D.C.'s Mayor Barry given six months on drug conviction

By RICHARD KEIL Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Mayor Marion Barry was sentenced today to six months in prison, fined $5,000 and given one year probation for his conviction on a misdemeanor cocaine possession charge.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson disregarded Barry's plea for community service, saying of the community.

"Having failed as the good example he might have been, the defendant must now become an example of another kind," Jackson said.

In issuing the sentence, Jackson forged a middle ground between the recommendations of prosecutors. who urged that Barry be given the maximum one-year sentence, and the defense, which argued for parole or matic 10-week trial highlighted by an FBI videotape community service.

For the first time in his 10-month legal drama, Barry himself spoke in court and asked for leniency from the

"I stand here truly remorseful and ask this court to impose community service as a sentence," Barry said. In court papers submitted late Thursday, Barry for the first time admitted he was a drug addict.

Echoing the letter he submitted to Jackson, Barry told the judge he was willing to "take full and personal responsibility for all my actions, all my attitudes." that Barry had abused his office and the collective trust breach of public trust alone warrants an enhanced sen-

> Jackson also said he found evidence from the trial that Barry had obstructed justice. However, the judge gave some weight to Barry's admission that he was an alcoholic and a cocaine user.

> Barry was convicted on Aug. 10 of a single cocaine possession charge and acquitted on another after a drashowing the mayor smoking crack cocaine with a former girlfriend.

The jury deadlocked on the remaining 12 counts, only that he got caught.

In a 19-page presentencing memorandum, U.S. Attorney Jay B. Stephens said Barry has shown a "flagrant disregard for the law and seriously impugned the integrity" of his office.

'In short, the defendant is not genuinely remorseful about his criminality," the memo said. "He is sorry

Stephens said Barry, in his pre-sentencing interview with chief deputy U.S. probation officer Arthur Carrington, admitted to "two dozen unspecified cocaine possessions.'

Carrington recommended that Barry be given a prison term of two to eight months, but Stephens said the maximum sentence was warranted because of Barry's unrepentant attitude and because he had been a model to the city's youth and law enforcement officers who were struggling to bring drug-driven crime under

Sunday's the time to fall back to standard time in America

WASHINGTON (AP) - The some news reporters. American family ritual of changing the clocks comes around again this weekend.

Most folks get an extra hour to sleep, or carouse, or whatever it is they like to do in the wee hours of Sunday morning.

Of course, that means it's also the weekend some people get stuck working an extra hour – factory workers and convenience store clerks, bartenders, police and even this Sunday, October 28th.

It's standard time again.

For most people, though, it simply means having to remember to set the clock back - that's right, back - an hour before retiring Saturday night.

Technically, the change occurs at 2 a.m. local time, which becomes 1 a.m., and an hour is repeated.

Or, in the words of the Uniform Time Act, which set up the system of switching between daylight and standard times, clocks are "retarded" an hour at 0200 on the last Sunday in October.

The move to standard time means that darkness will come earlier in the evening, with that hour of light shifted back to the morning hours to get the nation off to work

City schedules changes in emptying sanitation collectors

By DEE DEE LARAMORE News Editor

Local residents can expect a change in the emptying of trash colaspect of its sanitation department.

Nathan Hopson, director of public works, and Larry Simpson, director of sanitation, announced the lem the first week or two during the changes late Thursday. Presently the city has four residential sanitation collection routes. Hopson said. That number will now over, the only things that will keep be combined into three routes. One us from emptying them every week of the trash trucks will be taken off will be the same things that have line, and one of the sanitation kept us from doing it in the past employees will now be in charge of truck maintenance and clean-up. "The trouble is, people are used Wednesday before it is dumped," Hopson explained. "But it still will be dumped within the week."

He said the trash containers will be emptied once a week as they have lectors beginning Monday as the in the past. However, during the City of Pampa streamlines this transition period as the change in routing goes into effect, some may not be emptied for 10 days or so.

"This is only going to be a probtransition," Hopson said. "We're just asking the people to bear with us."

"Once the transition period is weather or breakdowns," he said.

Simpson added that with the regular maintenance schedule set in the to having their Dumpster dumped new plan, there should be fewer on Monday and now it may be breakdowns. The fleet has also been updated, he said.

"We will use the extra man as a maintenance person to do all the maintenance on the trucks," Hopson said. "He'll then do catch-up work whenever he is needed."

The change in routing will not affect strictly commercial routes, he said, but will involve some routes where there are residential and commercial trash collectors in the same alley.

"I feel like this will save us the purchase price of a truck this year," Hopson said. "The money is budgeted, but we're doing our best to keep from using it. It's all a part of an ongoing effort to streamline and economize."

Warming up

Simpson said veteran city employee Arthur Hernandez, the sanitation foreman, will be doing the maintenance on the vehicles and provide back-up when necessary. Two trained relief operators who work at the landfill are also available for catch-up after bad weather or during the annual spring clean-up campaign, Hopson added.

Exact amount of savings is not known at this time, Hopson said.

"I'll have to track it for a couple of months. But I do know it will save fuel, which is one of the primary purposes of the change. We'll at least save the fuel from what one truck burns," he said.

'Rosco' helps make drug arrest

Pampa Police Department's latest addition, "Rosco" the drug dog, participated in his first arrest and drug seizure this morning.

Acting on a tip from a confidential informant, members of the Panhandle Regional Task Force and Pampa Police Department officers Brown and Russell streets for possible narcotics, according to a police today, officials said.

With the use of "Rosco," officers discovered a plastic bag containing what is believed to be marijuana in a vehicle at the address.

Participating in the search and department news release. The arrest were officers Nick Fortner, search was conducted at 10:55 a.m. Terry Young, Rosco and his handler, Cpl. Dave Wilkinson.

Congressional analysts said the especially over $100,000, the bill would bite in several ways. The biggest change would come from raising from 28 percent to 31 percent the top income tax rate paid by the 600,000 wealthiest couples and individuals.

This would mean a tax increase for single people with taxable income (after deductions and exemptions) above $97,620 and for four-member families over

On the other hand, as many as 4 million with taxable incomes between $78,400 and $208,690 (four-member families) or between $47,050 and $97,672 (singles) would get tax cuts because their 33 percent top rate would drop to 31 percent. Analysts note that most members of Congress fall into that income range.

This same group of taxpayers would get the bill's only tax break for capital gains – a limited cut on profits from the sale of investments that is far less than President Bush wants. The bill would prevent anyone from paying a capital gains rate above 28 percent, which would cut taxes on those who now pay a 33 percent rate.

The bill would raise the 9-centa-gallon gasoline tax and the 15cent diesel tax by 5 cents.

The 16-cent cigarette tax would rise to 20 cents on Jan. 1 and to 24 cents two years later. Taxes on snuff, cigars and other tobacco would go up by 25 percent in each of those years.

Measuring the sun

Pampa Middle School students Gene Moya, left, and Matt Winborne measure the sun with special instruments they prepared for an experiment Wednesday as an activity in Cami Skaggs' Earth Science class. The eighth grade class has been working on an astronomy unit this six weeks, including observing the eight phases of the moon for 30 days and studying the sun. The students formed lab groups and used meter sticks and two index cards (one with a hole in it) to set up their apparatus for the sun measurement experiment conducted outside in one of the school's courtyards. Using the distance to the sun, the distance between index cards (90 centimeters) and the diameter of the sun's mage, the students were able to calculate the actual diameter of the sun.

Prosecutors paint picture of Dixon as high roller at Vernon S&L trial

DALLAS (AP) - Donald Ray Dixon never profited from his misappropriation of Vernon Savings & Loan funds; in fact, he invested $13 million into the thrift and has a $5 million personal debt in the wake of the its failure, Dixon's defense lawyer says.

Defense attorney William Ravkind's statements came after prosecution portrayed Dixon as a highflying Texan who had pleasure on his mind more than supervising his S&L's affairs.

"In these instances, Vernon paid for the toys of Mr. Dixon. The bottom line is Don Dixon didn't pay for these toys," said Robert E. Hauberg, a U.S. Justice Department

But Ravkind said investigators have pressured witnesses into accusing Dixon of masterminding a conspiracy.

Ravkind urged the jury not to believe testimony from several former Vernon officers and employees who have entered into plea agreements with the government rather than face prosecution.

Budget plan offering roadmap to recession

Read his lips. On Sept. 13, 1988, George Bush said, "The surest way to kill the recovery is to raise taxes ... it will invite a recession.' Come 1990, and he has agreed to sock Americans with $133.8 billion in new taxes over the next five years.

The tax increase will especially hit middle Americans. Gas taxes may be more than doubled, from nine cents to 19 cents a gallon. Petroleum taxes will jump by $11.8 billion. Both tax boosts come even as Americans suffer soaring gas prices from the Mideast crisis.

"Sin" taxes will be increased on Joe Sixpack's beer, wine, alcohol and cigarettes. The airport head tax will also be boosted, seizing $11.8 billion. So much for comforting your grandmother across the country with a visit at Christmas.

In addition to this new heisting of middle-class pocketbooks, congressional Democrats got their tax hikes on "the rich." A 10 percent surtax will be seized from "luxury" goods. This is but a binge of envy. After all, if an entrepreneur creates businesses and jobs, he earned the right to enjoy his money, which Bush should contemplate next time he skims along in his speedboat. This tax increase will only reduce the incentives the rich have to invest in America. spurring them to take their businesses and jobs to more hospitable lands.

Bush didn't even get the one budget item he has campaigned for the past two years: a capital-gains tax cut. Such a cut would have sparked economic growth, maybe enough to forestall a recession. If Bush deals with Saddam Hussein in the same way he has with the congressional leadership, he'll give Saddam not only Kuwait, but Saudi Arabia, Jordon, Turkey, Israel and a wing of B-52 bombers stuffed with atomic bombs.

The tax increases, along with spending cuts, are supposed to reduce the federal budget deficit by $500 billion over the next five years. But Congress, though cutting some items, is already engaging in new spending splurges. And a recession would bloat welfare and unemployment rolls, while reducing tax revenue from all the closed factories and lost jobs.

No wonder most Republican congressmen, and some low-tax Democrats, are livid with anger. California's Rep. Christopher Cox opposes the tax increase, as does Rep. Dana Rohrabacher, who calls it "a roadmap to recession." House Minority Whip Newt Gingrich refused to take part in photo ops with the president. These low-tax congressmen should band together to lead a new tax revolt.

Elections in Oklahoma and Massachusetts last month showed there's a strong citizen revulsion toward the entrenched powers. And a tax revolt is brewing in New Jersey. Back-bench congressmen should capitalize on this feeling, work to defeat the tax increase of Capitol Hill and use the November election campaign to sweep the high-taxers out of office.

Helms: Admirable 'no' man

WASHINGTON - In the course of 50 years of newspapering, I have met only a few men in public life of whom it could be said: These are men of principle. Among that small number is Jesse Helms of North Carolina, who is now locked in the fight of his political life.

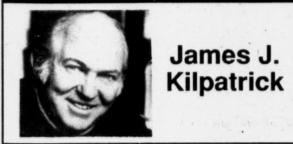

You will understand that I am not talking of conservative political principles only. I counted the late Hubert Humphrey among those whom I most admired in public life, and Hubert never drew a conservative breath. His principles were liberal principles, and he lived them all day long.

By contrast, some putative conservatives have had no deep-rooted principles at all: The names of Richard Nixon and George Bush come immediately to mind. It would be no problem to name others, on both sides of the political aisle, who blow as the fickle wind blows. Pragmatists abound in public office; men of principle are hard to come by.

I first met Jesse Helms in the late 1960s, when WRAL, Raleigh. We were about of an age (he turned 69 this month), and some of his broadcasts read like some of my columns. A reporter has no friends in public life – at least, one is not supposed to have friends in public life – but subject to that stricture, Jesse is my kind of senator. I like the guy. I like the principles and values he represents.

tional principle that the first obligation of Congress an entirely plausible position. is to make the nation secure. If Congress has any other fundamental obligation, beyond maintaining man who will observe his 48th wedding anniverthe courts, I cannot recall Helms mentioning it.

Thus Helms generally, but not always, supports in his work as deacon of his church.

outlays for national defense - the Strategic Defense Initiative, for example, and the Army's kinetic energy satellite. But in a series of votes in August he supported the closing of unneeded military bases and he voted against a higher pay raise for the armed forces than the president had requested.

A second principle, dear to the senator's heart, is rooted in a conviction that government must pay its bills. He hates debt. In recent months, if I am he was vice president and editorial director of not mistaken, he has voted against every appropriation bill that has come to the floor.

His dedication to frugality – to the idea that the federal government should not spend money it doesn't have - often has left him lonesome on the floor. In September he was one of only six pinchpennies to vote against the treasury-postal bill; in October he was one of only eight against the hous-What principles? Helms stands by the constituing bill. Helms says the bills spend too much. It's

> Helms' values are the old values. He is a family sary on Oct. 31. His moral values find expression

Lately the senator has been much in the news as a kind of archvillain determined to censor the work of artists. That underserved reputation merits a work of clarification. Helms once was a city editor; later he served as a commentator dishing out opinions on TV. No man with such a background could favor "censorship" as the word is generally understood. Helms' objection is to forcing the taxpayers to pay for offensive junk through grants of public funds.

His opposition to such grants has brought him unceasing ridicule from the hot tub crowd, but Helms is on solid ground. He is fighting against the rot that threatens the very fabric of American life, and in this battle he is far closer to the people than his contemptuous critics would have you believe.

Don't let me leave an impression that Helms walks on water. His vote for the textile protection bill was pure domestic politics. In most areas he defends the privacy of the individual and opposes the compulsions of the state, but his adamant stand against abortion violates that important concept. I wish his sense of Christian charity were more generous than it often seems to be.

Helms' opponent in November is Harvey Gantt Charlotte, who stands on most issues exactly 180 degrees across the political circle. If Gantt should win – the race reportedly is dead even – he would go to Washington as a senatorial rookie. Helms would rank 14th in seniority in the chamber, sixth in seniority among Republicans.

I hope North Carolinians send Jesse back to the Senate. The chamber needs members with strong convictions and the courage to vote them. When Helms votes "no," he probably is wiser than the senators voting "yes."

Americans can't compete? Don't you believe it. In 1987, USX Corporation closed its Geneva Steel Plant in Utah County, between Provo and Salt Lake City.

Let one party at a time govern us

By WILLIAM A. RUSHER

Witnessing the pandemonium in Washington recently over the budget, it's easy to believe that the voters are disgusted at the spectacle and will demonstrate the disgust on Election Day, Nov. 6.

It is only fair, though, to point out that the voters themselves bear a heavy responsibility for the chaos we have seen. By voting, year after year, to give the Republicans control of the White House and the Democrats con-separately, many of them not even at trol of Congress, American voters the same time as the president, and have practically begged for this serve for terms of varying length ridiculous state of affairs.

Most democratic societies are organized on the so-called "parlia- sible for the voters to elect a president mentary system," under which the of one party and a Congress of the chief executive is elected by a majori- other. lature elects.

The parliamentary system has its problems, but at least it guarantees that the sort of comic-opera performance we have been witnessing in Washington can't possibly occur.

Under our system of government, the president is elected by the people, quite independently of Congress, and serves for a fixed term of four years. The members of Congress are elected some shorter, some longer.

It has always been technically pos-system: a chief executive with the support of a majority of the legislature.

Since the end of World War II, however, the American people have fallen into the bad habit of splitting the difference. This dooms the president and Congress to fight straight through his four-year term, like two scorpions in a bottle. Don't assume, as some hope, that they will "work together for the good of the country," even if they agreed on what that is. The party in control of Congress is bound to want to bring down the rival president - it's their job.

It may be objected that, in the recent congressional budget maneuvering, it was his fellow Republicans, and not the Democratic leaders, who often failed to support Bush. But this fact is just a function of the abnormal situation in which all the protagonists found themselves.

Bush was forced, by virtue of the

If the Republicans controlled Congress, agreement would long since have been reached on a budget. Ditto if the Democrats possessed the presidency.

Other factors - gerrymandering, the advantage of incumbency, etc. also encourage the split. But the voters could end it overnight, next month, if they really wanted to.

Give George Bush a Republican Congress that will work with him, and hold the GOP strickly accountable for the result. If the voters don't like it, throw Bush out in 1992 and give the Democrats a chance - in the White House as well as Congress. But, for pity's sake, stop crucifying America on a cross of divided gov-owner of a failed Dallas savings and loan accused in a criminal indictthrift afloat has been described as one of the industry's biggest "bandits" in Texas.

Former Western Savings owner indicted

Jarrett E. Woods Jr., former owner of the failed Western Savings Association, was accused Thursday in the indictment of illegally diverting $18 million to pay off delinquent loans as a way of postponing the highflying thrift's $1 billion collapse.

The 37-count indictment returned by a federal grand jury in Dallas charges Woods with bank fraud, misapplication of bank funds, making false ledger entries and conspiracy.

Woods was expected to surrender to the FBI today and to have an initial appearance before a U.S. magistrate. His attorney did not return telephone calls.

"We have corralled one of the biggest savings and loan bandits in Texas," Attorney General Dick Thornburgh told reporters. "The freewheeling lifestyle and fraudulent management practices that led to Western's collapse helped set the trend for our national thrift crisis."

The charges carry a maximum sentence of 185 years in prison and fines totaling at least $8.2 million or twice the loss proven by prosecutors.

Western's failure in 1986 when it was taken over by federal regulators cost the taxpayers $1 billion, the Justice Department said. A civil suit filed earlier this week by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. seeks to collect $560 million from Woods. It accuses Woods of spending $7 million of depositors' money in the months before Western failed.

The thrift, which Woods purchased in 1982 with $2 million in borrowed money, grew from $70 million in assets to $2 billion four years later, said U.S. Attorney Marvin Collins.

Collins said the case "can be fairly characterized as an example of a real estate developer, Jarrett

"The indictment shows the great lengths that people will go to deceive regulators," Collins said.

Woods diverted $16 million from a $60 million loan for a Houston real estate deal to businessman James Reagin, a major borrower who was behind on loan payments to Western.

Most of the money, plus $2.26 million that was diverted from the sale of Western property, was used to help Reagin pay off loans so that Western would not have to write them off as bad debts.

At one point, Reagin was behind on loans worth $64 million, Collins Woods is not accused of pocket-The indictment charges that ing any of the funds diverted to Reagin. But Collins said Woods, as 100 percent owner of Western, was motivated by a desire to keep regulators from taking over the S&L.

The indictment also charges that Woods arranged for a Western subsidiary to pay a $48,000 commission to a company that had not earned the money. The indictment alleges the money was actually used to pay off a gambling debt Woods owed.

"There is nothing you can do basically in the short run to address these cases quickly," Collins said of the department's four-year effort to get Woods. "You must have a long, large concerted effort."

Hi-Land Christian to host missionaries

The Pampa community will have an opportunity during the next week to share the excitement of Christian mission endeavors under way in various parts of the world.

Hi-Land Christian Church, 1615 N. Banks, will play host to the 1990 Hi-Plains School of Missions from Sunday through Thursday.

The public is invited to attend all of the programs beginning with Sunday's 9:45 a.m. service and continuing at 7 p.m. each evening Sunday through Thursday. Each session features a different missionary sharing his respective work on the mission field.

The Hi-Plains School of Missions is an annual undertaking of the cooperative efforts of 13 Texas Panhandle and western Oklahoma churches which are committed to bring first-hand exposure to worldwide missions to local congrega-

During a two-week period, each church is afforded the opportunity to meet six missionaries who rotate daily from city to city on a predetermined circuit of programs.

Churches and communities participating this year besides Hi-Land Christian include Camargo Christian Church, Camargo, Okla.; Fellowship Christian Church and Heritage Christian Church, Woodward, Okla.; Driftwood Christian Church, Cherokee, Okla.; First Christian Churches in Laverne, Mooreland and Buffalo, Okla. The western side of the circuit includes Pampa, First Christian Churches in Beaver and Shattuck, Okla.; Boise City Christian Church, Boise City, Okla., First Christian Church in Wellington; and North Plains Christian Church in

Larry Haddock, minister of Hi-Land Christian, said, "This year we were excited to have six missionaries with us during a five-day period. We consider the School of Missions to be a real high point during the year for revival, encouragement, and instruction as to the role we can play in world evangelism. It is truly exciting to see how the mission of Christ's church to 'go into all the world and make disciples' is being fulfilled in every corner of the earth!"

Haddock also said this is not a time for foreign missions to plead for personal support or to raise operating revenues. However, a free-will love offering will be taken each evening. Last year, nearly $9,000 was received from 11 participating churches and then divided among the six missions represented.

Last year the churches heard of mission work under way in Australia, England, Jerusalem, the West Indies and in areas recovering from ership training - 7 p.m. Wednesday. the devastation wrought by Hurricane Hugo. This year the scope broadens to include India, Barbados, New Guinea, Native Americans in the Pacific, Northwest and South Africa.

Missions represented this year include the following:

St. Paul sets annual dinner

The "Harvester Dinner," an annual event at St. Paul United Methodist Church, 511 N. Hobart, has been scheduled for noon to 2 p.m. on Sunday.

On the menu for the buffet-style dinner is turkey, ham and all the trimmings. Also there will be a country kitchen with home-baked goods for sale including breads, pies, cakes, pickles, jellies and other goods.

There is a charge for the dinner and people can pay at the door. The event is a fund-raiser for the missions of the United Methodist Women at St. Paul.

Revival plans under way at Briarwood

Evangelist Harold Thompson of Hot Springs, Ark., will begin a revival at Briarwood Church, 1800 W. Harvester, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Services will be conducted through Sunday evening, Nov. 4, each evening at 7:30 p.m. with the exception of Saturday.

The Rev. Thompson is known as an outstanding speaker and talented gospel singer. He has also had many years experience in the pastoral ministry.

On Wednesday evening the Oak Singers, from Live Oak, Calif., will be singing at Briarwood. This singing group has traveled in fulltime singing ministry since 1978. They have recorded many albums with most of the songs written by members of the group.

Their travels have taken them to most parts of the United States and Canada. They average about 270 appearances per year. The Oak Singers will be at Briarwood on Wednesday only.

The public is invited and a nursery will be provided each evening.

Woman of the Year honored

Clementine Renner of Spearman was named Woman of the Year during the 54th annual convention of the Amarillo Diocesan Council of Catholic Women held recently at St. Vincent De Paul Catholic Church in Pampa. Bride wants to cull bridesmaid who is seeing a married man disinvite someone from being in her wedding party? When I announced my engagement four months ago, I asked five of my best friends to be bridesmaids. They all accepted. I just found out that one of my bridesmaids has been seeing a married man for the last eight months! She has mentioned this man's name, but she neglected to say that he's mar-

Abby, I've never approved of this type of behavior. I've always felt that if people are dissatisfied or unhappy in a marriage, they should either try to improve it or end it. Now I can't even look at this girl in the same way did before I found all of this out. Furthermore, I feel that it would be a slap in the face to the institution of marriage to have her as my bridesmaid.

My mom says I'm stuck with her. The other bridesmaids say, "Replace her!" My fiance says I should explain my feelings about the sacredness of marriage and tell her that under the circumstances I prefer that she attend my wedding as a guest — but not a bridesmaid. What do you think? ON THE FENCE

DEAR ON: Get off the fence on your fiance's side. Also, give her a chance to deny or confirm what you "found out." If it's true, when you "disinvite" her, offer to reimburse her for any expense she may have incurred on your behalf—unless her bridesmaid's gown and shoes can be worn by her replacement or returned. I wish you well.

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the 53year-old man whose wife would not give him a divorce so he could marry his 22-year-old girlfriend, please pass this on to your readership and put to rest one of the oldest lines in history:

'My wife won't give me a divorce.' A man is not a child asking his mother for permission to do something. If he wants a divorce, all he has to do is go to a lawyer who will file the necessary papers with the

A summons is then served to the spouse. All he or she can do is admit or deny the charges in the complaint. The case is then heard by a judge who will decide — if it has not already been decided — who gets what. End result: divorce spring. She has been living and working in Boston for the last 15 years. She graduated from Harvard and has a good income.

My question is, how much of the wedding expenses do I have to pay? Or what is expected of me?

I am a widow living on a fixed income and Social Security. FIXED INCOME

DEAR FIXED INCOME: Ask your daughter what kind of wedding she is planning and what she "expects" from you.

An offspring who left the nest 15 years ago would have to be cuckoo to expect her widowed mother who lives on a fixed income to finance her wedding.

A LOVE STORY

Like most country dwellers, I take great delight in feeding wild birds. My feeder, a quarter sheet of ply-wood nailed upon the corner railing of my deck, is large by most standards, but it often becomes crowded with my myriad of feathered friends. Doves, finches, pine siskins, cowbirds, sparrows, grosbeaks, juncos and towhees are regular visitors. All of them feed together harmoniously, except when an occasional intimidating jay arrives to frighten them

A few weeks ago, I noticed the arrival of a small, slate-gray female junco. Her feathers were mussed, and she had only one leg! She was obviously the victim of a close encounter with a wild cat. It was heartrending to see her land upon the fringe of the feeder and try to balance herself to feed, only to be chased away by the other, whole birds. It seems that Mother Nature doesn't allow much tolerance for the imper-

Player of the Year

DETROIT (AP) — Baseball has always been a family affair for Cecil Fielder and it remains that way now that postseason honors are beginning to roll in for Detroit's favorite import.

Fielder, who came to Motown after a tune-up in Japan, was selected The Associated Press Player of the Year on Wednesday. But, true to form, he gave all the credit to his wife, Stacey.

"She's the one who got me through it," Fielder said. "People don't realize how much pressure your wife is put under during a season.'

The Fielders traveled a lot this year. Stacey and their 6-year-old son, Prince, waited for him outside many a clubhouse. They went to Japan as a family and they rode to his moment of glory as a family.

And when he hit homers No. 50 and 51 into the seats at Yankee Stadium on the last day of the season, Stacey and Prince were there.

"My wife really did this for me," Fielder said. "For her to back me for the whole season, just let me go out and do the things I have to do, she deserves a lot of credit. Because it's not easy on a family ... you go through a lot of changes.

Fielder, whose 51 home runs made him only the 11th player to reach the 50-homer plateau, was a clear winner in the nationwide vote by sports writers and broadcasters. Fielder received 901/2 votes, Oakland outfielder Rickey Henderson 391/2 and Pittsburgh outfielder Barry

Chicago Cubs second baseman Ryne Sandberg, who hit 40 homers, picked up seven votes, and four players — three of them pitchers — received one vote each: Pittsburgh outfielder Bobby Bonilla, Boston's Roger Clemens, Oakland's Dennis Eckersley and the Chicago White Sox's Bobby Thigpen.

Fielder is the third AP Player of the Year, following Oakland's Jose Canseco in 1988 and San Francisco's Kevin Mitchell in 1989. The award is given strictly for outstanding individual performance during regular-sea-

Holyfield scores third-round knockout

By KEN PETERS AP Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Buster Douglas likely will be recalled as a one-fight fighter, a journeyman who made the most of his chance to grab the gold belt, then faded back into anonymity.

He will be recalled critically by some, who will question his talent, dedication

But because of his one night of glory, his shocking knockout of Mike Tyson in Tokyo last February, Buster Douglas became a heavyweight champion for a time. And now he's a multi-millionaire.

For 7 minutes and 10 seconds of work Thursday night against Evander Holyfield, Douglas earned $19.9 million. 'It'll hurt not being the champion. But it was attaining a goal, becoming the champion, and not attaining another - defending the title," Douglas, sadness clearly evident on his round, almost child-like face, said after Holyfield took his undisputed world heavyweight title with a third-round knockout.

Douglas apparently caught Tyson out of shape and unfocused in their fight in

This time, it was Douglas who was not in shape. Looking soft and paunchy at 246 pounds, he plodded about the ring as Holyfield ducked in and stung him with jabs and Even in the first round, it became evident that Douglas' only chance was to land a knockout punch before Holyfield systematically destroyed him.

That powerful punch may have been a looping right uppercut in the third round. But it missed. Holyfield ducked back, then came forward with a deadly right. Douglas dropped and was counted out as, still conscious, he rubbed his glove across his eyes. An old criticism of Douglas resurfaced — that he lacked courage.

Some critics contended he quit in the 10th round of a 1987 loss to Tony Tucker for the International Boxing Federation (IBF) title, and some observers felt he could have beaten the count against Holyfield.

'He could have gotten up. He chose not to. Maybe he has his own reasons," said Eddie Futch, who trained the likes of Joe Frazier and Larry Holmes and also trained a winner on the undercard Thursday night - Riddick Bowe.

TCU takes on fastimproving Baylor

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

AP Sports Writer Those amazing Texas Christian

Horned Frogs come back from a week's vacation on Saturday with a new Top 25 ranking and another must game against a fastimproving opponent.

The Frogs will be the 24thranked team in the nation when they host the Baylor Bears in Amon Carter Stadium at 2 p.m. It's the first time they've been ranked in The Associated Press poll since 1984 when they made it to 12th.

The Bears shocked the heavily favored Texas Aggies with a 20-20 tie last week.

TCU is enjoying its best Southwest Conference start since 1958 when the Frogs started 5-0 on their way to the Cotton Bowl.

The Frogs are 3-0 in league play and 5-1 overall. It's TCU's best overall start since the 1984 Bluebonnet Bowl team.

TCU was only a field-goal favorite over the dangerous Bears who became potent once coach Grant Teaff installed redshirt freshman J.J. Joe at quarterback.

"We figured out how to get in the Top 25 — don't play a game," said TCU coach Jim Wacker. "The week off was good. We got a lot of bumps and bruises healed. I love open dates. It gives the kids a chance to regroup. It's tough going through a season 11 weeks in a row." He said Baylor looked much improved with J.J. Joe running the Bears Veer attack.

"Baylor scares me to death," Wacker said. "They improve every week.

Baylor coach Grant Teaff said, "I've looked at TCU on video and I've been very impressed as I was after hearing all the good things about them. They have an outstanding defense and their offensive scheme is very impressive."

In other games, Texas was a 32-point favorite over Southern Methodist in a 1 p.m. game in Austin, Texas A&M was a 16point pick over Rice in a 2 p.m. game at College Station, No. 6ranked and unbeaten Houston was a 18-point favorite over Arkansas in a noon regionally televised game in the Astrodome, and Miami was a 21-point nod over Texas Tech in a noon bock.

"Miami is as good as there is in the country even if they lost to Notre Dame," said Tech coach Spike Dykes. "We're going to have to whip up a lot of enthusiasm if we have a chance against them. Anything can happen if we play over our head. I'll be surprised if we don't play a good game against them.'

Texas A&M running back Darren Lewis needs 174 yards against Rice to break Eric Dickerson's Southwest Conference career record of 4,450. Lewis has 371 yards in the last two years against Rice.

Rice upset Texas Tech 41-27 last week.

"A&M will be mad and I'd rather not catch 'em mad," said Rice coach Fred Goldsmith. They dominated Houston physically and lost. They are the most physically dominant team in the league.'

A&M coach R.C. Slocum said, "I'm very concerned about Rice. They played a tremendous game against Tech. Rice plays hard. It's a much improved team. We'll have our hands full."

Harvesters go after Randall tonight in district tilt

By L.D. STRATE Sports Editor

The Pampa Harvesters can move a step closer to the playoffs and gain some revenge all in the same night against the Randall Raiders. Pampa is deadocked with Hereford at 1-0-1 for second place in the District 1-4A standings. Pampa takes on winless Dumas next weekend and then goes against Caprock, the current leader at 2-0, in the final regular-season game.

'We know that making the playoffs is within the realm of possibility, but we need to take care of business first," Cavalier said. "We need to confront each opponent and take care of them to make the playoff dream a reality."

Randall is winless (0-2, 0-7), but the Harvesters' 27-13 loss to the Raiders a year ago.

"Their defense took the game away from us last year. Coach Lamberson's (Stocky) teams are noted for their strong defense. They run a 5-3 defense, using a lot of slants and stunts," Cavalier said.

exactly been an explosive force on offense, they do have an outstanding receiver in 161-pound junior Doug Richardson.

for 79 yards in Randall's 38-6 loss to Hereford last week.

"Richardson is listed as one of the top five ends in the state in Class 4A, so they have had success in throwing to him," Cavalier said. "They've been running a variety of offenses every game, going from the I-formation to the wishbone and and than the 1-back, so we have to try and prepare for those different Lamberson, who is in third season as Randall coach, believes Pampa will be the eventual district champions.

"After watching films of the Pampa-Hereford game, I think Pampa is the best team in the league. They've got a better team than Hereford and should have beaten them. Pampa has better balance than any team in our district and they certainly have the best defense," Lamberson said.

After a 6-4 record and a thirdplace finish in district in 1989, the Raiders went into this season missing most of their veteran players.

"Right now, we're just working on the basic stuff, blocking and tackling. We've got a very young that doesn't make Cavalier forget team and I'm just trying to get these younger players to block and tackle better," Lamberson said.

Pampa, 3-2-1 overall, bounced back strong to down Borger, 29-14, last Friday night after tying Hereford, 24-all, in the district opener two weeks ago.

The win was crucial for Pampa Although the Raiders haven't since Borger had opened district play by defeating Dumas, 21-6. Standouts were plentiful for the Harvesters.

On offense, running back Wayne Richardson caught seven passes Cavanaugh scored two touchdowns and rushed for 165 yards. Fullback Zach Thomas also scored twice while rushing for 68 yards.

On defense, end Chris Archibald had six tackles, included three solos, and a quarterback sack. Quincy Williams and Sammy Laury each had a pass interception.

Kicker Todd McCavit also played an important role. He took advantage of 30 mph winds to boot the ball out of the end zone four times and was 3 of 3 on PAT.

'McCavit does a great job of kicking. And the best part is that he's just a junior," Cavalier said.

The Pampa-Randall game kicks off at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Randall.

Norman tied for Nabisco lead

By BOB GREEN AP Golf Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — The slaughter at St. Andrews sent Greg Norman spiraling into a summer-long slump.

"It's been like two seasons, up and down, peaks and troughs," Norman said, and admitted the thrashing administered by Nick Faldo on a July Saturday in Scotland precipitated his slide into the golfing doldrums.

The two were tied for the lead and played head-tohead in the third round of the British Open. Faldo, who went on to a victory, humbled Norman 67-76. He hasn't been the same since.

Not until he turned things around with 5-under-par 66 that tied him with Tim Simpson for the first-round lead Thursday in golf's richest tournament, the $3.5 million Nabisco Championships. "I got into some bad habits. I didn't want to practice.

I let some complacency slip in," Norman said, and added: "You can't do that." So he imported his long-time teacher, Charley Earp, from Australia to Florida for two weeks of intensive "Charley's known me since I was a 27-handicapper.

He got my swing back in the right plane.

"I know I'm solid now. My confidence is on the rise.

My putting is much better.

"I feel I'm back where I was before that Saturday in St. Andrews, back where I was when I felt I was going to shoot a good score every round I played," Norman

He signaled the end of the long slump in convincing fashion, playing the three par-5 holes 4-under and then gaining a share of the top spot with a 17th-hole birdie. Simpson, a winner last week in the Disney tournament, scattered seven birdies in his effort over what he called "the longest booger I've ever seen," the Cypress Creek course at Champions.

The course, site of the 1969 U.S. Open, is listed at 7,187 yards. But Simpson says "it's 7,400 if it's an inch.'

Nick Price and Jodie Mudd were tied for third at 68, two back of the co-leaders. Price got there despite a double bogey on the double-tough 11th hole. Mudd got there despite himself.

"I got away with murder," said Mudd, who hit only six fairways and 12 greens — and did not have a Billy Mayfair and Chip Beck were next at 69. The only others in the field of the top 30 money-winners of the year to break par 71 were Davis Love III and Peter Jacobsen. They had 70s in the gusty winds.

The current Open champion, Hale Irwin, could do no better than a 75. PGA title-holder Wayne Grady shot 72, and defending Nabisco champ Tom Kite was two Norman, who won two American titles before his slump, spiced his round with a 40-foot sand shot for an eagle-3 on the fifth hole.

He birdied the other two par-5's and, at one point, was two in front of the field and threatening to run But he bogeyed the 15th after driving into the trees, then three-putted the next hole.

That dropped him one shot behind Simpson. But Norman bounced back with a 15-footer on the

Georgetown cager chooses Texas Tech GEORGETOWN (AP) — Georgetown High School basketball standout Lance Hughes says he is committing to Texas Tech University. Hughes, a 6-4 forward, averaged 28 points and 10 rebounds a game for the District 14-5A runner-up Eagles last season, and was also heavily recruited by Colorado, USC, San Francisco, Texas A&M, Rice, Baylor, Stephen F. Austin and Sam Houston St.

"There is a good chance to play right away at Tech," Hughes said Wednesday. "I really liked the facilities and the players were real high on Coach (Gerald) Meyers and the assistants."

Hughes, whose father Brent played for Texas from 1957-60, set a school record with 56 points in a game last season against A&M Consolidated.

Hughes was listed in the top 15 best recruits in the state by the Texas Basketball Report and was tabbed a Top 25 prospect by the Houston Post.
