Industry Offer Struck Down

Resumption Of Steel Talks Hits New Snag

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Steel industry negotiators made a counter proposal to the striking Steelworkers Union Saturday night but the union immediately rejected it. Union President David J. McDonald announced the new offer had been made by the "big 12" companies at a two hour and 15 minute union management negotiating session. He called it "totally unacceptable."

Management negotiators, the union chief said, continue to press what he called "infamous demands" for changes in work rules at steel plants.

"We will not accept," McDonald said.

Asked what management proposed, McDonald replied that the "big 12" want "the unilateral right to use a black snake ship on the backs of the workers."

Asked the status of the union's scaled-down proposals for a strikes settlement, McDonald advised newsmen to consult chief industry negotiator R. Conrad Cooper on that.

The "big 12" counter offer was submitted after the union had proposed a reduced demand of its own. The union "package" proposal was said to call for a 20½ cent an hour increase in wages and benefits over a two-year period.

However, the controversy over rules changes apparently has turned out to be the stumbling block in the renewed talks.

Asked if the steel company offer was better than the one made in Pittsburgh, McDonald replied tersely that it was "even worse."

Asked whether he meant the new offer was worse with respect to wages or working conditions, or both, he said:

"I think the best way to put it is that the offer, in all respects, was completely unsatisfactory."

McDonald said he knew nothing except what he read in the papers about reports that the Kaiser steel industry might sign separately with the union, and resume operations.

McDonald said the board of the United Steelworkers Union would meet later this evening, but he gave no indication that any new offer or other move in the negotiations would be considered.

R. Conrad Cooper, the industry's chief negotiator, said the steel companies had rejected the union's scaled-down proposal. At the same time they submitted their counter-proposal which contemplated a three-year agreement with improvements in pensions and other benefits the first year and wage-increases the second and third years.

Cooper said "we took the union proposal under consideration for careful analysis. As in prior instances the cost is very substantially understated."

Cooper said that, under the circumstances, "we see little hope of accomplishing an agreement."

Asked whether the talks had, in fact, "collapsed," he replied that he would not use that term.

He added that a sizeable increase in campaign funds is expected next week as cards are turned in.

The next report session will be Tuesday at 7:30 a. m. in the Cabot Auditorium on the seventh floor of the Hughes Building. All workers are urged to report on the progress made thus far.

Tentative plans are being made to hold the final report meeting at noon Tuesday, Oct. 27, jointly with the regular meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

All workers are urged to complete their contacts as early as possible.

The Mexican chief of state and his party were scheduled to arrive at Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin at 11:45 a. m. Sunday aboard a jet plane from Niagara Falls, N. Y.

From Bergstrom, Lopez Mateos will be whisked by helicopter on a tour of the highland-lakes area west and northwest of Austin, en route to Johnson's ranch 82 miles west of Austin.

Aides of the Senate Majority Leader said Lopez Mateos had expressed a special interest to view the Central Texas lakes region, including six lakes and dams operated by the Lower Colorado River Authority.

A last-minute announcement by Gov. Price Daniel's office said the Texas governor and his wife will not only welcome Lopez Mateos to Texas but will escort him to the state.

More than 1,000 out-of-county people drove to Hemphill County to make the 1958 tour and Wilkins expects that many or more again this year.

CHARTER PRESENTATION — Jerry Coley, right, accepts the charter for the Optimist Breakfast Club, Pampa's newest civic organization. Presenting the charter, for the Optimist International, is W. L. $25,000 Collected United Fund Drive Near Midway Point

The United Fund campaign total is approximately $25,000, or 40 per cent of the campaign goal from less than 30 per cent of the total cards having been worked, according to Melvin T. Munn, co-chairman of the drive.

There are very few of the employee group cards for Pampa and Lefors companies that have been completed, Munn said.

He added that a sizeable increase in campaign funds is expected next week as cards are turned in.

The next report session will be Tuesday at 7:30 a. m. in the Cabot Auditorium on the seventh floor of the Hughes Building. All workers are urged to report on the progress made thus far.

Offered Bribe To Conduct Espionage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States charged Saturday Russian authorities kidnaped a high American Embassy official in Moscow, threatened him and his family with physical violence, and tried to bribe him to spy against his own country.

He was ordered kicked out when he refused. The State Department said the Soviet Union had called for the ouster of Russell A. Langelle, 37, of Long Beach, Calif., top security officer in the embassy, on grounds of espionage.

The department acknowledged that Langelle must now leave but said "the United States government rejects the Soviet accusation against him and protests these improper actions of the Soviet authorities." A note was sent to the Kremlin Friday protesting "this flagrant violation of diplomatic immunity."

The White House said President Eisenhower has been kept informed of the ouster episode. However, associate White House Press Secretary Anne Wheaton said there was no comment at present.

When the protest note was delivered the deputy chief of the Soviet Ministry's American affairs section, S. R. Striganov, stated that Langelle had used his stay "to carry out intelligence work not compatible with his diplomatic status." Striganov said the Soviet government considered Langelle's further stay in the Soviet Union as "undesirable."

Events began Friday morning when Langelle stepped off a bus a block from the U.S. Embassy on his way to work.

Within the next hour and 45 minutes he had been accused of being a spy, threatened with imprisonment and physical violence, heard threats against his family, and then was asked to spy against the United States for the Soviet Union for money.

According to the U. S. note, Langelle was seized by five men in civilian clothing about 9 a. m. when he got off the bus.

One of the men covered his mouth. The others seized his arms and dragged and carried him to an automobile parked in a nearby alley.

He was then driven to a nearby building, the note said, where the men forced him to leave the automobile.

Smith declared that more men are needed to work with boys, since there are more boys now than ever before. He said that all civic clubs do some useful work with the youth of the community, and that a person may fulfill his obligations by membership in any of these clubs. He added that the Optimist Club has an especially fine record in boys work.

Smith then outlined the three main purposes of Optimist clubs — to promote Optimism as a philosophy of life, to promote interest in good government, and to be a friend of the boy.

L. D. Casey of Lubbock, lieutenant governor of the zone in which Pampa is located, installed the officers of the club. Officers are Green, president; Ham, Hamilton and Clifford Hill, vice presidents, and Vincent Simon, secretary-treasurer.

Special guests at Saturday's banquet were introduced by Hill, and Newst Secrest, president of the Evening Optimist Club, introduced the speaker, Ray Fowler of the Evening Club, was master of ceremonies. Rev. Arthur Bruns, pastor of the Zion Lutheran Church, gave the invocation, and organist Maxine Milliron provided dinner music.

Richard G. Hughes of Pampa was the speaker Friday at a two-day conference for the Texas Society on Aging in Dallas. His subject was "Housing For the Aged." Hughes is the only Texas representative on the President's National Advisory Committee for the White House Conference on Aging.

Mrs. Nina Sponemore of Pampa was named to the board of governors for the third year at the conference. She is also a member of the 1960 nominating committee.

State Senator Crawford Martin, chairman governor interim, on aging, was the speaker Saturday.

Officers elected at the conference were Dr. Ernest Kiel of Temple, president; Dr. Hiram J. Friedman, Denton, president elect; Dr. Ovro Wood, Dallas, vice president; and Mrs. W. V. Ruggles, Dallas, secretary.

The 1960 meeting will be held in Houston.

Last Civil War Vet Nears 117

HOUSTON (UPI) — Walter Williams, who says he is the last veteran of the Civil War, looked forward Saturday to a barbecue for his 117th birthday.

His daughter, Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles, said she will have one the next day, although all he can do is "sit nibble at them."

Williams recently had pneumonia and it was feared that he would die. But he recovered and his daughter said he now has only a slight cold.

Optimist Breakfast Club Given Charter At Saturday Night Fete

Pampa's Optimist Breakfast Club was officially chartered Saturday night at a banquet held at Pampa Optimist Boys Club.

The club's charter and banner, from Optimist International, were presented to the club by James W. Tackett of Mesquite, Okla., governor of Optimist International's District 7. Accepting for the club was Jerry Coley, representing President Kendall Green.

John Kuntz, Pampa city manager, gave a brief speech of welcome to the city's newest service club organized Sept. 10 with 38 charter members.

"The city of Pampa wishes you success," he said. "We hope you do as well as the original Optimist Club has done. They have really done some excellent work with the youth of this city."

Kuntz urged that the members of the two Optimist Clubs follow through with the "800 Club" program, in which 800 or more individuals or businesses give $1 per month to the club. He said that the program should be expanded.

William R. Smith, director of Optimist International's central region, gave the main address.

The central region includes the states of Oklahoma, Missouri, Illinois, Kansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, and parts of Texas and Nebraska.

Truman Serves Up GOP To Dem Diners

DALLAS (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman charged Saturday night that a "Wob! Do" Republican administration is in power in Washington. He said the nation needs a liberal Democrat in the White House.

Truman spoke before a rally of Texas Democrats which conservatives of the party boycotted. Democratic politics in Texas are a continual tug-of-war between liberals and conservatives.

Dalton Trial Date Unknown

Warren Dalton, 23, charged with the Oct. 4 slaying of Jerry Lytton in Pampa, and William Ray Hubbard, charged as an accessory, were indicted by the Gray county grand jury late Friday evening.

No date has been set for the court trial of Dalton and Hubbard. Dalton remains in the Gray County Jail, while Hubbard is free on $5,000 bond.

District Attorney Bill Waters said indictments were also returned against L. H. Edwards Jr., 21, of 1021 E. Campbell, and Jimmy Dale Allen, 19, of 1022 E. Murphy, for the theft of a car and truck in Pampa, 10 days ago.

May Have To Climb To Summit Over Body Of Balking DeGaulle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chances of an early December summit conference with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev appeared to be fading sharply Saturday mostly because of heel-dragging by French President Charles de Gaulle.

Officials said that unless De Gaulle changes his mind soon and goes along with the United States and Britain, there will not be enough time to prepare adequately for a December session.

These officials, acknowledging De Gaulle's recalcitrance, nevertheless continued to hope that an agreement could be reached. They declined to authenticate reports circulating in London that De Gaulle wanted to explode a French atomic bomb before a summit conference is held to give him a strong bargaining weapon.

They said rather the French President's delaying tactics more likely stemmed from his long-held view that a summit conference will do more harm than good unless it makes major headway in settling world problems such as the Berlin crisis.

De Gaulle is known to feel that not enough time exists between now and early December to lay the proper groundwork for settling the Berlin problem. In addition, he has his hands full at the moment winning agreement from both Algerian rebels and French rightists for his plan to end the five-year-old Algerian war.

NBC Will Not Cancel Out Quiz Shows

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Broadcasting Company said Saturday it plans to keep television quiz shows on the air despite recent charges that some programs have been rigged.

NBC, commenting on an announcement by the Columbia Broadcasting System that it plans to abandon quiz shows, said it did not believe abolishing such programs was the solution to the problem.

"We do not believe that amputation of one of the oldest and best-liked program forms is the answer to television's current difficulties," NBC said in a statement.

"NBC's answer to this serious and perplexing problem is to accept the challenge of devising and implementing every conceivable safeguard that our resources and our abilities can fashion. We think that this is the primary task facing the networks—rather than abolition of their function of continuing to offer a full range of those program types preferred by the viewing audience."

The United States, while it agrees a meeting is useless unless it accomplishes something, goes along with Great Britain that an early meeting is desirable.

Khrushchev is expected to agree to any summit date proposed by the West, but the sooner the better. As one Soviet diplomat here said: "He'll meet tomorrow if you want to."

Minor Fires Cause No Damage Friday

Pampa firemen reported no damages in two separate minor fires Friday night. The first, at 7:30 p. m., was in the 100 block on E. Craven when grass and trash began to smolder.

At 10:25 p. m. the fire department was called to the crash of two cars in the 1200 block on S. Barnes. Firemen reported some amok but no fire.

BULLETINS

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. — (UPI) — The experimental X-15 half airplane and half rocket ship, flew for the second time under its own power Saturday, soaring more than 60,000 feet.

Scott Crossfield, test pilot, said he was "very satisfied" with the performance.

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Officers pressed their search Saturday night for a short and stocky Negro who criminally assaulted a white woman twice in the presence of her three young children. Police assumed it was the same man who a few minutes earlier and a quarter mile from the scene, failed in an attempt to assault another white woman.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A multi-million dollar fire burned to within 300 yard of a Nike missile site Saturday and exploded out of control on at least two other fronts in Angeles National Forest. The fire has been raging for four days.

GEORGE C. MARSHALL... soldier, statesman

Nation Mourns Gen. Marshall, Dead At 78

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The body of soldier-statesman George C. Marshall will lie in state at Washington National Cathedral while the nation he served so ably mourns his death.

The body will be placed in the cathedral's Bethlehem Chapel at noon Monday and will remain there until shortly before funeral services, scheduled at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Marshall, who fought for peace with all the energy and talent that brought him military fame, died Friday at Walter Reed Army Medical Center after an illness that began with a stroke last winter. He was 78.

In accordance with the wishes of his family, simple services will be held in the chapel at nearby Ft. Myer, Va. He will be interred at Arlington National Cemetery in a private ceremony.

In announcing the general's death, President Eisenhower called for a period of national mourning. And Saturday he sent condolences to Mrs. Marshall, who was reported to have taken her husband's death "very hard."

Expressions of grief poured in from all over the nation and the world.

Eisenhower, who was helped by Marshall in his own rise to military fame, praised him as "one of the distinguished military leaders of our century, an example of devotion to service and duty, an outstanding American."

Marshall helped shape the nation's military destiny in three wars. In World War II, he was chief of staff, the uniformed commander of all U. S. forces. But it was in the peacetime period just after World War II that he gained perhaps his most lasting fame.

He is credited with saving an embattled Europe from economic collapse during this period, through a plan that bore his name. This and other accomplishments after his military retirement won him the Nobel Peace Prize in 1953.

Former President Harry S. Truman, whom he served as secretary of state, described Marshall as "a great general, a great secretary of state and a great secretary of defense—one of the great men of the period."

The Defense Department said death resulted from old age, complicated by kidney disease and cerebral vascular accidents (strokes). The first suffered at his winter home in Pinehurst, N. C., last January.

Term 'Foreign Missions' Now Not Applicable

FORT WORTH (UPI)—A Baptist missionary editor said Saturday that the term "Foreign Missions" does not seem so appropriate anymore because jet-age transportation has brought us face-to-face with a shrinking world.

"The real frontiers are wherever the Gospel confronts the world," he said in Jafaria or Little Rock. Ross Coggins, editor of Baptist publications in Indonesia, said.

Coggins spoke to more than 2,200 students from 59 Texas colleges and universities meeting in Fort Worth for the 40th annual State Baptist Union Convention.

"Every generation must experience the Gospel in the light of its own age," Coggins, the featured speaker during a special mission emphasis session, told the students.

Another speaker Saturday was Georgia Lee, a Hollywood actress who plays mostly in religious and television films. She is the wife of the Rev. Ralph Hoopes, a Presbyterian minister in Hollywood.

"God is not concerned with our ability but with our availability," Miss Lee said.

Miss Lee said she left the acting business seven years ago when she faced the choice of either compromising her principles or giving up her career. She and her husband entered a theological seminary but later returned to Hollywood.

She said she stepped back into the spotlight "not just as an actress but as a Christian."

Attending Friday's luncheon were representatives of the Robert E. Lee Junior High School Junior Red Cross, Janice Lively and Bill Mangham, who were in charge of passing out copies of the national Jr. Red Cross magazine, Journal, in which appears an article on the Top O' Texas Jr. Red Cross members.

The meeting was conducted by Sam A. Begert, outgoing president. Guests were Bill Tidwell, Sterling Price, E. Roy Smith and Jim T. Lacy.

A House and Reception Committee meeting was held following the showing of a colored movie on Southwestern Conference football. Program chairman was F. E. Hoffman.

2 Hospitalized In Car Crashes

Two Pampa residents were hospitalized Friday evening in a pair of separate collisions on city streets. Most seriously hurt was Troy C. Guthrie, age not given, of rural Pampa.

Guthrie, injured when his parked car was struck from the rear on S. Barnes, was taken to Highland General Hospital with a broken left leg and injuries to his right leg.

Also hospitalized Friday was Bill Gray, 13, of 1909 Hamilton. The Pampa youth was shaken up Friday evening when his bicycle struck the side of a car on Perryton Pky.

Police reported that Guthrie was injured at 10:50 p.m. when his parked car was struck by a 1957 Plymouth driven by Oris Lee Wedge, 31, of 724 S. Sumner.

The Guthrie car, a 1956 Mercury, was knocked 146 feet by the hit. Damages to both cars totaled $750. Wedge was tagged for driving while intoxicated.

In a third accident Friday, no person was hurt but property damages totaled $745 when two cars hit at the intersection of W. Tuke and S. Somerville.

The drivers were James Payne, 75, of 535 S. Ballard, and Darrell Lee Thomas, 19, of 423 N. Rider. Thomas was tagged by officers for failure to control his speed to avoid a wreck. The mishap was reported at 7:10 p.m.

Broom Sale Nets Lions Club $583

LEFORS (Sp.) — Paul Blankenburg, fire marshal, spoke to the regular meeting of the Lefors Lions Club Monday night in the civic center. Fifty-two members were present.

"Can you afford a fire?" was the question asked by the marshal as he demonstrated how to cope with fire hazards. Sewage disposal was included in the discussion.

Having attended many fire conventions and schools, Blankenburg is well qualified in the field of fire prevention education.

Broom sales netted $583.75, of which 75 percent will go to the home for the blind. The other 25 percent will go to the club.

In a contest connected to the sale, the east side won over the west side and will treat them to a barbecue chicken dinner Oct. 26. Don Zimmerman of Hereford, district president, will be the speaker.

Pampa Woman Severely Hurt

SHAMROCK — Mrs. Irene Roberts Crawford, 59, of Pampa came within an inch of losing her left foot when her car careened off U.S. 83 Friday afternoon and dropped down a 40-foot embankment just south of Shamrock.

In an emergency operation Friday night doctors at Shamrock Hospital worked to successfully save the woman's nearly-severed foot.

Highway Patrolman Dave Crossland said Mrs. Crawford, who lives at 221 N. Frost, apparently went to sleep at the wheel of her car about a mile south of Shamrock. The vehicle, which did not overturn, came to a stop in a small creek bed.

Mrs. Crawford was discovered by fishermen who said they heard the crash about 2:35 p.m. and saw the car drop down the embankment.

No Atheist Is Nikita

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Dr. Paul Geren suggested today that Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev is somewhat less than a pure atheist.

Geren is executive director of the Dallas Council on World Affairs. He recently returned from a tour of Russia.

He referred to Khrushchev's quotations from the Bible during his recent trip to the United States, and said the Soviet boss' "slips of the atheistic tongue" suggest that "the pure atheist is a rare bird."

Johnson Has Strong Backing

DALLAS (UPI)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn announced Saturday that Texas Democrats are going to start organizing clubs immediately to promote Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He said he has not talked to Johnson about it and "we're doing this on our own." He said Johnson will be offered at the 1960 Democratic convention as a "favorite son candidate."

"The people of Texas are going to make him a candidate," Rayburn said. "There is nothing official on Johnson's side."

Johnson has steadfastly refused to say whether he will be a candidate.

Rayburn used the visit of former President Truman to Texas to announce plans for forming "Lyndon Johnson Clubs."

"Johnson will go over big in Texas," Rayburn said. "And we think he will go over big in other states. I have said before that if he ran for office, I would be in his corner."

He noted Johnson was overwhelmingly favored as the Democratic candidate by governors at the Southern Governors' Conference in Asheville, N. C.

"And, of course, the house and Senate were polled before adjournment," Rayburn said. "And he was way ahead of other candidates in that."

Where Is W. T. Seitz Today?

On the Sabbath, W. C. Seitz, utility executive, joins his family at home, at church and at rest. But, today, he is more at peace with his world than ever. You see, he has made all his United Fund contacts, most of them successful.

As a captain in the Retail Division, under John Gikas, chairman, he still has teammates working. But, he took more than his share of the cards, and finished them by Friday. And, today is a nice day, because the people of Pampa—"The best in the world"—were generous in their giving. Seitz feels

The first sleet of autumn fell on Dalhart, at the top of the Panhandle, Saturday, as a cold front rushed across Texas.

The sleet at Dalhart was a trace. The cold front produced little rain. But temperatures tumbled into the upper 30s and 40s in the West Texas plains and into the low and middle 50s in North Central Texas.

YOU... and YOUR HOME by Jack Foster

THAT CERTAIN SOMETHING

Haven't you walked into an expensively furnished room that was just "right" in every detail, yet lacked that certain intangible something that makes a room hospitable and homelike? Of course, you have. We've all had this experience.

What's wrong actually with the room in case is that it does not express the individuality and the personality of its occupants. It is more often than not a copied room.

The way you combine colors, the way you group pictures, the way you arrange furniture is what makes a room yours... gives it the stamp of your personality, expresses your warmth, your charm and your individuality.

The comfortable room sketched above is furnished entirely with moderately priced furnishings, yet it bespeaks hospitality, friendliness and gracious livability.

Wood walls have been painted a soft young-leaf green to ally the room with the garden view. The soft green rug simulates nature's carpet. This forms a flattering background for the rich warm tones of the maple furniture. Movement has been introduced with the subtle provincial pattern in the upholstery fabric on the lounge chairs. Note the unusual picture and clock arrangement on the fireplace wall.

It takes thought and often practice to transform a dwelling into a home and endow it with the imprint of your personality. If you would like some professional advice on how to go about doing this, come in and have a chat with one of our home counselors. Anytime.

Ages Total 331 Years Lifelong Friends Visit Here After 30-Year Separation

By MARVIN OLSEN
Daily News Staff Writer

In 1929 in a small eastern Ontario, Canada, community, four old friends said their goodbyes. Two of them were sisters. The other two were boyhood friends who courted and married the sisters and both couples were now heading for new homes.

Thursday evening in Pampa, 30 years later, the four held a memorable reunion at the Santa Fe depot. The four were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kettlewell, residents of Pampa the past 12 years, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bryers of New Westminster, British Columbia.

The passage of years did not appear to take too great a toll. Bryers, now 84, is an inveterate walker and during his stay in Pampa has walked nearly every city street. His wife, youngest of the four at 78, is alert and energetic, but has been too busy "catching up" with her Pampa friends to do much walking.

The Kettlewells, who live at 1004 Duncan, are both in their eighties. Kettlewell, 80, is a retired carpenter, healthy, and still gets along without glasses. His wife, 81, wears glasses but wears her eyes well.

The reunion was two months in the planning stage before the Bryers boarded a train at New Westminster for the long (four days, three nights) journey to Texas. Tomorrow they leave Pampa for the trip to their beloved Canadian home.

They have been guests part of the time in Pampa at the home of the Kettlewell's daughter, Mrs. A. M. Hutchinson, 1128 Garland.

Their secret for such long and happy lives remains a secret. All four admitted to relatives much older than themselves.

Their recollections of 30 years ago remain sharp. Bryers remembered that he came to Canada at 11 from his native London. He met Mrs. Bryers in Ontario while purchasing a horse from the young woman's father. Their courtship lasted one year and they were married in 1901.

Kettlewell, born and raised in Ontario, married Mrs. Kettlewell May 11, 1898. They celebrated their 61st anniversary last spring.

Both men have been retired the past several years. Bryers worked most of his life with the Canadian National Railroad and retired in 1929. He and his wife have four children, nine grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Kettlewell worked most of his life as a self-employed carpenter and lived in Ontario, Detroit and finally Pampa. He and Mrs. Kettlewell have two children, one grandchild and two great grandchildren.

Bryers, who still talks with an English accent, said he liked Pampa very well, but found it too hot. He said he preferred to stay indoors when the temperature rose over 70. On one of his many walks around town he was amazed to find an abundance of mushroom rooms growing in City Park.

"I picked a sackful," he said. "We took them home and fried them. Very tasty," he concluded.

Air Suspension Dropped By Most Auto Makers Because Of High Cost

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT (UPI) — The bubble of air suspension has burst. Just two years ago air suspension was being heralded as the coming thing in the auto industry.

Although it won acceptance from every auto maker in Detroit in 1955, it will virtually disappear during the model year just getting underway.

The only two cars offering air suspension in 1960 will be Rambler and Cadillac.

It is being dropped this fall by Imperial, Chrysler, DeSoto, Dodge, Plymouth, Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile and Buick-Ford discontinued it last year.

Although Studebaker-Packard engineers were among the leaders in developing the air suspension system for cars, the South Bend company's management turned down a constant leveling device that was to be offered on its 1956 cars because of the cost.

It was the cost, coupled with improvements in coil steel springs that finally led to the wholesale abandonment of air suspension.

Edward Rollert, new general manager of Buick, explained the position of the auto company executives.

"Improvements in coil springs have made it unprofitable to continue to offer air suspension," Rollert said. "The ride offered by the new air springs makes the added cost of air suspension, too great."

The cost of air suspension varied from make to make, ranging from $98 on the Rambler to $214 on the Cadillac.

The advantages offered in exchange for these extra costs included a softer ride regardless of terrain or car load, constant leveling of the car during stops, starts, turns and straightaway driving, and the ability to lift the body of the car above the chassis for traveling rough roads.

The latter benefit, accomplished by increasing the inflation of the "air bags" used in the suspension system, was needed by only a very small portion of the nation's motorists.

Improvements in coil springs made them almost as good as air springs in the other areas.

During the first year of its widespread acceptance, the auto industry sold about 100,000 air suspension units. Last year, the figure dropped to less than half of that.

Cadillac, which sold air springs on 14 per cent of its cars in 1958, dropped down to 7½ per cent on its 1959 models. Buick dropped from 10 to 1½ per cent; Oldsmobile from 6 to 5; Pontiac from 3 per cent to only 600 units and Chevrolet from two to less than 1 per cent.

Rambler has never accounted for more than 1 per cent of its sales with cars equipped with air suspension. Neither did Ford in the only year it offered it. All Chrysler Corp. makes registered less than 1 per cent during the 1959 model year.

The auto industry, along with the rubber industry, spent millions of dollars developing air suspension. Engineers took real pride in working on the new suspensions.

But, just as he did in forcing the auto industry to introduce economy cars, the motorist had the final say.

Court Ruling Could Curb Union Power

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court agreed this week to rule on a case that could curtail the political power of labor unions at the whim of their rank-and-file members.

Specifically, it consented to hear arguments this fall on whether a union member can be forced to pay dues to keep his job under a "union shop" contract if part of the dues is spent to support political candidates or doctrines which he opposes or for other purposes not related to collective bargaining.

Under the union shop a non-union worker must join the union within a certain period or forfeit his job. This stipulation was written into the Railway Labor Act by Congress in 1951 and also is governed to some extent by the Taft-Hartley labor management act.

But it is illegal under the Corrupt Practices Act and Taft-Hartley, with some variations, to use dues money to support any candidate for public office.

As a result, major labor organizations such as the AFL-CIO point their political spending at "educating" union members and the public. This is legal unless it can be proved the "education" is deliberately slanted toward candidates or doctrines in the union favor.

The test case now before the court was started in Macon, Ga., in 1953 by six non-union employees of the Southern Railway. They were required to join the union under the union shop clause to keep their jobs but claimed their dues were used for purposes other than collective bargaining, in seekers chip port face to suits in this instance to support office workers and doctrines they opposed.

This, they contended, deprived them of their property "without due process of law" and of their constitutional right of free speech.

On May 8 this year the Georgia Supreme Court upheld the workers with this declaration: "One who is compelled to contribute the fruits of his labor to support or promote political or economic programs or support candidates for public office is just as much deprived of his freedom of speech as if he were compelled to give his vocal support to doctrines he opposes."

The effect of this was to hold unconstitutional that part of the Railway Labor Act which permitted such a contract, and that is the issue the U. S. Supreme Court has agreed to review.

The tribunal upheld constitutionality of the union shop in a Nebraska test case in 1936. But at that time it seemingly invited a challenge of the political aspect. It said that "if the election of dues, initiation fees or assessments is used as a cover for forcing ideological conformity or other action in contravention of the First and Fifth amendments, this judgement will not prejudice the decision in that (the Nebraska) case."

The unanimous opinion was written by Associate Justice William O. Douglas, who is still on the bench.

It also was pointed out that most union contracts would be unenforceable unless the unions could provide affidavits that their members freely acquiesced in their political or "educational"

For Heating Dollar's Worth, Leave Temperature Dial Alone

By EDWARD COWAN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With cold weather coming—or in some parts of the nation already arrived—home owners are thinking about the traditional wintertime problem of heating the house.

More and more houses these days have automatic heating systems. Set the thermostat for a desired temperature and it activates the heat source necessary to maintain that temperature.

With this in mind, here are some money-saving tips from the National Association of Home Builders:

Temperature controls should not be changed at frequent intervals. Setting controls high does not make the furnace work faster or heat the house sooner. It just makes the furnace operate longer.

For example, you take a winter vacation and shut down the thermostat to save unnecessary fuel costs while you're away. When you return the house is too cold. Setting the thermostat at 80 degrees won't warm the house to the 70 degrees you desire any faster than if you set the thermostat at 70. What will happen is that you'll burn up more fuel than necessary making the house hotter than you want it.

If the house is being aired, set back the thermostat. When windows and doors are closed again, return the instrument to the desired temperature setting.

The Home Builders Association recommends a 19-degree setback at night for conventional types of heating systems. Many thermostats are integrated with clocks so that they automatically make the setback at a prescribed time.

If you open your bedroom windows to get more air at night be sure to close off the bedroom from the part of the house you want to keep warm. If you have a warm air heating system, turn off bedroom radiators or close the register.

Because bedroom doors often have space at the bottom, throw a small rug across this opening to prevent cold air from leaking through and chilling the rest of the house.

If you have a garage under or attached to the house, keep the garage doors closed. They are a prime source of cold air. Vents under houses should also be closed during the heating season to prevent cold air from chilling floors.

Close the damper when your fireplace is not in use. A chimney flue is a direct passage for warm air to escape. As it flows out, cold air comes in.

On The Shelf

Highlights of new books at Lovell Memorial Library are featured in the following reviews by the library staff.

The Street of the Laughing Camel by Ben Lucien Bruman relates the adventures and misadventures of Yancey Collum, Texas cowboy and ex-GI, who opens a laundry in Algeria. Yancey's laundry is no more vital to African life than the Ferris wheel he subsequently operates, or his general store in the heart of the African jungle.

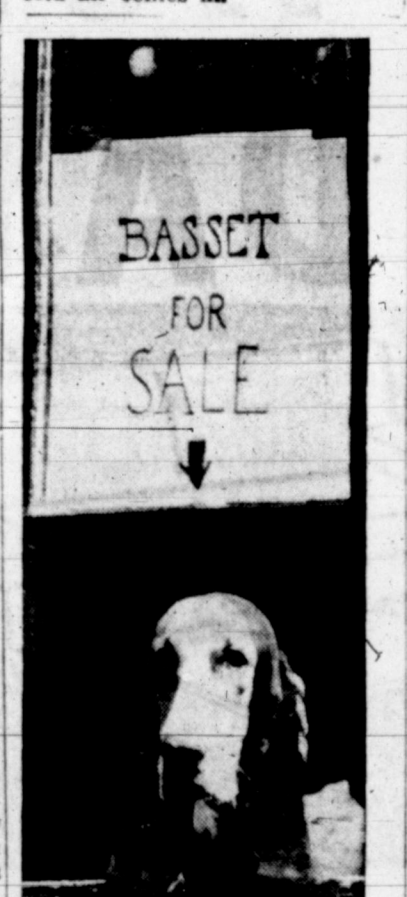

In Strangers in the Forest, set in the first decade of the twentieth century, Carol Brink portrays the journey of a group of young Americans as they make their way to the wilderness of the Northwest, the vast white pine country of Idaho, and the struggle for control of the valuable forest resources that develops.

The Darkness and the Dawn by Thomas B. Costain is the story of Attila the Hun, also known as the Scourge of God. The author brings into sharp focus the loves and hates, ambitions and schemes of all main characters: Attila; his powerful barbarian army, his many wives, his sons, his generals, and his fantastic court; Aetius, the dictator of Rome; Honorius, the love-minded princess of the imperial line; Leo, the strong and courageous pope; Nicolan, the hero of the story, and the girl with golden hair who rides the black horse.

Harry Golden's For 2 cents Plain is a "cracker barrel" of the author's memories for his New York. On the Lower East Side of New York where Harry Golden grew up "majoring in America," a small glass of seltzer cost a penny. For a large glass you said, "Give me for 2 cents plain." A spoonful of syrup cost an extra penny, and here is where the bargaining came in. The fact that a "for 2 cents plain" now costs a nickel in no way dampens Harry Golden's rich nostalgia for the New York of his youth.

Doctor on Trial by Elizabeth Seifert is the story of Storm Linders, who, when he left his St. Louis medical school to serve an apprenticeship to four doctors at Bayard in the sticks for a long three months, but things turned out quite differently. Once again Elizabeth Seifert has written a fine dramatic story which deftly depicts many of the pleasures and pitfalls in the long and arduous training of a doctor. In addition, she has portrayed the colorful but sometimes hectic family life which inevitably plays more than a background role in a doctor's career.

A Family on Wheels by Baria Augusta Trapp is a sequel to her popular book, The Story of the Trapp Family Singers. Now she shares her family's adventures from the time when she wrote the first book to their final tour in 1955, and in this story are the same elements of love, humor, drama and victory that made the earlier volume memorable.

Industrial Activity Dip May Open Avenues Of New Money

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) - A slight slowing down in industrial activity is foreseen by the experts.

This may seem to be bad news but it has its bright spots - and they include:

1 - With business easing a bit it will require less money to operate and that will mean more plentiful supplies of money in turn producing some easing in rates.

2 - A dip in production will call for a stimulant early next year - and that stimulant could very well be a cut in individual and corporate income taxes.

Economists as well as business men recognize that the prolonged steel strike has bitten into our business recovery deeper than any one had anticipated. The result is a jiggering of estimates on fourth quarter results which had been lauded as new record breakers to come.

The U.S. Treasury took the measure of the money market and found that a 5 per cent rate on a 4-year-and-10 - month note issue was more than right to attract investors in quantity.

People were willing to pay more than par for the new notes. Investors drew out savings to buy the issues. Some sold Treasury savings bonds. Some took money planned for use in the stock market for the mortgage market, with savings, with the Treasury itself.

All of this could mean that bonds will come into favor again. Yields on high grade bonds have been running well above 5 per cent in many instances. The yield is the return one gets for investment in an issue and it is determined by the interest paid and the price of the bond. Meantime, yields on stocks have fallen sharply because their prices have risen.

There hasn't been such a wide divergence between stock and bond yields since 1929, but this doesn't mean we are heading into a depression such as the one that hit us 30 years ago. It means that there will be a change in investment buying in the not distant future. People will be more willing to buy bonds and less willing to buy stocks. Easier money would help bonds.

Even so, the stock market still is held in high esteem in Wall Street and Main Street. Stocks have been fairly well liquidated and they face a great deal more selling as traders adjust their holdings to the tax situation.

Many will sell stocks over the next few weeks to establish tax losses and tax profits. This type of selling should be out of the way in December when high dividend and interest payments will provide funds for reinvestment in stocks in time for the traditional year-end rally.

Moldings Have Become Newest Fashionable Hobby Of Pampans

By NANCY MOORE
Daily News Staff Writer

Pampa is caught up in the swirl of one of the newest and most rewarding fads of today — character moldings.

With pound after pound of plaster of paris and an inexhaustible supply of water, Pampa women, and in fact the whole family, are designing figurines which prove to be the envy of professional artists.

And as many Pampans agree, "It's so much fun."

It isn't difficult to make these moldings. It is more like play than work. Not that it doesn't take time and patience, as so many Pampa women stress, but it proves to be such fun that the work is a lot more like play.

Now let's learn the initial step in producing one of these masterpieces which so many Pampans are finding make handy Christmas gifts, birthday presents or just something extra to give to a special someone to remind them you are thinking of them.

Oh! Let's not forget that they are a cheerful present which will bring a smile to the face of that special friend who is recovering from an illness. It's such a nice way to say "get well soon."

But let's not get away from our original purpose — the first step in making these moldings. Naturally, it goes without saying, you should have plenty of plaster of paris on hand and of course that old faithful — water.

Now that the materials are handy, don't forget the molds which always produce the type of figurine you want. Are almost always. But don't get discouraged by that "almost always."

The initial step is to combine the plaster of paris with water. Then you pour this mixture in the mold and let it set for 20 minutes and then remove. It has to dry for 24 hours.

Don't get over anxious. Be sure it is dry. Then you coat it with a sealer and you are ready to paint. The choice of paint and color is up to you.

This has developed into quite a hobby for women here. Naturally this leads to comparisons and the exchange of completed moldings is inevitable.

With Mom busy with these moldings, we find Dad, Sis and even Brother caught up in this hobby which seems to be sweeping Pampa. And though they would never admit it — they are enjoying it.

Of course, sometimes Dad's reaction is one of amusement and occasionally a feeling of being at a loss as what to do. It's fun for him too, but Mom and Sis get so caught up in the artistry of the work, Dad sometimes feels a little awkward, especially if he bumps into a mold — this can be fatal.

CHARACTER MOLDINGS—Mrs. Robert Douthit, 900 E. Campbell, above, is painting a Japanese head mold. This is one of the newest and most rewarding hobbies that seem to be sweeping Pampa. In fact, the whole family can get in on the fun. Character moldings are easy to make and the completed product is an attractive decoration for the house. (Daily News Photo) for shaking it too hard can cause air-bubbles and then the figurine is a mess.

Not too long ago in Pampa, a young man decided to help his wife by mixing up a few molds so they would be dry by morning and she could paint them. He made all the proper arrangements and after keeping the whole house awake for half the night, the young man had completed his job.

The next morning, he found much to his dismay, the moldings were filled with air bubbles. In his haste, he had failed to get the mixture thin enough before placing it in the molds.

Of course, fathers and husbands are only trying to help and they do appreciate the beauty of the completed product.

Naturally everyone appreciates the artistry of this rewarding hobby. The figurines can be made in any of a number of sizes — including, for example colorful roosters which stand approximately one and a half feet tall or tiny angels which are only a few inches tall.

A traditional mold is, of course, the flower base. An unusual and clever new mold is Japanese heads — a boy and a girl.

Although Mom seems to be taking over Dad's work room — for this can be a messy job — Dad, Sis, and even Brother just sit back and say "well at least it is a constructive fad, for the character moldings are pretty and a welcome addition to brighten up the home."

Marriage License

Requirement Added

Applicants for marriage licenses must furnish positive proof of age, regardless of age, according to a new law passed by the Texas Legislature.

County Clerk Charlie Thut said this law went in to effect Oct. 15. For persons who are underage, the application must be accompanied by the signature of one parent. This must be on file at the county clerk's office three days before a license can be issued, Thut added.

NEW FLIGHT SERVICE — FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — West Germany's Lufthansa airlines will inaugurate service to the Far East on Nov. 1.

'This I Saw'

"The face of a soldier . . . one of many servicemen referred to us . . . worried, a little afraid and frustrated. Family illness . . . desperate illness . . . had brought him home on a three-day pass from an Army post. The loved one was no better . . . the family needed his strength . . . his devotion . . . and his presence. There was much to be done, and no one to do it if he were not here.

"Through normal Red Cross channels a contact was made with the military . . . an extension of leave was granted . . . and a flood of relief, a smile of appreciation, and a handclasp of gratitude was the visible evidence of one who had learned he could leave part of his trouble with the people of Pampa.

"This I saw, and it made a lot of things worthwhile."

Mrs. Libby Shotwell,
Executive Secretary,
Gray County Red Cross

Just Reading This Dispatch Aloud will Burn Enough Calories For Weight Loss

By BERNARD BRENNER United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI)—If you read this dispatch aloud, you'll help—just a little—to keep yourself slim.

The energy used in reading aloud burns up calories at the rate of 28 an hour, a Pennsylvania State University nutrition expert said.

The specialist, Dr. Raymond W. Swift, was not advising you to depend on this method of reducing weight, added in an article in the 1959 Agriculture Department Yearbook that it's a lot easier to keep extra pounds off by not overeating than to take them off by exercise.

And you don't have to be a glutton at the table to enlarge your waistline. Even a moderate eater can pile on weight by eating just a little too much for a long time, he said.

The problem of avoiding extra weight, Swift said, is as simple as balancing a bank book—and just as hard to manage.

When you "deposit" more calories in the form of food than you "spend" in the form of basic body metabolism and work, the excess calories become excess weight.

"A slight excess of food energy, if continued for a long time, can be just as effective in producing overweight as any other type of overeating," Swift said.

"An excess of only one bottle of soft drink daily, or somewhat less than one-third of an ounce of butter can account for the deposition of more than seven pounds of fat at the end of a year," the nutritionist explained.

It's easier to skip the extra food than to exercise it away, Swift added, because a half ounce of butter, for example, will provide the extra energy needed to walk one-and-a-half miles.

Pampa Harvesters Tie Amarillo Sandies, 14-14

DOUBLE TROUBLE — Amarillo ball carrier Bill Reid runs into double trouble just past the line of scrimmage. He is downed by Pampa's corner linebacker Charles Warren (85, on the ground) and tackle Jim Scott (72, bending over the ball carrier). Coming up in the background are Charlie Giese (61) and Harold Stokes (65), the Harvesters' guards. (Daily News Photo by Marvin Olsen)

Daily News Sports Editor

Pampa went into Friday night's game here with the Amarillo Sandies as underdogs, but it was the Sandies who had to come from behind to gain a 14-14 tie.

Coach Bum Phillips of Amarillo told Harvesters coach Babe Curfman, after the game, that he considered Pampa the best team in the district, and thought his team was lucky to gain a tie with the Harvesters.

Friday's tie was the first blot on the Sandies' record this year. They had won four straight previously, including a district triumph over Plainview, and were ranked ninth in the state. This was the first time since 1953 that the Harvesters had not lost to the Sandies.

Pampa now has a 2-3-1 record for the year, and an 0-2-1 mark in District 3-4A. The Harvesters have an open date this week.

The Sandie game was a fine team effort for the Harvesters, just as was the narrow 7-6 loss to Monterey a week before. Every man on the offensive line did some good blocking to open holes for the ball carriers. Every man in the defensive lineup made some good tackles; and the backs all turned in some good runs.

The success of the Harvesters offense was shown by the fact that Pampa, with its 14 points, matched the combined scoring of the other four Sandie opponents.

Defensive end Benny Stout and linebacker Terry Rexroad were especially sharp thorns in Amarillo's side. Seidom was Amarillo's able to make any yardage around Stout's end, and Rexroad crashed through many times to make tackles on or behind the line of scrimmage.

Linebacker Duke Garren also played a stellar game, with several fine tackles and a pass interception. Cornerman Charlie Stone, Warren, made several good tackles, and tackle Jim Scott was outstanding on both blocking and tackling.

Center Butch Dunham, guards Harold Stokes and Charles Giese, tackle Rowland Stone, end Lynn McGee, and halfbacks Bobby Stephens also turned in some fine defensive plays.

Merit Cooper was Pampa's leading ball carrier, with 19 carries for 78 yards. Fullback Terry Haralson carried 13 times for 81 yards, and halfback Larry Dunham, in his first start, made 42 yards in 12 tries.

The game was almost as even in the statistics as in the score. Pampa made 15 first downs; to 13 for Amarillo, but the Sandies had a slight edge in rushing yardage — 167 to 161 — and in total offense — 191 to 177.

Pampa Takes Lead
Amarillo scored first in the game, with 2:30 left in the first quarter. The Sandies recovered a Harvesters fumble at the Pampa 45, and drove to paydirt in 13 plays.

Key plays on the drive were a seven-yard run by quarterback Currie Bechtol, an 11-yard run by halfback Johnny Meador, and a 14-yard pass from Bechtol to halfback Bill Reid. Fullback Danny Jordan went through the right side of the line for the touchdown, from the 2-yard line.

David Richardson attempted to kick the extra point, but Giese broke through and blocked it — for nothing. The Sandies scored in eight plays, as Jordan made gains of 12 and 10 yards along the way. Bechtol scored from the 4-yard line, and then ran the tying conversion.

Amarillo had the ball twice more in Pampa's end of the field, but was held for down on both tries. In a last futile attempt, Richardson tried for a field goal from the 41-yard line, but the ball fell short, with only seconds remaining in the game. Pampa took over and made a couple of end sweeps before time ran out.

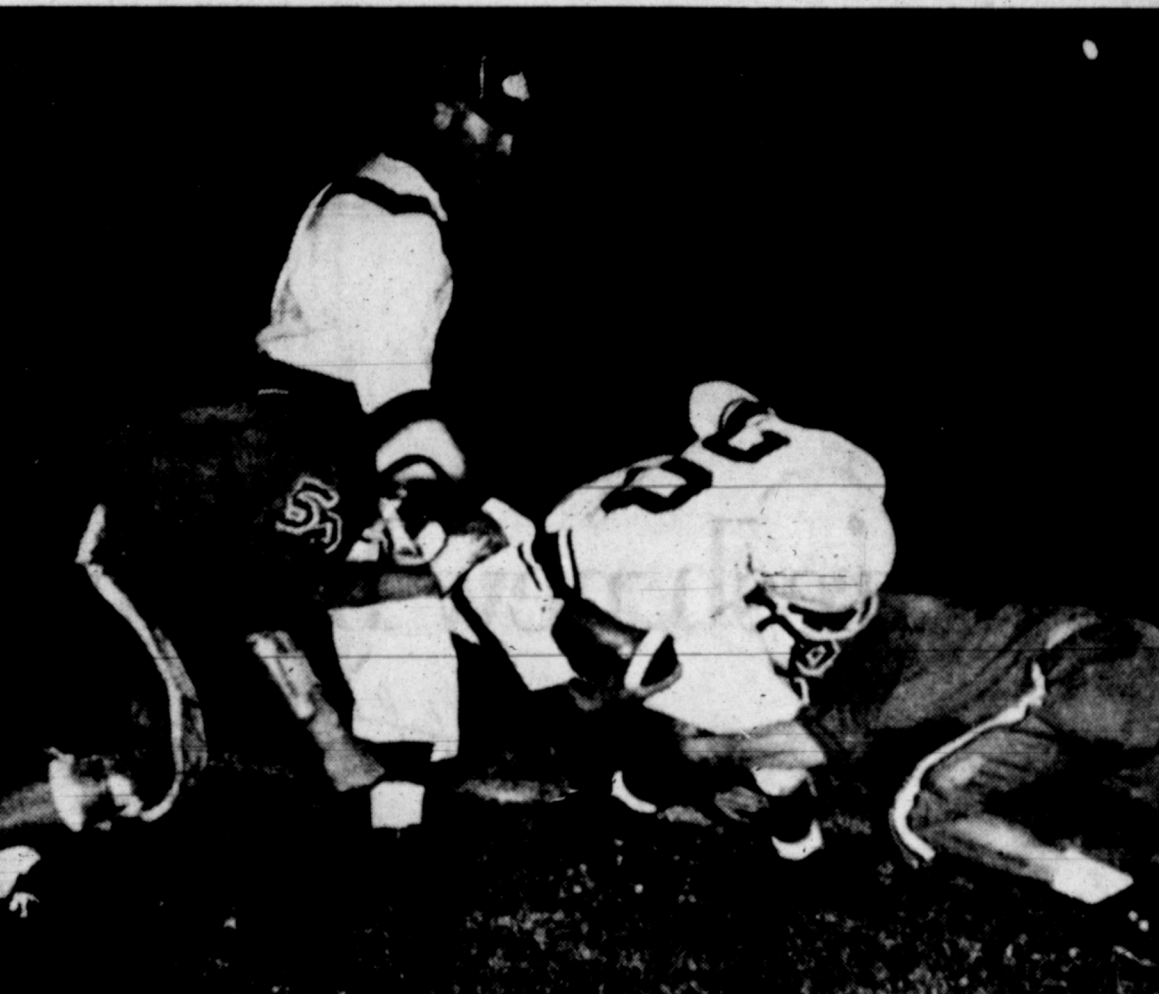

Tying Touchdown
In the fourth quarter, the Sandies got the wind, and this time the wind helped set up Amarillo's tying touchdown. Ronnie Smith punted from his own 24 to the 42, for 18 yards, and Amarillo took over and started its scoring drive.

Again, Haralson, Cooper, and Dunham combined to carry the

TCU Uses Sledge, Spikes To Hammer Aggies, 39-6

By ED FITE
United Press International

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Defending champion Texas Christian rallied behind a pair of Jack-Jack Sledge and Jack Spikes Saturday to storm back into the Southwest Conference title picture with a 39-6 victory over Texas A&M before 42,000 fans.

Quarterback Sledge came from out of almost total obscurity to lend a steady hand to a sputtering TCU offense, while Spikes powerhouse running pulled the Christians out of a first-quarter lethargy and set them on the way to victory with a 25-yard scoring sortie.

They had to share some of the glory, however, with another sub-quarterback — Donald George, who threw two touchdown passes — and halfbacks Marvin Lassater and Marshall Harris, who swapped scoring passes to each other in the runaway victory.

It was the first TCU triumph over Texas A&M at TCU stadium since 1951 and gave the champions a 1-1 conference record with four games to go.

Sledge, a touted schoolboy star who flunked as a varsity sophomore and held himself out of competition last season, filled in for ailing starter Larry Dawson in a desperation move on the part of Coach Abe Martin. And, the hunch paid dividends for the faltering Frogs.

It was Sledge at the controls as TCU moved 70 yards in nine plays for the initial touchdown scored on Spikes' 28-yard run. And he again was at the throttle when the Frogs scored less than two minutes later on a 19-yard running pass to Lassater from Harris, throwing the first pass of his college career.

Then George, who hit four of nine passes for 49 yards, took over. He drove the Frogs 65 yards in two minutes and flipped a scoring pass to halfback Harry Moreland just before halftime, tossed another one for 42 yards to end Dale Glasscock in the third quarter and ran the second unit down to the A&M four-yard line from where the first team scored on a Lassater-to-Harris pass on the first play of the last period.

Spikes, the day's top ground gainer with 76 yards in 10 carries, tackled on a 33-yard field goal late in the game.

The Aggies, who had won three of four starts outside the conference, got their only touchdown on two tremendous Charlie Milstead to Russell Hill passes that ate up 52 yards in 33 seconds as the half ran out.

The TCU offense whipped up 341 yards to the Aggies' 185, 237 of it on the ground, while the defense forced eight Aggie fumbles while recovering five of them and intercepting three passes.

Northwestern Tops Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—Halfback Ray Purdin raced 86 yards for the third longest touchdown run in Northwestern's history Saturday to lead the second-ranked Wildcats to a 20-7 victory over Michigan.

Northwestern scored in the first half with a three-yard run by Mike Stock, and a 62-yard touchdown pass from third-string quarterback John Talley to Mark Johnston.

Michigan, which appeared ready for an upset early in the game, scored first in the opening period on a six-yard dash by sophomore fullback Ken Tureaud.

Northwestern's victory was its fourth straight and left it the only unbeaten and untied team in the Big Ten. But it nearly threw away the triumph over Michigan on fumbles. The Wildcats fumbled six times and Michigan recovered five of them.

It was a fumble which set up the Michigan touchdown. A long Wolverine drive was halted at the Northwestern 2 when Michigan's Tony Rio fumbled into the end zone, giving Northwestern possession on its 20. But two plays later, guard Mike Fillichio fell on a loose ball at the Northwestern 6. Tureaud raced around end to score on the next play.

The Michigan touchdown started the Wildcats into action and they marched 70 yards to end the score shortly before the end of the first period.

Stock, who booted two conversions for Northwestern, capped the drive with a three yard plunge off right tackle for the first Northwestern touchdown.

The Wildcats jumped into the lead with only 30 seconds left in the first half after a sluggish second period on the pass from Talley to Johnston.

Michigan, which has now lost three of four games, had two strong drives halted in the last period on the Northwestern 2 and again on the 7.

Then Purdin, a Junior from Greenfield, Ohio, wrapped up the victory, squiring through right tackle and going all the way for a touchdown.

Iowa Upset By Wisconsin, 25-16

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Wisconsin, rated a pansy on offense after a shutout last week, humbled Iowa, and bounced back into the Big Ten title race to the delight of a record home crowd of 65,256.

Wisconsin jumped off to a 17-0 first half lead, cashing in on four Iowa fumbles and scored again quickly after the opening kickoff of the second half to put the game into the hands of the coach.

Iowa, the ninth-ranked team in the nation, was rated a one-point favorite over Wisconsin in the Michigan State last week and Wisconsin's 21-0 loss to Purdue. The loss was Iowa's second in the conference and virtually eliminated the Hawks from title contention.

Wisconsin is 1-1 in the conference. The Badgers were brutal on defense. Hard tackles shook loose five fumbles from Iowa runners and all were recovered by Wisconsin.

DEVINE EXPLAINS DECISION
OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—General Manager Bing Devine said today the St. Louis Cardinals decided not to operate the Omaha franchise in the Triple-A American Association next season as the result of "gradual change" in player development needs.

ATLANTA (UPI) — Auburn marched 70 yards on sheer power with the second-half kickoff Saturday and fullback Ed Dyer kicked the extra point for a 7-6 victory over fourth-ranked Georgia Tech before 45,000 rain-soaked fans.

Tech kicking specialist Tommy Wells missed the conversion try after Tech's second period touchdown and then was wide of a 35-yard field goal attempt 14 seconds before the game ended.

It was the first loss of the season for the Yellow Jackets, who had won four straight.

Sophomore quarterback Bobby Hunt scored the Auburn touchdown mid-way through the third period on a six-yard run. During the long drive following the second-half kickoff, Hunt and halfback Lamar Rawson moved the Tigers downfield with a series of long runs.

Rawson ran the third-period kickoff back 24 yards, then gained 30 yards on four runs, including one of 18. Hunt gained 23 yards on three tries, including his touch-

Mustangs, Rice Longhorns Barely Tie At 13 All

By KYLE THOMPSON
United Press International

HOUSTON (UPI)—Rice Institute, fighting off an aerial barrage by Southern Methodist Don Meredith in the closing minutes, held the Mustangs to a 13-13 tie Saturday night in a Southwest Conference opener for both teams.

Meredith fanned the air with 14 passes in the final minutes of the game and the Ponies had driven to the Rice 10-yard line when Rice left half Gordon Speer intercepted one of the passes on the one yard line to end the drive and cut off SMU's chance for victory.

The pass interception, the only one Meredith lost out of 27 attempts, came with just over a minute left in the game.

Preserves Tie
Rice managed to hold on to the ball the remaining seconds to preserve the tie.

After closing out the half with a 7-0 lead, SMU fullback Mike Hackney recovered a fumble by Speer in the third period on the Rice 36 to set up the Mustangs second touchdown.

That quarter Bobby Lackey sent through the crossbars after the first Texas touchdown. Lackey himself, had scored the touchdown on a one-yard sneak.

Capitalizes on Fumble
Arkansas capitalized on a Texas fumble to take an early 6-0 lead. After Lackey had fumbled the ball away on the Texas 25, the Porkers drove to the five where quarterback Jim Monroe tossed to end Steve Butler for the touchdown. Fred Akers missed the kick.

In the second quarter, Arkansas had a chance to go ahead but Akers' field goal from inside the 15 was blocked.

The best football of the game came on Arkansas' 89-yard drive which Mosley capped by plunging over from the 3.

Tascosa Retains District Lead

Tascosa's Rebels kept their District 3-4A lead intact Friday, by romping over the Lubbock West-erners, 38-18. The victory kept them undefeated for the season, with a 6-0 record, and gave them a 3-0 record in district play.

The Rebels, ranked fifth in the state, have an open date this week.

Monterey, Tascosa's closest rival for district honors, was to play Palo Duro Saturday night. They were expected to have little trouble in that one.

Amarillo's Sandies, another contender, had their hopes jolted by a 14-14 tie Friday with Pampa. The tie was the first blot on the season record of the Sandies. They are now 4-0 for the season, and have one win and one tie in district play.

Borger, the fourth contender, was to play Plainview Saturday night. Going into that game, Borger had a 4-0 season record and a 1-1 mark in district competition.

Waco, Tex. (UPI)—Quarterback Bobby Ply provided the margin of victory and a determined line stand in the fourth period predicted the lead Saturday night as Baylor defeated Texas Tech, 14-7.

With the Southwest Conference Bears behind, 7-5, at halftime, Ply guided Baylor on a 41-yard march climaxed by his one-yard keeper plunge late in the third quarter.

Then, with his recovered coverage in the end zone, Ply found a hole and ran for the all-important pointer to make it 14-7.

Miami Goes On Homecoming Spree, Takes Mobeetie, 47-19

Miami basked in the glory of a homecoming victory Saturday night by toppling a hapless Mobeetie six-man team, 47-19, at Miami. It was the Miamians game all the way.

All the home team's touchdowns were by passes except one paydirt kickoff return by Larry Anderson and an 80-yard end-zone interception return by Tommy Hollis.

Miami led in the first quarter, 20-0, at the half, 26-0 and in the third stanza, 34-0.

The Miami team made 261 yards rushing and completed 12 out of 26 passes.

Touchdown scorers were Anderson with four, Mark Arrington one and Hollis two.

In the extra point department, Jim Bowers kicked two for two points, each, and Jerry Robertson ran for one tally.

Tackles made by the Miamians were Anderson 5, Hollis 7 and Tim Sitas 7.

In halftime ceremonies Barbara Holland was crowned homecoming queen.

Lee Junior High's seventh graders scored in the last minute of the game Friday at Harvester Park practice field, to gain a 6-6 tie with Phillips.

Keith Griffith sped 60 yards around left end, on a beautifully executed reverse, to save a tie in the face of what looked like certain defeat. Griffith was all alone down the sidelines, as the play completely fooled the Phillips defenders.

The tie gave's Harold Moore's seventh graders a record of 1-1-1 for the season. They close their season here next Friday, in a game with Pampa Junior High's seventh graders. In a previous meeting of the two teams, early this season, Lee won, 14-6.

Moore praised his squad for a good all-around performance Friday. He used about 30 boys, and was pleased with the play of almost all of them.

Lee's offense was limited to running. Top runners, besides Griffith, were Mac Phillips, Charles Snuggs, Johnny Robison, Sam Williams, and Terry Criss, and Robert McCracken.

Among those doing an especially good job on blocking and defense were Dean Evans, David Campbell, Larry Nichols, Bill Camers, Roger Howard, and Williams.

Triple Main Event Set Here Monday

When a couple of wrestlers are brought back for the second straight week, you can be sure that they pleased the fans.

When four wrestlers are brought back for the third straight week, that's really one for the book. But that's exactly what's happening Monday night at the Top of Texas Sportsmen's Club, on Lefors Highway.

A triple main event is scheduled Monday night, beginning at 8:30 p.m. In two of the matches—Danny Savich vs. Bob Geigel and Tommy Phelps vs. Fred Hunt—the grapplers are tangle for the third straight week. The third match sends Ripper Leone against Joe Hamilton.

Hunt and Phelps weren't wrestling each other two weeks ago—officially, that is—but Hunt, the referee, gave Phelps' opponent some illegal aid. That made Tommy angry, and he asked for a match with Hunt.

Hunt won last week's match, a bloody and bruising brawl which went one fall to the finish. However, the fans enjoyed the match so much that wrestling commissioner Doc Miller decided to bring them back this week.

Final touchdown in the third quarter, on a 5-yard run.

McLean Ties For 2-A Lead By Topping White Deer, 21-6

PANHANDLE — The McLean Tigers moved into a tie for first place in District 2-A here Friday, by romping over the Panhandle Panthers, 26-6. McLean and White Deer are both 2-0 in loop play.

McLean, which now has a 4-2 mark for the year, hosts Memphis this Friday. Panhandle, winless in seven games, has an open date. The Panthers occupy the district cellar, with an 0-3 mark in league competition.

Panhandle struck for its only touchdown, late in the second quarter, on a 70-yard pass-and-run play from Jim Elder to Mike Stone. The catch was made at the Panther 45, and Stone ran the remaining 65 yards.

The Pampa Harvesters have a successful season in the bag now, no matter what happens for the rest of the season. When Pampa beats or ties the Sandies, it's like A&M beating Texas, Army whipping Navy, or Texas beating Oklahoma. After that, the rest of 'em don't matter much.

There's some disappointment because Pampa didn't win, of course, but it's very much minor compared to the all-around rejoicing because the Harvesters didn't lose—for the first time since 1953.

In case your downhearted because Pampa didn't get a win instead of a tie, consider this: the 14 points scored by Pampa matched the total scored against the Sandies by their other four opponents, COMBINED. And it wasn't a case of the Harvesters fighting for a tie; it was a case of the Sandies coming from behind and just managing to hang on, by the skin of their teeth.

Coach Bum Phillips of Amarillo told Coach Babe Curfman after the game that Pampa is the best team in the district, and that Amarillo was just doggone lucky to have a tie instead of a loss. High praise, coming from a football coach as highly regarded as Phillips!

Game Was Hard-Fought, Clean

Friday's game was extremely hard fought, by both teams. But it was an exceptionally clean game. Only 29 yards in penalties were levied against Pampa, and only 28 against Amarillo. There were only two contact penalties during the game — both against Amarillo. One was for pass interference, the other (half the distance to the goal, about 3 yards) for unnecessary roughness.

In addition, one Amarillo player was tossed out of the game. But these few instances of rule-breaking were the exception, rather than the rule. The record for fair play and sportsmanship would have been good in any game, but it was exceptionally fine for a contest with as much traditional rivalry as the Sandie-Pampa game.

This year's game was a welcome contrast to last year's game — or at least the last 12 seconds of it. The game itself was almost as clean as this year's, but a large-scale fight broke out between the teams just before the end. There were no such incidents this time.

The entire Harvester team put forth a great offensive and defensive effort, for the second straight week. It would be hard to single out anybody, but linebacker Terry Rexroad and end Benny Stout may have been just a little extra trouble to the Sandies.

Our seat in the pressbox was next to some Amarillo coaches, who were on the phone which connected with the Amarillo bench. Their conversation through the game was heavily loaded with such phrases as "Quit trying to run around Stout!" and "Why doesn't somebody get that blankety-blank linebacker? (Rexroad!)"

I don't believe there was a Harvester on the field who didn't make at least one or two outstanding tackles, or make at least two or three fine blocks. This tie game was one to really be proud of.

White Deer To Be In 1-A In 1960

There's good news today for five teams in class 2-A, and possibly some bad news for White Deer and Panhandle.

Canadian, Clewiston, Lefors, McLean, and Memphis will be all alone next year in District 2-A. White Deer and Panhandle will move to 1-A, where they will be with Gruver, Stinnett, Stratford, and Sunray.

This could be a break for the five teams remaining in 2-A, but it will certainly make things tougher for White Deer and Panhandle. Stinnett and Gruver are perennial class A powers, while Stratford and Sunray are no slouches, either. In effect, this move puts three perennial gridiron powers in the same district.

The Interscholastic League has made one other change, affecting a Panhandle team, in its bi-annual shakeup of high school football teams: Spearman, now in class A, will move up to AA and join Childress, Perryton, Quanah, and Shamrock, and Wellington in District 5. There will be no changes in District 3-4A.

The ante has been upped slightly, for entrance to higher classes. Enrollment in 4A will now require 805 students or more, instead of 800; 3A, 400-805, instead of 390-599; AA, 200 to 400, instead of 200-399; and A, 120-205 instead of 120-200.

In the new shakeup, six 3A schools have moved up to 4A; 17 AA schools have moved up to 3A; Conference AA lost 10 teams to class A, but gained 26 teams from class A; Class A had five teams move down to conference B, but 15 teams will move up from B classification.

Bucks Grab Share of Lead In 2-A; Ride Broncs, 39-6

WHITE DEER (Sp1) — The White Deer Bucks, shooting for their third straight District 2-A title, gained a tie for the district lead here Friday by walloping Henderson, 39-6.

Clarendon free-kicked from the 20, and White Deer returned it to the Broncho 43. On the first play from scrimmage, halfback Don Carter raced 43 yards around left end for a touchdown.

Oklahoma Blanks Missouri, 23-0

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI)—Oklahoma's Sooners were down the Missouri Tigers here Saturday, scoring two touchdowns in the final period to ice a 23-0 victory over the team generally considered the best chance of ending the Sooners' 11-year reign as Big Eight football champions.

Clarendon finally broke into the scoring column early in the fourth quarter, on a 13-yard run around right end by fullback Wilson — who was Clarendon's outstanding player of the game.

It was the 73rd straight Big Eight victory for Oklahoma, but the outcome of the contest was in doubt until the final period when quarterback Bobby Boyd and Bob Page each tallied a touchdown to put the game out of reach.

White Deer added another touchdown in the fourth quarter, as quarterback Dick Hanna passed 10 yards to end Jerry Bradlock. This was the only pass completion of the game.

Missouri controlled the football through most of the first half, although the Sooners got the only score of the half. The touchdown was set up late in the second quarter on a 74-yard quick kick by Wahoo McDaniel that rolled to the Missouri 15.

Burns made 143 of White Deer's 308 rushing yards, on 15 carries. Carter made 96 yards in five tries, and Tommy Lester marked up 30 yards in five tries. Lowe made 32 yards in only two carries, and Cody made 20 yards in three attempts.

Quanah Nips Rangers, 12-6

QUANAH — The Quanah Indians had to come from behind here Friday night to edge a stubborn and surprisingly strong Perryton team, 12-6.

Perryton, which had lost five straight games before Friday's clash, scored first and made its lead hold until the third quarter. Halfback Ricky Shaffer put the Rangers ahead early in the first quarter on a 2-yard plunge.

Quanah, however, came back in the third quarter to sew up the game as Everett Kelly and Owen Morrison scored touchdowns both from the 1-yard line.

Underdog 'Bama Gains 7-7 Draw With Tennessee

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Underdog Alabama traded first half touchdowns with Tennessee Saturday and settled for a 7-7 deadlock before 42,000 fans in a battle of ancient Southeastern Conference gridiron rivals.

After the first half, the foes waged a fierce defensive struggle — each waiting for a break that never came — which put both teams to a grueling test.

Tennessee, loser only to Georgia Tech this season, struck early behind the wrist-like running of tailback Billy Majors, driving 45 yards to a first period touchdown with Majors going the last three.

End Cotton Lester added the extra point.

But just before the half ended, Alabama, aided by a 15-yard penalty, scored on a 21-yard pass play from quarterback Pat Trammell to end Stanley Veil and tackle Fred Sington tied it up with his conversion.

Sington twice had a chance to bring Alabama home a winner. He missed a field goal try from the Tennessee 29 and again in the last minute of the 21.

It was the sixth in the long Southeastern "Coat of Arms" series. Each team has won 12.

In the bruising second half, the defensive-minded eleven swapped seven punts with each bidding for a break beneath threatening skies. The rain never came and neither did the break.

Alabama's alert line three times came up with big plays, guard Don Cochran throwing Majors for a loss of five on one play, guard Bill Hannah catching Gene Etter for 12 on another, and end Bud Moore trapping Etter for a six-yard pass.

Alabama 6 7 0 0 — 7; Tennessee 7 0 0 — 7.

Score by Quarters: Tennessee-Majors 2 pass (Lester kick); Alabama — Bell 21 pass (Trammell Singleton kick).

Wheeler Takes 1-B Opener; Squeezes by Texline, 20-14

WHEELER — The Wheeler Mustangs opened their District 1-B season here Friday by breaking a 14-14 tie in the fourth quarter, and beating Texline, 20-14.

Wheeler has the best season record of any team in 1-B, 3-3, and is rated as the top threat to Groom's bid for the district championship. The Mustangs host Follett this Friday.

Texline, with one win and five losses, hosts Claude this Friday. Jim Jolly ran 78 yards, with only 3 minutes left in the game, for Wheeler's winning touchdown. The score had been tied, 14-14, at the end of the third quarter.

Score by Quarters: Wheeler 6 14 0 0 — 20; Follett 0 0 0 0 — 0.

Peg O' Pampa

HERE'S A TINGE OF GOLD tipping the leaves of trees about now and there's a tinge of green envy in Peg's mind for those wonderful trips many of our friends are taking. Wanted, anytime of the year is a good time for a vacation, but it seems that the fall of the year is perfect. The weather is almost always ideal and the colors of any country-side in the USA are stunning. We hear that Jimmy and Lucille Massa have been down Mexico Way. Vernon and Lena Carl Hobbs have just returned from a trip to the East Coast, which included a visit in New York City and the United Nations among other interesting and glamorous places. We don't mean to be counting like you count the number of pieces of candy your child eats, but this is their second lovely trip this year. The first, in the early spring, to Hawaii. Other autumn travelers are Leone and Royal Davies, who have just un-packed after a four weeks' journey up and down the beautiful California coast-line. They were joined by Harvey and Ruth Nienstiel and together they took in some of the coastal scenery in San Francisco, Monterey, and Carmel. But, perhaps, it isn't necessary to go so far from home to see beautiful and unusual scenery. There are choice spots closer to home judging by the glowing reports the Glen Radcliffs, the A. F. Johnstons, and the H. H. Boyntons give of their recent weekend trip to Palo Duro and Ceta Canyon. They are all members of the Pampa Rose Society and their outing was in the form of a field-trip for the club. They took along a picnic lunch to suffice their tummies while their eyes feasted on all the autumn glory about them.

AND WE KNOW OF still another beauty spot that is even closer to home. In fact it is right here in Lovett Memorial Library. There is an Art Exhibit of the beginning works in oil of local artists hanging today and for the next two weeks in the Library. All of the exhibitors are first-year students of Dord Fitz and the collection is being sponsored by Twentieth Century and Pampa Art Clubs. There need be no apology for the fact that they are "beginning works" from the few we have seen. There is one of "Shifting Sands" by Charlotte Edmondson showing a parched desert scene done in beige-rose tones depicting smoothly rippling sands with a graceful branch of brown driftwood in the foreground against a delicate blue sky. And there is "Autumn Festival" by Virginia Whitten, which, we understand, is quite a feat in that only four colors were permitted in her particular study of oil painting an autumn scene. Other works included in the exhibit are those of Per Stubbe, Alice Federer, Betty Bailey, Marian Fugate, Margaret Steele, Betty Ann Cain, Elaine Waters, Velma Lemmons, Marge Brauchle, Hubert and Jewell Bratcher, Grace Adcock, Anne Lee Gordon, and Mrs. Reed Carr. Stealing the lime-light just a bit from his mother's painting in Master Davie Whitten, who is most excited over his TV appearance today modelling some western clothes from Flossie Anderson's shop. We hear that this young lad is so proud and excited over his TV debut. Watch out, Mr. Dillon and Maverick!

MORE COMINGS AND GOINGS. Loyse and Juanita Caldwell spent last weekend visiting with their attractive daughter, LaJean, on the campus of Oklahoma State University in Stillwater. They went down in observance of Parents' Day and saw the OSU-Tulsa football game, which OSU, by the way, won. LaJean is a sophomore this year and is a member of Zeta Alpha Sorority. And in the same family-club, the Herman-Whatleys are in Austin visiting with their daughter and family, the James Caldwells and adorable Deborah LaJean. James is a junior at the University of Texas. This is a golden year, indeed for the Albert H. Doucettes. Not only did they celebrate their Golden Anniversary this Spring, but on Monday they welcomed a great-granddaughter, Brenda, who arrived to her parents the Ray F. Biers in Tulsa, Okla. Brenda's dad is a jet pilot stationed at an airbase here in Texas. Too, the Doucettes have just completed a lovely new home which they plan to begin moving into soon around the first of November.

LET'S TALK ABOUT FOOTBALL a minute. Although that subject is getting about as touchy as politics or religion, especially if you are talking about the Oklahoma-Texas game to an Oklahoman. Quite a few Pampa Oklahomans and Pampa Texans traveled the several hundreds of miles to Dallas last week to view the game firsthand and absorb some of the traditional color which surrounds the Clash. We know that Frank and Mildred Smith, Jack and Adrienne Foster, Butch and Susie Reynolds, the S. Gene Halls went down also Alleith and Bob Curry, Herman and Lillian Darby, Chris Schneider, John Chisholm, Roy and Phyllis Smith. Phyllis shopped in Dallas for some fabulous decorations for the St. Matthews Episcopal Bazaar coming up next month. Quite a few more fans stayed at home and invited friends in to watch the game on TV. And the good-natured quips were hilarious. We know of a recording taped by some Oklahomans and Texans that we bet Bud Wilkinson would give a quarter-back to hear (if he could spare one). Civil war arguments pale in comparison to the discussions of the OU-TU tussle.

WE HAVEN'T MADE a nomination in a long time so we'd like to make one right now. We nominate for the keenest sense of humor, Gene Harper, whose dry quips go straight as an arrow to your funny-bone when you are least expecting them.

WE POINT WITH PRIDE DEPARTMENT. We heard that Dr. M. C. Overton has received one of the most distinguished honors that can be bestowed upon a medical man. He has been elected a Fellow in the International College of Surgeons. The rare honor was bestowed at a recent meeting held in Chicago. Know Dot is very proud of her Doc.

United Fund kicked off this week at a breakfast attended by a large group of bright-eyed, enthusiastic individuals. And this isn't easy at 7 a.m. Melvin Munn delivered a most inspiring talk and we thought he capsuled the whole spirit of the Drive when he said, "remember, you are not asking for Joe Blow or Mary Doe, but you are asking for humanity." Among the bright-eyed individuals attending the breakfast in Lee cafeteria were H. V. Wilks, Cameron Marsh, John Gikas and Floyd Watson. All of whom had attended the Chamber of Commerce installation dinner the night before in St. Vincent cafeteria just across the highway. After two meals in succession imagine they were anxious to get off the cafeteria-circuit and home for a wife-cooked meal.

JUST ONE OTHER INTERESTING item before we close our news-notes. Noticed in the Theater Section of the New York Times the Oct. 1 issue that Marilyn Lanin, daughter of former Pampons, the Ed Weiss, is in the cast of "Power Of Darkness", a drama by Leo Tolstoy now playing in the New York Playhouse on First Avenue. Brooks Atkinson, outstanding New York critic, had this to say about the play. "It ought to be one of the most overwhelming plays in town." Be seeing you around.

Love, Peg

United Fund Solicitation Chairman Guest At Pampa Altrusa Club Lunch Meeting

Kirk Duncan, chairman of Individual Solicitation for the United Fund, was luncheon guest at the Pampa Altrusa meeting held Monday in the Pampa Hotel. He spoke to the group relative to the current drive for funds to maintain service agencies in Pampa. Using scripture from the New Testament in chapters Mark and Matthew, he vividly illustrated man's responsibility to man and pointed out that though "we are the richest nation in the world, we give less proportionately to the unfortunate, which are taken care of through the various agencies in Pampa."

Mrs. Irl Smith, International Relations chairman, introduced the topic on the United Nations and described the important work of lesser agencies within the United Nations.

Mrs. Smith brought out that though the main work of the United Nations is to maintain peace and security in the world; stop aggression; and to maintain long-term cooperative efforts to remove the causes of war through economic and social education assistance, the lesser agencies within the United Nations have an important job to do, too.

Mrs. Loyle Caldwell described the technical assistance given by the UN in the form of the FOA, which helps underprivileged countries create their own adequate food supply, so that they may help themselves. She described the benefits gained by the children of the world through UNICEF. "We have come a long way in our celebration of Halloween from the time you and I went to school. Think of the mischief that was accomplished in those days. Today little 'trick or treaters' accomplish good in their rounds of collecting contributions for UNICEF. So, this year, greet the callers with a piece of candy and a contribution to UNICEF."

Mrs. Smith in concluding the program described the work of the Status of Women committee in the UN and told how this committee is educating women of the world in new methods of child care and housework.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Mark Heath, president, reports were given by Mrs. F. W. Shotwell, secretary; Mrs. Joe Tooley, treasurer.

Mrs. Nita Cartwright, Altrusa Girl-of-the-Month for September, introduced Miss Linda Wilhelm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Wilhelm, 1003 Huff Road, as the Girl-of-the-Month for October, selected for her outstanding scholastic accomplishments.

Miss Cartwright and Mrs. Shotwell called attention to the article in this month's issue of American Red Cross Journal in which the Pampa Junior Red Cross Chapter is featured in a story.

The centerpiece on the speaker's table was an arrangement of United Nation flags arranged as flowers in a base of lemon leaves and red satin ribbon.

Mrs. Joe Z. Weaver talked briefly on Driver Education and introduced two guests, Misses Mary Phillip and LaNell Riley, who related their experiences in the driver education course they are enrolled in at Pampa High School.

Mrs. C. L. McKinney requested members to bring books to restock the library at Highland General Hospital. "The club has kept books in the hospital bookcase for a number of years as a club project to aid patients and their relatives, who are in the hospital."

Mrs. Garland Rutherford was welcomed as a new member. Tea was served during the social hour to Mmes. Cecil Dalton, C. O. Drew, S. C. Evans, H. T. Hampton, Lee Harrah, R. W. Lane, C. L. McKinney, Otis Nace, Luther Pierson, J. R. Spearman, Ralph Thomas, J. C. Vollmert, W. A. Wagner, Joe Z. Weaver, Sherman White, P. E. Yarbough, Garland Rutherford and the two guests, Misses Phillips and Riley.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Humorous Talk On Safety Highlights Varietas Meeting

Varietas Study Club met Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 in the home of Mrs. H. Price Dozier, 2301 Duncan.

Mrs. P. E. Yarbough spoke on "Return Home Safely" in which she gave humorous accounts of trips she had taken with her three sisters. In summarizing her talk, she advised, "Drive on the right side and don't pull over to the left in the middle of the block. Always take your driver's license with you. Observe all the traffic signals you, and the others in the car, see."

'Defense Against Propaganda' Topic Discussed At Civic Culture Club Meet

"The only defense against propaganda is knowledge, knowledge so that we may know which statements are true and which are untrue" were the opening remarks by Mrs. Carl Axelsson in presenting a program on "Defense Against Propaganda" for members of the Civic Culture Club. The meeting was held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Stanley Brandt, 429 N. Wells.

"One of our big concerns today is communist propaganda," Mrs. Axelsson stated. "We all listened to the many speeches made by Nikita Khrushchev during his stay in this country. Did we believe everything he said, or doubted his every word? Or did we study his statements and those made by men of our own country and try to learn just how much truth there was in what Mr. K. said? Each of us is entitled to her own opinion, but I hope that opinion was not just a spur of the moment affair, but a well-thought out conclusion based on knowledge."

Mrs. Axelsson continued, "Another example of propaganda is the demand of people of the world that all work on nuclear fission be stopped. Once again knowledge is necessary to combat this propaganda. Man did not abandon hope of controlling electricity, when he learned it was the secret of lightning's destructive force."

It would be even more foolish to abandon work on nuclear fission just because it can produce deadly weapons. Today, engineers hope to find a way to produce heat with atomic fission more cheaply than with coal, oil, or natural gas, even at their present prices. Also, radioisotopes have already proved valuable in industrial and medical operations.

In concluding remarks, Mrs. Axelsson said, "When we have no way of finding out whether propaganda is true or false, then we must prepare for any eventuality."

A skit entitled, "Let's Plan What To Do Now" concerning home-preparedness was presented by Mmes. R. E. Dauer, Willis White, Jackson Hon and Carl Axelsson.

"Faith And Religion" Study Topic To Be Pursued By TC Culture Club

Mrs. V. L. Hobbs, Twentieth Century Culture Club program chairman, sketched in general terms the over-all concept of the club's study topic for the year at a meeting held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. H. H. Hahn. Mrs. Jeff Bearden was co-hostess.

To initiate the year's study of "Faith And Religion," Mrs. E. L. Henderson spoke on the subject of Hinduism, the native religious and social system of India.

In introductory remarks, Mrs. Henderson pointed out that religion is the chief differentiating characteristic of man. "Animals may compete with or surpass man in certain senses, but no animal has ever displayed any evidence of religious life or done anything that could be interpreted as preparation for life after death." She quoted Allen Menzies' definition of religion as "the worship of higher powers from a sense of need."

"As for Hinduism, it has no church, no clearly defined dogma," Mrs. Henderson reported.

"About the only way to become a Hindu is to be born one. Its adherents worship an endless stream of gods, the chief of which is Brahma. He is pictured with four heads, because of the belief that he is all-powerful."

"There are about 300 million Hindus today in India and about 15 million in Pakistan, Ceylon and Burma," she continued. "This religion is so complex that its teachers, called gurus, sit for hours daily to explain its endless traditions. There is no written discipline; all teaching is orally."

The origins of Hinduism are obscure, but it is believed to have begun at least as early as 1500 B.C.

In concluding remarks, Mrs. Henderson stated that it is almost impossible to summarize Hinduism, but included the following as significant ideas: "The world is temporary; there is no real sin, caste is a divine arrangement to be accepted unquestioned. Life's goal is to attain knowledge of union with the Divine Brahma."

"The chief weaknesses of Hinduism, at least to Westerners," Mrs. Henderson brought out, "would seem to be that caste creates inertia; womanhood has a low position; there is no permanent worth of or moral ideal for the human individual and no possible improvement in a person's status except after death."

During a business session conducted by Mrs. Warren Hasse, president, members approved a motion to enter the table setting contest. Mrs. J. L. Chase was named chairman of the decorating committee to work with Misses Jack Merchant, Dudley Steele and Mrs. Henderson.

Refreshments were served during the social hour to 17 members.

RUTH MILLETT

A woman is never less attractive to other men than when she is giving her own husband a bad time. When a bride-playing wife says to her husband-partner, "You had no business bidding in the first place" or "we only needed two, but you never bother to look at the score," she may think she is demonstrating that she is a superior bridge player. But any man listening in is sure to be thinking, "I'd hate to be married to her" or "why does Joe put up with her superior attitude?"

When a wife corrects her husband's manners or keeps interrupting to help him tell a story "right"—meaning to tell it the way she remembers it—she thinks she is making a good impression. But all any man in hearing thinks is, "Poor old henpecked Joe. How does he stand it?"

When a wife tells how she saved her husband from making a mistake, or how he got into hot water by refusing to take her advice, or how much better off they would be if he would only listen to her, she thinks she is convincing her listeners of her good judgment. But to any man who happens to be listening she is acting like an insufferable bore.

When a wife bawls her husband

Origin And History Of Sonata Form Discussed For Pampa Piano Ass'n

"Introducing the Sonata Form—its importance in music, its origin and history," was discussed by Dr. Gladys M. Glenn at the Tuesday meeting of the Pampa Piano Teachers' Association. Dr. Glenn is president of the Musical Arts Conservatory, and the Music Teachers' Association of Amarillo.

In tracing the history and development of the sonata form, Dr. Glenn noted that it is the highest form of musical composition, whether in the simplified sonata, the longer sonata, or "sonata-pieces", or the full-blown concerto and symphony.

"Several musical authorities have likened the sonata form to the ancient forces of creativity. For centuries men have known that the structure of the sonata, and its tonal placement, has a definite effect on the performer. In the sonata the main, or strong theme, is followed by a weaker, secondary theme, then the two are developed together," Dr. Glenn stated.

"In the Hebrew tradition of Kabbala, the science of numbers, various numbers and combinations of numbers were accorded mystical qualities with differing effects on persons or events," she continued. "The ancients refused to play music in certain keys because it was feared that it would adversely affect the character development of their children. Even today a preference for certain keys is evident, because of their 'brightness', or 'subdued feeling'."

During the business meeting membership shields and cards were presented to members, and a new application form for membership was approved.

The president, Tracy Cary, announced that applications for the Eildia Clifton Piano Scholarship at Baylor University, to be awarded to a Texas high school senior, must be made by October 25. Information is available from the association secretary, Mrs. David Mills.

Luncheon was served at the close of the meeting to Mmes. E. B. Al-leman, W. M. Cooper, Lois Flagan, Joe Foster, Lee Harris, Dick Land, David Mills, Paul Reimer, Ramon C. Wilson, Fidelia Yoder, Bob Perkins, W. D. Waters, Miss Rosemary Lawlor, and Messrs. Tracy Cary and Tom Atkin, and the guest speaker, Dr. Glenn.

The next meeting of the association will be a guest night dinner on Nov. 10, at the First Methodist Church.

A panel of students from Pampa Senior High School will discuss "Through the Eyes of Youth" at the regular meeting of the Pampa Branch of the American Association of University Women, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., in the City Club Room. Appearing on the panel will be Jim Scott, Dwain Dunham, Joe Bourland, Paullette Cooke, and Karen Capps.

Hostesses for the meeting are Miss Alma Wilson, chairman, Mrs. F. W. Brook, Mrs. Myra Berry, and Miss Inez Clubb.

Top O' Texas Garden Club met with Mrs. Tom Patton, 2511 Christine, on Monday afternoon at one o'clock with Mrs. Raymond L. Welch, president, presiding as members were reminded to vote for a national flower at any of the three Florist Telegraph Delivery shops in Pampa.

Members voted to enter the Table Setting Contest to be held on Nov. 14, sponsored by the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Why is it assumed by city folks that we people who live on farms can take on the responsibility of an unlimited number of discarded pets? In the 14 years we've lived on a farm, we've had over 300 dogs and cats (usually approaching motherhood) deliberately dropped off on our property.

We have kept some, given some to friends, nursed back to health those that were ailing — but there is a limit.

Some people have been abandoned sick animals who were so far gone that we have had to carry them to the vet's to have them mercifully put out of their misery. We have had it! How can we put a stop to this endless chain of cast-offs?

FARMER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You can't. City folks will always "deliberately drop off" unwanted pets on the property of farmers because they know that people like you live on farms. They shouldn't do it — but they will.

DEAR ABBY: What does it mean when a boy bites the tip of your ear? BERNICE

DEAR BERNICE: It means he is either teething or would like to know you better.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a swell kid. He looks kind of hoody but he isn't that way at all. He used to be wild, but he's changed. He was thrown out of school because he kicked a teacher in the cafeteria. I talked to his mother yesterday and she said they were going to let him come back to school Monday and put him on probation. A b b y, my parents won't let me see him. They think he's no good. When he calls me on the phone they tell him not to call any more and they won't let me talk to him. How can I convince my parents that he's a good kid? They won't even give him a chance to prove himself. TRUE LOVE

Mrs. Bill Brown was hostess to the Hi-land Christian Church Women's Council on Tuesday. Mrs. Hazel Crouch gave the devotional topic on "What Prayer Can Do." Refreshments were served during the social hour. Members attending in addition to those mentioned above were Mrs. Ray Mason, Leo Wheeler, W. E. Whitsell, W. C. Scott, and a guest, Mrs. M. Barnett. 'Back Door' Spending

There's a little clause in our Constitution which, along with quite a lot of other clauses, now seems to be passing its life out. It reads as follows: "No money shall be drawn from the Treasury of the United States but in consequence of appropriations made by law."

Most Important Vote

Most people think that voting simply means voting at the polls. The real decisions on wise voting come before the vote at the polls. There are many ways of voting. One votes every time he supports a religion. That is a most important vote.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Modern Capitalism's Ideas In The Field Of Economic Theory I am continuing to quote from Frederick Nyemeyer's essay on "The Sin Of What is Called 'Capitalism'."

"On the wall of Belshazzar's palace on the night that Babylon was captured by the Medes and Persians, the finger of a hand wrote on the wall, 'Mene, Mene, Tekel, Upharsin' (Daniel 5:25), which nobody could interpret except the prophet Daniel. He declared that the words meant: 'God hath numbered thy Kingdom, and brought it to an end; thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting; thy kingdom is divided, and given to the Medes and Persians.'"

"Today the handwriting on the wall in regard to 'Capitalism' is equally clear, 'Mene, Mene, Tekel, Upharsin.' Socialism-communism, historically the enemy of religion, is at the gates. If socialism-communism overthrows the capitalist world there will be very little left for some time of the Christian religion. Not that it will ultimately be destroyed, but that it will be reduced to a mere remnant of the ethical principles underlying the Christian religion and true capitalism—principles which men must eventually return to those principles whether they wish or not.

"The long-time view therefore, in the struggle between communism and capitalism, should be looked at optimistically, but the short-time view may be just the contrary. "The situation in regard to modern capitalism cannot be described in optimistic terms. It is apparent that 'capitalism' does not know how to refute the basic arguments of socialism-communism; readers will remember that we are offering money to anyone who can provide us with an argument written by a modern capitalist which logically refutes socialism. A communist—by quoting some text—are we referring to a pragmatic argument based on consequences, namely, that socialism—communism results in poverty and tyranny. To our knowledge, there is no modern capitalist philosopher or social scientist who has addressed himself to refuting socialism-communism and come up with the answer. If anyone has, we would certainly appreciate learning to know about it. So much for 'capitalism' on socialism-communism.

WEST USSR OFFER — $600 MILLION TO SETTLE $11 BILLION LEND-LEASE. WASHINGTON — Russia is making the highest offer yet to settle its World War II lend-lease debt. The new offer is $400 million — exactly half of what the U.S. last proposed in these 14-year-old negotiations. In 1958, the State Department offered to settle these $11 billion of lend-lease claims for $800 million.

NEW YORK, N. Y. — You can sit and talk to a man maybe a dozen times, both of you relaxed and not trying to build character. You can sit opposite him in his house or some other man's house maybe half a dozen times and play poker against him. And out of all these events carry away no impression much deeper than that he is an actor and handles his cards and his conversation well. Once, even, you can sit on his $20-a-yard broadloom and lay some dice around and you give him 50 cents or he gives you 50 cents and it adds up to something to do after dinner. It takes a long time, and a merry book, to bring you around to the realization that Vincent Price is considerable of a human being.

New York Sows Seeds Of Ignoble Experiment

By Thurman Sensing

The truth about the ignoble experiment of integration is striking home in Northern communities. In New York City a long, tragic summer, marked by the violence of teen age Negro and Puerto Rican gangs, has come to an end. New York City, including its "liberal" press, is gradually waking to a view of the evil fruits of integration.

Seeds Of Failure Are Inherent In Socialism

By HOWARD KERSHNER, L. H. D.

By driving men as slaves and by seizing wealth produced by free men, socialism may make some show of success on the purely physical plane of life. It is short lived, for socialism carries within it the seeds of failure, but for the time being something — not much, but something — can be said for it. By forced labor, stolen secrets, and begged billions from the United States the Kremlin tyrants have erected a facade that deceives the uninformed.

The Pampa Daily News

YOUR FREEDOM NEWSPAPER We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from the government. Freedom is not license. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, The Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence. This newspaper is dedicated to promoting and preserving YOUR freedom as well as our own. For only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

Union Newspapers

Any newspaper that runs the union label, which it is not obliged to do even if it has a union contract, is, by so doing, endorsing all these wasteful practices of the union that injure the readers and society and are a complete violation of the Commandments. We have never known a newspaper that carries the union label that had the courage and forthrightness to open its columns for a free and rational discussion of whether its policy is in harmony with the Declaration of Independence and thus the Last Table, where each party reduced his writings to principles (numbers). There is a very definite reason. If they ever permitted their columns to be used, their insincerity could be shown and their Table, where each party reduced lack of courage and fairness and impartiality exposed.

Owner never takes out all the cash; he always leaves a good working balance in the register. It is a greater amount than needed, because the owner knows there should be a reserve available against the most unusual demands. In fact, I conclude that there is $1,000 extra there all the time.

Then I reason with myself and say: there is no benefit in letting that money remain idle. I will use it myself. And so I take the $1,000 and invest it. I persuade myself that I have not stolen $1,000. I am merely using what is not being used. I say to myself: 'If the owner needs it, I will restore the money. But do not worry. It will not be needed. My employer is inefficient in the use of money; I will be efficient in the use of money.'

When a reader takes this kind of a paper when he can get one that does not require its employees to pay tribute to any group in order to work and thus serve his fellowman and himself, he is, by so doing, voting in a way that will retard and lasting harm to his fellowman, and the ultimate consequences will even harm himself and his family.

Yes, the newspaper one takes is one of the most important votes any man makes.

Bid For A Smile

Once man demanded virtue in women; now all he expects is that she be discreet. A rejected girl was bitter, vengeful and not a little angry at the man who had just broken her heart. With care she wrapped the engagement ring in wedding, packed it in a box and addressed it to the cad. Then she pasted a label next to the address. Large red letters on the label announced: "GIVE — Handle With Care."

Death Takes Recent Toll Of Big Stars

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Now that movietown is moving into its third generation, death is cutting down heroes and heroines who dominated screens for the past two decades — stars who seemed like neighbors to the nation's audiences.

In the past year death took Tyrona Power, Mario Lanza, Paul Douglas, Wayne Morris, Lou Costello, Kay Kendall and Errol Flynn, among others.

In each instance superstitious show folk talked about death striking performers in series of three, waiting for a second or third friend to succumb.

Most recent trio to die within a few days of one another were Miss Kendall, Paul Douglas and Wayne Morris. The deaths of Lanza and Flynn leaves an ominous vacancy in the cycle.

Peculiarly, actors — who are known for their emotional reactions — rarely display grief when one of their number passes. Nor do they indulge in maudlin eulogies.

It has become almost a tradition among TV and movie stars to recall the lighter moments of their departed friends.

At the country clubs, studios, network rehearsal stages, and the Brown Derby stories and anecdotes fly.

Such phrases as, "I once played the Orpheum circuit with him..." "I'll never forget the time she first set foot on a soundstage..." "Man, he could take a drink with the best of them," are part of the jargon.

This week the stories are concentrated on Errol Flynn.

His escapades already were being exaggerated, knitting the fabric of a legend to challenge John Barrymore's flamboyant life and times. All the memories were kindly. Old foes fondly remembered the good times, not the bad.

Floriata quickly sell out of sprays, Western Union is flooded with telegram requests and the whisky flows a trifle more heavily.

Hollywood no longer is a youthful community, and most of its first generation giants have died. Gone are the Fairbanks, DeMille, Berrys, Arbuckles, Valentinos and Louis B. Mayers.

Now the second generation is experiencing the relentless inroads of the spectre of death. But the community pauses only briefly, and you hear the saying, "The show must go on."

Quotes In The News

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, in a proclamation on the death of Gen. George C. Marshall:

"To his resolution and strength of purpose, his steadfast courage and wise decision, this nation, and indeed the free world, are greatly indebted for survival at a time of great peril."

WASHINGTON — Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, commenting on an agreement by steel company negotiators to consider scaled-down union demands in the nationwide steel strike:

"The parties today are closer together than they have been since the negotiations started."

NEW ORLEANS — Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, announcing that his network will drop all TV quiz shows giving away "lavish" prizes:

"We do not believe that any system of policing, public or private, however carefully devised, can plug all the possibilities for hanky-panky in the production of the programs."

LOS ANGELES — Mrs. Florence Aaland, mother of the late Errol Flynn's 17-year-old "protégé" Beverly Aaland, after hearing that her daughter was asked to leave an airport bar at Seattle because she was under age:

"I'm glad they kicked her out of the bar. I don't like her to drink. She never used to drink around Errol, except for sipping a little pink champagne."

Historical Greats Hard To Put On TV

By DOC QUIGG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The job of flinging a giant of history onto a TV screen sounds easy, but in the case of Thomas Jefferson there was trouble. A couple of other fellows kept butting in.

Mildred Freed Alberg, the distinguished producer of the dramatic series called "Our American Heritage" that kicks off Sunday night on NBC-TV with a one-hour drama based on a single year in the life of the Great Framers of the Declaration of Independence, tells it this way:

"We started off with one hero, Jefferson, for our first show. But then we began reading the writings of Alexander Hamilton, and we were bowled over — here we had two literary giants. I started reading Hamilton one day at 4 p.m. and ended at three o'clock the next morning with tears streaming down my face at the letter he wrote to his wife the night before his death."

"This was the life of Thomas Jefferson, but soon another man entered, one G. Washington. And again we had the same incredible experience — the man had such integrity and stature — Washington, the balancing wheel who kept both Jefferson and Hamilton in his cabinet. We became fascinated with Washington, and then we had three heroes."

"It was an awesome responsibility, to make a living person out of each one, not just a marble bust; to make people say: 'I didn't know he was like that.' It's the most encouraging thing in the world to go back and read and realize that when this country needed it, there was the most astonishing group of intellectual giants. And with all the bickering and argument; they steered the right course."

"This is not a documentary and not a narrative. The task was to take the period and the people and make first-class theater. We stayed away from the writing of the Declaration of Independence and Jefferson's years as president. We chose one year, 1792-93, when American politics was suffering the backwash of the French Revolution and Jefferson and Hamilton were fighting tooth and nail in Washington's cabinet."

"Out of that fight came the two-party system in America. The show, named 'Divided We Stand,' was written by Morton Wisengrad, with an assist from Thomas Jefferson (what a writer!). Morton was ingenious in working in Jefferson's own words and style. Ralph Bellamy

Ad Lib Is A Trait Of Ferrer Clan

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA) — Jose Ferrer says he's never before told a story about any of his children, but he just couldn't resist this one, about his 4½-year-old son, Miguel.

The boy wanted to telephone his mother, Rosemary Clooney, who was singing at the Indiana State Fair. He's a bright youngster, and followed his father's instructions on how to dial the operator and what to tell her.

"I want to speak to Miss Rosemary Clooney," he said, "in Connersville, Ind."

"How do you spell Connersville?" asked the operator.

"How would I know?" answered Miguel. "I'm only 4½."

Everybody except Donna Reed is surprised that The Donna Reed Show is going full-blast in its second year. When it started, nobody was too optimistic — but Donna.

"I'm very immodest," she says, "but I always thought it was good. From the first moment I agreed to do the part, I was happy with it — happier than with any other part I've ever had anywhere."

One reason she's happy is that she isn't messing around with the production, even though it's a family enterprise. Her husband, Tony Owen, is the man who runs the whole enterprise. But Donna will do nothing except act.

"I'm an actress," she says, "not a producer, film editor, writer or set designer. There's too much of the other things going on in Hollywood — actors who are in on everything from the script to the cutting. I get a script and I act, period."

She did have one important say in the creation of the show. When it was being cast, she insisted that the two children chosen to play her TV offspring come from happy homes. She feels that, unless kids come from happy homes, they aren't "happy actors."

And Donna also tries to make sure that her own, off-screen family (four kids) is a happy group. She does this by being off on weekends, when they're home into school, and "wrapping" — my free weekend in rotation — with two relatively easy days on Friday and Monday. Those are rehearsal days, when she leaves the house at 10 and is home by three. Only Tuesdays and Thursdays are full days of work.

"The only thing that suffers," she says, "is our social life. We don't have any."

Crack FBI man — but bewildered father

There is a very good reason why "THE FBI STORY" is considered such a wonderful motion picture. Rarely within memory has the screen offered as much excitement combined with such an abundance of warmth and humor. While it is "the FBI story" it is at the same time the happy, sometimes bitter-sweet story of the growing pains of the family of Special Agent Chip Hardesty. culminated in the new series, "The Rebel" — he roughed out stories about people. Then he figured he'd have to set them in the old West, even though they could have happened anywhere, any time.

Why the well-worn West? "Because people will accept them in the West," he says. "Just stick a horse in the background and you can tell any kind of a story."

Adams is one of the owners of "The Rebel." And he hopes it will mean much to his financial future. When it started, he had a new wife and a debt of $12,000. Now he's also an expectant father and the debt has not yet shrunk perceptibly. So a lot is riding on "The Rebel" in the Adams scheme of things.

The series is being filmed at the Paramount lot in Hollywood. Nick, as one of the proprietors, rates an office. And he has great satisfaction out of the fact that this is the exact office where, some years ago, he reported for an audition and was told that he had no talent and should go back to Jersey City. Obviously, he ignored the advice.

NEW CELANESE TANKER—The Celanese Corporation, looking ahead toward a faster, more economical era of chemical transportation, has received its first delivery of a 20,000 gallon tank car. Pictured above is the first of 50 such cars which will be delivered to the Pampa plant. It has twice the normal capacity of any car built previously and will be used to transport acetic acid. The giant aluminum car, which dwarfs the oldstyle car to the right, "opens a new field in transportation of chemicals other than acetic acid," a Celanese spokesman said.

Celanese Tankers

Pictured elsewhere on this page is one of the 50 mammoth chemical tank-cars scheduled for delivery to the Pampa Celanese plant.

Don Beamon reports from the Celanese plant that the cars will have a capacity of 20,000 gallons, twice that of the largest aluminum tank car ever built before.

High Appointments

Oilmen Eugene Hosford of Houston and Cecil Coville of Dallas have received appointments to top jobs in the oil industry's public information and service program.

The announcement was made by K. H. Shaffer, chairman of the Texas Oil Information Committee.

Hosford, operations coordinator of the domestic production department of the Gulf Oil Corp., is the new executive vice chairman of the Texas OIC.

Coville, administrative assistant to the management of Sun Oil Company's Southwest Production Division, was appointed community programs vice chairman.

Both were appointed for two-year terms. They will help administer the OIC program, now a branch of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn., through the more than 300 committees in Texas communities.

Encouraging Results

The Rocket Petroleum Co. of Lubbock reports "encouraging results" following its first field tests of a new chemical inhibitor designed to open bentonitic sands to water floods.

"After 8 days of continuous testing, our injection well was taking water under pressure at a rate of 375 barrels per day with no evidence of clogging or channeling," company president W. J. Finch said.

Sun To Launch Biggest Tanker

CHESTER, Pa. — The biggest ship ever to bear the name of Pennsylvania will be launched here Monday.

She is the S. S. Pennsylvania Sun, 50,000-ton Sun Oil Company supertanker, largest of its kind built in Pennsylvania and the biggest oil company-owned tankship flying the American flag.

She is half again as big as the famed battleship, U.S.S. Pennsylvania, survivor of Pearl Harbor and later terror of the Japanese fleet.

The new Sun supertanker boasts cargo capacity for about 417,000 barrels, of 17 1/2 million gallons of oil, enough to float even the biggest battleship.

The mammoth tankship, painted gray with white superstructure, will slide down the ways of Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company at 3:45 Monday into the slack tide of the Delaware River.

She will undergo tests there and at sea before joining Sun's tanker fleet early in 1960.

The tanker was sponsored by Mrs. Willard W. Wright, wife of Sun Oil's marketing vice president, Capt. Norman E. Walls of Wallingford, Pa., who has been sailing with the Sun fleet for 23 years, takes over as skipper of the new ship.

A feature of the S.S. Pennsylvania Sun is the 360 degree pilot house, a tanker innovation which permits observation of all surrounding water. It also has an improved ship-to-shore telephone system with a range up to 9,000 miles.

Standard marine telephone systems have ranges of 1,000 miles or less.

A sister ship of equal size and tonnage now known only as H 111-611, is being built at Sun Ship also for Sun Oil. The two supertankers represent a major step, says Frank R. Markley, Sun Oil transportation vice president, toward modernization and enlargement of the company's fleet of tankships.

Argument Begins Tuesday On Gas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An unending drama of the natural gas industry moves toward a climax Tuesday before the Federal Power Commission.

On that day, Oct. 20, Midwestern Gas Transmission Co., Houston, argues for the right to import Canadian gas for sale in a rich, untapped market in North Dakota, Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin.

It will be no ordinary occasion. For years competitive giants of the industry have been waging battle for the territory and the millions in future profits that go with it.

But for the first time in years the atmosphere should be friendly. The commission laid down certain advance terms which Midwestern has met, and the companies which disputed Midwestern's bid for the territory and were indicted under the federal antitrust laws, have themselves benefited by a division of the market.

The commission's decision will come swiftly. Unless it rules before Nov. 1, Midwestern's import contract with Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, Ltd., Toronto, will be subject to cancellation or will step up in price by one cent a thousand cubic feet. Midwestern's collateral contracts with other friendly producers.

Michigan-Wisconsin was one of the companies opposing Midwestern's original application. Another was Northern Natural Gas Co., Omaha. Both were indicted some years ago on charges of trying to squeeze Midwestern out of the market.

The Justice Department filed the suit in Milwaukee but has since transferred it to Chicago. Inasmuch as most of the territorial differences have now been ironed out, there is some belief here the action may be quashed. The Justice Department would not comment, however.

Midwestern-owned by Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., Houston—initiated discussions with Northern and Michigan-Wisconsin which seemingly turned the competitive tug-of-war into a friendly proceeding.

Safety Mark

Employees of Phillips Petroleum Company's land and geological department have completed 2 million man-hours of work without a disabling injury. The safety record was set by approximately 1,000 employees from October, 1958 to September, 1959.

Trend Seen

The world-wide trend toward larger and more economical oil refineries is continuing. As a result, the average thruput of domestic and foreign plants is higher now than at any time in the past.

This information was revealed by Petroleum Refiner, International Oil publication of Gulf Publishing Co.

In the U.S., for instance, this trend is evidenced by the recent completion of a 140,000-bpd pipe still for the Whiting, Ind., refinery of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana). This plant replaces nine smaller units and produces 64 percent of the plant's thruput. Other examples says Petroleum Refiner are Mobil Oil's new 100,000-bpd crude distillation unit at Beaumont, and Tidewater Oil's 130,000-bpd refinery in Delaware.

Celanese Sees Transportation Era Opening

A new era in economical, fast transportation of chemicals was opened Oct. 7 with delivery to the Celanese Chemical Company of the largest aluminum tank car ever manufactured.

William J. Stebler, president of General American Transportation Corporation and manufacturer of the car, said the car's capacity of 20,000 gallons is twice the capacity of the largest aluminum tank car ever built before.

The car is the first of 50 which are being manufactured in Sharon, Pennsylvania, and sent to the Celanese plant at Pampa. All are scheduled for delivery by the end of October. Celanese will use the cars to transport acetic acid, a raw material used in a wide variety of consumer and industrial products, including textile fibers, paints, coatings, polyurethane foam plastic and pharmaceuticals.

Celanese is the nation's biggest supplier of acetic acid.

The car is so big that General American had to change its normal planing of the cars during manufacture so they lay parallel rather than transverse to the long wall of the shops.

The giant aluminum tank car, Stebler said, opens up a new field in transportation of other chemicals in addition to acetic acid, however.

Stebler said the lighter weight of the aluminum car means an additional 4,300 pounds of cargo can be carried, as the same car, built of steel, weighs 72,300 pounds. The new car, which is 56 feet long, 10 feet wide and 15 feet high, weighs 68,000 pounds.

MILLION MILE AWARD—In ceremonies the past week at Perryton the Perryton Camp of Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Co. was given its third "Million Mile" award, emblematic of driving a million miles without an accident in company vehicles. The award was presented by Hubert Northcutt, (left) district manager from Wichita, to E. L. Fulton, Perryton district superintendent. Attending from Pampa were Earl Moreland and L. C. Cable.

Perryton Camp Wins 3rd Million Mile Award

The Perryton Camp of the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Co. had the distinction Thursday of being the only field services location in the firm which has won three Million Mile trophies.

Million Mile awards are given after a Halliburton service location drives one million miles without an accident in company cars to trucks.

To achieve their latest million mile total, the men of Perryton drove approximately 100,000 miles per month throughout the past 10 months, reaching 1 million miles in August.

In recognition, a dinner was held Thursday night at Perryton for employees and their families. Guests attended from throughout the company's Wichita division. Representing the Duncan, Okla., headquarters was Harry Ziegler, Halliburton safety manager. Hubert Northcutt, division manager, arrived for the presentation from Wichita, Kans.

Stekoll Petroleum In Expansion Move

DALLAS (UPI) — Stekoll Petroleum Corp. will expand operations in the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles, Canada, Venezuela and Trinidad, stockholders were told today at the company's first annual meeting.

President Marion H. Stekoll revealed that "in the two and one-half months' period which ended June 30, we acquired three substantial properties, organized two affiliates, and substantially increased production of oil and natural gas."

Current plans for the company include possible diversification outside the oil industry, according to Stekoll.

Oil Allowable Is Boosted At Hearing

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas' oil allowable for November has been boosted by the Railroad Commission to 2,750,375 barrels per day, an increase of 51,954 barrels.

The action, announced following a 40-minute state-wide proration hearing, was based on continuation of a nine-day producing pattern, same as at present.

November's increase over current permissive production will come as a result of maintaining the nine-day pattern while moving from a 31-day month to a 30-day month.

Most major oil spokesmen urged nine producing days.

Nominating for nine days were Mobil Oil, Gulf Oil Corp., Shell Oil Co., Indiana Oil Purchasing Co., Sinclair Oil Co., and Phillips Petroleum Co.

Ten days was urged by Texaco Petroleum Co.

Ten days was urged by Texaco Inc., Humble Oil and Refining Co., Hess Service Oil Co., and Standard Oil Co. of Texas.

Atlantic Refining Co., requested a cut to eight-day production, while Sun Oil Co., asked for a boost to 11 days.
