Israel Fighting On Two Fronts

The fourth all-out war in a quarter of a century broke out in the Middle East Saturday. Within hours Israel reported victories in the air, on the sea and in the occupied Golan Heights over Egyptian and Syrian forces.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan called the fighting along Israel's northern front with Syria and the Suez Canal front with Egypt "all-out war" and predicted Israeli victory within a matter of days.

An Israeli pool correspondent on the Golan Heights front said that by midnight Saturday the battle with Syria had died into an occasional shot, and that Israeli troops had regained all lost ground.

The national radio correspondent said Syrian troops had managed to break through the front-line security fence but suffered heavy casualties.

Later Saturday the battles spread to the sea front and an Israeli military spokesman said Israeli missile boats sank four Komar missile boats and one Osa torpedo boat in a skirmish in the Mediterranean off Latakia, Syria.

According to the announcement, the Israeli gunners used their home-made Gabriel sea-to-sea missile for the first time in combat to sink the Arab vessels. It said all the missiles fired by the Syrians missed their mark.

Egyptian communiques reported its troops and tanks crossed the Suez Canal in several places and captured most of the Israeli-occupied eastern bank but that the Israelis counterattacked after dark and that fierce fighting was underway.

The war began on Yom Kippur, the holiest day of Judaism, and both Syria and Egypt said Israel attacked first. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban, speaking at a New York news conference, called this an "odious lie" and said "we are throwing them back."

Dayan, in his prediction of victory within a few days, said his troops were preparing to mount a counteroffensive on their own terms and that "we will wipe them out." He said the objective of the Israeli action now will be to win the war and inflict heavy casualties on the enemy.

The Egyptian thrust across the Suez Canal in the south and the Syrian attack against the Israeli-held Golan Heights in the north began at 2 p.m. (8 a.m. EDT), the military command said, first with air raids, then on the ground.

Dayan said a number of Israeli positions on the canal were lost and at least one on the heights was captured. He put Israeli casualties in the "tens" and said the Arabs had suffered "many more."

By midnight, the Israeli defenders in the north were reported to have regained all lost ground while soldiers in the south were counterattacking the Egyptian bridgeheads all along the canal.

The battling continued on both fronts, the command said, with the Syrian troops taking heavy losses and failing to penetrate Israel's defense lines while the Egyptians were unable to extend their penetration past the canal front line.

Nightfall ended aerial battles over both war zones, the command said, after the Egyptian and Syrian air forces suffered "heavy losses" compared with "minor Israeli losses."

An Egyptian Communique issued at 6:20 p.m. EDT said: "The (Israeli) enemy launched an attack after dark today by tanks and mechanized infantry against our forces which crossed the canal, and on a number of directions."

"Our forces were able to face these attacks with success, and crush the enemy and inflict great losses in personnel and equipment."

"Our forces are still fighting from their positions in the eastern bank of the Canal."

A Syrian communique in the afternoon said Syrian troops had forced back the Israelis along the 120-mile Golan Heights borders and had liberated certain key positions, but Israeli front dispatches reported Israeli victories there.

A Beirut statement by the Palestinian guerrilla news agency said the Israelis were heavily shelling their positions in the Arkoub region of Southern Lebanon and that the guerrilla forces were returning the fire. However, Lebanon was not involved directly in the new Middle East war.

For the first time in a Middle East war the United Nations Security Council took no action. The Arabs, who pledged their support to President Anwar Sadat of Egypt, tried to call a special meeting of the General Assembly but failed.

President Nixon directed Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to "take every effort" to end the conflict although American efforts to avert the war failed. Kissinger summoned military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers to the White House Saturday night to plan U.S. strategy.

Israeli intelligence had been tipped off to what it called the Egyptian and Syrian aggression, and although it was Yom Kippur, frontline Israeli troops were alerted and reserves called up—preparations similar to those preceding the 1967 Six Day War.

Fighting also was reported along the entire 120-mile-long cease-fire line in the Golan Heights in the northern part of the country. The Israeli commentator said the Syrians had thrown 2,000 tanks into the battle.

Israel accused Syria and Egypt of launching simultaneous attacks on Yom Kippur, when most Jews were fasting and worshipping. The Arab countries said they attacked in response to Israeli attacks.

Arabs Claim Aggression

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The Arab states Saturday unsuccessfully sought to convene a special weekend session of the U.N. General Assembly on the widespread fighting in the Middle East.

Both Egypt and Syria issued strongly worded statements here accusing Israel of "large scale armed aggression" but made no move to call the Security Council.

But first reports by U.N. trustees observers confirmed Egyptian troop crossings at five points to the east of the Suez Canal and at two points by Syrian forces in the Golan Heights.

Gasoline Ceilings Posted

New gasoline price ceilings under the President's Phase IV economic program should now be posted on all retail gasoline pumps, Pampa Congressman Bob Price said Saturday.

The 13th District Congressman said he had received numerous requests from gasoline retailers as to how to comply with the Phase IV regulations.

The Cost of Living Council reports gasoline retailers need only to add the increase in the price ceiling to the stickers which have been mounted on gasoline pumps since Sept. 8.

"No other change should be necessary unless gasoline with a different octane rating is now being sold through that pump," Price said.

The stickers provided by the Council to retailers last month carry information as to the retail price ceiling and the octane rating. Under Phase IV regulations, retailers may charge less but not more than the ceiling price posted.

A U.N. spokesman said the observers could not confirm any crossings by Israeli forces either into Egypt or Syria.

Diplomats said Assembly President Leopoldo Benites of Ecuador explained that it would be impossible to convene the assembly on such short notice but that the issue would be taken up by the assembly Monday morning.

Six Arab foreign ministers met in urgent session Saturday at the Egyptian U.N. mission in New York.

Egypt's foreign minister conferred with Secretary General Kurt Waldheim and Assembly President Leopoldo Benites of Ecuador. The Arabs gave Benites a letter expressing disappointment that it was not possible to convene a meeting of the General Assembly on Saturday.

Syria said it had called "the dangerous situation" to the attention of the Security Council, but did not ask for a meeting. The Egyptian spokesman did not mention the Council.

Bob Price To Be Guest

PERRYTON — Congressman Bob Price of Pampa will be the guest of honor on the annual Conservation Tour to be sponsored here Saturday, Oct. 20, by the Ochiltree Soil and Conservation District.

Registration is scheduled at 8:30 a.m. in the First United Methodist Church and the tour will leave at 9 a.m.

A noon luncheon is scheduled at the church Fellowship Room. Congressman Price will address the tour guests.

Lewis Anderson, chairman of SWCD No. 142, said Price's luncheon topic is expected to deal with agricultural problems.

To Trace Leaks Media Laying Strategy To Resist Agnew Effort

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lawyers for eight major news gathering organizations and the Justice Department laid their strategy Saturday for resisting Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's legal attempt to track down the sources of news leaks about his criminal investigation.

None of the lawyers involved would comment on the subpoenas served Friday—the Justice Department would not even confirm they had been served—in line with U.S. District Judge Walter E. Hoffman's order to remain silent.

But executives of the publications and television networks were unanimous in vowing they would refuse to divulge their reporters' confidential sources under the First Amendment guarantee of freedom of the press.

"We are going to take a course along with other publications to resist the subpoenas," said Newbold Noyes, editor of the Washington Star-News. "We are now involved with our attorneys to discuss the proper strategy."

Joseph A. Califano Jr., Washington attorney for The Washington Post and Newsweek magazine, was back at work in his office Saturday after conferring Friday with lawyers for other subpoenaed news organizations. He said his clients considered the subpoenas an "invasion of their rights and the rights of the public under the First Amendment to the Constitution."

The Post quoted an unnamed legal source as saying that Hoffman's extraordinary plan to be present when Agnew's attorneys attempt to take sworn depositions next Thursday raised the possibility that any reporter who refused to identify their sources might be held in contempt and sent to jail almost immediately.

In addition to the Post and Star-News, subpoenas were served on reporters for The New York Times, the New York

Banquet Tickets Selling

Tickets are reported selling fast for the annual membership banquet of the Chamber of Commerce scheduled for Tuesday night, Oct. 30, in the Heritage Room of the M.K. Brown Auditorium and Civic Center.

Only 75 tickets remained unsold Friday afternoon, according to Chamber officials.

Speaker for the annual meeting will be Dr. W.C. Newberry of Southwest Texas State University at San Marcos. Dr. Newberry is regarded as one of the outstanding after-dinner humorists in the Southwest.

Musical entertainment will be presented by the Pampa High School Stage Band and Concert Choir under the direction of Jeff Doughten and John Wocikowski.

As an added attraction, an art exhibit from the Cowboy Hall of Fame valued at more than $1.5 million will be on display in the lobby of the Auditorium before and after the banquet. Dean Krakel, general manager of the Cowboy Hall of Fame, said it will be the greatest display of art ever viewed in this section of the country.

New officers of the Chamber including Rex McAnelly, president; Gene Steel, vice president; and Melvin Kunkel, finance director, will assume their official duties at the banquet. Jerald Sims, current president of the Chamber, will preside at the meeting.

Reservations will be accepted until all seats have been sold, after which a waiting list will be established and tickets will be available only as cancellations might occur.

Sixteen Executed

SANTIAGO (UPI) — Government firing squads Saturday executed 16 men accused of terrorist attacks against the military junta, raising the number of executions to 38 since the overthrow of Marxist President Allende Sept. 11.

U.S. Embassy, meanwhile, announced an American student—the first to die since the coup—was shot to death after an arrest by the military.

Some of the executions have resulted from court martial sentences. Others have been carried out on the spot by police and military patrols acting on orders from the military junta that ousted Allende to punish armed opposition with summary execution.

Of the latest executions announced by authorities, 11 took place Thursday night in Valdivia, about 400 miles south of Santiago. A court martial had sentenced the men to death after they allegedly attacked a police headquarters Sept. 12 as part of a heavily-armed paramilitary outfit.

Five other men were killed in two separate cases when they allegedly tried to grab weapons from soldiers.

Prevention Week Begins

Pampa will join today in the national observance of Fire Prevention Week.

Special programs are scheduled in the schools and there will be speakers on fire prevention at civic club meetings during the week.

Highlight of the observance will come on Wednesday when Fire Chief Finace Dyer and firemen at Central Station will host the public at an all-day open house program.

Visitors will be taken on guided tours of the station and coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Gem Show Continues

Hundreds of visitors browsed through the exhibits Saturday at the 13th annual show of the Canadian River Gem and Mineral Society show in the M.K. Brown Auditorium.

Doors will open again at 12 noon today for the second day of the show with the grand door prize, a channel sterling silver pendant and bolo, to be awarded just before closing time at 6 p.m.

Hourly door prizes were given from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and are scheduled to continue today.

One of the features of the final show today will be a "Rock Swap" session scheduled from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. for the exhibitors and "rock hounds."

Saturday's show crowds included sponsored groups of school children, boy and girl scouts who were admitted free.

Included in the show are special exhibits, working exhibits, dealers and rock hound displays of faceting, carving, mineral collecting, gemstone jewelry, rock slab oil paintings, and lapidary equipment.

Officers of the Canadian Gem and Mineral Society who are staging the show are: Olive Wingert, Borger, president; Joyce Schoeder, Borger, vice president; Douglas Reeves, Pampa, show chairman, and Joe Keel, Pampa, vice chairman.

Reeves said exhibitors from over the Texas Panhandle and several nearby states have displays at the show.

Sunny Skies Are On Tap

Pampa and the Panhandle area returned to sunny skies Saturday and the weathermen were predicting fair and warmer weather would last through today.

In the rain that began falling early Friday and lasted until about halftime in most of the Friday night football games, Pampa received a .22-inch precipitation.

The steady rainfall and wet streets caused no serious traffic accidents. Police said there were a few fender benders but no injuries reported.

Actually, Pampa motorists seem to be more cautious and there are fewer accidents when it rains, according to Annie Neal, Pampa police dispatcher.

"It's when the sunshine returns and the skies are clear that they drop their guard," Mrs. Neal said.

Pampa Set For Tour

Pampa was set today to host the All-Texas Air Tour participants when they fly in at Perry Lefors Airfield at 5 p.m. Monday.

More than a hundred persons in 60 airplanes will be met at the airport by Pampans and transported to the Coronado Inn where they will spend the night.

A reception is scheduled at 7 p.m. in the Heritage Room of the M.K. Brown Auditorium and a banquet for the visitors will be at 7:30 p.m.

Mayor R.D. Wilkerson will welcome the air tourists. The banquet program will be emceed by Don Lane, Pampa attorney. Dancing will follow the dinner.

For the accommodation of guests interested in the Cowboys-Redskins pro football game Monday night, a television set will bring the game into the Heritage Room for the diners and dancers, according to E.E. McDowell, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee.

Bill Meier Says Convention Chairman Should Pledge Not To Run For Office

AUSTIN (UPI) — Sen. Bill Meier, D-Eules, said Saturday the chairman of next year's constitutional convention should make a pledge to delegates not to run for statewide office in the 1974 elections.

The personal political fortunes of the chairman will inevitably become intertwined with the constitutional revision process, Meier said, if the chairman is a candidate for a statewide office.

Meier said his statement was not directed particularly at House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., who is the leading contender for the chair. Daniel has declared he will not seek another term as House speaker but has reportedly considered running for statewide office—possibly a seat on the Texas Railroad Commission.

Some Back Akin

Several senators, however, are backing Sen. A.M. Akin Jr.

D-Paris, who has no statewide ambitions for the chairmanship. Akin is dean of the upper chamber and highly respected by his senate colleagues.

Speaker Daniel and Sen. Akin are both fine gentlemen, Meier said.

Meier called a capitol news conference to distribute copies of any attorney general's opinion which answered his questions on the chairmanship. The opinion said the chairman must be elected from the membership of the convention — which is composed of both houses of the legislature.

The opinion officially ruled out the possible candidacy of Lt. Gov. William P. Hobby, who had already said he would not seek the permanent convention chair. However, Hobby will preside over the convention until a chairman is elected.

Write Own Rules

The opinion also said delegates could write their own convention rules, which could include a rule that the chairman must declare not to seek statewide office.

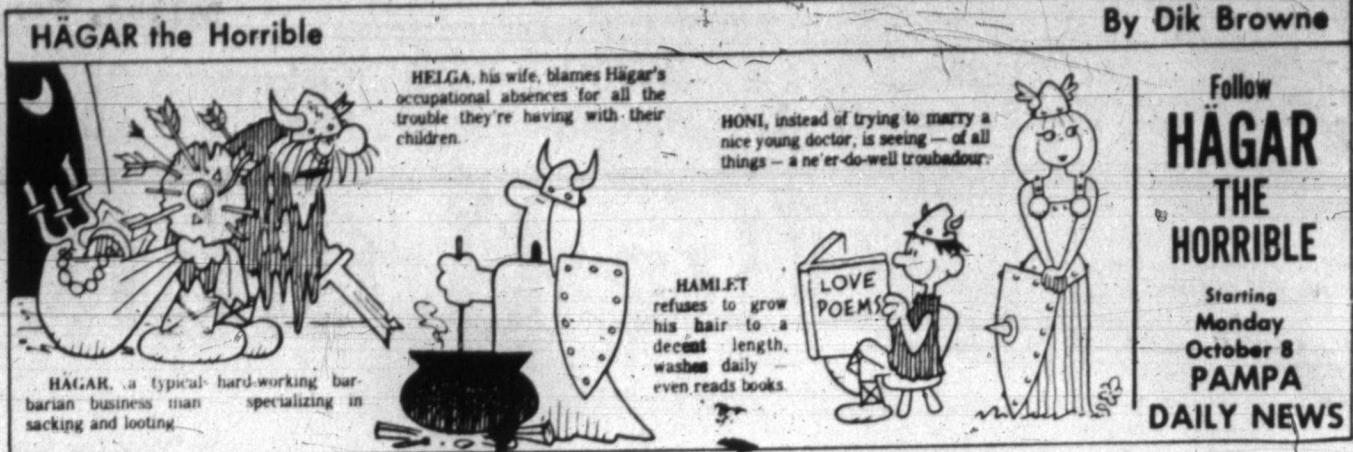

Every member of the convention should require that whomever they choose to be chairman publicly declare that he will not be a candidate for statewide office during the time the convention is held, Meier said.

Man Escapes

BERLIN (UPI) — A 34-year-old East Berliner escaped to West Berlin Saturday in a diving suit. West Berlin police said.

Police said the man jumped into the Spree River on the border of East Berlin and the American sector and hitched a ride to West Berlin on the tow line of a western barge. Eastern border guards did not see the escape.

The Eules senator is a member of the joint constitutional convention planning committee, which is planning the logistics of the first such convocation since the present state charter was written in 1876.

Kiwanis Objectives Outlined

Objectives of Kiwanis International for 1973-74 were outlined by Kiwanis Div. VI LT. Gov. Gerald Hall of Vega as he paid an official visit to the Downtown Kiwanis Club Friday noon in First United Methodist Church.

Lt. Gov. Hall said the major emphasis of Kiwanis in the coming year will be "Give of Yourself" by enriching lives of the aging.

He listed among what he termed "simple every day acts of giving of self" — daily living of the Golden Rule, helping meet the needs of people of all ages, contributing to the solution of community problems, uniting with Key Club and Circle K members in joint community projects, and demonstrating to youth and fellowmen the vast potential of volunteer service.

He added that one-hour per quarter by each member working on civic projects would result in one million man hours by Kiwanis members alone.

Sam Begert spoke to the luncheon club on Fire Prevention Week which opens today.

A special guest of the club was M.R. Hakim, director of Agriculture Extension Service in Afghanistan, who has been studying methods of raising wheat in the Texas Panhandle.

Temperature Lowering Suggested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top government official asked Americans Saturday to reduce the temperature by three degrees in their homes and offices this winter to conserve scarce supplies of heating oil and natural gas.

Deputy Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said lowering every thermostat by three degrees could save 12 per cent of the heating oil expected to be burned in homes and commercial buildings in the cold weather months.

Consumer fuel bills would be slashed by $609 million, he said. He predicted natural gas users would save $927 million and use about 14 per cent less fuel.

The Treasury Department will set an example by reducing its room temperatures three degrees, a department official said. Many government buildings already are trying to save electric power by turning off lights in corridors and other public places.

Simon's suggestion was based on a Treasury study which said winter thermostat settings average about 74 degrees. "A three-degree reduction seems reasonable," he said. "There is a tremendous potential for fuel economies and I know that we are all only too familiar with the experience of being in shops and offices and homes that are overheated almost to the point of discomfort." Simon said.

The do-it-yourself approach to energy conservation followed President Nixon's announcement last Tuesday that heating oil, propane, diesel oil and jet aircraft fuel would be rationed this winter for the first time since World War II.

Police Investigating Thefts, Obscene Calls

Police investigated reports of auto theft, obscene phone calls, a hit and run driver, a school zone lothario and checked sundry routine complaints during the weekend.

Theo Williams, 553 Oklahoma, reported theft of a pickup truck containing clothing, papers and cigars from in front of the Capri Theater early Saturday morning.

Police later located the truck on E. Francis St., four blocks from the home of a juvenile suspect involved in car theft in the past.

At 6 p.m. Friday a Pampa girl called police and told of receiving an obscene phone call. She asked that police surveillance be maintained around her home.

James Thomas, assistant principal at Houston Middle School, reported two incidents in which he said the driver of a red Chevrolet was cruising the school area and attempted to pick up two girls.

L.L. Stewart, 1221 Garland, asked police to trace the license number of a car which left the scene of an accident at E. Brown and S. Hobart late Friday. The number was traced to an Amarillo man who still was being sought Saturday. No one was injured in the accident.

Two men were arrested and booked for disorderly conduct after police broke up a fight in front of a Pampa night club at midnight Friday. The two jailed by police gave their names as Aarben D. Welch of Canadian and Thomas E. Parker, 20, 1801 Christine.

Perry Gas Processors is involved in the design, construction and operation of gas treating plants. The process strips wellhead gas and upgrades it to pipeline quality.

Perry founded the firm in 1967 after being associated with Union Carbide and Sivalis Tanks, Inc. He holds a degree in chemical engineering from the University of Oklahoma.

Perry was selected "Engineer of the Year" of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers in 1968. He has published numerous technical bulletins on the treating and storage of oil and gas.

The meeting will start at 6:30 p.m. and is open to all interested persons.

The Pampa chapter of the Distributive Education Clubs of America is now conducting a trading stamp drive in conjunction with other DE clubs.

Any kind of trading stamps may be donated to the drive. The club will redeem the stamps for merchandise and donate it to the welfare index for distribution to underprivileged children at Christmas.

The slogan for the drive is "Lick 'Em With Love." The drive will run through Nov. 5.

Anyone wishing to donate stamps may call 665-5011 or 669-7353.

Bob Price Co-Sponsors Legislation

WASHINGTON — Texas Panhandle Congressman Bob PRICE has co-sponsored legislation which would insure that each state gets back from the Highway Trust Fund at least 80 per cent of the funds contributed by that state.

Texas will contribute some $400 million to the fund this year. Price said, but the state will get back only about $239.4 million. If passed, the bill would provide Texas with an additional $80.7 million.

Prime sponsor of the bill is Rep. Wilmer D. Mizell, R.N.C. Joining him were some 40 co-sponsors, including Price.

The Highway Trust Fund was built up through federal excise taxes on gasoline and tires.

Rate Increase Turned Down

A request by Pioneer Natural Gas Co. for a monthly rate adjustment has been turned down by Panhandle and West Texas cities.

Representatives of cities serviced by Pioneer formed a steering committee to defend their decision at a meeting Thursday night in Lubbock.

During the meeting the cities adopted two recommendations, one designed to defeat Pioneer's request for monthly instead of annual rate adjustments and the other to appoint the steering committee to defend the decision before the Texas Railroad Commission.

The meeting was attended by Mayor R.D. Wilkerson and City Manager Mack Wofford of Pampa.

The Pampa mayor declined appointment as a member of the 12-man steering committee, pending further study of the rate adjustment proposal.

The Pampa City Commission still is studying a formal request from the gas company for the monthly rate adjustment.

The Week In Review

By United Press International
President Nixon ordered rationing of wholesale home heating oil and propane gas Tuesday to make sure expected short supplies this winter are evenly distributed to homes, hospitals, and farmers, in that order.

Congressional reaction was that Nixon's move was too little too late. Some lawmakers, especially those from oil-short New England, say they will press for a law to extend mandatory distribution controls to all fuels, including gasoline and refined lubricating oils. The Senate has already passed such a bill, and the House is expected to act on it next week.

In other news this week:
WASHINGTON—Young political saboteurs testified before the Senate Watergate committee about such activities as hiring a girl for $20 to run naked in front of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's campaign offices shouting "I love Muskie" in an effort to damage his presidential bid.

Martin Douglas Kelly, 24, of Miami, and Donald H. Segretti, 32, the Republican agent who offered him $700 a month to sow disarray among Democrats, told about plans to antagonize delegates to the Democratic National Convention in a manner designed to help the fortunes of George S. McGovern, who was seen as the weakest possible rival to President Nixon.

VIENNA—Chancellor Bruno Kreisky agreed last Saturday to close a transit camp set up for the convenience of Jews leaving the Soviet Union. His action was a response to Arab terrorists who threatened to kill four hostages otherwise. After the hostages were freed, unharmed, Israel tried unsuccessfully all week to get Kreisky to renege on his promise.

Later in the week, an official source in Vienna said the Austrian government was trying to set up an airlift from Moscow for Soviet Jews emigrating to Israel to eliminate the need for the transit camp.

At the same time, the Arab guerrilla organization that claimed credit for forcing Kriesky's decision warned Moscow to halt all emigration of Soviet Jews to Israel or face attacks on its embassies and other interests in the Middle East.

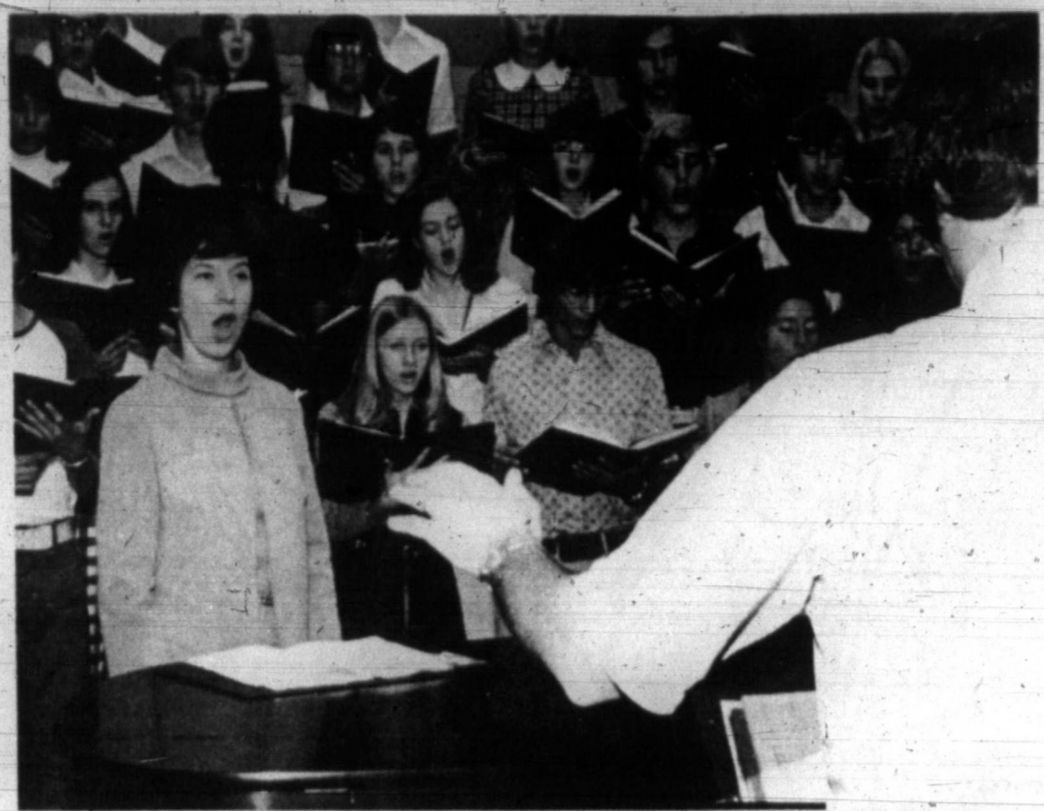

WASHINGTON—Wholesale food prices took their sharpest plunge in more than a quarter century in September, falling 6 per cent and raising hopes for lower prices at retail checkout counters.

But the lower food prices and the 1.8 per cent decline in overall wholesale prices didn't come close to offsetting the big increases of the previous month: a 27-year high of 8.8 per cent overall, an all-time high 23.1 per cent for farm products and a record high 13.4 per cent for processed foods.

BALTIMORE—The federal grand jury investigating Vice President Spiro T. Agnew Thursday indicted N. Dale Anderson, his Democratic successor as Baltimore County executive, on four counts charging evasion of $67,832 in federal income taxes. On Friday lawyers for Agnew subpoenaed several newsmen in attempt to find the source of leaks in the investigation. Earlier in the week, aides to Agnew said the vice president believes he has lost all chance of seeking the presidency but is determined to clear his name.

Soloists will be Louise Richardson, soprano, Assistant Choral Director, Pampa High, and Jerry Doan, baritone, member of the faculty at West Texas State University, Canyon. Guest pianist for this number will be Jerry Whitten of Pampa.

Doctor Elder Attends Conclave — DENVER — Dr. J. Foster Elder of Pampa, attended the Annual Scientific Assembly of the American Academy of Family Physicians in Denver. The medical meeting began Monday and ran through Thursday. More than 3,500 family doctors participated in this once-a-year continuing education conclave.

The Pampa physician, a member of the Academy, heard fifteen nationally-known speakers discuss up-to-the-minute health care topics. He also attended clinical seminars on 36 different topics and visited scientific and technical exhibits.

LIVES ON ROOF — OLDHAM, England (UPI) — Sandy the mongrel dog lives on the roof of his owner's pub and apparently like it.

"Soon after we moved into the pub 13 months ago Sandy jumped off the fire escape onto the roof—and has stayed there ever since," said Gerry Ratcliff, the pub landlord. The dog is fed each day by Ratcliff's 10-year-old son who climbs up the fire escape to leave the food in a kennel on a flat part of the roof.

Ernie Barnes Sees Beauty In Strength Of The Ghetto

ATLANTA (UPI) — Ernie Barnes sees beauty in the ghetto—in the proud woman waiting at a bus stop, in the hipsters singing on street corners, in the struggle and strength of a people.

And Ernie Barnes, professional football player turned artist, paints that beauty.

At 35, he remembers his childhood in Durham, N.C., and, in his work, expresses "the spiritual assets" of black people.

"Black folks articulate with movements and clothes that say, 'I am equal,'" Barnes said, describing the race as "very strong, brave people with wit and earthy humanisms."

"The ugliness of the ghetto is a state of mind. If you want to think negative, nobody can help you."

Barnes collection of paintings called "The Beauty of the Ghetto" is premiering in Atlanta. His work reflects his religious upbringing and his philosophy of life—"Do unto others as you would have them do unto you...cha, cha, cha."

He laughs at his philosophy, then explains it to mean "do it with spirit. Have fun doing it." He says emphatically that "I am Ernie Barnes, and my religion is making me the kind of man I want Ernie Barnes to be."

And so far, he has satisfied himself with his work as an artist, a professional football player, an actor, the creator-producer of a sports comedy hour, and possibly as a writer.

In his paintings, he projects his uninhibited outlook and his perceptions of the black ghetto. He gives meaning to typical street scenes, as with his "Come Sunday," in which a robust black woman tilts to church with her hat tided and her Bible in hand.

Barnes expresses the beauty of ghetto life because he says "we have to know our assets and work at letting others know them. Black is beautiful has to do with the spiritual assets of a people."

He believes the "best way to improve the ghetto is to prove ourselves as individuals. And we have to work at it."

Amarillo Fine Arts Show Opens Oct. 13

AMARILLO — The Amarillo Fine Arts Association will sponsor its 4th annual 'Best of the Southwest' art show Oct. 13 through Oct. 21 at Western Plaza Mall, 1-40 and Western St., Amarillo. The show will be open for public viewing Oct. 15 through Oct. 20.

The exhibit is open for entry to all professional, amateur and student artists and artisans in the Southwest, particularly including Texas and the surrounding states of New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma and Kansas.

It will be a juried show with duplicate prizes in both fine arts of painting and sculpture media. Cash awards totaling $600, as well as ribbons and merit certificates, will be given. All artists' names are covered prior and during judging, so the actual merit of the works may be selected rather than an artists' reputation. Only those works selected/as being the most excellent in their specific media by the art judge, will be hung for the one week of public viewing.

Sculpture must be under 100 pounds. Paintings must be framed and ready for hanging. All media must have been completed within the past two years. Works must be original. Works are due Oct. 13 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. inside the north entrance of Western Plaza Mall. Entry fee is $4 per entry for non-members and $2 for members with no limit to the amount of entries submitted by each artist. The juror for this year's judging will be Karl A. Umlauf, currently on the faculty of East Texas State University.

Old John Won't Leave 'Less They Make Him

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Nobody seemed to know where old John came from. He said he lived 17 years in a tunnel between a viaduct and the old Tennessee Casket Co., until he was bulldozed out this week.

The tunnel was 70 feet long and 40 inches wide, littered with broken dolls, old clothes and bottles, the brick-paneled corridor was decorated with John's scrawled words.

The stench of embalming fluid permeated the tunnel. "I'm as happy as any man can be that's broke and dirty and hungry half the time," he said Thursday between tidbits from cold condensed chicken noodle soup fished out of the can with a pocketknife.

Periodically, he sipped cold coffee from a pint fruit jar as he sat in front of a supermarket near what used to be his home.

"Old John's gonna make it," he said. A white-haired man holding a child by the hand stopped to inquire: "You gonna be O.K., Johnny? You got the faith, baby?"

"My Jesus will see me through," John replied.

Old John told UPI his name is John the Baptist. He told another reporter it is John Willie Allen Ezekiel Vasco. Police called the hermit John Vaser, but his friends know him as Johnny Hayes.

Mike Bowers, whose house faces the viaduct where John lived, said he has called the hermit Johnny Hayes since 1936.

Bowers said Hayes began acting strangely after he returned from World War II. Hayes has insisted since that time that houses and money are evil.

Faced with likely evacuation from his longtime home, John said authorities would have to force him to stay away from the tunnel.

"I can't keep them strong-armed people with all them guns from handlin' me," he said, "but I ain't gonna leave 'less they make me." "I'm gonna pay the world the last smile and depend on my God to look after me."

City officials said they have offered John help a number of times but he has refused each time.

DIAMONDS, ANYONE?

MURFREESBORO, Ark. (UPI) — This small southwest Arkansas town is the only place in North America where raw diamonds are found.

The "Crater of Diamonds" no longer is mined. The state Parks and Tourism Department bought the old mine and now runs it as a state park.

Anyone can pay a fee and enter the area to hunt for diamonds, which the finder may keep.

Presidential 'Pyramids'

If Watergate has accomplished nothing else of positive benefit, it has inspired a fresh look at the American presidency, and how it grows.

One of the latest books to put the White House under the microscope is "The Presidency in Flux," (Columbia University Press) by George Reedy, the late President Lyndon B. Johnson's press secretary.

In one section of the book, Reedy examines a phenomenon most other observers have ignored — the proliferation of presidential libraries in recent years which, according to Reedy, "has taken on megalomaniac overtones."

Libraries have been established to house the works and papers of Presidents Harry Truman, Herbert Hoover, Dwight Eisenhower, Franklin Roosevelt, Lyndon Johnson and others.

The most pretentious edifice to date is that honoring Reedy's old boss, LBJ, on the campus of the University of Texas in Austin. A move to create a library to house the documents (and tapes?) of President Nixon has been installed by the Watergate scandal.

In an article taken from his book and published in the current Intellectual Digest, Reedy suggests that rather helping historians, such repositories may actually confound their problems.

"I doubt seriously," he says, "that the libraries reflect a genuine concern for future generations and the problems they face. They smack more of the Egyptian pharaohs who sought immortality through the erection of stone pyramids."

Reedy explains the trend of contemporary presidents to establish presidential libraries as an attempt by the chief executives to have posterity think well of them. When a man achieves the White House, he says, "there is nothing more that the people can grant him."

Thereafter, he says, it is only a matter of time until constituencies fade in his sight. The larger question becomes the reaction of history to his administration rather than the reaction of voters.

"I suggest there is something unhealthy," says Reedy, "about a form of government in which a man who is faced with day-to-day problems of government devotes so much energy to his image in the future."

He adds, in words that deserve to be struck in bronze and affixed above the door of the Oval Office:

"The reaction of history — especially history that has yet to be written — is a poor guide to public policy."

Cocoon Club—No Thanks!

One of the more exclusive clubs in the world — whose membership is entirely involuntary — is the "Caterpillar Club" for people whose lives have been saved by parachuting from disabled aircraft.

It was started in 1922 by pioneer parachutist Leslie L. Irvin, who chose the caterpillar because it signified a silkworm lowering itself safely to the ground on a strand of silk, the basic material for most parachutes.

The company Irvin founded a few years before then still makes parachutes but today is also a leading developer and manufacturer of automotive safety products.

Appropriately, Irvin Industries, Inc., of Greenwich, Conn., has just announced the inauguration of a new club which nobody will really want to join — the "Cocoon Club" for people who have been saved from death or serious injury by the successful deployment of an air bag in an automobile accident.

The Caterpillar Club has more than 350,000 members throughout the world. How many the Cocoon Club will eventually have depends upon whether the government approves the air bag, which is the leading contender for a "passive restraint" safety system mandated for cars beginning with 1976 models.

But according to Irvin president Eugene P. Conese, there are already a number of people whose lives have been saved by experimental air bags and they will be included into the elite group shortly. Also, membership is expected to increase sharply since General Motors is offering an air bag system as optional equipment on some of its 1974 models.

Just as Caterpillar Club members wear a gold pin in the shape of a caterpillar and receive a certificate of membership, Cocoon Club members will receive a similar pin in the form of a cocoon, along with an official membership document.

If your government is big enough to give you everything you want, it is big enough to take away everything you have.

BERRY'S WORLD

Watergate Not the Only Monkey Biz

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — One of the unfortunate offshoots of the Watergate affair is that it is much harder now to talk of other, misconduct, much of it ranging beyond politics, without seeming to alibi that "everybody does it."

Of course we have a right to expect the highest example of good conduct from our public officials, and most particularly from the President of the United States and his associates. And, of course, many who voice outrage are wholly honorable citizens who stand on unassailable moral ground.

Yet the broad public record of behavior today suggests that countless Americans must surely be grossly hypocritical if they are among those clucking their tongues over dismal violations of law and ethics revealed by Watergate.

For we live in an age when shocking misdeeds of many sorts, grading all the way from major crime to just plain brutal selfishness, are widespread. Moreover, much of this misbehavior is treated, sometimes in quite high and responsible circles of influence or authority, with an unwarranted tolerance, or indifference, or a shrugging attitude of helplessness.

Every day the episodes pile up. And for every one you hear about, there are thousands unreported or undiscovered.

Take one week for starters. I learned from a close relative that her small mountain cabin, a longtime dream just realized, had been stripped clean of all but its heaviest furnishings. One of ten such depredations in recent times. Result: cabin on the market, dream gone, official suggestions that nothing can be done to stop such thievery.

In the same span, Washington's Star-News carried a story of sickening vandalism visited upon a celebrated old cemetery where lie buried many famous figures.

The misdeeds went to the point of ripping open coffins and stealing jewelry from skeletal remains.

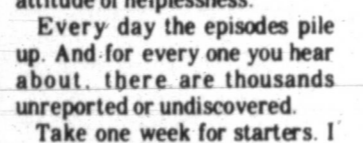

And there was an astounding report on so-called "telephone freaks," who have learned to employ trick devices to make calls without charge. The telephone companies are being defrauded of millions while some of these "freaks" meet openly, like an august body of scientists, to spread the word how to be crooked. The worst part of the story is that the defrauders run the gamut, from misguided youths who think a "new morality" in corporations will be a consequence of their personal immorality, to allegedly respectable businessmen (some stockbrokers were cited) who think it quite acceptable to cut corners at every turn.

Let's not hide behind percentages which purport to show only a minor part of society involved. Immorality is widely pervasive among Americans. It is no answer, either, when shallow-minded scholars tell us things were at least as bad at the turn of the century or 200 years ago.

Trust in government is low? Yes indeed. But so is trust in many makers of products and sellers of services, in the "repairers" of goods, in some of your own neighbors, in the roaming, shadowy figures who try to take everything not bolted down or guarded at high cost.

Today vast thievery, rated petty police, enjoys a pass. They can't cope with the big thefts. Much ordinary misbehavior (like rampant bad driving which is both selfish and dangerous) is painfully endured. Trust? There is little anywhere. Most lies in fragments everywhere in society.

ISRAELI PEACE? CONQUEROR'S TERMS

The Arab and Israeli war is over the possession of that strip of land that runs from Dan to Beersheba, between the Jordan River and the Mediterranean Sea. The Jews owned that land for a short time 3,000 years ago. The forefathers of the residents of Palestine owned it for centuries until the Jews took it by force.

Some Arabs, of course, still live in Israel as second-class citizens. But Jews immigrate from all over the world to have first-class citizenship.

Israel wants peace — like Russia wants peace — on a conqueror's terms.

WANT JEWISH STATE!

Former Israeli Prime Minister Ben Gurion has said: "Israel is the country of the Jews and only the Jews. Every Arab who lives here has the same right as any minority citizen of any country in the world, but he must admit the fact that he lives in a Jewish country."

And General Dayan has said: "Economically we can (let the Arabs return) but I think this is not in accord with our national aims for the future. It would turn Israel into a national or poly-national state instead of a Jewish state, and we want a Jewish state."

Millions of Americans want a non-Jewish state, but if they so proclaimed such they would be branded as Hitlers. Millions of Americans wish the Negroes were back in Africa. Instead of stealing the Negroes homes from them they'd be willing to buy them at an inflated price, and give the Negroes a free one-way, first-class ticket to Africa. Such Americans are known as bigots and racists.

THE GREAT WHEAT STEAL

It now comes out that before the Russians bought one-fourth of the United States wheat crop from several American corporations last summer, that the Russians offered to trade their natural gas for our surplus, government-owned grain.

The Russian offer and efforts to promote government-to-government trade were rejected on May 9, 1972, by one Clarence D. Palmbly, then an official of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Palmbly then found it convenient to resign his job and go with Continental Grain Company. Thus, Continental and five other trading companies got in on the act and made millions of dollars selling grain which our government had bought from our farmers. As one who thinks aid to and trade with the enemy is still treason, I am opposed to us

"Take All Your Vitamins and You'll Be Another Bobby Riggs!"

Your Health

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I have chronic ulcerative colitis for which I consult my doctor at regular intervals — without much improvement, I admit.

A health-minded friend, a nurse, has recommended a number of items she thinks would help me, such as vitamin E, lecithin, etc. She also says "no white flour" while the doctor says "no whole wheat."

Would you comment on the value, if any, of vitamin E and lecithin in particular, as well as any general suggestions for the diet of a patient with ulcerative colitis. Are protein supplements of any value?

Dear Reader — For the benefit of our other readers, your problem of ulcerative colitis is a disease that affects the colon primarily. It causes attacks of severe diarrhea, similar to dysentery. As such, it causes a loss of fluid and important salts from the body. In severe cases it can result in hemorrhage from the bowel.

Ulcerative colitis actually affects much more of the intestinal tract. The colon normally does not enter into digestion other than in its role of reabsorption of water from food residue. All of the absorption of nutrients, vitamins, and minerals occurs in the small intestine. Yet these digestive functions are also often impaired in patients with ulcerative colitis. The decreased absorption of vitamin K often leads to an increased tendency to bleeding.

The involvement of the small intestine often destroys the enzymes there that are necessary to absorb milk sugar, lactose. As a result many patients with ulcerative colitis cannot digest milk or milk products.

To answer your specific questions, vitamin E is not likely to help you much. There is no reliable evidence of it having helped any ulcerative colitis patients. Lecithin is not absorbed from anyone's intestine, even in normal people. Lecithin is a combination of choline and a fatty acid containing phosphorus. The enzymes normally present in the intestine break it apart into choline and its fatty acid or it can't be absorbed.

The lecithin in the body is formed from food substances in the liver. The choline is important, but any diet that contains sufficient protein found in animal proteins provides the materials the body uses to manufacture choline, which it can do. So, I am not optimistic that either of these measures will be helpful to you.

Because ulcerative colitis patients often lose protein during their attacks, I do recommend a high protein intake. You can either enjoy this in the form of protein foods (meat, poultry, fish) and have the added advantage and diet satisfaction of bulk, or you can take protein powder supplements.

Your doctor must think it possible that you don't tolerate gluten and that this may be a factor in your problem. Whole wheat bread contains more gluten than white bread, but if gluten is a problem, I would wonder about your eating any breads or cereals (except corn or rice) or any foods that contain them.

By TEX DEWESEE
Editor Of The News

JUSTICE OF THE Peace Nat Lunsford has asked county commissioners to find him office space on the first floor of the County Courthouse.

Currently, he told commissioners at their meeting last Monday, he is sharing an office with Constable Bob Watson on the third floor.

Watson, it is understood, was moved into Lunsford's office on a temporary basis nearly a year ago when the constable's office on the first floor was turned over to the Texas Ranger.

The "squeeze together" situation of Lunsford and Watson has since become permanent. The room they are both occupying is scarcely big enough for either one of them to conduct business of their respective offices.

Justice Lunsford, as we recall, has been trying for years to get moved down to the first floor where his office would be more convenient for him, law enforcement officers and the public.

It is suggested that county commissioners give thorough consideration to Judge Lunsford's request.

WHEN HE

requested that his office be moved from the top to the bottom floor of the courthouse, Lunsford also asked the commissioners' court to allow him $50 a month for travel expenses which he has been paying out of his own pocket.

And that brings up the subject of salaries paid to justices of the peace.

Pampa has two justices in Pct. 2. Each receives $474.75 a month. Lunsford says his take-home pay is about $365.

The JPs have been drawing nearly the same salary for six or eight years.

It doesn't take long to figure how far their take-home pay goes to meet the rising costs.

Checking still further, it is learned that the JPs pay all their own automobile expenses. They receive no car allowance for the trips required for coroner inquests and other travel chores of the office. They have one fringe benefit — hospitalization.

Unlike justices in some places, local JPs receive no fees from fines imposed and collected. All fees are divided between the state and county. The only chance they have for extra cash comes sometimes in a wedding ceremony. The bridegroom may drop a $5 or $10 bill in the kitty — or maybe nothing at all.

ALTHOUGH IT

was not planned to go this far on the JP subject — since we've waded into the deep water — let's just step off the ledge and yell for help.

The more people we talk to about the plight of the peace justices, the more complex the problem becomes.

There are four justices in Gray County. As stated, two of them are in Pampa and there is one in Lefors and one in McLean.

All receive the same salary. The Pampa JPs maintain 9 to 5 office hours daily and are

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Read Judge Givan's fascinating account of the accidental origin of Coca Cola. Note the many modern drugs which we physicians got from laymen in past centuries. Even smallpox vaccination resulted from Dr. Jenner's alertness to the immunity of milkmaids.

CASE Y-531: Judge Richard Givan is one of the talented members of the Indiana State Supreme Court.

We were dining together at the annual Indiana Society Banquet when our conversation veered around to accidental discoveries.

"Dr. Crane," Judge Givan began, "Coca Cola probably never would have been discovered except for the inadvertent mixture of a patent medicine cough remedy with some fizz water."

"My great grandfather came up to Indiana from Georgia."

"And he grew so enthusiastic about the fertile soil in the Hoosier State that he wrote to his brother back in Georgia, urging him to migrate northward, too."

"But his brother replied that he had just purchased the formula for a cough medicine from a patent medicine vendor and wanted to stay in Georgia to see how he could make out with it."

"That man was the founder of the Coca Cola industry, for he got his cough remedy upon the shelves of local drug stores."

"And one of the druggists on a hot day decided to make himself a cold drink."

"So he reached behind his back to take a bottle of sarsaparilla sirup from the shelf in order to pour it into his glass."

"Then he squirted some carbonated water into the same glass and took a hearty drink."

"He was startled by the unique flavor and took a second big swallow."

"Then he turned around and found that he had mistakenly used the cough sirup instead of sarsaparilla."

"His new drink was so delightful that he told my great grandfather's brother the cough remedy was better as a soft drink than anything he had ever tasted."

"So it moved off the shelves of drug stores as a cough remedy and is now famous worldwide as an American beverage."

Take a look at the North hand. Your partner opens one no-trump. You would like to get to two of a suit and preferably to two spades if your partner happens to have four cards there.

If you are using the form of Stayman connected with Jacoby transfer you can afford to bid two clubs and hope for the best. If your partner happens to rebid two spades everything has come up roses.

If he bids two hearts you have to pass and let him struggle with a 4-3 fit. Not that this particular 4-3 fit will be unwieldy. You have a singleton club and he will probably be able to ruff at least one club in your hand while conserving his own four trumps.

Anyway, you decide to try two clubs and your partner rebids two diamonds. What do you do now? Easy! Just pass. He hasn't got four hearts or four spades so the odds that he

Compromise Reached

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two Texas congressmen say they have arrived at a compromise to preserve the Big Thicket that meets the approval of almost the entire Texas delegation, the governor and probably even President Nixon.

The compromise would create an 84,000-acre Big Thicket Biological Reserve shaped like a backward "L" with park areas linked by scenic corridors.

"It would include the major valuable ecological areas, plus all the corridors but two, Village Creek and Big Sandy Corridor would be eliminate," Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., said Thursday.

BATTIN' AROUND

Who Should Determine Who Teaches School?

By C.R. BATTEN

Teachers are professionals, wrote the school teacher in his letter to the editor. Yet "we are the only group of professionals who (1) do not control who enters our profession; (2) do not set their own compensation; (3) do not determine their own conditions of employment; (4) do not control who remains in their profession — and a long list of other 'do not's'."

"This is what teacher advocacy is all about," he added.

The import of those words is frightening, when we consider that they were written by a person who is responsible for teaching our young people, and molding attitudes that will carry over into their adult life.

The letter is typical of much present-day thought and writing, which, in the words of Leonard Read, president of the Foundation for Economic Education, "for the most part is an argument for the rearrangement of the rules of violence."

According to the writer of the letter to the editor, teachers should decide who enters and who remains in the profession. They should set their own salaries and working conditions.

We will overlook the mistaken belief that the teachers do not share in those decisions — for who teaches teachers? Who sets the requirements for teachers certificates? and who issues them? For the most part, teachers do — people who have been trained in the teaching profession.

But teachers, the writer implies, want complete control. What about the school boards who hire the teachers — should they have no say in the matter? How about the taxpayers who pay the teachers' salaries? Should they have no say? Most important of all, how about those who are forced into the classrooms to be taught? Should they have no say in who is to teach them?

In a Mini Book entitled "Instead of Violence," published by Oakley R. Bramble, of Lansing, Michigan, Read says that regardless of what title or piece of paper one may hold, "A teacher is designated solely and exclusively by the student."

Our public schools are based on a system of coercion. The funds used to support them are collected by force or the threat of force. The students are forced to attend classes. The classes are often taught by teachers who are using force in an attempt to dictate their own salaries and working conditions.

Do teachers have such little confidence in their profession and themselves that they must resort to force in order to gain employment, and to attract students to their classrooms? Is force a part of civilization? Or is it force that leads us to riots and wars?

Is it no wonder that dissident young people in recent years turned to violence in the streets to express their discontent with what they saw wrong in this world? True, they seem to have decided that rioting does not accomplish what they want, so most have "joined the system," and now are working to "rearrange the rules of violence."

Could it be that our education system, based on force and violence as it is, has created the apparently ever-rising belief that problems can only be solved through force? Is this the system that has produced a social climate where a crowd of 300 blood thirsty people cheered a woman on the top of a 150-foot water tower and urged her to jump — then jeered and threw rocks at police and firemen who rescued her?

What is the purpose of education? Shouldn't it be to advance civilization and improve the condition of mankind?

Force and coercive methods, wherever they are used, lead us away from higher civilization. They are taking us back to barbarism. Is this the goal of our education system?

Writer HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Fred Ebb, of "Cabaret" fame, will write the Frank Sinatra-Magnavox Special which will air on television next fall.

"I was not greatly surprised when a grinding noise that developed in the front end at 12,000 miles turned out to be something wrong with the mushrooms."

I just thanked my lucky stars that I didn't get the model with the onions, ground beef and green peppers.

The car is back in the shop this week. The service manager isn't certain what is causing the oil leak but he thinks it's the mozzarella.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It is part of the conventional wisdom that American cars are built to self-destruct upon expiration of the warranties, whereas foreign auto makers are still turning out finely tuned machines.

At least that is part of the conventional wisdom among motorists who have never owned a foreign car. The rest of us know better.

For the past couple of years I have had custody of a Pasta Six, a sports convertible made to the best of my knowledge and belief, out of leftover pizza dough.

You want to know how those dents got in the top of the right front fender? I'll tell you how those dents got there.

Those dents were caused by a cat jumping on the fender. It's the truth, so help me, Hannah. This cat sleeps on top of the car and when she leaps down the fender buckles under the impact of the four-footed landing.

It's Not a Cougar
The cat, I hasten to add, is not a cougar, like you see in the Mercury ads, or any of the other larger felines. It is a slightly undersized house cat.

Apparently, the pizzeria that made the fender rolled the dough a little too thin in that particular spot.

It is not my intent to burden you with a dreary recital of all that has gone wrong with the car in the first 20,000 miles. But here are a few of the highlights: —At 5,000 miles, it wouldn't shift into reverse. I took it back to the agency and asked the service manager what was causing the trouble.

"Your anchovies are bad," he replied.
Do you have any idea what it costs to replace the anchovies in a Pasta Six? When I regained consciousness after the service manager gave me an estimate, he reminded me that on a foreign car you have to use imported anchovies.

Another Conference
—At 10,000 miles, the car became unable to develop enough power to ascend low angled inclines in the road.

Another conference with the service manager.
"You need new pepperoni," he told me.

"Why in the world do I need new pepperoni when the car is less than a year old?" I wailed.

The service manager said it was possible that the original pepperoni was sliced too thickly. He said that was a fairly common defect in the 1971 Pastas.

—I was not greatly surprised when a grinding noise that developed in the front end at 12,000 miles turned out to be something wrong with the mushrooms.

I just thanked my lucky stars that I didn't get the model with the onions, ground beef and green peppers.

The car is back in the shop this week. The service manager isn't certain what is causing the oil leak but he thinks it's the mozzarella.

Costume Men Pester Greene

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Three of Universal's costume men hovered around Lorne Greene, plying him with sports shirts and slacks and sports jackets. This was something new for Greene. Something he hadn't bargained for when he signed to do a new series called Griff for ABC-TV.

For 14 years, as Bonanza's Ben Cartwright, Greene didn't have to worry about wardrobe. Week after week, year after year, he wore basically the same outfit. Now, playing a modern-day private eye, and a well-heeled one, he must have a modern, well-heeled wardrobe. It's added work.

After Bonanza bit the dust, Greene was faced with the problem of what to do. He didn't have to worry about financial things. The series made him a millionaire but he isn't the type to sit around and do nothing.

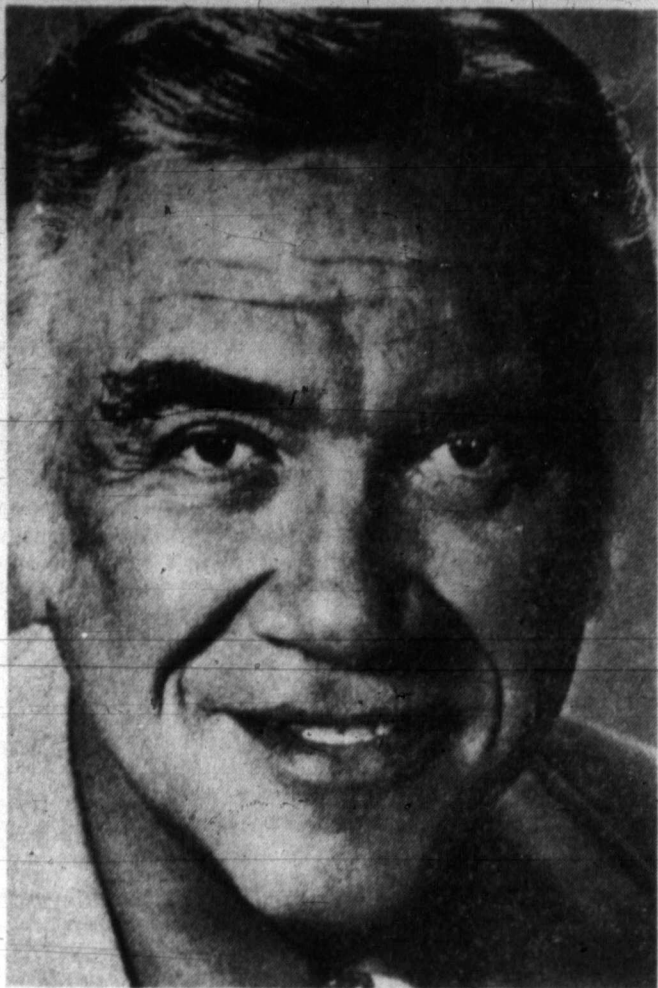

He gave some thought to stage and movies. He couldn't find a play or a musical he liked. And he found most of the movie offers verging on the pornographic.

"That's not for me," he says. "The closest I could come to porno acting would be 'Deep Handshake'."

Anyhow, he likes TV and four studios were bidding for his services. Two had no specific property in mind. One wanted him to play Nero Wolfe. He couldn't see himself as the famous fictional fat detective. So he went for the Universal deal, because he liked the Griff property.

Looking back, Greene feels his career has, thus far, been a happy and fulfilling one. He divides it up into three sections. There were 14 years in Canada when he did everything — radio, stage, TV, teaching — and those were good years.

"I made more money than the prime minister of Canada, he says.

Then came a six-year period when he freelanced as an actor all over the world, including in England, New York, Hollywood and again in Canada. He did three Broadway plays, many movies, hundreds of TV and radio dramas, and, most recently, the 14-year stay with Bonanza. Now he looks forward to whatever the future holds.

He hopes Griff eventually will shake down and become what he wants it to become, a dramatic show with a philosophy, not merely be a whodunit.

"I remember a line from a play," he says. "It went: 'I had it all in my grasp, and it began to slip away. And another line: 'I searched for the beast and found it within me.' I feel that both of those lines have the germ of an idea in them, the kind of idea we should explore on Griff."

She Took Long Leap

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was a long leap for Soprano Eleanor Steber from the marbled elegance of the Metropolitan Opera to the hideous multi-colored club room of the Continental Baths.

But it was a very special occasion, even there.

Billed comic-camp as "black tie-black towel," Miss Steber's Thursday night appearance toned down the usual irreverence at the Continental, professional birthplace and nurturing hole for the current nostalgia craze and home more normally of Bette Midler and other rock-pop singers.

Before the performance, dozens of men milled noisily as usual around the pool and snack bar, many in black tie, but many more in nothing but black towel. ("We pulled all the white ones before six," said a club manager.)

Off to one side was a larger-than-life portrait of the star herself, surrounded altar-like by garlands of flowers.

As Miss Steber nodded her head to start the performance, someone quipped, "We've had lots of queens here but this is the first time we've had a prima donna" — and the crowd roared.

— But a minute later the lights were dimmed, the silver strobe stopped turning, the gushing water in the pool was shut down, and the usual scurrying around and seat-hopping was over for the night.

It was an uncharacteristic quiet. In fact, declared one regular, "You could have heard a towel drop."

Miss Steber played it strictly straight in her singing, filling the room with soaring notes from Mozart, Puccini and Charpentier arias.

TV In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Big motion pictures broadcast by network television continue to trample opposition programming in the ratings in the new video season.

Some of the most successful shows on television—the Mary Tyler Moore, Bob Newhart and Carol Burnett series—were whipped solidly by top movies in the program rankings for the week ending Sept. 23.

It is difficult for a network to get a real line on a new series, in terms of audience appeal, if it is buried for a number of weeks early in the season by hit movies.

On the other hand, networks can protect themselves in the ratings race by getting the broadcast rights to a reasonable number of top motion pictures each season.

Considering today's shorter season, high sponsor stakes and brief proving period for new shows, a network that fails to land a good supply of big motion pictures can find itself in a ratings predicament.

Some Movies Scheduled

At any rate, television keeps pouring on the hit movies: On Nov. 8, CBS-TV offers "The Graduate" on Nov. 1, the same network presents "Bullitt." And on Oct. 21, ABC-TV reruns "Love Story."

As for those ratings for the week ending Sept. 23, four of the 10 top broadcasts in the national popularity statistics were motion pictures.

"Bonnie and Clyde" ranked No. 1 against all comers. "Tora! Tora! Tora!" came in fourth. "Cool Hand Luke" was ninth and "Play Misty for Me" finished 10th. Furthermore, "Funny Girl" came in 11th, and "Rosemary's Baby" ranked 25th.

What happened to the series of Newhart, Miss Burnett and Miss Moore is that NBC-TV's "Cool Hand Luke" and ABC-

Marijuana Use Less Dangerous

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Smoking marijuana became less hazardous in Oregon Friday as a new law went into effect reducing the maximum penalty to a $100 fine.

The previous penalty had been up to a year in jail and a $1,000 fine. In other states the penalty for possession of even small amounts of marijuana is as high as 10 years in prison.

Under the new Oregon law possession of less than one ounce of marijuana, or enough for about 20 cigarettes, is no longer a crime but treated as a violation, the same legal category as a traffic offense.

Stiff penalties are retained for persons convicted of growing, processing or selling the drug. Adults who furnish marijuana to minors face a 30-year prison sentence.

The Woman's View

UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Saving on heating costs has become more vital than ever, now that federal regulations on allocating certain fuels are a fact of life.

No sooner had the Nixon administration stepped in to control the distribution of propane and home heating oil than came an on-target consumer report giving suggestions on cutting heating costs and keeping comfortable when winter comes.

Initial tip: Keep an eye on the household thermostat when the temperatures drop. Set the thermostat no higher than 72 degrees, for once you pass this point, your heating costs and energy consumption rise significantly, says the report.

Lower the thermostat at night. Setting it back 10 degrees for eight hours will save 10 per cent or more on heating costs. When you are going away for a day or longer, lower the thermostat to 55 degrees.

Use Aluminum Foil

Turn off heat in rooms being ventilated or which are not in use.

Close doors promptly to keep the children from running in and out unnecessarily.

If you have decorative heating covers, make sure they're not trapping heat. If radiators are near cold walls, a sheet of aluminum or aluminum foil between the wall and the radiator will reflect back into the room heat that otherwise would be lost.

When painting radiators, use enamel paint for increased efficiency. Metallic or flat paints reduce efficiency by as much as 25 per cent.

Thin coatings of dust on radiators or baseboard units act as insulation and waste heat, so dust or vacuum these surfaces frequently. Remove rugs and furniture from areas where they block radiators or registers.

Other Tips

These other tips come from the October consumer report of the New York Bowery Savings Bank, as compiled from the Mobil Oil Corp., the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association and Consolidated Edison. The report says they apply equally to gas, electric and oil-heated homes.

— Let the sun help save money. During winter daylight hours, leave windows which face south or west unshaded and let the free heat of the sunshine in.

— In case of gas heating, shut off the pilot light when the heating season ends. The pilot light can consume as much as 1.44 cubic feet of gas per month.

— A humidifier is a wise investment because it will keep moisture in the air, making the house more comfortable with a lower thermostat setting.

Use Weather Stripping

— Use weather stripping to seal off cracks and openings around windows and doors and save from 10 to 30 per cent of the annual heating bill. Storm windows will cut in half the heat lost through windows.

— If you have an oil furnace, burners should be adjusted at least once a year to prevent wasted fuel. Clean oil filters annually.

— Check steam radiator valves for proper function. Replace nonadjustable valves with adjustable ones. Drain air or water, if present, from steam radiators to remove sediment.

4-H Gets It All Together

By AUDETTE VAUGHN

When extension agents and teachers claim that "4-H Gets It All Together," are they merely parroting the 1973 National 4-H Week theme — or are they really on the level? What — if anything — is 4-H getting together?

Well, let's start with the United States. In this country alone 4-H is getting together some 5.5 million boys and girls, ages 9-19, plus a half million volunteer adult leaders and thousands of Extension Service personnel.

And that's just a start. In addition to being in nearly every U.S. county, 4-H groups exist in approximately 85 other countries around the world.

But what does 4-H do after getting all those folks together? Contrary to what many seem to think today's 4-H is a lot more than merely an educational program for rural youth.

The timeliness of their efforts is indicated by the current 4-H emphasis on helping educate communities on ways to economically operate vehicles and to conserve electricity during the current energy shortage.

Other 4-H groups are helping to ease the food shortage by supporting agricultural production and marketing efforts. Also, drug abuse programs, improving the environment, and community development planning are being given a high priority in 4-H programs.

Boys and girls of different backgrounds, philosophies and lifestyles, working together with adults to solve common problems — that's the 4-H picture in 1973. 4-H brings together youths from all racial, economic, social and cultural backgrounds. Rural and city youngsters have an opportunity to interact, communicate and share ideas.

Here in Gray County 4-H is getting together a wide variety of programs. For example, 15 boys and 66 girls are currently enrolled in six cooking classes being taught by 11 adults and six junior leaders. Culinary competitors may compete with their peers in countywide bake shows — with the victors winning the right to compete in the district or state levels, and probably winning their share of scholarships, awards and prizes in the process.

4-H is also cooking up a "Mulligan Stew" television series for fourth, fifth and sixth grade classrooms. The series emphasizes the value of proper food and nutrition.

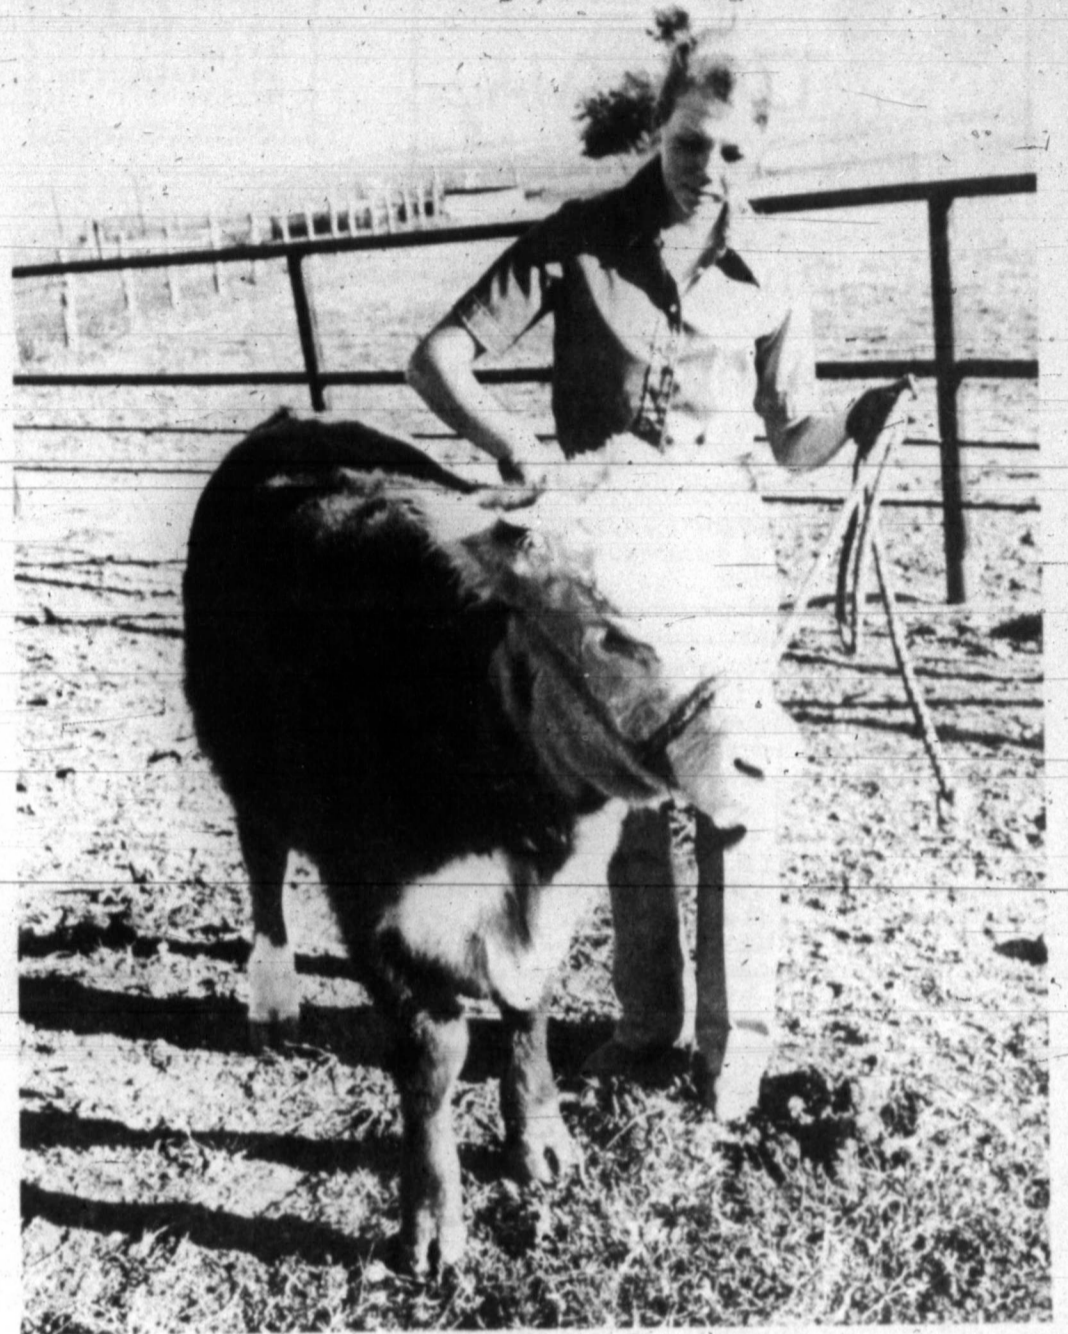

Another 4-H project is a bicycle safety program, which strives to help young people inspect and maintain their bicycles properly, to familiarize them with laws concerning bike riding, and to promote bicycle riding and safety.

If you would like to help 4-H get it all together, contact the Gray County Extension Service in Pampa's Court House Annex — or call 665-7429.

Man wants relief from too much kissing

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My lady friend is a kissing fool. Hugging and kissing is her idea of the utmost in ecstasy, and she can't seem to get enough of it.
Last night we sat on her sofa kissing from midnight until 2 a. m., and I hardly managed to get my own lips together once in those two hours. If my nose had been stopped up, I would have suffocated. All this time she was glued to my face, wearing me out.
I tried to explain that a normal man enjoys about five minutes of kissing, but I never got to finish the sentence.
It's not as if we are a pair of starry-eyed teen-agers, either. We are up in years.

Is there such a thing as a lip fetish? If so, this lady has a serious case. She doesn't need a man. Give her a pair of rubber lips nailed to a post and she would be in business.
Do you think she needs psychiatric help to cool her down? Or should I seek some myself for continuing to put up with her?
DEAR DONE: If you want to cool her down, marry her.

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever heard of giving an unwed mother a baby shower? The girl is only 15, and the baby's father is 16. She is five months along, and her girl friends are giving her a shower. Maybe by the time the baby is born she will be married to the baby's father, but right now his folks have refused to sign, and he can't get married without their signatures, as he is under age.
I bought a gift with money I saved up from baby-sitting. My mother says I can go if I want to, but it would be like saying I saw nothing wrong with what this girl did. Abby, I think she did a wrong thing, but she is my friend and I can't turn my back on her now.
Some of the girls' mothers told their daughters they should send their gifts, but not go. How do you feel about this?
ALSO 15

DEAR ALSO: Being loyal to a friend doesn't necessarily imply approval of everything that friend does. Your peer group is showing more charity and compassion for an unmarried expectant mother than earlier generations would have shown, which I think is to your credit.

DEAR ABBY: For the last six months my husband faithfully has gotten up at 1 a. m. every Saturday morning to go Eastern Shore fishing.
I never paid much attention to it until recently when I noticed that when he came home he was wearing his best shoes, best pants, and brand new shirt.
When I asked him about it, he said he had to look decent in case he wanted to stop in a restaurant for coffee and a sandwich. Abby, I would like your reaction to his explanation.
SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: His story sounds fishy to me. Fishing clothes are considered "decent" in fishing territory. But on the other hand, if he had something to hide he could easily change back into his fishing clothes before returning home. I. P. S. How much fish does he bring home? If it's usually not much of a catch, you may catch him.]

CONFIDENTIAL TO F. J. L.: Take heart in the words of Madame Swetchine: "In order to have an enemy, one must be somebody. One must be a force before he can be resisted by another force. A malicious enemy is better than a clumsy friend."

All-American Catfish

COLLEGE STATION—For an All-American taste treat, serve catfish.
"It's as American as baseball and the Fourth of July," Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, noted.
"Catfish provided sustenance for explorers, pioneers and American Indians. They also graced the tables of nobility."
Whether from a lake, fishing hole or modern catfish farm, they provide an abundance of high-quality protein for growth and body tissue repair.

When faced with more than enough fish for a meal, freeze the extras for another day; the specialist advised.
To freeze, dress fish as if for immediate use. Cut them into steaks, fillets or leave whole if small.
Place two layers of waxed paper between fillets or steaks so individual pieces can be separated easily.
Wrap in moisture-vapor resistant material or a plastic bag to make an air-tight package. This prevents the fish from drying out during freezing.
Store in the freezer at zero degrees F. for no longer than six to nine months.

Frozen catfish may be cooked with or without previous thawing, Miss Reasonover said. Allow extra cooking time if frozen.
When breeding fish for frying, let it thaw first to make handling easier, she suggested. Thaw fish in the refrigerator in its original wrap.
Roll fish in cornmeal or a mixture of cornmeal and flour. Fry in hot fat for about four minutes. Turn carefully and fry four to six minutes longer or until golden brown.
Drain on a paper towel and serve with hush puppies and cole slaw for an old time favorite.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SUNDAY, OCT. 7
Your birthday today: If you have not cleared your path toward a better life, current conditions tend to bring such a clearance. Whatever seems harsh may be both needed and, in the long run, enjoyable. A shift to some other vocation is quite possible for many of today's natives this year. Most of them choose moderate courses, are adaptable to a wide range of activities, and like to follow or devise definite rules for the conduct of life and business.
Aries (March 21-April 19): Be calm as you share the community's weekend customs. There are strangers about. You should know more of their plans and attitudes before getting too near to involvement.
Taurus (April 20-May 20): Entertainment, excursions, whatever you can find convenient to organize promise success. Rely on past experience for guidance. Check up on those who are out of public view.
Gemini (May 21-June 20): With so many ways to spend your time, it may be difficult to select if you wait for others to get started. Take the initiative and stick to your favorite hobbies.
Cancer (June 21-July 22): Beneath this Sunday's surface run currents of emotional stress and impulses of contradictory direction. Forgive yourself and those you cherish for being human and sensitive.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Tact and graceful acceptance of people as they are is only part of the success story this Sunday. Any travel should begin early. Visits promise interesting conclusions.
Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Expect some casual attitudes from those who are used to hearing your story. Remember there's more of their response that is not on the surface, and forbear.
Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Long-standing tensions come to an almost calm inter-release this Sunday. It is as if you finally relinquish an unreal idea or come to the end of a waiting period.
Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Now you find some natural limits on what you can do or reach. The question is whether you can recognize subtle hints or have to have them spelled out crudely, later.
Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): With somebody for whom you really care, this should be a pleasant Sunday; but nothing casual seems likely to offer much. See the antics of others as an educational opportunity.
Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Deep spiritual resources are accessible, can be stirred today into dedication, reflected in significant long-term action. Let no superficial circumstances hinder this awakening.
Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Just because you seem to have everything going your way does not mean that everyone will continue to agree. You must share all the facts and the benefits as you go.
Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Strive to be an uninvolved spectator today. It is likely that some tangle in your budgets or understanding of financial resources exist—sit down and puzzle this out now.

WOMEN IN OFFICE
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Figures compiled by the Texas Women's Political Caucus show that women hold 6.4 per cent of the elective offices in the state. Of the 18,309 elected officials, 1,174 are women.

Suede is another "in" look for fall, whether it turns up in lovely fall colors in handbags, or in belts or as trim on dresses and ensembles. Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

MONDAY, OCT. 8

Your birthday today: Your talents are stimulated into working reality by the early challenge and later encouragement of this coming year. All current achievements carry with them some "option" on further advances. Relationships encounter a variety of testing situations, evolving to fit new conditions. Today's natives have a strong sense of rhythm, and are inclined to pursue scientific or theoretical disciplines.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Sticking with what you know is the most productive course early in the day. Be alert to salvage something from the confused efforts others make. Keep messages simple.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Friendship either saves everything for you or involves you in unreal schemes. In general, what happens today is about what you deserve—most likely favorable.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Be aware that whatever you do now is under special attention; there is the temptation to slack off. Evening requires a calm, serene mood—no shop talk or other distraction.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: A day for perceptive questions since technical knowledge is available. Special efforts to improve your position pay off quickly. Personal projects mean additional demands on your time.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Consultation may seem a mere formality to you—until you actually begin. You'll be glad you did, in time. Games of skill are apt to go sour, while intellectual speculation brings results.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Gather good friends and long-time contacts for a concerted effort today. Business prospects brighten. Family affairs run smoothly assuming you let them. Prayer brings inspiration.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Begin early and stay late to get the week off to a rolling start. Problem-solving is done by clearing up whatever details you can get to, rather than dramatic strokes to the central core.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: From relatively stiff going, your path smooths out and you make swifter progress than expected; don't get lazy or take it for granted. Express feelings for your loved ones.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: It is time you gave a bit of thought to your health and its protection. Gathering up loose ends reveals information you have missed. It pays to keep a tidy house.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: If the subject is money or material, you have a hunch on what to do and how to go about it. In sentimental and nostalgic issues, however, you are all at sea.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Adhere to practical methods, leaving aside theoretical or supposedly altruistic ventures. Be sure that travel plans will fit into the schedules others have established.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: During the morning hours you may find others in a hurry or fretting. Be ready to make changes calmly—the earlier, the better. Opportunity for all-round improvement abounds.

COLLEGE STATION — Fryer chicken prices dipped "considerably lower than prices two or three weeks ago," according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt.

The consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, termed fried chicken "almost impossible to surpass for economy and versatility."

Egg supplies are adequate and count as a bargain when compared to other high-protein foods — grade A, large-size eggs offer the most economy and quality for your egg money.

Shortages in the meat case and high prices will dictate restraint in meat buying, the specialist predicted.

However, beef items to consider this week include chuck roasts, ground beef, stew meat and liver. Also be on the lookout for reasonably priced sirloin, rib and round steaks.

She cited dairy features as "irregular" with most emphasis on lowfat milk, cottage cheese and medium-sharp cheddar cheese.

Also, tuna is featured in some stores along with several ready-to-serve canned meats.

Fresh vegetable items in best supply at the most economical prices include carrots, cabbage, celery, dry yellow onions, head lettuce, potatoes, squash, corn, radishes, green peppers and green onions.

Festival To Feature Garden Club Displays

A youth division will be featured at the Floral Festival Time, fall flower show of Pampa Garden Club to be held Oct. 14, 15, M. K. Brown Auditorium, in conjunction with the Top O' Texas Arts and Crafts Festival. Youth may enter either flower arrangements they have made or plants they have grown and had in their possession at least three months. Friday, Oct. 13, from 6-8 p.m., and on Saturday, Oct. 14, 8-9:30 a.m., at the auditorium.

Judging of the show will be from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., on Saturday. The show will be open to the public at 1 p.m.

Divisions for youth in grade school will include Fantasy Time, an arrangement of fresh plant material, and Time for Goblins, an arrangement using dried plant materials. Students in junior high may enter the divisions of Party Time, an arrangement of fresh plant material in a perfume bottle, and School Time, an arrangement of dried materials suitable for a teacher's desk.

For any additional information call show chairman Mrs. Holly Gray, 665-8831. The program presented at the recent meeting of the Pampa Garden Club was on the artistic division of the flower show. Members displayed example arrangements for each class in the show and a critique was made. Those displaying arrangements included Mrs. W.E. Abernathy, H.A. Hanks, Marion Brown, W.E. Campaigne, V.N. Osborn, Thelma Bray, James Malone and Wallace Birkes.

Members were asked to attend the District I Northern Zone meeting in Hereford Oct. 30 and the fall convention of the Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. in Fort Worth, Oct. 16-18. Mrs. W.R. Campbell gave a report on the radio spot announcements to be used locally regarding litter control. Members voted to contribute toward the Mesilla Park beautification project and for purchase of an ornamental tree for Pampa Junior High Environmental Lab.

Among the horticulture tips presented by Mrs. H.H. Boynton were preparation of the ground by composting and fertilizing for planting of new shrubs and trees later this fall. She suggested potting any herbs and blooming plants to bring inside now and leaving them out of doors until just before frost to reduce the shock. Plant bulbs as tulips and hyacinths now for forcing, collect sunflower seed for bird food this winter, and select a new peony or dutch iris to plant now. Oct. 19-23 are the dates for lifting glad and dahlia bulbs. If one does not remove dahlia bulbs, then cut off the dead stalk after the first killing frost.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. J.V. Young and Mrs. Georgie Mack. Autumn colors of gold, orange, and brown were used to decorate the refreshment table. The next meeting will be Nov. 5 with a program on landscaping the home grounds by Mrs. Milo Carlson.

Co-star HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Lee Remick will co-star with William Holden in Lorimar Productions' "The Blue Knight," written by Los Angeles police officer Joseph Wambaugh.

Six Texas Agents Win National Award

COLLEGE STATION — Six county Extension agents in Texas are winners of the Distinguished Service Award for 1973 — the highest honor given by the National Association of Extension Home Economists.

The six home economists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, will be honored during the national association's annual meeting Oct. 14-19 at Grossinger's in

New York State.

Recipients of the award are Mrs. Elnora R. Bryant of Bastrop, Mrs. Helton B. Catlett of Greenville, and Mrs. Aryetta F. Mosley of Livingston.

Also, Mrs. Cula R. Nowlin of Perryton, Mrs. Juanita B. O'Connor of Bellinger, and Mrs. Dorothy J. Rambo of Rusk.

Speaking for the Texas Association of Extension Home Economists — which nominated the six for the award, Mrs. Beatrice Rubenstein of Bellville, awards committee chairman, noted, "These agents have demonstrated outstanding abilities as leaders, organizers and educators in 4-H and youth work as well as adult Extension work."

Referring to coordination of programs in their local counties, Mrs. Rubenstein added, "They developed and coordinated educational programs in Texas on housing, 4-H and youth, clothing, nutrition, food buying and food preparation, family relations and child development."

"They reached a combined estimate of more than 3,500 persons in their six Texas counties including Bastrop, Hunt, Polk, Ochiltree, Runnels and Cherokee Counties," she said.

State Fair Exhibit

DALLAS — Poached, fried, scrambled or cooked in a casserole, eggs are on the menu at the State Fair Oct. 6 to 21. Agriculture Commissioner John C. Waite has announced.

The Texas Poultry Federation will have displays of various egg dishes, a roasting turkey, and recipes using poultry products for visitors to the Pavilion.

Each day, drawings will be held for a turkey or chicken. "Our emphasis this year is economy in meal planning. The Pavilion exhibitors have prepared their efforts to teach visitors to prepare nutritious, economical dishes without sacrificing taste appeal. The booth for protein-rich poultry products is a good place to start," Commissioner White said.

Hints on coloring: Before you have your hair colored, be sure it is in top shape. Use a few hot oil treatments for conditioning. Save a lock of your hair in the natural shade in case you want to have it returned to your natural color. Have a permanent at least a week before coloring. Have a patch test made to assure that you are not allergic to the product. Seek the advice of your beautician as to what color is best suited to your complexion and type of hair, then follow her advice.

THE BRIDE

The bride, presented in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" vowal, was attired in a white floor-length gown of soft sate-peau with Swiss window-pane lace and pink trim. The long sleeves of the gown were full lace and ended in wide cuffs. Her floor-length veil was edged in matching lace and she carried a white Eastern Star Bible topped with a floral arrangement, belonging to her paternal grandmother.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Gary Ingham, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor and Rodney Imel, Big Spring, Tex., was best man. Serving as ushers were Kory Gamblin, brother of the bridegroom, Pampa, and Steve Ingham, brother of the bride, Moore.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Forrest Claunch, aunt of the bridegroom, assisted at the punch service, and Mrs. Jeff Ingham, Amarillo, aunt of the bride, served cake.

For the wedding trip to Oklahoma City, the bride wore a pink pant suit with white accessories.

The couple will reside in Goodwell, Okla.

AFFILIATIONS

Electric Skillet ----Power Savers

COLLEGE STATION — With the growing emphasis on power shortages, prepare one-dish meals in an electric skillet.

"The average electric skillet uses less power than a range element — and far less than an oven," according to Mrs. Doris Myers, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Besides conserving electrical power, it saves "homemaker energy" too. A meal cooked and served in the same container saves clean-up time, she noted.

"Unfortunately, many homemakers' electric skillets take up valuable storage space without getting used.

"It's pretty costly to own and not use such an appliance," the specialist said.

"It's also expensive to mistreat it. Proper care and maintenance play important roles in conservation of resources — by avoiding unnecessary breakdowns, repairs and expenses."

Remove acid and salty foods as quickly as possible to avoid pitting the cooking surface.

Let the skillet cool to room temperature before washing it. Mrs. Myers continued, "Cold water in a hot pan causes warping."

"For best performance, wash skillet after each use with hot sudsy water. Also clean the outside and underneath to avoid burned grease build-up."

Steel wool can be used on stainless steel or aluminum pans — but only plastic or rubber scrubbers on teflon-coated ones, she added.

Never immerse a heat control in water. Simply wipe clean with a damp cloth, then dry.

"As a reminder, to use it often, store skillet in an easy-to-reach spot," the specialist suggested.

"Efficient use adds to the quality of living."

Metal Sculpture Will Be Featured At Festival

Tim Gikas, a Pampa High School graduate, now residing in Lubbock, where he is a pre-med student, spends his free time working on metal sculpture. He plans to have a booth again this year at the Fine Arts and Crafts Festival, sponsored by the Pampa Fine Arts Association, Oct. 13, 14 at the M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium.

Tim, who is also an amateur lapidary, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gikas, 1301 Mary Ellen.

Gikas' wife shares her husband's enthusiasm for metal sculpture, but has little time to spend on the project since she is a student nurse at Lubbock Methodist Hospital and the mother of their daughter, Heather.

Tim invites his friends and interested persons to stop by the booth at the Heritage Room, say hello and meet his family.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS
To the average teenager of the Texas Panhandle the term dryland farming is something that is a part of the distant past. Most of them look at life in the now and irrigation is the game. A number of the area high schools are encouraging their students to acquire a broad understanding of the irrigation based economy of the area. Panhandle High School requires its senior students to write an essay on the importance of water conservation. Today we are carrying a portion of one by Sandy Poteet, a 1972-73 senior of the Panhandle High School.

"To a farmer water is a slow, gentle shower in mid-July easing the drought that has enveloped the area since June. It is also the hail that beats down his wheat. To a housewife it is a clean floor, soapy dishwater, and muddy tracks across the floor. To a child it is a play thing. It is snowball fights and a swimming hole and trouble from Mother for walking across the floor. To a scientist it is seventy per cent of a human body, and seventy per cent of the earth's surface. The mass of the earth is composed of 55,000,000 square miles of land and 142,000,000 square miles of water. With water composing so much of the world, why is only one per cent usable? Industries, private use, and agriculture are consuming water at an alarming rate. To date there is no way to replenish the amount that is usable. Industries use water for cooling, heating, and processing goods. It takes two and one-half gallons of water to process one phonograph record, five gallons of water to make one pound of sugar, and 150 gallons for the paper for one Sunday newspaper. 1960 figures showed that Texas municipalities and industries required 2.6 million acre-feet of water. By 1990 estimates are that they will require 6.5 million acre-feet. An average citizen uses 3.8 million gallons of water during a lifetime, and 1600 gallons of water daily. However, only nine per cent of this water is used by the individual. The other ninety-one per cent is used to produce goods used daily by the citizen. With the new technology on the scene, agriculture has turned more and more to irrigation. To meet the pressing needs of a highly industrial society, growing larger each day, irrigation has become more a necessity than a luxury. Today it requires 350 thousand gallons of water to grow one ton of corn for cattle feed. Science has greatly aided agriculture. Besides discovering ways of improving farming methods, it has brought about hydroponics. This is the art of growing plants in water without soil. The water has nutrients added to aid growth. Irrigating farmers turned to ground water for irrigation. It is good water because it has been filtered naturally. The amount is unknown, but it is not expected to last long at the present rate of consumption. Agriculture is not the only business to use ground water. The Ogallala aquifer supplies the entire Texas Panhandle. Industries have begun to pump water back into this underground reservoir. This may be one step in the right direction. But more often, the water being pushed underground has not been filtered and, carrying the foreign substances underground, ruins the entire source. In many areas, water seeping into the underground tables is from the sewage systems. Even though the recharging of the ground water tables is helping in the cycle of water, more water is being taken out of the reservoirs than is being pushed underground. The aquifer will be exhausted by the year 2020 if use continues at the current pace. There is no absolutely pure water, but the type of pollution differs. Water that is suitable for irrigation water that is high in nitrogen and phosphorus may not be well suited for recreation. All precipitation acquires foreign substances when it falls through the polluted air. No matter what type of water, or how polluted it is, it should contain some amount of oxygen. Oxygen allows water to purify itself, and if water is given a fighting chance, then perhaps there will be less need for artificial purifiers. Water is a most corrosive element. Even in laboratories, where water is distilled, there is no pure water. The water picks up elements off the sides of even the most sanitary containers. Water is an enemy to the river inhabitant, a god to a desert nomad. Water washes away the top soil of many farm lands, and destroys crops by not being there. No one is able to live without water, but it was heavy water that helped to make the most destructive weapon known to man—the atomic bomb.

High Protein Grain Has Distinct Flavor

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—A new food grain high in protein, a cross between rye and wheat, is producing a new sparkle in the eyes and causing the mouth to water at the aroma of breads, cakes and cookies baking at Texas Tech University.

Triticale (pronounced tritikay-lee) offers a distinctive flavor different from either of its parents—a flavor at its finest in bread, cake and cookie recipes developed in the Department of Food and Nutrition of the College of Home Economics in cooperation with Triticale Foods Corp., of Muleshoe, Tex.

"The only thing better than the aroma of the baked goods fresh and warm from the oven is the taste," said Margarette Harden, assistant professor of food and nutrition at Texas Tech. "Triticale has an intriguing nutty flavor and has proven to be quite versatile in the kitchen."

Research has shown the grain to contain 16.4 per cent protein—some 40 per cent more protein than some other cereal grains. The quantity of the grain's protein is surpassed only by its quality.

personnel, is based on a three phase plan.

First, in areas already served by local health departments, sanitation programs are being upgraded by surveys of existing inspection practices. Educational facilities and information in local health departments are being supplemented, and instructor courses in food hygiene are being presented.

Phase 2 focuses on areas not served by local health departments. Included in this effort are the education of owners and managers in the needs for periodic inspections and training of personnel.

Phase 3 is aimed at school cafeterias. Inspection of rural school cafeterias, particularly in areas that don't have an inspection program, is planned. And, the food handlers school has been made available on request.

In the Rio Grande Valley served by Region 10, the "grassroots" approach is being taken. Instruction is being taken directly to restaurant personnel to give them pointers in proper sanitation techniques and personal hygiene.

To reach as many people as possible, training is directed first to local health officials and sanitarians so they in turn can teach others whom the regional staff cannot reach. Then, when the local sanitarian inspects a restaurant and spots a violation, he can then instruct the restaurant personnel as to the proper sanitation methods they should use.

Aside from general cleanliness, and protection of foodstuffs from insects, vermin and dust, food handlers are constantly being reminded to watch the temperatures of food. Hot foods should always be kept above 140 degrees, and cold foods must be kept at 45 degrees and below. Heating or chilling of food must be done rapidly. Object of this intensive effort in food handling is to protect you, the restaurant-goer, from any food-borne disease.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Food-borne disease epidemics caused by unsanitary conditions don't happen too often, despite the millions of meals served weekly by Texas restaurants, but when an outbreak occurs it can be costly to an establishment and its patrons.

Suffering from a variety of intestinal ailments may strike the unlucky food poisoning victim, while the restaurant may face economic loss because of bad publicity.

The Texas State Department of Health and local health units, through inspection of food establishments and training of employees in proper food handling techniques, has a big interest in the restaurant industry.

Two years ago the teaching of food hygiene by the Health Department's Public Health Education Division took a new approach. In the past, instruction throughout the state had been given directly to food handlers, cafe and restaurant owners by a specialist from the Austin office.

Now, courses in "Teaching Food Hygiene" are given for health department sanitarians, food and drug representatives, and others to equip them to teach food handling courses at the local level. When a local inspector observes improper food handling, he can schedule his own clinic for personnel in one restaurant or a group of restaurants. The local inspector can count on the support of some $15,000 worth of training films on various phases of food hygiene available from the Health Department's Film Library. In addition, there is a comprehensive teaching outline and a wide selection of printed materials.

Food handlers in all parts of Texas may receive the training which will better equip them to serve the eating-out public with correct food handling techniques. As a case in point, the Food and Drug Division of the Health Department's Region 10 has initiated a food sanitation program designed to better prepare local health departments to conduct their own programs.

It focuses on the nature and causes of food-borne diseases and the proper sanitation methods needed to combat those diseases.

The program, aimed at both local health department sanitarians and restaurant

West Texas Archeologists Have Digs In Tule Canyon

AMARILLO, Tex.—Archeologists from West Texas State University will spend the next three months in a crash effort trying to learn about some of the first persons to inhabit the North American continent.

The history-hunters will dig at the bottom of Tule Canyon near Silverton. There are approximately 70 prehistoric and historic Indian sites there. Some of them will be submerged when the new Mackenzie Dam begins impounding water from Tule Creek. The new dam will supply municipal water to Tulla, Silverton, Floydada and Lockney by pipeline. The structure was started last Fall after five years of planning by the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority.

The contract for the earth-fill, 145-foot-high dam was awarded Gilvin-Terrill Co., an Amarillo-based construction firm. When the 360 working days called for in the contract are up, more than $2.6 million will have been spent in creating the 3½-mile-long lake behind the 3,300-foot-long dam.

The Texas Antiquities Committee had asked West Texas State anthropology Prof. Jack Hughes for an estimate on the excavation analysis and reporting cost. He told them it would cost $70,000 for two years. An appeal was made to Gov. Dolph Briscoe on behalf of the project. He released $35,000 for one year's work.

The two teams formed by Hughes and headed by a yet-to-be-named project archeologist assisted by Panhandle Plains Historical Museum archeologist Billy R. Harrison will be concerned immediately with the area where the lake will be formed. "What we'll be trying to do is at least get a fair sampling of the various prehistoric sites that will be flooded out as soon as they complete the dam," Hughes said.

Gilvin-Terrill has indicated that closing-up process will possibly begin by the last of October.

These sites, judging from the surface survey, range in age all the way from so-called Paleo-Indian that are several thousand years old, to some that are more recent, within the terms of a couple hundred years," Hughes says.

"That is the kind of evidence of early human habitation Hughes' team expect to find. There is a possibility that evidence of the earliest inhabitants of the North American continent will also be found."

SC DISTRICT ELECTION
Don't forget the Soil Conservation District election scheduled to be held in the Agricultural Building Meeting Room, Tuesday at 8 p.m. A director is to be elected for the Pampa area. Robert Sailor is presently serving in this capacity. A short but informative program has been planned.

WHEAT PLANTING
You are beginning to see a lot of fields of wheat up to a beautiful stand and growing. In the southern part of the county, however, plantings have been delayed by heavy rains. In the Grandview Community, some fields are still wet where they received as much as two inches more than we received in the Pampa area. One good rain two weeks from now could produce abundant pasture.

MILCROP
The milo crop is having a race with the first killing frost. The average first killing frost for Gray County is November 1. The last several days of weather in the ninety degree range with sunshine and wind has been excellent in helping the milo reach maturity before frost.

CATTLE MARKET
A more stable aspect to the cattle market is now setting in. Fat cattle are making a nice recovery...up four dollars from the low. Beef prices have taken a drastic drop in the meat counter. Fact is, beef is your best buy in the meat counter as well as most families favorite meat. Although beef is still higher than a year earlier, it looks like an awfully good buy when compared to prices just after lifting the freeze.

Apparently many of the over-feds are being consumed. In most cases, the feeders have taken a tremendous dock on these in the corn belt.

We can see a few drops then a rise that more than offsets the drop. Much of the drop below the $46 price was caused by the over-fats and panic selling.

The stocker operators are now withholding from the market because they are not satisfied with the price. This market is rebounding also. We believe you will see a slow but steady rising market from here into 1974. 1973 has been a most difficult year to predict because of unexpected announcements regarding exports and imports, export embargo, Russian deals, and Chinese deals. There were too many unexpected factors and artificial factors such as the boycott and price ceiling to be very accurate on any projection.

We believe most of these factors are behind us and we will have a much more stable market and one that will be more readable, a few months in front of you, for some time to come.

Let's hope so!

Exports Keep Economy Going

DENTON, Tex. (UPI)—Agricultural exports are keeping the American economy from sinking into a major depression, Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said Thursday at the Denton County Livestock Association Banquet.

"Were it not for our boom in agricultural exports, I fear we would have a great economic bust in the country now," White said. "The devaluation of our dollars abroad could have been as great as 50 per cent without our farm export program."

"It is time for administration officials to tell the truth about our economic situation today," he said. "Rather than beguiling us into a false sense of security by just giving us the good news, the President should be telling us factually about the seriously erratic state of our current economy."

Despite this exclusivity of victim, plant diseases each year destroy an estimated 8 per cent of the total U.S. crop production. This is wasted the harvest of more than 30 million acres.

Pollution Control

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Texas A&M University will host the first of what officials plan to make an annual symposium on air pollution control Nov. 5-7.

Some 500 manufacturers, engineers and others involved in managing air quality are expected to attend.

Lt. Gov. William P. Hobby and Charles R. Barden, executive secretary of the Texas Air Control Board, will be among the speakers.

The Pampa F.F.A. Club met recently to elect new officers for the 1973-74 school year. Dan Cockrell, outgoing president, conducted the election.

Newly elected officers are as follows: Dusty Morrison, president; Marilyn Couts, vice-president; Dale Hanes, secretary; Grant Gething, reporter; Brenda Winters, treasurer; Beverly Minyard, sentinel; and Dan Cockrell, chaplain. Bob Skaggs is the sponsor of the club.

Plants Attacked

CHICAGO (UPI)—Green plants in the United States are attacked by at least 50,000 diseases, but it could be worse.

This, according to Encyclopedia Britannica, is but a fraction of the number of diseases that would occur if all microorganisms and viruses attacked all plants. But fortunately each individual parasitic species usually affects only a few plant species.

Despite this exclusivity of victim, plant diseases each year destroy an estimated 8 per cent of the total U.S. crop production. This is wasted the harvest of more than 30 million acres.

Nutritious
Brown Bag
Lunches

COLLEGE STATION — Now that school is in full swing, it's time to examine brown bag lunches to see if they're well-balanced and wholesome.

According to Judy Grubbs, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, lunches should contain foods from each of the four basic food groups.

"These groups — meat, bread and cereals, fruits and vegetables, and milk — all provide important nutrients for building strong bodies and energy for work and play."

Since sandwiches are favorites for brown bag lunches, try variety by using meat, eggs, peanut butter or cheese, the specialist suggested.

"A growing child needs at least two servings of this meat group daily to grow properly."

"Include bread or cereal in the lunches. Besides sandwich bread, try dry cereals or crackers — they're good choices, and children like them."

"Children need at least four servings of bread and cereals daily."

"Also use fruits or dried fruits, such as raisins, have good flavor and make excellent desserts. Finger foods, like fresh vegetables, are easy to handle and popular. Miss Grubbs noted.

"Four or more servings of fruits and vegetables should be eaten by children every day."

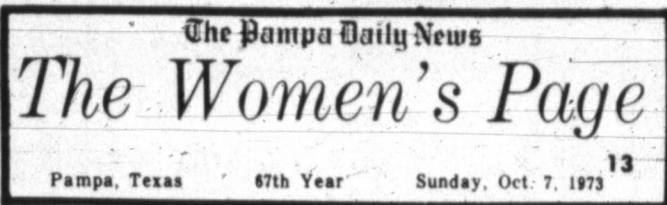

"Fluid milk, ice cream and cheese give lunches the needed milk group. Children need three or more cups of milk daily, while teenagers need at least four."

"Remember to include each of the food groups in brown bag lunches for nutrition and variety," the specialist concluded.

Texas Home Economist To Attend Conference

COLLEGE STATION — Mrs. Florence W. Low, assistant director for home economics with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will participate in a conference to determine objectives and direction of the home economics profession and plan for future development during a Lake Placid, N.Y., conference, Oct. 14-17.

A former president of the American Home Economics Association, Mrs. Low will serve as a member of the Conference "expert panel" and as a discussion leader.

To prepare for the conference, Mrs. Low explained, a special study — known as the Delphi study — dealing with the future of home economics was conducted.

"This study concerned such things as home economics content and organization of knowledge, education, research, business and industry, government and international, and health, welfare and other systems for meeting home needs," Mrs. Low said.

Historically, the philosophic base of the home economics profession was developed at a series of 10 previous conferences at Lake Placid, beginning in 1899. Known as the Lake Placid Conferences, they were chaired by Ellen Richards, and one of their results was the founding of the American Home Economics Association in 1909," Mrs. Low added.

"Now, in this 1973-74 year, we are planning what may become another landmark series of events designed to involve and stimulate members to think deeply about the objectives, philosophy, and direction of the home economics profession and to plan for its future development."

Mrs. Low said there will be a representative group of about 300 leaders from all segments of the home economics profession at this 11th Lake Placid Conference.

"It is hoped that from this conference will come a new way of defining home economics, a long-range planning system for the profession, and other materials that will be the basis for follow-up conferences in the states and for the 1974 Annual AHEA program," Mrs. Low noted.

"Thus all members will be involved in this year's exploration and development plans for home economics," Mrs. Low added.

Besides the expert panel, others who will attend the Lake Placid Conference include all state home economics association presidents and board members.

"Our goal for the future is to have an even more vital, forceful home economics profession," Mrs. Low emphasized.

MUSTANG LEWIS BRITT Scored Two Touchdowns

48-7 Humm, Anderson Lead 'Huskers Past Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Nebraska quarterback David Humm and galloping receiver Frosty Anderson teamed up for three touchdowns Saturday as the unbeaten Cornhuskers crushed the Minnesota Gophers, 48-7.

Mustangs Kick Owls

WHEELER — Tailback Lewis Britt rushed for 178 yards on 31 carries and scored twice in the second half to lead Wheeler to its first win of the season, as the Mustangs defeated Silverton, 26-13 before a cold Homecoming crowd Friday night here in both teams' district 2-A opener.

Wheeler (1-3) visits Wellington Friday in another district clash.

Silverton's David McCoy opened the game's scoring on a one-yard run at 7:48 in the first period. McCoy set up the score by recovering a Wheeler fumble on the Mustang 38. Wayne Wheeler blocked the point after attempt, as the Owls took a 6-0 lead.

Kent Ware went up the middle four yards for a first-quarter TD with 2:43 left to put the Mustangs on the score board. Jim Verden missed the extra point kick as the snap was fumbled.

Quarterback Don Chapman made it 12-6 with Wheeler in front, going around right end on a four-yard sweep at 4:47 in the second period. The quarterback failed to run in the extras.

In the third quarter, Silverton's Craig Culwell intercepted a Chapman pass and returned it from the Owl 45 to Wheeler's 44. Ken Wood passed to Culwell a few plays later for a 26-yard touchdown to tie the game. Brent Gill booted the extra point to put Silverton ahead.

Britt went one yard off right tackle with 11:12 left in the game to give the lead back to the Mustangs. The score capped an eight-play, 66-yard drive. Britt was the big man on the drive with runs of 18 and 21 yards.

Britt scored at 3:38 in the final quarter on a two-yard burst off right tackle. Ware missed running in the extras, and Wheeler led 26-13.

"We didn't play well, we just didn't get after it," said Bateman following the game.

Sally Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Brown, was crowned Wheeler's Homecoming Queen during halftime ceremonies.

Rangers Walk By Tucumcari

PERRYTON — Nine different Rangers scored Friday night here as 1-AAA Perryton pelted an outclassed Tucumcari, N.M., team, 71-0 to give the Rangers a 2-3 non-conference record.

Perryton hosts Woodward, Okla., at 8 p.m. Friday.

Robert Palmer opened the Ranger scoring with a five-yard run in the first period. Russ Elledge's extra-point boot was no good as Perryton jumped to a 6-0 lead.

Quarterback Jim Dear made it 12-0 with a three-yard run in the same period, and the 6-4 senior then hit Elledge with a pass for the extras.

Perryton made it 20-0 in the second quarter on a 43-yard pass play from Dear to all-district split end Elledge. The kick for the extra point again failed.

Elledge booted a 41-yard field goal in the second period to make it 23-0. Then Kenny Miller added six with a 25-yard interception return for a TD. Dale Street kicked the point after, giving the Rangers a 30-0 lead.

Burl Stephens closed the first half's scoring with a three-yard run. Street's extra-point try failed.

The Rangers jumped to a 42-0 margin when Chuck Bohner scored on a 15-yard scamper. The extra-point try failed. Mike Osborne made it 48-0 on a two-yard run, and Elledge booted the extra point.

In the fourth period, Richard Bates found paydirt on a three-yard run, and David Johnson added two points, running in the conversion to give Perryton a 57-0 lead. Palmer scored on a 38-yard gallop and Street booted the point after, and finally, Stephens scored on a 40-yard run. This time Osborne kicked the extra point.

In the final quarter, Flowers scored on an eight-yard sweep, and Strahan ran in the extras. Then Flowers hit Allan Clark for a 10-yard touchdown, and Strahan again scored the extras to make it 64-0.

Georgia Tech Runs Over Army Cadets

ATLANTA (UPI) — Quarterback Jim Stevens directed Georgia Tech on two long second-half scoring drives, both capped by one-yard touchdowns runs by Rick Hill to give Georgia Tech a 14-10 win over Army Saturday.

Army led 3-0 at the half and 10-7 at the end of the third quarter as the Cadets stymied the Yellow Jackets' offense through most of the early going. But in the fourth quarter, Stevens directed a 75-yard march in 12 plays to give Tech its winning touchdown. Stevens ran the ball repeatedly, gaining more than 50 yards in the game. But he was sacked four times by the fired-up Army line.

Georgia Tech had the ball less than two minutes in the first quarter as Army dominated with two long marches. The Cadets moved 53 yards before the drive was halted by a fumble by Army quarterback Kingsley Fink.

Aggies Blow Over Clemson Cats, 30-15

CLEMSON, S.C. (UPI) — Halfback Bubba Bean hammered out 204 yards including a 78-yard touchdown run Saturday to lead Texas A&M to a 30-15 victory over Clemson.

Halfback Ronnie Hubby added two third quarter touchdowns on runs of three and four yards and backup quarterback David Walker put the game on ice with a five-yard scoring run with barely a minute left in the game.

Quarterback Ken Pengitore, who completed only four of 18 passes, gave Clemson an early lead by flipping a 16-yard touchdown pass to tight end Bennie Cunningham in the first quarter. Pengitore scored Clemson's other touchdown with a one-yard keeper in the fourth quarter.

In the second quarter, the Tiger took a 9-0 margin on a 24-yard field goal by Bob Burgess.

But on the first play from scrimmage after the kickoff, Bean, a sophomore from Kirbyville, Tex., scampered down the right sideline for 78 yards and the Aggies' first touchdown.

Randy Haddox kicked the point after and then booted a 26-yard field goal with 5:40 left in the first half to give Texas A&M a 10-9 edge at intermission.

Hubby's first touchdown blast was set up by a fumble at the Tiger 18 that was pounced on by defensive end Paul Hulin. His second came five minutes later, capping a 72-yard drive that included a 26-yard dash by Bean.

Pengitore ignited the Tigers briefly midway through the final period, setting up his own touchdown with a 44-yard run and passes of 12 and 23 yards on a drive that started at the Clemson 5-yard line.

The Tigers scored first after grabbing a Texas A&M fumble at the Aggie 25, needing only five plays for Pengitore's coring toss with 8:28 remaining in the opening period.

Five minutes into the second quarter, Clemson's Willie Anderson intercepted a pass by Texas A&M's Mike Jay and ran it 24 yards to the Aggie 27. But the Tigers offense stalled, and Burgess came on.

The Aggies took the kickoff, got a first and 10 at their own 28 and second later their first touchdown as Bean took over right tackle.

The victory evened Texas A&M's record at 2-2, while Clemon dropped to 1-3.

Texas Tech Uses OSU Mistakes To Take Surprising 20-7 Victory

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — Reserve quarterback Kenny Carmichael rallied a fired-up Texas Tech team which capitalized on Oklahoma State fumbles Saturday to upset the 11th-ranked Cowboys 20-7.

The Red Raiders lost starting quarterback Joe Barnes with a pulled hamstring muscle before Carmichael opened the game's scoring on a one-yard touchdown plunge in the second quarter.

Carmichael, a 6-1, 180-pound senior, scored again later in the same period on a 2-yard run and engineered drives into field goal range in the third and fourth quarters.

Placement kicker Don Grimes booted three-pointers of 28 and 23 yards for Tech and also kicked the two conversion points.

The Cowboy touchdown came midway in the second quarter on a 9-yard run by quarterback Brent Blackman. Blackman was shaken up early in the third quarter and taken out of the contest.

The Raiders punted twice in the first half and both times the Pokes signaled for a fair catch, but each time fumbled the ball and Tech recovered.

Those recoveries gave the Raiders possession at the OSU 33 and 5 yard lines and both turnovers were converted into touchdowns.

The Cowboys fumbled eight times in the game and Tech recovered four of them.

The 72-yard campaign in nine plays was the only time all afternoon the Cowboys showed any momentum.

Blackman was the leading ground gainer of the day with 97 yards on 17 carries. He completed one of three pass attempts for 16 yards.

Raider fullback John Garner paced the Tech ground game with 91 yards on 16 carries. Barnes contributed 76 yards on nine runs. Tech attempted five passes but

Tigers Blow Past SMU

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — Little John Mosley, a 5-9, 160-pound, bundle of desire, bounced off three head-on tackles and sprinted to a 17-7 win by 15th ranked Missouri over 14th rated Southern Methodist.

A Missouri defense, throttling the nation's top rushing team, twice in the third period stopped SMU on fourth down deep in Tigers' territory to preserve a 10-7 lead.

Then, on the opening play of the final period, Mosley fielded a punt on his own 26, kept his balance despite three solid shots by Mustang defenders, broke loose and dashed down the sideline for the clinching touchdown.

The Tigers, undefeated in four games, seized on three Mustang fumbles in the first half to produce a 33-yard field goal, by Greg Hill and a 2-yard touchdown run by Tom Mulkey.

Although outfought throughout the first half, the Mustangs made it a ball game late in the second period when Robert Gibson intercepted a pass from the Mustangs and returned it to the Missouri 35 which set up a 9-yard touchdown pass from Keith Bobo to Oscar Roun.

The Tiger defense stopped the Mustangs momentum early in the third quarter.

After Wayne Morris returned the opening kickoff of the second half 59 yards to the Missouri 40, SMU faced a fourth and two situation on the Tiger 32.

Junior linebacker Scott Pickens, who earlier had recovered a fumble, nailed Mustang Alvin Maxson on that fourth down play to turn the ball over to Missouri.

Late in the third quarter, SMU drove from its own 20 all the way to the Missouri 15. At that point, again facing fourth and two, defensive end Bob Kenney was the one who stopped Maxson's attempt for a crucial first down.

The Mustangs, now 3-1, had entered the contest with an average of 431 yards per game, best in the country.

Missouri limited SMU to only 168 yards on the ground and only 229 total.

Missouri meanwhile picked up 212 yards on the ground with tailback Tommy Reamon leading the way with 119 yards on 24 carries.

It was Reamon's running which set up Hill's field goal in the second quarter. He carried for 36 of the 52 yards the Tigers drove before the three-pointer.

JOHN HADL. Most scouts didn't think he had the arm to be a pro passer when he played at Kansas.

SUNDAY IN HOUSTON LA, Houston To Tackle

HOUSTON (UPI) — John Hadl is a prolific passer but the confident Los Angeles Rams quarterback this year seldom has the chance to prove it because of the aggressive, productive corps of running backs.

The Rams are undefeated in three games and seek to hold their lead in the National Football Conference west Sunday against the winless Houston Oilers. The Rams and their ball-control offense are 14 point favorites.

Offensively, they're the best I've seen. Oiler coach Bill Peterson said. They don't throw much. Hadl throws it end over end but he gets it out there. They have great running backs and tremendous linebackers in (Isiah) Robertson and (Jack) Reynolds.

The ailing Jim Bertelsen has averaged 4.1 yards per rush and Larry McCutchen 4.8. The two starters are backed up by Larry Smith and Tony Baker. The Rams converted 10 of 16 third-down plays in their 40-20 victory over San Francisco last Sunday and Baker hit on five of five.

Hadl has suffered no interceptions and has completed 77.9 per cent of his passes for five touchdowns.

Houston has lost 14 straight games and fell 36-7 to Pittsburgh last Sunday in its third outing this year. The defense, has earned respect but the Oiler offense is the worst in the league.

season but only carried the ball twice from scrimmage for nine yards and was moved to linebacker. When Henson was injured, coach Woody Hayes switched him back.

Henson, the nation's leading scorer last year with 20 touchdowns, was operated on last Sunday for torn knee ligaments and will be out for the year.

Greene, steered the Buckeyes faultlessly throughout the game with his slashing running and a 49-yard pass to wide receiver Dave Hazel to set up the Buckeyes' first touchdown in the second quarter.

A sophomore, Greene ran for 97 yards in 14 carries while also playing little more than half the game as Hayes cleared the bench as the Buckeyes recorded their third consecutive win without a defeat.

Penn State States Over Falcons, 19-9

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI) — Defensive back Tim Bradley recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass Saturday to set up scoring runs of four and eight yards by John Cappelletti and seventh-ranked Penn State came from behind for a 19-9 win over Air Force.

Cappelletti carried the ball 33 times for 181 yards, the second-best output of his career and the seventh time the 6-1, 210-pound senior has crossed the century mark rushing in 15 varsity games.

Penn State, 4-0, also scored on a 38-yard pass from Tom Shuman to Gary Hayman for its first touchdown. Chris Bahr, who missed the extra point attempt following Cappelletti's first run, covered his first point after. John Reihner missed on his kick attempt following Cappelletti's second run.

Air Force opened the scoring in the regionally televised game with 3:24 left in the first quarter on a 45-yard field goal by sophomore Dave Lawson and then ended the game's scoring with a 45-yard touchdown pass from Quarterback Rich Haynie to fullback Bill Berry with just over seven minutes left.

Lawson missed the point after.

Penn State appeared on its way to a score early in the second quarter, but Cappelletti fumbled on the Air Force 25 to end that drive.

Air Force couldn't take advantage of the break and Tom Lange punted.

Six plays and 85 yards later, Penn State led 7-3 as Shuman hit Hayman, cutting in front of Falcon defender Dennis Collins at the 25, and Hayman ran the rest of the way for the score.

Mike Worden, making his first appearance of the year, came in to quarterback Air Force on the ensuing series and fumbled on the first play. Bradley recovered the ball on the 26.

After Shuman hit Dan Natale over the middle with a 22 yard pass to move the ball to the four, Cappelletti pushed five Falcon defenders into the end zone.

Haynie got the Falcons moving in the second half, but on a second and eight from the Nittany Lions' 35 he lofted a lazy pass to Bob Farr in the end zone that Bradley picked off. Eight plays later Cappelletti capped an 80-yard drive with an eight-yard bust off left tackle.

Michigan Belts Ducks Behind Strong Passing

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Larry Cipa, a surprise starter at quarterback, threw a touchdown pass and Gil Chapman tied a school record with an 83-yard TD punt return Saturday to lead fifth-ranked Michigan past Oregon 24-0.

Cipa, a senior from Cincinnati, started because junior Dennis Franklin suffered a broken middle finger on the non-passing hand last week against Navy.

He showed Oregon something it had not seen much in the Michigan game films—the forward pass. He completed six for 83 yards, one of them a four-year scoring pass to tight end Paul Seal.

The play was set up when middle guard Don Warner recovered a fumble by Rick Kane of the Ducks on the Oregon 19.

Starting Oregon quarterback Norval Turner was intercepted right away and junior college transfer Herb Singleton took over for him in the first quarter, throwing Oregon's third interception of the period. Michigan turned it into the first score of the game.

Cipa hit Seal with a 36-yard pass and Jim Smith from the 2. Michigan closed out the scoring with a 39 yard field goal by Mike Lantry with 1:04 minutes left in the game.

Chapman turned on the crowd of 81,113 with his fourth quarter scoring punt return.

It equaled the school record set by Darrell Harper against Minnesota in 1959 and tied by current teammate Dave Brown against Navy in 1970.

French Driver Cervert Killed During Practice

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (UPI) — French racecar driver Francois Cervert, 29, was killed Saturday when his car smashed against a metal retaining barrier during practice for Sunday's U.S. Grand Prix auto race.

Cervert's 1,300-pound racer skidded at the fourth S-shaped turn and careened into the wall. His car did not explode, but Cervert was killed by the impact.

His death, confirmed by world driving champion Jackie Stewart in the pits, was the first at this western New York road racing course since it was rebuilt in 1971.

Cervert won the U.S. Grand Prix race that year, and was confident he could repeat that victory this year.

President Harry S. Truman took up horseshoe pitching on the White House grounds for exercise.

Prejudice Denied In Royal Biography

AUSTIN (UPI) — University of Texas football coach Darrell Royal credits President Lyndon B. Johnson with changing Royal's attitudes about civil rights, according to a biography of the Texas coach to be published next week.

The book by former newspaperman Jimmy Newsquay Royal says he had always had a lot of compassion for blacks.

But it's like President Johnson told me, he said, You know, I never had thought I was prejudiced, and I still don't believe I was, but I just wasn't as concerned about their problems as I should have been, Royal said in the book.

Got Him Thinking
That's what got me to thinking, I hadn't done anything to hurt 'em—but neither had I done anything to help 'em. Any fair minded person would say that things had not been fair, and I knew they hadn't been fair. I knew blacks weren't being treated equally and I knew they weren't being given an equal chance. But I really hadn't worried about it 'til then.

Banks said in the book that many people have a false image of Royal.

They think he hates (1) passing, and (2) blacks — not necessarily in that order, Banks wrote. The facts prove them wrong on both counts. But the myths persist, despite the fact that he has become one of the most publicized men in America.

The name of Banks' book is "The Darrell Royal Story."

'New regime' takes over NEA 1973 All-Major League Team

BY RALPH NOVAK
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The all-stars are eclipsed; long live the all-stars.

So say the players of the 24 major league teams in their voting for the seventh annual Newspaper Enterprise Association All-Major League team.

The players' choices show that a new generation of dominant players has arrived to replace the Aaron-Mays-Clemente-Robinson-Williams axis.

Only two of the players on the 1973 All-Major League team, Joe Morgan and Johnny Bench, were on the 1972 team. Only two others, Pete Rose and Reggie Jackson, were on previous NEA honor teams. And none of the 10 players on the 1973 team even ranked among the leaders in the voting for the first All-Major League team in 1967.

The voting this season was the closest in history, with Morgan winning the second base spot by only two votes over Dave Johnson and the winners at nine positions drawing only 59 per cent of the vote or less. Only Bobby Bonds was a solid choice, appearing on 72 per cent of the players' ballots.

The National League dominated the team for the fourth year in a row, placing seven players, three of them from Cincinnati. Six of the 10 all-stars, in fact, came from one division, the National League West. (Another National Leaguer, Willie Stargell, missed making the team because his votes were split between two positions, first base and the outfield.)

The voting by positions:
First base: Kansas City's John Mayberry is one of the newcomers, making the team in only his second full season in the majors. His second straight 100-RBI season helped him draw 47 per cent of the vote, while Cincinnati's Tony Perez (24 per cent) and

Position	Name	Team
1B	John Mayberry	Kansas City
2B	Joe Morgan	Cincinnati
SS	Bill Russell	Los Angeles
3B	Darrell Evans	Atlanta
OF	Bobby Bonds	San Francisco
OF	Reggie Jackson	Oakland
OF	Pete Rose	Cincinnati
C	Johnny Bench	Cincinnati
SP	Tom Seaver	New York Mets
RP	John Hiller	Detroit

Other top vote-getters (in order of finish):
1B—Tony Perez, Willie Stargell.
2B—Dave Johnson, Rod Carew
SS—Chris Speier, Bert Campaneris
3B—Ron Santo, Sal Bando
OF—Willie Stargell, Cesar Cedeno, Bobby Murcer, Amos Otis, Hank Aaron, Billy Williams
C—Thurman Munson, Carlton Fisk, Joe Ferguson
SP—Ron Bryant, Jim Palmer, Catfish Hunter, Don Sutton
RP—Mike Marshall, Jim Brewer

Stargell (20 per cent) also made strong showings.

Second base: Atlanta's Johnson must be wondering what you have to do to make an all-star team these days. He broke Rogers Hornsby's long-standing record for home runs by a second baseman, 42, and was one of the league leaders in RBIs but lost in the voting to Morgan, whose versatility and winning team gave him the two-vote edge. Both Morgan and Johnson had about 34 per cent of the vote. A third-outstanding second baseman, American League batting champion Rod Carew, finished a close third with 28 per cent.

Shortstop: Another new name, Bill Russell of the Dodgers, triumphed here, though he had only 37 per cent of the vote. San Francisco's Chris Speier, also a youngster, was second with 26 per cent, while veteran Bert Campaneris of Oakland took third at 15 per cent.

Third base: The old order changed here, too, with Atlanta's Darrell Evans registering a clearcut victory. The power-hitting Brave drew 56 per cent of the vote to 16 for two-time winner Ron Santo of the Cubs and 9 for Sal Bando of Oakland.

Outfield: Bonds, the Giants' strong and swift right fielder, easily won one outfield spot with his 72 per cent showing, while Jackson of the A's appeared on 59 per cent of the ballots and Rose of the Reds on 51 per cent. Rose, the oldest 1973 all-star at 31, made the players' team in 1968 and Jackson did it in 1969.

Stargell earned 32 per cent of the outfield votes and Houston's Cesar Cedeno 30 per cent. The Yankees' Bobby Murcer (14 per cent) and Kansas City's Amos Otis (13 per cent) also made respectable showings.

Henry Aaron, who won first team status in four of the first five NEA polls, got only nine per cent of the outfield vote this time, in addition to a handful of votes at first base.

Catcher: In his six full big league seasons, Bench has been voted baseball's best catcher four times. And he finished second the other two years.

Bench won this season against an exceptionally talented group of competitors, taking 53 per cent of the vote to 21 per cent for the Yankees' Thurman Munson and 14 per cent for Boston's Carlton Fisk. Joe Ferguson of Los Angeles had 7 per cent.

Starting pitcher: Tom Seaver, that paragon of unwrinkled haberdashery and master of the art of throwing baseballs, won his spot on the team with only 38 per cent of the vote. Ron Bryant of San Francisco (17 per cent), Jim Palmer of Baltimore (13), Catfish Hunter of Oakland (9) and Don Sutton of the Dodgers (8) divided the rest of the votes. (Last year's winner, Steve Carlton, did not receive any votes this year.)

Relief pitcher: Detroit's John Hiller, coming back from heart trouble, won 43 per cent of the vote here to make his first appearance on the All-Major League team. The thinking man's relief pitcher, Mike Marshall of Montreal, had 29 per cent. Jim Brewer of Los Angeles was the closest of a trailing field with 6 per cent.

Has there ever been another football team like this one? The 1947 Notre Dame team had a total of 44 different boys who were good enough to eventually play pro football. And, the team was so deep in talent that a fifth-string end was picked for the College All-Star team!

Here's a football oddity... Don Hutson kicked 3 field goals in the entire 1943 season in the National Football League—and wound up leading the league in most field goals! Today, you sometimes see a player kick that many in one game... but in 1943, no one was able to kick more than 3 all year.

Did you know there was once a pro football team that had EIGHT members of the same family playing on it? When Columbus, Ohio was in the National Football League in the early years, they had eight players named Nesser—seven brothers and the son of the oldest brother!

In 1961, 37 persons were killed when a British airliner crashed in the French Pyrenees.

In 1963, Bobby Baker resigned as Senate Democratic secretary after being charged in a $300,000 civil suit with using his influence for personal monetary gains.

In 1971, President Nixon announced an economic control system to follow the 90-day wage-price freeze he imposed in mid-August.

A thought for the day: American poet James Whitcomb Riley said, "The ripest peach is highest on the tree."

lessons are taught during the morning hours, but now during the school year the lessons switch to the hours of 4-6 p.m. Classes meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for 10 meeting days. All Classes are taught by our resident water safety instructor, Ruth Carter. Occasionally we have some guest instructors to help us out.

Enrollment is open to the general public and you do not have to join the Youth Center to participate. There is a $4.00 charge to non-members however, while Center members are enrolled free of charge. Memberships are always available at the front receptionist's office.

Women's Exercise Class

There is an exercise and swim class organized at the Youth Center just for the women. No men or children are allowed during the workout time. On Monday, Wednesday and Fridays the women meet at the Center on a time period of 9:30-10:00 for exercising and 10:00-11:30 to swim. The exercises are through a series of recordings and they are led by Sally White. The swim time is an informal one with no instructions given.

To participate in this exercise class you must be a Center member or become one. Memberships are only $5.00 for six months. There is a baby sitting service for mothers at a very nominal fee. Just come to one of the sessions and we will fix you up.

Volleyball League Results
Third week competition for women and mixed leagues and second week competition for men's league found one upset. In the women's league 1st Bapt. women upset defending champions Blink's Bike Barn 7-0, 13-15 and 15-10. The Shoenaill Spikers also bumped 1st Bapt. Youth 15-9 and 15-7. In the mixed league 1st place Carlson-Craddock tripped Pampa Glass and Paint 7-0 and 15-8 while 1st Bapt. took 1st Nat. Bank 7-0 and 15-9. Finally in the men's competition 1st place 1st Nat. Bank tipped 1st Bapt. Youth 15-2 and 1-3 while second place 1st Bapt. No. 1 bumped 1st Bapt. No. 27-0, 10-15 and 15-7.

Health Club The Youth Center has a health spa facility for both men and women. This building is located east of the swimming pool area and houses an exercise room containing all the exercise equipment, two racquetball or handball courts, dressing room, individual showers and a sauna.

Women's hours are from 9-11:45 Monday thru Saturday mornings and also from 7-10:00 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday nights. We have all the latest exercise machines for the women and also for the men. For the women we have the motorized bicycles, manual bicycles, sit-up boards, vibrator belts, barrell rollers, facial machine, beauty bars, rowing machine, sunlamp, beauty belts and many others that help trim and help you lose inches and pounds.

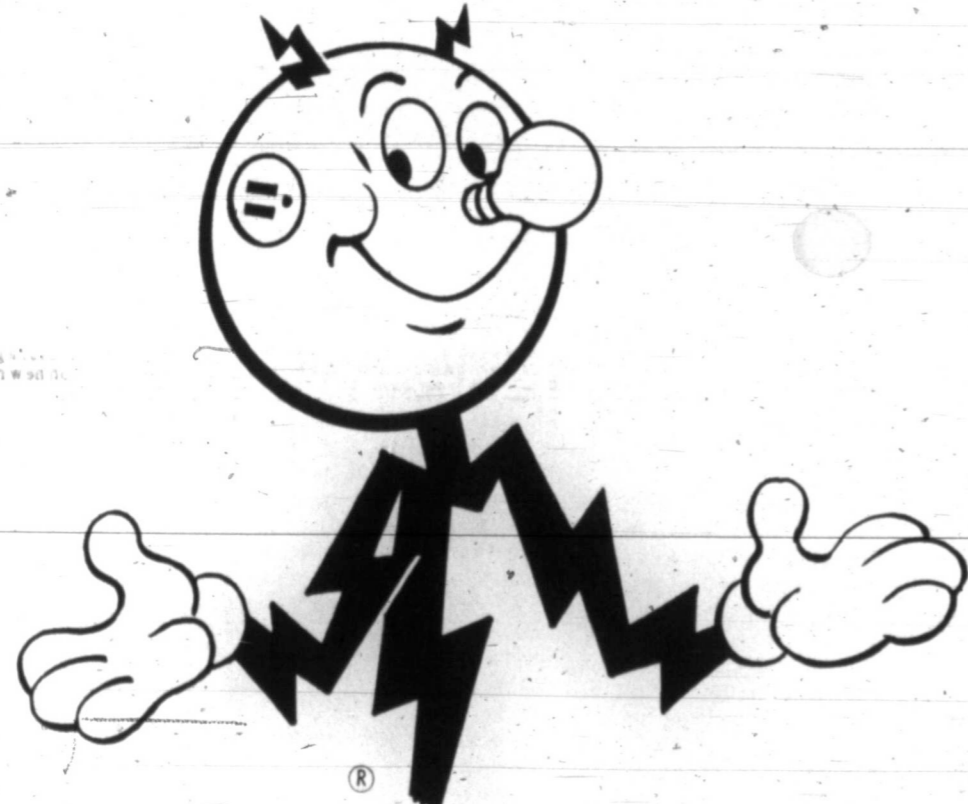

Additional equipment for the men include barbells, dumbbells, jungle pulley machine, thigh curl machine, leg press machine, multiple press machine, exercow, boxing bag and other various pieces.

Contrary to the rumor the Center does have a complete program separately for women and men. Cost of the program is only an average of $ .39 per visit on a normal month calendar. You may use the facilities all hours every day we are open. Come by and let us explain how you can join this beautiful program.

Participation The Youth Center is a non-profit organization which derives its operational revenue from dues, donations and extra activities. The Center is a private corporation and does not cost the taxpayers of Pampa a cent. This is hard to believe comparing the programs the Center offers.

To participate in the activities we have a membership plan for individuals and families. The regular membership which we have sold for 13 years allows you full use of everything except the health club. This sells to an individual for $5.00 for six months or $8.00 a year. For a family the cost is only $12.00 for six months or $20.00 a year.

The unlimited membership which includes the health club costs $65.00 for six months for an individual or $90.00 for a husband - wife combination membership. You may pay this out on a six payment installment plan. We do allow you your first visit free of charge without any obligation to let yourself become acquainted with the program. Drop by and try it out on us.

more for your money...

Thrifty homeowners do a lot of thinking about the way they spend their dollars to operate their homes. That's why more and more homeowners are taking a good look at electricity. Thousands of our customers are already heating their homes with electricity. They've found, through experience, that they get their money's worth. Drapes and furnishings stay clean longer and repainting doesn't have to be done so often... and that's saving dollars.

And, when you consider that you get full value for your electric dollar - 100% use out of every kilowatt-electricity becomes mighty attractive, not only in the home, but for industry, business, and agriculture as well!

Your future is ELECTRIC!

Texas Cattleman Likes Roping Those Steers

POST, Tex. (UPI) - Jim Prather is a cowboy and a calf roper. He's not a great calf roper. But he's good enough to get by in his rough and violent world.

"I'm not sure what it is - I can't put a finger on it," the lanky, sun tanned native Texan who operates his own ranch at the foot of the Texas Caprock said. "I just enjoy roping."

Prather has spent 10 years competing in special jackpots and rodeos as a steer roper. He hasn't set any records for his season winnings, but he is proud of some of his trophies.

"Winning the Cheyenne steer roping event in 1965 has been my biggest victory - the one championship I'm the proudest to remember," Prather said.

"I've had some good years and some bad ones, but there is just something about the Cheyenne title that means more to a roper than any of the others."

Prather, 38, has been the head man at the O S Ranch since he began leasing the 27,000-acre spread eight years ago. He runs 900 cow units in a cow-calf operation and goes mainly for breeding stock.

It's from that stock that he picks steers for four or five ropings every year - including the annual O S Ranch Steer Roping and Art Exhibit he hosts to combine two events into one of the Southwest's biggest benefits every fall.

"I've roped calves all my life, at least it seems like I have," Prather says in his slow-Texan drawl. "I grew up on a farm-ranch operation at Muleshoe. I got into some team roping, and one thing led to another and I just started steer roping professionally."

Prather admits the current year hasn't been too good in terms of money won.

"It just depends upon the season, and this hasn't been one for me to make a lot of money," he said. "I guess my best two money years would be 1967 and 1968."

Prather has been to four rodeos and eight jackpots this year. He plans to compete in three more jackpots before the season's end.

"Ropers are just like anyone," Prather said. "Each feels he knows how to do his own thing better than anyone else. As a roper I've always wanted to put on a steer roping event - and I guess that's the reason I get so much pleasure out of the jackpot we have out at the ranch the last weekend in September."

Prather is more than just a roper-rancher, however. He also trains roping horses and has one of two well-known steer roping schools still taught in the Southwest.

"Roping isn't as easy as it might look, and a real roper needs all the help he can get," Prather said. "Olin Young and I have a 10-day school every summer for steer and calf ropers. We really enjoy it, and the students seem to do pretty well after school lets out."

Prather said the roping school isn't for a newcomer or rookie.

"The one who benefits the most is the roper who already knows the basics - we just try to help him improve on his techniques," he said. "We don't take the youngsters who don't know how to ride or rope and try to make circuit riders out of them in a few days."

Prather said a roper, like any other professional, has to be willing to work and sacrifice at his talent if he wants to succeed.

"If a person wants to be a top roper, then he has got to be willing to sacrifice other things for it and put in a lot of hard work and daily practice," Prather said.

The father of a young girl and boy, Prather said he would be happy to see either or both of his children follow in his footsteps of professional roping.

"However, it's got to be their own decision - not mine," he said. "If they enjoy it, I'll back them all the way. But I don't want to push either of them if they are not interested."

TREE PLANTINGS
ATLANTA (UPI) - More than a half billion trees were planted in Southern woodlands in the tree-planting season which ended last March by the paper, lumber and plywood industries, according to the Southern Forest Institute. Most of the seedlings were pines.

VOODOO WORSHIP

BELO HORIZONTE, Brazil (UPI) — A Roman Catholic bishop in Brazil believes there has been an increase in the practice of voodoo and blames it on the changes in his church's rites.

Bishop Jose Angelo Neto, speaking at a conference of bishops in this Brazilian state capital, said that the precipitous adoption in many dioceses of ecumenical recommendations had abolished many liturgical rites, such as stately processions. Deprived of the mysteries of the Mass, he suggested, some people were attracted to the mystery of voodoo.

"It may be that we should revise church services, increasing the number of liturgical rites," he said.

PAY TO ADVERTISE

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — The Rev. Jerrold F. Kennedy has come up with a new gimmick to attract people to the priesthood. He advertises by billboard.

His message reads: "For People's Sake... Help Christ, Become a Priest—Brother-Sister. Diocese of Oakland. Phone 893-4711."

"We don't advertise in Playboy—but we do need priests," said Father Kennedy, director of vocations for the diocese. "Perhaps modern and effective, but dignified, advertising is the answer."

CONGRATULATIONS BUT... TEL AVIV (UPI) — Shimson Ehrlich, a member of parliament as head of the Liberal party, cabled his congratulations to Communications Minister Shimon Peres on the hookup of 3,000 phones the city to the direct overseas dialing system.

But, Ehrlich added, "My phone at home has been cut for three days and I can't get the Communications Ministry to fix it."

Israel's telephone system is government owned and operated.
