Census Official Speaks

Explains Count At CofC Meet

Clyde Cook, district supervisor of the United States Bureau of the Census, gave a detailed report on the machinery involved in taking the 1960 census at the monthly membership luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday in the West Starlight room of the Coronado Inn. The census will begin Thursday and the count should be completed in three weeks. A report will be issued soon after the completion of the census indicating the total population of Pampa and DeWitt County, according to Cook. The talk was supplemented by a report prepared by the Census Bureau. Announcement of details of a clinic for business women made by Mrs. Mickey McDonald of the American Beauty Club of Amarillo, who will direct the course, Mrs. McDonald has been associated in a business for several years. She will explain "how to make your personality and appearance work for you, handling the customer so he will be happy he spent his money with you, how to make every moment of your day an hour of opportunity, and how to be an effective business woman." The clinic will be held in the Coronado Inn, April 26, at 7:30 p.m. It is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and will be handled through a special committee consisting of Mrs. Mabel Ford, Ida E. Ruth Hutchins and Eloise Kelly. Mrs. Ford is chairman of the committee. The next monthly membership luncheon will be April 25. The program will be presented by the Oil (See CENSUS, Page 5)

'Blustery' On Texas Scene

By United Press International
Howling winds and hail ushered in a spring rough weather season on the Texas Panhandle late Monday and Tuesday night and forecasters expected the northern section of the state to get under storms today. Violent winds west of Amarillo Monday hit a 2,000-horsepower train at Adrian and damage was estimated at $25,000. A car and a truck collided in blinding curtain of dust near Adrian, but none was reported injured. Hail up to two inches in diameter fell around Wheeler. The winds, however, were whistling. Thunderstorm with pea-sized hail and 40-mile-per-hour winds hit address last night and a tornado reported six miles north of Attock, Okla. A farmer near Shattuck said the storm uprooted trees and damaged his machinery. None was reported injured, however. Forecasters expected thunderstorms in northeast Texas today, but doubted that they will be as severe as the weather in the Panhandle Monday night.

Public Safety Conscious

New Surety Law Performs A Job

DALLAS (UPI)—Whether Texas think the merit rating auto insurance plan is bane or blessing, it has done much to create public interest in safe driving, Gov. Price Daniel said today. "Regardless of whether you feel it should be corrected or stay as is, the plan, its controversy, official hearings, and public discussion all served to make people more conscious," Daniel told a third annual Governor's Highway Safety Conference in Dallas. The official statistics from the Department of Public Safety show traffic deaths in Texas during the first 12 weeks of 1960 have dropped in an almost sensational manner. "That depends on how long we continue this statewide work, and whether we receive the legislative aid." (See JOB, Page 3)

DIOCESAN CONVENTION — Gene Imel, left, chairman of the new convention committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, announced at yesterday's monthly membership meeting that the state convention of the Episcopal Diocese will be held in Pampa next March. The Rev. William E. West, shown with Imel, was instrumental in placing the convention here. It is expected that 500 or more delegates will attend. (Daily News Photo)

Castro Denounces Cuban Anti-Reds

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro declared war today on Cuba's anti-communists, charging that they "weaken faith" in his revolutionary regime. In his third television in two days, Castro lashed out specifically at Luis Conte Aguiar, a college friend whose daily television commentary has become the nation's leading anti-Red forum. Castro's appearance on the Telemundo Pregunta TV show was presented in the form of a press conference, but the newsmen on the panel had an opportunity to ask only one question: "What is your opinion of the current controversy over communism in Cuba?" The Premier's reply took four hours, ending at 1:25 a.m. Conte, who has not been heard from since a Communist-led mob barred him from the studio Friday, was expected to seek asylum in one of the foreign embassies here. Castro also took a backhand slap at the United States, saying he welcomed U.S. Ambassador Philip W. Bonsal's return to Havana but that Cuba "won't bother" to send an ambassador to Washington until America "demonstrates better faith." "We are ready to discuss pending issues (such as Cuba's demand for a trade treaty which would guarantee its share of the U. S. sugar market) but we want deeds, not words," Castro said. The Premier, his voice raspingly hoarse after Sunday's hour-long TV harangue, virtually laid (See CASTRO, Page 3)

Double Robbery Is His Undoing

AMARILLO (UPI)—Arman Alan B. Coutu, 18, of Cannon AFB near Clovis, N. M., was in jail today awaiting trial on charges he robbed the same Amarillo liquor store twice in a five-week period. Coutu was arrested Saturday night after a gunbattle with Ike Johnson, owner of Ike's Liquor Store. Sgt. Jack Hodges of the Amarillo police department said Johnson started shooting when Coutu ran from his store and hid behind a car in a parking lot and fired back with a .38-caliber revolver.

Double Robbery Is His Undoing

The reduction was to 345 from 467 for the same period last year. Daniel said five courses of action would help reduce the toll even further: —Driver education in every public school. —Heavier penalties for driving with suspended licenses and vigorous enforcement of suspensions for chronic violators. —A drunkometer test law. —Two-hundred more highway patrolmen. —Traffic courts adequate to handle cases "with dignity, authority, justice and efficiency." "Right now," Daniel said, "there is no doubt about a major reduction in traffic deaths. How long will this trend last?" "That depends on how long we continue this statewide work, and whether we receive the legislative aid." (See JOB, Page 3)

Special Menu, Prices For Negroes In Cafe

HOUSTON (UPI)—Four Negroes who refused to pay $2.50 per cup for coffee served to them in a white cafe were charged with disturbing the peace just before midnight Monday. The owner of the cafe, Eugene Martinez, 45, said he had never served Negroes in the three years he had been in business. But he said when "these sit-ins started, I prepared this special menu. Negroes can eat here all they want, but they're going to have to pay heavy for it." The cafe is the Tasita Drive In at 2302 Canal St. in an industrial district. The Negroes, three men and a woman, came in the cafe and one of the men, Eugene Jackson, 29, ordered three coffees to go. Mrs. Eudelia Yabra, 33-year-old waitress, said she put the coffee in a paper bag and the other Negroes came inside with the coffee. Jackson, his wife, D. D. Johnson, 31, and Willie B. Green, 37, all sat at the counter and began drinking their coffee. "When they got finished, I showed them the special menu for Negroes," Mrs. Yabra said. "Coffee is $2.50 a cup, steaks are $15, ham and eggs cost $6.50 and a grilled cheese sandwich is $3." Mrs. Yabra said that Jackson refused to pay and became abusive, so she called police and the four were arrested.

New Threat By Rain In Flooded Areas

By United Press International
The threat of thunderstorms today added new danger to besieged prairie belt communities battling rivers already swollen to near record levels by a spring thaw. Hundreds of persons left their homes as the rampaging rivers neared their highest levels in 20 years. National Guardsmen, civil defense officials, the Red Cross and the Salvation Army teamed up with police and volunteers to battle the floods in an eight state area. The first big warmup of the season melted some of the heaviest snows in a half century and sent rivers surging over their banks in a wide area from the Dakotas to Kansas and Missouri. Rain falling today across the country's mid-section promised to send the rivers to even new heights. Many families driven from their homes in low lying areas found shelter in municipal buildings. Other refugees were housed in private homes situated on higher ground. Entire communities were isolated. (See RAIN, Page 3)

Suspension Of Deputies

AMARILLO (UPI)—Three Potter County sheriff's deputies will be suspended from their jobs Friday because their names were linked with Amarillo gambling interests by witnesses who testified at a three-day legislative crime hearing last week. Sheriff Paul Gaither said they will remain on suspension until they clear themselves of the charges or are proved guilty. They are Chief Deputy Curtis Travis, Criminal Capt. Dick Bufkin and Deputy Nappy Nail. Also without a job today is Roy Joe Stevens, who resigned his post of Randall County judge Monday because of charges he was guilty of official misconduct in office.

Wave Of Violence Hits South Africa

Rioting, Burning, Kidnaping

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—One African policeman was killed and eight are missing in the new eruption of violence by African blacks in South Africa Monday night, according to official reports today. Col. J. C. Lemer, deputy commissioner of Witwatersrand, said one African policeman and a Negro civilian were killed in the rioting and burning southwest of Johannesburg. Capetown police reported eight Negro policemen unaccounted for after similar disturbances around that city during the nationwide protest against the shootings of native demonstrators last week. Lemer said "everything is back to normal" in Johannesburg today. Some African workers returned to their jobs but rail links to the west were cut off by barricades of boulders and scrap iron on the rails. Capetown was reported quiet. But only about one-third of the 1,800 native dock workers turned out today and port operations were severely hampered. Late information received here said rioters burned the administrative office in Meadowlands and looted shops. A crowd of about a thousand shouting Negroes and mulattoes stoned buses and cars in Capetown. Police stormed the rioters with clubs and tear gas shells. They fired shots over their heads but not into the crowd to disperse it. Last week, police at Sharpeville and Langa fired into crowds of African nationalist leaders called a 24-hour work stoppage Monday to protest the killings. At Worcester, 90 miles from Capetown, rioting broke out in an African housing area. All churches and schools were reported burned, along with administrative offices and the home of a local African constable. The mobs also set fire to stores in a shopping center. By midnight, the Worcester rioting stopped, but police said no accurate count of casualties or damage. (See WAVE, Page 3)

Ike, Macmillan Agree In Principle

Nixon Joins In Talks On Nuclear Test Ban

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon joined today in talks between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on efforts to devise a nuclear test ban without handcuffing the next man in the White House. Nixon, Secretary of State Christian Herter, and a group of U.S. experts flew by helicopter from Washington to nearby Camp David, Md., where Eisenhower and Macmillan were working out a counter proposal to Russia's test ban plan. The President and the prime minister were described authentically as having agreed in principle on Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's call for a moratorium on small underground nuclear tests but in a much more limited form. They still had to work out some way of limiting the ban to the extent of Eisenhower's term which ends Jan. 20 with the inauguration of a new President. Nixon, only candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, was asked to Camp David in his capacity as the vice president and frequent consultant of the President on international matters. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he had (See NIXON, Page 3)

19 Firemen Killed In Blast

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI)—A flaming whisky warehouse blew up with an earth-shaking roar Monday night killing 19 firemen fighting the blaze. Two children were missing and it was feared they had been playing in the building. Forty firemen were injured. Owners of the building, Arbuckle Smith & Co., tentatively estimated the loss at up to 25 million dollars. Fire investigators checked for arson since another whisky warehouse was destroyed 10 days ago in an $840,000 fire. The first firemen to reach the five-story, red brick building heard several small explosions as whisky vats burst. (See WAVE, Page 3)

Car Gets Ride Under Freight Train

Spectacular, But No Injuries

A speeding Santa Fe freight car on the Price Rd. overpass train could not brake in time shortly after noon yesterday. The car could not hit a stalled mishap caused a flurry of excitement for approximately one hour and a half while train crewmen and wreckers piled wreckage from underneath the engine and boxcars. No one was injured. The accident happened at 12:25 p.m. Highway Patrolman Standley Schneider said the driver of the car, a 1952 Buick sedan, was Charlie Crutchfield of Stinnett. According to Crutchfield's statement, his car stalled as he started across the tracks. He said he attempted to flag down the oncoming train. The car was torn in half by the impact. The front section was carried about three-quarters of a mile east by the impact. Part of the wreckage and crossing timbers had to be piled loose from under the "cow catcher" of the engine. The rear half of the car was carried about one-quarter of a mile east of the point of impact. The train, a 99-car eastbounder, was unable to stop for "72 cars," according to Patrolman Schneider. Crutchfield was placed in custody by the highway patrol and was to be brought before county court judge W. J. Craig today on a charge of driving while drinking. The train was delayed for one and one-half hours and hundreds of curious spectators watched as workmen untangled the wreckage. Roscoe Wyckoff, Santa Fe agent here, could make no estimate of the damage to the engine and crossing signal apparatus today. He said the car owner will probably be billed for damages.

OTHER HALF — The rear half of a car, cut in two yesterday at the Price Road railroad crossing, is shown where it came to rest one-quarter of a mile from the point of impact. Train crewmen and onlookers are shown looking for other parts of the car which jammed wheels several of the boxcars. (Daily News Photo)

Yesterday we saw an example of a "nothing play" by declarer. Today we are going to look at a similar play by a defender.

South ruffed the second diamond lead and noted that his only play for the doubled contract would be to hold his trump losers to one. That would be automatic if they were to break two, but the bidding clearly marked West with at least three of them. South had one legitimate play against a three-one break which would be to find West with king-queen-three and East with the singleton ten.

Therefore, South led the jack hopefully. West had been taught to cover an honor with an honor at all times and made the "nothing play" of the king. Now dummy's ace picked up East's queen and West's king together and the defense only managed to collect one trump trick.

Why was West's play wrong? Because he had nothing to gain by covering. If South had led the jack from queen-jack West would have been able to cover the queen later on and still make his ten spot.

West had a good defense for his play. Before East could open his mouth, West was criticizing East's weak take-out double.

Religion is man's serious search for the meaning of life hereafter, with the hope that it may become his meaning of life here. Easter is God's reply to man's serious search for the meaning of life here.

The cross says the meaning of all is love, self-denying love, forgiving love, resurrecting love, love that evil cannot beat and death cannot defeat.

Love does something to the human life that nothing else is able to do. Love kills hate, cools lust, overpowers cowardice and appeals successfully to the latent capacity for character. It is when a man strives in sweat and blood for the realization of this love-truth that he develops his deepest insights into the meaning of love and his strongest faith in the reality of the God of abundant life.

Attempting at some known or unknown cost to himself to build a kingdom of God—a rule of love—a man discovers God and a moral order with whom and with which he feels he is in harmony, so that, even in the midst of the strain and stress of some costly undertaking he begins to experience a growing conviction that what he is engaged in is not a fruitless quest but an already-

Cast In 107 Parts In Movie

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Here's a man with a sure-fire gimmick for getting himself in the movies. He's astrologer Ben Gary who has among his clientele assorted producers and directors. All Gary has to do is forecast himself into their pictures and he's home free.

The youthful star-gazer just completed "Cimarron" with Director Anthony Mann (a client) and currently is busy in "Studs Lonigan," for client producer Philip Yordan.

Gary also reads the stars and draws up the charts for such celebrities as Joanne Woodward, Joan Collins, Tab Hunter, Tony Curtis, Doris Day and Cary Grant. It is reasonable to assume that Gary may soon be popping into their films as a supporting player.

Right now he has the most unusual job in any single movie. In "Studs Lonigan" he portrays 107 — count 'em — characters, more than any actor, astrologer or not, has ever played in a single movie.

"Not all of them are speaking roles," Gary explained. "But I make 107 appearances as different people."

"Among them are an undertaker, a peanut vendor, a bootlegger, a pinball machine player, a bum, an usher, a drunk and a speakeasy owner."

Gary, whose face has no startling outstanding features, could go unnoticed in a crowd. Therefore, he is able to enter the same scene in the picture three or four times as different people without attracting attention.

"I never play less than three characters a day," he went on, "and sometimes it's as many as six."

"They really keep me running back and forth between the set and the wardrobe department."

"Every one of my characterizations requires a different costume. But oddly enough, I don't wear makeup or disguises. My face looks the same throughout, but at the same time I don't think it will be recognized."

Gary has the added excitement of never knowing which of his roles he will play when he reports for work in the morning.

"I can't study up for my parts or try to analyze the characters. They hand me the script changes in the morning and I start shaving around getting fitted for costumes."

With all his picture activity, how does Gary read the stars? "Sometimes I work on my astrology charts between takes on the set," he explained. "But I try to keep my two professions as separate as possible."

"One thing about my role, playing 107 different characters should certainly keep me from being type-cast."

coming triumph God himself began and with His divine love will assure that it comes to pass.

People who choose to "play it safe" may misunderstand the faith and people who lack such willingness may question the wisdom, but the man who is actually laboring sacrificially for a more sure that his labor is not in vain but will return a joy and a satisfaction to his soul because in such love he has experienced the meaning of life for himself.

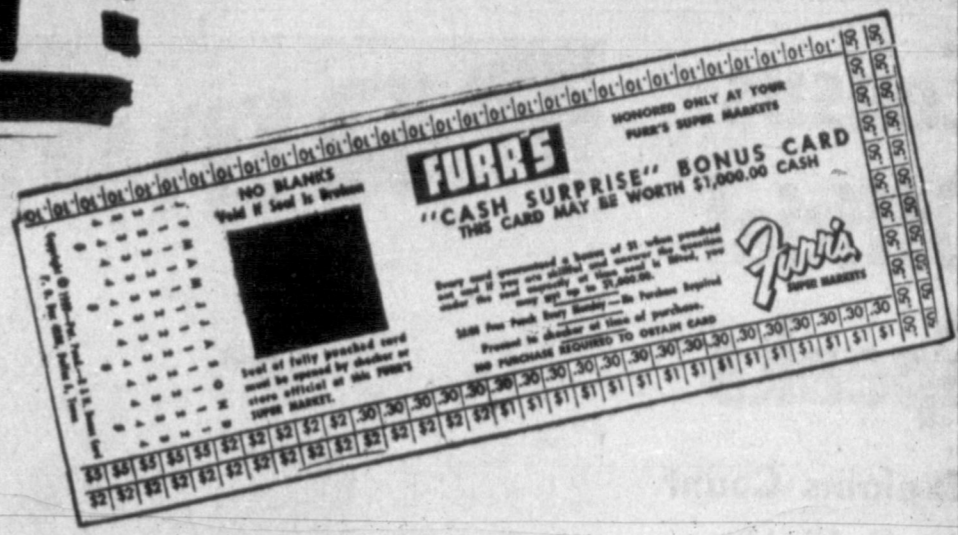

God grant us to fashion like we feel, to practice like we purpose and to labor like we love.

Showers And Gusts Today

By United Press International

If you didn't like the weather Sunday, you're out of luck. The S. Weather Bureau forecast more of the same for today—understorms in the eastern two-thirds of the state and gusty winds in the western third.

A thunderstorm accompanied by a sized hail and 40-mile-per-hour winds struck at Childress Monday night and a tornado was reported to have hit six miles north of that town, Okla.

A farmer near Shattuck reported trees were uprooted and farm machinery damaged by the twister, but there were no injuries reported.

Winds sweeping down from the western slope of the Rocky Mountains raised dust in the Panhandle and South Plains. Forecasters said gusty winds would hit Southeast Texas, Northwest Texas and North Central Texas again today. Scattered thunderstorms were in the forecast for North Central, East and South Central Texas, here skies were still cloudy. It was clear over most of West Texas and the Panhandle.

Some fog pushed into the upper Gulf Coast area early today. Temperatures at 4 a.m. ranged from 61 at Dalhart to 59 degrees at Beaumont.

The high reading in the state today was Presidio's 99 degrees.

Safflower Meet Here April 11

The Texas Farmers Union has announced that a safflower meeting will be held April 11 at 7:30 a.m. in the courthouse.

Contracts for growers will be available at the meeting. The entire program of safflower will be explained including recommended cultural practices, and last year's yields for the area will be discussed.

This year there will be no limit on acreage a farmer can plant in safflower.

Other meetings will be held in McLean at 2 p.m. April 12 in Bill Stubb's office and in Perryton, April 13, at 10 a.m. in the courthouse.

and tens of thousands of acres of farmland were under water. Property damage could not be estimated.

Six persons were dead or missing and presumed dead in the floods—four in Missouri and one each in Nebraska and Kansas. The victims included an 11-year-old Boy Scout who fell into a swollen river near St. Louis, and two Kansas City fishermen whose boat capsized in the turbulent Osage River near Osceola, Mo.

At Sioux City, Iowa, officials removed 200 residents from the Springdale district in advance of an expected major flood crest on the Floyd River.

Volunteers sandbagged entrances to stores and offices in the Springfield district which was hit by a wall of water 10 feet deep in a 1953 flood. Weather observers did not expect today's flood to be as bad as the one seven years ago.

But forecasters predicted the Big Blue River would crest 16 feet above flood stage at Blue Rapids, Kan., and Eamesville, Neb., which would equal the highest flood stages since 1941.

Nebraska and Kansas were hardest hit Monday.

National Guardsmen and volunteers feverishly piled sandbags on a dike holding the Big Blue River at Beatrice. But despite the dike, some 20 city blocks were under water.

National Guard personnel and their families were pulled back from Camp Ashland, between Omaha and Lincoln, Neb., when waters from Salt Creek and Clear Creek swept over a bridge leading to the camp.

Ice jams added to the flood threat in some spots.

He noted that Conte's campaign coincided with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's charge that Red sympathizers held high office in Cuba—a charge Castro has denied.

The Premier assailed Conte's open letter, asking whether he should continue his campaign, as "insolent," and denounced the independent newspaper Diario de La Marina for printing it.

He blamed Cuba's conservatives for the Anti-Communist campaign.

"They have kept their cannons trained on Cuba's Popular Socialist (Communist) Party," Castro said. "Now they are training their cannons on us."

Fog Causes Fatal Plane Crash
AUSTIN (UPI)—Austin airport officials said fog was a contributing factor in the light plane crash that killed Henry William Ellis Jr., 38, of Austin early Sunday.

Ellis' plane crashed near Manor, Tex., some four minutes after he took off from the Austin airport on a flight to San Antonio. Commercial flights in and out of Austin had been canceled because of fog and a 500-foot ceiling.

Khrushchev Makes Vow To Children

VERDUN, France (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev promised two little children today he would do all he could to make sure they would "never know what war is."

Khrushchev made the statement to a boy and girl in Russian peasant uniforms who greeted him when he arrived at the World War I battlefield of Verdun.

The Soviet premier was a half hour behind schedule because he wanted some extra rest at Dijon this morning. The plane that took him to Metz landed in heavy fog. It was guided in by radar.

Khrushchev, his family and other Soviet officials motored out to Verdun and were met by a thousand cheering persons and a military band.

The two youngsters greeted the premier and delivered a short speech, asking him to help maintain world peace.

"We will do all we can in order that peace reign on the earth and that children shall never know what war is," Khrushchev said.

Verdun is a word that rings an anti-German bell in the mind of nearly every Frenchman. Not only were thousands of Frenchmen killed at Verdun in the Meuse River battles of World War I, but it was a major bastion against the German invaders in 1870.

Tension Marks East Texas City

MARSHALL, Tex. (UPI)—There was an air of tension in predominantly Negro Harrison County today as law enforcement agencies kept watch for renewed sit-down demonstrations by Negro college students.

Criminal Dist. Atty. Charles Allen said he would file charges against the demonstrators if any new effort was made to get service at integrated lunch counters.

Twenty-eight students from Bishop and Wiley colleges, both in Marshall, were arrested Monday when they made four separate sit-down attempts at three Marshall business establishments.

Sixteen of them were taken to the county courthouse, where Allen lectured them about the legal rights of the lunch counter owners.

Most of them were fingerprinted before they were released.

A spokesman for the Negroes, who refused to identify himself, said the demonstrators would continue in defiance of Allen's warning, and added the students "are prepared to suffer the consequences whatever they may be."

Earl Senn, manager of the Marshall bus station where two of the sit-down attempts were made Monday, said he will try to get grand jury action taken against the 12 Negroes who refused to leave the bus station at his request.

Ten students entered the F. W. Woolworth store and took every other seat at its lunch counter. Another sit-down was staged at the Fry-Hodge Drug Store.

Monday was the second day of sit-downs in Marshall. The first ones were Saturday.

Marshall itself is about 65 per cent Negro and a sheriff's dispatcher estimated Negro population of the county as a whole at about 60 per cent.

Rights Bill Strengthening Due In Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Judiciary Committee working under a midnight deadline, today hears Southern and administration views on the five-part House-approved civil rights bill.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) predicted the committee would strengthen the measure. Sens. Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.), GOP leader, Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo.) and John A. Carroll (D-Colo.) also forecast changes.

The committee called to its second and last day of hearings Deputy U. S. Atty. Gen. Lawrence E. Walsh and special Georgia Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles J. Bloch.

When the Senate referred the House bill to the committee last week it ordered the group to report the measure back to the chamber by midnight tonight to block any stalling by Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) and other foes of civil rights legislation.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers told the committee Monday that any changes in the House measure might endanger final congressional approval.

But he said if the committee altered the bill, he hoped it would add administration proposals to give federal aid to communities trying to integrate schools and make a permanent agency of the President's committee on non-discrimination in government contracts.

Other congressional news:
Surplus—House investigators said in some cases the armed forces spent $7 to sell an item of surplus property for $5. A study of military buying, supply and surplus policies by the staff of the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee said present procedures for getting rid of unneeded items of low value involved too much red tape. The report said it sometimes takes 45 different actions and completion of 12 forms to process an item for sale as surplus.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock market history indicates the probability of a summer rise between June and August, and another rise between October and the end of the year, according to Spear & Staff.

The investment advisory firm says that during all but five of the last 22 election years, stocks have sold higher in August than the low for June.

Furthermore, the firm adds, stocks have sold higher in November or December than the low in October in every election year except 1884—regardless of which party won.

Prospects favor Borg-Warner whose product line has sufficient depth to afford favorable participation in the general business development of the economy, says the Fitch Survey.

The housing picture is not as bleak as it may appear, according to Investors Advisory Institute. "Essentially, the current slump has been due largely to the effects of tight money, which has caused a shortage in the supply of mortgage funds. However, recent developments in the money market suggest that a pick up in housing starts could occur soon," the institute adds.

McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Rackets Committee said it would be "a great day for decent and honest unionism... and for the welfare of the whole country" if James R. Hoffa were ousted as Teamster president. McClellan said in a radio-TV interview that Hoffa would be relieved of his union post if rackets committee disclosures brought "justice" in the courts.

Manuals—The Air Force estimates it is spending 72 million dollars this year for manuals telling airman how to operate various equipment. The expenditure was disclosed in closed-door testimony published today by the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee. Chairman George H. Mahon (D-Tex.) commented, "to spend 30 or 50 or 100 million dollars on manuals would seem almost beyond comprehension."

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Four months ago I was introduced to a man, 39, who was divorced and had a 13-year-old son. In a few weeks we were engaged. I found out later that he was told that I was a very rich girl (FALSE) and that I could set him up in business.

I didn't hear a word from him for a week and he lives right here in town, so I called him. His mother answered the phone. She told me that he had changed his mind about marrying me because they found out I had no money, but he didn't have the nerve to tell me himself. I was dumfounded! Shortly afterwards, my boyfriend called me and told me not to listen to his mother, and in spite of what she had said, he loved me and wanted to marry me. The marriage plans are half-made. Should I go through with this wedding or not?

NAMELESS: DEAR ABBY: The apple usually doesn't fall far from the tree. If I were you, I'd put off the wedding until I looked over the whole orchard very, very carefully.

DEAR ABBY: About twice a month the kids in our group go to a movie. We are all 13 and 14 and have to pay $1.20 or else lie about our ages so we can get in for 25 cents. Most of us guys are tall so we always have the same boy get all the tickets as he is small. I would like to know if you think it is fair for us to go in this way.

YOUNG ADULT: DEAR YOUNG ADULT: Don't rationalize. Lying - whether it's about your age or anything else - is lying. Pay the adult admission and be a man, my son.

DEAR ABBY: My husband shouts back at the television. If there is something or someone he doesn't like, he curses at the top of his voice. Abby, we live in a project and the walls are thin and I am ashamed to face my neighbors in the morning for fear they might think my husband has been yelling at me like that. What should I do?

EMBARRASSED: DEAR EMBARRASSED: Tell your sad tale of woe to the biggest blabber-mouth in the neighborhood. Then sit back and let HER solve your problem.

Milady To Get Break This Summer With Cool, Air-Conditioned Fabrics

DALLAS (UPI)—Fashions these days have a better chance with us women if someone wisely pins a "look" on them.

The Dallas manufacturers, showing visiting reporters their summer collections of town and sportswear, didn't bother. So this observer produced her own label. It is the ventilated look—the best way I can describe the cottons or blends of cottons and synthetics which are cool in color and construction. In color, white, black and white combinations, mist and celery green, and the blue greens dominate.

As for construction, the manufacturers in this air-conditioned metropolis give us in the rest of the country a break for summer with full skirts, sleeveless tops, tops often baring the shoulders and held up only by string straps, and overblouses which allow for ventilation around the waistline.

Fabrics themselves are as cool as the garment industry, third in size in the nation, has yet been able to find them—lightweight gingham, seersuckers, eyelets, voiles, batistes and piques.

And in all collections, the accent is on easy care—no iron, no wrinkle, no fuss.

Here, by individual firms, are highlights of collections shown Monday:

—Joe Hardin. This firm showed collarless, eyelet cotton blouses with balloon sleeves, and skirts which had as many as seven yards of fabric in each.

—McKell-Stanley. The coordinated separate of blouse and skirt ruled this sportswear collection, with the border design of a skirt repeated on a blouse neckline.

—Justin McCarty. In addition to separates, this firm showed a new version of a dacron synthetic which looks, feels and dyes like silk but washes readily.

—Jo Juniors. Hope Evans, a 1952 graduate of the Southern Methodist University design school, featured the "split level" look—another way to describe a skirt with tunic, or top with mock bolero. One influence of the French actress Brigitte Bardot showed in a checked gingham, with a three-tier skirt, gathered for fullness.

—Parkland. This Texas firm looked to our newest state for inspiration and came up with block prints in the Hawaiian ti leaf motif.

—Lorch Manufacturing. Gingham again, used for everything from dresses to swim suits, and bandana shirts tied across the front of the midriff.

—The Clark. Dresses came with tunics, dresses came with stoles, and some dresses without any cover had necklines scooped almost to the waistline at the back, held together by criss-cross lacing.

—Donovan-Galvani. A play on the desert color theme at this firm, with its "sun reflection" tones of dust beige, rustic green, canyon yellow, pond blue, desert red, and sand.

—Dallas Sportswear. The narrow, Capri pants or pedal pushers came in bold, geometric prints worn with solid-color tops, and several shirts in bandana print tied across the front of the midriff but had elastic insets so a girl could breathe.

Color plays an important part in exaggerating or minimizing a person's size. Teen-agers, especially, are sensitive about being overweight. Many go through a chubby stage which they can't control. A teen-ager who battles baby fat can minimize the situation by avoiding bulky, full skirts and by wearing darker shades rather than pastels which tend to increase one's size.

The soft look in silk is the right one for festive gatherings on Easter Sunday. For a luncheon with friends, this print dress with its own coordinated coat (left) is just right. Designed by Adele Simpson, this ensemble pairs blue silk linen coat with cropped sleeves and floral print lining with dress of matching print. For late afternoon wear on Easter Sunday, the right choice is the silk dress with intricate draping (right). This one, by Cell Chapman, is in blue silk faille with flattering scoop neckline. Skirt is draped and cut wraparound fashion. Stole is mink in pale beige shade, the top shade for furs this spring.

During a business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Jewel Dean Lewis, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Laura Belle Cornelius, Mrs. Mack Harmon reported on the success of the recent rummage sale. Plans were discussed for the state convention to be held in Houston June 12-14.

During the social hour, refreshments were served by hostesses, Mrs. Mabel Ford and Mrs. Cordelia Mayes.

Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

He's 4 years old. His mother had kept him home from nursery school because his sniffles still persisted.

So he felt free and untrammelled and the morning lay open before him. On a table shelf in his mother's bedroom he found an old coloring book with a picture of a little girl watering a row of tulips. He made her blue and the tulips red. When he'd filled the leaves with green crayon his picture must have struck him as an unqualified esthetic success.

Anyway, his power to turn the empty tulips into splendid crimson blossoms seems to have intoxicated him. In his mood of artistic expansiveness he must suddenly have become aware of the stupidity of the pink rambler roses on his mother's wallpaper. He changed them into red ones.

Then delighted with the effect, he made the new roses his own by encircling them with great big freewheeling swirls of red crayon.

His mother, the wife of a young psychiatrist, is not accustomed to seeing destructiveness in all the destructive acts of her little boy. But she did not share his enthusiasm for the effect of red crayon on wallpaper.

She snapped his hand. She confiscated his crayons. She ordered him to his room and while doing these things, she tells me, also yelled a good deal.

He went to the door, hesitated, returned. Putting his hand over his mother's mouth, he whispered, "Talk softly, Mommy" — and scampered off to his room.

Once I asked 400 delinquent children of assorted ages what qualities they valued most in parents. "A quiet voice" preceded their value of "love."

I think that slapping the misbehaving hands of small children is much less destructive than screaming at them.

I think screaming at them is one of the most confusing things we can do to them. For their comprehension of words is only just acquired. When we scream words at them, I think that the combination of listening to the noise and having to unscramble the meaning of our words at the same time is too much for them. So that they have to stop caring about the meaning.

I think one of the reasons that older children pay so little atten-

NEW YORK (NEA) — In every part of this country, the soft silk dress plays a big role on Easter Sunday.

It is most often reserved for luncheons, teas and the festive family gatherings that are part of Easter Sunday. Topped with a silk coat or worn with mink stole or jacket, the soft silk dress, in print or solid color, is exactly right.

By soft is meant, of course, the cut of the dress. This Easter, it's likely to be slim with a wide collar or big bow at the neckline for daytime wear. But for late afternoon, it will be beautifully draped, and it will be in a solid color.

This year, the print silk dress is either matched to the lining of the coat it's worn with or has the print repeated in the coat itself. In the latter instance, the coat lining is a solid color atk.

Almost any print is pretty this Easter just so it's done in shades of blue, blue-green, mauve-violet or brown and gray. The gals who will take their prints on the sophisticated side will pick the black and white or brown and pale beige combinations.

Though your fashion choice for luncheon after church will depend, of course, on your personal preference, you're likely to find that skirt silhouettes will fall into one of three categories. It will be slim but slightly rounded over the hipbone, fluid and circular, or pinstriped. For pleats have made a big comeback this year and will figure prominently on Easter Sunday.

Good health habits may not be the gang's way but for bright eyes, hair and skin and a lot of pep, take care of yourself. Complexion problems plague most teen-agers. Many irritate the situation by ignoring daily use of soap and water. They also stuff themselves with gooey desserts and not enough fresh fruits and vegetables.

to screaming parents is that they've given up trying to find meaning in noise.

Fight Racket In A Muddle

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Ulysses S. Grant said it almost 100 years ago but he might just as well have been talking about the fight racket today.

Camped before Spottsylvania Courthouse, he penned a dispatch to Washington which said:

"I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer. Which is just about how long it's going to take to get the confusion and conflict ironed out in the current business warfare. Things, to put it mildly, are in a mess.

Celtics Shoot For Second

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Celtics, modern super-stars of the National Basketball Association, hope to build an insurmountable lead over the St. Louis Hawks in the second of their best-of-seven series tonight.

The Celtics, champions of the East and heavy favorites to their third playoff title in four years, crushed the hapless Hawks by record-breaking proportion in their Sunday opener and shoot tonight for the second of a possible four-game sweep.

A Boston playoff crown would mark the first time in six seasons that an NBA titlist has defended successfully. And the Celtics were meeting a Western entry from St. Louis that upset the earlier Boston bid for a double crown in 1958.

The strategy of wily Red Auerbach, who has survived more NBA firings than any other coach active in the business, apparently was far too much for the Western Division champs who went down to 140-122 defeat in the opener.

Nine scoring records, most of them pinned to Boston's point apiece, fell in the opener as four of the Celtics, Tommy Heinsohn, Frank Ramsey, Bill Sharman and Bob Cousy, netted 20 points or better.

Cleveland Appears To Be Solid Pennant Contender

By DAVE ROWE
United Press International
TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — With Frank (Trader) Lane at the controls, the Cleveland Indians' lineup always is subject to change without notice, but it now appears the Tribe is once again a solid pennant contender.

Manager Joe Gordon, who was out and then in again though Lane's envolving door last fall, believes he now has "the finest squad I've ever had."

"That could well mean the pennant, for the Indians missed by only five games last season. The big question is whether Lane's line-up juggling has strengthened the team enough to make up for the loss of 19-game winner Cal McLish.

McLish, the Tribe's top winner, went to the Cincinnati Reds in the big winter deal for second baseman Johnny Temple. Also added to the infield is Bubba Phillips at third, obtained from the Chicago White Sox. With Vic Power at first base and Woody Held at shortstop, Gordon calls this inner line "the finest infield in baseball."

"I wouldn't trade my infield for anything," said Gordon. "It's a good hitting group, it has power, balance, speed, and defensive strength. And my outfield and catching are as good as any club in the league."

Robertson said he was glad the season was over because "all good things must terminate sometime." He thanked teammates for their many favors.

Earlier his No. 12 uniform was officially retired at a special convocation where Robertson also spoke.

Tigers Have Nine Major Leaguers—Nothing More

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor
LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers have nine established major league ball players, but behind them they have little of anything.

That's why Manager Jimmy Dykes frankly admits that unless they make some deals, the best he can hope for is a fourth place finish.

"You don't beat out clubs like the White Sox, Indians and Yankees when you lack the bench and pitching depth that we do," the rotund Dykes explains. "It looks like we are up against it when it comes to talking pennant unless we make some spectacular deals."

The Tigers have been trying to make some trades without success, but both Dykes and General Manager Rick Ferrell say they'll keep trying.

The nine front-lineers the Tigers have would be welcomed by any club in the league. They are outfielders Al Kaline, Harvey Kuenn and Charley Maxwell; second baseman Frank Bolling, third baseman Eddie Yost, and the "big four" of the pitching staff—Frank Lary, Jim Bunning, Paul Foytack and Don Mossi.

They could be the nucleus of a pennant winner with the proper help, but Dykes says sincerely they don't have it—at least at this time.

But back of them for reserves, Dykes has the likes of Neil Chrissy, who wasn't good enough to make it with the talent-poor Senators; the veteran Johnny Groh, not likely to stick; and two rookies, Steve Boros who hit .305 at Birmingham last year and Emerit Lindbeck, a .284 hitter at Atlanta.

That doesn't give the Tigers much outfield protection if one of their big three should get hurt.

Bolling at second and Yost at third may not be the best in the league, but they'll do. However, Detroit is hurting at first base and shortstop. Big Steve Bilko, who has failed in a half dozen major league trials before, is their first base hope. Other candidates are Gail Harris, the ex-Giant who had a fair season in 1958 and then slumped to .200 last year, and Larry Osborne, a good glove man with a .191 batting average.

There also are three candidates for the shortstop berth — Chico Fernandez, who couldn't make it with the last place Phillies of the National League; scrappy Rocky Bridges and Coot Veal, a good glove man with a 1959 Tiger batting average of .202. If they could all play out there at the same time, they still wouldn't add up to a Luis Aparicio.

A rookie, Steve Demeter, who hit .297 at Charleston, has looked good and may hang on as an infield spare.

But putting them all together still leaves only those two established infielders—Bolling and Yost. Lary, Bunning, Foytack and Mossi won a total of 65 games last season. That's a sizeable percentage of the 94 games the White Sox needed to win the pennant last year.

But they had no help, and the situation isn't any more promising for the coming season.

Dykes has hopes that Ray Narveski, the former relief ace of the Indians; Dave Sisler, the Red Sox castoff, and Ray Semproch, who once showed so much promise with the Phillies, can help.

Catching is another problem. Red Wilson and Lou Berberet, who shared the duties last season, are back again. Rookie Bob Rodgers, up from Knoxville where he hit .281, is the third man.

Harvesters Have .348 Bat Mark

Going into today's district opener at Amarillo, the Harvesters have a sparkling team batting average of .348.

Three men, none of whom batted last week, each have a perfect 1.000 batting averages. However, third baseman Bobby Nutt leads the regulars with a .750 mark, on six hits in eight at-bats. Nutt wasn't in the starting lineup at the start of the season, but was put into the cleanup spot in the batting order after the first game.

Five other regulars are also hitting more than .300. They are left fielder Roy Stephens, shortstop Wendell Ridgway, centerfielder Bobby Stephens, second baseman Ruben Strickland, and first baseman Larry Stroud. Also above the .300 mark are reserve first baseman Gerald Owens and pitcher Kippy Williams.

Williams is the only Harvester with a home run to his credit, but Stroud leads the extra base hit parade, with three doubles. Catcher Terry Haralson and Ridgway are tops in RBIs, with five each. Strickland has scored the most runs, seven, and Nutt, in addition to being the leading batter, is the leading base stealer, with three.

The pitching has been only average. It's been good in spots, not so good in others.

Kippy Williams has the best win-loss record (2-0) and the most strikeouts, 19, and has pitched the

Olympic Basketball Tryouts To Begin

DENVER (UPI) — Ohio State's national collegiate champions, and Oscar Robertson, the nation's top college player, were due to arrive here today to complete the star-studded field for the Olympic basketball trials beginning Thursday.

The mighty Ohio State Buckeyes, paced by 19-year-old sophomore Jerry Lucas, and co-opener of the best college cage teams ever assembled, play the NAIA all-stars Thursday night.

Robertson, Cincinnati's A-1 American, joins the NCAA university All-Stars team which tangles with the tough Phillips Oilers in its opening game Thursday.

Besides Robertson, the university All-Stars boast two other All-Americans — 6-foot, 10-inch Darrell Imhoff of California, and West Virginia's Jerry West, along with other top college stars. California's Pete Newell coaches the team.

Texas League Names Umpires

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Texas League officials have completed their umpiring staff for 1960 with the acquisition of Ralph DeLeonardis of the Class A Eastern League.

He is the sixth umpire signed by the Texas League. Officials announced Monday they had bought his contract.

Other Texas League umpires are Al Forman, Morrilton, N. J.; Mike Runyon, Harper Woods, Mich.; Hank Stein, Compton, Calif.; Bill Valentine, Little Rock, Ark.; and Frank Walsh, Daytona Beach, Fla.

The umpires will get their assignments April 13.

Doug Jones Makes Von Clay No. 13

NEW YORK (UPI) — Unbeaten, unranked light-heavyweight Doug Jones has ticked the No. 13 "jinx" and now his next target is the experienced Willie Pastrano in a televised bout at Miami, Fla., on April 22.

Jones qualified for the bout with his first big-name rival by making Von Clay of Philadelphia his 13th straight victim by a 10-round decision Monday night at St. Nicholas Arena.

Promoter Teddy Brenner, who already had signed contracts for the winner to meet Pastrano, had feared a draw would block his plans. But the 22-year-old Jones settled that by flooring Clay once and gaining the close but unanimous decision.

The loss was only the second in 15 bouts for Clay, who had entered the ring a slight favorite.

What's Wrong With Yanks? Everything

United Press International
What's wrong with the Yankees?

The answer last season seemed to be "everything" and so far this spring it's been pretty much the same. The deposed champions, so confident they would come roaring back this year, have lost 11 of 17 exhibition games and averaged only 2.7 runs a game.

They're not hitting, they're not getting solid pitching from key men and they're not playing well in the field. In short, their American League rivals are beginning to think Casey Stengel's "tigers" won't come roaring back at all but will be pretty tame little cats again this year.

Nobody ever lost a pennant in the Grapefruit League standings, of course, but what can you say about "bombers" who have been shut out twice, held to one run four times and held to two runs in two other games?

The Los Angeles Dodgers handed them their third straight defeat Monday when they rocked Bob Turley for eight runs and 10 hits in six innings. Turley, who slumped to 8-11 last season after a 21-7 mark in 1958, has been slugged for 35 runs and 20 hits in 17 innings.

Johnny Podres made it look easy as he yielded six hits, walked seven and struck out three in seven innings. Gil Hodges homered and Bob Aspromonte had three singles to lead the Dodgers' 12-hit attack. Podres has allowed only three earned runs in 19 innings this spring.

The St. Louis Cardinals got another route-going pitching performance to down the Chicago White Sox, 3-1; the Kansas City Athletics beat the Detroit Tigers, 4-1; the Philadelphia Phillies shamed the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1; and the Baltimore Orioles beat the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1 in 10 innings.

Ron Kline became the third St. Louis pitcher to go nine innings — Larry Jackson and Wilmer Miller did it Sunday and Monday — as the Cardinals scored their ninth win in 19 games. Kline scattered six hits and walked four. He has yielded one run in 19 innings. Joe Cunningham had three hits and made two-out standing defensive plays in the outfield.

Ray Herbert allowed only three hits in seven innings stretching his scoreless spring string to 18 innings and Marv Throneberry wacked a two-run homer for the Athletics. Throneberry's homer was off Paul Foytack and the Athletics added two runs off Don Mossi on a double by Rocky Bridges, two walks and a sacrifice fly by Al Kaline.

John Buzhardt, only 4-5 with a 4.99 earned run average for the Chicago Cubs last season, permitted one run and five singles in seven innings for the Phillies, who won in the ninth on a run-scoring single by Bobby Dell Greco. Buzhardt has permitted two runs in 17 innings this spring.

Joe Nuxhall's nine shutout innings for the Cincinnati Reds went to waste when the Orioles puffed out their victory on Walt Dropo's base-filled single in the 10th. Dave Nicholson blooped a single to right that brought in the tying run and left the bases filled.

SUNNY SIDE OF THE HOUSE—That is no greenhouse, above, which the Harry T. Thomason family lives in. The glass covers a solar heating plant on the side of the three-bedroom District Heights, Md., house. It enabled Thomason to heat his home this winter with energy from the sun and 15 gallons of fuel oil burned in a standard furnace. To demonstrate, Mrs. Thomason and the kids cavort in an outdoor pool filled with water also warmed in the solar unit. Daddy livers up the party with a little unsolicited snow.

Hypnotist Claims Bride Was Hypnotized Into Leaving Him

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — Hypnotist Albert M. Herman, 33, met Iris Labin, 20, about a month ago and immediately fell under her spell.

It was love at first sight and while Herman was using hypnosis to help Iris' brother, Barry, control his weight, the couple's thoughts lightly turned to thoughts of love and marriage.

When Iris' parents refused to give their consent to the nuptials, Iris and Herman eloped to Arlington, Va. Two days later — last Wednesday — Iris went to her parent's home here to pick up her clothes and never returned.

"Her parents have taken her to another hypnotist who put her under some sort of hypnotic spell," Herman said today. He said he had talked to her on the telephone and she sounded like she was "in a state of trance."

The bride's father, Larry Labin, claimed Herman had placed the girl under a spell "to force her to elope."

The day after his bride disappeared, Herman was denied a writ of habeas corpus in his effort to locate Iris.

Marriage Becoming Even More Popular Institution

RAYLORD P. GODWIN, United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Marriage is long a popular institution, becoming more so, according to an expert on family living.

Reuben Hill, professor of sociology and director of the University of Minnesota's Family Center, says "people are marrying earlier, having more children, spacing them closer together, and probably enjoying them more."

This is a more stimulating climate for children to grow up in, he told the White House Conference on Youth and Children.

Hill listed these trends:

- People are marrying earlier, with high school and college marriages much more common.
- More people are married at every age, fewer bachelors and spinsters are left in the population; marriage as a status is highly prized.
- Although in long-term perspective divorce rates have been climbing since the Civil War, divorces have been declining since 1946. Divorces are found most frequently among grammar school educated, working classes, veterans, and teen-agers.
- Completed family size has been declining since 1700 when it was 7.4 children, to 2.5 children in 1950, but a reversal of this 250-year trend is in the making.
- More people, such as white collar, professionals and college-educated persons are having more children.
- Closely related to family size is the trend to space children closer together.
- Hill said these trends have considerable meaning for the husband-wife and the parent-child relationship. Among these are: Marriage is less of an economic burden for the husband, because the wife can work before the children come and after they are in school; when several children live together, they tend to break away from the family more easily when the time comes for them to do so; and in large families no one will feel isolated.

Permanent Social Security For War Hero

PALL MALL, Tenn. (UPI) — Alvin C. York, the tall mountain man whose deadly aim with a Springfield rifle made him the nation's top hero of World War I, will get a $32 monthly Social Security payment as long as he lives.

The Social Security office in Knoxville announced Monday that York — now 72 years old, broke and a semi-invalid — will receive the money monthly for the rest of his life.

For 10 years ex-Sgt. York has been fighting a government claim that he owes $85,442 in income taxes from an estimated $152,000 he received for rights to the motion picture, "Sergeant York."

The red-haired old soldier has been stricken with a variety of ills for almost 20 years, and he insists all the money went for medical bills.

He asked last week for Social Security to augment the small income he gets from his 395-acre farm, his $60 monthly disability pension and his $10 monthly payment as a Medal of Honor winner.

Warren Maddox of the Knoxville Social Security office said York will be paid $522 immediately in retroactive payments.

York, once a conscientious objector, killed 25 Germans and captured 132 in one day's fighting in the Argonne Forest of France in 1918.

EL PASO (UPI) — Police searched today for two hoodlums who tried to rob Sunland Race Track Monday, but were routed by a guard who fired a burst of gunshots at them. The burglars earlier had overpowered another guard and took his gun. They fled without getting any money, police said.

FAA Hopes To Trace Jet Failures

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three government agencies, Lockheed Aircraft Co. and six airlines were joined today in a search for what caused a pair of Electra turbo-prop planes to disintegrate in flight.

The Soviet news agency Tass, reporting Khrushchev's first day in Paris, made pointed reference to the "Nazi butchers" who killed resistance fighters.

Before a French-Soviet friendship group he accused West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of trying to upset the results of World War II.

If the French had hoped by jam-packing Khrushchev's official schedule to prevent his using his French visit as a propaganda platform, they had failed. For Khrushchev made public speeches at every opportunity, even finding special groups to address during his "rest" periods.

His theme: Europe is living under the menace of militarism and new aggression; a German peace treaty is necessary to peace; and military groupings such as NATO must go.

In a nation which had fought three major wars against Germany in less than 100 years, it was impossible for him not to strike some responsive chords.

French suspicion of a resurgent Germany had delayed organization of NATO, and the West European Common Market in which West Germany and France now are the major partners.

But whatever effect Khrushchev might be having with the French man in the street, President Charles de Gaulle was the man with whom he had to deal.

It was the first meeting between the two and it had its interesting aspects.

De Gaulle has worked more closely with Adenauer than with any other statesman. Between them they see the emergence of a third force in Western Europe with a population and productivity as great as that of either the United States or Russia.

And on the Allied tough line to ward Communist designs on Berlin, Adenauer and de Gaulle see eye to eye.

This meeting between de Gaulle and Khrushchev would be a sounding out process, with the results more likely to be frustrating to Mr. K than to de Gaulle.

Best Informed Investors In World Are Americans

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Annual reports of corporations are becoming bigger and better to make Americans the best informed investors in the world, a Wall Street economist finds after a concentrated study of these documents.

But R. L. Weisman, economist of W. E. Hutton and Co., finds there still is lacking an educational program in defense of capitalism and profits—a program that could be helped along by informative articles in the annual reports.

"The annual report," he says, "should be an important instrument in moulding public opinion merely by a plain statement of facts.

He quotes the late Professor Joseph A. Schumpeter of Harvard who harbored a deep fear that innovation and capitalism were in danger because of the unwillingness of the industrial leaders to oppose encroachment, and their half apologetic defense of capitalism and profits.

Talker Says Night Clubs Are Forums

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mort Sahl, the thinking man's comedian, denied today that he is a comedian at all.

The controversial nightclub star thinks of himself as a man with ideas who expresses them in saloons simply because that is the only way he can get people to listen to him.

"Today's forum is the nightclub," Mort contends.

"If a man has something he considers serious and important to say he can put his thoughts in a book—but you're not sure the book will be read. Or you can hire a hall and hope somebody shows up.

"In a club you don't have to wonder. The people come, and they listen. They laugh, too, and that's the way to bring them in.

"I've never laid claim to being a comedian. I had to create a place for myself in theaters and clubs. Then I forced myself into larger places.

"Now the clubs don't need big orchestras and dancing girls. They want a guy who can stand up there and talk. I think of myself more as a journalist—I've always worked that way."

Sahl, who got his start in San Francisco coffee houses five years ago, specializes in ribbing politicians, management and labor, the medical profession, international relations and sacred cows.

His observations are barbed, and behind every quip hovers a needle-like innuendo of human and organizational folly.

While Sahl has a loyal following, he also has produced a group of antagonists who accuse him of everything from anarchy to subversive activities. This he credits to his swipes at the current administration.

For instance, Sahl's solution to the U. S. Cuban problem: "We can solve the situation by carving Castro's image on Mt. Rushmore."

Foreign News

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

A little less bouncy, grim more often than smiling, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was doing his best to reopen old wounds this last week.

Scarcely had he set foot on French soil than he reminded his hosts of "the unexploded delayed-action mines and bombs still on Soviet and French territory."

The Soviet news agency Tass, reporting Khrushchev's first day in Paris, made pointed reference to the "Nazi butchers" who killed resistance fighters.

Before a French-Soviet friendship group he accused West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of trying to upset the results of World War II.

If the French had hoped by jam-packing Khrushchev's official schedule to prevent his using his French visit as a propaganda platform, they had failed. For Khrushchev made public speeches at every opportunity, even finding special groups to address during his "rest" periods.

His theme: Europe is living under the menace of militarism and new aggression; a German peace treaty is necessary to peace; and military groupings such as NATO must go.

In a nation which had fought three major wars against Germany in less than 100 years, it was impossible for him not to strike some responsive chords.

French suspicion of a resurgent Germany had delayed organization of NATO, and the West European Common Market in which West Germany and France now are the major partners.

But whatever effect Khrushchev might be having with the French man in the street, President Charles de Gaulle was the man with whom he had to deal.

It was the first meeting between the two and it had its interesting aspects.

De Gaulle has worked more closely with Adenauer than with any other statesman. Between them they see the emergence of a third force in Western Europe with a population and productivity as great as that of either the United States or Russia.

And on the Allied tough line to ward Communist designs on Berlin, Adenauer and de Gaulle see eye to eye.

This meeting between de Gaulle and Khrushchev would be a sounding out process, with the results more likely to be frustrating to Mr. K than to de Gaulle.

criticize what they do not understand, are not meeting adequate answers to their abusive accusations, says Weisman.

"The simple test," he suggests, "is to try and convince professional men such as doctors, editors, students, housewives, or the mass of employees that in manufacturing of all kinds, net profits have been running at a rate of four to five cents on each dollar's sales.

"If all profits were removed, the buyers would be enriched by five cents out of a dollar's outlay."

He finds socialization of profits already has proceeded quite far, with taxes on profits even beyond those visualized at the height of new deal experimentation.

"In an election year particularly," Weisman says, "the need for economic education is great and the urgency of a strong, straightforward insistence on the virtue and desirability of profits can hardly be over-emphasized.

"One gets the impression in listening to talk that profits are almost immoral to many.

"Higher wages, it seems, are to be welcomed—higher profits are to be decried.

"Intellectuals seem to forget that neither they nor anyone else would make added investment without an added return.

"The extreme of the two, when too great a part of the increase in productivity was netted into profit, was no more sound than the perils of the vestment into wages."

Reliability

Two very practical advantages of 1960 Cadillac ownership are minimal maintenance costs and exceptional resale worth. Both have been continuous Cadillac virtues for fifty-eight years, as revealed by the fact that almost half of all the cars ever built by Cadillac are operating today—and thirty thousand of these have been on the road for twenty years or more. This notable record of reliability added to the remarkable operating economy makes the Cadillac for 1960 the wisest of motoring investments.
