothing but bear the oppression and exploitation of their leadership. Moreover, it would be ill-advised to expect any real forward-looking action from the leadership.

Let The Market Decide

"If union leaders are to be kept in line, they must remain exposed. Like everyone else in a free business when they do not perform satisfactorily. Instead of making a union the exclusive bargaining representative for all employees, in a firm when it has been selected by only some, the law should see that those who object to the union retain their basic right, as free men, to fend for themselves. When men are forced in the first place to join unions, forced in the second place to go along with all plans and programs conceived by their leaders, a real forced in the third place to keep their jobs (and maybe their health) — it is not at all surprising to find a good many trade-union leaders less than responsive to or honest with their membership.

"Power acquired by force and subject to no continuing functional check is bound to corrupt. Corporate managements are kept in line by the right of stockholders to move their equities when they are dissatisfied and by the right of consumers and other purchasers to take their patronage elsewhere without let or hindrance when price or quality are poor. If the house of labor is to be clean, the same general principles must be applied there, with the workingmen of the nation in the position of stockholders and consumers. It is as absurd to expect good clean unionism in conditions of extensive compulsory unionism, as it would be to expect good government in a society where the divine right of kings or the dictatorship of the proletariat was the central political principle."

It's Up To You

Commies Gave Exuberant Acclaim

In no quarter did the action of the Cleveland World Order Conference of the National Council of Churches receive such exuberant acclaim as from the Communists. Their national paper, The Worker, gleefully headlined "38 Million Protestants Tell Ike: Recognize China." The article beneath that headline refers to the address of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at Cleveland and exults in the unanimous repudiation of his policy by the Conference. The Worker is equally happy because the Conference unanimously urged the admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

In our opinion, the greater part of the 38 million Protestants do not approve the action of the Cleveland Conference and will be very unhappy about the propaganda the Communists are making concerning it.

Other groups that are profoundly discouraged over the action of the Conference are the native Christians in mainland China, Indo-China, Indonesia and the Moluccan Islands. These people must now feel that their hope of achieving freedom and the right to practice the Christian religion has received a well-nigh fatal blow from those whom they had every right to expect would be their friends. Many will no doubt conclude that there is little reason to strive for the principles in which they believe if Christians who still enjoy freedom in America are willing to sell down the river as they plan and propagandize in favor of strengthening, perpetuating, recognizing and fraternizing with their savage enemies who are determined to destroy — Christianity and freedom everywhere.

Think of the effect on Christians in Taiwan, the Philippine Islands, Thailand, New Zealand and Australia as they see their Christian brethren in the United States working for the enhancement of the power and prestige of their nearby mortal enemies — Christians working for the aggrandizement of those who have sworn to destroy everything for which Christianity stands.

Communism is strong today because Christian people have fed it, clothed it, armed it, financed it, recognized it, shared patents, industrial and scientific know-how and strategic materials.

Never in all history have the leaders of a civilization and a great religion been so determined upon their own destruction as the leaders of our Western Christian civilization today. Their goodwill is admirable but their shortsightedness and lack of critical analytical power is the great catastrophe of this age.

In 1952, only 8,500 U.S. families had back yard swimming pools; at the start of 1958, the number had increased to 87,500.

New Episode In Gas Scramble Set For FPC Monday

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
 United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The next episode in a three-way competitive scramble for new natural gas business in the northern Midwest opens Monday before the Federal Power Commission.

The commission will hear more arguments on a $112,383,000 joint proposal by Midwestern Gas Transmission Co., Houston, and its parent, Tennessee Gas Transmission, to supply gas to the Chicago-Gary area.

This will mark another step in their long and stubborn battle to set up an interlocking pipeline system that ultimately would enable Midwestern to tap Virginia markets in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota with Tennessee's gas and gas imported from Canada.

AWARDS RIFLE CONTRACT
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army has announced approval of a $4,116,250 contract with the Olin Mathieson Company for production of 35,000 new lightweight rifles.

POPE STARTS BROADCASTS
 TOKYO (UPI) — Pope John XXIII will inaugurate a regular Vatican Radio broadcast service to Japan with a speech on Monday, it was announced today.

NEITHER RUSSIA NOR WEST CAN RETREAT FROM BERLIN
 By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Editor

The tough thing about the Berlin situation is that neither Soviet Russia nor the Western powers can afford to retreat very far.

As of now, the Russians say they will turn over to their East German satellite controls for all means in and out of Berlin, including West Berlin, on May 27. Along with this, they demand that the 10,000 Western troops in Berlin be removed before that date and West Berlin made a "free" city within the Communist zone.

NO ARMOR NEEDED!

Oil Fields Can Be Safer Than 'Home'

Pampa employees of Halliburton presented the company's 52 local Oil Well Cementing Co. who help employees as the division was set a new safety record last named winner of the nation-wide year, were represented at Wichita, employee-injury contest for 1958.

Computer Age Coming to Oil Industry In The Near Future

TULSA (UPI) — The computer age is coming to the oil industry. One of the latest tasks to which the electronic brain has been assigned involves the petroleum industry's efforts to squeeze more oil out of "played out fields."

One of the principal means for doing this has been waterflooding, the forcing of oil out of a reservoir by injection of water. In this day of high drilling costs, this is becoming increasingly important to the economy of the industry.

Eddleman To Command US Army Forces

Personality Spotlight: United Press International Lt. Gen. Clyde D. Eddleman, Commander U.S. Army, Europe, has been named to command all U.S. Army forces facing the Iron Curtain in Europe... He is Lt. Gen. Clyde D. Eddleman, who President Eisenhower nominated Thursday for promotion to full general and named to the post of commander in chief, United States Army Europe.

Lent, Time To Relinquish Secret Sins

By Dr. Robert E. Van Deusen, National Lutheran Council: The 40 weekdays preceding Easter are a time of serious and painful thinking, when we try to understand more deeply the sufferings of Christ. How should Lent be observed? By giving up candy, or cigarettes, or movies? I shrink from the comparison of such trivial self-denial with the deep suffering in the heart of Christ which was the price of our redemption.

Adams Commended For Membership

WHEELER (Sp) - Carroll Adams, commander of the West-Pasadena American Legion Post No. 138, recently received a commendation from Department Commander J. Walter Janko. Janko stated, "On behalf of the American Legion Department of Texas, I want to extend to you my personal congratulations for having attained your 1959 quota."

Neuberger Preparing To Resume Normal Schedule

Editor's Note: Last fall, Sen. Richard L. Neuberger, Democrat from Oregon, underwent surgery for removal of a cancerous tumor. Today, he is en route back to Washington, grateful for being alive. In this dispatch, Neuberger speaks frankly of his experience and, as he prepares to "resume a normal schedule of activity" - his physicians' words - offers a message of hope to other cancer sufferers. He also speaks, from the basis of what he feels this country must do to bring the possibility of cure to all cancer victims.

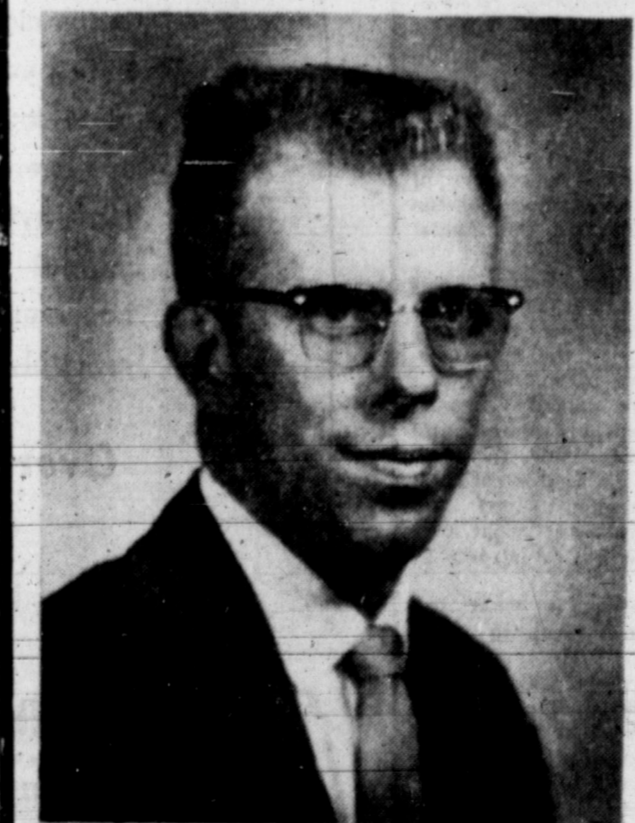

Tax Deductions Talked Here

Personal exemption situations relating to allowable deductions on Federal tax returns for 1958 were detailed here today by the Internal Revenue Service. IRS also reminded taxpayers to hang on to cancelled checks and receipts supporting tax deductions. Willy E. Davis of IRS, Pampa, reminded area taxpayers that the deduction for a dependent is $600. There are no additional exemptions for age or blindness in the case of dependents.

Business Views

United Press International: Gulf Oil Corp. cut the price it pays for crude oil from west Texas and southeastern New Mexico by as much as 28 cents a barrel. Similar cuts have been made by Texaco, Magnolia, Phillips and Shell. Retail sales dipped slightly in January from their high December level, the Commerce Department reported. Sales totaled $16,340,000, down 0.3 per cent from December after allowance for the normal seasonal post-Christmas decline.

GEORGE NEEF, JR.

It is so crucially important if I can stand in the Senate and stress to my colleagues that my own life has been spared, because I have had a type of cancer which has responded to a discovery thus far made in the realm of medical research. Is it not vital that we devote every effort to extending these discoveries, if possible, into other areas of cancer where successful treatment has not yet been achieved? Does it make sense to invest in cancer research only about one per cent of what we spend on research into armaments and weapons of war? Two out of every three American families are in peril of affliction from cancer.
