Reds Claim Tibet Revolt Crushed

Puppet Government Set Up; Tribesmen Continue Fight

By EARNST HOBERECHT
United Press International
NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—Communist China said Saturday it has "completely smashed" the freedom revolt in Tibet and has installed a puppet government under the pro-Communist Panchen Lama. But rebel tribesmen were reported still fighting on.

A communique and statements by the Peiping government indicated a blood purge was in the making in the remote Himalayan country seized by the Reds in 1950. The broadcast "statements indirectly confirmed that the Dalai Lama, god-king of the nation, had escaped Communist wrath in the capital of Lhasa and was safe with rebel forces in the countryside.

The Reds claimed prisoners in the thousands in crushing this "Hungary in the Himalayas" and vowed that those who persist in fighting will be punished strictly. They promised leniency to any deserters from the rebel cause. Martial law was imposed in all but the apparently loyal province of Hotsang (Tseng). An "order of the state council" signed by Chinese Premier Chou En-lai in Peiping toppled the old government headed by the 25-year old Dalai Lama and replaced it with a new "preparatory committee" headed by the rival Panchen Lama, 22, who was chosen as spiritual leader by Chinese Buddhists over Tibetan protests in 1949 and asserted authority under Red Chinese control.

Dancer's Father Dies, But The Show Still Goes On

NEW YORK (UPI) — A pretty 13-year-old ballerina danced the role of Cinderella for the Perry Como television show Saturday, unaware that when the ball was over, she would be told her father was dead.

Sharon Lerit's father, Sanford, 43, died in a Newark, N. J., hospital Friday night. He had been ill 10 years and in a hospital for 11 weeks, but Sharon's mother, Florence, decided to bear her grief alone, until after Sharon had appeared before a nationwide television audience.

The members of the cast and others associated with the Como show kept quiet about Sharon's loss, so her mother could break the news to her after she returned home to Newark Saturday night.

The Como show (from 8 to 9 p. m. est) on the National Broadcasting Co. television network, was in rehearsal throughout the day, and Sharon did not miss a step.

Like Nothing Happened

Everyone tried to treat her as though nothing had happened, but it was difficult with a score of reporters and photographers clamoring for photographs of the little Cinderella.

"We are sure she doesn't know her father is dead," a program official said. "She has been very excited over her chance to be a TV star. It is difficult for us to tell her that when she is on the screen, but we have really worked at it."

Sharon, an eighth grade pupil who looks like a miniature Maria Tallchief, wants to be a ballet dancer when she grows up.

She danced the Cinderella role in Como's Easter show last year, and was invited for a return engagement Saturday night, as the prima ballerina of a troupe of 12 little girls from the New York City Ballet School.

Would Be Father's Wish

"I'm sure her father would have wanted her to go through with it," Mrs. Lerit said.

"She was just a little bit nervous over appearing on TV when she left home, but she didn't suspect anything was wrong. She has known that her father was quite sick and she always asks 'How is Daddy feeling? I have kept on telling her he is all right.'"

Sharon saw her father for the last time last Sunday. Her mother said that they had been unusually close and that his death would be a severe blow to her, as well as to her other daughter, Michele, 10.

Mrs. Lerit said that it was with a heavy heart she sent Sharon off to travel by train and subway to the day-long rehearsal at the Ziegfeld Theater. She felt she had to let Sharon go alone, as she usually does, so she would not think that anything was wrong.

Paris Fire Loss Hits $400,000

PARIS (UPI) — Flames leaping 30 feet into the air Saturday, threatened for hours to destroy a whole block of commercial buildings and caused an estimated $400,000 damage.

The worst fire in 43 years here destroyed the two-story S. H. Kress store, and heavily damaged the neighboring Famous Shoe Store and the Town and Country Shop, next door to the shoe shop.

Three firemen were overcome by smoke and another suffered a minor back injury.

All eight buildings in the block suffered smoke damage. The stores that weren't damaged by fire and water opened for business and sold only goods that the smoke hadn't damaged.

The fire was contained at 10:45 a. m. after a security patrolman discovered it at 5:45 a. m. on the second floor of the Kress store.

By then it was too far advanced for firemen to do much more than fight to keep the whole block from burning. Seven fire units fought the flames.

Residents said it was the worst fire since 1916 when one nearly destroyed the town.

Spectators overran barricades on three sides of the square, but the intense heat kept them out of the firefighters' way. The heat melted glass in the store fronts and heated water poured into the top floor of the stores so that clouds of steam whirled up as it spilled into the street.

Notaries Must File Oath For Appointment

Secretary of State Zollie Steakley has announced that he will reappoint persons now holding notary public commissions but that such persons must re-qualify by the filing of a new oath and bond with the County Clerk of his residence between June 1, 1959 and June 10, 1959.

Steakley emphasized that notaries public should not send requests for reappointment or for commissions directly to the Secretary of State. The law specifically requires the County Clerks to approve notary bonds.

Any person not now a notary public who desires appointment should apply to his County Clerk between April 1, 1959 and May 20, 1959. Application during this period will assure prompt attention before the rush procedure of reappointing present notaries.

Secretary of State Steakley further pointed out that each person applying for a commission as a notary public must be at least 21 years of age and a resident of the county for which he is appointed. The exact name and permanent address of the applicant must be furnished the County Clerk.

Applications for appointment for the remainder of the 1957-1959 term will not be accepted after April 1, according to Steakley.

Pope Calls For Lasting Peace

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII prayed for a "lasting peace" among all nations Saturday in the first Easter message of his reign.

Addressing the world over the Vatican radio facilities from the studio adjoining his bedroom in the Vatican palace, the Pontiff prayed for the heads of state and for those still suffering from the effects of World War II.

He offered a special "paternal embrace" to Communist Bulgaria, and the rest of the Balkans where he once served as a Vatican diplomat.

He warned in his 2,000-word address that war is an ever-constant threat.

"We offer a prayer that peace, the daughter of gentleness and good will, may establish a lasting rule among the nations made ever-anxious by the clouds which repeatedly darken the horizon," he said.

"We pray for the heads of state, joined with us in recognizing that their high calling establishes them not as judges but as guides of nations. To these they are on duty bound to guarantee respect for the fundamental rights of the human person."

"We pray for those who are suffering from the effects of the past war, even still—14 years after it has ended."

months. The most recent shipment, including 34 tanks, arrived in Basra last weekend.

It was the sixth shipment of Soviet arms since Kassem's coup and raised to 150 the number of Russian tanks being readied for use by the army. This was twice as many as the tanks in the late King Faisal's pro-Western army and enough to equip a full Soviet-style mechanized division.

The Soviets also have delivered about 20,000 Czech-made machine pistols, anti-aircraft cannons, light and medium field pieces, small arms, mortars and motorized transport.

At least 100 Soviet army officers and men were sent in on training missions to instruct the Iraqis in the use of the weapons.

COMBINE THE OLD WITH THE NEW

It is a mistake to think that furnishing a home you must make a decided choice between extreme Modern and graceful Traditional—that you must slavishly follow one style throughout. A good design, no matter what style or period, can mix well with other good design. It is very fashionable, today, to combine the warm familiarity of older styles with the clean-cut beauty of the new. In fact, far-sighted designers, noting this trend, have taken some older styles and modified them into modern versions that are smaller and more pleasing in scale, and in many cases simplified the design. These pieces bridge the gap beautifully between the old and the new.

In the Contemporary living room sketched below, the low-backed Tuxedo-style sofa—actually a deep-seated, modernized version of an older style, is perfectly at ease with the traditional mahogany tables and contemporary casual (proving with a modern air) lounge chairs. Sectional bookcases are definitely modern but fit in perfectly. Color scheme of green and grey gives room a restful, serene feel. Bright accents have been brought in with accessories.

Would you like to give a new look to an old room? There are a number of easy ways to do it economically. Our trained decorators will be happy to help you with ideas that will put your room into a smart, up-to-date mood anytime you can come in for a chat.

Politician's Pre-Convention Campaign Very Important

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Timothy Tugbuton carefully tilted a splash of branch water into his finger of sour mash bourbon. As the liquids mingled he remarked that it was an interesting if minor factor in the current political situation that Leonard W. Hall is a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Tugbuton downed the diluted bourbon and harrumphed in throaty authority.

"Son," said the senator to the old timer, "Jim Farley was an Elk. Still, I reckon Jim has joined mighty near everywhere and soon as he was in he learned all their first names and called 'em by 'em. Even learned all the first names in the Democratic Party."

"Yeah, but what about the Elks?" said the old timer.

"Son," the senator said, "I'm comin' to that. It was in the disguise of an Elk back there in 1931 that Jim Farley went travelin' 'cross country—18 states in 19 days—pledging local Democratic leaders to support Frank Roosevelt for the presidential nomination and to instruct their convention delegates to knock out the prohibition amendment.

To Attend Convention
"That was in the summer of 1931 a full year before the convention met. And when it did meet, the drys and Al Smith, Newton Baker and the other candidates never did know what hit 'em. Jim Farley did his pre-convention work sly and secret. He took off from New York City about mid-day on Monday, June 29, 1931, and by the middle of July he had secured the basic delegate vote which in 1932 nominated his candidate and re-opened the old time saloon as a co-educational cocktail bar.

"Jim set out," Tugbuton continued, "with the announcement that he was going to attend the annual Elks' convention in Seattle. Now, I see in the papers that Len Hall will be manager of Vice President Nixon's presidential campaign. And, Len being an Elk, he'll be taking off for the Elks' convention this year with a pocketful of Nixon-for-president pledge cards.

"If history repeats itself, and it usually does," said the senator, "Len's trip will require some money. And, if history repeats itself some more, some smart boys are laying out that money right now with the idea of cashing in if and when Dick Nixon moves into the White House."

The Big Payoff
"You mean —" "The old timer began.

"I mean," Tugbuton answered, "that the longest shot in politics and the biggest, sweetest payoff is to be had by putting up the dough for a politician's pre-convention campaign. Like those

Voices Of Easter Are Heard Today

By WALLY TRUESDELL
Daily News Staff Writer

Easter is a time of beginning, by Velda Thompson, pretty Celanese receptionist. She adds that it is the beginning of everything, in this case, the beginning of spring. Miss Thompson likes to see the world come alive again and who doesn't. She is not the only Pampa who feels the spiritual awakening of Easter and spring.

D. V. Biggers is a busy elementary school principal and he's all for Easter. As he told parents at an assembly last week, Easter is one of the few religious holidays that is observed as it should be. Biggers is all for Christmas, too, but he knows what a great temptation it is to overeat and to forget the true meaning of Christianity.

Christmas is the day of Christ's birth but Easter has the added significance that comes with Christ's rebirth and Biggers feels that Christians take this miracle seriously.

Lavinia Webb is one of these serious thinkers. When not working with young singers at Robert E. Lee Junior High School, Mrs. Webb is engrossed in sacred music at the First Christian Church. "God sent his son to the earth to die for our sins. Christ arose from the dead to prove that God is almighty. He is omnipotent," she proclaims. "If we choose, he will be forever with us, throughout all the joy and all the sorrows of life."

Mrs. Webb's Easter is filled with beautiful music and choir robes. She has no doubt about what she'll have on. "Some people are seemingly more interested in what they'll wear," she remarks, "but when you see them entering the church Sunday morning, you know it is not to show what they have to wear but that Easter has an importance to them even though they may come just once a year."

On Easter, Christians need the assurance that God is there when needed, she observes.

Jack Skelly, a local oil man, likes his Easter with music, too. He likes to listen to it. And these are some of the thoughts it brings: "The Easter Season is certainly a time for reappraisal and strengthening of one's spiritual life."

"We are reminded of Christ's supreme sacrifice for all mankind. Hence, each of us should heed the call to sacrificial giving of our time, talents and finances for the advancement of His Church."

One of the happiest women in town is Jane Camarata, an ad salesman for the Daily News. "Easter means hope brought by

JANE CAMARATA ... "hope"

REV. WILLIAM E. WEST ... "Christ risen!"

From his birth, through his life and passion, his death, resurrection and ascension we see God at work in the world for us and within us. When we realize that the Resurrection of Easter can not be experienced without a Good Friday then the statement Christ is Risen takes on full and rich meaning.

"Unless we die to our selfish selves we can never partake of His Resurrection. Unless we submit our wills to His will then Easter will never be more than a time for new clothes and some pretty church services, empty as the tomb. The meaning of Easter is to experience as did the disciples on that first Easter morn and say 'I have seen the Lord.'"

Avalon's Venus Again Tops List

CHICAGO (UPI)—Frankie Avalon's recording of "Venus" topped the United Press International top 20 record survey Saturday for the fourth straight week.

But pressing the Avalon rendition was the Fleetwood's recording of "Come Softly to Me." The tune, in the survey for only three weeks, climbed from the No. 3 spot into the runner-up position, replacing the novelty ditty by the Chipmunks, "Alvin's Harmonica," which fell to third place.

Another novelty tune, the Coasters' "Charlie Brown," moved up a notch into fourth place, while Brook Benton's "It's Just a Matter of Time," dropped to fifth place.

The top 20 included (numbers in brackets indicate position this week, rating last week and number of weeks in survey):

Britain Moves Wisely

We should like to commend our British cousins for a step recently made in Parliament. For the first time in ages, the British government has stepped into the mental health situation and has moderated its laws respecting the incarceration of persons believed to be suffering from mental aberrations of one sort or another.

On this side of the water, there appears to be a movement in the opposite direction. Great promotional schemes are being formulated in this country to erect new tax-supported mental hospitals and to get all kinds of persons who appear to differ from the norm, behind lock and key.

In Britain, rules respecting commitment of a patient have been moderated. All mental patients now will have the right to appeal to their own local tribunal within six months after being detained. Also, no one can be incarcerated as summarily as before. It will take two physicians, one of them a psychiatrist, to pronounce judgment on the mental offender whereas, for years in Britain, a single physician could send someone to bedlam.

Also, according to the new rules, mental patients will be encouraged to provide their own private treatment, both inside and outside of a hospital and on a voluntary basis.

But the really big and sweeping change is the abolition of the "mental hospital" as a special institution. Henceforth there will be no "insane asylums" in Britain. Mental patients will be treated in the ordinary hospitals in special wards kept for that purpose.

The board of control, which at present hears all applications for admission, will be abolished forthwith. Smaller and local groups will review cases keeping as much of the committee proceedings and the actual treatment out of the hands of government and in the hands of private practitioners where it rightfully belongs.

In the face of Britain's far-flung socialized medical program, this is a remarkable forward step. The move is being hailed in the London press as "one of the really great pieces of legislation."

Lure Of Low Taxes

As most people seem to know, money will flow where business goes.

As government officials never seem to realize, people will go where taxes are low.

The pair of truisms can be applied to the Bahamas Islands, an archipelago of some 600 small islands of land which constitutes one unit in the British Commonwealth.

In the Bahamas, money is flowing and people are going. Reasons? Business on the plus side, taxes on the minus side.

One hundred miles east of the Florida coast, the Bahamas Islands are in the process right now of absorbing a most unusual array of business branch offices, many of them from old, established companies in the United States.

It turns out that in the Bahamas there are no income taxes at all, either personal or corporate.

"It has never been found necessary to introduce an income tax," says the Bahamas Chamber of Commerce.

Inherent taxes are low, a mere four per cent on personal items including cash in banks but excluding real estate.

The modest government maintained in the archipelago, subsists on income derived from import duties and a small real estate tax on improved property on one of the islands. Elsewhere, there is little to remind one of his luxurious living overseas.

To take advantage of the situation there, such old-time American companies as U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Whittaker Corporation, Owens-Illinois Glass, Crucible Steel and Outboard Marine have set up offices. Most of these firms are not setting up factories, at least not yet. But they are engineering their enormous foreign trade from these headquarters.

By R. C. HOLLES Union Member For 15 Years Answers 50-Year Employer's Questions On Economic And Moral Subjects

Editor's note: This is another of the series from the transcript of questions and answers on economic and moral issues between Frank Buck, for many years a member of the Carpenters Union, and R. C. Holles, president of Freedom Newspapers. In the first series, Holles answered Buck's questions. Currently, Buck is answering Holles.

22. Holles: Have you answered the question on what principle to use to arrive at fair wages for the employee, the employer and the consumer if it is not to be on a long-time competitive basis so that it is understandable to a second party and he will not have to return for further instructions in specific instances? I contend you haven't.

Buck: You think I haven't? Holles: Yes. Buck: I probably don't quite understand what you mean by that. You're referring to instructing a man who is working for you to hire men? Is that the idea?

Holles: Or if you're hiring them yourself. Buck: Yes. If I'm hiring, would I tell somebody else what rule to use? Holles: Yes. Well, I haven't given any rule.

Holles: Well, then we've got chaos. Buck: I said there is no eternal rule. Holles: I say there is an eternal rule. The rule of competition, that all men are endowed by the Creator with certain inalienable rights, not just part of the people. All men have a right to try to improve their lot. And nobody has a right to try to interfere with their developing their faculties.

Buck: Are you stating the rule now? Holles: All men have a right to help compete and help establish values. And nobody has a right to interfere. That's the rule. You say there isn't any rule. That's where we differ. And I don't think any union man can set down a rule.

23. Holles: How would any of the methods of buying labor on other than a competitive basis benefit the customers who are not in the group? Buck: The customer is not likely to be affected unless there factors which curtail production. Agreement and harmony between labor and management is important to good production on a permanent basis. Neither the customer nor the employer has a moral right to benefit from unjust labor practices.

Holles: You'll have to admit that limiting apprentices and strikes curtail production, won't you? Total production? Buck: Yes, I'll have to admit that.

24. Holles: Where will any extra real wage for union workers for the same production resulting from collective bargaining come from, other than an increase in cost to the customers or reduced profits to the employer? Buck: From greater production through better tools — more efficiency. The extra real wages for union workers resulting from collective bargaining comes from the same place that the extra real wages came from when Henry Ford voluntarily raised wages to $5 a day minimum. Your question assumes that the production will not be changed by the increase in wages. This may or may not obtain. Did Ford's wage increase to his employees come out of increased cost to customers or reduced profit to Ford? Or do you contend that Ford did not increase real wages? The specific answer to your question is, that collective bargaining by continually pressing the labor costs upward creates an ever-increasing demand by employers for better tools to replace human labor.

This makes it possible to increase production for consumer-worker unit, thus steadily increasing real goods, while at the same time directing the medium for exchange for purchasing these goods towards those who buy from immediate necessity rather than from the slow and uncertain elements of calculated profit.

Holles: Well, you gave Henry Ford as an example, but when he gave a minimum wage he hired men who would produce more. He had more selection. And therefore, he was not hiring men for the same production and paying them more. Then if he paid them more to reduce his ability to grow or his ability to get his price down.

years ago that a great exodus of the new world began, sired in part by the high and ruinous taxes inflicted on ordinary people and businessmen in Europe. It is entirely possible that a new exodus, a Stanley Yankus, may get started in this country, with Americans fleeing our borders to find a more kindly and less tax hungry government under which to live.

Cesar had his Brutus. Charles the first, his Cromwell. The American government has its taxes.

Robert Allen Reports:

Medical Care Bill Decision Up To Voters

WASHINGTON — If you have any views, either for or against extending the social security system to include medical care for persons over 65, now is the time to sound off to your congressman. Doing that is highly important because it will determine what anything is done about this controversial legislation this year.

That's the unannounced decision of House Democratic leaders. They are going to await the reaction of rank-and-file members, following pulse-taking trips home during the Easter recess, to determine whether to start the ball rolling on social security-financed medical care or to wait until 1960 — a presidential election year.

Reason for this backstage strategy is a sharp clash between the two top members of the potent House Ways and Means Committee, which has jurisdiction over this issue: Representative Wilbur Mills (D., Ark.), chairman, who is against considering such legislation at this session.

Representative Aime Forand (D., R.I.), second-ranking committee man and author of the proposed medical care plan, who is vigorously pressing for House action this year.

After listening to their opposing arguments, at several meetings, Speaker Sam Rayburn, Tex., and Democratic Floor Leader, John McCormack, Mass., felt the soundest thing to do was to postpone deciding between Forand and Mills until after the Easter vacation.

Forand isn't happy with this delay, but there was nothing he could do about it. But he did take an exceptional slap at Mills inside the Ways and Means Committee.

It was this behind-the-scenes explosion that brought their differences to a head, and led to the "peace-making" intervention of Democratic chiefs Rayburn and McCormack.

UNUSUAL REBUFF — Cause of this inner Committee wrangle was Mills' appointment of several subcommittees to "study and review existing tax, tariff and social security laws."

But the peppery Rhode Islander indignantly turned it down, although entitled to it on the basis of seniority and as author of the medical care bill. Forand is refusing to have anything to do with the subcommittee on the ground that Mills has tied its hands.

Other than to "study and review" the social security system, Forand hotly contends the subcommittee is powerless to take any legislative action.

"The whole set-up is a joke," Forand told Rayburn and McCormack. "The subcommittee is impotent, so I refused to have anything to do with it. If it can't propose any modifications or improvements in the law, to the full Committee, and that means there can be no legislation this year."

"In my opinion, this overwhelmingly Democratic Congress, was elected for the purpose of doing something about medical care for persons over 65. The only way such legislation can be enacted is to have it considered by the House this year. If we wait until next year, there is a very good chance the measure will not get through the Senate."

"There is no need for more study and review" of this problem. It has been studied and reviewed long enough. What is needed are hearings preparatory to submitting recommendations to the full Committee for consideration this year, and next year. That will be too late, in my judgment."

Inflation is Cruellest Tax

THE CRUELLEST TAX The cruellest tax in the United States falls most heavily upon Americans in the low income brackets. This tax is inflation. And boosted federal spending, which "liberals" insist has the purpose of aiding people of limited means, actually makes daily living much harder for these citizens.

If all the companies in the country were suddenly to jack up their prices without cause, the effect of it would not begin to compare with the effect of inflation created by federal spending.

The loss by inflation to the thrifty people of this nation is no less serious just because it is not directly felt and seen. During the dozen years up to 1933, depositors in the banks lost $1.9 billion due to bank failures, and they complained bitterly. Due to the depreciating purchasing power of our currency, however, savers in six major groups — represented by United States savings bonds, time deposits in all banks, savings capacity of savings and loan associations, life insurance in force, annuities in force, and social security trust and unemployment funds — have lost more than $184 billion during the past twenty years.

That was 37 times the loss in the banks, but the people involved, relatively few of them perhaps understanding it, seem to be highly complacent and apathetic about it. For the man-in-the-street, inflation represents a kind of creeping paralysis. He can't juggle his investments to compensate for the higher cost of living; he hasn't any investments except, possibly, a home and life insurance policy. And inflation makes maintenance of his home increasingly difficult and steadily cuts the value of his life insurance.

The high cost of living affects entire communities as well as individuals. Real estate taxes are rising as cities seek funds to carry on municipal housekeeping. Every item a municipality purchases is boosted in price by the pressure of inflation. The cost increase is passed on to the taxpayer. And so homeowners find it more and more expensive to maintain their homes and to get free of whatever indebtedness they may face.

Money that a homeowner would use to discharge a mortgage must be turned over to the federal government.

As for the effect of inflation on insurance, Sen. Willis Robertson (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, cited that only last month. "If a man 35 years of age is paying for an insurance policy," said Senator Robertson, "and he suffers 3 per cent inflation a year, by the time he is 70 years of age, the insurance has been used up. At 3 per cent a year, in 33 1/3 years, the insurance is gone." This is the way in which inflation wipes out individual savings.

Halting federal spending that gives rise to inflation requires down the line — cooperation from individuals and communities aware of the danger in a devalued currency. The colossal spending isn't on a few selected items but on dozens of programs that many Americans take for granted.

Americans have come to expect federal handouts for urban renewal, city planning, farm subsidies, forest conservation, school construction, sewers, hospital buildings, vocational rehabilitation, unemployment compensation. There is almost no end to the list of fields in which the federal government is handing out funds!

Twenty-five years ago, the total federal budget was $4.6 billion. In fiscal 1960 the federal government will spend almost $8 billion in interest alone on money borrowed by the government. It's incredible but true that out of every dollar the United States spends 10 cents goes toward paying interest on the national debt.

And the staggering debt is by no means a completely accurate indicator of the full extent of American indebtedness. The indirect obligations of the U. S. government amount to something like $50 billion. These are obligations that result from back-door methods of federal financing and are not provided through appropriations.

As Sen. Robertson has noted, "We have been quite free in unscrupulous obligations, as though lending our name were an easy way to put money in circulation without creating any real liability." The powerful political demands for easy housing loans will cause this sort of liability to mushroom.

Americans have refused to play the economic game by the rules. They are being penalized for thinking they can live high on the hog and never have to pay a bill. The way they are paying is through inflation — and history tells us that inflation has caused more human misery and suffering than anything short of war, famine and pestilence. We must once more return to a sound economy or suffer the consequences.

Useless Mail Wastes Much of Man's Life

By HENRY MCELORE

Is a bargain in seat covers for your car, cemetery lots, encyclopedias, or even s-t-r-e-t-c-h socks, worth almost two months out of a man's life?

Isn't time, particularly the little bit allotted man, worth more than an opportunity to buy, even at dirt-cheap prices, a gross of greeting cards, on all occasions, an Assembled-It-Yourself picnic table, 50 imported tulip bulbs, or a lot in a subdivision so near the ocean you can reach the beach with only one bus change?

I ask these questions because promotion letters, folders and brochures for these and a hundred other items, rob me of a lot of time.

Every day, almost without exception, the postman leaves correspondence from companies wanting to sell me what seems to be everything from alabaster statuettes to zinc water sprinklers.

Unlike some trees, which hold their leaves the year round, there must be hundreds of manufacturers in the U. S. who shed their promotional and sales literature winter, summer, spring and fall.

I figure that examining this deluge of unsolicited mail, opening it, reading it and throwing it away, takes about ten minutes a day, six days a week.

That makes an hour a week. Multiply that by 52 and then by 25, which is about how many years I have been on the sucker lists, and you get 1,300 hours. Divide by 24, and you come up with 54 days.

Already I have given up nearly two months, and judging from today's mail the end of reading sales talks for things I won't want, don't need, or can't afford, is nowhere in sight.

Are other men victims of mail like this, or am I just a fellow who looks as if he didn't have a cemetery lot to his name, and is in the market for s-t-r-e-t-c-h socks? And if I do look that way, what is the remedy?

In all the years this sales mail has been coming to me, I have sent off for only one article — half-dozen wool ties said to have been woven by a group of simple serene craftsmen in North Carolina.

The ties were sights. They looked as if they had been done by folk so simple and serene they had never seen a tie, and had worked from imagination. To be given with, they were so short that when tied the ends barely reached to the second button of my shirt; that a net made of them wouldn't have held a cat.

Please don't ask me why I bother to open these promotion letters. I have no answer, unless it be habit or curiosity. Sometimes I do just throw them aside, but sooner or later I find myself going through them. And, so to my wife, I have once or twice gotten mad at her for throwing them away before I got around to reading them.

But I do wish I had those 54 days back. That's more than enough time to paddle the length of the Mississippi, or learn to play the guitar, or both. If it hadn't been for those letters I could well be below Vicksburg by now, paddling and strumming along.

States officials also made public the fact that another boatload was on the way and it contained ordnance, communications equipment and other military supplies. More Government have announced that they expect further aid and continuing good relations with the United States. Meanwhile they are harassing the personnel of our Embassy to the point of greatly limiting its operations, delaying the transmission of diplomatic pouches and searching and detaining American citizens. The United States Information Office in Baghdad is padlocked and the U. S. Embassy is not permitted to send coded diplomatic messages to American consuls in other Iraq cities. The bitter anti-American propaganda continues and the remains of our murdered citizens rest in unmarked and unknown graves.

REV. BOB GOODWIN
Calvary Assembly of God

St. Luke 23:32-49

When Jesus hung on the Cross of Calvary He cried, "My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken me?" One reason for this cry was that He might promise to the people of all ages, "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee". Jesus has always been concerned about others. His first prayer on the cross was for those who crucified Him, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do".

"If in this life only we have hope, in Christ, we are of all men most miserable." (I Cor. 15:19) Material blessings are not enough to give hope to man's eternal being. The Bible is positively clear about man's hope and salvation. (Acts 4:12) "For there is none other name under Heaven whereby we must be saved." "Ye must be born again." New birth is entering upon a new life. It is an impartation of The Divine Nature. (II Cor. 5:17) "Therefore, if any man be in Christ he is a new creature: Old things are passed away, behold all things are become new." This comes only through the blood of Jesus. If Jesus had not died we would have no hope. The blood of Jesus Christ actually cleanses from sin, men and women from every walk of life.

Human blood helps save human lives. How much more shall the blood of Christ who through the Eternal Spirit offered Himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve The Living God." (Heb. 9:14) "Without the shedding of blood is no remission." Why the blood? It is God's own plan. (Lev. 17:11) "For the life of the flesh is in the blood: And I have given it to you upon the altar to make an atonement for your souls: For it is the blood that maketh an atonement for the soul." (Jn. 3:16) "For God so loved the world—that whosoever believeth in him—He bids all men have hope in Christ—no person so good in self that he can meet God without Christ's blood, neither is anyone so deep in sin that Christ's blood cannot cleanse. Calvary—man's only hope.

PHS Tops Clinton, Hobart In Twinbill

By RICK PEZDIRTZ Daily News Managing Editor

HOBART, Okla.—Pampa High's baseball Harvesters marched through Oklahoma like Sherman through Savannah, sweeping both ends of a split double-header here this cold Good Saturday afternoon.

The Big Green batters of Deck Woldt and Johnny Dobson spilled Clinton in an easy 9-2 breeze Saturday afternoon before running into a pack of trouble from host Hobart. Pampa blew a 5-0 lead in the fifth as Hobart chased home nine big runs, but the determined Harvesters didn't say die and came from behind for a splintering 12-10 verdict thanks to four big runs in the last frame.

The pair of Saturday triumphs coupled with a tight 3-2 decision at Altus Friday and an earlier 6-4 decision over Borger shot Pampa's season record to 4-0 tops among District 3-AAAA diamond clubs.

Woldt got maximum mileage out of his southpaw mound stalwart in the Saturday twin-bill. Kippy Williams hurled a masterful pitcher in the 9-2 Clinton victory and Keith Yager posted 11 strike outs while permitting eight bingles in the 12-10 Hobart win.

The aftermath of the twinbill was one of those type games which has everything. Errors mixed with fine fielding, clutch, extra base blows and even a tough third inning mishap which saw Don Cross, sub shortstop, felled with a fast ball that struck him beneath the right eye and sent him to the hospital in an ambulance for treatment.

Actually it was the loss of Cross who was playing in place of flurried Wendell Ridgeway that aided the Bears of Hobart High in their torrid 9-run fourth.

After going 24 innings and committing only three errors the Harvesters infield sprang a leak in the fourth as third line shortstop Mack Taylor bobbled two balls and Gary Hill playing for another ill Harvesters, Keith Gregory also flubbed once.

Yager however, after three hitless innings was tagged for seven of the eight hits he gave up in the host's big 4th and that didn't help matters. Benny Crowder lapped up 15 strikeouts for Hobart but his catcher Larry Trent kept him in hot soup most of the afternoon by allowing four of the Pampa whiff victims to reach first base on missed third strikes.

Crowder fanned the side in the first and again in the second, but Pampa used consecutive singles by Gary Wills, Terry Haralson, and Cross during the second for a 1-4 advantage. The Harvesters streaked to their 5-0 lead in the third as three Hobart errors linked consecutive singles by DeWayne Glover, Wills and Haralson and Cross being hit in the face with a pitch netted four runs.

Wills, who poled out 3 for 4, had a harmless single in the fifth. Then Hobart sped ahead 9-5 before the Harvesters plated three in the sixth on two errors, a walk and singles by Yager and Bob Stephens to whittle the gap to 9-8. Hobart comb him for a 1-0 lead in the 4th on a combination of a single boot by Cross at short, walk and fielder's choice.

Actually Cross' error, allowing the Bulldogs an unearned run, came on a sizzling grass-hugger that took a bad bounce and hit the bespectacled in-fielder in the chest. The Harvesters left single runner on the hill to post the win. All three Pampa tallies were spiked home in the 5th.

But the Harvesters hadn't had their final say. In the top of the seventh, Wills popped out to short. Jim Scott was safe on an error. Garren was called out on a third strike and with two away Pampa proceeded to tally four runs.

Two walks and an error closed the margin to 10-9 and Stephens timely bases loaded triple on a 3-2 count, put Pampa ahead to stay, 12-10.

Yager, in neat clutch fashion, fanned the side in the last of the 7th.

In the opener Williams was in command of the situation all the way as the Big Green scored twice in the 1st, 3rd, 5th and 7th. They also countered once in the second. The Clinton tally came in the 3rd.

A single by Larry Stroud, booming triple by Glover and a passed ball netted the first two Pampa runs while a hit batter, walk and a single by Williams accounted for the lone run in the 2nd.

A triple to right center by Stroud, fielders choice and a single by Terry Haralson gave the Texans a 5-0 cushion in the third. Clinton got two of its four hits off Williams in the third for their two runs. The Harvesters drew two base hits in the 4th and 5th before exploding for two in the 6th on two errors on a hit batter and a single by Hill and another two in the 7th as Wills and Cross singled and Hill rifled a long triple to left center.

Harvesters Nip Altus, 3 to 2

By RICK PEZDIRTZ ALTUS, Okla.—There was a brisk and icy wind whipping in from leftfield all afternoon here Friday, but Deck Woldt's Pampa High Harvesters never felt the chill. They kept warm and cozy behind a picket-fence defense that committed but one bobbie and earned the touring Texans a sweet 3-2 verdict over the Altus Bulldogs.

The glittering triumph, No. 1 on the road and the second straight of the season for the Harvesters, was even more amazing when you consider it was spangled with substitute stars.

The left side of the infield was composed of second stringers, Gary Hill at third and Don Cross at shortstop. They capably filled in for regulars Keith Gregory and Wendell Ridgeway who missed the trip, because of severe cases of influenza. And Pampa's third line hurler, little Jimmy Walker, who stands only 5-7 and tips the scales at just 138, toiled five fine frames on the hill to post the win.

All three Pampa tallies were spiked home in the 5th. Base-hits were a rather scarce commodity. Altus had six, Pampa had four, and nobody gathered an extra-base blow. Harvesters subs accounted for three of the winner's four. Hill led the assault against Altus, twister, Darrell B.A.N.E.S. sliced singles to center in the 4th and to left in the 6th.

Walker, with only three innings of work under his tiny belt, in practice sessions this spring, exhibited mid-season form. The Pampa batter retired the first seven batters before giving up a pair of singles in the third. The little costly error by a fourth line shortstop, Dick Garren, let in a run.

But the Harvesters hadn't had their final say. In the top of the seventh, Wills popped out to short. Jim Scott was safe on an error. Garren was called out on a third strike and with two away Pampa proceeded to tally four runs.

Golfers Are 5th In Loop Tourney

LEBBOCK—Pampa golfers finished fifth here Saturday in the first of three scheduled District 3-4A golf tournaments, with a 325 score.

The second district meet will be held next Saturday at Amarillo Ross Rogers course, and the third in Pampa April 18. The district winner will be the team making the lowest total score in the three meets.

Borger won the Lubbock meet with 304, as Jerry Abbott fired 72. Don Seamster 73, Don Lackey 77, and John Ward 82. Monterey was second with 306, followed by Amarillo with 316, Tascosa with 317, Pampa, 325, Lubbock with 338, and Palo Duro with 340.

For Pampa, Larry Tarvin had 73, Eugene Yeary and Paul Magonicz 80, and John Ellis 87. D on left center.

Celtics Cop 3-2 Lead

BOSTON (UPI)—Bob Cousy and Bill Russell paced the Celtics to a 129-108 National Basketball Association victory over the Syracuse Nationals Saturday and a 3-2 lead in their semi-final playoff series.

The sixth game in the best of seven series moves to Syracuse Sunday, with the seventh game, if needed, to be played here Wednesday night.

Cousy, playing his ninth NBA campaign, led both teams with 27 points while the 6-10 Russell enabled the Celtics to dominate the backboards. Russell grabbed 32 rebounds, 16 in each half, and scored 18 points.

Boston opened up the game in the third period after a tight first half. The Celtics led the Nats by only four points at intermission but built up a 10-point lead in the last eight minutes of the third period, and that was the ball game.

North Wins All-Star Tilt

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI)—Hank Stein of Xavier scored seven points in an overtime period Saturday as the North roared from behind to win the second annual North-South all-star basketball game, 114-109, before a disappointing crowd of some 500.

The regulation game ended in a 101-103 tie. The North, which had trailed throughout three quarters, had gone ahead in a nip-and-tuck final quarter, 101-98, with one minute left.

Big John Richter of North Carolina State; voted the game's outstanding player, narrowed the margin with a free throw and then tied the score with a twisting hook with 58 seconds left.

The North played for one shot but a jump shot by Alan Seiden of St. Johns bounded off the rim and the game went into overtime.

The South got the tipoff to start the extra period but Stein stole the ball and drove in for a layup to touch off a 13 point scoring spree for the North.

The suddenly cold shooting southerners could shorten, but eight points in the overtime period.

Shot Put Mark Tied

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—Dallas Long, the University of Southern California freshman that champion Perry O'Brien said eventually would break his shot put mark, Saturday equaled the world's record of 63 feet, 2 inches in the 21st Annual Easter Relays.

Probably the greatest shot put field in track history participated in the feature event of the meet, as four men shared the 16-pound ball beyond 60 feet.

Ted Out A Month

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI)—Ted Williams, annually hounded by spring injuries, was ordered home to Boston Saturday for treatment of a painful muscle ailment expected to sideline him for at least a month.

Doctors who x-rayed Williams said his neck would be put in traction because of the ailment, which troubles the Red Sox star in his right shoulder.

 ers stranded in the 1st, 3rd and 4th innings and had the bases jammed in the 2nd on walks to Gary Wills, Cross and Hill before Ruben Strickland rolled out, second-to-first.
 Trailing 1-0, Pampa won it in the fifth as Strickland led off with free transportation, swiped second, and advanced to third on a ground out by Larry Stroud after Bob Stephens had fanned. With two away, Glover was safe at first on an error by the Altus second-sacker, allowing Strickland to score.
 Glover then pilfered second and scored on Haralson's single which sent Wills, who had walked, around to third. Wills raced home on a wild pitch and Haralson stole second before Cross cooled the threat with a ground-out.

 Hill and Scott singled to lead off the Pampa 6th and Strickland sacrificed both into scoring position. But Barnes settled down, forcing Stephens and Stroud to ground-out.
 Mack Taylor pitched to five batters in the bottom of the sixth for Pampa, walking two, retiring two and allowing a single. With the bases loaded, Wolft rushed his ace, lefty Kip Williams, in from the bull-pen and the little fireman put down the uprising by whiffing pinch-hitter Roy Robinson.
 Williams posted three more strikeouts in the seventh, but not before the Dogs had sandwiched singles by Barnes and Rex Russell around a walk to tally a run and close the gap to 3-2. Williams used three straight pitches, however, with the tying and winning runs on 3rd and 2nd respectively, to strike out Jerry Collins and preserve the victory for Walker.

Prospecting while wondering what Clifton McNeely's future plans are.
 The Harvester whistle ball boss is still deep in thought, pondering the pro and cons of college coaching job offers, Louis Cox; Dallas Times-Herald sports editor, writes "If McNeely doesn't take the Rice job, look for him to take over at West Texas State."
 Now who's whistling in the dark? Chinning with Mac last week the modern-day Moses said "The Southwest Conference sure isn't much on basketball coach's salaries."
 The Texas job went for only $10,000 per annum and only $9,000 a year was the first figure offered Mac by Rice. Hardly worth calling the moving van for. Of the $9,000 Rice offer, Clifton mused, "That's not a very interesting sum is it."
 Of the Texas post he probably could have had for the taking, McNeely cracked, "A lot of background work to benefit the coach needs to be done at Texas. It isn't fair to a man to take the job if he can't have better facilities than Gregory Gym which is crowded much of the time with road productions, stage plays and 16 intramural basketball games a night."
 In closing Dear Hearts, Mac informed . . . "I'm probably not going to Rice or anywhere." So what else will the Easter Rabbit bring?

Fishing's Fine . . .

Pampa's Harvesters have been to the state schoolboy basketball tournament eight times, and won four championships. Pity poor Austin High. The Maroons have made the cross-city trek to old Gregory 17 times, and have one title to show . . . that coming back in 1928, and then a disqualification handed the crown over to Temple.
 Big Sandy, as familiar a name at state cage meets as Pampa, has three titles, coming in 1952-56-57 and six other disappointments in the finals, losing there in 1949, 51, 53, 54, 55 and 1958.
 Bennie Williams of Howard Payne will coach the West and J. V. Sikes of East Texas State will tutor the East in the annual Greenbelt Bowl game at Childress next Aug. 15. Pampa's Robert Langford played briefly in last year's event. We're hoping to see either Gary Wills or DeWayne Glover or why not both, in this year's Greenbelt Bowl game or Panhandle Grid Classic.
 Everybody isn't sweating over income tax forms these days. Fishing reports from Possum Kingdom had the following on Pampa anglers:
 C. C. Hoover, 25 Crappie from Buckhorn Camp; Mr. and Mrs. Ralf West, 20 Crappie and 10 Sand Bass from Fox Hollow; C. S. Youngblood and M. L. Hall, 18 Black Bass up to 4½ pounds from Lake View Lodge; and Deb Howell, Bob Smith and Lloyd Pickering, 16 Black Bass up to 4½ lbs. from Lake View Lodge.

 The Buckeyes came from behind to win the last event of the day, the mile relay, in record time to win the meet. Davis anchored the Ohio State team which included Lee Williams, Ted Sotter and Dick Strayer with a 400-yard leg of 48.
 The four ran the mile in 3:15.7 shattering the old mark of 3:18.5 held jointly by Southern California and the University of Texas.

High Individual Series: Vera Harrison, Crow's Humble, 455					High Team Series: White Deer Does, 1546

one of the league's top hitters, will be the No. 1 catcher with Joe Pignatone, an accomplished receiver but weak hitter, in reserve. Pitching could be the Dodgers' forte. They have the possibilities. There is Don Drysdale, the fast-balling right hander who lost his first seven games last year and still wound up with a 12-13 mark; Johnny Podres, the left-handed change of pace artist with a 13-15 record; southpaw Sandy Koufax, who was 7-3 in 1958 before he hurt his ankle and would up 11-21; Stan Williams, a young right-hander who won nine while losing seven, and Bob Gialombardo, a 12-game winner at Montreal. Koufax and Williams can throw the ball as fast as almost anyone. Better Finish Predicted Possible starters also include the veteran Carl Erskine (4-4); Fred Klipp (4-6) and Janky Rogers Craig, back for another shot although he won only five while losing 17 at St. Paul. Clem Labine (6-6), Don Bessent (1-0) and Danny McDevitt (2-6 with the Dodgers and 9-4 with St. Paul) figure to form the bullpen brigade.

Put them all together, and if hurlers like Drysdale can forget that short left field fence, the Dodgers could come up with the best pitching in the league. They don't look like a seventh place club and aren't likely to finish that low again in 1959.

WHAT DODGERS WILL DO WALT ALSTON ISN'T PREDICTING

By LEO H. PETERSEN UPI Sports Editor

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Last year at this time, Walter Alston was talking pennant for the Los Angeles Dodgers, confidently predicting they would beat the Milwaukee Braves. They beat the Braves, all right, but hardly anybody else, and finished seventh. "Everything went wrong," said Alston. "So this spring I'm not predicting anything." Told that a lot of other managers in the league class the Dodgers as contenders, he merely shrugged his shoulders and said he hoped they're right. "But don't say I said we are going to be contenders," he declared emphatically. He did make it plain that he didn't blame the trick ballpark in Los Angeles for the Dodgers' debacle last season. "We just played lousy ball, at home and away," he pointed out. "The only thing we could do right was when we were playing Milwaukee." The Dodgers beat the pennant-winners 14 times while losing only eight. He conceded there were hopeful signs for 1959, however. Young Pitching Staff Among them are his young pitching staff, an added year's experience for catcher John Roseboro, the fact that Gil Hodges doesn't figure to have two bad years in a row, and the possibility Duke Snider's bat will start blinding again. The Duke, bothered by a bad knee, hit .312 last season, but it wasn't a typical Snider year. Instead of the usual 40-or-so homers he hits every year, driving in 100 or more runs, he had only 15 homers with 58 RBIs. Snider will be in centerfield with the veteran Carl Frazier, who is .36, in right, Left field is up for grabs. Alston may platoon Wally Moon, the southpaw swinger ob-

Peg O' Pampa

WELL, WE SUPPOSE THE EASTER BUNNY has come and gone, now, by the time you read this, and the children have stuffed on chocolate eggs and so on until they probably won't want any of the dinner you are preparing. . . don't forget to eat some real eggs in some form or another, as is customary at Easter. . . and speaking of eggs some fortunate people have been the recipients of some of the marvelous "eggs" that Mrs. Wayne Irwin concocts in her kitchen. . . and frosts and trims beautifully with frosting rosebuds, and icy edgings. . . seems she does a lot of such unique and fancy baking. . . and it also seems, from our research, that, when questioned she refuses to give out with her secret recipes. . . and we don't blame her a bit. . . we'd like to see some of the fantastic things she no doubt makes at Christmas!

THE FLOWER seed books will be dog-eared by now, no doubt and we notice flowers coming up all over the place. For instance, despite the freakish weather, Mrs. Raymond Harrah has managed to have some flowers come up and bloom in the park-strip between the curb and the sidewalk in front of her attractive home. . . and the ground-cover surrounding the blooms is particularly attractive. . . and some of the prettiest green grass we've seen is that under the huge trees surrounding Curt and Will Beck's house. . . it is a sight for sore eyes, indeed. . . the red-bud trees, we notice are not out yet. . . they are the cautious types, and don't come out until they are sure it is going to stay warm. . . my word, but we have had strange weather the past week or two. . . snow storm one day and so hot one needed an air conditioner on the next day, and then cold rain some more. . . we give up. . . glad we don't have to try predicting the weather around here. . . it would take the eye of a prophet indeed.

IT WAS SURELY a shock when we heard that the Lanora theater burned. . . a blow indeed to us confirmed moviegoers. . . hope they re-build in a hurry. . . Pampa needs four theaters. . . counting the two drive-ins. . . glad they switched "The Mating Game" over to the Lavista. . . that was one of the funniest movies we ever had the pleasure of seeing. . . Margaret and Charles Nix are the parents of a new son. . . we are happy to report. . . and we know that Ruth Nenstiel has gone to visit her daughter Phyllis. . . a trip occasioned by the imminent birth of twin grandchildren. . . at this date, we don't know if or when or what, but we will know later and report. . . it's thrilling enough to be expecting one, but think what it must be to expect twins! . . . that Peggy Kastein was really bowling-up-a-storm, wasn't she? . . . winning all-events at the City Bowling Tournament. . . between golf and bowling, the women of this town are certainly kept busy. . . sports wise. . . and we saw some tennis players out on the warm day we had last week, also.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT is the latest interest of the "rock-hounds" and so forth? . . . maybe we are a little late in reporting this, because the interest has been high for months anyhow. . . it is bottle collecting. . . seems that in the "old days" the glass used in bottles of all kinds was different, chemically, than now, and those bottles which happened to get buried turn gradually to various hues of purple or violet, or one color or another. . . and the rock-hounds are including the search for these bottles in their trips. . . understand Carl Jaynes has some beauties. . . as do the Dewey Palmitters and the Bill Bumpers. . . friends of Perla Mitchell will be happy to hear the latest report. . . she is feeling much better although still in the hospital. . . sorrowed by Easter-memories from friends. . . and hopes to be out in the world by the last of April. . . some Easter vacation travelers are the Byron St. Clairs. . . the family is on a ten-day jaunt to Houston to visit Isla Campbell, and to Austin, where they will visit John and Wanda Campbell. . . and then on to the Rio Grande Valley before coming home. . . and Marion Osborne and daughter Sharon have planned an Easter trip to New Orleans, stopping in Denton on the way, to pick up Vicki, who is a student at the college there. . . this should be a very nice time of the year to be there. . . and, talking of trips. . . how about that fabulous "safari" that Francis and George Crée, and Chick and "Charlie" Hickman took, deep into the wilds in the interior of Mexico. . . they had quite an interesting jaunt just to get to the place where they were going to hunt. . . plane from New Orleans to Comanche, Mexico. . . then by train for twelve hours. . . then a two hour boatride with a hitch-hike at the end of that. . . they returned tanned and we guess, tired, after being waited on by four guides! . . . they really had some different experiences there. . . one could call them Pampa's "Ernest Hemingways". . . comments were that they saw orchids growing wild in profusion. . . and on the return trip, it seems they missed the train (which ran only every three days) and were forced to wait over until the next one in a tiny village. . . we saw Francis with a beautiful three-tone-ton handbag with an applique design. . . wonder if she got the bag in Mexico this trip. . . looked as if she could have, anyhow.

LOTS AND LOTS of students home for the holidays from colleges. . . some fer-instances. . . Joan Jones, who flew in Heidi Schneider. . . and Pat Jones, the latter home from Rice with a girl-friend. . . Martha Gordon came in for the holiday. . . and of course, Maynette Loftus, and, speaking of Maynette. . . she is to dance April 14th, 16th and 17th. . . with the Fort Worth Civic Ballet. . . which is doing a presentation of COPELIA at Casa Manana. . . soloist will be Mia Slavinski. . . remembered as being here to teach a short ballet course with Jeanne Willingham. . . and, it also seems to us, she was here with the Community Concert Association once before. . . The Joe H. Lewises are planning a month in Florida visiting their son. . . with short jaunts to the many attractions Florida has to offer. . . also, it seems that her granddaughter, Louise Lawler, is a soloist with the San Francisco Ballet Company which is on tour now in the Near East. . . in Addis Ababa. . . and in Egypt. . . the tour left in January and will return to the United States sometime in May. . . what an opportunity the young people have now-a-days to see something of the world. . . it's wonderful, we think.

NOTES. . . we wish to note the honors awarded to the Kappa Kappa Iota publicity scrapbook, or yearbook, prepared by Frieda Ross. . . for your information, it took all honors at the recent State Convention at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Dallas. . . and no wonder it did. . . for we got a glimpse of it the other day. . . the cover of white felt. . . the colors of the organization are purple and gold. . . which worked wonderfully for a theme of violets, carried out in freehand drawings of violets on which were mounted the pictures. . . and one of the nicest-features was that it wasn't just a newspaper clipping book. . . but had colored film-pictures as well, and little personal notes about the members, and their worthwhile activities outside the Kappa Kappa Iota and so forth. . . Mrs. B. G. Gordon and Elizabeth Enns were the proud bearers of the book to the convention. . . suppose by now everyone has heard of the recent marriage of Audrey Schwartz to James "Babe" Gotcher. . . but we would like to say congratulations, anyhow, to them. . . heard about a nice get-together given by Jean Chisholm early this morning. . . she entertained with a sunrise breakfast after High Mass, for a group of friends. . . more or less in honor of her sister Sheila, who is home for a few days from Benedictine Heights College in Tulsa. . . this is such a nice way to have a party, we think. . . that about does it for this week. . . we're now ready for all the spring and summer activities coming up. . . and, in the words of Rebecca McCann "Out must I gallop from the house and gambol on the lea, for spring has come to field and wood, and most of all, to ME!"

Love, Peg

ADCOCK-SMITH NUPTIALS

Miss Ruth Gwen Adcock

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Ruth Gwen Adcock to F. Duggan Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Smith, 1337 Charles, is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Woodrow W. Adcock, 1201 Williston. An August wedding is being planned.

Gibson-Smith Say Vows in Church

The Mary Ellen and Harvester Church of Christ was the scene of the wedding of Miss Mary Kathryn Gibson and Norman Howard Smith at nine o'clock in the morning on Mar. 14. Jon E. Jones officiated in the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Gibson, 516 Magnolia. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Eggert, 5107 W. 16, Amarillo.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of blue ray silk featuring a Sweetheart neckline and cap sleeves, complemented with a small white sequin hat and a single strand of rock crystals, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible-topped with an arrangement of white roses.

Miss Marguerite Anderson of Abilene, bride's aunt, was maid of honor wearing a harmonizing blue silk sheath fashioned with a square neckline. She carried a bouquet of pink mums.

Ronny Lisenbee of Pecos attended the bridegroom as best man. Bob Hood and Tommy Covatt were ushers. Miss Sue Hibbs of Abilene Christian College presided at the guest book.

The wedding was followed by a reception for relatives in the home of the bride's parents. Members of the houseparty included Mrs. L. H. Gibson of Haskell, Mrs. Hugh Anderson of Lubbock, both aunts of the bride, and Miss Paula Covatt.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are at home at 1515-18th, Lubbock, where he is a student at Texas Tech and an employee of the Texas Highway Department.

Miss Holtman Repeats Vows With Benny Gale Sparks

Miss Annetta Holtman and Benny Gale Sparks pledged wedding vows on March 15 at 2:30 in the afternoon in the Church of Christ.

Mary Ellen at Harvester, Jon Jones, minister, performed the double-ring ceremony amid a setting of floor baskets of white gladioli, palms and candelabra holding white tapers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Holtman, 1304 Terrace. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Sparks, south of the city.

Mrs. Bob Giles presented a solo selection "I Pledge My Love" during the ceremony and directed the seven-voice choir as they sang "Be With Us Lord," "Wedding March," and "O Perfect Love."

Candles were lighted by Lynn Holtman, bride's brother, and Carl Holtman, cousin of the bride and son of Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Holtman of Childress.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in floor-length Chantilly lace and nylon tulle fashioned with a fitted bodice featuring a sweetheart neckline and long, tapering sleeves, which came to bridal point over the hands and was enjointed to a bouffant skirt of alternating lace and nylon tulle panels. Her finger-tip Veil of Illusion, es-calloped around the edges with Chantilly lace, was secured to a tiara of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried an arrangement of white Buyerly roses cascading from a white Bible.

If We Are Going To The Moon, Stop The World And Let Me Off: E. Sev Reid

Twentieth Century Forum Study Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. C. V. Wilkinson, 815 N. Somerville, with Mrs. Calvin Jones, president, in charge of a short business session.

Members were transported on an imaginary "Trip To The Moon" by Mrs. Joe M. Daniel Jr. and Mrs. Henry J. Rose.

Mrs. Rose in describing the features of the moon, stated that "through all history, mankind has viewed the universe through a tiny chink in an immense curtain, the atmosphere. And now, only now are we preparing to thrust the curtain aside and view the universe without impediment." "High altitude - sounding rockets," she said, "have given us monetary glimpses with primitive equipment from above this opaque protective layer. Miniature scientific laboratories have been set into temporary orbit as artificial satellites of the earth. The moon is the closest astronomical body to the earth. The seven million square miles of the visible moon are covered with an assortment of lunar landmarks, souvenirs of bygone violence."

"Most distinctive," she continued, "are the dry seas of lava that make up the face of the Man in the Moon. The most characteristic features of the moon's surface are the craters, some 30,000 of them."

"For thousands of years, men have regarded the moon with reverence and suspicion, praising it or cursing it for its influence on death, birth, rainfall, love, fish- ing, but to the dry scientific mind, the moon really has only two effects on the earth; it reflects light on the planet from the sun, and through its gravitational pull, creates tides in the sea and on the land."

"But the moon is only a tiny part of what interests the astronomer. Suppose our eyes in space turn toward the planets. What would they see? Two planets, Mercury and Venus, circle the sun within the earth's orbit. Then comes Mars, wheeling nearly 50,000,000 miles beyond. At much greater distance comes the giants, Jupiter and Saturn, Uranus and Neptune, and finally little Pluto, some 3,600,000,000 miles out."

Mrs. Daniel stated that in her reading, notably from "Space Flight" by Carle C. Adams and "Satellites and Space Flight" by Eric Burgess it was illustrated that "man must establish the principle of freedom of space as he has done with freedom of the sea."

"Dr. Wernher Von Braun, the rocket expert, says that 'some think of space as a hostile environment. This is not true. There is beauty in space and it is orderly. Unlike our unpredictable earth, full of storms and winds, of fogs and ice, there is no weather in space. There is regularity.'"

"The simplest and most basic motivation," Mrs. Daniel continued with her report, "of the drive into space is man's enduring and insatiable drive to explore and know his environment. Space is a challenge simply because, like Mount Everest, it is there. The stars and the moon have long been

"Is The Play The Thing?" Theoretically Debated With Hamlet-Baker Opinions

Hamlet's words, "The play's the thing," was the theme of Tuesday's meeting of Twentieth Century Club in the home of Mrs. Philip Gates with Mrs. Ross Bazzard as co-hostess. A salad plate was served during the social period, preceding the program.

Mrs. E. L. Henderson, member of the yearbook committee, introduced the topic stating that in any study of the fine arts, the drama plays an important role.

"The Greeks had a word for theater, meaning a place for seeing," Mrs. Jeff Bearden began the discussion by pointing out that primitive man originated the theater.

"Gathered about the campfire in the evening, the men would re-enact events of the day's hunt. Later, dance rhythms and colorful costumes developed. The elaborate Passion Plays of a later period contributed to and when finally human heroes and dialogue were added, all the elements of theater were present."

"In the early days of the republic, drama lagged behind other types of writing," Mrs. Bearden pointed out. "American drama remained feeble until after the first World War. In the Twenties, interest increased with the appearance of Eugene O'Neill's plays. 'Beyond the Horizon' was given professional production in 1920 and was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for drama. O'Neill in 1936, became the second American to be awarded the Nobel Prize for literature. 'Anna Christie' and 'Strange Interlude' were also Pulitzer Prize winners."

"Although today's musical comedies have met with popular acclaim, serious drama by such writers as Arthur Miller, Tennessee Williams and George S. Kaufman is in increasing favor," Mrs. Bearden stated. She concluded by suggesting that, after the discussion to be conducted by Mrs. Leslie Hart, perhaps "we will not agree that always the play's the thing."

Paul Baker of Baylor University, brother of Mrs. C. V. Wilkinson, was the subject of Mrs. Hart's remarks. He is professor of drama and director of the Baylor University Theater since 1934. "Dr. Baker is characterized by many of his students as 'the most extraordinary teacher I have ever known.'"

"Born in Hereford, when his father held a pastorate, Paul Baker was a student in Waxahachie High School at the same time I was," Mrs. Hart said. "Stocky, slightly bow-legged in the tradition of his Texas pioneer ancestors, he has big hands that can lift with the strength of two ordinary men. Not until he entered Trinity University did interest in drama and speech give promise of his future career. Later, he studied theater at the University of Wisconsin in the Central School of Speech in London, and ultimately earned his Master of Fine Arts degree in George Pierce Baker's famous drama workshop at Yale."

Mrs. Hart continued, "But to Paul Baker neither the play nor the theater is the thing. They are merely means to an end, teaching his students to live and think creatively." Quoting from an article which appeared in the December, 1958 Reader's Digest, the speaker pointed out that to Baker "conformity is an ugly word" and he constantly prods his students to think independently. He insists that students compete with an ideal, not against somebody else."

Mrs. L. J. Zachry gave the thought for the day, quoting a short poem, "No Neuroses" and reading from the Apostle Paul: "But now abideth faith, hope, love, but the greatest of these is love. Flowers in the church on Easter speak to us of faith, hope and love which we have through the resurrection."

The Boston Tea Party occurred Dec. 16, 1773.

Best-Sellers, Texas Writers Discussed By Speakers For Varietas Study Club

"For a better read, better informed America, Wake up and Read" was the theme for the Civic Culture Club program, "Current Publications," discussed Tuesday by Mrs. Ralph Thomas and Mrs. J. R. Spearman in the home of Mrs. Luther Pierson, 1121 Mary Ellen.

In discussing reading, it was Mrs. Thomas' opinion that television programs had not damaged people who still enjoy reading good books. She said, "Pampa is fortunate in having a splendid public library; in the last year, 2,402 new books have been added and there are 100 different magazines available to readers."

Mrs. Thomas discussed a group of best-listed books; among them were "Mrs. Arris Goes To Paris" by Paul Gallico; "The Ugly American," the story of an American Engineer assigned to the U.S. foreign aid program; "Mine Enemy Grows Older" by Alexander King, which is the autobiography of the last unselfconscious non-conformist; "The O'Henry Awards", a collection of the cream of last year's stories; "At This Easter" by Peter Marshall and "The First Easter" by Catherine Marshall, compiled from Peter Marshall's Easter sermons; "Bless This Day", a prayer book for children, by Elfrida Vipont;

"Ordeal of Innocence" by Agatha Christie; "Anatomy of Murder" by Peter Curtis; "Heaven In Your Hand," a romantic collection of short stories by Nora Loftus.

Mrs. Spearman continued with the theme of the program by discussing Texas writers. Included in the authors mentioned by Mrs. Spearman were Lon Tinkle's "Thirteen Days To Glory"; Louise Nordyke's "The Truth About Texas."

She recommended good magazines as "Changing Times" which gives a monthly service on personal and family business with no advertisement; "U.S. News and World Reports" which gives a well-rounded view of world conditions.

She briefly discussed "Masters of Deceit" by J. Edgar Hoover, who states that every citizen should learn more about communism as it threatens the future and peace of the world. "In his book he attempts to explain how it works, what its aims are, and most important, how to combat it," Mrs. Spearman stated.

Mrs. H. H. Bratcher conducted the business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Dorn King.

Mrs. J. E. Kirchman gave the thought for the day. It was announced that the next meeting will be Guest Day on April 14 at 2:30 p.m. in the City Club Room, when members and guests will be entertained with a book review by Mrs. Otis Nace.

Mrs. Cecil Dalton presided at the refreshment table, which was covered with a pink cloth and centered with a bouquet of Spring flowers.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. H. H. Bratcher, W. A. Wagoner, C. L. McKinney, Sherman White, J. E. Kirchman, S. C. Evans, Cecil Dalton, R. W. Lane, J. G. Doggett, Otis Nace, Ralph Thomas, Lee Harrah, J. E. Yarbrough, Price Doster, and J. R. Spearman.

Factors Forming Miracle Of American Production Outlined At TC Club Meet

"The Better We Produce, the Stronger We Grow" was the theme for the program, "American Production Miracle" presented on Tuesday afternoon at the Twentieth Century Club's meeting in the home of Mrs. V. J. Jamieson, 2229 Dogwood.

Mrs. H. E. Stanfield took the devotional, relating to the program, from the scriptures of Genesis, concerning land purchased by Abraham from Ephron and from Esau. "Thus Shall Not Steal," Mrs. Stanfield pointed out that these were the foundations of the law of economics and production. "The beginning of our free enterprise system of supply and demand."

Mrs. Richard Stowers, in giving the program, opened her remarks by saying that "Lack of progress some of hundreds of years, but has plagued many countries; some for hundreds of years, but this has not been so with the United States."

She said, "Progress was not inevitable. Factors of our constitutional environment, i.e., freedom of press and opportunity, growing population, vast continent of natural resources, freedom from destructive warfare, and escape from feudalism have made our American production 'a miracle.'"

"Our industrial revolution started," she continued, "and our leaders saw the necessity for better education, which created individual incentive; thus, was established the potent system."

"Production, at first, was dependent on animal and man power for hundreds of years. George Washington had no better way of getting about than did Julius Caesar. Then coal was discovered; then motivation by steam; then by oils; and now by atomic power."

"Ell Whitney began the assembly of standard parts; Seth Thomas used the same method for his clocks; Henry Ford began to use the assembly line for manufacturing of cars, which reduced the price of cars, raised wages, which produced more efficiency with less cost and more consumption of product."

"Then companies," she continued, "and corporations were formed with stock earnings. These individuals made personal decisions concerning when to save and when to spend their money. Skilled workers make for more and better production, so the miracle of American production evolved."

Mrs. Stowers played a tape recording of a portion of the Pampana Chamber of Commerce program on "Economics" and issued a questionnaire leaflet to allow members to check their views and discuss the subject matter.

In closing Mrs. Stowers told members to let their views be as convincing as those of others. Quoting from Waldo Emerson, she concluded with "America is but another name for opportunity."

A short business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Kirk Duncan. Mrs. Stanfield displayed the club scrap-book, which is ready to be displayed at the Federated Club's district convention to be held in Borger April 23.

Members present were those previously mentioned and Mmes. Bob Andis, E. L. Campbell, W. R. Campbell, F. M. Culbertson, J. W. Gordon, Raymond Harrah, Lloyd Hicks, Ronald Hubbard, Roy McKernan, Robert Sanford, H. R. Thompson, Tom Rose and G. F. Branson.

Mrs. Earl Hightower of Los Angeles was welcomed as a guest. Mrs. Hightower a sister-in-law of Mrs. Stanfield, is a houseguest in their home.

THE LITTLE BOOK WENT to the Kappa Kappa Iota state convention held recently in Dallas, and took all honors in the publicity book department. Mrs. B. G. Gordon and Miss Elizabeth Enns, left to right, representing the local convave of the convention held in the Statler-Hilton Hotel, Dallas, were the proud bearers of the publicity book to and from convention. Principal speakers were the sorority's national president, Mrs. Mozelle Waters, Albuquerque, N. M.; Miss Loretta Doerr of New Orleans, La., second vice president; and Miss Myrtle Hembee of Dallas, candidate for the vice president of National Teacher's Ass'n.

Education, Science, Industry Challenge Gauntleted To El Progreso Members

Mrs. Knox Kinard was hostess to El Progreso in the home of Mrs. W. L. Hestew, 1120 N. Somerville, on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Elmer Fisher, president, presided at the business session during which she reminded members of the district meeting of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs to be held in Boger on April 23. Mrs. Bob Banks and Mrs. John Gill are the club's official delegates to the meeting.

Mrs. Jess Clay introduced the program, "This Is The Challenge" with these remarks, "At the close of World War II, the United States took over the No. One spot in the world. We became the balance of power, Great Britain, France, Japan and Germany, torn with the ravages of war, were reduced to lesser power, while Russia with little war damage and a plan to take over world domination, became Power No. 2. Russia is challenging us for the No. One spot." Mrs. George Hrdlicka told of the challenge in the field of education. She said, "The roots of Soviet education reach far back into the past of Western Man. They reach back to the invention of the school, as a special institution devoted exclusively to the process of education."

She went on to say, "Education in Russia is used as a political weapon controlled by the Central Committee of the Communist party and its dedication is shown by the first rule of the official 'Rules for School Children' which is to strive with tenacity and perseverance to master knowledge in order to become an educated and cultured citizen and to serve most fully the Soviet Motherland."

By comparison of actual texts, curricula and examination," she continued, "it has been shown that the school under Soviet rules is indispensable as a weapon of political and moral education. The Soviet system of education in all departments and forms is charged not only with the constant drumming of loyalties to country and party, but also with the belief regarding the nature of the universe and the actual changing of man."

"The problems America must confront are that more than 60 million Soviet students are involved in some sort of education program and that backward Russia now stands among the most literate nations on Earth."

Mrs. Hrdlicka closed by saying, "Without their vast system of educational agencies, they would not be standing in the position of power, which they occupy in the world today."

Mrs. Clay took up the challenge in the field of science today. She said that the United States is far out ahead of Russia in most fields of science. "They lag far behind us in the field of medical science and in the whole field of chemistry, Russia is not even in the race. So, it seems Russia is behind us in the sciences except in a few fields related to war."

She continued, "Space is a challenge simply because it is there. The rivalry with Russia is not a simple propaganda battle. If we concentrated entirely on military development and left space to Russia, we could not make ourselves impregnable. The rest of the world would not believe it and would look to Russia as the clear leader and the battle would be lost before it was fought."

"So now, she concluded, "man is challenging the planets for the first time. Man can not refuse the challenge, if he is to keep alive the essential spirit that distinguishes him from animals. After all, man's ancestors that stayed in the sea are still fish."

Mrs. J. F. Curtis' subject was "This is the Challenge in Technology." She began, "The fact that Russia is today the second industrial power in the world began with their first 5 year plan inaugurated by Stalin in 1928. Since then their industrial output has increased 20 times. They are now in a new 7-year plan, which ends in 1963 and by 1970, at the end of the second seven years, they expect to be ahead of the United States in the production of steel. The USSR does not conceal its extravagant ambitions. Their primary goal is to surpass the United States in the world's first industrial power. They are at present training 1,120,000 'specialists' of all kinds and are training more young people in applied science every year than the US and all western Europe."

Working conditions by American standards are deplorable especially in the older plants. Employment there simple does not exist. "As a whole," she said, "the Russian technical and scientific skills are not only proficient and advanced but they are harnessed to a centralized control and have a unified aim. It is strictly up to the free world to prove that our system is not merely stronger but that it is best," she concluded.

Mrs. W. C. Scott Discusses Safe Driving For Civic Club Members

Civic Culture Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Stanley Brandt for a program presented by Mrs. W. C. Scott on "Defensive Driving For Safety."

Mrs. Scott outlined five points, as given in the Harold L. Smith Safe Driving System: 1) Aim high in steering; 2) Get the big picture; 3) Keep your eyes moving; 4) Leave yourself an out; 5) Make sure you are seen.

According to the formula outlined by expert driver Smith, this will train your eyes for better driving.

Relating to youthful drivers, Mrs. Scott quoted from an article in the Junior Review which stated, "Many teenagers are excellent drivers. Keen eyesight, quick reflexes, and a sense of responsibility enable many young people to drive expertly. Unfortunately, however, safety figures show that a large number of young people are careless drivers. While less than one fifth of all drivers are under the age of 25, this group accounts for more than one-fourth of all fatal accidents."

"Traffic experts," the article pointed out, "say the most serious trouble is with young men under 25, who have the worst driving records of any group. Probably because they do more driving than girls, but they also take more chances."

Mrs. Scott concluded her interesting discussion with a quotation, "I'm just a steering wheel. Behind me you (the driver) are the lord and master of a miracle. Or I'm your enemy, a menace to life."

Civic Culture Club members attending were Mmes. J. B. Townsend, Emmett Osborne, A. C. Houchin, Irvin Cole, Carl Axelson, Emmett Gee, Willis White, Katie Vincent, Ophelia Morris, A. D. Hills, C. F. Pennington, Jack Hon, R. E. Daurer, Louise Sewell, and K. A. Sorenson.

Consultant, Faculty, Student Ratings Of Career Day Deem Clinic Successful

Altrusa Club met Monday evening in the Fine Room of the Pampa Hotel with Mrs. V. L. Hobbs, president, in charge of the business meeting, which included the secretary's report by Mrs. I. R. Smith.

An initiation ceremony, conducted by Mrs. Grant Anderson, information chairman, inducted Mrs. Gladys R. Foster, Mrs. Phil Lips sponsored by Mrs. Claude Wilson, into membership.

Following tabulation, it was announced that Mrs. E. C. McCollum's team had won the night's attendance cup.

Mrs. Loyse Caldwell, classification chairman, introduced Miss Martha Montgomery, Pampa High School teacher, who discussed the recent Career Clinic sponsored jointly by the Altrusa Club, the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and the Pampa Senior High School. Miss Montgomery distributed evaluation charts, which illustrated the merits of the First Career Clinic.

The consultant's evaluation report showed that the clinic was well-attended with 98 percent of the students participating and an equal percent genuinely interested in the clinic's purpose. A rating of the discussion period was given as 5 percent thought the discussion poor; 74 percent thought the discussion good; and 21 rated it excellent. The consultants were 100 percent in agreement that the round-table should be repeated in the coming years. Those results were passed on 57 evaluations received from 59 participating consultants.

Faculty evaluation of the Career Day revealed that all of them felt the Day served to enrich the guidance program in the school. 98 percent with a 2 percent dissent felt that the Career Day activities were carefully and sufficiently planned; and 100 percent felt that the school and community relationship was improved by Career Day; 98 percent of the faculty members felt, too, that the program was of sufficient value to compensate for the loss of time from regular classes.

Student evaluation of Career Day brought out that 94 percent felt they had received valuable occupational information; 93 percent thought that the speakers presented a balanced picture of their occupation; 25 percent after hearing the speakers decided to change vocational plans; 91 percent were influenced to study harder in preparation of their education; 99 percent voiced approval of a repetition of the Career Day next year.

Following a discussion of the evaluation sheets, a tape recording of a speech given on the day of the Clinic was played for the Altrusans.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for four years and this winter we went to Florida to visit her family for the first time. I've discovered that her family are "home nudists." They don't belong to a group or anything like that but they all go around with so little clothing that I am shocked. I include her mother (who is a grandmother) and her father and sisters and brothers of all ages. When they take a swim in the pool (night or day) I never know how much they will have on, if anything. They say it is a matter of health and I am old-fashioned to be shocked. Set me straight, please. Thank you if you should join them.

DEAR ABBY: After living with this husband of mine for 12 years I just can't take it any more. There are just the two of us. I'm a good cook and I love to cook, but my husband simply does not care one thing about food. I can knock myself out preparing a meal fit for a king and I might just as well put a bale of hay in front of him. He never compliments me on a thing. He says, "Honey, why bother - you know I like plain food." Can you tell me what to do before I go batty?

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 years old and a Junior in college. I don't want to sound conceited but I've had plenty of chances to be Number One girl with some of the biggest wheels on Campus. I've turned down these chances because to put it delicately, "they expect too much." When I don't respond affirmatively to their romantic advances they just disappear. I am what you'd call a "good girl," Abby, and intend to stay that way. Am I being foolish and prudish or not? And how can I get a guy interested in me if he doesn't take me out twice?

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to a construction worker for 20 years. He is gone from 2 to 6 months (and longer) at a time. Maybe he's home a week and then he's gone again. We have two fine children. I used to plead with tears in my eyes for him to stay home but now I am glad when he goes. While he is here the children whisper, "I wish Daddy would leave." He upsets their routine when he's home. He won't let us eat supper on trays in front of the TV set like we do when he's gone. He is a stranger to his own children. He loves them (and they love him) but they aren't used to each other. The extra money, his job, his home, his car, his life, I have to pay it out to hire things done which he could do if he was here. So you see, he sold the family's love for a few extra dollars.

DEAR WASTED: YOU had better simmer down before you find YOURSELF on an ulcer diet. Give your husband what he wants. He can't have it. There's more than one way to a man's heart.

On The Shelf

Some very timely books have arrived at Lovett Memorial Library. Mrs. Lillian Snow, librarian, has issued the following rundown.

Avalanche, by Joseph Wechsberg
Avalanches are among the most mysterious and destructive of natural forces. In telling the story of the greatest disaster in modern Alpine history, the author reveals much that until recently was unknown about the ways of snow.

Segregation and The Bible by Everett Tilson
In this book the author clearly shows the relevance of the Biblical viewpoint to arguments cited both for and against segregation. Those concerned with a Christian solution to this burning issue — regardless of position — will find it enlightening and absorbing.

The Road To Emotional Maturity by David Abrahamson, M.D.
A renowned psychoanalyst tells you how to work through your emotional problems — shows you how your feelings operate — how you can achieve an understanding of yourself in your conscious and unconscious mind — and how to use your new self-understanding to develop emotional well-being.

Mr. Churchill's Secretary by Elizabeth Nel
Recollections of the great man by a woman who worked with him throughout the crucial years from 1941 to 1945.

Smolensk Under Soviet Rule by Merle Fainsood
An authentic, behind-the-scenes view of a typical Russian city and the countryside around it, of the lives of its people and its rulers, as recorded in party, governmental, and police reports never intended for Western eyes. Making skillful use of the incomparable view of Russian government from the inside thus provided, Fainsood has shed new light on the history of Russia in the twenty years following the Revolution.

Space Flight by Dr. Carsbie C. Adams
A stimulating and informative account of space travel — its past, its present, and its future. ## Boy Matures At Houston Center

By KYLE THOMPSON
United Press International
HOUSTON (UPI)—The sob of a frightened, confused little boy came from a room at the Hedgecroft Polio Rehabilitation Center. He was too little to understand why his parents couldn't be with him.

But, in a little while, a stronger and wiser voice could be heard above the crying.

"These don't cry," the voice said. "It'll be all right. Would you like me to read to you?"

In a few minutes, the only sound was that of the steady youngster's voice reading in a comforting tone. This was the voice of Tillman Hein, 11, of Somerville, Tex., and the incident was told by Mrs. Lynn Jaquith, recreational director at the center.

He Thinks of Others
"Tillman has become a much wiser boy than his 11 years since those first days when he came here seriously ill with polio last July," Mrs. Jaquith said.

At that time, Tillman, too, was a frightened boy — perhaps because he may have partially realized the seriousness of his illness. The spunky youngster soon began to recover, but the process for a polio patient is a long, drawn-out affair.

"It didn't take Tillman long to begin thinking of others instead of himself," Mrs. Jaquith recalled.

KING AND QUEEN

Margot Gill and Jim Flowers reign as basketball king and queen of Miami Junior High School. The pair was crowned at a banquet in Pampa recently.

Miami Junior High Holds Basketball Banquet Here

MIAMI (Sp) — The Miami Junior High School boys and girls basketball teams held their annual banquet in the dining room of the Pampa Hotel recently, with every member present.

Mrs. Bryant Flowers, chairman of the seventh and eighth grade mothers gave the welcome. Jim Flowers gave the response. Centerpieces used were the trophies the teams won this past season. Name places were miniature statues with pictures of the players attached. Menu and program covers were miniature basketballs of brown plastic outlined in gold.

The trophies that the teams won the past season were presented to the school by Mr. Martinez and Margo Gill. Superintendent Frank Odum accepted these for the school.

It was announced that Mark Allen Arrington and Dee Morris were the outstanding players for the teams.

Under the direction of Zelda Sirmans, the group sang songs and played games. The high light of the evening was the crowning of the King and Queen. Cheryl Gill crowned Jim Flowers as King and Wayne Daugherty crowned Margot Gill as Queen.

Attending were Messrs. and Mrs. Bryant Flowers, Frank Odum, John Turner and Bill

WALTER ROGERS REPORTS:

Uncle Sam Owns Thousands, Not Millions, Of Vehicles

On March 8th, I wrote a news letter pointing out several items concerning the national debt and the amount of money that we in this country are required to expend each year. I also placed some figures in the newsletter with regard to the ownership of certain property by the Federal government. Among these figures I included the number of vehicles owned by Uncle Sam. These figures had been acquired from the Library of Congress and the other agencies of government that are supposed to have their information correct and up-to-date.

When we received the information that the Federal government, civilian and military, owned some 200 million vehicles, it somewhat startled us. We rechecked with the sources of information and were advised that those figures were correct. However, in the last few days a new recheck has revealed that the figures were in error. The first figures I had included too many zeros at the end, and represented millions of vehicles rather than thousands. The actual figures (that is, the last that we have received) reflect that the civilian arm of our government owns 197,094 vehicles and the military 108,743. Needless to say, I regret that this error was made, but figures have always confused me, especially when we get into the big ones.

The Federal government has grown so big that it is highly unusual to talk about anything less than a million. Most of the conversation and talk refers to items in the billions. This probably explains why the information sent us by the Library of Congress referred to millions rather than thousands. Perhaps the folks doing much of this research work have had so little to do with minuscule items like thousands that they don't recognize them when they see them. In any event, we apologize and assure you that the mistake was a mistake of mind and not of heart.

Since we are on the subject, it might be interesting for you to know some of the other statistics concerning the vehicles owned by the Federal government and the cost of their operation. The 224,806 government-owned vehicles (this figure is slightly higher than the two above figures added together) because a few different types of vehicles have been included in this total figure) were driven a total of 1,900,032,525 miles. These vehicles consumed 202,414,833 gallons of fuel for an average of 9.39 miles per gallon. The expenses incurred for all motor vehicles, government-owned and leased, including direct operation expenses, maintenance and repair, depreciation, direct expenses for renting or leasing, overhead, indirect expenses, and miscellaneous expenses, amounted to $28,078,721. These figures have been copied from the Annual Motor Vehicles Report of the General Services Administration and if any of them are wrong, it is because they were wrong in that report.

Foreign Aid
The foreign aid bill which the President is supporting is in for some troublesome times. The President has asked this Congress to give him the additional sum of $3.9 billion. This measure is being thoroughly combated in the committee on Foreign Affairs in the House of Representatives. This is excellent, because many of the bad features of the program can be brought out into the light and stopped. The Committee on Foreign Affairs has submitted an interim report on the subject which has some interesting facts.

Among these were examples of poor stock keeping. In one instance, only one carburetor for 2 1/2 ton truck engines was found to be in stock for an entire army, and at another depot there were

SEE, IT HAS THE MEDALLION JUST LIKE OUR HOUSE!

"... course it's just a bird house, but to me it's real — just like the house we live in. Our house has the Medallion — the real Medallion and Daddy says that's what makes it a fine place in which to live. Daddy says our Medallion home has Housepower which, he says, means we've got enough 'lectricity to keep all our appliances pepped up and perking. And, Mommy says that's right. She just turns on switches and ol' Reddy Kilowatt does all the hard work. Mommy says, too, that our Medallion home has plenty of light for seeing — and in the right places, without glare. I'm sure glad we've got the Medallion — in both places."

Egyptians Say Economy Not Dependent Upon Soviet Union

Foreign News Commentary
By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Editor

CAIRO, United Arab Republic (UPI) — Is the Egyptian-Syrian economy mortgaged into the foreseeable future to the Soviet Union?

Egyptians here say it is not that, instead, President Gamal Abdel Nasser has exhibited considerable independence of the U.S.S.R. in his campaign against the Syrian Communists and in his demonstrated affection for President Tito of Yugoslavia.

There are factors to be considered in each argument.

The combined Egyptian-Syrian army is equipped top to bottom with Soviet arms.

The list runs from Mig jet fighters, through submarines, the latest Russian tanks down to small arms. Further, these supplies are said to have replacement parts to last five years.

They cost in the neighborhood of 250 million dollars up. The total for both Syria and Egypt probably is close to 500 million dollars.

Nasser Needs Dam
In the works, but already agreed upon, are other vast projects. They include one which at the official rate of four rubles to the U.S. dollar runs to about 100 million dollars for development of the first stages of the Aswan Dam.

The dam is an absolute necessity to Nasser, who depends on it to increase Egypt's arable land by one-third.

In both Syria and Egypt, to gether bring the United Arab Republic to the industrialization stage, calling for construction projects of widespread factory production.

Altogether, the figures add up to about one billion dollars.

But the figures fail to tell the entire truth.

Most of the Soviet arms were obtained in exchange for Egyptian cotton which Nasser was unable to sell anywhere else.

The rise in plastics and the consequent difficulties of the textile industry, notably in England, have made Egyptian long staple cotton a drag on the market even though it is considered among the best in the world.

The industrialization agreements all are subject of further negotiation.

Not a railroad spur nor an irrigation ditch will be built until each detail is agreed upon specifically. Either party can withdraw at any time.

But the Egyptians say this: Nasser's anti-Communist in his own country but still cannot afford to anti-U.S.S.R. This condition will continue until he can be certain of no-strings support from the West. In this connection, the U.A.R. looks wistfully toward the Western help given Tito.

As proof of Nasser's anti-Communist, Egyptians point to Nasser's roundup of Communists in Syria, risking whatever deals he may have with Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Egyptians say the Russian economic squeeze may go on at any time and a publisher here says he already is getting vague replies to inquiries about a long-promised shipment of newspaper.

Judy Garland Will Sing On Met Stage

Hollywood
By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Judy Garland leaves the familiar night-club circuit next month to invade the strongholds of the long-hairs on a precedent-shattering concert tour.

Wide-eyed Judy will fulfill her childhood ambition when she sings in New York's Metropolitan Opera House—the first pop singer to perform in that hallowed hall. Also on her schedule are the opera houses in Chicago and San Francisco.

"I'm a little nervous about the great honor of appearing at the Met," she said, "but I've dreamed about it since I was a little girl."

Judy, who has had her share of troubles and heartbreak, believes she has a special rapport with persons from all walks of life. She's elicited more spontaneous emotional response from audiences than any modern entertainer.

Recalls Triumphs
Happily, Judy recalled her triumphs at New York's Palace Theater in 1951, and again in 1956, and the standing, riotous ovations in London in 1957, and Chicago in 1958.

"I'm a very lucky girl for the emotional rewards audiences pay me for my work," she smiled. "I don't know what effect my voice has on them, but I do realize it is a different and unique response."

"Perhaps it is because the public has watched me grow up. People seem to be rooting for me before I walk on the stage."

Judy's husband - manager, Sid Luft, is responsible for her concert tour. He constantly encourages his wife, assuring her she will be a smash.

Time To Turn Tables
"There is no firm line anymore between popular and classical performers," Judy said. "Classical artists like Helen Traubel, Lily Pons, Patrice Munsel and Lauritz Melchior have all made good in TV and nightclubs."

"Now it's my time some of the popular entertainers turned the tables to seek new audiences, too. Nat (King) Cole and Frank Sinatra could be great successes in concert halls."

"This is a big step for me, and harder than night clubs in a way. But appearing in concert halls has one great advantage. You only do one show."

Judy was pensive for a moment, then concluded "gosh, I hope the people will like me."

PLASTERED TREES
COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The Ohio House passed a bill banning political and other posters on trees along the highways after Rep. Martin Galvin argued: "I don't think any legislator would like to be seen plastered on a tree or otherwise."

TOO MANY PEOPLE
OXFORD, Ohio (UPI) — The Scripps Foundation for Research in Population Problems here, which projects a population estimate in various parts of the world by 10, 20 and 30 years, recently received a letter addressed to: "Too many people in the world, Oxford, Ohio."

STRIKE OLD LAW
DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — The Iowa state Senate erased from the law books Friday a statute defining as vagrants "all persons camping on any public highway for the purpose of trading horses."

Ranchers, Farmers Need General Rain

COLLEGE STATION (UPI) — Ranchers and farmers need a good general rain and lots of warm sunshine, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said today.

Only the Coastal area has received sufficient rain, the agency said.

"Planting has been 'on-again off-again' so far this season, it's very dry in most of the state and low temperatures have prevented normal growth of small grain pastures and ranges," Director John E. Hutchison said after a report from district agricultural agents.

Most of the lower Rio Grande Valley cotton and grain sorghum acreage has been planted and there's much planting activity in the Coastal Bend with corn and some grain sorghum planting as far as North Texas, but germination and growth is slow.

Land in most of the state has been prepared for planting, and there is intensive irrigation prior to planting in the Plains and far West Texas. Only a few tomato plants in northeast Texas have been moved to the fields due to cold soil and blowing sand. There is heavy activity in commercial vegetable planting in the Houston area and about half the watermelon acreage around Hempstead has been planted.

Some wheat in the South Plains is reported—beyond any benefit which can come from a rain and in the Rolling Plains some counties will harvest only a small percent of their dryland wheat and stockwater is being hauled in many counties.

Cattle are holding their own and are improving slowly with the pastures and ranges in most of the state, however, feeding herds is still general, but decreasing.

Ranchers are busy branding, spraying and dehorning, and sheep shearing has begun as goat shearing has passed its peak. Some milkfat lambs have moved from the "Edwards Plateau to market."

Fruit trees now in final bloom, being staked and setting fruit, escaped any sizeable damage from high wind and some frost, except for some damage in the West Cross Timbers.

New Logging Tool Revealed

NEW ORLEANS, La. — A new tool which permits electric logging of freshly drilled formations while the drill pipe still is in the hole soon will be available to the oil industry, Sun Oil Company scientists revealed here Saturday.

The new tool was described in a paper presented at the meeting of the Southern District, Division of Production, American Petroleum Institute, by four members of Sun's Production Research and Development Department.

Otis Engineering Company of Dallas already has been licensed to construct, rent and service the new instrument. Otis expects to offer the tool's services commercially within the year.

The device consists of a self-contained recording mechanism which is pumped down inside the drill pipe whenever a log is desired. An electrode assembly projects a unit through one of the mud passages of a jet bit. Logs can be recorded during the normal process of coming out of the hole, or the tool can be recovered on a wire line.

3 Pampa Students Get Scholarships From Phillips Co.

Three Pampa high school students are among 29 Panhandle area scholars qualifying for scholarships from the educational fund for children of Phillips Petroleum Co. employees, it was announced Saturday.

They are Gerald C. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Johnson; George E. Olds, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Olds; and Gene R. C. Shirley, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Shirley.

They have qualified for the scholastic aptitude test of the College Entrance Examination Board. Tests will be given May 16, after which the final selection of 30 winners will be made in June of July.

Each of the 30 scholarships provides $500 annually during the four years of college attendance. The scholarship fund was established in 1939 by the Phillips Co.

Sinclair Starts Ad Campaign

Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. announced Saturday it is beginning in April a nationwide magazine advertising campaign featuring the attractions of Big Bend National Park in Texas.

Its announcement read in part, "Of course, the largest part of our advertising appropriation goes to newspapers, but to tell the nation about Texas, we have to go outside its borders."

"Sinclair is part of Texas: Some 4,500 of us work here for several Sinclair companies. The value of Sinclair's total investment in Texas is more than $100,000,000; Sinclair's yearly payrolls within the state are more than $20,000,000; Sinclair's great Texas refineries process some 167,000 barrels daily of Texas and Mid-Continent domestic crude."

Oil Allowable Is Increased

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas' oil production increased 9.44 barrels daily during the week ended Saturday, the state railroad commission reported.

The average calendar day allowable was pegged at 3,190,332 barrels compared to 3,180,888 the week before. New wells jumped from 188,272 to 188,352, an increase of 80.

Regular drilling applications totaled 285 for the week to raise the total for the year to 4,303.

Coffee Enlists In U.S. Navy

Charles Douglas Coffee, of 320 N. Sumner, Pampa, has enlisted in the Navy and was sworn in at the Main Recruiting Station, on March 20, 1959. Seaman Recruit Coffee is the son of Mrs. Clara M. Coffee of Pampa. He is a former student of Pampa High School.

Coffee has been an outstanding boxer for the past three years. He won the high school lightweight titles at both the Pampa and Borger tournaments this year. And went to the regional open featherweight finals in Amarillo. He has won 27 fights while losing only 11. ### McClellan Creek Project Studied

By JIM SMATHERS

In hundreds of bustling American communities today, enterprising, flood-edged rural and farm people are joining together in an all-out battle against storm runoff and highwater. Their methods — modern watershed technology, plus a new Federal cost-sharing plan.

Already, there are good signs that the people's Small Watershed program is paying off. Several projects in Texas and Oklahoma have borne the brunt of record floods, saved local communities large damage sums.

For example, flooding along McClellan Creek in the south part of the Gray County Soil Conservation District, is almost an annual event. Almost anyone living around in the district has something to say about the floods along McClellan Creek in 1951.

Several bridges were lost. Livestock was lost and untold damage was done to agriculture, land and fences.

One report estimated $113,272 was lost in one flood. Also, McClellan dam was badly damaged and had it failed, damages might have risen to $357,250, and some lives could have been lost.

Again in 1957 bridges were washed out and closed for a period of time; the Alamed road was closed until repairs could be made on bridges; the Kellerville bridge is still out and traffic has to ford the stream to cross.

One railroad bridge was washed out. Within four days after the McClellan highway was reopened the approach to the bridge washed out again.

In 1958 the same bridge again washed out. A number of pipelines and utilities were damaged. During '57 and '58 several hundred acres of good bottomland was destroyed or badly damaged.

Billy B. Davis has been appointed by the Gray County SCD to serve as a chairman of a committee to gather information to see if an upstream watershed project is possible. Work is now being done by this committee.

The founders and planners of our towns and communities weren't too concerned about floods. Nature laid a thick vegetative cover on ridge tops and the upper reaches of mountain watersheds. The cover held fast for years under heavy seasonal grazing. Runoff from melting snow packs and "flash" summer rains ran clear and steady.

So it seemed like a good idea to early settlers to pick town sites at the mouth of canyons, close to rivers and streams, and in fertile bottomlands — handy to water supplies.

Over the years a good many thriving foothill-based communities have been hard hit by accelerated watershed runoff. Too late to move homes and businesses to higher, safer sites, local people just settled down to "stomach" floods and occasionally dying.

Flood plain residents often teamed up and fought floods with home-spun methods. They sand-bagged, rip-rapped, manned the pumps. Still the flood damage toll was high. Often you heard toughened, weary flood fighters say, "We slowed the floods down, but we couldn't stop 'em."

Congress passed the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act — known as PL. 566 — in 1954 to help, technically and financially, rural people and residents of towns and municipalities with their flood and water management problems.

SCS watershed specialists are now available to help local people plan their projects. Preparation of plans and installation of the necessary measures take time, say Soil Conservation Service watershed specialists. The time to act, they explain, is before floods come.

In a couple of weeks — How "566" works.

WINFIELD, Mo. (UPI)—The only ballots that a pair of woman politicians here can be sure of losing are their husbands'. Mrs. John Dean and Mrs. James Sayer are running for election as aldermen. Their candidacies spurred their mates to put this joint protest ad in the local newspaper. "A woman's place is in the home, not in politics."

The average London commuter travels 1,939 miles on 479 trains every year.

B.B. GUN — Brigitte Bardot should be reminded that it's impolite to point. The high-caliber French glamour girl showed off her snooting technique on a Paris TV show.

Bryant Enlists In U.S. Army

LOOSE MONEY

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—An obliging customer at the First National Bank scooped up a large pile of loose currency dropped by a short thin man and smilingly tried to hand it back to him Friday.
