Pure Water

Even a novice knows that radiators, piping, jackets, etc., are injured and made inefficient through incrustations resulting from mineral substances inherent in all of nature's aqua pura products, save, perhaps, rain water. The only safe thing to use therefore is distilled water. This is not always obtainable, but few indeed are the places nowadays where artificial ice cannot be found. That's the answer; melt the ice and you have the purest water.

Worth Remembering

Never attempt to pass another car on the highway until you have first made certain that the car behind isn't trying to pass you at the same time. Many a driver has turned over to the left side of the road preparatory to passing a car ahead only to be side-swiped by the car behind which gave no warning of its intention.

Several business men have found that it is no trouble to sell out these days as business men from other points are quite eager to purchase business enterprises in Big Spring.

THE PASSING DAY

By Will H. Mays, Department of Journalism, University of Texas

The State Democratic convention at Austin proved that it is possible to keep Texas "dry, sober and clean," to use the words of Governor Neff. In advance of the convention Neff announced through the papers of the State that rangers would be on hand to see that the prohibition and other laws were enforced. There were about 3,000 persons in Austin for the convention either as delegates or as visitors. About a dozen rangers mixed freely in the crowds wherever they were congregated in the city. They were dressed like convention delegates and talked and acted like delegates, but all the time with eyes and nostrils alert for liquor. They arrested two delegates on whose breaths they detected the liquor smell, but they were afterward released because it could not be established that they were intoxicated. One Austin citizen was arrested on a charge of having a quart and a half of whiskey in his office, and a hotel bell boy was charged with peddling booze. That was the sum total of law violation so far as vigilant officers could find.

The convention crowd was to all appearances as well behaved as if it had been a church conference and was just as orderly except for occasional outbursts of political enthusiasm, and that despite the fact that it was expecting a "bear fight," and most of the delegates and visitors were out for a good time. What was done in Austin can be done anywhere if only the local officers will be vigilant enough. When the people know that the law will be enforced most of them try to observe the law. If they think that law breaking will be overlooked, they are encouraged to go just a little beyond the limits of the range. When they come to learn that Texas expects its laws to be observed all the time and everywhere, they will show respect for laws, and not until then.

Prohibition laws in Texas have been reasonably well enforced from the time of their passage, despite the oft-repeated assertion that they have not been, and certainly drinking has been reduced to almost nothing. We hear more of liquor selling now than formerly because when a person is arrested for making, selling or drinking booze, it is a news item and the papers publish it. Before prohibition such things were not matters of news because they were the ordinary and the expected things, and the ordinary and expected do not make news. To have published such matters before prohibition went into effect would have filled more than the space of an ordinary newspaper and the papers would have appeared ridiculous. Now the public eagerly reads and talks about such news items and gets the impression that there is still a great deal of drinking.

One of the most elemental passions, and one hardest to overcome, is hatred. Many persons, who might otherwise be classed as Christians, are full of hate toward some one or more persons. They seldom are willing to admit it, even to themselves, for they know that hatred is the antithesis of Christianity, which is universal love. Often they try to save their conscience by saying that they do not hate any one, though there are some whom they dislike exceedingly. There is so little difference between hatred and exceeding dislike that the latter term is given as one of the definitions of the former. Christ clearly taught that his followers should love one another and that love should be all-inclusive. Measured by this standard, which after all was about the only doctrine taught, have you the right to believe yourself a Christian?

We often talk about "serving God," as though we could render some direct service to the Omnipotent Being. The only way we can serve him is by rendering helpful service to our fellow men. His children, and that must be a loving service of a kind that can not be given to those we hate. We can't serve God while hating any one.

It's a Dry Idea

It will be recalled that Congressman J. W. Langley of Kentucky was recently convicted in U. S. court of trafficking in liquor, contrary to the law in such cases made and provided, and that his case is now in a higher court on appeal. Meantime Langley has been renominated for Congress in his district, and he was not opposed by the Anti-Saloon League, as everybody had expected it would be. Indeed, that aggressive organization does not even now oppose his reelection, despite the rather convincing testimony against him in court.

The strange attitude of the League, that is so dry as to be inflammable on occasion, piqued the interest of one Kentucky citizen, at least, and he made direct inquiry. Reply was of prompt return, and set forth that the Anti-Saloon League was not opposing Mr. Langley because, no matter what he may have done with relation to violation of the law, he "has always voted dry whenever the issue has arisen."

It is a dry idea, as can be plainly seen by those whose eyes are not wet from laughing, as well as otherwise.—Fort Worth Press.

We Have Had Enough

Nathan Leopold Jr. now promises to write a book in which he "will include a frank discussion of the philosophy which made possible the commission of the 'crime for a thrill.'"

There should be no such book. There is no demand for exploitation of the so-called philosophy that contemplated and carried into effect the shocking murder of an innocent child. It cannot help the world, it cannot soften the hideous face of crime, it cannot lift the young criminals above the repulsive station in life they deliberately selected for themselves. Its publication would be a crime little less heinous than that committed by the author.

All that this country now asks in this matter is that the confessed perpetrators of the murder of little Robert Franks and all that pertains to them be forgotten as quickly as possible. Their parade so far has been insufferable. Its continuance in any shape or form would be unspeakable.—Fort Worth Press.

Continue Meador Case Until January
Judge Charles E. Dubois in the Fifty-First Judicial Court of Tom Green County at San Angelo continued this week the case of the State against Andy Meador until the January term. Action was taken on motion of W. A. Anderson, one of the defense attorneys, owing to the illness of Lud Williams of Waco, another member of the defense counsel. The case had been set for trial at San Angelo.

Meador is charged with murder, growing out of the killing of Asa Rawls, an employee on the Meador ranch in Andrews County, May 17, 1922. Meador was found guilty here June 12, 1923, and was sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment. The Court of Criminal Appeals later reversed the case and ordered a new trial. Brownwood News.

Mrs. A. B. Winslow, says: "Quite a few years ago I began having pains in the small of my back, just over my kidneys. I couldn't rest at night, because no matter how I lay, there was a steady pain that felt like a red-hot iron across my kidneys. Sometimes I was so drawn up with pain, I could hardly get out of bed. I was subject to nervous headaches and the least noise startled me. My kidneys didn't act regularly at all. I got Doan's Pills at the Ward Drug Co., and they entirely cured me. I haven't suffered from kidney complaint for some time."

FIRST CONSIGNMENT OF RACE HORSES QUARTERED AT STATE FAIR TRACK

Henry T. Batchler, veteran Texan horse owner, with Geo. W. Crippen and Dan B. Freeman, are the first horsemen to reach the race track at the State Fair of Texas ready for the thirteen-day meeting Oct. 11-26.

With thirteen horses in their collective stable, the three well known horsemen quartered at the State Fair barns during the first week in September.

Reservations have already been made for more than a hundred stalls at the State Fair track. One shipment of a dozen animals will come all the way from Winnipeg. Two owners, one with fourteen and another with twelve animals, will come in from Omaha. Dr. A. E. Flowers, superintendent of the State Fair race department, is highly pleased over prospects for an excellent meeting. There are four big events on the program, entries for which close on Oct. 1.

"EDITORS" DAY AT STATE FAIR OCT. 11

Saturday, Oct. 11, opening day, will be Press Day at the State Fair of Texas at Dallas this year.

Heretofore Press Day at the Fair has usually been on the first Monday, and therefore the date for 1924 is rather a departure from custom. The new designation was made at the request of officials of the Texas Press Association, and plans are under way by State Fair officials to entertain the "press gang" in proper fashion.

Among the big features of opening day will be the Sewanee-A. & M. football game in the athletic stadium and the "Olmsted Trophy," as the big event on the day's racing card.

Flying Flivver Will Be Exhibit At State Fair

A flying flivver will be a big attraction at the State Fair of Texas, Dallas, Oct. 11-26, according to announcement.

Fair officials have closed with a former aviation officer, who has perfected a helicopter attachment for an automobile, which actually lifts the machine from the ground, as it runs along at the will of the operator. Highly successful tests have been made at San Antonio and also at the State Fair grounds. The inventor is Lieut. Henry Toncray of Troupes Texas. He will also make night flights in an illuminated plane.

CUBAN WAR VETERANS TO REUNITE AT STATE FAIR

Veterans of the Cuban campaign of the late nineties are to hold a reunion at the State Fair of Texas, on Sunday, Oct. 19, this year. George A. Lake, who was a member of Troop L, U. S. Volunteers, asked for the reservation of that day as "U. S. Volunteers day," and said many members of the old "First Texas Cavalry, U. S. Volunteers" were expected to attend the reunion.

Otis Chalk was in Tuesday from his ranch southeast of Big Spring and reports everything down his way in fine shape since the rain last Friday and Saturday. Ideal conditions for cattle raising is now predicted for the coming winter and stockmen are in fine spirits as a result.

Planting 200 Acres in Wheat

J. P. Anderson was in Wednesday from his ranch twenty miles northeast of Big Spring. Mr. Anderson states he is busy as can be just now planting two hundred acres in wheat. He had to stop in the midst of the work of threshing in order to start planting. Mr. Anderson had 300 acres in wheat last year but the hail destroyed half of it in the spring. The part harvested is especially fine as it is testing 64 pounds to the bushel and twenty bushels to the acre. He is now marketing this wheat locally and expects to dispose of it all, right at home, either in planting seed or chicken feed.

Mr. Anderson states that he expects to continue his program of raising wheat, pure bred cattle and good mules with a little cotton on the side. By this method he secures fine pasturage for his livestock every winter even though he may not harvest a big wheat crop each year and he finds it a safer program than depending on a single crop—such as cotton.

Mr. Anderson has been planting wheat for the past seven years and while he has not made any "killings" he has found wheat a dependable and paying crop in connection with stock-farming.

If you use the long distance service you already know how speedy, efficient and satisfactory it has become.

Our toll operators are a part of a large staff of skilled operators who were never better trained, more courteous or obliging. Science has worked wonders in perfecting transmissions and our system has been equipped with every known device to insure good service no matter what the distance.

In fact, distance as a factor in long distance service has been eliminated. The voice of a speaker five hundred or a thousand miles away sounds as if he was just across the street.

We will be glad to give you the rate to any place at any time.

The postoffice department has called the attention of all postmasters to the fact that many cities are not keeping up street name signs as they should be, and that house owners are derelict in having their houses properly numbered.

An early cooperation by the city officials in having old signs painted and new ones put up where needed, and house owners having them properly numbered, will not only insure more efficient service, but will save time for carriers, and the possible curtailment of the city delivery service.

Pipe Line For Reagan County Field.

A pipe line for transporting Reagan-Big Lake oil to the Gulf Coast, to cost about $2,500,000, the probable route of which will be from the Reagan County field to Brownwood or Ranger-Eastland field, there to connect with the existing pipe lines, furnishing an outlet in the immediate future, was announced at Fort Worth by several of a group of high officials of the Transcontinental Oil Company. They had just come from the Big Lake field, accompanied by three Chicago bankers and a representative of eastern banking interests of Pittsburgh, Pa., and New York. The group, traveling in a private car, had previously inspected the new oil fields opened up near Craig, Colo., and are now touring a number of fields in northern Oklahoma and will visit the Transcontinental's Boynton, Okla., refinery.

With the production of the Big Lake, or Reagan County field, increasing, a cheaper outlet than rail transportation must be obtained immediately, T. J. Cowell, vice president of the Transcontinental, asserted. Crude oil from Reagan County can be laid down in eastern ports 35 cents a barrel cheaper than Oklahoma oil, Cowell declared.

"Reagan oil is rich in both lubricating and gasoline content, making it equal to the Mid-Continent crude. Such economy cannot be overlooked, so a pipe line is to be built," he said.

It was also indicated that the transcontinental refinery at Hodge station, in North Fort Worth, costing $4,000,000, with a skimming capacity of 20,000 barrels daily, may be enlarged to handle Big Lake crude. The laying of a pipe line from the Reagan County field, he said, has become such a necessity that Transcontinental can no longer wait for another firm to take the field.

"It is now a matter of detail and the route. We have the oil, and the Reagan County field is one of the greatest I have seen. The territory now proven up will produce 10 times as much as Mexia, the sensation of the Balcones fault in east central Texas.

"The pipe line will be built in the near future. It is past conjecture now. The Reagan field is four miles long and three miles wide at present. The west border has been defined and the north edge also in a vague way. Otherwise it is limitless." Mr. Cowell asserted the sand in the Reagan County field is 110 feet thick. He declared oil there is not being produced from a lime, but from a fine sand, interspersed with pebbles, an ideal condition, greater than any found in Texas.

Production for the week ending September 6 was 6,995 barrels. This does not represent the possible output, as many wells are pinched in for lack of storage facilities and pipe line connections. All oil going out is shipped by tank cars over the Orient railroad. Texon Oil and Land company has one well shut down on top of the sand and one producer, while Big Lake Oil company (Transcontinental) has nine producers and one drilling well. Texon is preparing to start six more wells and Transcontinental three.

Basis of present estimates is a minimum of 10,000 barrels a day to be carried by the proposed pipe line. Proven acreage in the Reagan field has sold for $300 per acre. Transcontinental has more than 5,000 acres proven and many times that amount likely to produce.

Big companies own virtually all acreage in the new field and close and feverish drilling will not mark activity there, Cowell declared. Production is extremely consistent and prolific. No. 11 well made nearly 5,000 barrels and was never entirely opened up. Other wells, which are large, have never gone more than 23 feet in the sand, and most of them less than 10 feet. No. 11 went about 40 feet into the pay, although the sand is 110 feet thick.

Many pools along the Marathon fold which runs through Reagan and a dozen other counties may be expected. It is a huge structure and the Reagan field is but one of many which is believed to exist. It may be likened to the Balcones fault, a most historic fold, upon which Powell, Mexia, Luling and numerous other oil districts have been opened.

Positive assurance that the Reagan County field is to get a pipe line outlet is taken to mean the successful conclusion of the immense deal now in progress by Texon Oil and Land Company interests, the high officials of which went to New York a week ago, including Haymon Krupp and Frank Pickrell of El Paso, and are still in the east.

This has proved of tremendous interest to West Texas oil men interested in that territory and the valley of the Pecos river region, as such a course would mean an immediate stimulation to the development of what for weeks has been conceded to promise one of America's biggest oil fields. In addition to providing for a market outlet for the Reagan County oil, it would bring a third

Every day the spirit of fall yard cleaning spreads. Many who were not ready for the former inspection now have beautiful, orderly premises. The town looks fine. But there are many piles of cut weeds that should be burned. And a few corner lots still need cutting. Let us "finish the job." Some of our church lots are a reproach to the christian people, and the walk across the west side of Central school cries out to heaven. Let's do a little more work.

Before Big Spring makes much of a forward spurt we are going to be compelled to secure a water supply that will meet the needs of a city many times the size of ours. Because we have had extra fine water and enough to get by on we have been satisfied to drift along. It has now reached a point where we must secure a larger water supply if we expect to become a city of any size.

The crushed rock now being placed on road bed of the Texas and Pacific railway, is now westward as far as New Idian. The steel gang are now completing the work of laying the new steel rails about three miles west of Westbrook. The ballasting is now completed between Baird and Colorado.

A Sheriff Pledge to the People Schuyler Marshall, nominee for sheriff of Dallas County, on the Democratic ticket, has made the following pledge to the people:
 "I will make every effort to give them an honest, efficient, fair and humane administration and I hope to make Dallas County the pride of Texas for law enforcement. I shall serve to the best of my ability and shall administer the affairs of this high office faithfully and impartially."
 If every sheriff and other official in Texas would conscientiously make the same pledge and sincerely endeavor at all times to keep it, good citizens would feel far more secure in person and property than they have in times past.

Most newly elected officials express a desire to be of service to the people, but all too frequently, "the people" means a certain class of citizens who favored them in the pre-election campaign. To members of these blocs, organizations or lodges they have shown special favors, protecting the rights of others only when it does not interfere with the desires of their friends. Others forget their solemn pledge to the people and their oath of office in their scramble for fees, or in an effort to be spectacular, and those without backing of either money or influence can whistle for their rights as they are trampled under foot by some auto-crat who a few months before humbly solicited their vote.

Farm and Ranch hopes that Schuyler Marshall and all other officers who have made a similar pledge will make a sincere effort to remember at all times that every peace officer is a servant and guardian of the people; that all have rights that should be protected regardless of their position in business and society; that laws should be enforced strictly and humanely, to the end that the law be respected. Such an official will build a monument to himself in the hearts of the people.

A huge open-air stage and amphgrandstand at the West Texas Fair park for the big stellar night attraction opening the fair here, when the second annual crowning of the Queen of West Texas will take place, with gorgeous background of pageantry, spectacular lighting effects and costume. The Queen's identity is being kept a profound secret, and will only be disclosed at the Coronation; but dozen of West Texas fair daughters have already been announced as Duchesses from the various cities of the section, to take part in the gorgeous spectacle of her crowning.

The visiting duchesses will have leading parts in the pageant proper this year, which will be staged with spectacular thrills and unusual displays. Dances before her majesty the Queen, and tremendous fireworks displays will also feature the occasion. The usual monotonous details of such pageants have been eliminated.

The night shows and entertainment numbers of the West Texas Fair are the most elaborate ever offered in this part of the country. Fireworks will include the last word in modern pyrotechnic art, with striking sensations for special features. Night airplane flights with fireworks, special concerts by the famous Chicago Cadets Band under the direction of Al Sweet, hippodrome acts and numbers will feature each evening's program of the fair. A "Joy Zone" complete will hold forth on the midway.

Sept. 1st Livestock Report—Texas.
 Notwithstanding the extremely hot, dry weather of the past month all classes of livestock are holding up well. The range has deteriorated greatly except in the Northwest and in favored localities elsewhere. In these, rains are needed badly to improve the grass and to insure grazing for fall and winter. The older animals have withstood the untoward conditions fairly well, but the younger stock has felt the full effect.
 Many dry cows and the calves that get into marketable shape are expected to move out this fall. Shipments of steers will probably not be so heavy as last year.

According to the monthly reports received from railway agents, 576,- 638 calves were moved during 1923 of which 145,658 head were shipped during the first six months and 421,- 980 head the last six months of the year. The movement during the first half of 1924, consisting of 181,034 calves, was 24 per cent heavier than in the corresponding period of last year. The cattle correspondents estimate that the movement of calves this fall will be only 78 per cent of the shipments during the second half of 1923.

Range condition suffered a further decline during August, falling to 76 per cent, or five points below that of a month ago. Last year it also fell five points during August, to 78 per cent normal. With September rains conditions will improve markedly.
 The condition of cattle also fell during the month, to 80 per cent, which is a decline of six points or two points more than during August of 1923 when 86 per cent of normal was reported on September 1.

FROCKS

REGISTERED BY THE WINTER MODE

To appear on the horizon at all, a Frock must represent the newest Fall tendencies, adapted in the simplest, smartest fashion possible, for simplicity is the soul of chic these days. Here are Frocks for every Fall and Winter occasion—street Frocks, afternoon Frocks, wool Frocks, and silk Frocks. Every Frock in our displays represent the last word in correct styling and becoming adaption.

Slashed Skirts

—are a distinctive new feature on some of these frocks. Frequently a tunic is slashed or a straight line coat frock may be slashed at two or three places. One very charming model—a dress of black silk faille, has a slashed tunic bound in gold and red braid. Priced $69.50.

Redingote Lines

—score heavily on fashion's register this season. Because the idea of the costume complete is the dominating principle of the Mode today, these frocks find especial favor. One Frock has a coat of black silk faille over a crepe de chine slip of cerise coloring; beautiful embroidery adds to its attractiveness. Priced $72.50.

Coat Frocks with accompanying scarfs; smart wool Frocks in coat or one piece styles with beautiful embroidery or braid trimming; handsome afternoon gowns with fur or elaborate embroidery ornamentation; plain tailored street frocks—you will find them here, in all the new shades of the season. Priced $19.75, $21.50 and upward by easy stages to $99.75.

An Exclusive Showing of Irene Castle Frocks

We are exclusive representatives for these smart frocks designed for Irene Castle—"America's best dressed woman." They are fashioned of the finest quality Corticelli Silks in styles that are individual and distinctive. Several new ones are now on display and more will be received the early part of next week.

One of the smartest styles is the ROXANA, a dress of black satin crepe employing the new and enticing apron effect. It is trimmed in chinchilla fur, is daintily embroidered and has imported buttons in gold color. Priced $64.50.

An attractive street frock is of lustrous brown satin crepe, using revers of material as trimming. Pockets, collar and cuffs are embroidered in tan, blue, henna and gold. Priced $52.50.

THE PHYLLIS is an unusual frock of Black Crepe Eldora with full apron effect. Magnificent silk velvet is the material. Severely unadorned except for one splash of appliqued flowers in bright colors. The price is $59.50.

Texas Maintains Export Trade Place
Half-yearly figures show the State again second only to New York. Texas remains the second most important export state in the Union on the basis of the values of products shipped abroad according to figures covering the first six months of 1924 just released by the Department of Commerce.

Statistics compiled under the supervision of Dr. Julius Klein, Director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, reveal values of $232,762,901 for Texas against $375,772,132 for New York. Other states following Texas in order of values of their half-yearly exports are Pennsylvania, $148,033,538; New Jersey, $114,967,442; California, $108,789,952; Louisiana, $104,796,452; and Illinois, $104,967,442. Cotton shipments made up $169,204,313 of the total, retaining its position of predominance in Texas foreign trade. Refined petroleum followed with $32,907,544, showing a growing value, while sulphur and brimstone exports amounted to $2,002,627.

This is the second time in the history of Government trade statistics, according to Director Klein, that an attempt has been made to show the relative position of the different states in our inevitable struggle for foreign trade. It is planned to issue these figures quarterly.

Teaching Health Habits in School.

The Texas Public Health Association each year awards a silver loving cup to the school room that performs the highest average number of health chores. The awarding committee, composed of Dr. Malone Duggan, State Health Officer, Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs, President of the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent Teachers Association, and Mr. L. T. Belmont, Dean of the College of Physical Activities, University of Texas, announced today that Miss Jessie Ramsower's room, Peter Smith School, Fort Worth, was this year's winner.

During the past school year 35 rooms in the State of Texas have won State and National pennants in the Modern Health Crusade. These latter awards have been won by Texas school children in competition with other schools thruout the United States.

The Modern Health Crusade has proved to be one of the most popular methods of teaching health to children. Under it children do the duties explained in hygiene and physiology but too often left undone. The results of the Crusade work are physical and moral improvement and better attendance and deportment at school. In the past three years over seventy-five thousand Texas school children have been taught health habits by this method.

The British Salvation Army expresses itself appalled at the significance of the British liquor bill, which it finds surpasses the sum needed to pay interest on the national debt and falls but a few millions short of the combined total cost of education, national health and unemployment insurance, war pensions, relief of the poor and old age pensions. "We are creating a generation with a hang-dog look, with resentment and anger in its heart, with its eyes on the ground for the half consumed cigaret," says The War Cry.

Caverly Fails to Protect Society

In dealing with criminals the protection of society is the first consideration. Punishment is not for vengeance. If a man commits murder he is not hanged to satisfy the feeling of the victim's relatives. He is not hanged to meet the demands of the principle of a life for a life. He is hanged because long experience has convinced society that the death of a murderer is the most effective deterrent against murder.

Where punishment for murder, is swift, certain and severe, as in England, few murders are done. Where punishment for murder is slow, uncertain and soft, as in the United States, human life is held cheap.

In his decision saving the lives of the Chicago murderers Judge Caverly has failed in his duty to protect society. The judge says in this case life imprisonment is a severer punishment than death. That is mere sentimentalism. The defense made its desperate fight to save the young murderers from the gallows. It felt it had won a great victory in the sentence to life imprisonment. It had. The prospect of imprisonment has no great terror to the would-be murderer. If worst comes to worst, he expects a pardon. The prospect of being put to death is different. Men shrink from such a fate. If murders in the United States were punished generally by death, the number would fall off amazingly.

Why, then, did Judge Caverly refuse society the protection which could have been granted under the Illinois law? Not because he believed the murderers were insane. He says they were not. But he contends the young men were "abnormal," on the ground that if they had been normal they would not have committed this crime. If the commission of a terrible crime is proof of abnormality then of course criminals are abnormal. In a sense perhaps they are. But not in the sense that is permitted by law to affect their punishment. However, the judge seems to intend his reference to abnormality to be merely a defense for his action at the bar of public opinion. He does not base his action on it.

His action is based on the youth of the criminals. They are young men of 18 and 19. They are intelligent, well educated, with experience in the world, mature enough to be responsible for their conduct. Most crime is committed by young men of from 18 to 24. If criminal acts are not to be punished unless they are perpetrated by men of middle age, then the whole theory of crime and punishment is wrong.

It should be repeated that responsible murderers are subject to the death penalty not as Judge Caverly seems to suppose, for "retribution and expiation," but to restrain other persons from committing murder. Society looks to the courts for protection. Under the development of technicalities and sentimentalism, the courts are failing in their duty. In many cases they are making a joke of the law. They are tender for the welfare of the criminals. They are not solicitous for the welfare of the state.

The Chicago judge has sent two wretched murderers to prison from which they expect a pardon in a few years. In doing this he has protected the criminals. He has failed to protect society.—Kansas City Times.

Elks Convention in Boston Dry

"The record of the Police Department in Boston show arrests for drunkenness for the weeks of July 6-12, during which the Elks held a convention here, were 567, as compared with 601 during the same week of last year when there was no convention in session in the city.

"It was estimated that there were forty thousand Elks in the city and it is fair to suppose that there were an equal number of wives and friends with them, making an estimated transient population in Boston during the week of about eighty thousand people.

"It is needless to say that we are proud of this record."—Report of A. Stroup, Divisional Chief, Boston, Mass.

JOHN NORTHINGTON SR.

The Constitution of the United States

Under the operation of the Constitution we have been free and happy; civil and religious liberty have stood firm and unshaken; education has received a new impetus and a wider spread; . . . agriculture, commerce, and manufactures have been steadily encouraged and sustained; and general competency and satisfactory means of living have everywhere rewarded the efforts of labor and industry. . . . Of what other country can this be said with so much truth? Who, then, would raise his hand against the Constitution? Who would scoff at those political and social blessings which Providence has never before seen fit to vouchsafe in such abundance to any community of man? Self love, our hopes for the future, national pride, and gratitude to God, all conspire to prompt us to embrace these institutions of our native land with all the affection of our hearts, and to defend them with all the strength of our hands.—Daniel Webster.

Fiction vs. Facts

Most people dislike facts. That's why we get drunk—to get away from facts—to escape realities of life. Library records show that far more books of fiction are read than books of facts. The only facts we can tolerate at all are those we already know. The most interesting item in a newspaper is something we knew before. We go to a baseball game and are familiar with everything that happens. Yet on the way home we buy a baseball extra and the first thing we read is the account of the very game we saw. The morning after we have been to a new play, nothing in the paper is so interesting as the review of that play. Stand-patters read standpat papers and radicals read radical papers—not to learn something new, but to find confirmation of beliefs that they already hold.—The Nation's Business.

TO THE DEMOCRATS OF TEXAS

The Democratic Party in Texas is once more united and harmonious. The clouds which have hung on the horizon have vanished. The principal issues which have divided us have been settled. Personalities have been forgotten. The larger issues which concern our National welfare now occupy our attention.

Another presidential campaign is on. We have in John W. Davis, of West Virginia, and Charles W. Bryan, of Nebraska, as Democratic candidates for President and Vice President, a ticket of which we may justly be proud.

Our National leaders believe this ticket will be elected if the voters in doubtful states can be made fully acquainted with the real issues of the presidential campaign and the superior merit of the Democratic candidates.

This will require much money. It is necessary, therefore, for every loyal Democrat in Texas to respond as generously as possible. At least $250,000.00 is expected from Texas, as the Banner Democratic State of the Union.

The Democratic Party must look to the people alone for funds to meet its actual campaign expenses. The Republican Party as a Party of privilege has long since been financed by big business which profits as a result of Republican Tariff Legislation.

The electoral vote of Texas is secure for Davis and Bryan. Let us now furnish the proper sinews of war that the battle for true Democracy may be waged successfully in every doubtful state.

We appeal to every loyal Texas Democrat, who sincerely desires to see a return of Democracy to power in the Nation, to send as large a sum as possible either to his local or County Chairman or to Guy M. Brown, Treasurer of State Committee, at Houston, Texas.

Texas always leads. Let us not disappoint the Nation now.

Yours for success in November,

JED C. ADAMS

Democratic National Committeeman for Texas.

E. A. BERRY,

Chairman, State Democratic Executive Committee.

W. L. CLAYTON,

England is all worked up over a message that is supposed to have been received from Lord Northcliffe, noted English newspaper publisher, now deceased. His private secretary is said to have received the message which described life across the River Styx; and many noted Englishmen consider it a real message from the other side.

Education for Citizenship

"Education for citizenship does not consist in 'going hog wild' about any one line of training, but is a well balanced, physical and mental preparation, for all the duties of citizenship." Dr. W. S. Sutton, acting president of the University of Texas, told members of the Comopus Club at their weekly luncheon Friday.

"An educated man should not have flat feet," declared the educator. "In the recent war we found that many of our young men were not fit to fight because they had flat feet. If a man is not fit to fight the battles of his country he is not properly educated."

"I believe in physical training and I am not opposed to a certain amount of athletic training, even intercollegiate athletics, but I do not believe that we should adopt the notion of a rah-rah boy that athletics is the greatest of all university activities."

Dr. Sutton said an ideal education is that training which enables a man to go out and investigate and learn the truth about any matter for himself. He declared he did not wish men with big heads, and bodies too puny to carry the head around, but he did not wish men who think that because they have a pair of legs that carry them over the ground faster than other men's legs that they are educated.

"One of the very important purposes of education, not by any means the only purpose, or the most important purpose, is to be able to earn an honest living, and every man should be thus equipped. The holy Scriptures tell us that he who does not provide for his family is worse than an infidel. An education that leads to the increase of the number of loafers or beggars is to be condemned in the most emphatic terms."

"Certainly another extremely desirable goal of education is to have the ability and the disposition to think hard and to think straight. When a nation is composed of this type of man, you will find it inhabited by citizens very difficult to boss. If men are trained in the habit of correct thinking, you will decrease the number of bosses, as well as the number of bosses, among men."

"Of course, not a great deal of progress in developing a wise system of education can be made in any one period. We may be able to do very little, but it is incumbent upon us to see that we do what we can. We ought to try to make this world a somewhat wiser and a somewhat better place in which to live and serve. Man may or may not have sprung from a monkey. I am not able to testify upon this matter, but I do know that the great world is subject to progressive development, and that slowly it will become a saner and safer and a sweeter world in which men and women may live together."

"I do not subscribe to the doctrine which some uplifters, or pseudo uplifters, are continually proclaiming through the newspapers, and by word of mouth, that the world is steadily going from bad to worse. I was very much encouraged the other day when I read an article by one of them which declares, 'This is the day of sin and the end of the world seems to be near. All men seem to want to write books and children no longer obey their parents. Surely the end is nigh.' That is the translation of an Assyrian tablet written about 4,800 years ago, and the end has not come yet, and some of the uplifters are giving us that same dose today."

"Respect for law and obedience to law is the first requisite of good citizenship," he declared.

"No matter whether you believe in a law or not, you should obey it as long as it is a law," he said. "Stand up like a man and preach against it, if you don't believe in it, but at the same time obey it."

"There are not a few men who claim to be good citizens who day and night, mostly night, violate one law that we have on the statute books in which some of us do not believe. Did you ever take into consideration that there are a great many more bootleggers in this country than bootleggers, and if it were not for the bootleggers the bootleggers would go out of business?"

Temptation

To the majority of men there comes a time in life when Satan, clothed in the garlands of public praise; of achievement interpreted by the sum of gold acquired rather than the means employed in acquiring it; of public support of things privately condemned; of contempt of poverty often the penalty of honesty; of gratitude toward those whose cunning schemes would despoil us and indifference for those who suffer to protect us—there comes a time when Satan, first leading him up into the mountain, asks—"What is it that I might give to thee that thou wilt fall down and worship me?" And it is not every man who can say: "Get thee behind me!"—Facts and Fictions.

A Horse Doctor Preferred

One of my pet stories for many years, and I still think one of the funniest of all nigger stories I have known, is that of the old darkey who was taken suddenly ill, and asked his wife to get him a "hoss doctah" right quick.

"A hoss doctah!" exclaimed his wife in amazement. "Shorely you doan want a hoss doctah! You want a man doctah."

"No mam, Ah don't. Ah wants a hoss doctah. Dat's what Ah wants, an Ah wants him speedy."

"But Sam," said the puzzled wife, "how come you wants a hoss doctah, stead of a man doctah?"

"Hoss doctahs know no dan man doctahs," he declared. "When you calls a man doctah, he comes in an sets you a whole lot o' questions befo he knows what's the trouble. When a hoss gets sick and you calls in a hoss doctah, he doan have to ast the hoss a lot of questions befo he knows what's his trouble. The hoss doctah has got to know whats the trouble widout astin. Dat's the kin' of doctah Ah wants. One what knows widout astin what the trouble is. So you go an git me a hoss doctah."—The Broadcaster, Fort Worth.

The Tent Show

Last month Perryton was cursed by a tent show. The first night that it was in town I sneaked down to behold the elevating influence that it was bringing to town. I saw and heard some good things. I also saw and heard otherwise. I did not just exactly know just who would be there and didn't suppose that I would know many of the spectators, and what do you think? I could not get a seat for my acquaintances and friends. I was inclined to want to apologize but didn't know who to apologize to as every body in town was there, except me, and I was there.

Well we looked on. We saw a fair illustration of what folks can't do. A little sloppy love and goodly amount of profane talk was the instruments that were used to attempt to drive some moral home.

I went back the next night hoping that things would improve. And just as I got to the ticket window I went broke and had to borrow a dollar from my neighbors wife to get into the show. The loan was negotiated, tickets bought and seats obtained before the performance started.

I saw a good play ruined by tough talk and damnable actions. The tougher the talk the longer the applause. The more vile the actions the louder the cheers.

The chief skinner of the outfit announced before the play started that he wished that the ministers of the town were there. I wasn't surprised at the out come. I had seen such outcomes before. As there was not any camphor around I was glad that the ministers were not present. We had some high-kicking dancing females that seemed to pride themselves on how high above their head they kick. The keen stuff was put on. The ramrod of the outfit took the crowd for a bunch of sumps and didn't miss his guess either if we judged by the way that it was received. Not a lady nor a gentleman had the forethought to get up and leave—they of course didn't approve of it, but only swallowed the disgusting stuff with the hope that such would not occur again.

We are getting just what we pay for. If we haven't got the backbone to get up and leave when a stunt like that is pulled off we have no kick coming. If the American people will make it a practice to leave the audience anywhere and everywhere such rotten stuff as that is pulled off it will take less than twelve months to clean the show, vaudeville and the movie. Who is it that has the backbone to take the lead? Are we going to let the boys and girls be fed on such rot and stamp it with our O. K. The Devil in Hell is pretty well satisfied with the way that things are going!—The Vanguard.

BANKHEAD GARAGE

HARRY LESTER Big Spring, Texas TOM CALLAWAY

The big gamblers seem to be about the only ones that get any fun out of the cotton crop. They can certainly make the price fluctuate.

Some of the big cotton mills of the north have ordered a reduction in the wages. We suppose this means that the workmen are going to be shown they must vote the Republican ticket if they want employment.

West Texas is certainly calling to homeseekers and we are going to see more newcomers this fall than during any year in our history. West Texas has shown that she can out do Central and East Texas in unfavorable as well as under favorable conditions. Come to West Texas.

We may have an opportunity to see the American round the world flyers, like the nigger saw the moon—at a distance. They are due to pass over Big Spring enroute to the Pacific coast. One of their jumps being from Fort Worth to El Paso. Stopping at El Paso one day during their transcontinental flight.

A big bunch of football cranks should make it a point to be in Abilene Saturday morning, September 27th to "root" heartily for the Big Spring Hi, when our boys clash with the Anson football team. The right sort of encouragement from the fans certainly spur the players to put just that much more vim in their efforts to win.

Remember Friday, September 26th is Howard County Day at the Mitchell County Fair. A big delegation of our citizens should go to Colorado on that date to show we appreciate their thus favoring our county. This spirit of friendliness and cooperation will be appreciated and our county will be accorded their cooperation in return.

A farm in Howard County is about one of the best and safest investments a man can make. Suppose you do have an unfavorable season once every six or seven years. You can stand it as oftentimes the crops for a single year will more than pay the purchase price of the land. Do you know of many sections where you can beat this?

Stockmen are rejoicing over the appearance of the fine rains, for good pasturage is now practically assured during the coming winter. Stockmen have been fighting unfavorable conditions for some years, and they can appreciate it when favorable conditions come their way.

The Black Panther of New Orleans made the Wild Bull of the Pampas look like a fat cow in their little set-to at Boyles thirty acre bowl, last Thursday night. Firpo can now return to Argentina, as he will never again be a big drawing card in the prize ring.

Folks need not lose any sleep about "Ma" not being our next governor. The majority have asked "Ma" to serve; and it is reasonably certain that the Republicans are not going to get all the votes in the November election. If you are afraid "Ma" is going to be defeated that's a sufficient reason for you to vote in November.

Better salt some of that good old cotton money away for years when you must realize cotton will sell for much less than it is selling for now. We can't expect the boll weevil and adverse conditions to prevail forever, and the price of cotton will again drop to below the price of production just as sure as you are reading these lines.

You need not expect to see the price of cotton advance very high until after the presidential election. Usually the money power has been able to make presidential election years very slack in the business world. It has been very slack in spots this year but there are a few sections where favorable conditions prevailed despite the manipulators.

More new homes, and better homes have been erected in the rural communities of Howard County the past year than in any of the past fifteen years. The days of the little old shack on the farm have passed. It used to appear as though Mr. Farmer was merely camping on his farm for the time being, but the substantial homes now prove the farmer has been sold on this county.

Eminent Author Warns America Against Attack

Mr. Samuel Merwin, one of the most popular American novelists, says in the Washington (D. C.) Herald: "The whole structure of Anglo-Saxon culture and its institution of marriage are being attacked with force and venom." Mr. Merwin says that the enemy has already won the first encounter—the battle of New York; that his present object is to capture the imagination of American young people. "The weapons used," Mr. Merwin says, "are ideas, fiction, pictures, essays, criticisms, and persistent talk, a clamor of talk."

"This attack comes out of Eastern and Central Europe, and let us make no mistake about it. It is a real attack. The leaders of this invasion have a common and well-understood point of view. They know what they are about. The thing arises out of a mental background of anarchy and subversion."

Mr. Merwin warns against a superficial conviction that this attack is entirely Jewish and Irish, and asserts that it is more regional than racial. "Restless peoples, strong in personal ego, have come swarming across the ocean eager to destroy or subvert a culture in which they can find no place of their own. They have seized on every available channel of propaganda and have cleverly created new ones. They ridicule above everything else, the Victorian century in England and America. In place of a faith they have a sort of philosophy, wholly materialistic."

Mr. Merwin asserts that "they are to, a man and a woman, Freudian in morals, futurists in painting, cacophonously suggestive in music, perverse in literature, Bolshevistic in politics."

"Family life is to them cheaply and stodgily sentimental. Parenthood is an experiment in eugenics rather than a responsibility. Decency is unimaginative and a concession to prejudice. Kindness and humanity, of which there was at times a little in those quaint Victorian days, are sneered out of court."

"What our invaders have undertaken to do is to put their new psychology with its complexes, its wish-fulfillments and its practice of psychoanalysis, into the minds of every imaginative young American who falls under their spell."

Mr. Merwin reminds us that after all "this is our country. It is a pretty fine old tree with roots that strike deep into a rich old soil. These aliens are hacking at it viciously enough. And often, odd as the words appear, plausibly enough. They would be happier to see a dead stump where once it stood."

Texas Grid Star Coaching B. S. High

Six members of the University of Texas football team of 1923, which was considered by many the greatest eleven the Longhorns ever had, will coach Texas high school and normal teams this fall.

He has already started training his boys, and the citizens of Big Spring are very enthusiastic over the former university star. Ward, too, is a three-letter athlete, making letters in football, basket ball and baseball. He kept Baylor from winning over Texas last Fall, and also played well in the other games.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Republican Party a Joke in Texas

J. W. Blake, a former Democratic State Chairman, is the latest to announce to a gaping world that he is going to vote the Republican ticket. This campaign is going to be a record buster in killing off a lot of self-important, self-styled leaders in the Democratic party in Texas.

The rank and file of Robertson's supporters will not follow disgruntled leaders to any great extent. They may reduce Mrs. Ferguson's majority to something like five hundred thousand majority, on a far vote; but, the Republican party in Texas is a joke, and most Republican voters know it. That is why so many of them vote the Democratic ticket in County and State elections.

They know that this is the only way to secure any voice in the Government in Texas. For every Love, Blake and Marvin bolter Mrs. Ferguson will get a hundred votes from the Republican rank and file. The only thing that keeps the Republican party alive in Texas, and other Southern States is the hope of Federal pie.—Baird Star.
