Two Arabs Seize Jews On Express Train Trip

VIENNA (UPI) — Two Arabs armed with grenades and submachine guns seized the Moscow-Vienna "Chopin Express" as it sped through minefields near the Czech border today, seized four hostages—including three Jews emigrating to Israel — and drove to Vienna's international airport where they demanded safe conduct out of the country.

At the airport, the guerrillas parked a blue Volkswagen bus near two airlines—an Iberian Airlines DC9 and an Austrian Airlines DC9—and demanded a plane to take them to an unspecified destination, the interior ministry said.

Police at first had reported that the guerrillas took control of the Spanish jet, but the Austrian interior ministry said later the guerrillas were negotiating with authorities from on top of the Volkswagen bus sitting in front of the terminal.

man said the guerrillas, identified as "Arabs with Lebanese passports," held hand grenades near their faces and threatened to pull the pins if their demands were not met.

A police spokesman said the gunmen wanted to contact the Israeli embassy in Vienna.

Schwechat airport was closed to all traffic. A dozen Austrian security men surrounded the bus at the airport and talked with the guerrillas inside the vehicle. Police carrying pistols and machine guns stood watch atop the airport terminal and along runways, turning back curiosity seekers.

Police said the Arabs were armed with machine guns when they seized the train at the Marchegg border station, about 25 miles east of Vienna.

They seized three Jews—two men and a woman, all Russians—but said they would release Austrian customs official Franz Popiz if they were allowed passage out of the country.

The gunmen apparently crossed the border into Austria from Czechoslovakia, killing the Czech border guard in the process, Austrian news reports said.

Bomb Hits ITT Suite

NEW YORK (UPI) — A time bomb wrecked a suite of offices in the ITT Corp.'s Latin American department early today and a smaller blast set fire to the wooden front wall of the firm's offices in Rome. A man who called the New York police just before the explosion said "the Weather Underground" set the blast.

"Seeing that the bomb was in the offices where our Latin American activity is carried out, you might think there's a link with the politics of Latin America," an ITT spokesman said. "The police have no exact indication that this is connected with Chile," he added.

New York police said they found pieces of a nine-volt battery and a watch in the wreckage. No one was hurt in the explosions.

(In San Francisco, a pipe bomb blew up outside a basement window in the Old Federal Building, sending flames as high as 50 feet up the building's white stone wall. A second bomb failed to go off.

There was no immediate link with the New York blast, which happened at about the same time. The government of fallen President Salvador Allende was negotiating with ITT last year to buy its Chilean investments, including the nationwide telephone company, but the talks were broken off when documents came to light that allegedly showed the firm tried to stop the Marxist government from taking power in 1970. The firm also at one point wanted an economic blockade of the new government, according to testimony before the U.S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Jury Gets Evidence On Agnew Charges

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — For the first time in history, evidence concerning an incumbent vice president has been presented to a grand jury. One witness labeled the inquiry a "fishing expedition," and Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., claimed in Washington that Spiro T. Agnew was "framed."

The 22-member grand jury, meeting under strict security, was believed to have heard at least four witnesses Thursday at the federal courthouse in downtown Baltimore before recessing for the week. Most witnesses also were shielded from the press.

U.S. Attorney George Beall and his team of federal prosecutors at the direction of Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson began presenting the grand jury with evidence gathered in their investigation. Beall notified Agnew Aug. 1 the investigation concerned possible violations of conspiracy, extortion and bribery.

The panel had been meeting since January to consider allegations of cash kickbacks to Maryland political figures from contractors.

Agnew has told friends any hope he may have had for his presidency in 1976 "is over now." The New York Times reported in today's editions.

Resign Reports — He has been destroyed politically and knows it," Times writer James Reston reported. "But he will not go quietly, for that would look like a confession of guilt, and that, he insists, is a confession he will never make."

The Times said Agnew does not intend to resign even if indicted but will "fight for exoneration through the courts and keep appealing to the House of Representatives for a full and open hearing, no matter how long it takes."

Assistant U.S. Attorney Russell T. Baker Jr. declined to say when the jury would next meet. It was expected to convene next week.

Lawyers for Agnew, a former Baltimore County executive and Maryland governor, said they still plan to file suit in U.S. District Court in an attempt to block the investigation on the constitutional ground that a vice president cannot be indicted unless he is first impeached by Congress and removed from office.

While the grand jury was listening to witnesses, Agnew attended meetings at the White House concerning legislative matters.

J. Marsh Thomson, Agnew's press secretary, said the vice president would fly to Palm Springs, Calif., today as a weekend guest of entertainer Frank Sinatra. He said Agnew would make a speech Saturday before a group of Republican women in Los Angeles and "won't be ducking the subject" of his legal problems.

The first person called before the jury Thursday was William J. Muth, public relations vice president of an engineering consultant firm and former vice president of Baltimore City Council. He is a longtime friend of Agnew.

Senators Approve Troop Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted Thursday night to order the withdrawal of 110,000 American troops from foreign bases, handing the Nixon administration a setback hours after upholding its Trident submarine program.

The vote was 48-36 in favor of the amendment by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey D-Minn., to the $21.9 billion defense procurement bill. It calls for withdrawing 40,000 men by next June 30 and the rest in the following 18 months.

A final vote on the entire bill is expected today.

Earlier, administration forces on a 49-4 vote defeated a move to slow down development of the Trident submarine program, and narrowly defeated two amendments that would have slashed aid to Vietnam.

Defeat of the move by Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., to cut $885 million from the $1.5 billion Trident program, thus delaying the sub's appearance by two years, "gratified" the President, a White House spokesman said.

Except for a flip-flop Wednesday, in which the Senate narrowly voted to bring home 200,000 troops and then reversed itself when four members switched sides, it was the first time troops had been ordered withdrawn by Senate action.

Floods Plague State

By United Press International
Clearing skies and air with a real fall bite today followed into Texas torrential rains that drove 350 families from their homes Thursday in the San Antonio-Seguin area.

The Red Cross maintained a shelter in Ball Junior High School in Seguin for about 75 of the 800 to 1,000 persons flooded by their homes by the Guadalupe River and three smaller streams.

The others were able to return to their homes or were staying with friends. The Guadalupe and the other streams were back in their banks.

The situation also was returning to normal at San Antonio, where three of the nine deaths blamed directly or indirectly on bad weather occurred. The Las Palmas area of West San Antonio caught 13 inches of rain — the heaviest fall reported in deluges that fell from the Oklahoma border to the Rio Grande.

The temperature dropped to 31 degrees early today at Marfa in the mountains of Southwest Texas. Dalhart and Amarillo in the Panhandle had lows of 42 and 43 degrees, respectively.

The only thundershowers remaining in the state early today were in the extreme eastern portion. The weather cleared faster and temperatures dropped more sharply than had been expected. Temperatures in the 50s extended into the middle of the state.

There was no indication of more rain immediately and a forecaster said, "It looks like a pretty decent weekend."

The downpour caused flooding from the Oklahoma border to the Rio Grande. Nine deaths were attributed to the storms before they moved slowly eastward out of Texas.

Police, firemen, sheriff's deputies and national guardsmen called out by Gov. Dolph Briscoe helped remove 200 families — between 800 and 1,000 people — from Seguin. Another 150 families were evacuated from San Antonio, Lavernia, Devine and La Coste.

The Las Palmas section of San Antonio reported 13 inches of rain, while the North Central Texas average was three inches.

Three persons drowned in San Antonio, four persons died in traffic accidents in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. A University of Texas student died near Round Rock in another auto accident and an electrician repairing lines in Seguin was killed by a hot wire.

President Meets Russian Minister

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Andrei I. Gromyko, a periodic visitor to the White House over a 14-year period of both cold and warm relations between the United States and the Soviet Union, conferred today with President Nixon on further ways to improve the current detente.

The Soviet foreign minister and the President sat down next to each other in gold-covered chairs in the Oval Office, flanked by Henry A. Kissinger and Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

Kissinger, newly installed as secretary of state, and Dobrynin, Soviet ambassador to Washington, have both engaged together and separately in many key past U.S.-Soviet negotiations.

Victor Sukhodrev, Russian interpreter whose face is as familiar to many as Russian diplomats because of his presence at U.S.-Soviet summit meetings and other sessions, also attended the meeting.

One of the subjects expected to be discussed was how far the two nuclear giants have come in liquidating vestiges of their cold war, and where they might go from here.

Gromyko became foreign minister in 1957 and has visited the White House during the terms of four U.S. presidents, the first time in his role as top Kremlin diplomat when he accompanied Nikita Khrushchev here for the Eisenhower-Khrushchev summit in 1959.

Gromyko conferred with President John F. Kennedy in October, 1962, at a time when Kennedy was pondering first evidence that Soviet missiles had been installed in Cuba, and later visited President Lyndon B. Johnson and Nixon.

Officials provided no specifics as to what the White House meeting would deal with, but expectations were that it would center more on bilateral negotiations between Washington and Moscow.

BY CITY COMMISSION

Business Closed For Fiscal Year

Pampa city commissioners met in special session this forenoon and closed out business for the current fiscal year which ends tomorrow.

The city's budget for fiscal 1973-74, which begins Monday, and the $1.72 tax rate ordinance were approved on second and final reading.

Also approved were salary increases for the nearly 200 city employees.

As set up in the new budget, the pay hikes ranged all the way from $20 a month to $125 a month.

City Manager Mack Wofford said the overall salary increases would amount to approximately $210,000 more than salaries for the fiscal year just ending.

Sanitation department workers will receive the biggest boost designed to bring their pay up to cost of living levels.

Commissioners approved a new classification compensation plan for the coming fiscal year and set up a 3-step merit system for pay increases.

Authorization was given for the transfer of $100,000 from the Special Revenue Fund to the General Fund.

The Dorchester Gas Producing Co. was granted renewal of a contract to purchase Lake Meredith water from the city.

City Manager Wofford said the company uses about 150,000 gallons of untreated water daily and the city realizes approximately $7,500 a year from the water sale. Monthly bills totaling $23,535 were approved for payment.

Cosmonauts Begin Rounds Of Work

MOSCOW (UPI) — Two Soyuz-12 cosmonauts began their second working day in orbit today, wearing a new type of spacesuit that Western experts said may have been designed to prevent the kind of mishap that killed three Soviet spacemen in 1971.

The Tass news agency quoted Lt. Col. Vasily Lazarev, 45, commander of the crew, as saying before launch Thursday afternoon: "We have to test a new spacesuit which we find very simple and comfortable."

Three Soyuz-11 cosmonauts died June 30, 1971, when the hatch on their capsule leaked and caused it to depressurize during re-entry. Western experts said at the time they might have survived if they had worn spacesuits as American astronauts do on return to earth.

The Tass news agency said the Soyuz-12 took off Thursday on a two-day mission apparently aimed at getting the Soviet Union's crippled space program ready for a joint U.S.-Russian flight scheduled for July, 1975.

Tass said the brief flight, the first since three cosmonauts died June 30, 1971, when their capsule depressurized on re-entry, was mainly designed to test a redesigned spacecraft for the joint mission.

The agency said the two Soyuz-12 cosmonauts, pilot Lt. Col. Vasily Lazarev, 45, and flight engineer Oleg Makarov, 40, were testing "structural modifications" introduced in their craft.

School Board Rejects Students Hair Appeals

By CLAY LIVELY
Two Pampa youths suspended from high school last week for violating the hair-length section of the school's dress code had their appeals heard this morning by the Pampa Independent School District Board of Trustees.

Both youths admitted they were aware they were in violation of the code as it now stands prior to their suspension by high school principal Don Walker.

After hearing Walker's explanation of why the boys were suspended and hearing the boys' stories concerning the matter, the board voted unanimously, with all members present, to deny the appeal.

One of the youths, senior Billy Kidd, has since cut his hair to comply with the code and has been readmitted to school. The other, Walter Young, a junior before being suspended, has not cut his hair and is still not back in school.

Walker told the board the boys had been talked to by school officials several times about the length of their hair before the suspensions. Several other youths were also suspended last week but have since come in compliance with the code.

Walker told the board neither Kidd nor Young caused discipline problems at the high school and the sole reason for the suspensions was the violation of the regulations involving hair length.

Kidd and Young talked to Walker and Superintendent James F. Malone during the past week about their rights to administrative due process and they were told of their right to appeal the suspensions to the school board.

When addressing the board, both youths admitted the violation of the code and asked the school board to consider revising it to eliminate the hair length section.

Board president Ben Sturgeon explained the group could not consider that matter at the meeting this morning as it was not the stated purpose of the meeting.

Board member Warren Hasse made the motion to deny the appeal by the youths and it was seconded by Paul Simmons. Member Bob Carmichael moved the motion be amended

Hotel Stockholders Slate Annual Meeting Tuesday

Stockholders of the Community Hotel Co. of Pampa will meet in annual session at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

The agenda will include a report on annual operations by manager Bob Zaph and election of eight directors to serve for three-year terms.

Present members of the executive board are George W. Scott, president; Aubrey Steele, vice president; Floyd Imel and Floyd Watson, treasurers; E.O. Wedgeworth, secretary; Don Lane, assistant secretary, and Frank Culberson, member.

Current directors include Joe Cree, Frank Culberson, Clinton Evans, Warren Hasse, E.L. Green, Jr., R.L. Pugh, Aubrey Steele, Mrs. Lynn Boyd, Crawford Atkinson, Milo Carlson, Charles B. Cook, Dona Cornutt, Robert D. Mack, Harvey Nensiel, Floyd Watson, Don Lain, Dr. R.M. Bellamy, G.B. Cree, Jr., Kirk Duncan, Lee Fraser, F.E. Imel, Jim Naiton, George Scott and E.E. Shelhamer.

The election canvassing committee consisting of Jim Naiton, Kay Fancher, and Don Cain will report on results of the recent election of directors which will be up for ratification by stockholders.

Following the stockholders meeting, directors will meet to elect new officers.

The Community Hotel Co. was formed in 1956 and the Coronado Inn opened for business in 1960. Since last year's annual meeting, the original mortgage debt on the hotel has been paid off and a remodeling program has been completed.

President Scott today urged stockholders to be present at the Tuesday meeting.

Pythian Knights, Sisters To Hold District Meeting

Members of Pampa Lodge No. 480, Knights of Pythias, and Pythian Sisters Temple No. 41, will host a district meeting Saturday at Coronado Inn.

Grand Chancellor of Texas Dewey L. Wright and his wife, Dovie, Grand Chief of the Pythian Sisters Temples of Texas, will be special guests at the sessions.

Registration will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday in the hotel lobby.

Mrs. Joyce Howell, 1512 Coffee, District 3 Deputy Grand Chief, will call the Pythian Sisters business meeting to order at 12:30 p.m. in the Starlight Room.

Among the session's activities will be the draping of the charter, exemplified by members of Amaryllis Temple No. 56; presentation of the flag by members of Paducah Temple No. 7 and officers march by members of the Pampa temple.

Mrs. Howell will chair the school of instruction program, with Mrs. Bertie Brown, M.E.C. of No. 41, giving the response to welcome to the members.

Gary Clark, 2730 Comanche, D.D.G.C. of District 9, will call the Knights' business session to order at 2 p.m. at the Pythian Hall, 315 N. Nelson.

The one-session initiation ritual of all three ranks in the order will be conferred upon any candidates present at the meeting. Wright will be the guest speaker.

A banquet for the Grand Chief and Grand Chancellor will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Starlight Room for members and their guests. Tickets will be available at the door.

Clark will serve as master of ceremonies, assisted by Mrs. Howell.

The program will include a quartet from the Pampa temple, an exhibition drill by members of the Paducah

Temple and presentation of state winners in the public speaking and highway safety poster contests sponsored by the Knights.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright will be guest speakers.

Several Grand Lodge and Grand Temple officers will be present, including Grand Secretary A.L. Weathered and his wife of Tyler, who have been working in the Pampa area for the past week. Miss Cathy Altman will furnish the dinner music.

CARSON CITY DOLLAR SALE III

According to an announcement from the General Services Administration, Phase III of their Carson City Dollar Sale will begin Oct. 1. This will undoubtedly finish off the balance of the 2.9 million silver dollars that comprised the original lot.

This phase will require new order forms making any forms issued up until now obsolete. In keeping with an earlier offer by this column, new forms will be mailed to everyone sending a stamped self addressed envelope (10-inch) to: Carson City Dollars III, P.O. Box 555, Wooster, Ohio 44691.

BEWARE OF GOLD-PLATED DOLLARS

From time to time in various publications, a gold-plated Eisenhower dollar is offered for sale at $3.50 per coin. The offer is in keeping with the latest opinion of the treasury department and the Secret Service, but several disgruntled readers have complained to this column that their orders have never been filled, although their checks had been cashed.

If you have failed to receive your gold-plated dollar after a reasonable period of time, please send me a photo-copy of your cancelled check and a copy of the advertisement to which you had responded.

Mail to: Gold Dollars, P.O. Box 555, Wooster, Ohio 44691. Please do not send the original check or money order.

FRADULENT OFFER

From time to time, several national chain firms have advertised an offer of "One Silver Dollar" for a 1965 Washington Quarter presented at the door during a given sale period. The ad specifically spells out the classification "Silver Dollar" and while it has been called to their attention on several occasions, the fraudulent practice continues.

The dollars actually received by the customer for their 25-cent pieces are nothing more than the new copper-nickel clad coins produced by the U.S. Mint. And although the customer does profit by 75 cents in the deal, the coin he receives in return has absolutely no silver content.

This is deliberate misrepresentation and every effort is being made to bring the practice to an abrupt halt.

Consumers Face Varied Outlook For Price Lists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Retail beef prices should fall in the weeks ahead and gasoline prices will rise but the outlook for a postal rate hike is less clear, according to John T. Dunlop, director of the Cost of Living Council.

Dunlop said that shoppers should soon begin paying less for beef at the supermarket because wholesale cattle prices have fallen as much as one third in the past six weeks.

The sudden reversal in stockyard prices is "from the consumer's point of view, delightful," Dunlop said, while admitting that at least one angry cattleman had telephoned him privately to complain.

"We would expect there should be declines soon" at the retail level, he added. Gasoline prices, however, will go up in the next several days.

President Nixon asked the council to provide speedy relief to service stations operators caught between rising wholesale gasoline prices and fixed ceilings on the amounts they can charge their retail customers.

"We will do so by the end of the week," Dunlop said at his regular weekly briefing. There was less assurance of action on the recently announced intention by the U.S. Postal Service to boost the cost of mailing a first class and airmail letter by two cents and raise other postal rates by an average of 25 per cent.

"We're going to take a good, close look at it, that's for sure," Dunlop said.

But he declined to say whether the council would call public hearings on the proposed postal rate hike, an action advocated by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Neighbors lose sleep to chained dog

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Charles Scribner's Sons, Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Our neighbors just returned from a two-week vacation and I hope they had a good time because now I need one.

They left their dog CHAINED in the front yard! Another neighbor agreed to feed him daily, which was the only time the dog was quiet. The rest of the time he barked.

The first night, my husband got up at 4 a.m. to ask the owners to please take the dog inside, only to find there was no one home! The next day we found out the dog owners would be gone for two weeks! We nearly flipped.

Abby, if they couldn't find someone to keep the dog, they should have put it in a kennel.

They are home now, thank heavens, but what do you think of people who would keep the whole neighborhood up with a barking dog for two weeks? NERVES ON END

DEAR NERVES: What happened to you shouldn't happen to a dog. And what happened to that dog shouldn't happen to a dog, either. You should have immediately notified your local humane society.

DEAR ABBY: I was disappointed in your reply to the girl who resented having a male physician give her a breast and pelvic examination. She said she wanted to remain chaste for her husband. You said an examination of that kind would in no way violate her chastity.

I disagree with you. I am no prude, but I place a high value on the privacy of my body, and I do not care to share it with anyone other than the man I marry. A male physician is no different from any other man, and I wonder how many husbands would allow their wives to go to a male gynecologist if they knew how intimately their wives would be touched and examined.

I have heard the argument that male doctors see hundreds of female patients a month, so a woman doesn't have to feel ashamed, but since when does frequency alone justify an action?

There is only one female physician in Terre Haute, and I go to her for my annual physical. I feel strongly that we women have a right to protect our intimacy, and should not be treated like children by male physicians. P. J.

DEAR P.J.: It is indeed your right to select a female physician if you wish, but a male gynecologist has about as much erotic feeling while examining female patients as an electrician has when he's looking for a loose connection.

DEAR ABBY: Here's a new one for you. Our son wants to be married this Christmas, and something has come up which prompts me [his father] to ask your advice.

When our son and his girl friend decided on a wedding date, they immediately told the bride's parents of their intentions. To their surprise, her parents said they were not interested in funding the affair. My son became upset and decided to go ahead and have a wedding even if he had to pay for it himself.

Our question: Should the bride's parents be invited or not? And if we invite them, should they be accorded all the honors and privileges of the bride's parents?

We, the groom's family, say no. Our future daughter-in-law says she wants her parents to get the full treatment even though they aren't paying for anything.

What is your opinion? GROOM'S FATHER

DEAR FATHER: If the bride's parents are not funding the wedding because they have no funds, and your son is willing to foot the bill, then they should be given the full treatment. If they refuse to finance the wedding because they disapprove of the marriage, you may not have to worry about their presence at all. Arrange for a meeting with them and get the facts.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 6970, L. A., Calif. 90009. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 6970, Los Angeles, Cal. 90009, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

A Canadian reader wants to know why finesses seem to lose more often in bridge columns than in real life.

He must be a lucky man. Most players seem to feel that their finesses always lose. Actually, they work just about half the time in real life. They tend to fail in columns because most hands present no problem when they work.

South's queen of hearts wins the first trick. He notes quickly that if West holds the king of clubs there will be 12 easy tricks for him. Then he looks around to see what can happen to him if East holds that king and it becomes apparent that the hand may be in danger. Can he play safe for three no-trump? Yes, provided West hasn't opened a three-card heart suit.

At trick two South planks his king of spades on the table. West might as well take his ace right then and there because South is going to keep on, so West does take it.

He leads his king of hearts. South ducks, wins the heart continuation and tries the club finesse. It loses, but South doesn't mind. East can't lead a heart and South makes the rest of the tricks.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SATURDAY, SEPT. 29
Your birthday today: What was settled, turns out not so; what you had thought safe to defer indefinitely may be closer to crisis than imagined. This year challenges your limitations, your will to surpass them. Thrift and self-discipline are essential. For intuition, guidance, a daily habit of prayer opens the way. Relationships in general survive handsily. Today's natives always find something to say, on any subject.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Endless rounds of discussion achieve no tangible result, but do bring about shared experience from which future working teams arise and are thus very worthwhile.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Expect demands on your time and attention; be as gentle as you can in getting out from under, but do it. Romance comes to life, perhaps in complicated circumstances.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: A checklist or some such monitor, to make sure nothing timely has been skipped, may insure success this weekend. A bit of pressure from you could yield high results.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Cater to your love of nature, the hunger for the beauty of life. Much of today's events unfold naturally and enjoyably if you will let things find their own levels.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Enjoy some favorite pastime. If you must tinker with anything mechanical, electrical or inflammable, extra caution is suggested. Speaking out the truth contributes to your happiness.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]:

Speak up clearly to make certain that you are heard. Ask for what you want. Personal ventures and romance thrive, along with general improvement in mood and circumstances.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: You can push some long-standing question to the point of showdown today. Just be sure you really want to. Make it a quiet evening, for serious study, prayer.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Continue collecting that which is yours. Don't let anything stand in the way of your healthy self-interest. Avoid becoming separated from travel companions.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: For you, this should be a moderate day, with no major questions to face, no special energy to work off. Take it easy, think how well off you are, and give thanks.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: For once, it's just as well you take the line of least resistance, once over lightly. Give yourself time for thought on how things got to be the way they are.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Building your public image is the easiest and likely most productive line of endeavor today. The soft sell works best; merely be a whole and happy human being.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: The little things of life come front and center now to assume importance. Explore the fine nuances of relationships, savor the joy of communing with those you love.

WORRY CLINIC By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Mildred's sex confession shows husbands a dangerous error in the boudoir. For men do not inherit the art of love nor skill at the piano keyboard. Both must be learned! Husbands, delay your postlude snoring 60 seconds and verbalize your affection!

CASE Y-529: Mildred J., aged 27, is the wife who wanted a divorce from her wealthy husband.

"Dr. Crane," she confessed, "it isn't that Tom beats me or is miserly with his money, for he is overly indulgent."

"But I have been married for 3 years and I still think he regards me as an interesting possession; not a real helpmate."

"Sometimes I even wonder if he'd miss me very long if I did get my divorce."

"For I feel so unnecessary and unneeded in his life!"

"And what completely destroys my morale is what happens after marital relations."

"For he just rolls over and goes to sleep, without kissing me any more or showing any continuing interest in the real ME."

"Apparently, I am just a convenient sex pot, so I don't believe he truly loves me at all!"

HUSBANDS, NOTE WELL!

Husbands, please notice Mildred's last comment above! For cultured women secretly are skeptical as to whether their mates love them for their total feminine personalities or just for the sexual pleasures the men gain from them.

"Dr. Crane," Mildred tearfully added, "I find that Tom is affectionate as a prelude to marital relations but then shows no interest in me at all after the act."

"Doesn't that prove that I am merely his convenient plaything or sex pot and not his true love?"

Wives, you will find that men in general are not as likely to verbalize their love as are women.

Nor do they like to write letters or indulge in saccharine birthday or Valentine greetings. Yet they may still love you truly.

Such skills must be learned! So send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents. It stopped Mildred's divorce!

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Worry Clinic, 8400 N. 10th St., Suite 100, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55412. Enclose a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin or check. Please print name and address on envelope.

Bug boom NEW YORK (UPI)— One side effect of the Watergate hearings has been a boom in business for major protective agencies across the country.

"We're being asked to check for bugs and provide security for companies who have never before required our services," Jerry DeRoma, vice president of Holmes Protection, Inc., told the National Enquirer. In Los Angeles, Al Goofen, investigative head for ABMI Security Services said:

"There has been an increased demand to have corporate offices debugged since the Watergate break-in."

For a husband likewise may gorge on the delicious roast beef you serve him in the dining room; yet fail to compliment you verbally afterwards.

Moreover, you may offer him most enticing boudoir cheesecake until he surfeits his erotic appetite; yet he may then roll over and start snoring without any postlude affection!

That's a tragic error of most husbands!

For the typical wife furtively watches her husband AFTER marital relations to see if he still shows signs of affectionate interest in her.

"Dr. Crane," Mildred added, "if he were to kiss me and show his love for me for even 60 seconds after marital relations, then I'd feel that he loved me for myself rather than for sex alone!"

"But he doesn't! So don't you think I am justified in getting a divorce?"

No; Mildred didn't need a divorce!

Her husband loved her ardently.

But he was one of those taciturn mates who fail to verbalize their delight in either their wife's dining room roast beef or boudoir cheesecake.

Will you wives please mail your husbands a copy of this column today or lay it at their dinner plate so they can understand the universal attitude of cultured wives?

For husbands aren't instinctively created to know the art of love any more than how to bring forth harmony from the piano keyboard.

Such skills must be learned! So send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents. It stopped Mildred's divorce!

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Worry Clinic, 8400 N. 10th St., Suite 100, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55412. Enclose a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin or check. Please print name and address on envelope.

Business Today

By LEROY POPE UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)— Radiators and fans in automobiles, air conditioners and at least 45 other kinds of heat exchangers may be replaced in years to come with a tiny rotary radiator, says Dr. George Faris.

That would mean motorists no longer would have to worry about broken fan belts and their gas mileage would be improved because less of the engine's power would be used in pumping coolant. The size of home conditioners would be reduced by three quarters and the cost of air conditioning cut accordingly.

The Lebanese-born Faris, whose Donbar Development Corp. of New York has acquired global rights to the German-invented rotary heat exchanger, has a multi-billion dollar market to nibble at.

So far only one automobile, a Chevelle, has been equipped with a prototype of the rotating radiator, but Donbar has licensed or sold prototypes to General Motors, Ford, International Harvester, Caterpillar, Mitsubishi of Japan, which makes cars for Chrysler, and several German auto makers, including the Wankel Co., developer of the rotary combustion engine.

Faris said the tiny rotary exchanger—the one in the Chevelle is only 12 inches in diameter but three and a half long—is up to two and one half times as efficient as a conventional radiator, fan and water pump, takes one-third as much space and is 30 per cent cheaper to build.

Faris said the Donbar exchanger also has promise for small marine engines. "It could eliminate the raw water cooling and through-hull fittings that cause so much engine overheating on boats," he said.

"Through-hull cooling water fittings also can cause boats to sink if the fittings fail because of corrosion. You can't use a conventional radiator and fan cooling system on an inboard boat engine because you can't get a big enough volume of air into the boat," Faris said.

So far, according to Faris, the Donbar exchanger has attracted the greatest interest in air conditioning, Sundstrand Corp. of Rockford, Ill., has developed a design for this purpose and licensed it to 40 companies. Air conditioner makers in Europe and Japan have taken licenses directly from Donbar.

Reports Due AUSTIN (UPI)— Speaker Price Daniel Jr. said reports from all the 1973 interim committees will be due at least one month before the 1975 session begins.

He said almost half the committees created by the previous legislature never reported their activities.

"The theory behind the interim approach to legislation dictates that committees of the legislature examine thoroughly those topics deemed worthy of study during the interim, and report their findings, conclusions and recommendations to the succeeding legislature in order that it may intelligently legislate on those matters," Daniel said.

"When a study committee fails to adequately research its area of responsibility or fails to report its findings, it handicaps the legislative process and effectively wastes the taxpayers' money."

GOOD FOOD IS MY LINE

By Bob Zaph

Here are three ways to solve the old problem of getting the cake out of the pan:

1. For a cake that can slide out easily, coat the bottom and side of the pan generously with 1/2 cup shortening mixed well with 1/4 cup flour.

2. The easiest method is to cover the center of the bottom of the pan with a circle of brown paper. When the cake is baked and removed from the pan, peel the paper back carefully to avoid breaking off pieces of the cake.

3. Grandma's old-fashioned method still works well—simply grease the bottom and sides of the pan generously with butter. Regardless of the method you use, there is a best time to remove the cake from the pan. Cool layer cakes 10 minutes and loaf cakes 20 minutes. If they stand longer, loosen the sides and warm the bottom of the pan on the range. This will loosen the paper and/or soften the crust so the cake will drop out easily.

Legislation Would Limit Renewals For Loans

AUSTIN (UPI)— Reps. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville, and Craig Washington, D-Houston, issued a statement saying they will again sponsor legislation to limit the number of times a small loan can be renewed.

The statement was a response to remarks by Harry Loftis of Tyler, who told loan operators in Galveston the bill would have ruined their businesses.

"As things stand now, these loan sharks continually renew loans of small sums to borrowers at up to 240 per cent annual percentage rates of charge," the statement said.

Nugent said the practice has resulted in economic servitude for thousands of borrowers who are unable ever to repay such loans.

"This burden falls heaviest on those least able to bear the charges of Loftis' loan sharks," Nugent said.

"I know of cases where borrowers have been renewing the $50 and $60 loans every Saturday for years and years, all at up to 240 per cent.

"If Mr. Loftis can justify this kind of bondage for the citizens of Texas, let him prepare himself well because he will have to face us again next session and as long as we're in the legislature until this practice has been corrected."

It Sims To Me...

By PAUL SIMS
Sports Editor

Buddy Williams has to be a firm believer in fate. At least if he wasn't superstitious in the past, his views have somewhat taken a turn about this week.

Williams knows now that the "hand of fate" must have drawn up the Harvesters schedule prior to the start of the season. Pampa's open this week, and that is the biggest stroke of luck Williams' Harvesters have thus far encountered.

Pampa, at the present time, isn't anywhere close to full strength, as illness and injury have taken their respective tolls on the Harvesters. However, with a week off, there should be mass recuperation and that could very well result in a revitalized football team.

"It's definitely going to help us, there's no doubt about it," said the Pampa coach, "because we've got so many people sick and injured."

Halfback-defensive back Steve Mathis has been out since spring training, recovering from knee surgery, and the senior speedster should be well enough to see at least some action when the Harvesters travel to Canyon to play the Eagles next week.

Fullback Jack King, who suffered a dislocated shoulder in the Vernon scrimmage has been working out again this week, and according to Williams, "he should be able to play against Canyon."

Quarterback Rick Leverich received a mild concussion against Perryton last week and was placed on the Harvester injured list. The senior signal-caller hasn't been in any contact drills this week but is working out and will be ready Friday.

Tony Frogge, Pampa's starting tight end, bruised a knee and arm against the Rangers but will play against Canyon.

Split end Howie Lewis, guard Ronnie Minnick and slotback Robert Yeager have been out this week with illnesses.

Tackle Mark Warren, who underwent knee surgery the latter part of July, will miss the Canyon game and probably won't see much action (if any) against Carlsbad, N.M. Oct. 12. Warren hasn't begun working out yet.

Microback Chuck Quarles, filling for injured Leverich, completed seven of 14 passes for 94 yards against Perryton, and that, combined with a superlative defensive effort (in on 11 tackles and recovered a fumble), earned him Harvester of the Week honors, the Pampa Lions Club announced Thursday.

The 5-5, 113-pound senior is now the district seventh-leading passer.

Four of those completions were to split end Lewis, who gained 73 yards against the Rangers. Lewis is the district's number one pass catcher with nine receptions for 149 yards and one touchdown.

Fans have been particularly critical of the Harvesters' inability to score, which is unjustified criticism.

Not once in the three games has Pampa started a drive on the opponent's end of the field. A team has only a 4.7 per cent chance to score if a drive begins outside the 50-yard line.

Pampa's penetrated Perryton's 20 four times and scored once in the "7-ness. A lost fumble killed one drive, a 15-yard penalty plus a nine-yard loss on a fumble thwarted another scoring opportunity and a 15-yard penalty ruined another chance. On the latter drive, the Harvesters moved the ball back to Perryton's 14, and with time running out, a Tim Thornburg field goal attempt fell short.

Williams and the Harvesters, in losing to Dumas and Perryton, have learned not to be overconfident with a AAA opponent. In Canyon, Pampa will face its third consecutive lower-class opponent.

"Canyon's very big and very strong physically. Canyon's tackles are 6-4, 245 and 6-5, 250. The right guard is 6-2, 200 and the tight end weighs 220 pounds," said the Pampa head coach.

Lack of size isn't a Canyon shortcoming.

Overconfidence won't be a Pampa shortcoming.

Wise Leading In QCO

BETTENDORF, Iowa (UPI) — Little-known Larry Wise, who rejoined the PGA tour only five months ago after several years as a golf pro, says he's glad he gave the big-time another shot.

Wise, 32, who turned pro at 18 but played only about six months on the tour, has won about $9,000 as a pro, but is in contention for the $20,000 first prize at the Quad Cities event.

Stockton, winner of the 1973 Milwaukee Open, is also eyeing the top prize money, which would make him the 11th pro this season to earn $100,000.

"The course played quite well despite the muddy conditions," he said.

Washington, D.C. Wise said, "I'm glad I made the switch. My game has really been coming around since the time of the U.S. Open."

Canyon Belts Pampa Red, 46-0

Scoring in every quarter except the third, Canyon Jr. High took a 46-0 win over the Pampa Red Thursday during a cold windy contest on Shocker Field.

Canyon's Ronnie Whitney scored first on a 30-yard run the first time Canyon had the ball and then scored the conversion.

Ricky Cooper ran another Canyon touchdown in from the one-yard line and Whitney ran in the conversion to end the first quarter.

Midway through the second quarter Whitney scored another touchdown from 7 yards out and then ran the conversion for a half-time Canyon lead of 24-0.

After taking the second half kickoff to the Pampa five, Canyon fumbled and the Pampa Red recovered on the seven.

Going to fourth down four times during the drive, Canyon scored early in the fourth quarter with Joe Luquette going over from one foot out and then running the conversion.

After recovering a Pampa fumble on the 47, Canyon scored on a pass to Luquette and Cooper ran the conversion. With under a minute left to play, Mike Flynn scored and the extra point failed.

Eighth-grade Red lost to Borgert Northside 24-0.

In other junior high play, the ninth-grade Blue defeated Hereford Laplata, 19-8 in Hereford, while the eighth grade played Laplata to 0-0 tie.

In the ninth-grade win, Brian Bailey passed to tight end Don Hughes for five- and 35-yard touchdowns and Bailey scored a third on a quarterback sneak.

Pirates Drop Costly Game To Phils

By United Press International
The Pittsburgh Pirates lived through a familiar nightmare—and an unfamiliar one—Thursday night.

The Pirates lost a game they couldn't really afford to lose on a wild pitch. And that was certainly nothing new for them.

When Chris Zachary wild pitched home Greg Luzinski in the 13th inning to give the Philadelphia Phils a 3-2 victory over the Pirates, it brought back memories of the ninth inning of last year's final playoff game with Cincinnati when Bob Moose wild pitched home the deciding run.

But the unusual feature of this game was how Luzinski got to third base in the first place. Reaching second was nothing special as he singled and was sacrificed to second.

The strategy called for an intentional walk to Bob Boone and Zachary was supposed to throw four wide ones. But the first one got too close to the plate and Boone slapped it for a single to send Luzinski to third.

Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh said, "That's the first time I saw anybody swing at an intentional ball and get a hit. I saw a guy hit into a double play once trying to do that."

Pirates One Game Out

Sanguillen said, "The ball bounced in front of the plate, hit my glove and got by."

Luzinski said, "When I was on third, I told (Richie) Hebner I was going to score on a wild pitch and then it happened."

Of course, three more teams — St. Louis, Chicago and

Montreal—still have outside shots at winning St. Louis downed Chicago, 2-0, in the only other National League game.

The Los Angeles-Atlanta game was rained out and canceled (Los Angeles had to fly to the West Coast Thursday night so the game couldn't be made up) and that dimmed Hank Aaron's chances of catching Babe Ruth this season.

But if New York wins at least two of his four games from Chicago this week, all the teams but Pittsburgh will be eliminated.

In the American League games, Detroit stopped Baltimore, 5-2, New York blanked Milwaukee, 2-0, Chicago nipped Kansas City, 3-2, and California edged Minnesota, 5-4, in 11 innings.

Reggie Cleveland's one-hitter and Lou Brock's two-run homer paced the Cards to triumph over Chicago. A sixth-inning single by Ken Rudolph was the only hit off Cleveland. Burt Hooton suffered the loss.

Ryan Snaps Record

Nolan Ryan snapped Sandy Koufax' single season major league strikeout record of 382 with 16 strikeouts as California owned Minnesota.

The trouble with losing, says Darrell Royal, is that if you do it once you are apt to do it again.

Royal's theory will be tested

Shockers Win, 14-12

Frankie Lemons scored twice on runs to lead the Pampa Shockers to their third straight win, as the JV's nipped the Perryton Deputies, 14-12 Thursday night in Perryton.

After a scoreless first quarter, Perryton's Allan Pillars dove over from three yards out at 7:05 in the second period. The PAT attempt was wide and the Deputies held a 6-0 lead.

Lemons scored at 3:46 in the same period on a 59-yard romp off left tackle. Jerry Matney booted the point after and Pampa led 7-6.

At 1:09 Pillars scored on a two-yard run, and on the try for extras, Pampa linebacker Kelly Baker lined back a pass intended for Perryton's fullback.

Lemons made it 13-12 on a five-yard pass at 9:53 in the fourth quarter, and Delmar Bowles' this time booted the extra point. Perryton is now 1-1, while the Shockers, who host Dumas next week, are 3-0-1.

Saturday night in his own personal laboratory and he naturally hopes that by the time the Texas Longhorn-Texas Tech Red Raider contest is over his theory will have taken its place along such ideas as the world is flat and a woman's place is in the home.

Wind Out

"It just takes the wind out of your sails," said Royal, referring to that ugly 20-15 blemish slapped on the Longhorns record by Miami last week.

"Sonny Liston was the meanest, baddest guy in the world until he got tagged. Then a lot of people tagged him. Liston beat a lot of folks with his stare until he got beat."

Mighty Trojans Take On Sooners In Saturday's 'Battle Of The Ratings'

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Peerless Prognosticator

Egad, friends, the trees have barely begun to don their colorful autumnal dress and we are faced with one of the fall's most crucial collegiate pigskin contests. The mighty Trojans of Southern California host the high-scoring Oklahoma Sooners in the week's top "Battle of the Ratings." We've run all pertinent data on these two excellent eleven through the Hoopie computers and our nod goes to the men of Johnny McKay! Make it USC 28, Oklahoma 16!

Elsewhere in the ratings battle, the awesome Buckeyes of Ohio State will challenge for the top spot by rolling over TCU, 42-20. Alabama will chastise Vanderbilt, 40-20, and Nebraska will turn back a good Wisconsin club, 28-14.

In a big Southeastern Conference clash, Tennessee takes on Auburn at Knoxville. We confidently predict an Auburn triumph over the Volunteers by a narrow 22-20 count.

In other meetings worthy of special note, Penn State will edge Iowa, 27-21. Notre Dame will best old rival Purdue, 28-13. Texas will prevail over Texas Tech, 25-14. Illinois will squeeze by West Virginia, 17-10, and LSU will cook Rice, 28-7 — har-rumph!

Bufs Tangle With Northern Illinois

CANYON, Tex. — West Texas State University's Buffaloes return to the confines of Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium for a 7-30 p.m. Saturday non-conference football clash with Northern Illinois' Huskies.

After beating Drake, 13-10, in their home opener, the Buffaloes have fallen to Tulsa and North Texas State in road games. The Buffaloes have a five-game home winning streak, taking all four home contests in 1972.

In Northern Illinois, the Buffaloes will be facing a big, physical team with tremendous offensive potential. The Huskies ripped Indiana State, 42-24, and Southern Illinois, 34-28, in their first two games before falling, 28-14, to Western Michigan last week.

The Buffaloes will be out to snap their two-game losing streak. They fell 48-3 to Tulsa and 32-15 to North Texas State.

Coach Gene Mayfield's Buffaloes unleashed a strong passing attack last week which featured the throwing of junior college transfer Don Nava and the catching of a number of skilled receivers.

Nava completed 19 of 34 passes for 264 yards with two interceptions. The 264 yards made it the fourth best passing effort by an individual in the school's history.

Eight Buffaloes caught at least one pass Saturday night against North Texas State. Tight end Merced Solis led the receiving with six receptions for 121 yards. Mike Lozano, making his first varsity appearance in the backfield as a wingback, caught three for 59 yards. Split end Tracy Dickson, who was a starter for the first time, had three catches for 42 yards. Tailback Rick Schleider also caught three passes, but his receptions went for a total of only six yards.

Two Buffaloes — wingback Mickey Matthews and linebacker Steve Rogers — will miss Saturday's game because of injuries and the status of several other players is undetermined in early week practices.

Matthews suffered a knee injury against Tulsa and Rogers was injured against Drake.

breaking his right arm. Both are expected to be out of action for several more weeks.

Tailbacks Cole Fraley and Billy Pritchett, who missed the North Texas contest with injuries, could miss Saturday's contest. Fraley has a bruised rib and Pritchett has an injured knee.

Noseguard Ben Bentley, Panhandle junior, could miss Saturday's contest with a deep thigh bruise.

In fullback Mark Keller, the Buffaloes will be facing one of the nation's top college backs. The 6-1, 226-pound senior has rushed for 425 yards in three games, averaging 7.1 yards per carry.

Keller, who rushed for 145 yards in last year's 17-8 victory over the Buffaloes, has scored five touchdowns to lead the Huskies to scoring. Tailback Jerry Latin has 130 yards on 33 carries.

Sophomore quarterback Bob Gregolonis leads the Northern passing game — hitting on 21 of 42 passes for 272 yards and one touchdown.

Buffalo sophomore Rick Schleider, who started at tailback Saturday because of the injuries to both Fraley and Pritchett, paces the Buffalo ground game with 196 yards.

Nava is the leading Buff passer with 28 completions in 55 attempts for 363 yards. Mike Wartles has three completions in seven attempts for 18 yards. Neither Buffalo passer has thrown for a touchdown.

What's New In Books

By KENDIG AND IRIS CULLY

Fall is a time of renewal: return from vacation, return to school, return to work. IN TOUCH describes how you feel, and this is the title for a book of selections from Living Light, Tyndale's popular paraphrase of the Bible. The paperback brings the reader into touch with the self, others, God, and scripture. The editor has put together sentences from many places in the Bible to form connected readings for each day of the year. What better words could there be to see one through the day? These are interpreted by black and white photos.

You know why you feel it necessary to be "in touch". Even the brightest of new beginnings has built-in pitfalls. SENT TO BE VULNERABLE is the helpful word. Creath Davis writes this Zondervan book from his experience in a renewal and counseling center. Through openness to the hurts of other people, we strengthen them and ourselves. In the time of need, each person experiences the assurance that God will help how do we find personal fulfillment? What kinds of attitudes make lives stronger? People can sustain one another in spiritual growth. There are study questions at the end of each chapter in case you wish to use the book in a group.

easy task — but then what work is?

Fall is bazaar time in churches everywhere and no better resource for new ideas can be found than THE COMPLETE BOOK OF BAZAARS by Dorthea S. Britton, a Coward, McCann and Geoghagan contribution. The writer calls it a survival manual for chairmen. There is every kind of practical suggestion from diagrams and patterns to photos, including sample outlines for every season's bazaar. You will learn how to round up talent, arrange promotion, avoid pitfalls and spot trends.

Conference Scheduled

Approximately 20 women from First Christian Church will attend the Christian Women's Area Retreat at Ceta Glen this weekend, according to Mrs. Jo Ann Peiffer, local CWF president.

The theme of the 1973 retreat, "Where In The World Are We Going?" will be keynoted by Mrs. Michael Saenz, a former missionary in Puerto Rico for the Disciples of Christ Churches.

Mrs. Saenz, Nancy, is a native of Greenville, Texas and attended TCU and received her BA degree in Spanish and religion and the BS degree in home economics.

She has prepared materials for CWF, edited a Christian Education news sheet, and helped improve the organization of various conferences.

Also, speaking on missions will be Mrs. Mary Maxine Palmer, former missionary in Japan, wife of Ralph T. Palmer, Pampa. Mrs. Verla Sutton, former missionary in China, now residing in Amarillo, will also be one of the main speakers.

Approximately 150 Disciple of Christ women from around the area are anticipated, according to Mrs. Becky McGee, area president.

The CWF meeting will begin at 1 p.m. Sat. and will close with an installation service for new officers at 1 p.m. Sunday.

Encouragement for renewal in marriage is offered in Richard B. Wilke's TELL ME AGAIN, I'M LISTENING from Abingdon. Along with his wife Julia he has been meeting with couples in small groups and discovered the simple fact that when people were having problems, they didn't talk to each other. Or if one talked, the other wasn't listening or was hearing the words with a different meaning. "Hearing with the third ear" is understanding the meaning. Sensing feelings without words is another way of "hearing". Good marriages can improve. It takes work, but the result is worth the effort. This book will help every step of the way.

For clergy (and listening laity) Paul D. Lowder writes FEED WHOSE SHEEP? in a book from Word. He has emerged from a time of bitterness to realize that the church is here to stay and religious people are also human. Even the clergy! They need to be able to express anger while keeping peace, deal with the frustrations of parish-finance, see parish growth as more than a numbers game, understand how to care for people without trying to change them. This expresses pain and healing. Clergy will find it useful in groups (it includes questions). Being a pastor is no

St. Matthews Episcopal Church

REV. MARTIN HAGER

a manner of thy friends or of thine own; for any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in Mankind; and therefore never ask to know for whom the bell tolls; it tolls for thee."

Humanity, nothing less than humanity, is like an enormous spider web, so that if you touch it anywhere, you set the whole thing trembling. When we are confronted by any person's death, we are confronted by our common destiny as human beings: to be born to live, to struggle a while, and finally to die. We are all of us in it together. It takes nothing as cataclysmic as a death to remind us of this. As we move around this world and as we act with kindness, perhaps, or with indifference, or with hostility toward the people we meet, we too are setting the great spider web trembling. The life that I touch for good or for ill will touch another life, and that in turn another until who knows where the trembling stops or in what far place and time my touch will be felt. Our lives are linked together. No man is an island. He may think that he is, but is not.

But there is another truth, the sister of this one, and that is that every man is an island. We sit in silence with one another, each of us more or less reluctant to speak, for fear that if he does, he may sound like a fool. And beneath that there is of course the deeper fear, which is really a fear of the self rather than the other, that maybe the truth of it is that indeed he is a fool. The fear that the self that he reveals by speaking may be a self that the others will reject just as in a way he himself rejected it. So either we do not speak, or we speak not to reveal who we are, but to conceal who we are, because words can be used either way, of course. Instead of showing ourselves as we truly are, we show ourselves as we believe others want us to be. We wear masks, and with practice we do it better and better, and they serve us well — except that it gets very lonely inside a mask, because inside the mask is a person who both longs to be known and fears to be known.

In this sense, every man is an island, separated from every other man by fathoms of distrust and duplicity. Part of what it means to be is to be you and not me, between us the sea that can never entirely cross even when we would. "My brethren are wholly estranged from me," Job cries out, "I have become alien in their eyes."

The paradox is that part of what binds us closest together as human beings and make it true that no man is an island is the knowledge that in another way every man is. Because to know this is to know that not only deep in you there is a self that longs above all to be known and accepted, but there is also such a self in me, in everyone else, the world over. So when we meet as strangers, when ever friends look like strangers, it is good to remember that we need each other greatly — you and I, more than much of the time we dare even to imagine and more than most of the time we dare to admit.

A bridge is built between people with love... not sentimental, emotional love... but love that springs often from hurt and regret and guilt. Love that speaks softly holy and healing words which are: "God be with you, stranger who are no stranger. I wish you well." And the islands become an archipelago, then a continent, then a kingdom whose name is the Kingdom of God.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Misuse Of Psychiatry

Russia devours its best sons. That is a proverb that Soviet Union Jews are circulating in an attempt to moderate their government's treatment of dissident scientist Andrei D. Sakharov.

A nuclear expert, Sakharov is on the red carpet along with his defender, writer Vladimir Maximov, and novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn. Maximov is threatened with the military draft and has been ordered to consult a psychiatrist.

The psychiatry order is a method that the government has of planting the thought that a dissenter could be insane. When the question of a person's sanity is raised and that person has no access to the media to demonstrate his rationality, the public is left to conclude that the authorities would not have issued such an order if they did not have reason to suspect that the subject was deranged. A doubt so raised tends to damage the individual's credibility, so that he no longer is believed even though what he says may be true.

That is pressure, Soviet style. But before we go all out to heap blame on the Russians, we must reflect that authorities in this country do the same thing. Judges sometimes permit, or even order, a psychiatric examination of a defendant before his trial takes place. Such a practice is bound to damage the confidence of the defendant in himself, and moreover it damages him in the eyes of the jury.

U.S. judges have been known to order defendants detained in the federal medical facility at Springfield, Mo. That is what happened to Major General James Walker, as some will recall. It also happened to an income-tax protester named A.J. Porth. On Aug. 27, 1972, and there was the story recounting the incarceration of the woman who had kicked two federal marshals in the shins when they burst through the door of her home. She was given the mental examination routine. The federal marshals had come to jail her husband, a protestor of the income tax and the military draft.

The plight of the Russians has drawn the attention of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark. And Mills is all set to oppose liberalized trade with the Soviet Union if the Russians do not let up on their victims. We are glad that a Congressman of such influence has spoken up on behalf of the downtrodden. We hope somebody will speak up for Americans who have been treated similarly by their government.

Tax Deflationary If...

President Nixon is said to be "sympathetic" toward a tax increase. Our guess is that people who are wrestling with their grocery and gasoline bills plus house payments will not be as sympathetic as the President is reported to be. Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns touts a tax increase as a way of moderating inflation. That bit of frosting is calculated to make bitter cake taste sweeter.

The relation between taxation and inflation will be obscure to some readers. The general idea is that, if government taxes in more dollars, then it will resort to deficit spending to a lesser degree. But the logic gap there is plainly visible. The government could tax in more dollars and yet run up just as high a deficit as ever. Further, higher taxes — in the sense of a higher tax rate — do not always mean greater tax revenue. On occasions, the higher rate hurts business so much that the proceeds are diminished.

Back in the 1830's in the Republic of Texas, President Sam Houston cured a bad case of galloping inflation by taxing in Texas dollars and burning them in his fireplace. That made fewer dollars in circulation. Thus the commodity price of each remaining dollar was higher. The lesson that this bit of history affords is that the burning had as much to do with curbing the inflation as the taxing.

If President Houston had gone out and spent the taxed-in dollars himself, the consequence would have been no different from any other Texan's spending the same dollars. If Mr. Nixon has some method for retiring Federal Reserve notes and other forms of purchasing media as they are taxed in, then an additional tax would tend to moderate inflation. However, if — lacking the ability to retire purchasing media — he re-spends the purchasing media through government channels, nothing will have been changed except the tax payer will have been deprived of more and the government enlarged.

I'm fixing bail that I think is reasonable because of the nature of the charges. I would have set the same bail for George Washington.

New York Supreme Court Justice Abraham Kalina, setting bail at $50,000 bond or $10,000 cash for former Yippee leader Abbie Hoffman, charged with selling cocaine.

Question Box

QUESTION: What is the difference between a liberal and libertarian?

ANSWER: Since both designations spring from the Latin liber, meaning free, there is no wonder that people are confused. It is another demonstration of the futility of labeling people and their ideas. The confusion is not new. Back in the 19th Century lovers of liberty like Herbert Spencer were writing that people in favor of government controls were stealing the term liberal.

At one time, liberals were people who favored reducing government and its controls over the people. Conservatives usually were on the side of the — of or party in power, thus were defending whatever the government was doing to the people. This seems to have been reversed in the 20th Century.

The late Carter Glass, Secretary of the Treasury in 1918, defined a liberal as "one who wants to spend the conservative's money." That description would strike a responsive chord with many present-day conservatives.

Ambrose Bierce gave his biting commentary that a conservative was in favor of retaining the present evils, as opposed to the liberal who would replace them with other evils.

Because of the fact that the people favoring more big government and more controls on the people have taken over the term liberal for themselves, liberty lovers who dislike the conservative came up with the term libertarian to describe their philosophy. That term also has been grabbed off by such groups as the American Civil Liberties Union, which has given no indication that it favors economic freedom as well as personal freedom.

Tibor Machan, who has written occasionally for The News, once wrote that present-day conservatives seemed to favor economic liberty, but not personal freedom. On the other hand, he noted, most present day liberals seemed in favor of personal freedom but not economic and personal freedom.

Dr. Machan and The News contend that freedom is indivisible, and that one really cannot be consistent without favoring both economic and personal freedom. Before Ronald Reagan became governor, he once pointed out that "freedom is not spelled with an 's.'" We believe that points up the indivisibility of the condition called freedom.

We do not know that there is any clear way to tell the difference between the two terms — liberal and libertarian. Perhaps the best policy is to try as far as possible to avoid use of either term, unless there is a definition or clarification of what is meant. As we have pointed out in the past, the use of labels is far from a satisfactory practice.

BRUCE BLOSSAT Problems of man at danger point

By Bruce Blossat

WASHINGTON (NEA) — One fundamental meaning of the incredible year 1973 is that, across nearly every front of human endeavor, this nation and the world are having it driven home that their problems are approaching the peril point.

A key word that lies at the root of this phenomenon is a jaw-crusher: magnification. You name the problem. If it once seemed manageable, or at least bearable, it seems today to be soaring to proportions that threaten to take it beyond our mastery.

There is no more basic place to begin an examination of what is truly a crisis in human civilization than the field of earth resources. Nor to understand that the problem is really very old.

What is new is that the world's growth in numbers and complexity has magnified the trouble until the danger is sinking into everybody's bones.

Here in this country, shortages and consequent high prices of fuel and food dramatize the danger. Today's devotees of "ecology" give it a new sound, with their stress upon waste and damage, contamination and pollution.

Let's look back. Oddly, we can do that without delving into history books but simply by scanning the present scene. The story lies easy at hand in the best atlases and in "picture books" which are realistic portraits of our continents. To quote from an essay in one:

"...the most vital resource of earth, soil, has been depleted continuously since man began the practice of agriculture roughly 10,000 years ago... the destruction accelerates with each increase in human population."

Anyone who is presently fretting, either seriously or faddishly, about the rural poverty which afflicts such reasonably modern countries as Spain, Italy and Greece, should look hard before laying blame on anything so simple and obvious as incompetence, avarice, or oppression on the part of current governments — democratic or otherwise.

In the ably done natural history series called "Continents We Live On," the volume on Europe tells the devastating and quite old truth of the matter. Through ignorance, indifference and greed, man virtually ruined the soil resources of the Mediterranean lands centuries ago — and is still at it.

Zoologist Kai Curry-Lindahl, the volume's author, says these countries — once fertile and flowering — today exhibit a barren landscape scraped to the earth's marrow by "biological and economic misuse, for which man alone is responsible."

Forests were ripped away, soil was abused and allowed to erode until in some parts of Italy only crude sub-soil is left. Destructive herds of goats were turned loose to chew up even the anchoring roots of vegetation.

In Curry-Lindahl's judgment, it would take a 1,000-year program to restore useful cover to Italy's worst-afflicted areas in the poverty-ridden south.

So now Italy, on the surface industrialized like much of advancing western Europe, is in chaos — beset not only by failure and corruption in government and business and the crippling moves of unions, but by the weighting-down of a thoughtless, self-destroying past in which ordinary men raped the earth and became both villains and victims.

What vivid portraits show of Mediterranean lands can be matched in great parts of Latin America, Africa, Asia, Centuries of irreversible damage bind countless millions in poverty while the affluent complain of new deprivations.

H. L. Hunt Writes

ANOTHER POLLY
OF FOREIGN AID

For over a quarter of a century, the U.S. government has been conducting the most massive giveaway in the history of the world, best known as "foreign aid." Begun as an undertaking to rebuild war-shattered Europe, "foreign aid" long ago left behind that original justification. For many years it has seemed to have no justification other than perpetuating itself and its human bureaucracy.

Money was given outright to foreign governments, including many who made it a policy to insult the United States. Projects were undertaken which were of no use to the foreign country's people or to the U.S. Huge staffs of "aid" bureaucrats maintained on foreign soil were about the only beneficiaries.

Now comes a new climax of the handout urge. The hard-earned money of U.S. taxpayers was used to construct a $6 million guiding for the foreign aid bureaucrats in New Delhi, India, to serve as the headquarters of their Agency for International Development. Now the new building, just finished, is to be turned over to the Indian government for nothing.

Of course, this doesn't mean that the aid bureaucrats will find themselves on the streets of New Delhi. They will go on using other quarters, also paid for by the U.S. tax money, while the new building built expressly for them is turned over to the Indians.

When Washington expressed some doubts to U.S. Ambassador to India Daniel Moynihan that the whole building should be turned over, Moynihan fired back word that he would resign if they did not get every square foot of the structure. His resignation, and the recall of the entire AID bureaucracy in India, would be a step in the right direction.

I wish there was a quick and easy answer for you, but there isn't one that can be readily accomplished. A significant alcohol problem is something that the mate usually can't do much about. The individual has to seek help on his own. This is true whether it's a man or a woman. You should talk to your family doctor about it and see if he has any suggestions, or if there is an A.A. chapter close by, since he has been to one before, you might contact them and see if they could be of any help to you. They might, through his previous organization connections be able to establish some form of contact with your husband and see if they could help him.

I must tell you that the alcohol won't necessarily keep the vitamins from helping him, but the vitamins will not keep his body from being damaged by alcohol. Excessive use of alcohol can damage the liver, the brain and even the heart. This is true even if a person has an adequate vitamin intake.

If the alcohol problem can't be solved, it's up to you to decide what to do with your life. There is nothing that requires a mate to live with an alcoholic mate (male or female). You might need to ask what you have done to deserve an alcoholic mate. There is an organization called Al Anon for mates and families of the alcoholic.

Pressure for School Prayer
Compels New Legislative Try
By Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — There is a better than even chance that a constitutional amendment to legalize voluntary prayer in public schools will be favorably reported by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

A definite majority of the committee's Subcommittee on Constitutional Amendments is for such legislation.

It will formally recommend it at the conclusion of a series of hearings now in progress, and the full Judiciary Committee is virtually certain to concur and send the constitutional proposal to the Senate floor for approval.

The Senate's adoption is also considered practically assured. In October 1970, the Senate enacted such a constitutional amendment by a 50 to 20 margin — well over the required two-thirds of those present and voting.

The subcommittee's current hearings are the second round. Chairman Birch Bayh, D-Ind., conducted a series earlier this year at which a number of members of Congress testified in favor of legislation to permit voluntary prayer in public schools.

Purpose of the new hearings is to forcefully underscore the previous testimony strongly urging the overriding of the Supreme Court's ban against prayer in schools.

While approval of the constitutional amendment by the subcommittee and full Judiciary Committee is definite, still unclear is the time the Senate will act — whether in this session or next year.

It all depends on the duration of this session. If it winds up late next month, as hopefully contemplated by Senate and House leaders, it's doubtful that the prayer issue will be acted on. It would have to go over to the 1974 session as unfinished business.

However, if this session lasts through November, the constitutional amendment might very well be taken up by the Senate — and disposed of in short order, as happened last time.

There is no prospect of the House doing anything on the matter this year.

The issue is still slumbering in the House Judiciary Committee, headed by Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J. Not even hearings have been held.

In November 1971, the House came within 28 votes of the necessary two-thirds for approval of constitutional amendments. A measure sponsored by Rep. Chalmers Wylie, R-Ohio, chalked up a 78 majority (240 yeas to 162 nays) — an impressive showing, but still short of the required two-thirds.

Political Dynamic
Rep. Wylie is still vigorously spearheading the drive for enactment of a prayer amendment.

In this unrelenting effort he is powerfully supported by two factors: (1) overwhelming public demand for such legislation; (2) the steadfast persistence of this wide-spread sentiment.

Wylie forcefully stressed these points in addressing the Senate constitutional amendments subcommittee.

"Although the Supreme Court decision was 11 years ago, the political power of this issue has not faded. It has fantastic resonance, and our constituents continue to demand action — not just a bare majority of them, but almost all of them.

"The prayer amendment is political dynamite and has been for years. The average law-abiding constructive citizen supports the prayer amendment, and will continue demanding it until an effective remedy of the problem is found."

These views were decisively echoed by Sens. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., Dewey Bartlett, R-Okla., William Roth, R-Pa., and Richard Schweiker, R-Pa. All urged prompt approval of a prayer amendment on the ground such legislation is universally desired and Congress should act.

Said Baker: "The struggle for reaffirmation of voluntary prayer is a grass-roots issue in the truest and best sense of the word. It is extremely unusual for such an issue to sustain the sentiment of so many people for such a long period of time."

Sen. Bartlett caustically derided the Supreme Court's ban of school prayer as contrary to the tradition of the nation, pointing out: "Both houses of Congress have chaplains. Supreme Court sessions are opened with prayer, and our history is replete with examples of leaders calling for divine guidance."

"There is something wrong when our courts forbid voluntary prayer, yet sanction all kinds of obscenities under the guise of free speech. It is vital that a prayer amendment be passed without delay. The longer we are deprived of a freedom, the easier it is to forget the need for that freedom."

Sen. Roth noted that the oath of office of the President and members of Congress concludes with the words, "So help me, God," and at the present particularly calls for prayer. Said Roth: "At a time when the youth of our nation, more than ever before, are in quest of values and identity, it is wrong to deny them the religious foundation upon which values can be built. That is why I believe Justice Stewart's comments about the importance of a nation's 'spiritual heritage' are so significant."

Sic transit gloria screenplay, or who remembers a writer?

ROBERT ANDERSON faces dilemma of whether to write screenplay of his new book, "After," or let someone else do it.

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — To many of us there is still nothing as exciting as a great play. Somehow, a fine play is more moving than a fine motion picture.

Why should that be? The answer, according to Robert Anderson, lies in the basic differences between stage and screen. Anderson has written for both. He is probably most famous for his plays — "Tea and Sympathy," among others — but he is also the author of many brilliant screenplays.

As Anderson explains it, the term of the Dramatists' Guild contract gives the playwright approval of his work. He has cast approval, director approval, even approval of the lighting. And not a word of his play can be changed unless he agrees.

"In movies," he says, "the writer is really nothing. How many reviews have you read that don't even mention the writer's name?" In the theater, the writer stays with the production through rehearsals, making any changes he (and others) feels are necessary. In Hollywood, the writer ordinarily hands in his finished script and is never consulted again.

Anderson gives this example of how the stage works. When he wrote, "I Never Sang For My Father," the final confrontation scene between father and son was not in the original manuscript. As they rehearsed, Hal Holbrook, who played the son, kept saying he thought the piece needed a stronger ending.

"I disagreed," he says. "The story was based on life, and, in life, my father and I had not had a big scene at the end. But gradually I came to the conclusion that Hal was right. So I sat down and wrote the last scene."

"I said to myself, 'All right, Dad, now we are going to say those things we never said.' I think now that scene made the play. If it had been an original for a movie the scene would never have been written."

Now Anderson is trying his skills at a new medium. He has written a novel, "After," a powerful story of a man who finds, as his wife lies dying, how much he loves her, and then, after she dies, finds a new love. This, too, is based on truth — Anderson's first wife died, and he has been married for 12 years now to actress Teresa Wright.

He is currently debating the advisability of writing the screenplay — the novel has been sold to Paramount. On the one hand, he feels so close to the material he wouldn't want anybody else to come in and spoil it. On the other hand, writing the novel was so traumatic that he isn't sure he wants to go through it all again with the screenplay.

At last reports, he was still debating.

Court Okays Park Grant

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas parks and wildlife commissioners refused to step into a city of Friendswood feud over proposed location of a new city park, and approved $48,500 in federal matching funds to buy the site recommended by the city council.

In other action, the commission also approved $189,963 for first phase development of the new Jefferson County State Park.

Arthur Hutchings of Friendswood asked the commission to turn down the city's request for park purchase funds, saying voters in March and August had defeated proposals to issue tax bonds for the park acquisition.

"The council wants this location, the people do not," Hutchings said. He held up a copy of a Friendswood newspaper carrying the headline "Council Crams Park Down Our Throats."

On Main Street

Hutchings, who served on a park committee in Friendswood, said the park site is on the city's main street and is not suitable for children on bicycles because of heavy traffic.

Friendswood Mayor Ralph Lowe disagreed with Hutchings, and asked the commission to go ahead and approve the federal grant, part of $1.8 million in federal funds being allocated for local park development.

"Just because the people vote bond issues down does not solve the problems," Lowe said.

Unanimous Approval

The commissioners unanimously approved the Friendswood grant along with 22 others, explaining that they routinely follow the recommendations of elected officials in such matters.

UPI To Test High-Speed News Wire

NEW YORK (UPI) — United Press International will test an experimental high-speed news wire for newspapers with electronic editing systems, Roderick W. Beaton, president of UPI said today.

UPI DataNews combines an abstract wire and a Dataspeed circuit to deliver general news, sports and financial copy to newspaper computers in a form for easy storage and retrieval.

Beaton said the initial test, to begin in October, would link the UPI IS&R (Information Storage and Retrieval) system in New York with a large daily in the metropolitan area and Univac's King of Prussia, Pa., development center.

Beaton said the DataNews experiment was a step toward UPI's goal of developing its "News on Demand" service. Subscribers to a Demand Service would use an abstract circuit to select stories from the UPI computer in New York.

No decision has been made to market the DataNews service, Beaton said.

Both Demand and DataNews use the same abstract wire. An abstract consisting of computer file number, word count and the first paragraph is produced as UPI editors file a story into IS&R.

The advantage of Demand or DataNews, Beaton said, is that subscribers learn almost immediately that a particular story is available in IS&R. Because of traffic demands on conventional, low-speed circuits, a story may have to wait "on queue" for hours before reaching the subscribers. DataNews, because of its high speed, will deliver the same story within minutes—or seconds.

UPI Editor-in-Chief H. L. Stevenson said requirements of subscriber newspapers caused the wire service to initiate the DataNews test.

"The first obvious thought is that urgent stories will move faster on this Dataspeed service," Stevenson said. "But just as important is the fact that the heavy bulk of the report can be delivered hours faster than on conventional wires."

"Much of the scheduled report for afternoon newspapers is in the computer within a few hours after midnight," Stevenson said. "It now takes up to six hours to move it out on the A-wire, B-wire, sportswire or whatever. DataNews could deliver it in minutes. This means a wider selection of copy available faster at the newspaper."

"The same thing is true of the early afternoon crush on the morning newspaper cycle," Stevenson said.

Texas, California and Vermont were once independent republics.
