Acting Atty. Gen. Kleindienst Facing Tough Senate Inquiry

ITT Lobbyist To Give Testimony At Hospital

FIRST FIRE FATALITIES—Two men died in a fire at a 2½ room wood house at 708 E. Scott early Sunday morning. John Ingram Strickland, 72, and James Herbert Dement, 43, were pronounced dead at the scene by Justice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lobbyist Dita D. Beard's heart surgeon said today she could give testimony from her hospital bed to Senate investigators looking into accusations about acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst.

But Dr. Victor L. Liszka said Mrs. Beard "still has signs of severe coronary heart disease," and that a doctor should be present during any questioning sessions.

A purported memo by Mrs. Beard, now in a Denver hospital, said the Justice Department dropped an antitrust suit against International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. after the firm agreed to underwrite some costs of the Republican National Convention.

Dr. Liszka said that it would be extremely hazardous for Mrs. Beard to come to Washington to give testimony to the Senate Judiciary Committee, which is holding up confirmation of Kleindienst's nomination to be—Attorney General until the matter is cleared up.

He told the committee she could testify better in her home, but if the committee wanted early testimony the hospital would be the best place with a physician present. He said she would be hospitalized another one or two weeks.

"The nature of the disease is that she will respond to emotional stress," he said. "And any emotional stress will jeopardize her health."

A physician could electronically monitor her heart while she gave the testimony in a hospital, he said.

The panel had been scheduled to resume taking testimony Tuesday on allegations made by columnist Jack Anderson, but committee counsel John H. Holloman III said the inquiry would resume today.

He declined Sunday to explain the reason for the change or who will appear. But it was learned the first to testify at today's hearing would be Dr. Victor L. Liszka, of Arlington, Va., who has been treating Mrs. Beard.

It was Mrs. Beard's memorandum to her boss, the head of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.'s Washington office, that prompted the allegations against Kleindienst, according to Anderson.

The columnist wrote that an antitrust action against ITT was settled in its favor after the conglomerate pledged $400,000 to help finance the Republican National Convention in San Diego in August.

Anderson accused Kleindienst, who was named to succeed John N. Mitchell as head of the Justice Department, of participating in secret meetings with Felix Rohatyn, an ITT director, to settle the case.

Two Pampans Perish In Fire Which Destroys Their House

Two local men died yesterday morning as the result of a fire that destroyed a 2½-room wood house at 708 E. Scott. The two were the first fatalities from fire in Pampa this year.

Pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Ed Anderson were John Ingram Strickland, 72, and his guest, James Herbert Dement, 43, of 718 E. Scott.

Cause of death was attributed to smoke inhalation.

The fire, of undetermined origin, broke out early Sunday morning. Three Pampa Fire Department units were called to the scene about 6:30 a.m. They battled against the flames for nearly an hour before extinguishing the blaze.

Firemen pulled the two men, one lying on a daybed and the other lying on the floor, from the house. The bodies had received burns, but smoke inhalation was considered the major cause of death.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Duenkel Memorial Chapel for John I. Strickland, with Rev. Earl Maddux of the Fellowship Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Born Jan. 14, 1900, in Palo Pinto County, he moved to Pampa from Shannon, Tex., in 1947. He was a retired employe of the Santa Fe Railroad.

He is survived by one son, Johnny Joe Strickland of Kansas City, Mo.; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Ruth Ledford of Orange; five brothers, Ervin Strickland, P.D. Strickland and Lee Strickland, all of Bowie, Bud Strickland of Fort Worth, and W.Y. Strickland of Metairie Falls, Wash.; two sisters, Mrs. Ola Waldrop of Sonoma, Calif., and Mrs. Lecie Fulmer of Bowie; one half-brother, Tim Strickland of Jacksboro.

Graveside services for James Dement are scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in Fairview Cemetery, with Rev. Earl Maddux of the Fellowship Baptist Church officiating. Arrangements are under the direction of Duenkel Funeral Home.

Born July 29, 1929, he was a veteran of World War II.

He is survived by his wife, Dolly, of 718 E. Scott.

Smith Waiting For Ruling By Court On Primary Fund

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith said Sunday he will not let the bribery trial of House Speaker Gus Mutscher stop him from calling a special session of the Texas Legislature if needed.

Smith was one of seven gubernatorial candidates who spoke at the annual meeting of the Texas Association of Broadcasters.

If the Texas Supreme Court rules today against Secretary of State Bob Bullock's plans to use state funds for primary elections without prior approval of the legislature, Smith said he will call an immediate special session.

"The trial in Abilene (of Mutscher, State Rep. Tommy Shannon and a Mutscher aide) is not an emergency in my opinion," Smith said, "and primary funding is."

Mutscher, Shannon and Rush McGinty are being tried on charges they conspired to accept bribes from Houston developer Frank Sharp in return for passage of banking legislation which Sharp wanted.

Smith had said earlier, "I am the man who had the foresight to veto the banking bills."

Also speaking to the broadcast-ers were Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and State Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi, who oppose Smith for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Two Amarillo Men Taken Into Custody Here

Two Amarillo men were taken into custody in the early hours of Sunday morning when officers found them inside a closed tavern allegedly trying to break into the juke box and pool tables.

According to the official report, Gene Franklin Evins, 23 and Daniel Earl Bruce, 25, they came to Pampa from Amarillo thinking "it was a small town and would be a pushover."

Police officers found the pair when an employee of the tavern summoned help. She had returned for some money left behind and heard a noise inside the closed business.

Formal disposition of the case had not been made at press time.

N.H. Primary Tomorrow; Muskie, Nixon Expected To Lead Polls

NASHUA, N.H. (AP) — In the last campaign day before Tuesday's presidential primary, Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and George S. McGovern went handshaking through New Hampshire factories today after swapping claims about who was the first to disclose campaign finance sources.

Supporters of both candidates saw little impact on Tuesday's outcome from the first face-to-face meeting of the two, along with their three rivals, in Durham Sunday night, and a sampling of factory workers confirmed that.

As Muskie shook several hundred hands at the Doehla Reading Card factory in this industrial town, a heavy majority of workers told reporters they hadn't watched the debate. Most who had weren't swayed.

While Muskie went through plants here and in Manchester, McGovern followed a similar pattern. The admitted underdog; he started an hour earlier.

Asked about McGovern's charge that it was a "farce" to say he revealed his 1970 contributors but stopped when the South Dakota senator failed to follow, Muskie said he had learned that disclosure can't work "if one candidate can set the guidelines."

He said the rules must apply equally to all. In criticizing Muskie, McGovern called on the Maine senator to match McGovern's recent disclosure of all of his 1971 and 1972 contributors, a listing which a wellfinanced write-in campaign in New Hampshire for the Arkansas congressman.

The debate was actually a series of opening and closing speeches sandwiched around answers to eight questions from a panel of newsmen.

Yorty, who has the backing of conservative publisher William Loeb's Manchester Union Leader, repeatedly attacked the views of Muskie, McGovern and Hartke, calling them "members of the left-wing liberal bloc in the United States Senate." He criticized their votes to reduce defense spending.

"I don't really think they have much to debate each other about," Yorty said.

Coll, who at 32 is three years younger than the constitutional minimum for the presidency, enlivened the proceedings by occasionally waving a black rubber rat to illustrate what he termed "the No. 1 killer in America."

Hartke, who has little of the organized support of his fellow senators, said the primary will prove whether "person-to-person campaigning by a poor boy from Southern Indiana" is still possible, or whether campaigns have been taken over by big money.

McGovern raised the campaign finance question, saying that because of the "serious, corroding power of money on politics" he felt it necessary that New Hampshire voters understand who is financing the campaign of the various candidates.

Flood Victims Increase To 103

MAN, W. Va. (AP)—The toll of known dead from the Feb. 26 flood in Buffalo Creek Hollow has risen to 103 and authorities say some 100 other persons are still missing. Ten more bodies were found Sunday as National Guardsmen used heavy equipment to comb the wreckage of 16 coal camps which were in the path of a torrent of water released when a dam of coal mine wastes broke. Guard officers estimated they have checked more than 70 per cent of the debris left in the wake of the flood down the 17-mile valley, but they declined to predict when the job will be completed.

Police Probe Brawl; Nab One Youth

Between an affray at the Shook Tire Co. location about 11:30 p.m. Saturday and an altercation at the police station, one Pampa youth was under arrest and another was being sought.

According to the report, some cars were parked at the closed place of business and a female was being struck in one of them. Two youths from another vehicle went to her aid and they were struck by her assailant who fled the scene.

Stopping the car he supposedly left in, officers failed to find him but found four youths suspected of "sniffing." One of them became belligerent and was placed under arrest according to the report.

Upon finding the car did not belong to any of those in it, police located the owner who said it was supposed to be in his driveway. According to officers, the youths said the owner's daughter had let them take it from a local eating place.

When he came to the police station, the owner and the youth under arrest got into a scuffle. Police are still investigating the affair.

Brown Street Tavern Closed Permanently

Hard on the heels of a complaint to Pampa police that $250 in a white money bag was missing from the Brown Street Tavern, 756 W. Brown, the firm's license was "pulled" and it was closed permanently, according to the police official account.

Department of Public Safety intelligence officers had made arrests for gambling at the place earlier in the week.

According to local authorities, Eugene McNally of the Texas Liquor Control Board took the license under which the firm operated.

At press time no charges had been filed in the loss of the money nor had it been found.

Public Schools' Unit To Sponsor Hearing Workshop

The department of special education and the nursing services of Pampa's public schools will sponsor a hearing workshop Wednesday in the auditorium at Carver Educational Services Center.

The event is for speech therapists, nurses, administrators, teachers and other interested professional personnel, according to Mrs. Marjorie Penn of the school department of health services, who is chairman of the event. Mrs. Doris Friend, coordinator of the special education department, is chairman.

Featured speakers will be Paul Cailliet, clinical audiologist from the Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center, and Gaylord R. Chase, M.D. Amarillo Otologist.

The clinic workshop will begin with registration and coffee at 8 a.m., with Dr. James F. Malone, superintendent of schools, giving the welcome at 8:45.

During the morning, Cailliet will present three sessions, which will include case finding at 9, the hearing impaired child in the classroom, 10:15, and reading audiograms, 11.

Dr. Chase will hold a session on medical and surgical correction of hearing loss at 1 p.m.

Lee Students' Art Articles To Vie For National Honors

Five students from Lee Junior High School have been selected to have their art exhibits sent to national competition in New York after winning Gold Key finalist awards in regional contest at Amarillo.

Pampa High School had one student receiving a Gold Key award. Both schools won seven certificates in addition to the other awards.

Of 127 Gold Key awards given to 106 individuals, 75 were selected for the national competition. Lee received five of the 25 spots given to the junior high division.

Gold Key finalist winners from Lee are Steven Snelgroves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williams, 401 Red Deer; Janet Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith, Route 1; Keith Coffee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Coffee, 2142 Aspen; Mark Dement, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Dement, 1905 Chestnut, and Cori Christiansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Christiansen, 2600 Rosewood. Mark Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Johnson, Price Road, won the Gold Key for PHS.

Certificate winners from PHS include Mark Johnson; Bart Gooch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gooch, 1141 Huff Road; Sara Walker, daughter of Mrs. A. C. Walker, 1816 N. Dwight; Debra Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Moore, east of Pampa; Sharon Wallin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wallin, Jr., 521 Lowry; Cheryl Brandon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Brandon, 2204 Lynn, and Clinton Olds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Olds, 1505 Hamilton.

Students representing Lee and receiving certificates are Mark Friend, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Friend, 120 E. 25th; Paula Kretzmeier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Kretzmeier, 2313 Commanche, Steven Thornton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton, 433 Hazel; Tammy Tibbits, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Tibbits, 2131 Chestnut; Janet Whitsell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Whitsell, 1003 Christine; Peggy Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wilson, 2214 Aspen, and Clinton.

Art instructor for the PHS winners is Mrs. Floyd Sackett. Mrs. Eugene Olds and Mrs. Phil Cates are art instructors for the Lee students.

Approximately 1130 entries were received for the exhibition sponsored by Western Plaza Merchants Association of Amarillo and Scholastic Magazine. Junior and senior high students entered from a 32-county area.

After the contest held last month, the winning Gold Key and certificate articles were placed on display from Feb. 19 to March 4 at Western Plaza. Of the 1130 articles received, 400 were selected for the exhibit.

The Gold Key finalist articles will be sent to New York to be judged by a national committee. Awards including a $5,000 scholarship will be given to the national winners.

Montgomery Ward of Coronado Center will place the local Gold Key and certificate winning articles on display as well as all articles have been returned to Pampa.

SPEBQSA Officer Will Be Here To Establish Chapter

Lloyd Steinkamp, administrative field representative for the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., will be in Pampa Tuesday through Thursday to help organize a new chapter of the Society.

A resident in Arizona, Steinkamp supervises training schools for chapter and district officers in 28 states and four Canadian provinces. Part of his duties include endeavoring to establish barber shop chapters in communities having none.

A native of the Bronx, N.Y., Steinkamp is a longtime barbershopper, having first joined the Society in 1945 in Washington, D.C. Since then he has held most chapter and district administrative posts as well as being an arranger, judge, chorus director and quartet singer.

Prior to taking his present position with the SPEBQSA in 1966, he was a partner in a firm of management consultants in Phoenix, Ariz. A graduate of Columbia University, Steinkamp has behind him a lengthy career in television production at both the local and network level.

A Navy veteran of both World War II and the Korean conflict, Steinkamp is married and has six children.

A non-profit organization, the Society's purpose, to quote from its by-laws, is, "To perpetuate the old American institution, the barbershop quartet, and encourage vocal harmony and good fellowship among its members throughout the world."

Dear Abby
 She stays at home while husband plays

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband just turned 60. We have been married for 18 years. A year ago he took up with a widow he used to go with 40 years ago. She broke up with him when the doctor told him he would have to have his foot amputated. She said she couldn't bear the thought of marrying a man who couldn't dance. She married someone else and moved out of town.

When her husband died last year she moved back to town and made contact with my husband. That's when he started seeing her behind my back.

My husband took a week's vacation and he and this lady went off on a "honeymoon" together. Meanwhile I was home laying the bricks for our patio.

When I found all this out I told him to make a choice. Her or me. He said he "loved" me and was only having "fun" with her.

How much more "fun" should I let him have before I kick him out?
 STAY-AT-HOME WIFE

DEAR STAY: I would say that he has had more "fun" than he's entitled to already. Tell him to shape up or ship out.

DEAR ABBY: Already I am worried about our next summer vacation.

My husband gets three weeks off, and he wants to take me and the children on a picture-taking trip to the Western Parks region, as he is a camera buff.

Our children are 7 and 10, and they do not get along with each other, so you can imagine what an automobile trip with them is like for three weeks.

I realize that my husband works hard all year and deserves the kind of vacation he enjoys, but I don't relish the idea of being referee for the kids while Father pursues his hobby which involves looking for places to photograph and endless waiting for perfect sun directions.

What is your advice?
 PLANNING AHEAD

DEAR PLANNING: Why not compromise and spend part of your vacation doing his thing, and the other part doing whatever you prefer?

A suggestion: On long motor trips with kids who don't get along, instead of putting them both in the back seat, let one sit in front with Dad, and keep the other in the back with you. Then switch.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my seventies and have not been in the social swim for the past few years.

I was invited to a party at the home of a friend and was told that we would play cards and have a nice buffet supper.

I went and had a delightful time, until the hostess sat down at a card table and asked every guest for $2.50 to "defray expenses." [One guest had to borrow the money to pay as she didn't have that much with her.]

I would like to know if this is the customary thing to do now. Sign me
 BEHIND THE TIMES

DEAR BEHIND: "Dutch treat" parties are fine, when the guests are told in advance that it's "Dutch," but there's something rotten in Denmark when the hostess "surprises" her guests with a bill.

DEAR ABBY: I disagree with your advice to "New in Town," who served an outstanding dessert and was reluctant to give the recipe out.

You said, "Would your enjoyment be diminished if others enjoyed it, too? Share!"

I say, let "New in Town" keep her recipe to herself. She's not selfish. She's just an individual with a special talent. Must we share everything?

She should write that woman a note saying she doesn't want to offend her, but that recipe is a family secret and she prefers to keep it that way. [And if she ever invites that woman to her home again, she should be sure to hide her recipe file.]
 VIVA INDIVIDUALISM

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

TUESDAY, MARCH 7

Your birthday today: Begins a period of sweeping, subtle change in personal values, views of life and social order. You gradually come to terms with a much larger circle of people. Romantic and sentimental interests are encouraged. Today's natives are economy-minded, eager in their search for better information.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Your talent speaks for itself; be outspoken in asking what you want for your proficiency. Enthusiasm brings return.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Abide by partnership arrangements, but do your own thinking. Friends complicate finances whether or not you want them to.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Expect a sudden obstacle to day; even less luck with a direct approach. Endure a brief siege of personal disagreement for its own sake.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Devotion to details helps avert misunderstandings. Different people may hear the same story and get differing meanings.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Avoid speculation, particularly things you get into by impulse. If you can make sense of a confused story, you are ahead.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Time and patience run slowly. Give people plenty of space. Find a diversion for your loved ones this evening.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Adjustments that seemed improbable yesterday now may be quite simple. Home affairs are due for an entire review.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: More experienced colleagues pull you up with them. Your salesmanship talents are near high tide, use them selectively.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: A word for the wise makes a great difference for the better. Close to home, you may have to cut back to a previous point and reconstruct.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Use all your energy to complete short-term jobs or decisions. Seek cooperation of family for household improvements.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Test partnerships, business or social competition, but stay the same while doing so. A fleeting thought sums up the day's observation.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Let your feelings and intuition work together for guidance. You may set some questions to rest.

RAINSUIT

The newest thing for rainy weather is the canvas rainsuit. That's raincoat with fashionable rainpants to match. The jacket is styled after the classic blazer and the pants are long and flared.

R WHAT IS A FEVER?

Simply stated, a fever is a rise in your body temperature. But, this rise, above the usual norm of 98.6, does not by itself mean that you are ill. Fever is actually a reaction by the body to a great many possible conditions. Colds, injuries, excessive exposure to heat, even some malignancies can affect the portion of your brain that regulates temperature and cause it to rise.

The important thing to know is, whatever the cause, a fever is a signal by your body that there might be something wrong. Always have an accurate dependable thermometer in the house. We carry a large selection of oral and rectal thermometers and will be glad to recommend one.

IRELAND IN AGONY

The IRA Fights The People Suffer

BELFAST, NORTHERN IRELAND (NEA)—The dedicated Irish revolutionary goes to the Irish Republican Army (IRA) auxiliaries who guard the arms and ammunition.

They give the gunman his weapon and he goes to his location, perhaps a bedroom window in a tall apartment house, since he knows that returning fire against an uncertain target in a crowded building is close to impossible. He waits.

On ground level, the scenario of past and future continues with the first volcanic rumble from within the Catholic ghetto: the ritual drumming of garbage can lids on the walls of Catholic homes; enraged housewives announcing the impending confrontation.

The hated British Army is beginning another house-to-house arms search and the entire ghetto—from grandchild to grandparent—hurls gas bombs, stones and obscenities at the intruders through the dark.

Years of army training meet years of accumulated hatred. Rubber bullets and water cannon repel the waves of people. But in the short street with limited cover, the troops tend to bunch up.

Suddenly, in seconds, the residents of the ghetto community disappear indoors. And the man in the bedroom window picks out a target among the cluster of soldiers and makes his hit.

The attack is a guerrilla tactic taken straight from Guevara or Giap—swift, impetuous, effective. The sniper returns the gun and empty cartridge cases to the auxiliaries, washes his hands to remove traces of gun oil and, to borrow Mao's metaphor, is swallowed by the urban sea in which the IRA "fish" can swim and disappear.

IRA gunmen have been stalking the British troops in Northern Ireland ever since the British began supporting

THE BRITISH ARMY which shows force in the streets to suppress terrorism also makes an unwitting contribution to the IRA's terrorists.

the internment without trial policy of Northern Ireland's Protestant government.

Observers may ask, "How can they kill a young soldier, and perhaps innocent bystanders?" But the IRA gunmen have an answer: "England and Ireland are at war."

The Catholic church and the IRA are the only two functioning organizations left in the Catholic ghettos here. And while the IRA gets enthusiastic support, the grip of the church is loosening as it faces the unpopular role of counselling passive resistance to a long suffering people.

For many in the ghetto, the question of purgatory and paradise has become community itself, since those from the South—the Irish Republic—would be a liability because of their accent and lack of knowledge of the local communities.

Supporting funds do come from the South, though, in response to campaigns for the "brave boys in the North."

The Provisional IRA leaders also make use of another, unwitting foreign contribution—from their enemy, the British Army. Many IRA fighters have received their basic military training with the British, joining the army and then deserting once they have mastered the arts of war.

Now these same IRA members are battling to force the British out of Northern Ireland, opening the way, they hope, for a reunited Ireland. But the ambitions of many extremist IRA militants don't stop even there, since they believe that both establishments, north and south, must be destroyed. They're not willing to exchange Great Britain's Union Jack for the Irish Republic's Tricolor, and like violent revolutionaries the world over, they believe that any kind of killing in the name of a national revolutionary cause is justified.

The tragedy of Northern Ireland is that all the just causes which the Catholics fought so hard for in 1968 and 1969 have simply stopped mattering. They are now caught up in a struggle even more hopeless than everything that has gone before and with extremists in control, more terrorism is going to breed harsher rule, harsher rule will breed more terrorism, and the most likely prospect is that the despair will increase all around.

It's we, the ordinary people in this district who are suffering, no one else," says one resident of the Belfast Catholic ghetto. "If the IRA are out fighting, they can fight and get away but it's the people who are left who are suffering."

academic as parishioners ask, "Is there life before death?" And some local parish priests have come to at least accept, if not support, the violent policies of the IRA.

"Who can say that any man's an evil man?" says the Rev. Dominic Murray of St. Paul's Church here. "I often wonder in my own mind, just when does a patriot become a terrorist?"

The militant members of the IRA do not worry about such semantics, however.

The estimated 2,500 members of the Provisional IRA—the most militant rebels who are called "Greens"—are loosely organized. Most of them are young men recruited from the Northern Ireland

Worry Clinic

By George W. Crane, Ph. D., M. D.
Alice is involved in a sex debate. How do you readers vote on her dilemma? Alas, our improved medical treatment is largely offset by new threats to human life that weren't common in ancient days. But the male actually is the more delicate of the two sexes!
CASE T-519: Alice W., age 17, has a sex question. "Dr. Crane," she began, "we are having a debate next week."
"And our topic states: 'The female is the stronger of the human species.'"
"Can you offer any scientific facts to help me?"
"For I am on the Affirmative Team."
SEX DEBATES
In any debate, it is vital to define the issue more precisely.
Actually, the human male is muscularly much stronger than the female, even when they weigh the same.
Thus, a man who tips the scales at 125 pounds is able to surpass the woman of that same weight in such muscular events as lifting, chinning one's self, running, etc.
Prof. Hrdlicka even tested American Indians and found the same differences in strength between male vs. female.
The ratio in muscular capacity is 29.18, which means the female is only 62 percent as strong as the male of the same weight.
"But what about disease and longevity?" Alice inquires.
Well, thanks to modern medicine and our aseptic childbirth techniques, American women now outlive American men by from 5 to 7 years!
You readers can even make a check on this by looking at your grandparents.
Do you have more grandmothers still alive or more grandfathers?
And in the small towns or villages, are there more widowers or widows?
"But, Dr. Crane," Alice persisted, "maybe the fact that more men smoke and drink to excess, causes them to die earlier."
That's quite true, for we seldom found women with cancer of the lungs till the tobacco advertisers stampeded teen-age females into using fags, much as girls were recently stampeded into mini-skirts and other fashions.
But the male actually seems to inherit a more delicate constitution than the female.
For at birth, the ratio of boy babies to girl babies runs about 106 to 100.
But by middle age, this ratio is reversed.
And among the miscarriages, the ratio of boy babies runs at least 125 to 100, thus showing their greater susceptibility to premature death.
Far back in ancient times, the males were subjected to early death due to chronic wars, fighting with animals and contagious diseases.
Women in those primitive times were not as likely to be killed in war or by wild animals.
But they were equally liable to contagious diseases, plus a much greater likelihood of death in childbirth.
So the ratio of the sexes remained about the same then, as now.
Debaters and public speakers, send for the booklet "Public Platform Strategy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents. (Always write to Dr. Crane, Hopkins Bld. Mellot, Indiana 47958, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you seal for one of his booklets.)

they walked with christ

By Dante Poltras
ZACCHAEUS CLIMBS A TREE
Large crowds were attracted to Jesus as He made his way to Jerusalem. In the nearby town of Jericho people thronged around the company that walked with Jesus. A small man was lost in the mob, but being a hustler and eager to see Jesus, he raced ahead of the procession and scrambled up a sycamore tree. This was Zacchaeus, rich and hated and head of the internal revenue service for the trading crossroads of Jericho. He was chief tax-collector.
Jesus spotted this eager beaver in the overhanging limbs. He startled Zacchaeus and shocked the pious by inviting Himself for lunch. The desires of Zacchaeus were genuine: He wished to amend his life and repent of his sharp advantage. In the presence of Jesus and to the frowning audience he pledged half of his possessions to charity and offered reparation four times over to any one who felt cheated. This was the kind of conversion that counts.

THREE-YEAR-OLD Brian Kruger (with headgear) had youth on his side but Barry Bowman, a relatively ancient 6, had experience on his and won this wrestling match. The contest, an exhibition before a regulation match involving Stillman Valley High School in Illinois, was a close one but it didn't seem to interest the junior-sized cheerleaders too much. They were busy, it appeared, discussing current fashions in hairstyling. (Photos by Bill Bowden)

Foyt Returns To Texas With California Money

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — A.J. Foyt goes back home to Houston to drive a midget in the Astrodome this weekend, and most of NASCAR's regular drivers will be glad to see him go.

The 37-year-old Texan romped off with his third major stock car victory of the season Sunday, beating Alabaman Bobby Allison across the finish line by four seconds in the $201,000 Miller High Life 500.

He collected $31,695 from the purse, led 145 of the 200 laps, averaged 127.606 miles per hour, and came away "as thrilled as I've ever been in my life."

Foyt, of course, always is "thrilled" to win a race. And his enthusiasm for stock car racing has grown by leaps and bounds the last two seasons.

He wound up 1971 as NASCAR's fifth leading money winner, though he raced only seven times for the $93,000 he took back to Texas.

He's off to an even better start this year. He won $22,010 by taking the Western 500 at Riverside, Calif. in January and $44,600 for his triumph in the Daytona 500 two weeks ago.

Add the $31,695 he got for leading the pack again Sunday and it comes to $96,205 in four races since he buckled himself in a 1971 Mercury built by the famed Wood brothers of Stuart, Va., to start the season.

The lead changed hands 36 times among seven drivers and, though Foyt left only a bit of loose change in the lap prize fund, he never mounted a comfortable lead.

First, it was all-time stock car money winner Richard Petty on his heels. He and Foyt battled bumper-to-bumper for more than 100 miles during the first half of the race, sending the crowd of 68,496 into a frenzy.

Petty, however, lost a lap when his crew failed to tighten the lug nuts on a right rear wheel during a pit stop and he never made it up.

Then it was Allison, who swapped the lead with Foyt several times during the final 200 miles but never could make it stick.

At the finish, it was Foyt, Allison, Baker, Petty and Elder in that order.

College Roundup

This is the week that is for many college basketball teams.

Nine conference races will be decided and the volatile finish will make waves reaching both the NCAA's post-season tournament and the NIT.

Two Big Ten powers who literally battled the last time they met, Ohio State and Minnesota, are among the antagonists.

"If there is a playoff, it wouldn't make any difference to us where it would be played," said Minnesota Coach Bill Musselman after Saturday's 91-62 crusher over Illinois that moved the Gophers a meager game ahead of the Buckeyes, who lost 65-57 to Indiana.

Michigan still has an outside chance in that dizzy affair, but the stronger and more interesting possibility exists of another Ohio State-Minnesota confrontation. Their Jan. 25 game, won by Ohio State, ended in a bloody fight with widespread repercussions.

Minnesota needs a victory against Purdue Tuesday night to clinch its first league title in 35 years. However, if the Gophers lose, the Buckeyes could claim a share of the title by beating Michigan State.

Any combination of possibilities exist in the other league fights with the winner going to the national championship and the loser.

Louisville has a must-win Missouri Valley Conference game tonight against Tulsa. The Cardinals are a half-game behind Memphis State, which defeated Drake 69-69 Saturday night.

If Louisville wins as expected, it will throw the MVC into a tie and mean a playoff game this Saturday night.

In the Big Eight, it's a battle between Kansas State and Missouri, which kept its hopes alive by beating Nebraska 61-54.

Jack Hartman, only in his second year as coach, can clinch a title by beating Missouri in a head-to-head match Tuesday night. If the Wildcats lose, the race will be tied and both clubs will try to settle matters with other opponents later this week.

The Ohio Valley Conference is just as crazy as the rest of the unsettled races.

Seven-Eleven Finish For Pampa Golfers

Pampa finished seventh and eleventh in the first round of district golf play as Tascosa dominated the meet. The Amarillo golfers finished first and fourth in the twelve team competition. All of the district schools enter a varsity team and a junior varsity squad playing in heads-up competition.

Teter of Tascosa won the individual medalist play with a total of 73.

Track Race Decided In 40th Border Olympics

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — The 40th annual Border Olympics made one thing clear: it will be a two-team race for the Southwest Conference track and field championship this spring between Rice and the University of Texas.

Rice successfully defended its Border title and the Longhorns were close behind. The remainder of the SWC teams, which included every club except Arkansas, were far behind.

In the last two years, the Border titlist has gone on to eventually win the SWC title. Texas A&M won in 1970 and Rice last year.

Rice scored 110 points to 101 by Texas as freshmen had their day on the red cinders of Shirley Field.

Rice Coach Auggie Erfurth brought only two seniors to the meet. Three freshmen on the Owl squad captured a total of 28 points.

Freshmen won the long jump and three-mile run and grabbed a second place in the 220 for the Owls.

"Things look promising,"

Erfurth said. "I hope we can keep it going."

Rice seniors managed only a fourth place and a fifth place.

Owl freshman Paul Geis set a meet record of 13:43.4 minutes in the 3-mile run and frosh Darryl Hughes leaped 24 feet, 1 inch in the long jump to set another division record.

Another divisional mark was set by Ken Stadel of Rice who hurled the discus 183 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

Texas Southern nipped Dallas Baptist 129-124 to take the college division title. New Mexico Junior College and Baytown Sterling won the junior college and high school divisions, respectively.

Gary Kafer of Baylor was named the most outstanding athlete of the meet with a divisional record-setting 7-foot high jump. Kafer just nipped Brad Winter of New Mexico Junior College for the most valuable athlete award. Winter established a national junior college pole vault record with an effort of 16 feet, 9 inches.

Johnny Bench
A degree in living.

Johnny Bench's Life Education

By Associated Press

Johnny Bench came up to the majors late in 1967. He has been a star almost from the moment he first turned his red Cincinnati cap backwards. But after leading the Reds to a National League pennant in 1970, and being named the Most Valuable Player in the league, with 45 homers, 148 runs batted in and a .293 batting average, he dropped in 1971 to 27 homers, 61 RBIs and a .238 average. His education was broadening.

"Everybody wants a winner," the 24-year-old Bench said. "And when they don't get it, they're disappointed. They take it out on the player. They drive 150, 200 miles to a game, and then if you don't do what they expect—you strike out instead of hitting a homer—they boo. I don't go for that."

run to win the game. My dad jumped up and shouted, 'Boo now, you S.O.B.s. They didn't hear him. They were cheering.

"You have enough pride in yourself to keep pushing in those low times. A ball player is like an entertainer. I figure I'm serving a useful purpose if I can help people forget their troubles for a little while.

"Like at Christmas time, I go to hospitals. I see people dying of diseases that there are no cures for yet. I think, 'What can I do?' I talk to them, maybe make their day a bit brighter. I'd like to, I'd like to. But I still wonder if that's really enough. I've been the chairman of cancer drives and of a muscular dystrophy foundation in Cincinnati. I'm involved in the heart fund of the March of Dimes and in a Children's Fund.

"Yeah, you become callous. You hear the boos and your stomach turns inside out. You try to drown out the boos in your mind. Try to block 'em out of your ears. You want to holler back at them. You'd like to see them boo you face-to-face. And they're the same people who later ask for your autograph.

"One game last year, my father was in the stands in Cincinnati. I struck out twice and popped up in my first three times at bat. Booming. Booming. My last time up, I got two strikes on me. Boo. Boo. Then I hit a home

Bobby Kennedy said, 'I see things as they are and say what I dream of things that never were and say why not.'

"In the end, I want my name to be known the way Stan Musial and Joe DeMaggio are known. They gained the respect of everybody. I want people to say I was a gentleman, too. I want people to say, 'Johnny Bench, he was a good man.' I hope I can make life a little more bearable for people.

"I never went to college. But I think I'm a very educated person. I have a degree in life."

Nicklaus-Trevino Battle In Doral

MIAMI (AP) — It's a Nicklaus-Trevino gunfight at the O.K. Doral with the Over-the-Hill Gang in grizzled pursuit.

"I'd better shoot a 67 Monday," said Lee Trevino, "or I'm a dead Mexican. Jack Nicklaus is the best that ever picked up a club... and what about them old fellows? When they gonna quit?"

Last year's two leading money winners sloshed into today's final 18 holes of the rain-hampered Doral-Eastern Open Golf Tournament in a deadlock at 10-under-par 206.

"It's rained so much here, I feel like I'm wading across the Rio Grande," said tour jester Trevino. "But, let me assure everybody, I'm happy to be tied for the lead after Nicklaus shot 64."

The stars were there... as expected. Their supporting cast was a bit of a surprise as the old goats, for one week at least, shoved aside a few of the young lions.

For instance, bald-headed Sam Snead, 59, shot a 68 and stood one shot behind Nicklaus and Trevino at 207 after 54 holes.

For instance, silver-haired Paul Harney, a 42-year-old club pro, stood with Slammin' Sam as he, too, fired a four-under-par 68.

For instance, pudgy Bob Rosburg, 45, was only four strokes behind after finishing a Sunday round of 70 using his three-iron to putt. His putter's shaft snapped four holes from the finish and Bob one-putted all four with the sub club.

And, for instance, pot-bellied Julius Boros, 52, shot 70 to stick within striking range at five-under-par 211 along with Art Wall, a man of 47.

Nicklaus was finishing the final hole when Sunday's heaviest rains hit. He waited in the locker room and, when word came that the fourth round was postponed, the Golden Bear looked at his 10-year-old and said, "Let's go fishing, son."

Nicklaus dropped nine birdies and suffered only one bogey in one of his hottest rounds of the year.

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Violence In Sports

It is easy enough to deplore the violence that seems to be a frequent extra added attraction at college and professional basketball games these days.

It is easy to condemn the participants in the South Carolina-Marquette, Minnesota-Ohio State, Texas A&M-Baylor, Atlanta Hawks-Portland fights, or to congratulate the Big 10 for suspending the two Minnesota players principally responsible for the flagrantly vicious and cowardly attacks on their Ohio State opponents.

It is easy to despair at the state of affairs which allows fans to come out of their seats to participate in what began as a player-to-player confrontation.

Explaining what is taking on the appearance of becoming a fad is another problem altogether.

Part of the blame must be placed on an overemphasis on winning. Minnesota Coach Bill Musselman, for instance, posted this sign above the team's shower room door: "Defeat is worse than death because you have to live with defeat."

Anybody who has ever played basketball in a schoolyard or a YMCA knows that even in a casual pickup game tension grows as bodies and egos get bruised and fights in those circumstances are bad enough. So when you add big publicity, big crowds, big money and big pressure to win to the ordinary human tendencies toward aggression, you create a situation where the potential for violence is great.

But it is too glib to place all the onus on the win-it-at-all-cost syndrome. Our whole society is centered on competition and we, have for the most part, avoided physical violence even in areas where the stakes are infinitely higher than the score of a basketball game.

The reason we have avoided it is that we have strong legal and moral restrictions against person-to-person physical attacks, restrictions that we rigorously enforce. These same restrictions, however, have come to be less and strictly applied in our entertainments, those fantasy worlds where many of us live parts of our existence.

At the same time we have become less and less able to differentiate between television and movies—where violence, however realistically and extravagantly it is portrayed, is, physically at least, harmless in reality—and spectator sports, which have assumed a large role in our entertainment lives. We know that the bad guy in the black hat who gets flattened by John Wayne is really unharmed. But we tend to forget that the opposing quarter-back who gets flattened by our favorite middle linebacker is no stunt man.

We have disguised the occasional surfacing of our bloodlust. Boxing was a little too obvious, so we have turned to football and hockey—mix your violence with a little math and a little high-speed choreography and you have a modern-day version of the Roman circus.

Even genteel, unpadding basketball has become affected. It has never been the sissified, non-contact sport many people imagined it to be. But strength and aggressiveness now play an unprecedentedly large part.

Having created an atmosphere that is conducive to violence—that encourages it in some instances, accepts it in many others—we should not be surprised when even in the make-believe world of spectator sports it sometimes happens that for a shocking moment we realize that the blood we see is real.

We should not be surprised. We should only wonder what effect is has on our children to see pro basketball's biggest star, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, in a nationally televised game, take a furious punch at the back of the head of a man who has fallen, helpless, and be punished only by a personal foul that allowed him to remain in the game. We should wonder what effect it has on our children to see Minnesota's Corky Taylor kneel an Ohio State player in the groin, again in a televised game. And we should wonder what it is about us that develops an addiction to violence.

Paul Harvey News Okay, Just What Are Big Girls Made Of?

By PAUL HARVEY
What are little girls made of? Sugar and spice and everything nice. That's what the nursery song says.

What are big girls made of? Wait'll you hear what the FBI says about that.

Women are getting tough. In these past 10 years, arrests of females for major crimes increased more than 200 percent.

For men during the same period, arrests increased 72.7 percent, but for females, 200.6 percent!

The FBI gives us only the numbers; we have to seek elsewhere to try to figure out why. The consensus of the professionals, academic psychologists and juvenile court people, is that the increasingly liberated female is increasingly assertive, if not aggressive.

In shirt-sleeve language, now a girl can be one of the boys!

Louisville psychiatrist, Dr. Warren Cox, says, "Fifteen years ago you never heard of girls in fist fights or falling down drunk, you do now. As society removes the historic distinctions between male and female, they're going to act more like each other."

You'll be seeing more effeminate men and more masculine women. More short-haired women, more long-haired football players.

Dr. Marvin Wolfgang, criminology research, University of Pennsylvania, says, "As women engage in more occupations and more social interactions, the probability increases that they'll get into criminal situations."

Not everybody's anxious about it. Dr. Robert Munson, a consultant to Maryhurst School for Delinquent Girls, thinks the "depolarization of people is healthy."

He believes "more passive males and more assertive females may be better able to ventilate their anxieties short of violence."

Louisville, Ky., appears a typical city. Its metropolitan social services department reports another 10.8 percent increase in girls referred to juvenile court last year. Only a 2.7 percent increase in referrals of boys.

The dramatic increase was in the number of white girls, with most offense in this order: disorderly behavior (which can include drugs and alcohol), shoplifting, running away, promiscuity.

School officials report more abusive language among female students.

Recently the Louisville Times reported public school-age girls cruising in cars, yelling out windows, throwing beer cans at passing cars, throwing a brick through a bedroom window of a girl they "didn't like." Finally falling down drunk, they were arrested.

Dr. Gary May, University of Louisville psychiatrist, says as liberated women "come better to understand themselves they will be better adjusted."

H.L. Hunt Writes

KISSINGER RECORD

One of the most influential men in the current Administration is National Security Assistant Henry Kissinger. Mr. Kissinger is one of the chief architects of the foreign policy now pursued by the Nixon government. It is therefore instructive to look at his past record in order to understand the kind of foreign policy he is making.

Kissinger first came to public notice as Director of Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy Studies for the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR). This organization has long agitated for "bridge-building" to the Soviets and an end to an anti-communist foreign policy.

During the 1960 presidential campaign, then Senator Kennedy asked Kissinger to compose position papers for him. Kissinger's advice on the Berlin situation was to "enter negotiations with the Russians."

During the Johnson administration, Kissinger supervised secret talks with the Hanoi communists as an adviser to the State Department. He also urged Johnson to call off bombing in North Vietnam.

Since joining the Nixon administration, Kissinger has continued to advocate policies favorable to communists. In 1969 he wrote an article calling for a coalition government in South Vietnam including the communist Vietcong. He has arranged a Rand Corporation study on restoring relations with Castro's Cuba and ordered a feasibility study on how to overthrow the anti-communist government of Brazil.

In view of this background, it is no surprise that Kissinger was the one who traveled to Peking to arrange Nixon's visit to Red China. It is also no surprise that our government's foreign policy is no longer anti-communist.

Question Box

QUESTION: Bill HR-6536 has been referred to the House Ways and Means Committee. This bill provides that federal expenditures shall not exceed federal revenue, except in time of war declared by Congress, or during a national disaster, emergency or depression certified by the President and approved by two-thirds of the Congress. HR-6536 would also provide for reduction of the national debt by annual payments. What are your views on this proposed legislation and, if it were passed by Congress, what effect would it have on our country?
—E.F.

ANSWER: Legislation similar to this has been introduced at nearly every session of Congress for some time. But it gets nowhere because the politicians fear to be placed under any spending restrictions, even with the loopholes provided.

The theory behind this type of legislation is good. It is designed to force the politicians to remain within their income, except during emergencies. In other words, the national government is supposed to observe the same good rules of common sense financing that individuals are supposed to do.

However, the emergencies under which the rules may be set aside permit an executive and a compliant legislative body to do just about as they will. It has about the same apparent results as setting a national debt limit, as the executive and legislative bodies reach the previous limits. This occurs despite the fact that periodically debts are written off of the usual list by floating bonds or other securities for such agencies as Federal National Mortgage Association (Fanny Mae), whose obligations no longer are recognized as part of the national debt.

If such a law were to go into effect, and its aims were not circumvented by the politicians, we believe it would have the effect of slowing down inflation. There are many other imperatives to be considered, but it might lead eventually to reduction in prices and return to sanity, not only by the politicians, but by citizens who have been led by politicians to believe unlimited debt and spending are actually beneficial. Politicians also would have to levy taxes to pay for any giveaway programs they started. This should have the effect of slowing down the easy spenders who now have giveaways with inflation-causing deficit spending.

Inside Washington

Everything Negotiable to Israelis - Except Agenda
By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Israeli officials laid down one categorical and explicit "non-negotiable" condition in their initial meeting with United Nations mediator Gunnar Jarring in his renewed Middle East peace mission.

Stressing that Israel is "ready and willing to discuss anything, anywhere, anytime," the Swedish diplomat nevertheless was flatly told—

—All proposals must first be cleared by Israel before they can be submitted to the Arabs for negotiation.

—Any proposal can be made by Jarring, Egypt or any of the other directly interested parties. There are no restrictions on what can or cannot be submitted for consideration.

—But under no circumstances will Israel permit anything to be put on the bargaining table without Israel's prior knowledge and approval. In other words, no proposal, plan or move can be brought up without Israel's express authorization.

—Israel reserves complete authority on what can or cannot be negotiated. It was this issue that a year ago torpedoed Ambassador Jarring's efforts to bring about a Middle East settlement.

Without Israel's knowledge or authorization, the UN mediator, who doubts in harness as Swedish Ambassador to Russia, proposed as a key move to effect a peace agreement that Israel withdraw from the Sinai Peninsula—taken from Egypt in the 1967 conflict.

Jarring's unsanctioned initiative incensed the Israeli government.

It promptly and vehemently repudiated Jarring's plan and his action in offering it. Tel Aviv's anger and resentment were so pronounced that Jarring's mediation efforts were thrust into a deep freeze—where they languished until recently renewed at Washington's hopeful prodding.

Where It Started
Directly implementing that forceful spurring was President Nixon's long-pondered decision last December to sell Israel some of the F-4 supersonic Phantom and A-4 subsonic Skyhawk jets it had sought for several years.

Under his directive, Israel is finally getting around 25 Phantoms and some 75 Skyhawk attack fighters. Deliveries will be on a monthly basis, starting this month, with a few F-4s and a larger number of A-4s being turned over to the Israeli air force. This is the usual practice on the sale of high-priority combat planes.

As far back as 1970, Israel asked to be allowed to buy 50 Phantoms and 100 Skyhawks.

This was steadfastly opposed by Secretary of State William Rogers, who opposed his persistent stall under the guise of "giving the matter further study." In finally approving Israel's request, the President not only overrode Rogers' obstinate obstructionism, but did so immediately following a White House meeting with Premier Golda Meir.

Also significantly, the President acted on the heels of overwhelming Congressional approval of a measure sponsored by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., granting Israel $350 million in credits and loans to buy much-needed aircraft and other weapons.

In the President's conference with Mrs. Meir, he strongly urged resumption of Ambassador Jarring's stalled peace mission. The Israeli leader readily agreed to that.

But in doing so, she very firmly barred any new "unacceptable initiatives" by the UN mediator.

"Israel is ready to discuss peace with the Arabs anytime, anywhere and any place," Mrs. Meir told the President. "But the negotiations have to be on a strictly objective and impartial basis. We want no stunning surprises pulled on us. Dr. Jarring did last time. We will not tolerate anything like that."

In resuming discussions under his auspices, we have only one condition: that before any proposals are made or ideas advanced, they must be cleared by us. Only under those terms will we renew deliberations with the Arabs through Ambassador Jarring.

This stipulation was accepted by President Nixon—and the long-stalled sale of the Phantoms and Skyhawks and lifting of the year-long deadlock on peace negotiations followed soon thereafter.

Note: Two ultra-doves who owe their election to Congress largely to the financial and other support of wealthy Jewish constituents have yet to say a word on the floor of the House in support of arms for Israel. They are Rep. Robert Drinan, D-Mass., first Catholic priest elected to Congress, and Rep. Paul (Pete) McCloskey, R-Calif., who is running against President Nixon in New Hampshire's March 7 primary.

Said Father Drinan, one of the most militant liberals in Congress, "We sell jet fighters and bombers to South American countries ruled by dictators, to Greece and other nations with dubious governments, so why should we put up stipulations on selling arms to Israel?"

McCloskey declared, "Israel is our ally in the Middle East, and we should stand firmly behind her."

NEW YORK (AP)—United Methodist missionary operations in the Congo include some new equipment—three small planes, called Phoenix I, II and III, which recently were flown there to be used in carrying on mission projects.

SALUTES ST. PAUL
NEW YORK (AP)—Although Judaism has long considered the early Christian missionary, Paul, as an apostate from his Jewish faith, Rabbi Dr. Richard L. Rubenstein portrays him as a Jewish mystic whose insights have universal relevance. In a new book, "My Brother Paul," (Harper & Row), Rabbi Rubenstein, of Florida State University, says that Paul's vision transcended the Christianity he helped found, paralleling the findings of 20th century psychoanalysis and other insights into human depth.

LIVE AND WORK IN EUROPE
Today's Army now offers a minimum of 16 months in Europe. GUARANTEED.
Here's how it works... When you enlist for Armor, Artillery, or Infantry, you can choose to take your first tour of duty in Europe. If you qualify, this is guaranteed in writing before you enlist. You'll be assigned to one of seven crack outfits stationed in Germany.
France, Denmark, Switzerland, and Austria are just across the border. All within easy reach of any free weekend. This is your chance of a lifetime.
If you want to live and work where tourists only visit, talk to your local Army Recruiter.

Rules of the Game:

NO OBLIGATION OR PURCHASE NECESSARY: There is no obligation or purchase necessary. A copy of the paper is available for playing the game at the office of this newspaper - also at the public library - also a Bingo card and/or copies of The Pampa Daily News containing the Bingo numbers may be obtained by mailing your request to this newspaper (please print your name and address clearly). You may play as many cards as you wish - they are free. Get additional cards - one at a time - each day of the week - from the merchants listed below (ADULTS ONLY).

DIFFERENT COLORED CARDS EACH WEEK: The color of the cards changes each week. To be a winner, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week. Mutilated or altered cards will not be honored. ALL 24 NUMBERS on a card must be matched to win.

CHANCE DETERMINES NUMBERS: Bingo numbers for each week's game are drawn strictly at random at the office of this newspaper. Some duplication of Bingo numbers may appear in the merchants' ads - or elsewhere in the paper. This duplication does not affect the game or the total numbers drawn. All numbers for each week's game will appear someplace in the sponsoring merchants' ads - and possibly elsewhere in the paper. Employees of this newspaper and members of their families are not eligible to win any of the prizes. Newspaper Bingo is a program copy-righted and registered by Marketing-Research Associates, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS: Each week (adults only, please), pick up your Free Bingo Cards from the sponsoring merchants listed below. Rules of the game allow the merchants to give you only one card on each store visit. You may, however, make as many visits as you wish each day of the week. THE MORE CARDS YOU PLAY-THE BETTER YOUR CHANCES ARE TO WIN.

HOW TO PLAY: Check the ads in EACH DAY'S issue of The Pampa Daily News. The ads of the merchants listed below will contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the "Bingo Bug" symbol (shown above). Occasionally, numbers in the "Bingo Bug" symbol may be found elsewhere in the paper. Check the classified ad section for additional numbers. IF YOU CAN MATCH (JUST CIRCLE OR "X" THE MATCHING NUMBERS) ALL 24 NUMBERS ON ONE OF YOUR BINGO CARDS WITH THE TOTAL OF THE NUMBERS PUBLISHED IN ALL THE ISSUES OF The Pampa Daily News EACH WEEK-YOU HAVE A "BINGO"-AND YOU ARE A WINNER!!!

AT LEAST $50.00 WEEKLY! Winners will share a weekly prize of $50.00 (in "Bingo Bucks"- they spend the same as cash with any of the sponsoring merchants listed below). If there is only one winner, he wins all of the $50.00. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share the $50.00 equally. If there are no winners any week, the $50.00 weekly prize will be added to the following week's prize fund.

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE PAPER: A new game will start each Sunday and be completed the following Friday. Be sure to check each day's issue of The Pampa Daily News because some of the numbers may appear in each day's issue. All numbers needed to complete each week's game will have appeared by each Friday's issue. A new set of Bingo numbers will be published for each week's game. A new color of Bingo cards will be available each week at the sponsoring merchants' stores. To be eligible to win, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week's game. The color of the cards for each week's game will be announced each week on this page.

IF YOU ARE A WINNER: If you have a winning Bingo card, on which ALL 24 NUMBERS have been matched with the total of the numbers published during the week in The Pampa Daily News print your name, address, phone number, and the name of the store where you got your winning card, on the back of your card and mail to: The Pampa Daily News, P. O. Box 2198 PAMPA, Texas 79065 (the envelope containing your card must be received by 5:00 PM Monday of the following week)-or bring your card to the office of this newspaper at 403 W. Atchison Pampa Texas by 5:00 PM Monday of the following week.
