

Chessman Escapes Death For 8th Time

By ROBERT STRAND
 United Press International
SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI)—Convict-author Caryl Chessman escaped the gas chamber for the eighth time early today when Gov. Edmund G. Brown granted a 60-day reprieve less than 10 hours before the scheduled execution.

The reprieve marked another major victory for the 38-year-old robber-rapist in his 1 1/2 year battle—which appeared to have ended in defeat.

Brown, in announcing his decision in Sacramento, said he wanted "to give the people of California, through the Legislature, a chance to express themselves once more on capital punishment."

The governor said he would call a special session of the Legislature concurrent with a scheduled March budget session to allow the Legislature to explore the matter.

"I hope the Legislature will abolish capital punishment, but I, of course, will abide by its decision—whatever that decision may be," he said.

The 1958 Legislature turned down an attempt to abolish capital punishment, as have other California legislatures in recent years.

Chessman received the news in a cell just 13 steps from the gas chamber, where he was scheduled to die at 10 a.m. p.m. (1 p.m. a.s.l.). He was transferred from cell No. 23 on the sixth-floor of death row Thursday afternoon.

Brown said he received thousands of communications in the case that centered not so much on the person of Caryl Chessman as on whether California should continue capital punishment.

"If the people, acting through their elected representatives, determine that the present law shall be continued in effect, Caryl Chessman will be executed under the law," the governor said.

He said another factor in his decision was a telegram he received Thursday night from Roy R. Rubottom Jr., assistant secretary for inter-American affairs in the State Department.

Rubottom's telegram said: "Through our embassy in Montevideo the National Council of the Government of Uruguay (the nation's nine-member executive authority) has tonight (Thursday) brought to urgent attention of State Department grave concern of council over anticipated hostile demonstrations of student elements and others to Chessman execution when our President (Eisenhower) visits Uruguay March 2."

None of the Latin American countries Eisenhower will visit invokes the death penalty. The Chessman case has caused considerable interest in South America, particularly in Brazil where a heated debate is raging over whether to institute capital punishment.

Chessman appeared to be doomed Thursday when the state Supreme Court turned down the last of many appeals for a stay of execution. Even he admitted that his chance for a reprieve was "one in a million."

The governor said earlier that he could take no further action as the case.

Attorney Rosalie Asher went to Sacramento Thursday night in hope of seeing Brown with a new appeal. After a conference with Brown's clemency secretary, Cecil Poole, it was announced that Miss Asher's evidence didn't carry enough weight to allow her to see the governor in person.

But the reprieve came for the Los Angeles boy who began his life of crime by stealing bread and milk and nearly ended it as one of the most controversial figures in the world.

During his long stay on death row, Chessman sidestepped seven previous execution dates by waging an unbelievable legal battle—and still found time to write a best-selling novel.

Chessman was 35 and had a long criminal record when Los Angeles police officers James Reardon and Robert May arrested him after an 85-mile-an-hour chase on Jan. 25, 1948.

He was charged with being the "Red Light Bandit" who terrorized couples parked in lovers' lanes.

AND THEN SOME!

They'd Walk A Mile For A Blonde!

BANGOR, North Wales (UPI)—Identical twins Howard and Vaughan Clarke set out today on a 100-mile "walkathon for a prize of great worth—the hand in marriage of the pretty blonde they both love."

The strapping, six-foot-tall brothers, 19, planned to walk from Bangor University to Flint and back because coed Jean Gowan, also 19, just couldn't make up her mind which one to marry.

Losers of the walking match gets the consolation prize of being best man at the wedding. And if the marathon walk ends in a dead heat, "we'll try something else—perhaps a boxing match," said Howard.

Jean said she alternated in most frustrating way between a preference for Howard, then Vaughan, and finally decided the two electronics engineering students should hold a gentlemanly contest of some kind to settle her indecision once and for all.

Since Britain, led by self-styled "Superwoman" Dr. Barbara Moore, has been on a walking-contest jag of late, the boys decided that would be the most enjoyable way of winning Jean's hand and heart.

All three students insisted the contest was not a publicity stunt by which they could make money for "Rag Week," when students play pranks for charity.

"We are doing it for love, not money," said Vaughan.

"I'm sticking to my decision and will marry the first one back," said the girl who could not make up her mind.

"I love them both. We have thought carefully about who my future husband might be but we think this is the best way. The winner can take me to the school ball on Saturday, then we'll get the engagement ring."

It's A Boy! Queen, Baby Doing Well

By MARGARET SAVILLE
 United Press International
LONDON (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth gave birth to a boy today, her third child and the first infant born to a reigning British sovereign in 103 years.

The queen and her new prince—both reported "doing well."

The official announcement said "the queen was safely delivered of a son at 3:30 p.m. (9:30 a.m. c.s.t.) today."

"Her majesty and the infant prince are both doing well."

The announcement was signed by the Queen's doctors, John Peel, Vernon Hall, John Weir and Lord Evans.

The new arrival, whose birth touched off joyous celebrations throughout Britain and the Commonwealth, automatically became second in succession to the throne.

Princess Margaret, the Queen's sister, moved down automatically to fourth in succession, behind Prince of Wales, the little new Prince of Wales, the latter's younger brother, and Princess Anne, 9.

The first child born to a reigning sovereign here since Queen Victoria gave birth to her last child, Princess Beatrix, on April 14, 1857, brought great excitement to London and the entire Commonwealth.

The infant was born in the Belgian suite on the ground floor of the 600-room Buckingham Palace.

The newborn prince will not be named for several days.

All four of the Queen's doctors were on hand for the birth, and the crowd outside the palace gates had swelled to its largest size in days when the new child was born.

Lord Evans and Sir John Weir, the Queen's "family doctors," arrived shortly before 8 a.m. to join obstetrician John Peel who had spent the night inside the palace. They were followed a short time later by Dr. Vernon Hall, the anesthetist.

The Queen's confinement appeared to be following the same slow pattern for the births of Prince Charles and Princess Anne. The doctors were in attendance for two days before Charles' birth and 34 hours when Anne was born.

An official announcement said the Queen had passed a "quiet night." Her health apparently remained good.

House, Churchmen Throw AF 'Book' At Each Other

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Powerful congressional investigators and church groups lined up today on opposite sides in the mushrooming controversy over an Air Force manual linking some U.S. Army sergeants with Communism.

Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) of the House Committee on Un-American Activities defended the guidebook after Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House launched it and ordered a full-armed Services Committee denunciation it and ordered a full-scale investigation.

Rep. Frank Kowalski (D-Conn.), meanwhile, disclosed still another Air Force booklet giving food personnel detailed instructions on how to use a knife, fork and spoon. "The fork is used to lift, turn or move large or small pieces of food in a sanitary and practical manner," is one quote.

Kowalski, a former Army colonel, previously has made public Air Force manuals for orderlies and officers' club managers telling how to make beds, wash generals' dogs, stage fashion shows and round up dates for bachelor officers.

Walter said late Thursday that charges in the manual linking churches with Communism were true. He said he might investigate withdrawal of the publication, part of a training course for non-commissioned air reserve officers.

Reputation and withdrawal of the manual, announced Wednesday by Air Force Secretary Dudley C. Sharp, "creates the impression that everything in it is false," Walter declared. "Actually he charges that were made are true."

He said some of the material was presented in an "unfortunate" manner and could have been deleted or rewritten instead of pulling back the entire pamphlet.

The National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., which touched off the controversy by protesting to Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr., stuck by its guns. "We stand on the statement that we made that every charge in the manual was not true," the council said.

Space Men Leave Experimental Cab

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—The tiny space age "Efficiency Apartment" that was home for two Air Force sergeants for two weeks today was being dismantled for a thorough scientific check.

T.Sgt. William W. Henderson, 30, of Alice, Tex., and Hobart M. Craft, 36, of Wadsworth, Ala., left the new experimental space cab in Thursday after 14 days of isolation while they tested the cab's fitness as a training device for astronauts.

The airmen agreed "it's a bright world" as they left the eight-by-12-foot cabin in the glare of a hot sun and bright television lights.

Both sported short, well-groomed beards and complained of wobbly legs and slight headaches. Henderson lost weight and Craft gained a half-pound on his diet of dehydrated food.

A spokesman for Minneapolis-Honeywell Co., manufacturer of the cabin, said he was "generally pleased" with the cabin's performance during the "shakedown cruise."

Henderson said he would do it all over again if his wife would let him. Mrs. Henderson, the mother of four small children, told United Press International.

"He's had his share of rest and quiet. He'll have an extra share of baby sitting to do."

Henderson was given a re-enlistment bonus check of $195 as he left the cabin. Craft asked, "where's mine?" Henderson has 12 years in the Air Force. Craft has 17 years in service—14 in the Navy.

The airmen recommended to the Air Force's School of Aviation Medicine that equipment and supplies be relocated in the cabin. They also said they worked on the water recycling system during their confinement.

Space Funds Are Approved By Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Appropriations Committee today granted every penny of the $3 million dollars the administration requested to speed up the nation's space program.

The new funds, to be used by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration during the present fiscal year ending June 30, will go mostly for the Mercury man-in-space project.

The funds were contained in a supplemental appropriation bill which the committee sent to the House floor for action next Tuesday.

Approximately half the money has been earmarked for Mercury research and development. Another $6,800,000 is for construction of additional tracking equipment for the project.

In a report to the House, the committee said the NASA headquarters here had "far too many legal and information specialists."

The committee also said that too many scientists being used as administrators "could be doing productive research."

Symington To Blast Ike's Defense Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A leading Democratic critic of President Eisenhower's military program planned a major new attack today in advance of the chief executive's radio-TV defense of his policies.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), who has said he is "available" for the Democratic presidential nomination, promised to deliver the new criticism in a Senate speech.

Symington and other Democrats contend the administration is allowing Russia to get so far ahead of this country in missiles that the Kremlin will be tempted to launch a surprise attack. Eisenhower and Republicans argue that U.S. defenses are adequate to deter attack.

The Missouri senator, air secretary under President Truman, charged in a Jan. 27 Senate speech that the administration had "juggled" intelligence estimates of Soviet missile strength in order to balance the budget.

Eisenhower, speaking with cold fury at his news conference Wednesday, denounced as "despicable" any suggestion that he had deliberately misled the American people.

Angry answering a questioner who did not cite Symington or any other defense critic by name, Eisenhower said he would like to tell anyone who accused him of misleading the nation what he thought of him.

The President announced at the news conference that he would go on nationwide radio-TV Sunday to discuss his forthcoming Latin American trip and also U.S. military power.

LT. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever said Thursday the government probably would decide in 30 days whether to push all-out development of military satellites which could detect a Soviet missile attack the instant it was launched.

Finch-Tregoff Trial Drawing To Close

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—It's all over today in the Finch-Tregoff murder trial but the final arguments and the verdict which could send the handsome surgeon and his young mistress to death in the gas chamber.

Opposing attorneys begin their summations next Tuesday after a four-day rest. The jury of seven women and five men was expected to begin deliberations a week from today.

The panel will attempt to wade through more than a month of conflicting testimony as told by prosecution and defense witnesses and arrive at a decision on whether Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, and Carole Tregoff, 23, plotted and carried out the July 18 gunshot slaying of the physician's wife, Barbara Jean, 36.

Testimony in the sensational trial came to a close Thursday like it began in early January—with the quiet answers of pretty Marie Anne Lidholm, the Swedish exchange student who worked in the strife-ridden Finch household. The jury was locked up for the first time after testimony ended and will remain in seclusion, except for its courtroom appearances, until final deliberations begin and a verdict is reached.

Superior Judge Walter R. R. Evans apologized from the bench for ordering the sudden and unusual seclusion of the jury during today's recess and the long Washington birthday weekend but he said he felt it necessary in view of "pressures" surrounding the trial.

Government To Get More Tax Collectors

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Appropriations Committee today put up funds to hire 900 new federal tax agents and provided the Internal Revenue Service to make better use of its collectors to crack down on tax evaders.

The committee took the actions in approving a $4,795,414,000 bill to finance the Treasury and Post Office departments and the U.S. Tax Court in the 12 months starting July 1. Internal Revenue is part of Treasury.

The bill carries 1102,439,000 less than President Eisenhower requested—and, according to the committee, $136,074,000 less than appropriations to date for the current bookkeeping year.

Actually, the comparison with this year's spending is somewhat misleading. The current year's funds included a one-time appropriation of 280-million for the Inter-American Development Bank. With this excluded, the new bill calls for generally increased spending.

The administration had asked (See FUNDS, Page 3)

Fidel Says U.S. Plane Was 'Pirate'

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro demanded today that the United States halt "savage" attacks on Cuba's canefields by "pirate" planes which he said come from Florida.

In a three-hour and 15 minute television speech, Castro referred specifically to a light plane which exploded in flight early Thursday near Perico, Cuba.

He said one of the two occupants of the plane—both of whom were killed—has been identified as Robert K. Frost, of Eugene, Ore. The second man's identity is unknown. The bodies of the two men are being brought to Havana.

Castro welcomed a U.S. offer to send experts to check the nationality of the plane—a Piper Comanche—and the identity of its occupants.

Castro also hailed this country's new trade agreement with Russia as "one of the best ever signed by Cuba." He said he would welcome a similar pact with the United States.

The plane, apparently blown up by the fire of Cuban soldiers and militiamen, exploded just before 9 a.m. near a sugar mill where 264 Cubans were working.

Crackdown On Arms Smugglers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department has been empowered to seize arms and munitions—and vessels or aircraft containing such articles—intended for illegal export from the United States.

President Eisenhower issued the order Thursday. Asked if it was intended to prevent arms smuggling to Cuba, Associate White House News Secretary Anne Wheaton said she assumed it applied to anyone shipping arms illegally.

The announcement said Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers would designate the Federal Bureau of Investigation to exercise the seizure powers.

Highway 60 Group Holds Convention

Approximately 50 delegates from cities in Texas along U.S. Highway 60 met at the Coronado Inn this morning for the annual convention of the U.S. Highway 60 Association.

Guy Lawrence, president of the Texas Branch, Hereford, presided over the business session which began at 9:30 a.m.

Mayor Ed Myatt delivered the welcoming address to the group. Featured speakers included Charles (Chili) Smith of the Texas Highway Dept., and Mrs. Edith Belle, executive secretary of the AAA office and the Texas Auto Club, from Amarillo.

Ben Ogden of Pampa, former president of the Texas Service Station Operator's Association was the principal speaker at the convention luncheon, which followed the business meeting. Approximately 75 guests attended the luncheon, held in the East Starlight Room at the Coronado Inn.

Science Fair Opens Today

The third annual Pampa Science Fair will open to the public at 7 p.m. today in the girls' gym at Pampa High School.

Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter, head of the high school science department, said there will be three divisions in the exhibits, including biological, physical, and psychological. Prizes of first, second and third will be awarded in each division to both group and individual entries.

She said there are 247 entries in the fair, and the four best intermediate entries, four best junior high and the six best senior high entries will be entered in the regional science fair in Amarillo March 25 through 27.

After exhibits are arranged, the gym will be cleared at 3 p.m. today for judging of the entries. The fair will then be opened to the public from 7 to 9 p.m. today, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Mrs. Ledbetter said each contestant must assemble his own exhibit. All exhibits must be removed from the gym between 3 and 4 p.m. tomorrow. She said "Any exhibits not removed by four will be destroyed."

The fair is open to all students of Pampa public and parochial schools.

Sent To Motor Pool After Army Learned He Could Recruit Only Girls

By FRED SPARKS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

BAD NAUHEIM, Germany (NEA) — I came here, headquarters for our Third Armored Division, to see Sgt. Elvis Presley wind up 24 months as a GI before reinvading civilian life.

I've penciled tight several notes on how girls, who should be learning how to make good apple strudel, camped outside the sentry gate pleading for a Presley button . . . how others soiled his jeep's windshield with lipsticked love notes.

All of which proves that an ocean and a language didn't change the jungle enthusiasm of Presley fans. The frauleins merely repeated the frenzy of their U.S. sisters so long hypnotized by his twang and shimmy.

Presley is a continuing story for me. I've written acres about how the Tennessee truck jockey, an amateur country-style rock-

IRS Has Tax Aids For Farmers

Social Security rules also apply to farmers and ranchers.

According to Wiley E. Davis, of Internal Revenue Service, Pampa, farm and ranch employees must report and pay Social Security taxes on cash wages paid to each farm and ranch worker whose total wages amount to $180 a year or if the worker performs agricultural services on 20 or more days and receives cash wages on a time basis.

Davis said that Internal Revenue has two free booklets for farmers, ranchers and their employees: Circular A, or the more comprehensive Farmers' Tax Guide, 1960 edition.

Although self-help by taxpayers is stressed again this year by Uncle Sam's collection agency, the Internal Revenue phone number is MO 4-2131. Special taxpayer assistance days for especially knotty problems is every Monday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The IRS office is located 120 W. Kingsmill St., Pampa.

billy singer, paid $4 in a drug store to make his first record, "My Happiness," backed by "When Your Heartaches Begin." He quickly became as catching, and as hard to cure, as the common cold.

Reports on Presley, which jam every newspaper morgue, sound like handouts from a press agent on marijuana. None explain the phenomenon. Perhaps that needs psychiatrists.

Elvis perhaps is the natural successor to Jimmy Dean, the genius of "Rebel Without a Cause," who got scrambled too young while Sunday driving at 90 mph on a California highway. Like Dean, Elvis has an atomic sex appeal that makes the 19-to-17-year-old jet set scream and jump as in the fertility rites of deep Congo tribes. Strictly for the girls.

When I asked an Army officer why they didn't use Elvis to help recruiting — instead of pen-penning vehicles — he gave the formal reply:

"Our studies indicate his basic appeal is to young girls."

Not seeking WACS, the Army sent Elvis to the motor pool.

"Colonel" Tom Parker, Elvis' Deep South manager who formerly specialized in cotton-picking one-night carnivals, knew this before the Pentagon. Which is why, as he packaged Elvis for stardom, he steered him clear of bookings in night clubs where four shrimps on a leaf of tired lettuce costs $2. Elvis is for the cokes and tootsie roll crowd.

Frank Sinatra, the only possible comparison, got started 20 odd years ago in cover-charge cellars like Manhattan's Copacabana. Frankie, too skinny for ready-made pants, was the type women who could afford milk wanted to mother.

No one, says "Colonel" Parker, wants to mother Elvis. The sweater girls want him to boss them, be a rugged big brother.

"In this easy, prosperous, peaceful time," says a German psychologist, "Elvis Presley is a much-desired throwback to the cave man."

A French columnist wrote:

"He's uninhibited, free, a true animal spirit. His songs tell us that hunger and sex are his only instincts; animal, all animal."

There have been gimmick singers before. Rudy Vallee used a was then being attacked as a "social menace" and an invitation to after school mischief.

Cautious triumphed. Only his upper half appeared on TV, Presley's belt became a new MARXON Dixon line.

Censorship and curiosity are the greatest salesmen; Elvis was IN and asked and got $25,000 for singing a few classics like "Get Off My Blue Suede Shoes" and "Heartbreak Hotel." And, of course, squirming like a wet pool.

Once firmly on the golden glory trail Elvis acted as if a thousand-dollar bill was barfare.

"He spends money," says Cliff Gleeves, ex-Memphis disc jockey who is Presley's bodyguard, companion and cocktail shaker, "like it was going out of fashion."

Elvis bought Cadillacs by the pair and had them fitted up as unobtrusively as a Ubangi smoking a Roman candle. He got the roller skating bug and rented a rink by the month. He gave small dinner parties chautesubriand and grits — for 160.

'Confession' To Be Viewed

BOFTON (UPI) — A disputed "voluntary confession" by Willem Van Rie was expected to be introduced today at his trial on a charge of murdering his ship-board paramour.

Superior Judge Frank J. Murray ruled Thursday the confession was admissible.

The all-male jury left the courtroom while Boston Homicide Chief Joseph E. Fallon testified to the Van Rie statement. Under cross-examination, he conceded the handsome Dutch radio operator had been interrogated for eight hours by relays of detectives in Brooklyn, N.Y. during the night of Sept. 29 and the morning of Sept. 30.

In the confession, the 31-year-old defendant said he struck Freddy divorced Lynn Kaufman, 23, during a bitter lover's quarrel the night she died.

The confession was summarized earlier by New York Det. William C. McKeever in the presence of the jury, so its admission as evidence was not expected to introduce anything new.

Van Rie since has retracted it. Miss Kaufman's half-nude body was found last Sept. 19 on an island in Boston Harbor.

Army Fouls Up Tax Data

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army has fouled up withholding tax data sent to some soldiers for use in preparing their 1959 income tax returns, it was disclosed today.

The Army does not know how widespread its mistakes were. A worldwide warning was issued to troop commanders to investigate and make any necessary corrections.

The errors were made in Treasury Department W2 forms which are withholding tax statements showing total wages paid, federal income tax and social security tax withheld.

The Army so far has discovered mistakes in W2 forms issued to troops at Ft. Belvoir, Va., and Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

Some forms it was understood have shown that more tax was withheld than actually had been deducted from monthly payments to troops. In some cases, withholding and social security taxes were transposed on the form.

The Army blamed the mistakes on clerks who prepared the forms. It said no fault was found in its military pay voucher system.

'1st Robin' Flies in Airplane!

TUXEDO, N.Y. (UPI) — The first robin traditionally means spring is here — and Garden Director Fred Johnson has decided to speed things up.

Johnson, noting that his crocuses will be ready to bloom next week in the 125-acre Sterling Forest Gardens here, decided that a few orange-breasted robins were needed to complete the picture.

Robins generally have more sense than to fly to cold New York in February. So Johnson made arrangements to airlift 300 of them here in a warm plane.

He says the robins — and if tradition holds, spring — will be here next week.

New Type Payola Known As 'Spiffs'

By DICK WEST United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—By now we all know all about "payola." But how about "spiffs"?

When I say "spiffs" I'm not just making cat noises. I'm talking about the way that retail clerks make themselves a little extra scratch.

Suppose I go into a department store to buy someone a bottle of perfume for Christmas. I have a stupid look on my face and the sales lady sizes me up — correctly — as a bloke who knows nothing about perfume.

She waves a scent called "Love in the Hayloft" under my nose, extolls it as the Eve's apple of perfumery and sells me a hot couple of ounces before I can consider the consequences.

Chances are the sales lady is on somebody's "spiff" list. That is, in addition to drawing her salary from the store she is getting paid by a perfume manufacturer to tout "Love in the Hayloft" over other brands the store carries.

I am told that such payments, known as "spiffs" or "push money," are widespread in the retail trade. I used perfume as an arbitrary example; it happens on many products. It also takes many forms.

For instance, a drug-store clerk might be told that if he sells a certain number of bottles of a certain brand of headache remedy, he can have four bottles for himself.

Then he can sell the four bottles and pocket the proceeds.

This also can figure in the allotment of display space in a store. The manufacturer who is paying "push money" is likely to get his product on the front row of the shelf.

The Federal Trade Commission, as you know, has been cracking down on "payola." Well, I can't see that paying a disc jockey to plug a certain record is much different from "push money."

I called up Daniel J. McCauley Jr., the FTC general counsel, and learned that he has been having some thoughts along the same line. In fact, he raised that very question recently in a speech to a business group.

Under present rules, it is okay for a manufacturer to pay push money to a clerk so long as the clerk's employer knows about it.

So far, there is no requirement that they let the customer in on their little secret.

McCauley told me there was a good possibility the FTC would reconsider, in the light of the fuss over payola, whether a consumer disclosure rule should apply to "spiffs" as well.

Personally, I am all in favor of this. I buy a lot of things besides perfume in ignorance, and I figure a customer should give the clerk the business—not vice versa. Ably for release today.

for almost 8,000 new tax service employees, contending that each additional agent collected extra taxes far in excess of his salary.

But the committee said a "moderate and reasonable" step-up in tax personnel would be wiser. It said better use could be made of the tax men already on the payroll.

The committee recommended extra funds for the Post Office Department, providing for about 14,000 extra postal workers to keep up with the steadily increasing flow of mail.

Air Force Checks Training Manual

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force wants to make sure its servicemen know the fine points of using the knife, fork and spoon as well as how to wash officers' dogs, mix drinks, baby-sit and get bachelors dates.

Rep. Frank Kowalski (D-Conn.) today disclosed still another Air Force training manual—one for cooks and other mess officers—giving the knife-fork-spoon instructions.

Kowalski, a former Army colonel, branded some sections of the pamphlet a "ridiculous and fantastic waste of the taxpayers' money."

He found no fault with sections dealing with complicated kitchen equipment.

The lawmakers earlier made public manuals for orderlies and officers' club manager giving the dog-washing, drink-mixing, baby-sitting and date-getting instructions.

Teenage Girls Are Guests At Banquet

LEFORS (Sp) — The Teen-age girls' class of Church of Christ and dates were feted with a Valentine Banquet by their teachers, Mmes. Dale Brumley and Gene Robertson, and their mothers, on Thursday night in the civic center.

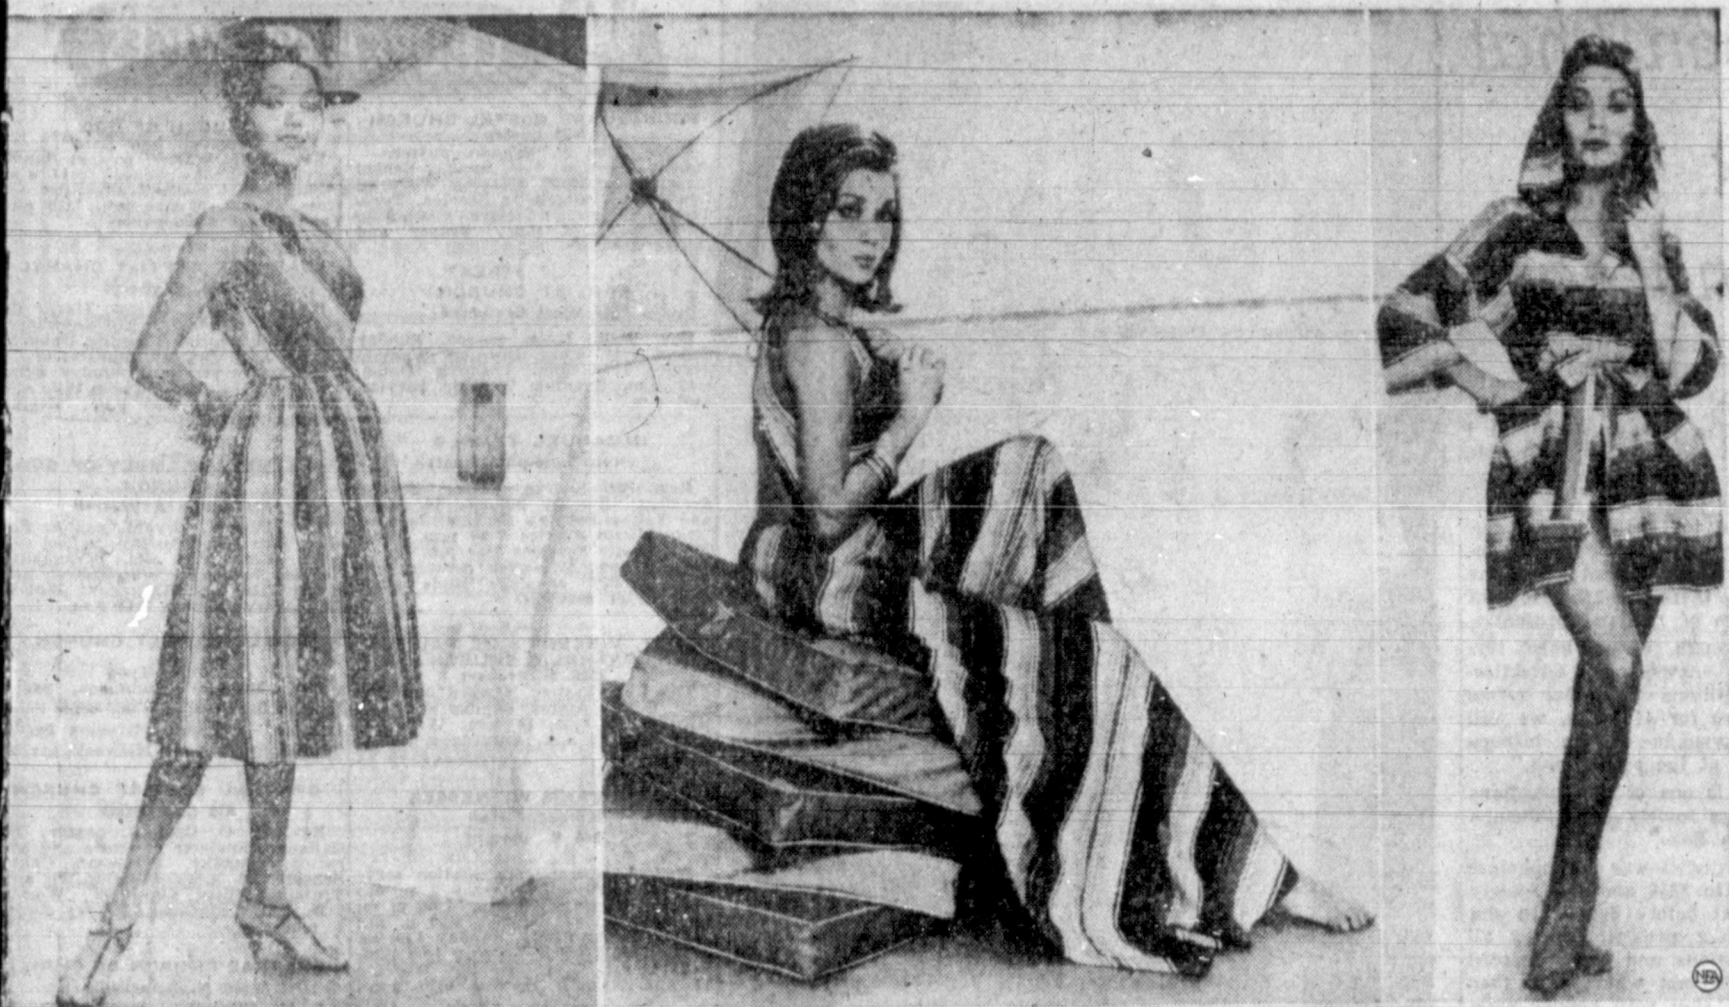

Upon arrival each girl's name was placed in a box marked, "Queen," and just before the activities began, the queen's name was drawn. The honor went to Miss Joynny Fleming and her escort, Larry Ables, who were crowned and seated at the head table.

Charlie Tutor, minister, was master of ceremonies. Music was played by the "Hot Spots," a high school band of six members from Pampa High School.

Mrs. Charlie Tutor, gave a comical reading.

Tables were covered in white, with red heart place cards in silver rosettes marking each place. The head table was centered with an arrangement of red long stemmed roses. The center pole was covered in red and white, and red heart emblems were hung from the ceiling.

Guests were Sue Crumrine, Terry Burns, Janet Osborne, David Scarberry, Gay Simmons, Cecil Ray Collum, Charles Coon, Larry Ables, Shayne Wiebanks, Troy Neimier, Nancy Burke, Mark Taylor, Sandra Weatherly, Barbara Henry, Ruth Martin, Bobby Arthur, Johnnie Fleming, Charlene Reeves, Wesslie Holt, Loretta Henry, Karen Orruth, Mickey Archer, Messrs. and Mmes. Gene Robertson, Dale Brumley, Charlie Tutor, Mmes. J. B. Martin, and Orville Henry.

For tropical beaches now and our own northern beaches next summer are these striped fashions in silky cotton. Supima cotton in an airy crepe is the fabric used by designer Pembroke Squires. Stripes are worked diagonally in the bodice of this beach dress (left). Self-cording is used for string-like at neck and is set in at the waistline. Dress is cut V-shape to the waist at the back. Here's the 1960 version of the famous beach pajamas of the 1930's (center). Top has diagonal stripes, halter neck. Pajamas are very wide, full and long for sweeping skirt effect. A hooded burnoose beach coat (right) is worn over matching two-piece bathing suit. Because stripes are bold and brilliant, cut of these fashions is deliberately simple.

Open Back Dress Makes Come-Back

By GALE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — It's back to the 1930s for the resort fashions of 1960. Yachting separates, beach pajamas, bathrobe dresses and dresses cut bias for flattery all are echoes of another era.

But where the fashions of the 1930s bypassed the figure in certain places, the new clothes play up a pretty figure. Bare midriffs, bare backs, side slits to reveal pretty legs and back slashes which show off apricot skin are all very much 1960 fashions, too.

In dresses, swimsuits and beach pajamas, the back will be bared to the waist. This means that the halter neck and narrow straps are back in favor.

Many of the new resort fashions are cut on the bias from silk and crepe fabrics which hang softly. Some of these are worn with straight-hanging jackets cut with a continental look. For these, blue and white are favored colors with sometimes just a dash of red.

The pleated skirt, most often in white flannel, will be seen at all resorts. It will be worn with an overblouse or with a jacket-like cashmere sweater in white or pastel.

Color emphasizes dazzling white. This is true for daytime or into evening and for prints with white backgrounds. Pastels are combined with stronger colors (pale blue with deeper blue) for daytime and the true pastels are kept for evening wear. There are many brilliant pastels, the strong limes and lemons and pinks, for daytime wear.

Tunics are shown for wear over playclothes or swimsuits and are cut long enough so that just an inch or two of the suit peeps out from under the tunic. The tunic even rings variations on the shirt and is shown both belted and unbelted.

Efficiency Of Bed-Making Shown By Demonstration At Lefors HDC Meet

LEFORS (Sp) — The efficiency of making a bed without lost motion was demonstrated for Lefors Home Demonstration Club by Mrs. R. W. Beck at a recent meeting of the club held in the home of Mrs. R. H. Bradford.

"Make your bed at least once each week with clean sheets and a complete turnover of the mattress; keep covers and pillows within easy reach by placing them on a chair at the side of the bed," stated the demonstrator. "Save steps by working on one side of the bed at a time; spread bottom sheet with center folds in center of bed; tuck sheet at head and foot, mitering each corner as sheet is tucked; Lay covers over chair as you take them off; put them back on in the same rotation. Pleasant covers at foot of bed for extra foot-room."

Mrs. O. O. Bishop, president, presided at a meeting as reports were given by Mrs. Ted Kendall, secretary. Roll call was answered with "Do You Think You Waste Motions-As You Work?"

A Valentine guessing game was led by Mrs. D. T. Pfeil, recreation chairman, who also led the group in a song, Mrs. Pfeil opened the meeting with prayer.

It was announced that representatives of the club were to meet in the school superintendent's office to choose a mower for the City Park.

It was announced, also, that $248 was collected in the Mother's March for Polio; and that all club members have paid their pe't tax.

Mrs. H. L. Braly will hostess the next meeting to be held Feb. 25, the program will be on "Home-made Games" presented by Mrs. Pfeil.

Members present other than those mentioned were Mmes. M. L. Rippey, Jeff Davis, A. M. Dickerson, B. J. Leninger, B. D. Vaughn, A. T. Cobb, R. H. Bradford, and Charles Roberts.

RUTH MILLETT

"What makes the 'middle years' such dangerous years for marriage?" asks a woman reader, who goes on to explain:

"In our town there have been so many divorces among couples in our age group (45-to-50), in the last five years, that it is almost frightening."

The middle years aren't dangerous years for a couple who have been happily married all the while. But they can be dangerous for a couple who never have had much in common, or who have stuck together for the sake of the children, or who have refused to compromise and have stubbornly gone their own separate ways.

When such a couple finally reaches the middle years, one or both, against continuing marriage that offers so little happiness.

If all they had in common was the children, they are sure to feel lonelier than ever with each other, when the children leave home.

And if they are desperately unhappy together, it is easy for them to think, "If we are ever going to have a chance for happiness, we had better make a break now and go our separate ways."

The pity is that often the marriage could be saved if both would make a real effort to change its pattern. It takes effort to make a new life apart — and but all too many middle-aged couples who find their marriages less-than-satisfactory aren't willing to exert themselves to make the marriage better. So they divorce.

But they rarely "live happily ever after," even though they are sure they will if they can just call their marriage quits.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine divorces with a fine little boy good job. She spends many ends on trips with her "boy" (married) while leaving on with his father. She tells me and her ex-husband that she is staying with me and my nd.

DEAR ABBY: My uncle, who is visiting us from out of town, is supposed to be the high society member of our family. He has lots of money and says and does what he pleases.

I arranged a small dinner party in his honor and invited a charming widow to be his dinner partner.

My uncle is unmarried and in his sixties. She is in her fifties. My uncle paid no attention to her whatsoever. When she helped herself to dessert, he said, "You don't need that — you are already too-fat." She replied, "You are very rude to say that."

Then he countered with, "Oh, I thought you were too OLD to mind."

GOOD FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Tell her (without flitting in judgment) that only she and heart-break can come constant deceit and, as near as you want no part of it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going a certain young man for about off and on but never steady. I know that I have a birthday up pretty soon and he has me to tell him what I would really would like a "sweet-chest." Do you think he get the idea that I am trying to rush him into marriage if I this suggestion?

'Ethan Frome' On Television Was Much Better Than Book

TELEVISION IN REVIEW By FRED DANZIG United Press International NEW YORK (UPI) — For once, CBS-TV's DuPont Show of the Month attempted a story that wasn't over-ambitious.

inspired choice. Clarice Blackburn captured the curdling personality of Zeena and tossed in the most chilling sneer ever seen on TV. Alex Segal was the director. He, too, did an excellent job. From Edith Wharton's early-century sick joke, adapters Jacqueline Babin and Audrey Gellen improvised a story that packed much more impact than the book, which was, after all, generally mishandled by Miss Wharton.

Dirksen Calls For Speedup On 'Rights'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen called today for a Senate speed-up on civil rights legislation despite assurances of House action by mid-March. The Illinois senator suggested that a civil rights bill might be enacted sooner if the Senate expedited its own measure.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Rev. J. S. McMullen First Assembly of God

"THE HEART OF MAN"

David said, Create in me a clean heart, O God. Psalms 51:10. Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life. Prov. 4:23.

I suppose, the physiologist would say, "the heart is the central organ of the vascular system", a hollow muscular structure that propels the blood alternate contractions and dilations. Common usage would declare that the heart is the seat of the affections and passions.

Literary usage would declare that the human heart is the source of wit, courage, grief, pleasure etc.

The heart is used in the scriptures as the figure of the seat of man's moral being, the center and source of the outward life. Our Lord teaches that the heart is the fountain from which flows the issues of life. The thought conduct and speech of man come from the heart. The heart will become a cesspool of evil unless controlled by the Holy Spirit.

The heart is a mass of muscle, weighing about three quarters of a pound. It has the hardest job of any organ in the body. Hold out your hand, clench the fingers into a fist, then let them relax. Imagine yourself repeating this seventy times a minute, hour after hour, from birth until death, 4,320 times per hour, 100,000 times a day, 40 million times a year. That is the appalling assignment of the heart.

When the Bible speaks of the heart, it means more than that little fleshy engine of energy within the breast. The Bible heart consists of the intellect, sensibilities, the will and the conscience, not just the engine. God said, give me thy heart.

Paul said to Simon Magus "Thy heart is not right with God." He did not mean that his heart was physically diseased. But that his heart was full of evil thinking. For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, "and evil eye", blasphemy, pride, foolishness, all these evil things come from within and defile a man. Mark 7:21-23.

THE HEART THINKS: Hebrews 4:12. For the Word of God is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart, Matthew 9:4. Jesus knowing their thoughts said, wherefore think you evil in your heart?

THE HEART REASONS: The Pharisees reasoned in their hearts, Jesus said, why reason ye things in your hearts?

THE HEART BELIEVES: Romans 10:9-10. Paul said, That if thou shalt confess in thine heart that God hath raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved.

The spiritual life or the abundant life comes through the inward man by faith in God, and not through the five senses.

Sandies Top Harvesters; Tie For Fourth

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

AMARILLO — The Amarillo Sandies handed the Pampa Harvesters their second sudden-death overtime loss of the season here Thursday night, 84-82.

The Sandies and Harvesters finished their seasons in a tie for fourth place in District 3-A. Both closed the year with 6-8 district marks. The Harvesters final season record is 16-9.

Amarillo scored its winning basket only four seconds after the beginning of the second (sudden-death) overtime. Johnny Garcia of the Sandies got the tip off the center jump, dribbled down court, and toasted in an effortless layup shot to give Amarillo its first win over Pampa since the 1954-55 season.

The Sandies had started the game as if to make a runaway of it. They scored 14 points in the first six minutes on two baskets by Jerry Avery, two by Harold Denney, two by Garcia, one by Gary Pattinson, a free throw by Denney, and another charity toss by Denney. In the meantime, Pampa managed to score only four points, on a basket and two free throws by Joe Timms.

During the next two minutes Craig Winborn and Pat Carter sank baskets for Pampa, while Avery dunked a set shot for Amarillo. The Sandies led at the end of the first quarter, 16-8.

The Harvesters, paced by three baskets by Winborn, cut two points off the Sandie lead and trailed 24-18 with three minutes remaining in the half. Then Carter swished the net with a long shot, Winborn sank a 15-footer, and Carter hit a 25-footer. With 1:30 remaining in the half, the score was tied for the first time, at 24-24. A Sandie basket and two Pampa free throws followed, and the score was tied at halftime, 26-26.

Harold Denney, the Sandies 4-4 center, scored eight of Amarillo's 10 points on four baskets in the third period — to keep Amarillo ahead through most of that quarter. However, a basket by Carter tied the score at 36-36 with 45 seconds left, and free throw by Wise put Pampa ahead, 36-48.

With 13 seconds left on the clock, however, Pattinson again made a basket to tie the score at 50-50, sending the game into overtime.

Stroud put Pampa ahead early in the first overtime, 52-50, with another jump shot, but the pesky Pattinson drove under for a crisp shot moments later to knot the count at 52-52. This marked the fifth time during the night that Pattinson had personally tied the score or put Amarillo in the lead. The period ended with the score still tied, Pampa had the ball during the last 29 seconds, but was too closely guarded to take a shot.

Then came the second overtime, and Garcia's fatal basket.

Pattinson was by far the most valuable player for Amarillo. He made 24 points on 10 baskets and four free throws, and scored most of his points at crucial times. He tallied most of his points on long jump shots.

Despite the fact that the Harvesters lost the game, all six Pampa players did a good job of "clutch" shooting. Allen Wise scored only three points, on a pair of free throws and a single charity toss—but both times he put Pampa in the lead.

Stroud scored only four points on two baskets—but both put the Harvesters in the lead; Gist, with a total of eight points, twice put Pampa ahead with pairs of free shots; Timms kept Pampa in the game almost single-handedly in the first quarter and tied the score once in the fourth quarter with a free throw. He scored 11 points for the night.

Carter, with eight total points, scored the basket which pulled Pampa even with the Sandies, for the first time, in the second quarter; and Winborn, with 18 points, put Pampa ahead once in the fourth quarter with a basket.

Tuesday's contest was the last high school game for Winborn, Timms and Gist. Hershel Terrell and Leslie Stanfield have also completed their basketball eligibility.

STAR MOLD

Almanza Aiding Longhorn Drive

AUSTIN (UPI) — A gangling Latin-American lad who would draw cries of "ole" from his countrymen in Mexico for his spectacular comeback this month has helped boost the University of Texas into a tie for the South-west Conference basketball leadership.

For Albert Almanza, a 6-foot, 8-inch junior, February has proved to be the "month of decision" and his resurgence has helped Texas knock off two of its most formidable rivals — Texas A&M and Southern Methodist, with whom the Longhorns share the conference lead.

The comeback trail started Feb. 3 when Almanza scored 17 points and netted 11 rebounds against North Texas State, a non-conference opponent.

In the five games starting that night, Almanza—a native of Chiapas, Mexico—has piled up 85 points for a 17-point per game average. Almost one-half his entire season total over 19 games has come in the last five contests. His full-season total is 175 points.

Almanza's new spirit of aggressiveness and "batting the boards" also has paid off in the rebound columns. His season total is 113, and 50 of those have come in the last five games.

"He got in a slump like a lot of baseball players do," explains Almanza's coach, Harold Bradley, who has led the Longhorns out of the depths of a 4-20 season last year to their present 14-3.

"But he's shown he has a lot inside. He kept working and kept working. He developed confidence. It was a matter of self-determination that enabled him to do it," Bradley said.

Almanza, now 23, was an average high school student at El Paso, with one year of school remaining—when he decided to Austin to finish his high school studies. He took a part-time job, graduated, and then entered the University of Texas.

Almanza, skilled in a variety of shots including a good jump shot and an occasional look, played in Mexico in the Pan-American games last summer and was named to the all-star squad in Chicago.

Paul Harvey Leads In Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Paul Harvey led a tightly-bunched field into the second round of the $22,800 Tucson Open today, only one stroke ahead of seven other touring professionals.

Harvey, of Worcester, Mass., climaxed his fine opening round of 64 Thursday with an eagle-3 on the 18th hole on the El Rio Country Club course.

Six golfers turned the trick in 65, led by Arnold Palmer, Ligonier, Pa., former Masters champion with a strong accent for big prize money. Palmer, winner of the Palm Springs Desert Classic, shot a 64-29, breaking the course record for the back nine.

Peace Again Reigns At Olympics -- Almost

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) — Pigeons, politicians and patrons gave way today to the athletes who came to do competitive battle on the slopes and rinks of Squaw Valley in the VIII Winter Olympiad.

Friendship and fraternity, the order of the day for Thursday's opening ceremonies, were once again in little evidence in these strife torn games.

The first of two gold medals will decide this afternoon — the winner of the men's cross-country skiing. But there still were grumblings among officials and athletes. They mostly concerned the weather — Thursday's storm. It "snowed away" one of today's scheduled feature events, the men's downhill ski race which was postponed until Monday.

But with the weatherman and ground crews cooperating, the competition was expected to be sharp in the cross-country, the

Russians Have Word For 'Yes'

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) — There is astounding news of international significance in the Olympic Village today.

The Russians — noted for saying "no" — actually have a word meaning "yes." And they can use it.

"Nyet," the Russian equivalent of got lost, has been famous ever since we swapped a hot war for a cold one. But, in the biggest literary news since that of the Dead Sea scrolls, now it can be told that the Soviets have a means of being affirmative.

"It's 'tak'."

This news, which might even give hope to the United Nations, was brought to light by, of all things — milk.

The American Dairy Assn. is operating a recreation hall and milk "bar" in the athletes' village at the current Winter Olympic Games.

In a world of sports where beer, cigars, cigarettes and razor blades are the major commodities dangled before watching youngsters, the cow juice fraternity should be commended for getting into the act.

Old Fearless made what might be described as a rare visit to a milk bar and was absolutely astounded at the merry mileage extorted by the athletes. A combo was jumping to "Mack the Knife" and the kids made it obvious that dancing, even in ski boots and rubber-soled overshoes, can be just as much fun as jumping at the Ritz with pink champagne.

Suddenly a tiny, black-eyed mite from South America shimmied up to a group in a manner that made us old folks remember Gilda Gray. Moving all the component parts in time to the beat of the music, she held out her arms in a dance invocation which needed no language. Four Russians just stared — and spooned up ice cream.

Flashing a smile as white as the snow piled up outside, she grabbed one Russian's arm and tugging mightily hauled him to his feet.

"F chohm d'yeh-ah?" he rumbled.

Yardley Outduels Wilt Chamberlain

By United Press International

George Yardley, the first player in the National Basketball Association to score 2,000 points in a season, proved too much of a match for sensational Wilt Chamberlain Thursday night.

Although burdened with five personals, the balding, ex-Stanford star, came off the bench to lead Syracuse to a 136-122 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors.

Yardley, re-entering the game with nine minutes to play, tallied nine points in a five-minute span to carry the Nats from a 105-102 deficit to a 121-112 lead.

Chamberlain fell below his .37 points a game average when he tallied 33 as high scorer for the contest. Dolph Schayes led Syracuse with 31.

The Boston Celtics also came from behind in the last quarter to defeat New York, 109-104, before a record crowd of 8,521 fans who attended the doubleheader at Syracuse's War Memorial.

Lake Worth Open

LAKE WORTH, Fla. (UPI) — Five veteran players and a rookie led the pro ranks' pulled front-runner Beverly Hanson into the second round of the Lake Worth Open golf tournament today.

Miss Hanson fired a one-over-par 71 Thursday to take a one-stroke lead over the rest of the field.

One of those at 72 was defending champion Betsy Raviv, Spartanburg, S.C., who had trouble on the greens.

Ten 'At Large' Teams Picked For NCAA College Tourney

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Evansville (Ind.) Purple Aces, defending NCAA college division basketball champions, and 10 other "at-large" teams have been selected for next month's 32-team tournament.

Twenty-three at-large teams and nine conference champions will clash in eight regional tournaments early in March. The eight survivors will compete for the NCAA small college title at Evansville March 9-10-11.

Evansville (18-8), the No. 1 team in United Press International's national ratings of small college teams, will play host in the Mid-East regional March 3-4.

Kentucky Wesleyan (12-8), Austin (18-4) and Belmont Abbey (16-5) were selected for the South-Central regional at Owensboro, Ky., March 4-5. Wheaton (138) and the University of Wisconsin's branch at Milwaukee (17-2) were named for the Great Lakes regional March 4-5 at Wheaton, Ill.

Warburg (15-4) was picked for the Midwest regional, Abilene Christian (11-11) for the Southwest regional and Chapman (17-9) and Regis (9-7) for the Pacific Coast regional. The sites of these three regionals will be announced later. Colorado College (13-2) also was named but the regional in which it will compete has not yet been selected.

Three Amarillans Win; Dunham Fights Saturday

PORT WORTH — The Amarillo team, won an unanimous decision over Ramon Rivera of El Paso. Rivera won the first round on aggressiveness, as his pressing style bothered Perez. However, Perez went to work on Rivera with body punches at the second round, and continued his attack during the latter part of the third round, to get the nod.

Gary Watt of Levelland, the Amarillo region's welterweight fighter, whipped a taller and rangier opponent, Juan Perez of San Antonio, in one of the best fights of the night. Watt consistently got the best of slugging exchanges, although his opponent had a definite reach advantage. Watt almost floored Perez in the second round, and did send him sprawling in the third with a right hook.

The two Corpus Christi fighters who won Thursday were defeated by 112-pound champion Humberto Barrera and 119-pound Johnny Lynch. Barrera knocked out Carl Conway of Abilene in the second round, and Lynch TKO'd Charley Jones of Dallas in the third.

Perez, Watt and Berzewski are expected to fight again Saturday night, as are Dunham and Amarillo's light-heavy entry, Elmer Clement of Canyon.

Two Amarillo region boxers, 112-pound Dale Gardner of Amarillo and 118-pound Albert Cavazos of Levelland will fight tonight. Gardner meets Angel Alba of Austin and Cavazos tangles with Claude Stanley of Galveston.

SCREENED—John Wessels of Illinois literally is being screened out of this play by Purdue's Jerry Berkshire in the game at West Lafayette. Terry Dischinger lends a hand.

NBA Reprieve To Don Jordan

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—Welterweight champion Don Jordan, threatened with loss of his welterweight crown today, has been given a reprieve by the National Boxing Assn. until complete results of his medical examination are received from California.

Jordan claimed a blood ailment was the reason he had not defended the 147-pound title since last July 10, violating the six-month defense rule.

But he also claimed he had recovered from the ailment and would be ready to defend against Cuban Kid Paré at Las Vegas, Nev., in May.

Miami Wins 11-B Crown

Another safe crossing

When a telephone man drives, safety comes first.

Two little girls dart into the street, unaware of an approaching telephone truck. The driver, on his way to install a phone for a new family in the neighborhood, slows to a stop as they cross. Not until the youngsters are safely on the other side does he drive on.

This quiet drama of safe driving doesn't make front-page headlines the way a major accident does. Yet it is the biggest story of all—the kids who aren't hurt crossing the street, the accidents that don't happen . . . because good safety habits prevent them from happening.

Driving safely is everyone's duty. But for telephone men it is more than that. It is a way of life. It is part of that special sense of responsibility that goes with telephone work: what we call the Spirit of Service.

A newspaper editor recently paid tribute to telephone drivers when he wrote:

"We salute the drivers of telephone company trucks. They never drive fast or recklessly; time and again we've seen them yield the right-of-way. They seem to apply the rule that the other driver is always right.

"It is nothing short of inspiring to see an entire corps of drivers display the courtesy and friendliness that are habitual with telephone company drivers."

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1960 Year

The Same Issue

Personally, we have always been attracted to the magnificent writings of Abraham Lincoln. Whatever he may have been as a politician, there is no doubt that many of his statements, written or oral, are, in essence, the work of a high caliber. As a literary figure, he ranks with the finest to have been produced in this hemisphere.

This month being the anniversary of Lincoln's birth, we have been thinking of him not so much as the Civil War president, but as the man whose mind was so alert and whose tongue was so active, in essays which many lesser persons wrote off as "fanciful" or "impractical."

One of the reasons why Lincoln invariably inspires us is the recollection that his was a free mind untrammelled by the cloying and clinging errors of a government school education. Lincoln did not have to spend years of his life forgetting the dreadful uniformity and mediocrity of government schooling. He was able, virtually from the beginning, to seek knowledge and wisdom with his own questing spirit as his guide rather than some lesser school master, intent upon his own scholastic norms.

Lincoln, we like to believe, achieved in great measure because he was able to set his own course. He didn't have to rid himself of the goals and dreams of others. He was an individualist, dreaming his own dreams and setting his own goals. His remarkable life gives evidence that others, too, granting they are free to make their own way, can achieve as he achieved.

We have been seeking among his treasured writings for some scrap of his literary endeavor which would rather well epitomize not only his noble personal character, but his grasp of the great fundamental issues which, in his day and in ours, play an identical role.

We have found something which serves rather well. Lincoln debated Justice Stephen A. Douglas seven times in the State of Illinois. The debates concerned the great issue of that day, slavery and freedom. Specifically, the verbal contest related to the possible extension of slavery to the new territories of the United States then being opened to settlement.

While Lincoln spoke always in whatever shape it envelops itself, the general subject of freedom and slavery and has, we believe, a unique implication in our time.

"That is the real issue. That is the issue which will continue in this country when these poor tongues of Judge Douglas and myself shall be silent. It is the eternal struggle between two principles—right and wrong—throughout the world. They are the two principles that have stood face to face from the beginning of time. They are the two principles that will stand face to face until the end of time. They are the two principles that will stand face to face until the end of time."

"In Defense Of The State University"

The Saturday Evening Post paid 64 cents postage to send me a copy of the Feb. 13 issue. They sent a letter saying they thought I might be interested in an article about Norman Rockwell as an illustrator-designer of the covers of the Saturday Evening Post. Not being a designer, I was not interested.

I did, however, glance over the magazine and found one article that I was interested in. The heading of it was "In Defense of the State University" by Paul Engle. He has taught English at the State University of Iowa since 1937.

I was interested in it because I wanted to find out what defenses could be made for state colleges. I wanted to find out how they would attempt to defend the rightness of forcing a car washer, a dishwasher and a common laborer who had no desire to go to college to be taxed and to have to pay a higher price for everything he buys in order to support the training or "education" of those who think they can get an education at a state college.

I was interested in knowing what they used as a standard of rightness to defend state universities. I was interested to know whether they believed that the means does not determine the results. I was interested to know if they thought only of the objectives—whether they would accomplish them or not, and not the means used to accomplish them.

Not a word about any of the important objections to state education. Not a word of defense, and undoubtedly there was no word of defense because I cannot think of any defense that gives the majority the right to force the minority to pay for something that the minority does not think is education simply because the majority thinks it is education.

The Post article has a lot of things to say. It has to do with all with defense of state colleges. It is an emotional approach, not a rational approach. One picture is of the Shakespeare class at the University of Michigan where Professor Marvin Felheim analyzes Hamlet, Romeo and Macbeth in terms of class life.

One wonders just why the person who is not interested in Shakespeare should help pay for building and professors and management and tax exemption for those who want to hear about Hamlet.

Professor Engle cites some things that state college men have accomplished. He has to do with, of course, of knowing whether they would have accomplished that or more if they had not been indoctrinated in statism and welfare at a state college.

He admits that the state colleges have problems, but he doesn't explain the fairness of excluding the middleheads and yet making them help pay for men and women who think they have a right to force the middleheads to help pay for their schooling.

He writes: "In brief, the amazing contributions of our universities in the arts, in science and in social thinking are so vital that it seems likely that our country's future security, as well as its future greatness, is bound up with them."

There is no truth in that, and the rapidity with which we are drifting toward state socialism and an ever-decreasing purchase and power of the dollar and ever-increasing taxes and ever-increasing crime and ever-increasing discriminatory laws that give one man an advantage over another and almost continuous wars, is undoubtedly largely the result of the social thinking in state colleges.

State colleges, of course, have to completely repudiate the ethical and moral ideas as set forth in the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence. They have to completely repudiate the statement in the Declaration of Independence that all men are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

The state diminishes the happiness of the man who does not want to go to college when it makes him help pay, by higher prices and higher taxes, to support these dreamers who think there aren't any eternal principles.

The professor seems to give credit for America's material progress to the fact that we have more tax-supported colleges than they have in Europe. But when America was the greatest they had no state colleges. When colleges were supported on a voluntary basis and people practiced voluntarism instead of involuntarism, we made progress. It is only since the state has largely taken possession of what is called "education" that people have discarded self-reliance and more and more have been inclined to want to run to the government to have assistance in everything.

Of course, the author ends up with a great plea for higher wages for college professors. Naturally they do not believe in a free market. They believe they have a right to use a tax pistol to force people to pay for something they do not want and you can never satisfy a man that believes in special privileges and the right to use a tax pistol to get his pay.

The Polo Beat Has Yielded To Politics

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

These folksy compositions recently dealt with the political subtleties of the Madison Avenue carnival spikers known as Tex and Jinx Falkenberg-McCrory who haltered General Eisenhower in his first campaign and, this year, are making grabs at Dick Nixon's nomination as high as $400,000 and not bad for a bar-stool cowboy from the staked plains of Texas (Yipp-ee-ee!).

Jinx helped determine the people's choice in 1952 by belting tennis balls into a crowd in New Hampshire toward primary day. Last summer, she latched onto Nixon's party for Moscow being technical press credentials but listed in the manifest as Tex's representative. The obvious just being cut all over, but they might grab the tail step of that bandwagon yet.

If gall can put them over, they are over.

Later, Whitney staked the New York Herald Tribune to $4,000,000 preliminary to taking over from the Reid family, and Tex was acclaimed as the husier who promoted that. The Tribune was utilized to pay, and deduct, a commission as high as $400,000 and not bad for a bar-stool cowboy from the staked plains of Texas (Yipp-ee-ee!).

I couldn't figure out why these fungicides failed to work when they worked so well under laboratory conditions. Now could I understand why the infection never spread beyond those pesky fourth and fifth toes. I suspected that others must have shared my confusion, for new preparations came on the market with regularity.

And experience led me to believe that where there are many preparations for the same complaint, it's a safe bet that no one of them is satisfactory.

Thanks to two recent contributions to our knowledge, my confusion has ended and with it has gone my embarrassment.

The first, reported by Dr. Rudolph Baer and his associates, deals with the experiences of 30 volunteers who permitted their feet to soak for a half hour in water heavily contaminated with ringworm fungus.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

I've often been embarrassed when I was called on to prescribe for a patient with ringworm. The cause for my embarrassment was a persistent fungus between the fourth and fifth toes of both my own feet.

I had experimented with every fungus-killing liquid, powder and ointment in the market. I tried faithfully through the fungicidal pools in gyms and locker rooms but all to no lasting avail. The infected area would clear after a few days. I'd discontinue treatment and then, after another few days, the cat would come back.

Prime Minister Nehru of India appears to have done an about-face in his border dispute with Red China, and in it some observers see the fine hand of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, his recent guest.

The seeming about-face occurred in Nehru's sudden invitation to Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to travel to New Delhi to talk over Red China's claims to nearly 50,000 square miles of land traditionally claimed by India.

A dozen Indian border policemen have been killed since last August in clashes with the Chinese in territory which Nehru has said he never will surrender.

Last December, Nehru brusquely rejected a Chou En-lai proposal for a meeting either in China or Rangoon on the grounds that the Chinese position was such "there was little ground left for useful talks."

His latest note to Peiping, dated Feb. 12 and made public three days later, repeated that "I do not see any common ground between our respective viewpoints."

Nonetheless, he said he believed "it might be helpful for us to meet."

With no change in either side's position, will the switch? Despite denials, Khrushchev

Auto Safety Stickers Due On Cars April 15

Sergeant E. G. Albers of the highway patrol today said motor vehicle safety inspections have slowed to a snail's pace with only 2,326 vehicles inspected in January.

The inspections brought the total checked since September 1, when this year's sticker went on sale, to 5,610, or 28 per cent of the 20,025 registered vehicles in Gray County.

Albers urged vehicle owners to have their vehicles inspected as early as possible to avoid delays in the last minute rush.

He said in past years crowds during the last few days before the deadline have lined up for several blocks waiting to get into the inspection stations.

The safety inspection sticker which must be on all registered vehicles operated over public streets, roads and highways by midnight, April 15, may be obtained at any of the 21 approved vehicle inspection stations in this county.

Others say it was because Nehru wanted a last minute check with Khrushchev on its contents. They also speculate that Khrushchev remained quiet and aloof from newsmen because he wanted to give no indication that the Soviet Union had re-entered the picture.

In any event, these same sources believe Nehru would not have risked his reputation on the possibility of a meeting with Chou without having some assurances about its outcome.

AF Manual Tells How To Stage Fashion Shows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressman today bared the contents of still another Air Force manual instructing airmen on how to stage fashion shows, round up dates for bachelors and mix drinks.

The book also advises persons who run officers' clubs to feed employees — often enlisted men — cheaper cuts of meat than those served to members.

The publication, which still is in use, is called "Open Mess Operating Manual." It was issued in 1957 by order of Gen. Nathan F. Twining, then Air Force chief of staff and now chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Rep. Frank Kowalski (D-Conn.) disclosed the existence of the manual in a letter urging the House Armed Services Committee to investigate all military training books.

The manual states that if getting dates for bachelor officers is a problem "call the nurses, women's colleges or the Junior

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — The trouble with the market now is that although the downside risk for the moment does not appear too great, it remains difficult to enthuse about the upside potential, according to W. E. Hutton & Co.

Stocks are becoming more immune to unfavorable news but reports from many basic industries that the rate of incoming orders is disappointing is not the type of thing which is stimulating the firm's points out.

"The small fraction of owners of stocks who are largely responsible for the day to day fluctuations in prices are an impatient lot, on the whole. They have been spoiled in recent years by having so many companies experience an unusual rate of growth," it says.

These investors, the firm adds, are unimpressed with companies not growing at 15-to-20 per cent a year, and with the so-called "growth" companies which have become so cyclical that they have difficulty in putting two good years back-to-back.

Purcell & Co. believes Studebaker-Packard should be "basing out" at around current levels. Notes that the Lark is selling well and that retail deliveries rose more than 10 per cent in the last 10 days of January over the previous 10 days.

Reynolds & Co. rates Serval an "interesting speculation." The company is following a growth-through acquisition program, the firm points out.
