WEATHER

Considerable cloudiness through tomorrow with scattered showers across the area. Winds northerly at 10-20 mph today and tonight. Low tonight in the upper 40's and the high Thursday in the upper 60's.

What's making investors a little nervous right here is the unthinkable notion that an agency of the government is telling the truth.

House Delays Action On Agnew Request

Demos Opposed To Proceedings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Speaker Carl Albert said today the House would not act "at this time" on a request from Vice President Spiro T. Agnew that the House, rather than the courts, undertake an investigation of allegations of wrongdoing against him.

Albert told reporters: "The vice president's letter (asking for the House hearing) relates to matters before the courts. In view of that fact, I as speaker will not take any action on the letter at this time."

Albert would not enlarge on his two sentence statement which followed a meeting with other House Democratic leaders.

The action killed, at least for the time being, any chance the leadership would allow an inquiry to start as requested by Agnew on Tuesday.

Agnew backers could circumvent Albert's decision by the drastic method of introducing a resolution to impeach Agnew, thus forcing an inquiry. There was no indication, however, that such a move was being contemplated.

One House Republican, Rep. Paul Findley of Illinois, did introduce a resolution today calling for creation of a select committee to investigate "whether the House shall undertake impeachment proceedings against the vice president."

The quick Albert decision came as a surprise. House sources had indicated the leadership would probably mull over the Agnew request until at least next week.

Before Albert issued his statement, there was strong opposition to Agnew's proposal among House Democrats.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., a member of the House Judiciary Committee which might conduct such an investigation, commented: "His suggestion is most unacceptable and inappropriate. I would vote not to substitute the House for the criminal justice system."

Rep. Edward Meznivsky, D-Iowa, also a committee member, said: "I think the courts should still pursue the matter. Agnew cannot sidestep the legal issue involved."

Agnew, in his letter read on the House floor Tuesday, contended that the Constitution requires that he be impeached before any court action can be taken against him.

He predicted that a House investigation would vindicate him of any charges of wrongdoing as a county executive and Maryland governor before he became vice president.

He signaled that he would file suit to prevent the Baltimore grand jury from hearing evidence against him. Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson announced shortly before Agnew visited Albert late Tuesday afternoon that the grand jury would begin hearing evidence against Agnew Thursday.

One of the vice president's lawyers, Judah Best, said this morning he did not plan a legal move today to try to block the grand jury. But the action was expected shortly.

Albert said after Agnew had delivered his letter Tuesday that the full House would decide the request. The speaker told newsmen: "Nothing has been ruled in; nothing has been ruled out."

However, House Democratic floor leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., of Massachusetts, said he personally felt "we do not have an obligation to make an inquiry on his behalf."

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., chairman of the House Republican Conference, third in rank among minority GOP members, expressed doubt the House would agree to Agnew's request.

"I can't believe they (the Democrats) are going to go along with it," he said. "They won't bail the vice president out of his predicament." House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford, of Michigan, urged that Agnew's proposal be adopted.

"The vice president is being tried in the news media due to the many leaks concerning the charges against him," Ford said.

Doctors Say Astronauts Better Than First Crew

ABOARD USS NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Doctors said the Skylab 2 astronauts were in surprisingly good shape today with their only apparent problem unsteadiness from a record 59 days in weightless space.

"At the present time, they look better than the first crew," reported Dr. Royce Hawkins, chief astronaut physician in Houston.

Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma more than doubled the duration of the Skylab 1 mission, and Hawkins gave an increased exercise regimen as a possible explanation for the good condition of the Skylab 2 crewmen.

"They're in good shape," Hawkins said after doctors aboard this recovery ship completed a thorough, seven-hour physical examination. He said the spacemen were tired after a rigorous 24-hour splash-down day and planned to sleep late today in horizontal beds for the first time since they left Cape Kennedy July 28.

Pilots Due Home Thursday

The New Orleans was expected to reach U.S. waters later today but the astronauts will remain aboard in San Diego, Calif., until the all-important initial physical checks are finished. The pilots are due home in Houston Thursday evening.

The early condition of the astronauts buoyed the hopes of life scientists that the human body adapts to weightlessness without continuous physical deterioration. This would mean that flights of unlimited duration are possible.

Dr. James C. Fletcher, NASA administrator, said in Houston the flight already has proved men can live and work effectively in space for long periods. He called the mission "one of the most significant scientific ventures of all time."

President Nixon saluted the three astronauts for providing "a quantum jump in human knowledge."

President Sends Message

"By your scientific endeavor and your physical endurance, you have converted a space vehicle into a repository of more scientific knowledge than mankind can immediately consume," he said in a message to the crewmen.

Fletcher said the thousands of photographs and miles of recorded data brought back about man, the earth and the sun would overwhelm scientists and keep them busy for five years.

Brandt Delivers Address

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Presidential aide Patrick J. Buchanan testified today that he urged Nixon campaign forces in 1971 to mount a concerted anti-Muskie effort but never proposed anything illegal and accused the Senate Watergate committee staff of trying to malign his reputation.

Buchanan, appearing for the first time at the televised Senate hearings, said he recommended the focus on Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine at the time because Muskie then was frontrunner for the Democratic nomination to oppose President Nixon in 1972.

He made no mention in his opening statement of his role as head of a task force on "opposition research" aimed at Muskie, which he had related in private interviews with the committee staff.

He accused the staff of leaking material to reporters to make it look like he ran "a campaign of political espionage or dirty tricks" against Muskie.

Since the somewhat surprising announcement days ago that Buchanan, one of Nixon's— and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's—speech writers would be called as a witness, Buchanan said there had been a spate of news accounts about him. He said many of these reports were "an apparent campaign, orchestrated from within the committee staff, to malign my reputation in the public press prior to my appearance."

Buchanan acknowledged that he had recommended in the spring and summer of 1971 that the Nixon re-election campaign "concentrate their political resources upon Sen. Muskie—rather than dissipate them on the dozen other potential aspirants for the nomination."

It was his hope, he said, that if the Republicans focused on Muskie, they "might contribute to opening up the Democratic primaries and preventing a closed convention."

"There was nothing—and is nothing—in my judgment illicit or unethical or improper or unprecedented in recommending or adopting such a political strategy," he said.

He sharply disputed what he characterized as efforts by staff members of the committee to picture him as "the architect of a campaign of political espionage or dirty tricks."

The 35-year-old Washington, D. C., native—a former newspaperman in St. Louis—added:

Buchanan Admits Plans For Anti-Muskie Effort

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — West German Chancellor Willy Brandt, in the first address to the United Nations General Assembly by the head of a German government, today called for a "state of everyday peace" in a world which would be balanced by the participation of Japan, China and Europe.

West Germany was admitted to the United Nations only a week ago, along with East Germany.

"We have not come here to use the United Nations as a wailing wall for the German problems or to make claims we know cannot be met here in any case," Brandt said. "We shall seek to create a state of peace in Europe in which the German people also can regain their unity in free self-determination."

This would be accomplished "through growing security from military threat, through intensive economic and technological exchanges, through human contacts, through better knowledge of each other, in other words through a state of everyday peace," the 59-year-old Social Democratic chancellor said.

He said the "two superpowers"—the United States and the Soviet Union—"maintain a balance in the world largely through their nuclear equipment."

News Planning Revision Of Comic Pages Lineup

The Pampa News has negotiated new contracts for its comic page with some of them starting next week. The program of switching over to an almost entirely new lineup will begin Monday, Oct. 1, and continue until December.

A complete new makeup of the six page Sunday comic section will be distributed on Nov. 4. The Pampa News Sunday comics are printed in advance in Bartlesville, Okla. and requires additional time for preprinting of the section. Approximately two-thirds of the daily comics will be changed to those appearing in the Sunday comic section within the next 6-week period.

Steve Canyon, Donald Duck, Beetle Bailey, Barney Google and Snuffy Smith, and Hagar the Horrible are just a part of

"Thus our world today finds its balance. But it cannot achieve that delicate balance without the specific weight of the People's Republic of China, of Japan and of the European Community. In such a system the specific role of Latin America, of the African countries, of the Asian sub-continent and the other partners of Asia becomes effective," he said.

On Tuesday, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko accused American critics of Soviet emigration policies of "blackmail" and proposed that the big powers cut their military spending by 10 percent and use the savings to aid developing nations.

China brushed aside the arms proposal as propaganda, but other delegates expressed at least some interest.

"Of course, this measure requires the participation of all states (who are) permanent members of the Security Council without exception," Gromyko said in an apparent reference to China.

Chinese sources at the United Nations, however, dismissed Gromyko's cutback proposal as "pure propaganda." China has refused to the past to go along with big power agreements barring nuclear testing in the atmosphere.

The French, who also have balked at signing the test ban agreement, gave lukewarm support to the Russian proposal.

"Why not?" a French delegation spokesman said with a Gallic shrug.

The permanent Security Council members are the United States, the Soviet Union, China, Britain and France. The Soviet Union made a similar proposal in 1958, but the measure was defeated in the assembly. The Russians raised the issue again in 1962, but no vote was taken.

The United States, France and Britain have proposed freezes in arms spending in past years.

A U.S. spokesman said Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who listened to Gromyko's speech, thought the proposal should be looked into "in its entirety."

Suits Continue On TAQCB's Feedlot Permit

AUSTIN — Last Thursday, the Cockrell Cattle Co. of Pampa was removed as a co-defendant in a suit filed by Kint Philpott, et al. of Pampa against the Texas Air Quality Control Board, its executive director Charles Barden and the Cockrell Cattle Co.

The suit was originally filed in an effort to have a feedlot permit issued to Cockrell Cattle Co. by the TAQCB revoked.

Albert Hooper of Austin, attorney for the plaintiffs, said yesterday the Cockrell Cattle Co. was dismissed from the suit by a Judge Myers of the Travis County District Court after a request for dismissal by Cockrell attorney Ben Sturgeon.

Hooper said he had no objections to the motion for dismissal since, legally, the only necessary defendants in the suit were the TAQCB and Barden.

Cockrell had been joined as a party defendant in the suit at its own request, Hooper said, and its dismissal from the suit has no bearing on the suit against the other defendants.

Hooper went on to say that the question of the merits of the suit has still not been heard and the question of whether or not Cockrell will be allowed to continue operating is still being litigated in the Travis County District Court.

A part of the Sunday section starting in November will include Dunagin's People, Cappy Dick and Dennis the Menace.

Judge Parker will still be on the daily page and will appear in the Sunday section commencing Nov. 4.

Senate Votes To Cut Back Troop Forces

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted today to cut U.S. troop strength overseas by 40 per cent over the next three years.

In a major surprise, senators adopted, 49 to 46, a proposal by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to bring many troops home from Europe and other overseas bases by June 30, 1976.

The vote was an amendment to add the provision to the defense authorization bill.

The language is likely to be dropped however before Congress completes action on the defense bill. A majority of House members has opposed any big cutback in U. S. troops in Europe.

However, the Senate action confronted President Nixon and the European community with a major challenge to straighten out financing of 300,000 U.S. troops remaining in Europe a quarter century after World War II.

The vote came after a debate that lasted only two hours. Only a few members were on the floor to hear Mansfield's appeal for a reduction in forces.

Mansfield charged that other nations had grown fat while U. S. funds were drained to pay for their defense.

Cooler Weather Pushing Through Panhandle Area

Pampa received .18 inches of rain last night to raise our total for the year to 21.20 inches. That makes the total for the year well above the 19.80 inches that is the average for the city.

Cooler weather pushing southeastward across the area last night accounted for the slight rainfall.

The low in Pampa last night was 56 degrees while the high Tuesday was an even 90 degrees.

The cooler weather is expected to cause temperatures to dip near 40 degrees tonight in the northern section of the Panhandle.

In United Press International reports:

Heavy rains washed over the Central Plains states today, soaking wounds left by tornadoes that ripped through the area Tuesday.

Tornado watches remained in effect in many Plains states early today. Tornadoes slashed across through 4,800 square miles of Kansas, killing one woman and injuring 111 others.

Two other persons were reported missing and presumed dead.

Clay Center, Kan., was the hardest hit town. A twister destroyed at least half of the community's central business district and injured 100 persons.

Tornadoes also menaced other parts of Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

The tornado a do watches stretched along a band from the Texas Panhandle and western Oklahoma into southeast Nebraska and western Iowa.

Heavy rains falling on water-logged soil triggered more flash flooding with warnings being issued for the central half of Kansas and southeast Nebraska. Moderate to heavy rains were expected to drift from the area into eastern Kansas and northwest Missouri.

Thunderstorms were reported Tuesday evening from the eastern Dakotas and southern Minnesota over Iowa and the Central Plains into the Texas Panhandle and northeast New Mexico.

Dayan Predicts Desert City In Sinai Peninsula

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Defense Minister Moshe Dayan called Tuesday for the creation of a desert metropolis of hundreds of thousands of Jews in the occupied Sinai Peninsula seized by Israel in the 1967 Middle East War.

Dayan told desert settlers in the Sinai he envisioned the Israeli port city would someday outstrip in population the nearby Gaza Strip, which has 370,000 Arab residents.

The national radio station said Dayan spoke of the proposed desert city in a speech to Jewish immigrant families from the Soviet Union settling on the proposed site.

Dayan called the city Yamit and said it could serve as a "strategic buffer zone" between Israel and the Gaza Strip. He said he hoped the city would have hundreds of thousands of Jews living in it by the end of the century.

The government officially has announced plans to establish an "administrative center" of 800 families on the site by 1975, but has made no commitment so far to build a large city along the dimensions proposed by Dayan.

Kissinger Ends 1st UN Visit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger concludes his initial visit to the United Nations today, a three-day round of talks during which he has courted antagonists, allies and neutralists in an intensified search for a global peace.

His schedule today called for diplomatic appointments from early morning until he leaves late tonight for Washington after attending a dinner to be given by U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim.

In between continuing sessions with visiting foreign ministers, Kissinger planned to go to the U.N. General Assembly at some point during the morning to listen to the address of West German Chancellor Willy Brandt. This is a courtesy he so far has extended to only one other delegation chief—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Kissinger's maiden venture into the arena of the United Nations since becoming secretary of state Saturday lasted only three days. However, he plans to return to New York late in the evening Oct. 1 and spend two more days here.

During that time he will confer with Chinese officials with whom he dealt during the 1972 Peking visit of President Nixon.

Kissinger told representatives of 13 Arab states and the Arab League who attended the luncheon he gave Tuesday that the United States was ready to assist in finding some solution to the continuing Middle East conflict but that it would be wrong to expect Washington "to bring forth miracles."

He said the United States realized that the Arab states had some grievances which would somehow be dealt with in order to modify the situation but he said any solution must be on a practical basis, with both sides working to ease tensions.

Kissinger was understood to be generally pleased with his reception here. However, he realized that he has been dealing so far in general terms and that his official acts will become considerably more difficult as he has to grapple on specific terms with exceedingly complex problems over a long period of time.

DOCTOR SAYS Suicide Attempt Made By Boyle

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Former United Mine Workers president W. A. "Tony" Boyle was being kept alive today by mechanical devices in a Washington hospital following what his personal physician described as an apparent suicide attempt with an overdose of drugs.

Officials at George Washington University Hospital said Boyle's condition remained "critical." Dr. Milton Gusack, Boyle's physician, said the 71-year-old former union leader's chances of survival were "minimal."

Boyle was rushed to the hospital late Monday night only 10 hours before he was to appear in federal court on a government attempt to extradite him to Pittsburgh to face murder charges in the 1969 slaying of union insurgent Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski.

Hughes Gave $100,000 For Nixon Campaign

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Howard Hughes gave $100,000 in cash to Bebe Rebozo for President Nixon, and $50,000 to then-Vice President Hubert Humphrey because he wanted to "own the President," a former top aide to the billionaire recluse has charged.

The accusation was made by Robert Maheu, who is involved in a bitter legal battle with Hughes. In court depositions made public Tuesday, Maheu said that two suitcases, each containing $50,000 in cash, had been given to Rebozo, Nixon's close friend.

Richard Danner, a Hughes aide who is now general manager of the Hughes-owned Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev., gave Rebozo the first suitcase at the Western White House in 1969, Maheu said.

He said he gave Humphrey $50,000 in cash during the 1968 presidential campaign, handing it to Humphrey as the vice president sat in a limousine outside the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles.

Junta Tightens Economy

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) - The ruling military junta today announced a "belt tightening" program to restore the Chilean economy and said it would make increased foreign investment a top priority.

The junta also outlawed the country's biggest labor union, the Central Union of Workers (CUT) which is controlled by Socialists and Communists and which was one of former President Salvador Allende's main bastions of support.

A decree published by the justice ministry said it was "canceling the charter of the Central Union of Workers which has transformed itself into an organization of political character and come under influences foreign and contrary to the national sentiment."

The decree prohibited any references to the union's existence, "either to the organization or its action," and banned "voiced or written propaganda..." referring to the existence or function of the organization.

The CUT president, Luis Figueroa, for a time served as labor minister in Allende's government.

A spokesman for the new government also said all mayors of Chile's main cities and the 25 provincial governors had been fired and that some would be prosecuted for financial mismanagement.

Adm. Jose Toribio Merino, a member of the junta, said in a newspaper interview that the junta's plan to revive the economy would place priority on foreign investment, but he gave no details. He added that the main sacrifice will have to be made by Chileans themselves.

During Allende's government, millions of dollars in foreign credits were cut off after several foreign-owned enterprises were nationalized, including the American-owned Chilean telephone company (owned by ITT) and the holdings of the Kennecott and Anaconda copper companies.

Several foreign lenders, including at least one big New York bank, announced they would increase credit to Chile after the military coup on Sept. 11.

FDA Issues Warnings On Mushrooms

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Federal food inspectors are launching a search of more than 5,000 warehouses across the country to check every can of mushrooms they can find for signs of poisoning.

At the same time the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) warned consumers not to open or eat any can of mushrooms now on home shelves that may be swollen, leaky or appear in any other way to be abnormal.

The massive warehouse search and the warning were triggered by an intensive FDA investigation of the mushroom industry which the agency said revealed that half of the 42 known mushroom processing plants in the country were using defective equipment or inadequate operating procedures.

FDA began its investigation after a spate of industry recalls - five so far this year - involving mushrooms contaminated with botulism poison. The toxin, which attacks the central nervous system and can cause death, usually results from inadequate cooking procedures during the canning process.

FDA Commissioner Dr. Alexander Schmidt said the agency has imposed "new mandatory production safeguards" on the mushroom industry and "we are confident that mushroom processors can now produce a safe product."

However, because of a series of recent recalls caused by botulism contamination, we believe it is necessary to expand our examination to all outstanding mushroom stocks canned before industrywide corrective measures were instituted," Schmidt added.

Robert Elliott, chancellor commander, presided. Wilson S. Howell, master of works, was in charge of the rank team which included Elliott, Weatherred, Lonnie Parsley, Ray Bernard, B.B. Altman, Jr., Carl Sexton, Don Thompson, Gary Clark, Tommy Dawes and Peg Whittle. Knights Gary Dokes, Don Brunson and Shellie Downs served refreshments to the some 25 members present.

AT TEXTBOOK HEARING Psychology Book Advocates Homosexuality, Woman Says

AUSTIN - A Longview woman testifying at a hearing on school textbooks Tuesday said a high school psychology book promotes homosexuality and teaches destruction of worthwhile values.

Mrs. Mel Gabler, on the last of seven days of hearings before State Education Commissioner Dr. J.W. Edgar, said the Prentice-Hall, Inc. book "is not only stupid, it is completely out of the realm of psychology."

Mrs. Gabler drew a parallel between the book and the murders of 27 boys in Houston.

"There is no excuse for advocacy of homosexuality," she said. "One of those 27 could have been one of my sons, and the people of Texas are not going to put up with that. Mothers right now are afraid to let their children out the door, and to think we would put money into a text that would promote homosexuality is ridiculous."

Mrs. Gabler was irritated by the publisher's one-paragraph response to her 18 pages of criticism of the book titled "Behind the Mask of our Psychological World."

H. D. Watkins of Prentice-Hall told the commissioner Mrs. Gabler's attack on the text was so broad it would, in effect, protest the entire study of psychology in high school.

"Psychology is the study of what is, not what should be," Watkins said. "It should not be made the servant of someone's own personal beliefs."

Mrs. Gabler also objected to sections of the book referring to evolution, and to a paragraph suggesting that "if we wanted to truly induce completely creative thinking, we should teach children to question the Ten Commandments, patriotism, the two-party system, monogamy and the laws against incest."

Trip To Home Nips Memories

By JACK V. FOX
ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (UPI) — Thomas Wolfe was not quite right. You can go home again. But don't.

Not if home is a small town in the Middle West that time has passed by. Not if you don't want a sad sense of loss and a headache remembering things the way they used to be.

A few weeks ago my wife and I drove across the Missouri River bridge from Atchison, Kan., and suddenly there were the scenes of a summer romance of long ago—Sugar Lake and Bean Lake.

Once there was a dance pavilion on the shore of Bean Lake. On a sweltering July night with the moon shimmering on the still surface, the strains of "Sophisticated Lady" and "Stardust" would waft to the opposite side.

All Wrapped in One
It was Lake Lucerne and Lake Louise and the harbor at Monte Carlo all wrapped in one. Now it was two muddy ponds, so unbelievably small, choked with water lily pads. The pavilion was gone.

We drove in a sodden rain north up the highway to St. Joe. On the outskirts is a sign that reads: "St. Joseph, Pop. 70,345."

St. Joe had a population of 70,000 when I left in the summer of 1940. A great many young men went away because the town had little to offer a depression generation except for the sons of the bankers, grain mill operators and scattering of manufacturers who were its elite.

Suddenly we were "downtown" and it looked old, so old, and worn out and small but, most of all, two of every three shops were boarded or torn down, with holes like gaping teeth.

As it has to so many towns, the federal highway system has drawn business to the shopping centers on the outskirts leaving only decay.

Had Lunch at Hotel
We had lunch in the Pony Express bar of the Hotel Robidoux, named after the city's founder, a French fur trader named Joseph Robidoux.

The hotel was once the hub of social life. At Christmas, girls in long gowns with gardenia corsages and gawky boys in rented tuxes traipsed the marble stairs to the ballroom to dance cheek to cheek while a revolving, mirrored globe made the waxed floor a kaleidoscope of colors.

St. Joe was a great place to grow up and live in, but I don't want to visit there again.

Jews Move To Observe 'Holy Holy Days' Period

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
The High Holy Days, which mark the beginning of the year 5734 on the Jewish calendar, begin at sundown tonight.

The observance covers a period of 10 days, the most sacred season of the year for any Jew who retains even a distant tie with the faith of his fathers.

Beginning tonight with the celebration of Rosh Hashanah, New Year's Day, and culminating with Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, the 10 days are known collectively as Yamim Noraim, the Days of Reverence. In popular usage, they are called the High Holy Days.

Traditionally, this is a time for every Jew to search his inner being, examine his life-style, rethink his values and appraise the state of his relationships with others. He is to measure what he seems himself becoming against the high ethical standards of Judaism, and undertake such self-correction and reform as seems necessary.

The historical origins of the holy days are obscure. The Bible contains what some scholars regard as allusions to Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. But the full development of the 10 day season of Yamim Noraim appears to have come rather late in the history of Judaism, as compared to the very ancient celebration of the Feast of the Passover.

The most striking symbol of Rosh Hashanah is the blowing of the shofar (ram's horn). Once used to summon Jews to battle against Canaanites and other foes, the shofar's bone-chilling call now is a summons to serious personal introspection.

Yom Kippur, which terminates the High Holy Days, is a day of great solemnity, traditionally observed by the devout with 24 hours of fasting and prayer. Its tone is set by the ancient chant called the Kol Nidre, which combines elements of confession, petition for forgiveness, and resolve to try harder in the year ahead.

It is perfectly proper to wish Jewish friends a Happy New Year today or tomorrow.

Woman Criticizes Textbook's 'Barnyard Morals'

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A Longview woman told publishers a sociology textbook proposed for use in Texas public schools would condition young people toward "barnyard morals."

Mrs. Mel Gabler, speaking in the final sessions of hearings for proposed textbooks for the 1974-75 year, objected to the Harcourt Brace Janovich, Inc., book because she said it suggested students discuss group marriages and divorce.

"The text plainly requires the students to discuss the advantages of group marriages and to actually act out getting a divorce," she said.

"This is clearly, plainly and unmistakably conditioning youth away from the absolute values toward being animal-like or what is sometimes referred to as having 'barnyard morals.'"

She told the publishers the book was "a violation of my rights, the rights of students, and the rights of millions of parents who have as yet not been conditioned away from moral values by textbooks such as this."

Mrs. Gabler also protested references to evolution in the texts, and the use of a phrase calling man "a social animal."

Speaking to education commissioner Dr. J. W. Edgar she said "It's perfectly fine if he wants to be classified as an animal, but I happen to not want to be."

Mrs. Gabler also objected to pictures of black activists, included in a sociology text published by Allyn and Bacon, Inc., which she said focused too much attention on the activists.

"Activists like Malcolm X, James Baldwin, Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown should not be given the respectability of being included," she said Monday during the closing sessions of hearings on proposed adoption of 316 textbooks for the 1974-75 Texas school year. "Pictures elevate the status of a person, even more than content."

Mrs. Gabler also protested a chapter which she said implied Jesus and Paul were black.

"These are examples of completely biased treatment against Christianity while the black Muslim activities are given preferred treatment," Mrs. Gabler said.

She said the text also stressed white racism, but made little mention of racism among blacks.

"Racism as practiced by some whites is portrayed disproportionately as related to racism practiced by blacks," she said. "There are many places where it is not safe for whites to visit in this land of freedom."

Mrs. Gabler also demanded the deletion of Eldridge Cleaver's "Soul on Ice" from a list of recommended outside reading.

The fish caught most numerous by man is the hering.

Mildred's love for her husband waned when he failed to lean upon her and thus make her feel important. Read Matthew 6:21, for superb advice on how to win a sweetheart or hold a wife's undying devotion. Lean on your children, too!

CASE Y-527: Mildred J., aged 27, wants a divorce.
"Dr. Crane," her wealthy husband protested, "what is wrong with her?"
"For I have indulged her with gifts and her own car and a lavish allowance."
"What more could she want to be happy?"

WRONG STRATEGY

Many men use the wrong strategy in the realm of love. They think they can purchase undying affection with money! Even Uncle Sam has made the same mistake with his lavish scattering of billions of our taxes among foreign nations.

"Yanks, Go Home," is then the angry retort of such recipients when our bankroll is depleted!
The real secret for winning friendship (and love) is based on this axiom:
"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT."
Mildred fails to feel important when she is treated as a "kept" woman and obligated to her husband for all his gifts.

For a sense of obligation DEFLATES one's pride. Her husband could far more easily have held her love if he had leaned upon her for advice and suggestions.

Then she'd have felt important to him and also remained keenly interested each day in how well her ideas had panned out in his business.

Thus, she'd have felt like a partner, which is far more inflating to a wife's ego than to be lavishly indulged all the time.

Jesus gave Mildred's husband the cue for holding her interest and love when he stated (Matthew 6:21):
"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."
And "treasure" includes our advice, suggestions, ideas and other aid to our associates.

Many parents likewise lose their children by similarly indulging them too much.

Such teen-agers may then actually curse their parents if the latter are forced by threatened bankruptcy to reduce the lavish cars and allowances to their college offspring.

But the children who feel important by doing favors for their parents, are the dutiful sons and daughters that stick by their aged father and mother to the end.

Same goes for wives (and also husbands).
We gain more lasting friendships (and love) by letting others do for us, instead of trying to be perpetual Santa Claus to them.

Uncle Sam, please note well! Although our country has been the world's chief Santa Claus, the U.S.A. is the most hated, envied and maligned country in the U.N.

Sycophants may render lip service to Uncle Sam while trying to wrangle more billions of our taxes, but they will treat Uncle Sam exactly like the comrades of the Biblical Prodigal Son who turned their backs on him when his money ran out!

Sometimes an aggressive, dominant husband regains the love of his wife when he becomes ill, invalidated or bankrupt, for then the wife realizes she is really needed. This, in turn, makes her feel important.

Candy and flowers are valued by wives as evidence that their husbands rely upon them and want to express their appreciation.

But prolonged, one-sided indulgence reduces a wife's feeling of importance!

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — CBS-TV walloped the opposition networks in the national ratings for premiere week of the new television season.
The perennial leader in statistical competition among the networks, CBS-TV swept through the Sept. 10-16 premiere week by having nine of the top 10 programs and 15 of the top 20. In addition, only three of its shows finished among the bottom 25 in the rankings.
Leading all 58 programs surveyed for audience popularity in the season's initial week was the motion picture "Planet of the Apes," broadcast by CBS-TV, including overnight national statistics along with the New York City and Los Angeles area spot ratings.
Most Popular Series
Finishing second among the 58 programs in the Sept. 10-16 figures, and well behind "Planet of the Apes," was CBS-TV's "All in the Family," which is still apparently video's most popular regular series.
In third place was another CBS-TV series, "Mash," which has been moved this season to the time slot immediately following "All in the Family," and thereby benefits from a strong lead-in audience.
Rounding out the top 10 programs in the premiere week ratings are CBS-TV's "Hawaii Five-O," "Mary Tyler Moore Show," "Coffee, Tea or Me?" (A one-shot teleplay), "Bob Neuhart Series," "Barnaby Jones," "ABC-TV's motion picture "Evel Knievel" (about the daredevil motorcyclist) and on CBS-TV again, "Cannon."
Among the next 10 shows, the six CBS-TV programs are "Maude," the Carol Burnett series, "Gunsmoke," "The Waltons," "The Sonny and Cher Hour" and "Here's Lucy."
Dead last in the ratings is the Democratic Party's NBC-TV fund-raising telethon, which nonetheless brought in more than $5 million because it obviously won the attention of enough viewers of the kind it was aimed at.
Dick Van Dyke's series, another CBS-TV entry, has been moved this season to the time slot following "Here's Lucy" in hopes of a ratings improvement, and its first episode in the new schedule period came in a respectable 25th.
NBC-TV's "Today" series plans to mark the 75th anniversary of the birth of George Gershwin with a lengthy segment in its broadcast of Wednesday ... Among those expected to be on hand is Mrs. Frances Gershwin Godowsky to reminisce about her brothers George and Ira, who wrote the lyrics.

Postmaster General Reveals Stamp Rates Could Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General Elmer T. Klassen says that unless he is overruled an eight-cent stamp will cost ten cents beginning Jan. 5.
Klassen was formally presenting proposed across-the-board postal rate increases Tuesday to the Postal Rate Commission, an five-member advisory body appointed by the President.
The commission will make its recommendation to the Board of Governors of the U.S. Postal Service, which has the final say, provided the administration's Cost of Living Council does not object.
In a National Press Club speech Monday, Klassen said the postal service is "under severe inflationary pressures" like many other enterprises. "The cost-price squeeze has affected us just as much as it has affected the entire economy," he said.
As to the Cost of Living Council, which rules on price and wage increases throughout the economy, Klassen said: "I trust they will see the light."
The rate increases for all classes of mail would amount to $2.1 billion a year.
Air-mail would go from 11 to 13 cents. There would also be increases averaging about 38 per cent for second-class mail, 25 per cent for third-class and 6 per cent for fourth-class parcel post.

To Christians, the hexagram denotes the six days of creation.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Five-heart response — unhappy

Bridge hand diagram showing cards for North, East, South, and West.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Bear in mind the modification of Blackwood in which five clubs shows zero or three aces; five diamonds one or four; five hearts two and unimportance with the whole hand; five spades two aces plus happiness.

Put yourself in South's position.

He is playing old-fashioned simple Blackwood and finds out that his partner holds two aces and a king. He is very likely to bid a grand slam on the theory that if North holds three to the queen in either minor suit or the queen of spades, seven will make easily.

Now suppose he is playing the above modification. He knows that North is unhappy about his hand in general. He finds out that North holds the ace-king of spades and ace of hearts. Those are the only aces and kings that South is not looking right at.

Clearly North wouldn't be unhappy about his hand if his spade suit were headed by ace-king-queen. Probably he wouldn't be unhappy if he had three to the queen in either suit.

Therefore, South decides to just bid six. Of course, he bids it in no-trump. He counts the same 12 sure tricks in either no-trump or hearts except that not only does no-trump count 10 points more but it is safer.

CARD Sense

The bidding has been: West 1♠ Pass North 1♥ Pass East 2♥ Pass South 2♦ Pass

You, South, hold: ♠Q 8 6 4 2 ♥7 2 6 A 4 ♣A K J 9 7

What do you do now? A—Double. Five spades is a very close second choice, but do not pass.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of passing, your partner has bid five spades and East has bid six hearts. What do you do now?

Answer tomorrow

Readers defend girl's right to ride

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Apropos the 13-year-old Jewish girl who was chosen to represent her county in a horse show, but because it fell on the High Holy Days, her parents wouldn't let her. Now, I am a Jewish grandmother, and I think the girl should be allowed to ride on the holiday.

I think your telling the child that she had no choice but to obey her parents was wrong. LILY SELWYN, L.A.

DEAR ABBY: That letter from the 13-year-old Jewish girl whose parents refused to let her ride in the horse show because it fell on the High Holy Days is one I would like to answer.

I understand exactly how that girl feels because I am a 14-year-old Jewish girl who also loves horses. Since Yom Kippur is the Jewish holiday when Jews are supposed to fast, why not have the girl tell her parents that if they let her ride in the horse show on that day she will promise not to eat anything, and after she finishes with the show, the rest of the day she will observe the holiday the way her parents want her to? ALSO JEWISH

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the Jewish girl whose parents wouldn't let her participate in the horse show on a Jewish holiday: The girl's resentment should be directed not to her parents or to the Jewish faith, but to the organization that scheduled the horse show on a Jewish holiday.

DEAR ABBY: Both your attitude and that of the girl's parents burned me up! The girl obviously is extremely interested and involved in horses and horse shows. She has had to work very hard with her horse to be selected to represent her county. This is her passion, her main joy in life, and what she wants to devote her energies to.

Double-Ring Service Unites Tango Paronto-James Hood

Nuptial vows were repeated Saturday, Sept. 1 at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church by Tanga Relynn Paronto and James Pamplin Hood.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Paronto, 1720 Dogwood, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hood, 2336 Duncan.

THE CEREMONY

The Rev. Claude Cone, pastor, officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Eloise Lane, organist, accompanied Miss Shelley Cogdell of Lubbock, as she sang, "Twelfth of Never," "We've Only Just Begun," "Love, A Many Splendored Thing," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Church decorations were tall candelabra holding tapers decorated with green salal foliage and a large basket arrangement of white mums, gladioli and baby's breath.

THE BRIDE

The bride, presented in marriage by her father with "her mother and I" avowal, wore a formal length wedding gown of Chantilly lace over bridal taffeta designed with a Sabrina neckline, natural waistline, bouffant skirt and long tapered sleeves. The skirt had ruffles of lace which fell in waterfall fashion. The back of the gown ended in a sweeping chapel length train. Her veil of imported illusion with a border of matching Chantilly lace, fell from a coil designed from lace, sequins, and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, baby's breath, asters and carnations.

She wore a new wedding gown: a blue garter belonging to the bridegroom's mother; borrowed pennies of the couples birthdates; and a cameo, belonging to her great-grandmother.

ATTENDANTS

Nancy Crosshwaite, Austin, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Teresa Cloyd, Kathy Bynum, and Donna Smart, all of Pampa and Sherri Ross, Canyon. They wore identical formal length gowns of purple dotted Swiss of princess style. They carried purple asters, white carnations and baby's breath with floor length ribbon streamers.

MRS. JAMES PAMPLIN HOOD
...nee Miss Tanga Relynn Paronto

Kita Paronto, cousin of the bride, Pampa, and Ray Dean Cornnet, Pampa, lighted the candles.

Jeff Hogan, El Paso, was best man, and groomsmen were John Benton, Denton, cousin of the bridegroom, Greg Williams, Pampa, Duane Brown, Canyon and Tom Fisher, Denton.

Serving as ushers were Carl Hill, Dallas, Joe Williams and J.B. McMeans, Amarillo, and Dan Hood, brother of the bridegroom, College Station. All male attendants wore black tuxedos with purple shirts.

RECEPTION

For the reception in Fellowship Hall of the Church, the bridal table was covered with a white satin cloth and was centered with a candelabrum and floral arrangement. June McMeans served cake from this table and Miss Zindi Epperson assisted at the punchbowl. Mrs. Dan Hood served coffee from the bridegroom's table, which was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a candelabrum, and DeAnn Benton, Denton, served the bridegroom's cake. Freddie Rochelle, Pampa, registered wedding guests.

For the wedding trip to Amarillo, the bride wore a gray formal length dress with red accessories and lifted the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The new address of the couple is Apt. 122, University City, Denton.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride is a graduate of Pampa High School and will be employed at Texas Women's University. The bridegroom is also a PHS graduate and will be attending North Texas State.

PRE-NUPITAL EVENTS

The bride was honored recently by a shower hosted by Robyn Caldwell, Susan Lockhart, Brenda Winters, Donna Smart, Nancy Crosshwaite, Sherry Ross and Melody Houston.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

Attending the wedding from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. John Benton and Miss De Ann Benton, Denton; Nancy Crosshwaite, Sherry Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Currie, Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Grant Gikes, Lubbock; Tommy Wright, Arlington; Bill Rains, Briscoe; Jack Black, Mrs. Marilyn Kocher, Ulysses, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. J.U. Thursday? It was a peach for 53 of Pampa's seniors, as they met for their weekly party at Lovett Memorial Library. The Opti-Mrs. Club were hostesses and serving sandwiches, cake and coffee were Mmes. Donye Massie, Margaret Phillips, Bettye McGuire and Mary Summers.

Sponsoring Altruists present were Mrs. Louise Sewell, chairman, and Mrs. Olive Hills and Mrs. Marian Jameson. Door prizes went to Mrs. Linnie Lester and Dave Kindricks.

Mrs. Lee Meadows' son, Boyd Moore, is recovering nicely following open heart surgery in St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

Mrs. Olive Hills' daughter, Mrs. Donald Melancon of Atlanta, Ga. was welcomed as a visitor.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H.G. Lawrence last week was her son, Frank Yates of Cheyenne, Wyo.

Mrs. Elma Bailey has returned from a wonderful trip with her son, Bob Bailey and wife of Brownfield. They drove through, stopping at Oklahoma City to visit her son Lowell Bailey, friends at Lebanon, Mo.; relatives in Illinois and Allentown, Penn.; and to visit a son, Jack Bailey and family. On their return, they visited Washington, D.C., through the Blue Ridges and Smokey Mountains, and back to Texas visiting a grandson, Mike Bailey at Fort Worth, and to Quannah to visit a granddaughter, Mrs. Bruce Tyler and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Henderson attended the Hall County Barbeque and Old Settlers Reunion at Memphis, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Evans were called to Oklahoma due to serious illness of his sister.

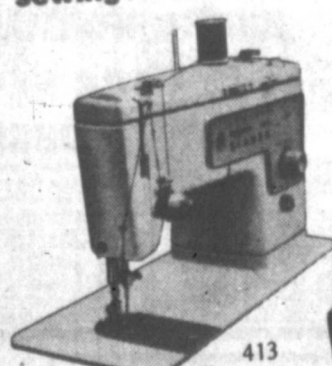

Another shower recently was hosted by Mmes. Mary Ann Crosshwaite, Jo Rochelle, Bertha Fisher, Vera Fisher, Oley Eishheimer, Paula Stephens, and Betty Raine.

2-1 BEHIND JONES Mets Edge Expos

By United Press International
Cleon Jones put it quite simply.

"I wanted to do something tonight. It was Willie's night and I wanted to go out there and do something big."

That's just what Jones did on Willie Mays' appreciation night when he hit a game-winning homer and made a spectacular game-saving catch as the New York Mets edged the Montreal Expos, 2-1, Tuesday night to move a step closer to the National League Eastern Division crown.

The victory moved the Mets 1 1/2 games ahead of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who lost to Philadelphia, 2-1. New York is 80-77 and the Pirates are 78-78. New York has five games left and the Pirates have six left.

SWC Roundup

By United Press International
When Billy Tohill walked slowly onto the tartan turf at Amon Carter Stadium last Saturday night, the more than 18,000 persons in the stands did what would be expected of them.

They cheered — lustily. "It was so pleasing," Tohill said later, "to come out on that field and realize there were so many fans and friends pulling for you."

"And I'll tell you something else. It kind of makes those chill bumps go up and down your back."

Tohill, even in the days immediately following his near-fatal auto accident last March, had said he would be back on

Miami Head Finds Team 19th-Ranked

MIAMI (UPI) — Six years is a long time between football games, but for University of Miami coach Pete Elliott, the wait was worth it.

The former Michigan great resigned as head football coach at the University of Illinois following a highly publicized slush fund scandal in 1966 and stayed out of coaching until he was pressed into service for this year.

Elliott faced one of the toughest schedules in the nation this fall, but he started off Friday night by knocking off fifth-ranked Texas, 20-13, and earned United Press International Coach of the Week honors.

Then as an encore, Tuesday morning found the Hurricanes ranked 19th in the nation—the first time in over a decade they had achieved such notice.

Jim Thorpe Was Wronged

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — An Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) spokesman Tuesday predicted that all medals, records and honors stripped from the late Indian great Jim Thorpe will be restored next month.

Larry Hanneman of Des Moines, President of the Iowa AAU, said there is a general feeling among AAU officials that Thorpe was wronged when he had to forfeit his national and Olympic awards for allegedly participating in a semipro baseball game and accepting $25 for expenses.

Thorpe's brilliant career was always marred by the loss of his amateur status and the return of his Olympic medals. "What was done back then was wrong," Hanneman said. "There is a general feeling that the AAU convention the first week in October at Yellowstone will be successful in getting Jim

A throng of over 53,000 went to Shea Stadium to honor Mays, who has announced he is retiring at the end of this season. Mays was in uniform but didn't play because of his injured ribs.

Jones Was the Show
But once the game started, Jones was the show.

His sixth inning homer snapped a 1-1 tie and then he saved the game with a running, back-handed catch of Felipe Alou's line drive to deep left center with two out and two in the seventh.

Steve Carlton pitched a five-hitter and Mike Anderson and Bill Robinson slugged homers to lift Philadelphia over Pittsburgh, Carlton, a 27-game winner last year, gained his 13th win against 19 losses.

It's now just about a two-team race. Chicago is in third place, 3 1/2 games back while St. Louis and Montreal are both four games out.

In the other games, Chicago edged St. Louis, 4-3, Houston beat San Francisco, 5-1, Los Angeles beat Atlanta, 5-1 and Cincinnati edged San Diego, 3-2.

In the American League

In the American League, Boston beat Cleveland, 3-2, Baltimore routed Detroit, 8-3, Milwaukee nipped New York, 3-2, in 13 innings, Kansas City downed Chicago, 6-2, Texas beat California, 4-1, in 10 innings, and Minnesota whipped Oakland, 9-4.

Hank Aaron failed to homer as the Braves lost to Los Angeles. Aaron went hitless in four attempts but just missed his 713th homer in the seventh inning when he hit a deep drive to center that Willie Davis grabbed in front of the 402-foot sign.

Jose Cardenal drilled a two-run double with the bases loaded with two out in the ninth inning to cap a three-run rally and give the Cubs the victory over the Cardinals.

Bob Watson drove in two runs with a solo homer and a single to pace the Astros over the Giants. Tom Griffin pitched a four-hitter for the Astros.

Cincinnati scored all three runs in the sixth inning to beat San Diego and give Jack Billingham his 19th victory. Billingham pitched a five-hitter.

the sidelines when his Horned Frogs opened the season against Texas-Arlington.

And he kept his promise, relying on crutches to lean on during the game.

Wonderful Reception
"It is hard to find words to express what kind of feeling you have for all those people," Tohill said. "The reception was wonderful."

Tohill's club responded by crumpling the Mavericks, 48-13. From the sidelines Tohill yelled and applauded his club with his same old gusto. But he admitted to wearing a little.

"I did get a little tired," Tohill said. "That was the longest I've been on my feet since I got out of the hospital."

"But when your team is playing like they were and winning it makes you feel good. The kids were yelling and smiling and that keeps you from getting too tired."

"The kind of win we had gives the team the morale it needs to go into a tough ball game like we have this week."

Goodbye Columbus
TCU must travel to Columbus, Ohio next Saturday to bettle the third-ranked Ohio State Buckeyes. The last time the Horned Frogs went to Ohio State was in 1969, and they were massacred, 62-0.

"Ohio State is a simply awesome football team," Tohill said. "Our scouts say they beat Minnesota, 56-7. They said the toughest situation Ohio State faced all day was third and four."

"Everyone here has been concerned with the offensive line of scrimmage," Tohill said. "But we were really pleased with the way they performed."

"And our secondary, which was a concern before, just engulfed people."

reinstated and getting those medals restored."

Hanneman said Thorpe's purported violation of the stringent amateur requirements of his day wane when compared with today's amateur regulations. "Within the AAU an amateur athlete can now receive all living and travel expenses plus $20 per day for lost wages and still not lose his amateur standing," Hanneman said. "Jim Thorpe was wronged."

4 — Philadelphia 76ers

NBA — Atlantic Division

1972-73 finish: W9, L73 — 4th place

PROSPECTUS: If something is not worth doing, it is worth not doing well. This, rumor has it, was a sign on the 76ers locker room wall last season. They lost a record 73 games, with 20 defeats in a row at one point. They fired their new coach, Roy Rubin, before the All-Star break. His replacement, Kevin Loughery, got out of town just as soon as the season ended. (He now coaches the New York Nets.) Gene Shue has moved here. He has gone from coaching the Bullets in Baltimore to biting the bullet in Philadelphia. Hope is at a premium, except for Doug Collins, the Illinois State rookie.

FORWARDS: The 76ers are lacking here. They have no hulking forward to dominate the butcher shop (under the boards). Tom Van Arsdale is a reliable performer. After being traded from the Kings, he went on to average 17.7 a game. Don May shoots but he doesn't hit too often. Manny Leaks is adequate. Big things are thought for Alan Bristow, 6-7, from VPI. RATING: C plus

CENTER: Another trouble spot on this club. Leroy Ellis, the elderly (33), thin fellow, was the club's leading rebounder and averaged over 12 a game. But he is hardly in the league of the Chamberlains, Thurmond, Jabbar, Covens. He would make a good backup center for a good team. RATING: B-

GUARDS: Here they are not so terrible. And if Collins makes it big, they could be outstanding. Some think the 6-5 whiz will be the league's next Jerry West. He has some good running mates in Fred Boyd, Freddie (Mad Dog) Carter and, for spots, the ancient Hal Greer. Jeff Halliburton might also blossom. RATING: B plus PREDICTION: They should win more than nine games this season, if for no other reason than that pride cometh before the fall for over-confident opponents. Shue is a creditable coach who produced good if inconsistent ball clubs at Baltimore. He will not stand for a team that is as bad as the 76ers were. So this season he will have to do a lot of sitting.

Willie Remains Game's Number-One Attraction

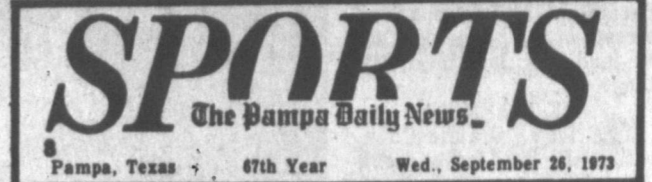

NEW YORK (UPI) — They answered the last question Willie Mays wanted to know Tuesday night at the New York Mets "hall and farewell" party for the 42-year-old super star.

"I love baseball," Willie said before the game. "I just hope baseball loves me."

He got the answer for some 45 minutes of virtually sustained ovation, from the moment he walked onto the field at 7:35 p.m. to the moment the ceremonies were completed. He got it from more than 53,000 fans who cheered continuously throughout the ceremony and he also got it from the "Who's Zyne. The "Who's Who" of baseball greats included Joe DiMaggio and Stan Musial, who know that Willie is going to join them in Cooperstown, N.Y., as soon as he is eligible under the rules of

Pampa, Texas 7th Year Wed., September 26, 1973

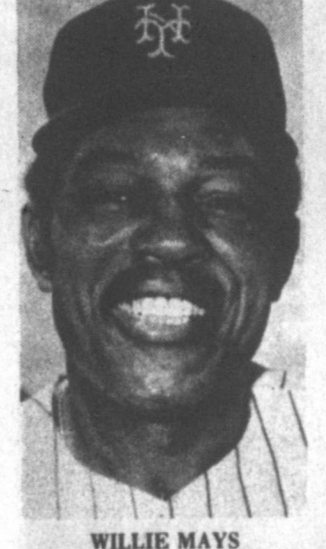

Who's of baseball greats who gathered to grace the party. "Somehow I thought the time would never come for me to retire," said Mays when all the gifts had been presented and all the stars introduced. "But there always comes a time for someone to get out. When I see these kids in both of these dugouts fighting for a pennant I know it's time to say, 'Willie, say goodbye to America.'"

"This is a sad day for me," he said. "I may not look sad but it is a new experience to have you cheer for me and not to be able to do anything about it."

Willie, his wife and son turned, then, and walked off the field to the strains of Auld Lang the voting. Mays arrived at Shea Stadium at 4 p.m., four hours before the ceremonies were to begin, just like it was another day at work. He was relaxed before the game, joking with sports writers in the clubhouse and insisting there "would be no tears." Not an articulate man over the years, he made his farewell speech with dignity and a feel for the moment.

Then he walked off the field, said the appropriate thank-yous and goodbyes, climbed into his pink Cadillac with his family, made a right turn out of the Shea Stadium parking lot and drove off into baseball history.

Aaron - Baseball's Best Advertisement

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor
ATLANTA (UPI) — He isn't the greatest player in the game, not anymore.
He can be run on and he can be pitched to, and he can't keep playing without a rest. But no matter what and beyond any question, Hank Aaron is far and away the finest advertisement baseball has today.
That goes whether he breaks Babe Ruth's record in the next five days or not. That goes whether he ever breaks it, which he surely will, of course.
The beautiful thing about Hank Aaron is the way he conducts himself amid all this fuss and furor.

He's not losing his hair, his temper, his anything.
"I've never heard him so much as raise his voice," says Jim Busby, one of the Atlanta Braves' coaches.
"Oh yes I have," insists the man who is on the verge of cracking baseball's most celebrated record. "I did it yesterday—at one of my kids."
Hank Aaron smiles when he says that.
He Smiles Often
He smiles a lot more often than most ballplayers and even though he needs two more homers in the Braves' next four games to match Ruth's 714 and three more to break the mark, he looks like he doesn't have a care in the world.

He can even joke about the whole thing.
"I get a kick outta all these computers that say I'm gonna wind up tying the record this year," he says. "You know what I think about these computers. I think they're full of succotash."
Aaron was a little nervous coming back home off a road trip here Tuesday night.
The crowd was small, only 10,211 showed up, and Hank was anxious to hit one off Dodger right-hander Don Sutton, who center in the seventh inning and Willie Davis overhanded it not far from the fence.

"I thought it was gone when he hit it," confessed Sutton. "I said to myself 'there goes 713.' You know, he hurt my feelings earlier this year when he said he was going to break the record off a class pitcher like Seaver, Carlton or Gibson. I saw him during the All-Star Game and said to him, 'So you're gonna hit off a class pitcher, huh? You don't think I'm a class pitcher?' He laughed. He knew what I meant. We always agitate each other like that. I like him though."
Everybody does. Rivals and teammates alike.
They're all rooting for him to break Ruth's record although it's ridiculous for anyone to suggest that any of the pitchers he's going to face from here on in will be foolish enough to groove one for him.

That's the last thing Hank Aaron would want anyway.
Strange in Some Ways
Hank Aaron is strange in some ways.
He does not go around volunteering help to any of the other Atlanta players and the reason for that has to do with an episode which took place many years ago.
One of the Braves' former managers asked Aaron to stay back at the club's training base during spring training and watch one of the younger players and help him if he could. Hank noticed the kid wasn't taking complete advantage of his speed on the bases and mentioned it to one of the coaches.
"Who's he to tell me how to run?" the kid snapped when Aaron's remark was relayed to him.
That finished Hank when it came to giving advice.
Until one game earlier this season, Paul Casanova, one of the Braves' catchers, tells about the incident.

"We were playing Philadelphia and I was standing up in the dugout getting ready to pinch hit," says Casanova. "He called me over into the hall (corridor) and said to me, 'Raise your hands, like this!' It was the ninth inning, we were behind and we had one on, I hit a home run to tie the score and we won the game later on."
"I told Hank 'I don't feel I hit that homer, I feel you did. I'm gonna give you this homer.' He laughed. After the game we went out and had some rice and black beans.
"Listen, I'll tell you something. He says he doesn't think he can hit three homers in the next four games. I think he can. We all do. You know what we call him? We call him 'Supe'—short for Super-everything. That's what we know he can do—everything!"

Orioles Aiming For 100 Wins

By United Press International
Earl Weaver was answering a question, not really tooting his own horn, when he recalled the record of the Baltimore Orioles since he took over as manager July 11, 1968.

"I've got the best record of any manager in the history of baseball over five seasons," said Weaver, who has won 540 and lost 334 en route to four division championships, three American League pennants and one World Series triumph in five years.

But for all his success, Weaver never has been named the Manager of the Year. This year, armed with the best record in the league, it would be hard to deny him.

Peterson Says Oilers 'Not Running Scared'

HOUSTON (UPI) — Houston Oilers' Coach Bill Peterson had a hard time at home this week-end because his team was the only one in the family to lose.
One of his sons coaches in Florida, one plays at Rice University and the others play for high school teams, and they all won.
"I was the only one in the family who didn't," Peterson said. "I did get a little heat at home this week. My wife chewed me out after the loss to Cincinnati Sunday."

But Peterson said Tuesday he is not running scared because the team that was 1-13 last year is now 9-2 and coming up against undefeated Pittsburgh Sunday.
New General Manager Sid Gillman has traded for more than 20 players and Peterson said he believes the material is helping the team change.
"I think all Sid wants now is improvement," Peterson said. "We've given him that."

THURSDAY, SEPT. 27

Your birthday today: Opens an up-and-down year in whatever areas of life are specially sensitive in your individual case. It is demonstrated more than ever that no two people are any more than superficially alike. Abundant energy is available for all enterprise; the question is how well you will be able to direct it. Relationships are liable to transformation into other modes of expression. Today's natives are hard-working, gifted with the art of making comparisons.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: For millions of people this is the beginning of another year, according to a traditional lunar calendar. Take things very easy, pray and meditate.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: It is the snap decision which precipitates minor crises. Getting a clear look at yourself is a possible incidental result. In whatever you do, care and courtesy are essential.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Some things are hard to find; some people are attempting unaccustomed procedures; and it's your chore to go along with the situation in good humor. Don't try to hasten matters.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: For those who must work, appropriate cooperation is at hand, plus a great deal of extra fun in getting something down to exact terms. Assume nothing. Ask questions.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: With everybody else presenting personal problems, your concerns aren't likely to have a chance to settle down. The way you spare others your own impatience distinguishes you!

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Whatever the stimulus, it's best to keep life simple to-

Science Today

By FRANK EIDGE
MIAMI (UPI) — The space agency is scheduled to award in mid-November a contract to build about $1.5 billion worth of giant firecrackers.

When fired, sometime in the 1980s, they will provide the first blast to kick space shuttle planes from earth into orbit. The thrust will be five million pounds, produced by the burn from two cylindrical solid fuel rocket motors strapped on each side of the shuttle vehicle.

Like the shuttle itself, the solid fuel motors will be designed for reuse. After burnout, the jetisoned engines will parachute to earth for refurbishing and refueling.

The space shuttle is a combination rocket and spaceship designed to transport men and material to and from space. In space, the shuttle will be powered by three liquid fuel engines. Contracts for the vehicle and the liquid fuel engines already have been awarded.

Barge Transport Cheapest
Four companies have bid for the solid fuel contract. They are Aerojet Solid Propulsion Co., Sacramento, Calif.; Lockheed Propulsion Co., Redlands, Calif.; Thiokol Chemical Corp., Brigham City, Utah, and United Technology Center, Sunnyvale, Calif.

Aerojet officials think their company is the likely choice for the last major piece of new rocket business expected to be awarded this decade. The company's position is a result of foresight.

Fighting the state of Florida and Dade County in the courts and the swampy Everglades with dehumidifiers, Aerojet has managed to hold onto a 50,000-acre tract 30 miles south of Miami and keep its solid rocket fuel manufacturing facilities there in working order.

Aerojet feels it has a leg up on the award because its Everglades plant can be put into production quickly to ship a one-piece, simple and tested engine to the testing site in Louisiana and the Cape Kennedy launch pads by cheap water barge transport.

Firecracker With Nozzle
Other contending companies, it is believed, submitted proposals to build segmented motors for more expensive shipping by rail and reassembly at the test and launch sites. The solid rocket engines will be 118 feet long, 12 feet in diameter and weigh more than one million pounds.

"It's like a big firecracker with a nozzle on one end," said George Hage, President of ASPC, over simplifying a bit.

When NASA decided to launch its moonlanders with liquid fuel rockets, Aerojet "mothballed" its Florida center, retaining a crew to keep the facility in working order. Its court fight with state and county authorities, however, is not resolved. Prodded by environmentalists who want to save as much of the Everglades as possible for future public use, the state and county have tried to revoke the option on the ground that Aerojet didn't fulfill an agreement to operate a big rocket fuel plant there.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — State officials are predicting that fiscal 1972-73 will be the first billion-dollar year for tax collections in Tennessee.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — By this time most American school children have been back in classes at least a couple of weeks. So let's look in on them to see how they're getting along.

At little Dickie's school, it is "show and tell" time. But Dickie doesn't want to play any more.

"I'm tired of this game," he says. "I want to get back to the serious lessons facing this class."

Asked why he doesn't like "show and tell," Dickie says it's because some of the other kids throw dirt at him.

Dickie says he has some interesting tapes at home that he could bring for "show and tell." But he says he won't bring them because he is afraid little Sammy and little Archie will grab them away from him.

Little Spiro is Unhappy
Down the hall in another classroom, little Spiro also is unhappy. Some of little Spiro's friends think he may be planning to drop out.

Spiro says the teacher is being unfair to him. He says he is getting the blame for something that happened before school and which he didn't do anyway.

He says some of the neighborhood rowdies who got caught being naughty are trying to get him in trouble too.

But he says he promised his mother he will stay in school even if the teacher does give him a hard time.

Not all of the kids are unhappy, however. Little Johnny has changed schools this year. He is now enrolled in the same school that Dickie and Spiro attend. He likes the new school very much. He says the kids are lot nicer than they were at the old school.

He Tells 'Em How
On the first day of school, little Johnny told the dietician how to plan meals, told the janitor how to wash windows and told the phys ed instructor how to coach volleyball.

Little Johnny is a very bright pupil. Even though he is the new boy it is quite possible he will be class president.

Out on the playground we find little Henry. He is running after a group of girls. What fun! Run, Henry, run! Henry also likes to wander off and see what the kids across town are doing. He appears to get along well with the kids on the other side of town.

Over by the water fountain is little Mel. What is Mel doing? It looks as if he is blowing up a trial balloon. He wants to see if it will make taxes go higher.

But little George races over and sticks a pin in the balloon. He tells little Mel to keep his cotton-picking hands away from balloons and taxes. Run, Mel, run!

Do you think school is an interesting place to visit? I do.

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. My wife and I are going to purchase one U.S. Savings Bond each month for my son's college education. Would it be more advantageous from a tax standpoint if I purchased the bonds naming my son and myself as co-owners or naming him sole owner?

A. From a tax standpoint, naming your son sole owner of the bonds would be more advantageous, since interest on U.S. Savings Bonds bought in the name of the child is income to the child not the parent. This is so even if the parent paid for the bonds and is named beneficiary. However, interest on bonds purchased by a party-

ASSET Schedules Organizational Meet

An organizational meeting of the American Society of Certified Engineering Technicians will be held Tuesday, Oct. 9, according to Gerald Jay, president pro tem. The engineering technicians will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Flame Room at Pioneer Natural Gas Co. 301 S. Taylor, Amarillo.

ent naming his child as co-owner is taxable to the parent. For more information, see IRS publication 576, "Tax Information on United States Savings Bonds." Contact your local Internal Revenue office for a free copy.

Q. Are brokerage fees deductible?

A. Fees you pay a broker to collect your bond interest or dividends on shares of stock are deductible as miscellaneous deductions. But brokerage fees paid to acquire investment property, such as stocks or bonds, are not deductible. They are added to the cost of the property.

Q. I work as a waitress in a restaurant. Occasionally, a group of customers will use our banquet room for a private party. Instead of tipping, customers are required to pay a service charge which is split among the waiters, waitresses and other employees. Should I report this amount as a "tip" to my employer for tax purposes?

A. No. Your share of this service charge is not a tip, but is part of your wages paid by the employer. As such, it is taxable, but does not have to be included in your report of tips to your employer.

Q. My son is 20 and works full time during the day and goes to school at night. Can I still claim him as a dependent regardless of how much money he makes?

A. Generally, you may not claim a person as a dependent if he had gross income of $750 or more during the year. The only exceptions to this rule occur if your child is less than 19 at the end of the year or a full time student during five months of the year. In your son's case, he is over 19 and is not considered a full time student because he is attending night school and is employed full time during the day.
