Red Leader To Tour Iowa Farm

By JACK V. FOX
United Press International

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, his spirits vastly improved by a hearty reception here leaves today for a 30-hour tour of the famed Iowa corn belt.

The Russian leader, who received the most enthusiastic welcome of his American tour so far during 40 hours in the bay area, will visit a farm family at Coon Rapids before going to Pittsburgh and Washington.

Khrushchev, who was greeted in San Jose Monday by a sign which read "prince of peace," made a comparison between Communism and Christianity at a civic banquet here Monday night.

In a televised speech, the Soviet premier said the Communists looked upon building a new society as something "most sacred."

"We want to build a society of complete equality as preached by Christ," he said.

Like Summons Seven Of His Top Advisers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower called seven top advisers to the White House today to help him prepare for his crucial week-end talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Summoned to the conference were high diplomatic, military, intelligence, science and atomic officials, headed by Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon and Deputy Defense Secretary Thomas Gates.

They included John McCone, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission; Allen Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency; Adm. Arleigh B. Burke, chief of naval operations; Dr. George B. Kistiakowsky, presidential science adviser; and Gordon Gray, special presidential assistant for security affairs.

White House secretary James C. Hagerty said the meeting was called to deal with the President's discussions with Khrushchev this weekend at his secluded mountain retreat at Camp David, Md.

Khrushchev will go to Camp David, about 65 miles north of Washington, on Friday afternoon, the day after he returns from his current transcontinental tour.

Eisenhower and Khrushchev will confer all-day Saturday on the summit.

Boy Admits Murder Of NY Gang Rival

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 16-year-old Puerto Rican gang leader admitted today he was the youth in the blue raincoat who shot and killed a 16-year-old high school student in a feud over gang territory, police reported.

Authorities identified the teenage killer as Edward Perez of The Bronx, one of the members of the Royal Knights gang picked up for questioning since the slaying of John Guzman Monday afternoon. Guzman was a member of the Valiant Crews gang, possibly its president.

Perez was booked for homicide this morning and seven members of the Knights were booked with him for acting in concert to slay Guzman.

Perez's slaying capped a summer-long wave of juvenile violence in New York that has resulted in the death of at least 20 teenagers. Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will lead a Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency about the city's uphill battle against teen crime when it opens nationwide hearings here Wednesday.

The pace of juvenile crime has stepped up during the past few days. Six youths armed with a knife ganged up on a sidewalk near the Brooklyn Navy Yard Monday night and robbed him of $10. Two teen-agers allegedly kidnapped and raped a 13-year-old during the weekend, and a similar assault on a 17-year-old girl was reported.

Witnesses to Guzman's slaying said eight or 10 boys dressed in blue, tan or white trenchcoats converged on the youth as he chatted with several companions in front of Trinity Episcopal Church in The Bronx. There was an argument and Guzman started to run toward nearby Marjorie High School where he was a sophomore.

A single shot through the lower

DUKE GARREN IN HOSPITAL

Duke Garren, 175-pound Pampa Harvester center, was rushed to Highland General Hospital by ambulance after collapsing in the dressing room following Monday's football practice session.

Garren, who recovered a fumble and was a standout on defense during the 12-0 Pampa win over Arlington High last week, was thought to have taken too many aspirins in order to clear away a bad headache.

The Junior lineman may be ready physically, however, to make the long trip to El Paso where Pampa meets the Bowie Bears Friday night.

Joint C-C Meet Slated Tuesday

Reservations are on tap in the Chamber of Commerce office for a joint meeting of the senior and Junior Chambers Tuesday. Walter Rogers of Pampa, representing the 18th Congressional District, will speak at the $1.25 per plate luncheon.

Rogers, who writes a weekly news letter for the Daily News, will report on recent developments in the nation's capital, including labor reform legislation and the reaction to Khrushchev's visit.

Five hundred persons attended a reception for public school teachers Monday night at Robert E. Lee Junior High School. W. L. Veale, chairman of the Chamber's public relations committee, presided at an informal program.

A welcoming address was made by President Warren Hasse and a response by Miss Martha Montgomery, president of the Classroom Teachers Association.

Other speakers were Knox Kinard, superintendent of schools and Aubrey Steele, president of the School Board.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sanders sang two numbers. Sanders is the new director of the Pampa High School Capella Choir. The evening was enhanced by Maxine Milliron's organ music.

FARM BUREAU ORGANIZERS

For Gray County Bureau

Farmers Seek 125

The newly-organized Farm Bureau in Gray County will begin an intensive drive for members Oct. 5, it was decided Monday night at a meeting of 26 community chairmen.

Buddy Hedges, a Farm Bureau organizer from Olton, said chairmen will meet Oct. 5 at Poole's Steak House for breakfast and then begin an all-day drive for members.

The goal for Gray County has been set at 125, according to W. C. Epperson and W. B. Jackson, who are spear-heading the local drive.

On the evening of Oct. 5, following the all-day canvass for members, State Rep. Grainger McElhenny will address the group, giving a legislator's view of the Farm Bureau.

Monday night's meeting was held in the new county court-house annex east of Pampa. The first hour of the meeting was taken up by Blue Cross representative Andy Anderson. Blue Cross "covers" the Farm Bureau in Texas.

At present the Farm Bureau is the only active farmer's organization in Gray County. It's state-wide membership is 76,000, compared to 6,100 members in the Farmer's Union, and 5,000 in the state Grange organization.

Jackson was recently elected president of the Gray County unit, while Epperson was elected membership chairman. The Bureau presently has 32 members here.

School Board Makes Tour, Takes Out Loan

Pampa's School Board breezed through a short agenda of business Monday afternoon and then toured some of the city's newer school facilities.

Monday's meeting, held at Pampa Jr. High, lasted 30 minutes. The two main items on the agenda concerned a decision to make a short-term $60,000 loan from Citizens Bank, and the examination of a $2,865 bill from the John Moss Construction Co. for "unforeseen costs" in connection with the remodeling of Pampa Jr. High.

School Business Manager Homer Craig said the loan (at 2 1/2 percent) would be needed to meet the school's October payroll. He said taxes from school district rolls would probably not come in soon enough to meet payroll needs.

The bill submitted by Moss Construction listed numerous unforeseen items that came up during the summer remodeling of the Junior High.

It was emphasized by Architects Gene Hollar and Weldon Moore that all the extra items were "outside the specifications." The original bid accepted on the job was $26,265.

The Board Monday also gave its approval for the distribution in city schools of traffic safety brochures. The brochures, to be passed out by the City Traffic Commission, are in connection with Texas School Traffic Week.

In other business the Board decided to advertise for bids on removing the old B. M. Baker cafeteria building. Business Manager Craig said two or three persons had expressed an interest in demolishing the building for its salvageable parts.

Bids will be opened Oct. 15.

KEY CLUB FETE SET

Key Club members will name Pampa's adult "Leader of the Year" during a leadership banquet tonight at Pampa High school. The selection will be made by PHS students, according to Mickey Schmidt, chairman of the Key Club awards committee.

Based on exceptional leadership in any field, the award will go to citizen of Gray County who has been active within the last 12 months.

A surprise program will be presented by the Student Council.

The leadership banquet is designed to both honor and challenge elected and appointed leaders of agencies, clubs, teams and organizations. Duane Dunham, Key Club president, said in announcing the fair.

The president, vice president and officer of each club and class is the faculty of each group awarded.

The banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the PHS cafeteria.

Drivers To Pay Another Penny

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Starting Oct. 1, American motorists will have to pay an extra one-cent federal tax on every gallon of gasoline they buy.

The tax increase was enacted into law Monday when President Eisenhower signed the bill to provide financing for the $1,000-mile Interstate highway system.

The measure was one of 24 bills approved by the President. Still Ailing his signature are 56 other bills passed in the closing days of a recent session of Congress.

Eisenhower had requested a 1 1/2 cent a gallon hike in gasoline taxes but he said he would settle for the one-cent boost "to avoid serious disruption" in the road building program.

UN To Tackle Nikita's Plan

BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press International

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The United Nations steering committee put Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's disarmament plan on the General Assembly agenda today and Russia immediately demanded a separate debate on it.

No objection was made in the 21-nation committee to Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov's request that the plan outlined by Khrushchev here last Friday be included in the assembly's agenda.

But Kuznetsov objected vigorously to the assembly's Board of Trustees' proposal that the Khrushchev plan be lumped with other aspects of disarmament already listed for discussion. The committee left that decision to the assembly.

Kuznetsov said Khrushchev's proposal should stand by itself for discussion and not be "hidden away" among other proposals where it might not get the sufficient attention as to substance.

The steering committee met before the full assembly went into a session in which the United States hoped to match or better last year's vote in heating down attempts to stall Communist China to the United Nations.

The 21-nation assembly Board of Trustees Monday got Communist China was an "international outlaw" that had started wars in six countries in nine years. U.S. diplomats hoped this accounting of the record would persuade the United Nations to "without interference from this country, regardless of how we vote upon that issue."

ADLAI WANTS REDS IN UN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Adlai E. Stevenson called on the United States Monday night to stop leading the opposition against the proposed admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

He said this nation, as the leader of the "anti-admission lobby" against Red China, had drawn attention to the "anti-admission" movement, including much criticism from our own allies, and this has been a mistake.

In an interview over a local television station, the twice-defeated Democratic presidential candidate said the question of admitting Communist China should be left to the United Nations "without interference from this country, regardless of how we vote upon that issue."

Shooting Victim Is In Critical Condition

Robert Chambers, 17, remained in critical condition this morning at Highland General Hospital, where he was rushed Monday afternoon following a shooting accident in his home.

Chambers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn D. Chambers, 1300 N. Starkweather, was shot through the abdomen about 5:15 p.m. while he and two other teenagers were playfully scuffling over a shirt.

Doctors at Highland Hospital said today that the Pampa boy is still in critical condition, but he is better than he was last night.

The bullet, a hollow-point slug from a .22 caliber target pistol, was shot through the boy's liver and right kidney and lodged in Chamber's spine. There was no paralysis.

An emergency plea for plasma, broadcast by local radio stations, was met with numerous donations. Doctors said the boy may not have lived if there hadn't been such a large response of donors.

Deputy Sheriff Buck Haggard said the shooting occurred in the Chambers' bedroom while Chambers and another boy were scuffling over a shirt.

A third boy, 14, playfully told the two to "break it up" while pointing the apparently unloaded gun at his friends. Chamber's brother, Haggard said, was hit at close range.

He was rushed by ambulance to Highland Hospital by Duenkel-Carmichael.

TRAFFIC SAFETY CAMPAIGNERS

Getting Texas School Traffic Safety Week off to a "bang-up start" Monday were Terry Culey and three driver education students from Pampa High School. The wrecked pickup truck is currently on display in front of the old LaNora Theatre on Cuyler St. Students this week are engaged in numerous activities, all designed to educate students in safe driving habits.  "I stopped the car at random and asked an ordinary housewife on the street what was her dearest wish, and she said 'peace... no war.' Those are the sentiments that fill the minds of all citizens in the Soviet Union, he said.
 Khrushchev said he hoped the upcoming talks with President Eisenhower would produce an understanding which would lead to the establishment of universal peace.
 "All prejudice and ill will must be discarded if we are to achieve solutions," he said. "We want to understand your motives... but there must be reciprocity."
Spent Busy Day
 Khrushchev spent one of the busiest days of his visit Monday. He discussed submarines with a Coast Guard officer, peace with a left-wing labor leader, co-existence with a leading businessman, take-home pay with a factory worker, and food prices with employees of a super market.
 The premier started off with a cruise of San Francisco Bay aboard the Coast Guard cutter Gresham. He had a good-natured talk with Cmdr. B. P. Clark about navies.

 The Knights and the Crowns had set up a truce some time ago, but recent incursions into each other's "turf" (territory) had heightened tension. Police said the showdown was touched off by the invasion of Crown territory Sunday night by a Knight who wanted to visit his girl.

Houston Has Uneasy Night

HOUSTON (UPI)—Explosives and threats of bombs about to go off kept the Houston police department busy Monday night.
 Officers said they had numerous calls about bombs, but that most of them turned out to be teen-aged pranks.
 Two calls turned out to be the real thing, however.
 A tip late Monday led officers to the home of 20-year-old Terry Tompkins, where they found 18 sticks of dynamite, three electric caps, 50 blasting caps and 100 feet of wire in his television workshop.
 Police charged Tompkins with possession of a bomb.
 Another call came from off-duty patrolman J. N. Smith, who said a 13-year-old boy had reported to him seeing three younger boys playing with blasting caps.
 Demolition expert Sgt. J. E. Armstrong and arson investigator J. Cooke found three boys, ages 10, 11 and 12, who admitted they had been playing with the caps. The boys told them they found the explosives in a vacant house in north Houston.
 The city has been bomb-conscious since a demented father tossed a bomb in the Edgar A. Poe school last week, killing himself, his 7-year-old son and four other persons.
 Police arrested an 18-year-old youth Monday night who drove by a tent revival as people were going in and shouted that a bomb was about to go off inside the tent.
 Someone called police and they nabbed the youth a few minutes later as he drove by again.
 Officers said one of the bomb warnings sent squad cars hurrying to the East End YMCA Monday night. The other threats warned about bombs in various parts of the city, they said.

Optimists Slate Joint Board Meet

Plans have been made for a joint meeting of the boards of directors of Pampa's two Optimist Clubs, the Breakfast and Evening clubs. The joint board meeting will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

 At the regular meeting of the evening Optimist Club Monday at Poole's Steak House, local rancher Raymond Dorsey showed movies taken on a recent trip through Mexico, South Texas and Florida. Clifford Davenport, a Little League coach, was a special guest at the meeting.
 A short special meeting of the board of directors was held following the regular meeting. Besides planning to meet with the Breakfast Club directors, the following action was also taken: routine bills were approved; Davenport's application for membership was approved; and work details were set for Wednesday from 8 a. to 5 p.m., and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Khrushchev In Blade, Kit Are Stolen Here

By HENRY SHAPIRO
 United Press International
 SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's visit to San Francisco left him in a visibly better mood today than his Los Angeles experience.
 He has managed to blast a wide crack in the iron security ring that surrounds him, he has shaken hands and rubbed shoulders with representatives of "the masses," and he has done more rubbernecking than in any other American city.
 His bout with labor leaders apparently left him unfazed, especially after his unsheduled call on Harry Bridges of the Longshoremen's Union. To the Soviet mind, Bridges is more representative of the real sentiments of American labor than Walter Reuther.
 The Soviet premier, who gets a daily briefing on the American and world press, has no doubt been told of reports that needling tactics applied to him in New York and Los Angeles were inspired by Henry Cabot Lodge, whom Soviet newsmen jestingly described as "Khrushchev's political commissar."

Blade, Kit Are Stolen Here

A tractor blade and a black leather kit of Avon products were reported stolen in Pampa Monday evening, police said this morning.
 The tractor blade was reported missing by Earl D. Hilton, 323 Doyle. He said the blade had been left near a construction job on Gwendolen St.
 Mrs. E. R. Darnell, 2291 Wilks, said her Avon cosmetics kit was taken Monday evening from the Mary Ellen Church of Christ.
 America to rub his face in American sauce... to show him the might of the United States so as to make him shake in the knees."
 Outwardly Khrushchev's relations with Lodge appeared to be good. He has refrained from public criticism of the U.N. ambassador, if for no other reason, because Lodge is a personal representative of President Eisenhower.
 And so far the President, in Khrushchev's view, has been brave, good and evil.
 He has missed no opportunity to praise Eisenhower's sincerity, seriousness of purpose and opposition to war.
 Khrushchev appears at this point to have the edge in his debate with Lodge. The premier usually has the last word and the ambassador gets no chance at rebuttal.

Mrs. K. Goes On Shopping Spree

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mrs. Nikita Khrushchev, performing in a manner characteristic of wives everywhere, went on a shopping spree Monday.
 Mrs. Khrushchev spent more than $100 in a department store, then had lunch in a fashionable (and expensive) restaurant. She was accompanied by other women in the official party, all of whom slipped away from the Soviet Premier's motor cavalcade just before it left San Francisco for San Jose.
 Khrushchev, meanwhile, toured the San Jose plant of International Business Machines, manufacturer of computers, adding machines and other electronic equipment.
 Mrs. Khrushchev's shopping expedition was her first in the United States. Accompanied by her two daughters, Mrs. Andrei Gromyko, an interpreter and three American women, the wife of the Soviet premier went to a Sears, Roebuck & Co. store in a suburban district here after visiting an elementary school. The spur-of-the-moment tour was so unplanned that the women arrived at Sears before the store opened.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Eakin

St. Mary's Church Scene Of Vows Exchanged By Miss Homer, J. Eakin

In a double-ring ceremony held recently in St. Mary's Church in Groom, Miss Rose Mary Homer and Jimmie Eakin were united in marriage with vows read by the Rev. J. Arnold Carlson, pastor. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Homer of Groom. The groom is the son of Mrs. L. P. Eakin of White Deer. Nuptial music for the ceremony was presented by Miss Betty Hermsmeyer. Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of imported lace over satin fashioned with a fitted bodice and a bouffant floor-length skirt. The dainty neckline was edged with sequins. The bridal veil of illusion was secured to a Juliet cap edged with pearls and sequins. She carried a bridal bouquet of white rosebuds centered with an orchid. Miss Bernadine Lennen, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor wearing a dress of orchid and broderie anglaise over taffeta. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations with pink rosebuds. Paul Eakin, bridegroom's brother, served as best man. Ushers were Maynard Britten, Joe Gordzell, Bill Bohr, and Jimmy Homer.

Altar boys were Joe and Johnny Homer, bride's brothers. Mrs. Homer, bride's mother, wore a navy blue silk dress with bone accessories. Mrs. Eakin, bridegroom's mother, was attired in a mauve rose dress with pink rosebuds. A reception was held in St. Mary's Hall following the ceremony. The serving table was laid with an orchid net cloth centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Misses Carolyn Anderwald of White Deer, Linda Perryman of Berger, Linda Homer and Susan Homer presided at the serving of cake and punch. Guests were registered by Miss Betty Hermsmeyer.

DEAR ABBY... By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: May I call your attention to the phrase "DOCTORS AND DENTISTS," used recently in your column. This phrase makes every self-respecting dentist cringe. It is degrading to the dentist because it implies that a dentist is NOT a doctor. He is. He is a doctor of dental surgery, or a "D. D. S."

To address medical doctors and dentists as, "Doctors and dentists" is as insulting as saying, "Ladies, and you, too, Miss Van Buren." The phrase should be "PHYSICIANS AND DENTISTS." Oddly enough, physicians are the worst offenders when it comes to using the phrase "doctors and dentists." They hold the arrogant belief that "Doctor" is a title reserved only for physicians. We doctors of dental surgery know more about the mouth than our medical colleagues. And having earned a doctor's degree in our specialty we feel that we are entitled to all the respect that comes with it. J. A. B. (D. D. S.)

DEAR ABBY: Would like your advice or the advice of a reader who has had the same problem. My husband is a foreman with a construction company. We have five children (four in school). My husband is sent away on jobs which last from one to two years. Should the children and I stay home or should we move with him? He is on a two-year job now. My children (especially the teenagers) don't want to move because they like their friends and school here.

But I live like a widow. We can't have couples as friends or belong to any clubs because he is away so much. I spend so many lonely months and so does my husband because he doesn't drink, gamble, wonderful money, but I want to do right by my children and by him, too. I would appreciate some helpful advice. TURN WIFE

DEAR TURN: Pack up your family and live where your husband lives. The children will adjust and they might even enjoy the move. No family man should be away from home for one to two years at a stretch. Money isn't everything. DEAR ABBY: I'll start by saying I am not married and I admit I know nothing about raising children. Am I wrong or is it normal for a child who is three years old to still be teething? I told my sister she should take her little girl to a doctor. I think something is wrong with her. She chews on things constantly. Twice she almost choked to death — once on a big gob of rubber (a doll's leg) and once on a piece of sponge while her father washed his car. She chewed the arms (wood) off her potty chair and they all laughed, saying she is teething. She got a little tricycle and she chewed the rubber pedals off it in one day. She is starting on the tires now. Am I a worrywart or is there something wrong with this child? WORRYWART

DEAR WORRYWART: The only way to determine if there is something wrong with a child is to take that child to a doctor. If I were your sister that's what I'd do. Fast!

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARION: He is long past the age of "sawing his wild oats." Don't stand for any horsing around. What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this column. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

RUTH MILLETT

When Mr. Brown died his three grown and married children met in a solemn, apprehensive mood to discuss the important question, "What are we going to do about Mother?" "Mother," they were sure, would never be able to make it on her own without "Dad." And so the well-meaning children discussed and argued and debated the problem of what was to become of "Mother" and finally worked out what they considered the "most sensible" thing for her to do — give up her home and go to live with the daughter whose children were almost grown and who had the biggest house to share. It never occurred to Mrs. Brown's conscientious, loving children that she might possibly be able to make her own plans and her own decisions. But when they laid their plan before her she sweetly thanked her children for their concern but told them she planned to stay right in her own home. They were sure she wouldn't be able to manage financially and they protested that she shouldn't be living all alone. But she had answers to both of those objections, too. She said she was going to look around for another congenial widow of about her own age and rent her a room. And she was going job hunting. The children shook their heads at each other over "Mothers'" naive belief that she could manage on her own, but not wanting to hurt her feelings, they told her to give her plan a try. That was five years ago. Mrs. Brown is still living in her own home. She has rented a room to a friend who tried living with her children and found it an unsatisfactory arrangement. And though Mrs. Brown didn't find a job, she has become the most in-demand baby sitter in her town. So she is making it alone. Independent, useful and happy. And who is even more proud of her accomplishment than she is? Her children, of course. The moral to this story is, never sell "Mother" short. She may not be nearly as helpless as her children suppose.

GIRL FOUND DEAD

DALLAS (UPI)—Peace Justice Glenn Byrd has ruled suicide in the shooting death of an 18-year-old girl found sprawled on a sofa last night on a studio couch in a swank residential apartment. She was identified as Yvonne Swann. A .35-caliber automatic pistol was found beside her.

Columbia, she is director of the Unitarian Church youth group at South Salem, N. Y., her home. And most recently, she acted as advisor to the Southern Baptist Convention, which is financing a new dramatized television series to help combat J.D.

The convention's radio and television commission said it expects to reach 20 million homes in some 200 cities in the next year — using the filmed shows, called "The Answer," and home viewing parties for teenagers and parents.

Mrs. Forman said the Baptists hoped to reach "beyond the church herd to all in the community who are worried about the rise in juvenile crime."

A tiny hearing aid that fits entirely in the ear complete with volume control has just been introduced. It is especially good for those who do not want to wear a hearing aid all the time. When in groups, in church or in theaters, just slip it into your ear and you hear. When not needed, carry it in your watch pocket. For further information about the amazing peanut hearing aid come to the Monthly Hearing Aid Service at the Hotel Adams, in Pampa, Wednesday, September 23rd from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Each Child Has Different Case History

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—You can't be concrete about the causes for juvenile delinquency because each child is a different case history, says one family guidance authority.

But you can be safe with one generalization — the child who grows into a teen-age misfit somewhere along the way did not get the basic parental love, the feeling he is needed, that should be his.

Mrs. Sandra Forman, of the department of family living, Columbia University Teachers College, said "it is an innate thing in man, this basic instinct to belong, to be needed, to be loved."

"Juvenile gangs grow when these things are missing in the family; the children seek out some group."

"Then why do the gangs so often turn to violence?"

"Because if you don't give to someone, something he wants, it also is a natural instinct to fight for it," she answered.

Mrs. Forman is the wife of the writer and explorer, Harrison Forman, and the couple has three children — two daughters, one of whom is adopted, and a teenage son.

In addition to her work with Columbia, she is director of the Unitarian Church youth group at South Salem, N. Y., her home. And most recently, she acted as advisor to the Southern Baptist Convention, in addition to her work with Co-

Mao Tse-Tung Worried About Khrushchev's Visit To States

By EARNEST HOBERRECHT
United Press International

TOKYO (UPI)—Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-Tung is worried about the visit of Soviet Premier Khrushchev to the United States, according to intelligence sources which have proved accurate in the past.

These sources, who admit their information is almost two weeks old, said the Chinese Communist leader has told persons close to him that he is afraid Khrushchev will become infatuated with the idea of a "two-man summit" and bargain away many things of value to Russia's allies in order to promote Russia's personal prestige on the world stage.

The sources speculated that Khrushchev decided to visit China following his American trip, because he wants to be able to assure Mao that Russia and the Soviet bloc were strengthened, not weakened, by his Washington talks.

Monitor UPI Report
When the Russian premier visits Red China, he will find that the Chinese Communists are well informed about his U.S. visit. He may wonder why, since the Peiping government does not have diplomatic relations with Washington and has no representatives and no press correspondents in the U.S.

The answer is simple: Peiping government agencies monitor without authorization — the complete United Press International world news report that is transmitted all over the globe by radio-telegraph. By listening to UPI world and regional transmitters, the Chinese Communists get well over 125,000 words of impartial, objective world news each day. While Khrushchev is in the United States the Chinese will get thousands of words daily on his actions and statements.

Students of Asian affairs, including some who know Mao, say the Chinese leader and his aides will study all press dispatches on the Soviet premier's U.S. trip. The implication is that Mao will be very well informed and in a position to ask plenty of questions when premier Khrushchev arrives in Peiping.

Interest, Not Demanding
While Mao will be interested in hearing about what happened in America, he will not be sharp or demanding in his talks with the Soviet premier. It was not too long ago that he was the obedient servant of Moscow and was receiving considerable aid and support which enabled him to take over China.

Today Mao may consider himself as an equal in the Communist camp. He may even consider himself superior so far as "theory" is concerned. However, he will not soon forget how much he owes to the Russians.

Khrushchev Flies To Coon Rapids

By WILLIAM E. SPICER
United Press International

COON RAPIDS, Iowa (UPI)—The world's No. 1 Communist interrupts his big-city tour today for a down-on-the-farm look at the heartland of the nation and a not-so-typical American farmer.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, a one-time shepherd boy who made good, flies to Iowa's tall corn country today for a 29½-hour view of the greatness of American agriculture. He'll see some of the reasons why the American farmer out-produces his Russian counterpart by 5 to 1.

Focal point of the visit will be the productive cornland owned or managed by Rowell Garst, a 61-year-old prosperous hybrid seed corn expert considered something of a maverick in agriculture.

The Soviet leader also will rub elbows with perhaps the most varied group of Americans he will get close to on the tour—farmers and agricultural experts, top state and city officials, industrial workers and university professors.

Khrushchev, whom Garst describes as "just a farmer at heart," also will undoubtedly get a sizeable amount of good Iowa dirt in his shoes and on his clothes as he tramps around the extensive Garst farms near here.

Was Khrushchev's Guest
Garst owns or manages some 5,000 acres in central Iowa on which he puts into practice some of his pet theories. One of them is abandoning crop rotation for heavy fertilization.

Garst, a dinner guest of Khrushchev's last March at the Kremlin, honestly believes the Khrushchev visit is a chance to contribute to world peace. He feels that if he can show Khrushchev how to produce more food, the chances of war will be lessened because "a full stomach makes a peaceful man."

The visitor will travel something over 250 miles during his Iowa stay, a fact which causes concern among security officials. The job of providing sufficient personnel over such an area is a difficult one and there are no large metropolitan police forces to call upon for aid.

At the urging of the State Department, Gov. Herschel C. Loveless called up 700 to 800 men of the Iowa National Guard to help beef up the security forces.

While the visit to the Garst farm on Wednesday is the highlight of Khrushchev's visit, he also will see other aspects of agriculture in visits to farm-associated industries on Tuesday.

OWES MONEY—One-time bootlegger and numbers boss Sam Lucido, has been told that he owes the federal government $3,909.2135 in income taxes, penalties and interest. There is no indication that the government can collect as Lucido's assets total only $7,000. His home, in Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., is in his wife's name.

BUBBLE TROUBLE

LONDON (UPI)—Motorist Eric B. Pye told police Monday he failed to chase a burglar and his tiny "bubble" get-away car because he didn't know what direction the car was going.

"I saw him climb into the bubble car and went to overtake him," Pye said. "But he was going backwards. I couldn't tell the front from the back. As soon as I came alongside he started going forward and shot off in the opposite direction."

Berman Takes Step In Right Direction

BROADWAY By JACK GAVER UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some regard Shelly Berman as an off-beat entertainer, but he has conformed in one respect, although reluctantly. "So I go along with them when they call me a comedian, but you've got to have a label in show business, and because people laugh when I perform, I'm a comedian to agents and people who hire me.

Women Want Dresses That Won't Wrinkle

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) recently surveyed a sizable group of women to discover what a woman wants in the way of clothing.

The researchers found that: —She wants style. —She wants to look her best. —She wants a fabric that feels good.

These conclusions were made by a team of marketing researchers from AMS and Pennsylvania State University who ventured to explore what goes on in a woman's mind when she is concentrating on a new dress.

This kind of research helps the textile industry to understand what the customer wants and why she buys it. In this way, the industry can better satisfy consumer preferences and increase the sale of farm-produced fabrics.

Will It Wrinkle? One of the big questions that comes into a woman's mind when choosing a new dress is: Will it wrinkle? Another is whether it will hold its shape.

When it comes to price, she expects a more expensive dress to hold its shape better, last longer, and not wrinkle as much, as a cheaper one.

The housewife who shops for work and street dresses is practical minded. She wants to know whether the garment will shrink and how well it will clean.

Prefer Twill Weave In the winter, the housewife prefers a twill weave for a street wear. She also likes pique and high weaves.

The researchers discovered that by and large the housewife is pleased with the last dress she bought, whatever the material or the price.

The homemaker considers nylon either too warm or too cool (depending on the season). She says rayon tends to shrink and doesn't hold its shape.

is concerned, and it seems to be regarded as poison now." After a hectic decade of trying to find a niche for himself in show business, during which he held more odd jobs than he can recall, Berman has made it big in the night clubs and on television in the past three years and now suddenly finds himself as one of the headliners in the cast of a forthcoming Broadway revue, "The Girls Against the Boys."

A Right Step "This is really a step in the right direction," Berman said. "I know it's a musical, and a revue at that, but it's the theater, and I've been trying to get into it for a long time."

"I've always wanted to be an actor. Went to the Goodman Theater School in Chicago and got some work in stock off and on after that. But I could never make a living at acting. Nobody wanted to hire me often enough. Now, here I am in a show starring Nancy Walker and Bert Lahr, and I couldn't be happier. At least, not until someone offers me a straight acting part in a Broadway play."

Berman will be doing his monologues in three spots in the revue, and he's also been drafted to sing some of the songs.

"Never sang before," he commented, "but it seems to work out all right."

Berman writes his own material and will turn up with two new pieces for this show. It wasn't until he turned to writing in an effort to get himself a workable night club act a few years back that things began to break well for him.

Has Had Many Jobs "I'd been all over the country, working in all sorts of jobs," Berman said. "I even tried Hollywood, but the movies didn't want any part of my face. I was tired of running so I worked around and saved up enough money to take dancing instruction with the Arthur Murray group so I could get a job there as an instructor."

"That worked well enough. For the first time in years, I was eating regularly, had some clothes, an apartment; even a car. Then Geraldine Page, the stage star who was an old friend from our pre-war stock theater days around Chicago, ran across me in Hollywood and wanted to know why I was wasting my time when I should be acting."

"I couldn't have agreed with her more, so I threw away that security and lit out for New York. I got a few little acting jobs on TV, then submitted some material and I had written to Steve Allen for show on his old NBC 'Tonight' use. The people there encouraged me to interpret my own stuff, and things began looking up from then on."

Here is a hand played in an important match in the early days of contract. The six heart contract was decidedly unsound and South took the best percentage play for it.

He ruffed the second spade, went over to dummy with a club, led a heart and finessed the queen. West made his singleton king and led another spade. South ruffed that and played the ace of trumps whereupon East made his jack and the hand went down two.

If North and South had stopped at five South would actually have made the slam. He would have been in a position to use one of the elementary safety plays. After ruffing the second spade he would have immediately played the ace of trumps. This would have dropped West's king whereupon he would have gone over to dummy and finessed successfully against East's jack.

The point to this safety play is that South would avoid the loss of more than one trump trick against any combination except the guarded king-jack in the West hand and there would be no way to handle that holding at all.

LSU's Tigers Rated No. One

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Louisiana State Tigers, defending national college football champions, topped the first weekly college football ratings of the United Press International Board of Coaches today by a big margin.

The Tigers, who opened their 1959 campaign Saturday with a 36-3 victory over the Rice Owls, were selected first by 28 of the 35 coaches who will rate the major schools each week for UPI.

Three teams which do not begin their seasons until next Saturday and Southern California, a 27-6 victor over Oregon State last Saturday night, received the other first-place votes. Oklahoma received three and Iowa two while Wisconsin and Southern California each drew one.

Sooners Were Second

Coach Bud Wilkinson's Oklahoma Sooners were placed second to the Tigers. Wisconsin and Ohio State, both Big Ten teams, were placed 3-4. Mississippi, Army, Auburn, Texas, Clemson and Iowa rounded out the top 10 group in that order. Of the select 10, only LSU, Mississippi, Texas and Clemson have opened their 1959 campaigns.

Quarterback Club To Meet Tonight

"Come out tonight and support a winner." Quarterback Club president Charlie Robinson urged on the eve of the third club meeting of the year. The club meets at 7:30 p.m. in Pampa Junior High School cafeteria.

Robinson said that he was gratified by the support given the Harvesters by club members during the last two weeks of this year. "Now that we have a winner," said Robinson, "we should get behind the team more solidly than ever, and encourage them to further victories."

Club membership and attendance showed a slight increase last week, with 43 members and a total attendance of 80. The attendance for the first meeting was 60.

The membership goal for this year is 350 to 400, compared to last year's membership of 240.

A scouting report on Bowie of El Paso, this week's Harvesters' opponent, will be given tonight, and a film will be shown of Friday's 12-0 victory over Arlington Heights. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Stamford to Face Another Big Foe

United Press International

Stamford's Class AA state champion Bulldogs flex their muscles against another Class AAA football power this week after disposing of No. 2 ranked Cleburne last week with a final-second field goal.

The Bulldogs, who have now won three in a row to disprove any theories that they were going to give up the title without much protest, entertain the Sweetwater Mustangs Friday night in the feature attraction of this week's schoolboy schedule.

Sweetwater has lost both its starts, but neither one was a disgrace. The Mustangs were beaten 24-0 by Breckenridge and 29-12 by Abilene. Sweetwater beat Stamford 22-0 a year ago for the Bulldogs' only loss of the season and the AA champs will be thirsting for revenge.

There will be some other good AA-AAA matches this week too. Canyon, for one, takes on once-tied Dumas. Port Acres meets Silabee, Dickinson tackles Aldine, Sinto meets Port Lavaca and Eda.

Confident Braves Capture First Place Tie in National

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

Gangway for Milwaukee's fired-up Braves, who tell you point-blank they're going all the way now with momentum, Eddie Mathews and even the National League schedule in their side.

Even the red-hot Dodgers had to make room when the Braves climbed into a first-place tie with them by licking the Pirates, 8-6, Monday night for their 12th victory in the last 15 games.

That's the type of down-the-stretch momentum that wins pennants and Mathews is headed in precisely the same direction.

The slugging Milwaukee third baseman, living up to his preseason vow that he was going to "make up for a lousy year" in 1958, drove in five runs against the Pirates Monday night with his 42nd and 43rd homers.

His first homer came off loser Bob Friend with two on in the fifth. The ball traveled over the roof of the right field stands at Forbes Field, a feat previously accomplished by only five players, including Babe Ruth and Mickey Mantle. Mathews' second homer came with one on off reliever Bennie Daniels in the ninth and brought the Milwaukee strongboys' runs-batted-in total to 109 for the season.

Southpaw Warren Spahn wasn't exactly admiring the scenery, either.

The veteran lefty registered his 20th victory for the 10th time in his 15-year major league career, even though Don McMahon had to bail him out in the ninth when the Pirates rallied for their final three runs. The victory was the 266th of Spahn's career and tied a league record for most wins by a left-hander set by Eppa Rixey. During his career with the Phillies and Reds, Rixey lost a total of 251 games. Spahn has lost only 72.

Prior to Monday night's game, several members of the Braves, including coach Billy Herman and Hank Aaron (who chipped in with three hits, by the way) came right out and said they "felt Milwaukee would win the pennant."

"Imagine, then, how they felt after the game?"

"Everything is in our favor," Herman declared. "We've been through this before you know, and have you looked at the schedule?"

All right, let's take a look.

The Braves have five more games to play, two with the Pirates at Pittsburgh and the last three at home in Milwaukee against the last-place Phillies.

All the Dodgers' five remaining games are on the road, two at St. Louis and three at Chicago. The Giants, one game off the pace, also have no more home win under their belts, it looks as if their spirit and attitude will be even better than before."

Pampa's opponent this Friday will be the only team they defeated last year, the Bowie Bears of El Paso. The Bears will have the home field advantage this time, since the game will be played in El Paso. The Harvesters leave for the border city Thursday.

Friday's win over Arlington Heights evened Pampa's season record, boosted the spirits of the team, and cut the Harvesters' disadvantage in the statistics. Because of the lopsided Wichita Falls game, however, Pampa still trails in every department.

Funk Tops Myaki In 'Salty' Match

Confucious, that wise 'ole Oriental philosopher, once ad-libbed: "Salt on the head of a bird puts roast duck in honorable oven."

That might have been what Japan's Taro Myaki had on his mind at the Top O' Texas Sportsmen's Club Monday night, but that rugged rancher from Ueberger, Dory Funk, didn't get a salt on the head of being "sitting duck" to any Oriental trickery.

In the main event of a three-match card, Funk first laughed and then mocked Myaki as he went through his customary pre-fight war dance. And to really bring the crowd down with an avalanche of laughs, Funk kicked a bowl of salt from the 24-year-old grappler, which made Myaki mighty angry.

When the actual combat began it looked like World War II in two Jims all over again. Myaki was taking plenty of punishment and trying to land his infamous claw hold, but when the latter failed, he resorted to some sure-fired dirty work.

Scraping up a handful of the spilled salt, Myaki rubbed it in Funk's eyes, which brought about the Jay's ruin as he was disqualified, much to the delight of a jeering throng.

Juan Hernandez, after almost having the same misadventure with his brother Ray, finally managed to gain his strength and win the opening match.

Dykes Rehired By Detroit

DETROIT (UPI)—Jimmie Dykes, rehired as manager of the Detroit Tigers for 1960, promptly lit up one of his trademark cigars and from behind the cloud of smoke predicted his club will be a pennant contender next year.

Dykes, his 62 years—42 of them in baseball—considerably lightened by the contract signing Monday, saw things in the smoke cloud that weren't so discernible to his watching audience.

"I think we have the stuff to go all the way," said the newly signed little manager. "We'll have to pick up a shortstop and a first baseman." Pressed a bit, Dykes added that he wants to strengthen the bench and he'll need more consistent relief pitching.

It was Dykes' turn to be confident, although Detroit in the past two years heard almost the same words from departed managers Jack Tighe and Bill Norman.

The signing of Dykes Monday ended several weeks of speculation about whether the veteran of the Connie Mack era would be rehired or if the Tigers would bid another "name" manager.

This speculation grew last week after Joe Gordon announced he was quitting the Cleveland Indians.

Kahn To Testify Before Commission

NEW YORK (UPI)—Roly poly Trving B. Kahn, theater-TV tycoon, today in what may be a timely production at the New York State Athletic Commission's hearing into the Johansson-Pallesen fight promotion.

The commission displayed a fighting mood at the close of Monday's session when it determinedly ordered Manager Gus D'Amato to appear at the hearing on Sept. 29 or risk permanent loss of his manager's license.

D'Amato manages Floyd Patterson, who lost the heavyweight crown to Ingemar Johansson of Sweden at Yankee Stadium on June 26.

Commission Chairman Melvin L. Krulwich planned to hear Kahn's testimony today, and then adjourn the hearing to the 29th.

"Body and Soul," Sept. 28 Premiere

Ben Gazzara (left) stars as the middleweight boxing champion of the world in "Body and Soul," a romantic drama set against a background of big league boxing, which opens the third Du Pont "Show of the Month" season on the CBS Television Network, Monday, Sept. 28. Above, former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, technical advisor for the 90-minute drama, shows Gazzara the proper technique used in taping a boxer's hands.

Execution Touches Off Demonstrations

By DAVID DUGAS
United Press International

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—The mass execution of 13 Iraqi army officers and four former civilian leaders in Baghdad was reported today to have touched off wild demonstrations against the regime of Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem.

Cairo radio said thousands of persons stormed through the streets of Baghdad Sunday in protest against the Kassem regime and the Communists who have infiltrated his government. It said Iraqi troops were called out to quell the demonstrations.

The Sunday executions were announced by Baghdad radio. The 13 army officers headed by Brig. Nadhim Tabakhail commander of the 2nd Division at Mosul, were shot. The four civilians, former members of the deposed government of Nuri Es-Said, were hanged.

It was the biggest mass execution since the revolution of July 1957 and political sources here said it indicated the Communist were more strongly in control of Kassem than before.

Syrian newspapers reported today police tried to break up the demonstrations but that thousands of men and women in the streets resisted. There were no reports of injuries or arrests.

The executions brought strong condemnation in Cairo newspapers and Al-Ahram said the men killed were victims of a mass liquidation methods of a regime using blood and murder to stamp out nationalism and Arabism.

Last Stage Of Lunik Hit Moon

MOSCOW (UPI)—Radio Moscow reported Sunday night that the last stage of its second "Lunik" rocket as well as its payload of instruments hit the moon last week.

The official report said analysis of tracking data indicates that the rocket stage landed east of the Sea of Serenity, near the craters of Aristylus, Archimedes and Autolycus—about 480 miles east of the center of the moon.

Instruments in the payload radioed back reports indicating that the moon has no magnetic field nor is it surrounded like the earth by a belt of radiation, the Russian radio said.

"The rocket strictly followed the calculated trajectory," the broadcast said. "All circuits, units and elements of the rocket functioned normally in flight."

"Radio equipment on board the rocket insured reliable tracking... beginning with the launching and ending with the arrival of the capsule with the instrumentation on the moon's surface."

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 22, the 265th day of the year, with 100 more days in 1959.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this date in history.

In 1692, the last of 19 persons were hanged in the American colonies for "witchcraft."

In 1776, Captain Nathan Hale was hanged as a revolutionary spy by the British in New York City.

In 1789, Congress authorized the creation of the office of postmaster general of the U.S.

In 1943, Kate Smith, popular stage and radio star, completed her radio war bond marathon at 2 a.m. Her 13-hour appeal spurred radio listeners to pledge to bonds totalling $39,000,000.

A thought for today: Captain Nathan Hale mounted the scaffold to die for his country with these words: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

Security Handled Adroitly When Khrushchev In Capital

Everyone seems to be writing about the Khrushchev visit to the United States. There is little more that can be said which you have not already heard or seen. However, there are a few items in which I thought you might be interested. One is a story which was carried in the Washington Evening Star. A comparison was being made of the different news accounts of Khrushchev's arrival, as written in the different countries. The Evening Star had the following observation in its story:

"According to an Associated Press Dispatch from Moscow, IZVESTIA, the Soviet government newspaper, reported to the Russian people: 'The bulk of the Washington population (waving handkerchiefs and flags) are employees of the government and private firms. There are very few workers.'

We do not know whether the few workers referred to had reference to those employed by the government, or those employed by private firms, but if the reference was to the latter, it would indicate that there are no workers in the Soviet Union, since there are no private firms and everyone is an employee of the government, directly or indirectly.

I do not know whether this story was carried in other papers, but it was carried in Washington only in the paper referred to, and I have seen no reference to it since. Since there are so many government employees here, perhaps there was some fear that someone might get offended.

Another item which should be explained has to do with the adjournment of Congress. There seemed to be a feeling in many quarters that the Congress was rushing toward adjournment in order to avoid being in session when the Russian Premier came to town, and having to face the decision of whether or not to invite him to address a Joint Session of the Congress. Such was not the case at all.

There were some Members who felt there should be a Joint Session and that Khrushchev should be permitted to address it in order for the members to have a firsthand look at the head man in Russia. However, these were private expressions and had nothing to do with the business of Congress.

The Congress had been working diligently in an effort to try to adjourn in the early days of August. However, the work at hand did not permit this. Once this was realized, every effort on the part of the members of the House and Senate was aimed at trying to adjourn at the earliest possible time. This was certainly indicated by the fact that once we got to where adjournment was in sight, we stayed in continuous session all night long in order to get it done. The end came shortly after 6:00 a.m. on the morning of September 15th.

I can assure you that every Member of Congress was happy over adjournment and was ready to go home. Speaking for myself, I was happy that the session was ending and extremely happy that the all-night session was over, because I am not qualified as a night owl. I like to go to bed early.

The security in the Nation's Capital during Khrushchev's visit has been handled with the greatest finesse. The plain-clothes people have done a splendid job, as well as the uniformed officers. Every precaution has been taken to avoid any incident that could catapult this country into or near an armed conflict.

The people themselves have displayed the traditional dignity and courtesy for which our country is famous. They have conducted themselves in a manner exemplifying the splendid training of a good mother and father in a family atmosphere. I am sure that the same manners will be exhibited in other areas of the country.

No Other Answer

Ask any government employee. Virtually without exception he will tell you that taxes are too low. Before you turn away in anger, take a look at any governmental budget. Without the necessity for notable omission you will discover that governments national, state and local, are in the main running into the red ink. The government employee is correct. Taxes are too low if we consider only the present rate of governmental spending.

But ask any taxpayer. Virtually without exception he will tell you in anguished tones that taxes are too high. The taxpayer will show you that he is paying inordinately for every conceivable kind of foolishness which the government wishes to undertake.

The only possible conclusion is that both the government employee and the taxpayer are correct. Taxes are too low to meet the requirements of a profligate administration at any level. But they are too high to be endured for long by any fair-minded taxpayer.

What is the answer? Let us take a look at some of the government expenditures.

There are at this moment, more than 700 federal agencies handling one or more types of business operations in open competition with private firms. Almost all of these agency-operated businesses lose money and in substantial sums. The taxpayers are called upon each year to make up the losses, which to date total more than $24 billions.

Is this, or is this not, an indication of unnecessary government spending? Would it not be proper to inquire as to why any government should undertake to compete with the taxpayers on an annual loss basis and then compel the taxpayer to make up the difference?

Take the matter of "foreign aid." The American taxpayers who have never known defeat except in that indecisive and futilely advised "police action" in Korea, have now paid more than $60 billion to the potentates of other nations. This sum is greater in amount than all the treasure paid by conquering peoples to their military oppressors in the history of man. Is it justifiable to compel Americans, undefeated and uncon-

Unjust Labor Laws

No one wishes to ginsay the right of any group of men to organize, peacefully, for constructive purposes. And if it were true that unions were organized peacefully and that their motives were constructive, we would never have a word to say against them.

The truth, however, is far from either peace or constructive purpose. And in the interests of understanding the growing antipathy toward modern union practices in this country, a number of items should be discussed and placed in their proper framework of reference.

Does a man have a right to quit his job? Obviously, he does. Certainly, he has no right to destroy the man or the firm for whom he has worked. But he has a primary right to do the best he can for himself. Thus, his right to quit work is inalienable.

Has a man the right to quit work in such a manner that he endangers the firm for which he has been working, destroys production or otherwise hampers or hinders the ordinary tasks of that firm? He has no such right. He has not more right to seek to harm his erstwhile employer than the employer has a right to invade the man's home and seek thereby to cause injury to the man's property, family relationships or otherwise.

Does a man have a right to join with others so that more than one person quits work at a given moment? Certainly, he has this right. The right exercised by a single man is the same right which is multiplied. But, again a mass withdrawal from production may not be made morally in such a fashion that the employer or production is injured. Any relinquishment of a job whether by one person or by several persons at once, should occur only after due notice has been given and all necessary steps have been taken to prevent any harm befalling those who do not quit, the firm itself, or the particular production in which all

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOHEN Explaining "Going the Second Mile" and "Turning The Other Cheek"

Frederick Nymeyer, in his essay on "Hebrew-Christian Law of Love," explains very clearly, it seems to me, what "resist not evil" really means. In my last quotation Nymeyer had pointed out that Jesus was trying to further explain the Decalogue. Nymeyer continues in this manner:

"Patience, reasonableness, more-than-reasonableness, magnanimity are the most powerful means for accomplishing in a good society all legitimate ends that there are. Looked at coldly and analytically, those attributes are not related in any way whatever to letting your neighbor rob it over you. You are not making a sacrifice. You are instead a calculating and shrewd person selecting the most effective means to get done what you wish to get done. It eventually shows that violence must be employed to resist violence.

"The weaker - and more wicked - a man is the more he will deviate from Christ's advice. In a voluntary society, that is in a society organized according to the commandments of God, the principal reliance in relations between men will be on the devices which Christ was graphically recommending - forbearance, magnanimity, favorable public opinion, reasonableness and more - than-reasonableness.

"It is necessary, however, to warn against 'extending Christ's statement, which is something which practically everybody will do. The unwarranted 'extension' will consist in this: if a man is wise to go a second mile, he is therefore by Christ advised to go the third mile or the tenth mile or the hundredth mile.

"There may be some who reason in that manner, extending the interpretation beyond the state-ments. But we are strict constructionists and have developed an acute dislike for sanctimonious extensions of scriptural commands. To 'extend' Christ's statement beyond what he said or apparently intended to say is to interpret him as recommending a course which will promote the growth of evil. To extend the interpretation to an unlimited manner, just to be sure to impress the world with a Christian's piety, is also equivalent to making Christ say that resistance to evil by force is never permissible. This violates the teaching of Scripture generally and also of Christ's own words.

"It is one thing to advocate forbearance, to advocate trying to win a matter in dispute from the neighbor's viewpoint, to recommend being more-than-reasonable, to recommend advertising your Christian goodwill, but to say that resistance to evil should be limited absolutely to nonforceful means is to have him say something which, as we read the text, he most certainly does not say. In John 2:13-17 the incident is told how Christ horse-whipped the traders out of the temple. He deliberately used violence.

"Further, if to the contrary that Christ was saying, then Christ was in disagreement with Moses. But in his introductory remarks Christ made clear that he was not disagreeing with Moses at all (nor specifically for that matter about resistance to evil or force to deter from evil); he was disagreeing with an interpretation about Moses' deterrent to evil which interpretation approved or encouraged a spontaneous, ungentle, identical retaliation, without attempt to use a forbearing and persuasive method.

"Finally, there is the question of motivation and there appears to be good reason for believing that the main idea in the statement about not resisting him that is evil is that the motivation must be good. An eye for an eye had been incorrectly interpreted as permitting a second violence to compensate for a first violence; as it were, second lie to compensate for a first lie. The means to resist evil was thus incorrectly selected. But the motivation - what should the subjective motivation be when resisting evil?"

"The motivation if we read the Sermon on the Mount correctly, must be unfeeling, unalterable, undiminishable goodwill. The moment that the motivational becomes ill-will, to damage the neighbor, to work him ill, to humiliate him, to deceive him, to rob him of the things that make life worth living, at that moment all formal compliance with the letter of the law, in regard to the application of suitable punishment, is still inadequate and sinful. Only when the purpose is beneficent to the recipient is the law of brotherly love, whether written by Moses or Christ, obeyed.

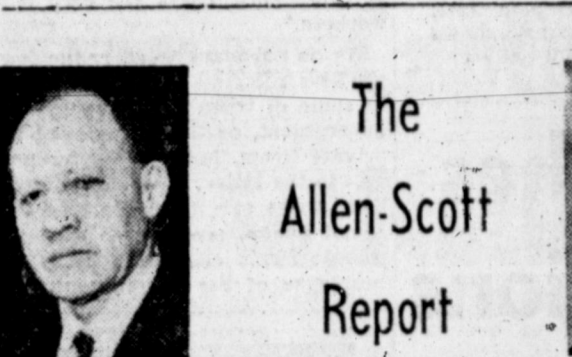

"This is the basic idea in verses 38 through 48 of the Sermon on the Mount especially clear in verses 43 through 48. Motivation is directly discussed in these verses. Christ first says: 'Ye have heard that it was said, thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy.' We do not know to what Old Testament Scripture passage Christ may have been referring. We infer that the clause, and hate thine enemy, was that wrong interpretation (not in Scripture) made by the so-called experts of the law. Then he goes on to advise, love your enemies, pray for them that persecute you. The import of the text is too obvious to require elaboration. It is simply this: the motivation of all brotherly relations must be goodwill.

"We can then restate the abbreviated expression, resist not him that is evil, in this manner: resist not him that is evil by the use of improper means nor from motives of ill-will; or more positively and better: Resist evil by forbearance and with goodwill toward him that is evil.

"The absurd interpretation of this text by Tolstoy and the pacifists is simply because they have failed to read the abbreviated statement in the sense, obviously and completely determined by the context.

effort made to give jobs to the thousands who want to work the struck plants would result in something closely akin to armed warfare. But, in point of fact, that is precisely what management should do. The men who have gone out the job certainly should not be coerced to take back their jobs. But neither should they be in a position to coerce the thousands of unemployed who are hungrily seeking for work that needs to be done. If we can ever get some of the present labor-legislation off the books, beginning with the Wagner act, then union racketeering and goonism will certainly be reduced to manageable proportions.

Talk About High Prices

ROBERT S. ALLEN

EDITOR'S NOTE: Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott are on vacation. During their absence their Washington Report today is on a subject of utmost moment to millions of older citizens - social security benefits.

By WILLIAM L. MITCHELL, Commissioner of Social Security, Department of Health, Education and Welfare sons 62 years and older and to disabled workers aged 50-64 are at an annual rate of $8.4 billion, and old-age assistance payments at a rate of $1.9 billion, a total of more than $10 billion. If assistance to the older persons receiving aid to the blind or the permanently and totally disabled is included, the annual rate of payment to aged workers and their dependents under the social security programs approaches $10.7 billion.

The Allen-Scott Report

The importance of such payments for the welfare of an older population is obvious. In terms of the individual, the amount of his or her benefit and the amount and type of other income is of overriding importance. So here we go again, lads. A friend has written a big book, an important book, and I'm going to say some good things about it. Not all good, but mainly I can hear the ruffles being oiled up, smell the melting tar and hear them plucking the chicken feathers.

"He's fixing to praise a friend's book again. Let's ride him out of town, the low dog. Take a potshot at him." You can hear it now. The low mutters of rage and subjugation. The words are the faux pas in a friend's book. All of which is why, in October, I'm going to take a vow not to meet any more authors.

The Doctor Says:

by EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

An interesting but difficult question is presented by today's first inquirer. Is it rapidly should the normal heart beat per minute? If the rate is only 32 beats a minute, is this dangerous and should it be treated? Is it dangerous for the blood pressure to drop from 200 to 90 in less than two days? It made me real ill - Mrs. F. E.

A - Generally speaking, the "normal" heart rate is about 70 to 80 per minute at rest. However, in some people it is normally faster and in others slower. Some athletes and others appear to have a normal rate of 50 or thereabouts so that by itself this should not be considered dangerous.

A drop of blood pressure from 200 to 90 (systolic) in two days is certainly extremely rapid and is not surprising that it caused you to feel bad. Q - I have been told that I have sarcoidosis of the lung and wish you would discuss this - Mrs. E. D. A - In addition to the lungs, this disease of unknown origin can attack other tissues such as the liver, spleen, skin or lymph nodes. It is somewhat similar in certain respects to tuberculosis, but it's cause has not been definitely identified.

Frequently the symptoms of sarcoidosis are mild or absent, but loss of weight, easy fatigability, low grade fever and other signs may develop. Many types of treatment have been tried with varying success but recently most attention has been focused on cortisone and ACTH and members of that family which appear to bring beneficial effects in many instances. Q - I have recently heard of a bone condition called osteoporosis and wish you would discuss it - E. D. A - This is a condition in which the hard portion of the bone is decreased as a result of lessening in the rate of bone formation. It must be differentiated from other bone diseases and consequently both X-ray studies and chemical tests have to be made. There are several different varieties, some of which are the result of known causes such as vitamin C deficiency, diabetes or glandular disorders. Treatment is directed toward the cause if possible.

MONROE ON TIME

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - Actress Marilyn Monroe, noted never for never getting anywhere on time, surprised everyone by turning up an hour early for Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's speech at 20th Century-Fox Saturday. "Comedian Jack Benny quipped: 'She thought the speech was on today.'"

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON NEW YORK - One of these days, when the first cool fingers of autumn begin to push away the heats and frustrations of summer, I am going to sit down and re-evaluate my life and make a resolution. That is the best time of year to make resolutions. Anybody can make one in the crash and noise of New Year's Eve. It takes granite in the veins to make one in early October, when no one else is making any. The resolution: to stop knowing authors. It makes life hard, difficult and suspicious.

"You get a fat package in the mail from a publisher and it is a new book. You read it because it is a book and not necessarily because a friend wrote it. I'd read anything by John MacDonal anything. Not that all he writes is good and powerful, but because he has a facility and a facility, I'd read anything by Louis Untermeyer or Moss Hart or John O'Hara (although I recall from some things he writes) and so on, right down the whole blooming list. And this time the package was really fat and contained a thick book, a novel. And, alas, again by a friend - Gene Vail. It is called 'The Thirteenth Apostle,' for the clear and succinct reason that there was a 13th apostle - the one who was called, but never chosen: I say, alas, again. I say it because Eugene Vail is an old friend and any time you write about an old friend who has written a book the swarm of suspicion that rises in rank, blue and heavy like smoke from a gnarled, unclean old briar through it.

Gene and I racketed around together in Hollywood, were married in Hollywood, were married to actress wives, interested in slightly more cultivated prose than the daily gossip in the Hollywood Reporter, and were willing to investigate the heady, aged-old cooking of remote nations. He wrote movie scripts that were more often than not made into successful movies. He taught me Swiss fondue, the family pot of 18 cheeses and 4 brandies, into which five of us sitting around one evening dipped torn chunks of slightly stale bread, and he also taught me fragments of the Swiss language.

So here we go again, lads. A friend has written a big book, an important book, and I'm going to say some good things about it. Not all good, but mainly I can hear the ruffles being oiled up, smell the melting tar and hear them plucking the chicken feathers.

"He's fixing to praise a friend's book again. Let's ride him out of town, the low dog. Take a potshot at him." You can hear it now. The low mutters of rage and subjugation. Fair Enough

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

STOCKHOLM - When the Americans are better acquainted with Ingo Johansson, they will know a tough, knotty, practical Swedish business man with a rough and tumble past in a country which tolerates some conduct by young men and young women, too, if they are so inclined, which would be scowled upon in a typical American community. This fellow is no greenhorn as Jack Dempsey learned in two days of hard, close negotiations in Ingo's home town of Goteborg. And of his mother, who raised a plaster saint, Ingo is not one of them.

Other foreign fighters have gone to New York and fallen among thieves who cut them to mince-meat in intricate allocations of pieces and shares. Primo Carnera earned most but collected least after Owen Madden, Bill Dufty and Frenchy Demange, the brutal boss bootleggers of the day, got through robbing him. This was the crucial job of the fight. Ingo had a heart attack while wrestling in some murky arena for throw money. They bled him white and kicked him into the gutter. The memory of such matters prompts a wry, cynical smile at the current perturbation in the New York district attorney's office over "underworld influence" in the fight racket. This surely is no novelty, Joe Louis, no foreigner he, but a cotton-patch rube and a victim of thieves of his own color, also would up "wrestling" and had to quit even that sorry refuge when his heart kicked up. Max Schmeling was highly intelligent and tough-minded, but he soon counted up to learn that he had only a minus interest in his own earnings.

This called for a reorganizing which somehow was arranged by Joe Jacobs, an impudent, spunky West Side Jew who stole the title for Max on a claim of foul. Thereafter, in a ring at Hamburg, Joe stood with a chairleg cigar in his mouth wearing a ridiculous beret with a red pompon while the Nazi crowd sang Horst Wessel and holtered " Sieg Heil!" George Carpentier did well, but he had the benefit of the avyance and cunning of a squinty little Parisian torpedo, Francois Desamps, who looked very much like Premier Pierre Laval. They cleaned up in the Dempsey fight at Boyle's 30 acre, the first million dollar race. But Desamps' errors thereafter were tragic and inexcusable. The worst was the faux pas in which Battling Siki of Senegal knocked Carpentier cold in Paris while Desamps ran up the wrong aisle trying to find the switches and throw the house into darkness.

However, Carpentier acquired a decent fortune and only last year he and Gene Tunney fell into joyous embrace in Georges Bar in Paris, followed by wine and happy memories. Tunney millionaired it, but only after this resolute and pure adolescent had paid incalculable fees to lawyers and a claimant in a ridiculous blackmail. Luis Angel Firpo had no manager of formal record and he did his own business and tipped in dime. Like Ingo, he sailed into New York on one of his forays attended by a lady. But whereas Ingo's friend is known by the proper and revered title of "financier," friends in human form circulated a rumor that Firpo's friend was his secretary. This aroused the sensitive pruderies of the late canon William Sheafe Chase, an eminent divine as the old clippings say, and that reverend cad had signed a check for Firpo to no little expense for lawyers and the moral vindication of both innocent parties.

STOCKHOLM - When the Americans are better acquainted with Ingo Johansson, they will know a tough, knotty, practical Swedish business man with a rough and tumble past in a country which tolerates some conduct by young men and young women, too, if they are so inclined, which would be scowled upon in a typical American community. This fellow is no greenhorn as Jack Dempsey learned in two days of hard, close negotiations in Ingo's home town of Goteborg. And of his mother, who raised a plaster saint, Ingo is not one of them.

Other foreign fighters have gone to New York and fallen among thieves who cut them to mince-meat in intricate allocations of pieces and shares. Primo Carnera earned most but collected least after Owen Madden, Bill Dufty and Frenchy Demange, the brutal boss bootleggers of the day, got through robbing him. This was the crucial job of the fight. Ingo had a heart attack while wrestling in some murky arena for throw money. They bled him white and kicked him into the gutter. The memory of such matters prompts a wry, cynical smile at the current perturbation in the New York district attorney's office over "underworld influence" in the fight racket. This surely is no novelty, Joe Louis, no foreigner he, but a cotton-patch rube and a victim of thieves of his own color, also would up "wrestling" and had to quit even that sorry refuge when his heart kicked up. Max Schmeling was highly intelligent and tough-minded, but he soon counted up to learn that he had only a minus interest in his own earnings.

This called for a reorganizing which somehow was arranged by Joe Jacobs, an impudent, spunky West Side Jew who stole the title for Max on a claim of foul. Thereafter, in a ring at Hamburg, Joe stood with a chairleg cigar in his mouth wearing a ridiculous beret with a red pompon while the Nazi crowd sang Horst Wessel and holtered " Sieg Heil!" George Carpentier did well, but he had the benefit of the avyance and cunning of a squinty little Parisian torpedo, Francois Desamps, who looked very much like Premier Pierre Laval. They cleaned up in the Dempsey fight at Boyle's 30 acre, the first million dollar race. But Desamps' errors thereafter were tragic and inexcusable. The worst was the faux pas in which Battling Siki of Senegal knocked Carpentier cold in Paris while Desamps ran up the wrong aisle trying to find the switches and throw the house into darkness.
