Altrusans To End Annual Conference

Altrusans attending the 18th annual District Nine conference in Pampa were to conclude their activities today with a buffet breakfast, final business session and post-conference board of directors meeting at 12:30 p.m.

Altrusa International, Inc. president Muriel Mawer of Seattle, Wash., spoke at the Governor's Banquet last night in the Starlight Room at Coronado Inn. She spoke on the International theme, "Be a Channel for Change."

Members spent most of Saturday morning and afternoon in various workshop and business sessions, with meetings held at Coronado Inn and at the M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium.

A mining theme was carried out during the various sessions and activities of the three-day conference, highlighted by a dinner and entertainment in the "Red Garter Saloon" Friday night in the auditorium's Heritage Room. Presiding over the meeting was Martha Jane McGee, District Nine governor from Corpus Christi. The district contains over 40 clubs and includes the entire state of Texas.

Glyndene Shelton of Pampa served as general conference chairman, with assistance from members of the Pampa, Amarillo and Borger clubs. Presidents are Mmes. Katherine Sullins, Pampa; Eleanor Weeter, Borger; and Ruth McNeill, Amarillo.

Approximately 200 women registered for the conference. Various awards and prizes were presented throughout the sessions Friday and Saturday, with others slated for presentation during today's closing sessions.

Also heard were various committee reports.

Price Wants To Return Veterans Day To Nov. 11

Although tomorrow is designated as Veterans Day under the congressional Monday Holiday Bill, congressman Bob Price of Pampa is sponsoring legislation to return the traditional Nov. 11 holiday to what he terms "its rightful historical place."

The Monday, Oct. 22, observance actually sets the traditional holiday 20 days ahead of what used to be called Armistice Day on Nov. 11.

"It seems somewhat inappropriate to me," Price said, "to observe Veterans Day on a date other than the 11th day of the 11th month."

In a Veterans Day tribute released Saturday, Price said in part:

"Regardless of the date, it is even more important that we remind ourselves of the sacrifices our young men have made on the battlefields."

"The history of Veterans' Day itself reflects the military history of our troubled times. It has evolved from an observance commemorating the termination of hostilities of World War I to a day of solemn recollection and acknowledgement of the debt we owe to all of the brave men who gave their lives in our country's defense."

"And we also honor the veterans among us who bore the brunt of battle and served their country well in its times of peril and need."

"For those veterans fortunate enough to return unscathed, we remember the disruption of their lives, their willingness to risk the hazards of combat and the agonizing separation from their loved ones which they endured."

"We are tragically aware that all the Veterans' Days that have been observed, and all those that will be observed, can never bring back those who have died, or fully compensate the maimed and ill among our veterans."

"Yet, we take this occasion to say thanks to our veterans and to make a prayer that this country will not again have to ask our young men to take personal risk in our defense."

Cub Leaders Get Training From Powwow

Cub Scout leaders were given special training Saturday during a "powwow" session at First Christian Church, 18th and Nelson Sts.

During the all-day workshop, den mothers and assistants, cubmasters, committee members and interested parents had the opportunity to become better acquainted with the Cub Scout programs.

Experienced leaders and Boy Scouts conducted the training sessions, which included skits and puppets, games, crafts, pack administration and Webelos Den operations.

The powwow started at 10:30 a.m. with registration, followed by a free period to get acquainted and to visit exhibits and midway games provided by packs throughout the council.

The training sessions began after a noonday Blue and Gold banquet.

Bobbie Bond of Skellytown served as chairman for the skits and puppets used in the sessions. Pat Rapstine of Pampa was chairman for the crafts training sessions.

Exhibits used for the powwow were provided by various scouts and leaders concerning the programs of the organization.

POWOW TIME — Cub Scout leaders received training yesterday during a "powwow" conducted at First Christian Church. WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon accepted Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson's resignation Saturday night and fired special prosecutor Archibald Cox and Deputy Attorney General William D. Ruckelshaus in a stunning collapse of his attempt at a political compromise of the Watergate tapes controversy.

Nixon also abolished the office of special Watergate prosecutor.

A terse White House announcement said Robert H. Bork, recently named solicitor general, was now the acting attorney general.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President dismissed Cox for his refusal to comply with orders not to push legal action to obtain Watergate-related presidential tapes, notes and memoranda.

Richardson resigned when he learned of the President's decision and Ruckelshaus, who holds the No. 2 position in the Justice Department, was fired when he refused to dismiss Cox.

The actual dismissal of Cox was carried out by Bork, who received instructions from the President to do so.

Ziegler said the office of the special prosecutor in the Watergate case was abolished as of 7 p.m. CDT Saturday night and "its function will be transferred back into the institutional framework of the Department of Justice where it will be carried forward with thoroughness and vigor."

The White House made public an exchange of letters between Richardson and Nixon in which Richardson said "circumstances leave me no alternative" but to resign. Ziegler said Richardson submitted his resignation during a half-hour meeting with Nixon shortly after 4 p.m.

Richardson's letter said that throughout the Senate hearings on his confirmation as attorney general, he pledged to assure the independence of the special prosecutor and his authority to contest the President's assertions of executive privilege in withholding evidence in the Watergate case.

"While I fully respect the reasons that have led you to conclude that the special prosecutor must be discharged, I trust that you understand that I could not in the light of these firm and repeated commitments carry out your direction that this be done," Richardson's letter said.

"In the circumstances, therefore, I have no choice but to resign."

Richardson thanked the President for "the opportunities you have given me to serve under your leadership in a number of important posts" and expressed support for Nixon's "efforts to make the structure of world peace more stable and the structure of our own government more responsive."

Nixon's response to Richardson was terse.

"It is with the deepest regret and with an understanding of the circumstances which brought you to your decision that I accept your resignation," the President replied.

In his letter to Bork, Nixon directed him "to discharge Mr. Cox immediately and to take all steps necessary to return to the Department of Justice the functions now being performed by the Watergate special prosecution force."

He said Cox had made it apparent at his news conference earlier in the day that he would not comply with Nixon's instructions to halt legal moves to obtain the Watergate tapes for a federal grand jury.

"Clearly," Nixon said, "the government of the United States cannot function if employees of the executive branch are free to ignore in this fashion the instructions of the President."

Richardson had no immediate comment for reporters, but Cox said: "Whether ours shall continue to be a government of laws and not of men is now for Congress, and ultimately the American people" to decide.

The White House statement followed Cox's announcement at a midday news conference that he would defy Nixon's order to halt court action to obtain the tapes and would go to court next week to seek a possible contempt proceeding against the President.

Cox held an extraordinary, hour-long news conference televised live from the National Press Club ballroom to protest Nixon's order that he stop all court efforts to obtain the tapes for the federal grand jury investigating the Watergate scandal. Cox shrugged off the obvious possibility he might be fired for defying Nixon's order.

Richardson drove to the White House late Saturday amid speculation that he might resign after less than five months as attorney general.

Mid-East Battles Raging, Kissinger Hunting Peace

By United Press International

Israeli tanks "widened and deepened" their wedge into Egypt Saturday, closing to within 45 miles of Cairo against fiercely counterattacking Egyptian forces, Israeli spokesmen said. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew to Moscow at the urgent request of the Kremlin to seek an end to the fighting.

As the new Middle East war went into its third week, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan offered the Arab leadership a way to end the bitter conflict. He said Israel would not turn down a proposal for a standstill cease-fire or one in which both sides would return to their pre-war borders.

An Israeli military spokesman said the Israeli armored spearhead that drove across the Suez Canal into mainland Egypt was advancing to the west, north and south. He said it had reached a point about 72 kilometers (45 miles) from Cairo while repulsing repeated counterattacks that cost the Arabs up to 70 tanks and 10 fighter planes.

The big Israeli force had been reported 50 miles from Cairo Friday. Kissinger's presidential jet landed at Moscow airport Saturday night after a hurried flight that was disclosed to have been made at the "urgent request" of Soviet leaders. Despite the war-spawned tensions, the spirit of detente Kissinger was instrumental in building was much in evidence. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko gave the smiling Secretary of State an enthusiastic welcome, vigorously pumping his hand.

Israeli Defense Minister Dayan, in a broadcast interview that could be heard in both Cairo and Damascus, delivered what appeared to be a suggestion to Arab leaders to propose a truce before Israeli troops move any closer to their capitals.

Dayan said that if the Arabs should propose either a "standstill" cease-fire — with both sides remaining in their positions — or a truce calling for a return of both sides to their borders before the new war, "I don't think Israel is in a position" to say no. But he said Israel itself would not propose a cease-fire.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said at the same time the Arabs would not accept a cease-fire until they conclude "that the continuation of the fighting is more harmful and damaging than a cease-fire."

He said Kissinger's Moscow trip indicated only that the Soviet Union was interested in speaking to the United States about a truce and so far Israel had not been approached from any quarter.

Cancer Statistics Released

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An estimated 355,000 Americans will die of cancer next year and the American Cancer Society says 109,000 of those anticipated victims might have been saved by earlier and better treatment.

There are now 1,500,000 people in the United States who have been cured of cancer—meaning they are without evidence of the disease for at least five years—and the Society said about 218,000 will be saved in 1974.

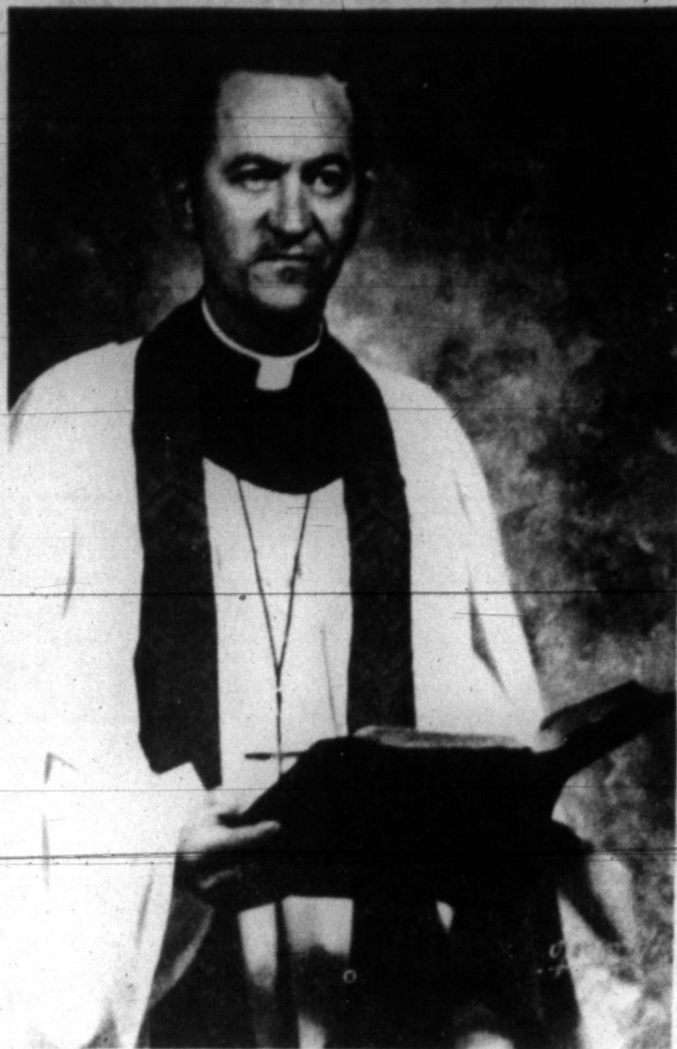

In an annual report on the facts of cancer, the Society said by the end of December, an estimated 349,000 Americans will have died of the disease this year, making cancer the second largest killer in the nation behind heart disease.

The Society's statistics said about 53 million, one out of four, Americans now living eventually will have cancer, according to present rates. Cancer will strike over the years in approximately two out of three families.

In the early 1900s, few cancer patients had any hope for a cure. The survival rate jumped to one in five in the 1930s, improved to one in four in the 1950s and today is about one in three.

Of every six persons who get cancer, not including readily detectable superficial skin cancer and cancer of the uterine cervix, four will die. The American Cancer Society said roughly one of the four victims might have been saved had proper treatment been received in time. The other three will die of cancers which cannot yet be controlled.

"This means that about half of those who get cancer could and should be saved by early diagnosis and prompt treatment," the Society said. "Thus the immediate goal of cancer control in this country is the annual saving of 327,000 lives."

Disease Center Studying Possible Cholera Source

ATLANTA (UPI) — The National Center for Disease Control (NCDC) said Saturday it will know next week if about 50 persons were exposed to cholera at Port Lavaca, Tex., last August.

Dr. Jack Weissman of the NCDC's bureau of epidemiology said the 50 persons were among some 250 guests at a Port Lavaca motel where the water supply may have been contaminated with cholera-causing organisms.

A Port Lavaca man who lived in a trailer behind the motel and shared the motel's water system, contracted cholera. He eventually recovered. It was the first reported incidence of the disease in this country since 1911, with the exception of a few laboratory-acquired cases.

Cholera is marked by severe diarrhea and dehydration and can be fatal unless treated promptly. There also is a vaccine against the disease but medical authorities say it is not very effective.

The 50 persons who may have been exposed to cholera were given blood tests, the results of which indicated they had an infection, Weissman said. But it did not prove that the infection was cholera, he added, and it may have been some other illness.

He said a control group of 150 persons not associated with the Port Lavaca incident were also given blood tests. If these tests show the same degree of exposure to infection, it would virtually rule out that the 50 Port Lavaca motel guests were exposed to cholera, he added.

Weissman said the NCDC still does not know how the cholera organism entered the Port Lavaca area and an investigation is continuing. But it has been determined that the Port Lavaca cholera case has no connection with the recent outbreak of the disease in Italy.

IN ARGENTINA Hijackers Fail To Gain Refueling For Jetliner

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Airport authorities at Tucuman refused to refuel an Argentine Airlines Boeing 737 hijacked on a domestic flight Saturday, forcing the twin-engine jetliner to fly to a Bolivian border town where it was stranded, airline sources said.

The sources said the plane, carrying 49 persons including a crew of six, barely made it to the Bolivian town of Yacuiba, where the four hijackers—one of them a woman—asked for another plane to fly them to Cuba. The sources said the tiny, dirt airstrip was too short to allow the 737, one of the first wide-bodied commercial planes, to take off again.

The Argentine government said in an official communique that it would not negotiate with the hijackers.

Is history repeating in Wilmington?

By Tom Tiede
WILMINGTON, N.C. — (NEA) — The years following the Civil War were difficult ones for many white people in this town. The dream was defeated, the slaves were freed and such was the political upheaval that black men, some carpetbaggers, gained control of the city.

By 1894, the strain was too much; 600 armed whites struck back, burning a black newspaper, riding the mayor out of town and killing 10 of the enemy color. Some observers at the time termed the uprising the "White Rebellion."

Today, a quarter of a century later, some Wilmington whites are at it again. Last summer the city experienced six bombings, black people say the word "nigger" is creeping back into the vocabulary, housing discrimination is being practiced in open defiance. It may not be history repeating itself, but, says one man on the street, "It don't seem like we ever learn much."

business, and in two apartment houses. Graffiti began to appear in the toilets of the local high schools advising blacks to "stay home." Somebody burned a cross on the lawn of a local TV station.

"It ain't really been so jittery right here in the town," says a black resident. "But I got relatives in the country and for the first time in a long time I been nervous going to see them. Out there at night, if your car breaks down, I don't know."

White officials in the town naturally play down the situation. "Mostly," says a city councilman, "it's an embarrassment."

But the white rednecks gleefully say the trouble is only the beginning. "Not that we've had anything to do with the violence," says right-wing leader LeRoy Gibson, "but we're getting it together more and more. If the niggers keep marchin', and the Zionist Jews keep pullin' the strings, and if they keep on busin' our children, things are gonna get hotter and hotter."

Gibson, an out-of-towner, is founder and director of a North Carolina Group called Rights of White People (ROWP). He gave up his leadership last year to run for governor, then resumed it on being soundly defeated in the Republican primary. Recently he and several other ROWP members were arrested for conspiracy in the summer bombings, but Gibson is free on $70,000 bail. He says he never bombed anyone; yet he doesn't condemn the bombings at all.

It's high time the patriots of this state started doing something to protect themselves. You know that Stalin once had a plan for turning the seven Southern states into a new black Africa? You know that, don't you? Well, I say people are still workin' on that plan. The niggers are movin' in our schools, in our churches. Hell, you can't walk down the street no more without elbowin' them."

"As for the Jews," says Gibson, "They are pullin' all the nigger strings. The Zionist Jews is behind most of the trouble in the world today, not just here but all over. They took over Palestine first, now they want to take over the world. Look at our own government. We got a Jew as secretary of state. Well, thank God for the Arabs. They're finally getting together on it. And so are we in North Carolina — we're getting together to fight what's happening."

Apparently, the racists in the state are indeed combining. The Ku Klux Klan is making its first noise in years. Several other white supremacist groups have also given support for the rebellion in Wilmington. Even the American Nazi Party has shown up, for one demonstration, alongside the KKK, waving the swastika and asking people for "your name, your address and your money."

Motions Filed For Harrelson

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Defense attorney Percy Foreman has filed four new motions on behalf of convicted slayer Charles V. Harrelson.

The motions ask 197th District Judge Darrell Hester to provide a transcript of Harrelson's trial, credit for time served awaiting trial, an extension in filing of a transcript in Harrelson's appeal, and for further hearings on all motions on file in the case.

The Brownsville jury that convicted Harrelson on Aug. 10 sentenced him to 15 years in the penitentiary for the alleged kill-pay murder of Sam Degelia Jr., of Hearne, Tex., on July 6, 1968.

Harrelson has been in jail continuously since his arrest in Atlanta, Ga., on Nov. 20, 1968. Hester has deferred ruling on whether to credit Harrelson, 35, for jail time on his prison sentence pending ruling of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in the case.

Energy Crisis Review Slated At Perryton

PERRYTON — The seriousness of the present energy crisis recommendations for appropriate action by key governmental agencies and the role which individual consumers can play in conserving limited energy supplies will be reviewed in a talk scheduled for the Professional Forum at 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 25, at the Perryton Club here.

The speaker will be Richard L. Parker, a certified professional geologist, who has been active in the petroleum industry for the past 20 years, and currently serves as vice president and partner in Alpar Resources, Inc. The subject of Parker's talk will be "The Energy Crisis as Seen from the Perspective of a Geologist."

Parker is a member of the American Institute of Professional Geologists (AIPG), a national organization chartered in 1963 with one of its stated objectives being the sharing of scientific knowledge and geological expertise with state and national legislative bodies and with the public at large where such sharing will serve the general welfare.

It is a member of AIPG, that Parker will appear before the Professional Forum. In addition to AIPG, he is also a member of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists and the Panhandle Geological Society.

Railroad Commissioner Says Oil Reserves Low

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas Railroad Commissioner Jim C. Langdon said this week national crude oil reserves are down while consumption is up. He warned the situation could get worse.

Langdon said the dwindling national reserves and the likelihood of import disruptions from the Middle East will place a heavy strain on the state's oil reserves.

"I read in the Wall Street Journal where one congressman was suggesting everybody buy a new sweater this winter," Langdon said.

He said national reserves are estimated at about 10 million barrels less than at this time last year, and oil consumption is up about 1 million barrels daily over 1972.

The commission set the November oil allowance for all but a few select fields at 100 per cent for the 20th consecutive month of all out production in the nation's biggest oil-producing state.

Nominations for purchase of Texas crude oil in November totaled 3,859,019 barrels daily, up 5,752 barrels over the October nominations, Langdon said.

Exceptions to the 100 per cent allowable were the Kelly-Snyder and East Texas fields, 86 per cent; the Tom O'Connor field, 70 per cent; and the Big Wells, Lower East, San Miguel, Dexter A. B and C, Buda, Glen Rose and Louise fields, 80 per cent.

Nominations by major purchasers included Amoco 320,000 barrels daily, Chevron, 80,600, Cities Service 118,000, Continental 38,000, Crown Central 45,600, Diamond Shamrock 36,000, Exxon 627,000, Gulf 196,000, Mobil 345,000, Phillips 115,000, Shell 330,300, Sun 191,100, Texaco 223,000 and Union of California 99,000.

The beginning of the present trouble is not precisely measurable. No doubt the underlying hates predate any resident currently living. Yet the old prejudices have been severely accelerated, in some cases, by all that has happened to black people since the early 1960s. Says a spokesman here:

"Some whites just can't accept black progress. A nigger on the police force? Hell, man, that ain't the way daddy would've wanted it. So the rednecks put a little more each passing year."

In recent years the rednecks have boiled over. Black demonstrators rioted in 1970, last year court-ordered school busing was put into effect, and to top it all, this past summer, Angela Davis came to town. Ms. Davis, perhaps, is the personification of all the things the far-right conservatives here are against. She's black, a Communist, has been tried for conspiracy in white murders, and is outspoken. "That bitch," says one white, "was like slapping us in the face."

Thus the long summer of tension here. Bombings occurred in a black newspaper office, in a desegregated school, in a Jewish synagogue, in a Jewish-owned

Investment Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Although the market shrugged off Vice President Spiro Agnew's resignation and the outbreak of war in the Middle East, "we are passing a caution sign, and an eight-sided red warning may not be too much further ahead," says Harris, Upham & Co. The investor should exercise caution in the period ahead, the firm continues, because some profit-taking seems inevitable. Although the long-term outlook remains rosy, "the market appears to have built a few walls, forgetting that it is also necessary that floors be included for longer lasting stability," it adds.

Local Chief Gives Tips On Fire Prevention Acts

By FINACE DYER
Pampa Fire Chief

There is so much more that I want to share with everyone in the community on this subject. I'm wondering how I am going to get it all wrapped up.

It is fascinating and vitally important information for everyone.

—Do not allow trash of any kind to accumulate in your yard and especially close to house, garage, or outbuildings. Keep yard clear of flammable material for 30 feet from structures.

—Remove flammable vegetation for 30 feet from each building on your property. During long dry spells, cut flammable growths to 18 inches high beyond the 30 foot point, to extend out 100 feet of the property line.

—Cover all chimney outlets with 1/2" mesh screen spark arrester. Be sure all flues extend at least three feet above roof. See that brackets are secure and flue collars are in place.

—Check your trees. Remove all dead branches from above all structures. Remove branches, dead or alive, so that none are closer than 20 feet from a chimney or flue.

—Your best fire extinguisher in the yard is your garden hose. But, water taps are sometimes too close to the house to allow their use in an emergency. Be sure you have at least one water tap well away from all buildings. Your emergency hose should be a good quality rubber, not plastic.

—Check your power line coming into the house, if it is above ground. If necessary have the wires relocated to keep them away from brush or trees. Be sure close wires do not cross.

If you have an incinerator or outdoor fireplace, cover the flue with 1/2" mesh spark arrester. Be sure door can be closed tightly. Clean space of flammable material at least 10' around incinerator.

—If you have a butane storage tank in the yard, be sure it is far enough away from buildings to allow access to shut off valve if house is on fire.

—Check TV antenna. Tighten guy wires if loose. Be sure lightning protectors have been installed and are still connected.

—Check your telephone lead-in line to the house. Be sure lightning protectors have been installed and are still connected.

Always keep your landscape clean by removing litter, leaves and deadwood from under trees and shrubs. Prune out deadwood still on shrubs and dispose of it. Remove dead and dried portions of ground covers. Leave space between shrubs and trees to help prevent fire spread.

It is particularly important to water landscapes frequently, especially during hot, dry spells. During a major fire, any plant may burn, though some may be slower to catch and carry a fire. However, large fires have proved that plants on well-watered and well-maintained landscapes do not burn as readily as dry plantings.

Space does not permit me discussing the best types of ground cover to plant. However, I am sure that this information can be obtained readily from your favorite nursery.

Some important things to remember are, the more a plant grows and the larger it becomes, the more potential fuel it produces and, consequently, the greater fire hazard it becomes.

When a plant is green and growing vigorously the hazard is small; but as the soil becomes dry, the plant is able to take up less water and has a lower moisture content. When moisture in the plant decreases, it becomes more likely to burn. This holds equally true for native plants and for ornamentals purchased at the nursery.

Therefore, frequent irrigations in midsummer may make the difference between an extremely flammable plant and one which will not burn readily. Needless to say this could be a very large loss factor when you have a fire at your home or on your grounds.

If you see the value of the information we have covered today, why not clip and save this article for a check-list, for when you can take the time to survey your own home situation. But please, don't wait too long!

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
Executive Secretary ARC

Mrs. Oran Carter and Libby Shotwell attended the SMF workshop in Amarillo Tuesday morning, with Mrs. Emily Trantham. SMF director for Red Cross from Ft. Worth, as guest.

Mrs. Trantham spoke to the group from the Texas Panhandle on the things we can do for servicemen and for veterans and the many things we cannot do for them.

We are not supposed to write to the field director regarding marital situations; however, we can help the wife with her communication to her husband. We can refer to other organizations regarding certain things we cannot do, such as send on to another community veterans and their families.

We learned about work with veterans recently out of the service and about the different types of discharges, and the veteran benefits after receiving the discharge.

Chapters represented were Hutchinson, Potter, Gray, Ochiltree, Shamrock, Carson and Deaf Smith counties.

The Hospital Volunteers held a coffee with Mrs. Lee Harrah, 2100 N. Duncan, Saturday morning with 16 members and two guests. Mrs. L. Moran and Mrs. Lula B. Owens. Coffee and sweet rolls were served to those present and the group discussed their work at the hospital.

They were urged to give to the United Fund and to turn in their hours each month.

Mrs. Louise Sewell, chairman, urged the group to watch for women to help with this service. A class will be held the first of November. The group voted to have a Christmas coffee before the holidays and each volunteer was urged to be present.

Mrs. Ruth Steger, RN, received her pin from Red Cross this week. We are very happy to welcome Ruth to our RN Volunteers.

Mrs. Johnnie Spert has been holding a Home Nursing class in the Lefors High School. Watch for the names of the girls that passed. Each girl will wear a Home Nursing pin on her school clothes so others may see that she has passed the course.

Barbara Walters: tv's hard worker

By VERNON SCOTT
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Barbara Walters, as a member of the "Today" show, has the most interesting and exhausting job of any woman in television.

She meets the world's most fascinating people day in and day out, and pays for it by rolling out of bed at 4:30 every morning.

Separated from husband, Lee Guber, who owns a chain of theaters-in-the-round, Barbara shares her eight room apartment in the heart of Manhattan with daughter, Jacqueline, 5, a nursemaid and a housekeeper.

Barbara needs all the help she can get. After arising she fixes herself a light breakfast of cereal and coffee and dresses quickly for the five-minute walk to Rockefeller Center where the NBC show originates.

She arrives at the studio at 5:30 a.m. to run through the commercials and major pieces of news of the day and checks up on unexpected interviews for the unrehearsed two hour show. Thereafter she goes through the grind of hairdressing and makeup. She is ready to go on the air at 7 a.m.

Barbara frets that her wardrobe is repetitious because the clothes are her own. But she is more comfortable in her own things and dresses as unrespectably as possible to avoid distracting viewers from her guests and her own facial reactions.

"I'm well dressed," Barbara says, "but I'm no fashion leader."

When the show goes off the air at 9 a.m. Barbara immediately prepares for her other daily show, "Not For Women Only," which she tapes at 10:15 twice a week — squeezing all five shows into the two work sessions. Happily the studio is also in Rockefeller Center.

Barbara then dashes home to arrive by 2 o'clock in the afternoon to spend some time with little Jacqueline who would rather watch "Captain Kangaroo" than her mother's shows.

The apartment is furnished colorfully with a combination of contemporary and traditional furniture. Many of the old pieces are from her parents' apartment, things she swore she would never have in her own home. Now she loves them.

One example is an antique gilded mirror in the dining room. And she treasures her father's collection of curious and ancient clocks. The whole apartment is a wash with books, also a hobby of her father's, and a result of hundreds of books sent her by authors who appear on "Today."

When Barbara first joined the show she continued to live what she considered a normal life, going out to dinner and attending parties. It meant getting only three or four hours sleep.

Now she gets to bed at 9:30 as often as possible. But she still goes out three or four nights a week, retiring about midnight.

Barbara says she knows how to cook but does very little in the kitchen because "I can't pretend to be all things. I don't believe those stories of the working mother who cooks and keeps house without feeling guilty."

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Eunuchoid Pastors and anemic Music Directors are causing the alarming reduction in church membership in America. Parishioners like virile oratory, stirring and familiar hymns, plus a lot of inter and intra-church competition!

CASE Y-548: Our son David, the psychiatrist, has been teaching a Bible Class at a Free Methodist Church in Indianapolis.

"Dad," he called me recently, "how'd you like to go with me to Danville, Illinois, tonight?"

"For I've been playing on our church basketball team and a tournament is scheduled for this weekend."

"You've spoken from the pulpits of three of these churches - Indianapolis, Attica, Indiana, and Danville, Illinois."

"But teams are also coming from Ft. Wayne and Lafayette, plus Peoria, Decatur, Illinois, and also Vincennes."

So I agreed to go along and be a rooster.

A high school gymnasium was the location of this 8-city tournament.

Rev. Darold Hill brought up two teams from his Vincennes church.

Each team brought 8 to 10 players, plus wives, sweethearts and other rooters, making at least 75 players and an equal number of us rooters in the stands.

Rev. Hill told me one of his teams was made up largely of Vincennes high school players.

David's team from Indianapolis was probably the oldest aggregation, averaging almost 30 years of age and included some former college players.

Despite its age, it won the tournament.

But I mention this athletic competition between the 8 churches to show a salient attribute of a livewire church.

In this age of diminishing church memberships in many of the major denominations, here's how to test a flourishing modern church:

(1) It has a dramatic, livewire orator in the pulpit who documents his Bible texts with true cases drawn from life.

(2) It operates buses to bring in children for Sunday School, as well as oldsters who haven't transportation.

(3) It encourages rivalry between neighboring churches, for competition fills football stadiums and likewise zooms Sunday School enrollments.

Home Builders offer how-to buying tips

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS
 NEW YORK (UPI) — You're in the market for a new house — a brand new house.

Perhaps you're about to build the dream house you've planned for so long — or you're going to have a house built from a model in a development — or perhaps you like a new house built on speculation.

All three situations call for attention to a point you can't often check out with an older home — the builder and his reputation.

"Because builders vary in quality just as other human beings do, your builder's reputation should be one of your most important considerations," advises the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) in its new publication, the "Home Buyers Guide."

Things to check

NAHB says, "Picking a good builder is your responsibility," and suggests you should:

— Ask the builder how he stands behind his work. Many builders will guarantee their work against defects for a specified period of time, usually one year, after completion. Find out what is included in the warranty, and if he will act promptly on any items covered by the warranty that need adjustment or repair. Ask him what responsibility he assumes for subcontractors and others who work for him.

— Find out how long he has been in business. Usually NAHB says, you are better off dealing with a man who has established a solid reputation. You can check with your local home builders' association, banks, Chamber of Commerce and Better Business Bureau.

— Ask previous customers about him. Knock on doors of people who have dealt with him and ask what they think about him, and his houses. Contented customers are a good recommendation in any line of business. Find out from them what they think of his customer service and post-sales performance.

— Once you have satisfied yourself as to the reliability of your builder, you will benefit from dealing with him cooperatively, NAHB stresses.

When he asks for decisions from you, try to make them promptly. Once you have made up your mind on a point, try not to change it.

— You may want to visit the building site from time to time. When you do, keep out of the way of the workmen and follow established safety requirements. Feel free to ask questions of the builder, but don't wrangle with him on the job. Don't issue orders on the spot. If you feel a change should be made, put your instructions in writing to the builder. If the change varies from the original agreement, expect to pay for it.

NAHB Survey

NAHB says it took a survey this year of consumer attitudes toward new homes and the home building industry. It found 63 per cent of home buyers feel competent to judge the quality of a new home construction and 70 per cent said they judge construction quality by the way the building looks.

The association urges new home buyers not to rely solely on their own impressions, but to seek out a responsible builder and call in professional help if they have any doubts.

Once the house is up and you are ready to move in, you'll want to talk further with your builder.

He will probably explain to you that no house can be perfect. Your new home NAHB notes, will go through a period of normal settlement and shrinkage. As the house "dries out," you may notice hairline cracks, wood shrinkage, uneven floors, minor warping of joints, tile shifting and plaster cracks.

Find out from the builder what imperfections you may expect reasonably, and ask him for advice on how to treat them. Find out how and when to report any defects covered by the warranty. The builder probably will ask you to put all requests in writing whenever possible.

Once you have taken title, your lender will expect you to continue to make regular payments, no matter what defects you find in the house or who is legally responsible for correcting them.

Before taking title

Before you take title, NAHB suggests you:

— Find out exactly what your warranty covers. If it is limited to corrections of structural faults and material failures, understand you are not getting a maintenance warranty.

— Find out what "tests" the house has passed. The builder will tell you if the house has been inspected by your lender, VA or FHA, or by local inspectors to determine that the house was built to standards which meet city, county or other building codes.

If, particularly in rural areas, a house is not subject to compulsory inspection, you may wish to hire an engineer or professional home inspection specialist to look it over before you sign a contract.

— Get from your builder tips on preventive maintenance. Except for the builder's warranty work, on the day you move in the builder's responsibility ends and your obligations as a homeowner begin.

— Ask the builder or one of his representatives to "walk through" the house with you on delivery day to check that all that was promised has been done. A careful noting at this time of the condition of floors, walls, ceilings, doors, windows, cabinets, plumbing fixtures, walks, drives, and yards will help eliminate the question of whether a flaw detected after you move in was something the builder overlooked or was caused by you. Be sure you have warranties and instruction booklets for all equipment and appliances.

Workmen's Compensation Rates May Be Raised

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Rates for workmen's compensation insurance may be raised for the second time since Sept. 1.

The three-member State Insurance Board said it will act within two weeks on a staff recommendation for a 5.8 per cent increase.

Manufacturers and other employer groups protested the proposed increase at a hearing Thursday, and urged the board to revamp rate-setting formulas and lower allowances for profit and expenses rather than raise the premiums they have to pay to provide workmen's compensation benefits for their employees.

Texas Manufacturers Association spokesman James W. Yancey of Austin said employers were hard hit by the 19.5 per cent hike of Sept. 1.

"These rates have only been in effect a month and a half and we're already getting a request for another 5.8 per cent increase," Yancey said.

Board actuaries said the 19.5 per cent increase covered only the increase covered only the increase in workmen's compensation benefits ordered by the 1973 Legislature, and did not take into account insurance companies' claims costs for the past year.

Representatives of the National Council on Compensation Insurance and the Association of Fire and Casualty Companies endorsed the new proposal.

Spokesmen for some companies said, however, the increase would be insufficient unless the board also raises the assumed minimum annual wage of $1,500 on which policy rates are based.

Jim Chenault of Fort Worth, representing Houston General Insurance Co., urged the board to up the minimum annual salary base to $5,000, saying the change would more than double rates for some small employers.

No Winners In Mideast

No matter who "wins" the current Middle East war, both sides will have been losers when the last shot is fired in this most costly and bloody conflict of all those that have been waged in that part of the world over the past quarter-century.

They will have been losers not only in terms of lives lost and treasure expended, homes, buildings and industries destroyed. Future generations of Arabs and Israelis will bear a heavy burden of hatred and bitterness that will be the legacy of this war.

The war is an immense tragedy not just for the combatant nations. It is a tragedy for the entire world. It is, certainly, a tragedy for the United Nations, which more than ever has been revealed as inept and ineffective and hopelessly polarized ideologically.

It is difficult to understand the double standard exhibited by so many of the small countries which now make up the overwhelming majority in the U.N. They have consistently ignored Arab atrocities and provocations over the years and now condemn Israel for acting in its own defense against a massive and brutal attack that was precluded by mountains of Arab threats and repeated dedication to the total destruction of a nation the Arabs outnumber by 100 to one.

Possibly it is because Israel's strongest support has been from the former colonial powers of the West, and from the United States, whom the developing nations have become accustomed to blaming for their own deficiencies, even as the Arabs have always blamed everyone but themselves for their self-caused reverses.

If any people had cause to blame others for their woes, it is the Jews, for no people has been so persecuted and abused over the centuries as have the Jews.

But no people could be a better inspiration and model for the developing nations in the way they have taken a tiny land of few resources and made it bloom.

Yet today in the United Nations we see the spectacle of Russia, the nation which with the exception of Hitlerian Germany has historically been the greatest persecutor of the Jews, the nation which provided the Arabs with the means to launch this war, daring to vilify Israel with charges of "gangsterism."

And the small nations of Africa and Asia applaud the lies and the hypocrisy.

As for the Arabs, how has the existence of Israel ever been a threat to their interests? How would the obliteration of Israel solve their serious problems of poverty, overpopulation and economic and social stagnation?

Such thoughts, such questions make one despair for the sanity of this world.

New Bumpers Fall Short

Those give-and-take bumpers required by federal standards beginning with 1973 cars are resisting damage, but not to the extent hoped for.

That is the conclusion of a study — the first to monitor the effects of safety and damageability standards on accident costs — submitted to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

The study by State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co., the nation's largest car insurer, was based on a three-month compilation and comparison of some 1,600 claims involving groups of 1973 and 1972 models. It found that the '73s were less frequently damaged in front and rear collisions, but there was very little reduction in the average repair costs of these collisions.

Principal findings of the study: Compared to 1972 models, 1973 models had fewer cases of front and rear damage.

Replacement frequencies of certain major components, including front and rear face bars and grilles, were significantly lower for the 1973 models.

Nevertheless, average repair costs were about the same for the two years: $290 for 1973 models vs. $295 for '72s.

One reason claims costs have not decreased in the more complex and costly design of bumper systems to meet federal standards. Prices for virtually all 1973 bumper replacement components increased over 1972 price — in one case from $138.10 to $305.65 for a complete front bumper.

Meanwhile, there is an experiment at any number of amusement centers that high-powered researchers could observe with profit. At these amusement places, kids and adults alike have been riding around a pre-destined course in miniature, gasoline-powered T-model Fords.

And on each vehicle, front and back, are spring-like bumpers that absorb the entire shock of impact when they ram together time after time making five miles per hour or more.

If the bumpers work one place, why can't they in another?

Christ: The Life Of The Believer

The most basic definition of a Christian is an individual who has exchanged his life for the life of Christ. He has forsaken himself and his own things for discipleship to the Lord Jesus Christ. Furthermore the resurrected Christ has taken residence in his soul in the person of the Holy Spirit. Thus Paul said that it is Christ in you the hope of glory.

Christ is Christianity and so to be a Christian one must have Christ living in him. Here you separate nominal or philosophical Christians from the genuine. Many profess Christianity who do not demonstrate the presence of Christ in their manner-of-life. The indwelling presence of Christ is evidenced by a changed behavior. The fruit of the Spirit replaces the fruit of carnality.

Also, it is "Christ in you" which brings the joy, comfort, and strength of God into the heart of the believer. No longer is he left to his own capacities. No longer is he left to his own imagination and design. No longer is he left alone to work out the dilemmas of life. Instead, the very Son of God has come in power to deliver the believer from himself, his sin, and his weakness. So it is that the true believer lives by faith, relying on the all-sufficiency of his Lord and Savior. Problems never overwhelm the one trusting Christ. There is always comfort for that individual in whom Christ lives. The omnipotent Lord of the universe, has promised to be the constant companion of His people. Why then should the truly converted person ever despair, or fear, or complain?

My dear unsaved friend, as far as you can determine Christianity may appear to be nothing more than tradition, doctrine, or philosophy. Yet I assure you that Christianity is a life — yea the very life of Jesus Christ working in each believer. This is that which delivers from the power of sin and makes a new creation. This is that which brings the "peace" that surpasses all comprehension and ultimately it delivers from the wrath of God. To be exercised eternally against all who have not the indwelling presence of Christ.

How did kids ever manage to study without a radio, record player and TV going to help them concentrate?

Who put the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's cow? Is a question the cook at our local beanery can answer.

A group of men may get one of their number elected to a local tax office or similar inside post. They are kept informed whenever a piece of property is to be up for sale because its owner is delinquent in his taxes. They are thus in a position to buy it up at a cheap price at a little-advertised auction.

An attorney is elected to the state legislature or to the U.S. Congress. He personally, or a firm with which he has close connections, continues to represent a number of clients. He consistently votes for measures which favor these firms.

Some congressmen are famous for their "personal" bills, many of which go through virtually uncontested as a favor to a colleague. In some cases these are legitimate bills, correcting inequities. In other cases they are boondoggles for favored constituents.

As a youngster, arriving home from college after a major earthquake of the times, I found that while most major buildings in my city were intact, virtually every school had crumbled. My conclusions was obvious.

This list could be extended endlessly. In the Meiji Restoration in Japan, the men who planned the new government faced the same type of problem. Corruption was rampant. Bureaucrats and other government officials were paid salaries so low they had to take payoffs to exist. The Meiji planners made their first order of business setting regulations that would make official wages large enough so that no man need take graft to feed, clothe and house his family. This particular problem, widespread in many foreign lands, is not the situation in the United States. We just haven't gotten around to cleaning house. We say "everyone does it" which is no excuse at all.

Every professional analyst of military strength and foreign policy today knows that Soviet Russia has achieved military superiority over the United States.

Former Defense Secretary Melvin Laird admitted this under questioning. The SALT agreements actually provide in writing for a 3 to 2 Russian superiority over the United States in both nuclear weapons and missile-carrying submarines. What is worse, they prohibit the United States from doing anything to catch up in either area or building defenses against intercontinental missiles.

Yet this fact of Soviet military superiority, generally known in Washington, remains unknown or simply not believed by most of our citizens, who became so accustomed to our unchallengeable military might during the period after World War II that they find it difficult to imagine a different situation. And since the truth has not been presented to them clearly and urgently from the highest levels of our government, they continue in their illusions.

It is of absolutely critical importance to the survival of the United States for our citizens to learn the facts about present Soviet military superiority. An anti-defense propagandist, confronted with people who know these chilling facts, must fall back on weak arguments about "overkill" and "balance of terror" which are unlikely to be convincing. The greatest asset these men have is the belief of most of our people that we are still the strongest military power in the world.

Cleanup should go all the way

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — There is a ray of hope in the sad case of Spiro Agnew.

Having begun a cleanup, prayerfully we will not abandon it now.

Federal, state and local government attorneys must copy the investigations conducted in Maryland of late.

These investigations should cover the official spectrum from congressmen, governors and high federal officials to state legislators, city and county executives, contractors, real estate operators, zoning lawyers and the like who have extensive dealings in areas of public interest.

Any one who has served in politics, as a professional or volunteer, knows that in zoning, title work and other government construction, corruption runs rampant in many, if not most, localities. It is at the bottom where the rot begins — when a man is a small office holder. He carries distorted morality and ethics with him as he rises.

Take some examples this reporter has seen: A legislator, at the instigation of an attorney for a builder or land speculator, votes for a zoning change that triples or more the value of a piece of property. The legislator is usually not paid off in cash. Rather, his firm, if he's an attorney, gets some lucrative title work from an interested builder or land developer — usually not the men or firm whose land he obligingly rezoned. The proving of graft is difficult indeed.

This reporter knew of a man once, a tie breaker on a county board of supervisors, who was called in to cast the deciding vote on one such rezoning. He favored the change and the property in question skyrocketed in value. Postscript: the land being rezoned was owned by the man who cast that deciding vote.

A group of men may get one of their number elected to a local tax office or similar inside post. They are kept informed whenever a piece of property is to be up for sale because its owner is delinquent in his taxes. They are thus in a position to buy it up at a cheap price at a little-advertised auction.

An attorney is elected to the state legislature or to the U.S. Congress. He personally, or a firm with which he has close connections, continues to represent a number of clients. He consistently votes for measures which favor these firms.

Some congressmen are famous for their "personal" bills, many of which go through virtually uncontested as a favor to a colleague. In some cases these are legitimate bills, correcting inequities. In other cases they are boondoggles for favored constituents.

As a youngster, arriving home from college after a major earthquake of the times, I found that while most major buildings in my city were intact, virtually every school had crumbled. My conclusions was obvious.

This list could be extended endlessly. In the Meiji Restoration in Japan, the men who planned the new government faced the same type of problem. Corruption was rampant. Bureaucrats and other government officials were paid salaries so low they had to take payoffs to exist. The Meiji planners made their first order of business setting regulations that would make official wages large enough so that no man need take graft to feed, clothe and house his family. This particular problem, widespread in many foreign lands, is not the situation in the United States. We just haven't gotten around to cleaning house. We say "everyone does it" which is no excuse at all.

How To Lose 20 Pounds

By Lawrence Lamb M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A deteriorating hip socket makes walking painful, and I have been advised to keep off it. No replacement is recommended until 20 pounds are lost. This I've been unable to accomplish — possibly because of this inactivity. Will you tell me please, in calories, how little I can eat safely? I'm in good health generally speaking, 77 years old, no hearing difficulty, thread a needle without glasses and sleep well. I'm five-foot nine and weight 180 pounds.

To prevent becoming incapacitated (am now on a walker) and a care to the family, the replacement seems necessary, so the weight loss must be made, should be, of course, anyway. I will deeply appreciate your advice.

DEAR READER — You do have a problem. It is difficult enough to lose weight on a sensible diet when you can be active. Also, any diet you use should be such as to keep your health in good shape for surgery.

Specifically, I don't think anyone should be on less than a 1200-calorie diet, except under very careful medical supervision. At that level, if you are careful, you can get enough vitamins and minerals. You might be well off to take a daily vitamin tablet anyway if you restrict your diet to that level. Then you will need to concern yourself with mostly the protein and mineral problems. You should include in your diet a quart of fortified skim milk a day to give you enough calcium, and it will also help out your protein intake.

If you are inactive you very likely don't use much more than 1800 calories a day. That means on 1200 calories a day you will be losing only 600 calories daily or just about the number of calories in one pound of fat for each week of the diet. It will take five months for you to lose your 20 pounds.

Exercise helps some, but an average 150 pound person only uses an additional 60 calories in walking a mile. So, it is a slow process. Nevertheless, if you can figure out a way to exercise while you are dieting it will help, and you will be in better shape for surgery when the time comes.

I don't know if you can swim or not, or if pools are available to you. Exercise in water is a good way to help people who can't walk. Swimming uses a lot of calories. Even if you can't swim, some exercises in a pool will help. If there is a physiotherapy or physical medicine section in any of your nearby hospitals they could help you with such a program.

I don't know how limited you are, but if your doctor thinks you can sit on a stationary bicycle you can bicycle at home and help to exercise this way. What is left is a lot of less effective exercises using the arms and upper body. If you can develop the strength to do these for a relatively long period of time, they will help to burn calories. Many thin people are thin not because they eat less, but because they are never still — making continuous small movements, and this adds up over the day.

BAND BOOSTERS, band students, ex-band students and the general public will be attending a reception out at the Pampa High School band room this afternoon for two band directors — one coming and one going.

Jeff Doughton, new director of the Pampa Harvester Band, and Harris Brinson, who is leaving to take another job, both will be honored.

Coincidentally, both Brinson and Doughton last Tuesday directed their high school bands to No. 1 ratings at the University Interscholastic League marching contests at West Texas University and started them on the way to become Sweepstakes winners again.

Doughton directed his Stratford High Band to the Class AA win in his final appearance with Stratford and Brinson moved the Pampa High band to a Class AAAA No. 1 rating in his final appearance with Pampa.

This afternoon's reception to welcome Doughton and honor Brinson for his seven-year tenure at Pampa High is scheduled from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

Brinson has directed the Pampa Harvester Band to Sweepstakes victories every year except 1970 when all attention was centered on the Chicago Music Festival.

Today's reception is sponsored by the Pampa High Band, assisted by the Band Boosters Club. Larry Harris is the band president and H.P. Heinritz is president of the Boosters.

The reception is open to the public and a special invitation has gone out to all ex-band students.

IT BEGINS to look like the City needs to order more tables and chairs for the Heritage Room of the M.K. Brown Memorial and Civic Auditorium.

The annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, scheduled there for Tuesday night, Oct. 30, was a sellout at 550 tickets nearly a month before the event.

Asked why the ticket sale was stopped at 550 when the Heritage Room space is adequate to accommodate 700 or more, chamber officials said it was because there were not enough tables and chairs to handle more than 500 persons.

It is not always easy to plan for the future. Seating capacity of the M.K. Brown Auditorium is 1,500. The Pampa Community Concert Association could have sold 300 to 500 more season tickets for the 1973-74 season if the seats had been available. There is no way of stretching the auditorium seating capacity at this point in time (to use a Watergate cliché).

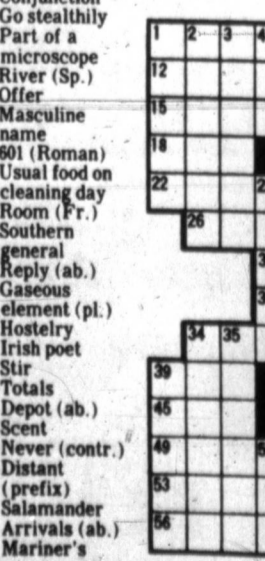

But, there is a way to remedy the situation in the Heritage Room. Buy more tables and chairs. It would be a good place to spend some of that Federal Revenue Sharing boodle.

WELL, LIKE Will Rogers used to say, all we know is what we read in the newspapers — and from what has been read recently, it is safe to say that the UFO season is in full bloom again.

Flying Objects landing here and there with weird creatures getting out and looking us over are becoming more frequent.

They even have been reported right here in the Panhandle. Two Berger women reported a peculiar shaped UFO hovering over Lake Meredith the other night.

According to UPI, two or three funny-looking men with wrinkled green skin, crab-claw hands and pointed ears have been seen down by the old fishing hole at Pascagoula, Miss. (Pascagoula?) out near the airport at Beckley, W. Va., in the Louisiana piney woods and even in the hallowed halls of the College of the Ozarks in Arkansas.

So if one of them taps you on the shoulder late some night and says "take me to your leader!" — don't hesitate. Take him, that is, if you can find your leader.

Better than that — bring him out to our house. We'd like to interview him.

Texas is inviting the UFOs to land in the Lone Star State. They're setting up a huge signal light in Central Texas. Reports say it can be seen for 150 miles straight up or straight down — if you can get that deep.

The hope is that it will attract UFOs flying around up there and indicate to them that there's a good landing spot for them 'deep in the heart of'.

In case you are interested in picking up a bead on a UFO and want to know what to look for — there's a woman in New Orleans who says she saw "something shaped like the Houston, Astro-dome hovering over her home."

That should be real easy to spot. It doesn't even call for a telescope or field glasses, or even eye-glasses for that matter.

It is suggested, however, if you do see something like the astro-dome fluttering above your house — that you get outside as quickly as possible, or you may never get out at all. SOTTO VOICE: Notice to UFO spotters and UFO pilots — Please call 669-2525 and if a man answers, don't hang up!

TODAY MARKS the beginning of National Business and Professional Women's Week.

The Pampa B&PW Club is taking an active part in the observance and elsewhere in today's Pampa News you will find the local club's selection of its "Woman of the Year."

This is the week Pampa's working women join with women across the nation in hundreds of varied-career categories.

They are coming into their own with new recognition — perhaps long overdue — for their contributions to society and to the community.

With women's lib on the move and the gaining of new legal rights, women who work find they are being elevated to business and professional opportunities heretofore denied to them. And that's as it should be.

Congratulations, gals.

Every man has a right to his opinion, but no man has a right to be wrong in his facts. — Bernard Baruch, American statesman.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

What to do with 11 million tons of municipal refuse each year? Bury it? Shred it? Burn it? Recycle it?

These are just a few of the alternatives open to municipalities throughout the state of Texas, says the State Health Department.

While activity in the past has been devoted primarily to getting rid of refuse in the most convenient, healthful and inexpensive way, the attitude these days is toward recycling or use of waste products.

"Resource recovery" is a term being used by environmentalists in the field of solid waste to encompass their efforts. Much research and action is underway to make possible the recovery of our once-used resources.

Some of these projects will be under consideration Oct. 24-26 at the State Health Department in Austin when a state-wide seminar is held on solid waste management, water supplies and sewage disposal.

Most of us are aware of recycling efforts in various fields. Aluminum and glass beverage containers are being collected and recycled. Waste paper is being reused. Some metals are being sifted out of refuse and used again.

The time may come when you'll be driving down the street in a car made partially from your recycled refrigerator, or maybe washing clothes in a machine which was once your kitchen range. It may seem far-fetched, but it isn't impossible.

Throughout Texas today, research engineers and scientists are trying to untangle the mass of solid waste which accumulates at five pounds per person each day. In Houston, for example, a salvage company is reclaiming metal and paper.

At a plant in East Texas, compost is made through a process which used ground up refuse and sewage sludge to produce an acceptable conditioner for the soil.

In Odessa, they're hoping to make the desert rangeland bloom by removing metals from municipal refuse, grinding the waste and tilling it into the soil to retain moisture and stimulate growth of vegetation.

An operation at Galveston is grinding up the city's solid waste, recovering the ferrous metal and spreading the milled refuse on the ground. A final cover of dirt will eventually be applied to the landfill.

Some research is centered toward burning combustible refuse as a fuel resource. And, glass bottles are being ground up for use in highway roadbeds.

By far the largest amount of solid waste in Texas is being covered up in sanitary landfills — a practice which in these days is being frowned upon since valuable resources are going unclaimed. Economics and expedience are factors in this practice. There will always be a need for some landfills, however, since not all wastes can be recycled.

Before World War II and for some time thereafter, the principal concern for solid waste was the health implications which result from poor garbage and trash disposal practices. The decades of the fifties and sixties were times of increasing concern for air and water pollution, and solid waste was recognized as the source for some of the pollution.

Today, concern for the health aspects of waste management continues: pollution control efforts currently are being accelerated; but environmental resource management is just on the threshold of realization.

Riding around in yesterday's discarded metal, as mentioned earlier, isn't as faraway as you might think. For every 100 automobiles manufactured today in the United States, 85 old ones are recovered and recycled.

Most constituents of solid waste — steel, aluminum, glass, rubber, paper — if separated and cleaned, could be used as easily as virgin materials ... and at greater savings to our natural resources.

For instance, 17 trees get the axe for every ton of paper milled. Twenty per cent of raw material requirements for paper is recovered from paper wastes, saving about 200 million trees per year. Savings of virgin materials is being realized through the recycling of other materials.

The fight against solid waste pollution isn't something to be left entirely to the government and manufacturers. Here are some things that you can do, says the State Health Department:

Use only returnable bottles. Don't buy products that have unnecessary packaging.

Carry a litter bag in your car and boat. Empty it only in proper receptacles.

Reuse paper bags, containers and plastic bags.

Use your ashtray — not the car window. Better still, don't smoke.

Flatten containers before discarding them to cut down on bulk.

Help organize and participate in regular paper, glass and metal campaigns in your community.

IF AMENDMENT FAILS

Vets Land Program Would End

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of dispatches detailing nine proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on by Texans in a special election Nov. 6.)

By ROLAND LINDSEY
UPI Capital Reporter

AUSTIN (UPI) — A veterans land program that has allowed 50,000 Texans veterans to buy land through low interest loans since the end of World War II will end next year unless an additional $100 million bond issue is approved Nov. 6 by voters. Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said.

The Veterans Land Program extension is one of two proposed constitutional amendments dealing with bonds listed on the special election ballot.

The other bond proposal would allow a simple majority of voters in coastal cities to pass tax bonds for the construction of sea walls and breakwaters. It currently takes a two-thirds majority vote to authorize such bonds.

The Veterans Land Program, unique among the states, is operated at no cost to the taxpayers. Bonds issued through the program are used to provide low interest, long term loans to Texas veterans who wish to borrow up to $10,000 to purchase tracts of 10 acres or more.

No Tax Money

Interest on the bonds is paid for by interest collected on the loans, and the program involves no tax money at all. It has been operating since 1949, and veterans have purchased more than 3.6 million acres of land through it.

"Our feeling is that it would be basically unfair to a person returning from Vietnam and getting out of the service now to have the program stopped at this point," Armstrong said.

"We've got a new situation with no draft, and this program should give some incentive for a person to join the service."

Armstrong said current bond funds will carry the program into 1974, but the money will run out sometime next year unless the new bond issue is approved by voters.

The proposed Amendment No. 7 would also change the wording of the bond program to make it available to all Texas veterans who served a minimum time in the military. It is currently limited to veterans who served in the armed forces between Sept. 16, 1940, and the time of formal withdrawal from Vietnam.

Goes Back to 1940
The amendment would make the loans available to veterans who served any time after 1940.

Armstrong said he has seen no organized opposition to the program.

The sea wall bond proposal, listed as Amendment No. 5 on the ballot, makes no changes other than in the majority of voters needed to approve the tax bonds for sea wall and breakwater construction.

Utilities Need Gas Supplies, Lawyer Claims

AUSTIN, (UPI) — A lawyer representing utilities that serve one million homes in the upper part of Texas told a Texas Railroad Commission it "desperately" needs gas from a West Texas field that Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. now needs.

"Commencing Nov. 1, 1973, we desperately need it," Ira Butler, representing Texas Utilities Fuel Co., Texas Power and Light Co., Dallas Power and Light Co. and Texas Electric Service Co., said.

"Even with that gas it will be necessary to use millions of barrels of fuel oil this winter to serve our customers."

Lo-Vaca, a subsidiary of Coastal States Gas Producing Co., serves power systems in Austin, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and the University of Texas at Austin.

Last winter, Lo-Vaca could not fill its contracts with these points and they all ran short of power.

Texas Utilities Fuel Co. and the three power companies — members of the Texas Utilities group — claim they told Lo-Vaca it could use gas from their West Texas field as long as they did not need it.

The utilities companies claim they told Lo-Vaca 10 months ago they would need it but now Lo-Vaca does not want to relinquish it.

The contentions are that if Lo-Vaca does not get the gas, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Austin and the University of Texas will run short of power this winter, and if Lo-Vaca does get it, the 99 counties served by the Texas Utilities group will run short.

Dallas and Fort Worth are among cities served by the Texas Utilities group.

"We did everything in 1969 and 1970 that the law required," Butler, the first witness, said. "We own that gas as nearly in place as any utility can own gas and every foot of gas you divert is forever lost. This commission has no right to determine the title to property."

New Vitamin 'E' Diet Gives Fast Weight Loss

LOS ANGELES (Special) — New scientific discoveries have now produced a Vitamin E diet that quickly works wonders on overweight people, and reportedly is gaining great popularity across the country with glowing reports of easy weight loss "while still eating almost as much as you want."

Those who follow the simple Vitamin E diet report an average loss of at least a pound a day and even more without exercise or starvation. Nutritionists files are bulging with happy testimonials from formerly overweight people who are now trim and slim again. Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, chicken, fish, sauces, gravies, bacon and eggs and still lose weight.

Cheewable (candy-like) vitamin E tablets, as used in the diet plan, contain a new scientific combination of ingredients that quickly curbs and controls the appetite, while also giving the wondrous benefits of Vitamin E which is so essential to good health.

The use of the new Vitamin E Diet tablets and foods prescribed in the plan will, through natural action, act to help your body use up excess fat. According to recent clinical tests, a person who is deficient in Vitamin E or Protein "will double the speed of fat utilization" with the use of Vitamin E.

E-DIET AVAILABLE

To get a copy of this highly successful diet and E-Tablets, send $5.00 for 10 day supply (or $7.00 for 20 day supply or $10.00 for 30 day supply) to: Diet-E, Box 48950, Biggs Sta., L.A., Ca. 90048. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied). In Calif. add 5% tax.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SUNDAY, OCT. 21

Your birthday today: The coming year promises heavier responsibilities, broader ranges of personal expression, and better resources for making your enterprises go. What you must do out of your own resolve is to make meditation significant in your day-to-day living. This brings perspective, serenity. Today's natives nearly always have some unusual experience fairly early which sets them into an individual path thru life.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: No plans remain intact this Sunday with everybody's opinion rampant. Share what you can with younger people, those of less experience. Encourage them to pick up and live their own lives.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Little real privacy is available today, nor is anything gained if you turn your back on current conditions that try to bring back the past. Heads up, get on with the future.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: You can't have your way about everything, and this goes double if you pitch in to squabble and squall over the first trifle that comes along. Let others begin the discussion.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Give everybody plenty of time and room to make their moves. Be guided by what you see and hear. Simply part ways with those who prove themselves uncooperative.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Be prompt in carrying your share of your community's normal Sunday customs. Then make the rounds to find out what's new. Draw back a little from complex discussions.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: It seems to you that where you have a need for specific knowledge of certain details, there is confusion, vagueness. This is very likely true, but not basically unfavorable.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Social activity, particularly where romantic attraction figures in, runs into rough going. The impulse is not settling a doubt, but merely an impulse. Force no issues.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Self-improvement is the main area favored by today's conditions. Exercise your discretion in protecting future goals. Somebody you depend on changes a decision with little notice and, given no special difficulty, will change back again.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Use your head rather than follow your first rush of feelings. Various contingencies anticipated will probably never come to pass in the forms as you see them.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: If you can trust your habits and knowledge of long-term trends, you can navigate this Sunday in rather good shape. Attend to formalities calmly. Current information lacks reality.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Practical measures to deal with the here-and-now situation are enough to consider for the moment. Larger issues further away are beyond anything but prayer.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Your preferred course is that of the observer, perhaps even the wallflower if you are comfortable in playing that role. Leave business strictly out of this Sunday—there's a better time coming up.

MONDAY, OCT. 22

Your birthday today: Self-reliance is your key to success this coming year. Even minor achievements parlay quickly into significant enterprises. Conditions in which you work include factors outside your present experience so that you are challenged to make effective personal adjustments. Relationships carry on as usual, become what you let them drift into being. Today's natives seek abstract truth, in poetry as well as technical sources, usually have vivid imaginations.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Assign priorities; this promises to be a busy day with too many things crying for attention. In creature comforts, a touch of austerity is best and you'll be the better for it.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: The answers you seek are available, probably in people and places you haven't checked or expect little of. The guidance of the young is part of your duty; don't shirk it.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Speak up on the subjects you know best, while remaining alert for further useful information. An easy way out would prove otherwise if you tried it. Quiet but important changes are indicated.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Get busy early; the way is open for good progress. Update connections with people in distant places. New contacts, available afternoon and evening, are well worth cultivating.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Your attention focuses on cash and other ready personal resources. You have quite a bit to put to use, should spend it on important purchases not on trivia.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: There's more than enough routine, with your hopes rising for something creative. Begin by finding a novel approach to anything you've done several times, like finding an alternative.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: That feeling of being unprepared for the coming week is only partially valid. You must improvise a bit, concentrate on those matters you can dispose of easily.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Start the week with the resolution to clarify the participation of your friends in your ventures; make a few hard choices. Do something positive for general welfare of your community.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Take initiative to direct affairs toward your goals. Long-sought facts come to light. You have a slight advantage in dealing with institutions, traditional organizations.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Your friends are more than helpful; make sure what they expect in return is within your reach. Seek solitude for serious study, prayer, leaving emotional pursuits fallow.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: If you touch it at all today, let it be complete and well-handled, however trivial. Understanding of the main drift will show you the folly of pursuing quick and easy money.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: In this relatively quiet day, concentrate on those bits of cooperation which can be made to bear results in the very near future. Postpone major projects until a later time.

Jayne McCausland Becomes Bride Of Richard Stroud

Miss Jayne Ann McCausland became the bride of Richard Allen Stroud Saturday, Oct. 20 at 7 p.m. in St. Vincent's de Paul Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. McCausland, 2701 Aspen. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Stroud, 209 Miami.

THE CEREMONY
The double-ring wedding ceremony was officiated by the Rev. Francis J. Hynes, C.M. Tracy Cary, organist, played the processional, "Trumpet Voluntary" in D Major and the recessional, Notre-Dame Cathedral "Alleluia." Miss Stephanie Hills, flautist, and Greg Williams, guitarist, played "The Wedding Song."

The ceremony was performed before a background of 15-branched spiral candelabra flanked by floral arrangements of white gladioli, asters, and mums.

THE BRIDE
The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a formal length gown of sata-peau and re-embroidered lace designed with a fitted Victorian bodice enhanced with lace extending over the shoulders to form a yoke accented by miniature tucking, lace appliques and seed pearls. Her closely fitted neckline was of Belgian "Princess" lace, and sheer, full lace applique sleeves, were caught by deep lace cuffs at the wrists. Miniature self-fabric buttons complemented the cuffs, which flared over her hands. The soft flowing skirt was edged in Alencon lace above a flounce of Belgian lace, and swept to back fullness, cascading into a full chapel train. Her matching candlelight Belgian lace mantilla fell from an Alencon lace coil, and she carried a gardenia and stephanotis bridal bouquet.

ATTENDANTS
Maid of honor was Lynne Zellars, Odessa, and bridesmaids were Joanne McCausland and Jennifer McCausland, sisters of the bride, and Karri Dee Stroud. They wore identical floor-length gowns of royal blue miramist chiffon styled with full elbow length sleeves ending with fitted cuffs, and a soft skirt enhanced with a train flowing from empire waistlines. The bodice and cuffs were highlighted with candlelight appliques of Alencon lace and seed pearls. Each carried a nosegay of white carnations and baby's breath.

Elizabeth Ownsby, Ulysses, Kan., was flower girl and Tracy Stroud was ringbearer. Acolytes, lighting the candles and assisting with the ceremony were John P. McCausland, Jr., brother of the bride, and Thomas Treadaway, Kerrville, Tex. San Virden served the bridegroom as best man, and groomsmen were Jerry Ferrell, Keith Oliphant, and Terry Ward. Jim Griffin and Eugene Edmondson served as ushers.

MOTHERS
The bride's mother wore a floor-length gown of beige, gold, brown, and pink metallic chiffon. She wore brown accessories and a pink orchid.

The bridegroom's mother wore a purple knit floor length gown with black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The couple will temporarily reside in Pampa. The bride and bridegroom are graduates of Pampa High School.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS
The bride was honored recently with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. R.A. Johnson. Hostesses for the event were Mmes. Johnson, Carl Lang, Robert Lyle, and Delmar Watkins.

A bridesmaid's luncheon was hosted at the Pampa Club by Mrs. Ted Alexander and Mrs. Doug Boyd.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at Red Key's Steak House.

The reception, hosted by the bride's parents, was held at the Pampa Country Club. The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth edged in organza lace. The four-tiered Lady Windemere Cake, with each tier being divided on a lace stand, was decorated with swags and scrolls of snowy white icing. Sugar bells, small clusters of sweet peas and small roses, also decorated the cake topped with an ornament of white feathered doves in a nest of net and lilies of the valley. Shelly Reid served the bridal cake.

Today's hand was played in a very important team match with IMP scoring.

One declarer arrived at five diamonds, which he made in spite of the bad trump break by setting up a spade to discard a losing heart and taking a successful heart finesse.

The other declarer arrived at three no-trump.

He won the king of spades opening in dummy, led a diamond to his king and was on his way to overtricks when West discarded a club.

Nothing daunted, South led a second spade. West took his jack and played the king of clubs. South let that and the jack both hold, whereupon West cashed his queen of spades and threw South in with the last card in that suit.

South and a lot of experts said South had really bad luck. He did, but he also could and probably should have made the contract.

He should win the second club with his ace and lead a spade. West's best defense would be to win and throw South back in with the last spade. Then South would cash dummy's ace and queen of diamonds and come down to a four-card ending. Dummy would be holding a diamond and three hearts. South a club and three hearts.

East's four cards would have to include the jack of diamonds. If he also held a club he would be down to two hearts and South could take three heart tricks. If he hung onto three hearts the last diamond would be led from dummy and East would have to lead from his king of hearts around to dummy's queen.

BPW Woman Of The Year

Oct. 21-27

Plans Revealed For BPW Week

Beginning the week of Oct. 21, 1973, the Pampa Business and Professional Women's Club will join hands with clubs across the nation in observance of National Business Women's Week. Working women will share the spotlight with women in hundreds of different career fields.

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. was founded in 1919 for and by business and professional women. The goal then, as it is today, was a high standard of achievement for women as citizens and as business and professional women in the United States.

The purposes of the organization are: To elevate the standards for women in business and the professions; to promote interest of business and professional women; to bring about a spirit of cooperation among business and professional women in the United States; and to extend opportunities to business and professional women through education along lines of industrial, scientific and vocational activities.

Throughout the years, members of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, remaining true to the ideals that first inspired the creation of their organization have strived to implement these purposes by providing members an opportunity for leadership experience, community awareness, legislative know-how and greater knowledge of current events.

The Business and Professional Women's Foundation was created by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. Feb. 25, 1956. The Foundation was organized to establish scholarship funds; to give financial support to programs for training and education; to improve or develop the capabilities of business and professional women; to support and conduct surveys and research into the economic, social and psychological problems effecting women throughout the world and to establish a library and research center as a repository for the accumulated data.

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The day may not be far off when people will be eating toasted cottonseed nuts and cottonseed brittle candy.

According to the University of Texas Cotton Economic Research, glandless cottonseed is a promising food product. High in protein and very tasty, the kernels can be eaten like nuts, used in cooking, or made into spreads.

The Pampa B&P Club was organized and also became federated in 1929. The club's motto is "Better Business Women For A Better Business World." The program theme for 1973-74 is "Challenge for commitment. Economic concern — Social concern — Political concern."

Some of the projects of the Pampa B&P Club this year are: "Honoring a senior 'Girl of the Month,' who is selected by a committee of high school teachers. All of the 'girls of the month' are invited to attend all meetings and functions of the club. Awarding a scholarship to a senior girl, presenting a student award to a graduating senior girl, and gifts to Girlstown in Borger.

Activities of the Pampa B&P Club during National Business Women's Week will begin today with a coffee at the Flame Room at 8 a.m., honoring the "Woman of the Year," after which the Club will attend First Baptist Church in a group.

On Monday morning at 8:30 a.m. Mrs. Alma Ash and Mrs. Virginia McDonald will discuss activities of the Pampa B&P Club on Radio Station KGRO.

Monday evening at 7 p.m. Mrs. Juanita Suttle will host a salad supper in her home at 502 N. Russell, honoring the club mother, Mrs. Inez Carter.

Tuesday evening, members will attend a dinner meeting hosted by the Amarillo B&P Club, at which Wales Madden, Jr., member of the State Constitutional Revision Committee, will explain

Guide TO Glamour

"How often should I wash my hair?" This is a question frequently asked the hairdresser, and is answered according to the characteristics of the individual's "crowning glory." First, the idea should be kept in mind that clean hair holds a wave, takes a color and is more beautiful to see than lank, unkempt hair. Such hair should be brushed frequently to keep it from drying out, and to stimulate the scalp and distribute the natural oils. If your hair is dry and wiry, you probably need to shampoo only once every two weeks. You should work at keeping your hair shiny and healthy looking, and you should adjust your shampooing schedule to obtain these results. We commend our Pampa Business and Professional Women who have done so much for our community, and we congratulate the "Woman of the Year," "COSMETOLOGY AS A CAREER." Mrs. Crocker Named Woman Of The Year

National Business Women's Week is a time to recognize and honor our women of achievement. Mrs. H.E. (Ruby) Crocker, 319 Purviance, Pampa, is one to receive such recognition, having been selected as "Woman Of The Year" for the 1973-74 club year, by the Pampa B&P Club.

Mrs. Crocker has been a member of the Pampa B&P Club since 1961, having held the offices of president, vice president, corresponding secretary, chairman of various committees, and parliamentarian. ## Legal Rights Carry Responsibilities

COLLEGE STATION — Among the legal rights Texas' 18-year-olds recently received is the right to sign legally binding contracts.

"Although this right received less publicity than some others, it seriously affects older teens," Mrs. Doris Myers, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, noted.

"Those in the 18-21-year-old age groups will face increased pressure to buy items on installment or time-payment plans."

"College seniors have long been subjected to strong sales pitches for pots and pans, silver, china, life insurance and other trappings of 'adult life.' Now the pressure shifts to underclassmen and high school seniors."

Before Aug. 27, when someone under 21 signed a contract to purchase an item, the contract wasn't legally enforceable, the specialist continued.

"Now, 18-year-olds will be held responsible as adults. Married teenagers, on the other hand, have been considered adults — regardless of age — for some time in Texas."

Mrs. Myers advised young adults to think carefully before signing contracts for home furnishings, insurance, new or used cars, and items on installment plans.

Remember — rental leases also are binding, she added.

"Always read — and understand — a contract before signing it. Ask questions if any part isn't clear."

"It's extremely important to know the total cost of an item, including credit — annual percentage rate and dollar cost."

"Also, determine penalty charges for late payments and whether repossession for nonpayment is a possibility. "Never sign a contract with black spaces — or one filled out in pencil," the specialist emphasized.

"Before signing any contract, consider how much money you have, as well as how much is spent for other things on a regular basis. Be sure some is left over for emergencies. "In contracts — as in voting and other majority-age privileges — legal rights carry responsibilities."

Cover up Dad's faults
 —but not with a halo

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a mother should cover up for Father so the children won't know what a louse he is? I've made excuses for my husband ever since I can remember. It's "Daddy is sick." [Daddy was hung over.] Or, "Daddy didn't come home for supper because he had to work late." [Daddy didn't call to say he wouldn't be home. I don't know where he was, or what he was doing.]

I've said: "We can't afford a new car—or a vacation this year because Daddy needs the money to put back into his business," when the truth was, "Daddy likes to gamble."

I ask myself, why should I protect Daddy? When the kids get older they'll learn the truth anyway.

So, Dear Abby, you're supposed to have all the answers. Can you answer this one? PROTECTING DADDY

DEAR PROTECTING: At an age where children believe that Daddy is the greatest, what's to be gained by being brutally factual? I don't recommend crowning him with a halo—neither do I support your suggestion that he deserves a noose. Like the Santa Claus myth, children's illusions about Daddy (and Mama) vanish soon enough. Don't shove.

DEAR ABBY: How would you feel if you found your 16-year-old daughter and her 17-year-old boy friend asleep on her bed with the door closed? ROCKPORT, MASS.

DEAR ROCK: Nervous.

DEAR ABBY: As a minister's wife, I get some really dumb questions, but when someone hands me the money for church rental (for nonmembers) and then asks: "Is there supposed to be a gift for the minister, too?"—well, that's too much.

Where the church is concerned, some people are unbelievably cheap. A minister must pay for his education just as any other professionally trained person must. He drives his car to and from the church for counseling sessions, again for rehearsal, and finally for the wedding ceremony. The minister is not part of the rented property.

Would anyone expect the services of a doctor or dentist for a total of 5 or 6 hours, and then ask: "Is $5 enough?"

Please urge ministers to set up a scale of fees for members and nonmembers. [The latter seem to think they are entitled to more than members.] And don't be afraid to say: "My fee is ———!" And then collect the fee, or send a bill as everyone else does. MINISTER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: And to your letter, may I add an appropriate, "AMEN!"

DEAR ABBY: My brother is being married soon. His fiancée asked me to be one of her bridesmaids, and I accepted.

Today I was informed that all the bridesmaids dresses were ORDERED, and mine will cost me $49.95, and I will have to buy shoes to match! The bride didn't discuss the style or color or price with me, she just went ahead and ordered what she wanted. I don't know any of the other bridesmaids as they are her friends, so I don't know if they had anything to say about the choice.

Abby, I don't like paying for a dress I may not like or wear again. I have already purchased a shower gift which cost me $10, and later on there will be a wedding gift. I think this whole thing is getting out of hand.

How can I bow out of this wedding party without making a big stink? GROOM'S SISTER

DEAR SISTER: You may not be able to. Why not wait until your gown arrives? [You may like it.] If you don't, simply state your objections. They are legitimate.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

Pampa Crushed By 'Horns, 22-7

By PAUL SIMS
AMARILLO — Caprock's Longhorns, displaying unusually strong rushing balance with three players reaching the 100-yard plateau or better, used three touchdowns and a safety to down the Pampa Harvesters, 22-7 Friday night in both teams' district opener in Dick Bivins Stadium.

Caprock's quarterback David Ream and running backs Ronald Burton and Johnny Fowler accounted for 118, 106 and 100 yards respectively as Caprock ate up high chunks of time and yardage almost every time it had possession. The Longhorns, 4-2 for the year, came out of the game with the revenge they were seeding as the Harvesters downed Caprock, 29-14 last season.

This year's clash was almost the exact opposite of last year's. Last season, Pampa outrushed Caprock, 403 to 82, gained 19 first downs to the Longhorns' eight and didn't gain any yards passing. However, Friday, Caprock outrushed Pampa, 369-101, gained 21 first downs to Pampa's 10, and 26 yards passing to the Harvesters' 113.

Pampa quarterback Chuck Quarles scored his team's only touchdown by scrambling 21 yards with 1:22 left in the opening half. On that run, Quarles was apparently stopped behind the line of scrimmage, but broke right, then cut left and made his way to the end zone.

The scoring run followed a first period safety and an eight-yard touchdown run by Ream early in the second quarter. The safety occurred when the ball was snapped over Pampa punter Rick Leverich's head as he was standing in the end zone.

Pampa received the game-opening kickoff and drove from its 22 to Caprock's 26, however, the Longhorn defense, which yielded only four first downs in the first half, held on fourth. Caprock took over and drove 54 yards down to the Harvesters' 20.

Coy Free stopped the threat by recovering a Burton fumble after the Longhorn tailback picked up 15 yards to Pampa's five. The Longhorns held on down and as Leverich awaited the snap, the ball sailed over his head with 2:13 left in the first quarter.

The Longhorns took Leverich's boat following the two-pointer and travelled 53 yards in seven plays to make the score 8-7. Ream went straight up the middle at 11:30 in the second period for the score. Ream, with a 42-yarder, and Burton, with a 40-yarder, were Caprock's biggest factors in the touchdown.

TODAY IN IRVING Dallas, NY To Tackle In Big NFC East Tilt

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) — Roosevelt Leaks, a slashing Texas tornado turned loose on Arkansas, roared for three touchdowns and a career rushing high Saturday to lead Texas past the Razorbacks 34-6.

Leaks, a 218 pound pile-driver, was unstoppable. He scored on runs of two, 43, and 59 yards in amassing 200 yards for the day on 24 carries, his best day ever.

Texas added a touchdown on Jim Moore's 79-yard punt return in the third quarter to break open the 55th meeting between the two rivals that had been close until Leaks and company broke open the game after intermission.

Raymond Clayborn added to what turned into a second half rout with an 85-yard touchdown on a pitchout in the fourth quarter before a disappointed overflow crowd of 45,348, the largest one ever to see a game at Razorback Stadium.

Arkansas was shut out cold most of the way. The Hogs scored only once, with 13 seconds left in the game when a gang of Razorbacks blocked Mike Bean's punt at the Texas 25, the ball rolling to the one yard line, where Rollen Smith grabbed it and fell into the end zone.

The Razorbacks ran out of steam at the Texas five when quarterback Mike Kirkland was stopped for no gain on a fourth and one situation.

Arkansas never came that close again until way too late.

After a scoreless first quarter, Texas cranked up at the start of the second period on a 94-yard, 19-play drive that consumed almost ten minutes. The durable Leaks carried 10 times, scoring from the two.

Leaks and Moore broke it open in third period with cross country runs. Leaks got his first one on a 43-yard scoring jaunt through the right side of the line, breaking two tackles and outrunning the Hog secondary the rest of the way.

Arkansas couldn't move after the kickoff, and on the punt Moore came streaking down the sideline behind half a dozen Texans, and nobody touched him.

Leaks took off again on a straight handoff moments later. He came out of a sea of red jerseyed Razorbacks, and headed straight upfield on his 59-yard touchdown.

ON RESERVE LIST
NEW YORK (UPI) — Tight end Gary Ballman was put on the injured reserve list by the New York Giants Friday in order to make room on the roster for returning quarterback Randy Johnson.

Ballman recently was injured in an auto accident and will be lost to the team for virtually the remainder of the season.

GIPSON ON WAIVERS
FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — Running back Paul Gipson was placed on waivers by the New England Patriots Friday to make room on the roster for quarterback Dick Shiner, who was acquired Thursday from Atlanta.

Birds were released from Raton at 8 a.m. and arrived in Pampa around 2:30 p.m. A total of six and one-half hours and 518 miles.

MIAMI WARRIOR Chuck Cox receives a stiff arm in the face by Collett running back Dana Ehrlich, who is about to be tackled by Miami's Donnie Buice. Ehrlich scored two touchdowns and paced a high-powered running attack as Collett shelled Miami, 52-8 Friday night in Miami. Shelled Miami Warriors, 1-4 overall and 1-1 in 2-B eight-man district play, host Goodwell, Okla., at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Jackson's Charges Invade Green Bay

After four years of trudging through the lower reaches of the National Football League with the Philadelphia Eagles, Harold Jackson is savoring every moment of his newfound success.

Jackson, the 5-foot-10, 175-pound wide receiver who was an NFL receptions leader and was traded to Los Angeles for quarterback Roman Gabriel, has been one of the key offensive weapons for the Rams this season.

He scored four touchdowns last week as the Rams upset the Dallas Cowboys and he'll be the man the Green Bay Packers will be watching today as Los Angeles attempts to run its record to 6-0.

Jackson, who was called "All World" by Cowboy defensive back Charlie Waters after decimating the Cowboys, will be facing one of the top secondaries in the NFL. The Packers use primarily man-to-man coverage and that means Jackson will go head-to-head against Willie Buchanon, regarded by many as the finest cornerback in the NFL.

Texas 'Leaks' By Arkansas In Biggest SWC Showdown

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — When the disappointing New York Giants and the frustrated Dallas Cowboys meet Sunday the Cowboys will be trying to avoid something they have not done in eight years — lose three games in a row.

Not since the Cowboys dropped five games in succession during the opening half of the 1965 season have they lost more than two games straight.

They are a 14-point favorite, however, to hand another blemish to the Giants, who before the season began had been a darkhorse choice to move ahead not only of Dallas in the NFC East but also subdue the Washington Redskins as well.

Dallas goes into the game with a 3-2 record, a game back of Washington, having dropped two tough contests to Washington.

Cornhuskers Struggle Past Jayhawks, 10-9

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Linebacker Bob Nelson saved a victory for struggling, No. 11-ranked Nebraska Saturday when he intercepted a David Jayne pass and set up a 28-yard Rich Sanger field goal which squeezed the Huskers past Kansas, 10-9.

The only other scoring effort Nebraska could manage came late in the first quarter. Moving 78 yards in 14 plays, all on the ground, Tony Davis took the ball in from two yards out for a 7-0 lead.

The winning field goal came when Nelson took the interception on the 29 and ran the ball to the Kansas 16.

Jerry Cox punched in from the one after earlier scoring from the three. The last TD came with nine seconds to play on Paul Tippetts' nine-yard run on a reverse play.

Johnny Darden of Berger scored both WT's touchdowns on a one-yard run in the second quarter to cap a 44-yard march and two yards in the fourth quarter to cap a 67-yard drive. Bruce Wyrle kicked both points.

Jimmy Lisle rushed for 89 yards to lead WT, now 2-4, who plays at Wichita State at 1:30 Saturday.

A's, Mets Going Down To Wire

OAKLAND (UPI) — Reggie Jackson stopped talking about Tom Seaver long enough to do something about him Saturday, hitting a pair of two-out doubles to drive in the only two runs the Oakland A's needed to beat the New York Mets 3-1 and send the World Series into a seventh game.

A washout for the first five games of this Series, Jackson also scored Oakland's final run, with the help of a New York error, after he lined a single to greet Seaver's relief man, Tug McGraw, in the eighth.

The victory kept alive Oakland's bid to become the first non-Yankee team in more than 40 years to repeat as World Series winners and, at the least, delayed the Mets' "Miracle of '73" for 24 hours.

Jim "Catfish" Hunter, the pitcher the A's call their "Money Man," got credit for the victory by allowing the Mets only three singles in 7 1/3 innings before Manager Dick Williams gave him a quick hook.

Thus the two teams now are tied 3-3 in games with the same two left-handers who started the first and the fourth games ready for today's windup here at 1:30 p.m. PDT—Oakland's Ken Holtzman and New York's Jon Matlack.

The Mets tried to wrap it up Saturday with their best pitcher, but it was obvious early on that Seaver was laboring under the strain of working with only three days rest and didn't have anything approaching his best stuff.

When he fanned Jackson three straight times in the third game at New York last Tuesday night, Jackson had said Seaver "was better than any pitcher in the universe," but Saturday, Jackson was better instead.

Reggie lined a double to right-center with two outs in the first inning after Joe Rudi's line single to right. In the third, Seaver issued a two-out bounce single through the middle to Sal Bando and Jackson followed with a double to right-center.

That run could have been prevented but Rusty Staub, playing rightfield with a painful injury to his throwing shoulder, couldn't get the ball back to the infield fast enough and Bando scored a run he otherwise wouldn't have.

Even so, it looked like just one run would be enough because Hunter, after a mild New York threat in the first inning, didn't

Freshman Quarterback Paces A&M Over TCU

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — David Walker, a 17-year-old freshman starting his first game at quarterback, turned Texas A&M's mistake-prone offense into a methodical machine Saturday that whipped Texas Christian 35-16 giving the Aggies their first Southwest Conference win of the season.

Walker, given the starting assignment only four days before the games scored on a five-yard run and directed four more faultless scoring drives that resulted in touchdowns runs of one yard by Alvin Bowers, one yard by Skip Walker, five yards by Bucky Sams and a six-yard pass from Walker to Mike Floyd.

Walker's touchdown pass, which came with less than two minutes on the clock, was one of only three passes he threw all day.

The victory evened A&M's season record at 3-3 and their conference record at 1-1. TCU is 2-3 for the year and 0-2 in conference play.

Texas A&M had committed six turnovers last week in its loss to Texas Tech and had turned the ball over 15 times in the past three games behind sophomore and ex-marine Mike Jay.

But Walker showed the poise of a senior in directing the Aggie attack without once coughing up the ball. The only turnover for A&M came late in the game with Jay quarterbacking and set up a TCU score.

TCU's only points came on a second quarter pass of seven yards from Kent Marshall to Ronnie Littleton, which temporarily tied the game at 7-7, a 46-yard field goal by Bert Simmons late in the second period and a two-yard run by Steve Patterson with less than three minutes to go in the game.

Texas A&M put the game out of reach with touchdown drives of 46 and 84 yards in the third and fourth period.

In the third quarter drive Walker relied on Bowers, a sophomore fullback, to do most of the work. Bowers picked up 36 of the 46 yards in the drive before halfback Skip Walker, another sophomore, scored from the one.

OU Wins

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Oklahoma safety Randy Hughes picked off a Colorado pass and returned it 96 yards for a touchdown early in the second quarter Saturday to put the No. 3 Sooners ahead to stay in a 34-7 homecoming rout of the Buffaloes.

Tight end Wayne Hoffman had scored the first Oklahoma touchdown late in the first period to tie the game at 7-7 on a 37-yard pass from quarterback Steve Davis who had first pitched the ball to halfback Joe Washington, then got it back on a lateral.

Davis scored on a one-yard plunge in the third period, fullback Waymon Clark added a touchdown on a nine-yard run early in the final quarter and halfback Clyde Russell completed the scoring with a 12-yard sweep with 1:56 left in the game.

Cherry Scores 2 TD's, Leads Houston To Win Over Miami Hurricanes, 30-7

MIAMI (UPI) — Florida-born halfback Reggie Cherry ignited the undefeated Houston Cougars' faltering offense in the second half Friday night with two touchdowns which turned a close game into a 30-7 rout of the Miami Hurricanes.

The 195-pound junior from Lake Helen, Fla. caught an eight-yard pass from quarterback D.C. Nobles for Houston's go-ahead touchdown with 5:34 left in the third period, then broke a 66-yard scoring run six minutes deep into the final period, sandwiched in between, only 20 seconds after Cherry's first score, the Cougars grabbed another touchdown on a one-yard plunge by fullback Leonard Parker.

It was set up by Greg Ingram's fumble of the kickoff which Tommy Kaiser recovered for Houston at the Miami 21. Nobles hit Bryan Willingham with a 20-yard pass and Parker plunged the final yard.

Miami's only score came on the second play after the second half kickoff. Ed Carney threw a 71-yard bomb to freshman tight end Phil August and Brian Selmer kicked the extra point which tied the score at seven-all.

About the only other Hurricane puff thrown during the night was a rain squall from tropical storm Gilda 150 miles at sea, which drenched the Orange Bowl crowd of 29,340 a minute after the final gun.

The outcome gives Houston a 6-0 record and a chance to improve the Cougars' 13th-place national ranking. Miami is now 3-2.

Miami Coach Pete Elliott offered no alibis. "They played better," he said. "They're a fine football team offensively and defensively. Our defense did a lot of good things until the game got out of hand."

Houston turned over the ball to Miami three times in the first half with two fumbles and a pass interception in the end zone, which halted a Cougar drive in the last 30 seconds.

Bubba Broussard's theft of Kary Baker's pass at the Hurricanes' 36 set up Houston's first touchdown, collected by Nobles on a 14-yard run 5:31 deep into the second period. Houston's final three points came on a 36-yard field goal by Ricky Terrell six minutes before the game ended.

Houston Coach Bill Yeoman credited Miami with stopping the Cougars' vaunted veer running attack and said the Hurricanes were "the best we have played so far this year."

1st-Half Scoring Spree Cans Bucks Friday Evening In 1-A Battle, 28-20

SUNRAY — Sunray rolled up 28 points in the first half as four different Bobcats scored, and the 28-0 lead proved to be too much for Larry Anthony's Bucks as Sunray downed White Deer 28-0 Friday night in a 1-A district game.

Statistics for the game were fairly even as Sunray led in first downs, 16-14, while White Deer held the rushing advantage, 253-243. However, White Deer (1-5, and 0-1) found itself too deep in the hole to stage a successful comeback.

"We played real poorly in the first half," said Buck head coach Anthony, who will see his team play powerful Canadian Friday in White Deer in both teams' second district clash.

Bobcat quarterback Ricky Jones scored on a 17-yard run around left end late in the opening quarter, and the quarterback made it 7-0 by booting the point after. In fact, Jones was four-of-four with his toe for the night.

Midway through the second period, Charlie Vasquez scored on a seven-yard ramble. With three minutes remaining in the half, Tommy Cartrite gave the Bobcats (3-2-1) a three-touchdown lead with a three-yard run. The latter TD was set up by a Ronnie Woodal interception of a Buddy Cummins pass, which put the ball on White Deer's 45.

With a minute left in the half, Coy Barton returned an intercepted pass 55 yards to paydirt, and with Jones' kick the Bobcats led 28-0 at the half.

However, it was all White Deer in the final two quarters.

Sunray took the opening kickoff and drove down to the Buck 10, which consumed approximately nine minutes of the scoreboard clock. White Deer held on fourth down at its 10, and three plays later, junior tailback Denny Moss broke free going up the middle, ran left and then cut right, and scoring on a 9-yard run. Donnie Thurman's extra point attempt failed.

Midway through the fourth, Jim McCann blocked a Sunray punt, which was recovered by the Bucks on the opposition's five. Moss, a few plays later, scored on a two-yard run. Cummins attempted the run for a two-point conversion, but didn't make it.

Late in the game, Cummins capped a 60-yard drive with a 15-yard run on a sprint-out pass pattern. Cummins used the same play on the conversion, which made the final score 28-20.

Moss led White Deer's rushers with 11 carries for 127 yards. Cummins added 86 on 13 runs. Mark Line was on the receiving end of all three Cummins' completions, for 67 yards.

Defensive standouts, according to Anthony, were ends Mark Line and Sandye Hodge, noseguard Gordon Satterwhite, tackle McCann and halfbacks Dan Cathey and Terry O'Neil.

Miami (1-4 overall) scored its only touchdown in the second period as Don Ed Howard went over from the three. Howard added two more on the conversion run.

Kelly Wynn scored three TD's for the winners (4-1-1 and 2-0) and Dana Ehrlich added two more.

Lefors Pirates Stay Undefeated After Ripping Perryton Deputies

PERRYTON — Lefors remained the area's only unbeaten, untied team, stretching its record to 7-0 Friday night, downing the Perryton junior varsity, 31-0, in what head coach Leonard Tolbert calls "our best material game so far this year."

What Tolbert means is that errors — interceptions, fumbles and penalties — have hounded the Pirates since the season began. "We played our best football game of the year as far as errors are concerned," Lefors lost one fumble to Perryton, but was not intercepted and suffered no penalties.

Barney Sawyer, the game's leading rusher with 119 yards on 19 tries, scored at 8:40 in the opening quarter, going up the middle 23 yards. Dwight Keith, who didn't miss an extra point all night, tacked on the conversion. Keith has hit on 13 of 14 extra point boots this season.

With 10:18 left in the half, Robert Gifford scored on a seven-yard trot around right end. Gifford rushed 16 times for 80 yards in the game.

Sawyer, who also was in on 19 tackles, 14 unassisted, from his defensive linebacker position, scored his second touchdown on a 10-yard pass from Randy Klein with 2:27 left in the third stanza.

Lefors' final touchdown came with 4:16 left in the game as Phillip Whiteran two yards around left end. Keith's kick made it 28-0.

On the game's final play, with no time showing on the clock, Keith booted a 31-yard field goal to end the scoring. Bobby Dunn was the big man in the final series with a 35-yard gallop.

Dunn gained 49 yards on five carries for Lefors. Others were Jim Hix, seven for 42, Klein, six for 17 and White, five for 13.

The Pirates open 1-B play Friday against Booker in Booker.

Missed PAT Try Ruins McLean, 7-6

CLAUDE — Skeet Lowery tried to hit Joe Ray Riley with a conversion pass on a faked kick after McLean scored in the second quarter, but the try for two was unsuccessful and cost the Tigers a 7-6 decision to the Claude Mustangs in a District 2-A clash Friday night in Claude.

McLean is 2-4 for the season and 1-2 in district games, while Claude is 3-4 and 2-1.

The Tigers scored with 2:57 left in the first half when quarterback Marty Dunivan passed 20 yards for a touchdown to Lowery. Ironically, Lowery is a split end, but was on the throwing end of the extra points try. He is also McLean's kicker.

Dan Eisenhauf made it 6-6 with 8:25 to go in the third period on a two-yard run, and Coy Johnson booted Claude in front with the extra point.

McLean drove to Claude's 15 in the final period, but the Mustangs intercepted a pass and thwarted the drive. Claude threatened early in the game.

McLean's leading rusher was Eisenhauf with 11 carries for 21 yards.

Mustangs Kick Valley Patriots In District 2-A

VALLEY — Wheeler's Mustangs, the surprise team in District 2-A this season, shutout winless Valley, 12-0, behind the running of workhorse Lewis Britt, in a district contest Friday night here.

Britt carried 34 times for 155 yards, giving him 170 rushes for 681 yards on the year, and scored Friday's final touchdown on a five-yard run. The run went off right tackle on the first play of the final quarter as Wheeler took its 12-0 lead.

Britt failed to convert on the run after the touchdown.

Fullback Ken Ware, who finished with 113 yards on 12 attempts, scored at 4:40 in the first quarter on a 13-yard run up the middle. Jim Verden's extra point try went wide.

Larry Rives gained 41 yards on three carries for the Mustangs. Quarterback Mark Bateman hit two of 10 passes for Wheeler for 20 yards — both to end J.C. Brooks.

Valley (0-7) wasn't able to penetrate Wheeler's 20.

"We didn't play too well, we had too many fumbles and too many penalties. We're going to work on everything this week," said head coach Jim Bateman, whose Mustangs (2-3-1 and 2-0-1 in district play) hosts state-ranked Memphis Friday night in Wheeler in a 2-A clash.

Stinnett Edges Canadian In Key District Contest

STINETTE — Previously unbeaten, once-tied Canadian was held to only 125 yards rushing and 11 first downs as fourth-ranked Stinnett (Class A) came away with a 16-8 win over the second-rated Wildcats Friday night here in the 1-A opener for both teams.

"The boys' effort was real good, they just got beat by a better football team," said Wildcat coach Jack Hawthorne. The game put the Rattlers at 6-0 for the year and dropped Canadian to 4-1-1.

All-state quarterback candidate Dennis Cobb put the Rattlers on the scoreboard late in the first period with a one-yard quarterback sneak. Cobb then hit Charlie Hart with the two-point conversion pass.

Cobb went around left end late in the second quarter for a 17-yard touchdown, and the Cobb-Hart combination again added the points after.

Gary Tubbs ran back an intercepted pass for Canadian's only score — a 23-yard touchdown early in the final quarter. Kem Carr went around the left end for the conversion.

Carr paced Canadian's usually potent rushing offense with 80 yards on 16 carries. Other Wildcat rushers included David Wilson, eight for 29 and Bob Dickinson, five for 25.

Bill Hines caught two Lonnie Hines' passes for 23 yards, while Ricky Wheeler added one for six yards.

The Wildcats travel to White Deer for another district encounter Friday.

Crimson Tide Wallops Volunteers In SEC Biggie

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Second-ranked Alabama, held to a draw through the first three periods, erupted for three touchdowns in slightly more than five minutes Saturday to crush ninth-ranked Tennessee 42-21.

Senior safety Robin Cary broke a 21-21 tie with 11:53 remaining in the final period with a 64-yard punt return. Within the next five minutes, Wilbur Jackson turned in an 80-yard touchdown run and Paul Spivey lunged across from three yards out four plays after the Crimson Tide had recovered the fumbled kickoff. For three periods Tennessee quarterback Condredge Holloway had offset the Crimson Tide's tremendous depth with a brilliant individual show. He threw two touchdown passes, one for 20 yards to John Yarbrough, the other a 63-yarder to Mitchell Gravitt, and scored once himself on a six-yard run.

But all of that was only good for a tie since Alabama scored the first two times it got its hands on the ball, initially on an 80-yard pass from Gary Rutledge to Wayne Wheeler and led 21-14 at halftime.

The Rutledge-to-Wheeler pass came on the first play of the game, with only 14 seconds expired and the Crimson Tide scored again on a seven-yard run by Jackson eight minutes into the period to take a 14-0 lead.

Holloway brought the ball storming back with three straight long pass completions, the last to Yarbrough with 3:07 still left to play in the period. But Alabama substitute quarterback Richard Todd put the Tide ahead 21-7 3:27 into the second period with an 11-yard pass to Willie Shelby.

Tennessee, capitalizing on an interception by Eddie Brown, first quarter on a 36-yard field goal by Cam Bonifay.

PAMPA LINEBACKER and center David Hampton 55, in action here against the Hereford Whitefaces, has steadily improved each week since that season opener. For his exceptional play as an offensive blocker and tackler on defense against the Carlsbad Cavemen Oct. 12, Hampton was named Harvester of the Week (Oct. 14-20) by the Pampa Noon Lions Club. Whatley fired a perfect scoring toss to Rob Spivey early in the second quarter to put Auburn ahead 7-3. Spivey simply outran the defender down the sideline and Whatley fired a strike.

Quarterback Jim Stevens directed Tech on a 78-yard scoring march on 11 plays to put the Yellow Jackets back into a 10-7 lead. Stevens completed four passes in the drive with the touchdown coming on a 22-yard throw to split-end Jimmy Robinson, who made a diving catch in the end zone.

Auburn Victorious, 24-10

ATLANTA (UPI) — Quarterback Wade Whatley passed for a touchdown and his replacement, freshman Chris Vacarella, scored another Saturday, leading Auburn to a 24-10 win over Georgia Tech.

Whatley drove the Tigers to two touchdowns, passing for one of them, before he was shaken up and taken out in the third quarter.

Vacarella came in and directed the Tigers to another touchdown, which he scored on a recovery of a fumble, and a field goal.

Auburn lost the ball on fumbles its first two possessions and Tech took a 3-0 lead in the first quarter on a 36-yard field goal by Cam Bonifay.

Tigers Edge OSU, Keep Record Intact

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Tenth-ranked Missouri turned three fumble recoveries into a touchdown and two Greg Hill field goals to score a 13-9 victory Saturday over Oklahoma State.

The Cowboys' quarterback Brent Blackman, reinjured his shoulder on the fifth play of the game, but went all the way. He obviously was not the same nifty runner he was before suffering a shoulder separation two weeks ago.

The Tigers, who won their sixth straight without a loss, made a 10-3 halftime lead stand up through three serious challenges by Oklahoma State in the second half, then took advantage of another fumble recovery for a 37-yard field goal by Hill with 11:17 to play to put the game out of reach.

Hill's two field goals were his 26th and 27th in a three-year career and established a Big Eight conference record. The previous mark of 25 was set by Paul Rogers of Nebraska in 1968-70.

Oklahoma State, after stopping Missouri at the one-yard line with 3:32 remaining, pounded 99 yards in 10 plays for its only touchdown with 1:37 to play. Halfback Leonard Thompson scored from the six.

Oklahoma State tried a two-point conversion, but Thompson's run failed.

The Cowboys tried an unsuccessful on-side kick and Missouri ran out the remaining time.

Fourth-Ranked Michigan Belts Wisconsin, 35-6

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Paul Seal, a pro style tight end with plenty of speed, took a 46-yard scoring pass from Dennis Franklin and fourth-ranked Michigan got three short run touchdowns Saturday to humble Wisconsin 35-6 for its 25th consecutive victory at home.

But the Wolverines bid for a fourth straight shutout in a 6-0 season was spoiled early in the fourth quarter when junior quarterback Gregg Bohlig rifled a 65-yard touchdown pass to sophomore running back Bill Marck—a pass that was intended for and deflected off junior tight end Jack Novak.

Flashy junior tailback Gil Chapman scored on a three-yard run. Franklin went over from two yards out to capitalize on a fumble recovery and Chuck Heater scored on a four-yard run for the short Michigan touchdown.

Third string tailback Gordon Bell scored a seven-yard touchdown to wrap it up with 1:17 to play.

Franklin, who completed five of nine passes for 108 yards, hit the 6-foot-6, 200-pound Seal on a second-and-nine situation in the first quarter.

Blackman was recovered by Missouri defensive halfback Brian Downing at the Oklahoma State 35. On first down, quarterback John Cherry looped a pass and Jim Sharp made a diving fingertip catch in the end zone for a touchdown with 5:52 to go.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

The Senate Advisory Citizen's West Texas Water Resources Council held its first public hearing in Lubbock, Oct. 3. Senator Jack Hightower of Vernon presided over the hearing. Senator Max Sherman is Coordinator for the four regional committees set up by the Texas Legislature.

Last week we carried a portion of the testimony given by Frank Rayner, of the High Plains Water Conservation District. Duncan Ellison of Water, Inc. also testified in favor of importation. Today we are carrying a portion of his testimony.

Water, Incorporated, appreciates the opportunity to appear before the West Texas Water Resources Council in this, your initial meeting. Water, Incorporated is a membership-based, non-profit organization serving a vast area of Western Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Our purpose is to create public interest in, and public support for, water resource development and conservation projects and to promote, conduct and participate in studies, surveys and to promote, conduct and participate in studies, surveys and research programs for the importation, distribution, reclamation, reuse, utilization and storage of water and to make such programs available to the public.

We come before you representing the more than 5,000 individuals, businesses and industries who have voluntarily contributed to the financial support of our work. Our membership is a representative cross-section of the area we serve.

Water, Incorporated is "bullish" on West Texas. Given a favorable set of circumstances, this area not only can provide a better and more prosperous way of life for the residents herein, but more importantly is capable of producing the food and fiber so desperately needed by the rest of the state, the nation and the world.

The area encompassed by the Texas High Plains and the small portion of the High Plains that overlaps into New Mexico and the Oklahoma Panhandle is the largest irrigable land mass on the face of the globe.

The vast irrigable land mass, through the ingenuity of those who dwell here, combined with a bountiful, albeit limited supply of underground water, has become one of the most highly mechanized, most productive, agricultural areas in the world.

In 1972, the area of which we speak produced 58 per cent of the cotton produced in Texas, 18 per cent of that of the nation; 58 per cent of the state's grain sorghum, 23 per cent of the nation's total production; and 68 per cent of the wheat produced in Texas, 2 per cent of the nation's.

West Texas has a good track record in its efforts to conserve its dwindling water supplies. Because of the limited supply of underground water, residents within the area took the initiative more than 20 years ago to assure that steps were taken to conserve their water.

They began forming underground water conservation districts and voted additional taxes upon themselves, townspeople as well as rural residents, to finance the operations of these underground water conservation districts. Our underground water districts are doing a laudable job considering the statutory limitations under which they operate.

New measurement methods and techniques may demonstrate that the area has more water in storage underground than was estimated several years ago. Nevertheless, certain facts remain unalterable, i.e., our water supply from the aquifer is finite and its depletion is predictable.

It has become demonstratively obvious in recent years that if the economy of the area is to be maintained and if the area is to continue to make a meaningful contribution to the state and national economies, a supplementary source of water must be found.

Ultimately, importation of water from outside our area, from areas of surplus such as East Texas, the Mississippi River, Alaska or wherever, is the solution that will assure the continuation in perpetuity of this area's contributions to mankind. Just such a proposal is included in the Texas Water Plan.

Importation Of Water Still Part Of Texas Water Plan

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Remember that West Texas-Eastern New Mexico dream of importing excess water from the Mississippi River to the semi-arid plains to replenish the vanishing water supply expected to be seriously depleted by 2020?

That's the same importation plan which is a part of the Texas Water Plan. In 1969 voters rejected a $3.5 billion bond issue which would have financed the state's share of implementation of the water plan.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and Bureau of Reclamations thought they had buried the import project back in April when they released findings after a seven-year study of the problem.

Well, hold on to your wind-blown hat, cowboy! That plan is still alive and growing stronger every day.

What's Really Needed
What is really needed is a change in national policy and in the thinking by all Americans as to the value of water, especially in semi-arid areas," said Norman Flaigg, Austin, planning officer for Texas Bureau of Reclamation. His organization worked with the Corps of Engineers and the Mississippi River Commission on the importation study.

"Not until we have that change in the national policy and thinking of all concerned will we be able to proceed with such a project," Flaigg said during a report made public April 12. At that time he said the study showed the importation plan as "economically unjustified under present project—formulation standards."

However, what none of the study revealed at the time was just how quickly the nation, as well as the world, would be faced with a long-term food and fiber shortage—a shortage now facing everyone.

Some Progress Made

"We are so much further down the road because of that seven-year study that it's been money well spent," said Duncan Ellison, executive director of Water, Inc., a nonprofit private organization working for water importation to West Texas-Eastern New Mexico.

"Of course we were unhappy that the study showed it economically unfeasible, but we feel that already the change in figures from the basis used then to one used on present figures would help offset that," Ellison said.

The seven-year study showed a ratio of direct and total benefits to annual economic costs of 0.14 to 1 and 1.09 to 1, respectively. However, using the same formula which was used by the Corps, based on 1973 benefits and costs instead of 1965-69 farm benefits compared with 1972 costs (which the Corps used), the ratio is surprisingly different.

Why It's Justified

"By just replacing old figures with current ones we can come up with a 0.37 to 1 primary benefit ratio—and by assuming that secondary benefits have increased the same in recent years as primary benefits, the ratio can be refigured at 2.88 to 1—or substantial economic justification already," said Tommy Swann, Water, Inc., staff economist.

"By simply projecting an increased benefit in future years on figures already known from 1965 to 1973, it is easy to show how such a project could easily pay for itself over a very few years," he said.

Same Game, New Rules For Farmers, Ranchers

COLLEGE STATION—Who's on first, what's on second?

"Some farmers and ranchers may be in a quandry over the present state of affairs, but the ball game hasn't changed—just the rules," says Cecil Parker, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"For the first time in a long while, agricultural producers find themselves in a situation where both costs and prices are rising. In recent years, production costs have risen while prices received for agricultural products remained generally stable. But now prices are also moving up and producers are finally seeing the outcome of the ball game in a different light."

The Texas A&M University System economist points out that farm prices, costs and demands for farm products have reached a new plateau during the first half of 1973. But how long will this situation continue?

Parker expects present conditions in the farm economics picture to continue until at least 1975. "Record crops are expected this year and in 1974 and there should be no drastic change in domestic and foreign demands for agricultural commodities during the next two years."

According to the economist, U.S. farmers could realize a gross income of about $85 billion this year. This would be a 23 per cent, or $19.5 billion, increase over 1972. Of course, production expenses have also shown a record increase and could be up about $12 billion by the end of the year.

During the first six months of 1973, costs of farm-originated production inputs—feed, seed and feeder cattle—averaged 35 per cent above the first half of 1972. At the same time, production inputs of non-farm origin—fertilizer, fuel, equipment—increased only 7 per cent during the first half of 1973 compared to the same period last year.

What do the coming months hold as far as farm costs are concerned?

"Record crops this fall should lower feed costs somewhat," believes Parker. "However, the prices of those input items not originating on the farm will continue at a high level and may even increase due to increased production costs."

Tractor sales up

NEW YORK (UPI)—More discretionary income and a penchant for time-saving by families in performing weekly gardening chores are expected to raise industry lawn and garden tractor sales to slightly over 1 million units this year, an increase of about 8 per cent over 1972, according to an industry source.

Darwin G. Kettering, president of Massey-Ferguson, Inc., a leading garden tractor firm, estimates his own company will sell about 12 per cent more machines than last year.

High Frequency Electrical Energy Non-polluting Weapon Against Bugs?

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—High frequency electrical energy and microwaves may someday be a non-polluting weapon in man's constant battle with insects, says Stuart Nelson of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's research service.

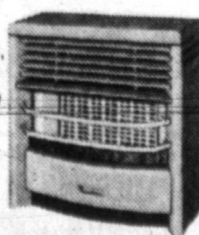

USDA and University of Nebraska agricultural engineers and entomologists have found that insects in grain can be controlled effectively by exposing infested grain for a few seconds to radio-frequency (RF) energy, Nelson said. The RF treatment kills insects at all stages of growth without damaging grain, but the process is several times as costly as chemical fumigation. An advantage of its use, though, Nelson said, is that it leaves no potentially harmful residues in the grain.

Farm Fires Potentially The Most Dangerous Kind

Farm fires are potentially the most dangerous, because the farmer, his family and his property are usually miles away from the nearest fire department or from neighbors who could lend assistance. Never is a farm so isolated than when a fire strikes.

Cool Front Brings Hope

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—An extended period of wet weather was finally halted by a cool front at midweek that brought hope to farmers who are still in the thick of the harvest season.

Harvest operations have suffered a severe setback in the past few weeks, especially in South, Southeast and Central Texas, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said today.

The cotton and rice crops especially have suffered losses and the peanut crop also is showing some deterioration due to prolonged wet conditions.

Soybeans in the Coastal Plains need sunshine and dry weather to mature.

The cotton harvest is in full swing in Far West Texas, and there has been limited harvesting in West Central Texas and in the plains.

Farmers in the southern part of the South Plains are defoliating their cotton to enable harvesting, but those in the Rolling Plains are waiting for a killing frost to prepare the crop for harvest.

About 80,000 acres of the cotton crop are still in the field in South Texas, the Extension Service said, and only about 40 per cent of the crop has been harvested in Southeast Texas.

The grain sorghum and soybean harvests are making good progress in the High Plains although rains brought some interruptions during the past week.

Farm families should take all precautions to prevent accidental fires and they should use all methods of fighting fires if they do start, says Robert A. Keown, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor in Pampa.

The Farmers Home Administration, in observance of National Fire Prevention Week offers this list of fire prevention and protection ideas:

1. Make sure every member of your family knows how to call the fire department. Post the fire department number at the telephone. Also make sure your fire department knows the layout of your farm, house and barn, and the location of water supplies.
2. Check condition of heating equipment, including chimneys and flues. Make all repairs necessary for safe operation.
3. Check electric wiring for wear and loads—replace worn and inadequate wiring. Use only 15-ampere fuses unless a circuit has been especially designed for larger loads.
4. Keep fire fighting tools accessible in an emergency.
5. Have ladders ready for escape and for fighting roof fires.
6. Keep fire extinguishers on hand. Check them frequently and recharge them when necessary. Also, protect them from freezing during winter months.
7. Maintain a water supply in cisterns and stock ponds. They may be the only source of water for fighting fires.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Vice President Spiro Agnew's farewell address this week was characterized by some observers as a "political swan song."

Do you ever wonder how expressions of that sort work their way into the language? I'll wager that at least 62.7 per cent of these using the term are unfamiliar with its derivation.

There are two versions of the origin of "swan song." One stems from the ancient myth that dying swans produce songs of ineffable beauty in their final throes.

Thus an artistic work composed shortly before the artist's death or at the end of an artistic period came to be known as his "swan song."

The other version, and the one to which I subscribe, has a more recent genesis.

Quite a Novelty

In 1873, according to the modern version, a Buttermilk Falls, N.H., poultryman named Hiram Cranny taught one of his swans to sing the first nine verses of the English folk ballad "Do Ye Ken John Peel?"

A swan solo, particularly in the contralto register, was quite a novelty in New Hampshire and folks came from miles around to hear it, sometimes joining in on the chorus.

Cranny, sensing a bonanza, rented some folding chairs from the local funeral home and arranged them in a semicircle on the south bank of his mill pond.

Then he announced that at 3 o'clock on a Sunday afternoon the swan, whose name was "Mildred," would give a concert for which a small admission fee ($1 for adults, 50 cents for students and veterans) would be charged.

The performance was a sellout. At the appointed hour, the swan glided gracefully to the center of the pond, cleared its throat, which took a bit of doing considering the length of its neck, and trilled the first two notes of "Down By The Old Mill Stream."

It capsizes and sinks
Whereupon it abruptly capsized and sank.

To this good day nobody knows for certain what caused the sudden submergence. Some authorities theorize that singing, which is an unnatural activity for a waterfowl, somehow upset the swan's equilibrium and neutralized its buoyancy.

Others insist the swan was drunk. Speculation aside, by the time the swan could be fetched up from the bottom of the pond and refloated, it was in no condition to continue the recital.

Poor Cranny had no choice but to refund the price of the tickets, plus being out the chair rental money. It was a financial disaster, but out of the ruins a new figure of speech was born.

Youth Center Report

Basketball League

The Center will again sponsor the men's independent basketball league this winter. This league is an open league and all teams are invited to enter.

You may be church, independent, club, company, etc. Teams from out-of-town are especially invited to participate.

Entry fee will be $60 for each team plus the referee's fee, which is $7 per game played per team. After the number of teams who enter is determined the final total fee can be established.

In addition to the team fee, each player must be a Center member or pay a 50-cent admittance fee each game. This allows you use of a locker and shower facilities.

On Nov. 1 at 8 p.m. our organizational meeting will be held at the Center to determine the number of teams desiring to enter the league. Please have a representative present at the meeting if you desire to enter.

All entry fees deadlines will be set at this meeting. Preferential treatment for scheduling games will be given out-of-town teams because of driving time.

Also for the second year, we will offer a pre-season tournament running Nov. 12-16. This is a single elimination tournament and the entry fee is only $15. Entry fee deadline for this tournament will be Nov. 1 at 8 p.m.

With the final week of play scheduled in the women's and mixed leagues, not one team is assured of first place. In the women's league First Baptist Church and Blink's Bike Barn are tied for first and play each other Monday night.

In the mixed league Carlson and Craddock lead Pampa Glass and Paint by one game and they tie Monday night. In the men's league First National Bank sewed up first place by defeating First Baptist No. 1 last week 15-10 and 15-7.

Other scores found First Baptist women 15-9 and 15-13 over First Baptist Youth and Blink's Bike Barn tipping the Shoanail Spikers 16-14 and 15-7.

In the mixed league Carlson-Craddock bumped First National Bank 11-1 and 15-7 while Pampa Glass and Paint tripped First Baptist Church 15-7 and 7-0. In the men's league First Baptist Youth tipped First Baptist No. 2 15-13, 0-7 and 15-13.

The Center teaches a program of year round swim lessons for all ages. During the summer months the lessons are taught during the morning hours, but now during the school year the lessons switch to the hours of 4-6 p.m. Classes meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for 10 meeting dates.

All classes are taught by our resident water safety instructor, Ruth Carter.

Occasionally we have some guest instructors to help us out. Enrollment is open to the general public and you do not have to join the Youth Center to participate. There is a charge to non-members however, while Center members are enrolled free of charge. Memberships are always available at the front receptionists office.

The exercises are through a series of recordings and they are led by Sally White. The swim time is an informal one with no instructions given.

To participate in this exercise class you must be a Center member or become one. Memberships are only $6 for six months. There is a baby sitting service for mothers at a very nominal fee. Just come to one of the sessions and we will fix you up.

BUY STORM DOORS & WINDOWS NOW!

HERE'S WHY EVERY HOME SHOULD HAVE STORM WINDOWS

Storm windows will cut in half the heat that is needlessly lost through the windows of your house. In addition, they will cut in half the difference between room air and window temperatures which produces a cold feeling when you are near a window in the winter and causes cold drafts across the floor.

An investment in storm windows will pay for itself within a decade, including interest costs at 6%, and thereafter will return you an annual dividend on the order of 13% or more of your investment, in areas of the United States where the average winter temperature from October 1 to April 30 is lower than 45° F (for example, Philadelphia, Washington and Richmond). In regions of the country where snow lies on the ground all winter, payout of the investment for storm windows will occur in less than seven years and the annual return on the investment will be 18% or more, especially in areas where fuel is relatively expensive.

You will enjoy greater comfort in your home and will be conserving your nation's fuel supplies. If your house is cooled by air-conditioning in summer, all of these statements apply with increased force, because storm windows are as effective in reducing heat gain in summer as they are in reducing heat loss in winter.
