PARIS (UPI) — The grandeur-hungry French nation Saturday hailed the Sahara Desert explosion of its first atomic bomb as a mighty step that made France "a great power in every respect."

An exultant President Charles de Gaulle exclaimed "Hurrah for France."

France became the world's fourth atomic power by exploding an atomic bomb atop a 330-foot steel tower Saturday morning.

The explosion at 7 a.m. (1 a.m. EST) took place in a desert area known as "the region of total thirst" 30 miles south of Reggane, formerly a tiny Sahara oasis some 700 miles southwest of Algiers.

President de Gaulle said the successful blast meant that France could now reinforce the defense potential of the West and would at the same time put it in a position to push for the realization of nuclear disarmament.

Elsewhere in the world voices were raised in anger and dismay, as well as praise over the French feat.

Communist China, which some feared might be the next to explode an atomic bomb, angrily charged the French blast was "in defiance of world public opinion."

In Moscow, Russia's official Tass News Agency issued a statement calling the French nuclear "cannot but complicate the solution of the total and universal disarmament problem."

The Japanese government announced it would protest at the French blast, which involved a relatively small bomb about the size of the first U.S. A-bomb that blasted Hiroshima in 1945.

In Ghana, one of the African nations that were fearful of a radioactive fallout from the blast on their continent, Premier Kwame Nkrumah announced all French assets there would be frozen until effects of the French atomic test blast became known.

In Paris, however, the French Defense Ministry announced flatly that "there was no radioactive fallout on inhabited areas" in the wake of the explosion.

Forty-six minutes after the explosion, De Gaulle sent off a cable to the Minister in Charge of Atomic Development, Pierre Guillaumont, saying:

"Hurrah for France. From this morning on France is stronger and prouder. From the bottom of my heart, I thank you and all those who have brought her this magnificent success."

Nobody pretended that France planned to stop at this first bomb, which made the French an atomic power along with the United States, Russia and Britain just three months before the East-West Summit Conference.

Another Sub Lurking In Buenos Aires Bay

Destruction Is Ordered

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — Argentine Naval and Air Forces have trapped a second mystery submarine — this one apparently undamaged — in the Bay of Golfo Nuevo, the Naval Ministry announced Saturday.

The announcement coincided with the arrival of two U. S. Navy planes loaded with modern anti-submarine equipment designed to bring the mystery ships to the surface or "kill" them.

The Argentine Navy was racing against an approaching storm, whipping up the coast from the Straits of Magellan, which might give the subs a chance to escape.

The Naval Ministry, communicating confirmed previous reports that a second submarine had sneaked into the 40-by-20 mile bay on Argentina's Patagonian Coast.

It said one of the subs was "apparently damaged," but the other appeared to be operating normally.

"Naval and Naval Air Operations in the area of Golfo Nuevo are continuing," the communique said.

The U. S. Naval planes brought in a new supply of depth charges, sonar, buoys, flares and other modern anti-submarine equipment which Argentina purchased to bolster its outmoded equipment.

But it was a question of whether the new supplies would reach the scene and be in action before the brewing storm broke, improving (See SUB, Page 3)

Chessman Uses Last Maneuver

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black turned down Saturday a new bid for a stay of execution for convict author Caryl Chessman who for 11½ years has fought against death in California's gas chamber.

Black rejected the latest Chessman legal maneuver in a 22-word ruling.

"Finding no substantial federal questions presented by this record, the application for certificate of probable cause and stay of execution is denied," he said.

Chessman, whose case has captured world-wide attention, is scheduled to die in San Quentin prison next Friday for kidnaping, robbery and sex crimes.

A Los Angeles attorney for the Civil Liberties Union, A. L. Wirin, had appealed to Black. Wirin had described Chessman's latest request for a stay as the condemned man's "last knock on any judicial door."

However, Chessman petitioned the Ninth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday to overrule an opinion of its chief judge, Richard H. Chambers. This could provide the basis for further legal maneuvering.

In addition, Wirin said he planned to appeal for mercy to California Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, if Chessman's legal string runs out.

No Leads In Mystery Of Missing Scion

By JAMES RAMSEY and LEROY HAMANN
United Press International

GOLDEN, Colo. (UPI) — A woman who lives less than one quarter mile from where Adolph Coors III disappeared Tuesday disclosed Saturday she heard the sound of a gunshot at about the time he apparently was abducted.

The woman, Mrs. W. J. Stitt, told United Press International she dismissed the gunshot as that of a "poacher" illegally killing game, as they often do in the mountainous area where Coors disappeared.

Just prior to the shot, Mrs. Stitt said, she heard the sound of men's voices.

"It might have been two men talking loud or maybe one man shouting twice," she said.

Mrs. Stitt said she believed the report came from a gun caliber larger than a .22 which she has often heard.

Mrs. Stitt and her family live in a ranch-style stone house less than a quarter mile from the bridge across Turkey Creek where Coors' blood-stained carpool truck was found abandoned. The motor running, by a milk deliveryman.

Coors is presumed to have been stopped as he tried to cross the narrow wooden bridge across the creek and spirited away by abductors.

'Lady Be Good' Crew Found

Mystery Solved In Libyan Desert

TRIPOLI, Libya (UPI) — The bodies of nine American airmen who vanished in the Libyan desert 17 years ago were disclosed Saturday to have been found earlier this week in a new chapter of the mystery of the Liberator bomber "Lady Be Good."

The bodies were discovered 85 miles from the spot where the "Lady" was stumbled upon by an oil exploration team last May, 380 miles south of Benghazi.

The plane had been missing after turning back from a bombing mission to Naples, Italy, on April 4, 1943.

The bodies were discovered Thursday by an oil explorer, James Backhaus, of Wyoming, according to a spokesman at Wheelus Air Base, the American Air Force station near here. The site is 440 miles southeast of Benghazi.

If it comes from a hardware store, we have it, Lewis Hdw. Adv.

The bodies were the first to be found since the Air Force began a series of searches after the empty bomber was discovered.

The "Lady Be Good" was found on a high plateau. Its tall assembly had broken off when it landed on automatic pilot after it ran out of fuel.

In June of last year, when the nine were officially declared dead by the Air Force, a spokesman speculated that they had bailed out of the plane after getting lost. The Air Force said the plane had turned back short of the target on the crew's first combat mission.

Wheeler officials, who flew to the site of the find Friday said the bodies of the other four crewmen might still be buried in the shifting sands near the spot where the others were discovered. The site is in an area known as the Calansho Sand Sea.

A Wheeler spokesman said a pair of sunglasses found with the bodies bore the name of 2nd Lt. Dp Hays, navigator of the mystery plane. The unusual name Dp came from the initials of his late father, David Peter Hays, of Lee's Summit, Mo. The officer's mother, Mrs. Isola Hays, died a year and a half ago. His sister, Mrs. George Barrett, lives in Independence, Mo.

Price Fixing Charges Dropped

TULSA (UPI) — Twenty-nine major U. S. oil companies were acquitted of price fixing charges late Saturday by U. S. District Judge Royce H. Savage, who ruled that the government failed to prove its charges that the firms conspired to raise prices during the Suez crisis.

"It's my judgment that the evidence in this case doesn't rise above the level of suspicion," Savage said.

Lovett Memorial Nurses Home Open House This Afternoon From 2 To 5

By JIM T. LACY
Daily News Managing Editor

One of Pampa's newest show-places will be open to the public this afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock, prior to occupancy Monday. It is the $142,000 Lovett Memorial Nurses Home on N. Hobart, south of Highland General Hospital.

The nurses home long has been needed in Pampa, the hospital center for the Texas Panhandle. It is a gift of the Lovett Estate, one of the last such gifts from the estate of the late Fannie and H. B. Lovett.

Hospital Administrator C. C. Lander said Saturday "It is a wonderful addition to the hospital and one which we have long worked for and anticipated."

Lander said that 10 unmarried nurses will occupy the home Monday. There is room for eight more, and if the larger rooms are used as doubles, 28 nurses can be accommodated in the new quarters. The cost to nurses is nominal, $20 and $25 per month, enough to cover utility costs and maintenance.

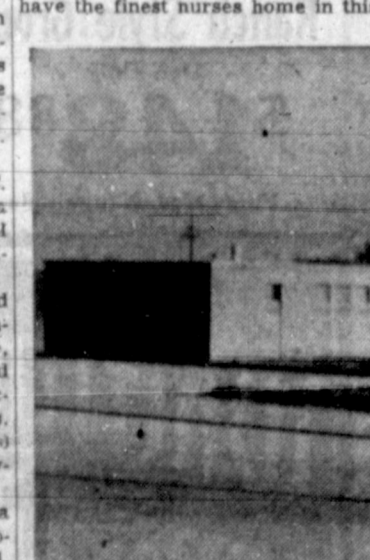

The nurses quarters will be a definite help in securing and keeping top flight nursing personnel, Lander said.

"It will provide the nurses with

"In a private home the average nurse does not have the dining, recreation, kitchen, lounge and other facilities for gracious living that the new quarters provide," Lander explained. "We believe we have the finest nurses home in this section of the country."

OPEN HOUSE TODAY — The new Lovett Memorial Nurses Home will be open to the public from 2 until 5 p.m. today. Ten nurses from Highland General Hospital will occupy the spacious quarters beginning Mon-

The brick veneer and concrete building is approximately 143 x 100 feet. There are 18 bedrooms, 8 single and 40 doubles, each approximately 12 x 15 feet. The nurses home has kitchen facilities, an oversize living room-lounge, a dining room and exterior enclosed patio. The home is situated on a plot of ground south of Highland General Hospital.

The interior of the quarters was carpeted throughout at a cost of more than $8,000. Inside walls are of brick and structural concrete blocks. The ceilings are of white ash, an innovation in this part of the Panhandle.

The builder was W&W Construction Co. of Pampa and the architect was B. R. Cantrell, also of Pampa.

Canadian Man Hurt In Crash

Calvin P. Jones of Canadian was admitted to Highland General Hospital Saturday night with unde-termined injuries as the result of a one-car accident Saturday night at the intersection of U.S. 60 and State 132.

According to investigating high- way patrolman Vernon Cawthon, Jones was traveling south on 60 when he approached the intersec- tion of the two roads, traveled down the center island, and began to overturn.

Jones' car struck the left driver wheel of a truck, driven by Har- ley H. Word, Canadian, turned completely over. It overturned twice in the bar ditch, leaped into the air and struck the limb of a tree almost ten feet off the ground.

Late last night, hospital atten- dants would not say how badly Jones was injured, but said they didn't "believe his injuries were serious."

Cawthon said no charges have been filed up to this time, but the investigation is still continuing.

HOUSE COMMITTEE PARTISAN WRANGLING PERILS FUTURE OF HIGHWAY PROGRAM

WASHINGTON — It's very much a toss-up what if anything will come of the House Public Works Committee's proposed sweeping investigation of the 41,000-mile federal highway program.

Looking Sideways

by WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Do you want to know how to know, once and for all, that you are getting old? I can tell you. I've just had dismaying proof.

None of this high-level conversation was Miss Client's fault. I started things off at a little table for two. I didn't even tell her she was attractive, and "attractive" is the least of the many words you could use about Dianne Client.

Own Fault: Miss Client recently was using up her energies playing "Heartbreak House" at night (and two matinees) and her afternoons in rehearsal with Garson Kanin as director-adaptor for a show called "The Good Soup."

Australian Girl: You would think, hearing her name and looking at that face, that Miss Client was a sultry and blondly-Latin blonde from Italy.

The Doctor Says: Ever so many correspondents want to know the best tranquilizer to take for nervousness. It doesn't seem to occur to them that nervousness may be a very valuable asset, or that taking tranquilizers may be harmful.

From these examples, you may perhaps conclude that it would be stupid to tranquilize the person whose nervousness served a useful purpose. And with this, I would be in complete agreement.

Some of you who can remember back half a century, may recall the harm done by a famous "soothing syrup" that was recommended for crying babies, and by an equally famous preparation that was reputed to be a specific for the relief of "female disorders."

Well, the principal ingredient of the "soothing syrup" was opium, and the preparation was essentially gin. We've since found better ways to care for these matters.

From the standpoint of the principles of treatment, tranquilizers do not differ from the opium soothing syrup or the gin preparation.

The man-of-the-week: U Nu, next premier of Burma.

The place: Rangoon.

The quote: "On this day of days, our thoughts turn to the land we live in, a beautiful land rich in the resources which bounteous nature has provided, and full of sunshine and the laughter of happy people."

U Nu, a man who describes himself as a dreamer, anxious to spend his time in study, play-writing and religious devotions, uttered the above quote on Jan. 4, 1948.

But he could just as well have said it this week.

It was on Jan. 4, 1948, that Burma achieved its independence, with the scholarly and deeply religious U Nu as its first premier.

This week, after a year and a half of military rule, democracy returned to Burma, and with it once more came U Nu as premier.

U Nu has held the job for most of the time Burma has been independent. He stepped out voluntarily in 1954 to spend a year attempting to inject new life into his anti-Fascist People's Freedom League.

Taking his place then was Defense Minister U Ba Swe, who in this year's election was his chief opponent.

In September, 1948, U Nu's government gave way to military rule under commander-in-chief of the armed forces, Gen. Ne Win.

The latter move was interpreted as one to prevent the shaky government from drifting into Communist hands.

Time has wrought changes both in U Nu's philosophy and in the conduct of the Burmese government.

From the army, he takes over a government virtually free of Communist influence.

The election was described as a model of democracy, under the watchful eyes of Ne Win's army which conducted itself with rigid impartiality.

As for U Nu himself, his views no longer are quite the same as those of the man who took over in 1948. Then his dream was to see Burma a socialist state. Now he believes in partnership with industry.

Politically, Burma is neutral but has been leaning farther and farther away from Communist bloc ties.

ESCAPE ATTEMPT — Four of Pampa's most eligible bachelors get set for an effort to "dodge the issue" this Leap Year as Miss Yvonne Guthrie seems determined to thwart their try. In sprint-start position, from left, are Jack Morgan, Ted Gikas, Bob Black and Eddie Williams. The four men chose the sprint as the surest way to escape the big problem confronting all bachelors during Leap Year, how to dodge matrimonial pursuit of a deferted gal.

It's Leap Year Again

On The Mark, Get Set -- Go, Go, Go!

By CHARLIE CROSS
Daily News Staff Writer

Four eligible Pampa bachelors met Friday and discussed ways and means to avoid matrimonial entanglements during leap year.

Eddie Williams, executive secretary to R. G. Hughes, rather hesitantly began his story with, "Marriage makes me — uh, well, I — I — I rather shy away from that subject."

He continued, "If you don't believe in a subject, it's pretty hard to get caught, and I don't believe in marriage because I think it's just a fad or passing fancy and it's not here to stay."

"Although Williams has been 'going steady' for about a year and a half, he says he has no plans for the future and 'I'll make a concerted effort to dodge the issue, because I'd rather have a new car than a new wife.'"

When asked what he would do if the girl asked him to marry her, he said, "I think I'd stall and evade the issue, but I'll be diplomatic about it." Asked how he could be diplomatic about saying no to a question like that, he said, "I'll give that question when it's asked."

Ted Gikas, co-owner of the Coney Island Cafe, asked what he would do if asked to marry, said, "I'm hoping they won't ask. I'm not very good at running, but I'm pretty quick with the words."

Gikas also said, "When I think of having a wife around the house telling me what to do, and listening to a bunch of yelling kids, I get the screaming meemies."

Gikas drives a Corvette and can't see hooking a house trailer behind it just to make some woman happy.

He said, "I'll give up my house and clothes, but not my Corvette and food." Ted likes to ski, and makes several trips a season, to Aspen, N. M.

Jack Morgan, credit manager at Rose Motors, when the question was put to him said, "Variety is the spice of life. One of the oldest adages certainly holds true in this case."

He said, "Life begins at 40, and since I'm just past that age, I'm speculating it to really begin."

Jack proves he believes in the variety thing, because he is not going steady and has "no plans to begin." When asked his favorite sport of girl, he said he prefers females, of course, which is logical, but outside of that, I like brulettes, about five feet ten or eleven, a good dancer, and enjoys indoor sports and flying."

Bob Black, director of visitation at the First Methodist Church, has some pretty definite, and from a bachelor's standpoint, some very good ideas on dodging marriage.

Bob said, "I intend to keep myself in top physical condition, especially my legs, and keep improving my time in the sprints. Particularly 50 and 100 yards."

Black said "those first few yards ten make the difference between escape and capture."

He said he also intends to "get a faster mode of transportation. Probably a faster car, because a high-speed vehicle is very important."

Black also said he "intends to take swimming lessons, so I can escape by land, sea or air." He said it's of prime importance to maintain good relations with the sheriff's department, because if it else falls you can always get locked up until the danger is past.

Black continued, "I also think it's important to look for all exits before entering a building, cure a fear of height because sometime you might have to go out a second or third story window, and stand near a chandelier for a quick leap to safety." He said he plans "to maintain my membership and standing in Bachelors Anonymous, because there may be a time when a man needs a friend to aid and comfort him, and it's very important to have one standing by in case of weakness."

Another of Bob's rules is never go to states that do not require a waiting period before marriage "because the damage might be done before you can change your mind." He said always get to know a girl well, because the better you know her the more likely you are to find out you don't want her.

Space Conditions Here On Earth

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—When Columbus made his famous voyage 468 years ago, the water he sailed was the same in America as it was in Spain. So was the air. Night and day came and went the same way on both sides of the ocean.

It was just a matter of applying indomitable courage to a given set of elements.

But the astronaut of today faces an entirely different situation. As one ascends into space things change by the second.

There is first of all the shock and stress of launching an upward flight. Then comes the spurt through earth's magnetic field with its drag on the space vehicle.

The time comes when all becomes weightless, subject to extremes of heat and cold, bombarded by cosmic and other radiation, surrounded by virtual vacuum, and free of the strong gravitational field in which conventional electronic and mechanical systems are designed to operate.

So far manless flights into space have been one-trip operations—no return. Getting back a manned flight would be one of the major problems.

Right now, scientists have to get their information on space without the benefit of manned craft. They get messages from the missiles and satellites sent up, and they simulate space conditions on the ground.

Laboratories throughout the nation are working on those problems.

Radio Corporation of America is one of them, operating at its space center at Princeton, N. J. That center is part of RCA's astro-electronic products division.

Scientists are getting data which would be a guide on a trip—say to Mars and return.

"Space scientists are doing their best to create on the ground a rough approximation of the environment in which their equipment must function," says Barto for the astro-electronic products division.

"As a result, space laboratories across the country are being equipped with ingenious devices for torturing components, devices for simulating, on a small scale the

He said he also thinks if you begin to like her real well and she seems like the ideal type for a wife, it's of vital importance to stop seeing her immediately, "or you might flip your wig and asser her to marry you." Black brought out one final point. He said "at any time have your auditor check her bank account, because you'll probably find out she's no better off than you are."

Black is 30 and likes sporting events, especially basketball and football.

Well, there they are girls, four of Pampa's most eligible young men. And, since they have exposed their tricks it looks as though you have an advantage. Are you ready? On your mark, get set—GO!

Father-To-Be Philip Criticized By Press In Baby Balmy Britain

By TOM A. CULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON (NEA) — Britain's joy over Queen Elizabeth's soon-to-be third child has been clouded slightly by public criticism of Prince Philip.

The royal husband came under fire from two London papers for not staying constantly with the 35-year-old Elizabeth during the last weeks of her pregnancy.

The Queen returned to Buckingham Palace in London on Jan. 15, but Philip stayed on at the country residence, Sandringham, for three weeks of shooting and fishing before rejoining his wife on Feb. 6. The new prince or princess is expected in mid-February.

hold.

The Duke's present neglect of the Queen contrasts strangely with the solicitude of Prince Albert when Queen Victoria was awaiting the arrival of Princess Beatrice. The prince consort was constantly at Victoria's beck and call.

"We had to wait a fortnight beyond the time for the Princess, and she kept us waiting at the door for 13 hours before she would come in," Prince Albert wrote to his cousin.

But that was 162 years ago, and royalty now are inclined to take such events as births much more casually.

But if Prince Philip refuses to see her about a month ago and she looked very well. She is a marvelous patient — absolutely wonderful."

The royal midwife also let it be known that she has ordered two new uniforms in kingfisher blue. "Much nicer than that nasty old gray," she confided.

Gifts are pouring in. The latest is a 56-piece layette made by 22 old ladies at the Linen and Woollen Drapers' Cottage Home in Dorset.

Knowing that the Queen still believes in old-fashioned shawls for her babies, they knitted her a swawl 54 inches square in two-ply white wool with a lacy, feathery stitched center.

CROWDS OF CURIOUS surrounded Buckingham Palace as Britain waits for the birth of new royal child.

"How dispensable is a father-to-be in these last few weeks?" asks the News Chronicle. The paper then goes on to quote a leading obstetrician, author of a book on parenthood:

"I think the father and mother should be together for the time before the birth. It is certainly preferable."

The Daily Express criticism is likewise veiled. "The Royal Family is being terribly untraditional about the third baby," declares the Express.

"Of course," the Express continues, "it is very sensible of the Queen not to insist that they all stay home and hold her hand."

"Of course, no useful purpose is served by a husband pacing the corridors and starting solicitously every time his wife leaves the room."

"But, really isn't this all rather subversive?"

The Duke of Edinburgh, who was then in the Royal Navy, was present during the weeks that preceded the birth of both Prince Charles and Princess Anne. This makes his behavior all the more inexplicable, in the opinion of those who are close to the royal house.

get excited, the rest of the nation has been all a-flutter over the impending birth.

The British press is full of stories extolling the beauties of motherhood. Various methods of childbirth, from hypnotism to the so-called "natural" method and the merits of a child being delivered in the home, as opposed to a hospital, have been discussed. So has the psychological problem: What effect the new baby will have upon Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

The Sunday Pictorial consulted an astrologer for the horoscope of the new baby. "The new baby will be a Sun in Aquarius type if born before February 20," the astrologer declares. "Such children are rather shy and retiring. They have a quiet and unassuming manner which gains them many friends."

The comings and goings at Buckingham Palace have been carefully chronicled. The arrival in London to be near the Queen of white-haired Helen Rowe, 40, the midwife who attended the Queen during her other two confinements, brought the press out in full force.

"I think I probably knew about this almost as soon as the Queen herself," declares Nurse Rowe. "I Neslage, J. W. Sparkman of Le-fors and J. W. Meacham of McLean.

Highland General Hospital serves a five-state area, according to Lander, with patients registered during the past several years from Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas and all major areas throughout the Panhandle and West Texas. Records recently showed that patients one year were registered here from more than 180 towns and cities in this section. The annual payroll of the hospital is $400,000, for a staff of some 200 persons.

Gray Ladies who will serve as hostesses today during open house are:

2 to 3 p.m. — Mrs. Charles Duenkel, Mrs. K. I. Dunn, Mrs. D. A. Finkelstein and Mrs. Vera Lard.

3 to 4 p.m. — Mrs. H. M. Luna, Mrs. R. E. McKernan, Mrs. Luther Pierson and Mrs. Allen Wise.

4 to 5 p.m. — Mrs. Lynn Boyd, Mrs. Mack Harmon, Mrs. Mark Heath, Mrs. W. D. Kelly and Mrs. James Hopkins.

Mrs. A. D. Hills is chairman of the Gray Ladies Committee.

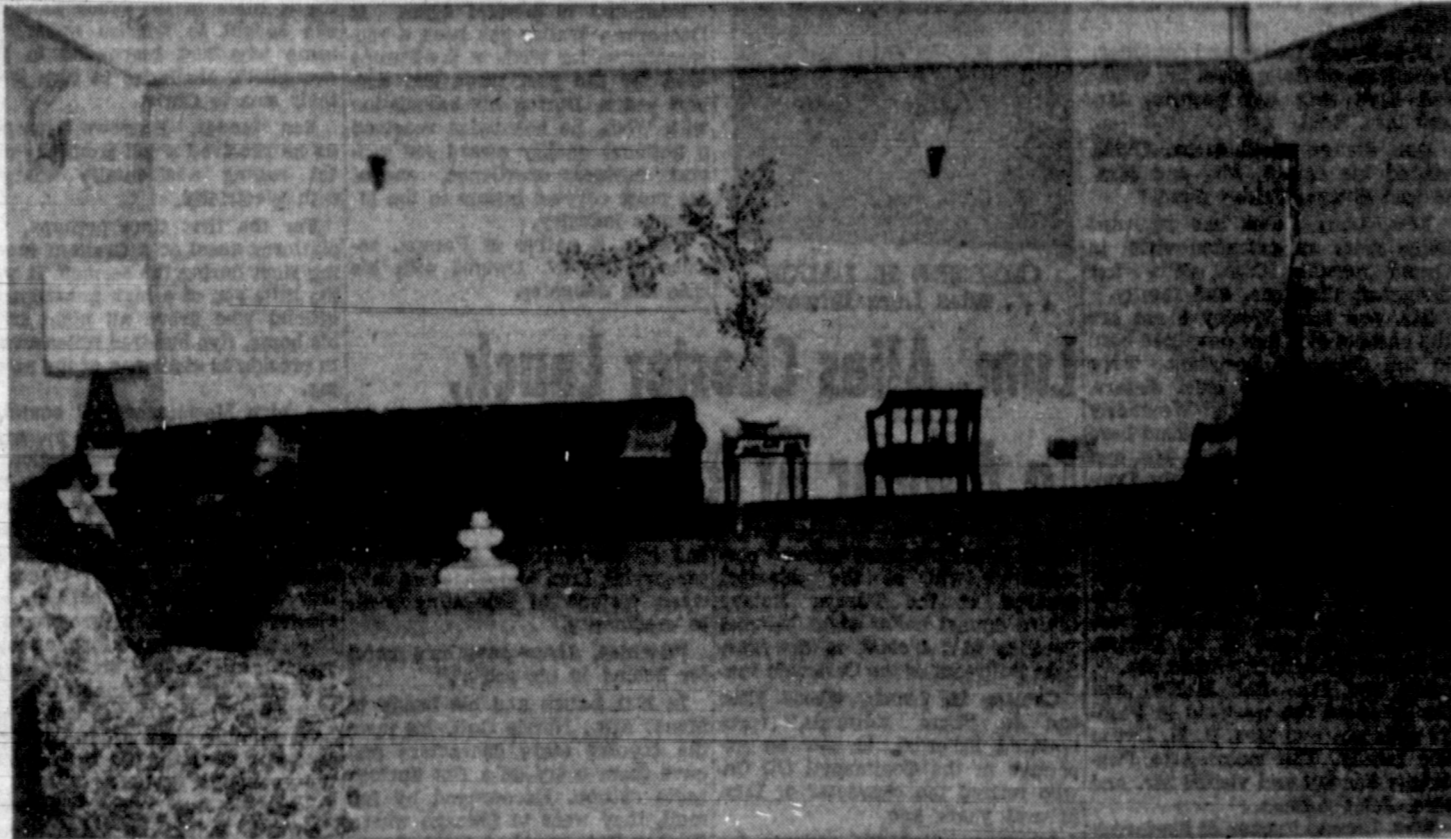

The hospital was built in 1950 at a cost to the county of $1,000,000 and contained 101 patient rooms. In 1957 a wing was added to the north side of the hospital which contained 40 additional rooms and cost $412,000. It is believed that as the hospital is situated on a seven-acre tract.

Any additions to the present hospital plant will be accommodated as the hospital is situated on a seven-acre tract.

Furniture Co. and carpeting was purchased from Texas Furniture Co. Beds in the nurses rooms are of solid cherry and each room contains three-quarter beds, dressing table, double closets, overstuffed chair, occasional chair, telephone and tailored drapes. The living room-lounge is decorated in Pennsylvania and Heritage motif.

Industry 'Ill Health' Discussed

WASHINGTON (SpI) — Seven "symptoms of ill health" in the petroleum industry and 13 factors which oil men have cited as contributing to depressed industry conditions were outlined Friday by a spokesman for the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

Minor S. Jameson, Jr., executive vice president of the national oil trade organization, listed the industry's ills and possible causes as examples of factors which will occupy a special IPAA committee being organized to study disturbing industry conditions.

In a report to the IPAA membership, Jameson said there is much interest in the new committee which will have the assignment of studying "the causes of, and remedies for, depressed conditions in the industry and recommend a program of corrective action."

He said there is "no lack of evidence" of deterioration in the petroleum industry, and listed seven symptoms which he said the new study committee will have before it, such as:

1. Oil prices, from the well through the service station, are seriously depressed. The average price of crude oil decreased by 7 cents per barrel during the past year and by much greater amounts in various areas.
2. Wages and the cost of steel, other materials and equipment continue to increase so that today's "crude oil dollar" is worth less than 75 cents as compared with 1948.
3. The industry is no longer generating sufficient funds to cover the higher costs of finding and developing new reserves that now call for expenditures exceeding $ billion dollars per year.
4. Rates of return in the industry have steadily declined to a level below most other businesses.
5. U.S. crude oil production in 1959 was less than in 1956, despite an increase of 500,000 barrels daily in demand.

Four-Cylinder Engines Due On U.S. Market

DETROIT (UPI) — Four-cylinder engines, unknown to American-made passenger cars for seven years, are expected to make a comeback in 1961.

Pontiac is planning to use a four-cylinder in-line engine on the new small car it is expected to introduce along with its 1961 models.

And Ford Motor Co. is known to be working on a four-cylinder engine for use in a new sub-compact car its engineers have been working on to compete with imported makes like the Volkswagen and Renault.

Details of the Ford engine were not known but it was known that engineers were considering the use of aluminum in the cylinder block.

The Pontiac engine was expected to be made of cast iron but, otherwise, it will have little resemblance to the oldtime four-cylinder engines.

U.S. Winter Olympics Team Is Strongest Ever

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI)—The United States will present its strongest winter squad ever in the VIII Olympiad opening Thursday, but it isn't expected to measure up to the Russians and other European nations in the race for the team title in this biggest of all winter sports events.

Russia is a top-heavy favorite to win the unofficial title with Austria next in line. The best the U.S. can hope for is third place, and U.S. officials admit this is slimming mightily.

"There's no doubt this is the strongest squad we ever have assembled for the Winter Olympics," said Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee. "But it would be expecting too much for it to outclass the Russians, the Austrians and the athletes from the Scandinavian countries."

There will be 28 gold medals decided in the games, which run through Feb. 28, and the best the U.S. can hope to win is five. That would be three more than the U.S. won when the Olympic Winter Games last were held at Cortina, Italy, in 1956. There the U.S. finished sixth with 5 1/2 points. Russia won with 121 points followed by Austria with 78 1/2, Finland 66,

Fanfare To Open Games Thursday

By HAL WOOD
United Press International

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI)—The world's greatest winter sports show, the Olympic Games, opens in this snow-covered valley on Thursday with a blare of trumpets, the boom of cannon and the release of 2,000 Doves of Peace (pigeons, really).

With more than 800 athletes from 31 countries on the grounds, awaiting for the most important sports event of their lives, the beautiful hills of Squaw Valley have been turned into a miniature city, with the usual built-in traffic problems, housing troubles and standing-in-line at restaurants.

But all this will disappear when Vice President Richard Nixon officially opens the games.

Then the realization of four years of hard work will come true for games President Prentiss Hale and managing director H. D. Thoreau and thousands of others who have devoted their time and effort to make this VIII Olympiad a success.

While Thursday officially is listed for the "opening" of the athletic competition doesn't start until Friday.

But the thrills will be there on Thursday, too. The U.S. Marine Band, known as "The President's Own," will play for the opening ceremonies—assisted by 1,285 instrumentalists from 52 California and Nevada high school bands. There also will be a choir of 2,545 voices.

Bright and early on Friday morning, the 30-kilometers (about 18 miles) cross-country competition will get under way at McKinney Creek.

At 10 a.m. e.s.t. the same day, the men's downhill competition opens on Squaw Peak: at 10:30 a.m. the pairs figure skating starts in the ice arena; and at 12:30 p.m. 7 p.m. and 4 p.m. there are hockey games scheduled.

And that's the way the heavy schedule will go through the 10 days of actual competition.

With the storms of the last week now just a bad memory. Officials are looking forward again to a big attendance. They are hoping for 25,000 for the opening ceremonies, when the nations of the world parade. They hope to average 15,000 a day through the whole competition—which would be an all-time record for these games.

Lee Seventh Loses Game

Lee's seventh graders, playing without two regular starters, lost their second game of the year here Friday, bowing to Phillips, 20-15. Lee led at halftime, 10-8, but was unable to hold its advantage.

For Lee, David McDaniels scored five points, Robert Howard four, Sam Williams two, Charles Savage and Richard Fathens two. Phillips tallied 10 for Phillips, Keith Griffith, a leading scorer, was attending a Boy Scout convention in Austin and Kerry Roper, another regular, was out with flu.

In the B game Lee was victorious, 16-8. For Lee Bill Henry scored five points, Lanny Lewis four, Henley four, Randall Scott two and Roddy Bray one.

The Lee seventh graders, who have a 6-2 record for the year, close their season Friday at Pampa Junior High.

Russia figures to exceed the six gold medals won at Cortina because the Soviet excels in two new events added to the Winter Olympic program—women's speed skating and skiing biathlon.

Russia is expected to battle it out with favored Canada for the hockey championship and dominate the cross-country skiing and the men's speed skating.

The Russian team triumph figures to be led by men speed skaters Boris Stenin, the men's world champion, and Oleg Goncharniko; women speed skaters Valentina Stenina, the world's women champion and wife of Boris, and Tamara Rylova; biathlon skier Vladimir Meshkin and cross-country skiers Vladimir Kuzin and Dmitry Kochkin.

FIGHT POSTPONED

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Eddie Machen-Billy Hunter heavyweight fight scheduled for Madison Square Garden on Feb. 19 has been postponed until Feb. 26.

Machen requested the extra week's time in order to allow a slight cut to be suffered in the Zora Polley bout to heal properly. The Len Matthews-Lahouri-Godhi match has been moved up to Feb. 19.

JARMAN INTRODUCES

"Evershine" leather
world's first leather with a "built-in shine"

"Evershine" is an amazing leather — a historic "first" in footwear. Just a few whisks with a brush or cloth remove dust and dirt and restore the lustrous shine. Think of the time, trouble and expense you save! "Evershine," the result of a brand-new Jarman tanning and finishing process, is a two-way winner: (1) It repels dust and dirt and moisture; (2) It requires only a simple cleaning and buffing with a soft dry cloth or brush when shoes do get dirty (damp cloth is better if extra dirty). We are proud to be among the first to offer Jarman styles made of this unique new "Evershine" leather (exclusive with Jarman in men's shoes). Come in and try a pair, for long-lasting good looks.

Slater Martin, Last Little Pro Cager

NEW YORK (NEA) — When Slater (Dugie) Martin retires from the St. Louis Hawks, this year or next, the sub-six-footer in professional basketball will be as extinct as the dodo bird.

Martin says this, and so does almost any man connected with the National Basketball Association. It's not the Wilt Chamberlain or Bill Russell who's the freak: It's Martin, who stands 5-10 like you and me and has managed to exist for 11 years against guys a head taller.

"Most little guys are through in this league," explains Martin, "before they start because they come in feeling they haven't got a chance — or they lack desire."

"Then no coach will give them much of a look-see: I know the big players give 'em just one look in camp and say among themselves, 'We'll knock that little blankety-blank down.'"

"After two or three times he'll probably pack up and go home. Before the 24-second shooting rule came into the NBA I'd get knocked down two or three times regularly whenever the other team went on offense."

"Like my first year against the Chicago Stags, I'd be on Max Zaslofsky. He'd run down the court behind Odie Spears (a burly 6-6). Spears would knock me over, and then when I'd get up, he'd run behind Andy Phillip."

"I had my nose broken three times that first season."

Other little men have braved it in the NBA and played well. The list includes Al Cervi, Bullet Bill Gabor, Buddy Jeannotte, Freddy Scolari, Kenny Sailors, Red Holzman, Stan Stutz, Ernie Calverly,

SLATER MARTIN . . . small but valuable and even 5-8 Buckshot O'Brien. But, amazingly, not since Whitey Skoog retired from the Lakers after playing a few games in 1956, has Martin had company under six feet in the pro ranks.

Chet Forte of Columbia, Robin Freeman of Ohio State and Al Siden of St. John's have failed. They were all sensational scorers in college ranks. And maybe that's the trouble.

Sounds easy, maybe Martin can tell other little guys like Max Williams, now at SMU, or Pickles Kennedy, the Temple ace, what to do. "Sure, go get a real good job and go work."

"The shooting is highly over-rated," Martin shakes his head. "Sure, you've got to have the touch, but to survive in this league, the little man as a rookie has got to be three years ahead of his competition in basketball knowledge."

"He's got to be able to 'pick' on the other side of the court, away from the ball. He's got to play defense."

But what does he do when he's matched up with someone like Richie Guerin of the Knicks, who's 6-4 and likes to take little Dugie into the pivot?

"I sweat. I can't do anything under the boards, but I can run. I gamble by overplaying them. I play 'em close without the ball. And sometimes it hurts them as a team because how can a backcourt man on Philly take you into the pivot, when Wilt Chamberlain is already there?"

At 34, it should be noted, Martin is also the oldest man in the league. "But if Ben Kerner (the Hawks' owner) wants me," he shrugs, "I'll play another year."

Bet Pays Off At 1,500 To 1

MIALEAH, Fla. (UPI)—One horse player who bet $10 got back $15,314 at Mialeah Race Course Friday.

Terrace Park won the first race and Dublin Knight the second for the second highest double in track history. The 12-9 combination paid $3,062.50 for a $2 bet. The second of $5,125.50 was set earlier this season.

The track sold the one $10 ticket, one $5 worth $7,807 and 33 $2 tickets on the winning combination.

DID YOU DIG THAT CRA-A-ZY flag-pole out on Hobart street last week after the storm? ... the Elks not only lost their fancy sign-post, they have apparently lost their flag-pole ... that is, unless another storm comes in from another direction and bends it back the other way ... just so it doesn't fall over and clobber our car as we drive by!

THE CHEERFUL cherub says, this morning, that "although I'm really far from well, I feel no apprehension. It's one sure way that I can be the center of attention" ... but it is our guess that the flu sufferers of past weeks do not exactly feel that way ... yes? ... seems as if all Pampa had had the "bug" ... you are just not quite proper if you haven't had some variety of the disease ... to compare notes with your friends ... and strangers, too.

NOW TO GET DOWN TO BUSINESS ... the Brummett Group of the First Christian Church gave a "going away coffee" for Maisie Pickett, who, we reported last week, is leaving Pampa ... the affair was held in the home of Roberta Talley ... Mrs. Frank Carter has been in Virginia awaiting the arrival of a new grandchild ... we'll try to give you a report on it later ... saw attractive June Gilbert one day last week ... and speaking of coffees honoring people ... this one was to welcome a newcomer TO Pampa ... Jean Roots gave a coffee last Tuesday and invited friends to meet Lois Ann Knox from Borger ... Lois and Jean were also coffee-neighbors in Borger and so they will be here in Pampa.

HERE AND THERE about town ... Fred and Judy Neslage were visiting home from the college in Canyon last week ... it is fortunate that they live so close that they can visit often ... Nell Kelley back from the Fat Stock Show in Dallas ... reports that she had a marvelous time ... Wanda and Leonard Hudson are "visiting" Las Vegas this week ... and friends have heard from Bill and Ellen Campaigne that they are established in Paris and have entered the children ... Billy and Carol ... in schools there ... Carol in a school where French is spoken ... so she is taking French lessons ... sounds like a grand experience for the children to have.

MORE AND MORE ... as you all know ... tickets for the first Cotillion Club sponsored Fashion Show are all sold out ... and, in fact, there is a waiting list ... so if you plan to attend any of the subsequent programs ... there will be three more ... you had best get your name on the list! ... and speaking of bridge ... in a round-about way ... saw some members of the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge Club wending their way to the Cibola Room in the Inn ... where they were to play ... Aleith Curry ... Chris Schnieder ... Harlene Rose ... Jane Rose ... Candy Williams ... Peggy Daniel ... among 'em ... we happened to see pretty Nancy Davis last week ... and were reminded again how much we love to hear her talk ... she has such a nice voice and charming way of speaking.

TODAY IS THE DAY ... for the opening of the Lovett Memorial Nurses Home ... and we think Pampa should, collectively, take off its hat to the three men responsible ... as trustees of the Lovett Estate ... M. K. Brown ... C. P. Buckler ... and Julian Key ... for interpreting the bequest to be used for the Home ... there will be Gray Ladies ... under the direction of Olive Hills ... to usher the public through the new building at the open-house this afternoon from two o'clock until six ... if you go out to see it ... you will see beautifully decorated rooms ... a kitchen with a small dining area ... a utility room with a washing room and two dryers ... there are baths between each two rooms ... the decorations, we understand, were done by Sammy Burns ... who did a beautiful job ... her decorating ideas tie in with the architect's to make the building pretty and livable ... of course, you know that residents in the Nurses Home will be Graduate Nurses of both Highland General and Worley Hospitals ... Pampa people who are responsible for the building ... headed by R. E. McKernan ... hope that this will be the beginning of a program which will lead to the establishment of a nurses training school here in the city ... a thing badly needed ... for many girls would go into nursing, perhaps, if there were such a school right here in their hometown ... also ... the beautiful residence should encourage good Graduate nurses to come to Pampa and join the staff of the hospitals ... so two purposes in one are being served ... the charge for living in the Home is to be kept at the absolute minimum ... only what is necessary for the upkeep of the building ... we certainly hope that the double-plan we mentioned above is successful ... we are all for the establishment of the training school ... and we hope many good nurses will come here to live ... so, go out and see what is to be seen while you may.

HO HUM ... let us get another cup of coffee ... there ... we are hearing about a fabulous trip that Connie and "Mack" McDaniel are planning this spring ... in May, to be exact ... they will visit Madrid where Connie's brother lives ... and go on to an international medical meeting of some sort in Rome ... expect to leave the first of May and return in middle of June ... Lacie Harrah visited in Lubbock last week ... Willie and Roger McConnell visited their son in Colorado, too ... and Loyal and Leone Davies were to be in Odessa on business last week ... guess they went, all right ... understand that the directors of the Country Club are stirring things up for the prospective remodeling and building program coming up ... have heard that the swimming pool is to be made larger, with an area for the children ... and lots of other exciting plans are in the offing ... sounds like fun.

HODGEPODGE of information this one will be ... do you remember when not so long ago it was dark by a quarter of six at night ... now you can see to eat supper by then ... Spring is coming full-tilt ... Libby Shotwell and hubby Frank will be celebrating their thirty-sixth wedding anniversary on the 17th of this month ... and that date is also the birthday of Elsie Gee ... Elsie and Libby always remember each other's birthday and anniversary because of the coincidence of the dates ... and on the 16th ... Red Wedgeworth will be celebrating his fifteenth year as Chamber of Commerce Manager! ... just thought these few little items would interest you.

INVITATIONS went out last week to friends "requesting the honor of your presence" and so forth at an organ recital and reception ... Doneta Swartz will play ... the hostesses are Doris Vendrell and Jean Casey ... heard via the old grapevine that Floyd and Laura Imel celebrated Laura's recent birthday in a big way with champagne and everything ... Floy and Mark Heath celebrated with them ... and there is nobody more fun to celebrate with than the Heaths ... must have been oodles of fun ... and news from a former Pampa resident ... Bee Brummett ... whom you may remember ... Bee will have a short story she has written in the READER'S DIGEST ... probably in the April issue ... you might watch for it ... local students of Dord Fitz are getting excited about something coming up in March ... the world's first and so far only, all-women contemporary art and sculpture show will be held at the Fitz gallery in Amarillo ... LIFE Magazine and HORIZON AND ART NEWS magazine are going to cover the event and about eleven New York artists will be here with their work on display ... among them Elaine deKooning, who has been here before ... Helene and Ruth Huff and Lacie Harrah and Lorene Johnson are some of Pampa students who will be at the affair ... which will be Saturday, March 19th ... looks as if our area will be really on the map, now.

THAT IS ALL FOR NOW ... and let us remind you that you may want to keep that old 49-star flag ... fifty years from now, it may be quite a relic.

Love, Peg

Hotel History Traced By Inn Manager At Twentieth Century Forum Meeting

Twentieth Century Forum held its Tuesday afternoon meeting in Coronado Inn. Mrs. Bob Curry and Mrs. William T. Fraser welcomed guests at the Inn door and directed them to the Cibola Room, where the afternoon's program was held.

Mrs. Fraser compared briefly "Inns, where the early traveler on horseback stopped, with the modern hotel, which is now the center of community activity."

Mrs. Curry talked briefly about the architecture and decoration of the new hotel and then introduced Stu Kines, hotel manager, who gave a brief history of the hotel industry.

In opening remarks, Mr. Kines said, "The hotel industry is the seventh largest industry in the United States and dates back for hundreds of years." He gave a Bible reference to inns that were used then and went on to relate that the first record of a hotel registering guests was during the time Marco Polo visited China.

"During the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries," Mr. Kines said, "hotels in England began keeping accurate records." He described these hotels as being very crude with huge beds in which many men slept together.

"Industry revolutionized the hotel industry," Mr. Kines continued. "And in 1830, the Traymont Hotel was built in Boston. This was the first hotel to have private rooms and private baths; also, this was the first hotel to have keys. During this era, the status of the innkeeper was raised: Up until this

To Wed

Miss E. Dianne Wilkinson

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Wilkinson, 9407 Holland Ave., Bethesda, Maryland, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, E. Dianne, to Midshipman Larry Glenn Cox, son of Mrs. Odie B. Cox, 1001 Duncan. Miss Wilkinson is a sophomore at Montgomery Junior College in Bethesda. The ceremony will take place in the U. S. Naval Academy Chapel in Annapolis, Maryland, on Graduation Day, June 8 at 6:30 p.m.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry a widower and we are planning the wedding. This is my first marriage. My fiancé wants to invite his deceased wife's mother to our wedding. He says she'll feel hurt if she's not invited. Frankly, I don't want her there. I'm afraid she'll start crying and turn a happy occasion into a sad one.

"ONLY?" I have worked in an office, jerked sodas, clerked in the five and dime and shucked corn for a living, and let me tell you that my present job ("only a housewife") is a lot tougher than any other job I've had.

DEAR BRIDE-TO-BE: You are wrong. Your fiancé's mother-in-law will always be "Grandma" to his first two children. You can't expect him to shut her out of his life.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: I am just plain sick of rassing around in a car after a date. I really can't figure out what I do that makes boys think I am that kind of girl.

"This Is My God" Reviewed For TC Culture Club Members And-Guests

DEAR ABBY: What would you do in my case? I pick up three people on my way to work five days a week, nine and a half months of the year. All I ever get is "Thanks". They would each have to pay a dollar for they took a taxi. I've done this for three years.

Twentieth Century Culture Club met in Lovett Memorial Library on Tuesday with Mmes. Rufe Jordan, J. D. Merchant, and G. L. Craddock as hostesses.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe if I sound off about this, I'll feel better. Why is it when you meet a stranger and they ask you what you do, women will say, apologetically, "I'm only a housewife."

Coffee and white cake squares decorated with red hearts were served from a table centered with an arrangement of pink carnations.

RUTH MILLETT

Want your marriage to be happy? Then don't forget or discredit these important facts: Make friends that both husband and wife enjoy. Marriage isn't two AGAINST the world, but two making a place for themselves IN the world.

Home Life in Our Two New States was the program theme presented by Mrs. J. E. Kirshman and Mrs. R. W. Lane at the Varietas Club meeting held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. J. R. Spearman.

Build up each other's egos instead of tearing each other down. In daily living, compliments are far more effective than criticism. Never nurse a grudge. It's better to fight than to sulk. Always have a goal that both can work toward. When you achieve one goal, have another to reach for.

Mrs. Dunham described the Eskimo as happy, friendly people who had the school and church as the center of their community. She said the children would always be in school; "especially during a blizzard as it was warm there and the school furnished a hot, n.o.o.m. meal."

Never, never say "I wish you wouldn't," or "The trouble with you is..." or "If you had only listened to me..."

Hep Cat Club Presents Pledges At Formal Ball

Miss DeAnne Drew Sweetheart

Miss Helen Reed Best Pledge

Hep Cat Club holds its formal Presentation Ball on Saturday evening in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn with Miss Linda Holt, president and Miss Lynda Key, vice president, conducting the ceremony.

Pledges were escorted to the silver-draped podium, which was lit by a tree candelabra centering the stage flanked by spiral candelabra holding white tapers.

As each pledge was presented, little Miss Sheryl Jean McNeely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton McNeely, dressed formally in floor-length white lace and satin presented each pledge with a white, furry kitten tied with an orchid ribbon inscribed with "Hep Cats."

Following the presentation of Miss Elaine Hawkins, daughter of two record player and a projector with slide attachment, which was presented to the school as a gift from the association.

Panel Discusses English In Pampa Schools At Travis PTA Meeting

The February meeting of William B. Travis PTA was held in the school cafeteria with Stephen McGrady, exceptional Child instructor, opening the meeting with prayer.

St. Mary's Church Scene Of Vows Said By Miss Britten, Mr. Meyer

GROOM (Sp) — A double-ring ceremony read by the Rev. J. Arnold Carlson in St. Mary's Catholic Church on Jan. 30 united in marriage Miss Germaine Angela Britten and James Bernard Meyer. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Britten of Groom. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Meyer of Umbarger. Traditional wedding music was provided by Miss Georgann Britten, organist, and the church choir. Arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums flanked by palm decorated the altar.

BRIDE
The bride chose a gown of silk tulle with a bodice of imported Alencon lace accented with sequins and seed pearls. The bouffant skirt was appliqued with matching lace and extended to a chapel sweep. Her fingertip Veil of Imported French Illusion was attached to a pillbox of imported rosepoint lace with a band of pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of white orchids and stephanotis.

ATTENDANTS
Mrs. Kenneth C. Swazy of Plainview, bride's sister, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Mildred Meyer of Umbarger, bridegroom's sister and Claudine Britten of Groom, bride's sister. The attendants wore identical dresses of pink embossed satin with matching mitts. They carried cascade bouquets of peach roses and

CYO To Sponsor Skating Party

Catholic Youth Organisation will sponsor a skating party in Pampa Roller Rink on Sunday evening, Feb. 21 to raise money for their organization. Mrs. J. Jamieson, president, presided at St. Vincent de Paul Home and School Association meeting held Tuesday evening in the school cafeteria. The Rev. Fr. Edward Cashman opened the meeting with prayer. It was announced that the Catholic Youth Organisation will sponsor a skating party in Pampa Roller Rink on Sunday evening, Feb. 21 to raise money for their organization. Mrs. Jamieson announced that all tickets to the annual Mardi Gras to be held Feb. 27 in Coronado Inn has been sold; however, it was decided to sponsor another dance after Easter. Fr. Cashman dismissed the meeting with closing prayer.

Projects Discussed At Garden Club

Top O' Texas Garden Club met Monday in the home of Mrs. H. H. Huntley, 2127 N. Nelson. During the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Raymond Welch, the project committees reported on Park projects and work to be done at Perryman Park and Duncan Rock Garden. Refreshments of Valentine cookies and coffee were served from a table centered with an arrangement of red carnations, white cupid and hearts. It was announced that the next meeting will be Feb. 22 with Mrs. W. L. Stark, 2200 Chestnut. Members attending were Mmes. Fred Hinkley, Kenneth Osborne, Tom Patton, Harold Pitts, L. B. Robertson, W. L. Stark, J. S. Hawley, Ray Welch, J. A. Konx and a guest, Mrs. Ira Carlton.

Early Days Of PTA Reviewed By Speaker

Mrs. Harold Saum introduced Mrs. J. B. Townsend, guest speaker at the Woodrow Wilson PTA meeting on Thursday afternoon in the school, as the "first president of Woodrow Wilson PTA. She has served as president of other PTA units and has been active in the work for many years."

"When I first came to the boom town of Pampa, Mrs. Townsend began "there were seas of wheat, lot of rain and mud, sea gulls. We could see farther and see less than anyplace else I'd ever been." The schools were where the Pampa Jr. High is now, Mrs. Townsend continued, they consisted of the red brick building which was torn down last summer, the middle part of the Jr. High and six cottages. Everyone thought these were enough buildings to last for a long time.

It wasn't long before these were crowded. B. M. Baker, Horace Mann, Sam Houston, and Woodrow Wilson were built, and then the first PTA's came into being," she related. Mrs. Fatheree and Mrs. Joe Smith organized and promoted the first PTA's in Pampa. They had the help of the district board members, Mrs. Hunkapiller and Mrs. Grover Malone and the enthusiasm of Superintendent Fisher. Mrs. C. E. Hutchens was elected the first president of the Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher Association, but was unable to complete her term of office. (Mrs. Townsend, as vice president finished the year; then was elected president for two years.)

"Miss Annie Danjels was the principal of Woodrow Wilson when the PTA bought a piano and victrolas, and chairs for the auditorium. We had chili suppers to get all the parents to the meetings. Mrs. Townsend reminisced "Since there was no playground equipment, the fathers obtained used pipes from different oil companies and the Magnolia Oil Co. welded it together for them and made swings, merry-go-rounds, and monkey walker bars. Once the ladies made cloth sacks to hang on the backs of the children's chairs to put the books into."

"Times were hard during the depression and all the PTA's took turns keeping open the Thrift Room distributing shoes and clothing to those who needed it. The lack of clothing and malnutrition were prevalent in all of the schools at that time."

Mr. Winston Savage had a dream of an elementary school band. He started the first one in Pampa at Woodrow Wilson with 2 trumpets, a slide trombone, a drum and a bass horn," the speaker said.

"PTA brings the school, its teachers, and parents all closer together by helping the child. We don't want a soft life, nor one like our parents had. But we do want to go forward and we cannot leave it all up to the teachers. Through PTA we can work together to raise a generation who can cope with the problems coming up in the future. These children have a challenge to meet. People either go forward, backward, or die. We are going forward because we are meeting our responsibilities."

She closed by saying, "Do all the good you can and then forget it."

Mrs. Saum presented Mrs. Townsend with a yellow and brown orchid corsage.

The business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. E. A. McLennan. An invitation from the Classroom Teacher's Association to attend their program, Feb. 25 at 7:30 at Robert E. Lee Jr. High, was read. D. E. Scott from Wellington will be the speaker. It was reported that the city council nominating committee had been elected.

A nominating committee composed of Mr. Floyd Smith, Mrs. W. M. Sims, and Mrs. John Brewer was elected.

Mrs. Helen Davis fifth grade won the first place room count and Mrs. W. A. Rankin's fifth grade won the second place.

A red and white carnation corsage was the door prize won by Mrs. Buri Graham, Jr.

Mrs. Frank Shotwell invited everyone to attend the open house of the Lovett Memorial Nurses Home on Sunday.

The past presidents of Woodrow Wilson PTA present and introduced were Mmes. J. B. Townsend, Joe L. Wells, Coy Palmer, Frank

W. Shotwell and J. B. Ayers. The next radio program by this unit will be March 4 on KPND, it was announced.

The next meeting of the unit will be March 3 at 2:00. Parents are urged to attend the meeting and to visit the classrooms during Texas Education Week March 1-5. Cookies and coffee were served from a lace covered table centered with a styrofoam 30 flanked by books and an old fashioned lamp.

Don Norman Sublett and Mrs. M. H. Harmon served.

Australian School System Described By Pampa Altrusa Club Speaker

Mrs. Wade Gilbert, who formerly resided in the state of Victoria, southern Australia and is now making Pampa her home, was guest speaker at the Monday noon luncheon meeting of Altrusa Club at Pampa Hotel.

Mrs. Gilbert, introduced by Mrs. J. Smith, international relations chairman was a remedial teacher for the educationally handicapped children in a private school in Australia. She discussed the Australian school system, public and private.

She described the public educational system as under state control, free and compulsory; "the private schools are directed by religious groups," she said.

Mrs. Gilbert, who was educated in a private school, stated that private schools are segregated; boys go to classes together, girls to another class. "It cost a great deal of money to go to a private school, but most parents send their children to go."

"Children ages one to six go to 'Nursery School,'" she said, "the next age group attends 'Middle School,' Intermediate School is impartive to the first year in an 8 high school; then graduation known as matriculation year."

Mrs. Gilbert brought out the students wear identical uniforms for winter and one summer. Each student wears a hat with school crest on the band.

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Mark Heath, president, a report from the nominating committee was given by Miss H. Pool, chairman. Nominated as officers for next year are Mmes. Clyde Vanderburg, president; L. L. Harkins, vice president; D. B. Hutchens, recording secretary; Jay Clay, treasurer; Irl Smith and Roy Kay, directors.

Mrs. Heath read the resignation of Miss Ola Gregory, which was accepted with regret.

Miss Jean Chisholm, youth counseling chairman, reported on the Career Clinic, which is to be sponsored by Altrusa, Chamber of Commerce and Jaycees and which is planned for Feb. 24 in Coronado Inn beginning at 7 a.m.

"Eight-two consultants" will be here to confer with high school students. They will be professional people from Amarillo, Dallas, New York and Boston. There will also be 15 representatives from other schools coming in to observe the operation of the clinic."

Miss Gail Finkelstein, January Girl of the Month, introduced Miss Vicki Garcia as the Altrusa Girl for February. Miss Garcia served as vice president of her home

Cotton Gloves Prolong Life of Fineries

By ALICIA HART
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

By and large, American women are both hard-working and elegant. The currently popular attire of the pampered American women makes good reading, but it just isn't so.

Many women (more every year) do jobs and run a home, too. And one who is exclusively a homemaker combine so many jobs that a fatiguing just to hear about it. Most women welcome any suggestion as to how the load can be lightened. One small one lies in the realm of your personal undry, which can assume mountainous proportions in the course of a week. When you're doing your nylon stockings, wear white cotton gloves for the sudsing. It'll protect the stockings from all damage and get the gloves sap, on any very soiled spots, the gloves may have.)

Keep powdered soap, nylon each and other supplies either in the bathroom or adjacent to it. This will save steps to and from the tub. These are excellent for sitting down on dry time. Just lift wet lingerie in a big towel, then give it a shake and hang it dry. With this procedure, nylon dries within an hour and hang it to dry. With his procedure, nylon lingerie dries within an hour and can be cleared out of the bathroom.

RUTH MILLETT

It hardly ever pays:
To tell somebody off. There's a big difference between standing up for your rights and throwing your weight around.

To try to get even with someone who has offended you. The only satisfactory way of getting even is to return good for evil.

To try to get by with a slipshod job whenever you can. The only work that is any fun is the work you do to the best of your ability.

To try to change your husband or wife in the hope of making your marriage happier, if you'll try to improve yourself, you'll have better luck.

To nurse a grudge, however justified you were in your original anger.

To express your mere opinions in a loud voice and a positive "I know I'm right" manner. You won't sell many ideas that way.

To pretend to know more than you know to have more than you have, or to be better than you are. Such pretense keeps you from relaxing and enjoying life and you're bound to be found out, sooner or later.

To let minor annoyances get you down. You'll always have a certain amount of them, so you might as well learn to grin and bear them.

To put off unpleasant tasks as long as possible. That way you not only avoid dreading them to doing them, but you let them pile up on you.

To worry about growing older, since the only way you can avoid it is to die young.

Mission Book Study Completed By First Baptist WMU At All-Day Meet

Women's Missionary Union of First Baptist Church met in the church on Wednesday morning for study of mission book, "Reaching Rural Churches" by J. T. Gillespie.

The entire book was taught in various ways including a puppet show, a skit, and a quilting bee during the morning; "dinner on the ground" during the luncheon period; the study was completed during the afternoon.

The program opened with group singing led by Mrs. P. A. Scoggin.

Mrs. R. L. McDonald, WMU president, read scripture and the prayer calendar. Opening prayer was led by Mrs. O. A. Davis.

Mrs. Ed Miller gave the introduction to the book and outstanding facts around the author, J. T. Gillespie.

"Our Mission In Town and Country" was depicted with a skit, "You Are There". Participating in the skit were Mrs. Ed Miller, who portrayed the press; Mrs. J. C. Forsman, church secretary; Mrs. L. V. Hopp, wife of the pastor of three churches; Mrs. Sid Harrison, wife of a student pastor; Mrs. Wes Langham, as Mary Hollis, wife of a new missionary.

With the aid of puppets, Mrs. R. L. McDonald and Mrs. S. E. Waters, portrayed the missionary, Charles Hollis and Rev. C. A. Jones who discussed the church community survey, in a skit entitled, "Breaking Ground."

"Meat In Mine House" was the topic chosen by Mrs. P. A. Scoggin, who in a series of questions and answers, discussed tithing.

Mrs. S. E. Waters told of "Gardening Facts."

Mrs. Rufe Jordan's topic was "Rain From Heaven" which concerned the church program of evangelism and how the church should use its organizations in this manner.

Mrs. Sid Harrison and Mrs. J. C. Forsman discussed the topic, "Ten Years of Sowing and Reaping" which brought out the joys and sorrow that fell upon the Hollis family during a ten-year period.

"Letter From Mary" was the

Miss Spaugh Shares Summer Tour With Members At Sharp Group Meet

An interesting and educational program on parts of the United States and Canada was presented by Miss Pearl Spaugh for the Sharp Group meeting of First Christian Church on Monday morning.

Miss Spaugh, Woodrow Wilson teacher, with other teachers from the area toured the Eastern section of the United States and parts of Canada as part of her teaching degree.

With narration, Miss Spaugh showed slides of historical scenes in Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi, Tennessee, Virginia, Maryland, Washington, D.C., New Hampshire, Maine, New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri; Canada, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, and Toronto.

The devotional, "Getting F'n Out of Life" was given by Mrs. Charles Beard. The lesson on Liberia in Africa was presented by Mrs. Murray Castleberry.

During the business session led by Mrs. Bob Swanson, who opened the meeting with prayer, members were reminded that the Group has the program for Christian Women's Fellowship on Feb. 17 at 9:30 a.m. She also reminded members of the clothing and eggs for Juliette Fowler Children's home in Dallas. Love Gifts were collected to be presented at the CWF meeting. Mrs. Swanson asked members to bring quilt scraps to the next meeting to be cut and sewed.

Mrs. Castleberry asked members to consider changing the meeting time from the second Monday of each month to the third Monday. Meeting adjourned with group repetition of the CWF benediction. Refreshments were served during the social hour by Mmes. Walton Bailey, and K. L. Green from a red cloth-covered table centered with an arrangement of white tulips and large red hearts.

Attending were guests Miss Spaugh and Mrs. T. B. Rogers Jr.; members, Mmes. Charles L. Searhart, O. H. Odum, Don Meador, K. L. Green, Ford Herring, Walton Bailey, Murray Castleberry, Bob Swanson, Charles Beard, Walyn Bigson and Don Elledge.

Mrs. Swanson announced the next meeting of the Group will be with Mrs. Ford Herring, 709 N. Nelson with Mrs. Charles Beard as co-hostess on Mar. 14 at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Castleberry will present the program.

Spring Make-Up Should Be Chosen With Great Care

With prints more popular this season than ever before, and with entire ensembles, including hats, bags, and even shoes being made of these colorful materials, you should take great care in choosing your make-up to prevent your facial features from getting lost in the design and color of your outfit. A few simple tips in this direction are offered by Max Factor, master of make-up artistry. First, keep your complexion tone one flawless, even surface by applying a cake, cream stick, fluid or compact foundation make-up in a shade that precisely matches your skin coloring.

Next, match or harmonize your lipstick to the predominating color of the print. If there are warm colors in the print like true red, rose, pink or coral, choose a shade that will pick up these tones. If the colors are in blues and greens, select a lipstick to harmonize with them.

Finally, be sure your eye make-up is applied neatly and cleanly. Carefully applied make-up will make your eyes stand out clear and bright against the colorful pattern of your ensemble.

AROUND THE WORLD

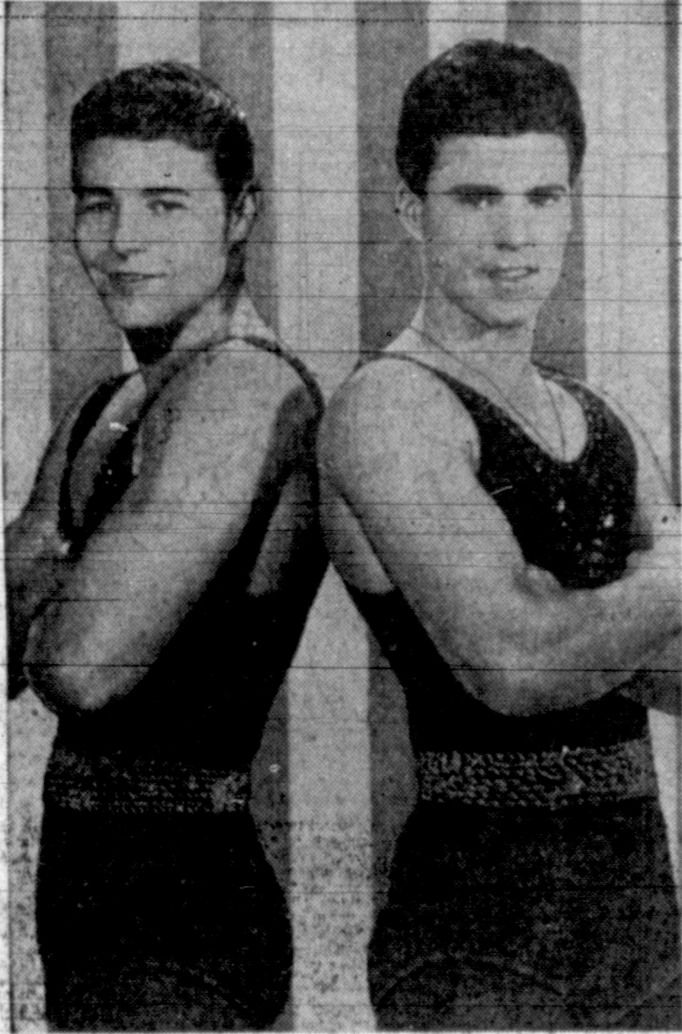

EASILY OVER—At the Country Club in Grossinger, N. Y., Leo LeBel, 29, gave a demonstration of his get-up-and-go by soaring over 16 barrels on his ice skates. The mighty leap, which measured more than 26 feet, enabled LeBel to win the World Barrel Jumping Championship for the sixth year in a row.

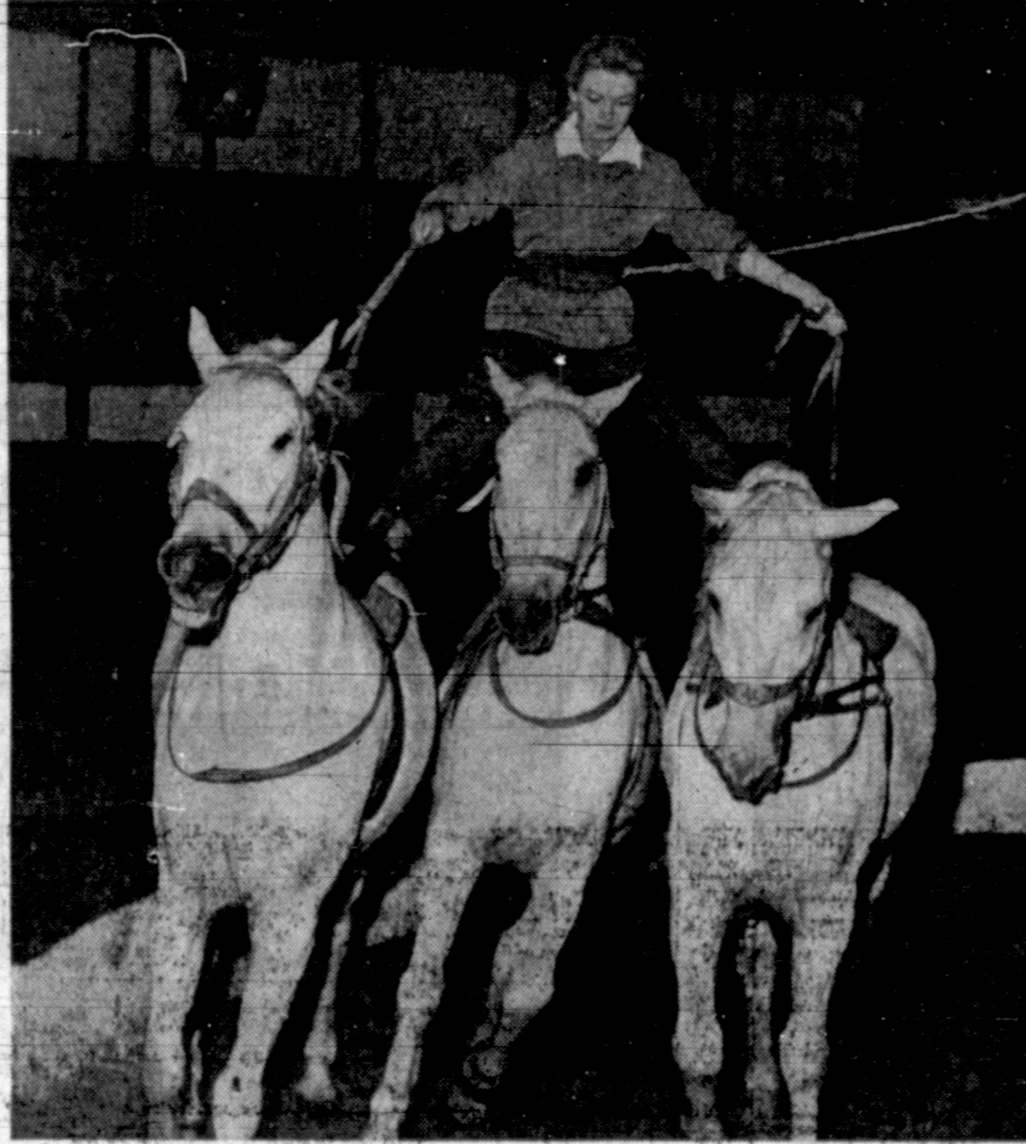

WOOL BAKING—Wool goes south for the winter to provide a bare minimum of comfort for warm-weather resorts. Modeled in Jamaica, B.W.I., the suntan boy shorts and white caplet are made of lightweight wool. A crushed cummerbund adds a festive touch.

TANGLING—In action reminiscent of a football game, players with the New York Rangers and Detroit Red Wings piled up on the ice near the Rangers' cage in Madison Square Garden. The Rangers are goalie Lorne Worsley (1), Jack Bownass (2) and John Hanna (6). The Red Wings involved are Gary Aldcorn (11) and Bill McNeill (15).

THEY'RE FLYING HIGH—The Nelson brothers, Rick (right) and Dave, put their new-found talents to work for them in Hollywood. They've been practicing aerial gymnastics and intend showing what they've learned on "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet" TV show of January 27.

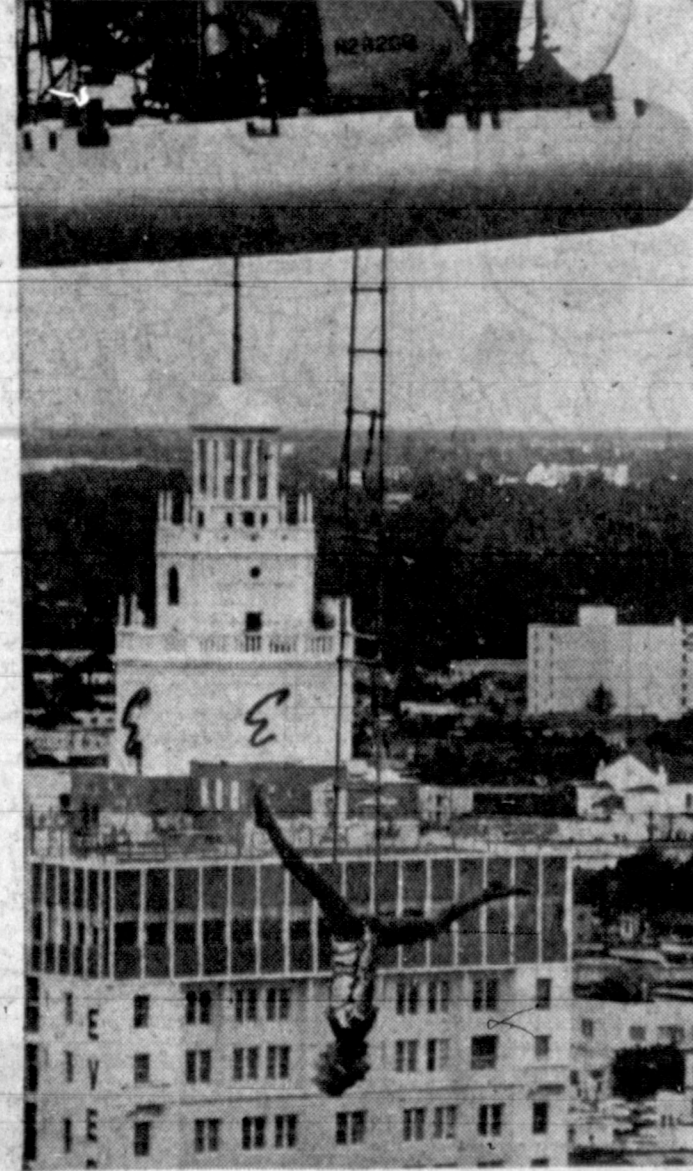

RIDING HIGH—French actress Brigitte Auber has a safety belt hooked around her waist as she tries this dangerous stunt in Paris. She was practicing for the act she will present at the annual Circus Gala put on by show people for destitute comedians.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY—While vacationing in the Bahamas, Claire Marquis displayed her surfboard skill near Nassau. Carefully balanced on one foot, she is holding onto exactly nothing. How long Claire "held" this pose in anybody's guess.

PORT OR STARBOARD?—Right is "right" in this boating sequence unfolding on a motion picture waterway of a new device in Hartford, Conn. It provides a way to give pleasure boat skippers safety tests on land. An insurance company will display it at the National Motor Boat Show in New York.

HIGH OVERHEAD—Daredevil aerialist Alma Bray demonstrated her acrobatic agility in this spectacular style in Miami, Fla. She dangled upside-down from the saddle of a helicopter. The tower in the background belongs to a local hotel, and is 19 stories high—but Alma was higher than that.

QUEEN FOR A DAY—She's pretty Sharon Lee, of Hialeah, Fla., who recently reigned over the 25th annual Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament, sponsored by a local newspaper. The contest is the world's oldest and largest of its kind, and attracts half a million.

DOWN THE SLOPES—Ex-Queen Soraya of Iran, who's vacationing at St. Moritz, Switzerland, is having her skis adjusted by instructor Alfred Schmidhauser. The pretty princess is as proficient on these skis as on water skis, and is an all-around good athlete.

Murder Suspect Arrested

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Charles Francis Caldwell, 63, of (4204 N. 1st Ave.) Phoenix, Ariz., was in San Antonio city jail today awaiting extradition to Arizona, where he is charged with the murder of another Phoenix man.

Caldwell walked into the San Antonio SBI office Thursday night and gave himself up. He had been sought in Arizona and in New Mexico, where the blood-stained car of the murder victim, Jacob Ray Krentz, 43, was found Monday.

Police said they would hold Caldwell here until they receive a warrant from Yavapai county (Ariz.) sheriff James Cramer. If Caldwell waives extradition, he will go before a judge later today and be sent back to Arizona.

A truck driver found Krentz' bullet-riddled body propped against a fence near Hyde Park, Ariz., Wednesday.

His car was found at Roswell, N. M., on Monday. It was parked on a "used" car lot. Three bullet holes were in the windshield and blood.

Caldwell told detectives Thursday night it was another man who killed Krentz.

He said he, Krentz, and a third man, whom he did not identify, left Phoenix en route to Prescott, Ariz., looking for work.

As they raced along at 60 or 70 miles per hour, he said, the third man—who was riding in the back seat of the car—got into an argument with Krentz.

Instrumental In Top Record Spot

CHICAGO (UPI)—Percy Faith's "Theme From a Summer Place," a smooth instrumental, held down first place Saturday in the weekly United Press International Top 20 popular tunes survey.

It was the first time in weeks the top spot was held by a record other than rock-and-roll.

In second place was Mark Dinning's "Teen Angel," which had slipped from first. In third was the rock-and-rolling Jimmy Jones with his "Handy Man."

Johnny Preston's "Running Bear" was in fourth, followed by Jim Reeves' "He'll Have to Go" and Dion and The Belmonts' "Where or When."

The guitar strumming Everly Brothers were in seventh with their "Let It Be Me," followed by Jack Scott's "What in The World" in eighth and Bobby Darin's "Beyond The Sea" in ninth. Bobby Rydell's "Wild One" held down 10th.

None of the Top 10 tunes were newcomers to the survey.

The survey, (numbers in parenthesis indicate position this week, position last week and number of weeks on survey.)

Space Ship Flies Again

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI)—The X15 experimental rocketship soared to 80,000 feet — about 15 miles — above the desert Thursday in its fifth powered test flight.

It was the first time the sleek, 50-foot craft had flown so high. Its speed was not revealed but was more than 1,400 miles an hour.

Only two 8,000-pound thrust rocket engines propelled the X15 in the powered flight which lasted four minutes. When the stub-winged rocketship makes its planned assault up to 100 miles high at speeds of 4,000 miles an hour it will be powered by one giant 50,000 to 60,000-pound rocket engine.

Test pilot Scott Crossfield again was behind the controls of the X15 as he has been in all its glide and power flights.
