

Bitter Reprieve

By Drexel Drake

THE STORY: Playboy Marva Sterling has stolen his wife's diamond necklace and handed it over as security on a $10,000 gambling debt to racketeer Harry Blaine. To cover the theft, Harry printed white his wife's face. Sterling makes it appear a professional burglar. He spends the night at Edgewater Country Club to establish the fact that the diamond necklace he also took a spruce packet from his wife's safe. This spruce was to be $10,000 in cash which Marva Sterling had withdrawn from the bank for him.

Next morning Mrs. Sterling is found murdered in bed. At the same time, Sterling is arrested for the murder. He is held in the city jail. The police try to uncover Mrs. Sterling's activities the day of her death. Sterling tells them Janet, wife of a man mentioned in the story, was the burglar.

XXIV

A CLATTER invaded the room from the driveway through the open window. Gable bounced from his chair and went to the window. "It's the newspaper," Gable announced. "They're setting up cameras in the driveway."

"They'll want to shoot the house from every angle," Trappgood said. "Inside and out," Talent added. He addressed himself to Gable. "Sergeant, I imagine Gus Ripley and your man Cooper are holding their office out front. Mind telling them we'll have something for them if they'll be patient?"

"Sure, Lieutenant," Gable appeared to enjoy stretching his legs as he went out of the room. "Just another point or two, Mr. Sterling, if you will," Talent said. He wanted to establish the time of the half-smoked cigar. "Do you happen to remember if you had the radio on while you were in here last night?"

"Sterling didn't fully check his surprise, but there was no worry in his reply. "I happen to remember distinctly, Lieutenant, that I turned on the radio for the 11 much money in the house generally?"

SO it's come around to that, Sterling thought. He knows about the $10,000 Miriam drew out of the bank yesterday, just bringing it up casually. Sterling accompanied his answer with a shrug. "I doubt it, Lieutenant, but I wouldn't know. Frankly, I know very little about my wife's affairs."

"Any particular reason for that?" Pulling apart, I mean?" Talent asked.

"No, and I'll overlook that question," Sterling said, making no effort to avoid sterness in his tone. "It's evident you've never been a rich woman's husband. You just don't get the picture."

"Wrong again, Lieutenant. My father was a wealthy man but his fortune vanished while I was in college. So I married as a poor man. And now I'm poor because of my wife's death."

Trappgood broke in at that point. "How's that, Sterling? You mean there's a will that leaves you out?"

"I don't know anything about a will, but it wouldn't matter to me if there was. I'm not interested in the money. My wife is just 26. She would have had to live until her 35th birthday to take possession of that money. It's not my money. It's her money. I'll agree to a substantial income, I'll agree to draw a diagram of my present financial status, gentlemen."

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)— Exclusively Yours: Now that James Mason is playing an obstetrician in "The Best Things in Life Are Free," I'm wondering 'em in hire Mrs. M to sit in his outer office for atmosphere. She's expecting a baby in October.

Clark Dennis replaces Andy Russell on the air as Marion Hutton's singing partner. Which makes both Andy and Marion happy they fought through 20 programs.

The public is screaming for comedy on the screen. So what happens? Twenty-three crime pictures are being planned and 41 are ready for release. A great day for juvenile delinquency. Bob Taylor and Elizabeth Taylor will be on the first team when M-G-M starts "Quo Vadis" in Italy.

Columbia wants Rita Hayworth back from Europe by Sept. 2 but your guess whether she'll turn up is as good as the studio's. Jack Paar and his wife have made a date with the stork for spring. Jack, who made a speech at a studio dinner party honoring Doris Schary when he took over at RKO, has an opening line all set if he does the same for Howard Hughes. He'll begin, "Fellow aviators."

BACKGROUND SHOT
It wasn't announced at the time, but a Hollywood camera crew photographed the Democratic convention for background scenes in "Dark Horse of Terrytown." It's a movie about a small-town senator who wins the presidential nomination. Dick Quine and Bill Asher will produce.

Ten-year-old blues singer Toni Harper is talking contract with a major studio for a four-figure contract.

Hollywood economy note: Page Cavanaugh heard a Vine Street character say he's going to learn a trade so he'll know what kind of work he's out of.

Ingrid Bergman's "Joan of Arc" is now set for release around Thanksgiving; as the number one contender in the Oscar Derby.

Talulah Bankhead caught Arthur Blake's toned-down satire on herself and wired him the next day. "Not so evil, my love."

Hat designer Kenneth Hopkins had a telephone order from a starlet. "Is the hat for a short or a long bob?" he asked. There was a moment's silence and then the starlet giggled.

"This Bob is about six feet tall." BAD HUMOR
M-G-M and Columbia are having a battle, with a lawsuit threatened, over the title, "The Good Humor Man." Clifford Odets is writing a play for John Garfield. It's about an actor in Hollywood.

Bad News Department: The popcorn shortage, which faced theaters early this summer, has eased up and the supply is expected to be plentiful this fall. The price has dropped from $15 to $9 a hundred pounds.

Autograph fan to George Montgomery: "Please write with my pen it's got purple ink. It's more PASSIONATE."

I'm happy to hear that "The Search" which I recommended long ago as a great movie despite its complete lack of star names is doing great business. It proves once again that the play is the thing, and that there's nothing wrong with Hollywood that a good movie can't cure.

Girl Cross-Country Cyclist Says Graveyard Safest Place to Sleep

SHAMROCK—(Special)—"A graveyard is the safest place in the world to sleep at night," said Miss Norma J. Belloff of San Diego, Calif., who declared she had slept in cemeteries from the swamps of Louisiana to Washington, D. C. when she stopped in Shamrock recently, while on the homeward lap of a bicycle tour of the nation.

"I carry my sleeping bag and sleep out because I like the out-of-doors. I've slept on sea walls, in the desert, on sand dunes and in the forests, but I prefer the graveyard."

Miss Belloff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Belloff of San Diego, is attempting a new record for women, and has the sanction of the Bicycle League of America, and will be the first woman in America to complete such a trip.

Wearing a T-shirt and shorts, she had pedaled 176.8 miles after leaving New York before she reached Shamrock. She travels about 70 miles per day.

After graduating from the Point Loma High School she attended Merin Junior College near San Francisco, for two weeks.

"I couldn't be still there, and I have found education, adventure, and all worthwhile things of life out in the open."

She beamed as she said, "People are wonderful, the scenes across the country are beautiful and even though I have been out in all kinds of weather, and gone hungry at times, every minute of the trip has been a thrill to me."

She plans to have her letters to her "Mom" compiled in book form when she completes her cross-country trip.

Market Briefs

WALL STREET
NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Light selling was evident in the stock market today as prices were held in a narrow range. Final quotations were at 2:01 p. m. the day's bottom level.

Buying interest slowly but steadily declined and many stocks slipped out with increasing frequency.

Turnover was around 200,000 shares. Late in the session, reports from Wall Street indicated a pick-up in out-of-town selling.

The end of the regular session was taken stolidly by security traders, although it had been predicted that adjournment of Congress would stimulate a stabilizing factor into market operations.

Leading fractions to note today were: U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Chrysler, J. I. Case, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, Westinghouse Electric, Du Pont, International Paper, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Standard Oil (NJ), and Dow.

Russians Told Little About Berlin Ruckus

LOS ANGELES—Apparently little about the seriousness of the Berlin situation, a Los Angeles business man said upon his return from Moscow.

H. Lindus, vice president of Refining Associates, Inc., said: "It seems to me, from reading Pravda, that the (Russian) government is not trying to alarm the people to an immediate war. They would present their side of the Berlin situation if they were."

Lindus and three other Californians made the two-and-a-half week trip together to survey Russian business conditions. Other members of the party were Harold Hutton, president of Refining Associates; Mrs. Hutton and Mrs. Bach, San Francisco importer.

Hutton found living costs high in the Russian capital. Meals, he said, cost about six times what they do here. He paid $50 for a 25-mile taxicab ride.

Indications are, he added, that Russians are getting more food and clothing than a year ago. All rationing has been discontinued, he said.

Truman Predicts Woman President

WASHINGTON—President Truman told 94 thrilled girls that a woman probably will be elected president some day.

Mr. Truman was introduced to each of the girls who are attending the "Girls' Nation" sessions, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, at American University.

What did the girls think of their White House visit?

River Group to Ask For Debt Limit Raise

AUSTIN—In order to build two more dams, the Lower Colorado River Authority will ask the next legislature to raise the statutory debt limitation to $30,000,000.

It is now limited to $25,000,000. The LCRA voted Saturday to proceed with preliminary plans for the new dams to be located between Buchanan and Marfa in El Paso County.

The LCRA said the new dams would be built to meet expanding demands for more power.

Sen. Ferguson Doesn't Plan Impeachment

DETROIT—Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) won't undertake to have President Truman impeached.

He said here Monday night he had no intention of pressing impeachment proceedings against the President. Then he added: "I think the American citizen will use his own method during the election to remove President Truman."

Ferguson made his remarks in an interview on the Senate floor in Washington Saturday, night he had mentioned impeachment in charging that Mr. Truman pursued an "iron curtain" policy by refusing to turn over loyalty records in the Congressional spy investigation.

Fourth Annual Rodeo Now a Pleasant Memory

The fourth annual Top of Texas Rodeo and Horse Show is now a matter of history; its events duly chronicled and pictured for posterity. It was but another page in Pampa's history, but a glorious one representative of hard work, cooperation and a successful climax despite threatening reverses at the hands of the elements.

A spectacular performance such as this does not just happen. It takes planning, initiative, unselfish hours of labor, and worry. Behind the scenes ranchers, businessmen, professional men and others worked after hours, dreamed, and carried those dreams into colorful reality. Not for the good of a few, but for the everlasting good of Pampa and its environs.

In our humble opinion the people responsible for the success of the rodeo have done a magnificent job to make it the best ever seen at the Top of Texas.

Our sincere appreciation goes out in numerous directions, reaching as far as Austin to Governor Beauford H. Jester who honored the city with his presence.

Tossing the orchids where they are due our heartfelt gratitude goes to W. D. Price, president of the Top of Texas Rodeo, Horse Show and Fair Association who honored the city with his presence.

Paul Crouch, vice president of the association, who helped carry the burdens of preparation. All committee chairmen and members who did a bang up job in discharging the duties assigned to them.

Officers and members of the BAPW Club who arranged for community decorations on streets and buildings. Boy Scouts of America for their efficient handling of the concession stands and parking auto.

The Pampa Roping Club for its indispensable assistance in practically all arrangements. City Police, State Highway Patrol, Sheriff's Department for their extra hours of truly hard work in handling traffic problems and law enforcement.

Capit Mayo for an array of untasked, good show and excellent arena management. Buddy Heaton, 19-year-old rodeo clown from Kansas who did a marvelous job in keeping the show going during changeover spots of the programs.

Dewey Jantz and his sheep dogs for their inimitable entertaining and education. O. W. Hampton who has nurtured the rodeo since its inception four years ago, for his efforts in securing special added attractions for this year's show.

Fair Enough... by Westbrook Pegler

WASHINGTON — Sensational testimony revealing infiltration of the White House by a pro-American spy was given Monday by George Spelvin, American, the confessed ring-leader of the secret organization.

Spelvin, who lives at 2222 1/2 "E" Street, N. W., in the Heights, Unionville, was examined by the House committee to investigate pro-American activities which is probing subversive patriotism under the McCarran-Taylor Act. He faces 50 years in prison.

The questioning was conducted by Commissioner Boris Slupp, a lease-inquisitor from the Kremlin in the historic Moscow mass-sedition trial. Slupp convicted 78 of his own former comrades and sent them to the firing squad.

"This is a serious defect in the law," Commissioner Slupp said. "It is undoubtedly the work of the reactionary, Wall Street, bourgeois, religious forces."

Mr. Spelvin began with a defiant statement that he was "proud to say that pro-American agents had secretly carried on patriotic work in the government throughout the war."

"We also penetrated the State Department," he added with bravado. "Tell the committee about the pro-American spy you planted in the White House," Commissioner Slupp ordered.

"It was easier than you would think," Mr. Spelvin began. "A friend of mine named Charlie Dunno volunteered for the job so we studied the manual of the Communists faithfully. In six months, he got so good that he used to hang around the Department of Commerce days at a time and they never suspected him."

He got a job addressing letters at some league headquarters down around Union Square and his big chance came the day they sent him to Washington to pick up a roll of blue-prints from the Atomic Bomb Division. While he was waiting, he strolled over to the White House and fell in with the captain of the guard who was the famous old Hollywood actor named Ivan Bogus, who was born in Bulgaria.

Charlie said he looked he could get in for a week around the Capitol and he had three cheers for Eleanor the Great! "Charlie said, 'I raise you three!' Just then a gang of Communist youth walked in for lunch with the captain and the captain of the guard told Charlie to fall in with them. Charlie did and that was the last I saw of him for more than six years. He smuggled out secret, pro-American reports but he never left the White House."

"Continue," the commissar said. "Well, Charlie was kind of surprised, himself," Mr. Spelvin testified, "but he just went around the White House, knocking the brains out of the United States and locating the Spanish Communists and all like that, so naturally nobody ever suspected him."

"The night Eleanor the Great gave the dinner for Churchill and invited Louis Adams, the guy who helped put over Tito, Charlie hung right in. He just went around sneering at the British and the dumb, stupid American kids who were fighting the Japs one-handed so we could rescue the Soviet Union. He kept away from old Churchill because it might look suspicious to show him any friendship so he got by all right. All except one terrible moment."

"Terrible moment?" Commissioner Slupp roared. "What was the terrible moment?" "That was when Roosevelt invited them to have a drink before dinner and Charlie naturally ex- back home with fond memories of Pampa — symbolic city for the Top of Texas."

Common Ground

Truman Riding Horse in Opposite Direction. It would be amusing if it were not so serious to read that President Truman's schemes to reduce prices. He proposes by law to keep prices down and at the same time he proclaims he is for freedom.

While President Truman is advocating laws to keep prices down, his different departments are making rulings to keep prices up. While the President is talking about keeping prices down, last week the Administration announced plans for using some of the laws it now has in order to keep farm prices up. Its wheat planting goal for 1949 was reduced eight per cent from this year's acreage.

Beef breeding stocks would be cut half a million head next year. And Secretary of Agriculture Brannan asked farmers to hold back part of this year's grain crop to help maintain prices. Said the secretary: "The pressure of the following grain upon the markets has the effect of lowering prices received by farmers."

It looks as if the Administration believes that it has some plan that the farmers have been gathering. The pressure of the following grain upon the markets has the effect of lowering prices received by farmers. It looks as if the Administration believes that it has some plan that the farmers have been gathering.

Now let's look squarely in the face some of the causes of high prices. 1. The Administration has passed laws that give union labor a monopoly on such basic things as coal and steel and railroads and then it thinks that with these people given power to extort any price they want that we can pass laws to keep prices down.

2. Another cause of high prices is the increased expenditure of the government both in the number of civil employees and the number of military supplies being bought. 3. The government extending credit to foreign governments that buy their products in the United States greatly increases the cost of living.

4. The present Federal Reserve System which permits banks to make capital loans is another cause of keeping prices up. 5. Keeping food stuffs and raw materials at a wartime scale and putting a floor under various items also helps to keep prices up.

6. When the various sub-divisions of the government take in taxes at least a third of all that is produced that tends to keep prices up. 7. When the government makes laws which permit labor unions not only to get high wages, but practically take the management out of the hands of the owners of business it greatly reduces production and keeps prices up.

And yet in face of these acts which cause high prices, Truman proposes not to repeal or change any of these laws but to again enact what he calls "price control" on scarce items. To do that will only make them more scarce over the counter but higher priced under the counter or on the black market.

Yes, Truman is a nice example of a man attempting to ride a horse in two opposite directions. He looks, however, as if the Republican candidate for the Presidency, Thomas Dewey, has very much the same idea because he has his press agent say "that the Congress should stay in Washington to what ever careful consideration to whatever was proposed in the President's message." If Dewey believes prices can be kept down while our government has these laws on our statutes that make prices go up he is only another "carbon copy" of the Deal.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG news behind the news

WASHINGTON — The military "big shot" in the Pentagon Building are about evenly divided on the prospects of a war with Russia. But even those who figure that Stalin is not ready for a fight now, conclude that he may jump on the Allies in Europe as soon as the harvest have been gathered on Russian and satellite country farms this fall.

It is no accident that recent wars have been started by aggressive nations toward the end of the growing season. COMPLAINING — Until the Berlin crisis, our war-making strategists were somewhat complacent about Russia's fighting power. They did not think that Moscow would be ready for a global conflict for at least five or ten years.

Looking back on our own experience, they recall that the United States began to rearm, first by turning out weapons for the anti-Nazi belligerents, and then by getting ready for our own involvement, in 1939 and 1940. PEACE — Despite these preparations, it was not until 1942 that we were able to invade North Africa, which we won by luck and the skin of our teeth, and not until 1944 that we put a soldier's foot on Festung Europa.

In view of the blasting which Russia suffered from the invading Germans, which shattered her industrial, transportation and agricultural structure in her western areas, and remembering the years it took for the world's most industrialized and know-how country to get in shape for war, the Pentagon planners have figured that we would have a Chamberlain said after Munich, "peace in our time."

DELIBERATE — Our Russian Ambassador, General Walter Bedell Smith, has sent to the White House, the State Department and the Pentagon reports on Moscow's military potential which have upset the political complacency which prevailed here before the receipt of the "Beetle" communique.

It is true that Russian industry was destroyed by the Germans, and has not since been replaced. But the failure to rebuild factories in western Russia was deliberate, according to Ambassador Smith. Stalin has set up a Pittsburgh-Detroit industrial structure in the Ural, another in Siberia and still a third in Mongolia, according to these reports.

It will be difficult to erase them with even our most destructive bombs, in view of the fact that he can seize all Europe and China within one or two months, and many thousands of miles of these leave us with no air bases within factories and mines. ENGLAND — Stalin, incidentally, has made a personal and complete study of the problem of invading England, which was our stationary air base in World War II, and which would have to use for the same purpose in case of a conflict with Russia.

The Moscow dialect has poured over the plans of an attack on Britain which both the Kaiser and Hitler worked up, but which they never dared to use. He knows, from the military secrets we furnished him in World

We had no idea that the Beacon would be made. It is very smoothly done, but it is done just the same. We publish the full correspondence between the Editor of the Christian Beacon and the representative of the World Council, Geneva, Switzerland.

To issue religious press credentials only to the religious groups which are favorable to the World Council is indeed a one-sided affair, and, though Dr. Reisinger's correspondence indicates that he continues to issue credentials, he is going to do so, so far as the religious press is concerned, only to the groups which are affiliated with the World Council. No opposition religious press is to be permitted to operate as a press at the World Council Assembly, unless the secular press will be given present policy, the World Council there will be a change of the other hand, if there is no change, we are convinced that there shall be such a storm of protest, not only in America but in the rest of the world, that it will do the cause of the World Council incalculable harm.

The setup is very similar to the way in which so-called democratic elections are conducted in Russia and the satellite countries. One slate of candidates is presented; one set of religious press credentials is here available and only one. It is a pro-World Council religious press. The issuing of credentials to the secular press and the making of the distinction between religious and secular press is vital to what is going on. The World Council would not dare keep out the secular press or do anything which would suggest discrimination. But somehow, they think, the religious press is in a different world. The secular press may be considered neutral, while the opposition religious press must be excluded. But, actually, freedom of press for religion and freedom of press for the secular press are the same. There is no difference in principle, quality, or degree. The very fact that the head of the press department for the World Council has said that he has made no provision whatsoever for and now desires to keep out the opposition or crit-

Shamrock

SHAMROCK — (Special) — H. R. Anderson of Shamrock was re-elected county chairman of the Wheeler County Republicans at a county-wide meeting held last week. Mrs. H. R. Anderson was selected as delegate to the Congressional and Senatorial District Convention in Amarillo on August 23.

Preparations are being made to hard surface the Pampa road, Clyde Drake, resident engineer of the Texas Highway Department, has announced. A construction notice is being published asking for bids for constructing 5,988 miles of road from U. S. Highway 66 to six miles north. The farm-to-market road is known as Highway No. 747, 455.

The bids solicited at this time are to cover the entire construction, including grading, drainage structures, a flexible base and single asphalt surface treatment. The road connects with Highway 66 west of Lela and extends two miles north of the Pampa school house. It was approved three or four years ago at the time the Twitty to Kelton farm-to-market road received approval.

Ream Cody, a former long-time resident of Shamrock, died at his home in Dallas last week. The one-time prominent farmer of northwest of this city suffered a stroke four years ago and had been in ill health since then. Funeral services were conducted in Fernwood Baptist Church of Dallas, with Rev. Wright and Rev. Fender in charge. Interment was in Laurel Land Cemetery, Dallas.

Mr. Cody came to Wheeler County in 1919, residing in the Shamrock area until two years ago when he moved to Dallas to make his home. Oren C. Nickle, 61-year-old pioneer rancher of the Shamrock area, died in the Shamrock General Hospital at 2:20 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He had been in ill health the past year and had been acutely ill about two weeks.

The body was taken Friday morning by Clay Funn to the George Carroll Funeral Home in Gainesville where services were held. Funeral services were conducted from the Church of Christ in Hedley Thursday for Almon Stewart who passed away in the Shamrock General Hospital at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Death for the 77-year-old farmer followed a lengthy illness. Mr. Stewart was born August 16, 1870, in Nelson County, Va. He had resided in Shamrock about a year, making his home with his son, C. F. Stewart. Members of the Friendly Neighbors Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Hawk. Quilt making and embroidery provided entertainment during the afternoon. A brief business session was held.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Harvey Keys and Mrs. Eugene Martin, guests, and to the following members: Mesdames: Roy Goswall, Boots Cook, W. W. Henry, G. W. Sizemore, Stacy Arnold, Jr., Grover Copeland and Dewey Dabery. Johnnie Nell Nance celebrated her 12th birthday Monday afternoon, when her mother, Mrs. G. P. Nance, entertained for her with a party. Miss Leola Golden of Benjamin, Texas, assisted her mother with the entertainment.

The honoree was the recipient of a number of attractive gifts. The birthday cake was served with iced cream and cold drinks. Those present were R. L. Usery, Nedra June Harris, Donna Gail Marshall, Charles Brothers, Joyce Jennings, Linda Harris, and Mary Jennings.

SO THEY SAY

We are rapidly approaching a real crisis in our Federal expenditures... financial instability in the U. S. would serve the enemies of democracy far more than any weapon that could be devised. —Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D) of Virginia.

You will not get me to admit that I am a Red baiter or that I am a Communist. —Henry A. Wallace.

Price control is an attempt to sit on the thermometer. It would stifle production. —Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

cal religious press speaks volumes. This all fits into the pattern of a particular concept of unity. They cannot conceive that anyone would oppose their unity program, so they make no provision for a divergent press. In fact, they don't want it, so they just keep it out! How easy it is to slip into a totalitarian world in the name of unity —with opposition eliminated! Why do they not see this? It is to be one church, one world, and any viewpoint would be critical of their viewpoint must be carefully maneuvered out of the picture, while maintaining a front of honoring the secular press in the name of freedom of the press.

Can Revolutionary Get In? by Upton Close

LOS ANGELES — Will Attorney General Tom Clark allow a world famed Communist revolutionary, a citizen of Mexico, to come into the United States to help conduct a pro-Communist rally? The Communist Daily, Peoples World, has announced that Vicente Lombardo Toledano, Mexican union leader believed to be an important Western Hemisphere Red, is to visit Los Angeles to help the local CIO stage a three-day fiesta, Sept. 17 to 19.

On seeing the announcement a member of my staff wrote Attorney General Clark, citing the revolutionary record of Toledano and asking whether or not the attorney general would permit him to come into the United States. I shall relay Mr. Clark's reply to you.

At the now famous Western Hemisphere strategy meeting of Communist agents in Mexico City, May 18, 1944, the keyholder, a Chilean diplomat named Laferte, reportedly identified Toledano as one of the two outstanding Communist labor leaders on this continent at that time. Said Laferte: "If it is true that the English labor leader is not adapted to ideological orientation in our cause, we have in Hillman and Lombardo two prominent authorities on this continent."

HILLMAN-TOLEDANO — The reference was supposedly to the late Sidney Hillman and Toledano. The latter was then head of the Confederation of Latin-American Workers and is now an official of the World Federation of Trade Unions, the Mexican

Bid For A Smile

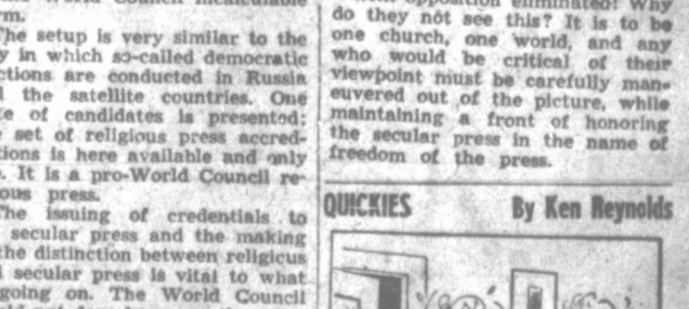

Feeling the Jones residence at two o'clock in the morning, the policeman in the heat observed that every room in the house from attic to basement was brilliant with light. He went to investigate, the bell, and when Jones appeared he said: "Officer: 'Good morning, Mr. Jones. I notice that all your lights are on in there around midnight.' Jones: 'Nothing, officer absolutely nothing. You see, my wife's been away for a month, and naturally I've been writing and telling her that I sit here alone at night waiting for her return. Well, I'm just making sure the meter doesn't give me away.'"

Caplan: "What's wrong with you Jones? You want to stay in the house?" Jones: "Sure, Caplan, but not too long." Caplan: "I'll depend on what?" Jones: "On how long it takes to turn this tub around."

Man: How did you manage to make your neighbor keep his hens in his own back yard? Friend: Under a night I had a half dozen eggs under a bush in my garden and next day I let him see me gather them. I wasn't bothered after that. Mrs. Jones sat back in the chair after lunch with her nose, she said, "Well, I hope you will like it here, Deafie." Deafie: (Cheerfully) "Oh, I'll like it here, Mrs. Jones. You're just the sort of nice I like best, easy, pleasant, an' not too smart."

Mary's Little Lamb Changes Its Colors

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

Mary's little lamb, whose fleece was white as snow, would never recognize some of its modern descendants, whose fleeces may be navy blue, mint green or silvery gray.

A change of color isn't all that has happened to 1948 lambs. New methods of processing are turning out mouton (lamb to you) coats that have all the luster and suppleness of furs formerly restricted to the upper income brackets.

The new moutons are water-repellent, with a texture like beaver or seal. The one-time bulkiness has been eliminated, and top designers have gone to work on the sturdy and inexpensive fur with results that are breathtaking.

For the college crowd the new colored moutons are slated for instant popularity this fall. They come in smart, ribbon-bound blazer styles, in full-length wrap-arounds and in swank hip-length jackets, with gray plaid or striped taffeta linings.

The new and glorified moutons come with all the new style notes of the season—lustrous collars to be worn up or down, sashed pockets placed well back on the hip to reduce front bulk, natural shoulders, loose, easy lines and effective combinations with fabric trimmings, such as taupe velvet, teen collars and buttons on gray mouton.

With all the expert styling, the coats are still in the budget class, within the reach of the college girl or her career-minded sister, who have to count their pennies, but still want to look smart.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

CAREFUL ANALYSIS NETS OVERTRICK

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Expert tournament players come from all walks of life. Some of their spend most of their time playing bridge, while others are business or professional men who have much less time to play.

For instance, Alexander Weiss, of New York City, is kept pretty busy between his mail order business and his grandson. Nevertheless, he found time to play in the Vanderbilt Cup Tournament this year and won the trophy.

Weiss sent me an interesting hand which I am giving you today. He won the opening lead of the five of spades with the king, then led a small heart to dummy's king, intending to play back a small heart and pass it. However, when West played the queen, Weiss went up with the ace and picked up the whole suit.

The spade bid by East, and the fact that he had held three hearts, led Weiss to the conclusion that East could not have many clubs. He took another round of hearts, then cashed the ace and king of clubs, discarding a small diamond from his own hand. Now he led the jack of clubs from dummy, and when West did not cover, Weiss discarded his other small diamond.

This gave him seven-odd for a top score on the board.

Slaughter Pacing Cardinals' Drive

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Do you think has been the ringleader in the St. Louis Cardinals' current drive to overtake the Boston Braves in the red hot National League pennant race?

Stan Musial? No, sir. It's been Enos (Country) Slaughter, Stan's running mate.

Partly obscured by the big shadow of Musial since Stan joined the Cardinals late in 1941, Slaughter, a great player in his own right, has outdone even the mighty Musial with the bat during the past three weeks.

Last night Slaughter collected four hits in four times at bat. He drove in five runs and almost single-handedly led the Cardinals to a 6-2 triumph over the Reds in Cincinnati.

Slaughter's hits included two singles, a double and a triple. His triple came with the bases loaded in the first inning. His double brought in two runners in the seventh.

The Dodgers kept pace with the Cardinals, edging out Philadelphia 2-1, in a tight pitching duel between Carl Erskine and Blix Donnelly.

The Dodgers snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh when Ed Snider opened up with a double, advanced to third on an infield out, then beat Bert Haas' throw to the plate on a grounder to third by Gil Hodges.

The Cleveland Indians moved a half game out in front in the territorial American League race as Gene Bearden pitched the Tigers to a 6-2 victory over the Browns. Bob Dillinger banged a triple and two doubles to lead the Browns to an 8-6 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Other teams in both leagues were not scheduled.

Sports Round-Up

DALLAS — (AP) — Clair Bee, colorful basketball coach of Long Island University, had just finished his lecture at the Texas Coaching School. A high school coach approached him. "I didn't get it," he said, referring to a play explained by Bee. "Would you give it to me again?" Bee took out a slip of paper and wrote a name on it. "Send an agent to this address," he said. "The book 'Zone Defense and Attack.' Bee told him. "It can explain it a lot better than I can. This book was written by Clair Bee."

ATTENTION HALAS, ET AL — Attending the Texas Coaching School was Lloyd L. Wilford, a Texan who went to Mexico to umpire for Jorge Pasquel, didn't like it and got the job of coaching Instituto Tecnológico at Monterrey. Wilford, who played at Davis-Hill in the Texas Tech Quantic Marines, was head coach at Loyola (Baltimore) and Concord College, West Virginia, and backfield coach at West Virginia U. Wilford is visiting the land of the mammoth. On his Texas tour, he is one Arnold Gonzalez, called "Charro" (cowboy). "Gonzalez," says Wilford, "is the greatest back I ever coached." Arnold will be playing his third season. Coach Wilford almost had heart failure when Gonzalez rode a wild bronco in a rodeo the night before a big game. But Arnold is the best bronco buster in all Mexico so there was no need for worry.

MORE SCORING — Matty Bell, coach of Southern Methodist's undefeated Southwest Conference champions, says spring practice and coaching all-star football players at the Texas Coaching School have convinced him scoring is going to soar in this fall's gridiron campaign. "It's the use of the fee for field goals and points after touchdown, something being allowed this year. Well, in practice fellows who never had kicked field goals could boot them between the bars without coming close to a miss," says Bell. "The fee prevents the kicker dragging the ground with his foot or topping the ball. There just won't be any teams getting one-point leads and falling back on defense. They'll all be trying for field goals every time they get within scoring distance and their offense is slowed down."

Cromwell Had His Day When Mel Patton Won Olympic Race

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

LONDON — (NEA) — Old Dean Bartlett Cromwell had his day at the Olympic Games when Mel Patton broke in front of Barney Ewell and stayed there to win the 100-meter race.

There was criticism from the time it was evident that the 68-year-old Cromwell would be named as the United States' lead coach.

Opponents attempted to twist a remark he is alleged to have made at the Berlin games in 1936 into a suggestion that he had racial prejudices.

Cromwell, Southern California coach for 40 years, didn't help the situation any when Ewell and Harrison Dillard beat Patton in the 100-meter trials in Evanston. Instead of giving both full credit, for they were his boys now, Cromwell said his Trojan star ran like an old plough horse.

He went further, predicting that Patton would win both Olympic sprints.

This put a terrific load on Patton's shoulders, spurred Bones Dillard and Ewell to loftier heights.

The 30-year-old Ewell practically jumped out of Empire Stadium when, running next to Patton, he knew he had beaten him in the 100.

And the Lancaster Express didn't stop humping when he realized that Dillard, on the outside, had taken it all.

Anything to beat Patton, the teacher's pet.

Had he not copped the 200, Patton would have been the best of the Games, and he trimmed a remarkable field on a homing track in 21.1 with Ewell, Panama's Lloyd LaBeach, Jamaica's Herb McKenley, the Los Angeles Athletic Club's Clair Bourland and Jamaica's Laing behind him.

So close did the extraordinary Ewell make it that he and Patton were caught in exactly the same time, so Bouncing Bernard could not have been shaded more than a foot hair is extremely shy and awfully homesick, so much so that he declined to appear in some other meets on this side.

A Navy veteran and 23, much more will be heard from Patton, Southern California, who fell at the Southern California, in addition to Patton, were Bourland, shot-putter Wilbur Thompson, Bob Chambers in the 800 meters and Roland Sink in the 1600.

Bourland is no longer a kid, iron and diamond great, who has been knocking around from here to there in baseball, is going to give pro football a fling this fall.

Pete said last spring he would try baseball one more time and if he didn't make it in the majors would give it up and go into pro grid circles. He failed to stick with the St. Louis Browns and now is playing with San Antonio of the Texas League. "Minor league baseball doesn't have any future," says Pete, who will report to the New York Yankees in pro football when the baseball season is over.

KI STILL BRUISES EASY — Ki Aldrich, Texas Christian's All-America who starred in pro football too, had a trade mark—it was a bruised nose. Ki couldn't play five minutes without getting his head battered. Well, he's changed; now his nose escapes when he plays rough. His brother visited him in Fort Worth and both ran out of the house to apprehend a prowler although Ki didn't know his brother had done so. Aldrich saw a crouching figure, made a flying tackle and socked the guy three times before he could make himself known as the brother. Ki got his arm bruised up but nary a sign of a busted nose, what became of the prowler is unknown. The brother said he didn't aim to ever visit Ki again if that's the kind of treatment he can expect.

GOLD SOX PARK, Amarillo—Tagged for their second consecutive defeat at the hands of the ruthless Amarillo Gold Sox, the Pampa Oilers will attempt to climb back into second position in the WT-NM League tonight when they again engage Buck Fausett's Soxmen in Gold Sox Park. The Soxers hung a heart-breaking 5-4 defeat on the Oilers here last night in 10 innings, and thus jumped one full game ahead of the locals. Should the Pampanos win tonight, the two teams will again be tied for the runner-up spot.

The 1,840 fans who witnessed last night's fracas (including the two that came over the left field wall) saw one of the most perfect contests of the current season.

Not a single error was committed throughout the complete 10 innings as the two clubs fielded flawlessly and hit with equal ability.

Doug Lewis, Amarillo firstbaseman, delivered the pay-off poke in the tenth that made Southpaw Roy Parker the victim, although the portside pitcher only one inning. Parker relieved starter George Payte in the bottom of the ninth.

By the Associated Press

Amateur went back into second place in the West Texas-New Mexico League last night, showing Pampa out on a ten-inning, 5-4, victory over the Oilers.

Doug Lewis singled home the winning run.

Albuquerque stretched its lead by beating Lamesa, 8-6; Clovis outlasted Abilene, 15-10, and Lubbock defeated Borger twice, 12-4, 5-1.

Albuquerque came from behind twice and Frank Shone notched his 17th victory. Les Mulcahy hit a two-run homer for the Dukes.

Four home runs by Virgil Richardson, Chef Fowler, Frank Walker and Chris Haskins—helped Lubbock win the first game. A three-run first inning rally sent them off in the second.

Darwin Dobbs pitched shutout ball for four innings and socked a two-run homer to lead Clovis to victory over Abilene.

Ted Clawitter, injured Amarillo backstop, started the tenth by working Parker for a free pass and, as Jack Feruga was inserted to run for the catcher, the pinch-runner was moved to second on Jack Shumacher's sacrifice. Earl Harriman advanced the runner to third on an infield out before Lewis broke up the ball game.

Parker intentionally walked Folkman, a righthander, to get at Southpaw Lewis.

Earl Harriman, former Pampa shortstop, completely stole the show. In the top of the ninth, the Oilers tried desperately to push in a tally, but Harriman almost single-handedly retired his former teammates. After Payte reached first on a single, Harriman dove into the air to pull in R. C. Oley's line drive and then double Payte off first. He again went aloft to pull in Bartholomew's liner to retire the side.

Jack Shumacher received credit for his 11th win as compared with four losses, a record that has been compiled in slightly over a month since he joined the Soxers from Jackson, Miss. R. C. Oley touched the slightly built righthander for a non-stopper in the fifth and then John Bottarini, the newly acquired, clutch playing catcher from Clovis, pumped one over for a homer in the eighth inning to knot the count at 4-4.

Howard Bass and Joe Budney are slated to go against each other tonight in the series final before the Oilers return home tomorrow night against the Borger Gasers.

Just a Little Lip

New Giants manager, Leo Durocher, tries a few words on umpire Bill Stewart, but the Lip gets the back treatment. It's the same old voice to the boy in blue despite the uniform change. Durocher's beef was mild, however.

Irish Grid Schedule Is Announced

SHAMROCK — (Special) — The 1948 Irish grid schedule, released by Supt. Elmer J. Moore, is composed of five home games and five road games.

The schedule will open on Friday, September 3, two weeks earlier than usual. The reason for this is that, for the first time, Class A teams will play through competition to a state championship.

In past years, play has ended with the deciding of regional games.

With Wheeler dropping to Class B ranks this year, the conference will be made up of only six teams, Shamrock, Memphis, Lefors, Clarendon, Wellington, and the complete schedule:

Date	Opponent
Sept. 3	Dalhart, here
Sept. 10	Wheeler, here
Sept. 17	Perryton, here
Sept. 24	Canadian, here
Oct. 2	Phillips, there
Oct. 8 (x)	Memphis, there
Oct. 15 (x)	Lefors, here
Oct. 22 (x)	Clarendon, there
Oct. 29	Open
Nov. 5 (x)	McLean, here
Nov. 11 or 12 (x)	Wellington, there

Since spring grid practice is no longer allowed, Coach Scott McCull and assistant, Clarence Morris, will begin working with the Irish about the middle of August.

Tense Bid

Knifing water neatly, Lt. Sammy Lee of U.S. Army completes a back dive in Empire Pool. An Army doctor, Lee won Olympic high board diving championship in London.

LONDON — (AP) — The Olympic press office said today an Olympic jury of appeal has ruled that the United States won the disputed 400-meter relay race.

The official announcement said: "The jury of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, having seen the film and the photographs of the 400-meter relay of the Olympic games is satisfied that an error was made and the placing has been revised as follows:

"1. U.S.A.
"2. Great Britain
"3. Italy"

The jury thus reversed the judges' decision which disqualified the American team after it finished about ten yards ahead of the British.

The judges had said the baton was passed illegally on the first exchange between Barney Ewell and Lorenzo Wright.

The British runners already had received Olympic medals. They took the victors' stand in the official ceremony in Wembley Stadium soon after the ruling which brought about the first major dispute of the 1948 Olympic games.

What will happen now to the medals was not immediately known.

Mel Patton of Southern California was anchor man in the other member of the U.S. quartet.

The decision gives the United States its 11th championship in men's track and field. The Americans won unofficial team titles in track and field and in swimming by overwhelming margins.

Avery Brundage, president of the United States Olympic Committee and member of the jury of appeal, said after the reversed announcement:

"It was quite clear we exchanged the baton two or three yards inside the marker.

"The official had apparently judged by the middle line and not by the outside line.

There are three marks in the relay course. One marks the exact middle and the others are ten meters in either direction. The rule requires the baton be exchanged within the two outside lines.

All this hubbub overshadowed the start of the final week of the games.

Yesterday's biggest show was America's victory in the eight-oared shell final. The University of California crew beat Great Britain by three lengths. The four-oared shell with coxswain from the University of Washington bested the Swiss for another Olympic rowing title.

In basketball the United States entered the semifinals by over-whelming Uruguay, one of the most feared foreign rivals, 63-28.

Four American boxers scored first round victories and three more made their first appearances today. Only one Yank slugger has been seen.

J. N. de Pietro of Paterson, N. J., the midget of the U. S. Olympic weight-lifting squad at 4 feet 8 inches set a world and Olympic record in the bantamweight division. He had a winning total of 677 1/2 pounds.

Robert J. Borg of Oregon City, Ore., finished fourth in the individual dressage event in equestrian competition which started yesterday.

Heavy rains proved too much for the Olympic gymnasts and they called off their competition until Thursday. Originally scheduled for Wembley Stadium, the events will move indoors.

The four remaining championship flight basketball teams took a day off while 10 nations battled for consolation honors. The boxing tournament continued in the rings built over the swimming pool near the Olympic stadium. Yachting, soccer, weightlifting, equestrian and fencing competition also was in the morning-til-midnight program.

Wicker, Not Satisfied With National Fame, Tries for World Title

CORPUS CHRISTI — (AP) — Bill Wicker, the nation's new snipe champion, is going after the international crown.

The Corpus Christi skipper yesterday won the 1948 snipe title with a five-day point total of 7167, scoring a decided upset over international champion Ted A. Wells, of Wichita, Kans.

Wicker finished second yesterday in the last of five races to determine the champion. He said he would enter the international races.

Wells limped home last after he lost his rudder and wound up in fourth place in the standings.

C. D. Zimmerman, Akron, O., came in first in the final race and Dick Deaver, Balboa Island, was third. Allen Jephson, Corpus Christi and Danny Elliott, Long Beach, Calif., rounded out the first five.

The Detroit Lions say they have the "oldest" name in football in Kinley Van Rensselaer Day, 23-year-old end from the University of New Hampshire.

U.S. Declared Winner of Relay As Jury Reverses Judges Rule

Canadian Wins Pair From Higgins Clubs

CANADIAN — (Special) — Two softball teams from Canadian played hosts to a pair of clubs from Higgins last Thursday evening and proved to be very inopportune, sending the visitors back home with two straight defeats.

The East Side Canadians scored the first victory when they nudged the Higgins gang 7-4 as a sixth inning Higgins rally was cut short.

The victors drew first blood, but the belated Higgins rally almost "upset the applecart."

"Pie" Cockrell received credit for the victory when he remained on the mound throughout the complete contest. Bob Ward completed the Canadian battery.

The Petty Geophysical Engineering crew of Canadian tagged the Higgins clan for the second humiliation of the evening when they hung a 7-3 defeat on the visitors.

The deciding margin proved to be the steady hurling of Petty hurler, Baker, as Baker and Brown of Higgins locked horns in the dramatic pitchers' duel. Baker scattered seven Higgins hits while the locals managed 11 off Brown.

South Carolina Is Voting Today

COLUMBIA, S.C. — (AP) — Fair weather and a five-man race for the United States Senate are expected to draw to primary polls today more than 300,000 Democrats taking part in their first general voting in South Carolina since 1876.

Choices in three of the six Congressional districts, together with contests in a mass of state jobs, also had part in attracting voters.

Negroes won their right to vote in this state of the deep South in recent federal court decisions by Judge J. Waties Waring of Charleston.

Idaho Expecting Very Light Vote

BOISE, Idaho — (AP) — A light turnout of voters is expected today in Idaho's lack-luster primary election.

There are only two contests for the state as a whole for the Democratic nomination for congressmen in the two Idaho districts. Republican incumbents — Reps. Abe Gott of Moscow and John Samborn of Hagerman and Sen. Henry C. Dworak of Burley — are unopposed.

and purposes have moved her frontiers up against the three important neighboring satellites. They come next for annexation.

It would alter the military picture in Europe. Into every nation which "joins" the Soviet Union, Moscow will immediately fling her troops, so that in due course the Red armies will be up against the Stettin-Adriatic line, facing the countries of Western Europe.

There is no doubt that Russia figures on achieving all this as part of the "cold war," meantime pushing her world revolution for the spread of communism.

any additional information about Russian intrigues in this country. It would like to question, too, another Russian teacher, Mrs. Oksana Sepanovna Kosenkina.

Samarin and Mrs. Kosenkina both were teaching children of Russian officials of the United Nations in New York. The school was disbanded, and students and teachers were booked to sail for their homeland last month.

Eut Samarin and Mrs. Kosenkina were not aboard when the ship pulled out.

Mrs. Kosenkina is now in the Soviet Consulate in New York City, "resting" after having been "rescued" from some anti-Communist White Russians on Saturday. The White Russian story is that she fled to them in fear of her life and was taken away against her will.

The Russians don't know where to locate the Samarins, who hid after Samarin voluntarily went to the FBI office in New York Sunday.

Front Yard Yields 77 Bushels Wheat

CLARENDON — (AP) — Sixty-one bushels of wheat per acre yield was just like so much chicken feed to Charles Reynolds of the Leila Lake community.

Reynolds harvested that amount from his front yard. He cut a total of 77 bushels from the one and one-fourth acre tract and stored the whole crop for laying hens.

Cement Floor Gets Added Worth

HALE CENTER — (AP) — The cement floor of a new building here is worth at least $45.

Jake Johnson, Hale Center cement worker, reached for a wallet he had been carrying in his shirt pocket and found nothing. A quick checkup disclosed the wallet had fallen into a cement mixer and that $45 in currency had been poured into the floor. The floor already had hardened.

GAME TIME CHANGED

Dimmitt, to check on some wheat the family had stored in an elevator there. That was the last he was seen.

A check with Butler in New Mexico revealed he had not arrived there and that Butler had not seen Forman for over eight months. A check in Muleshoe and Sudan revealed Whisenhunt had moved to Carlsbad, N. M. Whisenhunt was contacted. He had not seen Forman either.

Forman had cashed an oil royalty check shortly before leaving and was carrying between $400 and $500 in cash, Jordan said. Since he left, a sharp check has been kept on his bank account in Miami, but not one check has been made out and returned to date.

Miss Rudine Talley, a model in New York City, whom Forman once dated, was contacted through New York City detectives, but said she has not seen him and he had not communicated with her.

Texas Rangers have been working silently from Amarillo to the Mexican border, but all leads have faded out shortly after they were uncovered.

"If anyone," Jordan asked yesterday, "knows any thing about Forman, we would appreciate him letting us know immediately. We are stymied at present, but the search is still going on."

A description of Forman shows he is about five feet, nine inches tall, weighing between 125 and 140 pounds; light brown hair with grey eyes. When he left he was carrying very little luggage, all summer clothing, slacks, and T-shirts, and in all probability had his golf clubs with him. His 1918 Texas license AB 3608 canary yellow Chevrolet was bearing and had red leather upholstery.

some of the credit-bolstered buying power which is jacking up prices.

At the start, the Federal Reserve may simply release a slightly doctored version of its wartime "Regulation W" which expired last year. This put a 18-month limit on installment purchases, ruling out the "easy payment" plans which now frequently run for two or three years.

The regulation later may be modified, officials said. Autos cost so much more nowadays, they said, that an 18-month payment may be more suitable.

The controls over down payments are likely to come back "as was."

That means one-third down for passenger cars, refrigerators, washing machines, radios, silverware, jewelry and other items. Twenty percent was required for furniture, pianos, rugs and draperies.

Critics of the consumer credit program complain that persons of modest means will be barred from owning cars and household labor-saving appliances. Snyder, at a news conference last week replied, in effect: The little fellow will be better off in the long run by waiting to buy; he may get a better price when he does enter the market.

MALAYA HAS PLANS SINGAPORE — (AP) — The Athletic Association of Malaya has called off its first postwar Athletic Championship meeting because of the state of emergency existing in Malaya. It had been scheduled for September 17-18. The Association hopes to see every state in the new Federation participating in the 1949 and succeeding championships. In 1952 it anticipates sending a large team to the Olympic Games.

Men between the ages of 21 and 35 with at least 10th grade education are eligible to apply. Veterans accepted for training will also be granted training pay, a new feature of the school, never before practiced by the Department of Public Safety.

Men interested in the training can secure additional information by contacting Captain Polk Ivy, Amarillo or Highway Patrolmen P. C. Wynne and Billy Ballinger in the Gray County Court House.

The next school to be held will start around December 1 at Camp Mabry, Austin.
