Unemployment Claims Decline Over Last Year

Claims for unemployment compensation last month were down over September and down over a year ago, Bill Ragsdale, manager of the Pampa office of the Texas Employment Commission, reported today.

Some 154 persons filed claims during the month of October as compared to approximately 170 persons filing claims in September and some 169 persons last year. This reflects a better general condition throughout the nation, according to Ragsdale.

The steel strike has had some effect on employment. The peak of employment which is reached in September or October was not as high as it should have been, however unemployment is not as bad as it was a year ago.

Placements were down for October with 148 as compared to 182 in September and 169 a year ago.

New applications for work have remained some what the same with 143 in October, 145 in September and 141 a year ago.

New Cub Scout Pack Organized

Dr. George Snell, Santa Fe district commissioner, gave a brief explanation of the Boy Scout program when a group of interested parents and boys met Monday at the Travis School to organize a new Cub Scout Pack to service the surrounding school area.

A pack committee was named to complete the organization. They are Dale Vespersted, Reid Brooks, Billy Ray Smith, Don Hester, A. C. Todd, Don Henry, Bob Thompson and Arthur E. Ziebarth.

The second organization meeting has been scheduled for Nov. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the Travis School cafeteria. All boys eight, nine and 10 years old are invited to attend this meeting with their parents.

Leadership will be completed and dens will be formed for the boys to start their neighborhood afternoon meetings.

Although homemakers customarily spend more time and effort in planning and preparing main dishes, they know that the foods they serve with their entrees are important, too. Therefore, imaginative meal planners are always on the lookout for new ways of enhancing meals with potatoes, macaroni and vegetables.

FOIL-BAKED POTATOES
4 cups corn flakes or 1 cup packaged corn flake crumbs
1 cup evaporated milk
6 baking potatoes
Aluminum foil
Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Combine corn flake crumbs, salt and paprika. Wash and pare potatoes; dip in evaporated milk; then in seasoned corn flake crumbs. Place on greased baking sheet or foil-lined pan; cover lightly with aluminum foil. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) 1 hour. Serve immediately.

festive roast turkey dinner is the scene for the holiday season. The appearance of a plump, golden brown bird, color filled with delicious stuffing, is eagerly awaited. Accompaniments may be elegant or just for fun. Should carry out a holiday theme. Gobble cranberry muffin gobblers are easily made using whole cranberries and endless raising for decoration. Modern turkeys that are special grown for wonderful eating are processed under a well known name. Time saving for the homemaker has been kept in mind. Birds are carefully cleaned and pinfeathered. Major leg tendons are removed and the drumsticks tucked into a slit of skin at the base of the breastbone. This eliminates trussing yet the drumsticks are easily slipped in and out of the slit to accommodate the stuffing. The turkeys are then quick-frozen at their peak of quality to insure greatest eating satisfaction.

Frozen turkeys may be purchased already stuffed with a tasty old-fashioned bread stuffing. Special directions for storing and roasting are on the label. The homemaker who has her own treasured recipe for stuffing will choose a frozen ready-to-stuff turkey. The holiday turkey may be roasted either covered or uncovered in the oven. Covering the roaster shortens the length of time needed, but the uncovered bird is a bit more attractive. Directions for both methods are given, so that the hostess can select the way that best suits her needs.

Special Days Noted With Special Dishes
Celebrate three special weeks by trying this one special dish, a delicious combination of macaroni, seafood and wine.

Special Days Noted With Special Dishes

MACARONI TIMBALES WITH SEAFOOD SAUCE
(Serves 8)
2 cups (8 oz.) uncooked elbow macaroni
1-3 cups soft bread crumbs, firmly packed
2 cups milk, scalded
4 eggs, slightly beaten
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper
Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender; drain and chop coarsely. Mix bread crumbs and scalded milk; add macaroni, then eggs, butter and seasonings; mix well. Turn into 8 well-greased mustard cups; set in a shallow pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 45 minutes, or until firm. Unmold and serve with Seafood Sauce.

SEAFOOD SAUCE
1-3 cup butter or margarine
1-3 cup flour
1 cup milk
1 cup chicken stock (canned or bouillon-tube broth may be used)
1 cup grated process Cheddar cheese
2-3 cup California Sauterise or other white dinner wine
2 cups cooked or canned shrimp, crab or tuna
1/2 cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives
Melt butter, and blend in flour. Add milk and chicken stock and cook, stirring, until mixture boils and thickens. Stir in cheese and wine and cook over low heat until cheese melts. Season to taste. Add seafood and olives and heat gently before serving.

WELCOME FALL WITH PECAN PIE—IMPERIAL This is just what a fall pie should be, wonderfully rich but not over-sweet. Just the right combination of pecans and butter and brown sugar. Easy to prepare because Imperial Sugar Company planned it that way.

Praise-Winning Pecan Pie Combines Simple Method With Basic Ingredients

As cooler days begin to stimulate appetites, foods with richer flavors resume their popularity. Foods like ham, yams and deliciously rich pecan pie join meals more often. All three have one touch of flavor in common — brown sugar. By nature, brown sugar has a wonderful taste of its own. Used in even the simplest ways, brown sugar is that little touch that brings out finer flavor in everyday foods.

Team Spaghetti With Any Other Food For Tasty, Nutritious Dish With Dash
The macaroni family knows no equal for getting along with other foods. Choose from the many shapes and sizes of macaroni, spaghetti or egg noodles — team them with any other food you wish, and you'll have a dish with dash, good nutrition and liked by everyone. For instance, when company's coming shape spaghetti blended with Swiss cheese and seasonings in a pretty ring mold, and fill with a tasty sauce of ham and mushrooms. Delicious, attractive as can be, and a real help to the entertainment budget.

SPAGHETTI RING WITH HAM SAUCE
(Makes 4-6 servings)
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces spaghetti
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1 cup grated Swiss cheese
1 1/2-ounce package old fashioned garlic salad dressing mix
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine

SAUSAGE CORNETTES
When interested in preparing bulk pork sausage in a new and unusual manner try this simple trick. Combine 1 1/2 pounds bulk pork sausage with 1 1/4-ounce can of crushed drained pineapple. Shape the mixture into 8 patties, 1/2 inch thick. Dip the patties into 2-beaten egg and then roll in 1/4 cup of crushed corn flakes. Brown the patties in 1 teaspoon of melted lard, turning occasionally, until done, about 45 minutes.

PORK'S NUTRITIVE VALUE
Pork can well be featured in the reducing diet. One of the most effective and satisfying types of meats is one high in protein and containing a moderate amount of fat. In fact a single serving of pork supplies 40 per cent of the protein and only 8 per cent of the calories needed for an average 45 year old man.

Benny No Pinchpenny When Entertaining Chimpanzee Pals

UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jack Benny, no cheap skate he, goes first class when entertaining banana-eating chimpanzee friends at lunch.

Jack's smash hit scene with chimps some months ago is being re-run on his Nov. 7 show along with another sketch.

The sometime fiddle player greeted two hairy guests, Mr. Marquis Jr. and Miss Candy, like long-lost cousins (which indeed they could well be) when they arrived to dine at CBS-TV.

"I don't know if they'll recognize me," Jack said nervously. "After all, I haven't seen them since they were on my show the last time."

"Are those my little babies?" a smiling Benny asked, as a pair of eight-year-old chimps sauntered nonchalantly into the room.

Sweeping the little simians up in a bear-hug embrace Jack de-

United Press International

Today is Thursday, Nov. 5, the 309th day of the year, with 56 more days in 1959.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

On this date in history:

In 1605, Guy Fawkes was arrested in London as he prepared to blow up the House of Lords in what is known as the gunpowder plot. It is celebrated in the rhyme.

In 1855, the American Labor leader and socialist Eugene V. Debs was born.

In 1862, President Lincoln relieved Gen. George B. McClellan and placed the union forces under Gen. Ambrose Burnside.

In 1911, Calhoun Rodgers completed the first trans-continental flight, landing at Pasadena, California, 49 days after he set out from Brooklyn, New York. Rodgers' actual air time was 84 hours and two minutes.

In 1929, the British House of Commons approved resumption of diplomatic relations with Russia.

In 1940, Franklin D. Roosevelt became the first man to be elected to the Presidency three times.

In 1942, Gen. Bernard Montgomery announced that his British Eighth Army had won a complete and absolute victory over all Axis forces in Egypt.

A thought for today: The Irish playwright George Bernard Shaw said, "We are all dependent on one another, every soul of us on earth."

"We're leaving for Helen's dinner party early so we can have a hamburger on the way!"

Press Secretary Champions Equal Rights For Girl 'Legmen'

By FRANK ELEAZER United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — You probably saw where Jim Hagerly, the President's press secretary, proposed a summit meeting here to ease tensions between the boys and girls who cover the news.

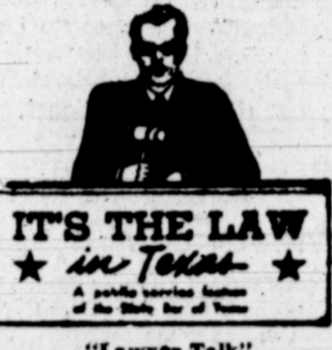

As a result, Hagerly has been cast as the champion of equal rights for women reporters, and the ladies are confidently awaiting his next move.

They assume Jim will fix it where they once again saw attend social events at the White House. They envision themselves received as guests, nevermore to be posted mute and abashed behind potted palms while others wait in the East room. They even dream of the chance to interview Mamie Eisenhower now and again.

Some of the girls have gone so far as to discuss having Jim install separate but equal plumbing facilities in the White House press room.

Somehow we men reporters never figured Hagerly for his new role. We always thought we could trust him.

Up until last week he was a member in good standing of our National Press Club. He's still a member this week, but some of the remarks of our president, William H. Lawrence, may lead some to suspect his standing is not so good.

"Lawyer Talk"

Many persons feel that the "whereases," "aforsaid," and other legal verbiage used by lawyers are intended only to confound and confuse the layman.

Nothing could be further from the truth. In drafting legal documents, the lawyer attempts to draft them in such a way as to exclude all ambiguities. In the last analysis, a legal document means what some court at some future time shall declare that it means. As a consequence, it is the lawyer's duty to his client to attempt to draft the instrument in such a way that it can mean only one thing.

Most any paragraph of non-legal language contains numerous ambiguities. When a lawyer refuses to draft the "deed aforsaid," he is attempting to make it clear beyond question that the deed he is referring to is the deed mentioned in a prior portion of the instrument. Likewise, when he prefaces a legal document with a long list of "whereases," he is simply reciting pertinent details to show the facts of the situation that lead to the execution of the instrument.

The difficulty with drafting a document in layman's language is that to the trained analyst such language is susceptible of several meanings, and consequently is likely to lead to litigation. It is the draftsman's purpose to avoid litigation which is usually expensive for the client.

Another reason why lawyers use legal language is historical in nature. Thus most deeds declare that the grantor "by these presents does grant, sell, and convey" the land in question to the grantees. Each of the words recited has a technical meaning. The words together have frequently been construed by the courts and consequently the lawyer knows in using them that their meaning is settled, and that they will operate to properly transfer the title. He would be inviting litigation for his client, if instead of using those words, he devised new language to express the same purpose. He could only say, "While I think the language that I have used will accomplish the purpose, I cannot be sure of it."

As a consequence, the lawyer, in the interest of his client, naturally uses the time-tested language instead of experimenting with new language.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

RC Membership Cards Available

The 1960 Red Cross membership cards are now available at the Red Cross office in city hall for anyone who contributed to the United Fund campaign, Mrs. Libby Shotwell, EWPCA chapter executive, reported today.

Mrs. Shotwell said the Red Cross receives one fifth of the United Fund budget to carry on its work.

Basic first aid points to remember are listed on the 1960 card with pictures and an explanation on giving mouth to mouth respiration. The cards also provide a personal identification space in case of accident.

Three Receive First Aid Cards

Jim King, Red Cross first aid instructor, held a standard first aid "make-up" class Tuesday with three persons receiving their certificates. They are John E. McKay, Wilma Clinton, and Jerald H. Clark.

King said those attending the class were very responsive and interested. All of them showed a great deal of knowledge from the progressive classes they had attended, he added.

Joe Shelton, transportation superintendent for public schools reported that all the school bus drivers had received their standard first aid certificates.

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne said all of the firemen carry a standard first aid card and plan to take the advance course in first aid.

Another make-up class is scheduled for Tuesday in the Red Cross office from 7 until 9 p.m. with Marvin Cornette in charge.

THE WHOLE TOOTH—Smiling through the gaps, nine-year-old Virginia Griesedieck of St. Louis, Mo., is proud to have given some of her baby teeth to science. Baby teeth are being collected in a survey to determine the amount of strontium-90 absorbed by children in the city.

THE COMING CONTINENT—The changing political face of Africa is illustrated in Newsmag above. Today, the continent seethes with an awakening nationalism among its diverse peoples. Many African nations have achieved self-government, mostly since World War II. Some are single nations—Morocco, Ethiopia. Others—Union of South Africa, Ghana, etc.—are independent countries in the British Commonwealth. Some states remain colonies or U.N. mandates. Others are semi-independent territories, such as those in French West and Equatorial Africa. These latter have voted approval of the new French Fifth Republic and are moving toward the status of either completely independent Guinea, or Madagascar, which has declared itself a free member of the French Union. Britain has announced that Nigeria will become independent within the Commonwealth in 1960. Sierra Leone and Uganda may follow.

Money May Spoil Chances Of Rockefeller

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a three-part series discussing the pros and cons of whether Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will announce for the GOP presidential nomination in opposition to Vice President Nixon. The following spotlights his political life as one of the world's wealthiest men.)

By JACK V. FOX
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Will too much money spoil Nelson Rockefeller's chances for the Republican presidential nomination?

It's a fair question and certainly one both the Republican Party and Rockefeller will weigh before the GOP convention decides next summer on its candidate.

Rockefeller has a personal fortune estimated at 100 million dollars. Invested at 4 per cent, that would bring him an income of about $80,000 a week—before taxes.

Vice President Richard A. Nixon, on the other hand, comes from modest circumstances—and on one past occasion made considerable point of the fact his wife owned only a cloth coat.

Americans have become accustomed to fairly wealthy presidents as presidential candidates.

But nothing like a Rockefeller. The consensus seems to be that his great inherited fortune would not hurt Rockefeller. Veteran Jacob Javits, the Republican U.S. senator from New York, says the question was disposed of when Rockefeller was elected governor last year.

Rockefeller as governor has gone to great pains to make sure his administration has no taint of gift accepting. He even returned a dime sent him by a schoolchildren's group in memory of the habit of his grandfather, John D. Rockefeller.

His own money has been used on many occasions that could have been charged to the state. He had a lavish inaugural ball, but he picked up the tab. The grounds around the executive mansion in Albany are being landscaped at a personal cost of upwards of $40,000.

He has turned over to state use two adjoining five-floor townhouses in the very exclusive high rent district off Fifth Avenue on 55th Street in Manhattan. It is now the New York City headquarters of the state government.

One of his acts of generosity took an amusing twist. The governor of New York is furnished a Cadillac limousine with the No. 1 state license plate. Rockefeller wanted the license but he preferred his own custom-built Chrysler, estimated to have cost around $15,000.

Rockefeller gave the car to the state. But it was so wide his garage at the mansion had to be enlarged and so tall that the ramp at the state Capitol where the governor enters had to be lowered.

Past governors have used small

Crew Killed In Airliner Crash

MONTREAL (UPI)—Five crewmembers aboard a four-engined airliner including a stewardess were killed Wednesday night when the plane caught fire and crashed shortly after take-off.

The plane was ferrying supplies to a Distant Early Warning line base near the Arctic Circle. There were no passengers on board.

The Wheeler Airlines DC4 nosed into a field near the village of St. Cleophas just 14 minutes after it took off from Dorval airport on the 1,500-mile non-stop flight.

An airline spokesman said the plane crashed a few minutes after the pilot reported the No. 2 engine aflutter and asked for instructions to return to Montreal.

Eisenhower, Pope John Plan Meeting, Talks In Vatican City

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following dispatch was written by the United Press International religion writer who had an audience with Pope John XXIII last summer.

By LOUIS CARRELS
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower's visit to the Vatican next month will bring together two of the world's most magnetic personalities.

If there is any man in public life today who rivals the famous Eisenhower charm, it is the peasant's son from Bergamo, Italy, who now reigns as Pope John XXIII.

This reporter has met both men—the President on many occasions in Washington, the Pope at an audience at Castel Gandolfo three months ago.

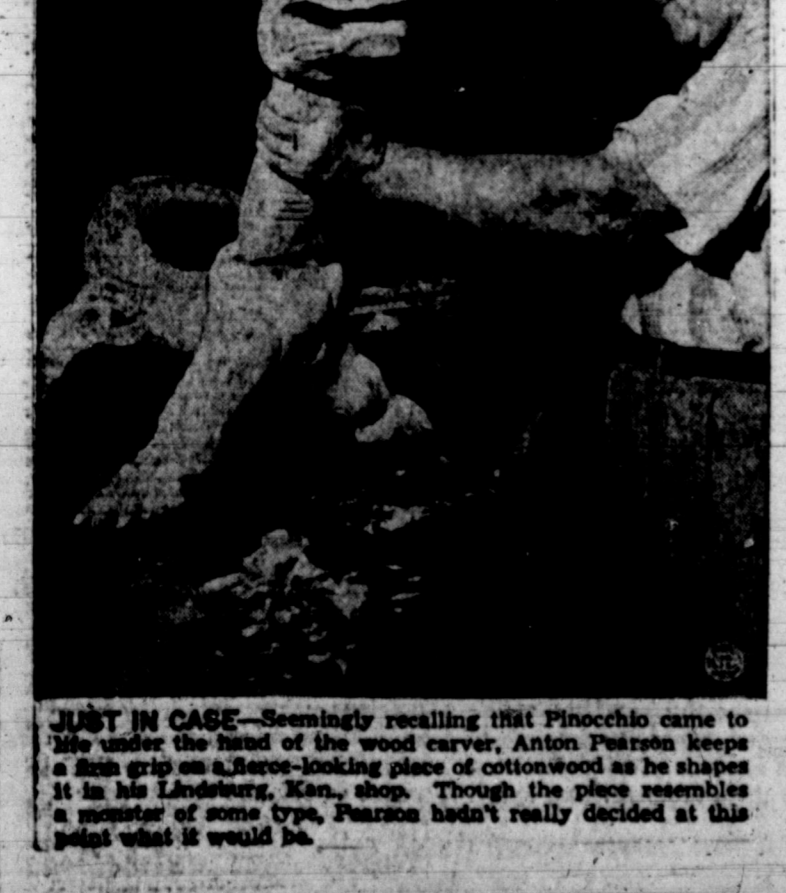

He can testify that they are remarkably alike, despite their widely divergent backgrounds.

Talent for Being Liked
Their most striking similarity is their great natural talent for liking and being liked by all sorts of people. It is symptomatic of their popular appeal that they are both known to the public by affectionate nicknames—"Ike" and "Papa Giovanni."

Both men have that most endearing of human traits—innate humility. They move through the pomp and ceremony of their high offices with the same slightly inebriated look, as if they still cannot quite believe that all this fuss is being made over them. Both have what is usually called "the common touch"—the ability to talk to poor or unimportant people without any hint of condescension.

Finally, they have in common a consuming interest in building bulwarks beneath the shaky structure of world peace. It is this mutual concern that probably will form the main topic of their conversation.

Share Strong Conviction
If they touch on the subject of religion, the Catholic Pope and the Presbyterian President will find that they share another strong conviction. Both feel it is

JUST IN CASE—Seemingly recalling that Pinocchio came to life under the hand of the wood carver, Anton Pearson keeps a firm grip on a horse-looking piece of cottonwood as he shapes it in his Lansing, Kan., shop. Though the piece resembles a monster of some type, Pearson hadn't really decided at this point what it would be.

Food Costs May Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Retail food prices are expected to drop again in 1960, for the second year in a row.

The Agriculture Department made the forecast today in predicting that supplies of most foods, especially meat, will be very large next year.

The two-year decline in national milk production also may be halted or even reversed in 1960, government experts said.

Retail milk prices are likely to be as high as they were this year, thus slowing the reduction in dairy herds. In addition, milk production per cow is expected to go up to another record high.

Dairy and broiler chicken supplies are expected to be about the same as in 1959 with egg supplies down for the first six or eight months, the department said.

For the remaining fall months of this year, retail food prices will decline seasonally, probably averaging a little below the levels of a year ago. Most of the reductions will be due to lower prices for pork.

High time for Christians of all persuasions to close ranks against the various materialistic philosophies which threaten to engulf the world.

Since the Pope is temporal sovereign of the tiny state of Vatican City, as well as a spiritual ruler, the meeting will be formally a conference between chiefs of state.

Eisenhower will be the second U.S. president to visit the Pope in that capacity. The first such visit was made by Woodrow Wilson who called on Pope Benedict XV on Jan. 4, 1919. Wilson stopped in Rome en route back to America from the Versailles peace conference.

Mother Gives Away Babies

TIMPERLEY, England (UPI)—Mrs. Sheila Winkley, 27, who hates diaper changing and bottle washing, said today she hoped a childless American couple would adopt her latest child when it is born Feb. 1.

"I ain't that I do not like babies," she said, "but I just do not want the trouble connected with them."

Mrs. Winkley and her unemployed husband gave away their fourth child, Janet, for adoption last March. The third, Christine, 3, has been in a public orphanage since she was seven months old, awaiting adoption. They kept the first two, David, 8, and Annette, 5.

"I know it is selfish but now I have got to the point where I cannot go on with it," Mrs. Winkley said.

"I do not want to get up in the middle of the night. I do not want to have the feeding and the washing of diapers—all the things you have to go through with a baby."

Neighbors stoned the Winkley house when they gave Janet for adoption to a couple in Manches-

Business Views

Wall Street Chapter
NEW YORK (UPI)—A basic fact of investment life is that in a free market rewards tend to equal risks, notes J. B. Willison & Beane in its monthly marketing letter.

What many investors fail to see in a bull market, the firm points out, is that the rewards, in the form of rising prices, compensate for past risks of their own.

Harris, Upham & Co., in a field report on Harris-Intertype, says the company's common stock "should be an attractive long-term investment" at current levels.

"It is our belief that any minor reactionary trend will become a vital part of an intermediate-term market bottom, the vortex of which centers in mid-September," says stock trend service.

Barrons comments on stock market prospects: "The outlook is for a material upswing in business spending and this... together with an abundance of favorable dividend actions, argues against an abrupt loss of investor confidence in equities in months immediately ahead." However, selectivity is likely to continue to be greatly in evidence, it adds.

IKE ENDORSES DINNERS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower endorsed Monday a nationwide series of GOP dinners next January, designed to honor him as well as kick off 1960 Republican campaigns.

BROKE MAIN SPRING
CHICAGO (UPI)—Election officials noted one of the strongest Democratic votes on record Tuesday in a normally solid Republican district.

They discovered an enthusiastic Democratic voter had used so much force in pulling a voting machine lever that he broke the machine's main spring.

PICTURE NEWS

AROUND THE WORLD

ART START—Crouching in position to start a race, willing youngsters serve as subjects for artist Antonio Germani at the Borghese Gardens in Rome. Germani was taking part in a contest in which painters had to depict a scene inspired by a sport. The idea was in keeping with the spirit of the Olympic Games, which will be held in Rome in 1960.

UP AND OVER—North Carolina State's Bernie Latusick appears to be doing a handstand as he is clobbered by North Carolina players during a game at Chapel Hill, N. C. Latusick lost a yard on the play. His team also lost, 20-12.

ON SIDELINES—Elizabeth Frances Reiner, daughter of Valparaiso, Ind., University associate coach Walt Reiner, sits in a football helmet during practice. Dad was busy with his coaching chores, so he deposited Frances in the helmet for safekeeping.

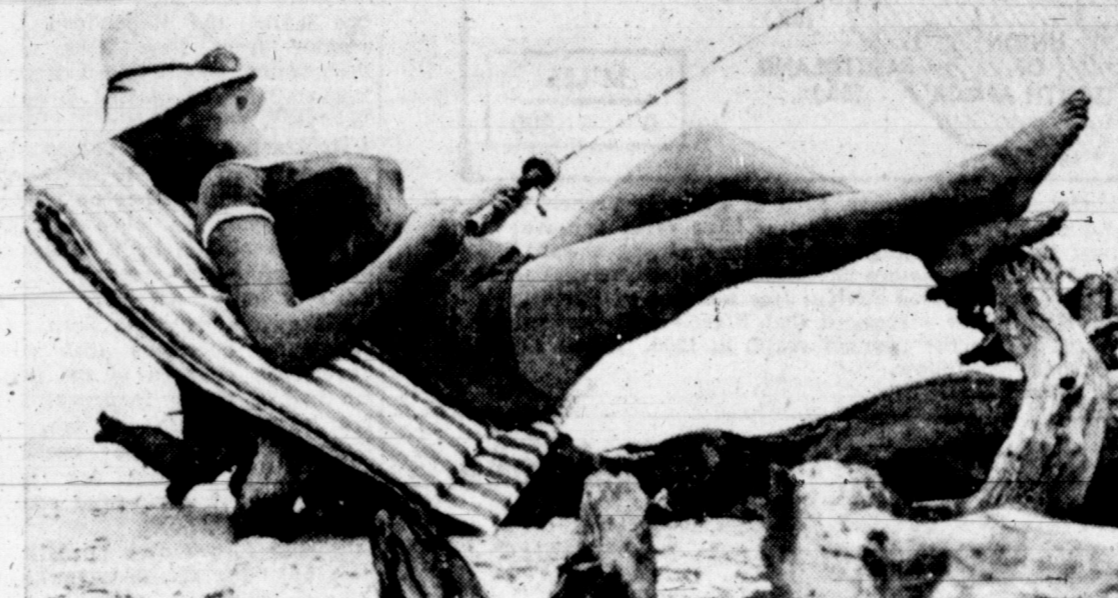

OFF THE WAGON—Looking like a drinker's nightmare, Brownie the horse is a real customer at a pub in Tillington, England, where Mrs. John Cheasley serves up a pint of draft beer. The nine-year-old bay, owned by a local builder, regularly gallops alone into the Horse Guards Inn for a drink.

DRY RUN—Channel swimmer Greta Andersen, who is a Danish-American, doesn't seem to be as much at home on land as she does in the water as she tries to keep her balance while roller skating at Cliftonville, England. Greta won the English Channel races in 1957 and 1958. She was in training at the English resort for her latest Channel swim.

FIGHTING ACTOR—Ingemar Johansson, the Swede who recently won the world's heavyweight championship from America's Floyd Patterson, waves goodbye in New York before flying to Hollywood to take his first swing at the movies. He'll play in "All the Young Men."

CAUGHT NAPPING—Grabbing a fast 40 winks while angling for a big one, shapely Gail Courtney relaxes on an air mattress along the beach at Bradenton, Fla. She was more interested in napping than fishing. She didn't even bother to bait her hook.

COOLING OFF THE CROWD—A policeman plays a stream of water onto soccer fans who tried to invade the field at the end of the Naples-Genoa soccer match in Naples, Italy. Police intervened when spectators, angered by a decision of the referee, tried to rush him.

TWIN BEAUTIES—No, you're not getting cross-eyed—everyone does a double take when Enid (left) and Sandi Shankin hit the sands at Miami Beach, Fla. The twins are a double feature that anyone could watch for hours without tiring.

GETTING TANKED—There's nothing fishy about this picture as Capt. Bill Gray comes to grips with a 500-pound lemon shark, one of the most vicious in the shark kingdom. Capt. Gray, from the Miami, Fla., Seaquarium's collection department, uses a gaff and his two powerful hands to force the sharks into the collecting boats after they are hooked. The sharks are then dumped into a tank aboard the boats for the trip to their new home at the Seaquarium.

KING-SIZED PROBLEM—Uneasy lies the golf ball of Belgium's King Baudouin, who grimly tries to get out of the rough while playing at the King's Course in Perthshire, Scotland. The vacationing monarch is an avid golfer, but a predicament like this could easily bring on a fit for a king.

SURFACE WITH A SMILE—These water-walking coeds stroll over the Student Lake at the University of Miami in Florida. Pat Zaun, Mary Anne Blackley and Sonis Black (left to right) are trying new floating shoes. Each shoe is mounted on an aluminum rod connecting two Fiberglas cushions. Strings are tied between the rods to keep them from drifting apart.

MINK ON ICE—Sportswomen can keep their mink on ice this winter. Furrier Maximilian of New York has designed this skating outfit of precious white mink. The snug-fitting midriff is knit of white wool trimmed with bands of colorful ribbon.
