Demos Blast Off '60 Campaign; Hit GOP

NEW YORK (UPI) — Democrats blasted open the 1960 campaign today with a ringing attack on President Eisenhower and a display of seven of their top presidential contenders.

The Democratic Advisory Council charged the Republican administration with a second rate, second best defense job that "could cost us more in freedom and national security than can possibly be measured in money."

Sunshine States Gaining Population

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Census Bureau reported Sunday the population is undergoing a drastic reshuffling, with sunshine states and prosperous industrial sections benefiting most.

The total national population rose 15 per cent from the 1950 census through July 1, 1958, increasing from 150,697,361 to an estimated 173,232,000. It now stands at 179 million and is expected to reach 180 million by spring.

California had the largest population increase, adding 3,698,000 persons in the 8 1/2 years. Six other states gained more than one million persons each.

Florida had the second largest population gain, about 1,744,000, followed by Texas with 1,613,000, Ohio with 1,387,000, New York with 1,358,900 and Illinois with 1,288,000.

The West showed the biggest percentage gain of 29.1 per cent in a net gain of about 6,600,000 persons. The Northeast gained least percentagewise with a total increase of 9.8 per cent, about 3,800,000 persons.

The Census Bureau gave no reason for the shifts in population. But they presumably reflected the trek of older persons and others to warmer climates. Another factor in states exceeding the national average was increased industrialization.

Warning To Drug Makers Pricing Policy Under Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) served notice on drug manufacturers today that he would prescribe a new legislative remedy if he found they were setting prices too high.

He issued the warning in a statement prepared for the opening of an extensive investigation by his Senate antitrust subcommittee into the drug industry's pricing policies.

"While this country has the best drugs in the world," Kefauver said, "it would appear from the great number of letters which this subcommittee has received that many of our citizens are experiencing difficulty in being able to purchase them."

"It is our purpose to inquire into the question of whether the drug manufacturers are setting their prices at excessive levels as the writers of the letters contend."

Kefauver said "I am appalled if precious drugs are not obtainable by citizens who need them to sustain their very lives." He said the subcommittee intends "to determine whether the antitrust laws as applied to this industry are adequate and, if not, to devise specific remedial legislation."

The first phase of the inquiry, scheduled to run for a week, will involve the so-called steroid hormones — cortisone and its derivatives — widely used in the treatment of rheumatic diseases.

Father Held In Son's Death

AMARILLO (UPI) — Fred L. Fidler, 30, was charged with murder today in the beating death of his five-year-old son, William Charles Fidler.

Peace Justice Mrs. Bonita Potter denied Fidler bond and ordered him held in Potter county jail pending trial.

Detective Lt. Eli Leflar said the boy was bruised and "black and blue all over" when he was admitted to an Amarillo hospital Saturday night. He underwent brain surgery, but died about 12 hours later.

An autopsy showed he had a ruptured bladder in addition to the fatal brain injury.

When police went to the Fidler home where the beating allegedly took place they found a blood-spotted pillow and a black leather belt. Fidler admitted hitting the boy with his hands and with the belt, police said.

He told them he had questioned the boy about "messing up the bathroom" and the boy repeatedly denied it. He then whipped him, police said.

Low Standards Of Radio, TV Laid To Industry, U.S.

By SUSAN WAGNER United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A leading Protestant church spokesman today accused both the government and the broadcasting industry of negligence in failing to promote "sufficiently high standards" in radio and television.

James Wine, representing the National Council of Churches, made the accusation as leadoff witness in a full-dress public review of radio and television practices by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

Wine told the commission that the FCC had been "much too lenient" in its attitude toward "the shortcomings and omissions of American broadcasting."

He said the FCC had a clear-cut duty under the law to insist that "the right to use the people's air should be granted only to those who could be counted on to make a positive and responsible contribution to community well-being."

The National Council of Churches which Wine represents is composed of 35 major Protestant denominations and claims a membership of 39 million persons.

The FCC's sweeping investigation was set up to find out what's wrong with the broadcasting industry — rigged TV shows, payola, sneak commercials and all.

The inquiry will try to determine what can be done about it and whether the FCC has the power to handle the job or must turn to Congress for new laws.

Red Cross Board To Meet Tomorrow

The Red Cross board will meet at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning in Johnson's Cafe.

John Gikas, chairman of the Pampa Red Cross chapter, said the group will discuss plans for annual Christmas parties to be held at Amarillo Air Force Base, and hear a report of the Association of Chapters meeting held in Borger Nov. 26.

Tomorrow's program will be in charge of public information chairman, Melvin Munn, who will discuss public information and its results.

Tumultuous Welcome For Ike In Pakistan

Ike, Pontiff Clasp Hands

18 YEARS AGO TODAY — The American flag was raised this morning in front of the Pampa Elks Club in memory of Americans killed during the Dec. 7, 1941, attack on Pearl Harbor. The Japanese attack marked this country's entrance into World War II. On Sunday the Elks welcomed 60 members to its annual special memorial services for members who died the past year. ## 'Day Of Infamy' Is Recalled In Hawaii

PEARL HARBOR (UPI) — U. S. Pacific Commander Adm. Harry D. Felt said today on the 18th anniversary of the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor that the American people "never again to allow weakness to invite disaster."

Adm. Herbert G. Hopwood, Pacific Fleet commander in chief, said no enemy ever again would take the fleet by such a fatal surprise.

Hopwood said his 250,000 men and officers and 450 ships were today a "modern, mobile, flexible and mighty (force) constantly on guard, ready to move to deliver a powerful attack upon anyone foolish enough to strike at our nation or our allies."

Felt and Hopwood made their statements as they prepared to join with Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) and other dignitaries in a solemn anniversary ceremony aboard the rusted hulk of the battleship Arizona, she lies half buried in the mud of Pearl harbor with 1,102 entombed bodies of men who went down with her on the "day of infamy," Dec. 7, 1941.

It is expected that by next year's anniversary the Arizona will be enshrined in a fitting $300,000 monument built with funds raised in a national appeal.

Until then, the ship remains much the same shattered wreck she became when a Japanese dive bomber scored a hit within minutes after the attack on Pearl Harbor was launched at 7:55 a.m.

Bowl Bound Students To Visit Pampa

F. E. Hanlon, passenger representative of the Santa Fe Railway Company, met with a group of chamber of commerce officials and representatives of several churches this morning to arrange for a group of University of Wisconsin students to attend church services in Pampa Dec. 27.

The student group of about 800 will be traveling in two trains and will arrive in Pampa about 11 a.m. on the 27th.

The students, enroute to the Rose Bowl football game in Pasadena, Calif., will be guests of the chamber of commerce and local churches at services that morning.

The Rev. Richard Crews, pastor of the First Christian Church, and Warren Hesse are co-chairmen of the arrangements committee.

Complete details of the event will be announced in the near future.

U.S. To Launch 'Radio Mirror'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States plans to launch a huge "radio mirror" satellite next spring that may pave the way eventually for instantaneous worldwide television.

The satellite will be an aluminum-coated balloon, as tall as a 10-story building. Radio stations will be able to bounce signals off it to other stations thousands of miles away.

Ultimately, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration expects to put enough satellites into orbit to create a space communications system for the world. This would make it possible for any community on earth to tune in on a TV broadcast from any other.

In announcing the new Project Echo Sunday, NASA made an exception to its long-standing policy such undertakings until after they of withholding information on such undertakings until after they

Biggest Ever For Foreigner

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI) — President Eisenhower carried his peace campaign into Asia today and received a tumultuous welcome from one million Pakistanis that mounted police had to charge the crowds to keep them from engulfing the presidential procession.

Eisenhower, on the first trip by an American President to Communist-threatened Asia, pledged that the United States and Pakistan would work for a just peace for all mankind. A flight of U.S. donated Sabrejet fighters flew overhead as he spoke.

After the brief airport ceremonies the presidential motorcade headed into Karachi along 14 miles of roads jammed with Pakistanis who shouted "Welcome Ike!" and "good morning."

Once in Karachi the crowds became so thick that progress became almost impossible. The President had changed from a Cadillac convertible to a Victorian state carriage drawn by six horses when the crowds became unmanageable.

The mounted police did their work and the open carriage driven by a scarlet-clad coachman moved safely through the crowd and reached the house of Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan through the flag-waving, screaming welcome.

Eisenhower was deeply moved by the welcome, the greatest by far ever given a visitor to Pakistan. Many of the shouts were in Arabic but through the tumult there came the "Ike, Ike, Ike" he has heard in every country — this time pronounced as in America.

In Turkey, where Eisenhower gave President Celal Bayar guarantees the West will not go soft in its eagerness to relax the cold war, crowds of 500,000 cheered Ike. In Rome, where he reached a new Italo-American accord and was received Sunday by Pope John XXIII, rain held the crowds to a few thousands.

Eisenhower emphasized the peaceful nature of his mission but he was expected while here to renew pledges of U.S. support against Chinese Communist threats. He also was expected to use his good offices to improve relations between Pakistan and India.

Eisenhower left Ankara, Turkey, this morning where he received a welcome he himself described as "wonderful."

Pope Praises 'Noble Efforts'

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII greeted President Eisenhower with a smile and a handshake here Sunday and called on God to help his "noble efforts" to promote world peace.

The whirlwind Eisenhower visit to the Vatican — the first paid by an incumbent president in 40 years — broke numerous precedents. Although it was nominally a private call, it got most of the trimmings usually reserved for formal "state visits."

For the first time that anyone could remember, Domenico Cardinal Tardini, Vatican secretary of state, was present at Eisenhower's meeting with the Pope instead of awaiting a formal call from the President later.

The President was accompanied by his interpreter, Lt. Col. Vernon Walters, but his services were not needed. The Pope spoke English, doing so on an official occasion for the second time in his reign.

The Pope welcomed the President with a brief address in Italian. They spoke together in English in the papal library, and then message in English.

"We earnestly invoke the powerful assistance of God... in your noble efforts as the untiring servant of your people and the cause of peace in the world," the Pontiff said in his welcoming address.

In his farewell remarks, Pope John XXIII said:

Turkish Welcome Warming Action Deeply Touching To Ike

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — President Eisenhower, warmed by the most "stupendous" welcome ever given a foreign visitor, left today for Pakistan to the sound of further cheers and the Turkish farewell — "Allah go with you."

Eisenhower's welcome was an unbridled one in which Turks danced and sang in the streets and filled the night with fireworks while he conferred with President Celal Bayar. Home-made banners along every foot of his travels proclaimed Turkish-American friendship.

His departure from Ankara was almost as electrifying as his arrival and it was a smiling and alert President who looked up at a huge banner stretched across Esenboga Airport terminal and set him to grinning as he read: "Take our love with you, Ike." "I am deeply touched by the symbol of true affection" between Turkey and the United States," Eisenhower said in a farewell statement. "The visit was far too short. This country takes hold of my heart... our two countries have been friends for a long time. I think the bonds are growing stronger and firmer each year, each month, each day."

He ended then with the Turkish farewell, "Allah Ismaradi!" and turned toward his plane for the four hour and 11 minute flight to Pakistan.

Behind him Eisenhower left guarantees to calm the fears of Turkey that the West will go soft in its eagerness to relax the cold war with Russia. He and Bayar issued a communique agreeing to meet in Pampa Dec. 27.

Johnson Urges Ike Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson says that Americans, regardless of their political affiliations, should show a unified front behind President Eisenhower's peace tour of foreign countries.

"There is in our country ample room for legitimate partisanship. But that room does not include dividing our nation in the face of an enemy," Johnson said in his weekly radio broadcast.

"I think it is very essential that the United States be united at this time. Our President must speak from a position of strength when he speaks with other nations," the Texan said.

Johnson said the leaders of both political parties in Congress had breakfast at the White House with President Eisenhower last week to discuss his plans.

Birth Control Controversy No Bar To Kennedy Candidacy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield said today he did not think the birth control controversy would hurt the presidential chances of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) "or anyone else."

Mansfield, a Roman Catholic like Kennedy, said he thought the country was "more broad-minded, more understanding and more tolerant" than in 1928 when the religious issue worked against Democratic nominee Alfred E. Smith.

"The country as a whole realizes that if a man becomes president, he is bound by the Constitution and must act accordingly, and in that sense there is a distinct differential between church and state," Mansfield said.

The Montana senator said the current debate over whether birth control information should be provided to other nations "is bringing religion into the campaign."

But, Mansfield added, "so far as the question itself is concerned, I think it is purely academic because there is no intention it will be made a government policy."

Mansfield's analysis of the political situation came as the head of the Planned Parenthood Movement in America urged President Eisenhower to reverse his stand against the government providing birth control information to other countries.

Cass Canfield, chairman of the Harper Brothers publishing firm and president of the American Planned Parenthood Assn., said in New York:

"I frankly found the President's announcement alarming, and I believe that many billions of people who are concerned with the basic and explosive problems in the world are also going to find it alarming."

"You cannot separate, in my opinion, population control from, say, malaria control. We help in malaria control. By that, one million lives are saved each year in India."

Inn Landscaping Plans Formulated

Members of the Building and Architectural Committee of Pampa's new Coronado Inn met with landscapers in the chamber of commerce office this morning to complete plans and specifications on landscaping the grounds prior to the opening dates of January 18 and 19.

Committee Chairman C. P. Buckler said plans are to have all trees and shrubs planted by the opening dates. Buckler said winter grass cannot be planted in time for the opening, but will be put in the ground at a later date.

Guest Reviewer Sets Christmastime Mood

Mrs. Herbery Emery Guest Reviewer

By DORIS E. WILSON Women's Page Editor
A beautifully spiritual background for the Christmas season was woven into the morning mood of guests at a Coffee given Saturday in the Pampa Country Club by Mrs. Emery.

Physician" by Taylor Caldwell. Mrs. Massa, in introducing the guest reviewer, said that she had lived in Dallas but for six weeks of her life. "Her high school years and two years of college were spent at St. Mary's College, an Episcopal School. Prior to her marriage, she was a student of piano under four of Dallas' finest teachers. After her marriage, her interest centered upon social service work at Richmond Freeman Memorial Clinic, where she served for many years as a volunteer worker."

"Quite by 'happen chance' the career of book-reviewing came to her. She has reviewed in many states in this country and in Canada and Mexico, each year that she has lectured her field has widened. Mrs. Emery, who has toured Europe four times, combines world travel with her book reviewing and feel that books and travel are wonderful companions. She enjoys people and her time is always spent in some pursuit of interest."

Mrs. Emery, with stirring voice, inflections and picturesque hand gestures, brought to life for the her Country Club audience the story of Luke and his quest to know and serve the Lord. She described Luke's early childhood as a favorite of the Roman Emperor Diodorus, when his burning desire to was to seek, to find and to serve the "then Unknown Lord. Luke made his plans then to become a surgeon in order to serve the Lord and mankind best. She described Luke's early manhood, when this desire was buried in disillusionment and misunderstanding of God's goodness after his childhood sweetheart and father died. She told of the period in Luke's life which was spent in rich physical fullness but spiritual emptiness.

Then with deft brush strokes of description, Mrs. Emery painted the picture of Luke's steps back towards his renewed childhood dream of belief and trust in his Lord's infinite goodness.

In laying a background for the review, Mrs. Emery told the audience that "Dear and Glorious Physician" was 46 years in the writing. "The first sketch was drawn for the book," Mrs. Emery stated, "when the author was 12; the second version was written when she was 26; and the final published version just a few years ago."

"The author marvels at Luke's magnificent version of Christ in the Bible," the reviewer continued, "It had to be written second-hand for Luke never met nor knew the Lord personally. All of his information was garnered in his endless travels and quest of knowledge about the Lord."

The review ended with Luke seeking information about Jesus from his mother, Mary. "Do you think your son knew at a very early age who he was?" Luke asked of Mary. Mary replied, "I think so. I know so! I kept an eye on him almost as much as I could and when I would see him romping and playing with other children, every now and then he would just withdraw from the play, lower his eyes as though meditating and praying. I think he knew at a very early age."

As Luke was leaving, he said, "God go with you, Mary."

"God go with you, Luke," Mary answered.

As he started walking down the narrow street, he turned and waved a salute again. Mary smiled and waved back at him.

"That is the last printed line in the book," Mrs. Emery said, "but the most beautiful line was dropped underneath, 'Continued in the Holy Bible.'"

Preceding the book review, refreshments of fruit kebabs, cream cheese balls sprinkled with red coconut, chicken puffs and miniature rolls were served with tea and coffee.

The serving table was covered with a floor-length cloth of pink embroidered with silver threads and centered with a stately crystal and silver epergne in a fountain arrangement with pink carnations forming the bubbles and slender silver wires making the spray.

Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Raymond Harnah, F. M. Campbell, Robert Sanford, E. L. Campbell, R. E. Batson, and John Rankin.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The letter from FARMER'S WIFE who had over 300 dogs and cats dropped off on her property in the last 14 years interested me.

Few people realize the seriousness of the abandoned animal problem. It is estimated that over 35 million puppies and kittens are born in this country every year. Of this number, about 20 million are left to die in suffering.

So long as people allow their pets to produce puppies and kittens in greater numbers than they can feed and care for, the problem will persist. The Humane Society is trying to persuade people to have their female dogs spayed and their male cats altered. If they would, it would solve this problem quickly. Can you help to spread the word?

MONTGOMERY DEAR MONTGOMERY: I can't say, but I am not optimistic. In a world where people are producing more people than they can feed and care for, it will be no easy task to undertake a "Planned Parenthood" crusade for animals.

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and Dick is 26. We are engaged to be married. Lately Dick has been going out of town every week-end with his bachelor friends. They either take along some girls (not nice ones) or meet them there.

I could forgive him if this happened only once, but it has been happening regular every week-end. Dick says he wants to "live a little" before settling down to married life. Do I have a right to complain, or haven't I?

ENGAGED WITH A RING DEAR ENGAGED: This kind of "living" has been the death of many engagements. The only woman who is more miserable than the "sweetheart" of a coveting suitor is the wife of a coveting husband. A word to the wise...

DEAR ABBY: I am going to write this fact and mail it before I lose my nerve. I have written to you several times but I always tore up the letters.

I have been married seven years and my problem is my husband; He likes to wear women's clothing. I didn't know this until I found some of my things missing. When I caught him red-handed he admitted that he had taken some of my clothes and had worn them.

Abby, I am almost crazy with worry. I think this is against the law and I'm afraid he will get arrested. If he find out about him at work he will lose his job. The children and I need him. Can you please tell me what to do?

UNANSWERED DEAR UNANSWERED: Your husband is sick. It doesn't matter how you do it, but get him to a doctor. He needs professional help.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Recently at the home of friends we watched a TV show that dramatized a great historical crisis of the 20th century. It was sensitively written and well played. But it was commercialized and boring and sadistic. They come at just the moment when the costly production had created a climax of responsive interest. They broke in on our mood with a jazzy jingle and the sick sales pitch of their revoltingly cheerful, ingratiating announcer.

At the second interruption, our host, a writer, began to sputter. At the third, he exploded, roaring, "And some ad agency pays some guy for writing this junk. Listen to him. He slams the same point again and again. I can't sell the same story twice. Paula can't cook us the same meal every day. Muriel can't write the same column week after week. But the guy who writes this gets paid for repeating himself. Why can't he make his point once — and let it go? Why...?"

"Stop it, Daddy!" yelled his 11-year-old son. "I'm sick of you going on and on about commercials. You repeat yourself, too. If you don't like commercials, why don't you turn them off?"

There was a suspenseful silence. Then our host grinned at his child. "I guess I do, I guess I do," he said. "That's a swell idea." Bud. Turn them off is what we'll do after this. I am such a lazy hound I didn't think of it."

Bud beamed at his father. His father beamed at him. Their mutual appreciation was so contagious that we all felt fonder of one another.

Yet many parents would have been outraged by Bud's critical outburst as disrespectful and impudent.

Would you have been? I wouldn't. But then, children, including my own, have blown up at me so often that I've developed a conviction about their critical outbursts. I think that they express respect for us instead of disrespect. I think they're a precious compliment. And that the very fact that a youngster can explode his protesting feelings to me involves his expectation that I can

RUTH MILLETT

Mom, who claims she can't understand why so many of today's teen-agers are marrying before they finish high school, is the very gal who is promoting these pitifully young marriages.

All the while mom is clucking against the stupidity of kids who don't even have the braces off their teeth thinking they are grownup enough to get married, she is pushing her own kids into the accelerated dating pace that so often results in teen-age marriage.

It's mom who gives six an evening dancing party on her tenth birthday, and who later tells her friends how "adorable" the little girls looked in their party dresses, and how "cute" the little boys were who escorted the girls to the dance (one of the boys' parents, of course, being foolish enough to play chauffer for the evening).

It's mom who gives her five-year-old a permanent wave and begins by the time she enters the first grade to set in motion the social mechanism for making little Betty or little Sue "popular."

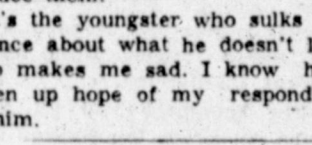

It's mom who can't say "no" when fourteen-year-old Betty or Sue decides to go steady — because, though mom claims she doesn't approve, she would rather have Sue going steady than have any other Mama think her little girl isn't popular.

It's mom who lets a sixteen-year-old girl cut herself off from friends by spending every possible minute with one boy. In fact, there's more than a little pride in mama's voice when she says, "I get so tired of having Sue's boy friend under foot all the time, but I suppose I should be thankful they spend so much of their time at our house."

It's mom who makes junior high and high school such a gay social whirl that by sixteen her daughter is sick of floucy formalities, takes courages as a matter of course, and is blasé about almost everything.

Then, when daughter runs off at sixteen or seventeen with her steady and comes home married, mama cries, "How could this have happened to my little girl?"

Doris E. Wilson Pampa News Women's Editor

Mixed up in the "Letters to Santa Claus" mail this week was the following letter, which was turned over to the editor of the women's page for investigation:

Dear Santa: Several years ago, I think my name was scratched off your list at the North Pole because I stopped putting my complete wardrobe and trust in you. Christmas just hasn't been the same since. What I want to know is, how do I go about getting my name back on your list again?

I am just a little girl, at heart, that is, and this year I think I have been particularly good. I've had most of the 1959 meals that I must prepare three times a day, 365 days a year, ready on time. I've not let the dishes stand in the sink unwashed for more than 24 hours at any given length of time. I've been reasonably cheerful, helpful, pleasant and well-groomed when my family has come in from school, play a work.

And I've been reasonably generous with my time working in church, PTA, and study groups.

I'm hoping if I believe hard enough and sincerely enough, will work the magic for me so that you do for the children.

If I can get back on your again, please leave a milk can for me under the Christmas tree an ice-box in the kitchen to make my stove and a standing order for a weekly delivery of yellow roses all through the year.

Love, "Wanting To Believe"

After conferring with Santa Claus, we found that he is just little provoked with the play adults who are trying to horn in on the fun of the kids and kind.

Your name is still on his list but after checking and checking he can't find that you have been as good as you say you were. Besides that, he tells us there is a big, unexplained blank mark right after your name page 47,598,891 of the check list.

He wants us to explain to you and to any other grownups, we feel inclined to tamper with Santa's "good girl list" that they had a lot more time to be better than the youngsters have had.

Besides that he feels he is having trouble enough with Mrs. Santa's Christmas list without taking on any more adult problems.

But all is not lost. "Dear Wanting To Believe." Why not try "Dear Abby" Sympathetically yours, dew

Holiday Jewelry Has Golden Look

B GAILE DUGAS NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEAE) — Costume jewelry has a flashing gold look for the holidays, one that sparkles with color glitter for late day and evening wear.

The gold look begins with metal, either precious or pretend, and goes on into gold enhanced with the sparkle of crystals, beads, pearls or liquid-fire stones. For daytime, gold is tailored, of course, but it's textured, too.

This tailored jewelry is looped, twisted, woven, braided and given satin, brushed or mosaic surface effects. Some of these textured pieces have the "more a t t n" quality of Florentine gold.

Gold gets together with shining stones in many dramatic pieces. Gold flecks or caps of gold add a glow to colored necklaces. Gold-lustered pearls show an interesting iridescence. This golden theme carries on into shades of topaz and amber, both real and simulated.

After dark, the gold look becomes opulent. Flashing jewels, either real or fake, are scattered over the surface of heavy, rich necklaces, pins and earrings for an effect of great elegance.

The girl who has always yearned for gold jewelry but has never been able to afford it can have handsome pieces in costume jewelry for the holidays. They'll serve beautifully until she can acquire the real thing.

Carr Urges Longer Study Period On Teacher Pay Hike

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press International

AUSTIN (UPI)—Speaker Wagner Carr told Gov. Price Daniel Saturday that a special session of the Legislature will not solve the issue of a teachers' pay raise.

And if a session is called, Carr said the governor should tell Texans well in advance what he plans to tax to support the program.

Public education, Carr said, "is one sector of our public policy which ought not to be legislated upon under the extreme pressures of a restricted and confined 30-day limitation."

"It would seem to me that a sound public service would be rendered by you in laying out substantially in advance of any session a program for raising the additional revenue so that such a program could be reasonably and soberly considered," Carr said in a letter to Daniel.

Lawmakers should be allowed to discuss the issues with their constituents before coming to Austin to act on a pay raise, Carr said.

"Our state is presently operating on a very tight and precarious balance of revenue and expenditure," Carr said. "Any additional support for any state program will require additional revenues above and beyond those provided by the Texas Legislature during 1959."

"The real question in regard to schools is not what we should do, but what we can do and how we can best do it. It seems to me that this is the real area in which public discussion and greater public understanding is needed."

The Texas issue, Carr said, is "much more likely to be new rates for old taxes rather than the imposition of entire new taxes in new fields."

"This makes it all the more important that the public understand what is at stake so that the people may have full opportunity to think about and express themselves to their legislators in advance of any convening of another special session," Carr said.

Daniel has been under pressure from the Texas State Teachers Assn. to call a session in January to consider a $400 annual increase in teachers' minimum salary, plus other aids to education.

Sunny, Mild Over Texas

United Press International

Clear skies and cool, dry air combined to drop temperatures into the 20s and 30s over most of Texas early today, but weathermen said summery weather like Sunday's would return this afternoon.

Radiation cooling—a process by which the air near the ground loses its heat—was responsible for the temperature skid during the night. The dryness of the air and the absence of clouds made conditions favorable for that type of cooling, the Weather Bureau said.

But dry air also picks up heat from the sun faster than humid air, and temperatures were expected to climb quickly back into the comfortable range.

Low temperatures reported early today ranged from 21 at Presidio to 47 at Austin. Four other Texas cities—Dalhart and El Paso with 26, Lubbock with 30 and San Angelo with 31—had sub-freezing temperatures before dawn.

Other readings were mostly in the 30s. Amarillo, Abilene and Midland had 33, Wichita Falls, Laredo and Fort Worth 34, Texarkana 35, Dallas, Alpine and Brownwood 36, Brownsville, Waco, San Antonio and Port Arthur 37, Victoria 38, Houston 39, Corpus Christi 44 and Galveston 45.

Temperatures were in the upper 30s in the lower Rio Grande Valley early today and the Weather Bureau expected reports of light frost in low areas. No crop damage was expected, however.

There was no rain reported in the state overnight.

Hoover Offers 'Remedy' For Road Carnage

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover today urged local law officers to launch a "tough, unapologetic campaign" against careless drivers during Christmas season.

Hoover said in the FBI law enforcement bulletin that policemen and the courts normally are expected to have "good will toward all men."

But, he said, "this Christmas time spirit must not extend to our potential highway killers."

"Nothing is so dreadful," Hoover said, "as the cold statistics which show that at Christmas time—when joy should reign second only to reverence—traffic accidents kill, injure and maim more persons than during any other holiday period."

Last year, 740 persons died from traffic accidents during the four-day Christmas holiday.

Hoover warned that "negligent and reckless drivers and pedestrians—despite the pleas of law enforcement, newspapers and national and local safety organizations—will again put the red stain of death on our roads."

scribed as "stupendous."

As in every place he has visited on his historic mission, the President's opening remarks called for world peace. As he said before leaving Washington, a just peace in freedom.

A stiff breeze whipped over the field, fluttering the American and Pakistani flags overhead. Eisenhower saluted an honor guard and then mounted a low dais where Ayub welcomed him and Eisenhower replied that visiting Pakistan had been a "long felt ambition."

Eisenhower paid tribute to Pakistan, America's strongest friend in Asia, as a "new country trying to be a force for good in the world." Then he said Pakistan and the United States, "thinking alike, want to work for what is good, decent and just."

He said the two nations, both believing in God and true to the principles of their forefathers, are working so that "we will yet have a world in which just peace will be the lot of man."

President Ayub spoke warmly of the friendship between the "like-minded people" of Pakistan and the United States.

Inspection Of Vehicles Due

Sgt. E. G. Albers, of the Pampa office of the Texas Department of Public Safety, reminded area motorists they should get their motor vehicle inspections now to avoid late minutes fines.

Sgt. Albers said there are several inspection stations in Pampa, and motor vehicles must be inspected if the vehicle is registered in Texas, regardless of the age of the vehicle.

He said the official inspection period is from Sept. 1, 1959 through April 15, 1960. Albers also said that all miniature automobiles and scooters being used by youngsters must be inspected and registered and the operator have a Texas driver's license if they are legally operated on public streets.

He pointed out that since the start of the inspection program in 1952, the state's traffic deaths have been reduced by 10 per cent.

Albers said there are a half million vehicles in the 60 counties of the Department of Public Safety's Region 5, and over 600 inspection stations. He reminded that an inspection sticker obtained now may reveal a vehicle defect that would otherwise destroy a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year for some family.

that "the future of humanity depended above all" on the ability of free nations to compose their differences and face the threat of Communism together.

Before leaving Eisenhower inspected an honor guard of Turkish soldiers and turning to the commander said, "if all the soldiers in the Turkish army are like these you may be proud and we may be proud."

"Yes, sir, we are awaiting your orders," the commander replied.

Eisenhower, up almost until midnight Sunday night for conferences with the Turkish leaders, flew to the airport today by helicopter with Premier Adnan Menderes and Foreign Minister Fatih Ruhi Zorlu.

Before leaving, Eisenhower insisted on shaking the hands of the motorcycle police who had escorted them. And although he mounted a helicopter for the trip to the airport the 20 miles of road along which he flew were lined with 18,000 troops and police.

John said:

"We beg your excellency to discern in these words of ours an expression of the sentiments of benevolence and admiration which we cherish for the American people. The sentiments and good wishes... we are glad to extend from our heart to your excellency personally."

Later, at the airport, Eisenhower told Premier Antonio Segni that he was "inspired by the Pope's approval of the efforts made by the countries of the free world to achieve peace and justice."

Pope John set another precedent by addressing about 100 newsmen accompanying the presidential party before he talked to the President.

Fisherman At Denton Drowns

DENTON, Tex. (UPI)—A 72-year-old man drowned in Garza-Little Elm Lake late Friday when the boat in which he was fishing, overturned.

The victim was Felix Hallum, who had been living with his nephew, J. R. Sherrell, at the lake. He formerly lived at Leonard, in Fannin county.

Denton county Sheriff Wiley Barnes said Hallum and Sherrell were running a trotline from a boat when it overturned. Sherrell tried to get his heavily-bundled uncle to shore, but the older man slipped out of his grasp and disappeared as they neared the bank.

Sherrell managed to find Hallum but he was dead by the time he pulled him to safety, Barnes said.

Revolt In Hungary Recalled From Austrian Vantage Point

EDITOR'S NOTE: When the Hungarian freedom revolt erupted three years ago, Austria came the window through which the Free World watched in fascination, hope and finally error. In the following dispatch UPI manager in Vienna recalls those hours in the fall of '52.

By FRANZ CYRUS
United Press International
VIENNA (UPI) — Telephone connections between Hungary and the Free World were severed at 11 p.m. on the night of Oct. 23, 1956. The fuse that touched off the Hungarian revolution had been lit in the hours between 7 p.m. and dawn, tensions in the Vienna barroom built up in layers.

At 8 p.m., Budapest Radio announced an emergency session of the Communist Party's Central Committee had been called for tonight.

Ernoe Gerole, hated Stalinist chief of Hungary's Communist Party came on the air. His voice trembled with tension. He warned of any attempt to upset the regime would be met with the government's full strength.

Then from Budapest via Prague, Czechoslovakia: Demonstrating youths clash with police. Forty dead.

And from Budapest radio, continuing reports on the scheduled Central Committee meeting. The minutes dragged on. Then it happened. Over Bud-

Voters Cast Long Aside

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Have been cast aside by the voters in favor of more decorous candidates, Gov. Earl K. Long faced future of Louisiana government and politics today.

He ran third in a field of six candidates for lieutenant governor — the law prevented him from running for governor — in Democratic primary election Tuesday and James A. Noe, 67, whom Long backed for governor, won fourth.

In his home parish (county) of Iberville, voters refused to elect him to the Central Democratic Committee. Long, 64, will serve as governor until next May.

The faith of voters in him evidently was shaken by his escapades last summer during a five-week tour, plans to divorce his wife and his public identification with strip teases, a razor fight and a woman recently arrested for soliciting.

His successor will be chosen in a runoff between the two leaders in the gubernatorial primary: Mayor deLesseps S. Morrison, 47, of New Orleans, and Jimmie H. Davis of Shreveport, a cowboy singer and movie actor, who has served one term as governor.

The lieutenant governor's race will be decided in a runoff between Mayor George W. Bowden, 47, of Alexandria, who ran with Morrison, and state Rep. C. C. Brock, 44, of Franklin, who ran with Davis.

pest Radio came the unmistakable sound of machinegun fire. Violent reaction by the young men and women of Hungary, sickened at years of repression and privation, practically stripped of their national identity, had started on the night of Oct. 23.

The avalanche that later would be termed the strongest blow yet to world Communism was rolling.

And from Budapest Radio: Appeals to freedom fighters to lay down their arms. The same appeal every two or three minutes.

Heavy fighting has broken out in the streets of Budapest. "Fascist groups are trying to unseat the regime by force."

Premier Andras Hegesus has resigned. Imre Nagy, former premier known as a Nationalist Communist, has taken his place.

This was the beginning of a stirring and finally tragic drama that has yet to play to its last act. For news from Vienna in 1956, it was a period of extremes — excitement, exhaustion, depression, hope and frustration.

Two United Press men, taking advantage of the nationwide confusion, slipped into Budapest, one by plane and another by car. Another made it across the border from Vienna to the nearest town, Mosonmagyaróvár.

United Press Correspondent Kurt Neubauer phoned out the first eyewitness account Oct. 25 when he reached Mosonmagyaróvár. He counted more than 150 bodies of persons killed by Communist troops.

He saw the arrest of a secret police officer who had given the order to open fire on anti-Communist demonstrators. The officer later was thrown out of his third floor hospital room and trampled to death by a vengeful crowd.

Russell Jones and Anthony Cavendish risked their lives to provide dramatic and horrifying word pictures of the bloody battling in Budapest — and finally the slaughter as the Soviets broke their promise to Nagy and squashed the revolution.

At 4 a.m. Nov. 4, Nagy confirmed the worst fears: "Soviet troops attacked the Hungarian capital with the open purpose to overthrow the legal government. The Hungarian troops are in combat, this I announce to our people and to the world."

Eight hours later Moscow Radio declared: "This morning the forces of reactionary conspiracy against the Hungarian people were crushed. A new government has been formed led by Premier Janos Kadar."

For Budapest it was all over. The struggle raged on for a few weeks in the provinces. Workers resisted the new regime with devastating strikes. But hunger and cold took its toll.

Before the Iron Curtain clanged down again on the border, more than 180,000 Hungarians — frightened and tired after long treks through rain and icy storms — crossed into Austria.

They left all but what they could carry on their backs. Many carried children. Some left members of their family behind — dead.

The last message received by the UPI-Vienna office via teletype from Budapest contained 23 words but told the story of a tragedy that still burns in the hearts of free men everywhere.

Tax Guides Available

A supply of the "Farmers Tax Guide, 1960 edition, has arrived at the Gray County Agricultural Extension office in the courthouse annex east of Pampa, according to County Agent Ralph Thomas.

This publication, which deals with income and self-employment taxes, has been prepared by the Internal Revenue Service for free distribution to farmers and ranchers and others who assist in the preparation of farm and ranch income tax returns.

The guide explains most of the income tax rules which apply to farmers and ranchers, said Thomas, and contains information all farmers should know even if their tax returns are prepared by others. It should help farmers to prepare the 1959 tax return, and help them to keep better records for tax purposes in 1960.

Thomas said that the booklet is written in plain language and contains numerous examples to show how the rules work in actual situations.

"Interested persons may obtain copies of the tax guide at the extension service office or a postal card or telephone call will bring a copy through the mail," Thomas concluded.

News Service Head Dies

HUNTINGTON, N. Y. (UPI) — Fred S. Ferguson, retired president of NEA Service, the world's largest news-feature distributor, died at a nursing home here Sunday after a lengthy illness. He was 72.

Services will be held at the Frank E. Campbell funeral home in New York City Wednesday.

Ferguson was one of the handful of men who contributed much during the past half century to making America's newspapers exciting, interesting and reliable.

Born Jan. 4, 1887, on a farm at Bargarville, Ind., he went on to hold major executive positions with three great news organizations, the United Press Association, the United Press International, Acme Newspictures and NEA Service, Inc.

Until his retirement in April, 1958, he had been president since 1926 of NEA Service. He headed Acme until 1951 when it was purchased by United Press.

His retirement completed 50 years of service in the Scripps-Howard organization.

It arrived Nov. 4 from the Hungarian News Agency and it read: "Good bye. We do not forget you."

"Bye, the Russian are too near. We shall leave our post. We shall leave our post."

"Good bye, friends, good bye friends. Save our souls."

Who's To Say Mars' Moons Artificial But A Visitor?

NEW YORK (UPI) — The imagination-staggering theory of a Russian physicist that the two moons of Mars are artificial has been convincing the distinguished American astronomer who was one of the discoverers of the planet Pluto.

But anyone who enjoys having a staggered imagination can keep on having one. To disprove the Russian theory factually requires a landing on a Martian moon which isn't in the cards for any time soon. And its author, Dr. I. S. Shklovsky has some impressive technical evidence to back it.

He met its implications head-on. If the Martian moons are not natural, then somebody put them into the Martian sky. It had to have been done a long time ago because if Mars now supports life, it is the lowest kind of vegetable life.

Shklovsky suggested it was done two or three thousand millions years ago when, he said, a "highly developed civilization" may have existed on Mars. He granted it would have had to be highly developed because Mars' moons may weigh 100 million tons or more, which is more than 90 million times heavier than the heaviest satellite the Russians have orbited around the earth.

"Astronautics," the technical journal of the American Rocket Society, submitted Shklovsky's theoretic reasoning to the scrutiny of Clyde W. Tombaugh of New Mexico State University, Las Cruces, a big man in planetary astronomy.

Shklovsky's principal point was based on the mathematic proof that Phobos, the moon closest to Mars, is very slowly sinking toward the planet (and according to the calculations of Dr. Fred Whipple will crash into it about 60,000,000 years from now.)

This is the same thing which happens to earth's artificial satellites, Shklovsky examined various natural explanations for Phobos' sinking behavior and rejected them, which left only the explanation that Phobos' density is very slight for its size. This means "we have to assume Phobos is hollow inside," he said. No natural celestial body can be hollow; therefore, Mars' moons are artificial.

Tombaugh said there was one other explanation for Phobos' slow sinking which Shklovsky hadn't considered. Mars' orbit is being crossed constantly by the very small planets called Asteroids and through the vast stretch of cosmic time has been hit by them many times, he argued.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New pressure for an early settlement of the steel strike was exerted on union and management negotiators today by federal mediators and members of Congress.

Federal Mediation Director Joseph F. Finnegan planned to hold a joint bargaining session with the two sides although neither was optimistic about chances of agreement.

Finnegan conferred Sunday with top aides to discuss the next step in mediation efforts. The union and company negotiators met Saturday in a joint session described by Finnegan as constructive.

Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.) proposed, meanwhile, that Congress extend the stay-at-work injunction against the steelworkers for six months or more unless the dispute is settled before the 80-day order expires.

Stennis said in a television interview Congress could use the extension to make some "big decisions" on laws governing national labor-management disputes. He said a "fundamental change"

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New pressure for an early settlement of the steel strike was exerted on union and management negotiators today by federal mediators and members of Congress.

Federal Mediation Director Joseph F. Finnegan planned to hold a joint bargaining session with the two sides although neither was optimistic about chances of agreement.

Finnegan conferred Sunday with top aides to discuss the next step in mediation efforts. The union and company negotiators met Saturday in a joint session described by Finnegan as constructive.

Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.) proposed, meanwhile, that Congress extend the stay-at-work injunction against the steelworkers for six months or more unless the dispute is settled before the 80-day order expires.

Stennis said in a television interview Congress could use the extension to make some "big decisions" on laws governing national labor-management disputes. He said a "fundamental change" would be necessary unless the injunction expires Jan. 28, he said, parties show more self-restraint, it could "destroy collective bargaining in this country."

If the steelworkers were allowed to carry out their threat to resume the strike when the injunction expires, it could "destroy collective bargaining in this country."

Giants Clinch Eastern Title; Fans Riot

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

Warning to the Baltimore Colts and other interested parties: The New York Giants are tough—but avoid their fans at all cost.

The Giants clinched the National Football League's Eastern Division title Sunday when they clobbered the Browns, 48-7. The Giants almost blew the Browns out of Yankee Stadium and their fans completed the job.

Hundreds swarmed on the field with less than two minutes to go, sending Coach Paul Brown and his Browns scurrying to the locker room for protection. While Coach Jim Lee Howell's Giants wondered if the officials might forfeit the game to Cleveland, the fans tore down one set of goal posts and were working on the other when special police details restored order 20 minutes later.

"I never gave a thought to asking that the game be forfeited," Brown said after his men returned to the field and finished out the second worst defeat in their history. "I just left the field to keep from getting beat up and my kids followed me. My players had the right to protect themselves. That's a league rule."

Baltimore, victor over New York at Yankee Stadium last year in the league's first overtime championship game, clinched at least a tie for the Western title Saturday by downing the Forty-Niners at San Francisco, 34-14.

John Unitas passed for three touchdowns and ran for another to lead Baltimore to its first victory at San Francisco in 12 games in two leagues.

If the Colts defeat or tie the Rams Saturday at Los Angeles, they'll qualify to play host to the Giants in the championship game Dec. 27. Then the Colts, who also showed some high-octane fans in New York when they won the 1958 championship, can start preparing for the invasion of the Giants and their rambunctious rosters.

The Chicago Bears, with Rick Casares plunging for four touchdowns, kept their slim Western hopes alive Sunday by downing the Pittsburgh Steelers, 27-21. The Forty-Niners play host to the Green Bay Packers and the Bears entertain the Detroit Lions in next Sunday's regular season windups.

The Forty-Niners and Bears can tie for the Western title and force playoff games if they win, providing the Rams upset the Colts.

Green Bay whipped the Rams, 38-20; the Philadelphia Eagles defeated the Washington Redskins, 34-14, and the Lions whipped the Chicago Cardinals, 45-21, in Sunday's other games.

While the fans tried to get into the act, the Giants posted the most one-sided victory they ever scored against the Browns and the most points they ever collected against the team that won Eastern honors seven of the past 10 seasons.

Charlie Conerly, New York's 38-year-old quarterback, fired early and often and sometimes his receivers caught passes with no Cleveland man within 10 yards of them.

Aggies, Tech Face Tough Foes Tonite

United Press International

The Texas Aggies and Texas Tech help get the Southwest Conference's 15-game week schedule away to a rugged start tonight against a pair of tough customers.

The Aggies, who have allowed only 85 points while piling up 181 in two victories over minor leaguers Centenary and Trinity, get a real test when they tangle with the potent Houston Cougars and Gary Phillips, Houston, one of Cincinnati's chief rivals in the Missouri Valley Conference, has won its first three starts.

Tech, which broke even in its first two starts last week, stops off at Lawrence, Kan. to take on the always dangerous Kansas Jayhawks Arkansas, winner of only one of three starts last week, also is in action tonight against Tulsa at Fayetteville.

Texas and Baylor, the only other clubs besides A&M to escape defeat in the opening week of the season, won't hit the court until Saturday night. Baylor plays at Memphis State and Texas hosts Tulane.

But, there's activity every night of the week by some league member. Tuesday night, for example, Southern Methodist's highly regarded Mustangs open their home schedule against Oklahoma City.

Wednesday night, Texas Tech will be back on its Lubbock court against the Oklahoma Sooners and Texas Christian hosts Tulsa, while on Thursday night winless Rice plays host to Vanderbilt and the following night the Aggies entertain Midwestern.

Everybody but the Aggies will be playing Saturday night with Vanderbilt at SMU, Arkansas taking on Mississippi at neutral Little Rock, Rice hosting Louisiana State, Texas Tech facing Iowa at Lubbock and TCU opening a mid-western swing against Drake at Des Moines.

Last week's activity indicated pre-season high ratings for the Aggies and Texas were not amiss, but that Arkansas and SMU might not be quite as tough as first figured. And, Baylor served notice the Bears would be a thorny problem for their rivals.

The Aggies whipped Centenary 95-28 and Trinity 86-47; Texas mauled McMurry 95-34 and Trinity 98-68; Baylor ran over Howard Payne 84-33, then beat Oklahoma State 53-50 and Tulsa 69-54; SMU whipped Minnesota 78-60, but topped before Iowa 49-58; Arkansas lost to the Phillips Oilers 79-78 and Missouri 75-71 before beating Oklahoma State 54-50; Texas Tech stopped New Mexico 84-62, but lost to Colorado 79-66; TCU beat Austin College 65-47 but lost to Oklahoma City 68-64, and Rice lost a pair, to Trinity 74-72 and Centenary 86-77.

Texas Longhorn sharpshooter Jay Arnette jumped off in front in the individual scoring race, his 31 points against Trinity giving him a two-game average of 26.5 points. SMU's Steve Strange averaged 21 points, Rice's Davis Craig 19 and Arkansas' Pat Foster 17.7.

WILLS' OPPONENT.—Vernon Winston, Fort Sill's top middleweight, is expected to go against Gary Wills Thursday night when Fort Sill brings its 11-man team here for a match with the Optimist Boys Club fighters. This will be the first fight of the year for Wills, one of Pampa's best boxers.

Top College Teams Take Bad Beating

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

The nation's top-ranked college basketball teams took quite a beating in the first week of the season—and there may be more mayhem to come this week.

Kentucky, Kansas State and Louisville, all ranked among the top 10, were beaten last Saturday and Cincinnati, Ohio State, St. Louis and North Carolina may soon join them in singing the blues.

Cincinnati, with two easy victories to its credit, will protect its No. 1 rating in a real tough one against St. Joseph's of Philadelphia. St. Louis plays both Ohio State and Kentucky and North Carolina faces Kansas and Kansas State on successive nights in the feature games of the week's program.

Kentucky was the biggest loser and St. Louis the biggest winner in week-end action that may cause a major upheaval in rankings.

Coach Adolph Rupp's Wildcats tried the major job of winning two straight road games on the West Coast; they squeezed past UCLA by two points Friday night but were whipped soundly by Southern California, 87-73, Saturday night. The Trojans had lost their first two games of the season but took advantage of Kentucky's excessive fouling and poor free throw shooting to spring the major upset.

St. Louis, which beat National Invitation Tournament champion St. John's of New York in its previous game, handed Kansas State, the nation's No. 1 team last season, its first home loss in two seasons, 68-58. Bob Nordmann, 6-10, 270-pound center, scored 23 points and grabbed 15 rebounds to lead both teams in each department.

Nordmann will get his chance to "hit the headlines" big Thursday night when St. Louis plays Ohio State at St. Louis. Ohio State is led by Jerry Lucas, a 6-9, 225-pound center who is the most heralded college player since Wilt Chamberlain went to Kansas.

Lucas and soph teammate Mel Nowell scored a total of 44 points as Ohio State walloped Pittsburgh, 94-49, Saturday. It was the third straight victory for Ohio State which plays Butler tonight.

Oscar Robertson scored 43 points as Cincinnati walloped Marshall, 102-41, and St. Joseph's ranked No. 9, whipped Kentucky Wesleyan, 94-83. These two super powers meet Friday at Cincinnati.

Georgia Tech scored a 68-56 victory over eighth-ranked Louisville, fourth-ranked West Virginia defeated Furman, 96-63, fifth-ranked North Carolina downed South Carolina, 93-56, 15th-ranked Kansas topped Northwestern, 76-67, Wake Forest upset 18th-ranked North Carolina State, 73-59, and 19th-ranked New York University defeated Georgetown, 70-48.

Majors Take Up Problem Of New Loop

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Major league club owners, having settled matters with their players in most amiable manner, got down today to the tougher job of what to do — if anything — about Branch Rickey and his Continental League.

One of the first matters on the agenda of the American League meeting in separate session from the National, was to hear a report from the three-man fact-finding committee appointed to study the feasibility of expansion.

Rickey and the Continental League founders are seeking a showdown. They have asked that President Joe Cronin of the American League follow up the fact-finding report with a clear statement of intention regarding expansion plans. The third leaguers say that without such a declaration they are harassed in their efforts to organize.

Cronin, while insisting that the AL "is not scheming" to hamper the proposed third league, says he cannot guarantee that he can give Rickey the commitments he asks at the conclusion of today's meeting.

In fact, baseball men feel that the Continental League will get little satisfaction whatsoever from the major league until they reach a much more advanced stage of organization.

Bushy-browed, energetic Rickey who will be 78 this month, was expected to make his dramatic appearance at the Fontaine Bleau Hotel baseball headquarters today. The Continental League scheduled a meeting for Tuesday to frame a reply to whatever announcement the AL made today.

TCU 'Tiger Lilly' Frogs' Top 'Pick'

By ED FITE
United Press International

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Coach Abe Martin at Texas Christian isn't a botany professor on the side, but he does have a monstrous tiger lilly he thinks will figure somewhat in his Bluebonnet Bowl tilt with Clemson.

This lilly towers better than 76 inches from the ground up and is so heavy it would take a small fortune to ship it via parcel post.

So, Abe figures he'll just load it on the bus along with his TCU squad and take it to Houston for the December 19 date with the Tigers from Clemson.

Before this botanical stuff gets out of hand, perhaps it would be better if this lilly was identified a bit more specifically as Robert (Tiger) Lilly, a 6-foot, 4½-inch, 240-pound mountain of muscle that stuffs up one of the tackle slots on Martin's TCU starting football team.

Bob Lilly is sort of a rarity among Southwest Conference foot-

Wichita Falls Could Win Coin Flipping Championship

United Press International

The fates which decide the call of a coin flip for playing sites in the Texas schoolboy football playoffs are viewed with contrasting emotions in Wichita Falls and Cleburne.

The defending Class AAAA champion Wichita Falls Coyotes won a coin toss Sunday and thereby assured themselves of their third straight home field advantage in the current race for state championships.

Cleburne's Yellow-Jackets considered the chief challenger for Breckenridge's Class AAA champion Bucks, lost a coin toss Saturday and it marked the fourth straight time the Jackets have gambled and lost. It meant they will be away from home for the third straight week end and extends a streak started when they lost a semifinals flip to Kingsville last season.

Wichita Falls will be host to Fort Worth Carter next Saturday at 2 p.m. in the northern-bracket Class AAAA semifinals, while Corpus Christi Ray, the southern bracket favorite, plays Port Arthur at Houston at the same hour.

Cleburne has to travel all the way to Fairlurris for its Friday night lower bracket AAA semifinals, while titlist Breckenridge faces unheralded Mount Pleasant at neutral Fort Worth at 2 p.m. Saturday in TCU Stadium.

There will be neutral sites for the other four semifinals games in Classes AA and A.

Defending AA champ Stamford meets Olney at Wichita Falls Friday night and is expected to earn its way into the finals against the victor of the Saturday night game at Austin between Brady and Pahrsville — expected to be Brady.

In Class A, Sundown and Crowell collide at Plainview Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the upper bracket match, while Madisonville and Katy get together at Spring Branch Friday night. Crowell and Katy will be slight favorites to earn a shot at the crown White Deer wore last year.

Wichita Falls was given a scare by Abilene last week, but capitalized on three intercepted passes and recovered three fumbles to turn the tide in its favor 26-12.

Port Worth Carter's tough defensive crew found Highland Park playing without its starting quarterback and managed to withstand a furious assault by the Scots' Billy Gannon to eke out a 6-0 upset.

Port Arthur broke open a tight ball game in the second half to wait to a 41-13 victory over Houston Reagan.

Corpus Christi Ray, looming more and more like the eventual champion, scored on the first play of the game and breezed to a 42-0 victory over San Antonio Edison with reserves playing much of the game.

Quick-hitting Cleburne backs punched holes in La Marque's heavy line to knock out the Tigers 28-0 and gain the spot opposite Fairlurris, which had upset San Terback and managed to withstand a furious assault by the Scots' Billy Gannon to eke out a 6-0 upset.

Port Arthur broke open a tight ball game in the second half to wait to a 41-13 victory over Houston Reagan.

Corpus Christi Ray, looming more and more like the eventual champion, scored on the first play of the game and breezed to a 42-0 victory over San Antonio Edison with reserves playing much of the game.

In the lone Saturday night game, Crowell's fleet crew romped past Liberty - Elyau 49-16.

Ray, Stamford, Olney, Crowell and Katy still boast unblemished records, while Wichita Falls and Pahrsville are unbeaten but have been tied.

Celtics Just Can't Shake Philadelphia

By United Press International

Try as they can, the Boston Celtics just can't shake off those pesky Philadelphia Warriors.

The Celtics ripped off their fifth straight victory Sunday in the National Basketball Assn., beating the Minneapolis Lakers, 121-104.

The Warriors, meanwhile, kept on Boston's tail by beating the Detroit Pistons 118-116 for their third victory in the last four games.

As a result, the Celtics, who started the season as though they didn't plan to lose a game, hold only a 2½ game lead over the Warriors in the circuit's Eastern Division race.

This time, though, the Warriors were hard pressed to beat the Pistons because Wilt Chamberlain, their hottest scorer, had to sit out the game with a bruised bone in his left foot. Chamberlain suffered the injury against the St. Louis Hawks Saturday night.

Paul Arizin wound up leading the Warriors in Chamberlain's absence with a fine 33-point effort.

In Sunday's only other cliff, the Hawks rallied behind Cliff Hagan to defeat the Cincinnati Royals, 118-104, in a nationally televised game. Hagan earned 32 points in all, 25 of them in the first half. Jack Twyman, as usual, led the Royals with 23 points.

The Standings:

Carver High Wins Tourney

WELLINGTON (SpI)—The Carver High Wildcats of Pampa won the Wellington Invitational Tournament here last weekend. The Wildcats defeated Memphis, 47-42 and Shamrock, 58-46.

In the first game, Robert Harris led Carver with 15 points, followed by Joe Niblett with 8. George Duke led Memphis with 7, James Taylor with 7, Ervin Bunton with 3, Ernest Mathis with 3, Joe Cash with 2, and R. H. Harris with 2.

In the finals, Duke led Carver's scoring with 15 points; Otis Williams tallied 12, Robert Harris 8, James Taylor 4, Robert Mitchell 3, and Joe Niblett 2.

Carver's girls beat Childress 28-15 in the first game of the tournament, but lost to Wellington, 30-24, in the second. In the first contest, Mary Duke scored 18 points, Claudette Cash 7, and Jewel Colbert 3 for Carver. In the second, Cash scored 15, Colbert 8, and Duke 4. The next action for Carver will be Friday and Saturday, in the County Invitational in Pampa.

Doug Sanders Wins Tourney

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI)—The year 1959 began with aches and pains for young Doug Sanders; he'll start the 1960 pro golf tour fresh from an impressive tournament victory and with the assurance that he's in the best of shape.

The 28-year-old Sanders, a runner-up in this year's PGA championship, won the second major tournament of his pro career Sunday when he shot a six-under-par 65 to grab the $2,800 first prize in the Coral Gables Open.

He sank a 20-foot putt for an eagle on the first hole, added four birdies and did not stray over par once in a 30-35 final round that earned him the victory by three strokes over Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla. Sanders' 72-hole total was 273 strokes.

Finsterwald, who was tied for the lead with Arnold Palmer after Saturday's third round on the 6,173-yard Biltmore Golf Club course, shot a final 3-33 — 69 to finish second with a 276 total.

Palmer soared to a fourth round 34-38 — 72 that put him in a three-man tie for third place at 278 with Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., and Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N. C.

White Sox Get Minnie Minoso

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Minnie Minoso came back to the White Sox today—and promptly made them the No. 1 choice to win the pennant again among a majority of baseball men.

Minoso was one of 11 players traded within a matter of minutes Sunday night when the White Sox completed a seven-man deal with the Indians and then, while both clubs still were congratulating themselves, the Reds and Cubs followed with a four-man swap revolving around big Frank Thomas.

Here's how the flurry wound up:

The White Sox got back Minoso, their told leftfielder whom they traded to Cleveland two years ago, plus catcher Dick Brown and lefthanded pitchers Don Ferrarese and Jack Striker in exchange for third baseman-outfielder Bubba Phillips, catcher John Romano and first baseman-outfielder Norm Cash.

Cincinnati sent Thomas to the Cubs for southpaw reliever Bill Henry and outfielders Lee Walls and Lou Jackson.

The deal for the 37-year-old Minoso caused some eyebrow lifting among those who recalled the White Sox let him go to the Indians for Early Wynn and Al Smith on Dec. 4, 1957, because they felt he was "slowing up."

"If Minoso has slowed up, I'll take a half-dozen like him," commented Baltimore Manager Paul Richards. "Last year, the White Sox had only two-thirds of an outfield; with Minoso they now have a complete one. They've added dash and they've added spirit, and I congratulate them."

Key man in the deal between the Reds and Cubs was the 30-year-old Thomas, who went to Cincinnati last winter in a seven-man trade with Pittsburgh.

Thomas, who played first, third and the outfield for the Reds, was a tremendous disappointment.

Wrestling Set Here Tonight

Bob Geigel will meet Dick Huton in tonight's main wrestling event at the Top o' Texas Sportsmen's Club on Lefors Highway. The first match gets underway at 8:30 p.m.

In a semifinals event, Tough Tony Morelli will tangle with Sonny Myers. Morelli is one of the best known "badmen" of the ring, while Myers is one of the top popular favorites in this area. This will be Myers' first appearance here for several months.

Andan Kalay meets Juan Hernandez in tonight's first event. Tonight's matches are sponsored by the Pampa Shrine Club.

CATCHES FIRST PASS
NEW YORK (UPI)—End Joe Biscaldi of the New York Giants, who played college ball at the University of Richmond, caught the first pass of his rookie National Football League season Sunday during the Giants' 48-7 rout of the Cleveland Browns.

LEARNS OF DEATH
CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., the 1958 Masters golf champion, was saddened Sunday to learn of the death of his grandmother. Palmer received the news before the start of the final round of the Coral Gables tournament.

Marijuana A Factor In Rise Of Juvenile Crimes

By ROY MCGHEE United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo.) said Saturday his Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee found smuggled Mexican marijuana a "root factor" in widespread youthful gang violence.

Hennings' panel held public hearings in five major cities coast to coast and reported that juvenile gang violence and the marijuana trade were directly related. Subcommittee investigators said the same was true in other major metropolitan areas.

Hennings said that without doubt the major source of the drug was Mexico. But he said the problem of keeping it out of the United States was apparently beyond the ability of government agents.

"We have every reason to believe," he told United Press International, "that marijuana and other narcotics move across the Mexican border from Brownsville (Tex.) and Tijuana (Lower Calif. border) and then spread across the length and breadth of the country."

The subcommittee conceded the task of adequately patrolling the 2,013 miles of the Mexican-U.S. border was difficult. But one of the difficulties, according to testimony before the subcommittee, was bureaucratic red tape.

The border is patrolled by 1,000 uniformed men under the Immigration and Naturalization Service. They are designed customs officer but are not under the direction of the Treasury Department.

There are only 53 customs agents on duty in Mexican border cities.

A customs bureau spokesman said enforcement officers were equally low in number—three in Brownsville, four in Houston, two in Corpus Christi, two in San Antonio, and about 15 in the Los Angeles area.

Narcotics law enforcement is left to customs on the border, while the Treasury Department's narcotics agents, men especially trained in investigation and enforcement of the drug laws, work the rest of the country.

The subcommittee said it is certain the volume of the marijuana trade is increasing because of the price of "reefers"—cigarettes rolled from the narcotic weed. In 1949 the price in the Los Angeles area was $1. Today it is 25 cents.

The subcommittee has not completed its investigation but a staff member said there appeared to be only two solutions, stiffer penalties and a treaty with Mexico for firm control of contraband narcotics.

Lawyers Attend Perryton Meeting

PERRYTON — A luncheon address by Alton E. Chapman, Amarillo appellate judge, and a reception honoring Congressman Walter Rogers of Pampa were among features of a legal institute sponsored here Saturday by the Northeast Panhandle Bar Association.

The institute attracted some 80 lawyers from an 11-county area. Lecturers during study sessions at the Ochiltree County Courthouse included attorneys Harold Rector, Amarillo; Allen E. Alkman, Dallas; and Cullen Smith, Waco. Smith is a former president of the State Junior Bar of Texas and currently heads the Bar's new committee on professional economics.

B. T. Fitzhugh of Perryton, local Bar president, welcomed the visiting lawyers at 9:30 a.m. Presiding duties were shared by Jack M. Allen and G. R. Close, institute co-chairmen, also of Perryton.

A luncheon and reception was held in the Harvesters Room of the Hotel Perryton.

Planes Collide In Air Over Desert

PALM DESERT, Calif. (UPI) — Two new single-engine planes collided in flight late Saturday, killing at least two persons and possibly a third in one of the crashes.

The victims were not identified immediately.

Witnesses said one of the planes, a Beechcraft Bonanza, plummeted to earth and buried itself in the sand of the plush Eldorado Country Club polo grounds.

The second plane, a Beechcraft Vacationer, made a forced landing on a street near the Desert Air Motel and was only slightly damaged.

Paul Draper Here Friday For Concert

Tap dancer Paul Draper, described by critics as "the most stylish popular dancer now at work in America" will appear in Pampa Friday night as the second Community Concert Association presentation of the season. Draper will be assisted by dancer Ellen Martin.

The Community Concert offering will be at 8 p.m. in the Pampa Junior High School Auditorium.

PAUL DRAPER ... coming Friday

Draper will present a program consisting of numbers exclusively choreographed by himself which have gained him a nationwide following.

One of the high spots of the program, according to Dr. Carl M. Lang, association president, is Draper's "Sonata For Tap Dancer" in four movements. It is a dance without music in which the classical sonata form is used by the dancer with rhythmic themes taking the place of melodic ones.

Draper's assistant, Miss Martin, has appeared on television, in shows on and off Broadway and is Draper's favorite pupil.

Folk singers, Archer and Gile, were the concert group's first presentation of the season. Draper will be followed by pianists, Eden and Tamir in January and the final concert of the Pampa season will be the Offenbach operetta, "Trip To The Moon," by the Boston Opera Co. in February.
