

Senate Committee Okays Tax Bill

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press International
AUSTIN (UPI) — A Senate committee today voted approval of a drastically revised 151 million dollar tax bill, including a three-cent increase per pack on cigarettes.

over," said Honson, who successfully shepherded Daniel's tax measure through the lower chamber.

favorably to the floor. Hardeman roundly criticized the form in which the tax measure was passed by the House. He said the bill as received by the Senate committee showed "awful poor draftsmanship," and added, "I don't hesitate to criticize that kind of sloppy job."

financial problems. Gas Tax Rejected The five-member committee reported a tax bill designed to raise $150,000,000 over the next two years. The key money raising points included a boost in the cigarette tax from five to eight cents a pack, estimated to yield $3 million dollars, and a new tax on cigars and tobacco to bring in $23,600,000.

computing corporation franchise taxes. The subcommittee, headed by Sen. R. A. Weinert of Seguin, called for an increase from 7 to 8 per cent on gas production, a 20 per cent hike on utilities, and a general levy of 50 cents per $1,000 taxable capital in the franchise tax.

over the next biennium. As reported to the full 21-member committee, the subcommittee's version of taxes also call for an increase in the automobile sales tax from 1.1 to 1.5 per cent; increase the liquor tax from $1.40 to $1.65 per gallon; up wine taxes 20 per cent; and reduce the sulphur tax from $1.40 to $1.03 per ton to aid the industry to gain new tax money through increased production.

recommended by the subcommittee. Allocations in the bill call for $108,337,000 for the general revenue fund, $31,849,000 for the omnibus tax fund, $1,655,000 for the available school fund, and $246,000 to the state highway fund.

YANKUS ARRIVES

Stanley Yankus is shown here with his family just prior to leaving the U. S. for a new life in Australia. The rebel Michigan farmer arrived in Australia over the weekend after leaving the U. S. because of federal farm restrictions. Yankus holds daughter Karen, 3. Below him are sons Dennis, 11, left; and Russell, 13. Mrs. Yankus is at right.

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Yankus arrived here over the weekend with his unhappy wife and reluctant son to start a new life free from U. S. government agriculture controls that caused him to sell his farm in Michigan.

The self-exiled farmer said flatly: "As far as I am concerned, I never plan to return to the United States."

U.S. Space Vehicle Is Dropped 'Dry' Over Desert

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI) — The rocket ship X15, America's first manned space vehicle, was dropped "dry" — without fuel — from the sky over the Mojave Desert today to glide back to earth on its own stubby wings.

DEADLOCK STILL HOLDS

Khrushchev To Meet With East Germans

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International
MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev and a delegation of East German Communist leaders meet here today in a session that could decide the fate of the Geneva foreign ministers' conference and seal the division of Germany.

East German Premier Otto Grotewohl, Communist Party Leader Walter Ulbricht and 16 other high-ranking East German officials flew here to the praise of the Communist newspaper Pravda which called East Germany a "bulwark of peace-loving forces."

The Germans were bringing economic, chemical, military and other experts with them but all indications were the Geneva conference and the Communist demand the West leave West Berlin were the main topics of discussion.

Observers said the main outlines of a Soviet-East German peace treaty probably will be considered and drafted here this week — and that possibly the treaty itself would be written up. But no publication was expected because of the effect it would have on Geneva.

Johannes Koenig, East German ambassador to the Soviet Union and a member of the delegation, wrote today in the official East German Communist paper "Neues Deutschland" that deliberations on a separate peace treaty already have taken place.

The Koenig statement, made public as the East Germans left Berlin by air, showed no willingness to compromise. He said "liquidation of the occupation regime in West Berlin" and conclusion of a peace treaty are the most important international problems.

Other leaders of the German delegation began talking tough before they left Berlin. East Berlin Communist Party Chief Paul Verger said the Soviet Union and East Germany would sign a separate peace treaty within two years unless the West quits West Berlin.

A key statement came from Ulbricht in a speech released Sunday. He called again for a peace treaty with both East and West Germany. The West at Geneva is resisting such a move in belief it would perpetuate the division of the country.

Diplomatic reports in Geneva said the East Germans also were unhappy at the prospect of a Moscow-dictated peace treaty that would give Poland permanent rights to the disputed territories east of the Oder-Neisse Rivers. The former German territory was given to Poland by Russia after the war.

Adenauer Denies Ike's Influence

BONN, Germany (UPI) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today flatly denied reports that President Eisenhower had influenced his decision to remain as head of government in West Germany.

The chancellor, whose denial was carried in statement form by the Federal Press Office here this morning, said that he and Eisenhower had never discussed any matter affecting internal German politics during their recent talks.

Adenauer said the President when he flew to the United States last month in connection with the funeral of John Foster Dulles. The chancellor also denied that he ever said that he and Eisenhower were the only leaders in the world who could carry on the policies of the late secretary of state.

Both reports had circulated here and elsewhere in the wake of the chancellor's decision last Thursday to reverse his decision to stand for the office of president of West Germany.

Adenauer's denial led off a week of what looks like tough political skirmishing on the still red-hot issue of his decision. Informal sources already were reporting Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard may battle Adenauer for the chancellor's job.

The sources said Erhard, due back from Washington Tuesday, was ready to show Christian Democratic Party leaders' letters between Adenauer and himself to demonstrate Adenauer had misrepresented himself on the succession to the chancellorship.

The sources said Adenauer wrote Erhard asking the economics minister to state publicly he would not run for the office if Adenauer gave it up and ran for president. Erhard wrote back turning Adenauer down, the sources said.

Free Berlin Called 'Trap'

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International
GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union hinted today it would drop its demand that West Berlin be turned into a defenseless "free city," but Western diplomats called the offer a "trap" that would wreck the Western position there.

The diplomats said it was a "trap" because the Russians, in planting "feelers" on the scheme, really weren't giving up their ideas on Berlin at all. They said the plan was attached to a series of "totally unacceptable" conditions.

They said Soviet diplomats in planting feelers on the scheme of "totally unacceptable" conditions. The fifth week of East-West negotiations began here in complete deadlock, and it appeared any break would have to come from Moscow where Premier Nikita Khrushchev was meeting today with the top officials of Communist East Germany.

Western diplomats said the Moscow meeting could decide the success or failure of the foreign ministers' conference here and whether there will be a summer summit conference.

It also could decide the fate of Germany as well if Khrushchev goes ahead with his plans to write a separate peace treaty with East Germany — a treaty the West believes would seal the division of Germany.

Soviet diplomats planned their feelers on a new deal for Berlin during the week — end and this morning. The bait appeared attractive but the Western diplomats were not biting. They called it a new wrapping on an old package.

Coupled with this were diplomatic reports Russia intended to hand over control of West Berlin's lifelines to the East Germans regardless of any Geneva negotiations.

Khrushchev Move Hinted There was speculation Khrushchev might make some move of this sort during his talks with East German Premier Otto Grotewohl and Communist Party Boss Walter Ulbricht.

Western officials were not panicked by hints the East Germans might soon take over checkpoints controlling Western travel along the 16 miles of East Germany leading to West Berlin. They already had decided to deal with the East Germans as "agents of the Soviet."

DEADLY CHLORINE GAS Georgia Town Alerted As Gas Tank Cars Derailed

McRAE, Ga. (UPI) — Wrecking crews gingerly cleared debris from a train derailed today to remove two overturned tank cars carrying a total of 20,000 gallons of deadly chlorine gas.

This town of 3,500 spent a wakeful night as officials debated whether to order evacuation after the cars derailed and overturned Sunday evening. Once it was established that none of the gas was leaking, such plans were held in abeyance, although evacuation teams stood by ready to act if necessary.

The two cars were under a large pile of logs thrown from flat-cars carrying them to a pulp mill. Wrecking crews shortly after daybreak had tunneled through the logs to the chlorine cars.

Over 5,000 Jam McLean For 50th Birthday Party

McLEAN (Sp) — Crowds estimated at over 5,000 jammed McLean Thursday, Friday and Saturday for the McLean "66" Roundup, Rodeo and Horse Show and 50th anniversary celebration.

More than 90 oldtimers registered for the annual get-together, and some 200 cowboys entered the celebration's rodeo events.

Ed Workman won a saddle for his selection as "All Around Cowboy," and Junior Hays won a saddle as "Best Average Roper." A Pampa man, Jim Bossay, won a give-away saddle for holding a lucky number ticket.

A celebration high point, the 20-mile cow pony relay race from Shamrock to McLean, was won by the four-man team of Jimmy Rice, Harvey Taylor, Sammy and Johnny Hayes.

Winner of the Old Fiddlers contest was Richard J. Sticks, followed closely by Eck Robison and J. T. Trew. In the first round-off of the McLean Rodeo, Ed Workman won first places in saddle bronc and bareback riding. Ace Winders took first in bulldozing. John McMorde in double muggin, Walter Arnold won in calf roping, and Bill McLean-shan took the honors in bull riding.

Bob Sherrod and Ed Harlan tied for first in saddle bronc riding in the second go-round. Other second go-round winners were John Holt in bareback, Ed Workman in bull dogging, Jack Lovette in double muggin, John McMorde in calf roping, and Elston Rose in bull riding.

Cowboys entered called the 1959 rodeo at McLean the "best ever," and the finest this year.

Gunfire Rattles Nicaragua

By MILTON GARR
United Press International
MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Gunfire rattled around the presidential palace early Sunday. The national guard passed off the incident as "a bunch of drunks" shooting aimlessly in the air.

President Luis A. Somoza was reported to have been inside the palace at the time but none of the bullets hit anybody in the palace.

One report said palace guards, alerted for a rebel move against the president, shot back with sub-machine guns and killed one of the attackers.

Gen. Anastasio Somoza, commander of the national guard and brother of the president, said police captured four or five men and no one was hurt.

"It was just a bunch of drunks celebrating," he said. "It was not an act of aggression against the state."

Gen. Somoza said the rebel bands which invaded the country by air last week had become disillusioned and were breaking up.

"This is nothing more than a police action," said the general as he sat at his desk talking to command posts in the combat areas of Santo Tomas and Olima.

Pampa is now in its ninth straight day without a reported fire. Chief Ernest Winborne reported today. The last recorded fire was on May 31.

Truck Crash Leaves 16 Dead; 32 Hurt

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Sixteen men were killed today when a truck hauling farm laborers crashed into a tree and caught fire. Thirty-two others were injured.

The death toll in one of Arizona's worst traffic accidents on record was raised to 16 when five bodies were found in the smouldering truck.

Officials investigating the accident said the job of identifying the dead would be a long and most difficult task because the workers were Mexican nationals imported to do farm work.

The driver, Nato Manuel Glorian Jr. of nearby Mesa, Ariz., told Phoenix radio station newsmen Bob Scott of KRIZ he fell asleep at the wheel. Manuel said the truck was on fire when he awoke. He suffered multiple injuries, serious but not critical. Glorian was one of the few unburned.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Burris, residents of the area, were first at the scene. Burris, a rural fireman, unsuccessfully battled the blaze with a garden hose. He said two explosions occurred while he was there.

He and his wife, a hospital technician, rendered first aid.

Robert Camp, another nearby resident, said he heard what he thought was thunder, then returned to sleep until he heard screams.

Camp said he and his wife hurried outside to see men fleeing in all directions from the truck, some with their clothes on fire, many apparently "out of their heads" from the Soviet.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a milkman and I am expecting our fifth child. My sister-in-law told us that there's a lady on his route who is just wild for him. She answers the door in her short nightgown and he has a key to her back door and comes in and sits the milk in her refrigerator. It's only two quarts. I asked my husband about this. He said it's all true but the woman is a little unbalanced; and if he were going to play foot-loose and fancy-free, she'd be the last on his list. I am very upset over this. Can I rust my husband?

UPSET: DEAR UPSET: Of course you can rust your husband! It's your sister-in-law you've got to watch out for.

Fire Victim Rites Today

Funeral services for Earl Copenhaver, 37, of Borger, brother of James and Warren Copenhaver, both of Pampa, were to have been held at 2:30 p.m. today in the chapel of Ed Brown Funeral Home, Borger. The Rev. George Jackson, pastor of Victory Baptist Church of Stinnett, was to have officiated. Interment was planned in Stinnett Cemetery.
Mr. Copenhaver, a resident in the Borger area for 29 years, was killed early Saturday night in a fire which caused heavy damage to a warehouse at 315 Main, Borger. Borger Fire Chief N. D. Leonard said the department answered the alarm at 8:50 p.m. and had the blaze under control shortly after 9 p.m.
A second man, Kenneth Kelley of Plainview is in critical condition in North Plains Hospital with third degree burns. As soon as the blaze was under control, firemen entered the building and discovered the victims in a room adjacent to the Leonard said. Copenhaver's body was under a window, indicating he was trying to escape when the flames caught him. Kelley was lying on his back on a mattress, Leonard said the men apparently had been sleeping in the warehouse for some time.
The cause of the blaze was not immediately determined. Officials said apparently one of the men was smoking in bed and the blaze may have started from the cigarette. The extent of the building damage had not been determined late Sunday afternoon.

BETTER JOBS

By R. O. HOLLES HOW LABOR UNIONS CAUSE INFLATION

I am continuing to quote from Leonard E. Read's magazine article in "The Freeman" on "How Labor Unions Cause Inflation." Under the heading of "An Opiate Form of Taxation," he writes: "But what causes government to inflate the money supply? Again, the answer is simple enough: Government meets its costs of operation by taxation. There is no other method. Now, if the costs of government become so high that it is no longer politically expedient to tax by direct levies, an indirect form of taxation will be utilized—inflating the money supply!"

"In most countries throughout history the direct tax levy has been politically expedient up to a 20 to 25 per cent 'take' of the peoples' earned income. After this point, in most instances, the direct levy becomes repugnant to the citizenry and thus politically impossible. The people just won't stand for it any more! What to do? The answer: Inflate the money supply, an opiate form of taxation. At first, it feels good and secures the politicians' popularity. The fact that it assures long-range disaster is a problem for the next generation! Indeed, inflation, as a rule and for a time, is a well-received form of tax. To the economically naive portion of the population it is a way to 'have their cake and eat it too.' In short, they see inflation as a means of escaping direct government levies without giving up the 'benefits' of governmentally guaranteed welfare and prosperity.

"This particular subcase of inflation can be summarized as follows: Whenever the federal government can collect no more by direct tax levies without risking political suicide, it will print money to pay its bills. The fact that the current procedure involves monetizing the debt through the central banking system doesn't make it a new procedure; it only becomes more difficult to understand. This complex scheme is no different in principle from calling in the coin of the realm and shaving off some of the precious metal — 'coin clipping' — as was done of old.

Waiting For A Parking Place

Robert Allen Reports:

Humphrey Throwing Hat Into The Ring

WASHINGTON — Senator Hubert Humphrey is definitely going into the bellwether presidential primaries in Wisconsin and Oregon early next year.

This still-unannounced decision means it is now certain there will be a direct clash between the militant Minnesota liberal and Senator John Kennedy in one or both of these momentous contests for convention delegates.

Kennedy has already positively determined to enter the Wisconsin primary early next April. He is still considering what to do about Oregon.

To start preparations for these potentially fateful showdowns, Humphrey is spending next week, June 13-14, in Wisconsin, for a series of speeches and conferences with Democratic leaders and supporters.

Foremost among them is Governor Gaylord Nelson, whom Humphrey is counting on to head his slate of Wisconsin delegates.

State Chairman Patrick Lucey is a leading Kennedy backer. Senator William Proxmire is so far keeping his own counsel as between Humphrey and Kennedy.

Political insiders credit Proxmire with being opposed to both of them coming into Wisconsin, as he would like to be the state's "favorite son" candidate at the Los Angeles convention.

To friends, Humphrey is explaining his decision to run in the Oregon and Wisconsin presidential primaries as follows: "I am fully convinced I have an excellent chance of carrying both these important states, because I have long fought for the issues and policies that are of particular moment to them. I talk their language and they talk mine. Also I have a wide cross-section of influential friends in these states, and they have strongly urged me to enter these significant primaries."

"Thus from the very start I have two crucial campaign advantages: the right issues, and eager and devoted supporters who are ready to do their utmost for my candidacy."

Looking Sideways

NEW YORK — Some fortunate friends who have bagged up a little "boot over the winter took the jet to Europe the other noon and, from Paris, they will drive down to a small place in Italy where for 14 hopefully Edenesque weeks they will relax in a villa they have hired. Man, wife, small boy child. Obviously, such people can't get away in decent quiet. Parties have to be arranged, at which bon voyage gifts abound, and at $25 per pound for excess weight, these gifts can amount to something like giving a wild tiger to a gentle family living in a three-room apartment.

Most of the happy donors are passing through Italy later this summer and certainly will check to see if their gifts are there and being used. Thus: 100 pounds or so of excess, all in the name of warm friendship.

Having attended three of these fetes, the fourth seemed more of an opportunity to sit down in a corner and talk to people. It turned out to be an interesting experience. Talking to people in corners of large, populated rooms usually does turn out that way.

The first man to come along was a doctor. An obstetrician, to be exact. About half the women in the room had been his patients. At this particular party, only one woman present was visibly pregnant and she was not his patient. This was, therefore, his chance to relax and be casual.

He joined me on the floor, a favorite spot at any large festive affair, and we fell to talking about a dozen unimportant things and then he said: "I'm just beginning to get warm. I went skin-diving this morning." As an early and never dedicated pioneer in the movement to thrust human life deep under the water, I was able to make a little sense. He was a neophyte, having taken up the skill only in the last 30 days.

"I think it is an escape, in a way," said the doctor. "I think if I ferreted out the truth within me I would discover that I am trying to get away from women. Not many women do skin-diving and those who do rarely are pregnant when they do it. Therefore, it is the perfect heaven. I have nothing against women, you understand. It's just that every now and then I feel a compulsion to run. If, once more, I hear a woman say, 'I think my case must be different, doctor,' I'll not only run but I think I will dive as deeply as humanly possible into the Philippine Trench. Anyway, I have found it the perfect way to get away. No one can confide, no one can complain, no one can yell. You are alone, unassailable except by nature and accident, in the perfect fortress. I was down about an hour and loved every minute of it except that I began to get chilled through to the core. Found an old barge wreck and fiddled around it happily for all that time. There was nothing in it except some rusting iron, but it was pure joy to be so utterly alone."

The next fellow was a writer specializing in pageants and native health dramas. He does well by them and with them. His brow was furrowed, he exhibited concern. To the point that it seemed rude not to ask what was eating him.

I have had to do some research for a pageant project with the DEW Line thing," he said. "I found appalling things. We are exactly and at all times 15 minutes from possible annihilation. A fully mounted attack on us could cost 100,000,000 American lives inside three hours. Just about two-thirds of our population. One time, not too long ago, a certain general charged with making the decision that would press the button that would start our own attack was told that blips were showing on the radar. He would have been perfectly and minutely justified in pushing the button that would start a ghastly war. He found it humanly impossible to make that decision, immediate decision. In 25 seconds he was happy he had some kind of psychological block, because the blips turned out to be a large flight of geese. But supposing they had been real enemy planes on a destruction mission and we still had that delay? It gives me great concern that human frailties still impinge on momentous decisions, and either block them or give them impulse too soon. Machines should, somehow, take over the decision, not men."

The third man was an advertising executive and he said he had issued an order to his agency that, henceforth, ad copy had to be exact. "I'm tired of reading about 'larger breaks.' Larger than what? Or whiter wash. Whiter than what? Better than what, faster than what, lighter than what? I want to know."

Hankering

FRANKFURT — The hum of a mind — if that's what I have — is a wonderful thing. Those who want to turn their in for an IBM cabinet, can get right ahead, but I'm keeping mine. Consider the splendid way my mind acted when I landed at Rhein-Main airport today. I had been (away from Germany for 18 months) so, and during that time hadn't spoken a word of German, or heard any spoken. Had it not been for my mind, I would have been lost in a foreign land, unable to say a word. For the rest of me had forgotten every word of German I had ever known.

I would have hated to have turned to my elbows for help in recalling my German, or my knees, or my ribs, or my ankles. Like me, they were tired by the long flight, and all they were thinking of was a bed and a chance to stretch out.

But not my mind. It was right on the ball and ready to go. It remembered every word of German I knew when I left the country a year and a half ago. I knew 21 words then, and that's a lot for a man who never took more than a dozen German lessons in his life, and who is partially deaf in his left ear.

Just to prove to you that I am not bragging about my mind, or making things up, I am going to list the words I once knew, and which my mind recalled. Here they are: Ausgang (exit, way out); Einkleben (to paste in); Glucken (to cluck); Mappe (briefcase); Unfolgsam (disobedient); Frau (housewife, wife); Hutzelig (shriveled); Igel (Hedgehog); Tuckerr (sugar); Scheel (scent-eyed); Rhinoceros (rhinoceros).

Regal (bookshelf); Zement (cement); Wirt (confused); Stricheln (to hatch); Rain (ridge between fields); Rauch (smoke); Range (tomboy); Otter (otter); Luxboje (flare buoy); Libelle (dragon fly).

Now, I'm not saying that a visitor, equipped with only these words, could arrive in Germany and fly about with the ease of a college professor. For that wouldn't be true.

But he could do pretty well, especially if he were on some special mission to locate a rhinoceros, owned by a housewife, who lived on a ridge between fields, and was squint-eyed.

Americans have been told so often that people of other countries appreciate their making an effort to speak the language, no matter how badly, that they have come to believe it.

So, even before I left the air terminal, I walked up to passing Germans, looked them squarely in the eyes, and used one of my words.

The Doctor Says:

This column is devoted to a wide variety of problems recently sent in by parents. The first, a mother, writes that her four-year-old daughter has had a series of styes for several months. Dintment, compresses and the like have failed to clear up the condition.

Styes are infections involving glands of the eyelid. Most clear up without much difficulty. However, in recurring styes one would suspect some underlying cause such as eye strain or possibly a disease such as diabetes.

In some cases styes do not yield to simple methods and have to be opened and drained by making an incision.

Another correspondent asks whether it is healthy for children to play so hard with hoop whirrs around the body. She is particularly concerned whether this may be bad for the spine. To this I think I can be reassuring: I have never heard of injury to the spine or general health from this fad.

Mrs. N. writes that her 13-year-old daughter has been losing her hair for the past year. She adds that the girl has not had any serious illnesses or high fevers, and she has to suspect some general disorder, such as hypothyroid action.

There is also the possibility of a local condition of the scalp, of which the most likely is alopecia areata, or baldness in spots. This peculiar condition is fairly common, its cause is not known, but in most instances the hair grows back after a period of months or so.

I believe Mrs. N. should continue to make efforts to try to find out what is responsible for the falling hair in this girl.

Mrs. S. says that her 15-year-old daughter has a large nose which, while not disfiguring, makes the girl most unhappy. She wants to know something about plastic surgery.

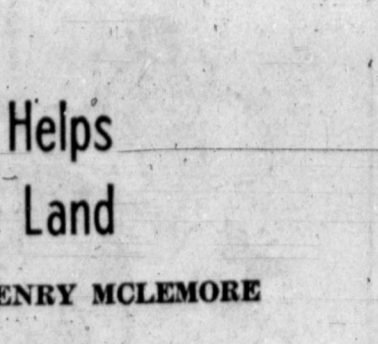

Now it is probably true that a large nose carries no health hazard but it is equally true this can make a teen-age youngster extremely self-conscious and unhappy.

All of the factors involved in plastic surgery have to be taken by her mother to a fully qualified plastic surgeon who can discuss the prospects of improvement, the risks and the other factors involved.

A final problem comes from Mrs. G., who asks whether it is possible for a nine-month old child who is allergic to milk to obtain enough calcium from meat and vegetable products, or whether a milk substitute is necessary.

The problem requires careful analysis as to whether the infant is getting the foodstuff he or she needs, of which calcium is only one.

Bid For A Smile

A poverty-stricken woman, dressed in ragged clothes, was passing along a street in a French town, holding her little son by the hand. Suddenly she stopped and looked at an object from the street, gazing at it within the folds of her garment.

A policeman standing nearby was attracted by the woman's act and his suspicions were aroused. He demanded that she produce the object which she had concealed, whereupon, with downcast eyes, she revealed a jagged fragment of broken glass, she said to the policeman, "I was thinking only of the feet of my children."

A writer in The Rotarian relates this incident, and comments: "Each of us can do a step out of our way to aid in some small way our fellow man, or woman, or a friend, or a child, or a stranger, or a beggar, or a pauper, or a person who is in need of help, or a person who is in need of a smile."

The problem requires careful analysis as to whether the infant is getting the foodstuff he or she needs, of which calcium is only one.

It seems likely that at this age a milk substitute would be desirable, but the exact diet should be carefully outlined by the pediatrician or family doctor.

ON THE JOB

This car was hauled out of a ditch at 3:15 one morning by the Ford's Body Shop wrecker in front. Night or day, a Ford's wrecker will come to your rescue. Call MO. 4-7542 for a daytime tow. At night dial MO 4-4619. This car is not very badly damaged but whatever the extent of your damages, Ford's Body Shop will soon have your car back on the road where it belongs. (Daily News Photo)

Ford Features Night And Day Road Service

There are two phone numbers you should know if you ever need a fast tow. One is MO 4-7542. That's for daytime wrecker service. The other is MO 4-4619. That's for a nighttime tow.

You'll be calling Ford's Body Shop, 111 N. Frost, where two wreckers await your beck and call.

Ford's Body Shop has the men to get a wrecked car back on the road and in many cases save it from the junk yard. Paint and body jobs are done with a factory touch.

From a simple fender straightening job to the complex business of rebuilding a wrecked car, Ford's men are on the ball. First there's Robert McCain, shop foreman, who has also hauled in many a car off the road. Joe Aultry and "Red" Golden are body men. The painter is "Raza" Johnson.

All operations are overseen by Coyie Ford, owner.

No job is above or below the capabilities of Ford's Body Shop. The Shop is usually full of wrecked or partially wrecked cars, cars having windows adjusted and cars being painted.

Ford's Body Shop is located across from the City Hall. Just drive in and let Ford's do your job.

'People Eater' Composer Leads Double Life as Actor

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Sheb Wooley, the man who horrified the nation last year by "compiling" the gosh-awful "Purple People Eater," leads a double life.

When he's not scribbling music Sheb is a character actor on the "Rawhide" series, playing Pete Nolan, scout for TV's longest cattle drive.

But if Oklahoma-born Sheb had his "druthers," he'd prefer scratching out tunes to hamming it up on television.

Sheb will rake in some $200,000 from "Purple People Eater" alone.

Only Three Hits

"I'm not particularly proud of that song," Wooley admitted sheepishly. "But you don't hear me complaining one single bit about the money it's bringing in. Two other records of mine sold over a million—'Too Young to Tango' and 'Are You Satisfied?'"

"This new one—I got going 'Honey Chile,' is moving right along, too."

Sheb, an engaging guy with warm blue eyes, hasn't the best batting average in the world—three hits out of more than 400 songs.

"It doesn't sound like much," he grinned, "but I like it better than acting. Music is a part of my life, and I'd go right on playing around with it if I never sold another song."

"Lotta people ask me why I write off-beat, gimmick stuff. The answer is simple. If I wrote a song like 'Stardust' today it wouldn't sell."

Doesn't Read Music

Wooley doesn't read music very well. He said he begins his tunesmithing by picking a title and kicking it around in his head for several weeks. Then he sits down with his guitar and picks it out slowly.

"I always try to write something I like, angling it for the current trend," he went on. "If I'm not sincere about the music nobody else would be either."

"Least of all do I expect my songs to last very long. The 'Purple Eater' sold 2 million. It was on top for about eight weeks and died fast."

"This can be blamed on the disc jockeys and juke boxes. A new song gets played so much everybody gets sick and tired of it within a few weeks—sometimes in a matter of days."

Quotes In The News

United Press International

NEW YORK—David J. McDonold, president of the United Steelworkers Union, on the possibility of a strike against the steel industry:

"We are just working for a peaceful settlement. We are not thinking in terms of a strike. It is industry that has been talking strike."

WASHINGTON—Rep. Charles O. Porter (D-Ore.), proposing U. S. recognition of Communist China:

"It is pure wishful thinking to predict that it (Communism) will fall of its own dead weight."

OMAHA, Neb.—Doomed mass slayer Charles Starkweather, on federal court rejection of his appeal for another hearing:

"Just tell 'em no comment."

CAMPAIGN DECISION COMING

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) says he will decide this fall whether to seek the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960. Humphrey said some of his friends have considered entering him in the Wisconsin election primary. But he said "no firm decision" has been made on that either.
