American Officials Hope To Change Russian Plans

Try to Get Khrushchev To Call Halt To 'Exporting'

By STEWART HENSLEY United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American officials said today they hoped to convince Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev during his U.S. visit next month that he must stop trying to "export" Communism to other countries. These officials said the Soviet Union must cease its efforts to impose Communism on other nations if there is to be any real lessening of world tensions. There also were these developments in connection with the forthcoming exchange of visits between Khrushchev and President Eisenhower, who will go to Russia later this year: —Eisenhower will fly by jet plane to Bonn Aug. 27 for a meeting with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He will meet British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in London Aug. 28, see French President Charles de Gaulle in Paris Sept. 2, and then confer there with other NATO leaders. —The President is keeping his fall schedule fluid enough to permit a quick summit meeting with Khrushchev, Macmillan and De Gaulle should the Soviets make any concessions to ease cold-war tensions. —Eisenhower won't insist on any major breakthrough in the cold war as a price for a summit meeting. He feels that any indication of Soviet reasonableness, even as minor as a relaxation of trade restrictions or willingness to respect copyright laws, would be enough to warrant a conference. —Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon said Sunday the Eisenhower-Khrushchev exchange of visits might pave the way for a Big Four summit-conference "toward the end of the year," perhaps in November. —House Democratic Leader (See EXPORTING, Page 3)

The Roswell Garst family of Coon Rapids, Iowa, may play host to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev when he visits this country. Khrushchev expressed a desire to accept Garst's invitation to visit his 1,000-acre farm and seed corn enterprise, and Garst said he would welcome the visit. The Garsts are, left to right, Garst's son, David; Mrs. Garst; and son Stephen.

MAY PLAY HOST

Hoover, 85 Today, Says Nikita Can Bring Peace

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former President Herbert Hoover said Sunday night that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev could bring world peace as a gift when he comes to the United States, "but this is unlikely to be the result of this visit." Hoover, born 85 years ago today, had told newsmen last week he felt more like 72. Asked how he felt Sunday, he said, "physically perfect—about 68, I should think." —Appearing on the NBC television program "Meet the Press," he answered questions ranging through his relief work in two world wars, the strength of American democracy, farm problems, crime, education, inflation and 1960 politics. "I'm not a candidate. You can take that as positive." —Puts Challenge To Khrushchev. Hoover said that Khrushchev could bring "the greatest, most generous gift which mankind has received in a thousand years," if he would eliminate "all international demands, all warnings, all threats, and all conspiracies against free people" and agree to peaceful co-existence, and inspect disarmament. —He said there was some hope the visit would lessen some world tensions, but little hope Khrushchev would choose the means by which to do this—war—immortality among the leaders of all men. "We must be alert and armed to the teeth," Hoover said. —Expresses Deep Confidence. But Hoover expressed confidence in the nation's ability to face both the external and internal problems which beset it. "We are in more imminent dangers from internal causes than we are from the cold war," he said, citing "inflation, unbalanced budgets, overspending by Congress, the huge growth of crime" as some of the half dozen things about which the nation needs "to be more diligent." —When he was asked if these internal problems had weakened the nation so it could not stand firm against Russia, he replied with a stirring recital of this country's strengths. —He said he was not sure anybody could think for a moment that the American people are not capable of solving any crisis," Hoover said.

Fidel Will Represent Cuba at OAS Meeting

By JOSEPH A. TAYLOR United Press International

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro, beset by new threats to his regime at home, will go to the Organization of American States foreign ministers' conference and personally defend his conduct of the Cuban revolution, his associates said today. —The bearded Castro returned to the capital late Sunday. Informed sources said he had been directing a counter-attack that smashed an air-sea invasion of the Isle of Pines over the weekend. At the same time the government was reported to have put down an interior uprising by arresting 1,000 soldiers. —Officially, the reports of the invasion and uprising were denied or ignored and there was a nearly complete blackout on details. —But the reports increased the pitch of Caribbean tension which the foreign ministers hope to cope. The conference begins Wednesday in Santiago, Chile. —Last Minute Decision. Castro's Cabinet did not meet officially until Sunday night to decide whether to attend the conference. At all. Foreign Minister Raul Roa was named to take the formal delegation to Santiago today.

It was announced officially that Castro probably would go to Santiago after the conference begins, but his associates told newsmen he definitely would go. Castro's appearance at the meeting late Sunday marked the first time he had been seen in Havana since last Wednesday night. Reliable sources said he had (See FIDEL, Page 3)

RARE TRANSPLANT

GIRL'S TOE NOW THUMB!

By KYLE THOMPSON United Press International

HOUSTON (UPI)—Little Elizabeth Kacal toddled playfully until her home today minus a toe on her right foot, blissfully unaware that she was the center of a rare transplant. —The missing toe is now the thumb on her right hand. —The successful transplant was performed by Dr. Bromley S. Freeman, who is believed to be the only plastic surgeon in the world ever to perform such an operation. —Elizabeth, the 16-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kacal, is Dr. Freeman's fourth patient to undergo such a rare and successful transplant. In each case, the transplanted toe has continued to grow normally and has normal sensation. —Door Slams on Thumb. Little Elizabeth, now at home with her toe-thumb in a splint, acquired her extraordinary digit because of an accident May 4 while playing with her nine brothers and sisters. Since then Mrs. Kacal has given birth to another girl. —A door was accidentally slammed on Elizabeth's right thumb, leaving it hanging by only a shred of skin. —She was rushed to a hospital where her doctor sewed the thumb back in place, but it soon became obvious that the thumb would not grow back. —Dr. Freeman was called and on May 9 he removed the dead thumb. Five operations followed. On May 13 skin was grafted to the stub of Elizabeth's thumb. —Repair Work Done. Then on June 4, surgery was performed to splice the bone of the second right toe and the thumb stub together. For 14 days Elizabeth was in a cast that kept her hand and foot tied together. —Elizabeth, like all small children, squirmed too much in her cast so some repair work on the first operation had to be done on

Contractors Meet With Commission

Local contractors and members of the City Commission will meet tonight at 7:30 in City Hall to discuss the adoption of southern standards in the building code. —Building Inspector Jesse Taylor said the adoption of southern standards has "been in the making" a long time. Pampa currently follows a set of codes adopted in 1937. —Two more operations followed until the entire toe had been connected to the stub of the thumb. —Later, Freeman says he will perform more surgery to make the toe look more like a thumb and to enable Elizabeth to manipulate it normally.

FORMULA FOR SUCCESS

U.S. Marines on the island of Adak in the Aleutian chain have been given an assignment that's not covered in the field manuals. Their job is establishing a herd of caribou on the islands, starting with calves brought over from the Alaskan mainland. The baby caribou are thriving on a special formula concocted by the Marines through trial and error — canned milk, cod liver oil and eggs. Marines Army and Air Force are co-operating with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in the project.

Showdown Near On Labor Reform

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Both sides in the fierce House battle over labor reform legislation since the Taft-Hartley law was fought today to sway uncommitted colleagues whose votes will determine the outcome. —The House begins the labor reform debate Tuesday. It promises to be the most spirited fight of the session and the biggest showdown since the issue of labor unions passed 12 years ago. —House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) and GOP leader Charles A. Halleck (Ind.) vowed on the eve of the showdown to push vigorously for rival sides in the labor reform battle. —Neither would venture a prediction of the outcome. —It appeared that the votes of 216 of the 435 House members would clinch victory, if no more than the normal number of lawmakers are absent for such a crucial test. —There are 282 Democrats and 153 Republicans. The most optimistic of several Democratic head counts showed fewer than 200 Democrats committed to vote for the bill approved by the House Labor Committee. —Senate Republicans strategists calculated they needed about 80 democratic votes to go with the 135 to 140 GOP ballots they counted on for the stronger measure of Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga.) and Robert Griffin (R-Mich.) which is supported by President Eisenhower. —The 100 or so undecided voters (See LABOR, Page 3)

SUNDAY AFTERNOON

GUN ACCIDENT KILLS PAMPAN

H. H. (Nick) Nichols, 61-year-old janitor at the Rose Building, died accidentally Sunday afternoon when shot while cleaning a pistol at his Rose Building quarters. —The .32 caliber bullet, after passing through Nichols' neck and upper back, crashed through the window of an adjoining office occupied by F. L. Wilshire. —Wilshire, who heard the shot fired shortly after 3 p.m., ran to Nichols room and found him near death. Nichols was rushed to Worley Hospital but died soon afterward. —Police Chief Jim Conner said there was no doubt "Nichols died accidentally." The bullet entered the left side of his throat and came out between his shoulder blades. —It appeared that Nichols was cleaning his gun when the accident occurred. Police found oil, rags and the magazine of the Colt automatic on a table nearby. Nichols had evidently forgotten to remove a bullet from the gun's chamber. —Funeral services for Mr. Nichols, a janitor in the Rose Building for many years, will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Diemel-Carmichael Chapel, Rev. Emile Hill of Calvary Baptist Church, and Rev. Richard Crews of the First Christian Church, will officiate. —Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery. —Mr. Nichols was born Sept. 26, 1897, in Richmond, Va., and had lived in Pampa since 1932. He was a veteran of World War II. —He is survived by his wife, Effie, of the home address, 732 S. Barnes; one daughter, Mrs. C. W. McGahan of Pampa; three sons, Melvin of Eunice, N.M., Glenn and Gearl, both of Pampa; three brothers, G. W. of Lubbock, Jack of Paris, Ark., Oscar of Okmulgee, Okla.; two sisters, Mrs. Rosa Brown of Oneonta, Ala., Mrs. Fannie Fountain of Stigler, Okla.; and eight grandchildren.

1,000 Dead In Floods On Formosa

TAIPEI (UPI)—Police said today that more than 1,000 persons were dead or missing in Formosa's worst floods in recorded history. These were fears the death toll would rise further. —Latest reports listed 498 known dead, 361 missing and 563 injured. —An unconfirmed report said one U.S. Army officer was missing in central Formosa. —Telephone and telegraph communications with the hard-hit area in central and southern Formosa were mostly destroyed and there was a strong possibility the number of dead would increase. —A United Press International photographer flew over the disaster area today and reported that the floods appeared to be receding. He said conditions still were "horrible." —Waters had drawn back from the cities and larger villages but thousands and thousands of acres of rice fields and sugar cane fields were still flooded. —Authorities feared there would be many more dead under the mud and debris. —An express train carrying about 500 passengers was stranded Friday night near Changhua in central Formosa. Taipei officials did not know today whether the train was still stranded or whether the passengers, who had been without food since Friday, had been supplied.

1500 Acres Burn In Sunday Blaze

Some 1500 acres of sage and grassland burned Sunday evening in a range fire 21 miles north of Pampa. —Doug Poteet of the Pampa Fire Department said nearly two sections burned on the Grundy Morrison ranch and about one-half sections were destroyed on the Haystack section of the range. —Winds pushed the blaze forward at about 6 p.m. but no firetrucks were reported.

FAUBUS KEEPS 'EM GUESSING ON ANTI-INTEGRATION PLANS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Gov. Orval Faubus has 48 hours left today to make his move and try to stop integration at Little Rock for the third straight year. —The four high schools he closed last year under laws now nullified by federal courts are preparing to open integrated Wednesday. He is fully aware the next move is up to him. —And Faubus is equally aware the nation is watching to see what the South's segregation chief has up his sleeve this time. He's adopted a "wait-and-see" attitude. —"I haven't told anybody what my plan are," Faubus said. —Segregation leaders feel confident that Faubus will do something. MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
There had been a big family dinner to honor the homecoming of Bobby's Uncle Fred. As Grandma and Bobby's mother were clearing the table, Uncle Fred came into the dining room, put his arm around Bobby's mother and kissed her hard.

Resenting the stranger's familiarity with a person who belonged to him, Bobby ran to his mother and tried to push Uncle Fred away. But instead of releasing her, Uncle Fred hugged her harder and said, "You think she's your mother, don't you? Well, you're wrong. She's my sister."

Nobody objected to this terrifying statement. Grandma was smiling at Bobby's look of consternation. So was his mother. So to avoid their amusement, Bobby ran out of the room. Two nights later, however, a nightmare awoke him from sleep.

There is always hostility behind teasing. That is why children don't like it. The cult of "good sportsmanship" forces us to pretend we don't mind it. Taking teasing with good grace is supposed to be proof of our ability to laugh at ourselves. But when we laugh with genuine amusement at our own follies, we laugh because we want to and not because other people require us to. This is honest, releasing laughter. When we laugh at ourselves to prove that we're "good sports," we laugh out of fear, not out of humor.

Children can't play our "good sport" game. When a teaser uses frivolity to disguise his wish to hurt, they know what the teaser is up to. And like Bobby, children ignore the harmless appearance of the teaser's ridicule to respond directly to the hostility behind it. They try to use the teaser away or kick him in the shins.

Though we can't allow Bobby to kick Uncle Fred in the shins, we are most mistaken to laugh at his resentment.

If we want to let people ridicule us out of what we feel, that's our business. Crownups have many devices by which they avoid feelings that might expose them to other's disapproval. But because we want to be regarded as "good sports" is no reason to try to turn Bobby into one.

Not yet anyway. He needs a little more time to learn how to falsify himself and take ridicule with the strained laugh of the "good sport."

Outdoor Fare

The modern offspring of the old-fashioned picnic are as many and varied as there are climates and topographies. There's the clam bake at the beach, the patio picnic, the backyard barbecue and for the city slicker... the penthouse picnic. Even the stop-by-the-side-of-the-road type picnic is still popular. But no matter what the official name, there are still picnics that have the common denominator of taking place in the great out-of-doors.

Another common denominator of picnics is the popular macaroni salad whether it's carefully placed on a penthouse table or dished out at a clam-bake. Another familiar favorite at picnics of any species is pickles, both as accompaniment and as a piquant ingredient for barbecue sauce. Here are two recipes that are ideal for any picnic... from the patio variety to the cross-country jaunt.

- Italian Macaroni Salad
(Makes 4-6 servings)
- 1 tablespoon salt
 - 3 quarts boiling water
 - 2 cups elbow macaroni (8 ounces)
 - 1 medium-sized zucchini squash, sliced and cooked
 - 2 medium-sized tomatoes, cut in wedges
 - 1/4 cup chopped scallions
 - 1 egg, well beaten
 - 1/2 cup vinegar
 - 1/4 cup salad oil
 - 1/4 teaspoon paprika
 - 1/4 teaspoon basil
 - 1 teaspoon salt
- Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water; drain.
- Combine macaroni, squash, tomatoes, and scallions; mix well. Chill. Combine remaining ingredients; blend. Combine macaroni mixture and vinegar mixture; toss lightly.

- Pickle Barbecue Buns
(Makes 6 servings)
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 - 1 1/2 pounds ground-beef chuck
 - 1 medium-sized onion, chopped
 - 2 8-ounce cans tomato sauce
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 cup sliced sweet pickles
 - 6 hamburger buns, split in half
- Melt butter or margarine. Add beef and cook over low heat until browned, stirring occasionally. Add onion and cook 5 minutes. Add tomato sauce, salt, chili powder and ghekins; mix well. Cover and cook over low heat 30 minutes. Serve pickle chili sauce over hamburger buns.

RUTH MILLETT Campus Choices For College Girls

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — When a college gal goes shopping this fall for clothes to take back to school with her, her list will include both the new fashion themes and the beloved classics.

In addition to her sweaters and skirts, her shirts and Bermuda shorts, she should look for men's wear fabrics in her favorite separates — by way of something new. Neutral combinations, such as gray and camel, and unusual greens and browns look as new as the pound-stitch checks shown in college shops.

Plaids are bigger, better and more brilliant than ever. Poinchos are shown for after class wear in both plaids and solids. There are lots of reversible coats, jackets, and stoles. Jumpers have been designed to be worn either with or without a blouse.

The velveteen jumpers are for date wear and usually offer scoop necks and full skirts. There are plenty of pleated skirts this fall and the dyed-to-match look in sweaters and skirts still reigns.

We show here two obvious campus choices for any college-bound gal. Classic pullover is worn (left) with skirt in tapestry plaid by Century. Skirt is wool, its fullness achieved by unpressed pleats. For shopping, movies or any off-campus daytime occasion, a suit like this (right) is a must. This is in Cone corduroy, has self-belted Norfolk jacket, Eton collar and narrow skirt buttoned down the front.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What would you think of a married man who would take another man's wife and travel through eleven states with her and pass her off as his wife? That's what my husband did.

I married this man seven years ago. I took his two babies by a previous marriage, when they were 11 and 22 months old. I worked every day I was married to him to help meet our bills.

When he pulled this trick, I divorced him. Now he is back begging me to remarry him. His sister, who has been married five times, keeps his kids. I feel sorry for the kids, but I don't think I could ever trust him again. What would you do, Abby?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 12-year-old boy and I have an uncle who is 18. Well, my mother makes me call him "Sir." Like, "Yes, Sir," and "No, Sir." I feel like a nitwit. Please help me.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is trying to teach you to be respectful. Since this young man is your uncle, it seems to me that you'd be showing him ample respect by addressing him as "Uncle So and So." But be sure to clear this with your mother first. Mothers outrank Uncles, Sir!

DEAR ABBY: My son recently married a very nice girl. The only thing I have against her is that she can't cook. She gives him chile and barbecue every night in the week. For lunch she warms up the barbecue they had for supper the night before. Barbecued beef, chicken or ribs are all right once in a while but, Abby, she is killing my son with all that hot stuff. I don't want to be one of those butting-in mothers-in-law, but how can I save my son? His stomach must be on fire by now. Love.

DEAR MOM: Perhaps that's all the poor girl knows how to cook. Stop stewing and broiling and teach your daughter how to.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a 4-year-old boy who is still on the bottle. I can't seem to break him. I have tried everything, including spanking him, but he won't go to sleep unless I give him his bottle.

I am so embarrassed when my friends come and see me filling bottles and sterilizing nipples. Is it unhealthy to let the boy continue on the bottle? I'm afraid he won't get enough milk if I make him drink from a cup. Can any of your readers help me?

DEAR B. P.: A four-year-old who

DEAR NITWIT: Your mother is trying to teach you to be respectful. Since this young man is your uncle, it seems to me that you'd be showing him ample respect by addressing him as "Uncle So and So." But be sure to clear this with your mother first. Mothers outrank Uncles, Sir!

"needs" his bottle could be suffering from an emotional problem. Discuss it with your doctor.

DEAR ABBY: Boy, are you square! "S.W.A.B.K." means "Sealed with a big kiss." And "L.O.L." means "Loads of Love." HEP

"Let's talk dry cleaning"

By FRED MALONE

Many of the new synthetic and combination fabrics in use today are labeled "washable." But for those of you who are perfectionists about your appearance, these labels leave a great deal to be desired. Many articles so labeled are washable, it's true, but the amount of care that must be exercised to make sure the water is below a certain temperature, and to see that special soaps and detergents are used, makes the end result hardly worth the trouble. It is better economy in the long run to have these garments dry-cleaned, or, at the discretion of your cleaner, wet dry-cleaned. Professional wet dry-cleaning does not risk the shrinkage and color fading which often occurs during laundering by ordinary methods. Most fabrics carrying the "dry cleanable" and "washable" labels respond satisfactorily to the wet dry-cleaning process. This is the only method that will remove spots of many kinds, and particularly water-borne stains.

Next to being thoroughly clean, a garment must be expertly finished to look its best. Our fine finishing helps you wear every garment in your wardrobe with that special feeling of knowing you look your best. If your clothes aren't becoming to you — they should be coming to us!

White Sox, Giant Pitching Pays Off Big

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

They say pitching wins pennants and both the White Sox and Giants are getting it these days in pennant-winning style.

The White Sox, of course, almost always have gotten fine pitching while San Francisco's hurling has been the team's big questionmark. Now, however, Jack Sanford has come along to bolster the Giant staff and it may be that he'll help just enough in the stretch to spell fiasco.

Both front-runners increased their leads Sunday, the White Sox boosting their American League margin to three games by whipping the Washington Senators, 4-3 and 9-0, and the Giants increasing their lead to 1½ games in the National League with a 4-3, 10-inning win over the Cincinnati Reds.

Gerry Staley pitched shutout ball for 4-3 innings to win the opener for the White Sox and then Early Wynn fired a three-hitter for his 15th victory of the season and the 26th of his career. Sanford, meanwhile, turned in his fourth straight victory with a powerful five-hitter.

The Baltimore Orioles aided the White Sox' cause by knocking off the second-place Cleveland Indians, 4-3, and the Milwaukee Braves helped the Giants by downing the second place Los Angeles Dodgers, 8-7.

The New York Yankees went into a third-place tie with Baltimore by winning a marathon doubleheader from the Kansas City Athletics, 4-3 and 3-2, and the Detroit Tigers beat the Boston Red Sox, 7-3, in other AL games. Relief ace Elroy Face won his 15th straight game as the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Chicago Cubs, 6-3, and the Philadelphia Phillies whipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-3 and 4-2, in the other NL games.

The White Sox won their 27th one-run decision when Jim Landis singled, a wild pitch by Dick Hyde and an error by Roy Sievers enabled them to snare a 3-2 tie in the eighth inning of the first game. Earl Ferguson drove in three runs with two singles and a sacrifice fly and Nelson Fox and Wynn each had two hits in the nightcap for the White Sox. Harmon Killebrew hit his 35th homer for Washington.

Orlando Cepeda homered in the 10th inning to give San Francisco the victory after Jerry Lynch's 15th homer tied the score in the ninth. It was the fourth straight victory for Sanford, since recovering from a fractured hand suffered on June 11. The loss went to Don Newcombe.

Milt Pappas, brilliant 20-year old right-hander, scored his 12th victory for the Orioles when two Cleveland errors proved Jim Perry's undoing. The Orioles pushed over the winning run after two out in the seventh when Bob Boyd singled, Joe Giambarg walked and George Strickland let Brooks

Robinson's grounder go through him for an error.

Joe Adcock's three-run homer and Ed Mathews' two-run circuit enabled the Braves to pile up an 8-0 lead but Bob Buhl finally needed ninth-inning relief, help from Don McMahon to win his ninth game. Hank Aaron, Bill Bruton and Felix Mantilla contributed two hits each to the Milwaukee attack while Wally Moon had three hits and Duke Snider had two including a homer for Los Angeles.

Gil McDougald singled with the bases filled and two out to win the 14-inning opener for the Yankees and then Elston Howard walloped a homer to take the 11-inning nightcap. Yogi Berra homered with two out in the ninth to send the second game into overtime after Russ Snyder's first major league homer gave the Athletics a 2-1 lead in the eighth. Relievers Ryne Duren and Bobby Shantz were the winning pitchers.

Don Mossi's 11th win of the year was clinched when the Tigers scored four runs in the ninth inning to break open a tight game. Al Kaline went 4-for-4 including a homer to lead a 14-hit Detroit attack that also included two hits each by Eddie Yost, Frank Bolling and Gail Harris. Frank Matzone and Sam White had three hits each and Jackie Jensen homered for the Red Sox.

Dick Groat's 10th-inning single snapped a 3-3 tie and paved the way for Face's 20th straight win dating back to last season. The little Pittsburgh relief star who hadn't won a game since July 12 is four victories short of Rube Marquard's single season major league record of 19 straight wins. And he also is four short of Carl Hubbell's 24 straight win achieved at the close of the 1936 season and the beginning of the 1937 campaign.

Ed Bauchop's ninth-inning grand slam proved the clincher as Gene Conley won his 11th game of the year for the Phillies who then completed a sweep by rallying for two runs in the ninth inning of the nightcap. Dave Philley singled home the tie-breaking run in the second game and another run tallied on George Anderson's sacrifice fly.

That mighty yell you may have heard Sunday afternoon at the Country Club came from the 17th tee after a 110-yard wedge shot dropped for a hole in one.

The golfer was general R. A. P. Gardner. His witnesses were four reliable gentlemen, Mayor Ed Myatt, Banker Floyd Watson, Gene Hall and Ken Reeves.

Gardner said his wedge shot hit the green about four feet short and bounced home. It was his first ace and he did it with a Wilson Staff. (Watch the rush for Staffs next weekend, Hart.)

Incidentally, Gardner nearly eagled the flag on a long three-iron hit 18 when a long three-iron hit missed the putt however and settled for a par.

During a week's vacation in Minneapolis and a trip to the great 1959 PGA there seemed to be no slacking in local golf happenings.

The Amarillo Country Club stirred up a hornet's nest when it published a stinging attack on a local golfer who fell into the sixth flight in the recent Partnership tourney at Amarillo.

The unnamed local ace and his partner — both known for some rambunctious par-shooting — slid down to the sixth flight in qualifying and went on to turn their flight into a runaway for top prizes.

Amarillo, in its monthly bulletin, called the Pampa man such things as "racketeer" and in general attacked the not uncommon practice of trophy hunting and sandbagging.

What comes of the whole matter will be interesting to see. Pampa has had a good many winners in Amarillo and Borger tournaments this year, and it's hard to say what might happen when Pampa plays host in three weeks for the big Top O' Texas affair.

For those golfers who have never seen a truly important golf tournament — the Open, Masters, U.S. Amateur etc. — I can only say you have missed something unforgettable.

The PGA at the Minneapolis Golf Club a week ago is one of those great tournaments we read about. The change from match to medal play in the PGA has not been a completely favorable change, but it has turned the PGA into something nearly as big as the Open.

The Minneapolis Golf Club is extremely long, and dotted with some 200 massive traps. It required a straight game off-the-tee a long, accurate iron. Bob Rosburg had both.

It was interesting to notice that when the first played Minneapolis their first reaction was to swing down the heads-of-the-putters. The greens were grainy, as many Minnesota courses are, and a putt required a strong hit.

Tommy Bolt, after an opening 76, did more than weigh his putter down. He bent it in a heated moment and played the tourney with the oddest putter seen yet in a major event.

Minneapolis is one of the golf meadows in the country. There are 18 courses in the Mill City including some of the nation's best: Interlachen, where Bobby Jones won the Open during his Grand Slam of 1930; Minnikahda, site of the 1958 Walker Cup match; Brookview, site of the annual American Women's Open, won this year by Bev Hanson; Meadowbrook and Golden Valley Country Club.

Incidentally, the 80,000 fans who watched the PGA parked their cars on the nine-hole (formerly 27-hole) Westwood Hills golf club which adjoins MGC. And so to accommodate the PGA, one Minneapolis course was sacrificed, perhaps permanently.

YVON DURELLE
... fights 'Ageless Archie' Wednesday

Moore, Durelle Finish Training

MONTREAL (UPI) — World light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore and challenger Yvon Durelle ended their stiff training schedules today and concentrated on light exercises, a good indication that both were in peak condition for Wednesday night's 15 round title fight at the Montreal Forum.

With only 48 hours to go before the official weigh-in, both champion and contender confined themselves to light drills at the St. Jean Baptiste gym, the training headquarters shared by both.

On Sunday, after Moore worked out lightly, Jack Kearns, Moore's manager, announced that Ageless Archie had completed his training for the title rematch. Since the champion often has been known to work hard until fight day itself, his decision to stop now indicated peak condition and a weight hovering just around the 175-pound mark.

Kearns told United Press International Sunday night that Moore don't expect any trouble at the weigh-in "around 174, and we don't expect any trouble at the official weigh-in on Wednesday."

Durelle, also appeared to be around the weight limit. The fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Ann, N.B., completed his training during the week end and was scheduled for a light drill today and Tuesday.

Durelle's manager, Chris Shaban, said his boy is in far better condition now than a few days before the Dec. 10 fight when he floored Moore four times before being stopped in the 11th round.

Baseball Suffers From Poor Individual Performances

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baseball, despite the close pennant races, apparently is suffering from a season of individual mediocrity and there are storm signals today that it will have to do something drastic to hold its own against the inroads of other sports.

What brings this to mind is the balloting in the annual $10,000 Hickok Belt Award which, in the first half of the year, finds only one monthly winner from the ranks of baseball. It isn't possible to shrug off the trend in the thinking of the 250 sportswriters and sportscasters who cast ballots.

Graham and Carmen Basilio. Overhadowing such baseball feats as Rocky Colavito hitting four homers in one game and Elroy Face winning 14 straight games in relief have been some really astounding feats in other phases of sports.

Right now the front runner for the Hickok Award, to be presented at a charity dinner drawing 6,500 persons at Rochester, N.Y., on Jan. 23, is no one else but Ingemar Johansson. When netted Floyd Patterson a clout on the whiskers at Yankee Stadium to win the heavyweight championship of the world, it settled more than the question as to which was the better man.

Because the Hickok Belt, now in its 10th year, has become to the professional athlete what the Sullivan Award is to the amateur muscle man.

Reynolds Was Winner

Ever since Phil Rizzuto, the mighty mite of the Yankees, stepped forward to take the gold bauble, which weighs almost as much as he does, baseball has been a frequent winner. Other recipients were Alie Reynolds, the Yankee "Super Chief," Willie Mays of the Giants, Mickey Mantle and last year, Bob Turley.

Interposed were such professional men of the year as Rocky Marciano, Ben Hogan, Otto

But the worthy balloting knife at a new interest trend. Baseball damaged itself tremendously by running that second All-Star game. Its leaders tossed tradition to the wind in favor of money.

Bowling showed that it had arrived as a major sport when Eddie Lubecki won the February voting. That put him in between Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks and Elgin Baylor of the Minneapolis Lakers, the January and March winners. It revealed more than bowling's new claim to at-

NFL Rookies To Be Tested

School's out this week for the National Football League's rookies — and they'll get the chance right away to prove how well they've learned their lessons.

After three weeks of highly concentrated drills in the pro circuit's training camps, the "kids" toss aside their books and try to remember all the various offensive and defensive maneuvers that have been crammed into their heads under game conditions.

Starting on Tuesday night at Pittsburgh with the Steelers playing host to the Cleveland Browns, nine of the NFL's 12 teams will see action in the first full week of exhibition play.

On Friday, the year's top college draft choices will draw their first pro pay checks after skirmishing with the champion Baltimore Colts in the 26th annual All-Star game in Chicago. The action will be televised nationally by ABC.

Then the Eastern Division champion New York Giants play the Philadelphia Eagles at Hershey, Pa., the Chicago Cardinals tangle with the Detroit Lions at Norman, Okla., and the Chicago Bears meet the Green Bay Packers at Milwaukee in Saturday night games.

With each club carrying from 10 to 25 players over the 35-man opening-day limit during the early weeks of the exhibition season, most coaches are anxious to test their rookies early and often.

POLICE SEEK GAMBLERS IN TITLE FIGHT PROBE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police sought one reputed bigtime gambler today in connection with the Ingemar Johansson-Floyd Patterson fight promotion, and another widely known gambler was scheduled to testify today before the grand jury investigating the promotion.

District Attorney Hogan's office disclosed that Gilbert Lee Beckley, said to be a professional gambler of Surfside, Fla., and Fort Mitchell, Ky., apparently had fled to Havana, thereby evading a New York detective and assistant district attorney who had gone to Miami to get him as a witness.

Meanwhile, Frank Erickson, a convicted gambler and bookmaker who was once estimated to have run a $100,000-a-year wagering business out of New Jersey locations, was scheduled to appear as a witness before the grand jury.

His appearance before the jury caused some conjecture that the investigation may be extending to the June fight itself, not merely the promotion. Patterson, a 5-1 favorite, lost his title on a third-round knockout.

Concerning Beckley in Havana, the district attorney's spokesman said, "Beckley has a reputation as a professional gambler in the St. Louis and Cincinnati areas. He is identified with the international underworld. He has a police record dating since 1953, mostly for gambling — but no convictions."

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES The Most Harmful Day-Dream

Undoubtedly, most of our troubles come from sincere, honest people who are day-dreamers. They have the best intentions and sincerely believe that if people would follow their day-dreams, they would develop spiritually, intellectually and materially.

Now, I am going to set down what I think is the most harmful day-dream — the day-dream that causes the most trouble: It is violating the First Commandment — "You shall have no other gods besides me."

It would seem that it would mean you could not believe in voluntarism and involuntarism at the same time. You could not be truthful and bear false witness at the same time. You could not have good will and ill will at the same time.

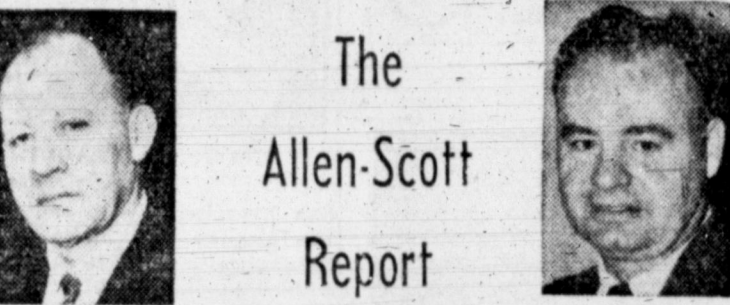

Most people would agree with the forepart of this interpretation, but they do not seem to realize that if a government does things that would be wicked and vicious for an individual to do, then they are also wicked when done by the agent of the majority or the state. They do not seem to realize that if it is wicked for an individual to initiate force to take from one to give to another, it is wicked for the government to initiate force to take from one to give to another.

They day-dream that these are not violations of the First Commandment and attempt to serve two masters. They day-dream into believing that the majority has a right to force the minority to pay for what is regarded as education when they would be horrified at the idea of one man attempting to force another man to pay for his ideas on education.

They day-dream into believing the majority has a right to interfere with an individual exchanging what he produces with any party in the market who will give him the most for his producing. Their day-dreams cause them to believe that protective tariffs do not violate the First and Last Commandments. They contend it is not coveting for the state to do things that they will admit would be coveting if done by an individual.

Result of These Day-Dreams The result of these day-dreams is unemployment, the government taking nearly one-third of a man's income when the individual undoubtedly could spend what he honestly earns better than the politician can spend it. They result in stupendous debt and the dollar buying less and less. They result in almost continuous wars and destruction of lives.

One American We're Ashamed Of

ROBERT S. ALLEN

The Allen-Scott Report

ADLAI STEVENSON NOT YET OUT OF PRESIDENTIAL RACE. WASHINGTON — Adlai Stevenson is preparing his strongest statement yet, taking himself out of the Democratic presidential race.

However, while doing that, he will not bar a "draft" by the convention. This eventual pronouncement will be issued after Stevenson returns from Europe next month. He has been discussing it by trans-Atlantic phone with William Blair, his law partner and closest adviser.

He is not a candidate for the 1960 nomination, and has absolutely no intention of seeking it. Will not permit his name to be entered in any presidential primary. World of this has already been communicated to Representative Charles Patten (D., Ore.), and former Wisconsin State Chairman James Doyle, who had planned to run Stevenson in their states.

Both Senators Kennedy and Humphrey will campaign in Wisconsin in August and September. Humphrey goes to Milwaukee next week, and will tour the State from September 25 to 30. Humphrey's lieutenant claim that he has already lined up 32 Democratic county chairmen for him, and have sent out 5,000 letters to other party workers.

Latest "favorite son" prospect is Senator Henry Jackson (D., Wash.), who is, telling friends he is seriously considering that "to put our delegation in a better trading position at the Los Angeles convention". Privately, Jackson leans toward Senator Kennedy.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON NEW YORK — READING IN A TAXI: You stay in your air-conditioned office and work on a book until 2 in the morning, then walk down a flight and talk for a few minutes with the pressmen, who are wiping down their clattering monster and tiding it up for the next night's run.

One of them tells you that he has been rereading "Troilus and Acrestis" and is of the opinion that Shakespeare was potboiling when he wrote that one. You walk out into the dark West Side street, now so quiet that you think you can hear the waters of the Hudson River lapping at the pilings.

You read that a snake handler in a show at Coney Island was hissing a Texas rattler which he was uncaring and that in all New York only one remote druggist turned out to have snake serum, which was rushed to the man by motorcycle police in time to help him.

These giants also stood formations in white trimmings so that he and his lovely consort and their royal guests, including the Scandinavian, could take salutes. The regiment was deemed well employed at such works although we were drafting poor crooks for labor in the Seaboard and enlisting women on the pretext that we were short of manpower.

So contempt for Trujillo comes from Americans who always exalted the Hyde Park haunt and saw no wrong in the time he took his private armored railroad car up a long forgotten short-line from Philadelphia to Poughkeepsie and backed it up five miles to a disused station near Hackettstown, N.J. to call on an old flame.

It is making the turn from east to west now at 110th Street and says, "Look, if you wanna see sump'n in human dress, let me wheel you through parts of Harlem at this time of night."

Highway curves, unlike those of women, get more dangerous after 65.

Trujillo's Precautions Make Very Good Sense

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Certain metropolitan publications deride the precautions of Generalissimo Trujillo when he goes for his evening stroll on the waterfront in the beautiful capital, largely by his own creation, named in his own honor by his own decree. Police and soldiers block off the Promenade, with the green park on one side and the murmuring sea on the other.

I say this phenomenon a few years ago. But far from sneering at the sensible apprehension of a boss who made his country one of the best in the world by most of the counts which are most important to most human beings, I beheld him of a secret regiment of six-foot American soldiers which were organized to name some public work for General MacArthur on the ground that it was unseemly so to honor a hero not yet dead. But consistency was the least of Laguardia's embarrassments and our president was equally nimble when his name was chosen for Franklin D. Roosevelt Drive.

Always captious of Trujillo, the New York Times twits him, with the strange complaint that during the sleeping hours of the night, juke, Hi-Fi's, radios and TV's in Trujillo City are silenced by decree. A droll criticism, this, so soon after disorders in London where Go-kneys and West Indians shed blood in the protest of sleepless Englishmen over the wild stridencies of Calypso and Carib going full blast from dawn to dawn.

So contempt for Trujillo comes from Americans who always exalted the Hyde Park haunt and saw no wrong in the time he took his private armored railroad car up a long forgotten short-line from Philadelphia to Poughkeepsie and backed it up five miles to a disused station near Hackettstown, N.J. to call on an old flame.

It is not amiss to surmise that Roosevelt and Truman, benign and beloved though they were, were jumpy even though they were among infatuated subjects, not enemies. Truman's guards could have been dismissed or at least decimated by a word from him on the phone. Thus the fact that all this fire-power and muscle were kept on hand gave one to suspect that his nerves had been touched by the Puerto Rican foray against his temporary quarters when the White House was being decimated after the long occupation.

Let us not avoid the idea of "Summit Conferences." Let us, instead, examine it very carefully. At Teheran, Russia promised to help maintain the independence of Iran, after which she kept a communist-troops there and tried to instigate a communist revolution. At Yalta, Russia promised to permit establishment of free democratic government of eastern Europe, to respect the status quo of Outer Mongolia and Chinese sovereignty in Manchuria, to assist the Nationalist Government of China and to join in war against Japan. She broke all these promises except the last. She did go to war against Japan after America had made a Japanese defeat certain. At Potsdam, Russia promised to help set up a democratic government in Germany, which was to be treated as an economic whole, to limit Soviet reparations, to allow the West access to Berlin and to postpone fixing the borders of Poland. None of these promises was kept. At Geneva, Russia promised a reunification of Germany under democratic free elections. She violated this promise.

The Doctor Says:

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Mrs. A. has written that a doctor has discovered that she has a fibroid tumor on her womb and has suggested an operation within the next two weeks. She asks if surgery is always necessary.

Another correspondent has asked whether it is possible for a woman having a fibroid tumor of the uterus to have a normal, healthy baby and confinement in spite of several previous miscarriages.

James Rowe, one-time assistant of President Roosevelt and a new Humphrey's campaign manager, particularly voiced this contention following a tour of Oregon. Rowe cited a number of party leaders there who he claimed are ready to come out for Humphrey but are holding back because of "loyalty" to Stevenson.

Both Senators Kennedy and Humphrey will campaign in Wisconsin in August and September. Humphrey goes to Milwaukee next week, and will tour the State from September 25 to 30. Humphrey's lieutenant claim that he has already lined up 32 Democratic county chairmen for him, and have sent out 5,000 letters to other party workers.

Latest "favorite son" prospect is Senator Henry Jackson (D., Wash.), who is, telling friends he is seriously considering that "to put our delegation in a better trading position at the Los Angeles convention". Privately, Jackson leans toward Senator Kennedy.

Contributors to the National Committee's "750 Club" will positively get tickets to the 1960 convention. That's the assurance E. H. Foley, chairman of the Club, is sending out in a letter, saying, "We want to emphasize that contrary to rumors in California and other states, members of the 750 Club will get personal seats for every session of the convention. Fifteen hundred of the best seats have been assigned to us."

Blue Lustre Ideal For Cleaning Carpets, Rugs

Every homemaker selects her rugs, carpets and upholstery with great care — choosing just the right colors and type of fabric that will best serve her needs over a long period of time.

Surprisingly enough, many do not give sufficient thought to the cleaning care required for their fine furnishings. If there was some magic selector to choose the best rug shampoo or upholstery cleaner for this purpose, it would certainly point to Blue Lustre Carpet and Upholstery Cleaner.

However, more and more housewives are discovering for themselves the excellence of Blue Lustre for keeping their room furnishings looking new and bright all the time. It has become first choice for those women who want only the finest in cleaning agents for their treasured carpets and fine oriental rugs.

They have found Blue Lustre is safe to use — brightens colors instantly and leaves their carpet pile open and fluffy. Blue Lustre is not only easy to use, the cost is very small for one half gallon.

Blue Lustre concentrate is sufficient to clean three 9 x 12 rugs. Blue Lustre has been recommended for use in all types of shampoo applicators including electric shampoo machines. It can also be applied with an inexpensive long handled brush. Since a good cleaning job depends on the quality of shampoo used — Blue Lustre is always the wise choice because it is completely soapless and leaves no residue to cause rapid resoiling. Blue Lustre is available at the Pampa Hardware Co., 120 N. Cuyler.

Kopper Wins Second Pin

Mike Kopper of the plumbing department of the local Montgomery Ward store has recently been awarded a Ward Sales Leadership Club emblem.

Kopper received the emblem for being among the 100 winners in a nation-wide Montgomery Ward sales contest in which 25,000 sales people competed. Winners were determined on the basis of the best sales performance for the three month period ending June 30.

According to Bill McComas, local manager, these quarterly sales contests have been held since 1937 and competition is quite keen among sales people. "It is an honor for this store to have a winner in our Company Sales Contest," said McComas.

This is the second quarter pin that Kopper has received this year.

Solon Smith's Grandchildren Demand To See Him In Texas

The Lighter Side By FRANK ELEAZER United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This is the period, sometimes referred to locally as barn burning time, when House liberals start manifesting unaccustomed concern for the health, welfare, and whereabouts of Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.).

Especially the whereabouts. Smith is 76. He is a banker who still thinks a million dollars is money, especially when it's borrowed. He also has other peculiarities, including a tendency to drop out of sight along toward the end of each congressional session.

It's not so much that the liberals can't do without Howard Smith's company. What gets them is that he is the all-powerful chairman of the very powerful House Rules Committee, and when he disappears some of their favorite bills seem always to fade out of the picture.

Committee Routes Bills The rules committee's job is to route bills from other committees to the House floor. When it doesn't, they usually die.

About this time last year the committee had a roomful of business, including a couple of bills which Judge Smith felt sure would cost money. One would have let the Tennessee Valley Authority sell bonds to expand power production.

So one August day he didn't answer when the House clerk called his name on the roll. Neither did he answer the following day. Rep. Watkins Abbit (D-Va.) hinted helpfully that the judge was aboard the submarine Nautilus which that very day was beneath the North Pole.

I guess that wasn't so, because when Judge Smith returned, 10 days later, he wore a nice tan. Also an enigmatic smile. He didn't say where he had been.

Arrives for Last Rites He got back though just in time for last rites to be said for the TVA bill which the Congress only now, one year later, finally has revived and enacted.

Coupled with other measures lost in the rush to adjourn, Abbit said happily that Smith's vacation, whatever it cost Smith, had saved the taxpayers $10,000,000.

The vanishing judge set a precedent even more upsetting to the liberal bloc the previous year. The Judiciary Committee, under Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), had approved a strong civil rights bill at that time.

Manny and Judge Smith have much in common. Both are members of the House. But apparently they don't speak the same language. On March 2 Manny asked Smith to clear the civil rights bill. It was May 2 before Smith seemed able to hear him.

Bill Sent to House He took up the bill May 2 and must have found it interesting. On May 17 he was still taking testimony. Other committee members found their interest lagging, though, and over the judge's protest, finally cleared the bill for a vote in the House. The House passed the bill, and sent it to the Senate. It was amended and came back to the House for consideration.

Bain Burns Down His barn had burned down, out in Loudon County, Va., he explained, and it had taken him 30 days to rebuild it.

Now the Judiciary Committee has approved another civil rights bill. Smith has said he will consider a request for clearance once he gets it in writing, along with a proper printed report on the bill.

After that, Smith will need time to think.

I have heard that the judge's mowing machine shows signs of collapsing. I know for a fact he has a bad tooth, and no telling how long it might take if the dentist says it has to be fixed. His grandchildren in Texas are reported demanding to see him.

The liberals had best hire a detective if they want to keep their eye on the judge.
