Americans Standing Idle In No Man's Land Of Violence

By HELEN THOMAS United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover lashed today at Americans who stand while criminals turn parts of a nation into a "no man's land" of violence.

Dr. Donaldson Talks To Rotary

Dr. Joe Donaldson yesterday addressed the Pampa Rotary club with the topic of "Progress—Step at Half the Price."

TEXAS

Wind warning flags went up for all North-Central Texas lakes until noon.

A prairie fire that had raged over 10,000 sparsely-settled acres in southwest Texas in the San Angelo area yesterday was reported brought under control this morning.

Meanwhile, it was estimated that heavy hail at Rowena, east of San Angelo late Tuesday, caused an estimated crop loss of $750,000. The hail destroyed cotton in the area.

Hail the size of marbles peppered the San Angelo area again last night. Heavy hail and rain were reported at Water Valley, north of San Angelo, at Christoval, to the south, and at Mertzon, to the west. Heavy rain fell within a half mile of San Angelo but none in the city itself.

Hail the size of golf balls pelted the little town of Sunray, about 50 miles north of Amarillo, last night. Heavy rain, marble size hail, streaks of lightning and strong winds hit the Gulf Coast at Alta Loma, 22 miles west of Galveston.

More To Come At Wichita Falls, an unofficial 1.25 inches fell during the early storm on the west side of town. The weather bureau warned interests in south central Oklahoma and extreme North Central Texas to take necessary precautions as the storms were expected to continue until about 10 a. m.

No serious damage was reported in Wichita Falls, despite the high water in the streets. Temperatures reached 110 degrees in Texas yesterday, at Presidio, Presidio and Gila Bend, Ariz., tied for being the hottest spots in the nation yesterday.

Official rainfall reports, for the 24 hour period ended at 5 a. m. today, included: Dallas .02; Beaumont .10; and Houston .01.

The two World War II comrades publicly admitted their difficulties Wednesday night.

Arises Early Eisenhower arose early this morning and was driven from his suite at the Foreign Ministry to the U. S. Embassy for a 6 a. m. breakfast with Ambassador and Mrs. Amory Houghton.

At a glittering state banquet at Elysee Palace Wednesday night, following a triumphal reception by a million cheering Parisians, de Gaulle and Eisenhower acknowledged they did not see eye to eye on all things.

This was after they had had two talks, each an hour long, on Algeria, NATO, West Berlin and France's hopes to gain a greater voice in development of Western global policies.

But both expressed confidence that the traditional friendship between the United States and France would help solve their problems.

Fresh From The Oven Bubbly Peach Cobbler

FRESH DESSERT—With the produce shelves in your retail food market heavy with fresh fruit and vegetables, it's time to give this recipe, Fresh Peach Cobbler, a chance to prove its worth. Purchase those plump fresh peaches and please your family's dessert whims.

A stirring tribute to an August picnic could be in the form of a Fresh Peach Cobbler. Why not try it soon? Can't you just imagine the aroma of a warm peach cobbler?

Following a regular hamburger-type patio picnic, a dessert of this caliber will bring acknowledgments of delight from the family. How many times have you enjoyed the flavor of a high-style peach pie? This cobbler is made practically the same way. In fact, you might call it a deep-dish peach pie.

Included in the ingredients for the crust are 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 cup sugar plus the shortening (4 to 6 tablespoons lard). Milk is the liquid used in the preparation of the dough. After the ingredients are properly combined, the dough is kneaded gently for 1/2 minute. Kneading will help to develop flakiness.

The peach filling combines sliced fresh peaches with almond extract, sugar, cornstarch and salt. The cobbler is baked in an 8x12-inch baking dish and will serve from 10 to 12. A spiral openwork crust acts as a decorative topping for the cobbler.

The cobbler has a personality all its own. A good share of its winning qualities is due to the flaky tender crust which cradles the plump, juicy peach filling.

You are undoubtedly familiar with the old adage... "a pie or cobbler is only as good as its crust." The crust in this recipe can proudly boast of the fact that it is made with lard, a shortening home-makers considered this product a necessity, and today it is interesting to note how many home-makers now use this shortening in the preparation of cakes, pastries, bread, biscuits, cookies and deep-fried fried products.

FRESH PEACH COBBLER

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 4 to 6 tablespoons lard
- 1/2 to 2-3 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract
- 4 cups (1/4 pounds) sliced fresh peaches
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Sift together flour, baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 cup sugar. Cut in lard until mixture has fine even crumb. Add enough milk to make a soft dough. Turn on a lightly floured surface and knead gently for 1/2 minute. Roll dough into a 12x18-inch rectangle. Cut a 1-inch strip from two sides for the top crust leaving an 11x15-inch rectangle. Line an 8x12-inch baking pan with dough and crimp edges. Add almond extract to peaches and stir well. Mix together 1/2 cup sugar, cornstarch and 1/2 teaspoon salt and add to peaches. Place peach mixture in a very hot oven (450 degree F.) for 25 to 30 minutes to 12 servings.

Cook Round Steak Slowly, TBC Says

In a survey of Texas family food preferences, round steak was named the favorite cut of any meat on the market, and the Texas Beef Council feels that this decided preference is deserved. Low in calories and high in taste appeal, round steak has an added advantage of very little waste. Braising a slow cooking in moist heat — is desirable to make this steak fork tender, the Beef Council has found.

Round steak, with or without a garnish of onion rings, can be varied with a choice of seasonings to produce a "different" version of this old favorite. Order top or bottom round of beef cut 3/4 to 1 inch thick, allowing 1 pound for three average servings. Dredge steak in flour seasoned with salt, pepper, and one of the following: chili powder, thyme, garlic salt, or curry powder. Brown beef well on both sides in a little fat. Garnish with thin-sliced onions and add about 1 cup water or beef bouillon. Cover and cook slowly on surface heat or in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until tender, about 1 1/2 hours.

"Apricot Steak" Repeat Winner

On the theory that a good meal deserves repetition after a reasonable lapse of time, the Texas Beef Council is this month repeating its recommendation of one of the Texas Experts Contest prize winners.

Selected on the basis of taste appeal, economy, originality, availability of ingredients, ease of preparation and appearance, "Apricot Steak" was among the top three of all recipes received by the Beef Council, his recipe, which serves four, makes a meal worth repeating often:

- APRICOT STEAK
- 1 1/2 pounds 1/2-inch thick round steak, cut in 4 or 5 pieces
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 4 tablespoons cooking oil
- 1 No. 2 can apricot halves
- Season round steak and dredge in flour. Brown onion and steak in

Food Page

Perhaps the easiest and most pleasant of all outdoor meals is the one enjoyed in relaxed comfort on your own screened porch. It offers quiet, cool shade, summer scented air and untroubled, ready access to that source of supply—the kitchen. It permits serving hot foods hot and chilled foods chilled with a minimum of fuss. The trick is to keep porch meals simple, the dishes few but ample in quantity. For example, a light zesty supper might be:

- Sautéed Sandwiches
- Crisp Salad Bowl
- Prune Velvet Cream Cookies

hot fat. Combine remaining flour and juice from canned apricots and pour over browned beef. Bake in covered casserole 45 minutes at 350 degrees or until tender. Add water if needed. Arrange apricot halves over beef and bake uncovered for an additional 15 minutes.

MANY TOP PROGRAMS TO RUN SIDE-BY-SIDE

Television In Review
By FRED DANZIG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Are you eager to see the program Ed Sullivan taped in Moscow? Are you looking forward to the TV version of "What Makes Sammy Run?"

If so, too bad. You'll have to choose one or the other.

The same goes for Jimmy Durante's special on Sept. 25 and the Milton Berle-Luella Ball-Dell Aranz comedy to be seen the same night.

The reason: "parallel programming"—programs that run side by side on different channels. There will be a lot of it in the season just ahead, so permit me to dampen some of your enthusiasm about the highly-touted TV season by listing some of the examples. Perhaps these notes will give your family plenty of time beforehand to settle the inevitable squabbles over who watches what.

These examples of parallel programming are based upon opening dates for new shows, the start of new episodes for old shows, or special telecasts.

On Sept. 13, you'll have to choose between ABC's Maverick and NBC's new Riverboat series. Sugarfoot gets back in stride on Sept. 15, but the time slot is opposite NBC's new western, Laramie. Take your pick. On that same night, the new Dennis O'Keefe show on CBS bucks ABC's new Bronco.

Part of "Body and Soul," the opening Du Pont Show of the Month on Sept. 28 tangles with the fresh supply of Alcoa—Good-year stories. Hennessy, a new CBS series starring Jackie Cooper, collides with the new Steve Allen show on NBC that Monday night.

Choose between an NBC World Series special, Bing Crosby's ABC Fall and "Garry Moore's new CBS series on Sept. 29. The next night, you can pick either the new one-hour version of Lineup on CBS or the NBC favorite, Wagon Train. Can't have both. And when Pat Boone returns to ABC with a one-hour special on Oct. 1, he'll bump into the new Playhouse 90 season.

An Art Carney special on NBC Oct. 2 competes with a new CBS

Pyote Lands Dial Telephone Office in 'Earth-Shaking' Way

By JOE RIORDAN

Pyote — Now a days there is nothing earth shaking or unusual about a town getting dial telephone service. But when this far West Texas town got a dial telephone office recently, it was both earth shaking (literally) and unusual, if not unique.

Pyote's dial office — a twenty year veteran from Anson, rolled into town at 2 p.m. one recent afternoon, behind a ton ton diesel tractor. The trip covered about 250 miles. By 5:30 p.m. it was firmly set — 6,000 pounds of building and equipment — on a new foundation surrounded by prickly pears, cat's claws cacti, ant hills, sand, and bean laden mesquite on a lot just east of the Pyote Air Force Base.

Swinging a 20 pound sledge into the old foundation at Anson about 10 a.m. the previous day, 6 1/2 foot, 300 pound Gerral Bigham of Snyder, started the moving project. Gerral is one of five sons of W. K. Bigham, who operates a five-state house-moving business. He teamed with his younger brother, Burly, and James Carter of Snyder to lift the 16 by 28 foot structure on to two 50-foot steel beams and two sets of wheels, ready to roll by 3:30 p.m.

Slowed briefly by a low slung aerial telephone cable two blocks south of the old office site in Anson, the two vehicle caravan — Carter in the guide truck — about fifty yards ahead and Gerral at the wheel of the big diesel — rolled down Highway 180 through cotton, sorghum, and watermelon fields into Snyder. A Snyder police car met the Bighams' at the city limits to escort them through town. One block east of the square the driver of a convertible slowed down to ten miles an hour behind the rolling dial office. He honked wildly for Gerral to move over to give him room to pass. Gerral didn't. A grocery store was in the way.

The movers parked the load overnight about six miles west of Snyder. At 6 a.m. the next morning they were again moving west on Highway 180 toward Lamesa. From Lamesa the caravan sliced southwest through irrigated cotton and sorghum fields through the deep and shallow permian oil well fields of Andrews, then through the sand dunes and oil storage fields of Kermit and Wink into Pyote.

It all began a couple months ago when the Air Force asked Southwestern Bell to furnish dial service as soon as possible to some 50 families at Pyote who keep house for the now inactive air force base.

This town of 201 citizens was the site of a bustling air base during the Second World War and — more recently — a grave yard for thousands of obsolete B-17 bombers that helped to pulverize Hitler's war machine.

Pyote — it rhymes with coyote — is now served with less than 20 telephone lines out of Monahans and Pecos, 15 and 23 miles east and west respectively.

As soon as Southwestern Bell construction and installation can build lines and hook up telephones, the people of Pyote will have up-to-date local dial service.

If Bell had built Pyote a dial system from scratch, it would have taken months of planning, tailoring, and manufacturing of equipment, and a chunk of money that even oil-rich West Texas would sneeze at. A dial telephone system costs a minimum of $40,000.

When the Air Force plucked its hurried order, Southwestern Bell just happened to have the answer on tap. Anson out grew its dial system about six months ago and converted to a new bigger dial system in June 1959. Anson's previous dial office, put into service in 1939, made history at the time it went to work. Anson was then the smallest town in the United States to have dial telephones. The out-grown dial equipment was just what Pyote needed. It was simply a matter of moving it to Pyote.

W. K. Bigham's boys, Gerral and Burly, made the moving look simple. They did it so easily that a baby could have slept in the dial building from Anson to Pyote without being disturbed.

Tom Chandler, Bell Wire Chief at Stamford, rounded a cycle on the move too.

Chandler was Bell's service man at Anson and helped put the dial telephones into service there in 1939. Anson is one of the group of towns he supervises now for Bell System so when the office move was arranged — Chandler, with help from John Clifton, Anson's present telephone man, battered down the hatches for the trip and saw his "baby" off to serve another town.

"I put her in here," Chandler said. "She's just as good as ever. I ran a call through her yesterday. All they have to do is hook her up in Pyote and she's ready to go."

Investigators Have About Given Up On Munitions Lobby

THE LIGHTER SIDE
By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—I guess House investigators have about given up trying to put a finger on what President Eisenhower called the munitions lobby.

Chairman F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) after 25 days of hearings admits that his Armed Services subcommittee hasn't found one of those terrible fellows who were supposed to be putting pressure on the military to buy one or another plane, missile, or weapon.

True, the subcommittee has turned up a whole bunch of high ranking retired military men drawing nice pay checks from defense contractors and also substantial retirement pay from the armed forces.

But these were all men of the highest fame and repute, and none of them was ever accused of anything improper. Mostly, they were commended for their patriotic service and zeal.

Fechteler Is Witness

Take Monday's hearing. The witness was Adm. William M. Fechteler, former chief of naval operations and later commander in chief of NATO forces in southern Europe.

Fechteler was released from active duty on Nov. 30, 1956, and the next day went to work for General Electric. He got $38,500 last year as a long-range planning consultant for GE's atomic products division. He also gets $12,176 yearly in retirement pay from the Navy.

Fechteler said he wouldn't risk his good reputation by trying to influence the Navy in GE's behalf. And besides, he said, no man has that kind of influence.

He said he never discussed contracts with anybody, in or out of the Navy. All he ever did, he said, was set up appointments for other company officials with people he knew, like the secretary of Navy and the chief of naval operations.

Calls Himself Messenger
"Really I was just a convenient glorified messenger boy, if you want to say that," he suggested. "You had the key to the door and you opened it," said Hebert. "That is correct," said Fechteler.

Everybody lauded the admiral for his long distinguished service and his cooperation in the matter at hand.

Rep. Leon H. Gavin (R-Pa.) commented that Fechteler's story was like that of all the other famous admirals and generals the subcommittee had heard. Their private employers had sought them out, Gavin said, for the knowledge they had of defense needs, and for help they could give in steering company officials to the right spots in the Pentagon.

Fechteler said this was, indeed, about what had happened.

There was one other matter at the subcommittee's last scheduled hearing. This was to tie up loose ends of a story that for awhile had looked like Hebert's most promising lead.

Rickover Gives Evidence
Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, Navy atomic expert and father of the nuclear submarine, had been the only witness to come right out and say he had been subjected to pressure. By whom? Hebert had asked. He'd rather not say, Rickover replied.

The admiral, at Hebert's insistence, agreed to provide the names if they wouldn't be made public.

"As to the first named person," said Hebert, "Adm. Rickover testified that in a personal letter from one naval officer to another, a proposed naval duty assignment for Admiral Rickover had been opposed. Adm. Rickover got the assignment in question.

"The second named person was the only one with whom Adm. Rickover had a personal contact. As to that person, Adm. Rickover testified, 'I think not much can be made of that, sir.'"

As to the third person named, Hebert said "the testimony is that that person had no contact

South's two heart response was the Jacoby transfer to spades and North's two spade bid the automatic response.

South's three diamond bid was natural, showed a two suited hand and forced to game at the same time. With a maximum 17 point no-trump including three aces, four good diamonds and the king and one spade North saw distinct slam possibilities and started the ball rolling with a bid of four clubs.

South's four diamond bid showed that his diamond suit was a good one and North could now count 12 tricks if South held the spade ace. His four no-trump bid was Blackwood (after a transfer bid a n y four no-trump is) and his five no-trump was an effort to get to seven. He wanted to be there if South could show two kings.

In the play of the hand South won the opening spade lead in dummy and led a spade to his ace. When both opponents followed to that lead he ruffed a spade high, played jack and a small diamond, ruffed another spade with dummy's last trump and eventually conceded a club trick.

Americas Toy With Idea Of Hemispheric 'West Point'

By JOSEPH U. HINSHAW
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States and 20 other American republics are considering the idea of setting up a hemispheric "West Point" to bolster their joint military efforts.

It would be known as the Inter-American Defense College and would probably be located in some country other than the United States.

The idea was outlined recently by Marine Corps Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, who is retiring as chairman of the Inter-American Defense Board. The board plans the collective defense of the Western Hemisphere.

Proposal Under Study

Shepherd reported that the 21 participating nations have the proposal under study and will come up with a decision in three months.

The United States favors the idea and both Argentina and Colombia have expressed interest in having the proposed institution in their countries.

Shepherd discussed creation of the school during a trip to nine South American countries and Mexico. He said it would serve as an institution of advanced studies and explained its mission this way:

"To conduct courses to study on the inter-American system and the military, economic, political and social factors that constitute essential components of inter-American defense in order to enhance the preparation of selected personnel of the armed forces of the American republics for undertakings of international cooperation."

WHAT'S IN A NAME

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)—Judge D. E. Henderson recalled today on his 80th birthday anniversary that his parents named him Jackson Ezekiel David James Nathaniel Sylvester Willie Edward Demosthenes Henderson in honor of his uncles in the hopes at least one of them would leave him something in the way of a legacy. Henderson said all he got out of it was the name and a pair of pants from one uncle.

Suggests Police Force
Shepherd declined to comment on a proposal being made currently by Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) that the Organization of American States create an inter-American police force. Shepherd said, however, that he did not think it would be easy to put Smathers' proposal into effect.

Not all of the 21 nations, Shepherd said, have defense forces for the same purpose, and in some cases, their defense needs cannot be met by an inter-American force designed primarily to contain outside aggression.

GENERAL LABOR BILL COULD BE ENACTED

WASHINGTON WINDOW
By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress appears to be on the verge of enacting a general labor bill, for the first time since Taft-Hartley passed over President Truman's veto 12 years ago. Taft-Hartley was the first general labor bill since the Wagner Act 12 years earlier.

If Congress is operating on a 12-year cycle, it will be 1971 before the next bill becomes law.

As this pattern suggests, passage of labor legislation does not come easily. The pressures working on House members for 437 congressional districts, senators for 50 states and one president make for stalemates, instead.

The present bill comes from the three-year Senate investigation of labor racketeering and caps a drive which began in the Senate a year ago last spring. The Senate passed a bill last year but it died in the House.

Harden on Unions

Although the 1958 election put more friends of unions in both chambers, the direction in both is year has been toward atoug her bill, from the union viewpoint, than the measure passed by the Senate in 1953.

Besides the 1958 Senate bill, there have been two major efforts to pass general labor legislation since Taft-Hartley.

Returned to control of Congress by the 1948 election, the Democrats came back committed to repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

Business Views

Eventually, however, the Senate passed a bill nominally repealing Taft-Hartley out in fact just amending it. The House killed it.

In 1954, the Eisenhower administration's first general labor bill, a set of amendments to the law, came from a Republican-controlled Senate committee. This bill contained sound provisions supported by and some fought by both management and labor. A solid lineup of Senate Democrats, with a few Republicans, killed the bill and the House did nothing.

Wartime Seizure

During the interval between the Wagner Act and Taft-Hartley, Congress did pass one controversial labor bill but it expired after the war and had limited scope. This was the 1943 Smith Connally Act, passed over President Roosevelt's veto, to deal with strikes in war plants. Despite his veto, Roosevelt made frequent use of the provisions authorizing government seizure of strikebound plants.

The first legislative product of the postwar wave of strikes was the Case bill in 1948. President Truman vetoed that one, and his veto stood. The Senate a year later, however, was favorable to passage of the broader and tougher Taft-Hartley bill, and his veto was overridden.

NEW TYPE HIT-RUN

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—The Cooke County sheriff's office reported there had been three arrests for hit and run. "Hit and run?" asked a reporter. "Yeah," he was told. "They were hittin' the bottle and runnin' off at the mouth."

IF THE SHOE FITS...

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—Police imitated Cinderella's handsome prince Monday in tracing a burglary suspect. All they had to go on was a pair of shoes that Alton James said he found in his house after being awakened by a noise. They fitted the shoes to a 15-year-old boy and arrested him for the burglary.

KEEPING COOL—Free air is supplied for car passengers, not tires, by an unusual cooling service offered by a drive-in restaurant at Fayetteville, N.C. Placed in an auto window by a carhop, a flexible hose pours in cool air drawn through underground ducts from a 30-horsepower air conditioning unit. A control in the hose outlet permits motorist to adjust the amount of cold air piped into the car.

The installment debt of Americans in July climbed $500 million.

14 Years Have Passed Since Japanese Quit

Foreign News Commentary
By RONALD P. KRISS
United Press International

TOKYO (UPI)—Fourteen years now have passed since Japan, reeling and half-starved, surrendered unconditionally to end World War II.

The nation lay in ruins in August, 1945. More than 1,850,000 servicemen and civilians had been killed. Whole cities had been leveled. Tokyo, the capital, was nine-tenths destroyed. Hiroshima and Nagasaki still were wondering what had hit them. Industry was at a standstill, its factories ruined and its supplies cut off.

Now the cities have sprung up again. Hunger has been routed by a series of bumper crops. A merchant fleet cut to one-fifth its size has regained its pre-war tonnage. The economy has grown at the impressive average rate of 10 per cent a year.

All this adds up to one of the great comeback stories of the 20th Century, rivalling even West Germany's phenomenal recovery. The Japanese nation is back on its feet and running.

Some Pitfalls Present
But some treacherous pitfalls still may lie along its path. The same pressures that led Japan to war for East Asian supremacy exist today. Actually, these pressures have been amplified. Land is scarce and people are not. This is the basic problem. There are now 92,000,000 Japanese squeezed into four home islands whose total area is less than that of the state of California. The population will probably hit 100,000,000 within a decade.

Yet when Japan launched its fight for a place in the sun, it had only 70,000,000 people and more territory. The unrestrained militarism of the 1930's no longer exists. But another factor went into the thinking that persuaded Japan's leaders to go to war—authoritarianism—and whether this has been stamped out is debatable.

Stage Rightist Revival
Middle-of-the-roaders have struck a successful balance so far, but it may be a precarious one. In recent years ultra-patriots have staged a rightist revival. Ever since the end of the war, extreme left-wing groups have been strong, controlling major unions, schools and important publications.

The democracy that the allies tried to infuse into Japan during the days of the occupation has led to some excesses and some doubts, and the authoritarians of right and left are ready to exploit these doubts.

What lies ahead for Japan? Politically, forecasters think the ruling party, the conservative Liberal-Democrats, is almost certain to hold power for at least another 10 years. Both major parties are split into constantly feuding factions. But the Socialists who control barely more than one-third of the law-making lower House of the Diet (parliament), are split far, but it may be a precarious

Secret Police Chief Making Safety Check

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The head of Russia's secret police, Maj. Gen. Nikolai S. Zacharoff, is now in the United States checking security arrangements for the visit of Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Official sources said today that Zacharoff and a top aide are visiting the various cities where Khrushchev will stop and checking the routes along which he will travel during his 12-day tour beginning Sept. 15.

Zacharoff is head of Russia's KGD, the super-secret police organization charged with internal security in the Soviet Union and protection of top Russian officials. He accompanied Khrushchev and then Premier Nikolai Bulganin when they visited England in 1956.

First Visit For Zacharoff
This is Zacharoff's first visit to the United States. But the assistant accompanying him has had a good opportunity to "case" this country. He is Vladimir T. Burdin, a KGD officer who was here earlier this year with Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan and Frol R. Kozlov on their U.S. tours.

Zacharoff and Burdin, working with American security officers and local police, are inspecting airfields, hotels and other buildings for danger spots.

To Check Camp David
They are visiting Washington, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, San Francisco, New York, Des Moines and Ames, Iowa. The Russians also will check the heavily guarded presidential retreat at Camp

FRENCH DESIGNERS GO TO POLICE WHEN DESIGNS STOLEN

By Gay Paulie
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—French designers go to the police when their styles are stolen. American designers just grin and bear it. But on both sides of the Atlantic, fashion piracy takes on all the overtones of a cloak and dagger operation. Designers go to great pains to keep their ideas top secret until the new collections are in production. And the style thieves just as efficiently operate espionage rings specializing in the length of a hemline or the curve of a bosom.

The root of the whole evil is money, for what woman will pay $500 to $600 for a top designer label, when within days or weeks copies as low as $39.98 may be available? The difference will be in quality of fabric and workmanship.

There is a lot of legal copying of Paris styles. Manufacturers or buyers for department stores and specialty shops are permitted to purchase a particular model or models and mass-produce it. But at least the designer got his money's worth.

The illegal copying which harasses the style leaders. The French have government protection. This week, the police arrested Mrs. Helene Kaminer Subar, a Viennese newspaper woman, and charged her with sketching models from the recent Paris collections and selling them to outlets in New York.

Daniel Gorin of the Paris Fashion Syndicate, a designer group, said the skullduggery had been going on for 12 years. The latest Paris models were on sale in American stores before they were available to our clients," he complained.

American designers can take no legal action, although in recent sessions of Congress bills to permit copyright have been offered. None has passed.

"We have to just grin and bear it," said Normal Norell, veteran designer and winner of just about every fashion award around. But most American designers have their own methods of preventing thievery, at least until a dress, coat or suit has gotten to the store.

Some screen all workroom personnel. Some keep all sketches padlocked and available only to the designer and his trusted associates. The couturier Mainbocher keeps muslin bags with drawing tools to drape over his live models when they're walking around the workroom.

And many designers show a new collection to buyers only by appointment; which means they know at all times who is in a showroom.

Fashion reporters are screened just as carefully, although American designers—unlike the Parisian—permit us to sketch. Many of us do for one reason: it is a fast way of taking notes on a new silhouette. In covering Paris collections, reporters promise not to sketch; in a jam-packed show room it's easy as pie, and you're just out scout's honor.

ToI Garden Club Changes Flowers

Mrs. J. A. Knox became a member of the Top of Texas Garden Club at a meeting Monday in the home of Mrs. K. L. Hyman, 640 N. Wells.

Club members also voted to change the club flower from the chrysanthemum to the daisy and heard a report from the Yearbook Committee on the plans and design of the new book.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. W. L. Stark, acting in the absence of President Mrs. Raymond Welch. Following its usual order of business, the club spent the remainder of the afternoon designing and discussing floral arrangements.

A floral arrangement of purple and pink asters decorated the refreshment table. Members present were Mrs. Jimmie Allen, Mrs. R. E. Anderson, Mrs. Ira Carlson, Mrs. Jamie Dial, Mrs. Kenneth Osborn, Mrs. Harold Pitts and Mrs. W. L. Stark.

Vary meat loaf not only by your choice of ingredients, but also by using various utensils for baking. The Texas Beef Council advises. A ring mold of meat loaf filled with fluffy white rice makes a beautiful entrée, and the same recipe cooked in individual muffin tins or custard cups will cut the cooking time in half.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Every morning when I take my garbage out, I find my trashcan filled to the brim with empty beer cans. This burns me up!

Someone in this neighborhood (and I'm pretty sure I know who the guilty party is) drinks about a case of beer a night. She is ashamed to have her garbage man see them, so she puts the empties in my trash can.

Should I have it out with this neighbor, or should I haul the empties back to her trashcan?

NO BEER DRINKER
DEAR NO: Don't take any chances. You might haul the "empties" to the wrong neighbor. Talk to the party you suspect, and bring the matter to a head.

DEAR ABBY: How does a 24-year-old married woman, who is the mother of two children, deal with a mother who is the world's champion nagger?

DEAR NAGGED: By this time you should know how irritated your mother becomes when she sees you in the kitchen without an apron. You're a big girl now. Simply put an apron on and don't make a federal case out of it. You may avoid a spot and a spat as well.

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married in October. I am experienced. He is not. Should I tell him?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who went on a diet last winter and lost fifty pounds! Never have I received so many compliments. I feel as though I have started a new life full of fun.

DEAR WALKING: Your letter should be an inspiration to other teenagers who need to unload

I love my mother, but her nagging will drive me out of my mind. When she is at my house (or even if I'm at hers) and we do a little something together in the kitchen, she will say, "PUT AN APRON ON!"

I could be only putting Jello in the refrigerator, but she yells, "PUT AN APRON ON!"

Now, if I am old enough to be married and have children, I don't need to be told to put an apron on. If I spot my dress, it's my dress, isn't it? How can I get her to stop nagging at me?

NAGGED
DEAR ABBY: I am getting married in October. I am experienced. He is not. Should I tell him?

DEBATING: I vote no. If you are experienced and he is not, there will probably be no questions asked.

Nothing Abnormal About Child Wanting To Be Alone Sometimes

"On Raising Children..."
By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's nothing abnormal about a child wanting to be alone some of the time.

It's a psychologically sound fact that he needs solitude just as much as he needs togetherness.

That's why he may turn up his nose at planned activities and do some day-dreaming on occasion. The day-dreaming is a kind of creative thinking.

Seeing that your child gets his moments of solitude is, of course, not as easy as seeing that he gets his quota of milk. You can't schedule a period each day when you order him to do creative thinking all alone.

Will Want Solitude
When your child gets older, he'll yearn for true solitude — a kind that's not possible without privacy. If he has a room of his own, he'll wander in and close the door.

At that stage, time to be alone also can mean time to read or time to sift through his curios — acorns and sea-shells or whatever he collects during excursions out-of-doors.

If, of course, a child wants to be alone most of the time, it may be a sign that something's not quite right in his world. You may want to call it to the doctor's attention.

The bouffant hairdo is still very much in vogue in the fall but in newer versions cut closer to the head. This one is based on a soft and natural permanent.

Good Permanent For Bouffant Style

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The bouffant hairdo is going right on into fall but with slightly different look. In some cases, it will be styled closer to the head and cut with less bulk. In others, it will be smoother and the bouffancy will be accomplished with a suggestion of soft waves rather than curls.

Basis for the new bouffant look will be, of course, a good permanent. A new one has just been developed which is designed especially for bleached, tinted, porous or damaged hair. It gives the hair, while it waves, a treatment that's the equivalent of a luxurious milk bath for the body.

Because it's meant especially for hair that's been chemically treated in some way, it has a color balance which means it won't affect either natural or artificial hair coloring.

The new base in this permanent requires no added ammonia. While it gives you absolute curl, it also gives you soft manageable hair.

D&D Club Names Meeting Delegates

Desk and Derrick Club of Pampa met in the City Park recently for a Family Picnic.

During a brief business meeting, Miss Yvonne Guthrie was named delegate to the Association of Desk and Derrick Clubs Convention to be held in San Antonio on Oct. 1-2-3. Miss Knoxie Russell was named alternate.

Those attending were Mildred and Harry Cook, Jan and Jean Foster, White and David; Marie Smith and Betty Lou; Dorothy Cox and Karla; Betty Cooper, Linda and Suzanne; Bernice Hollars, Nita and Timmy Hill; Pat Collett, Robert, Pat, and Pat Dial; Doris Young, Jan and David; Lois and Ray Teel; Mrs. B. Y. Cummings and Julie; Ray Kolosha, Nadine Godfrey, Cissy and Carol; Yvonne Guthrie, Mickey, John and Mary; Suzanne and Julianne; Buena Cox; Knoxie Russell; Nona Thompson; Sue Alexander, Shirley Epps, June Smith and Barbara Pirtle.

Cubs left over beef roast, tossed with your choice of vegetables and a spicy chili sauce dressing for 14, 15 and 16-year-olds, but what can we do out there? They simply must say, "I don't care what the custom is, you aren't going steady."

Parents can also keep their kids on foot longer. The sooner a boy or girl has a car, the sooner he is out from under parental supervision.

Still another reason why so many high school kids marry without any thought to the future is because their parents have been so indulgent all along that they figure their parents wouldn't dream of not pitching in and helping to support the teen-age marriage. A little less indulgence would keep the kids from being quite so heedless.

And there is still one other thing. If parents reserve the right to tell their kids whom they can and whom they can't date — a lot of unsuitable romances never would be started in the first place. Parents shouldn't look to the school to discourage their children from high school marriages. They ought to look to themselves for that.

Mrs. Gattis Feted At Bride's Party

Mrs. Richard Gattis, the former Maxine Uhles, was honored for a bridal shower given recently by Misses Penny Sweeney and Shirley Underwood.

The honoree was presented with a corsage of pale pink roses.

The bride's table was covered with a Royal Blue net cloth over pale blue caught up at the corners with white wedding bells. White lace doilies, tied in the center with pink ribbon and wedding bands, served as guest favors.

White and pink, the honoree's favored colors, were carried out in the party decorations.

Mrs. Clarence Underwood presided at the punch, arching Mrs. Nelson Atchley served cake. Miss Underwood was guest registrar.

Guests attending were Mmes. C. L. Taylor, Dorothy Hollis, Jo Ann McKay, M. Stalon, Joe Niver, Rex Reneau, M. Gattis, M. Frail; Misses Carol Choate, Annette Preston, Darla Edwards, Camilla Warden, June Watkins, LaWanda Underwood, Cecile Williams, and Jean Buleau.

'Tee Off' Time Social Motif For Council Meet

Pampa City Council of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers completed plans for its fall program of work with a preliminary meeting on Aug. 25 in Robert E. Lee Junior High School. Mrs. Julian Key, president, praised the various committees for their work and asked each committee chairman to report on the activities for the coming year.

The theme, "It's Time To Tee Off," using a golf club and ball as a motif, was featured by the hospitality chairman, Mrs. George Cree Jr. and Mrs. J. W. Lemons, during the refreshment period.

On Sept. 1, the Woodrow Wilson PTA unit was host to the council at the first scheduled meeting of the year.

B. R. Nuckolls opened the meeting with prayer. Knox Kinard, school superintendent, brought greetings to the board from the school teachers and the more than 6,000 school children enrolled in the school system.

Mrs. T. D. Harvey, representing the Top of Texas Medical Auxiliary Ass'n., advised that the Ass'n. was acting as a liaison between the doctors and the public to promote better health in the community; also, she advised the council of the center drive being made by the Lions Club on Polio.

A report on the seminar in Austin last Spring was given by Mrs. James Lewis, PTA District 19 president, which report stressed the theme for the year as "Education... Whose Responsibility?" She announced that the District 19 board meeting will be held Sept. 15 in Pampa and the workshop on October 8 in Memphis.

Mrs. Key closed the meeting with the thought, "You are important. Any man God created is not useless."

Red Griggs ★ the pipeline

It seems football season has snuck up on us once again, and that means that it's time to pick the winners of some games. This is a fearsome prospect this particular opening week, because of eight area games, four are tossups. My position is made even worse by the fact that I'm on my own. As both you people who are my regular readers of this column know, my picks during most of last year were made by my son Eddie, now 14 months old. After he took over, the Griggs half of the Pick-It-Line averaged a respectable .700 plus per cent, compared to .500 plus before. Eddie, however, absolutely refuses to start to work a week early, so I'm stuck with my own meager resources this time. Rick Pezdirtz, who marked up a snazzy .750 percentage last year without any Eddie to help him, will pick against me on some of the games. So, without further long-winded speeches, let us proceed to the business of picking 'em.

Red Picks Groom, Irish, Dimmitt

Shamrock 20, McLean 15—This is a contest between two have-hots. Shamrock, an AA school, figures to have a slight advantage because of its heavier line and slightly more experienced boys. This is McLean's homecoming game, but I think that incentive won't be enough to make up for the Tigers' inexperience and lack of weight.

Groom 16, White Deer 14—This matches two of the area's powerhouses. Groom should win by a whisker because of its heavier and more experienced line, despite White Deer's great backfield speed.

Dimmitt 26, Perryton 20—Dimmitt should come through in this contest of district champs. Has a few more top boys returning than Perryton.

Quanah 34, Stamford 13—Quanah has another powerhouse, while Stamford, the defending state AA champ, is a shell of its former self.

Pez Sez Bucks, Tigers, Rangers

McLean 14, Shamrock 12—The Tigers won't be quite so snappy as last autumn when they gave state champ White Deer a good run for the money, but little scabback Davy Crockett is still around to deal Coach Eural Ramsey and his Irish platoon of misery. We'll cover this one.

White Deer 20, Groom 14—The defending Texas Class A champs open with a formidable foe, but the home field advantage prevails for new head coach, Collie Huffman.

Perryton 21, Dimmitt 12—The tough Rangers open at home Saturday, and out-draw a good defending District 1-AA champ for new coach Joe Ogden, as the memory of the late Pete Peterson lives on.

Stamford 15, Quanah 12—They're rating Quanah as the District 5-AA power this fall. Maybe so, but the Indians don't own enough guns to pistol whip the de-

ToT Tournney to Begin Friday

By MARVIN OLSEN, Daily News Staff Writer
 One of the fastest golf fields seen in this area in years will tee off Friday in the start of Pampa's Top O' Texas Invitational golf tournament.

The parched Pampa Country Club links soaked up nearly one inch of rain overnight, which should make playing conditions ideal.

It was reported this morning that 11 golfers have entered the TOT, and that as many as 200 will be entered by Friday evening.

Those already "in the fold" include Jack Foster, Loyal Davies, Joe Cree, Forrest Hills, Ray Welch, John Hatcher Sr. and John Hatcher Jr., all of Pampa; along with Jim Lamar and Jack Hazelwood, both of Amarillo; Harvey Taylor or McLean, and Charles Rogers of Childress.

Expected to arrive here today is Don Massengale, the 1958 Texas Amateur champ, and possibly John Farquhar, the smooth-hitting ace from Amarillo.

Another strong "outside threat" who has arrived for the tourney is David Higgins of Oklahoma University. Higgins, a native of Mt. Carmel, Ill., won last May's Amarillo Oil Tournament, finished second in the Mt. Carmel city tourney a month ago, and has made strong finishes in several other area tourneys.

Prizes this year for the TOT have been upped to $2,800 in trophies and merchandise. The entrance fee is $12.50.

Qualifying rounds for championship flight begin Friday, with the low 32 scorers gaining berths in championship flight.

Those not qualifying will be paired in the lower flights on the basis of their established handicaps. Pairings for all flights will be announced at a buffet dinner in the Country Club Friday evening, and play in all flights will begin Saturday.

The tourney ends Monday with championship fighters playing 36 holes of medal and the top four players in the other flights (after two days of match play) shooting it out in 18 holes of medal play.

Forty-Years Hence

When a bad policy is adopted... it usually takes a while before people know that the policy is in error.

In 1920 a gradual enlargement of the process was discernible... that year we had 3.4 million men employed in all areas of the federal government.

By 1940 the big change was underway... that year we had 4.7 million persons working in government.

Inflation began to make itself felt shortly after that... in 1950 we had 7.6 million persons out of a total labor force of 65 million.

Thus, in forty years, government work has expanded from 3 to 11 million persons... the expense will have increased from $11 billion to $110 billion.

And the same economists looking still further into the future... are inclined to tell us that within another 40 years, unless something is done to halt this trend.

When I read the article... I can't help but believe that people with foresight who believe in God will have a very difficult time to explain their belief in God.

It is hard to conceive how we can continue to have the laws we have... and not eventually adopt state socialism and communism.

It is hard to conceive how we can continue to have the laws we have... and not eventually adopt state socialism and communism.

The Dependability of God

I was interested in an article in "The Universal Leader" under the above heading.

"I have always remembered the thesis of a sermon preached just after the start of World War II by Dr. John Haynes Holmes.

He made this striking statement, "If we had not come, I could no longer believe in God."

He meant by this that he believed that the ruling power of the universe was such that given certain causes certain results are inevitable.

"I am 67 years old and have two moles of moderate size on my chest. Even though they have not changed in color or size, I wonder if they could be removed?

'FISH WAR' IS IN SECOND YEAR

Foreign News Commentary By GLENNE CURRIE United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — The "fish war" between Britain and Iceland is now in its second year, with neither side having made either territorial or diplomatic gains.

The dispute — over Iceland's unilateral extension of fishing rights to 12 miles from her shores — shows no sign of a solution before next March's international convention of the law of the sea, and possibly not even then.

Everybody concerned is heartily sick of it, — with the possible exception of the British navy, — and would willingly come to some sort of agreement which would save face for both sides. But the two sides are so far apart it will need a spectacular "breakthrough" to settle things.

Iceland's livelihood depends on abundant fish. She feels that unrestricted fishing of her waters by a half-dozen European nations is rapidly depleting fish stocks. Accordingly, last Sept. 1 she extended her fishing limits from four to 12 miles and warned that any trawlers working inside the 12-mile limit would be arrested and heavily fined.

The British distant-water trawler owners, who get about a quarter of their total catch from Icelandic waters, and one-tenth from inside the 12-mile limit, stood to lose much of their income — though perhaps not as much as they claim. The British government, always jealous of its rights on the "high seas," claimed that attempted arrest of British trawlers outside three miles would be "piracy," and promised full protection for the British trawlers.

That has been the pattern ever since.

As many as 122 British trawlers have been inside the limits at any one time, under the wing of three of four British frigates or destroyers. More than 40 British navy vessels have taken part at various times, as protection ves-

Wind-Whipped Prairie Fires Rage Nearly Out of Control

ELDORADO, Tex. (UPI) — Two wind-whipped prairie fires raged only partly controlled early today after burning more than 10,000 Southwest Texas acres Wednesday.

The flames, dubbed the north and south fires because of their geographical location in relation to Eldorado, brought more than 500 men with all kinds of equipment to the scene.

One of the blazes still threatened a Humble Oil Co. pumping station today, after the families that live there sweated out one flaming advance that a kind wind turned away Wednesday. The blaze was only about 400 yards from the plant then, as workers raced to pump oil and fuel from threatened storage tanks "down the line" to other storage areas.

Authorities said the fire advanced from the pumping station started from lightning hitting dry scrub brush on the Ogdon Wilson Ranch east of the plant. By early morning, firefighters had scraped a firebreak out of the area and brush country with bulldozers. They considered the cleared area a "last hope" to protect the pumping station.

Still, a large grass-filled low area stretched between the firebreak and the station. Plant Manager W. P. McConnell pointed out that any sparks there would almost certainly doom the Humble station.

He said the four families who live on the plant property manned hoses and waited with buckets of water to protect their homes.

Before the wind rose again Wednesday night McConnell said, "I don't think the fire to the east of us will bother us now, unless the wind changes sharply."

His words were almost a prediction.

The other fire is considered most serious, and at last report firefighters were trying to hold it in check at a road stretching between highways 29 and 864, about eight miles south of the pumping station.

Some firemen said they believe it started from a camp fire somebody left unextinguished. Almost every available vehicle capable of carrying water has been utilized against spreading flames. As Wednesday night McConnell said, "I don't think the fire to the east of us will bother us now, unless the wind changes sharply."
