ranges through variations of the bonnet theme. She uses velvet, felt and even black patent leather. Her latest idea in trimming is shown in masks superimposed on veiling which falls exactly to cover the eyes. A black velvet Dutch bonnet with tie-under-thechin veiling had an eye length veil finishing in a mask dotted with black paillettes and outlined with black baby lace. This was epeated on a bonnet of crimson velvet. One in olive green felt was studded with tiny nut brown chenille dots which also served to outline a mask on brown tulle.

In machine knitted fabrics there are amazing new constructions which take on the appearance of tweeds—either with two-tone firm surfaces like sharkskin or of softer appearance in plaids, checks, stripes and eponge types. Com-panion woolknits are carefully worked out for two-piece suits the jackets in checks or stripes with the skirt using the plain background of the pattern.

Worsted jerseys return with great importance not only due to the impetus of their use in Paris collections—but in their own right. They appear in wonderful stripe combinations, printed versions and metallics-which carry them from sportswear through the day into cocktail and dinner clothes. There is also a glint of metallic thread in some of the more tweedy machine knitted fabrics and in many of the hand loomed ones.

Novelty machine knitted fabrics are worked in complicated and ingenious patterns—such as a two-color tapestry design or a lacy knit three-color polka dot. There are many stripe combinations some of these using silver or gold metallic thread.

Hand looming presents plenty o news not only in types of stitch but also in design and close ap-proach to hand knitting. TRAFFIC
LAWS

With school starting once more in Pampa, the "Go Slow" signs near school districts must be more closely adhered to than they have been during the summer months. Remember the customer - in this case the school child pedestrian - is always right. Particularly on school days, during school hours, be on the watch for the "Full Stop" sign. Remember that does not mean merely to slow down. The lives of the children depend upon your obeying the traffic laws!

If your car is not in good running condition, how can you expect to control it as it should be. Maybe it is that your car's condition has as much to do with protecting the children's lives as your obeying the traffic laws.
