Herter Hoping To Melt Down Cold War

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International
GENEVA (UPI) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter arrived for a foreign ministers' conference with Russia Saturday and declared he had come to "pave the way to a final overdue settlement" of cold war problems.

An aide carried the aluminum arm crutches.
In a statement, Herter said, "The United States approaches these negotiations with a sincere desire to achieve positive results."
Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, who preceded Herter into Geneva by several hours, said Russia hoped the meeting would lead to an "early convocation of the heads of government at the Summit."

Lloyd Arrives Sunday
French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville said on arrival from Paris that nothing could be worse at the talks than "concessions to the Soviets leading to new demands."
British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd was to arrive from London Sunday for preliminary conferences with Herter and Couve de Murville on the Western

"peace package" plan — which Russia has rejected sight unseen in advance.
Gromyko left no doubt that Russia still stands by its demands that the West clear out of West Berlin or else Russia will sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany.
Herter, who will be making his first appearance as secretary of state in a meeting with the Russians, expressed optimism.

"The United States approaches these negotiations with a sincere desire to achieve positive results," he said. "We trust that our deliberations will pave the way for a final overdue settlement which would serve to reduce international tensions and be a step on the long road to establishing a just and durable peace in Europe."
Then, speaking off the cuff, the Paris-educated Herter said he "did not dare" to read his statement in French, the language of diplomacy.

"But I want to tell you that I bring you all the best wishes of the United States," he said. "Actually, he had spoken excellent French in Paris 10 days ago for the preliminary big — three ministerial talks that thrashed out the Western peace package."
Herter walked to an official car and drove off to his villa residence.

During his stopover in Bonn, he had reviewed the situation with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who urged him to make no concessions to Russia on Berlin.
The deadlock between the East and West was pointed up by a West German note to Russia Saturday rejecting the Soviet charge that Bonn followed "war policies." The Adenauer government said this was a "distortion of fact" and it rejected a Soviet warning against equipping West German NATO forces with atomic weapons.

Herter's meeting with Adenauer was described as "almost as cordial as in the former talks between Adenauer and John Foster Dulles."
Official German sources said Herter and Adenauer were in "complete agreement" on their evaluation of world affairs.

200 Feared Drowned As Ship Capsizes On Nile

By DAVID BISHAI
United Press International
CAIRO (UPI) — Divers pulled body after body from a capsized excursion steamer in the muddy Nile River in Egypt Saturday amid the wails and screams of relatives on shore.
Frogmen brought 31 bodies to shore. At least 100 more men, women and children were missing and presumed dead in the sinking of the overcrowded steamer Dandaran Friday off the Nile town of Qalyub, 10 miles north of Cairo. Some reports put the number of missing and feared dead at 200.

One body was that of a pregnant woman. Another was a 9-year-old boy, a slingshot clutched in his hand.
Authorities said it was the worst Nile disaster in 30 years. A nationwide service was to be held Sunday for the victims. President Gamal Abdel Nasser sent condolences to the families of the victims.
Police officials said 187 persons were known to have been saved. About 350 people, mostly government workers and their families, were on a holiday picnic aboard the steamer, which had an official passenger capacity of 60.

Ship Captain Abdel Hafeez Aly Hakmad, injured and in the hospital, was ordered arrested.
All of the crew managed to escape when the ship sprang a leak and started for shore Friday. Panicky passengers interrupted their theatrical show and community sing aboard to rush to the shore side of the steamer. It listed and tipped over. Many were trapped inside the vessel.

The bodies of children were fished out, blackened with oil and their arms outstretched.
The crowd of relatives on shore kept up a steady wail of mourning.
A frogman swam with a body to a 60-foot floating crane anchored over the sunken steamer. Aboard the crane, a policeman examined the body and shouted to shore:

"It's a little girl with white shoes and polka-dot dress and wearing a cross around her neck."
A woman in the crowd screamed, "It's Nawal. It's Nawal."
Twenty-six of those rescued were hospitalized with shock or injuries.
The United Arab Republic government sent Mahmoud Younis, president of the Suez Canal Authority, to take charge of the search operations.

Reds Release U.S. Citizen And Briton

HELMSTEDT, Germany—The Communists Saturday released an American civilian held captive for 47 days and a British soldier whom they had held for three months.
The releases came only 48 hours in advance of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference in Geneva.
The American was Emory A. Vaughan, 32, of Portsmouth, Va., a civilian employe of the U. S. Army. Vaughan was seized March 27 when he crossed into East Germany in his light plane, apparently after losing his way.
The Briton was Cpl. Clarence Passan who was held by the East German Communists since Feb. 9. Passan was reported to have fallen asleep on the Berlin underground and to have been carried into East Berlin.
Walked 1,000 Yards
Both Vaughan and Passan were returned at this checkpoint on the West German border.
Vaughan's release came through negotiations between the American and East German Red Cross Societies. The United States does not recognize Communist Germany and has refused to have any dealings with it.
Vaughan was handed over to Robert S. Wilson, U.S. Red Cross director of operation in Europe, by the Communists in Marienborn on the East German side of the border.
Accompanied by Wilson and another Red Cross official, he then walked the 1,000 yards across the frontier to the West German checkpoint.
Vaughan appeared surprised by the reporters, photographers and newsreel cameramen waiting at the Helmstedt checkpoint. Asked whether he had anything to say, he shook his head vigorously and said: "No, No."
Wilson said Vaughan would make no statement until he reached U.S. Army in Europe Headquarters at Heidelberg. Vaughan was driving in an Army sedan to the airport where he boarded a plane for Heidelberg. Vaughan's release was not accomplished without running into red tape on both sides of the border. Wilson said there was a slight delay on the East German side due to some minor technicalities.
He did not specify the nature of the technicalities but said the "cooperation with the East German Red Cross was satisfactory as usual."
On the West German side, border guards insisted that Vaughan go through the usual routine for civilians, including stamping of his papers.

No figures are available on the work of the individual divisions. The Advance Gifts Division was chaired by Roy Bourland, Special Gifts by Cecil Hoehlin and Business and Industry by Jack Skelly.

14 Injured On County Highways

Fourteen persons were injured in highway accidents in Gray county during April, Sgt. E. G. Albers of the Highway Patrol reported Saturday. There were no fatalities.
Sgt. Albers noted that the May 2 death of Alonzo Earl Wilson was the first highway death in Gray county since Dec. 21, 1958, when Mrs. Mattie Fritz, 80, died in an accident near Alamogordo.
There were a total of 12 highway accidents in this county in April, bringing the year's total through April 30 to 44.
In the entire nine-county area headed by Sgt. Albers there were no fatalities last month and 26 persons injured in 28 accidents.
The 1959 totals so far for the nine-county area are 135 accidents, 100 persons injured and two motorists killed. Last year at this time there had been seven fatalities in four separate accidents.

Third Break-In Reported Here

A burglar who struck two Pampa medical clinics Thursday night evidently broke into a third clinic the same night.
The third break-in was reported to police Friday afternoon by the dentist's office of Dr. J. B. Veale Jr. at 1304 Coffee. It was reported that the burglar gained entrance but apparently took nothing.
Dr. Veale's office neighbors two Friday—the Kelley and Laycock Clinics, 316 W. Kentucky and the Falkenstein and Elder Clinic, 600 W. Kentucky. Losses at the Kelley-Laycock Clinic were set at $25 in cash and currency.

Local Firm Low Bidders

The Walker and Williams Construction Co. of Pampa was awarded a $112,280 contract Friday evening to build the Lovett Memorial Nurses Home.
Construction of the rambling 18-bedroom home will begin in May 18, and barring labor and weather misfortunes, should be completed Sept. 15.
The Walker-Williams bid was about $2,700 lower than the next lowest bid, but far exceeded the anticipated low bid of $90,000.
Funds, totaling $128,000, had been donated to the project by trustees of the Mrs. Fanny Lovett estate, C. P. Buckler, M. K. Brown and Dr. Julian Key. About $30,000 of that figure had been "set aside" for furnishings. The problem of furnishing the home with a little over $12,000 — the remainder of the donation after building expenses — has not yet been worked out.
The contract with Walker and Williams was officially awarded Friday evening at Highland General Hospital by the hospital's board of directors. The bids had been opened Tuesday afternoon, but the board, lacking a quorum, withheld the awarding of a contract until Friday's meeting.
The directors meeting was attended by both Dolan Walker and Floyd Williams, Architect Royal Cantrell, Hospital Superintendent C. C. "Chet" Landers, Attorney Arthur Teed and the six-member hospital board.
Seven bids were submitted for the Lovett project. Bidders and their bids were C. S. Lambie and Co., $124,300; Ramsey Construction Co., $125,000; Doyle Construction Co., $121,295; Walter Wirtz, $123,950; John F. Moss, $123,750; Penhall Construction Co., $114,995; and the W and W Construction Co. (Walker and Williams), $112,280.

Dulles Develops Pneumonia Case

By SAM FOGG
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, already gravely ill with cancer, developed a mild case of pneumonia Saturday and was reported "somewhat weaker."
The State Department said the initial response of the 71-year-old diplomat to antibiotics "has been satisfactory."
Dulles, who resigned as secretary last month, has been in Walter Reed Army Medical Center since April 12. It was disclosed this week that he now uses a wheel chair. The State Department said he is able to walk but finds it more convenient and restful to use the chair.

Dulles has been receiving analgesics to ease the almost constant cancer pain.
Saturday's announcement said, "Former Secretary Dulles has contracted a mild case of pneumonia. His initial response to antibiotics has been satisfactory and his temperature is normal. It is, however, somewhat weaker."
Dulles was visited Friday by President Eisenhower and the new secretary of state, Christian A. Herter. Eisenhower stopped in to see him before going to his Camp David, Md., retreat for the weekend.
Herter conferred with Dulles before leaving for the crucial Big Four Foreign Ministers conference in Geneva—a nonclique at which Dulles was to have been the leading figure. As Herter left, the ailing statesman called out to him: "Good luck, Chris."
Earlier in the week the President and Sir Winston Churchill visited Dulles who, after his resignation, was named as a special foreign policy consultant to the President and the State Department.

Fleeing Tibetans Gunned Down By Reds On Border

CALCUTTA, India (UPI) — Chinese Communist troops gunning down fleeing Tibetans trying to flee to safety in India, refugees reported Saturday.
Refugee statements to the Indian reception authorities in the rugged northeast frontier agency of India in Assam State said the Reds were turning the escape route into India into a shooting gallery to prevent more defections. The refugees said many who were wounded were left to die without medical attention.
Some Khamba Tribesmen, leaders in the revolt against Red rule, said they fled to India to receive medical treatment for wounds received fighting the Communists and wanted to go back, when healed to continue the battle.
Using air support, the Chinese finally annihilated the Khamba of India. An estimated 10,000 Tibetans managed to slip across the border into India despite Chinese efforts to prevent them. About half of this number are Khambas, who have, by the Communists' admission, been fighting for freedom since 1952.

Some 500 Khambas who got past the Red border guards and made it to Assam, meekly surrendered their arms when ordered to do so by Indian Sepoy troops.
The border crossings have irritated Peiping almost as much as did the successful flight of the Dalai Lama from Tibet to India.
Recent reports from the neighboring independent state of Bhutan said Chinese troops were shooting up that border, too, to prevent Tibetans from slipping across.

'PAMPASCAPE'

This painting and 39 others by Pampa artists will be on display at Lovett Memorial Library through May 19. "Pampascape" is the work of Miss Helene Huff, a local western writer. A preview reception will be held in the auditorium from 2:00 to 5:30 this afternoon. (Daily News Photo)

Public Invited To Artists' Tea Today

By WALLACE TRUESDELL Daily News Staff Writer

There is something for every taste in a nine-Pampa art show that opened Monday at Lovett Memorial Library. Portraits, still lifes, landscapes and abstractions are hung in the auditorium. The show will close May 19 but Pampa's best chance to view the 40 paintings will be this afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 when the Pampa Art and Twentieth Century Clubs are sponsoring what they call a preview reception tea. The women are advanced students of the Amarillo art teacher, Dord Fitz. They are Ethel Eller, Alva Satterwhite, Eleanor Anderson, Mildred Wofford, Loren Johnson, Ruth Huff, Helene Huff, Icie Harrah and Ruth Smalley. Mrs. Johnson's work, more than anyone else's, exhibits a regional influence. This can be discerned in the strong, simple lines of her Negro laborer in a composition called "Emancipation" and her American Gothic-like portraits of "Aunt Saphronie" and "Uncle Jeh." This economy can also be seen in her "Roadside Park"—three trees against the sky. Miss Huff has achieved a balanced composition, "Pampascape," with a single tree, to which are nailed Pampa and Amarillo road signs. To the left of the tree is a carbon black plant and to the right, some oil derricks. On the other side of the room hangs Alva Satterwhite's painting, "My School." It is chiefly valuable for its resemblance to the Grandma Moses school. Mrs. Satterwhite has mined much richer gold with "Mother and Child," an impressionistic picture that captures some of the spirit of motherhood. Ruth Huff has dealt mainly with flowers. In one composition, "Christmas Madonna," a madonna seems lost in a roomful of poinsettias. Her most realistic work is one called "Side Street," showing a dwelling place that is dark but not drab. Mrs. Anderson has contributed "Purple Lilacs," adding beauty to the lavender blooms. The color carries over into her "Colorado Mountains," which look like an ideal place to spend an afternoon. She has also done some abstract work with a "Head of Christ" and "Spring Prelude." Mildred Wofford contributes the best still life, a version of one done by Ethel Eller and Icie Harrah. Her colors harmonize with the spirit expressed by the grapes and the jug. Ethel Eller has two very unlike pictures, among her five. "Bluebonnets" and "Persephone." Her "Persephone" is an expert retelling of the myth in which a girl is carried away to the Underworld by the god Pluto. Mrs. Harrah has produced some fine portraits, including "Courage." Her subject is a woman dressed in red. Ruth Smalley has worked in water colors and enamel. Her watercolor, "Chantilly Road," is done in the impressionistic style of Cezanne.

Celinese Makes Personnel Changes

A number of administrative changes have recently been made in Celinese personnel assigned to the Pampa plant, it was reported Saturday.

The changes involve five men. E. J. Machowicz, plant accountant; George M. Perkins, Pampa plant engineer; Earl G. Schmieding, a chemical engineer; and Roger A. Farrow, a unit superintendent.

Machowicz has been appointed plant accountant of the Fibers Industries plant at Shelby, N.C., and will be replaced by Ault. Perkins has been appointed manager of engineering at the Shelby plant and has been replaced by Schmieding, who first joined the Pampa plant in 1957.

Farrow, who has been Unit Superintendent at Pampa, has been appointed assistant to Plant Manager H. V. Wilks, Farrow is presently in Norway as an advisor in the manufacture of vinyl acetate by a Norwegian organization.

Machowicz has been a resident of Pampa since 1951. He and his family live at 1826 Williston and expect to move to Shelby at the end of the present school term.

Perkins, who resides with his family at 1918 Christine, also expects to move his family to Shelby at the end of the present school term.

No Laughing Matter, Hope's At Crossroads Of His Career

EDITOR'S NOTE: "Have Tux, Will Travel" Bob Hope wrote exuberantly a few years ago as America's most tireless, globe-trotting entertainer. His travels were legend; they won him the affection of GIs the world over; no place was too remote to be visited if it brought a laugh to one American serviceman. But the pace eventually took its toll and now a worried, ailing Bob Hope is talking about possible retirement for his health's sake—and his family's. This is the first of three dispatches in which the noted comedian speaks frankly of the change that has come over his life.

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Bob Hope is at the crossroads of his laughter-filled career. He knows it, and he's not laughing.

The next few months will spell out retirement or continued utilization of the nation's funny-bone for the rapid-fire comedian.

Everything depends on his health.

In any case, the "old" Bob Hope—the one who tirelessly performed in movies, television, personal appearances and benefits simultaneously—has disappeared forever.

The 56-year-old comedian, relaxing in the plush comfort of his patio, surveyed his seven-acre estate thoughtfully and mused about that retirement for Bob Hope also would mean the end of a small empire and unemployment for scores of employees.

"More than 80 people are dependent on me and my ability to perform," Bob said. "I think about their futures as well as my own."

Not Being Idealistic

"They include writers, technicians, press agents, directors, domestic help, agents, secretaries and a flock of others.

"But I'm not being idealistic. If I don't get better—and soon—I'll retire damned fast and use my energy to get well. I'm the only person who can really help myself."

Felled by exhaustion and a blood clot in his left eye while entertaining American troops in Europe last December, Bob still is a sick man. He suffers frequent dizzy spells, and twice collapsed during recent television rehearsals.

"This is not a temporary slowdown for me," he said. "I plan to keep taking things easy when I get my health back. This eye will take one or two years to clear up, and I've got to improve my general health."

"I'm not a semi-invalid. I want to make that clear. But when I told my doctors I wanted to keep working they said, 'your corpuscles don't know you're getting laughs.'"

Takes Heavy Medication

"If the Doc had hit my heart or my brain instead of my eye, I can't tell what would have happened."

Hope admitted his physicians are continuing to make examinations and that he is taking heavy medication.

"Medicine alone won't do the job," Bob told me.

"I run down to Palm Springs every week. I lie around like a lizard and once in a while play nine holes of golf, riding around in a car between shots. The truth is I need even more rest than I've been getting. My eye is better, but the trouble is vascular, and that's a long haul."

A look at Bob's schedule for the next few months is evidence of his enforced slowdown. He has just finished taping one more TV show, and that's it until he is able to get back into fuller activity.

Call Off Trip

He was scheduled to go to New York next week in connection with the opening there of his latest film, "Alias Jesse James," but that was called off four days ago on orders of his doctors. This started rumors he had suffered a "setback" but Bob said this was not so. He explained:

"The doctor said I'm still doing too much and not following the schedule he laid out. He told me I shouldn't go back into another can of worms. It's a little too much for me—the trip to New York—and I have to cool down again. The doctor is afraid all the confusion at the airport, the Perry Como show, the interviews and so on, would knock me out."

"The doctor said, 'if you don't cut this out I'm going to hire a psychiatrist for both of us.'"

Going To Canada

"In August I plan to take the kids for a vacation in Canada. Maybe I'll spend a couple of weeks at Pebble Beach in June."

Two Pampans Hurt In Car Accident

Mystery Man To Speak At Harvester Band Fete

A mystery music man from the East will speak at the 1959 Band Appreciation Banquet Monday night at Pampa High School, Ralph McClure, Band president, told the Daily News. Joe Smith, although this is not his name, will be the featured speaker of the annual band fete, arranged by members of the band and their parents.

McClure said that Smith is on his route to Hollywood, Calif., where he will be technical adviser on a musical. Ott Shewmaker, a local insurance man, is in charge of ticket sales. The tickets, selling at $1.25 per plate, may be purchased at Shewmaker's office or from any of the 78 band members.

The banquet will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the PHS cafeteria, with dinner music by Maxine Milliron, an organist.

The Harvester Band, under W. E. "Bill" Tregoe's direction has carried off virtually every award in inter-school competition this year. Starting with a Sweepstakes win at Canyon, the Band went on to Enid, Okla., where it was named top marching and concert band.

Buick Caravan Due Monday

A 12-car caravan of 1959 Buicks will arrive in Pampa Monday, part of a novel demonstration to illustrate, according to a Buick spokesman, new styling and improved performance. The caravan will be sponsored in Pampa by the Tex Evans Buick Co., 123 N. Gray.

Bill Jenterie, Buick's Panhandle district manager, said that the new Buicks will be made available to a number of Pampa residents for their personal use.

"We hope these 'trials' will show better than anything else that the '59 Buick is much improved over any previous Buick," Jenterie said.

The Buick fleet arrives here after a two-day stay in Plainview. After a two-day showing (Monday and Tuesday) the Buicks will leave for Borger. Information on taking a new Buick on a trial drive is available from Jenterie at Tex Evans Buick.

Warning Issued

The Pampa Credit Bureau Saturday warned residents not to cash four checks stolen Friday night in a break-in at the Panhandle Lumber Co., 420 W. Foster.

The checks, all endorsed by the E. W. Hogan Construction Co., are made out to L. C. Pharis, $103.98; R. J. Hogan, $113.82; Jerry Timmons, $16.55; and Carl Greb, $52.42.

Kernan, Gray County secretary, Hudson's assistant was R. F. McDonald.

Texas telephone people think up 25,700 new ways to give you better service

NEW TESTING DEVICE identifies wires in telephone cable twice as fast as before, cuts down customer complaints of noise. Determining which wire is which is necessary in repairing cable damage and hooking up phones. Cable Splicer Charles Thone, above, shows how the device works.

Telephone employees build better jobs, too, through constant search for new ideas

By Don Davis
TELEPHONE NEWS REPORTER

"I hear a strange sound on my phone. What on earth can it be?"

This was a call from a telephone customer who thought something was wrong with his phone. It was not an isolated case but one that was repeated many times. Then a Houston telephone man, one of many who had been puzzling over the problem, got an idea.

He knew the strange sound was an electrical tone, or signal, used to identify telephone lines in cable. The tone is used by telephone men who need to know which line is which as they repair damage or hook up phones. Working in teams, one man, outside, places a tone on a wire with a test set. Inside the telephone office, another man listens for the signal. Together they identify the right wires.

Only trouble was a lot of people besides the telephone men heard the tone, too. These were the customers who thought their phone was out of order.

Rummaging around a radio store, the Houston telephone man got

Home-grown ideas—suggestions

TRANSPARENT: Spare parts, other small items may soon be packaged in clear plastic. Installer Jerry Howell, above, shows how they'll make it easier to keep track of materials he carries on truck.

TELEPHONE OPERATORS like these found numerous ways of putting through long distance calls even faster. Additional ideas dealt with quicker handling of other calls, increasing office efficiency.

How every telephone employee gets a chance to submit ideas without interference or delay

Last year telephone people tried something new—an organized idea hunt. In every city, town and village where we operate, they met for the sole purpose of exchanging and submitting new ideas. Hundreds of such idea sessions were held in Texas. Every employee got a chance to submit his or her pet projects—with no "ifs," "ands" or "buts."

The result was an outpouring of good ideas. Many were good enough to be adopted and put into practice right away. Others, which required further examination or testing, were forwarded up the line immediately. Hundreds of the ideas submitted either had already been adopted or were still under consideration.

Employee suggestions get personal attention from department heads like General Plant Manager Budd Reinhold.

The Market Place

(A series of four editorials) Adam Smith gave us food for thought when, in his justly famous work, "The Wealth of Nations," he opined that in the free and untrammeled market place, "the gain of one is the gain of all."

Altho Smith was the first economist to utter these words, the fact is demonstrable and is now an accepted part of the doctrine of laissez-faire capitalism.

To explain it briefly: let us point out that when the market place is completely unimpaired by the usages of force (government), each person who wishes to buy or sell any commodity or service, may do so without let or hindrance. "A" will trade his product for the money of "B". Both A and B profit by the exchange since both make the exchange willingly and without duress.

Before either of them is willing to make the exchange, each must believe that by so doing, he will benefit himself.

One or both of them might be in error, but that does not enter into the economic equation. Since neither is compelled to trade nor is restricted from trading, a profit (the fulfilling of a major desire) accrues to both.

From this point, the entire market place is stimulated. Both A and B find themselves, as a result of this exchange, in a position where further market actions usually follow. The result is further exchanges. And the effect of the first exchange is thus like a ripple proceeding from a dropped pebble in a pond. The effects of that ripple go out from the center, in ever widening circles, thus affecting the entire economy.

Another factor should also be stressed. By permitting both A and B to exchange freely, surpluses, known as profits, accrue. This accumulation may occur for either

A or B or both of them. Or, the accumulation of surpluses may occur at other points in the market place stimulated by the fact of A's and B's willingness to exchange. It is the accumulation of these surpluses which, in point of fact, have the most fecund and vigorous effect upon the market place.

And it is this particular factor which Smith and others have striven to illuminate. The mistaken conception persists in some quarters that if A profits (financially) as a result of his exchange with B, that in some way B has been injured. But, if we recall that B has willingly entered into the exchange because he was in search of a profit for himself (whether he attained a financial surplus or not doesn't matter), then B cannot possibly have been injured. (Fraud is ruled out as we concern ourselves here only with a free market.) Further, the accumulation of profits in the hands of A, creates in the mind of A, and perhaps in the minds of those who desire to multiply their market activities.

More important, the actual means is at hand, in the character of these surpluses, so that market activity can be stimulated. It is surpluses which are put to work (investments) which provide the tools of production, provide employment and provide the additional goods and services all seek. Thus, in this instance particularly, it can clearly be shown that a profit obtained by A, multiplies the effectiveness of the market and assists in creating further wealth, which must be shared thru the market process of free choice, in a manner which will benefit everyone to the remotest corner of the earth or at least to the extent of the free market area, as delimited by governmental regulation. (continued below)

Incidence Of Theft

From the fact above noted, in certain places a false conclusion has been drawn. This conclusion has it that if an act of predation occurs within the market place, if C appears and robs B of his money, that the loss of B becomes the loss of all in the market place. Superficially, this may appear to be correct. But if we examine the case closely, we find that it is not so.

If C robs B, all that has happened insofar as the market place is concerned is that a substitution has occurred. C (instead of B) is now able to make an exchange in the market place with A or D or anyone else.

B has been injured. But the market place has not been injured. B's loss is his own. The effect of the loss is not shared by the market.

It is also true that C has been injured by this act of robbery. To the he has injured B, the injury to himself is, in many ways, more profound. He has injured himself morally, by relying upon robbery to fulfill his desires. This is contrary to the Coveting Commandment and to the rules which govern the free market.

He may even have injured himself by the delusion of believing that this act of theft is a "good" way for him to proceed in the future. This is entirely hypothetical and has not been proved, but the possibility remains.

The fact is, and this has been demonstrated, that most thieves obtain money by theft, not for the purpose of encouraging further stealing on their own parts, but rather, so that they can enter the portals of the market place and spend the loot they have acquired, wearing the hypocritical mask of an honest and forthright entrepreneur. This is demonstrable by the fact that no thief ever attempts to steal everything he wishes to satisfy his desires. Rather, he steals a specified sum, and from that moment spends, sometimes with great bravado and disregard, but with meticulous care to see that he pays every bill submitted to him.

However, it is entirely true that once this money has been spent, the thief may attempt to repeat this original theft to acquire a similar "nest egg" which he will

CIO Organizer's Opinion On The End Results Of Unlimited Power Of Labor Unions

One of the most interesting books I have run across is "Power Unlimited - The Corruption of Union Leadership" by Sylvester Petro, published in 1959 by The Ronald Press Company, New York.

The background of Mr. Petro, in summing up the lessons of the McClellan hearings to the general public, is as follows: He was born on Chicago's south side. He worked in the steel mills after leaving high school and took an active part in the CIO's organizational drives of the mid-1930's. His college and law-school training at the University of Chicago was largely financed by jobs in the mills and on construction crews. He was admitted to the Illinois Bar and served four years as editor of "Labor Law Reports."

Since 1940 he has been Professor of Law at the New York University School of Law. So with this background Mr. Petro's report on the McClellan Committee hearings is certainly very voluminous and his reports are only a summary, although his book is a book of 304 pages. Under the chapter "Summary and Recommendations," Petro writes: "The industry-wide trade unions stand revealed by the Record as the greatest threat to its security and well-being that America has ever known. No nation can safely tolerate the multiple threats to its health and integrity which those unions pose here and now. It is not so much a matter of the peril from the Soviet dictatorship. The critical danger from that source lies mainly in the possibility that the more panicky in our population may turn us into the messiah we are fighting for."

But we need not fall. And we need not abandon the basic principles of personal freedom and the rule of law in order to remedy the illness which is now in course. On the contrary, those principles, the same ones which made this a great country, will restore its health. For it is their absence, in labor relations, which accounts for the disease. If they are maintained we will be free and strong, both economically and militarily, for military strength is but a by-product of economic power. Facts, Consequences, and Causes "The Record" shows that trade unions have been guilty of abusing union and nonunion workers alike; that they have been extorting from and shaking down employers; and that they have been weakening the basic institutions of society by spreading a subversive philosophy, by corrupting public officials in accordance with that philosophy, and by vituperative attacks and large-scale political action against public officials who resist their subversion. It shows finally that unions are destroying the competitive enterprise system by imposing upon it a rigid monopolistic structure, to the infinite abuse of the public, and to the great national peril. Our survival is at stake.

"America's social philosophy, the sweet and pure refinement of the best thought and hardest experience of two thousand years of Western civilization, has created the political and economic institutions which account for its greatness. The political institutions have been, first, limited government, directed essentially to keeping the peace, to defending all against physical attack upon their persons, and to protecting the property rights necessary to freedom; and second, the rule of law, the principle which binds all equally to everyone; that the courts of law shall be open to those who have been injured, to give them the best and swiftest remedies known to legal procedure.

"These principles have put a premium on excellence and have discouraged aggression. They have encouraged the able and thus prevented stasis and stagnation. The result has been the most flexible, most powerful, and most productive economic and social system the world has ever known. America has been a land of opportunity for all. It has shown the world that the accident of humble birth need not be a bar to any of the kinds of success which men value, material or spiritual. For more than fifty years it has demonstrated an ability to arm itself more powerfully while at the same time providing greater personal freedom and a far higher standard of living than any other nation."

ON THE BERLIN FRONT - The State and Defense Departments have made two significant decisions in the Berlin crisis: To have Major General Barksdale Hamlett, commander of U.S. forces in the Soviet-threatened German metropolis, remain there. He was due to be rotated to another assignment in June, but that has been cancelled and he will continue in command in Berlin.

Robert Allen Reports:

Harry Sticking With Old Friends

WASHINGTON - Former President Truman is still sticking with old friends who get into trouble just as staunchly as when he was in the White House.

Regardless of whether it stirs up any political repercussions, Truman is vigorously going to bat for his one-time appointment secretary, Matt Connelly, who is fighting a two-year sentence as a result of a jury conviction for conspiracy in a tax case.

Truman has undertaken to personally raise $25,000 as part of a fund to enable Connelly to continue his long battle to reverse this verdict.

The still-unannounced plan is to raise this legal defense fund at a dinner for Connelly in Boston, in August or September. Spearheading this undertaking are other former members of Truman's White House staff.

When asked if he would attend, his response was prompt and unqualified. "Certainly I'll come," replied Truman. "Not only will I be there, but I'll be glad to tell the world how unjustly Matt has been treated. And that isn't all I will do. You send me the tickets, and I'll get you $25,000 for this dinner."

A prominent Republican is also supporting the fund-raising drive. House Republican Leader Charles Halleck, Ind., has promised to purchase tickets for the Connelly dinner, and to boost it in other ways.

Top Democrats who are backing it include Speaker Sam Rayburn, Tex., House Floor Leader John McCormack, Mass., former Attorney General Howard McGrath, and one-time National Chairman Frank McKinney.

Connelly and former Assistant Attorney General T. Lamar Caudie were convicted in St. Louis, shortly after their trial and before they were sentenced, the presiding federal judge, Rubey M. Hulien, committed suicide. Later another judge sentenced them on the basis of the record of the trial.

Despite a series of appeals, this sentence still stands. Connelly's latest effort to secure a new trial is under consideration by the federal circuit court in St. Louis.

Truman and other leaders of his Administration have repeatedly charged that the cases against Connelly and Caudie were "politically motivated persecutions."

POLITICALS - During former President Truman's Washington stay, he has been busy on the long-distance telephone in behalf of his choice to the Democratic presidential nomination - Senator Stuart Symington. Among others, Truman phoned Democratic leaders in nearby West Virginia urging them not to endorse anyone until he talked to them about Symington. . . . A new national Republican magazine is in the works. Recently installed National Chairman Thurston Morton disclosed this in his first "letter" to party leaders. He informed them, "It is our hope to have this very important project started later this year. Our aim is to supply you each month with a publication jammed with out material on national issues and the operations of the opposition."

TIME TO TALK FREEDOM

What's happening to patriotism in this country? It's a question every American ought to ask himself. Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona recently said that there is a sign on the West Point parade grounds: "When the flag passes, gentlemen will remove their hats." Watch the average parade, said the senator, and see how many hats you see still on when the flag goes by. "You ought to walk up and knock them off," he said.

The senator's point was that Americans should be more aggressive about their patriotism. We should be proud to stand up for our country, its institutions and its way of life. The flag is not a partisan matter; it has nothing to do with the Republican party or the Democratic party. It is a symbol of, and a mark of respect for, the philosophy of freedom under which this nation was founded.

How many buildings have flagpoles? How many companies show the flag on national days? How many people talk with feeling about this great country of ours and its freedoms? The lack of aggressive patriotism, said Senator Goldwater, may be a sign that we may be further down the road to socialism than we like to think. The pro-leftists and the welfare statists have so derided this re-

B. HENRY McLEMORE

Oh, For The Life With A Miser Wife

There are days when I wish I were married to a small, wizened, miser-woman, to whom every possession, no matter how old and tattered, was a priceless treasure. There would be times, of course, when to come home and find her bent over her string collection, or folding and refolding her paper bags, would be a nuisance.

But I doubt if that would be any worse than to come home, as I do now, and find great cartons and boxes piled high with things I hold dear, and for which I paid good money, headed for every charity organization within a hundred miles.

For I am married to a thrower-away who starts throwing away wherever other thrower - awayers leave off. Her name is Mary, and if she were royal her subjects would call her Mary the Munitif.

She sloughs off clothes and household furnishings the way a snake does its skin, only fifty times as often. The only thing that saves us from destitution is the infrequency of the rounds made by the "God-Will" trucks. If they came every day, like the garbage man, we'd be eating off the floor, with our only clothes the ones on our backs.

There are days when she is even more free - handed than usual. Something seems to strike her, the same as lightning does other people, and when this mood is on her, nothing is safe.

Her answer to my squawks is that, "We don't live like other people. We are always moving around, and so can't afford to accumulate things."

There's some truth in that argument, I'll admit, but even a hobo on the road all the time, accumulates enough to fill a bandana.

Today was one of many of the Munitif's zealous days, when the gleam was in her eye, and I'm afraid to look to see what she has left me. I was already down to a minimum, with scarcely more clothes than a nudist would take on a vacation.

In the back of the house, piled on a circular coffee table, whose legs I sawed off and whose top I painted not six months ago, there is a tremendous cardboard carton. The table isn't there just to hold the carton off the ground. It is going, too.

I can see from the window some of the things in the carton. For one thing, there is my only pair of Texas boots. I got them while on location with Duke Wayne in Mexico when he was shooting "Hondo," and while it is true I haven't worn them but once in all the years, I like the idea of having a pair of boots around the house. I can't help but hope they hurt the feet of whoever gets them.

There's a canoe paddle sticking out, too. It was sent to my by Dorothy Draper, and having it around kept alive my dream of someday shooting the rapids of the Colorado or St. Lawrence. Now that's gone.

I can see the sleeve of a Basque shirt hanging down. Now if I want to go to a masquerade party as an Apache, what'll I do? A little old miser-woman would be cute, at that. But that wouldn't work. Mary would throw her out the first thing!

Castro Executioner, 'A Real Stinker'

NEW YORK - Herman Marks, one of Fidel Castro's executioners, is a vicious criminal from Milwaukee, described by John Burke, the warden of Waupun, Wis., state prison, as "a real stinker." Speaking from Havana in a telephone interview with James Lee, of the New York Journal-American, Marks modestly owned up to his police record and said: "I am doing my job to the satisfaction of my boss." He had accounted for about 25 per cent of the slaughter by firing squads in public, the constitution, states rights and other glorious features of the United States that many Americans don't fight back in conversation.

Senator Goldwater, who is a department store owner in private life, charges that many American businessmen have been subjected to so much "liberal" propaganda that they are beaten down. "I watch them come to the halls of Congress," said the senator, "and testify before our committees as whipped dogs." Speaking sternly to businessmen, he said: "You businessmen have made America and will keep making it, but not when you are cowards."

"You are in business to make a dollar. Don't be ashamed of it. The free enterprise system is the only vehicle that can provide profit and can provide jobs for millions and millions of American workers."

That's the right spirit! Businessmen must not allow themselves to be pressured by the pro-leftists until they become apologetic about money-making. It was distressing recently to read that a Congressman from the Midwest proudly announced he was selling all his securities. It's not wrong for a Congressman to own shares in American enterprise. This is a capitalist, not a communist country. A man who owns stocks should not be ashamed to tell the world.

Jimmy Hoffa, boss of the Teamsters, thumbs his nose at decent Americans. The "liberals" aren't the least hesitant about treating the Treasury as a grab bag. They are aggressive in their attacks on the kind of government the founding fathers created and millions of hard-working business-minded Americans have maintained over the years.

No one has to tell the enemies of America and our great free enterprise system to be aggressive. They are fighting tooth-and-nail to get what they want - the corruption and socialization of the United States. They are driving for power with all their energies.

Americans who believe in states rights and private business, in the profit motive and self-reliance, must outdo the "liberals" in aggressiveness. It is the greatest engine of productivity the world has ever seen. Americans should never stop talking about it and praising its achievements. Adults who know freedom's worth should preach it to the younger generation that the "liberals" are wooing so hard. Free enterprise is the great story of America. It should be told again and again in the schools and all the institutions of every community.

A very wise man once observed that the world, at any given time, belongs to those who are dedicated and enthusiastic. If we are any less dedicated and enthusiastic about our traditional American way of life than those who oppose it, then we only deserve to lose it. We need a rebirth of patriotism.

It's become pretty popular to sneer at nationalism. But if you want to study a TRULY INSPIRED account of patriotism, read "Exodus" by Leonard Uris. It tells of the courage, the sacrifice and the heroic dedication that went into the creation of the State of Israel and the preservation of the purity of the Jewish people.

The powers that be in Texas high school football have spoken, and there will be spring training again next year for class 4A schools.

Representatives of the class 4A schools met this week at the University of Texas, and voted to defeat an amendment which would have abolished spring training. The results of the vote were announced Saturday morning at a state meeting of the Interscholastic League.

The vote on the amendment was 54-33 against, with 87 of the 101 class 4A schools voting. If the amendment had passed, spring training would have been abolished, but the schools would have been allowed to open fall practice a week earlier than they do now.

As the rules stand now, fall football practice will open August 28 for class 4A schools. If the amendment had been approved and spring training abolished, practice would have opened August 21.

Curfman Well Pleased

Harvester Coach Babe Curfman was elated upon learning that spring training had been continued.

"I don't see how we could conduct our football program any other way," Babe commented. "You can't teach a boy anything in the little time they allow you for fall practice before the first game."

Curfman feels that spring training is in the best interest of the players, as well as the coaches. "A boy has to have a chance to earn some money some time," and he can't do it if he's playing football in the summer."

Curfman said that many boys will not quit their summer jobs to come out for early practice sessions, and so many boys do not come out until after school starts, when there is early fall practice and no spring training.

Curfman also mentioned the weather as a handicap to early fall practice. "It's usually pretty hot then," he said, "and the boys just can't play as hard as they could later."

The Harvester pilot summed up his feelings about the vote for continued spring training by saying that "somebody was giving the matter some good, serious thought, and I think they made a wise decision. I'm glad the vote was so decisive."

Incidentally, schools in the other four classes voted to open fall training a week earlier than they have been. Practice for AAA, AA, A, and B schools will open August 21 under a new amendment adopted last week. The first games may be played the first Friday in September. In class 4A, the first games can not be played until September 11 (the second Friday of the month).

Classes AA, A, and B have not had spring training for several years. Class AAA abolished it last year. The vote for the "early practice" amendment this year was about 2-1 or better in all four classes.

ALTON THYGERON
... crowds Morrow

Alton Thygeron, who won the 100 and 200 yard dashes at the state meet last year for Pampa High, is still burning up the cinderpaths in college.

Thygeron, only a freshman at Brigham Young University in Utah, has won six 100 and 200 yard dashes, placed second three times and third on two other occasions. He's a mainstay of the Brigham Young team, which is a strong favorite to win its fifth straight Skyline Conference track championship.

In his last race, Thygeron lost by a half yard to a sprinter who is considered "pretty good" — Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian. Morrow, for the information of those who have returned from a 10-year exile in Outer Mongolia, is considered by many experts as the world's fastest human.

This was in the Intermountain AAU track meet at Salt Lake City. Thygeron was officially recognized as the winner, since Morrow was only a guest performer.

Thygeron has performed all his feats despite the fact that he was hampered, early in the season, by a leg injury. It's easy to see why Brigham Young track coach Clarence Robinson calls him "one of the most promising young sprinters to come to Brigham Young in a long time."

Two Pampans are candidates for football teams at two different universities. Robert Langford, a sophomore at New Mexico State University, is trying for the wingback position on the NMSU grid squad; and Sam Condo, a junior, is shooting for the right end position on the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys. Condo was a regular on the Cowboy basketball team.

Silky Makes A Comeback

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Silky Sullivan, the stretch-running star of 1958 racing, made a smashing comeback Friday when he came from last place in the Roy Campanella Pura Race at Hollywood Park to win by better than a length.

Breaking unusually well, Silky was among the leaders at the start of the six furlong race but he dropped back to last as his stablemates, Tyhawk, and Liberal Lady fought for the lead.

Trailing by some 15 lengths going into the turn, Silky uncorked his patented closing rush to nail Tyhawk and Liberal Lady at the 16th pole and he drew out to his conclusive lead.

Tyhawk held on for second and Liberal Lady was third. Silky was timed in 1:09 1/5 in his first victory and second start since Dec. 4, 1958.

Roy Campanella, the disabled catcher of the Los Angeles Dodgers, crowned the winner and in turn was presented with a trophy by track president Mervyn Leroy.

With Spring Training Pampa Grid Coaches Pleased

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

After scrimmages Saturday morning which ended the first week of Pampa High spring football training, head coach Babe Curfman said that he is "well pleased with the first week's work."

Curfman said that even the rain, which forced his gridders inside for two days, hasn't slowed them any. "Even in the gym, they were really knocking heads," the Pampa mentor commented.

Seventy-eight boys are out for spring practice, and most of them took part in Saturday morning's three scrimmages. Even the dozed-green scrimmage, remarked Shocker coach Weldon (Bird) Trice said that most of his former Shockers, who will form the reserve strength of the Harvesters this year, had shown much improvement during the first week of spring practice.

Trice named Flippin and linebacker Lynn Schoolfield as outstanding defensive players on the green team in Saturday's scrimmage. He also said that Ruben Strickland and Steve Dobbin were outstanding in the defensive gold team backfield.

Other gold and blue players singled out for special praise by Trice and Pampa Junior High coach Gene Chance (who was in charge of the blue-gold scrimmage) were right end Jimmy Boyles guard Terry Rexroat, defensive guard Charles Geise, and quarterback Buddy Rawls.

Chance said that cornerman Dickie Wills and left halfback Tommy Locke did a fine job on defense for the blue team in Saturday's scrimmage.

Lester Ramsey, Lee assistant coach, who supervised the black-white scrimmage, said that neither the blacks nor the whites fielded a full squad, because many of them were taking part in driver education. Because of that, Ramsey said, he was unable to tell much about the performance of any individual players.

Eleven of Pampa's 12 football coaches were on the field for Saturday's scrimmages. They were Curfman, Trice, Chance, Lester Ramsey, Deck Woldt, Norman Phillips, David Kelly, Frank Craig, John Hale, John Dobbin, and Eural Ramsey. Only Duain Lyon, who was in Austin at the state track meet with Rex Williams, was not on the field.

Spring training will continue for two more weeks, with full-scale scrimmages again next Saturday, and a future-exes game as a climax sometime week-after next. The weekday sessions will be devoted to learning plays.

Palmer Cops Lead At Oklahoma City

By JIM CAMPBELL
United Press International

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Power-hitting Arnold Palmer pushed ahead of Tommy Jacobs Saturday in the $25,000 Oklahoma City Open golf tournament, with a scorching 67 featuring an aviary of eagles and birdies.

The Lionier, Pa., strongman lambasted 35 and 32 rounds Saturday for a 54-hole total of 204, compared with 206 for early leader Jacobs. Palmer's 24-year-old playing partner from Whittier, Calif.

The diminutive Denver Open title holder drew groans from the gallery time and again when his long putts hung precariously on the lip of the cup.

Nipping at the leaders' heels were Bob Goaly, Crystal River, Fla., and Don Fairfield, Casey, Ill., at 208. Goaly, who has won $6,624.87 this year, turned the front nine in one-over-par Saturday but came back with a two-under-par 34 to annex a $1 to his 137 Friday. Fairfield was two over at the halfway mark, but blazed home in 33 for a two-under-par 70.

Insurance salesman Glen Fowler, Oklahoma City, had 210, was still showing his heels to most of the money players. A former touring pro himself, Fowler outplayed partners Palmer and Jacobs on the front nine with a 34 but soared to 38 coming in.

Still swinging for sizeable portions of the money were Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N. Y., and Ted Kroll, Sarasota, Fla., both of whom finished the third round in 211 strokes.

A total of 17 players advanced to the fourth and final round in under-par figures. Eight more were even-par at 216.

The top 60 scores among the professionals qualified for the final round. But all 10 amateurs who played Saturday will finish.

Palmer was one stroke behind Jacobs at the 45-hole mark Saturday, but pressured his partner with four birdies and an eagle on the back nine. Palmer was six under par for the day until the eighth hole, when a rare short put miss gave him a bogey.

Jacobs played the course in 38 and 35 Saturday.

Harvester-Borger Game Postponed

The entire District 3-4A weekend baseball schedule was rained out including the game scheduled Saturday at 3 p.m. in Borger between the Borger Bulldogs and the Pampa Harvesters. That game has been reset for Monday at 4 p.m. in Borger.

No date has been set for the playing of the other two rained out games, Palo Duro at Amarillo and Monterey at Lubbock. In addition, one other game, Palo Duro vs. Borger, remains to be played. No date has ever been set for that contest, since it was postponed early in the season. District teams have until the end of next week to complete their schedules.

Amarillo has clinched a tie for the district championship, and now give Amarillo the tie outright.

The winner of the Borger-Pampa game Monday is assured of at least a tie for second place in final district standings.

Amarillo has a 10-3 district record, Borger 8-4, Pampa and Lubbock 8-5, Palo Duro 7-5, Monterey 6-7, Tascosa 4-10, and Plainview and Tascosa have completed their seasons.

Riley Resigns McLean Job

... Tigers' boss quits

McLEAN (Spl) — Jack Riley, who guided the McLean Tiger football team to second place in District 3-4A in 1958, has resigned as McLean's head grid coach.

Riley said Saturday that "several factors are in the fire, but my future plans are still indefinite right now." Riley's resignation was submitted at a Thursday meeting of the school board, and was accepted with regret by the board.

Riley's Tigers last season had a 7-2-1 season record and a 4-2 district mark. They were tied for second place in 2-A with Lefors and Canadian, behind the White Deer Bucks, who went on to win the state championship.

Riley has been coaching at McLean for three years. He was assistant football coach his first year, then was promoted to the head coaching job.

Riley's wife, who has taught commercial subjects in the McLean schools for the past three years, submitted her resignation, along with her husband.

Williams Fourth, Sixth In Hurdles

AUSTIN (Spl) — Seven Pampa area athletes scored points for their teams here Friday and Saturday in the state high school track and field meet.

Rex Williams of Pampa and Spencer Johnson of Tascosa led by placing in two events each. Garland Fox of Palo Duro, Kenny Abraham of Canadian, Don Carter of White Deer, George Bacquet of Tascosa, and James Lollis of Perryton also scored points. The only area athlete who failed to place was Monte Deere of Palo Duro.

Williams finished fourth in the 120-yard high hurdles, behind Bob Johnson of Abilene, Ray Poage of Houston Lamar, and Eddie Wiggs of Galena Park. Johnson's winning time was 14.2.

Williams finished sixth in the 180-yard low hurdles, won by Jack Weldon of Galena Park with a time of 19.2. Lawrence Broussard of Pasadena was second, Pat Mullican of Dallas Sunset third, Johnson of Abilene fourth, and Johnny Keykendall of Grand Prairie fifth.

Lollis was the only area man to place first in any event, as he tied for first place in the class AAA broad jump.

Bacquet of Tascosa was fourth in the class AAAA mile run, won by David Deboer of Houston Bellairs with a time of 4:30.8. Steve Strickland of Abilene was second and Paul Mora of North Dallas was third.

Johnson of Tascosa placed second in the class AAAA discus throw, with a toss of 165 feet, 10 1/2 inches. Harry Turner of Spring Branch won the event with a throw of 167 feet, 3 1/2 inches, and Charles Gelsay of Midland was third with 164 feet, 8 inches.

Johnson was third in the shot put, with a put of 34 feet 2 1/2 inches. The winning effort was 58 feet, 5 1/2 inches by Emery Martindale of San Angelo, and the runner-up distance was 54 feet, 4 inches by Erskine Kelly of Dallas Woodrow Wilson.

Fox tied for third place in the class AAAA pole vault, with Dick Evans of San Antonio Jefferson. Both had 12 feet even. Gerald Cumby of Abilene won the event with a mighty jump of 13 feet, 4 inches, and Robbie Robinette of Pasadena was second with 12 feet, 6 inches.

Abraham was fourth in the class A 440-yard dash, won by Ken Holder of Crosbyton in 51.3 seconds. Johnny Worley of Paducah was second, and Wayne Jones of Waller was third.

Don Carter of White Deer placed fourth in the class A 220-yard dash, won by Tom Adams of Groesbeck with a time of 2:14, which tied the meet record. Gene Baker of Hawkins was second and Larry Wilson of Mason was third.

Monte Deere of Palo Duro failed to place in the class AAAA 440-yard dash.

A hurdler who has run several times against District 3-AAAA men, Jesse Williams of Phillips, won the class AAA high hurdles in 14.6 seconds, and placed second in the low hurdles.

Regular season action in the Pampa Industrial Softball League will open Monday night (May 18) with league officials already assured of an eight team circuit, and hoping for a possible 12-team loop.

"It looks like we've got a good solid eight team league ready to go, but we'd sure like to have ten and maybe an even dozen clubs entered," Garland Poole, manager of the defending champion Frank Kemps Humble Oil Co. team and a league spokesman stated Saturday.

The league's third pre-season meeting of 1959 will be held at 8:30 p.m. this Tuesday in the Chamber of Commerce conference room of the City Hall. A good turnout of managers and players was reported to an organizational meeting last week.

Last year seven teams took part in a 21 1/2 game (3 1/2 rounds) schedule with the Kemps Humble outfit grabbing off the title in a post-season playoff.

League officers will be elected at the Tuesday night meeting. All teams wishing to enter the loop must do so by May 14 and may sign up for play at the Tuesday night meet.

Besides the championship Kemps Humble team, others already indicating they will enter this year's local softball race are Phillips Plant of Bowers City, C. R. Hoover Oil Co., Panhandle Packing Co., Electric Supply, Sinclair Oil Co. and the team which played as the K-P Lodge last year but which is seeking a new sponsor for the '59 season.

Softball Meet Set Tuesday

Little Leaguers Practice Tuesday

Little League and Pony League workdays will resume Tuesday at 5:30 p.m., after an interruption of several days because of rain and wet grounds.

There will be no workout Monday because of the installation of new Optimist Club officers at a 6:30 p.m. meeting. Teams from all three leagues — the Pony League, Eastern Little League, and Western Little League, will have practice sessions Tuesday.

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI) — The Professional Golfers Assn. said Saturday the 1961 PGA championships would be played at Olympia Fields Country Club near Chicago July 27-30.

Switzer Signs With Queens

PLAINVIEW (SU) — Laura Switzer, McLean, has signed a letter of intent to play for the Wayland College Hutchinson Flying Queens this fall, according to H. J. Redin, athletic director at Wayland and coach of the Flying Queens.

The 5-0 forward was an outstanding player in high school, winning the Most Athletic award two years, making six All-Tournament teams and three All-District teams in her last three years, and being co-captain for two years her junior and senior years.

She was a member of Dowell's Dolls of Amarillo in the 1959 National Women's AAU Tournament in St. Joseph, Mo., March 31-April 3. This team, composed of high school seniors and three Wayland freshmen, was the surprise team of the tournament, winning over two veteran teams before bowing to the eventual champion, Wayland.

BORGER FOURTH

AUSTIN (UPI) — Borger's High School golf team placed fourth in the state meet here Saturday, with a 630 score. Austin won the class AAAA title with 584. Fort Worth Paschal was third with 619, and Houston John Reagan had 629.

Longhorns Win SWC Track Meet

Cunningham, Ahlberg Take Honors By Setting Records

By ED FITE
United Press International
COLLEGE STATION (UPI)—Ray Cunningham, a trail freshman from the University of Texas, and Southern Methodist's Swedish import, Jan Ahlberg, stole the spotlight Saturday as the Texas Longhorns rolled to lopsided track championships.

Cunningham, a 6-1, 148-pounder from Refugio, Tex., bettered the national freshman low hurdles record by one-tenth of a second when he sped the 220-yard distance in 22.5, but it will not be considered for a record because he had an eight-mile tail wind as compared with the allowable of 1.475 miles per hour.

Ahlberg, a trim blond from Stockholm, wrote the only official new record of the day when he won the two-mile run in 9:18.7 to best the old mark of 9:24.4 set by Jim Brown of Arkansas in 1951.

Bests Records
Cunningham's clocking not only was better than the national freshman mark set last year by Abilene Christian's Calvin Cooley, but it was lower than the Southwest Conference record of 9:22.6 and bested the varsity division's winning time of 9:25.2 seconds.

The 18-year-old Texas star also turned in a 14.2 clocking in the 120-yard high hurdles to best the varsity winning time of 14.6 by Donald Beard of Texas. Cunningham was a state low hurdles champ two years ago as a junior, but tripped over a hurdle in practice late last season and broke his left shoulder to miss the state meet.

Texas' Olympic star, Eddie Southern, failed in his bid to lower the Conference 440-yard dash mark of 46.9, but was clocked in 47 flat although he eased up noticeably 10 to 15 yards from the tape. He was timed unofficially in 46.5 on the anchor lap of Texas' winning mile relay production of 3:13.9, also well off the expected record.

Texas Wins Handily
Texas—more than doubled runner-up SMU in the varsity point totals, 87½ to 42½, and scored 76½ to second-place Texas Tech's 48 in the freshman division.

Ahlberg, a SMU sophomore who has had a 9:09 two-mile to mark set last year by Abilene Christian's Calvin Cooley, but it was lower than the Southwest Conference record of 9:22.6 and bested the varsity division's winning time of 9:25.2 seconds.

he had held for more than a lap. Ralph Alsbaugh of Texas turned in the only 'double' in the varsity division, winning the 100 and 200 dashes in 9.6 and 20.5, the latter equaling the conference record. However, high point honors went to teammate Hollis Gainey, who chased him home in both dashes and ran legs on two winning relay teams for 13 points to Alsbaugh's 12½.

Post Doubles
In the freshman division, Cunningham's double was matched by Texas Christian's Bobby Barrett, who won the mile in 4:22.4 and the 880-yard run in 1:56.7.

Texas' Joe Villarreal won his third straight mile triumph, but his 4:16.7 time was well off his Conference record of 4:10.5. His attempt to score a double in the 880 failed when he got boxed in on the backstretch and finished fifth.

Strung out behind Texas and SMU in varsity point standings were Texas A&M with 37½, Texas Tech with 30½, Baylor with 23, Arkansas with 17½, Rice with 16 and TCU with 15½.

In the freshman division, Baylor was third with 41½ points back of Texas and Texas Tech, while Texas A&M collected 28½, SMU 24, TCU 18, Arkansas 14½ and Rice 13½.

Rome Gets Set To Stage The 1960 Olympic Games

By STEVE SNIDER
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Spectator housing may be scarce but all other respects the city of Rome will be fully prepared to stage the 1960 Olympic Games, a U.S. Olympic official said Monday.

Many of the renovations in a vast construction program will be ready, in fact, for competition this year. Work is progressing on a new airport, new highways and new bridges linking the various Olympic centers.

"They're right on schedule," said J. Lyman Bingham of New York, executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee. "They have plenty of money with government backing and that's what counts."

Nothing But Prize
"There has been nothing but praise from all countries about the progress of Rome's preparations."

Shortly after Rome was "elected" as site of the 1960 games, full building plans were drawn up (1955) and were approved by other nations the next year.

"The entire program is being put into effect within the scheduled time," according to a bulletin from the Rome organizing committee.

A new Olympic stadium seating 100,000 has been completed, though more seats may be added. An adjacent stadium built by Benito Mussolini is being overhauled and re-fitted for use this year.

A new football arena—Stadio Flaminio—is ahead of schedule, nearly ready.

Swimming Stadium Set
A new swimming stadium, started in 1957, will be ready this year despite unexpected difficulties with the Terrain.

A new velodrome for bike racing, begun in 1957, will have its competitive baptism this year.

The Palazzo dello Sport, where the U.S. basketball team and weight-lifters will defend Olympic honors, will be finished in the spring of 1960.

Auxiliary fields and arenas for training football, swimming, track and field teams are in use now or will be ready this summer.

Work is underway on a vast "Olympic Village" to house the athletes of all nations. Five Rome construction firms are swarming over the scene and no difficulties are expected. The buildings alone cost $10,430,000.

Obviously, there's a trifle more merely submitting a successful to putting on the Olympics than bid.

Oriole Team Options Rookie

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles cut their club roster to the required 25 players Saturday by sending 25-year-old rookie pitcher West Stock to their Miami farm club of the International League on option subject to 24-hour recall.

At the same time, the Orioles announced relief pitcher George Zuverink returns to action, another player must be sent out.

Stock, from Allyn, Wash., is a service returnee. Before his two-year stretch in the Army, he had a 14-6 record and a 3.33 earned run average with Aberdeen in the Class C Northern League.

Despite two years of inactivity, Stock was one of the most impressive of the Orioles' good looking young hurlers in training camp. In seven games this year, all in relief, he pitched 12 2-3 innings, allowed 16 hits and five earned runs for a 3.58 earned run average.

The naked eye can see no more than 4,500 stars on a clear night, even though the number visible may seem infinite.

Yank-Senator Trade Unlikely

NEW YORK (UPI)—Casey Stengel said Saturday there was little likelihood of an immediate deal being made between his New York Yankees and the Washington Senators.

Nevertheless, Stengel and Senator Manager Cookie Lavagetto huddled for some time behind the batting cage prior to Saturday's game.

"Of course, I don't know what can happen during the game while I'm sitting on the bench here," Stengel said.

"Some phone calls could be made and you never can tell, but right now there isn't anything on the fire."

Lavagetto is known to be seeking shortstop Jerry Lumpe and pitcher Johnny Kucks, while the Yankees are interested in pitcher Camilo Pascual or Pedro Ramos.

Both the Yanks and Senators are three men over the 25-player limit and will announce their cuts before Saturday night's midnight deadline.

Reds Grab Lead In NL, For First Time Since '57

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Bob Purkey and the Cincinnati Reds thwarted Warren Spahn in his quest for his 250th victory and pushed themselves into first place in the National League by defeating the Milwaukee Braves Saturday, 3-0.

It was the first time since the 1957 season that the Reds have occupied first place, as Cincinnati, suddenly turned tough against Milwaukee, defeated the Braves for the fourth time this season against two losses.

Homer-Happy Cards Wallop Cubs, 11-1
ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Catcher Hal Smith hit two homers good for five runs and Ken Boyer slashed a grand slammer Saturday to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to an 11-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Smith, hitting only 235, hit a three-run homer half-way up into the left field bleachers in the fourth inning to put the Cardinals ahead, 4-0. He then sent home two more runs with a second homer into the same spot during a St. Louis seven-run eighth-inning rally.

Highlight of the eighth inning was Ken Boyer's bases-full homer, his fourth home run of the year and the fourth grand slammer of his career.

The win went to right hander Larry Jackson, who allowed seven hits to chalk up his first victory of the season against four losses.

his second loss of the season in the second inning after being rapped for three runs on three walks, a hit batter and Nellie Fox's single.

Nats Over Yanks
NEW YORK (UPI) — Red-hot Harmon Killebrew clouted a pair of home runs and drove in four runs Saturday while Hal Griggs limited the New York Yankees to two hits in leading the Washington Senators to a 7-0 victory.

Killebrew credits his current home run binge to the fact he's "most choosy about the pitches I'm hitting now," but he wasn't partial where he belted them — or off whom — Saturday.

LA 6, Frisco 5
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Wally Moon, hitting in his first five trips to the plate, smashed a hard single through the box in the 11th inning today to give the Dodgers a 6-5 victory over the Giants and Clem Labine his first triumph of the season.

It was Labine's first victory over the Giants since August of 1955.

Labine, who had been winless in three previous decisions this year, started the tenth inning and set down the Giants in order during two frames.

Senators Trim to 25

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Washington Senators Saturday placed catcher Clint Courtney on the 30-day disabled list, sold infielder Bob Malkmus to Denver and optioned pitcher Jack Kralick to Chattanooga.

Courtney, who was supposed to have been Washington's first string catcher this season, first suffered a broken leg bone during spring training and then contracted mumps.

Malkmus was drafted by the Senators at the end of the 1957 season. He hit only 185 in 41 games for Washington and had no hits this season after making infrequent appearances in the lineup.

Kralick, a young left-hander, impressed Manager Cookie Lavagetto during spring training and was promoted to the Washington roster. He made five relief appearances so far this season. He is subject to 24-hour recall.

The transfers brought the Senators down to the 25-player limit.

Stitch Wins Over Ortega

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — Ruedell Stich, upset winner over fifth-ranking welterweight Gaspar Ortega, and a hero as well, said today his easy victory in the return match was all a matter of proper pacing.

"The first time I fought Ortega I didn't pace myself. But last night I kept things nice and even and didn't have any trouble at all," the Louisville, Ky., church elder said.

Stich, in addition to scoring his impressive win in the televised bout, was honored Friday night by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission for rescuing a drowning man in the Ohio River.

"I sure didn't want to go back to Louisville a loser after hearing about that," he said.

Ortega, a full-blooded Mexican Indian and a 6-5 favorite, said, "I just never got going."

Stich "kicked off" early to avenge the narrow loss he suffered at Ortega's hands and opened a cut over the Indian's left eye in the first round. Using a solid right jab, the stylish Stich pounded away at the eye.

In the third round Stich sent Ortega reeling into the ropes with a solid right to the head and then worked savagely on Ortega's body and head.

The fight, which ended with the 1,400 fans cheering the last minute for Stich's able performance, nearly came to an earlier end when Stich re-opened Ortega's cut. It was bleeding badly enough to have referee Joe Palmer ask a state athletic commission doctor look it over after the eighth round.

Palmer rated the fight 5-2-2; judge Harold McGrath 5-4-1 and judge Dick Albino 6-3-1, all for Stich.

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Billy Loes thwarted a ninth inning threat by the Red Sox Saturday to give the Baltimore Orioles a 4-3 victory over Boston.

Loes, making his fifth successful rescue job in six games this year, came in when Dick Gernert beat out an infield dribbler opening the ninth. He got Gary Geiger and Sammy White on foul pops and induced Don Buddin to hit a routine fly to center.

Business Views

United Press International

Top business leaders and government officials look for business to continue upward through mid-1960. Both government officials and businessmen making up the Commerce Department's business advisory council foresee a temporary slowdown if a steel strike develops. Beyond that they're concerned that a lag in auto sales or an increase in inflation or foreign competition could dampen business.

The Senate Antitrust subcommittee approved Democratic versions of two key parts of the administration's antitrust legislation program. The bills require pre-merger notification by large corporations and give the Justice Department the power to demand corporate records for use in civil antitrust suits.

COMMISSIONED AT TULSA

Robert W. Biery, whose parents are former Pampa residents, recently was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force Reserve in ceremonies at Tulsa University. His proud parents in photo above are Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Biery, formerly of Pampa and now of Tulsa. Biery has completed work for his University of Tulsa bachelor's degree in business management.

GRAY COUNTY Soil Conservation District News

Whether you live in the country or along "Main Street" in some busy town, you're probably close to the flood orbit of a watershed. And it may be later than you think.

Within a few hours McClellan Creek doing great amounts of damage. Bridges and roads are washed out, and valuable bottomland either badly washed away or covered up by sand and silt, rendering it almost useless.

Fences being destroyed is an annual occurrence. During 1937 and 1938 the highway to McClellan remained closed a good part of the summer while bridge and road repair was going on. Livestock was lost and homes threatened. Loss of life could have occurred.

Lake McClellan has received a heavy load of silt.

Today, many communities look to the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act, known as P. L. 566, as the answer to a good share of the nation's flood and water problems.

The Act provides for a community, project - type approach to soil and water resource development, use and conservation. Small watershed undertakings are the people's own projects.

When a flood problem or other water use problem exists, local people set up their own watershed projects. Under the act these organizations can receive technical and financial assistance from the U.S. Department of Agriculture in planning and carrying out works of improvement for: (1) flood prevention; (2) agricultural water management, including irrigation and drainage; (3) non-agricultural water management, including municipal or industrial water supply.

In passing the Small Watershed Act, Congress made clear that the Act be used to supplement both the nation's soil and water conservation programs and programs for development and flood protection of major river valleys.

The Act can be used by local people to tackle flood prevention and water management problems only when these problems cannot feasibly be handled under current Federal conservation programs.

Thus Congress paved the way for a joint attack on complex conservation problems that local people cannot be expected to solve single-handedly with only previously existing technical, financial, research and educational assistance.

One of the things rural and farm people like most about watershed protection and flood prevention enterprises is that they are essentially their own undertakings.

Too often rampaging floods and highwater problems are too tough and complex for local people to tackle singlehandedly. It's a team undertaking in this age with residents of flood fans and bottomlands working out watershed problems side by side with uplanders.

P. L. 566 has been described as a program by, for and of the people in which Uncle Sam lends a helping hand — not federal works with local help. Rural residents band together and sponsor a watershed project, then plan, build and manage it.

Watershed runoff — the strong arm of floods — isn't limited to mountain slopes and hillsides. Your own lawn, orchard, pasture or cropland sheds water too. Generally most of the larger watershed runoff is from these areas.

The Small Watershed Program, a typically American community-action approach, is one of the major new developments in water management and flood prevention.

Peg O' Pampa

HAVE YOU EVER seen so much baseball being played? day after day we notice hundreds of boys with mitts and such caps, playing all kinds of baseball... from organized team affairs to sand-lot type with maybe only four or five players... every park has its players... many, many back yards and front yards have a group of children playing baseball... the catcher's mitt is the symbol of Spring, we think, even more than the kite... also in the Spring is the city-wide cleanup campaign... and it has been in full swing now for a week or two... it is our humble opinion that much help in having a clean city would be a battery of trash cans... one to each two cars... at the many drive-in eating establishments around here... there is usually no place to put the napkins and straws when you are through eating, and inevitably they blow off the window tray and end up against a fence or a clump of grass or against a house nearby, etc... why don't they put trash cans where an arm thrust out of a car window would reach, with the paper cup and straw... many is the time we have cringed in distaste when the car ahead of us disgorged onto the street a sloppy, ice-filled drinking cup... cleanliness of a city is fifty per cent prevention, it seems to us!

NINE MAN SHOW is the title of an art exhibit now hanging in the Lovett Memorial Library... there is a small brochure listing the paintings and artists... you don't want to miss this one... it has been predicted by a famous artist that the paintings of one of these artists will be selling for fantastic sums in the future... as one of the greatest primitive painters in America... go to the exhibit and see if you can be an art critic and find out for yourselves which one it is... in case we have still left you in the dark about the exhibit, it is of the student work of the Dord Fitz classes in Pampa... it is sponsored by the Pampa Art Club and the Twentieth Century Club... at the Preview Reception held this afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m., you may see the works of Ethel Eller... Alva Satterwhite... Eleanor Anderwall... Mildred Wofford... Lorene Johnson... Ruth Huff... Helen Huff... Lucie Harrah... and Ruth Smalley... the exhibit runs through May 19th... go down and have a look between now and then... we feel sure you will be highly rewarded by a look at what Pampa artists are doing... and if you missed the craft show a couple of weeks ago... well, you shouldn't have... there is a great deal of talent in this city... which deserves your interest.

ON AND OFF the avenue... heard about a few people and trips this past week... for instance, John and Anita Bell and Bill and Bonnie Chambliss went to Las Vegas, Nevada for a holiday... which they much enjoyed... and with Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher in the news, you may be interested to know that they saw the latter, but missed the former, because Liz was having her tonsils removed that week... they also saw Jimmy Durante and Mae West... suppose now that the famous pair, Liz and Eddie, that is, will be married this week, at least that's what we read in the papers... guess the tonsils are out... and by the sounds we hear everybody is going to Las Vegas lately... whether it be New Mexico or Nevada... the Mark Heaths and Floyd Immlers were living it up in Nevada (we think)... recently... and also guess who is going to Las Vegas? Mr. and Mrs. Max Bolick, along with Dr. and Mrs. N. J. Ellis... they have great plans for a fine time... about others who have taken to the road, we have this little tidbit of info for your pink ears... or red eyes, as the case may be... Sammy Burns, Maxine Loring... Lola Roach... and Janet Warner were in Oklahoma City this past week... attending a duplicate bridge convention and accompanying tournament... bet they had a wonderful time, and hope they held all four Aces and Kings and what one needs to go with them, frequently... double fun to see the beeg city and also play bridge!

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE? well, you might try going for a ride this afternoon, and seeing all the leaves out and pretty flowers... don't forget to drive by the H. M. Lung residence on Charles, where Nita is very proud of her beautiful iris which are in their prime now... justifiably proud, we add... and guess what we saw? a few precious blossoms out on the lovingly planted flowers in the Aspen Street Park... hope they are still there if you go by... we saw them several days ago... and while we are miscellaneously commenting... we noticed, forcibly, how the new hotel construction is coming along, when, one day last week, high winds blew half a dirt pile across in front of our car as we traveled innocently down Hobart Street... ah, Spring breezes!... Glen and Laura Studebaker have some pretty tulips out... and the dandelions in the cemetery are thriving on the rain we had last week.

OUR ears have picked up some notes about the annual Spring luncheon and installation of officers held last week by Twentieth Century Allegro club... a delicious luncheon was served by Ann Heskew to some twenty-eight members, new and "old"... and Jo Gentry was installed as new President, who takes over the job done so competently this past year by Hilda Duncan... Mary Grady came up with a very clever installation speech, keyed to the Western theme of the table decorations... Jo was given a big cowboy hat, symbolizing her position as TCA ranch foreman for the coming year, and Hilda a huge pair of boots for her to fill as chief aide to the foreman in time of need... and so on, through the list of officers... the luncheon, served buffet style from dishes of red-banded design, was eaten at tables set with red-banded napkins, and placecards with cowboy figures on them, dreamed up by Marge Gill... must have been very nice, indeed.

DISSA AND DATA... friends of Faye Sidwell, who underwent surgery last week, are hoping for her swift recovery... and we hear that Elmer Fite is doing fairly well now, and all of us hope he will continue so... heard that Pampa is about to lose Brian and Blanche Thorley... at the moment they are in California... and will return here for about two weeks before leaving for good... the date is May 28th... they plan to drive to New York and take their car with them back to England... friends of Verl and Carmel Hagaman are busy welcoming these two back to Pampa... they have been living in Amarillo for some years, and have now returned to Pampa to live... they and their daughter, Joan, are in a new home on Christine and we welcome them back... have noticed Amy Russell working in the yard once or twice, when we have passed by... heard from the bird, that Stephen, Dennis and Johnny Palminter have some pet hamsters that give them lots of fun... we didn't realize hamsters make good pets, but we hear that they do... note in passing that Dora Meech is new president of Kappa Kappa Iota Sorority... and have you seen the robins in the park? they seem to be plentiful this year... this has been National Music week, and we feel we should not end this column without mentioning the scholarship awarded by the American Association of University Women... the winner this year was Bernice Beggelink... and may we remind you that the amount of this scholarship is influenced by the success of the production of "Cinderella" by the Children's Theater, under the direction of Bob Hamilton... this play will be presented this coming Tuesday afternoon in the Pampa High School Auditorium... before we leave, let's mention some proud new grandparents... Ben and Esther Ward... their daughter, Gloria, who is Mrs. Jack Baird, and who lives in Oklahoma, has a boy, and we thought all their friends would be interested in knowing this... and, speaking of babies... J. Barton Banks, five-months-old son of Bob and Gloria Banks, is one of the cutest, happiest, and healthiest babies you've ever seen... can't seem to quit... heard that the name of the new Catholic School will be Saint Vincent's... NOW we'll quit... gasping for breath.

Robin Brooke Sumner, David K. Gantz Repeat Nuptial Vows In Formal Rites

Miss Robin Brooke Sumner of Amarillo became the bride of David Kent Gantz with vows exchanged on May 2 at seven o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Parks Sumner, 2316 Judy, Amarillo. Mr. Gantz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman T. Gantz, 345 Sunset Dr.

Rev. Richard Crews, minister of the Pampa First Christian Church, officiated at the formal double-ring service amid a setting of floor standards of white gladioli and lemon leaves, which flanked the double-doors where the minister stood to direct the exchange of vows. White tapers in floor candelabra lighted the area. Other floral decorations of white carnations and white Marconi Daisies were used throughout the house.

Mrs. Margaret Heiny, pianist, played traditional wedding marches and a prelude of nuptial selections. She served as accompanist for her husband, Wendell Heiny, as he sang d'Hardelot's "Because" and Dunlap's "Wedding Prayer."

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal wedding gown of white silk bombazine and Alencon lace fashioned along princess lines with a molded bodice and long, tapering lace sleeves. The full skirt swept to a short train with a broad panel of lace extending the length of the skirt at back and below a modified bustle. Her fingertip Veil of Illusion was secured to a tiara of iridescent sequins and pearls. Her bridal bouquet was of white cymbidium orchids. She carried a handkerchief, which had been carried by four generations of the bridegroom's paternal family at their weddings and in the corner was tied a gold wedding band, which had been worn by brides in his maternal family.

ATTENDANTS

Attending the bride was Miss Barbara Mattox of Mountainburg, Ark., and Miss Dorothy Gantz of Pampa and Canyon, bridegroom's sister. They wore blue silk organza sheaths over taffeta styled with matching blue lace yokes cut to low "V's" at the back with bouffant overskirts of organza and taffeta secured at the front waistline by small tailored bows. Their shoes matched in color the tones of the dresses' delphinium blue. They carried cascade arrangements of white Marconi Daisies.

Richard Dale Gantz, of Las Cruces, N.M., bridegroom's brother, was best man, Richard Allen Dunham of Pampa and Canyon served as groomsmen. Ushers were James Weir Sumner, bride's brother, and Robert Bryant of Canyon.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Sumner, wore a palm green peau de sole sheath with matching slipper and a corsage fashioned from a brown, green-throated orchid. Mrs. Gantz, mother of the bridegroom, chose a beige dress with blue accessories and a brown, pink-throated orchid corsage.

RECEPTION

A reception for 75 guests was held in the home of the bride's parents immediately following the exchange of vows. The bride's table was laid with a Madeira linen and an outwork cloth centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and carnations. Mrs. A. A. Sassa of Clovis, N.M., godmother of the bride, presided at the punch service with Mrs. Chester Mattox of Mountainburg, Ark. serving the three-tiered wedding cake.

Assisting at the table were Mrs. Joe Hite and Mrs. Earl Golt, both of Amarillo. Other members of the houseparty were Mrs. Robert G. Kerr, bride's sister, Mrs. Richard Dale Gantz of Las Cruces, N.M., Mrs. Don Moen of Pampa, bridegroom's sister and sister-in-law respectively, Mrs. Clyde Walter, Mrs. Robert M. Skinner Jr. and Mrs. Robert Bryant of Canyon.

Following a brief wedding trip, the couple is now at home in Canyon, where the bride is a freshman and the bridegroom a senior at West Texas State College.

Mrs. Gantz received education in schools in Clovis, N.M., Mountainburg, Ark. and Amarillo. She was graduated from Amarillo High School in 1958 and is a student at West Texas State, where she is enrolled as an art major. She served on the yearbook staff at WT and is a Zeta Tau Alpha pledge. What can you do with outmoded and unbecoming clothes? In the big cities, you can sell them to "thrifty" shops. This also takes care of "bargains" you never wore. But in smaller towns, the best thing to do is pack a box for a relative who can use the clothes. Anyway, don't keep clothes that don't do something for you under the delusion that they're too "good" to throw away.

Upsilon Chapter Installs Officers At Monday Meet In City Club Room

Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met Monday evening in the City Club Room for a program presented by Mrs. Eugene Leigh, certified graphoanalyst. Mrs. Leigh, introduced by Mrs. Max Louvier, instructed each member to write a sentence using the letter "T" on individual cards. She then explained by use of a chalk board, the combinations of letters, strokes and slants which give clues to the character of the writer.

Mrs. Leigh, who lacks only one year in gaining a PHD in psychology, stated that writing reveals many personal traits and "no handwriting is alike, not even in twins."

Shopping Advice Given AT HD Club

Merton Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday morning with Mrs. Alvina Brandon, 2232 Willis, for a program on "Shopping Advice" presented by Mrs. Vard Smith.

Mrs. Smith advised, "As soon as you have decided which lines, colors, textures, and styles are most flattering and the clothes that you need for a well-rounded wardrobe, you are ready to go shopping."

"Try to avoid crowded rush hours," she continued, "never shop in a hurry. Always be courteous at all times remember, clerks are human, too."

"Look for the label or tag that accompanies the articles as it is difficult sometime to know what it is made of. A good label should tell you what fabric it is made of and how it will perform. The label should give the information whether it should be laundered or dry cleaned. It is also a good idea to remember the name of the manufacturer or designer, who makes clothes to fit your particular type of figure."

A round-table discussion was given on well-grooming from early morning till late evening.

Mrs. Clyde Edmundson, recreational leader, led the group in games and folk songs.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Bob Brandon, T. G. Groves, Jack Howard, V. Smith, Clyde Edmundson, and Jack Prather. Mrs. C. G. Dotson was welcomed as a new member and Miss Sherrie Brandon as a guest.

It was announced that the next meeting will be held in the City Park with Mrs. Edmundson as hostess.

Most drip and dry materials benefit from a light touch-up with a warm iron. However, you can iron pleats into a permanently pleated acrilan skirt with a twist of the wrist. After laundering, snap the skirt tautly. This shakes the pleats into place. Then hang up to dry.

Dr. Houston Bright Treble Clef Hears

Dr. Houston Bright of West Texas State College was guest speaker at the annual dinner meeting of Treble Clef Club on Tuesday Evening in the City Club Room.

Mrs. Patsy Martin played two piano numbers, composed by Dr. Bright, "Ballad From Superstition Mountain" and "Ironic Dance." Dr. Bright's subject was "The Composer of Today and His Problems," or as he aptly phrased it "The Care And Feeding of the Modern Composer."

As the answer to his question, "Why Compose At All?" Dr. Bright discussed the following reasons: the inner urge to create; the sense of achievement; the hope of performance of one's compositions; the immediate needs of a director, such as special events, composition contests and symposium.

Dr. Bright went on to describe the way he did his composing and the technical routine of preparing the manuscript for the publisher.

At the close of his talk, Dr. Bright answered questions from the members and played excerpts from his compositions.

Among guests attending the meeting were Mrs. Bob McCoy, former Treble Clef president; Mrs. J. G. Morrison and Mrs. J. J. Rance, associate members; Mrs. E. E. Ellis, Mrs. Buster Hudson, Mrs. Hazel Barthel and Miss Elizabeth Enns.

Re-using plastic bags you get at the store or dry cleaners is a money-saver. Store seeds and bulbs in the smaller ones, for example. Large plastic bags can cover stored fans, books and papers that you won't be using but want to keep clean.

Rose Society "Guest Speaker"

Pampa Rose Society met Tuesday evening in Lovett Memorial Library for its annual Guest Night with Roger Martini of Amarillo, district director of the National Rose Society as guest speaker. Mr. Martini, introduced by Mrs. H. H. Boynton, club president, has grown roses in Amarillo for 35 years. He spoke on their culture, how to plant, fertilize and disbud. He stated that roses are shipped by the train-load from East Texas, California and the East to all parts of the U.S. "There are," he said, "5,000 named roses, 870 of them are named for men and 2,000 for women. Forty-two roses were patented in 1958; however, some failed to survive. The Peace Rose is the outstanding rose of our time."

"For beginners standard roses such as Crimson Glory are best to buy. Floribundas and Grandifloras are more rugged than Hybrid Teas." Mr. Martini expressed the opinion that Grandiflora's will be the rose of the future and that Montezuma and Queen Elizabeth are popular Grandifloras for this area.

For the control of aphids, he recommended Clordane; for Blackspot and mildew the use of Sulphur-Dust and Captain.

The meeting was opened with the reading of the club prayer by Mrs. Martin Stubbe. During the brief business meeting conducted by Mrs. Boynton, plans were discussed for the club's participation in the Garden Show to be held June 27.

Refreshments of cake and coffee were served by the hosts and hostesses, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Colium and Mrs. Stanley Brandt.

A program on "The Memorial Poppy" was given by Poppy chairman, Mrs. F. W. Shotwell, who announced that the poppy will be on sale in Pampa on May 23, which is Texas Poppy Day. Mrs. Shotwell said, "Each of us should remember that the memorial poppy was made by the disabled veterans in VA Hospitals and one-third of the profit goes directly to these veterans. The balance of the Poppy Fund is spent on veterans and their families in our community." She urged each member to help with this important project. To close the program, she read "On Flanders Field."

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Breining, a report of the auxiliary convention was given and communications were read by the secretary from the district and state president thanking Pampa for its hospitality during the convention.

If you don't have a neat hand with washing sweaters, send yours to the dry cleaner. Never mind all the hang tags and instructions; some of us can manage the matter and others can't. Far better to pay a cleaning bill and get years of service from your sweaters.

PROVES HIS POINT

LELAND, Miss. (UPI)—The female boll weevil is more dangerous than the male, according to entomologist Marvin Meskil. He put a male and female in a cage containing cotton plants. The male damaged five cotton bolls on one plant. But the female made 42 punctures, damaging every plant in the cage.

New Western Due LaVista

"Thunder in the Sun," a big-scale outdoor drama in Technicolor, starring Susan Hayward and Jeff Chandler, with Jacques Bergerac and a top supporting cast headed by stage star Blanche Yurka, is the next attraction beginning Thursday at the LaVista Theatre.

Heralded as a different kind of Western, "Thunder in the Sun" tells the story of 50-odd Basques from the French Pyrenees who, in 1847, head for California with vines from the old country to start their vineyards in the new world. Miss Hayward portrays one of them, a fiery, strong-willed woman who is desired by two equally strong-willed men.

One of them is Chandler as the hard-bitten guide who undertakes, against his better judgment, to lead the group through the dangerous Indian country between Missouri and California. The other is played by Bergerac, one of the Basques, who, according to their custom, becomes betrothed to Susan when his brother, her husband, is killed.

The conflict of the two men for Susan's favors is played against sweeping scenes of Indian attack, scenes that Director Russell Rouse staged 8,500 feet above sea level on famous Mt. Whitney. Doing so afforded the screen Basques the opportunity of duplicating the guerrilla-type warfare and surprise tactics at which the Basques excel in their native mountains.

No Actress As Dedicated As Stevens

HOLLYWOOD
By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Greater love for perfection hath no actress than Inger Stevens who carried hospital bedpans for a week preparing for her television role tonight.

The Swedish beauty, who stars in "Diary Of A Nurse" for Playhouse 90, became a student nurse to give reality to her portrayal. And by golly, she was accepted by doctors, nurses and patients as the real McCoy.

Inger changed beds, jockeyed dressing trays, fed patients, helped give baths and answered bells without once being detected or recognized. "I could have played the role without working in the hospital," the dimpled blonde said over a highball. "They wanted to hire a technical advisor to teach me enough to get by, but I needed the emotional impact that a nurse goes through every day to be convincing on the screen."

Natural Transition
"The transition from actress to student nurse seemed natural and normal. I didn't have time to be frightened."

Inger's only worry was encountering Jean Simmons and other Hollywood luminaries in the hospital. "As I went my rounds I heard the problems of each patient, and I learned you can't get too involved emotionally with them. Otherwise all nurses would break down."

"I had to bathe a 10-year-old girl who was due to undergo a heart operation the next day," Inger said. "It was heart-breaking. She didn't know what was happening."

"The first thing I thought about the next morning was how she was pulling through. Fortunately, she is recovering beautifully."

"Right now I feel very much like a nurse. I'm still thinking about my patients and their lives. Given Uniform
"Because the other nurses didn't realize I was an actress they opened up, giving me a real insight into how they feel and what they think about their jobs and patients."

Business Views

United Press International
The steel industry is considering a mutual aid pact to share profits if the United Steelworkers of America use a "divide and conquer" strike strategy this year, according to R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator. He said the companies also were studying the advisability of a voluntary industry-wide shutdown if the union confined a walkout to one or two big producers.

Auto sales in April were the highest since June 1957. Dealers delivered 182,000 new cars in the final third of April — about 2 per cent ahead of the mid-month rate and brought total April sales to 502,500 cars — 2.85 per cent over the March level. For the first four months retail auto sales amounted to 1,825,000 or 27.7 per cent ahead of a year ago.

The administration lined up behind a congressional drive to give businessmen a tax break on their foreign investments. But it said Europe that such tax relief should be given only for investments in "critical" under-developed parts of the world, thereby excluding western Europe. There are about 40,000 species in the fly family.
