Group To Study Oil Bills

IPAA Prexy Here for District Meet

By JIM T. LACY
Daily News Managing Editor

BUSINESS CHAT — Officials of the Independent Petroleum Association of America got together for an informal chat before last night's district meeting of the IPAA here. From left, George B. Cree, Jr., J. H. Dunn, Alvin C. Hope and E. L. Green, Jr. Cree and Green of Pampa, and Dunn of Amarillo are directors of the IPAA. Hope is national president of the organization. (Daily News Photo)

renewed pledge to work for an improved market for members of the Independent Petroleum Association of America in the months ahead made last night by the president of that organization, Alvin C. Hope of San Antonio. The occasion was the district meeting of that group ever held in Pampa, more than 150 attended the event at the Coronado Inn in all parts of the Panhandle.

the speaker's platform with was the IPAA coup from Arlington, D.C. L. Dan Jones, Hope declared that he is finding a determination among oilmen to tackle such problems as crude oil production, rising refinery capacity, excessive refinery, bulging stocks and weaker prices. The speaker became independent producer the year 1959 was founded in 1929 and has actively associated with the organization since then.

We must find 40 billion barrels (this year) to satisfy national requirements," Hope warned in pointing that the IPAA has a national committee to study industry problems. The committee is to be named next week, he said, as the "IPAA Ways Means Committee," and Hope said the idea is to meet "with an eye on the future."

He said the committee will be made up of representatives from all parts of the industry and will be free to make suggestions to the committee in its efforts to find "ways and means" to correct the unhealthy conditions now so evident in the industry.

Hope said the long range future of the petroleum industry "obviously is good in an economy demanding more and more production," but said short-range problems of the industry must be met "otherwise they can impede our ability to meet future demands for petroleum fuels."

He deplored what he termed "the worsening economic conditions in the industry at a time in the business economy general." (See GROUP, Page 3)

Injured Men Improving in Hospital

Condition of three Pampa men, injured in a one-car accident in which a companion was killed yesterday morning, continues to improve today.

Highland General Hospital attendants said Leslie Gilliam, 36, who was released this morning, while David Crossman, 1501 Russell, and Dave Earl Cathey, driver of the car, are listed as "fairly good."

Robert Jones, 524 Yeager, died yesterday morning in Highland General Hospital of injuries suffered in the crash at Brown and Pacific Sts.

According to investigating officials, the accident occurred when they lost control of his automobile while attempting to pass another car on the E. Frederic street, skidded sideways, struck and posts on the west side of the road and Gee grocery, bounced off a concrete step in front of the store. The automobile then tipped into the air, turned over and landed on its wheels.

Cathey, Crossman and Jones were thrown out of the car when overturned, while Gilliam remained inside.

MOST DESPERATE

Robert Rivera, one of the most desperate criminals in the Tennessee State Prison at Nashville, and another convict, Raymond Farra, held 17 persons, including three women, as hostages in a deputy warden's office of the prison. In a bid for freedom, the convicts demanded a car and an opportunity to shoot it out with officers.

Budget Receives Substantial Boost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee today added $187,400,350 to President Eisenhower's budget for health, education and welfare, including an extra $1,000,000 for a broad federal attack on juvenile delinquency.

The committee charged that the President's request was inadequate to deal with a host of problems ranging from juvenile delinquency to difficulties of the aging.

Cons Surrender As Prison Break Fails

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The tall, young convict with cropped hair walked out of the prison factory at dusk Thursday, flipped away his cigarette and spat on the ground. Then he struck out his hands to be handcuffed.

That defiant action by Charles Raymond Farra, 25-year-old West Virginia kidnaper and robber, ended a 25-hour war of nerves in which he and a fellow convict gambled the lives of 18 hostages against the hope that 200 police would let them flee from the Tennessee state prison here.

Farra and Robert Rivera, 25, of Temple, Tex., armed with .38 and .45 caliber pistols smuggled into the prison, seized more than 70 hostages in a strangely disorganized bid for freedom late Wednesday.

Senate May Change Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said today he would be "very much surprised" if the Senate did not change the five-point civil rights bill approved by the House.

Senate leaders hoped the House measure could be passed without change and sent directly to the White House. Otherwise, a time-consuming Senate-House conference would be necessary to work out a compromise.

But storm signals arose from both liberal senators wanting a stronger bill and embattled Southern legislators fighting any civil rights legislation, Russell is the leader of the Southern bloc.

The House finally passed its bill by a 311-109 vote Thursday. The measure includes most of the administration's civil rights proposals, including a plan for court-appointed referees to safeguard Negro voting rights.

The Senate promptly sidetracked its own measure and sent the House bill to the Judiciary committee, headed by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.). But it instructed the committee to report the measure back by next Tuesday.

The Senate defeated 72-19, an Eastland motion to refer the bill to his committee with no time limit. Eastland told newsmen he would not call a committee meeting until its regular session Monday morning.

Will Question If Wisconsin Test 'Crucial'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Stuart Symington is starting his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination by raising questions about the meaning of Wisconsin's heavily publicized primary.

Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) are matched in the presidential preference contest in Wisconsin and both are treating it as a crucial test.

Symington, formally announcing his candidacy Thursday, reiterated that he would not enter state primaries. He noted that 25 of the 50 states do not provide such primaries and said all national convention delegates should have a voice in choosing the presidential nominee.

The Missouri senator also contended that presidential primaries (See QUESTION, Page 3)

Lions Select Queen Hopefuls

Queens and their sponsors in the Lions Club beauty contest were selected this morning at a meeting of the contest committee in the Commodore Inn.

Queens and their sponsors include: Rita Cartwright, Dunlaps; Kay Kolosha, Richard Drug; Karen Capps, Ideal Food Store; Betty Sprinkle, White House Lumber Co.; Nita Cartwright, Ollie Hare; Mary Ann Harvey, First National Bank; Mary Sturgeon, Klassee Ford and one as yet unnamed contestant who will be sponsored by Furr Food.

The eight contestants will appear before the Lions Club Thursday, when one will be selected to represent the club in the district convention in Borger April 23 and 24.

House Group May Wind Up Today, Give Facts To Jury

AMARILLO (UPI) — Airman Raymond Ferris testified today that Randall County Judge Roy Joe Stevens wanted to take revenge on an Amarillo restaurant owner by throwing a "stench" bomb into the establishment.

Ferris, who is stationed at Amarillo Air Force base, is an expert on bombs. He testified before the House General Investigating Committee, which is probing alleged links between gamblers and law enforcement officers in Amarillo.

Before today's hearing got underway, the committee announced that two witnesses who had given explosive testimony earlier had passed lie detector tests.

Summit Prelude

Shop Talk By Macmillan, Ike

LONDON (UPI) — The main purpose of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's rush trip to Washington Saturday is to keep the road clear to the summit, diplomatic sources said today.

They said Macmillan hopes he can do this by swaying President Eisenhower to accept a compromise with the Soviet Union on the intricate issue of outlawing nuclear tests.

Macmillan has led the Western Allies for some months along the disarmament and summit trails on the theory that East and West must keep talking if there ever is to be a cold war settlement.

A compromise plan set forth by the Russians at Geneva last Saturday is very close to an earlier British suggestion.

The Russians agreed to go along with a formal ban on all but relatively small underground nuclear explosions, which are hard to detect, as long as Britain and the United States would agree with Russia less formally not to set off such explosions for five years, pending a study of detection methods.

Britain feels it cannot reject this and that unless the United States goes along prospects for a wider disarmament accord might be destroyed and the summit meeting endangered.

Informed sources said he probably would not press Eisenhower to accept the Soviet formula at face value, but probably would offer some new intermediate position.

His main argument would be that the West for the first time could pin the Russians down to a system of controls that could be used as a pilot scheme for full disarmament.

Bulletin

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —

Wilt Chamberlain, the sensational rookie star of the Philadelphia Warriors basketball team, confirmed today that he is quitting the National Basketball Assn.

Chamberlain, who smashed all league scoring records in his first year, said: "I had one thing to prove when I went into the NBA — and I think I proved it."

Cost Of Living Hike Reversed By Downtrend

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's living costs, spurred by higher interest rates and medical bills, edged up last month to equal the all-time high set last November.

The Labor Department's consumer price index reversed a two-month downturn by climbing two-tenths of one per cent. It was 125.4 per cent of average 1947-49 prices, an increase of 1.3 per cent above a year ago.

A sharp reduction in gasoline prices and the fifth consecutive monthly decline in food prices prevented the index from rising to new record levels.

Mortgage interest rates, which have risen steadily since mid-1958, brought a rise in housing costs, the Labor Department said.

Medical care costs went up eight-tenths of one per cent last month — largest increase in 18 months. Substantially higher premiums for health insurance in a number of cities were blamed.

The outlook is for further increases in living costs this spring, according to Robert J. Myers, deputy commissioner of labor statistics.

Motherwell Gets Life

DOWNTOWNEVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — Larry Lord Motherwell was sentenced Thursday to life in prison for the murder of Mrs. Pearl Putney, wealthy 72-year-old Washington, D.C., widow.

A jury of nine women and three men, which could have sent the 42-year-old defendant to the gas chamber, returned the verdict on the third day of deliberations.

The same jury found Motherwell guilty of first degree murder on circumstantial evidence last week.

Prosecutor Gordon I. Smith said he was disappointed. "If ever a case deserved the death penalty, this was it," he said.

Motherwell, a charming faker, left a long string of broken hearts and depleted bankrolls during his career as a self-appointed admiral, physician, missile expert, G-man and foreign correspondent.

Mrs. Putney and Motherwell were on a cross-country "last fling" when she disappeared shortly after the couple checked out of a motel in Marysville, Calif., in 1958.

One year later a skull and bones identified as those of the widow were found on an old logging road near this mountain community in Sierra County.

Motherwell was arrested shortly afterward in Atlanta and charged with murder, although the state never established the cause of death or found a murder weapon.

Khrushchev Pays Homage To Lenin While In Paris

PARIS (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, under the watchful eyes of French security police, made a pilgrimage to V. I. Lenin's Paris apartment today and received a joyful embrace from French Communist Party Chief Maurice Thorez.

The Soviet leader, on the third day of his visit to France, made the side trip before returning to detailed private talks on world problems and Soviet-French relations with President Charles de Gaulle.

An estimated 7,000 Communists and leftist sympathizers cheered as Khrushchev drove up to the six-story building at No. 4 Rue Marie-Rose where Lenin and his wife lived in a three room apartment from 1909 to 1912. It is a Socialist shrine now.

Security agents kept a sharp lookout from windows and balconies of other buildings overlooking the narrow street.

The crowd set up rhythmic chants of "Khrushchev... Khrushchev... Franco-Soviet friendship..." until the Soviet leader stepped out onto the balcony of the apartment.

Smiling broadly, he responded by clasping his hands above his head like a boxer in a ring. The working district crowd roared. Great Soviet banners floated over the throng. Smaller Soviet and French flags waved from thousands of hands.

Black-robed priests watched impassively from windows of a Roman Catholic religious order building that now occupies the space which once served as a garden for the building.

Khrushchev then drove to Elysee Palace to resume his private talks with de Gaulle. They talked for more than two hours Thursday.

So far there has been no official communiques on their conversations but Khrushchev's public speeches have made it clear he has been campaigning for the closest type of cooperation between Moscow and Paris.

He has done it by playing repeatedly on his theme that militarism is rising in Germany and is posing a grave danger to the whole European continent.

IN HIDING

Mrs. Golda Davis, estranged wife of Lester L. Davis who has been identified in testimony as a professional gambler, told the Texas House General Investigating Committee in Amarillo that her husband made weekly payoffs to the Potter County sheriff's department. Mrs. Davis was taken to Lubbock as a safeguard following her testimony Wednesday.

NAACP Hit By Truman

DETROIT (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman told the NAACP in a telegram Thursday the organization is losing friends instead of making them.

Arthur L. Johnson, executive secretary of the NAACP branch here, said the group had asked the former president if he was correctly quoted when he reportedly said, "If anyone came into my store and tried to stop business I'd throw him out. The Negro should behave himself and show he is a good citizen."

In Truman's answering wire, he said he was correctly quoted and "I would do just what I said I would. If I were in Detroit I would say the same thing to you personally."

Edward M. Turner, local NAACP president, said: "We recognize the fact that even our friends at times may not agree with our methods and fully appreciate our anxieties in our struggle for freedom. This is the price we have to pay."

IT'S THE LAW

Advocacy
In old Greece each accused person such as Socrates had to come before the jury himself to plead his case. This was tough if he didn't know the art of advocacy. He was assumed to be guilty.

Had Socrates taken independent advice would he have offended the boisterous and biased Athenian jury, which sentenced him to the hemlock there on the hillside in 399 B.C.?

Many think not: Less outspoken defendants in those days got under the counter legal advice and coaching in the ways of swaying the jury.

A neighbor who discovered what happened, telephoned the police to come to the couple's rescue. They were taken to a hospital.

the guilty on the spot allowing some... Socrates, for one... to propose their own penalties' and even to bid the punishment upward if the jury was not pleased.

After the trial, the speaker (or in Socrates' case, his friend Plato) often worked their talks over, and sent them out for friends to admire or criticize.

'What appeals did the rhetoricians find that would win the jury over? The same ones we hear today.

Aristotle listed a few: The values the jurors shared with the speaker—reverence, for justice, the law, and the city's founding fathers; the sanctity of the jurymen's oath, the verdict's effect upon public and foreign opinion and sometimes upon women and youth.

The later Romans realized that an accused person might be unjustly found guilty simply because he did not know how to speak in public. So they encouraged litigants and accused persons to have well qualified advocates represent them.

In this country the constitution gives you your day in court and the right to counsel. For your law-

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—State prison guard J.W. Truitt, describing his 25 hour as a hostage held by two desperate convicts:
"They never made any threats to kill us all, but they were shaking guns close to our faces, about three or four inches away. I sure feel lucky to be out."

SAN FRANCISCO—Lance Revell, son of Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton, after being arrested to speak up well for you in court, he must know all about your case. So under the law, no court can harm you by making him talk about what you told him. (This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. Not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Rivers's big grievance was that a fellow prisoner had prepared a writ of habeas corpus for him but he could not get it notarized. He complained he was denied legal counsel.

Prison Warden Louis Bomar said Thursday night the weapons used by Farra and Herra may have been smuggled into the prison a month ago by a guard who since has been fired. The guard, not identified by Bomar, was not prosecuted for earlier smuggling offenses, but Bomar said he plans to "see what charges we can file against him now in the light of what has happened."

—Blow up a restaurant.

—Compromise a state liquor agent with a pretty prostitute nicknamed "Sugar."

—Organize a prostitution ring from which he would get part of the revenue.

—Set up a hideout for fugitives from the law.

Other witnesses said he accepted divorce fees "in trade"—intimacies with women clients—if they didn't have the cash to pay attorney's fees. Still others said he received gifts of confiscated liquor from state liquor agents, had been "playing around" with teen-age girls, and stole furniture from the county courthouse to set up a friend in business as a private detective.

The judge, who is married and the father of five children, categorically denied most of the charges and accused the committee of attempted character assassination. He admitted taking the furniture.

Besides holding the post of Randall County judge, Stevens is a practicing attorney in Potter (Amarillo) County.

He made a half-dozen trips to the witness stand yesterday, but some of his answers were so evasive they prompted Rep. Tom James of Dallas to charge Stevens was "laying a defense for perjury."

"If you are thinking about perjury charges against me then this is not the purpose that the hearing is for," Stevens angrily retorted. "You told me the purpose of the hearing was to get information."

An assortment of maps of Texas showing its industries, topography, cities, history; a toss-game made on the Texas map; scrapbooks; and postcard collections of Texas were on display to illustrate the month's theme, "My Home State."

Wounded Deputy Said Improving

Hemphill County Deputy Sheriff Walter Adams is reported to be "still improving" today, although his condition is still listed as critical.

Adams was shot in the upper right chest Wednesday by Wesley (Jack) Thompson as he prepared to issue license tags for Thompson's vehicle.

Sheriff Harry Rathjen said Thompson shot Adams with a .22 caliber rifle after walking into the sheriff's office, throwing down some papers and stating he wanted to register a pickup.

Rathjen said before Adams could move, Thompson raised the rifle and shot one time, the bullet striking Adams in the chest, and collapsing his right lung.

After a struggle, Thompson was subdued and placed in Hemphill County jail. Adams was removed to Canadian Hospital, where he underwent several blood transfusions.

Thompson, who had been in the Wichita Falls mental institution and undergone brain surgery in a private Dallas hospital, was committed to the Dallas institution. It is reported he will be committed permanently to the state institution in the near future. No charges have been filed, and none are expected.

Just what the doctor ordered: Dr. Arthur L. Binford, Memphis, Tenn., dentist, serves his wife breakfast in bed every morning.

EMO TO MEN: Burn This Story
for Your Wives Read Farther

ALICE BEATTY PITTS
 Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (NEA) — Breakfast in bed is a rare thing for the homemaker — and then usually when she is sick. But so with Mrs. Arthur L. Binford, a prominent dentist.

Dr. Binford prepares and serves breakfast to his wife in every morning.

The smiling Mrs. Binford never knows the menu. It is always bacon omelet, French finnan haddie, or quail on toast.

When she is hunting, she gives the breakfast to the boys. Leigh, 12; Pam, 10, and Ann, 7, and gets them ready for school.

Who is the luckiest lady in town? Are you asking me? I think it's the luckiest lady in Memphis. Her name is Mrs. Binford.

Binford, ham radio operator and amateur photographer, says it is relaxing to get in bed. "I must admit, too, that I was watching the food disappear from my table — and friends — when I was in bed."

Dr. Binford's recipe for breakfast eggs — his wife's favorite:

- CURRIED EGGS
 (4 servings)
- 4 hard-cooked eggs, 1 1/2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup milk, 1/2 teaspoon curry powder, salt and pepper to taste, 4 slices buttered toast, paprika and parsley.
- Simmer eggs over low heat while preparing other ingredients. Melt butter in thick skillet over low heat. Blend in flour. Add cup of milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Add seasonings. Peel and slice one egg, over each slice of toast. Pour curry sauce over top. Garnish with dash of paprika and sprigs of parsley.
- Here's one of Dr. Binford's typical menus for his wife:
- SOUTHERN BREAKFAST
 Chilled, sliced orange; curried eggs and bacon curls; buttered toast with muscadine preserves; coffee and cream.
- With a meal like that served in bed, no wonder Mrs. Binford says she is the luckiest lady in America.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
 Once I was fired.

It was just before we entered World War II. The dismissal was hard on me because my British soldier-husband's dependents' allotment wasn't enough to support my child and me. I not only needed the job but was struggling through a crisis of horrified recoil from the fact that an evil like Adolf Hitler could exist in the world.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

As a sensitive civilized man he felt sympathy for me. But as a practical man of business he turned around in church we are getting hit for money. I thought religion was free. I realize that churches have to have some money but I think it is getting to be a racket. Just what do churches do with all their money?

So, one June morning when the sun was shining, he called me into his office and office and without preliminaries undertook the terribly uncomfortable task of telling me I wasn't wanted.

I emerged from the office with more affectionate respect for him than I'd had before. And we are still friends.

Yesterday a young man I know who is working to pay for his master's degree in a university graduate school was fired.

Nobody called him into an office to break the uncomfortable news. In his pay envelope he found only a little blue printed form. Nothing happened between him and the employer for whom he had been working six months—neither criticism nor protest, anger or explanation, mutual regret or mutual realization of increased or decreased respect. Just nothing but a slip of blue paper to read and respond to with loneliness, bewilderment and dismay.

So the inevitable happened. By the time the young man reached me, the loneliness of his bewilderment and dismay had turned into hatred of his boss.

It seems a great pity to me that his employer so confused efficiency with a comfortable way out.

I hope we don't have too many such employers in this country. Because all of us, from Jack Paar to children whose parents run away from protest, fiercely resent authority that fears to exert power openly and honestly.

This is not because we are "Sci, sick, sick." It is because we are human.

DEAR ABBY: We are not overly religious people, but we do like to go to church once in a while. It seems to me like every time we turn around in church we are getting hit for money. I thought religion was free. I realize that churches have to have some money but I think it is getting to be a racket. Just what do churches do with all their money?

DEAR CURIOUS: Even priests, ministers and rabbis must eat. And since they work fulltime at their tasks, the churches must support them. Staff, professional choir members and musicians must also be paid. Buildings must be maintained, heated, lighted and beautified. (And, of course, first they must be built!) Custodial staff must eat and feed their families. Most churches engage in philanthropic work (aid to needy, missions and education); hence they have their financial obligations. Even orchids, contrary to folklore, do not live on air. Churches can't live on air either. Religion, like water, may be free, but when they pipe it to you, you've got to help pay for the piping. And the piping!

DEAR ABBY: I have been sitting at a certain stool at the same bar for over 20 years. Everyone in town knows that when I come in, the end stool is mine. There is a certain character who knows that the end stool is mine, but lately he has been sitting there when I come in.

How can I get the idea over to him that that stool belongs to me without causing a scene?

DEAR END: In a bar, it's first come-first served. Sit on another stool and quit sucking your thumb.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for the woman whose husband refused to take their son to a psychiatrist because he was "afraid it would show up on his record." I had the same experience with my daughter. I'd give anything on earth if I had gone ahead and taken professional help. I sneaked my daughter to a psychiatrist and he told me he thought she could be helped, but the treatment had to be started immediately. I was afraid to defy my husband, so I let it go.

Abby, she didn't finish high school. She got pregnant, ran away from home and had her baby in a "home" and adopted it out. Then she became a call girl and later broke up a home where there were four children. I don't know where she is as she never contacts me any more. My heart is broken. Ask this mother to weigh this against the fears of taking a child to a psychiatrist because it might "show on his record."

TOO LATE NOW

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TOO YOUNG TO MARRY": Tell your parents at once. They will help you to work out the best solution.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sweet-Tooth Bulges To Jaw-Breaking Proportions As Nation Craves Candy

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
 United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—America's sweet-tooth is bulging near jaw-breaking proportions.

Filling the craving for sweets now amounts to a billion dollar a year business. And during the last 12 months, per capita consumption of candy hit 18.5 pounds.

In Grandmama's day, the average American munched just nine pounds of candy a year.

What you invest to satisfy your craving for sweets depends on some extent on where you live. In a recent survey, the candy institute spotted clearly — marked regional tastes in consumption.

The craving in towns along the Pacific and Atlantic coastal areas leans to bitterness chocolate.

Midwesterners prefer milk chocolate — the creamier the better. They enjoy cinnamon, mint and even nutmeg in their sweets. But a Bostonian peers down his proboscis, pronouncing such tastes plebeian.

At a time when most children are sent to bed, the program coming over TV probably the last six and June could be allowed to see before tucked in their beds with a talismanic wish to "sleep well."

They watched that show I don't know how they got to sleep at all.

To start to finish it was a tale of diabolic threats and merciless punches, stuff bad enough to make a child shudder.

It's the same thing night after night. As the story writers find it harder and harder to come up with new plots for the cops and Wild West shows, violence and sadism get worse.

In enough beatings, enough slings, enough horror and mayhem, anybody will notice that there isn't much of a plot. That's the line of reasoning: the TV industry isn't going to house itself to get rid of the cruelty that make kids first grow wide with horror then bland with acceptance to parents to rise up in protest.

Under what would happen if a responsible mother and father in the country would take a good look at the TV shows children see night after night, as they watched they would score on the stabbings, beatings, and sadistic threats occur?

There have been committees that have kept such records. But parents all over the country should make such a record for themselves it might prompt a mass protest against the TV fare offered.

Should parents wait around somebody to do something? Parents are the ones who put out the pressure if they want to?

Congratulations! And remember... station-to-station calls SAVE YOU 1/3

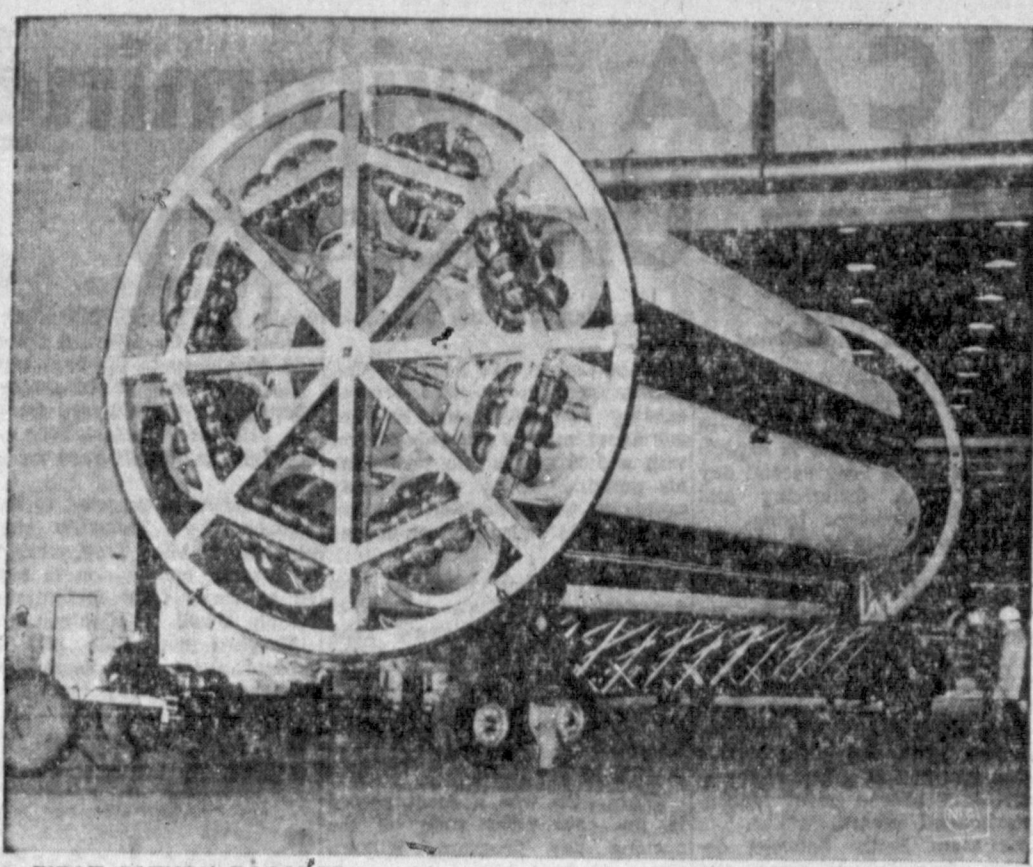

A father for the first time! You want to tell the world—but you settle for relatives and friends. No wonder the nurse's smart advice is a welcome reminder.

LONG DISTANCE station-to-station calls (to a distant number rather than to a particular person) save you more than one third.

You have three choices. You can: (1) pocket the savings, (2) make three calls for the price of two, or (3) talk longer for less.

Call this easy, economical way now. And call by number . . . it's twice as fast.

Term 'Common Stock' Unfamiliar To Many

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the lexicon of Wall Street there's nothing lower than a common stock.

And, when things are whooping it up there's nothing better than a common stock.

Not too long ago the Stock Exchange took a survey and found to its amazement that few people knew what a common stock was.

Today things are different and millions know all about common stocks and the companies they represent.

A common stock is an equity in a share of a company. It has voting rights. It is the risk issue. Ahead of it are such instruments as preferred stocks and bonds. Bonds are debt instruments which must be paid off before anything else.

If anything is left over in liquidation after bonds and preferred stocks are paid off the common stockholders get their share.

Common stock takes all the risks, and it takes all the profits after interest is paid on bonds and dividends are paid on preferred stock. The corporation directors make the decisions on the dividends on common stock which can run into high figures.

Over the past ten years the demand for common stock has increased sharply. Everybody has wanted these issues. They have been heralded as a hedge against inflation, as a growth situation in many instances, as big earners in dividends.

What is its future? Will it fall off as inflation ebbs? Will bonds replace common stocks as the prime investment items?

Rawson Lloyd, vice-president of Wellington Management Company and investment adviser for Wellington Fund and Wellington Equity fund—with aggregate assets of around $900 million—looks for a comparatively favorable political, international, and economic climate ahead.

He assumes continuation of long-term growth which will make things favorable for common stocks in the future.

These common stocks, he says, could grow at a rate of 6 to 7 per cent a year, or similar to the growth of the postwar period. Lloyd believes that business will hold high which will mean that money rates will not return to low level of 1930 to the early 1950s. He expects that bonds and stocks will come closer together in their yields.

With investors having less fear of depressions, Lloyd believes that common stocks of leading companies will continue to be popular and sound investments and may well yield less than good-grade bonds as often as they yield more than these bonds during the sixties.

He believes that a balanced program of stocks and bonds still is the most desirable investment program to provide a well-rounded program.

After All, Officers Are Gents And Aren't Supposed To Tell

By RONALD H. NESSEN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The armed forces have complained that the question of whether young officers prefer double or twin beds after marriage is too personal to ask the escorts of cherry blossom princesses.

The services balked at this and other queries on a questionnaire being used by a Univac machine to pair the officers and 53 princesses representing states and territories at the Cherry Blossom Festival here next month.

The other questions the military objected to included, "Do you want to get married?" "Do you think a wife should work after marriage?" and "Children for ideal size family: None, one, more."

Clarence A. Arata, executive director of the Washington Convention and Visitors Bureau, told United Press International he did not know of any princess who had complained about the questionnaire.

Young single officers of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Coast Guard and Marines volunteer to serve as escorts each year at the festival which coincides with the blooming of the famed Japanese

Lenten Devotion

By The Rev.
Dr. Charles D. Keen
Rector, Episcopal Church

Washington, D. C.
Written For UPI

The familiar story of Jesus being tempted in the wilderness is one of the definitive themes of Lent. In the account of the soul's inner struggle we have a description of our Lord rejecting easy alternatives and choosing the pathway to the cross in principle because that alone would really meet the human problem.

The three temptations describe three possible methods by which Jesus might have sought to win men's loyalty, and to save them despite themselves. He might have tried to buy their hearts through taking care of their bodies as in the phrase "Rice Christians." He might have tried to capture their imaginations through the spectacular. He might have attempted the role of the benevolent dictator. We know he rejected all three for the infinitely harder road through Calvary and so we call him Lord.

There is another side, however, to this story which may not be noticed when we think primarily of the tactics Jesus chose for his own ministry. Through these pictorial descriptions of the way men dream of victory, Jesus identifies himself with us. They are not only policy questions he had to face but, even more, traditional ways by which men and nations have sought to make life good and keep it that way through storm and stress.

For Himself, our Lord chose to trust God's love and then to meet the world as consistently as possible on those terms, doing the best he could with situations as they came up and ascribing the final victory to God's eternal purpose. But it is precisely here that we face trouble because we are really afraid to trust God's love when the chips are down. We want something more tangible as the basis for our confidence. So in telling us the story of His own searching of heart, Jesus identifies Himself with us where we are in order that He may serve as the connecting link between God's saving care and our desperate need.

'Fire-Fighting' Sheep Work For Film Company

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Only in Crazyville, U.S.A., will you find a flock of fire-fighting sheep who double at working in movies and television shows.

Sounds zany, but the woolly brigade can be seen any day at Revue Universal International studios lounging around the back lot.

Five-hundred strong, the sheep are imported from a Bakersfield, Calif., ranch each spring to crop the tender young grass shoots along the studio's slopes and hill sides.

A Basque shepherd tends the flock which is free to roam over some 50 acres of scenic Southern California real estate.

Their principal service is to prevent brush fires.

Capt. Joseph Karol of the fire department is one of those in charge of the sheep. He says they are doing a fine job, and have a spotless record in fire fighting on the lot.

"See, they graze here for three months every year," Karol explained, "and by doing that they keep the grass chewed down real close. This keeps the hillsides photogenic. If it weren't for them we'd have to burn the hills ourselves during the dry season to prevent fires."

"Now, if he lot was all blackened by the burning the studio wouldn't be able to use its own facilities for movies. They'd be forced to go somewhere else for location sites."

Celtics Capture NBA Eastern Half Playoff

Tommy Heino had the last word in his duel with Wilt Chamberlain and the Boston Celtics are occupying a familiar perch today in the finals of the National Basketball Association playoffs. The former Holy Cross star scored on a tap-in just before the buzzer that gave the Celtics a 119-117 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors Thursday night and sent the Eastern Division champions to their fourth straight title round berth.

Canadiens Grab Stanley Cup Lead

MONTREAL (UPI)—The Montreal Canadiens were off to a jittery one-game lead over the Chicago Black Hawks today but they were cautioned that they will have to do better if they hope to make it five Stanley Cups in a row.

He's hoping to finish fifth. "We aren't ready to take on the big guys," Elliott said frankly. And by the big guys he meant the White Sox, Indians, Yankees and Tigers.

"We could beat the best of them," he predicted, but not with too much enthusiasm. That's because he has infield and pitching problems.

The Athletics are well fixed in the outfield with Norm Siebert tabbed for the left field job, Bill Pate for the center field assignment and veteran Hank Bauer getting the first call in right.

Should the youngster fail to measure up, Elliott will have to switch Jerry Lumpe from second base to shortstop.

Bob Grim, used mostly in relief last year, again will be tried in a starting role. He had a 6-10 record last season. Elliott may come up with another starter from among John Tsitouris (4-3), Dick Hall, who was 18-5 at Salt Lake City, and Howard Reed, who had a 9-7 record at Portland.

Young Orioles Could Be Pennant Threat In 1960

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Casey Stengel, manager of the Yankees warns, "I don't see how the Baltimore kids can win the 1960 pennant." The Orioles Manager Paul Richards agrees with him. "We've got a corner on kids, especially when it comes to pitching," the usually stern-faced Richards smiles. And there isn't a pitcher in the American League. They all agree that Richards, a mediocre catcher in his league career, can work when it comes to pitching. They are not at all sure that they have enough other young blood with that pitching to overcome such clubs as the White Sox, Yankees and Red Sox. "We're a good dark horse bet," all that Richards will say. But he will admit, with one of his rare smiles, that his team "is a mighty bet for the future." He won't say that this year is that "future."

Aaron, Redhead, Burdette Look Sharp For Braves

United Press International — Hank Aaron is hammering away, Red Schoendienst looks as good as ever and now Lew Burdette is back on the firing line — all's well today in the Milwaukee Braves' training camp. Even Manager Charley Dressen, who's eager to get the team off to a blazing start in the National League pennant race, seemed satisfied after yesterday's 9-7 victory over the American League champion Chicago White Sox. And well he might be. Aaron, defending National League batting champion, drove six runs with a three-run home and bases-filled double. Schoendienst, trying to make 1,000 to 1 shot comeback after bout with tuberculosis, had two doubles and a triple in three appearances and raised his spring average to .421.

His pitching is his pride and joy. He points out four: —Milt Pappas, the baby of the group at 20, who won 15 last year and whom Richards says he wouldn't trade for "any other pitcher in the league." —Jerry Walker, 21, who was 11-10 with a 2.92 earned run average. —Jack Fisher, also only 21, whose 1-4 record after being called up from Miami wasn't impressive, but he lost close ball games and showed he had the stuff. —Chuck Estrada, the "old man" of the quartet at 22, who never has pitched an inning of major league ball. He struck out 178 while winning 14 at Vancouver last year. To back them up he has knuckleball specialist Hoyt Wilhelm, no kid at 36; Skinny Brown, another oldest at 35; Arnie Portocarrero, at 28; and two left-handers, Billy Hoelt and Rip Coleman. For young infielders, Richards has 22-year-old Brooks Robinson at third base. Stengel described him as one of the most improved ball players in the league last season. The 21-year-old Ron Hansen is at short, and Richards calls him the "best glove man in America."

Two outfield positions are set — the veteran Gene Woodling, who seems to get better as the years go along, in left and Jack Brandt, obtained in a deal with the Giants, in center. Right field is a battle among Willie Tasby, bonus baby Dave Nicholson, little Albie Pearson and Al Pillarick. Nicholson, one of the most highly touted of the 100,000 bonus babies, may go back to the minors for another year's experience. If he does, there is no question in Richards' mind that one day he is going to make it big. Richards also has two other kids he thinks highly of — first baseman John Powell and shortstop Bob Saverine. For catching, there is one of the best in the business — Gus Triandos. Behind him are Myron Ginsberg and Gene Green, the former Cardinal, who also can play the outfield. The Orioles have youngsters for sure. Whether they have enough veterans to blend in with them for the coming season, only time will tell.

YOUTHS SERVE — Baltimore has had exceptional luck with young pitchers. Arne Thorsland, left, 19, joins Milt Pappas, center, Jerry Walker and the others at Baltimore's Miami training base.

Benny Paret Picked Over Thompson

NEW YORK (UPI) — Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba is an 8-5 favorite over hard-punching Federico Thompson of Argentina in tonight's nationally televised 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden with a welterweight title shot awaiting the winner. The man who gets the nod in this battle between two fighters who were virtual unknowns only three months ago will step into the ring at Las Vegas, Nev., on May 27 to face world champion Don Jordan in a scrap for the crown. Paret, 25, is given the slight edge over 22-year-old Thompson on his speed and aggressive style. But boxing men figure Thompson packs more power in a single punch than does Cuba's new "kid." The Argentine blaster had been thinking of quitting until last Dec. 12 when he surprised the world by flattening Jordan in four rounds in a non-title fight in Buenos Aires.

Masters Now Top Goal For Golfers

By OSCAR FRALEY United Press International NEW YORK (UPI) — The Masters golf tournament, Vic Ghezzi insisted today, has become the most coveted championship of them all. "It's a combination of many things," asserted Ghezzi, who will describe the Masters over CBS radio. "It's the field, the course, the glamor of Bobby Jones and the sensational golf which the tournament produces year after year. "You can 'luck' your way into the Open by getting hot during the qualifying rounds," he added. "Here you have to have established yourself to get an invitation or earn a berth. It's the greatest field in golf because even the foreign stars come all the way over for this one but usually pass up the Open." Seldom is there a runaway in the Masters, Vic pointed out, and the tournament by the very nature of its competitive setup has produced some of the fairway's most fabulous finishes. "Take the year when Sarazen needed three birdies on the last four holes to tie Craig Wood," said Ghezzi. "So on the 485-yard par five 18th he knocked in a 220-yard spoon shot for a double eagle two, parred the rest of the way in and then beat Wood in the playoff."

Writer Slated To Testify

CHICAGO (UPI) — Magazine writer James Stewart-Gordon 13 day was scheduled for a return visit to the Illinois Athletic Commission to explain his charges of fixed fights on television. Gordon's article in a current issue of the Readers Digest said that members of "boxing's monopoly," known as the "Octopus," decide the outcome of TV fights "for virtually every boxer." Subpoenaed to a hastily-called hearing before the Illinois commission, Gordon said Thursday that he could not substantiate his charges "on such short notice." Commissioner Chairman Frank B. Gilmer questioned Gordon for almost an hour and then recessed the hearing until April 19 when, Gordon said he would return to Chicago with "proper documentation" of his charges.

John Lardner Dies Thursday

NEW YORK (UPI) — John Lardner, 47-year-old columnist and son of famed humorist Ring Lardner, died of a heart attack Thursday night while writing the obituary of another noted columnist-humorist, Franklin P. Adams. Lardner was at his best when reminiscing about the varied celebrities he had known for years. His columns would recall intimate glimpses of their lives with an easy, off-hand manner. His bemused, sometimes wistful, style was noted for its quiet humor that could gracefully include a note of tragedy. Once described as "a sort of high-priced utility infielder for top-echelon American magazines," Lardner had been a columnist and contributing editor of Newsweek Magazine since 1929.

PHS Baseball Team To Play At Dumas

Weather has taken a heavy toll of Pampa Harvester baseball games this year. The scheduled game at Elk City Thursday was the third to be cancelled this season because of weather conditions (rain in this case). However, the Harvesters, who have won two of the three games played, have one more non-district game scheduled. They are to play the Dumas Demons at 2 p.m. Saturday in Dumas.

Next week Pampa will open District 3-A competition, playing the Sandies at Amarillo Tuesday, hosting Plainview Friday, and playing Tascosa in Amarillo Saturday. Left-hander Kippy Williams (1-0) will be the starting pitcher for Saturday's game. Williams, a veteran of last year's second-place team, has allowed only three hits in eight innings this season, and has not yielded a run. Coach Deck Woldt expects to use the same batting order he used in Tuesday's 11-1 win over Elk City. Of the players in this group, five are batting .350 or more. The Harvesters have used their hitting power to score 30 runs in three games. The batting order for Saturday's game, with batting averages, is as follows: Ruben Strickland (.250), second base; Bobby Stephens (.364), center field; Larry Stroud (.300), first base; Bobby

South Will Probably Keep Fight Within Demo Party

By CHILES COLEMAN
United Press International

ATLANTA (UPI)—The South is keeping its 1960 political powder dry but the odds favor spirited intra-mural skirmishing rather than open warfare in this presidential election year.

The machinery for political revolt—either a southern bolt of the Democratic convention or an electoral college walkout on the Democratic nominee—has been carefully prepared. It will be ready if needed.

But the best estimate now, based on a survey of political climates in a dozen southern and border states, is that neither a convention walkout at Los Angeles in July nor an electoral college bolt in November is in the cards.

Instead, most seasoned southern politicians expect the southern wing to use this prepared machinery and the threat of a party split as a lever to obtain from the Democratic national convention a ticket and a platform the South can live with, and to be successful enough in this endeavor to make a November bolt unlikely. "No one can say now what actually will happen. A meeting last weekend of representatives of five southern governors produced agreement that those five states would send unpledged, uncommitted and uncommitted delegations to the Democratic convention.

This position, a formal statement following the meeting said, was unanimously believed by those present to be in the best interest of the people of the states represented—Georgia, South Carolina, Mississippi, Tennessee and Louisiana.

The five-state group invited other southern states to assume the same posture, and indeed they will. In fact, it might be said that the action preceded the invitation in some cases.

Arkansas traditionally sends an unpledged delegation to the Democratic convention. Gov. Orval Faubus said some time ago that if Arkansas doesn't get satisfactory treatment at the convention, anything might happen. This is interpreted by some to mean Arkansas might be willing to join, or even lead, a southern walkout of the convention.

Virginia, too, will send an unpledged delegation to Los Angeles and will be in position to join whatever action seems advisable at the time.

Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee says publicly he has no intention of walking out. Nor is there any indication at all that such states as Florida, North Carolina, Kentucky, Texas, or even Louisiana would be inclined under almost any circumstances to bolt the convention.

Few southern political leaders at this time will talk specifics about candidates, but Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas will garner a lot of their support.

Texas' 61 convention votes will, of course, be pledged to Johnson. Faubus of Arkansas mentions Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia but says Johnson has a lot of public support in his state. The Tennessee delegation probably will lean toward Johnson. The Virginia delegation, even though unpledged, will be sympathetic to Johnson.

In Alabama, Gov. John Patterson came out early and publicly for Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts but a lot of Alabama party leaders are voicing support for Johnson despite his civil rights stand. Many Georgia political leaders were solidly for Johnson before he tagged himself a weakling; lacking any place else to turn, they may find themselves drifting back into the Texan's camp.

Johnson In Gain From Rights Move

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson's presidential stock appeared today to have bounced up because of his latest civil rights move.

In the process, Vice President Richard M. Nixon lost a chance to grab the limelight on the critical election-year issue.

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield (Mont.), a Johnson-for-president supporter, said the Texan "has taken a lot of criticism and now deserves a lot of credit" in the civil rights debate.

The political assessment that Johnson's presidential stock had risen was based on the fact that he persuaded the Senate to send the House-passed civil rights bill to the Senate Judiciary Committee with ironclad instructions that it be returned to the floor by next Tuesday.

The Senate backed him by a vote of 86 to 5 — the five representing a fraction of the anti-rights Southerners.

Most Southerners in the Senate were happy to go along with Johnson's plan of limited committee consideration. The alternative would have been to send the House bill directly to the Senate floor and let Nixon rule, as he did in 1957, that this was proper procedure.

The Johnson move, accepted by Republicans, liberal Democrats and most Southerners, enabled the Senate to maintain its traditional committee system. This eased Johnson's position in the South, friends said.
