Russ Retract Charge Nikita, Mao Plan To Confer

Summit Strategy On Slate

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International

LONDON (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev may fly to Peiping for talks with Red China's leaders before the May 16 East-West summit meeting in Paris, Western diplomats speculated today.

The diplomats predicted that a meeting of the Communist bloc leaders might also be held before Khrushchev meets with President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle.

The speculation was based on these facts:
—Khrushchev will have nearly two months between his March 12-27 visit to Paris and the East-West summit meeting.
—He certainly would want to line up his summit plans with other Communist leaders.

Western diplomats pointed out that a meeting between Khrushchev and satellite leaders could easily be held during the May Day celebrations in Moscow. Many of them will be in the Soviet capital then, Khrushchev gave the May Day celebrations as the reason for his rejection of the original April 27 date proposed for the summit.

Khrushchev did not visit Communist China before the first East-West summit meeting in Geneva in July of 1955. But he flew to Peiping in August of 1958 when he was plugging for a summit meeting over the Middle East crisis.

Chinese Communist boss Mao Tse-tung then got Khrushchev to track on his summit campaign out of pique because the Peiping regime was not invited.

Campaigning Schedule Set

By WILLIAM THEIS
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), first acknowledged candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, kicks off his formal campaign with a major speech next Tuesday.

Humphrey, who made his official leap into the presidential arena Wednesday after months of stumping, billed the scheduled address to the National Press Club here as "my own state of the union speech."

The Minnesota senator, describing himself as the candidate of the "plain people," got a three-day jump in the presidential sweepstakes on another Democratic hopeful, Sen. John F. Kennedy (Mass.).

Kennedy called a news conference for Saturday to confirm his candidacy for the 1960 nomination. Kennedy is his party's front-runner at this point, well ahead of Humphrey in the public opinion polls.

Humphrey's speech will come the day before Congress reconvenes and two days ahead of President Eisenhower's annual State of the Union Message to a joint session on Jan. 7.

Permanent Restraining Order Issued

Court Finds For McLean Student

By MARVIN OLSEN
Daily News Staff Writer

Judge Lewis Goodrich granted Clyde Andrews a permanent restraining order against the McLean School Board late Wednesday afternoon in 51st District Court.

The decision, immediately appealed by Amarillo Attorney John Fullingim, permits 17-year-old Marsha Andrews to continue her senior year at McLean High School. She was expelled Dec. 9 for violating a student parking rule passed by the school board last May.

The rule, according to Board President Jewel Meacham, states that students driving to school must not drive their cars away from the school area before 3:45 p.m.

After three hours of argument before more than 100 spectators, Judge Goodrich gave his ruling: "I don't think a board of education has the authority to pass that kind of rule. As I see it, the rule is a police regulation. It's not a reasonable rule. The board has exceeded its authority."

Attorney Fullingim immediately announced his notice of appeal and said he will ask for an advance on the docket "for another hearing right away."

The judge's decision came at the end of testimony by eight witnesses, including Andrews and his daughter. The central issue—how far the school board's authority extends—was not touched on until the final statements by the opposing attorneys, Fullingim and Jimmy Thompson, representing Andrews.

Thompson, in a five-minute address, said: "We are here to decide if a school board has the power to govern the actions of students away from the school ground."

"I am proud to oppose the bureaucratic extension of controls by a federal agency. We talk about controls we don't like in other places; here we have one at home. How soon will it be before they extend further, into the students' entire lives. I believe the control of traffic, for safety or any other purpose, is a matter for the police or sheriff."

Thompson's views ran counter to those expressed by a number of McLean school officials, among them Superintendent Freeman Melton, Jr., High School Principal Harold Bunch, Board President Meacham, School Business Manager Charles Cousins and a former board member, Guy Beasley.

Meacham said the rule was passed May 26 because of a serious traffic problem on streets bordering the grade school and the neighboring high school.

There was talk about passing the rule for the past three years, Meacham said. "We passed it because cars driven by students were a hazard to the other children."

The rule, it was contended, implied that cars were not to be driven during the 20-minute lunch hour, and that a breach of the rule meant expulsion.

Principal Bunch, who expelled Miss Andrews, related that he had cautioned the girl "in a nice way" three times about driving her car home for lunch. The fourth time, he said, he became antagonized by her attitude and told her to turn in her books and get out of school.

The following day her father, a McLean farm equipment dealer, obtained a temporary restraining order against the nine members of the McLean Board of Education, and a day later Miss Andrews returned to classes.

It was also learned at Wednesday's hearing that the new rule was made familiar to all students through newspaper publications and by announcements at two general assemblies.

Miss Andrews said she knew of the rule but nonetheless continued to drive home for lunch.

Attorney Thompson, in questioning at the early part of the hearing, showed that Marsha Andrews was nearly a straight A student and had no traffic tickets against her record.

Underground Defenations Not Nuclear

Try To Outguess 'Grim Reaper'

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia's leading nuclear-blast expert today effectively retracted the Soviet charge that the United States has been conducting underground nuclear tests.

Prof. E. K. Federov, chief Soviet delegate to the Geneva nuclear-test talks, said the U.S. underground blasts mentioned Wednesday by the Communist organ Pravda were "chemical explosions simulating nuclear explosions."

Federov's clarification was a passing remark in a statement that was generally critical of the U.S. stand on detection of underground nuclear tests.

(In Manchester, England, the Guardian reported receiving a telephone call from a Pravda editor in London saying that Wednesday's story should not be interpreted as an accusation against the United States.)

Federov said Soviet experts believe the U.S. observations on underground explosions "will definitely be significant in the work of a (nuclear) control system," but added that they "categorically reject" U.S. treatment of the data.

"Having discovered various errors and sometimes advised incorrect propositions in the American statements and documents, Soviet experts on the basis of the same factual material in some cases, reached different conclusions," he said.

Union Poll Gives Alarm To Dems

By WILLIAM J. EATON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Communications Workers of America said today recent polls of its members show a marked decline in support for the Democratic party.

In 1948, the union poll was one of the few in the nation which indicated that President Harry S. Truman would win his fight for re-election against former New York Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

The union said the surveys indicated Democrats still have a decided edge over Republicans in the eyes of its members but this could disappear before 1960 elections.

"A decline reflecting disillusionment (with the Democrats) is definitely beginning to show," the union said in an article published in the current issue of CWA News.

Polls taken since 1958 make clear that there has been a gradual shift among CWA members away from the Democratic party, it added.

The latest survey was taken among delegates to the union's annual convention and through nationwide sampling of CWA members. The latter group closely resembles a cross-section of the U. S. adult population, the union said.

Other results showed that rank-and-file members were disappointed in the achievements of the Democratic-dominated Congress, the union said.

"If this trend becomes a reality, then the Democratic party is in for a sad awakening in 1960," the CWA pollsters said.

The CWA said 73 per cent of those surveyed in June, 1958, said they felt the Democrats were doing the best job of handling major issues. This figure dropped to 69.9 per cent a year later and fell to 49 per cent last August.

In an analysis of these figures, the union concluded: "The Democrats need constructive and imaginative leadership if this erosion is to be stopped."

CWA, which represents about 350,000 workers in the telephone and related industries, claims that its previous surveys have never been more than 1 or 2 per cent off in their predictions.

Solon Says Surety Law Will Be Killed

AUSTIN (UPI)—Sen. Jarrard

secretly warned the State Insurance Commission Wednesday the Texas Legislature would kill the new automobile insurance plan if the insurance commissioners made a mistake and they should take immediate steps to correct it by rescinding their order," the Temple lawmaker said. "If they do not, I predict the Legislature will act decisively in the matter at the first opportunity."

The new "safe driver plan" goes into effect New Year's Day. The Insurance Commission, under mounting pressure from throughout the state, has called a public hearing on the plan for Jan. 14.

The plan would raise insurance rates for drivers with traffic violations on their record, and lower rates for those that have no traffic record.

Secret called the plan "unfair and unworkable."

He said he had written a "flexible" rate bill that was turned down in the past two legislative sessions.

"My bill had a merit rating provision, but it was not based on the number of traffic tickets a driver received," he said. "It was based more realistically on claims a driver's insurance company had paid."

Ike Prestige Seen As A Peace Maker

By MARGUERITE DAVIS
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Vance Hartke (D-Ind.) urged President Eisenhower today to assert the prestige of his office to end the steel strike.

Alternatively, he urged Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell to unveil immediately the administration's plan for settling the dispute.

Hartke, from one of the nation's key steel-making states, made his proposals after Federal Mediation Chief Joseph P. Finnegan temporarily suspended government efforts to settle the seven-month-old dispute.

Finnegan said in a statement Wednesday that neither the union nor management was willing to compromise now because both were too busy lobbying for votes in next month's government-conducted poll of the Steelworkers on the companies' last offer.

Hartke said both management and labor would head a presidential summons to a conference with Eisenhower or some other high administration official.

The senator said Eisenhower's "strong popular support" would help pressure the Steelworkers and the companies into settling the dispute.

"They wouldn't want to irritate the President," he said.

Hartke criticized Mitchell's refusal to make public now any administration plan for settling the dispute in case the strike resumes when the 86-day Taft-Hartley back-to-work order expires Jan. 26.

Hartke said he asked Mitchell in November to disclose any government settlement plan.

dew tell!

by Doris E. Wilson

Pampa News Women's Editor

Did you ever hear of a First Footer? We hadn't either until we were introduced to the idea in an article by Pat Boone in the January issue of Ladies' Home Journal.

The purpose behind being a "First Footer" is to take a first step into the New Year with a gesture of love and goodwill toward your fellow man. It is an adventure in fun that will insure your awaking on that first important day of a New Year with a Good Feeling.

Pat explains that in Scotland tradition, the First Footer is the most important person at any New Year's party. He or she is the first person who steps over the threshold after the clock strikes twelve. And it's very important luck for the family if he doesn't come empty-handed.

In Scotch tradition, deciding to be a First Footer and whose threshold you wish to cross (whether alone or in a group) is a gay but definitely meaningful idea, because you might choose your best friends or your worst enemy.

One group of teenagers in a big-city school really worked at this idea. On New Year's Eve they'd get together for a big party in someone's home and made sure to invite any of their friends who were carrying on feuds or nursing grudges.

Cupcakes were provided and a half hour before twelve the guests separated into groups (each group contained one of the soreheads) then they would First Foot it to the house of the enemy. Even if the enemy wasn't home, they were honor bound to cross the threshold and leave the cake. Feuds faded and fences were mended by one footstep and one small New Year's cupcake.

At least it was a step in the right direction.

Another idea for New Year's comes from Europe and is called "dipping." This time honored custom calls for the head of the house (or any individual) as soon as he wakes up on New Year's Day to pull from under his pillow the Bible he had placed there the night before. With closed eyes he opens the Bible points to a passage and then reads it aloud to his family. He continues dipping in the Bible until he feels he has gained the direction and strength for the coming year. As a regular thing, this dipping would be as valuable if performed daily in a systematic way.

But whether you "first foot" or practice "dipping" to usher in the New Year, may it be a very happy one for each of you filled with worthwhile accomplishments.

Beauty is a tip-toe state. When you dress in tomorrow's lighter colored leather and mesh shoes, keep them as neat and clean as possible. Nothing detracts more from one's appearance than shoes that are discolored and rundown at the heels. When cleaning mesh footwear, put a white cloth inside the shoe. This absorbs the dirt being chased away by the cleaner.

Women who find themselves breathless or with tiny aches and pains after wearing a girly may take comfort from a man. The gentleman, though he was a victim of heart disease. After visiting a doctor he learned his trousers were too tight around the waist. The moral: don't insist on wearing clothing that cuts circulation.

A light headpiece for summer evenings is a little trellis-like affair covered in green velvet and trimmed with red rosebuds. Most hat bars have them.

British Cousin Wins Trip With Essay On Achievement Of 'Peace In Our Time'

"Woman to Woman"
By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Janet Mary Adams, one of our British cousins, has a plan to achieve peace in these times.

The Lancashire lass, 18, spelled out her plan in an essay. For her efforts, she won a trip to the United States for the holidays.

Miss Adams, a "Junior ambassador," represented Great Britain at the recent New York world premiere of "On the Beach." That was her official duty as a winner of the plan-for-peace essay contest conducted by Britain's Empire News and Sunday Chronicle.

"My philosophy of peace," the pretty brunette said, "could lead man out of his present fear and confusion."

"The aim is universal peace of mind which, though not an end in itself, would create that medium of tranquility in which our mental faculties can make most progress."

"That is the theme Miss Adams expanded in her prizewinning essay.

"The method of achieving peace," she wrote, "is in three stages — each representing one form of peace: first, there must be freedom from all hostilities; then, national governments will have time and resources to devote to the second stage, civil peace."

"The third stage is the securing of harmonious relations between all men. Thus we have world peace, national peace, peace in community and peace of mind."

"There are the ideals I would try to promote among all peoples if I had the power."

Success depends, she said, on existence of a climate for peace. She defined this as "a worldwide belief in and desire for peace."

"If everyone made their contribution along these lines—peace on earth and good will towards men would be a permanent reality and not just a yuletide sentiment," reminded Miss Adams.

The peace-loving teenager is the daughter of Major John Murray Adams, a professional British army officer.

She recently graduated from Cowley Girls School, a grammar school which is the equivalent of an American high school.

Recently, she applied for a commission in the Women's Royal Army Corps. When she returns to England, Miss Adams will report for a WRAC interview—and acceptance, she hopes.

Miss Adams wants to see a football "match" before she returns. She also wants to buy some British shoes.

"I like the British shoes made for Americans ever so much better than the ones so busy in England. Our shoes there are quite utilitarian. They are not at all attractive as the ones made for export."

End Of Holidays Brings Leisure

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

For many women, the days right after the holidays are a letdown. The gorgeous festival, with its parties and dinners and renewed friendships, is over. The tree comes down and the last bit of tinsel is cleared out and the ornaments are tucked away until next year.

But there's another side of the coin. If the glowing hospitality has ended, so has the fatigue which is an accompaniment. Now's the time to go on a simple diet of plain food in order to shed those pounds that have piled up from holiday feasting.

It's the time, too, for quiet reflection and a leisurely evening with that book that was a Christmas gift. Curled up in your Christmas robe, you can feel yourself relax. Try out some of your new perfumes. Have a leisurely bath with all of those powders, oils and bath salts you found under the tree on Christmas morning. Play your new records.

In short, make sensible and cheerful use of the pleasant moments of Christmas.

Make-up can work miracles in this day and age but it cannot successfully conceal fatigue. Fatigue etches lines in the face, turns the skin gray, takes sparkle from the eyes and gloss from the hair. It can give a woman a sagging, defeated look.

And so often, it's unnecessary. It accumulates through evenings of watching TV, gossiping on the phone, putting and putting off the hour of going to bed. It also accumulates through hours on a job or keeping a home running smoothly.

But the smart woman learns to plan her life so that rest and work mesh smoothly. She comes to know the limitations of her strength and to see to it that she has, without fail, enough sleep to keep her functioning efficiently and looking alert. Life is much more fun and far more rewarding when you feel well-rested.

In this time of attractive eyeglasses, it's surprising how many women fail to keep them clean. Smearly-looking glasses were never an aid in making a beauty of any woman. Your glasses should be polished clean with a slightly damp cloth each morning.

Don't neglect the temple pieces and the bridge, either. These are the spots where powder and rouge collect, adding their bit to the film.

Bouffant Style Becomes Beehive

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The bouffant coiffure has had its day. The new hair style will be one of smooth elegance for winter and spring.

Starting with the Christmas festivities, the winter season lends itself, far more than any other time of year, to formal, dress-up occasions. And what's needed to set off evening clothes is a smooth, high-piled coiffure.

Antoine, dean of hairdressers, who is in this country from Paris, has designed a new hairdo that creates the illusion of tall elegance. He calls it the beehive. And it is coiffed high and wrapped into exquisitely composed, polished and lustrous patterns.

To achieve this new tall elegance, the actual manipulation of the coiffure goes on below the surface. Sufficient underpinning must be arranged to give the hair support for its rising line.

The basic ingredient for the success of this hairdo is a permanent wave. It should not be a curly one, but a wave that is soft and merely gives the hair bulk.

This new coiffure can be designed into an almost conical point, or the crown may be more levelled and rounded. The ears are exposed. But, if you look better with your ears covered, this, too can be done without losing any of the beauty of the hairstyle. And almost always, the nape of the neck is bared.

The beehive hairdo is becoming to almost every woman. The degree of severity depends upon the regularities of the features. And this new coiffure can be highly dramatic when the hair is tinted in either vertical or horizontal bands, contrasting the rest of the head.

For evening, Antoine suggests that his regal hairdo be embellished with a beautiful ornament. He believes that nothing makes a woman feel as superbly elegant as the added adornment of a sparkling jewel in the coiffure.

So, join the parade of regal elegance and forget your casual, bouffant hairstyle. What could be more appropriate for the festive winter season than this sleek new coiffure?

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When I was hired to do secretarial work I wasn't told that I was also expected to do the work of a cleaning woman. I don't mind dusting off my own desk and the file cabinets, but when my boss asks me to please vacuum the carpet, wipe off the Venetian blinds and to dust his furniture — well, I think I am being taken advantage of. He is a good boss in every other way. The pay is excellent and I get plenty of time off and generous bonuses. But this grates me. I've been seriously considering scouting around for another job. Or do other secretaries do these chores?

GRIPED: "Better to live with the ills you know than to fly to others you know not of." You have plenty of secretaries in your boat. Don't rock it!

DEAR ABBY: What does a woman do when she realizes that her marriage is absolutely hopeless? I have been married to this bum for 21 years and there is no love lost. It died a long time ago. There isn't room in your column to print all the reasons I have for wanting to be rid of him. Don't tell me to stay with him because of the children because they already hate him. Divorce is out because of our religion. I want to know if I can force him to support me and the kids. I am not trained to support myself.

HOPELESS MARRIAGE: I want to know if I can force him to support me and the kids. I am not trained to support myself.

DEAR HOPELESS: I don't give legal advice in my column, but I think everyone should be aware that a husband is required by law to support his wife and children. If you doubt it—ask any lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: I have a sister-in-law who has a lovely new home. But nobody ever sees her furnishings because she has rugs on her rugs and covers on her covers. All the furniture and lamps and even the carpets are covered with old, beat-up, faded bedspreads and tablecloths.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DESPERATE S. J.: I answer everyone who sends a self-addressed, stamped envelope (and if he can't afford a stamp, I supply it). Yes, your letter will be confidential and will not appear in the paper.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

RUTH MILLETT

"What's the matter with me?" asks a housewife who is the mother of three. "My friends are all so much more efficient than I am. They put me to shame when it comes to housekeeping, entertaining beautifully, always being perfectly groomed, and so on."

"I'm always apologizing, because I didn't have time to get my hair done, or the living room is filled with the half-finished projects my cub scouts are making, or the buffet supper I'm serving guests is late because a neighbor dropped in to tell me her troubles when I should have been getting things under way."

"I admit my children seem to love their home, and so do their friends and the neighbors' children, and my husband hasn't complained about my lack of efficiency. But when I compare myself with my friends, I just don't measure up."

Stop comparing yourself with your friends and stop apologizing to them for not being as efficient as they are.

A woman who encourages her children to bring their friends home, who can always take time to listen to a neighbor's troubles or to visit with someone who is lonely, who realizes that some things have to settle for being neat instead of glamorous. Beautiful entertaining heart, who isn't as important as the small kindnesses.

Those are a part of everyday living for a woman with an understanding heart, who isn't in too big a rush to take a little time to do something for someone else. There are undoubtedly things you can do to make your life run a little more smoothly. But you can't change your whole personality and set of values, and out shouldn't try to.

Let your friends express themselves in the ways that seem important to them. YOU go right on being yourself, without apology.

Here's to the NEW YEAR ... may it be the BEST EVER

Friends meet and part, going their separate ways through the maze and patterns of life, but neither time nor distance takes the influences left by the warm traits of personality and friendship.

Friendship is one of the great compensations of living. A friend cheers you in triumph, lends solace to your sorrows, demands and gives everything cheerfully.

One remembers friends both near and far as the Old Year dies, and the New Year is born. A bright crisp new page unfolds for our story to be written upon.

We hope that as the new story on the new page of the New Year is inscribed for you that each and every day brings you much sunshine and happiness.

And this is the warmest wish that friend can extend to friend.

Events That Made News In Pampa During 1959

News in Pampa during 1959 showed a composite of death and destruction, grief and pathos, a story of building and advancement for Pampa — and human kindness and understanding.

Probably the top story of the year it impacted was the Gilking Apartment House fire in the early morning hours of Aug. 24, when five members of one family were burned to death. Following in order, but not in order of importance, are nine more that make up the top ten.

Charles Poston, Jr., was crushed to death in a city garbage truck accident on Jan. 6.

Jan. 9, construction began on the courthouse parking lot that set off a bitter feud among citizens.

Ground was broken for the Coronado Inn April 21.

Plans for Pampa's convalescent home took shape June 21.

More than five inches of rain fell. Streets and underpasses flooded, Sept. 23.

William Ray Hubbard charged with murder of Jerry Lytton Oct. 7.

Lefors couple killed in car-truck crash Oct. 29.

Two of three victims die after being injured in tank blast Nov. 6.

Manhunt Nov. 27.

The news year began Jan. 1 with the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Henry, residents of Recreation Park. Born at 1:30 a.m., the boy received gifts from several Pampa merchants.

January 5: At about 10:15 a.m., Charles Poston, Jr., died when his body was caught between the "flappers" of a Sanitation Department garbage truck.

California Stuns West Virginians

By TIM MOHARTY
United Press International

California dumped West Virginia from the unbeaten ranks holding vaunted Jerry West to the field goal - and the only reason the same fate didn't befall top-ranked Cincinnati was because no one could hold Oscar Robertson.

The Golden Bears, in a remarkable display of skill - hawking, blocked West Virginia, 65-45, Tuesday night in the final of the Los Angeles Classic to duplicate their victory over the Mountaineers in last season's CAA title game.

Cincinnati survived an early case in the final of the Holiday Festival Tournament against Iowa as Robertson smashed two records with a 50-point performance that carried the Bearcats to their ninth straight triumph, 98-83.

West carried his lone basket against California with a 25-point play and wound up with eight points as the Mountaineers James Darrall Inhoff, Cal's 6-10 center, also was off in his shooting, scoring only five points, but rebounding played a big part in the Bears' 25th straight victory.

Bill McClintock took up the lack for Inhoff with a 23-point barrage while Tandy Gillis, guarded by West, added 18. It was just like old (pre-seasonal) times at Madison Square Garden as a capacity crowd of 18,000 watched Robertson strut his stuff against dogged Iowa. Although the Cincinnati hotshot played almost the final 10 minutes with four personal fouls against him, his 50 points set a single game record for the Holiday Festival and gave him a three-game total of 122 for another tournament mark.

Iowa, a 12-point underdog, zoomed to a 24-13 lead in the first nine minutes. However, Robertson then rammed in six field goals and a free throw in less than four minutes and the Bearcats were off to the races.

At halftime, Robertson left the floor with 33 points that carried Cincinnati to a 54-42 bulge. The Hawkeyes again started fast in the second half to reduce their deficit to 55-51 but Big O went on another tear to yank the Bearcats out of trouble for the last time.

Other major tournament champions crowned Wednesday night included Wake Forest in the Dixie Classic, Western Kentucky in the Sugar Bowl, Iowa State in the Big Eight Conference tournament, Utah State in the All-College and Texas A&M in the Southwest Conference tournament.

Billy Packer, a 5-10 sophomore guard, converted two free throws with five seconds remaining to help Wake Forest edge North Carolina, 53-50, and give the Deacons their first Dixie Classic title. Packer wound up with 14 points and the tournament's MVP award.

Western Kentucky presented Coach Ed Diddle with his 700th victory and the Sugar Bowl championship by downing Tulane, 71-57. Charlie Johnson scored 28 points and Bobby Rascoe added 21 for the Hilltoppers, who hit on 30.9 per cent of their shots from the field.

Sophomore Vinnie Brewer, a New York City import, scored 21 points in sparking Iowa State to an 83-70 triumph over Kansas in the final of the Big Eight's jamboree. Wayne Hightower tallied 24 points for the Jayhawks.

Utah State led all the way in breezing to a 75-59 victory over Oklahoma City University in a rough windup to the All-College Tournament. Bob Sahnmuat of OCU suffered a possible broken cheek bone and teammate Fred Moses was treated for a possible broken rib in the wild affair.

Mississippi is a seven-point choice over Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans. LSU handed Mississippi its only loss in 10 starts this year, but the odds-makers like the Rebel this time, possibly because halfback Johnny Robinson, Louisiana State's leading pass-catcher, broke his hand in practice last week.

Robinson's hand has been swathed in bandages and there is a chance he will see some action in the game that is expected to draw 42,000.

National champion Syracuse, sporting an unblemished 10-0 record, ranks the most solid favorite of all the bowl teams. The Orange is a 12½-point choice to beat Texas (9-1) in the Cotton Bowl before an anticipated turnout of 75,000 at Dallas.

Syracuse Coach Ben Schwartzwalder said his team is in fine shape, while Texas Coach Darrell Royal said he thought the outcome would be closer than most people expect.

Georgia is rated 11 points better than Missouri in their Orange Bowl clash at Miami, Fla., where a crowd of 75,000 is expected to be on hand. Georgia brings a 9-1 record into the game and Missouri a 6-4 slate. Missouri is pinning most of its hopes for spring-able to play the rest of the season. Because of a tie-in the voting, there were six players named to the all-tournament team. Besides Broussard, they are Wayne Lawrence of A&M, Steve Strange and Max Williams of SMU, Carroll Dawson of Baylor and Jay Arnette of Texas.

Named to the second team were Ronnie Garner and Clyde Rhoden, Arkansas; Wilbur Marsh, SMU; Bobby Tyler, TCU, and Del Ray Mounts, Texas Tech.

Coach Bob Rogers, in his third year at A&M, said the Aggies were determined not to lose. "Those kids' great determination was the winning factor for us," he said.

The Cadets were tied with less than a minute to go. Rogers called for a time out just after Broussard had shoved in a free throw on a technical foul. A&M held the ball.

"The whole team decided that Broussard would make the shot," Rogers said. "They decided to work it in and feed him the ball." Broussard got his chance with 14 seconds left. He scored on a one-handed jump shot for a 56-51 bulge.

An Loudermilk had a chance to deadlock the game for the Mustangs. In the final seconds, he was fouled, hit his first free throw, but missed the second. Lawrence added the insurance points for A&M after the final gun. He was fouled by Williams as the game ended.

ALL-STATE — Benny Stout, Pampa Harvester tackle, was named this week to the all-state team selected by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Earlier, Stout was the top vote-getter at both the offensive tackle and defensive end position on the 3-4A all-district team. Back Geary Taylor of Tascosa was also named to the Star-Telegram's honor team. Two other 3-4A players, guard Durward Epps of Tascosa and back Gordon Beardgard of Borger, received honorable mention.

Four Major Bowl Games Slated New Year's Day

By United Press International

Wisconsin, Mississippi, Syracuse and Georgia have been named the favorites for Friday's major bowl games which are expected to attract a total of 330,000 football fans from Florida to California.

And for those who can't wait, there will be some action today in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., where North Texas State ranks a two-touchdown choice over New Mexico State.

The big day, however, will be Friday with four major bowl games on tap in addition to a pair of minor ones.

Wisconsin's bone-rattling Badgers are 6½-point favorites over Washington in the Rose Bowl game, or "granddaddy of all bowl games" as it is sometimes called, at Pasadena, Calif. A crowd of 98,000 is expected for this one in which the Badgers will enter the game with a 7-2 record and the Huskies with a 9-1 mark.

Mississippi is a seven-point choice over Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans.

LSU handed Mississippi its only loss in 10 starts this year, but the odds-makers like the Rebel this time, possibly because halfback Johnny Robinson, Louisiana State's leading pass-catcher, broke his hand in practice last week.

ing an upset on its powerful line. The two other games to be played on New Year's Day will be in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., and the Prairie View Bowl at Houston, Tex. Middle Tennessee (9-0-1) was a slight favorite over larger Presbyterian (6-1) in the Tangerine and Prairie View A&M (8-2) was the choice over Wiley (Tex.) (2-6) in the Prairie View.

Three more bowl games are scheduled for Jan. 2. Georgia Tech (6-4) meets Arkansas (8-2) in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.; the East All-Stars face the West All-Stars in the Shrine game at San Francisco, and the Major College All-Stars oppose the Small College All-Stars in the All-America Bowl at Tucson, Ariz. The East is a seven-point favorite and Georgia Tech is a one-point choice. Odds-makers listed no line on the game at Tucson.

Chicago (UPI)—Dick Tiger, British Empire 160-pound champion, today looked for a higher ranking among the middleweights and a possible crack at Gene Fulmer's title as a reward for his close victory over Holy Mims.

Tiger, a muscular Nigerian who enjoyed a No. 6 ranking before winning a split decision over the Baltimore veteran a Wednesday night, agreed it was a close and "maybe even a dull" fight.

But he blamed Mims' flicking left jab and bicycle style for making it that kind of fight. "I was trying all the time," Tiger said later. "All he did was to keep me from coming in with those flicks of his. They weren't even jabs."

Harvesters Meet Denton Here In 2-Game Series

Bronchos Have Defeated Bowie

Pampa's Harvesters may be facing their two toughest games of the year when they meet the Denton Bronchos here Friday and Saturday.

The Harvesters have a 14-5 record for the year (including a 13-game winning streak at one time); they have a slight edge in a couple of comparative scores, and they have one player who is averaging more than 24 points per game.

The Bronchos have lost to Fort Worth Poly, Birdville, Fort Worth Paschal, Dallas Hillcrest and Bowie. However, they also beat all of these teams except Paschal.

Denton lost its first two games of the year, then went on a 13-game winning streak. The Bronchos then cooled off again, and dropped three of their next four.

Against Bowie, the one common opponent for Pampa and Denton, the Harvesters did better in comparative scores, although they split with Bowie while Pampa took both games. The Bronchos lost to Bowie 80-57 at Bowie, but came back to trounce the Jackrabbits 64-35 in Denton. The Harvesters defeated Bowie by close margins of 61-53 and 64-59, both times in Pampa.

During their winning streak, the Harvesters hit between 40 and 60 percent of their shots each game. The player most responsible for their shooting streak was 6-foot, 6-inch center Dan Smith, their only returning regular.

Smith has an average of 21.3 points per game, hitting both short and long shots. Twice he has gone over the 40-point mark, and he has made 30 or more points three times. He has seldom scored less than 20 points, although the last two teams Denton played managed to hold him by guarding him with three men.

Two other Denton players, forwards Don Holt and Craig Harris, have been hitting in double figures. They, like Smith, are capable of hitting from both near the basket and from the outside. Both are juniors. Holt is 6 feet even, while Harris is 5-10.

Other Denton starters are junior guards King Neale, 6-0, and Al Neale, 6-0. Carl Wilkinson, a 5-11 junior, is the only non-starter who sees quite a bit of action.

The Bronchos' attack is similar to that of the Harvesters, since they depend heavily on speed and accurate shooting. They run from a single-post offensive pattern, with Smith the only post man.

Denton lost four starters, including all-star Dwayne Riney, from the team which gave last year's state champion Harvester squad a couple of close battles. However, many of those who have watched Denton in action this year consider Smith a better player than Riney, and the Bronchos a better team than last year's Denton squad.

Cross-Fire And Backlashes

BY CHARLIE CROSS

Our local game warden, Jack Woodford of Miami, says hunters are still downing lots of birds, even though we'd reached the middle of the season. Jack says hunters aren't losing as many birds since the rain, and hunting conditions are ideal for dogs. Said he and two other fellows went out Monday and got 41 bobwhite, hunting on the Canadian river North of here.

Jim Leverich, who has probably done more to introduce and perpetuate the popularity of the Britany Spaniel in West Texas than any other man, went down to the eastern part of Gray County with Dr. Malcolm Brown, but said they spent most of the time watching Jim's little field trial gyrfalcon. This is the dog that took first place in the Northern Oklahoma Field Trials at Stillwater, has run in the trials at Lawton, Oklahoma, and more recently in the National Britany Championship trials at Carbondale, Ill. He's name is Way-Kan Jill, and we'd like to go on record as predicting you'll hear a lot more of her in the next year or so.

Don't know whether you've ever hunted behind a Britany or not, but I have. I use to think there was only one bird-dog worth looking at, the English Pointer. I hunted with a cousin's Britny a couple of weeks and changed my mind. The world's only pointing spaniel, they not only hunt well and keep up with dogs a lot larger than they, but they also make wonderful pets.

By the way, quail hunters are urged again this year to send in bands found on bird they kill, and especially bands from a n y Coturnix quail. By getting in the bands, the Game and Fish Commission will be able to trace the movement of these birds. As far as I'm concerned, they can move the blue out of the country. I'll take Elites, or the real old Bill White.

The department announced today that breeding stock of native bobwhite quail will be available for game breeders, from the Tyler farm after Jan. 1. They will be $3 a pair, and applications should be sent to the Game Commission in Austin.

If there was a gun in your Christmas stocking this year, treat it with respect. There are 19 rules of good gun safety, but I think a couple of them are all. First, treat every gun as though it were loaded, and second, never point a gun at anything you don't want to kill.

Fresh water fishermen should put away their tackle during the winter months. Many big bass, and other fish are caught fishing deep down. For instance, Bill Thomas of Perryton, fishing in Possum Kingdom, took his limit of 3 and 4 Bass in the Barge. Bill was using minnows and fishing deep.

Outdoorsmen will soon have one of the finest fishing spots and playgrounds in the southwest. Northeast of Jasper in East Texas, where the Angelina River makes an oxbow turn. When McGee Bend Dam is completed some time in the summer of 1964, water will back 40 miles into five East Texas counties to create the State's second largest lake. The new lake will be second only to Texhoma with a maximum capacity of 4,040,800 acre feet of water.

As a final word, a cock pheasant in New Hampshire has "adopted" a manmade bird, a red and cream Airplane. Everytime the plane's motors are started, the pheasant emerges from nearby cover and takes up a position beneath the left wing. As the plane taxis down the runway, the bird follows until the craft is airborne. Coming in, the plane is met by the bird, which escorts it to the parking ramp.

Nevertheless, as Mr. Buckley points out, our lives are enmeshed in the works of the liberals.

Over Statement We think Mr. Buckley or Mr. Chodorov is a little careless in the use of his quote.

Despite its lack of intellectual integrity — or perhaps because of it — liberalism is riding high, wide, and handsome.

Amalgamation On The Right "Conservatism has a time-honored and definitive literature."

Indeed, human beings in the United States have rather well evolved a desire and a willingness to regulate the matter of births individually without political overseers.

But one must consider more than just biology. And when we approach human kind we find so many factors relating to human survival that the simple matter of man's sexual fertility becomes less than all-purposeful, all-dominant.

Meaning Read Into Wording Rockefeller Statement

WASHINGTON WINDOW
By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. A. Rockefeller's bombshell withdrawal from the contest for Republican presidential nomination may put Vice President Richard M. Nixon in a bad spot on the defensive.

The challenging key words in Rockefeller's weekend statement were: "The great majority of those who will control the Republican nomination stood opposed to any stand for the (presidential) nomination."

The great majority of those who will control the Republican nomination stood opposed to any stand for the (presidential) nomination.

Democrats called their own open convention in contrast to the Republican convention which they said was closed.

The Democrats could have a better issue on open-closed conventions in 1960: That would be Nixon came out of the Republican convention tagged by Rockefeller as the nominee whom the party leaders protected from all opposition: the bosses' man.

Nixon's strategists certainly did not foresee this Rockefeller action. The vice president was on a sight-seeing tour with a young relative Saturday when the governor's statement erupted from Albany. The Nixon camp had been aware, however, of annoyed intimations from Rockefeller sources that the vice president was the Republican machine choice.

The polls for what they fear, indicate that Nixon is far stronger today than Rockefeller, not merely with party bosses but with the rank and file. Future polls will be especially interesting. They may show whether the rank and file will switch to Rockefeller—the man the party bosses counted on.
