

At Least 26 Texans Won't See July 4, 1960

Dying Too Fast To Be Counted

Texans were killing themselves at such a fast clip Saturday—the Fourth of July—that safety officials were finding it difficult to keep abreast of the count.

One safety official dolefully predicted that the Department of Public Safety's prediction of 26 deaths in traffic may be too low.

Already, by early evening Saturday there were eight deaths in traffic. There were six drownings, eight homicides and suicides and four miscellaneous-type accidents for a total of 26.

Maj. Guy Smith, regional commander for the Department of Public Safety's Northeast Texas district, said radar arrests were running heavier than expected. He said the majority of arrests were because of speed, and a large share of the speeders had been drinking.

Highway patrolmen and local law enforcement agencies had every available man on the highways in an effort to hold down the grim prediction.

But Maj. Smith said the worst was yet to come. Traffic will get heavier late Saturday and Sunday.

Drownings were taking a heavy toll, especially among children.

Nathaniel Mose Bailey, 3, of Midland, was drowned Saturday when he fell into a creek during a family picnic at Lampasas.

Two Dallas children, Carolyn Edwards, 11, and her brother, James Edwards, 9, were drowned in Lake Whitney when they stepped into a hole while wading. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwards, were fishing nearby but they said the children disappeared without a sound.

Lamar Villa, a McAllen laborer, apparently was drowned Saturday when his boat capsized on the Rio Grande River while he was running trot lines. Pete Silva, 20, of San Antonio, was drowned in the Guadalupe River near New Braunfels and a 20-year-old Texarkana Negro, Isaac James Spratt, was drowned near the spillway at the Texarkana dam.

Two persons died under the wheels of trains. Archie Cormett, 24-year-old Fort Hood soldier, was crushed to death by a freight train near Taylor about 7 a.m. Saturday. Investigators said he apparently was asleep on the tracks when the train swept over him.

Juan Castillera, 88, was killed instantly by a speeding Missouri-Kansas-Texas passenger train as he walked across a low trestle four miles south of New Braunfels. A companion of Castillera's, jumped to safety into a slough below.

In Richardson Mrs. Ruby Curry Clay, 35, was shot to death in front of her daughter's home by her estranged husband, William Weldon Clay, 48. Clay then turned the gun on himself and was in critical condition at Parkland Hospital in Dallas with a chest wound. He left a suicide note in his pickup truck.

Four Auto Accidents Occur On Pampa Streets

Highways in Gray County remained free of accidents Saturday as the critical Fourth of July weekend rolled into its second day, the Texas Highway Patrol reported.

Four accidents, however, were counted on Pampa city streets Friday and Saturday, with no injuries reported. Heaviest damages resulted Friday when a 1955 Chevrolet driven by John Clyde Ellis, 18, sheared off a power line pole on N. Duncan near the Kentucky St. intersection.

Damages were set by police at $950. Ellis, who lives at 2227 Duncan, said his car veered out of control when he attempted to swat an insect.

Friday afternoon at 12:50, three cars were damaged in the 1100 block on Alcock when a 1957 Chevrolet driven by Mazy Frances Coleman, 705 Denver, struck the rear of a pickup truck stopped at a traffic sign.

The pickup, operated by Isom Junior Hutchings, 487 Elm, in turn

EARL LONG OPENS RE-ELECTION DRIVE

By WILLIAM COOK
United Press International

EUNICE, La. (UPI)—Gov. Earl K. Long, who has been in and out of three mental wards since May 30, opened a campaign for re-election Saturday by inviting an estimated 4,000 persons to look him in the eye and judge for themselves whether he is "nuts."

"And if I'm nuts, I've been nuts all my life," he said.

Long, 63, opened his campaign to become governor a fourth time against the advice of six physicians. They were concerned more with his weak mind than with the state of his mind.

Nevertheless, Long hit a campaign trail that included Lake Platte, Eunice, Cameron and Lake Arthur, in Louisiana's Cajon County.

He planned to visit a bathing beauty contest in Lake Providence, Louisiana, across the state, tonight but not speak, lest he disqualify the winner from entering the Miss America contest on the ground that she was selected at a political gathering.

Admits Sickness
Long confessed that he is weak and has a poor appetite, but he appeared to gather strength after a five-minute speech at Ville Platte and got up to speak a second time.

"The governor is tired. Listen to him closely; give him that courtesy," Curt Seigelin, director of the state Department of Commerce and Industry, said as he introduced Long at Ville Platte.

"I'm making no deals, no trades," Long said. "I want to be governor on the up and up and I don't want to help the poor man over his mouth and shove them back into place."

Uncle Earl is running for the good he can do for the state. I'm the best friend the colored man ever had. I'm going to take a vacation next week.

A reliable informant said Long is going to Arizona, probably Tucson, and expects to be away from Louisiana three weeks.

Long had trouble with his false teeth, which were slipping. They became dislodged while he was denouncing State Auditor William Dodd, who also will run for governor, and he had to clap a hand over his mouth and shove them back into place.

Bills Segregationist
As for State Sen. William Rainey, leader of Louisiana's rock-bound segregationists, who also is running for governor, Long said: "If I told you he was a crook, it would be a damned lie. I'll be back in Louisiana in three weeks."

TALKING POLITICS?

Congressman Walter Rogers did some visiting with master of ceremonies Melvin Munn Saturday evening prior to addressing an overflow crowd at the Rodeo Grounds during the July 4 celebration. Saturday night's impressive celebration included fireworks, a dog-horse act, music by the high school band and a salute to the nation's independence and freedom. (Daily News Photo)

Cigarettes To Run Higher!

By BERNARD BRENNER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower's recent veto of a tobacco price support bill may increase government farm spending by as much as 50 million dollars over the next three years and eventually boost cigarette prices, government officials said Saturday.

This was not the President's objective in turning down a grower backed bill which would have stabilized price supports at the 1958 level and headed off increases scheduled under current law for 1959 and later years. But this could happen if Congress takes no further action, the officials said.

Eisenhower objected to the bill because he believed tobacco supports should be reduced, not merely frozen. He also protested strongly against a provision reviving an old farm parity formula.

He called for passage of a measure which would "freeze" growers' prices for major tobacco types through reduced prices. It also included the old parity formula.

If tobacco Belt congressmen refuse to back legislation acceptable to the White House, price supports will automatically go up one to two cents a pound this year for major tobacco types.

The President estimated in his veto message that the rejected bill would have automatically gone up one to two cents a pound this year for major tobacco types.

First Water Safety Group Finishes Here

The first session of the Water Safety program, sponsored by the Pampa Red Cross, has come to an end, Clyde Dickerson, Water Safety chairman, reported Friday.

A couple more two-week sessions will be offered this summer, July 8-14 and July 20-26.

Twenty-three beginners, seven adult beginners, 11 intermediates and three swimmers received water safety cards upon completion of their two week courses. The cards were presented by their instructors.

Marilyn Fite and Mrs. Warren Jackson taught the beginners. Mrs. Carl Hills taught the adult beginners and Mrs. D. J. George taught the intermediates and swimmers.

Many children did not pass their skills because bad weather caused them to miss several days. The instructors, however, felt that much progress was made and urged them to go to the pool as often as possible and practice the skills they have learned.

The following aides assisted with the program: Miss Joy Watson, Bobby Bybee, Lanell Riley, Miss D'Anne Prince, Larry Gregory, Elaine Thorburg, Donna Jones, Mrs. Dale Thut, Mrs. Harold Gregory, Mrs. M. P. Snider and Mrs. Kirk Duncan.

The following persons worked in the Red Cross office while the executive secretary was with the swim program: Mrs. M. F. Lunde, Miss Mary Martin, Miss Sammi Sue Cook, Mrs. K. A. Soranson, and Mrs. Carl Boston.

The second water safety group will receive instruction Monday morning from 9 to 10 or from 10 to 11 at the Municipal Pool. Children are urged to leave all valuables, watches, rings, and other jewelry at home.

A Summer Recreation program will continue at Baker School beginning at 8 a.m. with directed play for the children. There will be a free swim from 11 to 11:45 at the Municipal Pool for those who attend.

Havana Is 'Hot'

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY
United Press International

HAVANA (UPI)—An armed band, presumably loyal to ex-President Fulgencio Batista, attacked guards at the ousted dictator's country estate early Saturday in the second straight day of gunfighting in tense Havana.

Officials reported no known casualties in the sharp firefight between the attackers and the troops guarding the ousted Batista's former home, Finca Kuguine.

Police and police reinforcements scoured the suburban Arroyo Arenas area but found no trace of the assailants, who opened fire on the police.

The government continued to warn of danger in the Caribbean as a result of the spreading guerrilla war in the Dominican Republic.

State Minister Raul Roa, in an interview with the newspaper El Mundo, denied that Cuba plans aggression against Trujillo's island republic.

"If anyone is planning aggression it is precisely the Trujillo government," he said.

Fire Hits Home

A home in Fairview Village near the Pampa Drive-In Theatre was lightly damaged by fire Friday afternoon, Pampa firemen reported.

The blaze, confined to a floor in the home, was blamed on burning trash. The home owner, Donald Minick, reported the fire at 1:12 p.m.

NEW FLAG WAVING

By HALE MONTGOMERY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The maiden 48-star flag of the United States was unfurled with colorful pageantry Saturday to wave over the land from Guam to Manhattan.

At precisely 12:01 a. m., the spanking new banner with the star of the 48th state, Alaska, was hoisted to the top of a flagpole on the west front of the nation's Capitol overlooking the Washington Monument.

At the same moment Stars and Stripes unfurled in the dawn's early light at Ft. McHenry, Md., birthplace of the national anthem. Fireworks simulating "bombs bursting in air" provided a glaring backdrop to the Ft. McHenry ceremony where Francis Scott Key 145 years ago started writing the "Star Spangled Banner" which did not officially become the national anthem until 1932.

First Over Guam
The 809th Engineer Battalion on the island of Guam claimed the honor of raising the first 48-star banner, hoisting it at 6:15 a. m. Guam time, while it was still Friday on the mainland.

In the heart of Manhattan, the new model of Old Glory was raised in impressive ceremonies in Rockefeller Plaza.

Meanwhile, back on the Capitol roof, an eight-man building guard got in six hours and 20 minutes of flying time.

From midnight until their job was completed at 8:21 a. m., arm-weary policemen raised and lowered 1,072 new flags to be given away as souvenirs to congressmen's constituents who requested 48-star banners flown over the Capitol on the Fourth of July.

Short Time Up
Four temporary flag poles were set up to complete the job. The flag raisers took about 30 seconds to clamp each flag to the halyard, haul it up and drop it back down into its red-white-and-blue mailing box.

L. J. James A. Boyer, in charge of the detail, said that next year, when the whole thing will have to be repeated for the 50-star flag. (See FLAG, Page 3)

BONNIE LOU GLAXNER ... 1958 runner-up

'58 Runner-Up Is Seeking Title

This is the seventh in a series of articles on young women who will take part in the Miss Pampa pageant Tuesday night. The contest is held annually to select Pampa's entry in the Miss Texas pageant. Both contests are forerunners of the Miss America contest.

A late entry in the Miss Pampa pageant is Bonnie Glaxner, a pianist turned painter. Miss Glaxner was named first runner-up at the conclusion of the Miss Pampa pageant last year and is the second 1958 contestant to take another shot at the crown.

The runner-up demonstrated her ability at the keyboard last June but will show a new talent with six paintings Tuesday night.

A fall sophomore at West Texas State College, Canyon, Miss Glaxner has been painting all year. She still plays the piano.

Barring her senior year at Pampa High School, Miss Glaxner served as assistant director of "Hansel and Gretel."

Her contest sponsor is Highland Homes.

Nine other lovely young women are entered in the Miss Pampa event set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Robert R. Lee Junior High School. Tickets are on sale at Richard Drug and may also be obtained from members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Ticket prices are $1, adults, and 50 cents, children.

Contract Of $10,200 Let

Ray Boswell Construction Co. has been awarded a $10,200 contract to pave takways at Perry, Texas, reported Saturday.

The contract was awarded by the State Minister Raul Roa, in an interview with the newspaper El Mundo, denied that Cuba plans aggression against Trujillo's island republic.

"If anyone is planning aggression it is precisely the Trujillo government," he said.

BEN GURION FIGHTING FOR GOOD OF ISRAEL

Foreign News Commentary
By PHIL NEWSOM
UP Foreign Editor

Man-of-the-week: Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion of Israel. The place: Jerusalem. The quote: "The only question I ask myself is 'what is good for Israel?'"

It was question which the stocky, dynamic premier had been asking himself for years. The answers he has come up with usually have furthered the welfare of the tiny Jewish state.

For the good of Israel, Ben-Gurion often has been willing to fight against the British, the neighboring Arabs or right wing dissidents within the country.

This time, he was fighting against the opposition of two of his coalition government parties who opposed his plan to make and sell 250,000 grenade launchers to West Germany.

Dissected testimony. The leftist Abduh Avoda and Mapam parties charged that the sale of arms to the Bonn regime decrated the memory of six million Jews killed in Nazi Germany. But Ben-Gurion rejected this stand on the ground that Israel needed to forget the past and needed friends for the future, friends who would be in a position to give it strength against its enemies.

"We cannot restore the six million to life," he said, "But we can prevent a recurrence, not by demagoguery, but by insuring the strength and security of Israel."

The Knesset—the Israeli parliament—backed him up. And Ben-Gurion had won another battle-scared career. This one isn't complete yet, though, since he still may have to resign and form a new government to see up his victory.

But his action was in the spirit of his entire career. Six in his 74th year, with a halo of white hair that frames his face like an Old Testament prophet, Ben-Gurion still is a doleful fighter.

Born in Poland "B.G." as he is known to the Israelis, was born David Green of Orthodox Jewish parents in Plousk, Poland, in 1886.

His interest in Socialism and Zionism shadowed his orthodoxy. He Hebraized his name to Ben-Gurion, and in 1906, at the age of 20, migrated to Palestine—which was then under Turkish control.

He worked on farms, helped drain marshes, wrote pamphlets and helped establish the Palestine labor party. He struggled through the days of the Zionist movement and served the Jewish Labor Federation through the years.

He became a member of the executive board of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, the official body in charge of Jewish immigration, settlement and welfare there.

Issue "White Paper" When the British government issued a "white paper" in 1939, in effect stopping Jewish immigration to Palestine as World War II loomed, Ben-Gurion said: "We shall fight the war as if there were no white paper, and we shall fight the white paper as if there were no war."

He rallied world Jewry to the Allied cause in World War II. And when it was over, he threw all his force into fighting his own war for the Jews.

The United Nations voted in November, 1947, to partition Palestine into separate Jewish and Arab states by Oct. 1, 1948. Britain pulled out sooner, giving up its mandate on May 15, 1948. As chairman of the Provisional Government and defense minister, Ben-Gurion proclaimed the birth of Israel on May 14, 1948.

When the forces of Jordan, Lebanon and Egypt invaded Israel, he led the fight against them. Hostilities ended in February, 1949, with an armistice, but not with peace.

Becomes Prime Minister Ben-Gurion became first prime minister of his country and led it through the task of building up an inhospitable region to make it the true homeland of the Jews.

He complained of "spiritual fatigue" in 1953 and retired to his Kibbutz in the grim Negev. But his withdrawal was only temporary. By 1955 he was back as premier.

In October, 1956, when Britain and France invaded Egypt, Israeli forces overran the Sinai peninsula. But due to intense U.N. and United States pressure, Ben-Gurion was forced to pull back his forces and give up the fruits of victory.

It was one of his darkest moments. But he survived politically and continued with his one unerring aim: "What is good for Israel?"

"A pony tail would look better!"

Ad Man Writes Book On Approach To God

RELIGION IN AMERICA
By LOUIS CANSELA
United Press International

Does God really exist? That question arises sooner or later in every human mind. It haunts the believer in his hours of doubt; the non-believer no less in his.

Several years ago, a serious illness raised the question in simple form for Thomas E. Powers, a New York advertising man.

Powers had been, in his own phrase, a "liberal - scientific-humanist - atheist - agnostic." He was fairly sure there was nothing to religion, but in desperation he decided to test for himself its assertion that God is, and that his reality can be experienced by anyone who honestly seeks him.

"It worked."

In those two words, from the preface, is the essential message of an extraordinary new book by Powers, published by Harper & Brothers.

Given, Poor Title Somebody has given it the unfortunate title, "First Questions on the Life of the Spirit." Seldom has a label been more inappropriate to the contents.

For this is not a stuffy academic discourse on spiritual life. It is a powerfully-written handbook on how to find God, by a man who did so, to his own vast surprise.

Although the intellectual level of this book is always adult, and at times even scholarly, Powers writes in the breezy, uninhibited language of the advertising man.

He gets down to brass tacks on the first page.

"If you are in trouble or in some sort of crisis - if you really and quickly need to satisfy yourself that God exists - it can be done without a lot of skull-cracking or waste of breath."

"Here is how:

"First - avoid like the plague all unnecessary argument and debate. Accept God as a working hypothesis. You can do this without straining your intellectual integrity, whatever your outlook on life may be - sincerely - and - if he exists, to help you and steer you.

Associate With Deliverers "Second - find and associate with a group of people who really do believe in God and who are working their belief in daily life. Try to find a group who are really doing this and not just talking about it.

"Third - be open and truthful with these people about your situation, whatever it is, and follow the reasonable suggestions they make to you. Begin to train yourself as they are training and to do the things they are doing.

"Fourth - keep an open mind and watch. The evidence of God's presence and influence will appear in your own life, possibly sooner than you expect."

To start with East had nothing that looked like a takeout double or North's third hand club bid. West's no-trump was sound enough except for his total lack of a heart stopper and North should have passed rather than raise his partner in hearts.

As for West's two spade bid the less said the better. Three headed by the six spot is not a biddable suit.

If South had thought of a double West would have been almost knocked out of the State of Texas. West doubled that. He did not know that he could set it but he wanted no part of a three spade bid by his partner.

West turned out to be lucky. He opened the king of clubs and there was no way that South could escape the loss of two club tricks and three diamond tricks. Crime alas, had paid.

HIGHWAY DEATH TOLL APPEARS TO LEVEL OFF

United Press International The nation's July 4th highway death toll spiraled rapidly at mid-morning Saturday, then appeared to level off and the National Safety Council said the pre-dark decrease was "encouraging."

Earlier, the Council warned that unless all precautions were taken, this 49-star July 4th could become day two of a weekend in history. The council had predicted 250 would die. In record, 1953, the death toll reached 271.

A United Press International count at 7 p.m. EDT showed at least 89 highway deaths since 6 p.m. local time Friday, when the tally officially began. In addition, there were 30 drownings and 10 persons died in still-other accidents for an overall toll of 129. There were no fireworks deaths.

Key to this "special" July 4th seemed to be the new flag, which actually only was destined to fly a few months before adoption of the Hawaii - included 50 - star banner.

At one minute past midnight, the 49-star flag simultaneously was raised over the Capitol at Washington and Ft. McHenry, Md., where another flag, with a few stars, inspired Francis Scott Key, a prisoner aboard a British ship bombarding the fort in the War of 1812, to write "The Star Spangled Banner."

At Juneau, Alaska's governor, William A. Egan, cautioned that statehood was not an "all powerful panacea for the economic or political ills" of a territory but rather was a stimulus for "wise and just use" of new rights.

Auto production in June was the largest for any month since 1955 and further supported forecasts that output for all 1959 operations carried first half production to 2,284,973 cars or 46 per cent higher than a year ago.

Gasoline stocks on last Friday declined by 2,337,000 barrels from the previous week to 138,271,000 barrels, but were nearly 12 million barrels higher than a year ago, the American Petroleum Institute reported. Supplies of light fuel oil, used mainly for heating purposes, continued their seasonal climb.

The House voted to make reserve requirements for federal reserve member banks in New York and Chicago the same as in other large cities. The bill also would permit all member banks to count the cash in the vaults as part of the reserves against deposits.

The treasury had to pay the highest on a bill issue since August, 1957. Its $3 billion offering of March tax anticipation bills sold at prices which averaged a yield of 4.675 per cent.

Auto production in June was the largest for any month since 1955 and further supported forecasts that output for all 1959 operations carried first half production to 2,284,973 cars or 46 per cent higher than a year ago.

Ike Lays Third Cornerstone For US Capitol Building

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Eisenhower laid a third cornerstone Saturday for the U. S. Capitol after summoning the nation to rededicate itself to freedom.

He flew to Washington by helicopter from his holiday retreat at Thurmont, Md., to participate in the Independence Day ceremonial laying of the cornerstones for the new east-central front of the Capitol.

To spread mortar and tap the 4,200-pound pink granite stone, he used the same antique trowel and ivory and gold gavel used by George Washington to lay the first cornerstone in 1793.

A crowd estimated at upwards of 3,000 by police was assembled in the east plaza to hear the President on this warm, sunny day. Few could see the ceremony, however, because it was in an excavated area below ground.

In the rooled, wooden stand erected for the occasion, Eisenhower sat with Speaker Sam Rayburn, chairman of the Capitol building commission, other congressional leaders and Capitol Architect J. George Stewart.

TOBACCO (Continued From Page 1) would have cut government outlays for price supports by 11 million dollars in the fiscal year which began July 1. Over a three-year period, spending due to the rising price support rates allowed by the veto might thus come to as much as 50 million above the amounts that would have been spent.

Foreign Aid Foes Plan To Renew Assault

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Senate foreign aid foes mapped plans for a renewed assault on the big overseas assistance program when the Senate resumes debate on it Tuesday.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.), beaten in his first attempt to trim the bill, said he would seek next to cut the $1,600,000,000 military aid allotment to 1,500,000,000.

Meantime, supporters of continuing, long-term financing for the economic loan program complained that President Eisenhower let them down by refusing to back their efforts to give the development loan fund, which handles most economic aid authority to finance itself for five years by borrowing one billion dollars a year from the Treasury.

Belafonte To Film First Negro Western Movie

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Harry Belafonte, the Negro troubadour-turned-dramatic-actor, will film the first Negro Western for his "Harbell" production company.

Harry will co-star with his best friend, Sidney Poitier, in "The Exodusters," a story of Negro immigration from the South to the West following the Civil War.

The bronze-colored singer has completed three strictly dramatic movie roles and plans to continue songless in his screen career as long as serious opportunities are open to him.

"I don't particularly prefer drama to music," he said, "but the course of movie events has opened new worlds for me."

Break Down Stereotype

"There's a responsibility of sticking with pictures to break down the historic stereotypes of Negroes in films. Things are moving well for Sidney and me now, and we're trying to help change the attitude of the entertainment industry. We're opening doors that were closed in the past."

Belafonte, a passionately dedicated young man, currently is packing some 4000 persons into Los Angeles Greek Theater nightly as part of a nationwide concert tour.

"It's only been five years since I've been a recognized star," he continued, "but I've seen powerful changes in race relationships in this country. You can see them with the naked eye."

"Prior to the past five years the changes were so slow as to be almost imperceptible."

Court Ruling Helps

"The Supreme Court ruling, Negro athletes, entertainers and scientists are all responsible for the great strides my race is making. We're becoming an increasingly integrated part of the social scene."

"I like the analogy of considering America as a baseball team. Why keep a bunch of guys on the bench who can play great ball for just sitting there?"

"Sure there's still a fight ahead for Negroes. Laws and justice have come around. But more important is man's humanity to man, infiltrating the hearts of people. Negroes haven't made their gains just by fighting for their rights as citizens."

"It is the will and wish of white people both in the South and North that have helped us win so far. And that is what we're counting on to make the brotherhood of man a reality in this country."

The public school system of Cincinnati, Ohio, which was organized in 1828, was the first in the Northwest Territory.

Yankee Tourists Impressed With Red Desire For Peace

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI) — "Let's restore the wartime Soviet-American friendship when both fought against a common enemy" has become an almost ritualistic slogan heard by every one of the thousands of American tourists who are flocking to this country.

Geneva negotiations remain deadlocked and there are few indications for prospects of lessening the cold-war, but American visitors invariably take home the impression of a genuine Russian desire to improve Soviet-American relations and make friends.

International crisis aside, what are the Russians doing to demonstrate the new post-Stalinist deal to normalize relations with the United States?

Soviet spokesmen usually attach the highest priority to the cultural exchange program of the past two years, which has done much to sweeten the atmosphere between the two countries, dramatized by the unprecedented exchange exhibitions in Moscow and New York.

First Deputy Premier, Frol Kozlov flew to New York last Sunday to open the Soviet show.

Nixon Arrives In July

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the highest American official to visit here since Franklin D. Roosevelt's wartime journey to Yalta, arrives here July 24 for the American exhibition.

Diplomats here attach increasing importance to the Nixon-Kozlov visits which may become a prelude to a summit conference. But aside from the diplomatic impact, the exhibitions are considered significant — particularly America's at Sokolniki Park — in opening new avenues of contact and familiarizing Americans and Russians with each others way of life.

Mushrooming tourism is a parallel development which appeared almost inconceivable in the last few years of the Stalin era.

From a trickle of foreign visitors when Americans alone are expected to number 15,000 this year.

"We'd like to welcome 150,000 Americans including the governors of all the states, members of the Cabinet and the President," said Yuri Zhukov, chairman of the State Committee on Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries and the man who negotiated the Soviet-American cultural exchange program.

Meanwhile, several hundred American and Russian engineers and builders are rushing to complete "Little America" as Russians have dubbed the Sokolniki Park exhibition.

What Will They See

What will the estimated three to four million Russians who will flock to the golden aluminum-domed main exhibition pavilion see? Nine screens will show scenes of U.S. highways, public institutions, churches and other facets of life in the 50 states of America.

Levine's Pays Neat Dividend

Payment of a quarterly dividend of 10 cents on each of its outstanding 582,770 common shares of the Common Stock of Levine's, Inc. was announced Friday by Morris Levine, President of Levine's, Inc., a Dallas based chain of junior department stores.

Levine advised that the payment was made on July 30 to stockholders of record June 16, 1959.

After operating for many years as a closed corporation, the company became a publicly owned corporation in May of this year and announced long range expansion plans. The chain now operates in six Southwest states with 62 stores presently in operation, and 8 additional units are about to be opened. New stores now in various stages of completion are located in Albuquerque, N.M., Grants, N.M., El Paso, Amarillo and Oklahoma City, Okla.

"These expansion plans," said Levine, "are an expression of our continued confidence in the strong economy of the Southwest and the nation."

ADULT WESTERNER — Jo Marsh, 18, is dressed as cowgirl for her part in the Fourth of July fun at Watsonville, Calif.

"Of course, I may be wrong about some of the details, but don't you think it makes a fascinating story this way?"

BRIDAL LAMP

Miss Mary Eggleston, a bus station employee, holds one of the more curious items in the antique that she and her partner, Eloise Dugger, have collected. This is a bridal lamp, with space in the base for a rose. The lamp burned while a couple were away on their honeymoon. The rose, of course, symbolizes love. (Daily News Photo)

Bus Station, Place To Avoid Boredom

By WALLACE TRUESDELL Daily News Staff Writer or old book in the house. The objects in their collection were gathered in New York, N.Y.; Des Moines, Ia.; Kansas City, Mo. and other cities where they have contacts. Sometimes they just "happen upon things" like a green Irish whiskey mug. "We have an appreciation for the fine things of long ago times," says Miss Eggleston. "We buy them, enjoy them as long as we can and sell them." But there are some things they do not sell. They also like the "contact that a human relationship involves." "At no time have we associated ourselves by having known them," she adds. "We have learned something from any and all points of view."

New Presley Disc Moving

CHICAGO (UPI)—Elvis Presley's "A Big Hunk of Love," just released to the public last week, already has rocketed into seventh place in the United Press International's weekly survey of top 20 tunes, it was learned Saturday. In first place on the survey for the eighth week was a song written more than 100 years ago by an anonymous militiaman, "Battle of New Orleans." In second place, up from third position, was Paul Anka's "Lonely Boy." In third, rising from 20th place, was "Stonewall Jackson's Waterloo," followed by "Personality," "Lipstick on your Collar," "Tiger," "A Big Hunk of Love," "Bobby Sox to Stockings," "MTA," and "Dream Lover." The top 20 (Numbers in brackets indicate the position in this week's survey, the position in last week's the number of weeks in the top 20.) (1-1) Battle of New Orleans; Johnny Horton; (2-3) Lonely Boy, Paul Anka; (3-2) Waterloo; Stonewall Jackson; (4-2) Personality, Lloyd Price; (5-4) Lipstick on your Collar, Connie Francis; (6-10) Tiger, Fabian; (7-1) A Big Hunk of Love, Elvis Presley; (8-7) Bobby Sox to Stockings, Frankie Avalon; (9-12) MTA, Kingston Trio; (10-4) Dream Lover; (11-9) There Goes My Baby, The Drifters; (12-4) My Heart is an Open Book, Carl Dobkins; (13-16) A Boy without a Girl, Frankie Avalon; (14-6) Quiet Village, Martin Denny; (15-5) Only Have Eyes for You, Flamingoes; (16-0) With My Eyes Wide Open, Patti Page; (17-0) Forty Miles of Bad Road, Duane Eddy; (18-0) High Hopes, Frank Sinatra; (19-12) Tallahassee Lassie, Freddie Cannon; (20-0) Twist Twelve and Twenty, Pat Boone.

Kiwanians Hear History Of U.S. Flag

Members of Pampa's Downtown Noon-Kiwanis Club heard an interesting background story of the United States flag at their weekly luncheon meeting Friday in the basement of the First Methodist Church. Girl Scout members of Troops 38 and 78 who raised a 49-star flag in Central Park as a part of Pampa's Independence Day celebration Saturday morning told the local Kiwanians of Old Glory's past history. Scout executive Jane Kadingo and leaders, Mrs. Martin Ludeman of Troop 38, and Mrs. John H. White of Troop 78 accompanied the girl scouts to the meeting. On the program from Troop 38 were Pam Ludeman, Pat Ludeman, Pam King, Joyce Collins, Charlotte Moore, Lora Anderson, Betty Taylor, Adele Murphy, Juanita Colville and Jan Pendergrass while Troop 78 was represented by Diana Edminster, Sondra Beard and Beverly Cummings. Program chairman for the day, Aubrey Jones, introduced the program. It was revealed during the program that not since July 4, 1912, when New Mexico and Arizona were admitted to the union had any stars been added to the U.S. flag. H. O. Darby, local chairman of the Key Club Committee, announced a meeting of adult Key Club committeemen would be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the First Methodist Church. In the Kiwanians' previous meeting, reports on the National Kiwanis Convention held in Dallas were given by club president, Sam Begett, and club secretary, Rev. William West.

New Interest Rate Explained

The new higher interest rate which can be charged for GI loans on or after July 1, has no effect upon loans closed before that date, Robert W. Sisson, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office at Lubbock, announced Saturday. Loans closed on or after July 1 may be charged the new higher rate unless the lender has previously made a binding commitment to grant the loan at a lower rate, he said. Sisson's explanation followed a series of inquiries from puzzled veterans following the announcement of the new interest rate. Fuel bills in the average home can be cut 10 per cent by keeping window shades drawn tight dusk to dawn during winter.

AROUND THE WORLD

PICTURE NEWS

NARROW ESCAPE—Matador Vitorigna Roger Valenci was tossed into the air on the horns of an enraged bull in the Plaza Monumental Arena in Madrid, Spain, during an annual fiesta. Despite the terrible tumble, Valenci walked away from the ring unhurt, but certainly shaken up and somewhat worse for the wear and tear on his nervous system.

BEATING THE HEAT—What better way than by splashing in cool water? Some youngsters are doing exactly that in the Sugar River, near North Charlestown, N. H. The temperatures in this part of New England soared up into the low nineties during an unseasonal heat wave.

WEIGHT PULLING—Former world heavyweight boxing champion Rocky Marciano practiced chin-ups on his patented scaffolding at the headquarters of a new subdivision in West Palm Beach, Fla. The scaffolding is being used in the construction of a million-dollar homes exhibit.

LAUNCH HOUR—Lunch time is sailing time for these skipper of remote-radio-controlled ship models at Nutley, N. J. The noon-hour admirals are relaxing at a guided missile and space laboratory where they work on "electronic brains" for missiles such as Lacrosse, Talos and Bomarc. This is just a little fun between jobs.

FISH FIRST—A whopping 41 feet, 5 inches from tip to tip, the first blue marlin to be taken this year by an angler from Oregon Inlet, N. C., is displayed by Charles Gifford Jr., of Norfolk, Va. He boated the 388-pound prize 33 minutes after it struck a whole bluefish bait. Gifford used a 39-thread line loaded on a 12/0 reel attached to a Hornell boat rod.

QUICK DRAW—Jerry Navratil, president of a quick-draw club in San Francisco, is showing off his fanning technique. He can draw, fire and hit a silhouette target in 32/100th of a second, from the time he reacts to the signal of a gong activated by a timing device. That's a six-shot weapon he's using.

CLEVER GIRL—She's Gypsy, the three-year-old elephant, from the Reptile Institute at Florida's Silver Springs. She loves to ride in boats and has learned to handle a rod and reel like this. She's also an accomplished water skier.

GOING HOME—Jim Buddin of the Boston Red Sox, slides safely across home plate during the Chicago-Boston game in Chicago. Jim Rivera's throw from right field came too late for White Sox catcher Sherm Lollar (right) to make the out. Watching the play are Jackie Jensen of Boston and umpire Bill McKinly. Chicago won, 9-4.

GOING SOME—Daredevil driver Jean Sunny is careening down the Champs Elysees on two wheels in Paris, as he puts his car through some dangerous paces. Sunny was demonstrating how not to drive, and it was done for the filming of an educational movie in the French capital.

ALL ALONE—As he watches cyclists pedal by at Trento, Italy, the young lad at right is staying safely under the protection of an umbrella. The cyclists, including some of Europe's top stars, were about to wind up the annual Tour of Italy race.

PICTURESQUE—Two youngsters wield odd-shaped paddles as they share a canoe and sail smoothly along In Delt, The Netherlands. The lovely canals of the quaint Dutch city provide a picturesque setting for the youthful paddlers.

STEPS TO FAME—Nina Decker, of Ridgewood, N. J., and Robert A. Thompson, of Englewood, are ballet students who often practice together in Ridgewood's Graydon Park. Planning dancing careers, the high school seniors are already students at a ballet school operated by Nina's mother.

THAT'S A QUESTION—Doing a split between two stools in her acrobatic ballet dance, Wendy Ann Rivernark, who's "Miss Aiken," was competing in the Miss South Carolina pageant in Greenville. Barbara Able (left), "Miss Seneca," is dressed like a white rooster. Wendy won the talent competition with her split, but how does she get her feet back on ground?

Red Griggs the pipeline

Everybody wants to get into the act—the Southwest Conference act, that is. Texas Tech tried to get in for 25 years before succeeding; then it wasn't long before the University of Houston began making its bid.

Houston's athletic director, Harry Fouke, told the college's board of directors last week that Houston had the support of four Southwest Conference schools in its membership bid — Texas Tech, SMU, Texas A&M, and Baylor.

SMU's president later denied he had ever pledged any support to Houston, but the other schools were silent on the subject. Houston would like to get the support of some other SWC schools, mainly Houston's other college, Rice Institute.

Houston has at least as good a case for entry into the conference as Tech, and possibly better. The Harris County school is the second largest, in enrollment, of any college or university in the state with some 17,000 students — not too far behind the University of Texas.

Houston's athletic teams have also shown some streaks of brilliance in recent years. Still, though, it's doubtful if Houston will be admitted to the conference anytime in the near future.

They'll Never Make It!

The biggest problem would probably be in the schedule. Conference members have only three open dates now, and the entrance of Houston would cut the open dates to two. This wouldn't allow much room for breathers or lucrative interconference games.

Also, there would be one more school to beat. The Southwest Conference already ranks in a dead heat with the Big Ten as the toughest conference in the country, and the member schools might not want to make it any rougher on themselves than it already is.

The one problem Tech had which Houston doesn't is distance. Houston is in East Texas, in a easy traveling distance of most of the other Southwest Conference schools, whereas Tech is several hundred miles distant from most of them.

The clincher, though, is that Houston would have to be admitted by a UNANIMOUS vote of the eight present loop members. The admission of any new members by unanimous vote, only, was one of the conditions of accepting Tech into the conference. It'll probably be a long time before anybody will get unanimous support for Southwest Conference membership.

Rice Helps Set Record

Max Patkin, the clown prince of baseball, will be at Potter County Stadium in Amarillo when the Gold Sox play the Victoria Rosebuds Tuesday (July 7). Patkin is a master of imitations and pantomime, and has drawn thousands of fans and laughs wherever he's gone.

Patkin holds the distinction of being the only member of the old St. Louis Browns who was HIRRED to be a clown. The other 3444 turned out that way.

Ronnie Rice, the Lafors lightning flash, helped set a Texas Tech record last fall. One of the new school records which have just gone in the books is the completion of 25 passes against the University of Houston. Rice was

Player's British Open Win Shows Decline of Tourney

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures: Young Gary Player's triumph in the British Open golf championship would seem to substantiate Canadian Al Balding's recent claim that the allowed event no longer is the prestige tournament which it was in the past.

STILLMAN'S GYM STAYS

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — The old brick factory on the side of Rome's Coliseum had a new lease on life today with its grimy face washed.

They won't call it "Stillman's Gym" anymore. At 71, Lou Stillman packed it in and the fight mob, in a panic, scratched around for the cash necessary to keep the battered doors open.

But they're open again today, for at least six months more, under the name of the "Eighth Avenue Gym."

They would understand the anxiety fully only if you knew the fight mob and the fact that this has been a sort of home away from home for it since 1921. All the great ones trained there, from Jack Dempsey on down through the likes of such as Max Baer, Primo Carnera, Tony Galento, Benny Leonard and Rocky Graziano.

It was and is, a dingy, dreary fire trap. Billious green paint has been peeling from its walls for years. The stairs which lead up from between a Chinese laundry and a second-hand shoe are dark and creaking. The big room with two rings and rows of rickety chairs for the spectators, as well as the side rooms with lockers and dressing stalls, smell of limonene, stale sweat and cigar smoke.

Once-Busy Spot
"This stinking business is washed up," decided the man with the hard blue eyes who spits constantly as a means of punctuation. "Tevee ruined it. I'm gettin' out."

Once this was one of the busiest spots in town. Fighters from all over the country made it their headquarters. It was a sock market where fighters were traded, sold and signed. You could find almost anybody you wanted in the night racket there.

Little Jimmy Johnson in his "Iron Hat," Maurice Waxman, the "Mad Russian," Evil Eye Finkle, the hex man Double talking Hymie Caplin, Al (The Vest) Well... Willie (The Beard) Gilzenberg... and Lou Diapond, the man they called "The Honest Brake-man" because while working on the railroad he never stole a box car.

Fighters paid $8 a month for a locker and $15 a month for a private cubicle, or they could get the same treatment as a world champion by putting up a dollar a day. It was the fact, at 80 cents admission, who really kept it going.

PHIL FARRHAND ASSIGNED
PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Bonus pitcher Al Neiger, signed by the Philadelphia Phillies for a "substantial bonus," has been assigned to the Williamsport club in the Eastern League. Neiger had a 1.0 record and hadn't allowed an earned run in nine innings for the Johnson City, Tenn. club. He played college baseball at the University of Delaware.

WOODHOUSE WINS SPRINTS
DUESSELDORE, Germany (UPI) — Bill Woodhouse of Abilene Christian college won the 100-meter sprint in 10.8 seconds and the 200-meter run in 21 seconds Friday at United States track and field stars won six events in an international meet.

ALL-STAR GAME TAKEN AWAY FROM THE FANS

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — The All-Star Game — in this case Games — stresses how far baseball has been taken away from the fans. The original game is being staged at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh, July 7, a second edition, for the first time, in the Los Angeles Coliseum, Aug. 3. If two, why not three or maybe one on every off day, anything to fatten the pension fund and further satisfy money-hungry owners?

Arch Ward, the sports editor, originated the show in 1933 over the violent objections of the magnates. Ward sought an added attraction for the Chicago World's Fair. He gave the dull major league proprietors a matchless idea, one altogether too big for them to grasp and one they have almost totally destroyed. This was the game of the people. Millions of them elected the combatants. Through this tremendous news papers and later radio and television stations devoted space and time to the business for weeks.

Now the paying guests must wait to be told who the players, chosen and, frankly, they couldn't care less. Those who pay the freight no longer have a voice in the matter. There were amusing stories and a surprise or two as Frank Sloan, leg man for Commissioner Ford C. Frick, toured the leagues polling the noble athletes. As the lone unanimous selection, Elmer Aaron definitely was established as the player most respected by those whom he does his best to thump. Al Kaline over Mickey Mangle by 18 votes makes you think. With Wally Moon and Bill White, both traded this spring, running one-two, you wonder what the National League is using for left fielders. Moore can't throw any better than Ingemar Johanson, but doesn't have to in the monstrosity that is left field in the Los Angeles football aerie. He can kick the ball in from there.

The balloting further emphasized the power of the long poke. This gave Ernie Banks, who has little range at shortstop, the call there on the National League side and made Harmon Killebrew the choice over the thoroughly accomplished Frank Malzone as the American's third baseman.

There was the pitcher who voted for Ken Boyer over Eddie Mathews. "How could you put Boyer ahead of Mathews?" he was asked by teammates.

"I get Mathews out," he explained, "but I can't get Boyer out with a shotgun."

But the "All-Star Game" — or Games now — is in line with the general baseball policy of the last several years, during which the idealistic side of the game has been demolished. Clubs that were household names were uprooted from cities where they had done well for more than 50 years. The land grab game into the picture. Baseball property was sold for capital gain and the game saddled with rental.

The star ballplayer is no longer a hero to the fan. He's a business man. He no longer discusses baseball. He speaks of residual contracts and wonders how many

Zuany Wins Over Fleeman

EL PASO (UPI) — Alfredo Zuany, 194, heavyweight champion of Mexico, scored a split decision Friday night over Texas light heavyweight champion Donny Fleeman, 179, in El Paso.

In a second fight, former Texas heavyweight champ Dolph Quijano scored a third round knockout over Freddy Milton of Los Angeles.

The young of the shrimp pass through 10 larval stages.

"Desserts In July"

FLOWER SHOW CHAIRMEN

Mrs. Tom Price, center, member of the Pampa Garden Club and general chairman of the "Desserts In July" Flower Show confers on show arrangements with co-chairman, Mrs. Jamie B. Deal, of the Top O' Texas Garden Club sitting in for Mrs. Kenneth Osborn, and Martin Stubbe of the Pampa Rose Society. Entries in the flower show will be accepted from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. on the day of the show; judging will be from 12:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. by a panel of accredited Flower Show judges. At three o'clock, the doors will be opened for the general public, who are invited to view the artistic floral arrangements and specimens.

THE YOUNGER SET

Garden Club members' children will also have the opportunity to submit entries in the "Desserts in July" Flower Show with a special Junior Division for judging allocated to them. Youngsters pictured above, who enjoy watering, weeding (at least for short periods of time) and smelling the pretty posies best of all are, left to right Stephen Osborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Osborn; Frank Gates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gates; and Rocky Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Nichols.

RARE ROSES

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Carlson, Pampa Rose Society members, inspect some rare roses in the back yard of their home, 2211 Charles. Mate-gardeners will have a special division in the Show and are invited to show their "green thumb" ability with specimens and artistic arrangements. Ribbons will be given for 1st, 2nd, 3rd places and honorable mention with special award for the most blue ribbons. Show participants are asked not to use flowers on the conservation list, which will be furnished by garden club members upon request.

Flower Show Committee

- Mrs. Stanley Brandt ..... Staging Chairman
- Mrs. Aileen Moore ..... Schedule Chairman
- Mrs. Perry Nichols ..... Publicity Chairman
- Mrs. Henry Gruben ..... Classification
- Mrs. W. R. Campbell ..... Hospitality Chairman
- Entry Attendants: Mrs. Carl Axelson, Stanley Brandt, W. L. Stark, Loyse Caldwell, Weldon Adair, W. E. Hinton, C. C. Matheny, V. N. Osborn, Allene Hyman, Henry Gruben, and Thelma Bray

ARTISTIC ARRANGEMENTS

Mrs. Perry Nichols, Mrs. A. J. Mitchell, Mrs. C. C. Matheny, and Mrs. W. E. Hinton, left to right, members of the Pampa Garden Club, do a little "pre-arranging" on artistic floral arrangements in the home of Mrs. Mitchell, 1529 Williston and exchange ideas for novel and striking designs. Artistic arrangements will carry the provocative names of "Cherry Delight" (an arrangement with red roses predominating); "Lemon Snow" (an arrangement with yellow roses predominating); "Heavenly Hush" (an arrangement suitable for church); "Ribbon Cake" (an arrangement with flowering shrub or branches with accessory, and many other enticing-to-view subtitles).

Juanola Bess Powell Bride Of Jerry Foose

With vows exchanged on June 27 at eight o'clock in the Second Baptist Church, Houston, Miss Juanola Bess Powell became the bride of Jerry G. Foose. Miss Powell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Powell, 703 Cardinal Circle, Houston. Mr. Foose's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Foose of White Deer.

Mrs. Sanders Is Honored At Party

Dr. James S. Riley was the officiant for the vows repeated before a setting of pink gladioli and eight candelabra holding pink tapers.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace with a portrait neckline and long, tapered sleeves trimmed with iridescent and pearls. The bouffant skirt swept to a chapel train. Her finger-tip Veil of Illusion fell from a crown of pearls and orange blossoms. She carried an arrangement of Lily-of-the-Valley and stephanotis on a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Claude R. Baughman, as matron of honor, Mrs. Dale Everett, Miss Liz Scott and Miss Frances Berry as bridesmaids were dressed identically in blue silk organza with scoop neckline, three-quarter length sleeves trimmed in lace. They wore blue picture hats and carried bouquets of pink gardenias.

Joe Hawkins attended the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Dick and Dean Foose, bridegroom's brothers, and Baery Oates, Claude R. Baughman and Tom my Campbell seated the wedding guests. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Powell chose a gown of blue silk chiffon fashioned with a harem skirt with matching accessories.

Mrs. Foose, mother of the bridegroom, chose a gown of mauve Italian silk with lace top and trim complemented with white accessories.

RECEPTION

A reception was held following the ceremony in the Neil Room of the church. Houseparty members assisting with the reception were Miss Elaine Eng, Miss Donna Rue Avara, Mrs. W. W. Fink Jr., Mrs. Bob O'Neal, Mrs. Ed Rhoades, Mrs. M. Carlton, and Mrs. Alvin Mitchell.

The couple left immediately for a wedding trip to Sun Valley, Idaho and then to Seattle Wash., where they will make their home.

Mrs. Foose, who is a teacher in a private kindergarten, attended the University of Texas and plans to enter the University of Washington in September for her senior year.

Mr. Foose, an engineer with Boeing Aircraft Corp., was graduated from the University of Texas, where he was affiliated with Acadia and served as its president in 1955; he was also a member of the Association of Mechanical Engineers. He plans to do graduate work in the University of Washington this fall.

Among the out-of-town wedding guests were Governor and Mrs. Pink Williams of Caddo, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. James Braley of Durant, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Don Powell of Fort Worth.

BETROTHED

Miss Mary Tolbert.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tolbert of Miami announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary to H. J. (Ted) World of Amarillo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore World of Vienna, S.D. The wedding date has been set for August 1 in the First Christian Church, Amarillo.

Mrs. Urbanczyk Named To Attend Training Institute

Mrs. Emil Urbanczyk was selected to attend a four day leadership training institute in Atchison, Kan., on Aug. 17-21, at a meeting of the board of directors of the Pampa Deanery, Amarillo Diocesan Council of Catholic Women held in Borger on June 30. Mrs. Fred Ammeter was named alternate. Also chosen to attend with these Pampa women were Mrs. Clifford Hale and Mrs. R. M. Green, alternate, Borger.

Mrs. Hale, president of the deanery federation of 10 Catholic women's groups in this area, conducted the board meeting, with the group creating the office of treasurer and selecting Mr. R. E. Luken, Borger, for the position.

The directors gave approval to the patron plan, by which every member of a Catholic women's or ganization is invited to contribute one dollar to further the work of the deanery and diocesan councils which do not require individuals to pay dues. Catholic women of the area are requested to become "DCCW patrons" by sending one dollar to Mrs. R. E. Luken, Box 2255, Phillips Branch, Borger. Funds collected through the patron plan will be divided equally between the deanery and diocesan council, thus permitting women to render support to their immediate district, and to the larger council embracing 73 counties in Texas.

Attending the meeting from Pampa were the Rev. Edward J. Cashman, C.M., moderator; Mrs. Emil Urbanczyk and Henry Urbanczyk.

To turn steaks during broiling, the Texas Beef Council advises that tongs be used rather than a fork. Piercing broiling beef with a fork may allow the juices to escape.

WHITE DEER (Sp.) — Wedding vows of Miss Sharon Ann Dickens and Lieutenant Jack Boyd Bryan was solemnized on June 12 at eight o'clock in the First Methodist Church, Pampa, with R. V. John Goss, pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church, Hardesty, Oklahoma, officiating.

Miss Dickens is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Dickens of White Deer, and Lieutenant Bryan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Bryan of Elkhart, Kansas.

The double-ring ceremony was read before an ornate altar backed with a tall floor-standard arrangement of white lace gladioli and jade branches and flanked by gray Swedish steel candelabra holding white cathedral tapers. A background of woodwardia palms and large fan-shaped arrangements of white lace gladioli completed the setting. The altar rail was draped in floor-length folds of white bridal satin. The double staves were decorated with tall candlesticks holding white cathedral tapers and tied with white satin bows. Streamers of white satin were used to enclose the guest sections.

A pre-nuptial concert was presented by Mrs. Gordon Stevens of Canyon, organist, who also accompanied Lt. Jimmy Jay of Sweetwater, as he sang "Because" (Havell) and "The Lord's Prayer" (Malotte). The traditional wedding marches were used.

Mrs. Robert Miller of Efford, Mrs. Gilbert Dickens of Canadian, and Mrs. Marvin Jones of Pampa, were the bride's attendants. Their bouffant skirts were fashioned of narrow ruffles of Chantilly lace with draped overlays of white silk organza, each drape caught with a tiny blue bow. The fitted bodices were styled with scooped necklines and short sleeves. Their picture hats of blue horsehair braid were draped with folds of matching silk matine extending into short streamers in the back. Blue pumps, white gloves, and crescent bouquets of blue lace carnations tied with matching ribbons and centered with golden angels completed their costumes.

Gibann and Gillisa Dickens of Canadian, nieces of the bride, served as flowergirl and ringbearer. They wore ankle-length dresses of white ruffled net, decorated with tiny blue velvet bows. Their hats were identical to those of the bridesmaids and they wore white gloves and wristlets of blue carnations. Gibann dropped rose petals from a tiny hand-painted basket of satin and lace, and Gillisa carried the rings on a dainty satin pillow of twin-heart shape.

Lt. Dan Hardage of Lindsey, Oklahoma, served as best man; Lt. James Carpenter of Fredericktown, Ohio, and Lt. James Conley of Sao Paulo, Brazil, were the groomsmen. The bridesmaids and their attendants were all in Air Force uniform. Gilbert Dickens, of Canadian, lighted the candles along the bridal aisle; and the groomsmen, those at the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a beautiful formal gown of imported handclipped Chantilly lace and French tulle over satin. The basque bodice of lace was fastened in the back with tiny satin-covered buttons and featured long pointed sleeves and a Queen Anne collar delicately embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The front of the very bouffant skirt was made of tiers of finely pleated French tulle and Chantilly lace and in the back the lace overskirt swept into a scalloped chapel train. Each scallop and tier of lace was traced with seed pearls and sequins. A double-tiered veil of pure silk illusion was attached to a matching lace pillbox hat, also shimmering with pearls and sequins.

The bride's only jewelry was an exquisite pendant of a genuine pearl and three diamonds on a slender chain, a gift of the bridegroom and designed especially for the bride. On a lace-covered white Bible, she carried a long cascade bouquet of stephanotis streamers centered with a white orchid tufted with matine and silver tulle, and showered with white satin streamers and loveknots entwined with sprays of lilacs of the valley.

The couple left the church under an arch of crossed sabers held by the four lieutenants in the bridal party.

A reception was held in the church social hall. The serving table was draped in swags of bridal satin and decorated with a garland of smilax and white roses. An arrangement of white roses and carnations in a silver bowl flanked by silver candelabra holding white tapers formed the centerpiece. After the bride had cut the cake with the bridegroom's saber, Mrs. Frank Kelp and Mrs. Bob McBrayer of White Deer served the four-tiered wedding cake, while Mrs. Roy B. Hodges and Mrs. Wayne Jordan, also of White Deer, presided at the silver punch service. Also in the house party were Gilbert Dickens, brother of the bride, and Messrs. and Mrs. Biggs Horn of Amarillo, Grady Rogers of Hereford, and Bob McCoy of Pampa; uncles and aunts of the bride, Miss Doris Stewart of Denver, Colo., was at the guest register.

Peg O' Pampa

ANOTHER WEEK HAS ROLLED AROUND quickly... the summer seems to be just flying past... but my word, but we have had cold weather in June!... bet the swimmers have had some nippy times in the pool... and in that rain we had so much of last week, they were having fun splashing... and when the gutters were full of water running away, the children were out bare-footed all over town, traipsing up and down in the water... oh, shades of our youth, when the most fun we had sometimes, was going out in a pelting summer rain in our bathing suit.

WE DIDN'T REALIZE how crowded downtown Pampa could get, until the doin's held last week, beginning Wednesday... golly, it was all you could do to press through the crowds of people there were shopping and generally seeing the sights... we saw Kathryn Steele's bright, vivacious smile the other day... she always has a cheering word or two... and over the telephone she sounds enthusiastic about any subject you mention... we like to hear that, because some people, over the telephone, sound as if they were taking their last breath just to answer the thing... a bright, cheery voice is much pleasanter to listen to when telephoning... we think that the most gorgeous sun-tan we have yet to see this summer, is the one worn so beautifully by Mary Hills... and we surely do like her short-cropped hair... but that even dark brown tan is making us envious the most... incidentally, she is instructing swimming at the pool, these days... looks like what they call "adult beginners" that she is teaching... she is a water-sport "enthusiast"... what with water skiing and so forth... do you know that it takes exactly one typewriter sheet to come this far down the column???. now you know!

SPOTS OF COLOR AROUND PAMPA... that we have seen, cruising around in the family jitney on the never-ending errands involved in raising a family these days... the crop of zinnias in front of the white picket fence at the D. D. Paynes' home at 1616 Christine... they are a gorgeous blot of color there... and the very, very attractive climbing vine in neat vertical rows along the front of the house at 2010 Christine... they belong to the Raymond Laycocks... and at 1204 Charles, home of the Ed Williams, the caladiums, one of our favorite foliage plants, lining both sides of the path-walk up to the house... most effective use of these plants we think... and the rainbow-colored fence on North Hobart, north of the Thompson Fence company... the brilliant yellow-green grass under the trees in front of Frances and George Hofess' attractive gray house... the salmon geraniums along the front of George and Katherine Snell's home... the most stupendous display of white double petunias at the Veale's on Mary Ellen... and next door, the Dick Batson's red bushes in the front of the white picket fence... and then rainbow petunia colors at the Harold Weidlers... and brilliant cerise some at 2011 Mary Ellen, the Crawford Atkinson's home... with little blue border flowers marching up the edge of the walk... and speaking of cerise petunias... see those also, that Mrs. Raymond Harrah has in front, and dare to peek over the fence into the back yard where she has mountains of pink and white petunias and a beautifully green lawn... we dare, one day!... take a look at 2001 Russell, the J. A. Thurmond home... on the north side there is a stately row of orange lillies... well worth going to see if you are out for a drive... and we always watch for the first bloom of the water lilies in the pool at the Buzz Hoovers... if you have time... drive by the T. J. Wrights on Williston, and take a look at their front yard... they have carefully blended a great variety of foliage textures in the foundation planting, and have topped it all off with purple petunias in the brick planter under the driveway light... very interesting to see the different shades of green and leaf shapes... we notice that Evert and Peble Revard have hollyhocks marching along their fence out on Seneca Lane... and before we drop the subject for the time being... we noticed deep red "glads" and little white fountain in the triangle of a park at the corner of Hobart and Ward... you've probably noticed them too.

NOW FOR SOMETHING different... Terry Ann Culley had a birthday party last week... she is seven now... and one of the cutest little girls we know... curly hair and a pony tail, the delight of all little girls... guess all small-fry this week have enjoyed the Sleeping Beauty movie... we saw mobs of youngsters there outside the theater every time we had an occasion to drive by... have you heard what the Hobart Fathers named the latest twins?... very distinctive and unusual names, ones we approve of (and we're sure they need Peg's approval)... Matthew and Millicent... aren't they perfect names?... and speaking of twins... Mrs. Joe B. Laker from Tulsa is visiting the C. B. Homers and the Laker has adorable little three-months-old twin boys, Christopher Alan and Jeffrey Homer... and a six-year-old Jan II... and speaking of the Homers, Katherine was one of many involved in a recent series of parties honoring the Ted McGuires who, after nineteen years residence here in Pampa, are moving to Lubbock... she with Gladys Horvey entertained with a luncheon, at which Mrs. McGuire was given a cream and sugar set to match the ironstone pitcher presented at a backyard breakfast given in the home of Margaret Steele... with Connie McDaniel as co-hostess... and Julia McKernan entertained with a Gray Lady coffee for her, and gave her a milk-glass vase, tall, beautiful, and graceful... from all the Gray Ladies Mrs. McGuire has worked with... friends will miss the McGuires and their children, Don, Jerry and Marilyn... their son Phillip lives in New Mexico... they are leaving tomorrow, we understand... hope they like Lubbock.

WE HAVE HEARD... with our little ear... that a charming touch of Texas was introduced into an engagement announcement, luncheon held recently in Webster Grove, Missouri... yellow roses for "The Yellow Rose of Texas" were fastened to the name-cards for twelve guests... announcing the engagement of Lyle Barrows of Webster Grove, and James Baldrige of Pampa... James spent three years at the University of Texas, four years at a Lt. in the Air Corps, and now he will attend Southern Methodist University for his senior year... the wedding will be August 22nd at Webster Grove... Jean Metz and sons, Jimmy and Steve took off from Pampa this week for a vacation in California, where they will cover Disneyland and other points of interest... they'll be back in a couple of weeks, probably tanned and tired... we heard that the Metz' had an impromptu jam session in their home recently, with musician friends who were formerly with the Mello-Aires, and who are re-organizing a group... anyhow, there was a little dancing, lots of listening, and a good time for a few friends... sounds like lots of fun... Oscar and Dora Frasier left recently for Colorado where they celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary... we noticed the arrival of a daughter for Pat and Judy O'Connor this week... little "calendar girl" ever we guess is three-months-old Debra Lynn, daughter of the Don Fullers and granddaughter of the W. H. Fullers, whose cute picture was on a calendar for the Telephone company in Canoga Park, California where they live... the Don Fullers have just returned to their California home after a visit with his folks in their new home on Evergreen... and we were delighted to see Elmer Fite superintending operations at the installation of a swanky-looking elevator in their food store some days ago... it is good to see him out and about... guess that's all for this week... see you in seven (warm, we hope) days.

Love, Peg

Miss Shirley Lou Hankhouse

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Shirley Lou Hankhouse, daughter of Mrs. R. A. Hankhouse, 1300 Mary Ellen and the late Mr. Hankhouse, to Walter Wesley Beauchamp Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beauchamp Sr. is being announced by the bride-elect's mother. Nuptial vows will be solemnized on August 8 at seven o'clock in the First Christian Church with Rev. Richard Crews officiating.

Miss Kathryn Eloise Walker

Reverend and Mrs. R. W. Walker of Oklahoma City, Okla., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Kathryn Eloise to Mickey Joe Caldwell, son of Reverend and Mrs. J. B. Caldwell, 532 N. Roberta. Wedding vows will be solemnized on July 31 in Muse Memorial Pentecostal Holiness Church in Oklahoma City with Reverend Walker officiating. Miss Walker is a senior student in Southwestern Bible College, Oklahoma City, where her fiance, a Pampa High School graduate, is also a student.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dickens selected a sheath dress of mauve silk chiffon over satin, styled with empire-line bodice and draped skirt appliqued in satin with flowing side panel of chiffon. Mauve feather hat, mauve shoes, white gloves, and a corsage of gardenias completed her costume.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a dusty-rose lace dress with matching hat and shoes, white gloves, and a gardenia corsage.

The bride graduated from White Deer High School and from Colorado Woman's College in Denver, where she was a member of the college concert and chapel choir and majored in nursery school supervision.

The bridegroom graduated from high school in Pelt, Oklahoma; attended Panhandle A & M College in Goodwell for three years; and graduated on June 3 with the first graduating class of the A & I Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

After July 8, the couple will be at home in Moultrie, Georgia, where Lieutenant Bryan is serving in the Air Force.

The parents of the bridegroom honored the twenty-four members of the bridal party with a rehearsal dinner in the Pampa Hotel.

WMU Circles In Joint Meeting

LEPORS (Sp) — "The Sacrifice of Praise on Thailand," was the subject of the program presented by the Blanche Groves Circle at a joint meeting of Women's Missionary Union Circles in the First Baptist Church on Tuesday.

"O For a Thousand Tongues to Sing," a hymn opened the meeting. The prayer calendar was read by Mrs. Tom Florence, and a prayer for missionaries was led by Mrs. Arthur Hammer.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Stanley Richison.

Present were Mrs. A. L. Michael, W. B. Miller, Tom Florence, Alma Shores, Arthur Hammer, J. D. Halley, J. F. Morris, L. M. Berry, Ira Rogers, H. L. Teel, Stanley Richison, Bob Stricker, Gene Fort, W. E. Dumas, C. H. Butrum, R. N. Cyfert, J. V. Guthrie, B. J. Spradlin, and Carrie McCarty.

Closing prayer was led by Mrs. C. H. Butrum.

Beef frankfurters are thoroughly cooked before packaging, the Texas Beef Council reminds homemakers. They may be served just as they come from the package or sliced for salads. To heat, drop frankfurters into boiling water, cover and remove from fire. Heat will penetrate thoroughly in 3 to 5 minutes.

A Message from Your Neighborhood Pharmacy

MODERN PRESCRIPTIONS ARE TREMENDOUS VALUES. It is amazing how they can be priced so low, considering the time, effort and expense of perfecting a new "miracle" drug.

EHLRICH DISCOVERED NEOSALVARSAN IN 1910. He called it "606" because he had previously experimented with 605 other chemicals which were useless.

A RESEARCH SCIENTIST COSTS ABOUT $75,000 PER YEAR. Salary is a smaller portion of this expense. Equipment, supplies and a laboratory are needed.

55 RESEARCH SCIENTISTS WORKED FOR 2 1/2 YEARS. They tested more than 100,000 samples of soil collected from every part of the world. Finally one valuable broad-spectrum antibiotic was discovered or more than $4,000,000 would have been lost. Yet, the final prescription cost is only about fifty cents per dose.

TODAY'S PRESCRIPTIONS SAVE LIVES AND MONEY. Your Doctor makes fewer calls, sickness-time is lessened and you need fewer medicines to cure sickness. We always price them as reasonably as possible.

HOW HIGH IS YOUR STANDARD OF LIVING?

Can you guess how many ways you put electricity to work?

One good measure of your standard of living is the number of ways electricity is working for you. The more things you let it do, the more likely you are to live well and comfortably and get the most out of life.

Many people don't realize how many different jobs electricity does for them—all over the house. Do you?

AF Explains Why It Had Computers

By DARRELL GARWOOD
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force explained Saturday why three electronic computers with a purchase value of more than five million were rented by its statistical service at $3,400,000 a year. The rental contract came to light when the computers were destroyed Thursday by a spectacular fire that swept a super-secret basement hideaway in the Defense Department's Pentagon. Also destroyed were 5,200 rolls of magnetic tape containing information for the machines. Total damage was estimated at six million dollars. Col. Marshall R. Gray said purchase of the machines was considered but was not as advantageous as it appeared. Gray, director of the statistical service, gave these reasons for the decision to rent: 1. Progress in computers is so rapid that a machine is likely to become obsolete in less than two years. 2. The rental price includes maintenance. Gray said this is both expensive and difficult to arrange if the machines are owned. "The computers are sometimes called mechanical brains, but are known as "high-priced morons" in the secret Air Force shop. Their rental was originally given as $3,500,000 a year. This was scaled down to the $2,400,000 figure when miscellaneous items were deleted from the rental contract. The computers were International Business Machine Models 704, 705 and 708. The rental contract was with the IBM company. Gray said these models were regarded as especially likely to become obsolete because they are based on the use of electronic tubes. They contain 2,000 to 3,000 tubes each. The most modern computers use transistors in place of tubes. Gray said the transistors not only vastly reduce the size of the machine, but also improve efficiency and reduce installation and maintenance costs. He added that when more modern equipment becomes available a change can be made "overnight" under terms of the rental contract.

PLAYERS SEEK ASYLUM

JOENEKOPPING, Sweden (UPI)—Two touring Polish soccer players have sought political asylum in Sweden, government officials disclosed today. The athletes, who were not identified, skipped out on their teammates recently on the last night of the squad's exhibition.

INVESTIGATING CAUSE—Officials are investigating the cause of the $30-million fire that swept the super-secret basement hideaway in the Pentagon Building. The fire buckled concrete floors, burst water pipes, and destroyed tightly guarded electronic equipment, computers, and tapes in the Air Force's statistical center. Here a news photographer examines some of the debris.

United Press International
WETHERSFIELD, England—Maj. Felix (Doc) Blanchard, American pilot, on his decision to ride his burning plane down rather than risk a crash in an English village—which won him a bravery citation: "It happened a while ago—it was just one of those things."
WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Christian Herter, on whether Russian First Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov's visit had brought any change in Moscow's demands for the West to get out of Berlin: "Nothing new."
WILMINGTON, N. C.—Nathan B. Miller, partially disabled farm worker who is the father of newly born girl triplets, explaining why he and his wife are considering offering the infants for adoption: "Of course it would break our hearts, but we just don't see how we can manage."
WASHINGTON—Evangelist Billy Graham, just back from Russia, offering advice to Richard M. Nixon on the vice president's forthcoming visit to the Soviet Union: "Take summer clothing. It's as hot in Moscow as it's here."
NEW YORK—Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, newly returned from Europe, on his recovery from pneumonia: "I know they wanted to get me up there to play first horn for Gabriel, but I don't think I'll be up there for a long time yet."
MIDDLESBORO, Ky.—Vice President Nixon, describing Soviet Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov to an audience at the opening of the Cumberland Gap National Historical Park: "He is an intelligent man with a keen sense of humor who in this country might have been a very effective political contestant."
NEW YORK (UPI)—Rep. Emanuel Celler (D., N.Y.), urging that Kozlov be sent home unless he stops making threats while enjoying U.S. hospitality: "Amidst mouthings of peace he shows his Russian teeth."
One-third of Minnesota's farmland is in hay and pastures.

TO DIE IN CHAIR—Two men, one white, the other Negro, were sentenced to die in the electric chair by Judge J. Henry Johnson in Beauford, S.C., for rape. Fred G. Davis, left, a Georgia-born Marine, was convicted by a jury of southern white men. If his electrocution is carried out, Davis will be the first white man in U.S. court history to die for the rape of a Negro. Negro Iseal Sharpe, right, was sentenced for trying to rape a white woman. His case was heard by a jury of six Negroes and six whites. In both cases the juries failed to recommend mercy which makes the death sentence mandatory.

Congress Unperturbed By Plight Of Little Businessmen

WASHINGTON WINDOW
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Standard operating procedure for most politicians is to cry out in angry protest against oppression of the underdog, the little fellow, the Common Man. These little fellows vastly outnumber the big fellows, especially on election day. It is remarkable, therefore, that there is so little angry outcry by members of Congress against the oppression of little businessmen by labor unions with which they must deal. These unions are rich and all-powerful monopolies by comparison with the small time employer on Main Street, USA. Wendell B. Barnes, in behalf of the Small Business Administration, has written Rep. Edgar W. Heiland (R-Calif.) about the plight of the small businessman oppressed by the big union. Barnes said the little fellow is defenseless against the unions without federal action against labor abuses, especially blackmail picketing and coercive boycotting. No Legal Outlets
Of approximately four million small U.S. business concerns, Barnes said, at least three million have no legal means of redress for wrongs inflicted by unions. They lack financial resources to resist economic pressures which, Barnes indicated, are peculiarly but not exclusively exerted by the Teamsters. "For these firms," Barnes wrote, "the rights guaranteed to employers by the Taft-Hartley

Hopkins Leads Local Knights

Pampa Lodge No. 480, Knights of Pythias, elected new officers at their regular meeting recently. J. C. Hopkins, a member of the lodge since Feb. 6, 1947 was elected the new chancellor commander. He is also a past president of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the downtown Kiwanis Club. Other officers elected to serve with Knight Hopkins are: Vice-Chancellor, James W. Hart; Prelate, Fred Niemeier; Master of Work, G. R. "Speed" Fugate; Secretary, Vernon Wood, (re-elected); Treasurer, Jack, Back, (re-elected); Master of Army, Jack McKay; Inner-guard, A. L. "Red" Weathered; Outer guard, A. C. "Lennie" Parsley. Glen H. Day, a member of the lodge since March 1946, and a past chancellor, was elected to the office of lodge deputy. All officers are to be installed at Thursday's regular meeting. Knight G. R. Fugate, retiring chancellor commander, presided at last Thursday's meeting.

Shortage Of Secretaries Hits White Collar World

By CLAIRE COX
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—A secretarial shortage has hit the white collar world so severely that employers are wooing business school graduates with offers of country club memberships, freedom to redecorate offices and even prospects of finding husbands on the job. Guaranteed annual vacations and daily coffee breaks, air-conditioning and bargain lunches also are being offered to lure girls to the secretarial field, which has been deserted by many in recent years for more glamorous sounding jobs. Married secretaries are being promised maternity leaves. Older women are being hired or told they can stay on beyond the usual retirement ages. Young receptionists and promising stockroom girls are being sent to secretarial schools by their bosses. Bonuses, profit sharing, stock in the company, free insurance and charm school courses also are being laid out as bait. Most employers are offering higher salaries, but secretaries say more money is not the most important incentive. The National Secretaries Association, which is campaigning relentlessly to put across the idea that being a secretary is a profession, not just a job, is becoming increasingly concerned over the shortage of skilled secretaries. An official of the association said secretaries have come a long way since the first demure girl "typewriter," as they were called then, timidly walked into an office in the late 19th century and began pecking out letters on a crude typewriter for $10 a week. Now the army of secretaries needed in offices across the nation must know not only shorthand and typing and how to run various business machines. They must know how to shop wisely for the boss, figure his income tax, and keep the wrong persons from seeing him and give appointments to the right ones. "We feel that if a job has a potential for advancement, that if a secretary is assured of becoming an important part of an office and of being given responsibility, she will work hard without all the fringe benefits," the association official said. Among the association's 20,000 members are some who make as much as $10,000 a year. A few have risen to become officers of the companies they work for. Some secretaries even have secretaries of their own. Read The News Classified Ads.

WOMEN IMITATING MEN'S WARDROBE

FASHIONS
By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—The great male robbery is on. Not since Dietrich donned trousers in the 1930s and started a fad which became a way of life have women stolen so many styles from the boys. We are copying their suits, their shirts, their trousers, their shoes and, yes, their hats. Mostly this mannish trend shows throughout fall clothes. But the ladies in Dallas aren't waiting. Women's Wear Daily reports that for their personal use, Dallas models have been purchasing men's straw hats for casual summer wear. The idea has caught on, and other fashionable women are showing up in the straw for informal occasions. For fall, throughout the millinery industry, there is the mannish trend. Derbies and fedoras are favorite shapes. Although there are some towering Cossack types which designer Adele Simpson dubbed "American Macmillan," for the British prime minister whose adoption of Russian hat styles on a visit to Russia made international news. To expand the mannish trend, there are high-crowned cloches, swaggers, and the Garbo-type slouches. Even women's shoes for fall

NEW! for our customers in PAMPA...

PUNCH CARD BILLING for GREATER ACCURACY and EFFICIENCY!

In keeping with the growth and progress of its service area, Pioneer is instituting a new, modern service billing procedure. Service bills for Pampa customers will now be processed thru our new machine accounting equipment in the Amarillo office. Punch cards permit the machine to do the posting and summarizing — quickly and accurately. The change-over will involve no difference in procedure so far as customers are concerned, EXCEPT — WHEN PAYING BY MAIL, CUSTOMERS ARE REQUESTED TO ENCLOSE THEIR SERVICE BILL STUB TO INSURE PROPER CREDITING OF THEIR PAYMENT, AND URGED TO NOT FOLD OR STAPLE THE STUB IN ANY MANNER. This new procedure is another step in Pioneer's continuing efforts to provide its customers with the most modern, efficient gas service.
