Steel Talks Planned Today

By RUDY CERNKOVIC
United Press International

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Federal Mediation Chief Joseph P. Finnegan tried again today to end the deadlocked five-day steel walkout in separate meetings with the United Steelworkers and representatives of the 12 major steel companies.

Finnegan planned meetings in New York City with management at 10 a.m. e.d.t. and with the union at 2 p.m.

The head of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service conducted fruitless talks with the two groups last Thursday, the day after 500,000 steel workers walked off the job.

While Finnegan meets in the conference room with the two sides, the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. will go into two Western Pennsylvania courtrooms to seek an injunction against what it terms "illegal picketing" by steel workers at three of its plants.

Seeks to Restrain Pickets
J&L seeks to restrain pickets at two plants in Pittsburgh and one at Aliquippa, Pa., from denying free passage to some 1,000 supervisory personnel engaged in maintenance work at the three plants.

The union locals have adopted a "once you go out, you stay out" policy, keeping the supervisors virtual prisoners in the plant since the beginning of the strike last Wednesday.

A political note has also crept into the strike news. Sen. Jacob K. Javits (N.Y.) said in a television interview Sunday in the nation's capital that a continuing strike would hurt GOP chances in the 1960 election.

Javits and Rep. Chester Bowles (D.Conn.), appearing on another TV program, called on the President to take a more active part in trying to terminate the walkout.

Javits said "the sooner the President appoints a fact-finding board" in the strike "the sooner we will get some conclusion."

Bowles, asserting that the industry should hike wages and cut prices, said that steel prices had risen faster than wages and that labor costs had actually decreased, due to increased per-man output.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) also said Sunday that his Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee would reopen hearings soon on alleged price-fixing by the steel industry. In the past, Kefauver charged, steel companies have boosted steel prices more than twice the amount needed to pay increased wages.

Cuban Peasants To Rejoice Over Revolt

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY
United Press International

HAVANA (UPI)—Thousands of peasants carrying machetes poured into Havana today for the start of a weeklong celebration of the Cuban revolution and a new pledge of allegiance to its hero, Fidel Castro.

The Cuban government purged of a president Castro charged had blocked the forward march of the revolution, was expected to start working with new speed to carry up "large farms for the peasants and prosecute objectors." The new president, Dr. Osvaldo Dorticos Torrada, drafted the texts of many revolutionary laws and decrees and he was expected to sign any that had been left by ousted President Manuel Urrutia Lleo.

Urrutia and Castro both were out of town Sunday. After Castro forced Urrutia's resignation in a four-hour telecast by charging him with near treason, Urrutia rushed to his brother-in-law's house at Bauta, 20 miles east of Havana. The Army put an armed guard about the house.

That will be the sixth anniversary of his abortive attack on the Moncada Army barracks in Santiago. It took him five-and-a-half years after that defeat to oust Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

About 7,000 peasants from Oriente province, Castro's old campaign headquarters, set up tents at camp Liberty Sunday. They were the vanguard of tens of thousands of peasants who will be pouring into the capital all this week in cars, buses, trucks and trains.

Red Uprising In Iraq Leaves 50-100 Dead

MIAMI HIGHWAY FATALITY
At 12:05 a.m. Sunday the 1959 Ford above was demolished and the driver killed when the car veered off the Miami Highway and rammmed a tree at about 65 miles per hour. The driver, Jack W. Pritchett, 34, of Spearman, was killed instantly. The car was owned by the Baker and Taylor Drilling Co., the employer of Pritchett. Pritchett's death was the fourth recorded in Gray County this year.

Commiss Hang Many Notables

By DAVID DUGAN
United Press International

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Two Cairo newspapers reported today that a Communist uprising in Iraq against the government of Premier Abdel-Karim Kassem in the oil city of Kirkuk was still raging and that the Communists were hanging a "large number" of notables there.

The death toll was estimated at between 50 and 100 persons.

A clandestine radio calling itself the Voice of Free Iraq also reported today the fighting had spread to the city of Anah across the top of Iraq from Kirkuk and that Communists there had made "another" attempt to capture the city.

Conflicting reports received in London from the British embassy in Baghdad indicated that "the situation in Kirkuk now seems to be calm," a British Foreign Office spokesman said.

Most of the happenings in Iraq were veiled by heavy government censorship but the government confirmed Sunday night that the Communists began an attempt on July 14 to seize control. July 14 is the first anniversary of the uprising against King Faisal.

The major fighting was reported confined to the city of Kirkuk where an army brigade maintained a tight perimeter around the city.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon has sent word to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev that he will keep in the strictest confidence any discussions they may have in Moscow.

Nixon, who leaves Wednesday for a tour of the Soviet Union, was said to hope that his assurance of secrecy would encourage Khrushchev to transmit to him any confidential message he might have for President Eisenhower.

It was emphasized that the vice president does not know whether Khrushchev will have such a message. But it should be noted that Nixon has said he should state it and to discuss cold war problems generally.

There has been an announcement that Khrushchev will confer with Nixon. But such a meeting is regarded as virtually certain, especially since Eisenhower received First Deputy Soviet Premier Frol R. Kozlov during his recent visit here.

Nixon asked Kozlov to relay to Khrushchev assurances that the intended to respect the privacy of any conversations he might have with the Soviet leader.

Associates of the vice president said this reflected the serious view Nixon takes of his expected talks with Khrushchev. They said he feels he could best serve the U.S. government by creating an atmosphere in which Khrushchev would talk freely.

Nixon said Saturday that he expected to visit six cities in Russia, including four key industrial areas in Siberia. A tentative itinerary calls for him to visit Leningrad and the Siberian cities of Novosibirsk, Sverdlovsk, Nizhniy Tagil and Belyarsk, as well as Moscow.

Nixon will spend four days in Moscow where he will open the American National Exhibition on Friday.

TAX BILL IS STILL PROBLEM IN HOUSE

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press International

AUSTIN (UPI)—A House committee resumes the task today of drafting a tax bill as lawmakers move into the first full week of the "third" special session deadlocked on finances.

The House Revenue and Taxation committee, headed by Rep. V. L. (Bo) Ramsey of Beckville, set a 2:30 p.m. meeting to consider all tax bills introduced in the House by noon. Six tax measures, studied with sales taxes, were introduced last Friday as the session opened.

Gov. Price Daniel in a hard-hitting speech to the legislature Friday pledged a continuing fight to enact a tax aimed at natural gas pipelines, urging a "higher levy than he previously recommended."

The governor called for a severance beneficiary tax on natural gas of one-half cent per 1,000 cubic feet, which would raise an estimated 40 million dollars during the next two fiscal years. The proposal calls for a higher levy than Daniel's earlier suggestion of a three per cent value tax.

Daniel was joined in his battle by the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association and the Texas State AFL-CIO.

The governor asked lawmakers to act speedily and solve the state's financial problems within 10 days to two weeks, which would require floor action on tax bills by the end of the week.

Early Committee Action
He asked that the legislature rescue the state "from the brink of financial disaster," and provide revenues necessary to keep state government in operation after the new biennium starts Sept. 1.

Early House action was expected on a $2,400,000,000 spending program for the next biennium, appropriating some 322 million dollars from the depleted general revenue fund. The bill was expected to go to a joint House-Senate Conference Committee early this week.

Conferees have been working on the appropriations bill during the previous two special sessions but did not report a spending program to the floor, waiting for action on taxes.

Time Ran Out
House and Senate conferees reported last Thursday, as the second over-extended session ended, that they felt a tax bill could be agreed upon if they had two or three days time. Those conferees had been assigned the bill only a few hours earlier in the day.

The severance beneficiary tax on natural gas returned to the spotlight when the House voted by a narrow 76-72 margin Thursday to instruct its conferees to work for such a tax. But time ran out without agreement on a proposed 180 million dollar tax bill.

Thus far this year, the 56th legislature has worked more than 180 days through a 130-day regular session which ended in May, and two consecutive 30-day special sessions.

Doctor Says Long Not In 'Right Mind'

HOUSTON (UPI)—A noted New Orleans doctor said today that Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long "definitely is not in his right mind."

This is the opinion of Dr. Allen Ochsner, head of a well-known hospital and surgeon at the New Orleans clinic that bears his name. Dr. Ochsner is in Houston to speak before the 25th Texas post-graduate medical assembly.

"Long will remain governor of Louisiana," Ochsner said. "But he is definitely not in his right mind." (See DOCTOR, Page 3)

'Black Mailing' Might Be Halted

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International

GENEVA (UPI)—The Western powers planned today to demolish the Soviet's new "black mailing" plan for Berlin despite the risks of any new crisis over West Berlin, informed sources reported.

Two key meetings were scheduled for today with the West seeking the initiative from the Soviet's Andrei Gromyko for the first time since the Geneva talks resumed a week ago.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd was to lunch with Gromyko and planned to tell him the Russian plan was unacceptable. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was chief speaker at a following plenary session and was to expound Lloyd's rejection and offer an alternate plan instead.

The Soviet plan calls for establishment of an all-German commission. The commission would set down East and West Germans as equals and Western diplomats said it was intended to communize all of Germany.

Observers said the Soviet presentation amounted to a form of blackmail. The West accepts the Russian plan or there will be no agreement on Berlin.

Gromyko has talked increasing ly tough in recent meetings and there was some belief the Russians would precipitate another West Berlin crisis if the plan was rejected outright.

But the West was determined to seize the propaganda initiative for a change and come up with an alternate plan that would win world approval while showing up the Soviet plan in its true light.

The counter-plan agreed upon by the Western ministers this week end calls for some sort of Big Four advisory body to study German reunification with East and West Germans attached to it. France and West Germany objected at first to such an idea but later agreed it would be all right for the Bonn government to sit down with the Communists.

Driver, 34, Killed As Auto Plows Into Tree

Jack W. Pritchett, a tool-pusher from Spearman for the Baker-Taylor Drilling Co., was killed Sunday morning in a crash east of Pampa when his car left the Miami highway and rammmed a tree.

Pritchett's 1959 Ford was described as the most badly damaged auto headed from an accident by the Ford Body Shop.

Pritchett, 34, was headed from a job at Canadian to a Pampa restaurant when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel at 12:05 a.m.

Highway Patrolmen Royce Logan said Pritchett's car veered off the right side of the highway and rammmed a large elm tree dead center at about 65 miles per hour. The car's speedometer was locked at 64 m.p.h.

Mr. Pritchett was following another company car into Pampa when the accident occurred. M. K. Harris, a Halliburton employe from Pampa, said Pritchett was behind him but that he suddenly noticed he could not see Pritchett's headlights.

When he turned back and arrived at the scene, a fire had developed in the demolished auto's engine.

Two Halliburton trucks drove up to the scene and the drivers used fire extinguishers to smother the flames.

right side. Duenkel - Carmichael Funeral Home reports that Mr. Pritchett was survived by his wife, two sons, Jack Jr. and Michael, one daughter, Rebecca, all of Spearman; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. S. Pritchett of Mulhall; and six brothers, Paul of Perry, Okla.; Irving of Cushing, Okla.; Alva of Crescent, Okla.; John of Clinton, Okla.; and Doyle and Marvin, both of Guthrie, Okla.

Funeral services have been set for 10 a.m. in the Union Church at Spearman. Pastor Calvin Springer will officiate, and burial will be in Mulhall, Okla.

Mr. Pritchett was born April 17, 1925 at Mulhall.

Bitter Press Causes Nikita To Cancel Tour

By KEAN ULLMAN
United Press International

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today abruptly canceled a scheduled tour of four Scandinavian nations. A formal Soviet note said the surprise decision was due to a "bitter press campaign against the visit and threats of anti-Soviet demonstrations."

The move, coming less than three weeks before the start of the tour, was a diplomatic shocker that indicated a possible major turn in Soviet policy.

Word of the diplomatic snub arrived in Scandinavian capitals in a series of notes less than three weeks before the scheduled Soviet chief was to have begun a grand swing through Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Finland.

The trip had been planned down to the final detail. Top-level Soviet officials, including chief of security and protocol already had gone over the ground.

The Khrushchev bombshell threw the Geneva Big Four talks into turmoil. Western diplomats had no means of knowing whether it indicated the Soviet chief might be ill or whether some important new cold-war move might be in the making.

Sources close to Danish Premier H. C. Hansen said the Danish government tentatively believed the cancellation might be due to health reasons. They pointed out that Soviet authorities negotiating with D.A.N.I.A. officials about the program for the Khrushchev visit repeatedly had stressed that the program should not be too crowded.

Associates of the vice president said this reflected the serious view Nixon takes of his expected talks with Khrushchev. They said he feels he could best serve the U.S. government by creating an atmosphere in which Khrushchev would talk freely.

Nixon said Saturday that he expected to visit six cities in Russia, including four key industrial areas in Siberia. A tentative itinerary calls for him to visit Leningrad and the Siberian cities of Novosibirsk, Sverdlovsk, Nizhniy Tagil and Belyarsk, as well as Moscow.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In our circle of friends there are many with teen-aged daughters who are capable of "baby-sitting". But their services are never offered free.

When I was in my teens, I loved baby-sitting for the joy of it. I never expected any pay. An aunt once gave me a dollar for taking care of her baby one afternoon and I still remember how disappointed my mother was when she learned I accepted it. (She made me return the dollar.)

Where are those lovely teen-aged girls who tend babies for the joy of it?

DEAR OLD: When you and I were young (Maggie), parents did not treat themselves to many evenings "out". When a big occasion arose, there always seemed to be a member of the family handy to stay home with the little ones. Today, everyone socializes more.

DEAR ABBY: My husband says I am very cold. Actually I am very warm and affectionate only he isn't home long enough to find out.

He stays out until four and five o'clock in the morning without an explanation and when he comes home he comes home he expects me to greet him with open arms.

DEAR ABBY: Is there a cure for snoring? My wife snores something fierce. It's not just an ordinary snore. She sounds like a B-29 taking off. When I nudge her, there will be a lull for about 30 seconds. Then she starts up again—only in a different key and usually much louder. She falls asleep the minute her head hits the pillow. I can't, and her snoring keeps me awake most of the night. Can you help me?

DEAR L. V. D.: Far as I know, there is no sure cure for snoring. You have two choices. Ear plugs or separate bedrooms.

To get ABBY's booklet, "What Every Teenager Wants to Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY in care of this newspaper.

DEAR COLD: A man who stays out until four and five in the morning can expect to come home to a physiological phenomenon: A cold wife who is pretty burned up.

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a very wonderful boy. We have gone together for two years and have never quarreled. I am 21 and he is 23. We want to get married but we have a problem.

I am a Baptist and he is a Catholic. We respect each other's religion but neither one of us wants to change. I have heard that if a Catholic marries a Baptist they will throw him out of the Catholic church. Also that if they have any children they will be considered illegitimate. Is this true? We love each other, Abby, but I want to be sure our marriage will work out. Can you help me?

DEAR JAN: I admire your willingness to seek the answers to questions regarding a religion you do not understand. Call on a Catholic priest and ask him to answer your questions. You will find him cooperative and helpful. Good luck!

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

For weeks Doug begged his parents to send him to the summer camp his best pal went to last year. When they finally agreed he was wildly excited.

But as camp time nears, his enthusiasm is beginning to deflate into uncertainty. He's begun to wonder how it will be to be ordered around by strangers, whether they will find another best pal among their cabin mates.

Last night, he ate little dinner, asked why, he said dimly, "Maybe I shouldn't go. Maybe I'll get 'ammonia' on one of those cookouts."

His father made no effort to change this uncertainty back into enthusiasm. He didn't say, "Nonsense! You'll have a wonderful time!" Instead he treated Doug's uncertainty as natural and respectable, saying, "Nobody can promise you a good time. You'll just have to do the best you can to have one. If you don't, you can always let us know and come home."

Because his father seemed to see nothing dangerous in his uncertainty, Doug, too, began to find it harmless and soon recovered his appetite.

Are you afraid of uncertainty in your child?

If you are, please ponder these words I find in a remarkable article by psychoanalyst Alexander Wild and Emanuel K. Schwartz: "In the nature of human experience, it is not possible to have complete knowledge about everything. In every action from birth to the grave there is risk, a chance to be taken, a certain amount of the unknown which exists in a movement, all living. Tolerance for uncertainty is a healthy necessity at every stage of development.

When we briskly assure an uncertain child that he's going to pass exams, win the game, have a "good time," we do not comfort him as we imagine we do. Experience has taught Doug that there's always a possibility of his failing to bring adventures through to "wonderful" ends.

When out of our own uneasiness with his realistic uncertainty, we dismiss it as foolish, we do through unkind things: (1) we leave him alone with his uncertainty; (2) we suggest that it's queer and unnatural, and (3) we are, by claiming the "wonderful" outcome for him, secretly insisting that his success is the only thing we can accept.

When anyone assures us we're going to do "marvelously" well something, our spirit withdraws from him. So it should be plain to you.

Bird Bath To Be Rebuilt

L. P. Fort, owner of the Fort Granite and Model Co., has offered to rebuild the white granite bird bath which Friday night was destroyed by unknown vandals.

The white granite fountain had been built in the city park at Ward and N. Hobart by the Garden Club as part of its campaign to beautify Pampa.

THE UNINVITED WINONA, Miss. (UPI)—Little Mary Bryan had one too many guests at her third birthday party during the week end. A 10-foot king snake joined the festivities in the living room. A neighbor clobbered the uninvited guest with a baseball bat.

FBI May Step In On Bombing, Arson In Labor, Racial Strife

WASHINGTON WINDOW By LYLE C. WILSON United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There seems to be a chance, and a pretty good one, that the strong arm of the FBI will be raised by Congress against goon squads who resort to bombing and arson in labor and racial disputes.

This does not mean that local law enforcement agencies will be relieved of their responsibilities. Far from it. Neither does it mean that, in each instance of arson or the bombing of premises, the Federal Bureau of Investigation would be compelled to gallop in to investigate the crime.

What it does mean, is this: That Congress has pending several bills covering the subject, among which are some good ones which would approach the problem simply by amending what is known as the Fugitive Felon Act.

Such amendment, for example, is the purpose of Title 2 of the civil rights bill pending now before the House Judiciary Committee. The amendment would establish as a federal crime, punishable in federal courts, any flight across a state line to avoid prosecution for destruction of educational or religious structures by arson or explosives. Fleeing witnesses also would be covered.

Limited Application The language in this proposed amendment is significant in two respects. First, it limits the area covered to any building, structure, facility or vehicle used primarily for religious or public or private educational purposes. Further action would be needed to cover labor violence.

Second, the amendment says that violations may be prosecuted in a federal court. It does not say that it is mandatory for the FBI to investigate. Whether the FBI did or did not investigate would be a matter for determination by the attorney general or by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. This permissive rather than mandatory authority to investigate suits the FBI fine.

The record will show that, in practice, the FBI is not slow to undertake within the limits of its permissive jurisdiction what are called preliminary investigations. These are undertaken to determine whether, in fact, the circumstances of the given crime are such that the FBI has jurisdiction to act. The last thing the FBI would want would be any requirement that it move in on and supplant local enforcement agencies.

Full Cooperation If preliminary investigation fails to establish FBI jurisdiction, the routine is to withdraw but only after handing all evidence and other pertinent information to local authorities. The FBI, although it may withdraw for lack of jurisdiction, remains ready and eager to handle out-of-state leads for local authorities. FBI laboratory facilities always are available to the local officers.

That is the way the FBI hopes it will be with respect to the new field of inquiry brought on by racial and labor difficulties. Arson and bombing in labor disputes also would be reached by amendment of the Fugitive Felons Act.

United Press International was informed that such amendment is likely at this session of Congress, although probably not by expanding the language of the pending civil rights bill.

It has been suggested that Congress would make a bad mistake if it moved in either area much beyond the scope of the FFA.

Fashion Show Criticized For Integration

By GAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—The U.S. fashion mission to Moscow has eliminated an integrated wedding scene. But there will be an integrated company picnic sketch.

A controversial $60,000 Russian sable coat which one fashion editor charged was like "carrying coals to Newcastle" will remain in the 400-costume collection.

Changes in the half-hour fashion exhibit came about Tuesday partly because of criticism from 41 of 250 fashion editors in town to cover fall and winter collections. They saw a rehearsal of the show Sunday night and drew up a petition protesting that it was not "representative of the American way of life."

The petition did not make any reference to the mingling of whites and Negroes in some of the tableaux. But some reporters, voiced criticism of the civil wedding scene in which a white couple were shown as witnesses for a Negro bride and groom.

Ruth Quint, fashion editor of the New Haven, Conn., Register, said she thought the racially mixed wedding party was not a "true social scene." It seemed to her a misguided good-will gesture. Others, however, considered it a good way to "offset the bad publicity we've had worldwide because of the segregation row."

MISS NORRIS RETURNS FROM FENCING CONTEST

SKELLYTOWN (SpI)—Miss Alice Fay Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Norris, Skellytown, has returned from Los Angeles Calif., where she participated in the national fencing contest for this country.

The contest was held in the Pacific ballroom in the Statler-Hilton hotel. Miss Norris did not place in the national contest, but has a host of trophies, which she has won in the state of Texas and which qualified her to enter the nationals.

COMMIES

(Continued from Page 1) sent a military reinforcement arrived... and joined the patrol in the fight. The armed forces succeeded in forcing most of the Communists to surrender, but some of them managed to escape.

The Middle East News Agency reported the Communists in Kirkuk executed a number of persons and dragged them through the streets. But in London the Iraq Petroleum Co. announced its 500 British civilians were safe.

Kassem, in a radio appeal to the nation, asked Iraqis to avoid "blind fanaticism" that might lead to further civil war. He warned that his government would "settle accounts" with the Communists and other anti-government forces, but expressed hope no further force would be necessary.

Heavy Baghdad censorship kept most of the details from the outside world, but reports reaching Cairo and other Middle East capitals said anti-government flareups occurred throughout Iraq with the heaviest fighting at Kirkuk, 90 miles from the scene of a major anti-government revolt last March.

The March revolt in Mosul was crushed in a week of heavy fighting in which the Iraqi government sent the rebels were aided by Egypt and Syria.

The Damascus newspaper Al Wahdah said the Communists began "fierce battles" in Kirkuk three days ago and that Communists and Turkmen tribesmen battled in the streets.

The Communists hanged eight of their corpses on gallows and dragged the remaining two in the streets of the city. The Middle East News Agency reported in Cairo.

It said army units rushed to restore order but one army unit, the second regiment, defected to the Communist side. It said the Communists assassinated the anti-Communist second-in-command of the defecting unit, dragged his body through the streets and then seized "control" of important sectors of the city.

The Communists have become increasingly influential in the Kassem government since he came to power last year and Western diplomats have expressed fear they would try to take over the oil-rich nation. Reports from Iraq today indicated that the Communists' major effort may have started.

ALICE FAY NORRIS Skellytown fencer fencing, which includes Lubbock, Dallas, Fort Worth, Denton and Abilene. Miss Norris won three third places and one second place. This was her first tournament to enter. It was held in Dallas.

The second Class "C" Divisionals were held this year in Garland, which included the cities of Austin, Houston, and Baytown, making up the Gulf Coast Division of fencing, and the North Texas Division; New Orleans and New Mexico.

The Divisionals Second Sectionals were held in Dallas and included divisions from Oklahoma, New Mexico and Louisiana as well as those from Texas. Miss Norris captured two third place awards, one first place and two second place awards in individual foil, which qualified her to enter the nationals. She was entered in individual foil for the nationals and also participated on the women's team from North Texas State.

Miss Helen Gray and Mrs. Marjetta Tourey, both of Dallas, and Alice Fay made up the women's team. A bout in the game of fencing consists of four points. After making one point opponents change ends of the 20 foot strip in contest foil. In electrical foil the players remain on the same ends of the strip. A body cord was used in the national contest. This cord is operated by a pulley, connected with a battery. This makes contact with the body and registers valid touches and foul touches. The machine has four lights; two for each contestant. One registers good points and one registers fouls, however the new machine will not decide which touch was made first and the final decision is left to the director of the bout.

Miss Norris is in her junior year at North Texas State in Denton. She attended School in Berger and graduated from White Deer High School.

Organ Guild Chapter To Form Here An organizational meeting of the Pampa Chapter, American Guild of Organists, will be held in the First Methodist Church tonight at 8.

An invitation to Pampa organists was issued recently by Tracy D. Cary, sub dean of the Fort Worth Chapter, and Tom Atkin, First Methodist organist. The text of the letter follows:

"For several years the American Guild of Organists has been anxious to have a chapter of the Guild in the Pampa area. We feel that this is an unusual opportunity for organists in this area to have an organization of their own.

"With the recent expansion and growth of churches in the Panhandle, there have been added a large number of new organs to churches and homes all over the eastern portion of the Golden Spread. Consequently, with the addition of these new instruments, the number of organists has also grown to the extent that now is the opportune time for a chapter of the Guild to be organized.

Ochener's clinic was where Long was taken when he was released from John Sealy Hospital's psychiatric ward at Galveston on June 16. However, the governor was dismissed from the New Orleans clinic the day after his arrival there when he requested his release.

"You know a man is sick, not in his right mind, when he pulls things like he has been doing," Ochener said of Long. "His ranting and raving is not the old Earl Long. He is much worse than he used to be. It all started about three months ago."

He said Long's activities while "vacationing" in Texas the past few days were a puzzle to him.

"Who knows what his reason is for coming to Texas? I doubt if he knows himself," he said.

Rebels Undisputed District Kings; Burn Chiefs, 12-6; Lubbock Next

Stroud, Ridgway Homer For Clark

AMARILLO — A driving rainstorm delayed the Pampa-Palo Duro District I post-season playoff game here Sunday afternoon for an hour and 30 minutes but the July showers didn't cool off a determined band of Rebels.

Coaches Lloyd Summers and Bill Ridgway's Pampa American Legion Rebels erased a 4-4 deadlock with a volcanic-like five-run eruption in the 6th frame, to take command of things, 9-4, and then rolled merrily along their way to a convincing 12-6 triumph.

Larry Stroud parked his 7th home run of the year with a mate aboard in the 8th and little Wendell Ridgway poled his first of the season in the 9th with the bases empty. The two four-ply Pampa pokes in the late innings that helped insure victory, both sailed down the right field line.

The two clubs had tied for the regular season flag with 8-2 records, forcing the sudden-death playoff. The Sunday slaughter was staged in Memorial Park here, after a 3 p.m. affair at spacious Potter County Stadium was washed out by a heavy rain just prior to game time. Pampa's victory sends them into a best 2-of-3 series with Lubbock's Red Checks later this week.

Young Mike Clark, a fast-ball firing 15-year-old who has two more seasons with the Legion Rebels and three with the Pampa Harvesters, picked up his fourth win of the year against no losses. While exhibiting near-perfect control in walking only one man and fanning eight in hurling the full nine-inning distance, Clark was tagged hard by the Chiefs. Palo Duro combed his whirling slants for 13 hits, five more than he had allowed in 26 frames on the hill.

Palo Duro Coach P. G. Hickey used a trio of pitchers in a vain effort to quiet Pampa's booming bats which rifled out an even dozen base-hits, including two apiece by the meat of the Rebel order, Ridgway, Bobby Stephens, Stroud and Terry Halralson, home run hero of last week's 7-6 Borger win, who rapped home two runs here Sunday with a double and single.

Right-hander Steve Carter a soft-throwing "junk pitcher" opened on the slab for the Chiefs and had the Rebels nibbling out of his hand through the first three stanzas, giving up only a harmless single to Stroud in the 1st and a walk to Roy Don Stephens in the 2nd.

The Chiefs waltzed little time capturing the lead, as Kenneth Snider cracked a long triple on the first pitch by Clark in the first and later scored on a single by Richard Jackson. Singles by Beans Barker and Tony Thompson coupled with an error by Keith Gregory at third gave the home-standing Chiefs a 2-0 edge in the third.

Haralson doubled to deep left with one away in the fourth and Ruben Strickland singled him home as Pampa closed the gap to 2-1.

The Rebels raced to a 4-2 lead in the top of the fifth thanks to four Palo Duro boots, three of them in a row, after a lead-off single by Clark. Stroud walked and Jim Scott was hit by a pitch to add two more base runners in the wild frame, which saw Herck Hahn replace Carter on the hill.

Palo Duro rebounded to knot the count at 4-4 in the last of the 5th as Barker and Thompson again sandwiched singles around a walk to Jackson.

But the Rebs decided they'd had enough of the "cat-and-mouse" game in the 6th as they went on a five-run uprising to pocket the Chiefs' slants. Clark was safe on an error — one of seven by Palo Duro — to open the eventful 6th. Gregory rolled out to third, but Ridgway and Stephens came through with clutch singles. The latter's scoring Clark with the go-ahead tally.

Stroud was intentionally walked to load the bases and Halralson unloaded a two-run single to make the score read 7-4 and bring on Bud Daniels to pitch for the Chiefs. Another error put Strickland on and scored a run before Scott drilled a single to score another and make it 9-4.

Neither team spiked game with a tally in the 7th but Pampa hiked its lead to 11-4 in the 8th with a pair of markers as Bob Stephens led off with a single and Stroud walloped his 7th homer of the season to deep right. Roy Don Stephens singled later in the inning but was left stranded.

The Rebels, still not satisfied, made it 12-4 in the top of the 9th as Ridgway poled his homer down the rightfield line.

Palo Duro made a game effort to make the score more presentable in the bottom of the 9th as Terry Stafford led off with a double. Snider singled him home and Barker rapped a three-bagger to score Snider.

But Bob Stephens made a long running grab of clean-up batter, Jackson's 3-bagger fly in centerfield to register the final out and send Pampa into a district play with the Lubbock Red Checks.

Fort Worth Pro Waves Odessa Magic

ODESSA (UPI) — Professional Douglas Higgins, of Fort Worth, who waves a magic putter, picked up most of the money in the 11th annual $10,000 Odessa Pro-Am golf tournament that ended Sunday.

Higgins, pro at the Z-Boaz Municipal course in Fort Worth, carried away $2,000 first-place money. He and his amateur partner, Buddy Brannum, of Midland, came roaring in with an 11-under-par 61 yesterday and a 72-hole total of 205. They were four strokes behind at the start of the round. Higgins' putter turned the trick as he knocked in eight birdies Sunday, some of them on long putts.

It was the second title in this tournament for Higgins. He won in 1954 with Ernie Vossler, then an amateur, as his partner. Three twosomes finished in a tie for second place, all with 257. They were pro Fels Cooper, of Lakeland, Fla., and amateur Bill Hightower, Midland; pro Ed Carpenter, San Antonio, and Dick Martin, Dallas, and Jim Bernard, Las Cruces, N. M., and Jerry (Punk) Corby, Odessa. The three pro each collected $1,083. The amateurs got prizes in merchandise. Alone in fifth place at 259 were Butch Baird and Dickie Dubie, both of Galveston.

Miller Cops Insurance Golf

STRETSFIELD, Conn. (UPI) — The Miller celebrated his 20th birthday two days early with a winning victory in the Insurance City Open golf tournament. A plucky pro from Singing Rock, Calif., led from the start of 72-hole tournament but he had a birdie-two on the 17th of a final round Sunday edge Tom Nicopete of Bronx, N.Y., by one stroke.

Miller finished with a one-up par 70 for a total of 272 while Nicopete posted a 69 in the final for a 273.

Ford of Crystal River, Fla., led the day's best round—a 66 gain third money with a 274. Jackie Burke of Kiamnesia, N.Y., and Fred Hawkins of Paso, Tex., finished with 276. A Burke had a 68 in the final and Hawkins turned in a 70.

Miller lost his putting touch in third round Saturday when lead was reduced from five to strokes and then regained it in time to turn back Nicopete's closing rally.

Cross-handed Golf
 The first time you watch Len Chisum play golf you try to find a good place to hide.

His stance and position at the ball is up to par, but when he takes that cross-handed grip you begin to wonder. It doesn't take long, however, before you realize Chisum is no one to feel sorry for.

"Chis," while carding a fine 75 Sunday, said he took up cross-handed golf "on a dare." Long ago, Chisum said, he played baseball, and one day he told his team-mates something to the effect that, "You aren't a good ballplayer unless you can hit the conventional way, or cross-handed."

Four years ago Chisum used his cross-handed grip to win the Club championship here.

Chisum's lefthanded son, Melvin, incidently, teamed with the Odessa club pro in last week's Odessa pro-am. Melvin and his partner failed to make the "cut" although they shot steady under par golf.

Not Always Under Par
 It may be some consolation to the over-80 golfer that Max Hickey slipped to a 78 Saturday after several weeks of under-70 golf. Max, claimed Sunday that 78 is about his average, but no one paid much attention.

On the subject of under-par golf, Hart Warren had a good chance to tie or break the course record (62) last Wednesday.

Yanks Roar Back; But Braves Falter

By FRED DOWN
 United Press International
 It's time to stop asking what's wrong with the New York Yankees and take a look at what ails the Milwaukee Braves.

Once again Sunday the Yankees managed to bounce back after "going to the brink" but the floundering Braves just can't seem to snap-out of their worst slump in two years.

The Yankees—who had dropped the first two games of the four-game series — "saved" themselves with a 6-2 and 4-0 sweep of the Chicago White Sox before a crowd of 87,087. But the Braves losing streak reached six games when the St. Louis Cardinals pounded out a 9-8 win. The Braves never lost more than five in a row in winning their second straight National League flag in 1958.

Forty-three-year-old Enos Slaughter and relief ace Ryne Duren starred for the Yankees who knocked the White Sox out of first place. Old Enos connected for a pair of homers in the first game and Duren relieved in both games and shut out the White Sox for a total of four innings.

Flood Homers Twice
 Curt Flood hit two homers and Bill White hammered two hits in three tries to lead a 16-hit St. Louis assault on four Milwaukee pitchers. Gus Pizarro lasted only four innings but it was Carlton Willey who absorbed the defeats.

 The Cleveland Indians took over first place in the American League by a point when they beat the Boston Red Sox, 5-3, after a 6-5 defeat. Kansas City beat Washington, 6-5, after the Senators won the opener, 7-0, and the Baltimore Orioles shaded the Detroit Tigers, 2-1.

The Pittsburgh Pirates edged out the first-place San Francisco Giants, 3-2, the Los Angeles Dodgers scored an 8-4 victory before dropping a 3-2, 5 1/2-inning decision to the Philadelphia Phillies in other National League action. Cincinnati's doubleheader at Chicago was postponed by rain and wet grounds.

Camilo Pascual won his seventh straight game for the Senators, striking out seven batters and yielding only one walk but the Athletics gained a split on Hal Smith's 10th-inning homer in the nightcap. Bob Allison hit two homers for the Senators and Harmon Killebrew connected for No. 32 to remain even with Babe Ruth's record 1927 pace.

Billy O'Dell and Billy Loos combined in a three-hitter that handed the Tigers their 14th loss in 17 games. Gus Triandos singled home both Baltimore runs in the first inning.

Bill Viscon led off the eighth inning with a homer that lifted the Pirates' Vern Law to his 11th triumph. The Giants had tied the score at 2-2 in the sixth on Jackie Brandt's triple and an infield out by Hobie Landrith.

U.S. Thinclads Sprint Past Soviets Despite One Big Red

By RUSS GREEN
 United Press International
 PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The greatest all-around athlete in the world is a Russian, but the United States still is the world's greatest track and field power.

A 127-108 triumph over Russia in the two-day track meet here Saturday and Sunday served to re-emphasize American supremacy in the sport and tab the Yanks as heavier favorites than ever to win track honors at the Pan-American Games in Chicago, Aug. 27-Sept. 7, and the 1960 Olympics in Rome.

But, right now at least, dark-haired Vasily Kuznetsov, the Soviet strong man, is the No. 1 track star in the world.

Only a drenching thunderstorm that hampered the last three events kept Kuznetsov from breaking his own world record in the decathlon event Sunday. The Russian ace was 74 points ahead of his own record pace going into those three events, but then finished seven points shy of the mark with 8,360 points.

"The weather prevented it," said Gabriel Korobov, coach of the Soviet squad. "He will do better the next time."

The top U.S. rival to Kuznetsov, former world record holder Rafer Johnson of Kingsbury, Calif., missed this meet because of an injury in an auto accident. But Kuznetsov looked Sunday as if he would have beaten even a healthy Johnson.

As expected, the Russian women scored a 67-40 triumph in their meet against the best U.S. girl-athletes.

Final figures on this year's meet and last year's were strikingly similar—both times U.S. men won 14 of 21 events. Russian women won 5 of 10 events at Moscow, eight here.

The surprises were about even, avoided the defeat of American Olympian Kamaev's "throw champion" Harold Connolly by Russia's Vasily Rudenkov, the surprise second place in the hop, step, and jump by Ira Davis of Philadelphia.

The Third Way Out

Once upon a time (we are told) there was a mighty king...

If a person wanted to start a business, go to school, manufacture a product or even go on a trip, he could do nothing until he had obtained permission from his majesty...

The result of this practice was that the king's subjects were constantly impoverished. Many of them starved. Almost all of them were unhappy.

So a rebellion finally occurred in which the subjects of the king declared that they were no longer his subjects. They didn't try to dethrone the king. They simply fought a war whereby they sought to obtain a separation from his sceptered sway...

Immediately, two factions appeared among the former rebels. There were those who wanted to set up a new kind of king, transferring their allegiance from a royal despot to a legally constituted a new set of laws under which a new set of laws under which the citizens would be controlled just as thoroughly as they had been controlled before...

But a second faction made its appearance, also. This second group of persons did not wish to be ruled either by a despot in the person of a king, nor by a despot in the submission to a majority decision. They held that individualism was too valuable for it to be set aside by any kind of legal device...

But it came to pass that the faction which wished to be ruled by a majority gained power over those who wished to be free. And as time went by, it became gradually apparent, at least to some, that a despotic monarch is no different than a despotic majority. It even began to be suspected that a majority could be more cruel and vindictive than a single tyrant.

For individual persons, lacking responsibility, were able to pool their political power thru the medium of a ballot and thus to demand all kinds of things at the expense of the public which even a vicious king would hesitate to seek for himself at the expense of his subjects at large.

So it came about that the second faction which wanted freedom appeared to be vindicated in their desire. The only trouble was that they had not obtained freedom, and hounded exactly as they had been under their former monarch and they appeared to lack the means of obtaining their freedom which they had lost under the rule of a despotic majority.

What was even more enlightening was the fact that the persons who had wanted a majority in place of a king, now took to blaming those who wanted freedom for all their woes. They had discovered they were no better off than imagined that their plight related to those informed individuals among them who still believed in the rights of individuals. They were loath to believe that they were responsible for their own oppression. And they turned about, threatening those who wanted to be free with the return of a monarch who might come upon them riding on a white horse.

And it is at this juncture that history ceases. We do not know what befell these people. Most of them imagined that there were only two things that could happen. First, they could return to their monarch and ask for the despotism of a crowned chief, or second, they could continue trusting their majority, which was in the process of devouring the very last drop and crumb of their subsistence.

Few of them saw that there was a third way out of their dilemma. They might have grasped the idea that they could still be free by refusing to allow the despotism of a despot or a majority. But whether they were able to recognize this fact is something history does not yet reveal.

While most of us are feeling the pinch of increased taxation and thus are forced to curtail our own privately selected avenues of expenditure, the federal government continues on its merry way, making little effort to stop this tremendous squandering mania which is engulfing large and small from coast to coast.

We are reminded by the Associated Industries of Missouri's monthly news letter that there are some enormous leaks in the dike which could be plugged for the benefit of those of us who are forced to support this enormous outlay of treasure.

At a glance, the following are some of the leaks indicated:

1. During the next fiscal year our federal government will pay out more than $8 billion in interest payments to service the huge and growing national debt. And since a new debt limit has been set, we can anticipate that this entirely wasted sum of money will be increased during the next 12-month period. Further, this is an annual expenditure which recurs each year without in the least reducing the reason for the expenditure.

2. Last January the United Nations set up what is called a "special fund" which anticipates receiving something between $2 and $3 billion to be used in bolstering various socialist practices in so-called "backward" countries. 40 percent of this money is supposed to come from American taxpayers directly (by taxes) or indirectly (via loans from the World Bank which the taxpayers also underwrite).

3. The State Department alone has demanded of Congress a sum of $80,000 for liquor, cocktail parties and so forth in order to carry on its diplomatic functions such as entertaining Russian dignitaries.

4. An audit by the U.S. General Accounting Office last year revealed that U.S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg, Germany, has purchased an 24 years' supply of insect oil and was still in the process of buying nails by the ton. When the audit was taken there was a supply of nails on hand in excess of 100 tons.

5. The socialist government of India is close to bankruptcy. Rather than letting the Indian people pull themselves out of their own mismanagement bubble, our government is lending $100 million to Nehru, and giving to India some $200 million worth of agricultural surpluses. In addition, we are deferring until 1967 the repayments of some $190 million granted to India in 1951. Thus far, American taxpayers are stuck with about $715 million in new money, food and deferral of debt payments.

6. There are about 11,000 persons presently employed all over the world to administer the giant give-away programs of the U.S. government. The salaries of all these useless wage earners are enormous.

7. Conditions are so bad in many European countries (despite some $80 billion handed to them since the close of World War II) that your tax dollars are now being employed to insure certain American investors overseas from expropriation by foreign governments. It has been revealed, that your money is being used to guarantee the operation of $76,000 worth of motels in Italy; $2.7 million worth of hotels in Britain and $6 million worth of oil drilling in Lebanon.

8. The Third House Office Building to be constructed in Washington, D.C. is costing you $65.5 million not counting expensive tunnels which connect it with other buildings; a remodeling of the Old House Office Building is costing you $3 million and space for 291 automobiles is being provided in a garage at a cost of $4,333 per car space. The New House Office Building is also being remodelled at a cost of $9.5 million to give every congressman a three room, rather than a two room suite.

A warehouse has been purchased in Washington which building is now being razed to provide parking space for 325 automobiles. Cost per car space - $5,163.

The purchase of the Congressional Hotel next to the Old House office building took $1,986,000 of your money. Eventual disposition of this hotel is not known at present.

A new Senate Office Building is being planned at a cost of $25,179,550.

This gives you a quick look at a few of the leaks in your government.

'Why Deplore Communism While Embracing Collectivism?' E. Merrill Root has a very interesting article in the July 8 issue of 'Human Events' under the heading of 'The Hypocrisy of Liberalism...' with a subhead of 'Why Deplore Communism While Embracing Collectivism?'

He starts his article with an allegory about the Titanic being struck by an iceberg and points out that only the top of the iceberg could be seen. Then he asks: 'What is the submerged and invisible ice of which the (the visible) are only the upward and visible sign? That is our most crucial question.' Then he answers it in this manner:

'Politics are the visible ice - but they are supported by, and exist because of, something else. As the Gospel told us long ago: 'In the beginning was the Word, and even on our human plane, the word (uncapitalized) comes first: as the word, so the deed. Thus our political defeats come from our psychological defeatism. Our inability to crush, or even to contain, communism is caused by our own collectivized ideas and our own so-called ideals. We do not crush it, or even contain it, because its climate already contains our minds and crushes our wills. The political power of our enemies is our own spiritual impotence; they succeed only because we fail.'

'Even if we won a military victory over communism, the Mighty Mo blasted away the top of an iceberg with her big guns... and sailed full speed ahead.'

'The cause of our present debacle is a prevalent psychological climate that creates a dominant intellectual weather. That climate clouds our minds with a continuous confusion of fog which no winds yet scatter, and paralyzes our wills with a zero which no sun of the spirit yet warms into spring. That climate of fog and zero is the climate of liberalism - which Richard Weaver rightly calls the death wish of the West.'

'The climate of contemporary liberalism is everywhere at work to make communism seem only a bad means toward what is, after all, a good end. For contemporary liberalism agrees with communism that man should be set above the individual; that compulsion by group is the right road to Utopia, that economic security, not personal liberty, is man's goal; that Government should be set above the moral god of man's idolatry, if never an automaton of power but always a smiling escalator (going up) for social justice; that "scientific" man is his own creator, whose "social engineering" and positivistic "planning" are the sole means to a good earth.'

How then, can liberalism - even when it deplores the means of communism - really quarrel with the ends of collectivism? The quarrel of liberalism and communism is thus only a lovers' quarrel.'

Then he quotes H. A. Overstreet as saying in essence that those who do not believe in the government controlling the lives of men are mentally ill. Then he quotes Thoreau as follows:

'If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music which he hears, however measured or far away.' He continues in this manner:

'Walt Whitman bade all the cities and states of America: 'Obey little, resist much.' But the contemporary liberal would dismiss liberals like Thoreau and Whitman, as supporters of Fascist and neo-Fascist movements... who would strike a match across a No Smoking sign. How can such liberals object to the encroachments of Big Brother or the characteristic compulsions of the totalitarian state? The answer is: They don't! Instead, they condition us to accept the axiom that Big Brother is always right.'

'What are the axioms that characterize the climate of liberalism?'

'The contemporary liberal, in contradiction to the classic liberal, denies the individual and affirms the state. Thoreau, a true liberal, wrote a century ago:

'Yet this Government of itself never furthered any enterprise except when it got out of its way. It does not keep the country free; it does not settle the West. It does not educate. The character inherent in the American people has done all that has been accomplished; and it would have done some what more, if the Government had not sometimes got in the way.'

Contrast Thoreau with Sen. Joseph P. Clark (D. Pa.) in the Atlantic Monthly for July, 1953. Clark is a leading liberal; thus defining liberalism:

'... a liberal is here defined as one who believes in using the full force of Government for the advancement of social, political, and economic justice at the municipal, state, national, and international levels... A liberal believes that Government is the proper tool to use in the development of a society which attempts to carry Christian principles of conduct into practical effect.

'And he boasts that in our schools and colleges: "... spiritually and economically, youth is conditioned to respond to a liberal (sic) program of the orderly policing of our society by Government, subject to the popular will, in the interests of social justice.'

Truman's Brutal Gall Drove Milligan Out

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

The sanctimonious babble of George S. Selvin, American, about the moral nobility of this nation will observe no silent pause in shame at the passing of Maurice Milligan, a Patriot who fought Harry Truman's gang in Kansas City and died forgotten.

Truman's brutal gall drove Milligan out of public life where such a man would have been a public asset, solely because Milligan smashed the Tom Pendergast machine, which was Truman's alma mater. It is true that Milligan closed his biography with the remark that he still had faith in the American people. But that was written in 1948 and the last time I saw him, he was brokenhearted.

In this book, Milligan referred to a tour of Kansas City by a columnist who was escorted through gambling and vice dens by the chief of police.

'His columns, published in Kansas City, failed to cause a single ripple of protest on the part of outraged citizens.' Mr. Milligan wrote, touching the nerve of his own disgust and regret:

As to that tour of Kansas City I may say that I checked into the Meublebach early in the morning and that the phone rang immediately and Otto Higgins said he was coming right up. Otto had been in London for the Kansas City Star in the First War and I thought he was still in the newspaper business. So when he told me he was embarrassed because I had heard something about gambling, prostitution and a jukebox club for business men where the waitresses dressed to their high heels on premises owned by a church. With Otto on warning he could frustrate me absolutely.

On the contrary, Otto said, he had got wind of my purpose and was there to offer full cooperation. Accordingly, about dusk a young lieutenant of detectives showed up and took me on a tour which lasted three nights and up to train time on the Golden State for Arizona, the last morning. Our ride to the Union Station in his car with the siren howling was the most exciting episode of all.

Kansas City under Otto Higgins administration of the Police Department and under the general boss, Tom Pendergast, was the most flagrant offense against city decency in my experience. But Higgins insisted "Our people like it this way" and invited me to write whatever I saw just as I saw it.

The detective lieutenant (not the chief of police) was a red-head from Oklahoma with a reputation for daring who insisted over and over that Johnny Lanza, a hoodlum who had been torn to shreds by a machine gun in an underworld execution, had been the best moderating force in town and a great help to Tom Pendergast. Milligan wrote that in 1934 one-tenth of the police had criminal records.

My lieutenant took me to many

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK - Boys, if you'll crowd in here just a little closer I'll tell you about a pernicious habit that is spreading among the women of this country and because your wife may be the next to acquire it, I thought I'd warn you now. It is more than a habit, it's more like a disease. No one is exactly certain where or how it started, but I would say that early victims were the Misses Joan Crawford and Mae West, at separate times and places. Actually, Miss West was first. Miss Crawford's addition is more of recent date. The thing is called White Paint Rash.

Some years ago, loaded with money, Miss West bought herself an entire apartment house in Los Angeles and took over the best apartment in the place for her own use. That done, she called in a celebrated firm noted for its desire in hotel lobbies and ordered them to do her place in white-all of it. The result, a few weeks later, was a vista almost certain to give you snow blindness. White walls, ceilings, rugs, upholstery, statuary and even a grand piano. When a popular dress designer of the area was invited to tea for the first time, he flinched a little on entering this glare of white and Miss West was quick to note it and to nettle.

'I'll have you know,' she said with some chill, 'this apartment was done by the best hotel lobby people in the business.'

No such advanced case afflicted Miss Crawford when, a year or so ago, she converted a New York apartment into stretches of white. Although I was never in this suite while wearing shoes, the report went about town that she got shoes were asked to remove their shoes when entering lest they blench in the window. Also, Miss Crawford allowed a few touches of color, in paintings, sprigs of flowers and like adornments. A careful check of eye specialists in New York failed to disclose one single case of snow blindness among Miss Crawford's guests.

It never occurred to me that the plague would strike my own home, but it has, and I am so moved by the misfortune I want to warn other men.

What happened was that I took off for three days over July 4 weekend and my bride said this would be a good time to do the downstairs hall, the one leading to kitchen, dining room and terrace and she wanted it white. White walls, white ceilings, white doors, in a nutshell, the rest in white. So I got two brushes and some white paint and did as bade. You are always smart never to argue. Resist, sure, but never argue.

When she saw the result and found we had a half a gallon of flat white left, she said: 'We ought to carry it right on into the dining room. Start with the ceiling.'

'Where else?' I growled.

'What did you say?'

'Nothing, dear.'

'The ceiling had been charcoal. It took four coats of flat white to cover the dark ceiling. But it took all right when done. Then we got another gallon from a neighbor (because the stores were closed on Sunday) and I got the hallway done. Now we had a white hallway and white dining room. All white. Even the floors are white rubber tiles.'

It began to look like the isolation ward at the County Hospital, Ingent Section. We sat out on the terrace and she made a martini while I took a nail and pried white paint from around the base of my fingernails.

'It's lovely,' she said.

'Darkness fell and, after dinner we sat in the living room. The living room is sort of sun-kissed plum, a deep, deep plum. Her eyes began to rove the walls and ceiling. The ceiling is Pompeian Pink. Looks fine with plum walls. Nothing for the board room of an important bank, but all right in a country living room. Her eyes roved the walls and came to rest on the coffee table.

'Next weekend,' she said, 'I'll get things ready by covering the furniture and all that. Paint this room white, too. When you get through, let's do the coffee table and the breakfast room.'

'The coffee table,' I said 'is 178 years old of old French fruitwood and I'd as soon paint out the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel as touch it.'

'The table will remain fruitwood. But the rest goes white, boys.'

Birds are an offshoot of reptile stock that was laying eggs millions of years before the first bird flew.

Sir Isaac Would Have Snapped His Suspenders

MUNICH - Had he witnessed it, Sir Isaac Newton would have been proud of me.

'Chances are he would have slapped me on the back and cried, "Bully!"'

For it was a mental feat - this figuring out how Megan could always have a safe, comfortable bed, no matter how far off the beaten path we wandered - much like his own invention of calculus.

Needing calculus to express his findings, Newton pulled up a chair, buried himself in thought and invented calculus, just like that.

It was the same with me and Megan's bed.

Our small car was already med from tires to top so cast a regular crib was out of question. At 11 months she big to sleep in a bureau drawer. A pallet was out of the question because of drafts and cold.

Once off the highways, and the byways in Europe, the hotels and pensions just don't crib for babies. And much fun in motoring through Europe finding the out-of-the-way p.

So, remembering Newton, I decided to think the problem through. There had to be an answer. I would lick it through application of what brain power I had a command.

It took me a whole day, n spent in solitude, and on grouchily side. When one is accustomed to thinking no more 3 or 4 minutes a day, a stretch of 22 hours is punishment.

Hour after hour I thought. A baby crib, after making baby crib was thought up, and discarded as either impractical or unsafe, uncomfortable, or something-or-other.

Then, like a pelican plumm down to gulp a fish, the solution came to me. One moment frustration and despair, the next instant success.

Pausing only long enough yell "Excellent!" I made a line for Munich's largest department store, and tore through aisles to the sporting goods tion.

There I purchased a child flatable wading pool - a so giant doughnut with a bottom of reinforced cells and releases them in to the blood stream.

The person who has polycythemia vera may have few or many symptoms. Actually, these symptoms vary considerably from person to person, but depend in part on the number of excessive red blood cells present.

A brick-red flushing of the face and hands is characteristic. Headache, dizziness, and inability to work well are common complaints. The disease cannot be diagnosed by these symptoms alone, but counting the red blood cells under the microscope is essential. Some times obtaining a sample of bone marrow is desirable.

Polycythemia has been known for many years. Many kinds of treatment have been tried, the most common being repeated removal of blood from a vein.

Such repeated small bleedings do not, of course, cure the condition, but do get rid of some of the extra red blood cells. This is still recommended under certain circumstances.

Other treatments are the use of drugs aimed at destroying some of the excessive red cells. In some cases this kind of treatment has been quite successful.

Today, radioactive phosphorus has been used with considerable success. Phosphorus, of course, is one of the elements, and like many others it can be charged with radioactivity by means of the cyclotron or "atom splitting" apparatus.

If this is done, the phosphorus will give off certain kinds of rays which are commonly called radioactivity. Because the phosphorus loses this radioactivity quite rapidly, however, it is safer than some other radioactive substances.

When given to patients with polycythemia, the phosphorus unites with the red cells and destroys them, thus bringing the number down toward normal.

This method of treatment for polycythemia seems to be the best means so far developed of controlling symptoms and preventing complications. It is not to be lightly, but is certainly one of first heading results from the covering in nuclear physics atomic research.

Since no one believes radioactive phosphorus is the last word treatment, the search must go for better methods - and a for the cause.

The Doctor Says:

by EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Several people have written me - one of them twice - asking for a discussion of the disease known as polycythemia vera.

It may be said first that polycythemia means an increase in the number of red blood cells in the circulating blood. This can occur under several circumstances, including prolonged residence at high altitudes.

However, polycythemia vera, or true polycythemia, is considered to be a disease. While its cause or causes are not entirely clear, the location of the difficulty appears to be in the bone marrow, which manufactures an excessive number of red blood cells and releases them in to the blood stream.

The person who has polycythemia vera may have few or many symptoms. Actually, these symptoms vary considerably from person to person, but depend in part on the number of excessive red blood cells present.

A brick-red flushing of the face and hands is characteristic. Headache, dizziness, and inability to work well are common complaints. Million New Cars Due '59 Market

Wall Street Perspective' by LEONARD WALKER, Financial Editor of W YORK (UPI) — The auto industry which gives employment directly and indirectly to more than a million persons is expected to lead the nation's economic recovery in the coming decade. The sales of new cars in the U.S. will increase by 25 million, says Alan C. Moore, president of Universal C.I.T. Corp., the nation's largest independent automobile finance company.

Moore says that the end of the 1960s at a level even and a half million a year that time. Rude told United States International, "there will be 4 million vehicles in the U.S. compared with 90 million now. The family in five will own two cars, compared with one in eight. Within ten years, today's 10 million sales of used cars will be 15 million a year."

Moore relates these predictions to the growth in population. He sees more cars for the new families and the growing number of suburbs makes car ownership a necessity.

Moore says that about those two cars in a family, the wife must have her car. Her husband's is immobilized at the railroad station or at his office.

Moore says that this means new demand for mobile credit. This phase is more worrisome for the Federal Reserve System which has been trying to keep credit under control but it is bound to grow.

Moore is certain that the ratio of financed deals in 10 will rise in the coming decade. He believes, mobile credit should rise to more than $25 billion a year. Today a total of about 16 billion dollars. And that estimate includes used cars. He believes that the use of credit, mobile credit, is among the middle-income families—those between $5,000 and $7,000 a year—and this is the fastest growing income group. An additional income of family moving into the $5,000-and-level does not tend to go into a bare subsistence such as food and clothing, but rather into the goods such as automobiles, services, Rude holds, and a young couple who reach the age of marriage in the few years will, for the most part, live in suburban areas where automobile is a necessity, says Moore. Two or three cars per family becoming essential, he says, is "important." Rude says that in mind that these young people accept installment buying as the natural routine method of using automobiles and other goods, the successful automobile dealer recognizes the growing volume of installment credit in the United States and its relation to a profitable dealership."

REPUGNANT TO "EGGHEAD"

CHICAGO (UPI) — Scholastic Magazine said a poll of 5,000 high school students showed that it made one-third of them mad to be called "egghead." Second worst word to call the polled students is "spendthrift," the magazine said, but that only gets up the dander of 11 per cent.

DOING HIS JOB

"Red" Golden, an experienced body man, works on a car at Ford's Body Shop, 111 N. Frost. Golden, like the rest of the crew, has what it takes to get a wrecked car back on the road. Ford's men are equal to any job, from a dented fender to a car that has to be completely rebuilt. (Daily News Photo)

Ford's Men Up To All Car Jobs

The fast-moving crew at Ford's Body Shop, 111 N. Frost, make short work of the damage that comes from a wrong turn on the road. Ford's has 24 hour wrecker service and specializes in remaking wrecked cars. Any job is made for Ford's Body Shop where five experienced body men are ready to go to work on your car.

Bring in your problems, your dented fenders, your stuck windows, and they will meet with swift dispatch. A rebuilding job may take a little longer but will be done with factory results. Ford's turns out factory paint jobs on wrecks or scratched-up cars. More total wrecks have been rebuilt at Ford's, and saved from the salvage yard, than at most other body shops.

The Almanac

Today is Monday, July 20, the 201st day of the year, with 164 more days to follow in 1959.
The moon is approaching its last quarter.
The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn, Venus and Mars.
On this date in history:
In 1859, baseball fans were charged an admission fee for the first time in New York City, 50 cents.
In 1861, the Congress of the Confederate States started holding sessions at its new capital, Richmond, Virginia.
In 1917, Secretary of War Newton Baker drew the first draft number to start America's conscription during World War One.
In 1942, the first detachment of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps started their basic training at Fort Des Moines, Iowa.
In 1944, German ruler Adolf Hitler narrowly escaped death in a bomb plot engineered by a group of high military and civil officials.
In 1945, the U.S. flag was raised over Berlin as a prelude to occupation.

Thought for today: Adolf Hitler said, "Germany will be either a world power or will not be at all."

Bohlen May Get Blessings
Of President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — High administration officials said today Soviet affairs expert Charles E. Bohlen probably will be offered a high State Department post soon with President Eisenhower's full approval despite recent indications to the contrary.

They said the President believes Bohlen would be a very valuable aide to Secretary of State Christian A. Herter at this critical stage in Soviet-American relations.

Bohlen now is ambassador to the Philippines.
Eisenhower has not been influenced against him by the opposition of Republican Senators Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and Everett Dirksen of Illinois, these unimpeachable sources claimed.

The Senate Republicans' complaint is that Bohlen was too closely identified with previous Democratic administrations as an adviser at Yalta and Teheran. Bohlen has defended these long-disputed agreements with Russia and contended the only trouble was that Russia failed to live up to them.

Administration officials said the President's remarks on Bohlen at his Wednesday news conference were misinterpreted as meaning that there was no idea of bringing Bohlen into the State Department in a highly responsible post.
