Senate Completes Its Action On $23 Billion Education Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ending more than a week of debate, the Senate was expected to complete action today on a $23-billion higher-education bill, with indications that it will contain no stringent antibusing amendments.

Commissioners Adopt Reduced County Budget

Gray County commissioners approved a 1972 budget of $1,223,028.89—a reduction of $118,341.97 from last year.

Adoption of the budget came two months into the operational year because of the time required by County Auditor Ray Wilson to study the instrument and recommend the best possible fiscal policies.

In spite of the reduction, Wilson predicted a 1972 deficit of $123,588.66. County Judge Don Cain emphasized this was a cumulative deficit beginning some years previous.

Judge Cain began his tenure with a deficit of some $98,000. This was reduced to about $86,000. A number of factors figure in the deficit prediction for 1972—five to six per cent inflation, unpredictable ambulance operating costs and other imponderables—with debt service on the hospital and airport bonds and chief burden.

The county paid out approximately $138,000 in principle and interest on these bonds last year total to some $457,000. Because of recent misunderstandings, the commissioners court approached this explanation with some trepidation because some hospital people took umbrage at the deficit explanation last year.

IN BRIBERY TRIAL

Mutscher Prosecution Wins Tactical Victory

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—The prosecution has won a tactical victory in the bribery conspiracy trial of Speaker Gus Mutscher, where testimony will not begin until Thursday.

Jury selection bogged down Tuesday and Dist. Court Judge J. Neil Daniel canceled a planned night session because it was obvious it would not produce the 48-member panel from which the jury will be selected.

Besides, "everybody got tired," the judge said. Only 30 prospective jurors were qualified at 6:15 p.m.

The judge said he was sure testimony could not begin until Thursday—after Gov. Preston Smith has made his statewide telecast tonight.

If testimony had begun

Bandit Robs Elsa Bank Of $25,000

ELSA, Tex. (AP)—A lone armed bandit robbed the Elsa State Bank early today in this Lower Rio Grande Valley town and escaped with an estimated $25,000.

The Department of Public Safety said the bandit, armed with a .22-caliber automatic pistol, took one hostage, a bank employee, who was released between Elsa and Westaco, 11 miles south.

The DPS said the man changed cars near U.S. 83 near Westaco and escaped with an apparent accomplice.

The measure then goes to a conference with the House, which put three major antibusing riders into the version it passed in November.

The Senate voted 50 to 47 Tuesday to reverse itself and reject a proposal by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., to prohibit federal courts from ordering busing to desegregate schools. Civil-rights advocates were confident they could keep out of the bill in today's debate.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., had pending an amendment which would guarantee parents the right to have their children attend neighborhood schools.

Ervin said he would follow this with a proposal to guarantee pupils the right to attend any school chosen by their parents.

Similar proposals have been rejected in previous years. Although generally ignored in the uproar over busing, the bill would rewrap federal programs to help college students and institutions of higher education and would provide increased U.S. funds to both.

In addition, the bill includes the $1.5-billion school desegregation program originally requested by President Nixon in March 1970.

The Senate revised the President's proposal to put stricter guidelines on spending the money in an effort to insure that it produces quality integrated education rather than just desegregation.

Also included in the bill is a $390-million Indian-education program.

An additional consideration is that the county is on the calendar year while taxes are on the fiscal year.

In other business the panel approved placing $217,000 in county funds on time deposit with the interest to accrue to the general fund.

Hopefully, these funds can remain on deposit 90 days before they are needed thereby earning some appreciable interest.

The county judge and commissioners are trustees of the permanent school funds for the county and liable for the funds involved. Some government bonds matured but notice was received too late to effect a conversion of the monies involved.

So, through the First National Bank, these funds were invested in certified U.S. Treasury bonds to mature Nov. 15, 1986 paying an interest rate of six and one-eighth per cent. Interest will be mailed to the board semi-annually. Some $21,000 is involved.

Other business transacted was of a routine nature.

today and the Governor called a special session of the legislature, the prosecution would have revealed its battle plan and who its first witnesses are. That would give the defense more time to prepare its response when the trial resumed after the special legislative session.

The defense subpoenaed six more witnesses Tuesday and its list now includes the state's top two officials, the mayor of Houston and a famous golf pro.

As the list of notables continued to grow, defense attorney Frank Maloney joked with newsmen: "My next witness will be Lyndon Johnson."

The defense got subpoenas Monday for the Governor and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes. Louie Welch, mayor of Houston led Tuesday's list. Frank Sharp was Welch's chief contributor in the mayor's first race in 1963. Welch borrowed $235,000 from Sharp's bank in January 1970 to buy Sharp-controlled National Banker's Life stock.

The stock collapsed, and Welch never sold his shares.

Bullock Seeking Court Decision On Primary Fund

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Sec. of State Bob Bullock was expected to go before the Texas Supreme Court today asking whether state funds can be used to pay for primary elections.

Court Tackles Finance Rules For Primaries

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court gets a chance today to take on the knotty problem of who has authority to lay down ground rules on the financing of this year's primary elections—the Secretary of State or the Legislature.

Secretary of State Bob Bullock said he would ask the Supreme Court some time today to let him file a request asking the court to order State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert to pay a $149.35 bill for election supplies in Harris county.

Calvert refused Tuesday to pay the Harris county bill, citing a recent opinion by Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin who said that, according to a 1916 court decision, primaries are a private function and cannot be financed by tax dollars.

Martin said that even if state tax money can be used to pay for the party primaries only the legislature can appropriate the money.

Bullock based his argument on current state election laws that maintain the secretary of state "shall be the chief elections officer of the state and it shall be his responsibility to obtain and maintain uniformity on the application, operation and interpretation of the elections laws."

Bullock said the $149.35 expense statement resulted from a "contract" his office made with the Harris County Democratic Party to conduct the May 6 primary election.

"On Wednesday we will ask the Supreme Court for permission to file a writ of mandamus that would order the comptroller to pay the bill," Bullock said, "and if the permission is granted we will be in business. I'm sure the court will want to hear arguments from both sides."

Funerals Begin For Flood Victims

MAN, W. Va. (AP)—Funerals began today for some of the 71 known victims of a flood that ripped down 17-mile-long Buffalo Creek last Saturday.

Crews continued to clean up the flood-torn coal-mining valley in southern West Virginia and search for more bodies, as thousands of homeless persons lined up at the Man High School to apply for federal disaster aid programs.

State Health Director Dr. N. H. Dyer declared the area, filled with debris and mud, a public health and safety hazard to prevent the spread of disease.

Health officials have been giving typhoid shots to residents of the Buffalo Creek hollow.

U.S. Command Reports 2nd Biggest Troop Cut

GIs In S. Viet Reduced To Fewer Than 120,000

BOSS OF THE YEAR—Mrs. Edith Bills, center, chief operator at Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, was named Boss of the Year at the Bosses' Night banquet of the American Business Women's Association Tuesday evening. Handing her the trophy is Mrs. Marilee Elledge, ABWA president, while Mrs. Mary Summers, who nominated Mrs. Bills, puts her crown in place.

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Command announced the second biggest troop cut of the Vietnam war today, leaving fewer than 120,000 American combat infantrymen and artillerymen in the Saigon, Cam Ranh Bay and Da Nang regions.

Among the units included in the 4,940-man reduction was the 2nd Squadron of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment. The night before one of its 1,060 men was killed and five were wounded in a clash 24 miles northeast of Saigon.

The other big unit was the 5th Battalion, 42nd Artillery, whose authorized strength was 600 men.

In all, 32 Army units and one small Air Force detachment were phased out.

The U.S. Command said it was the largest single reduction since last July 1, when 6,095 troops were pared. The cutbacks today reduced total U.S. strength in Vietnam to fewer than 120,000 men from a peak of 543,000 in April 1969.

President Nixon has ordered this force cut to 69,000 by May 1.

The clash in which the armored cavalry squadron suffered its casualties was one of three fought Tuesday by units from the 1st Air Cavalry Division in the Saigon region.

Two fights flared after an American patrol detected an enemy squad moving toward night campsites near fire bases Gibraltar and Fiddler's Green, and U.S. spokesman said.

The U.S. troops engaged the approaching enemy and called in rocket-firing helicopters for support, he said. On American and one enemy soldier were killed and five Americans were wounded, the spokesman reported.

The third fight broke out about 40 miles east of Saigon in Long Khanh Province.

"Our guys were on patrol, spotted some enemy in the jungle and tried to set up a hasty ambush," said a military source. "Shots were exchanged. They fired B40s rockets and three of our guys were hit."

Phone Company's Chief Operator Named 'Boss Of Year' By ABWA

By JANE KADINGO Mrs. Edith Marie Bills, chief operator at Southwestern Bell Telephone Company was named 'Boss of the Year' by the American Business Women's Association Tuesday night during the group's Bosses' Night banquet.

Mrs. Bills was nominated by ABWA member Mrs. Mary Summers. Nominations were made through unsigned letters that did not mention the boss' name. The winning letter was read by Calvin Whatley, who was assisted in the judging by Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Palmer.

Mrs. Bills received a crown and a trophy from the ABWA president, Mrs. Marilee Elledge. Mrs. Bills is the third woman to receive the title which has been awarded annually since 1961.

Previous Bosses of the Year, introduced during the banquet, were Lou Troja, 1961. Hugh Peeples, 1962. Wallace Bruce, 1963. Mrs. Velma Sutton, 1964. Rue Hestand, 1965. Harold Barrett, 1966. Miss Vernell Meador, 1967. Jack Reeve, 1968. Harold Miller, 1969. Elbert Walker, 1970. B. G. Green, 1971.

Featured speaker was H. P. Donohue, who spoke on ecology. Donohue pointed out that controls placed on industry to prevent air and water pollution may become a matter of economic survival, with many industries being forced to close, causing an unemployment problem.

Although the "alternative choice of doing nothing is unthinkable," Donohue quoted Peter Drucker who stated it is a matter of "risk against cost" and "benefits against jobs."

The agency said Foreign Minister Chow Shu-kai drew the comparison in a report to the National Assembly. But he added: "We cannot yet see if it will be good or bad for world peace."

Nixon himself anticipated comparison with the apostle of appeasement. He said on his return from China Monday night that he brought back no agreement guaranteeing "peace in our time," the words Chamberlain used when he returned from Munich.

One local newspaper called for Chiang Kai-shek to attack the mainland and suggested tough talk to U.S. Asst. Secretary of State Marshall Green when he arrives Thursday to try to convince Chiang that Nixon didn't sell him out.

"The United States and other friends urged us not to rock the boat and to be patient lest World War III be started in the Taiwan Straits," said the English-language China News. "The time has been reached when the mouse must stand up and roar like a lion."

South Texas Needs Federal Help To Combat Traffic In Narcotics

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Reporting on a 60-day probe into organized crime, a county grand jury says South Texas needs a Federal Task Force to fight the growing traffic in narcotics.

The jury also says the federal government should "drastically step up its efforts" against the underworld drug trade and that the local police department should assign more men to its narcotics squad.

San Antonio is a pipeline city for narcotics traffic to other points in the nation, the jury reported Tuesday.

In addition, it said, 5,000 addicts are supporting their habits here at the rate of more than $50 million a year in thefts and robberies.

A newly formed organized crime unit, staffed by local law enforcement authorities, will use documents and testimony obtained by the grand jury in a continuing investigation, officials said.

The greatest penetration by organized crime in our community and the most dangerous one is based on traffic in narcotics," the jury reported.

It said it has "isolated nine criminal organizations" headquartered in this area that have "a local distribution set up and also act as channels for the funneling of narcotics from Mexico to various other cities throughout the country."

Local police officials are aware of these organizations, but more narcotics agents are needed to handle the growing drug problem, the jury said.

The groups were not identified. Assistant grand jury foreman James Martin, who presented the report, said the jurors found "no indication of a direct connection with the Mafia" in San Antonio, although he said it appears certain that narcotics are "going into the Mafia pipelines" from here.

County Dist. Atty. Ted Butler said he felt that "organized syndicates are directly connected" with the narcotics traffic here "as purchasers and as sellers."

The grand jury urged that "going into the Mafia pipelines" from here.

San Antonio is a pipeline city for narcotics traffic to other points in the nation, the jury reported Tuesday.

In addition, it said, 5,000 addicts are supporting their habits here at the rate of more than $50 million a year in thefts and robberies.

A newly formed organized crime unit, staffed by local law enforcement authorities, will use documents and testimony obtained by the grand jury in a continuing investigation, officials said.

The greatest penetration by organized crime in our community and the most dangerous one is based on traffic in narcotics," the jury reported.

It said it has "isolated nine criminal organizations" headquartered in this area that have "a local distribution set up and also act as channels for the funneling of narcotics from Mexico to various other cities throughout the country."

Local police officials are aware of these organizations, but more narcotics agents are needed to handle the growing drug problem, the jury said.

The groups were not identified. Assistant grand jury foreman James Martin, who presented the report, said the jurors found "no indication of a direct connection with the Mafia" in San Antonio, although he said it appears certain that narcotics are "going into the Mafia pipelines" from here.

County Dist. Atty. Ted Butler said he felt that "organized syndicates are directly connected" with the narcotics traffic here "as purchasers and as sellers."

The grand jury urged that "going into the Mafia pipelines" from here.

HAPPY WINNER Linda Sutterfield, 706 N. Zimmers, Pampa, is shown being presented $25. in Bingo Bucks by Gary Baker, manager of M. E. Moses, from whose store the winning card came. There were two winners the first week of the promotion. Mrs. Louise Neugin, Route 1, Pampa, also won $25. in Bingo Bucks. Her card came from Bill Gray's Western Auto Store. Mrs. Neugin was out of town and unavailable for her picture to be taken. A new game is being played this week on Orange Bingo Cards. Be sure to get yours from the participating merchants and watch The Pampa Daily News each day for Bingo Numbers in merchants advertisements.

Butler said the report should not be taken to mean San Antonio is in worse shape than other Texas cities. "Generally speaking, we have a well policed county," he said. "But as the grand jury report stated, we need much more muscle put into the fight against narcotics."

The grand jury issued several recommendations, including a city-county narcotics enforcement department, expansion of methadone maintenance programs for heroin addicts, and state legislation allowing "electronic surveillance of organized criminal activities in appropriate cases."

It also suggested that an "organized body of citizens" be established to investigate and publicize organized crime activities.

Price testified Tuesday before a subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee in Washington on proposed amendments to the Constitution which would have the effect of making the forced busing of students unconstitutional.

Excerpts of Price's testimony follow: "From the outset, I would like to clarify exactly what I am referring to as well as what I am not referring to when I talk about 'busing.' I am not referring to the busing of school children that has been taking place for many years in rural areas like so much of my West Texas district, nor am I referring to the normal kind of busing that takes place in the city. I am not referring to busing in these forms, nor do I oppose busing in these forms, because this type of busing is in nearly every case merely a means of getting school children transported from their homes to the public school nearest them in the safest, quickest way possible and because—above all else—this type of busing is a voluntary act on the part of the school children and their taxpaying parents."

"Despite loud outcries to the contrary, I want it understood unequivocally that this issue of busing is not an issue of race. Opposition to busing in order to achieve racial balance in public schools does not constitute an attempt to perpetuate segregation in those areas where it may still exist. Busing is not a method at once embraced by blacks and rejected by whites—the contrary, it is, in my Congressional district at least, uniformly shunned by blacks and whites alike. I have received much mail on this matter of busing, as have all my colleagues, and the will of the people is clearly ascertainable on the issue."

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Stella Propeck of Pampa; one grandson and one great-grandson.

Three Youths Slightly Hurt In Car Mishap

Three Pampans sustained minor injuries Tuesday when the vehicle in which they were riding went out of control and struck a pedestrian bridge.

Don David Long, 19, 2409 Rosewood, was driving east in the 200 block of West Cook when he lost control.

Michael Heiskell, 20, 609 N. Russell St. and Jerry Lindsey, 19, were passengers.

Long was cited by the investigating officer for failure to control speed to avoid an accident.

Congressmen Planning Probe Of Rep. Dowdy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two California congressmen planned today to investigate a fellow Democrat, Rep. John Dowdy of Texas, convicted by a federal court of taking a $25,000 bribe.

"The House has an obligation to investigate a man who has been accused of the worst offense against anyone in public office—bribery," Rep. Jerome R. Waldie said. "I don't see how we cannot investigate the case."

Precedent demands, however, that the House may not take up the case until Dowdy exhausts his appeals.

Dowdy is not seeking re-election. But his wife, who has worked in his office since he came to Congress in 1952, is running in his place.

The House has expelled only three members, all of them in 1861 for serving in the Confederate Army. Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., was illegally barred from taking his seat in 1967.

Rep. Charles Wiggins, appearing with Waldie before the Committee on Official Standards, says the Dowdy case is only vaguely familiar with the Powell one.

After the House voted not to seat the newly re-elected Powell in January 1967, a special committee was named to look into allegations of misconduct.

The committee recommended stripping Powell of his seniority and his chairmanship of the House Education Committee, censuring him and fining him $40,000.

Instead, the House accepted a spontaneous motion to expel Powell, an act the Supreme Court later said was illegal.

Three-Night 'Showboat' Set At Central Baptist

Three nights of "Showboat '72" will begin tomorrow at Central Baptist Church.

The minstrel-comedy-show is the entertainment portion of the annual youth and workers banquets tomorrow night is for all Sunday School workers; Friday night is for all junior high students and their guests; and Saturday night is for high school and college students and guests.

First on the agenda will be a full banquet dinner at 7:00 p.m. each night. Then with a burst of drum roll the show will begin. To full band accompaniment the men's chorus will enter singing "Dixieland" tambourines high in the air. A full program of minstrel singing, dixie-land band, comedy skits, pantomimes, and surprises will continue.

The band will do selections including "Camptown Races," "When the Saints Go Marching In," and "Shortening Bread." Men's chorus will do one portion in blacklight with flour-escant costumes glowing in synchronized motions while singing "Oh, Susanna!" Other numbers they will sing are "Old Folks At Home," "Sweet Kentucky Babe" and "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair."

Novelty routines will include impersonations and pantomimes of "Minnie Pearl," "Flip Wilson and Geraldine," "Two Hand Concerto," "The Original Betty Boop Girl," "Dolly and Porter," and several surprises. Carnival prizes will be given to all during the process of the show.

Numerous committees are preparing and presenting the three night slate. Pastor of Central Baptist Church is Rev. Bryan Halliburton, Minister of Music and Education, S. L. Tate, Jr., is coordinator with the committees.

Future Farmers of America and 4-H Club members from Gray County will vie for honors during the annual Gray County Junior Livestock Show Saturday at Recreation Park.

The Pampa Noon Lions Club is sponsoring the event and will award three trophies in each class.

A Grand Champion and Reserve Champion trophy will be presented to top winners in both the calf and swine division, according to Joe Wheeley, chairman of the Agriculture Committee and Gray County show superintendent.

Showmanship trophies will be donated by Canadian Production Credit Association and Kennedy Jewelers.

Jerry Harlan, Dallam County Agent, who resides in Dalhart, Texas will judge the events in this year's show. Entries to date include 93 hogs and 33 steers. Kick-off time for Saturday's event is 2 p.m. with winners being announced immediately following inspection of the judges.

The County Show is a annual project of the Pampa Noon Lions Club as a preamble to the Top-O-Texas Junior Livestock Show and Sale which is supplemented with a Hereford Breeders Show and Sale. This year's seven-county show is set for March 6 after weigh-in completions March 5.

Barnes May Win 1972 Nomination Without Runoff

DeLEON, Tex. (AP)—There's a chance that Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes may capture the Democratic nomination without a runoff, he said Tuesday.

He said this possibility was raised by the outcome of a private poll.

With the undecided voters distributed in proportion to the votes for each candidate in the poll, Barnes said he received 46 per cent of the total, Uvalde rancher Dolph Briscoe 32 per cent and Gov. Preston Smith 21 per cent.

Barnes also said that House Speaker Gus Mutscher's lawyers have told him he may not be required to testify in the Abilene bribery conspiracy trial although he was subpoenaed Monday by the defense.

The lieutenant governor said he would be happy to go to the trial and tell what he knows but he knew very little about the case.

Astronaut's Family Life Has Its Ups And Downs

HOUSTON (AP)— Being the wife of an astronaut has its ups and downs too.

"You go to the White House one day and the next you're back home scrubbing the bath room," Mrs. James A. McDwitt told the closing session of the Inland Daily Press Association.

"Life is beautiful during a flight but when it's over, everything returns to normal again."

Mrs. James A. Lovell said there is a lot of tension during preparation for a flight and newsmen made her nervous at first. "But after four flights they were carrying my groceries for me," she said.

The wives were joined on the luncheon program by their husbands. They were quizzed by a panel of Inland members as the group ended its winter meeting here.

The wives were stumped.

however, when asked what advice they would give to the wives of future astronauts.

"Every wife has to reach her own decision," Mrs. Lovell said. "No one ever told us what to do. Everyone has an individual problem."

Mrs. McDwitt offered some insight, however. "The only piece of advice I have is roll with the punches," she said.

Panelists included Dolph Simons Jr., president and publisher of the Lawrence (Kan.) Journal-World; Edward Lehman, editor and president, Longmont (Colo.) Times-Call; Tom Pew, editor, Troy (Ohio) News; Mrs. Warren G. Wheeler, South Bend (Ind.) Tribune; Mrs. Len H. Small, Kankakee (Ill.) Journal and Mrs. Gordon Craig, Booth Newspapers.

Wheeler, the outgoing president of the association, presided over the program.

The astronauts joined in the lighter side of the questioning but also fielded some serious questions from the panel.

Simons asked if there was a morale problem among astronauts in the Apollo program since the program is nearing its end and some will not fly.

Price Testifies Before House Unit On Busing Issue

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa testified Tuesday before a subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee in Washington on proposed amendments to the Constitution which would have the effect of making the forced busing of students unconstitutional.

Excerpts of Price's testimony follow: "From the outset, I would like to clarify exactly what I am referring to as well as what I am not referring to when I talk about 'busing.' Human Sexuality Is Favored Course

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Human Biology 10, a course on human sexuality, is Stanford University's most popular course ever.

More than 1,000 students are enrolled this quarter.

Dr. Herant Katchadourian and fellow psychiatrist Donald Lunde teach the four-credit course. A Katchadourian lecture on sexual intercourse this week drew 1,400 enrollees and auditions-students attending on a non-credit basis.

About 170 students enrolled in the initial class in 1968. Enrollment jumped to 450 in 1969 and now more than 1,000 are registered.

"For some students this course is a breeze. For others, it is very difficult," Katchadourian said.

OBITUARIES

WALTER HILL Funeral services are scheduled for 2 p.m. Thursday in the Lipscomb Union Church, McLean, for Walter Lemmon Hill, 94, who died Monday in Shamrock Hospital. Burial will be in the Lipscomb Cemetery.

A retired rancher, he came to McLean from Lipscomb in 1948.

He is survived by his wife, Ella; two daughters, Mrs. Cordie May Holt of Canadian and Mrs. Ruth Boles of McLean; four sons, Jessie Hill of Dallas, Walter Hill of St. Louis, Mo., Leonard Hill of Vacaville, Calif., and Charlie Hill of Dimmitt; four sisters, Mrs. Kina Porter of Tempe, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. Lena Stephenson of Amarillo, Mrs. Ella Payne and Mrs. Mittie Hill, both of Booker; three brothers, W. R. Hill of Amarillo and Clint Hill of Colorado; 20 grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

MRS. ELIZABETH COOPER Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Duenkel Memorial Chapel for Mrs. Elizabeth May Cooper, 728 E. Denver, who died Monday at her home following a lengthy illness.

haven't had it. But I probably know more about it than the students who have," he added.

Katchadourian said the growth is evidence of a "widespread recognition that such courses are necessary."

But he discounts the notion that his students, or other segments of society, are sexually ignorant.

"In this class, however, there is practically nothing that everyone knows all about," he said.

"We work on the basis that it is better to know than not to know."

"This is a serious course that teaches students something that affects them very profoundly."

Exam Is Set For Teacher Certification

CANYON—Two dates have been set for giving the examination for teacher certification in the Texas Constitution at West Texas State University.

Dr. E.B. Posey, director of teacher certification at WTSU, said today the dates are April 15 and June 20 with deadlines for applications March 22 and June 4, respectively. No fee is charged, he said.

Applications for the Texas Constitution examination may be obtained by writing Dr. Posey at West Texas State University, Canyon 79015.

Dr. Posey said that information about examinations for teacher certification in American History and the U.S. Constitution is available through the college Entrance Examination Board, 3810 Medical Parkway, Austin 78756. There is a $15 fee for each test, he said.

Since West Texas State does not use the College Level Examination Program to offer college credit by examination, the university is not a testing center for the U.S. History and federal constitution tests, he added.

The white-tailed deer is related to domestic cattle and like them possesses a four-chambered stomach.

People In The News

OTTAWA (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau has become embroiled in a dispute again over his vocabulary.

"That was your goddamned question," Trudeau fired back Monday during a discussion in Parliament over employment with Conservative leader Robert Stanfield.

Trudeau's outburst immediately caused a howl from members of Parliament, who demanded that the prime minister's remark be recorded.

Last year the opposition accused Trudeau of using a four-letter word in a heated Parliament debate. Trudeau contended, however, that all he had said was "fuddle-duddle."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Ashley and actor George Peppard have divorced after six years of marriage, declaring their differences are "absolutely unresolvable."

Their romance made news in 1965 when Miss Ashley, the toast of Broadway in "Barefoot in the Park," paid $30,000 to buy out of the show and follow Peppard to Hollywood.

The divorce settlement, approved Monday in Los Angeles Superior Court, gives Miss Ashley $2,000 per month alimony and orders her to vacate Peppard's house by June 30 when her alimony will go to $2,500.

Unemployed Young Father Offered Job

DURANT, Okla. (AP) — William Paul "Billy" Roberts, a 15 year old husband and father locked out of work and welfare by state and federal laws, leaves here today for Houston and a job.

He told reporters Monday, "I'm getting a job on a boat dock down there that starts at $100 a week, so we're packing to leave."

Last Friday the news media carried accounts of Robert's troubles. Job offers began pouring in immediately.

He and his 14-year-old wife Kay and their 4-month-old son William Jr., were subsisting on aid from Kay's mother.

Although job offers came from all over Oklahoma, Roberts took the Texas job.

He said Monday, "My sister and her husband live in Houston. They heard about it down there and got this boat dock job for me."

Birch Society Blasts Nixon China Journey

BELMONT, Mass.—The John Birch Society voiced strong opposition to President Nixon's trip to Communist China in a statement issued through the society's director of public relations, Rex Westerfield.

The statement said, "We were appalled when we first learned of President Nixon's plan to visit Communist China. The John Birch Society feels that the United States government should not fraternize with a criminal government that murdered between thirty-four and sixty-three million Chinese citizens to consolidate its power. To treat these barbarians as a legitimate government, to have the President of the United States meet with them as equals, and to accept them as rulers of the Chinese people, is a betrayal of all that the United States represents."

Westerfield continued, "One of the scenes in the ballet, attended by the Nixons, depicted the Red army practicing marksmanship, and their target was a caricature of General Chiang Kai-Shek. It is shocking and disgraceful that the President of the United States would attend and applaud this type of program. It is little wonder that the Pro-Communist Nations felt confident that the Government of Free China could be ousted and degraded, while the Communists could be admitted and given prestige."

"Sparked by members of The John Birch Society," Westerfield said, "hundreds of thousands of Americans protested President Nixon's trip. His visit to Communist China humiliated the American people and betrayed our anti-Communist allies."

Chou Invites Mansfield, Scott To Visit Peking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai has invited Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and his Republican counterpart, Hugh Scott, to visit China at a mutually convenient time, the White House said today.

President Nixon personally relayed Chou's invitation to the two Senate leaders before he briefed congressional leaders today on his just-concluded historic mission to China.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Chou told Nixon at their last meeting in Shanghai that he was aware Mansfield and Scott had expressed interest in visiting his country.

According to Ziegler, Chou told Nixon "he would invite both Sen. Mansfield and Sen. Scott to visit the People's Republic of China at a time that would be mutually convenient."

Ziegler would not forecast when the Mansfield-Scott trip would take place.

In response to questions, Ziegler said, the premier took the initiative in extending the invitations as the two leaders discussed exchanges and continuing contact between their two countries.

He said the leaders agreed the exchanges "should include leaders from the political segment of the country." But, Ziegler said in response to a question that the question of Chinese political leaders was not raised.

At the 90-minute session with Democratic and Republican powers from the House and Senate, Ziegler said there were no questions raised to indicate unhappiness with results of Nixon's trip.

Nixon repeated essentially what he had told the nation in a brief, televised speech Monday night, Ziegler said.

In the Monday night report, Nixon told the nation his talks with Communist leaders sowed the seeds for "a more enduring structure for peace" without secret deals undercutting any ally.

Houston Mayor Asked To Appear In Speaker Trial

HOUSTON (AP) — Four Houston men, including Mayor Louie Welch, were subpoenaed Tuesday by the defense in the Abilene bribery conspiracy trial of House Speaker Gus Mutscher and two associates.

Others subpoenaed were golf Doug Sanders; Dr. W. H. Hinton, president of Houston Baptist College; Dr. Charles L. Allen, pastor of the Houston First Methodist Church; and George Weston Conrad, an employe of General Motors' Buick Division in Houston.

All four have figured in news reports involving the National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock scandal and the collapse of the Sharpstown State Bank's collapse in Houston.

Albert's client is an example of sexual deviation. His problem involves an early subconscious childhood experience. And a wife who fails to serve the proper "Cheesecake" in their marital boudoir! Wives, learn how to rejuvenate a platonic husband!

CASE T-515: Albert G., aged 37, is an attorney.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I have a client who is one of our prominent citizens but now charged with exhibitionism and indecent exposure.

"He seems to be rational in other respects and runs his business quite successfully.

"So what would make a middle aged man disrobe in front of little girls?"

"And stand at the window facing the street, entirely in the nude?"

SEX FLAUNTERS

People who engage in sexual deviations are often afflicted with an inferiority complex.

So keep that idea in mind as you attempt to diagnose this sexual exhibitionist that Albert mentions.

"Peeping Toms" also belong in the category of those with a sexual inferiority complex.

For they peek into bedroom windows to view disrobing females. Why?

As a tonic or stimulant of their waning erotic passion.

Remember, "Peeping Toms" are generally middle aged men; not women!

Sometimes boys are guilty of this same offense, but that is also an indication of their ignorance (inferiority) re the female sex.

Pornographic movies and smut sex magazines likewise depend on this basic erotic inferiority complex of males, who crave titillation of their weak libido by such lewd visual displays.

Men like Albert's client often provoked "Ah" and "Oh" exclamations when they were toddlers and appeared in the parlor a la nude.

Any visiting girls would giggle or laugh or otherwise indicate that such a little boy was an exciting object.

So the toddler subconsciously registered the idea in his brain that his bared sexual anatomy evoked a lot of feminine attention.

This thought may lie dormant for 40 intervening years.

Then his wife's diffidence to his erotic advances in their boudoir may seriously deflate his male libido.

Combined with this reduction in his erotic pride, may also be the worry that he is growing prematurely old and impotent.

Desperately, therefore, such a man may seek a return of his former ability to excite feminine attention to his masculinity.

Such husbands may occasionally engage in clandestine "affairs" with unsophisticated young girls, before whom they can strut their stuff as superior males.

But occasionally they drift backward even to their toddler stage, where their nudity in the parlor excited those exclamations of "Ah" and "Oh" from female spectators.

Thus, they disrobe in front of little girls.

Or parade, naked, at the window fronting on the street.

Or stand in the nude at a hotel window that faces the opposite hotel wall that holds scores of windows where patrons may be able to view them.

The antidote for such sexual deviations consists of an explanation like the foregoing terse analysis.

So send for my medical booklet "How to Prevent a Platonic Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane, Hopkins Bld. Mellet Indiana 47558 enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Nation's Biggest Park Marking 100th Founding Anniversary

WASHINGTON (AP)—The snow soon will melt in the high country, opening up narrow passes. Trees and shrubs will begin budding. Wildlife will begin moving with the warm spring breezes. And millions of people will invade the national parks, hoping to find the solitude and relaxation that only nature can provide.

Another season has begun, but no ordinary one for the national park system. Today is the 100th anniversary of the founding of Yellowstone, the nation's first national park. And in this centennial year the park system faces problems of overcrowding, bumper-to-bumper traffic, smog, drugs and crime.

Hundreds of thousands of acres have been added to the national park system since President Ulysses S. Grant signed into law on March 1, 1872, a bill to preserve the scenic wonders of Yellowstone. But, says George B. Hartzog, Jr., director of the National Park Service, "I think we need a great deal more."

The park service controls over 30 million acres. They include natural areas such as Yellowstone in the West and Acadia on the Maine coast, historical sites such as the Gettysburg battlefield, and recreation areas such as the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore.

But some parks are strained to their limits.

The park service recorded over 200 million visits last year and more people are expected this year. They arrive in autos, in campers and on foot.

"I think we've got to face up to the fact that in some national parks we won't have any more recreational vehicle camping," Hartzog said in an interview.

Campers, he added, "are at the root of a great deal of our problems of crowding and congestion today because they're building these recreation vehicles ever larger and larger."

Private autos already have been banned in some sections of heavily visited parks. A concession-operated bus system transports people through the Mariposa Grove of ancient sequoia trees in Yosemite National Park in California.

Even at Mount McKinley National Park in Alaska, the service plans to ban private autos on the single highway leading to Wonder Lake and substitute a shuttle service. "That many autos going up and down that road will drive the wildlife into the high ground," Hartzog said.

Even the back-country wilderness areas are feeling the pressures of tramping feet. In the next decade in wilderness areas, Hartzog said, "we are going to have to ration the visitors, that's all."

In the East, where population pressures are greatest, Hartzog wants to establish national park reserves. "I'm very hopeful we can get the concept of national park reserves accepted so that we can recycle some of these lands in Appalachia, the Ohio Valley and in Pennsylvania that have been used economically for mining and other purposes.

"Now they are of minimal value. They have a minimal contribution to our society.

Buy 'em and put 'em in reserve status until they're healed and restored and at that point you can make national parks out of them."

Money is needed to develop existing parks, to carve out camping sites, scenic overlooks, toilet facilities and roads. Congress has authorized about $2 billion of development projects, but construction funds this year amount to only $63 million.

"A significant increase in development money is needed to get the development program on schedule," Hartzog said.

Preservationists may argue against additional development in the parks, but Hartzog disagrees.

"A park by definition is an area that is set aside to be preserved for the use and benefit of the people.

Woman Enjoys Being A Cop At USAF Base

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Lackland Air Force Base has added the feminine touch to its military police force.

The big base, home of virtually all Air Force basic training, has begun accepting women as students in its security police technical school for the first time.

One of the recent graduates, Annie Foster, says she enjoys her job so much that she plans to obtain a bachelor's degree in law enforcement.

Now that she's on duty, Airman 1C Foster says the only problem so far "is when people stop and stare in amazement" at a girl directing traffic or handling other military police jobs.

Among her many duties, she says the police dispatch desk is her favorite. "It gives me a challenge and I would like to learn as much as possible about my job," she said.

CHINESE BEAUTY—Watch for hair, makeup and clothes that reflect an Oriental inspiration. Popular in all areas of styling, it's the latest wave of fashion! Designer Malcolm Charles works with snow jersey for the at-home-or-on-the-town gown shown here. A multi-colored Chinese dragon strides across the bodice in a glorious blaze of sequins and beads.

Oriental Influence Inspires Fashions

Intrigued by the mystique of the Orient? If you have hair that is shoulder length or longer, you can make an exotic China-inspired coiff at home. All it takes is a firm hairset and pins.

Part hair all the way down the middle from front to back. Section off a small square of hair right at the crown of the head, smack in the center of the part. Set this little piece on medium sized, premixed steam rollers, rolling the curls backwards. (For firmer hold, use in conjunction with heat activated conditioner.)

Set each side separately. Roll the hair in front of the ears up and back, using large sized rollers. Roll the hair behind the ears forward as though you were making vertical sausage curls.

Leave the steam rollers in your hair for seven minutes to give them time to get the set. After seven minutes, unroll and pin in place as follows:

First make the topknot. Put a covered elastic around that little section of hair in the center of the crown, making a ponytail that springs right out of the top of your head a little forward of center. Brush backwards into one smooth coil, tucking ends under. Pin in place with two super long bobby pins, one from either side of curl.

Next make the "wings". Do one side at a time. Brush the hair in front of the ears smoothly down over the forehead, dipping slightly toward the back, just above the ear. The steam rollers set keeps hair bouncy and manageable so that the curls hold their shape. Sweep the bulk of the hair up and back, pinning the end of the curl in place just behind the topknot. If your hair is fine, tease it lightly for extra body before placing this lock. Use hairspray as needed.

Brush back section forward, making vertical sausage rolls behind the ears. Pin in place with long bobby pins.

Place hair ornaments on either side of topknot. Red or black brightly laquered chopsticks make pretty decorations as do elegant jeweled pins designed for the purpose.

Three Beautiful Song Sisters Come Close To Ruling Dynasty

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY—I have an answer for Sherrie who does not know what to do with all the bottle caps she has saved. I remove the corks and bend the caps tightly over a length of drapery cord. Make several of these of the desired lengths and attach to a narrow board and then spray paint board, caps and cord the desired color (I used gold) and use to cover the screens on a porch. This is something different and makes an odd sound when a breeze blows. They can also be used to cover a doorway opening to a den or other such room.

—THELMA
DEAR POLLY—Perhaps Sherrie who has the collection of bottle caps knows about nailing them with the rough edges up to cover a board that can be used as a foot scraper but had you thought of arranging them in a picture form or to spell your last name and then paint them? Or make a child's musical instrument using an old ruler or a smooth piece of board? Put about three flattened cap lids loosely, one on top of the other, on a long nail which you drive into the board and have a tambourine-type noise when moved. The caps slide up and down the nail and our children love them.—JEAN

DEAR POLLY—Sherrie could glue several of her bottle caps to the backs of pictures, mirrors, etc., before rehanging in a newly painted room. By doing this the wall behind the object has more chance of fading evenly and leaving only a couple of little spots of fresh-looking paint to show some cleaning time.

This allows one to arrange pictures in a room without having definite outlines left.

Have your husband squash several lids from pop bottles together and use them as weights when making draperies. Leave a one-inch opening in the hem for inserting and removing so as to make washing and drying easier.

Pop bottle caps can be covered with crochet or fabric and made into hot plate pads. No specific pattern is needed. Just use your own imagination.—RUTH

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—Help, please! Some sort of pest is eating the leaves on my herbs. A poisonous spray cannot be used as then I could not use the herbs for eating. Does anyone have a suggestion?—NANCY

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with the difference in traffic laws in different states. I think they should be standardized throughout the United States. Two years ago, while driving in New York, my husband asked if he could make a right turn after stopping at a red light, which is permissible in California. Furious honking from the N.Y. car behind us answered his question when he was turning a corner. I was glad we had a rental car with another state license so they could not blame it on "those crazy California drivers."—PHYLLIS came closest in modern times to giving China a ruling dynasty through marriage.

Mei-ling is the wife of Chiang Kai-shek, president of the Republic of China on Taiwan. Ai-ling is the widow of H. H. Kung, descendant of Confucius, banker and once finance minister and premier of nationalist China.

Ching-ling is the widow of Sun Yat-sen, founder of the shattered republic that Chiang heads. Now 81, she is one of two vice presidents of the People's Republic which ousted Chiang from the mainland in 1949.

Mme. Sun is scheduled—if her health permits—to take part in the official ceremonies welcoming the Nixons to China this week. Fluent in English, she may do more, serving as informal hostess for Patricia Nixon during the First Lady's separate sightseeing program.

Since the People's Republic currently has no president—chief of state Liu Shao-chi was ousted in disgrace in 1968—both Mme. Sun and the other vice president, Tung Pi-wu, might be expected to take over much of the official part of the presidential trip.

But an American woman who went to Peking at Mme. Sun's invitation last year reported she was too ill to receive her. Tung's advanced age, 85, also has kept him for long periods out of the public eye.

Last month Mme. Sun was able with other Chinese leaders to attend the funeral of Foreign Minister Chen Yi. On Jan. 10 she wrote that Nixon's impending visit had gripped the world with excitement and that he had decided to make it because he recognized the reality of Red China's existence.

Her father "Charlie" Soong grew up in the American South, the adopted son of devout Southern Methodists, and on graduation from Vanderbilt University returned to his native Shanghai to plant Christian seed among the Chinese. Soon he found rewards in business, became wealthy, and clandestinely supported Sun Yat-sen's revolutionary cause.

Sun's efforts resulted in the overthrow of the Manchu Dynasty in 1912. Ching-ling, then a student at Wesleyan College for Women in Macon, Ga., tramped on the imperial flag and ran up the new republican emblem.

She met Sun through her father, became his secretary, and in 1915, at the age of 25, announced she was going to marry him. The difficulty was that Sun was 47 and already married with three children.

A quick divorce cleared the way for a marriage her parents frowned on. When Sun died in 1925, the "father of his country," she became the surviving symbol of republican China. It was a role she played with great seriousness. She disapproved of the 1927 marriage of her younger sister, Mei-ling, to Chiang Kai-shek. When Chiang became a Christian three years later she was the only member of the family absent from the baptismal ceremonies.

Mme. Sun disapproved of Chiang because she believed he had failed to carry out her husband's wishes for China. These included continuation of cooperation between Sun's Kuomintang party and the Communists, as well as an alliance with the Soviet Union.

Chiang, in the year of his marriage, turned savagely on the Communists in Shanghai and broke off relations with his Russian advisers. Mme. Sun, in the left wing of the Kuomintang, sought unsuccessfully to keep the Kuomintang-Communist front alive; when it failed, she again blamed Chiang.

In the ensuing years, she criticized Chiang for single-mindedly pursuing civil war against the Communists rather than fighting the invading Japanese. The three sisters dined publicly together in 1938 in a gesture of family unity before the Japanese threat.

In 1959, she was elected vice president—or vice chairman—of the People's Republic, the post she still holds.

Watch 'Give-Aways' For Fashion Trends

NEW YORK (AP) — One way to find out about current fashions is to check your local Beautiful People and see what they're wearing. Or you can look to Goodwill Industries of America to see what the regular people are giving away.

"We know the trend of fashion by what we don't sell in a store," said Betsy Forte, public relations director in Washington, D.C., headquarters for Goodwill, a network of 145 member rehabilitation centers. "When a style hits, the opposite style is sent in."

The centers are set up to jobtrain the handicapped, who repair donations of clothing and furniture for sale at Goodwill stores.

Does anyone need 800 pairs of unfashionable ladies' spike-heeled shoes? They are salvaged monthly from the seven Chicago stores alone.

Or perhaps 600 pairs of men's pants with pleats in front, priced at $1.89 but piling up in Chicago from lack of customer interest?

Right now, Goodwill stores across the country are up to their rafters in "out" objects from the 1950s and early 1960s: men's skinny ties, narrow-lapelled suits, women's large purses, ornate evening dresses, straight skirts, white gloves, garter belts and all kinds of hats.

New wedding dresses now sell as Halloween costumes for $1.00 in Los Angeles Goodwill stores.

"Wedding dresses are out. These days, they get married on horses, on surfboards," says John Martin, sales manager for the 16 Los Angeles stores.

Men's thin ties won't budge, even for a penny apiece, in New Orleans.

As men's colored shirts become standard fashion by 1969, the ballooning numbers of white shirts donated were headed for salvage in Chicago—until they were dyed bright hues. Then they sold fast for about $1.50.

The stores sometimes run short on red-hot items like ratty, faded blue jeans and old furs. They were both prime targets for salvage just a few years ago, but now one of the most popular uniforms for the young. So people hang on to these choice clothes and think twice before tossing them into a donation box.

Some stores report that they've picked up a lot of "upper middle class" traffic in the last two years. For instance, there's the local judge in Los Angeles who stops each morning to buy a new tie for the day.

However, at stores like one in New Orleans, some 40 per cent of the trade comes from people of "limited means," according to sales manager Gerd Oppenheim.

DEAR ABBY: I know it's impossible, but I would give a year's pay to meet "Practically Untouched," because I am just as hungry for affection as she is.

There is only one difference. My wife loves me (I think) and she is an attractive, intelligent woman who is fun to be with. I just can't get her into the bedroom.

If I want to retire early, she stays up watching television until I'm asleep. If I come home late from a business appointment, she's asleep. Or pretends to be.

I am no slouch, either. I'm 6 feet 1 and weigh 180. I'm fit as a fiddle, have a headful of premature silver gray hair, play golf and tennis in summer and handball in winter.

In our 25 years of marriage, my wife and I have never gone off for a weekend together. She still calls it "non-sense" to run off and leave the children, who are now 23 and 24, and married with families of their own.

I have never cheated on her in my life. My parental influence and religious training still sticks. But how long can I curb these growing frustrations? I am constantly propositioned by widows and neighbors. Even some of my friends' wives drop little hints. It's one big battle, and it's not getting any easier. Sign me

ON THE VERGE

DEAR ON: I hope this letter reaches you in time because you sound like a man with one foot in somebody else's bed. You say your wife is intelligent. If she is, sit her down and read this letter to her! And if your life at home doesn't improve after that, she can't say she wasn't warned.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you will reconsider your opinion of the lady who always did needlework when visiting with friends.

You said, "She is making a statement. The company isn't sufficiently fascinating to warrant my total attention."

Not at all! I work full time and have a large house and family, and the only time I can do needlework, a hobby which I love, is while riding in the car, at meetings, and during evenings with friends.

I have finished dozens of worthwhile projects this way, and so have many of my friends. We certainly do not mean to be insulting.

Needlework and knitting can become almost automatic, and need not take away from one's attention to the conversation going on. And if the conversation is boring or trivial, we are at least accomplishing something! Sign me

KNIT WIT

DEAR WIT: I see your point (no pun intended), and hereby reconsider.

DEAR ABBY: Put me down as one who does needlework in company. It's doctor's orders. And it has done wonders for me. In fact, I think I owe my "sanity" to the needlework I have done in the last two years.

Most of my friends know why I am almost never without my little tote bag of needlework. And the others can go jump in the lake.

By the way, I am a male, and anyone who wants to make something of that will be dead wrong! Sign me

"BUSYFINGERS"

DEAR ABBY: You were unfair to those of us who do needlework while conversing with others.

Some folks smoke because it "relaxes" them. Well, knitting relaxes me! And my knitting doesn't bother anyone. But their smoking sure bothers me. Apologize!

MRS. K. E.

DEAR MRS. E.: I already apologized for that one.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Chinese Flair Brings New Mood Into Styles

The west wind blows a new mood into fashion this season. Primary colors, vivid prints and quilted chintz all spell CHINA! This trend to Orientalia begins the Chinese New Year (February 15) with omens of prosperity.

At this time putting on colorful clothes is especially auspicious. Red is the favorite color of mystical import and good fortune, and quite practically, it gives a psychological lift to both the wearer and the "audience." Red is also popular now for lips and nails as well as dresses.

Many American designers are taking their styling cues from China now. In addition to red, you'll see mandarin collars, slit skirts, flower patterns, frog closings and quilted fabrics enjoying a new vogue. Or, theme in on these eight precious ways to modernize your look and your existing wardrobe in inscrutably clever Oriental fashion with a minimum of muss, fuss or expense!

1. Attach "frogs" as real closings or decorative epaulettes on dress, blouse, jacket or sweater. These fashionable braided loop fastenings can also dress up the waist band of a skirt or pants, and the cuffs or neckline of a shirt.

2. Did you buy your man a "Nehru" jacket or shirt? It's back in style! No longer referred to as "Nehru" though, now it's "mandarin." Add black frogs to the shoulders or sew them on over the button holes to work as functional closings and emphasize the Orientalness of the design.

3. Make your own cover-up smocks. An attractive fashion accessory, they also work well as aprons. To make, take an old blouse or man's shirt. Cut off collar, remove sleeves at the elbows. Hem collar, sleeves and tails evenly. Trim, embroider, tie-die or silk-screen if you wish to add decoration. The "back" of the shirt becomes the "front" of the smock. You can leave the back closing button up, or remove the buttons and replace them with ribbons. To close the ribbon fastening, thread one ribbon through the matching button hole, then tie a bow!

4. If you have long hair, use exotic laquered and or mother-of-pearl inlaid chop sticks as ornaments in bun, pony tail, French twist or braid.

5. Glamorize your look with cosmetics. Choose a new red lipstick to brighten your lips. Apply eye shadow and liner with a slightly upward sweep toward the outer corner of the lid. Particularly appropriate is green, a favorite of the Chinese to whom jade symbolizes long life, prosperity and health. Dip into a blush pot and smooth on cheeks to diffuse a soft blush of color and healthy glow over the complexion.

6. Make inexpensive slippers to wear to the party. Cut a heavy or double weight cardboard sole, make the slipper top (and cover inside of soles) with brightly colored felt. Trim the toe with sequins, pearls and glittery bits from odd pieces of retired costume jewelry.

7. It is a Chinese tradition to cut and wash hair the day before the celebration to avoid last minute rushing. If you find yourself at zero hour and still in need of a set, rely on electric steam rollers to save the day.

BALTIMORE ORIOLES

American League East PROSPECTUS: There have been some changes made, after rugged Orioles surprisingly lost World Series in seven games to Pittsburgh after jumping off to a 2-0 lead. Power-hitting Frank Robinson was traded to Los Angeles. And stand-out general manager Harry Dalton moved to California. There are two outstanding newcomers: infielder Bobby Grich, International League's MVP from Rochester, and Don Baylor, .300-hitting outfielder at Rochester. The latter two are part of infusion of young blood in Orioles. Robinson was 36, while star third baseman Brooks Robinson, starting pitcher Mike Cuellar and outfielder Don Buford are 35. The happy hunting ground over that proverbial hill beckons. But the Orioles remain one of the mighty teams in baseball. No end to their winning ways is yet in sight.

Dave McNally

PITCHING—Four 20-game winners. The discussion can end there: Cuellar, Dave McNally, Pat Dobson, Jim Palmer. And yet—there's newcomer Kurtis Harrison, 15-5 and winningest pitcher in International League. Biggest problem: getting working time for outstanding relievers like Eddie Watt. Oh, Earl Weaver's headaches.

INFIELD—Can Boog Powell return to form after "poor" '71 season? He had bad wrist but still hit 22 homers and had 92 RBIs. Davey Johnson is superior at second, as are Mark Belanger at short and Robinson at third.

OUTFIELD—Buford (.290) is excellent lead-off man; Paul Blair, one of game's best glove men; Marv Rettenmund (.318) and Baylor make up untoppable outfield.

CATCHING—Perhaps weakest position. Erad Hendricks and Andy Etchebarren are only somewhat better than adequate on a team of stars.

Predicted Finish: First in East.

PITTSBURGH PIRATES

© 1972 BY NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

National League East

PROSPECTUS: The Pirates, basking in satisfaction of comeback win over Baltimore in last year's World Series, did not seem to enter the trade market over the winter but standing pat isn't a bad idea when you have a team that scored nearly 200 more runs than it allowed in 1971. Bucs' main worries are how Willie Stargill and Gene Alley will react to knee surgery. Stargill, who hit 48 homers and drove in 125 runs, is vital to offense while Alley, despite .227 average, is steady influence in infield. Even if he recovers slowly, manager Bill Virdon, who inherited team when Danny Murrough bowed out smiling, has depth to maneuver with.

Steve Blass

PITCHING—World Series hero Steve Blass (15-8), talkative Dock Ellis (19-9), Bob Johnson (9-10) and Luke Walker (10-8) give Virdon proven starting rotation while Nelson Briles (8-4) and Bob Moose (11-7) are talented spot starters-middle relievers. Dave Giusti (5-6) had league-leading 30 saves, could get left-handed bullpen help from Ramon Hernandez, who looked good in late season stint with Bucs. Veteran Bob Miller (8-5) and young Bruce Kison (6-5) round out splendid staff.

INFIELD—First baseman Bob Robertson (.271 with 26 homers) could have a big year, which is all the rest of the league needs. At second Virdon has Dave Cash (.289), Rennie Stennett (.353 in 50 games) and what's left of Bill Mazaroski (.254). Jackie Hernandez (.206) is Alley's backup at short, Pirates' only real weak spot, while Richie Hebner (.271 with 17 homers) is versatile at third.

OUTFIELD—Roberto Clemente, aches and pains and all, still hit .341, drove in 86 runs last season at age 37. Al Oliver (.282 with 64 RBIs) returns in center and as reserve first baseman. Reserves are Gene Clines (.308) and Vic Davalillo (.285).

CATCHER—Manny Sanguillen (.319, 81 RBIs) was voted best catcher in majors by players last year but he may see action in outfield if Stargill has trouble or Virdon wants to give 21-year-old Milt May (.278 as rookie) playing time behind plate.

Predicted Finish: First in East.

SWC Roundup

By Associated Press

Texas, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian survived another round of pressure-cooker Southwest Conference basketball games Tuesday to remain tied at the top but Texas A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf predicted it will be the Longhorns in the NCAA playoffs.

"Texas has the best team in the conference right now," said Metcalf moments after the Longhorns had thumped the Aggies 80-73 in their own gymnasium.

Southern Methodist downed Rice 78-69 and TCU bumped Texas Tech in a thriller 89-88. SMU, TCU and Texas all own 9-4 records. In the only other SWC game, Arkansas bombed Baylor 131-109 in a record-smashing win.

Metcalf said "Our kids played their hearts out but Texas just had the best team. I feel they would represent the conference real well in the playoffs."

Texas and TCU collide Saturday at 2 p.m. in Austin in a televised match while SMU travels on the road to meet Baylor that night.

"We know Texas has a fine team," said TCU Coach Johnny Swaim. "We were really fired up when we beat them in Fort Worth. We full court pressed 'em and had the crowd behind us. We'll find out if they are the best in the conference Saturday."

Texas Coach Leon Black said "There's no inside track. We just have to win ... everybody has 40 minutes of basketball remaining. We've been under pressure for four games but we've got some people who play well under pressure."

Nicklaus Closing On Lifetime Goal

MIAMI (AP)—Jack Nicklaus is closing in on one of his most cherished goals—passing Arnold Palmer on the all-time money winning list—and could achieve it with a victory in this week's $150,000 Doral-Eastern Open golf tournament.

"It's something I'd very much like to do, particularly with Arnold still playing," the 32-year-old Nicklaus said Wednesday before a practice round on the 7,065-yard, par 72 Blue Monster Course at the Doral Country Club.

"You always like to be the first in as many categories as possible," Nicklaus, in his 11th year on the pro tour, picked up $29,640 last week for his second place finish behind Tom Weiskopf in Jackie Gleason's $260,000 Inverrary Classic, the richest event on the schedule this year.

Trevino showed flashes of his old brilliance last week before fading and said he's now ready to "get down to some serious golf." Player made a run at the title in his first American start of the year and Jacklin has played very well in his last two starts.

That boosted his career total to $1,447,030.86. Palmer, 42 years old and in his 18th season, beat only one man in the field in the Gleason with finishing rounds of 80-79 and won only $400.

MVC Predicted To Move Headquarters

DALLAS (AP)—The Missouri Valley Conference will likely move its headquarters to either Tulsa or Wichita when league fathers gather in Louisville in June. The Associated Press has learned from a reliable source.

The move is expected as part of a shakeup which began last week with the departure of Commissioner DeWitt Weaver, who resigned under pressure.

Larry Ensminger, the MVC's assistant commissioner, is handling conference affairs until at least the June meeting.

"There is strong sentiment to move the league headquarters to where there is no competition from professional sports and to a city which is a stronghold of the Valley," the source said.

"The situation in Dallas is not exactly ideal because of competition with the Southwest Conference and the Dallas Cowboys."

The source said there has been a tremendous scramble among MVC schools to get what they consider "their man" in as commissioner.

There has been some division in the 10-member league over which sport should take precedence—basketball or football.

The source said "There has been a general neglect of the overall program and the "Baseball still is too boring compared to football," adds Joe Lee of the Asbury Park, N.J., Press. "Could be speeded up with automatic walk, stricter adherence to pitching in specified time, less firing ball around infield, putting in pinch hitters and runners anytime..."

The veteran Bob Broeg of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch came to the defense of baseball although he acknowledged "I still think departure from the time-honored 154-game schedule hurt the record book and the players."

"Expose football five games a week and it would suffer from overexposure," argues Don Sheridan of WMSK Radio, Morganfield, Ky. "Yet baseball for years has retained its popularity despite six or seven games per week for each club."

Art Gatts, sports editor of the Record-Searchlight in Redding, Calif., says, "A big reason for the decline of interest in baseball and basketball is expansion." Counters Charles Karmosky, sports editor of the Newport News, Va., Daily Press: "People in all walks of life can get interested in a tight baseball pennant race."

Other comments: "Doubleheaders should be eliminated in baseball. Give us a two-point conversion in football." John Owen, Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Palo Duro Dons Win Bi-District

The Palo Duro Dons defeated the Plainview Bulldogs by a 57 to 53 margin last night in Amarillo Civic Center to capture the Bi-District Crown. The Dons had won district 3-AAAA championship honors earlier by outlasting the defending champs, the Pampa Harvesters, in the second half of league play.

Pampa and Palo Duro had ended the first round of play tied and the Dons were the victors after Pampa lost two games, once to the Dons and the other to Borger.

The Amarillo school will now advance to the Regional I championship playoffs.

China 'Wall' Down?

Whatever President Nixon's visit to Peking may mean over the long run in terms of relations between China and the United States, not to mention "a new day for all the world," it unleashed a veritable flood of interest in China that had been dammed up by 20 years of cold war policies.

Chinese authorities in Canada and at the United Nations have been swamped with visa applications and inquiries from travel agencies. Scholars "are falling all over themselves wanting to go to China," comments one observer.

The phenomenon is no less striking in the field of fashions. "The interest is fantastic," says a spokesman for a company that imports apparel from China. "Buyers will take anything."

The First Lady herself appeared on the February cover of Ladies Home Journal in a Chinese-style gown which, while it may be similar to what Chinese ladies once wore, bears no resemblance to what they are wearing today.

If, as Confucius said, one picture is worth a thousand words, this magazine cover points up what may be a danger in the current China craze—that we are merely exchanging our old myths about China for new ones.

A recent television program, "Misunderstanding China," reviewed some of those old myths. It ridiculed, and rightly so, the 1930s pulp magazine stereotype of evil Fu Manchus lusting after fair white womanhood. It scored the West's traditional patronizing attitude toward a culture that was old when Europeans were still roaming its forests.

The program also criticized our tradition of sending in troops to protect our nationals and our alleged interests in China. Unfortunately, it did not go into the background reasons for so much foreign meddling, one of which is the fact that for most of its modern history China has had no effective central government.

And in this respect, the new China may not be so different from the old, despite all outward appearances of 750 united millions totally devoted to Mao thought and making great strides in every field.

There is a China behind the China which the television cameras with the President's entourage saw, notes British journalist Dennis Bloodworth. This China is still painfully contorted by an unending revolutionary struggle.

China had no head of state to welcome President Nixon. The last incumbent president, Liu Shao-chi, is said to be doing ideological penance on a farming commune. The national legislature has not convened for eight years. Half the members of the all-powerful Politburo at the apex of the Chinese Communist party have not been heard from for months.

The official press and radio are engaged in a running fight against the 4,000-year-old system of family and clan loyalties to which the Chinese have always clung to defend themselves against an often rapacious imperial administration.

This, says Bloodworth, is the main plot of the drama in which Mr. Nixon's visit was a downstage diversion: Mao Tse-Tung is simply trying to make the Chinese Communist party the master of China. And he has not yet succeeded.

What happens when Mao, who is 78, leaves the scene? Will China again be swept by the kind of convulsion that has occurred with nearly every change of dynasty in its long history?

Until we know the answers to these questions, it is impossible to say whether President Nixon's mission opened a new chapter in Chinese-American relations or was merely a replay of an old one.

Question Box

QUESTION: "Better Red Than Dead" has become accepted by many in our nation. Exactly what type of economic changes would the individual experience, should we become Red?

ANSWER: Red is dead for millions. When William Foster headed the Communist Party, U.S.A., he predicted that 60 million Americans would be liquidated. At that time, the population of the country was about 120 million. So the proportionate slaughter today would come to 100 million.

The economic consequences for the 100 million survivors can be measured by the life styles on the two sides of the Berlin wall. On the side where individual incentive still prevails, you see productive bustle, fashion, entertainment, not a small amount of luxury. Opposite, you see watch towers, barb-wire barriers, suspicion and drabness.

That is the materialistic side of it. The theoretical changes are not that great. Instead of paying taxes on land and claiming that you own it, you might for instance be paying rent on land and acknowledging that the government owns it.

Under Red rule, you would still be able to own private property—if you happened to be a survivor—but such property would be limited to consumer items. That is, if you were a bureaucrat with a sufficiently high income, you would be legally entitled to own a passenger car, but not a truck. The truck would be confiscated on grounds that it was productive property which only the state can own.

If Red, you might be able to pick up the nuts that fall from a walnut tree, but you would not be allowed to plant your own tree to produce nuts.

If Red, you might still be able to make a business trip to Los Angeles. To do so, you would have to check your departure with the local police station and check your time of arrival with a Los Angeles police station. The purpose of this is to prevent you from slipping in any time for counter-revolutionary conversation while en route.

If Red, you would still be able to attend production conferences, but you could rely on it that at least three government spies would be there as participants. In fact, you might be one of them, not because you wanted to squeal on co-workers, but because you had been appointed to spy. If you tried to fake your spy report you would be asked to explain why your report differs from those turned in by the other two spies.

Instead of doing your own thing, you would be doing the thing that you were ordered to do.

A Delicate Balance

Paul Harvey News Artificial Knees Seen As Boon to Arthritics

When a California doctor fitted a Phoenix arthritic with an artificial knee, the operation was assumed by some to be "a first." It was not.

Total knee replacements have been performed in Sweden and elsewhere since 1965 and for more than a year here.

Escape from the wheelchair? For many.

Total hip and total knee replacements were pioneered by Dr. John Charnley of England. His total hip replacement with specially designed prosthesis now has become a standard, well-known operative procedure throughout the world.

The procedure has since been refined by Dr. Maurice Mueller of Bern, Switzerland, and others. But these and others contemplating total knee replacement for arthritic cripples had to wait for chemical scientists to develop a new adhesive, a bone cement called methyl methacrylate. This plastic material adheres equally effectively to the implants and to human bone. Thus cemented together, the components of the prosthesis remain in position without a toggle.

This is in many medical innovations, the United States is tardy.

I'm not challenging our medical conservatism; it's been good and necessary insurance against a multitude of promising remedies which backfired.

With all our professional precaution, we sometimes adopt chemicals and medical procedures before their side effects are established. When hurtful or fatal complications develop we have to backtrack, each time promising ourselves to be even more deliberate next time.

But the mobility of our medical men, the increasing frequency of international symposiums in the several medical specialties, gives individual physicians a prompt insight into an evaluation of what's going on in the less inhibited medical practice abroad.

It was American surgeons, observing procedures in England and Switzerland, who brought home the total knee transplant almost two years ago.

The patients selected for the surgery are those for whom no other operative procedure would be appropriate. It is a "last chance" to be liberated from the wheelchair.

Within a week the patient is walking on the inserted knee. Usually, within three weeks he is able to return to household or other duties.

All recovered patients report a reduction of pain; some say they suffer no discomfort.

Some enthusiastic surgeons have been tempted to say that "an artificial knee can do everything a bone and cartilage model can do." That conclusion supposes that the procedure is both permanent and safe. We don't yet know that.

But I felt compelled to apprise arthritis sufferers of this innovative operation because of a conviction that even worse than "false hope" is "false hopelessness."

The fellow who plays his cards close to his vest may be accused of having an ace in one of the pockets.

Your Health

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Reader Practices
All the 'Dos'

Dear Dr. Lamb—Let me congratulate you on your sensible approach to issues regarding body care. After all we agree on almost everything. Therefore, you must be a sensible man. I am a 46-year-old male, married to the same woman for 23 years. My health is excellent. I ride my bicycle for miles each week and have all my life. I weight 185 pounds but no fatness except for a double chin. I am 6-foot-one in my stocking feet. I avoid all forms of tobacco, have very little alcohol because I despise the damn stuff, don't eat between meals and exercise regularly. I have been chock-full of energy and have that zipping feeling of muscles and brain working in smooth harmony. Drugs, other than an aspirin now and then for headache, are out. As far as diet, I was raised in a vegetarian home and never ate meat until going into the Army at 18. I now eat meat three to five times a week, but only fowl, fish or steak, occasionally hamburger, never any pork. I still have my hair and teeth.

My question concerns a statement by Dr. Paul Dudley White. He said that a person should maintain the body weight that he or she had at age 22 or 23. Well, I weighed 150 pounds nude and have gained 35 pounds since. Actually, I started to gain around 28. My body looks better, but I am concerned about what damage it might do to my heart. My family lives forever. I have known five great grandparents and buried my first grandparent when I was in my 30s. Do you think Dudley's Law applies in my case?

Dear Reader—I can tell from your remarks that you are one of my most sensible readers. You have a lot going for you. Just not using tobacco goes a long way toward decreasing your likelihood of having heart or vascular disease as compared to the large number of men who smoke. Most studies show that heavy cigarette smoking is a more significant factor in causing heart disease than being overweight or eating the wrong kind of food. Your diet sounds like it is probably pretty good in terms of not overdoing the intake of saturated fats from animal sources. Incidentally, the incidence of atherosclerosis in vegetarians is considerably less than that noted in non-vegetarians.

In general, Dr. White is correct. What most people grow after their early 20s is fat. The answer doesn't reside in the pounds on the scale but rather how much fat there is under the skin. Take a fold of skin around your abdomen and see how much fat there is under it. Note whether there are fat deposits over the small of your back. If you have any significant amount of fat in these areas, you have blubber that is not helping you.

STRAIGHT TALK

TOM ANDERSON

Presidential Egos

The persecuted American taxpayer—in other words, all Americans except the super rich and the welfare set—have been assessed hundreds of millions of dollars to feed the egos of recent Presidents. Example: "Presidential Libraries." Both Truman and Johnson exacted fabulous sums from the taxpayers to build these monuments to their egos. The Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, that recently completed monstrosity on the Potomac, memorializes one of our most unsuccessful Presidents, at our expense. And now Richard Nixon takes your money to pay writers, secretaries and bureaucrats to try to make him look good in history.

Photographers have been assigned to take color movies of Richard Nixon when he delivers public speeches. The film is being stored for eventual use in the future Richard Nixon Library. I have taken a poll of ten taxpayers I know, with the following results: One is willing to have his tax money used to take color pictures of Nixon. He is a color photographer. One is opposed to using any of his tax money for a memorial to any President. The remaining eight are for using their tax money to raise a fund to pay Richard Nixon to destroy all his pictures.

Delightful Spain

A few Sundays ago, the leftist "Nashville Tennessean" did a Woman's Section feature on "The Great Color of China."

But they never did get around to telling what the color is: Blood red.

This same leftist sheet editorialized recently that "General Franco's Spanish government has hinted that if demonstrations and rioting by students at Madrid University do not cease it may suspend some civil rights. Now that's going to be a big worry to the Spaniards," says "The Tennessean."

"They're probably lying awake nights trying to figure out what civil rights they have to be taken away."

Well, now, let's see. The Spaniard can walk the city streets at night without danger of being mugged, knifed, shot or raped. He can send his child to a neighborhood school without being forcibly bused. He can hire or fire anybody because of race, creed, color or the way they part their hair. To name just a few civil rights. I have been to Spain several times and think it is delightful. Perhaps the much-married publisher of "The Nashville Tennessean" ought to spend his next honeymoon in Spain. Obviously he knows as little about Spain as about women.

Teddy Bared With Pentagon

Let us call for a full publication of the Pentagon Papers and the secret transcript of the grand jury minutes in the strange death of Mary Jo Kopechne. The only secrets our government has are the secrets it keeps from the American People. Our government is infested, in high echelons, with traitors who transmit all vital information to our Communist enemies. This was true in World War II, the Korean War, the Vietnam "police action," and it will be true until the American people demand a housecleaning along with treason trials.

Safe For Communism
American deaths in Vietnam are now pushing 55,000. That's more than we lost in our other no-win war. Vietnam is now the fourth costliest war in our history.

In the War Between the States, 498,332 Americans died. World War II ranks second with 407,316 American deaths. World War I is third with 116,708 killed.

Most wars are senseless. We should never forgive Woodrow Wilson for dragging us into World War I "to make the world safe for democracy." And World War II was the wrong war at the wrong time against the wrong enemy. As Senator Robert Taft, Sr., General Wood, Herbert Hoover, Charles Lindbergh and many other leading Americans said at the time, we should have let Germany and Russia fight it out and exhaust themselves, and then we could have dictated the peace, freeing the millions of enslaved people in Eastern Europe. (They're still enslaved.)

But what about Pearl Harbor? President Roosevelt planned Pearl Harbor.

This story has not been told (and I wish I had the sources and the resources to develop it), but while in the Navy in World War II, I was told by regular Navy personnel that they had been sinking Japanese ships on sight—on orders from Washington—long before Pearl Harbor.

Roosevelt was determined to get us into the war, whatever it took, to make the world safe for Communism.—Copyright 1972, The American Way Features

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The largest living land animal is the African elephant. The World Almanac says that the largest specimen recorded was a bull elephant shot in Angola in 1955. It measured 13 feet, 2 inches, from the shoulder to the base of its foot, weighed about 12 tons and is preserved in the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C.

CARNIVAL

by Dick Turner

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After John Donohue was fired as a shoe salesman because he had long hair, he sued.

Donohue, 46, said he was being discriminated against because of his sex—that women aren't required to cut their hair.

The defendant, the Shoe Corp. of America, asked U.S. District Court Judge Harry Pregerson to dismiss the suit on ground that the company has a right to require a conservative image of its employees.

The company's lawyer, Leonardo Amato, argued, "It would be improper for a woman to wear a flat-top and sell shoes to the general public, but it wouldn't be sex discrimination."

Pregerson rejected the argument Monday, permitted Donohue to continue the suit and ruled that the case involves the "stereotyped characterizations of the sexes" that the 1964 Civil Rights Act was intended to prohibit.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Calvin and Mary Dalton died of heart attacks apparently within minutes of each other Monday.

The couple, married 49 years, died at their home. Authorities said Dalton, 78, suffered a heart attack while in bed and his wife called a doctor.

The ambulance crew which responded found Mrs. Dalton, 75, at the doorway at the home, dead of heart failure, officials said.

LONDON (AP) — Beatle George Harrison and his wife Pattie have been injured in an auto accident.

Their car struck a barrier dividing a superhighway near London Monday night during a power blackout that doused the highway lighting system.

Harrison, 29, had blood streaming down his face and his wounds were stitched at Maidenhead hospital. Pattie, 27, was treated for a concussion.

"They have had a lucky escape," a hospital spokesman said. "The injuries do not appear to be serious."

McCloskey Wows 'em With Sincerity

Paul McCloskey and New Hampshire voters. So darn sincere he makes the eyes water.

LEBANON
N.H.—(NEA)—From the neck down Paul McCloskey doesn't look like a serious candidate for president of the United States. 1972. His suits have an early 1960 sag. His wrinkled white shirts predate the era of permanent press. And his ties resemble 1955 Christmas gifts. But from the neck up? That's something else. Wrinkled eyes. Bushy hair. And a smile that says, well, shucks folks, if we all just pitch in we can, etc. Fortunately for the candidate from California, he does a good deal of his electioneering sitting down. Like the other day at the Rogers old folks home here in the Granite State. He was sitting behind a fold-up table, behind a coffee cup, and behind a napkin with a homemade donut on it. Thus nobody noticed his baggy trousers. Rather they noticed, as one little old lady listener was moved to remark: "He's so darn sincere, it just makes my eyes water."

Sincere, adj. 1. free from deceit, hypocrisy, or falseness; earnest. 2. genuine; real. 3. pure, clean, syn., truth, candor, frankness. See honor. You can't fool the little old ladies at the Rogers old folks home. They've lived through 60-70-80 years of presidential candidates. And when one says McCloskey is sincere, McCloskey is sincere. "He has to be," the little old lady added. "Look there. He has a hole in his suit coat. Now I know he's a nice man. Richard Nixon wouldn't come here with a hole in his coat."

To be sure, Paul McCloskey capitalizes on what is. And he does so sincerely. When he was first elected to Congress in 1967, a poll showed that 84 per cent of those who voted for him were not interested in charisma, were not interested in issues—but in truth, thus McCloskey, called "The Last Great Victorian," stumps the state as an apparently honest man. "I don't have all the the Rogers old folks home thoroughly enjoyed the congressman's campaign visit.

It began at 2:30. McCloskey was right on time. "Hello," he said, almost shyly, putting his arm around some gals for the benefit of the Kodak Instamatics. Coffee. Donuts. Squeaking chairs. The candidate sat under a plastic flower pot filled with plastic flowers. "I've picked up a cold," he said, munching peppermints, "so if any of you can't hear me, I hope you'll raise your hand." Very courteous.

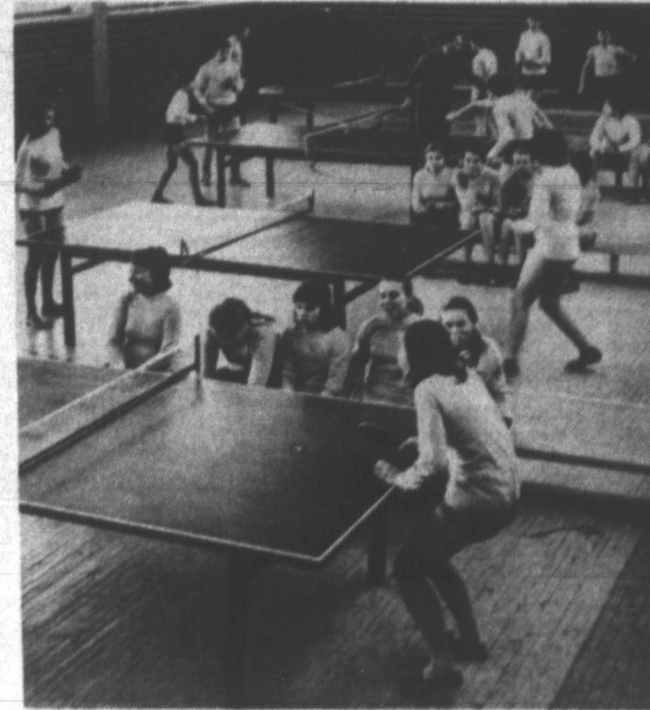

"Now," he said, "tell me about the problems of Lebanon."

As it happened, the problems of Lebanon were never discussed ("This is the best town in the country"). The conversation was more far reaching: Vietnam? "I'm just sick of us killing people we have nothing against," the candidate said, sincerely. Economics? "Economics are one of my weak points," he said, again sincerely (but, he added, if the war is ended we can knock "about $18 billion" off the defense budget alone). Women's rights? "Well, I voted against equality for women a year ago, but (tee-hee and chuckle) my wife has since changed my mind about it."

It went on like that for more than an hour. The candidate was interesting. The audience attentive. It was a gentle page in the New Hampshire chapter of the 1972 elections. When it was all over, the candidate slipped on his overcoat (dark, shapeless, tweedy), shook hands all around and left. "My," said one of the ladies who had been in the audience, "That Mr. Muskie is a gentleman." She blushed and repeated herself: "I mean Mr. McCloskey. He's so sincere."

Ghosts, Supernatural Things Coming To Scare TV Viewers

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ghosts, ghouls, vampires, and other supernatural creatures are coming to frighten TV viewers.

"There is a deep fascination for the unknown in each of us," reads a presentation for a new show one major studio is offering a network.

As many as four new series on the supernatural could be on the air next season, joining NBC's macabre tales, "Night Gallery," and ABC's series about ESP and parapsychology, "Sixth Sense."

It (the unknown) is an ancient interest—as ancient as the human race. "The presentation says, 'Therein lies its power: it is stronger than our intellect, stronger than our fears. It goes to the primitive core of our being.'"

It also hits the networks right where they live—in the ratings.

The highest-rated movie made for television, knocking out "My Sweet Charlie" and "Brian's Song," was an ABC flick in January about a vampire in Las Vegas, "The Night Stalker." In some cities it pulled as big an audience as the Super Bowl football game.

Spurred by the success independent stations have had stringing together old science fiction movies into "Creature Features," the networks struck ratings gold among young adults with such TV thrillers as "Something Evil,"

"The People," "She Waits," "The Screaming Woman," and "When Michael Calls."

It scares you, which it's supposed to do. People like the thrill and the release and the fun of a good scary movie," said producer William Castle.

His one-hour pilot for "Ghost Story" will be seen as an NBC world premiere Friday, March 17. It will run as a double feature with another hour-long pilot, "Movin' On."

Freaks and supernatural beings have been floating around the tube for a long time, such as in "Twilight Zone" and the ABC daytime serial "Dark Shadows," but usually they were played for laughs. Among them were "Bewitched," "I Dream of Jeannie," "The Munsters," "The Addams Family," "My Mother the Car," and "Topper." A revival of the latter, incidentally, is among the pilots being prepared for NBC.

Castle believes shockers are becoming popular again—especially with young people—because these ageless stories are being put in modern dress. He said, "If 'The Night Stalker' had been set in Transylvania instead of Las Vegas it wouldn't have gone anywhere."

"The most frightening thing is the dark. But put the familiar in the dark and it becomes even more frightening."

Castle has spent his whole life scaring people and making them scream for more. At 18 he directed the Broadway road company of "Dracula." His first movie, "The Whistler," won the New York Film Critics Award as the best mystery of 1940. The 105 movies he has produced, mostly thrillers, include "Macabre," "The House on Haunted Hill," and "Rosemary's Baby."

Some octopuses can change from shades of light aqua to a deep red-brown within seconds to fool their enemies.

Mississippi became the 20th state in 1817. Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, Tex., has 109 members on its faculty.

TV And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — The legendary showdown at the O.K. Corral, meticulously recreated for CBS's "Appointment with Destiny" series Monday night, emerged as nothing more than a fight among eight vicious, shabby-moraled men.

The return of President and Mrs. Nixon to Washington, covered by the three networks, postponed the later evening's scheduled programs by 45 or more minutes. None of the networks pre-empted a show for the welcoming ceremonies.

"Here's Lucy" on CBS had all the earmarks of a pilot program for a spin-off series—for Lucie Arnaz and her adventures with a bearded man in a pretty luxurious apartment for a girl with a part-time job.

colored film instead of color or black and white gave the viewer a slight sense of looking at a moving daguerreotype but did nothing to enliven the proceedings.

The half hour was based on an amusing idea and the adventures of a career girl, with help from "Here's Lucy" writers, might work nicely.
