

Dulles Illness Won't Be 'Used'

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration is determined to prevent Russia from exploiting the illness of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to gain an advantage in the Berlin crisis.

President Eisenhower made it clear Wednesday that there will be no softening of the Allied position in the face of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's statement that there would be war if the Western powers tried to shoot their way through a Communist blockade.

Diplomatic quarters interpreted Khrushchev's statement as a Russian attempt to throw a monkey wrench into Allied strategy and present the West with a new challenge while Dulles is hospitalized. The President told his news conference that Khrushchev "must be talking about shooting to stop us from doing our duty."

Eisenhower added: "We are not saying that we are going to shoot our way into Berlin. We say we are just going to go and continue carrying out our responsibilities, so that if we are stopped it will be somebody else using force."

The President also emphasized that Dulles will continue to help guide U.S. foreign policy from his hospital bed at Walter Reed Army Medical Center where he starts undergoing radiation treatment for cancer Friday.

Eisenhower declared that he would be no change in the West-ern strategy for a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting because of the cabinet member's illness. He said that he and Dulles decided during a talk Tuesday at the hospital that the meeting should go "right ahead."

mind and spirit are "what we want."

In answer to another question, the President said he had given no thought to appointing a "chief negotiator" to substitute for Dulles if the Russians agree to the proposed foreign ministers' meeting.

He said that Dulles' views are well known and he is backed up by able men of his own choosing. For that reason, Eisenhower said, it is not likely there will be any need to hold the foreign ministers' conference in the United States because of Dulles' present disability.

Ike Leaves Austin For Mexican Trip

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—President Eisenhower left behind a drizzling rain and snow today as he winged across the Rio Grande into sunny Mexico for a two-day informal get-acquainted chat at Ray Araculio with Mexico's new president, Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Eisenhower hoped to be able to trade his heavy topcoat and hat for short sleeves when he arrived at the glittering Pacific resort for a leisurely lunch aboard Lopez Mateos' yacht.

The President made an overnight rest stop at Bergstrom Air Force Base near Austin to break his 2,200 mile journey from Washington.

Flaherty Files For Mayor Here

Vincent W. Flaherty, 419 Edith, became the first candidate for mayor Wednesday when he filed for election with City Secretary Ed Vicars.

Flaherty, construction worker for Fox Rig and Reel Co., is an executive man and single. He is 34.

Mayor Lynn Boyd, the incumbent whose term expires in April, told the Daily News he will not file for re-election.

Two terms are enough for anyone," Mayor Boyd said. When the mayor steps down it will mark the end of a political career spanning four terms as City Commissioner and two terms as mayor.

A likely candidate for mayor—but one who has not yet filed—is City Commissioner Ed Myatt, the present Commissioner for Ward 1. Persons close to city politics believe City Commissioners Jack Vaughn and R. K. Parsley will run again. Ward 4 Commissioner Bob Olson, however, has said he would not file for re-election.

Two persons have to date filed for city commissioner posts. John M. Truby, (Ward 1) and H. C. Hall, (Ward 3).

Debbie Seeks Divorce From Eddie Today

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Movie-land's "perfect" marriage crashes to an end today when Debbie Fisher, shattering a classic triangle involving the couple and sultry Elizabeth Taylor.

In seeking an uncontested divorce bouncy, 26-year-old Debbie asked custody of the couple's children, Carrie, 2, and Todd, 1, in addition to a cash settlement and the family home.

Tousle-haired Eddie, 30, gains his freedom and an opportunity to marry Liz, 28, widow of his late friend Mike Todd.

The 3½ year Debbie-Eddie marriage, founded last summer when the widow Todd and Fisher junketed to New York for a whirl of nightclubs and a side trip to Eddie and Debbie's honeymoon idyll in the Catskills.

Disagreement over property settlement delayed filing of suit, according to Debbie's lawyer, Frank Belcher, who said an agreement was reached last Monday after lengthy meetings with Martin Gang, Fisher's attorney.

At the time of their separation Fisher said he would take full blame for the failure of the marriage and would not contest a divorce.

Shortly thereafter the former bobby-sox idol and his brunette girl friend began dating steadily. Last week Eddie and Debbie attended movies and played host and hostess at parties. On one occasion Miss Taylor visited Fisher during his network television show—which has since been canceled and will go off the air shortly.

Over Million Raised For Charities By Liberal Gray County

Approximately $1,263,900 was raised in Pampa and Gray County during 1958 for all philanthropic purposes, according to an analysis just completed by Community Service Bureau of Dallas.

This total includes annual budgets and capital funds raised for all religious needs and all other types of organizations and institutions in the community.

Based on statistical data gathered by the Bureau, it is conservatively estimated that philanthropic contributions in Texas during the year just ended amounted to $390,000,000, an increase of 6 per cent over 1957.

The estimated total for the United States was $17,100,000,000, according to statistical data released by the American Association of Fund Raising Councils. This, too, was a national increase of approximately 6 per cent.

Yarborough Hit By Daniel For His 'School' Blasting

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. Price Daniel has labeled as "untrue" and "wholly misleading" statements by Sen. Ralph Yarborough on the state's public school needs.

Daniel issued a statement Wednesday sharply attacking Yarborough's comment that the government of Texas "is blind to the needs of education."

The governor said Yarborough's attack "is not only untrue, but it is an insult to this administration and to the legislature which provided the greatest increase in public school and college appropriations in the history of Texas."

Yarborough leveled his charge in a convention speech Tuesday at Atlantic City, N. J.

"In his usual anxiety to criticize and denude other people, especially those in his own state, Sen. Yarborough has overlooked the facts which make it clear that our government and our people are wide awake to the needs of education," Daniel said.

Daniel offered three points to back his case:

"This administration recommended and the 55th legislature adopted for this biennium an increase of 23 million dollars, approximately 30 per cent higher than the previous biennium. This included an increase of 26 per cent in teaching salaries."

"Upon my recommendation 49 million dollars for increases in public school teachers' salaries and an increase of 20 million dollars for improvements in the teacher retirement system."

"This administration recommended and the legislature provided for Hale-Aikin state-wide study for further improvements in public schools, which was participated in by more than 33,000 Texans representing every county in the state. These recommendations are now before the legislature and I have recommended their adoption and financing at the earliest possible time."

KILLED MOTHER-IN-LAW

Steelworker Is Halted By 'Block'

WINSLOW, Ariz. (UPI)—A 40-year-old steelworker was captured without a struggle at a roadblock Wednesday night and admitted killing the mother-in-law and critically wounding the wife of jazz musician Johnny Zorro, in a gun battle.

Leonard Mason, befriended by the Zorro family five years ago because he was friendly, told police he hid in a closet at the Zorro home in Glendale, Calif., Tuesday night and shot it out with Zorro's attractive wife.

Mason was caught just west of this city on U. S. Highway 66 after an Arizona highway officer spotted his car and radioed ahead to set up a roadblock.

Waives Extradition
He waived extradition and will be taken back to Glendale probably sometime today by police-men sent here from the California city.

He was originally believed wounded in the Tuesday night gun battle, but police here said he was uninjured.

"I felt sorry for him," Zorro said in explaining his former friendship with Mason. "He seemed to have few friends. People called him a creep."

"I had so much happiness I wanted to share it with a lonely man."

The heartbroken Zorro explained that his wife, Rosa Lorraine, 30, a former singer, had carried a .25-caliber automatic since last Christmas because of her fear of Mason who claimed to be in love with her.

Mason attacked Mrs. Parrazzo-Zorro's legal surname—three times in the past year and it was the small-caliber automatic that Zorro gave to his wife that she used in the gun battle.

Exchange Nine Shots
Nine shots were exchanged in the wild gun battle in the living room of the Zorro home when Mrs. Parrazzo, 31, her mother, Mrs. Susan Jamerson, 46, and her son, James Page Parrazzo, 8, entered the house.

Bomb Brings Dope Arrest

By HARRY J. STATHOS
United Press International

ATLANTA (UPI)—Authorities altered through a freak set of circumstances involving a bomb scare, boarded an airliner today and arrested a passenger suspected of leaving behind in New York a suitcase full of narcotics.

A federal Treasury agent and local police entered the Capital Airlines prop-jet aircraft shortly before 2 a. m. and took into custody a man identified as Richard Alton, 44, who gave two addresses: Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y., and in the Harlem section of New York City.

Alton was booked at local police headquarters on suspicion of possession of narcotics. Agents said he would be returned to New York, where federal authorities Wednesday night seized a bag left behind in a baggage check resulting from the bomb scare.

The case would not have broken, Capital officials said, had they not received the bomb warning and had the owner not failed to reclaim the bag.

Atlanta Police Capt. W. M. Riley said no baggage check was found in Alton's possession, but that two small holes in his ticket indicated a claim check had been attached and later removed.

John Anderson, Washington public relations man for the airline, said the bag contained 51 packages of heroin, which he estimated.

A REASON FOR GRINNING!

Hawaii's delegate to Congress, Democrat John A. Burns of Honolulu, left, has good reason for his happy smile. Prospects for congressional approval of Hawaii's bid to become the 50th state of the Union look brighter this year than ever. The Territory's flag, right, has been in use since 1845. It was made the official banner in 1925. The stripes, in alternating red, white and blue from the bottom up, represent the eight principal islands of the old kingdom. The Union Jack in the corner doesn't mean that Hawaii was ever a possession of Great Britain: A British flag was presented to King Kamehameha in 1793 and was used for some time as the official flag. The British emblem was kept as part of the new design.

Bonds Help To Balance Nation's Economy...Bray

By RICK PEZDIRTZ
Daily News Editor

"More important than ever, we need to purchase United States Savings Bonds today in order to maintain economic stabilization." Sid C. Bray of the U. S. Treasury Department told a group of Top O' Texas bankers, newspaper and radio personnel and members of the state's District H Savings Bond Committee during the latter's annual dinner meeting Wednesday night at the Country Club here.

Bray, U.S. Savings Bond Regional Director from Oklahoma City, pointed out that "the people of the United States have 42.5 billion dollars in savings bonds today and that the national debt is 285 billion dollars, which means the savings bonds balance about 15 per cent of the national debt. The country's money in savings bonds is like a balancing wheel of a wobbly wagon in that the investments tend to give the U.S. government economic flexibility."

Bray said he was introduced to the group by G. L. Green, chairman of District H. Green was later presented an official Treasury Department citation by Bray for leading District H to 113.8 per cent of its 1958 quota, second-top figure in 30 Texas districts.

District H, composed of Collingsworth, Donley, Gray, Hemphill, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Roberts and Wheeler counties, sold $2,378,000 of savings bonds in 1958 compared to $1,911,872 in 1957.

The 1959 goal has been set at $2,261,000 and was announced after the meeting by George B. Cree Jr., Gray County Chairman. The entire state's goal has been set at $82 million dollars.

meeting from out of town were: Leonard E. Coorden Jr., Amarillo Area U.S. Savings Bond Division manager; W. J. Adams, Hemphill County Chairman from Canadian; and H. S. Wilbur, president of the First National Bank of Canadian.

Attending from Pampa were: A. A. Schuneman, president of the First National Bank; Floyd Watson, vice president of the First National Bank; Jerry Sims, assistant vice president of the First National Bank; Coy Palmer, KFDN radio; and Rick Pezdirtz, Pampa Daily News.

Before introducing Bray, the meeting was described by Green as a "peppery type proposition."

Bray, formerly connected for 15 years with GMC, used charts to plot much of the course during his talk. He stated a national goal of five billion dollars has been set for 1959, and that here in Texas the state needs to increase its sale of Series H bonds. It was revealed that Ore deposits in the area, say Russian sources, exceed 200-million tons.

Investigators searched Alston at the terminal and said they found in his clothing a number of objects normally used by practitioners of voodoo, along with a switchblade knife and a slip of paper bearing an Atlanta telephone number.

Officers said the "voodoo" devices consisted of particles of rabbit bones, glass and sand, wrapped in a cloth and tied. One of the objects, known locally as "mo-jos," was tied around Alston's waist with a string.

Agents who questioned the suspect at the airport said Alston appeared to have no knowledge of the suitcase. The ticket under which he was traveling was purchased under the name W. Hatchett. Alston said a man by that name bought the ticket for him.

Pneumonia Complicates Treatment

ST. BRASS, N.C. (UPI)—Army doctors reported today that "a slight spread of pneumonia" has complicated the treatment of the second stroke suffered by Gen. George C. Marshall.

However, Col. George M. Powell, chief of medicine at Womack General Hospital here, said there has been "no great change" in Marshall's condition.

"The extension of pneumonia complicates treatment of the stroke to some extent, but at present presents no problem," said Powell. He said efforts to control the pneumonia have increased by giving more penicillin and adding chloramphenicol.

He said Marshall's condition "has not reached the critical stage."

He said that the 78-year-old soldier-statesman, who suffered a second stroke Tuesday, was restless until about 2 a.m. today, but rested comfortably after that.

He said Marshall still has difficulty swallowing and is being fed intravenously.

Powell said another medical bulletin on Marshall's condition will be issued at 3 p.m. east.

Doctors had held hopes that Marshall's condition was stabilizing.

A medical bulletin late Wednesday said Marshall's condition "seems to be stabilizing" but Col. George Powell said his prognosis was "guarded."

United Press International

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI)—A federal court jury of eight men and four women resumed deliberations today to attempt to decide if former Teamster Union President Dave Beck is innocent or guilty of income tax evasion.

The jury deliberated for about five hours Wednesday and retired for the night at 10:40 p.m. p.s. (1:40 a.m. e.s.t.) without reaching a decision.

Beck, 63, is charged with evading more than $240,000 in income tax payments for the years 1950 through 1953.

If convicted, he could be sentenced to as much as five years in prison and fined as much as $10,000 on each of the six counts against him.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—Delta Airlines DC7B set an unofficial speed mark of one hour and 27 minutes from Dallas, Texas to Birmingham Wednesday.

Capt. T. S. Bridges piloted the craft 27 minutes ahead of schedule, thanks to tailwinds that sent the propeller-driven ship at a speed of 602 miles per hour between Texas-Kansas, Tex. and Greenwood, Miss.

The average speed of the flight was 462 miles per hour. The normal cruising speed is 365 miles per hour.

Oklahomans Will Vote On 51 Year Old Prohibition

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Oklahomans will vote April 7 on whether they will keep the 51-year-old system of prohibition.

The State House of Representatives voted Wednesday night 81-37 to have a special statewide election on repeal April 7.

All that remained was for the measure to receive automatic referral by the secretary of state, and then go to the State Election Board, thence to the people. The House must still consider a second resolution asking a separate vote April 7 on county option on liquor.

Protein-Packed Asparagus Au Gratin Stars As Luncheon Entree For Party

SANDWICH WEARY? TRY ASPARAGUS AU GRATIN BROIL

Formula for good eating: Take one slice of toasted, well buttered rye; spread with a tangy chili sauce-mustard mix; top with a generous portion of snowy white cottage cheese and several bright asparagus spears; sprinkle with cracker crumbs and Cheddar cheese shreds; place under broiler only until cheese melts and eat with gusto.

Ladies love luncheons. It's an indisputable fact. They love to plan tasty menus too. And because luncheons are so special, they'll work weeks ahead of time on the menu. One of the most delicious menus I've ever come across is the type that will attract anyone who enjoys good food. I call it—and certainly a delightful combination of flavors.

Asparagus Au Gratin Broil consists of a toasted and buttered slice of rye bread (Jewish rye is exceptionally good). The toast is spread with a chili sauce-mustard base, then a cottage cheese layer. Asparagus spears top this, then butter-browned cracker crumbs and finally a generous sprinkling of shredded Cheddar cheese. The sandwich is placed under the broiler just long enough to melt the cheese and serve sizzling hot.

It's small wonder this unique sandwich is so tasty. Why don't you try it the next time you entertain? And don't make the mistake of forgetting Dad and the kiddies. They'll love this super deluxe sandwich at any time of the day. (Friday night supper or Saturday lunch are excellent times to treat the family to this protein-packed specialty.)

There's no doubt about it, if you like versatility in food, you'll love all-purpose Asparagus Au Gratin Broil.

ASPARAGUS AU GRATIN BROIL
6 servings

2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
6 slices rye toast, buttered
2 cups cottage cheese, large curd
1 package frozen asparagus spears, cooked
1/2 cup crushed saltine crackers
3 tablespoons butter, melted
3/4 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
Preheat broiler; mix together chili sauce and mustard; spread on buttered toast. On each slice of bread, spoon 1-3 cup of cottage cheese and top with 4 asparagus spears. Brown cracker crumbs in the melted butter and sprinkle 4 teaspoons over each sandwich. Finally, top each with 1 1/2 tablespoons of Cheddar cheese and place under the broiler just until cheese melts.

YUMMY—Favorite Sunday tradition for many families is full-course breakfast complete with home-baked "dessert." Crisp and tasty Caramel Nut Sticks pictured here are easily made with Caramel Nut Rolls from your grocer's dairy case.

Jambalaya Is Top Hit Again

The recipe made famous by the popular song, "Jambalaya," has now become the central theme for one rice company's spring advertising campaign.

Comet Rice Mills of Dallas has built its entire spring promotion around the recipe which had its origin in this country in the Louisiana bayous. Emmet O'Neill, director of marketing, announced today.

Mr. O'Neill offered Comet's version of the "Jambalaya" recipe as follows:

COMET RICE JAMBALAYA
Mix Together:
1 cup raw Comet Longgrain Rice
2 cups boiling water
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1 no. 303 can tomatoes
1 7-oz. can tuna
1 chopped onion
1 small can mushroom
Four mixture into greased casserole, making sure tuna is broken into medium size chunks. Bake at 375 degree for 1 1/2 hours without stirring. Serve six.

Caramel Nut Sticks For Brunch Offer Everyday Treat With Sunday Touch

Aside from birthday dinners or special holiday meals, there's no nicer family eating tradition than the relaxed, really sociable Sunday breakfast. What with the hurry-scurry of the household on workdays and schooldays, most families have only this once-a-weekly occasion to enjoy a generous breakfast-to-linger-over-the-coffee cup, share the morning paper, and catch up on one another's news.

Something special for the menu is a very important part of this nice Sunday tradition, so we recommend a hearty meal with full breakfast courses and more fancy than usual details: wonderfully flavorful grapefruit to start, then an impressive puffy apple omelet, and for "dessert"—crisp little Caramel Nut Sticks. These are easily made with your grocer's Sicks you find in your grocer's dairy case—and so good they could well become an every Sunday treat!

Salmon Squares Liven Up Lent

Planning lively Lenten meals is a real challenge to a homemaker. The more than six-week duration of this period means that some repetition of foods is almost inevitable. Yet that can work to your advantage when you have a good basic recipe such as Salmon Squares with Egg Sauce which will work.

SALMON SQUARES WITH EGG SAUCE
2 cups 1 lb. can salmon
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1/4 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon minced onions
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon lemon juice
3 cups Kellogg's Rice Krispies
Drain salmon, saving liquid for Egg Sauce. Remove bones and skin; separate pieces. Add eggs to salmon; mix well. Stir in remaining ingredients. Pour into well-greased 8 x 8-inch pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 40 minutes. Serve with hot Egg Sauce.
Yield: 9 squares.

George Washington, a great lover of tea, used to keep a cow in lower Manhattan just to provide milk for his tea. This Cherry Log makes an ideal accompaniment for his favorite beverage.

George Washington Cherry Log Pays Full Homage To Father Of Country

Did you know that George Washington was a great tea lover and that he kept a cow in lower Manhattan (then known as New Amsterdam) just to provide milk for his tea? The important point about this information is that he added milk to his tea—not cream or lemon.

The tea experts say milk let's the true flavor of tea come through—seems to give it more body and enhances the flavor, while cream "coats" the distinctive flavor, and lemon merely changes it to a lemon-flavor.

The know-how of making a good pot of tea has not changed throughout the ages. An aromatic, full bodied cup of tea still requires (1) a teapot, because it makes the best tea, (2) bubbling, boiling water to extract the flavorful goodness from the tea leaves, (3) 1 teaspoonful tea or 1 teabag per cup for a belly-hearty beverage and (4) a brewing period of 3-5 minutes to allow the tea leaves enough time to unfold and release their flavor goodness.

A George Washington birthday celebration would never be complete without a special cake or pie with cherries, and so to pay full homage to the Father of our country, try this George Washington Cherry Log.

GEORGE WASHINGTON CHERRY LOG
(Makes about 8 servings)
3 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons melted margarine
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Grated rind of 7 lemons
2-3 cup-pancake mix
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1/2 cup candied cherries, chopped
Beat eggs until light and foamy. Gradually add sugar; continue beating. Stir in melted margarine, lemon juice, rind and pancake mix. Grease well, a 10 x 15-inch shallow pan. Cover with waxed paper to fit bottom of pan. Sprinkle with flour. Four batter into pan. Bake 12 to 15 minutes or until done in hot oven 400 degrees F. Immediately turn out onto towel dusted with confectioner's sugar. Remove paper. Roll cake in towel. Cool 10 minutes. Combine whipped cream and chopped cherries. Unroll cake! Spread filling within 1/2 inch of edges. Roll tightly.

Italian "Lasagna" With Rice
We often forget that rice is an Italian food favorite and that much rice is grown in the Po Valley in Italy. This recipe uses rice in a recipe for a Lasagna-type dish.

The sumptuous casserole is made up of layers of tender white rice, creamy cottage cheese, succulent browned ground beef and a super tomato-mushroom sauce. Over the top is a generous sprinkling of Parmesan cheese.

INGREDIENTS:
1 cup uncooked white rice
1 1/2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 lb. ground beef
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
1 lb. creamed cottage cheese
3 cans (8 oz. each) spaghetti sauce with mushrooms (no spaghetti)
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

METHOD: Put the rice, 2 cups of the water and 1 teaspoon of the salt in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and simmer over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat—but leave the lid on 10 minutes. While the rice cooks, brown the beef in a skillet. Cook until the beef is done. Sprinkle the beef with the monosodium glutamate, 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon black pepper. Stir in the remaining 1/2 cup water. Place half the rice in a greased 2-quart glass baking dish. Top with half the beef and half the cottage cheese. Pour on one can of the spaghetti sauce. Add the rest of the rice, the beef and the remaining cottage cheese. Pour on the other can of spaghetti sauce. Sprinkle the Parmesan cheese over the top.

Bake in a preheated 375° F. oven 30 minutes or until piping hot. This recipe makes 8 to 9 servings.

Whether He Did-Didn't Axe The Tree, George And Cherries Just Go Together

Ever since George Washington did or did not cut down his father's cherry tree (depending on the version of the tale one hears) to February, Cherry Crumble Cherries in winter desserts. Their idea for celebrating his birthday, February 22.

This is no doubt a roundabout explanation of the popularity of cherries in winter desserts. Their bright color, piquant flavor and all-around adaptability are enough to account for their favor during the bleak winter months.

Here's our favorite cherry recipe to February: Cherry Crumble Dessert. Packaged corn Flakes & Crumbs make the rich crumble layers ever so simple. The cherry-lemon tartness of the fruit filling is a delightful contrast. Dress up this dessert, if you choose, with generous scoops of vanilla ice cream.

Better Than One Two Leaves Are

For an economical dish that's quick and easy to make, try this recipe for Parsley Meat Loaf developed in Carnation Company's test kitchens. Evaporated milk is added to ground beef, along with seasonings, to lend flavor, to keep the meat juicy—and the texture firm. And because evaporated milk is pure milk but in a concentrated form, this meat loaf supplies lots of extra milk nutrients. Save time spent in the kitchen during the hot weather by making two loaves at the same time—serve one hot for dinner and chill the other to slice for cold meat platters and sandwiches.

PARSLEY MEAT LOAF
(Makes 6 servings)
2-3 cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk
1 egg
1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1/2 cup fine cracker crumbs
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
6 thin slices of onion
Combine evaporated milk, egg, beef, cracker crumbs, parsley, salt and pepper. Blend together until well-mixed. Arrange onion slices in bottom of waxed paper-lined 8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 1/2-inch loaf pan. Put meat mixture into pan over onion slices. Bake in moderate oven (350 degree) about 1 hour. Let loaf stand in pan 10 minutes. Turn out on serving platter and slice.

To add extra flavor and color to this meat loaf, give it a cheese topping. Turn the loaf out on an oven-proof platter and overlap triangles of sliced process cheese on the top. Broil until cheese bubbles (1-2 minutes).

CHERRY CRUMBLE DESSERT
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1/4 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup packaged Kellogg's Corn Flake Crumbs
1/4 cup chopped nutmeats
Blend butter and sugar thoroughly. Sift together flour and salt; mix well with butter mixture. Add Corn Flake Crumbs and Nutmeats; stir until well-blended. Divide mixture in half and line bottom of buttered 8 x 8-inch pan; pour in Cherry Filling; spread evenly. Cover with remaining crumb mixture. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Serve warm or cold with cream if desired.

QUICK HERB BREAD
Flatten an Italian spaghetti meal by the addition of a nippy herb bread. Melt 1/2 cup butter or margarine and add 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1/2 teaspoon dried basil, 1/2 teaspoon sage. Brush mixture over 12 slices of white bread. Blend bread in loaf pan and bake at 400 degrees F. for 5 to 10 minutes or until heated thoroughly.

Secretary Dulles Called 'Marco Polo Of Diplomacy'

By ROBERT J. SEILING
 United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — John Foster Dulles has been called the "Marco Polo of diplomacy."

Reporters covering the State Department jokingly refer to him as "Gulliver." During the first Eisenhower administration, he spent one out of every three days on foreign soil.

He is a big, informal, friendly man who has traveled hundreds of thousands of miles since he became secretary of state. He has spent many weary hours bargaining, pleading and arguing in behalf of his country and keeping Russia at bay.

Dulles (Foster to his friends) was the first man in American history who started preparing for the number one cabinet post when he was in his early teens.

Family Heritage
 Diplomacy is a family heritage to the 71-year-old statesman. His grandfather was secretary of state under Benjamin Harrison. His uncle was Woodrow Wilson's secretary of state. He dreamed of following in their footsteps. At an age when most youngsters picked such careers as baseball and driving locomotives, he picked a diplomatic career.

Among diplomatic leaders, Dulles is known as a tactful, patient, sometimes subtle and frequently blunt bargainer. He also has been called unpredictable. He often has employed what he himself calls "sudden diplomacy" — an out-of-the-blue, radical departure from the current line of argument; a quick, completely unexpected proposal that dynamites the diplomatic logjam and gets the river of compromise flowing again.

Dulles honestly likes traveling. As soon as he boards a plane, he climbs out of his dark business suit and into a comfortable sport shirt and slacks. Usually, he stays in the rear of the plane working. For relaxation, he reads murder mysteries. On long flights, he often pokes his head into the cockpit and chats with the crew. His suitcase always contains two things: swimming trunks and his famous yellow notebook paper on which he doodles.

His routine here is no easier than when he is flying. He has been getting to work around 8 a. m. and frequently works as late as 8 p. m. He often has lunch at his desk.

His hobbies are outside interests have been numerous. He likes to fish, swim, sail boats and — strangely enough — polish pots and pans. He is a pretty good amateur tree surgeon and bird-watcher, and dotes on his pet french poodle.

He was once asked how it felt to achieve his life-long ambition to become secretary of state. Dulles looked thoughtful, then replied:

"It's what I've always wanted, but somehow I'm not sure I'm really glad. The job is a lot different than it was in grandfather's day."

Things Different Then
 When Dulles' grandfather was in office, the United States was a spunky, immature youngster with virtually no interest in what was happening in the rest of the world.

Today, the United States is a

Hens Lay Blue Eggs For Easter

TYLER, Tex. (UPI) — W. R. Monroe expects to do a thriving business Easter with his three hens that lay colored eggs.

Monroe's sister, Mrs. J. O. Bagwell, sent him three of the rare "Happiness" hens and a rooster world leader, one of the two most powerful nations on earth, and both spokesman and protector for those who love freedom.

As the nation's 53rd secretary of state, Dulles has been forced to walk a thin and frail tightrope between firmness and compromise; between righteous anger and Christian tolerance; between a frustrating, vague kind of peace and the prospect of a bloody, all-destroying war.

from her home in Superior, Ariz. He says they lay blue eggs with an occasional pink one.

"They taste just like any other egg, but they are a lot prettier," said Monroe, proud of his barn-sized chickens.

The "Happiness" strain started when a hen named Brigitte began laying green eggs on the West Coast. The University of California Extension Service advanced the theory that smog caused the reaction that changes the color of the egg shell.

Monroe, a maintenance foreman for the Texas Highway Department, says this theory is invalid. There is no smog in Tyler.

Congress Pricing Farm Products Out Of Market

By FRANK ELEAZER
 United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — In general, what Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft-Henson seemed to be saying was that farmers never had it so good, and that this has to be corrected not later than May 15.

Some non-experts may not understand this right away. Neither do the members of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Henson has been trying to explain economic problems like this to congressmen for more than six years. Mostly, they don't get the message. Sometimes they act downright antagonistic, and Henson, with admirable foresight, this time brought along a dozen of his friends, who sat beside and behind him.

They comprised the whole top drawer of the Agriculture Department, including under and assistant secretaries. But even with their help he couldn't seem to satisfy some of the senators.

"Same Old Statement"
 First there was the matter of his 25-page statement. Sen. Milton R. Young (R-N.D.) said helpfully he didn't see any reason for the secretary to burden himself reading this. "It's the same old statement we've been getting for years," said Young.

Henson agreed to settle for hitting the highlights, as follows:

Farmers made more money in 1958 than ever before. Living standards on farms are the highest on record. But the kind of high price supports Congress insists on providing are about to foul up the deal. They are pricing farm products out of the market. They also are piling a load on the taxpayers that is helping undermine the economy.

Wheat is in the worst fix of all, according to Henson.

Wheat production recently has been supported at $1.81 per bushel. This encouraged farmers to raise 34 per cent more of it last year than the year before. As a result, we have so much wheat squelched away that if farmers didn't raise a bushel this year nobody would miss it.

Benson said this has to stop, and before the middle of May, when farmers must know how much to plant, and of what. He proposed that Congress adjust wheat price supports downward to a "feed-use relationship."

"What's that?" demanded Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), who Benson possibly had thought was interested only in missiles. Benson said it was a price that would encourage use of wheat to feed cattle. "Well, give me some figures," said Symington.

Benson, who by now was starting on his second glass of ice water, called on his panel of experts. They expounded for 45 minutes, after which Symington noted that nobody had answered his question.

Assistant Secretary Marvin McLain said you first have to know the price of corn. He said wheat, for feed purposes, is about 10 per cent better than corn.

Question Unanswered
 Symington said corn, according to an Agriculture Department bulletin on Jan. 15, was selling for $1.02 per bushel.

"If that is true," he asked Benson and Co., "then what would be the price of wheat under the secretary's proposal?"

McLain — "I'd like to try to answer that for the record." (this means later.)

Symington — "Did you say 10 per cent more?"

McLain — "Approximately."

Symington — "Then how much is 10 per cent of $1.02?"

McLain — "It depends on the quality."

Symington — "I withdraw the question."

Symington then had to leave. He said he would return later. So will Benson, obviously.

Mars May Support New Form Of Life

By WILLIAM D. HALL
 United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many scientists now believe that the first space traveler to reach Mars will find some form of life there.

Such a possibility long has been a subject of scientific speculation. Interest has intensified in proportion to man's strides toward eventual interplanetary travel.

If life does exist on the earth's nearest planetary neighbor, it very likely is a primitive form such as bacteria and fungi. But Mars could have developed some animal life adapted to its rapid temperature changes and almost oxygenless atmosphere.

The National Geographic Society reports that some scientists remain skeptical but that two recent studies bolster the life-on-Mars theory.

Conduct Tests
 Researchers at the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Field, Tex., conducted a series of tests to determine whether organisms such as bacteria and fungi could survive under Martian conditions.

They were placed in jars filled with nitrogen at low pressure, corresponding to the Martian atmosphere, and exposed to sudden temperature changes from 77 degrees above zero to 13 below.

Organisms requiring the normal amount of oxygen died. But those needing little or no oxygen survived and even grew.

Still another finding was reported by Dr. William M. Swinson of Lowell Observatory, Flagstaff, Ariz.: His spectroscopic studies indicate that there is matter on Mars that absorbs the same wave lengths of sunlight as some plant life on earth.

But even before these findings, National Geographic says, a survey of scientists, mostly astronomers, showed overwhelming belief in life on Mars. Only one of 27 questioned said no.

Scientists generally rule out the possibility that Mars could support the same kind of animal life as earth because of the near absence of oxygen in its atmosphere.

But the National Geographic report points out that it is possible the planet could have developed "some exotic form of animal life" adapted to its atmospheric conditions.

ROTC Drill Teams Will Compete In TCU Stadium

FORT WORTH (UPI) — An Air Force ROTC drill team competition for some 17 colleges and universities in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas will be held at Texas Christian University Saturday, March 14.

The event, to be held at the TCU-Amon Carter Stadium, will be sponsored by the Samuel E. Anderson Squadron, Arnold Air Society, at TCU.

WALTER ROGERS REPORTS:

Walter Rogers Opposed To Hawaiian, Alaskan Statehood

Hawaiian Statehood
 Last week the Interior Committee approved a bill granting statehood to Hawaii. The vote was 23 to 4. I was one of the four. My opposition to statehood for Alaska and Hawaii has been known for a long time. Many attempts have been made to associate opposition to statehood for Hawaii with racial prejudice or some other type of emotional basis. This, of course, is not true. The opposition to both Alaska and Hawaii was based upon two primary reasons: (1) non-contiguity to the continental United States; and (2) economic factors. Both of these will be thoroughly discussed in Floor debate. They are too extensive to attempt proper discussion in a short newsletter.

One of the major reasons used by the proponents of statehood was the argument that Hawaii had been promised statehood when it joined up with the United States. This creates a rather odd situation which will be difficult for the people of Hawaii to reconcile. If such a promise was ever made, it would have been a promise to all of the territory of the Hawaiian Islands at the time it became associated with this country. However, the bill granting statehood to Hawaii does not include all of the Territory of Hawaii. It includes only the eight major islands. The smaller islands, which certainly would have been included in the promise of statehood, have been cast adrift insofar as statehood status is concerned. They will remain in the same territorial status that they have always occupied. It has also been argued that until statehood status is granted to Hawaii, the people of those islands will be second-class citizens. Yet, these same people are willing to cut off several of the islands in the original Hawaiian archipelago and simply disregard them either as to a promise of statehood or as to the question of second-class citizenship. The truth is that this type of reasoning just does not make sense. The facts of the matter are that these islands are not included by the proponents of statehood because it is not economically feasible to include them, which is, of course, one of the reasons why statehood should not be granted to Hawaii.

The Veterans Housing Bill
 A great hue and cry arose in Washington last week, both at the White House and in the Halls of Congress. The President argued that the Congress was trying to unbalance his budget by the passage of the veterans housing bill. The President's stalwarts on Capitol Hill argued long and loud that the passage of this bill would upset the budget that had been so carefully balanced by the President. The bill to which they were referring was a bill providing for breaking the log jam in veterans housing starts. The bill actually consisted of two parts. One part provided for increasing the interest rate from 4 1/2 percent to 5 1/2 percent. The other portion of the bill provided for the use of $300 million to be used by the Veterans Administration for the purpose of making direct loans to those veterans living in areas outside of the metropolitan areas who were unable to obtain home financing from private enterprise banking and lending institutions. The bill did not provide for loose spending, as would be indicated by some of the stories that went out. The fact is that the White House was strongly in support of increasing the interest rate from 4 1/2 percent to 5 1/2 percent, yet was opposed to that portion of the Veterans Housing Bill making it possible for veterans in the smaller towns and cities to be able to get loans to build homes. The direct loan money is available only if the veteran in the smaller town or city cannot get home financing from private institutions. Naturally, the large lending institutions are for the increased interest rate, and also like to have their outstanding loans as close to home as possible. This means that it is very difficult for the veteran living in the lesser populated

Committee Dissatisfied With Supreme Court's Activities

BY LYLE C. WILSON
 United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Chief Justice Earl Warren probably will be more comfortable outside the American Bar Assn. than in it next week when the lawyers are expected to consider Supreme Court opinions in relation to Communist subversion in the United States.

It recently became known that the chief justice no longer considered himself a bar association member although the time and cause of his resignation have not been defined.

One cause could be a report on Communist tactics, strategy and objectives. The report was compiled last year by a bar association committee chaired by Peter Campbell Brown of New York, former chairman of the Subversive Activities Control Board. The report may be submitted next week to the bar association policy-making group called the House of Delegates. Brown must have the votes of a majority of his 10-man committee to submit the report to the 250-member House of Delegates. United Press International was told that the chairman expects to have the votes.

Cite 20 Decisions
 A preliminary version of the Brown report was made public last summer by Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.). Brown's committee then was courteously but firmly displeased with the Supreme Court's recent record in the area of Communist subversion.

The report cited 20 Supreme Court decisions in the past three years which, it said:
 "Weakened or nullified... the (federal) Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950, the anti-Communist laws of 42 states, Alaska and Hawaii, key security provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 and the Summary Suspension Act of 1950."

Brown's committee summarized the 20 decisions. It made the point that in 13 of the 20 decisions the Supreme Court had found it necessary to overrule the findings of lower courts.

The committee contrasted the position of the present Supreme Court in the area of Communist subversion and the judicial attitudes of three notable Supreme Court justices of some years ago: Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone and Charles Evans Hughes and Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson.

Disenchanted with Warren
 Woven through the report—a long one—is a documented analysis of the internal meapace to the welfare of the United States and Communist subversive tactics and strategy. This is summarized in a statement by FBI Director Edgar Hoover which appears in the report, as follows:
 "To dismiss lightly the existence of the subversive threat to the United States is deliberate to commit national suicide, some quarters we are surely doing just that."

The report reads like a leg brief in support of that strong statement. The committee's disenchantment with Chief Justice Warren and the majority members of the court who rendered the 20 decisions examined is evident in the report's recommendation for "safeguarding our public."

There are 10 recommendations the whole designed to reverse the 20 decisions of Chief Justice Warren's court.

The word from Chicago Bar Assn. headquarters is that Brown's committee may have made stronger its adverse criticism of the Supreme Court. Whether this shall become association policy will depend on whether the House of Delegates votes to accept it.

Cancer Produces New Dulles Image

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—If a sense of humor can overcome for a moment so dreadful an affliction as cancer, then an occasional chuckle should be heard from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' hospital room.

The 61-year-old man would be chuckling at the new image of John Foster Dulles which is shaping up in the published and word-of-mouth comment on his illness. Flowers for the living, these friendly bouquets might be called.

Dulles has been a whipping boy for the Eisenhower administration. Editorial and other criticism of Dulles has not been abusive, but it has been prolonged, severe and satirical. The trend, now, is toward a gee-whiz-what-a-man line of comment.

The new image of Dulles—the new perspective—seems to come from realization all around that here is a man tempered by habit and experience to deal with the difficult problems of these explosive times. He was most often criticized for being inflexible—too rigid in approach to questions of foreign relations.

Two Necessary Virtues

It is being recognized rather suddenly that Dulles' most inflexible rigid characteristics were integrity and unshakable confidence in the moral rightness of policies in behalf of free men. Such characteristics tend to balance off mistakes, even grave ones.

Editorial comment and the lunch chit-chat of this political town combine to suggest that an idea is spreading about. The idea is that inflexible integrity and unshakable confidence are great and necessary virtues for any man to possess if he must deal with the Kremlin.

The new image of John Foster Dulles gains form and substance, also, by realization that none in this city, including President Eisenhower, himself, can come up with a successor who ideally fits the job. The impending problems in foreign affairs are staggering.

No. 1 on a list which includes several problems bearing directly on the future life and happiness of every family in the United States is this:

—What specific proposals should be made to the Soviet Union with respect to the future of Berlin and of Germany itself? This question is tied tightly to the overall problem of European security and world peace. Part of this problem is how to obtain Allied agreement to proposals which may seem to the United States to be desirable.

List Several Problems

There are other matters awaiting Dulles' successor:

—The Middle East. More specifically, what action, if any, should the United States propose to its Allies if the government of Iraq continues to veer away from the free world until it is about to plump into Communist control? That one is further away than Berlin but quite as tough.

—Far from the borderline of armed conflict, but vital to United States welfare, is the problem of improving U.S. relations with South American nations. Eisenhower and his brother, Milton, will help on that one shortly by visiting Mexico.

—Still unfixed are the ultimate policies by which the United States shall solve its numerous problems in Asia.

—The offshore island, Quemoy, is a smoldering time bomb which the Chinese Communists undoubtedly will set off the next time they need a diversionary issue.

'Bramble Patch' To Be Filmed On Cape

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Respectable old New England, still ruffled about the movie "Peyton Place," is due for further mauling by Hollywood in another film dealing with Yankee manners, morals and sex-capades.

This week producer Milton Spelling heads for Cape Cod seeking location sites for "The Bramble Patch," which promises to make "Peyton Place" blush by comparison.

Spelling is concerned about his welcome in Massachusetts.

"Jerry Wald expected to shoot 'Peyton Place' locations in Vermont, but the natives were restless and he moved to another state," Spelling said.

"We may encounter the same hostility. Our picture, too, is taken from a novel and New Englanders are understandably piqued with the content. If I find the Cape Cod natives unhappy with us we'll search for locales elsewhere."

Scrutiny of "Down East" sex life has become a mania with novelists and movie-makers, and Spelling thinks he knows why.

"Puritan ethics in this country stemmed from New England," he explained. "Therefore stories about New Englanders have more dramatic punch. The shock value of their private lives is greater because you least expect wanton behavior from that section of the country."

"In the past decade the South was going through the same thing—thanks to writers like Tennessee Williams, William Faulkner and Truman Capote.

"And there was a time when novelists and playwrights turned their probing eyes on the Midwest (especially Chicago), and New York. Now it seems that New England is having its turn."

"The Bramble Patch," written by Charles Mergendahl, deals with a doctor who tries to save the life of his best friend while having an affair with the best friend's wife. After a "mercy killing" the doctor goes to trial.

The film version is racier than Grace Metalious' "Peyton Place."

"Some daring things are said in the picture, and some bold action takes place," Spelling went on.

"But it's not our intention to make a dirty movie, nor are we out to shock audiences. We plan to entertain and to be truthful. The fact that the story deals with sex shouldn't be taken too heavily into account."

"What we are doing is exploring human behavior in New England of 1959 on its most intimate level."

PERIPATETIC—Britain's Alexandra of Kent, above, soon will be touring South America with her mother, the Duchess of Kent.

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—A one-time name band singer and musician is heading for darkest Africa with a bugle to become a missionary.

Buddy James, 30, has a new

While with Pastor he shared the bandstand with Rosemary Clooney for about 2½ years.

"I had always wanted to become a priest, a missionary," he said. "But I also loved music."

Panhandle High School Press Association Sets 25th Meeting

CANYON (Sp.) — When the Panhandle High School Press Association meets here March 24 at West Texas State College, it will mark its 25th annual convention.

The association was founded March 24, 1934, when Canyon High School's newspaper staff and sponsor completed organization and met with 11 other schools. Since that time membership has grown to include nearly 50 schools of the Panhandle and South Plains.

Until 1939 the association met in different cities which bid for the convention. When the group met in Borger in 1938, it was decided to make WT permanent headquarters for PHSPA.

Olin E. Hinkle, now associate professor of journalism at the University of Texas, and in 1934 an editor for the Pampa Daily News, was chosen general manager of PHSPA when it was founded.

The convention this year is expected to draw more than 300 high school journalists and sponsors who will hear speakers and conduct section meetings on newspaper and yearbook production. The meeting closes each year with the awarding of trophies and prizes for excellence in writing and editing.

Business Views

Industrial production rose another percentage point in January, the second consecutive 1-point rise, the Federal Reserve Board reported. The January figure of 143 per cent of the 1947-49 average was still 5 per cent lower than the pre-recession level.

The Bell System earned close to one billion dollars after taxes in 1958. No other profits of a business enterprise have been so high in a year's time with the exception of General Motors Corp. which earned nearly $1,200,000,000 in 1958. Total assets amounted to $19,493,951,000 making the Bell System the world's biggest business enterprise.

Net shipments of aluminum mill products in December amounted to 226 million pounds, up sharply from the 174 million pounds shipped in December, 1957, the Census Bureau reported.

Assets of savings and loan associations and other thrift institutions belonging to the Federal Home Loan Bank system climbed to a record $53,800,000,000 at the end of 1958, a gain of nearly $7,000,000,000 for the year. Advances to members by the 31 home loan banks totaled $1,363,698,892, also a record.

White Asks Delay In Fumigation

AUSTIN (UPI) — Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has asked the federal government for a 30-day delay in the opening of citrus fumigation in the Rio Grande Valley.

He said a federal quarantine against the Mexican fruit fly requires fumigation of citrus leaving the valley to southern states after March 1.

But the fruit fly threat is so light this year, White said, that fumigation could be delayed until April 1, with virtually no danger to the industry.

Japanese-mad Cars Outfitted With Crank

By DOC QUIGG

United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Look," said the man, and he opened the luggage compartment of the stylish little green-bodied automobile and pointed to a gadget of the open road that most Americans forgot about during the 1930s. Indeed, most young drivers never heard of it.

There it was, standard equipment in an automobile so new that it won't be on sale nationally in America for another month or so.

It was a crank-long, metallic, mounted on hooks and ready for use in time of cooking-out-of-the-starter.

"The Japanese," said the demonstrator, "think of everything. There's many a time since the crank vanished from the auto scene that I've wished I had one. I wish I could hook it to my car."

This was a preview of the new "Toypopet" crown custom — with which Japan will try to banzai into the American smaller-car market — a 68-horsepower job which they claim will do 80 miles an hour and yet get up to 23 miles on one gallon of gasoline.

Actually, the Toypopet is sort of middle ground between some of the tiny European auto imports and the smaller American cars. Its bumper-to-bumper length is 14 feet, 4 inches—about 1/2 foot shorter than a Rambler—it weighs 2,688 pounds, and its turning circle is 36 feet. It'll retail some place under $2,500.

The teen-age way to beauty lies in good grooming. To achieve it, most teen-agers need to bring order out of chaos. Step in the right direction is (left) keeping beauty tools clean. This girl washes powder puffs and pins them up to dry. Then she makes chart (center) of her beauty schedule, listing all of the things she plans to do daily and weekly. Soapuds facial (right) is the beginning of a beautiful skin. This smart teen-ager knows that trying to hide bad skin with layers of makeup only makes matters worse. This facial removes excess oil, cleanses pores, and whips up circulation. It's one way to a glowing skin. A program like this one can turn an average girl into a pretty one.

"Home From The Hill" Review Set By Sorority At Valentine's Luncheon

At a Valentine Luncheon meeting held Saturday in Lamar School, the Beta Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma made plans to have Evelyn Oppenheimer, book reviewer of Dallas, review William Humphrey's "Home From The Hill" which is a national best seller, has been nominated for the Book Award and has the movie version now in production. It was announced that the review will be held Mar. 12 in Robert E. Lee auditorium with an admission charge of 75 cents and to which the public is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Essie Mae Walters, chapter president, stated that the proceeds from the tickets sales will be used for the scholarship, which is given each Spring to a high school girl graduate, who is planning to enter college to prepare for the teaching profession. Miss Sibyl Turner, program chairman, introduced the program topic, "Financial Security," which was another phase of the year's theme, "Building Securities To Meet Teachers' Needs." Real estate, insurance annuities, stocks and bonds were discussed by Mrs. Quentin Williams, Miss Bernice Lash and Miss Pearl Spang. The program concluded with "Mr. Webster Takes Stock." The business meeting opened with group singing led by Mrs. James Webb.

Mrs. Ted Bones of Groom was initiated as an active member with the service arranged by the initiation committee with Mrs. McHenry Lane as chairman. Mrs. Walters invited the group to hear Miss Helen Poe on Feb. 26 in Pampa High School. Miss Poe's lecture will be sponsored by Pampa Classroom Teacher's Ass'n and the Gray Roberts Unit of Texas State Teachers Association. There will be no admission charge," she stated. "The public is invited to attend the meeting and reception afterwards." Hostesses for the luncheon were Mmes. Joe Page, James Webb, Quentin Williams and Miss Lella Clifford. Tables were attractively decorated in the Valentine motif. Members attended from Lefors, White Deer, Groom, Panhandle, Mobeetie, Canadian and Pampa.

Now Is The Time For Teenagers To Tackle "Beauty Killers" With Grooming

By ALICIA HART
NEA-Beauty Editor

Every teen-age girl hopes to become an attractive woman. And right then and there—the minute that desire is born—she must accept the responsibility for her own appearance.

Even if it sounds tiresome and not particularly glamorous, good grooming is the basic ingredient for beauty. And now is the time to tackle those "beauty killers" such as grubby fingernails, straggly locks of hair and stale make-up.

To keep your nails clean, flick a moistened hand brush over a cake of soap and rub it with some firmness under and around the nails.

Make-up and pretty clothes are certainly important factors in beauty, but without personal cleanliness and attention to small details, you'll just look dressed-up, made-up—and messy.

A homemade beauty calendar of daily and weekly "musts" can be posted over the dressing table as a helpful reminder.

Among the daily items, should be included a bath or shower, handwashing whenever necessary, teeth brushing, an occasional check during the day to be sure your hair is neatly combed and complete soap-and-water removal of make-up before going to bed. Nightly sudsing of stockings and lingerie should also be on the daily list.

On the weekly list should be such tasks as shampoo, manicure, pedicure and the laundering of larger items of your wardrobe.

Although shorts, jeans and tornador pants are accepted feminine apparel in this casual age, the informality doesn't extend to sloppiness. Even casual garments must be clean to be attractive.

Remember always to keep your beauty tools—brushes, combs, and washcloths—a good sud-and-water cleansing—and your powder puff, probably the worst offender, should never be a soiled one. Most puffs can be washed by soaking them in warm soap or detergent suds, rubbing gently, and then rinsing thoroughly. "Spank" the puff smartly against a clean towel to fluff it, and then pin-it-up-to-dry.

It's a fact that beauty can't be achieved without cleanliness, neat clothing and straight stockings seams. So if you have the idea that it's old-fashioned nonsense dreamed up by mom to plague you, you're dead wrong.

Few women are born beautiful. If they are pretty, they've worked at it day after day, from the skin-out. Start the job while you're in your teens, and your appearance will prove that it was worth the effort.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My wife has the reputation for being one of the best cooks in town. But the only time she'll cook is when we have company. I am not asking her to make anything fancy for me and the kids, but wouldn't you think she'd set the table and have a regular meal? She lets the kids eat standing up at the kitchen counter and tells me to "dig up" some thing. Any suggestions? Don't print my name or I'll get killed.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for three years. Five months ago we were blessed with twin boys. My husband has no patience and has made up his mind that these babies will be trained to obey. When one baby awakens and starts to cry, naturally the other one wails up and they both cry. My husband goes to their cribs and whips them with his belt. It breaks my heart, but I can't do anything about it. My husband is so big and strong and ill-tempered. Sometimes there are marks on their little backs and bottoms. Abby, should I take my babies and go to my mother's? I am so ashamed and heart-broken. Please guide me right.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine said that another friend of mine started a rumor about me. This friend who was supposed to have said this about me is not the type to say what this other friend of mine said she said. In fact, what was said sounds more like it was said by this friend who said the other friend said it. Do you think I should call up the friend who was supposed to have said it and ask her to hear it from the horse's mouth?

DEAR HUNGRY: You're complaining to the wrong woman. Threaten to expose your wife by announcing at her next dinner party, "I'm so glad we have company because we never eat like this otherwise." And you'll have no problem getting a square meal.

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old daughter has lost her mind over a 35-year-old man who works where she works. They say they are getting married in July. She wants him to eat here three or four nights a week. I tell her I can't afford it (he has an enormous appetite). Also on Saturday night he takes a bath here. His suit is left hanging in our closet. She wants me to take his shirt to the laundromat every week. His underclothes she gives me with this "is being too familiar. What do you think?"

Mrs. Bertolin Has Sorority Meeting

Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority met Thursday evening in the home of the president, Mrs. Jack Bertolin, 522 Frost.

During the business session, Mrs. Eugene Bentley reported on the Senior Citizens Party with which the club entertained on Jan. 29. She also reported on the success of the March of Dimes Coffee given by the club and that the proceeds had been turned over to the MOD fund.

Mrs. Charles Robinson announced that sheets and pillow cases had been purchased by the club and presented to the Barnard Gordon Memorial Home in Panhandle.

Mrs. Yorel Harris brought the group up to date on the progress of the class of exceptional children, which is being tutored by Mrs. L. L. Harkins owner of the Lollipop Nursery School. The sorority, which sponsors the class, voted to present a record player to be used by the children.

Following a report from the Council of Clubs given by Mrs. Jack Hankla, members voted unanimously to contribute to the Purviance Memorial Fund.

Mrs. Bertolin reminded the group of World Day of Prayer and urged each to attend services on Friday 13.

Door prizes were awarded to Mmes. Norman Pulps and Bruce Parker.

Refreshments were served during the social hour. Attending were Mmes. Parks Brumley, Louie Hooper, W. J. Chambliss, L. D. Maddox, Melvin Watkins, W. R. Parish, O. J. Engle, Harold Payne, John Nutting and Lucille Foster.

Mrs. Ila Arthur Leads WOM Meet

Women of the Moose met in regular session on Wednesday evening with Mrs. Ila Arthur, newly-elected senior regent, in charge of the business meeting.

Officers and members present were Mmes. Bertie Brown, Bernice Garner, Ruby Lard, Jo Cook, Louise Wells, Catherine Webb, India Moody and Pauline Seitz. Meeting adjourned with closing prayer given by Mrs. Arthur.

Nominating Committee Named At Stephen F. Austin PTA Meeting

Mrs. N. D. Steele presented the program for the Stephen F. Austin PTA on Thursday afternoon in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Steele, introduced by Mrs. J. E. Thompson, gave an amusing sketch of her trip to England and France in December. She contrasted the stress the English people place on the proper and elegant serving of food as compared to the French people's desire to satisfy the palate and appetite with flavor-making cuisine. Besides the tourist attractions of Piccadilly Circus and the Museum of Wax Works in London, the county town of Chester impressed Mrs. Steele with its historical atmosphere. "It is the only city in England that still has its city walls intact."

The program opened with Cub Scouts of Pack 110 presenting the colors and leading the audience in the Pledge of Allegiance. This PTA-sponsored Cub Pack will hold its blue and gold banquet in the school cafeteria on Feb. 26. It was reported by Mrs. Rose during the meeting.

Mrs. George Snell, presiding PTA officer, announced that there would be a leadership training program for all PTA members on Feb. 19 from 9:30 a.m. to 11. She stated that the nurses' room of Stephen F. Austin school will be the meeting place with Mrs. R. A. Mack the teacher.

Members approved the selection of the nominating committee, named at the executive board meeting held prior to the general meeting. The committee composed of D. V. Biggers, school principal, Mrs. W. R. Fain, Mrs. A. W. Skewes and Mrs. D. E. Holt will present nominees for the 1959-60 PTA officers at the March meeting. The March meeting has been changed from the regular Thursday date to March 9 at 7:30

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: Let it go. In tracking down a rumor, the only thing you can hope to get from the horse's mouth is a horse laugh.

The Harvesters' giant-sized and hard working grid master lectures on his pet offense (the Slot-F) before some 400 coaches and other interested by-standers at a Region I Texas High School Coaches Association meeting in Canyon Saturday.

Pampa High baseball boss Deck Wolft will speak on baseball and basketball coach Clifton McNeely will point out some of his offensive patterns at the clinic. White Deer's Otis Holladay will speak on the Wing-T at Canyon Saturday too.

Meanwhile, Harvester track coach, Dwain Lyon will monitor down to Abilene to attend a cinder clinic at Abilene, Christian College where Coach Oliver Jackson will discuss starts, sprints, conditioning and other minute details of the spring sport.

Curman and Lyon will just have time for a quick change of clothes after their clinics before shoving off for Stillwater, Okla., where they'll attend three days of Oklahoma State's spring football drills, picking up pointers and advice of defensive positioning.

The Babe then goes on to Dallas where he'll meet Bird Dog Trice, Eural Ramsey and Norman Phillips to attend the Feb. 26-28 Kellogg's Coach of the Year clinic, featuring such famed football speakers as Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State; Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma; Paul Dietzel, LSU; Abe Martin, TCU; Forest Evashevski, Iowa; and Eddie Erdelatz, Navy.

That's a lotta traveling and a lotta coaches, but Curfman and his staff are cramming down the knowledge so that when the weather warms his May spring training grind will function more smoothly and reap better football results here.

Same Song, Verse No. 23!

Now it's George Wallace, Lubbock Avalanch, who writes Pampa's Clifton McNeely may well be his last year at the helm of Harvester basketball fortunes. Aside from prospective school principal positions said to have been offered, McNeely is being urged to coaching vacancies at both Texas Tech and Texas University.

And another nasty rumor has it that Berger's Tex Hanna has had it. Reports say Tex was only given a one-year pact after last season's second place finish behind Pampa, and that he'll be job hunting before summer vacation.

You do hear the darndest things these days don't ya? When Alton Thyngerson clocked a torrid 9.8 in the 100-yard dash for Pampa High last year it set a new school record. Thyngerson tied for second in the nation with that splendid century mark last spring, behind Sidney Garton's 9.5 clip for New Boston, Texas.

The Hobbs, New Mexico, high school coaching post has reportedly had 35 applicants from 11 states. One of the top candidates was White Deer's Otis Holladay before he learned it would be doubtful his Buck assistants, Sam Christy and Bob Moore, could be included in the package.

Cage Class Math Course!

Here's a schoolboy sports equation that'll throw you, Pampa vs. Plainview equals precedent.

Back on January 23, the Harvesters swamped Plainview's Bulldogs by 30 points, following a tight four point verdict for the Shockers over the Bullpups.

Next time we lay eyes on Bill Cross or Spidier Dillon we expect to see 'em herding Cadillac's. This gentleman, is because Richard E. Snyder, Chicago economist, says retail sales of sporting goods in Texas this year are expected to total a cool $86,640,000.

Only six states peddle more sporting goods: In order they are: New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Michigan.

TEXAS OPEN TO BEGIN

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—A sizeable handful of "name" players were missing, but the winter tour's current darling, Gene Littler, was among those present as a field of 180 started play in the $20,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament.

Littler, who will be seeking his third straight tourney title in as many weeks after pocketing top money at Phoenix and Tucson en route here, was the only 1959 titlist on hand as the 72-hole grind started.

Harvesters End Regular Season Here Tonight, Against Amarillo

Pampa In Warmup For Bi-District

By RED GRIGGS Daily News Sports Editor

Pampa's Harvesters close their regular season tonight on an anticlimactic note, against the Amarillo Sandies at 8 p.m. in Harvester Field House.

Clifton McNeely's cagers will be shooting for their 40th straight win and their 27th of the season against the Sandies, who are tied (at 8-5) with Plainview for second place in District 3-4A.

Tonight's contest will be a warmup for the bi-district playoff here Tuesday, against the Wichita Falls Coyotes of District 4-4A. It will be a one-game, sudden-death affair.

CARVER WILDCATS — The Carver High Wildcats of Pampa, champions of their district, will be playing in the state Class B Negro tournament at Prairie View, Texas. The tournament begins Friday, and finals are set for Saturday night. Carver goes into the meet with a 22-6 season record.

Carver Enters State Meet This Weekend

PRAIRIE VIEW, Tex. (UPI)—Coach C. E. Petty's Carver High Wildcats, from Pampa, arrived here today for the Negro class B state tournament, which will be held on the campus of Prairie View College.

The Carver cagers will play their first game of the tournament Friday at 9:30 a.m., probably against Slaton.

Carver, with a team averaging only 5-9 in height, has compiled a 22-6 season record, winning three of five tournaments and going through their district undefeated.

The short but talented Wildcats have four men averaging 15 or more points per game, and one hitting at an amazing 25-percentage clip.

Carver's starters are Charles O'Neal, 5-9; Ray Duke, 5-7; George Duke, 5-9; James Taylor, 6-1; and Larry Cash, 5-5. O'Neal, the squad's point-setter, has been setting the nets on fire with a 25 point per game average.

Cash hasn't scored much, but according to Petty he's valuable as a "playmaker, floor leader, and defensive man."

The other six men on the Carver team are Joe Cash, Ernest Mathis, Irving Bunton, Robert Harris, and Otis Williams. The 11 men on the team make up almost the entire male enrollment of Carver High. The total enrollment is only 32, but most of them are girls.

"We don't have a manager," Petty said in a pre-tournament interview. "We have to use every boy available for the team."

The class B tournament here will include 16 teams — each of the Negro class B district champions. If Carver is successful in its first effort, it will play its second game Friday night and its third Saturday morning. The state final is set for Saturday night.

Carver, winner of 10 straight without defeat in district play appeared to be in top form going into the tournament. In their last game, they defeated the Memphis team.

Carver has been scoring more than one occasion. George Duke has been scoring heavily enough to lead most teams, with 19 per game. Raymond Duke has been close behind with a 17 point average, and Taylor has been hooping 15 points per game.

Liston TKO's Mike DeJohn

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Heavyweight contender Sonny Liston with 16 straight victories under his belt, apologized today for uppercutting Mike DeJohn while he was "down," and yelled for a fight with a higher ranking contender.

"I want Eddie Machen, Zora Folley or Nino Valdes for my next fight," declared Liston of Philadelphia, who floored DeJohn of Syracuse, N. Y., twice Wednesday night with solar-plexus punches for a technical knockout in the sixth round of their TV fight.

After Referee Jimmy Peeries had stopped the bout at 2:43 of the sixth session before 3,858 at the Miami Beach Exhibition Hall, the fight was almost resumed in DeJohn's corner.

When the victorious Philadelphian danced across the ring to shake hands with vanquished Mike, DeJohn refused to shake and angrily accused Sonny of uppercutting him when down on one knee the second time. Mike called Liston a name. Liston swung at him and missed. Then their handlers separated them.

Liston, weighing 209 1/2 pounds, and standing 6-foot-11, admitted later, "Yes, I uppercuted him all right, but I didn't know he had a knee on the floor. I thought he was just squinting like he did a couple times earlier. I'm sorry about it but he's so tall, I didn't realize he had a knee down."

Sonny was favored at 12-5. The Sandies are a fairly fast team, averaging six feet in height. Their shooting varies from very good to poor, depending on what kind of night they have.

Bill Dean, 6-0, is the Sandies' leading scorer, averaging 15 to 20 points per game. Ken Grenwald, 6-2, is their floor leader. Other starters are Lloyd Bridges, 6-2; Joe Turrell, 6-0, and Gray Patton, 5-10.

Frogs Defeat Rice; SWC Crown Near

The Horned Frogs of Texas Christian University were just one short-step away today from their first Southwest Conference crown in five years.

The Frogs squeaked by surprisingly tough Rice 68-64 Wednesday night, and need only a victory over sliding Texas Saturday night to assure themselves of a share in the league title.

TCU's H. E. Kircher and Butch Craig of Rice tied for high point honors with 18 apiece.

Rice trailed throughout the game, but shaved the lead to a single point midway through the first half. The Frogs banded back with a surge that widened the gap to 10 points in the final minute.

Even then the never-say-die Owls rammed home another six points.

TCU's H. E. Kircher and Butch Craig of Rice tied for high point honors with 18 apiece.

Rice put a damper on the hot streak the Frogs have been riding in their last five games. TCU had been hitting an average of 49 per cent from the floor, but could only manage 33.8 per cent last night. Rice hit slightly over 40 per cent.

Shades of a comeback? Rocky Marciano has reduced off 24 pounds!

Next time we lay eyes on Bill Cross or Spidier Dillon we expect to see 'em herding Cadillac's. This gentleman, is because Richard E. Snyder, Chicago economist, says retail sales of sporting goods in Texas this year are expected to total a cool $86,640,000.

Red to Undergo Operation Today

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Red Schoendienst today will undergo an operation to remove a tubercular area on his right lung.

Dr. William A. Werner, medical director of Mt. St. Rose Hospital where Schoendienst is confined, described the operation as "major surgery which is done frequently and is highly successful."

It is expected to take at least three hours.

Werner explained that Schoendienst "has been a model patient and has progressed nicely."

"As to whether or not Red will play in the 1959 season, I can only say what I've been saying all along — it's very unlikely," the physician said.

TOKYO (UPI)—Pascual Perez, 113 1/2, Argentina, outpointed Kenji Yonekura, 113, Japan, (10) title.

Another youngster expected to be knocking at the door was Joe Campbell, Knoxville, Tenn., who slipped to a 7-0 on the final round last Sunday to blow his 54-hole lead and let Lillier slip by him.

Still another was Wes Ellis Jr., the homegrown youngster making his second full tourney after winning better than $15,000 last year and finishing sixth in the "ITT" point standings. Ellis won the $2,500 pro-am here Tuesday with a 66 to indicate his game is in the groove.

FLYING SAVE — It took a bit of doing for Clyde to beat the Hibernians in a soccer game at Glasgow, Scotland. But this all-out save by Clyde's goalie, McCulloch, was typical.

SAYS FEARLESS OSCAR FRALEY

VEECK MAY HELP BASEBALL

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Sportshirt" with the heart of a carnival barker, Veeck appears headed back to the big leagues today as boss man of the Chicago White Sox and while it could be a break for him, fans you can bet that many of baseball's stuffed shirts regard his return with apprehension.

There are two schools of thought among baseball people when it comes to Veeck. One school, and it is in the distinct minority, holds that he is a promotional genius. The other, a clear majority, feels that he is an exhibitionist.

If you doubt this, consider the manner in which baseball this spring cut back on its exhibition games. No longer has the gate magnets which, in the old days, caused fans in the nether regions to take a day off so that they could boast they once saw such and such a player.

You can bet that Veeck, the Barnum of baseball, soon will have the joint jumping. Whenever he has gone, sportshirt Bill has hyped interest to drag the fans through the wickets.

Big Daddy's Money

The federal Big Daddy who looks after all God's children wants to give us one and one-half million big fat dollars scrounged from the taxpayers to build us another low rent housing project. The city commission will be required to pass a resolution begging for this charity, proclaiming our low station in life and promising to love, honor and obey Big Daddy 'til death do us part.

School Individuality

The other day we had the pleasure of discussing individualism with one of our young high school friends. According to this student, the word individualism is frequently employed in the sense of differentness. It appears that there is a current tendency, at least in the high school, to equate individualism and unconventional exhibitionism. To be an individualist, it is held, one must be different from everyone else.

The Pampa Daily News YOUR FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is not license. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, The Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Eisenhower Versus Reuther Fred G. Clark is a member of The American Economic Foundation to promote better understanding of moral and economic subjects that issues bulletins regularly. His last bulletin was under the heading of "Eisenhower vs. Reuther." The subject is inflation and unemployment. This is the way Clark puts it:

"In assailing President Eisenhower's Economic Report, Mr. Reuther's economic policy committee is playing upon the economic ignorance of the American people in general and of the members of his unions in particular. "Surely, the members of that committee cannot be so naive as to believe that their recommendations would not accelerate the inflationary wage-price spiral.

Getting Their Heads Together Today

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department's 10-month-old drive against 100 top hoodlums is finally about to get off the ground. Slated shortly to be indicted by a federal grand jury are two of the 60 big-time racketeers who participated in the notorious "underworld convention" at Apalachicola, N.Y., in 1957.

Justice Department's Hoodlum Drive Set

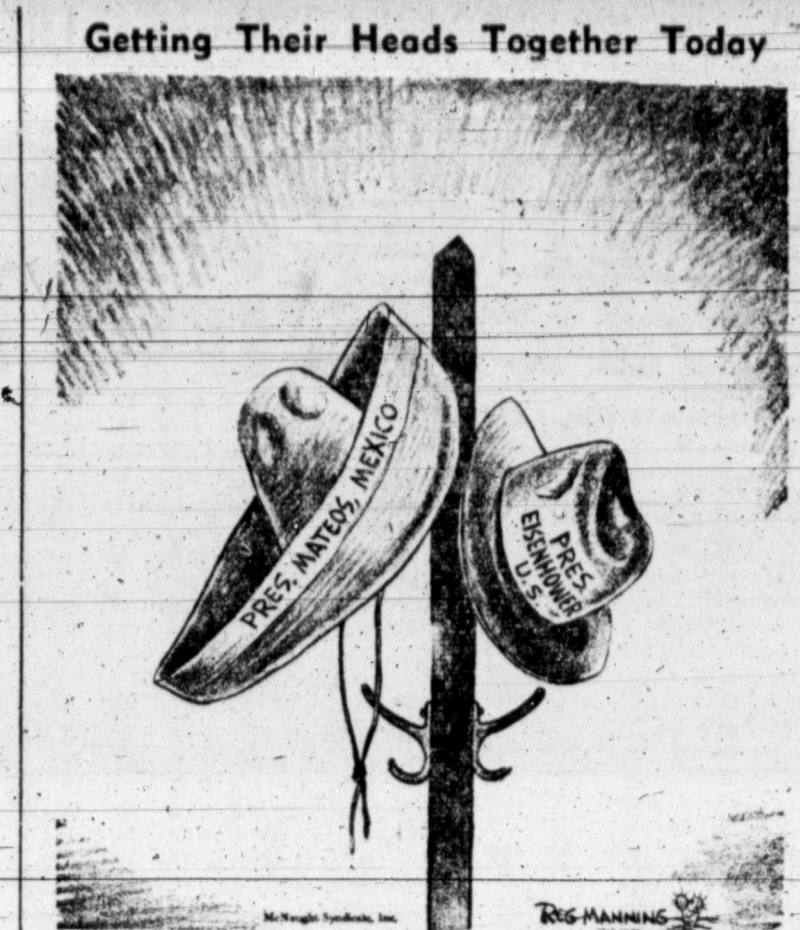

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department's 10-month-old drive against 100 top hoodlums is finally about to get off the ground. Slated shortly to be indicted by a federal grand jury are two of the 60 big-time racketeers who participated in the notorious "underworld convention" at Apalachicola, N.Y., in 1957.

Looking Sideways

NEW YORK — There is a slim, starting blonde around New York who proves the Armenians are unpredictable. Her name was Carol Marcus and now it is Carol Grace and, twice it was Carol Saroyan. Miss Grace has had two divorces in her life: both from William Saroyan. That is what proves that Armenians are unpredictable. Most men would have been content to be married to Miss Grace an even once. Saroyan had to make it twice, and then it ended for good, although I would not make book on this. You never know.

Hankering

My wife, who would like to do over the Taj Mahal if she could get her hands on it, now wants to dig a hole in the middle of our living room floor. There's no oil under the floor, mind you. Nor is there any buried treasure. She got the idea for the hole from one of those women's magazines devoted to making women dissatisfied with their surroundings. If they have a round bathtub the magazine makes them want one in the shape of a five-pointed star. If they have an awning to keep the sun out, they read where it is ever so much nicer to take down the awning and use a fringe made of upside-down flying squirrels.

The Doctor Says:

Enormous effort and vast sums of money are now going into research on cancer. Thousands of articles reporting this research are published each year in the medical journals. It now seems clear that the conquest of this great killer has come into the range of the foreseeable future.

The Ladies

THE LADIES — Latest social innovation in Washington is a jazz festival to be held in mid-March under the sponsorship of members of Congress and their wives. Noted jazz artists have been booked for this event. Its chief organizers are Mrs. Richard Bolling, wife of the Missouri Representative, Mrs. Hale Boggs, wife of the New Orleans Representative, and Mrs. Stuart Symington, wife of the Missouri Senator. The wives of two former House members have directly opposite views on their activities since their husbands became senators. Says Mrs. Clair Engle, wife of California's new Democratic Senator, "I feel like I'm caught in a washing machine and being whirled round and round."

Hide The Hatchets, The Wife Wants Pool!

My wife, who would like to do over the Taj Mahal if she could get her hands on it, now wants to dig a hole in the middle of our living room floor. There's no oil under the floor, mind you. Nor is there any buried treasure. She got the idea for the hole from one of those women's magazines devoted to making women dissatisfied with their surroundings. Meanwhile, she acted with that sturdy but less than threat to Bernhardt, Jayne Mansfield. She played a witch-smart secretary bored to extinction by the male appropritate as evidenced by the character acting around her. The red hair suited that role, but blonde was allowed slowly to creep back into dominance. In 1955, Random House, a publishing firm not addicted to spending money putting out useless books, published her first novel, "Secret In The Daisy." It had a comfortable sale of 10,000 copies, which is 8,345 more than Faulkner's first novel sold, in case you are deeply in love with statistics. She has completed a second novel and I would as lief try to buy my way into Ft. Knox as pry the title out of her. She also is completing her first play, and is similarly gigantic about its theme, title or general spirit. She does not believe in talking about such things until they are sold and on their way to the bookstores or the stage.

I don't know how she got started writing novels, but I do know how she got started in the theater. She was in Skowhegan, Maine, a once-famed seat of summer stock, and was asked if she could manage an off-stage screen. She said she thought she could. She did. Launched, one actress, Her Broadway premiere was in a Saroyan play, "Across The Board on Tomorrow Morning." The play fizzled, but Saroyan sizzled. He told her he would like to marry her when she was 16.

And that's about all there is to say about Carol Grace, a remarkably provocative young woman in several fields requiring talent.

Are the Soviets conquering the world by means of a GIGANTIC BLUE? On January 12, "Electronic News" published a round-up of reports tracking the vaunted Soviet sunspot. It revealed that ONLY ONE observatory outside the Soviet Union was able to track the supposed solar satellite. This was the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena, California. Its powerful equipment was able to track the satellite for ONLY THREE HOURS out of the several days that the Russians say it took to pass the moon and to go in orbit around the sun. None of this laboratory's evidence was sufficient to confirm the Russian claim that it came within 4,700 miles of the moon.

Jet Jockeys Called To Pentagon For Preliminaries Of 'Project Mercury'

By WILLIAM D. HALL, United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The orders read simply: Report to Room 4-E-1085 of the Pentagon for temporary duty. But most of the hot jet jockeys who received them suspected what was in the works.

They knew for sure when Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, strode into the room and announced he wanted to shake hands with the first American who will reach outer space.

The name of the program is "Project Mercury"; the purpose, to put a manned space vehicle into orbit.

About 30 Air Force test pilots were gathered in the Pentagon office to shake hands with White. They were among 110 Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots brought to Washington for initial screening. Twelve of them will be chosen to work on the project from the start.

Will Know Fear

One of the 12 to be selected at the last minute eventually will ride a space vehicle atop an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile and go into orbit around the earth.

How is he going to feel? "The day they push the button," one candidate said, "the man who's sitting in this thing is going to be scared as hell. But he's not going to back out."

"He'll have had a lot of training and if he has gone that far he'll go all the way even though he knows there's a lot of risk involved. It's no snap decision. If it were, he'd probably have backed out right away."

There's probably no test pilot alive who takes up a new airplane who's not apprehensive about his life. But he's trained to do this sort of thing and he's not going to back out just because he's scared.

Free To Leave

White emphasized the program was strictly voluntary; any candidate was free to leave at any time. The general said he could think of a hundred reasons why a pilot would not want to become involved. He emphasized that failure to volunteer would not reflect on an officer's service career.

Some of the pilots decided pretty quick. The group was obviously smaller when it assembled the following day for a series of technical tests.

The pilots had several things in common. They all were test pilots with degrees in engineering or one of the physical sciences, and they met certain physical requirements.

After meeting with White, they joined Navy and Marine Corps pilots in a Pentagon auditorium for a detailed briefing by scientists from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

Equipped With Chute

The candidates were assured this was not a "crash program" to put a man into space by a certain deadline.

The 12 volunteers who are selected will have a strong voice in the final design of the capsule that will carry one of them into space. They also will have a say as to when the first flight can be made with the minimum chance of accident.

The scientists sought to allay the airman's fear. They pointed out the pilot could separate himself from the launching rocket and parachute to safety at any time simply by pushing a button.

One young Air Force captain, worried about the possibility of a launching accident, said "this made me feel a lot better about the whole thing."

He said he decided then to volunteer for the program if he qualified. But immediately he began worrying "whether I could cut the mustard with all these talented people."

All Are Screened

He has 2,100 flying hours, 1,800 of them in 11 different jets ranging from the first operational jet, the P-50A, through the F-104, which holds all records for air-breathing planes.

But he returned to the Pentagon in the afternoon for a brief medical review and picked up instructions for the second day of screening.

He was told to report to NASA headquarters here in civilian clothing to avoid attracting any unnecessary attention. The technical screening took place in a classroom. Like auditorium at NASA. It involved mathematics from arithmetic to calculus, technical vocabulary on everything from electrical engineering to medicine—and an engineering test that would have done justice to a graduate school.

When the testing was over, the dazed captain said, "I really felt sick. But I felt a little better when I saw that all the rest of them were shaking their heads."

Talk With Psychiatrist

After that there was a geographical interview, a complete summary of your life history, plus the history of your family.

The group was broken up on the third day and the scientists tried to find out what made each man tick in the end didn't get fly in the space vehicle?

It began with a psychiatric interview. One of the big questions was whether a man had a wife who was completely opposed to him taking part in a space program. If he did, he couldn't do his best work. There was a talk with another psychiatrist later in the day during which many of the same questions were asked, probably so the two doctors could compare notes.

In between there was a medical interview. The physician went through your complete medical history and asked questions about everything from boils to back in-

Attorneys, Postal Inspectors Will Crack Down On Fraud

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and Attorney General William P. Rogers have announced today they have been advised that all United States Attorneys have been alerted to a growing number of schemes victimizing the public, and have been instructed to press prosecutive action whenever violations of federal criminal statutes have been disclosed.

In publicly disseminated statements, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and Attorney General William P. Rogers have indicated concern with the problem. Gaylor added that both the United States Attorneys and Postal Inspectors will coordinate their efforts under the guidance of the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice.

Malcolm Anderson, Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Criminal Division, has forwarded to all United States Attorneys a letter outlining the problem and suggesting actions to be taken. In the letter Anderson said:

"United States Attorneys should consult freely with the Postal Inspectors and the Fraud Section in the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice."

"The increasing danger to the public from these fraudulent schemes demands the immediate attention of all United States Attorneys. In view of the concern of the Attorney General and the Department of Justice, the Criminal Division should be kept promptly and fully advised of the status of all cases in this area which come to your attention."

Among the schemes that may be of special interest to members of this community, as outlined by the head of the Criminal Division in the letter, according to the local postmasters, are these:

I. Offers to Act as Agents: Fraudulent offers of Advance Fees. The gist of these schemes is the swindler's offer to perform impressive services, which will aid the victim in his attempts to negotiate a particular transaction. Performance of the services is always contingent upon payment of advance fee; once the fee is paid, however, no services of appreciable value are ever rendered.

The most common use of this scheme is where a small businessman desires to sell his business. In a variation of this, a scheme businessman desiring loans are induced to employ the swindlers to obtain financing. In another variation, persons owning real-estate in a state other than that of their residence are induced to employ a swindler to aid in the sale of the real estate.

There is another type of scheme involving sales of accounting services. In the main, the services are of little, if any, value. Some instances are reported where the swindlers, having gained access to the books of their client, utilize the information for blackmail.

II. Vending Machines.

The prospect of obtaining large profits in return for a relatively minor investment and no physical labor is often irresistible. Swindlers, therefore, find it relatively easy to sell vending machines by grossly overexaggerating the profits that can be realized by the sale of candy, peanuts, and similar vending machine items. These fraudulent promoters capitalize further on this lure by promising to obtain profitable locations and to repurchase the machines if the venture is unsuccessful. Of course, these promises remain unfulfilled and, in some instances, the misrepresentations from the basis for a successful prosecution.

III. Work at Home Schemes.

The general approach of this type of scheme is to create the belief that there is a ready and substantial market for certain goods which can be produced at home. The swindler, of course, sells the machine and produces these goods. The victim is convincingly persuaded to purchase the machine by the swindler's assurance that he will purchase and resell any goods produced. In reality, payment for the machine assures only the disappearance of the swindler. This scheme is particularly vicious because it is in-

IV. Easy-to-Win Contests.

The general format of these contests usually consists of an open invitation to the public to win a "prize" by the performance of a relatively simple task. For example, an advertisement shows a woman sitting in a polka-dot dress; a cash prize is awarded to the person who correctly counts the number of polka dots, a feat requiring no more than a mastery of elementary arithmetic. All entrants, of course, are winners and are told to call for their prizes at the business address of the advertiser. The winner then learns that his "cash prize" can be obtained only as a "credit" against the purchase price of merchandise sold by the advertiser. In spite of the credit, the price actually paid is usually more than the cost of the merchandise. If purchased elsewhere, and the merchandise offered is often of an inferior quality. It should be noted that this type of scheme injures not only the gullible consumer but also reliable businessmen through loss of sales and injury to reputation.

Price Daniel Takes Notice Of Shamrock

AUSTIN (SP4) — Governor Price Daniel has issued a memorandum relating to Shamrock's Annual St. Patrick's Day Celebration. The text of his statement follows:

"Wherever there are Irish people, St. Patrick's Day is celebrated throughout the world. The popular patron saint of Ireland has become a near-legendary figure and tales of his accomplishments have passed through countless generations.

"Since 1838 the people of Shamrock, have staged an annual St. Patrick's Celebration which has received international recognition as one of the most outstanding events of its kind.

"Thousands of visitors from the surrounding Panhandle area join guests from all over the world to honor St. Patrick and the spirit of the Irish.

"A parade features colorful floats and bands and beautiful girls who compete for the title of 'Miss Irish Rose.' Fresh shamrocks are flown in from the banks of the River Shannon to give an authentic touch of the old country to the Texas festival.

"Therefore, I as Governor of Texas, do hereby call special attention to Shamrock's Annual St. Patrick's Celebration, March 17, and urge all Texas citizens to take note of this occasion."
