

Frigid Texas Can Expect Another Icy Blast

Coldest Weather For Most Parts Of State

United Press International

Forecasters warned today that more cold weather was the way as the sun dawned today on the coldest temperatures of the year for the state generally. The mercury plunged to eight degrees below at Lubbock and sub-freezing temperatures covered the state from Panhandle to the lower Rio Grande Valley. The warm places in the state were Brownsville and Corpus Christi where it was 30 degrees there. Lubbock had seven inches of snow. The snow lay across northern Texas all the way to Texarkana. Fort Worth had an inch and Dallas two—the first snow in these cities this

Old Now, But More On Way

After cold that has gripped the Pampa area for more than two days hangs on, little immediate relief is in sight. Snow yesterday has made roads and highways hazardous. Law enforcement agencies advise only emergency travel, and then only with great caution.

Schools in the immediate area are closed, and utility companies have not reported any interruption of service. Pampa had a low temperature reading of nine degrees Wednesday. The low tonight was a chilly six. The forecast calls for more snow tonight, moving in a new cold front. A reading of five degrees is predicted for Pampa tonight, with the high tomorrow expected to be 33.

Cocious Blast From Texas Atlantic

United Press International's far-ranging storm system is bringing a bewildering assortment of vicious winter weather to the country from Texas to the Atlantic Coast today. It covered Dixie like the dew, snow blanketed parts of the West, and a mauling of thunderstorms threatened pawn tornadoes in a parts of Florida and Georgia. Four persons were killed as driving rain glazed highways in South Carolina. Power lines snapped in the heavy burden of ice, leaving thousands without heat or light. Schools closed wholesale. Heavy snow warnings were issued from Kentucky northeast through Pennsylvania and New York, with the snow falling at a rate of more than an inch an hour. St. Louis got four inches of snow tonight to 3 a. m. today. Weather Bureau warned of thunderstorms moving across northern Florida and southern Georgia were expected to touch land and damaging wind. A small tornado dipped down in northern section of Lake City, early today, destroying at least one building and damaging several others. No injuries were reported. In Jacksonville, Fla., weather bureau predicted winds of up to 40 miles an hour would strike the city. (See TEXAS, Page 6)

Way Out For Finch Friend

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Carolee Tregoff's attorneys opened a possible escape hatch for the red-headed former model today by agreeing her lover might have ordered his wife. In the first overt split in the tense in the trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 23, her attorneys indicated it was possible for a person to be at the scene of a crime yet not be guilty of it. The startling tactic also indicated Carolee is going to try to win even if "Bernie" sinks for the killing of his wife, Mrs. Barbara Finch. Lawyers for the mistress of the surgeon resume their closing arguments today and it was expected they would further disassociate their client from the man who says he still wants to marry her—"if she will have me." Prosecutor Clifford Crail had just completed a blistering windup Wednesday when Miss Tregoff's lawyer made his move. Crail said Finch had confessed his guilt by seeing the death scene July 18. He said that Carolee had "aided and abetted him."

ROUGH GOING — Motorist Roland Morel of Dallas finds the going rough as he rides his bike through fine snow that is going up the city's streets. From one to three inches of snow is forecast for the Dallas area today, with temperatures in the low 20s.

Socialist Doctrine Furthered By Fidel

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro declared today that any foreign private capital coming into Cuba in the future will be "delivered to the nation" and invested as it sees fit. Castro bitterly attacked foreign investors in a two-hour-and-30-minute televised speech to 7,000 unionized workers in the Blanquita movie theater—one of the shortest major television appearances he has ever made. "Private foreign capital is motivated neither by generosity nor by charity nor by a desire to aid the people," he said. "Private foreign capital is invested to help its investors."

Chattanooga Still Tense

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI)—A special troop of 75 policemen covered the main business district of this southeast Tennessee city today to keep crowds from forming and stop a two-day outbreak of racial violence. The tension of the attack by Negroes on lunch counter segregation erupted into a wild pushing and shoving battle on the main streets of Chattanooga for the second day in a row. Firemen routed a crowd of about 2,000 persons by turning fire hoses on them on orders from Mayor P. R. Oiglati. Police Commissioner H. P. Dunlap and other city officials announced Wednesday night that police would crack down hard on any further violence. Dunlap said the special task force of officers would break up "any large assemblies" in the downtown area. "We will not tolerate violence," Oiglati said. "We are ready for whatever we need to do."

Fire Hydrants Freeze Up

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Fire plugs in the little community of Everman at the south edge of Fort Worth froze early today and firemen had to fight a house fire in 18-degree weather. In another Tarrant county fire near Arlington, a home owned by B. L. Wood was damaged heavily by fire early today. The Everman home was owned by Irving Stephenson. Damage to the two homes was estimated by county fire marshal Mason Lankford at about $26,000.

Future Farmers Preparing For Stock Judging Contest

Future Farmers of America members throughout the nation are scheduling special activities this week in observance of National FFA Week. The Pampa chapter is now completing details for participation in the Top O' Texas Livestock Show and Sale March 7, 8 and 9. The FFA will hold a stock judging contest March 8 to be followed by a chapter banquet that night. Prior to the Top O' Texas show, the future farmers will have a chapter show at Recreation Park March 4 and compete in a county livestock show there the following day. Future Farmers choose the week of George Washington's birthday each year for the observance of National FFA Week. Although usually recognized as a Revolutionary War general and first President of the United States, Washington's first love was the farm he called Mount Vernon. There, he was one of the first in the nation to practice contour planting, crop rotations, fertilization, and other soil conservation and improvement methods. FFA is a national organization, with more than 380,000 members in 9,000 local school chapters located throughout the 50 states and Puerto Rico. The Pampa chapter has 45 members. Membership in the FFA is made up of high school vocational agriculture students. Activities are designed to develop rural leadership and good citizenship, to stimulate better academic achievement and work toward successful establishments in farming. Nationally, FFA is sponsored by the Agricultural Education Branch of the U.S. Office of Education in Washington. Bob Skaggs, Pampa High School vocational agriculture teacher, is advisor of the local chapter. Each member of FFA is required to have a project, either a calf, lamb or pig. The boys buy the animals, feed and care for them until showtime. After the show, the animal is sold. Besides practicing sportsmanship in the show, the boys learn thrift in feeding to get most money from the investment. "It gives the boys a sense of responsibility to have and feed their animals," said Skaggs. The Pampa chapter has started a new project this year. The chapter donated money and bought three pigs. Each member would (See CONTEST, Page 6)

Sao Paulo Gives Ike A Big Hello

Red Carpet Treatment Continues

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI)—President Eisenhower flew into this "fastest growing city in the world" today to another red carpet welcome punctuated with crackling firecrackers. Security arrangements were the tightest of his state tour to date. The President's propeller-driven Columbine III plane landed at Congonhas airfield at 9:31 a. m., after a flight of slightly more than an hour from Rio de Janeiro. After an exchange of greetings and formalities at the airport, the President rode through the city in the back seat of his open car. He stood up, grinned widely, and waved both hands to the huge crowd which strained at police lines along the way. They held signs welcoming Eisenhower, showered him with confetti and colored paper streamers and exploded firecrackers continuously in the streets. Thousands of children waved United States and Brazilian flags. Eisenhower planned a five-hour stay in Sao Paulo, the third stop in Brazil in as many days. He landed in Brasilia, the new capital, Tuesday, and received the wildest greeting in Rio's history Wednesday.

BRAZIL — Dotted lines indicate its location in South America.

The off-and-on drizzle that greeted the President at the airport turned into a heavier rain halfway along the drive through the city. But Eisenhower stood staunchly in his car, waving vigorously with water pouring off his raincoat. He stepped from his plane and headed down the ramp, a long red carpet was rolled out. (See HELLO, Page 6)

No 'Teeth' In Ike Speech, Brazil Feels

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International
RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—Brazilian political leaders today generally hailed President Eisenhower's speech before a joint session of congress but some were disillusioned because they believed he did not commit the United States to a more dynamic Pan American policy. The speech, interrupted 22 times by stormy applause, was the highlight of a day in which Eisenhower received the most triumphant welcome ever accorded a visiting statesman here—a day in which carnival minded Rio greeted him with cheers, fireworks, confetti and song. In his speech Eisenhower promised to devote savings on disarmament to a Pan American plan of mutual economic development. He also said the United States would consider "intervention" if any nation, whether by "invasion, coercion or subversion, succeeded in denying freedom of choice to the people of any of our sister republics."

Living Costs Down Second Month In Row

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's living costs declined for the second month in a row to the lowest level since last September, the government announced today. Lowest prices for clothing, eggs, meat and new cars contributed to a drop of one-tenth of one percent in the Labor Department's consumer price index for January. The index fell to 125.4 per cent of average 1947-49 prices. This meant it cost $12.54 to buy in January what $10 bought then. An all-time record high of 125.6 was set in November. The January index was 1.3 per cent above the January 1959 level. The decline means that nearly one million workers in the auto industry will not receive any pay increases. Another 60,000 aircraft and farm equipment workers whose wages are tied to the index by escalator clauses in labor contracts will take a penny-an-hour pay cut because of the drop. About 14,000 workers in the trucking industry who get semi-annual pay adjustments will receive a penny-an-hour wage increase because of previous rises in the index. Evan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, predicted the price level will remain stable through February and March at least. He said food prices should continue to go down and offset rising costs of fresh fruits and vegetables. The department reported the sharpest December-January decline in clothing prices in nearly 10 years. Women's and girls' coats, suits, dresses, wool skirts and men's clothing all were sharply reduced in price. Food bought for home consumption was cheaper for the fourth month in a row, continuing a decline that began last summer.

Egypt Marches On Gaza Strip

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI)—Highly placed sources here said today that Egyptian forces have penetrated the Gaza Strip for the first time since the 1956 Suez crisis. Military circles said the Israelis were following movements of Egyptian forces which they said were slowly approaching Israel's southern border. Two Egyptian divisions are believed to be concentrated now in the Sinai Desert. (Unconfirmed reports have been circulating in Western capitals for some time about Egyptian troop movements. The British Foreign Office said in London today that it is seeking information about the reported movements from its diplomatic representatives in the area.) The Gaza Strip, a finger of territory 30 miles long and seven miles wide along the Mediterranean, was occupied by Israeli troops during the Suez campaign. There are now 5,350 men of the United Nations police force stationed in the strip. They have been there to enforce a cease-fire.

Sniper Snuffs Out 4 Lives On Farm Road

CHALKHILL, Pa. (UPI)—Daniel Raymond cried. Then he took his high-powered rifle and laid it across a table in his neat red brick bungalow. "I'm going to use it." Those were the last words Dan Raymond ever spoke to his wife of 17 years. Terrified, she fled with their three children to the nearby home of a neighbor. From there, Mrs. Raymond watched her husband turn killer and then be killed. Raymond, 45, barricaded in the little one-story bungalow, turned a sleepy southwestern Pennsylvania mountain road into a death trap Wednesday morning. His sniper's bullets killed four persons and wounded five others. Alternately using a rifle and shotgun, Raymond killed: —William Burd, 49, Farmington, Pa., a state Highways Department employee, who was gunned down in the cab of his cinder truck. —Mrs. Mary Frances Siler, 61, Ohiopyle, Pa., and Mrs. Edna Maes, 53, Ohiopyle, wife of a Baptist minister, who were riding together. —Mrs. May Maust, 30, Farmington, who was riding in an automobile with her husband and two young children. —Mrs. Maust's husband, Carl, 23, and Edward, 1, were wounded by a shotgun blast that preceded the rifle shot that killed Mrs. Maust. The father and children, bleeding and terrified, lay in their automobile in the line of fire for almost eight hours before the siege of Raymond's home ended. Maust is in poor condition at Uniontown Hospital. The children are listed as fair. Harry Cromwell, 45, Ohiopyle (See SNIPER, Page 6)

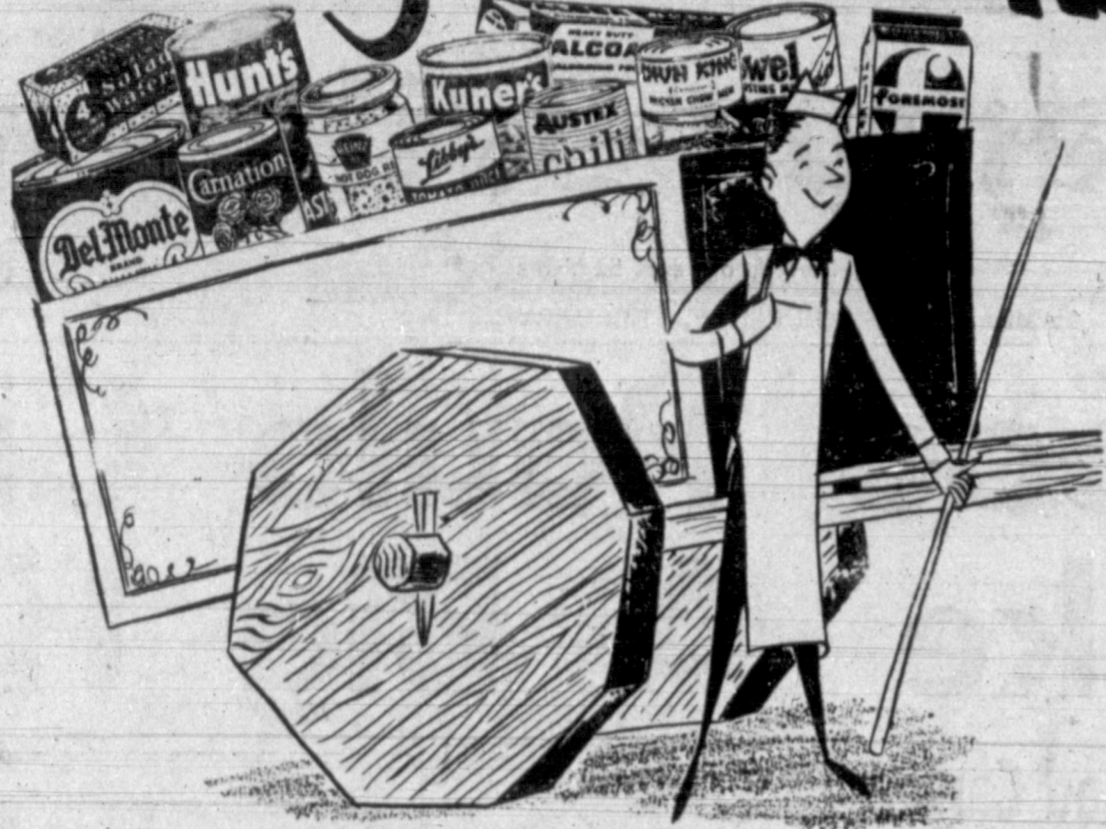

Southern Accent Bad Politically

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Tom Abernethy (D-Miss.) said today Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) is attempting to "disassociate himself from the South and become a westerner." Abernethy said Johnson's prospects for being a presidential candidate are good among southern delegates at the present time. But Abernethy said it is "something else" in other sections of the country. "Liberal blocs which control up country delegates look upon him as an unreconstructed conservative rebel," said Abernethy. "And in these days it is just a political sin for them to favor anyone from the South for president." Abernethy said the opinion of many is that any candidate "who goes to Los Angeles with the slightest southern accent — well his candidacy just ain't gonna be much." Abernethy said that to meet this "prejudice against southerners," Johnson's strategists have endeavored to "orbit Texas out of the South into the West." Bear equipment means satisfied work. SEARCH FOR KIDNAPERS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police today hunted three thugs who Tuesday kidnaped truck driver Harvey Locke, 47, of Bangor, Pa., and stole his truck containing $20,000 worth of textiles. The thugs released Locke several miles from the midtown street where the hi-jacking occurred after driving him around in a car for more than three hours.

Negotiable Instruments

Suppose that Mrs. Housewife wants to buy a vacuum cleaner. She may not have the $100 or so required to pay for the appliance. The salesman will probably ask her to sign a negotiable promissory note, perhaps payable in a series of monthly installments. When Mrs. Housewife signs the note the salesman will give her a cleaner. The cleaner company in turn will probably sell the note to a bank or commercial credit company.

Thus, Mrs. Housewife has the cleaner, the cleaner company has funds with which to do business, and the bank holds the promise of Mrs. Housewife to pay a sum of money. The bank, of course, will pay to the cleaner company something less than the face value of the note. The difference is the gross profit that the bank will earn on the transaction.

If the cleaner turns out to be defective, and contrary to the representation made by the salesman, an interesting problem arises. Mrs. Housewife may feel that she is not legally obligated to pay the note, until some adjustment is made with regard to the cleaner. However, the law of negotiable instruments requires that Mrs. Housewife must pay the face value of the note plus any interest in the merchandise. At least such results follow if the bank has taken the note under these circumstances.

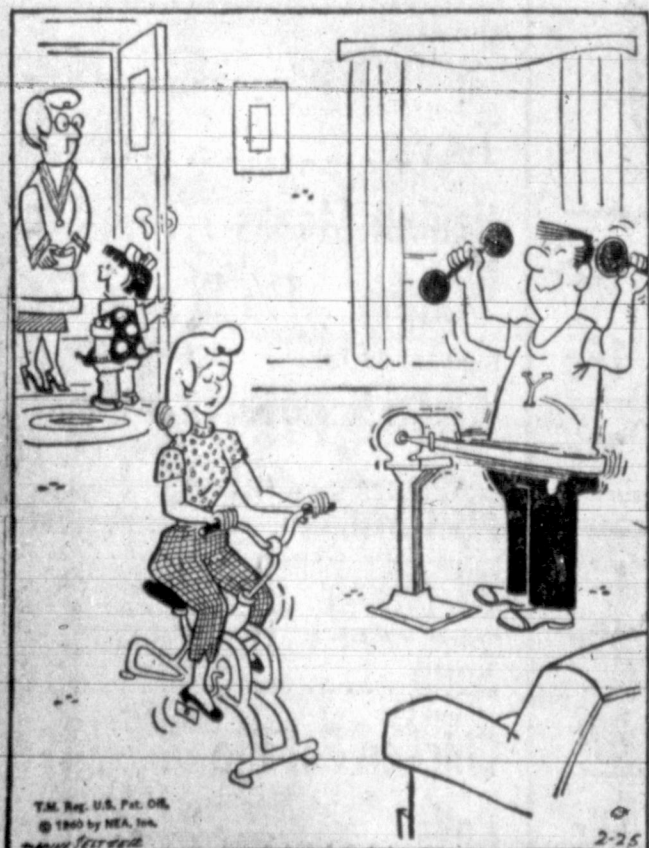

Mrs. Housewife certainly has the right to a cleaner in the condition represented, or damages resulting from the defect. But Mrs. Housewife must pursue these remedies against the cleaner company or its salesman. The fact that the merchandise is defective does not give her a defense against the bank on the note.

Whenever Mrs. Housewife signs a promissory note or other negotiable instrument she should pay only the person who actually holds the note. For example, if Mrs. Housewife had paid the cleaner company at the end of the 30-day period, the bank, as holder of the note, could none the less collect from her.

Checks, drafts, promissory notes, and bills of exchange, are types of negotiable instruments. They are, in effect, unconditional prom-

Burglar Alarm' Will Give Instant Warning Of Attack

NEWS NOTE: Here is an exclusive dispatch describing a "burglar alarm" system which the Western powers are developing along the Iron Curtain line. The system, which is being developed by the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Greece and Turkey, is being developed by the Western powers along the Iron Curtain line. The system, which is being developed by the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Greece and Turkey, is being developed by the Western powers along the Iron Curtain line.

The project, already half completed, will cost between 50 and 75 million dollars in electronic installations alone. In addition, each host country contributes land, buildings and operating personnel. Its purpose is to provide instant warning to the NATO nations and to the Allied supreme command post in Paris in event of surprise enemy attack at any point. The great alarm system begins at a point 530 miles north of the Arctic Circle, then swings in a Turkish crescent to Asia Minor and successful operation of the entire network in sight, it is now possible to present a panoramic description of the whole. It is called "Ace High" and stands for Allied Command Europe, high because the system is what the electronic engineers call "tropospheric scatter" and utilizes transmitters often located upon the highest mountain tops. The section already operating in Norway is called "Hot Line." It was financed by the United States. Soon it will be melded into Ace High.

The tremendous job of synchronizing the station operators and maintenance personnel, who speak eight separate languages, will be undertaken in April in a school now nearing completion at the Italian air force base at Latina, 40 miles southwest of Rome. Teacher will be International Standard Engineering, Inc., a subsidiary of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., which engineered the entire project under contract with "SHAPE" - Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe.

The students will be the young men, military and civilian, upon whose precise understanding of the highly technical data Europe's chances of survival may rest. Heart of the Ace High network is the SHAPE command in Paris. To this control center any report of a sudden military move at any point along the whole long perimeter of the Iron Curtain will be instantly communicated.

A basic value of Ace High is that its operations are independent of the various national communications systems, which could be silenced by sabotage or sudden enemy invasion. Further, it is not susceptible to interruption by atmospheric conditions or sunspots, as is ordinary radio. Nor can it be jammed by nearby enemy stations.

Cattle Sales Subject To Tax

CB INS 1-18 CATTLE SALES
The sale of cattle is subject to income tax, no matter what use the proceeds are put to, according to Ellis Campbell, Jr., Dallas district director of Internal Revenue Service.

Numerous questions at farm tax schools have pointed up misunderstanding on the part of some farmers. The sale of cattle land, as well as other farm capital assets are taxable no matter whether the proceeds are reinvested in similar property or not.

There is one exception in the case of condemnation proceedings or other involuntary conversion. Farmers having a problem in this area were advised to get a free copy of the "Farmer's Tax Guide" from their County Agent or the Internal Revenue Service.

Concert Season Ends 'On Moon'

By THOMAS ATKIN Daily News Guest Reviewer

A musical fantasy to the ear and eye marked the season's final Community Concert Association presentation, "The Voyage to the Moon", an opera by Jacques Offenbach. The Boston Opera cast of singers from major opera companies, with orchestra, chorus and ballet, completed a company of professional excellence.

Optimists Plan Busy Schedule

Members of the Breakfast Optimist Club this morning were entertained by John Mann, 12-year-old Panamanian who has made several recent public appearances as a singer. Mann sang two songs to his own guitar accompaniment and also played two songs on the piano.

All the elements of the opera are present; the lovely Moon princess falling in love with an Earth prince, the banishment of the lovers to the frozen side of the Moon, and a last minute chase with the thawing of the frozen prince and princess with a jug of apple-jack (which has the same effect as the apple).

Merle Puffer played the role of Dr. Blasiotti, the Earth scientist. His singing ability helped him escape the wiles of the Moon queen, Popotte, after her taste of the apple. Frank Carroll, cast as the Prince Caprice, had the traditional vocal excellence the prince must always possess to win the fair princess.

The Princess Fantasia, sung by Jeannette Scovotti, was indeed fair to look upon and hear. Her coloratura voice sang lyrically of her new love as she tasted the apple. King Vivaldi of the Earth King of Babel was sung by Mac Morgan, and King Cosmos of the Moon, sung by Emile Renall, shared common problems and the difficulties of party politics.

Rotary Club Elects Directors

The Pampa Rotary Club yesterday heard a talk by Dr. Robert Moore on the problem of heart and circulatory diseases. A film was shown by Dr. Moore showing how circulatory problems develop and how they, in turn, affect the heart.

Nine Accidents On Slick Streets

Nine accidents were reported to the police department yesterday, all of them minor, as the result of snow and ice on streets. Chief Jim Conner said no one was injured and only slight damage to cars was reported.

Accident At Lefors

One accident was reported to the highway patrol yesterday. Investigating officer Vernon Cawthon said an automobile driven by Emmett Earl Edwards, 58, collided with another driven by Leta Bradley, 49, of Lefors.

Bailey Service Set Saturday

Funeral services for L. C. Bailey will be held Saturday 2 p.m. in Central Baptist Church with the Rev. Therman Uphaw, pastor, officiating.

GOUDA CRABMEAT — Fine fare for meatless days or important proteins and a handsome touch to an already informal buffet suppers. Baby Gouda cheese wedges add fine seafood dish.

Gouda Crabmeat Makes Elegant Lenten Fare

Gouda Crabmeat makes a special buffet or chafing dish selection for family or guests. Elegant and delicious for Lent or any time of the year, the dish is a creamy crabmeat mixture to which shredded Gouda cheese is added for extra flavor and goodness. Plum p Gouda wedges also melt on the top of the hot mixture as a tempting invitation to feast delightfully.

The delicate texture of the Gouda cheese is at its best when added to the hot mixture just before serving. When slices or wedges are used as a topping on casseroles or for broiled or grilled sandwiches, heat only three to five minutes or until melted.

Just until the cheese begins to melt. If the cheese is to be served cool, remove the Gouda from the refrigerator an hour or two before serving to bring out the smooth, full-bodied richness of this distinctive and low-in-calories cheese.

An ideal accompaniment for the Gouda Crabmeat is fluffy hot parsley buttered rice. Add a tossed green salad or a winter-crisp coleslaw and you'll be happy.

GOUDA CRABMEAT
1 Gouda cheese, cut in half
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons grated onion
1/4 cup diced green pepper
1/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 No. 2 can tomatoes (about 2-1/2 cups)
1 7/8 oz. can crabmeat, flaked
1/4 cup light cream
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Second Helping Will Be Requested Of Short Ribs With Onion Gravy

"Fill'er up again, Mom!" will be the encore reply when you ask your family if they would like more Short Ribs with onion gravy. Crusty brown, short ribs are enlivened with a savory onion gravy, easily made with a package of onion soup.

SHORT RIBS WITH ONION GRAVY
2 pounds trimmed short ribs
2 tablespoons kitchen bouquet
2 tablespoons fat
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup tomato catsup
1 1/2 cups hot water
1 envelope (1 1/2 oz.) onion soup
2 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons cold water
1/2 cup sour cream

Baked Dessert Is Warm Idea

Serve this baked dessert to your family or friends as they warm themselves by the fire. Pineapple, nuts and Nabisco graham crackers all help to make it a favorite with both young and old.

PINEAPPLE GRAHAM TORTE
3 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter
12 square Nabisco Graham Crackers, finely rolled (about 1 cup crumbs)
1/2 cup walnuts, chopped
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Foods From Freezer Blended With Special Touch Adds Meal Variety

It's possible to take foods out of the freezer or off the pantry shelf, then add a special touch or work out a combination with other foods that gives individuality and variety to daily meals. A delicious family soup combines packaged chicken noodle soup with canned corn and canned broiled mushrooms.

CORN AND MUSHROOM SOUP
1 package (2 oz.) chicken noodle soup
1 can (1 lb.) whole kernel corn
1 can (6 oz.) sliced broiled mushrooms
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon dehydrated parsley flake

Hamburger Pie Easy To Prepare

Mom gets a chance to rest when Dad makes the Sunday night supper. He can really please the family with this hearty pie, which combines leftover vegetable with meat crust that's so tasty made with Ritz Crackers.

Bachelor Can Show Cooking Prowess With Lasagna

The bachelor gets a chance to show his talents in the kitchen with this "ritzy" lasagna. Ritz crackers give extra flavor to the sauce, which can be made the night before to save time. Add a refreshing tossed green salad to make a meal.

LASAGNA
1-pound 13-ounce can tomatoes (about 3 1/2 cups)
2 8-ounce cans tomato sauce
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon oregano
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon onion salt
1 cup chopped onion
2 cloves garlic, crushed
3 tablespoons salad oil
1 pound ground beef
3/2 Ritz Cheese Crackers, finely rolled (about 1 1/2 cups crumbs)
8 ounces lasagna noodles
1 pint cottage cheese

In a large saucepan combine tomatoes and next 8 ingredients; start simmering uncovered. In a skillet saute onion and garlic in oil until lightly browned. Add meat and Ritz Cheese Crackers crumbs, reserving 1/4 cup of topping. Cook 15 minutes. Add to tomato mixture. Simmer about 2 hours. Cook Lasagna noodles. Spread a small amount of sauce in bottom of casserole dish 12 x 8 x 2 inches, layer noodles, sauce, and cheese, ending with sauce and sprinkle with reserved cracker crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degree F.) 20 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Tame Tattered Nerves With Cherry Dessert

Tradition has it that if the month of March begins with a roar of lion-like weather, the thirty-first dawn as a lamb. Should the month enter as a lamb, you may expect a lion's exit.

Another food idea for March is a main dish with Lamb, Irish Stew with Bran Dumplings. Plump and hearty dumplings cover this top-of-the-range meal-in-one of lamb, carrots, turnips, onions and potatoes.

FRENCH CHERRY DESSERT
3 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
1/2 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup packaged corn flake crumbs
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, well-beaten
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 cup flaked coconut
1/2 cup maraschino cherries, halved, drained

IRISH STEW WITH BRAN DUMPLINGS
1 pound stewing lamb
4 cups water
1/2 cup sliced raw carrots
1/2 cup diced raw turnips
1/2 cup finely chopped onions
2 cups diced raw potatoes
2 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
6 tablespoons flour
6 tablespoons water

STEAK INSTRUCTIONS
When broiling a 1-inch steak, place the meat so it is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. A 2-inch steak should be placed 3 to 5 inches from the heat. Serve steaks piping hot. Never allow steak to wait for the guests.

Frozen Macaroni And Cheese Dinner
Once you've heated these dinners for your family, watch for repeat requests. They'll come often and so occasionally it's nice to surprise them with a special touch to the dinner... like this: TOMATO TOP MACARONI

So many people appear to be irritable or complain about insomnia of indigestion these days that preparing a meal for the family or a company dinner poses many problems. One tip we can offer here is to select meal-time beverages or evening snacks with care.

CHICAGO (NEA)—Heart and circulatory disease is the foremost enemy of our nation, but is increasing or decreasing? To answer this question, we must look at the various types of circulatory disease.

Rheumatic heart disease has been declining—thanks partly to improved means of treating and preventing streptococcal infections which "trigger" an attack of rheumatic fever.

With coronary heart disease (the one causing angina pectoris and heart attack) there has been a marked increase. This is due both to the fact that we are living to an older age, and to a true increase in the reasons which are not entirely clear.

High blood pressure with its implications does not appear to be lessening, and, with an older population, strokes have increased in total numbers.

Congenital heart disease would seem to be increasing. This apparent increase may simply be due to the fact that we are able to diagnose in-born heart defects more accurately.

Just where are we now in the diagnosis of cardiovascular disease?

Because of the dramatic progress made during the last 20 years, precise diagnosis is possible in many of the patients with significant difficulty.

The patient with a serious "heart attack," the blue baby, the child or adult with rheumatic heart disease, and the man or woman with high blood pressure can almost always be diagnosed accurately. We have ever methods of X-ray, improved understanding of the electrocardiogram, techniques permitting measurement of pressures and blood characteristics inside the heart and newer ways of analyzing blood samples.

However, we are far from perfect in our diagnosis of the beginning or early stages of some types of heart and blood vessel disorders. This is particularly true of coronary heart disease where the diagnosis often is not possible until symptoms appear or a serious attack occurs. It also is usually true of blood vessel disease of the brain.

Where are we now in treatment with drugs?

In congenital heart disease, drugs are of limited value and cannot cure the basic condition. In acute rheumatic fever certain drugs, notably cortisone and similar substances, are decidedly helpful and may be life-saving, although they do not actually cure the disease or necessarily prevent heart damage. With penicillin and the sulfa drugs, we have wonderfully potent substances to prevent further attacks of rheumatic fever.

In high blood pressure, some patients need no treatment. For those who require medicine, several effective drugs are now available, including rauwolfia, chlorothalidate and hydralazine.

In coronary heart disease, medicines (anticoagulants) to retard blood clotting are used in treating acute heart attacks and preventing repeat attacks with definite but not 100 per cent success. For certain persons who have had impending or true strokes, anticoagulants also have been found helpful.

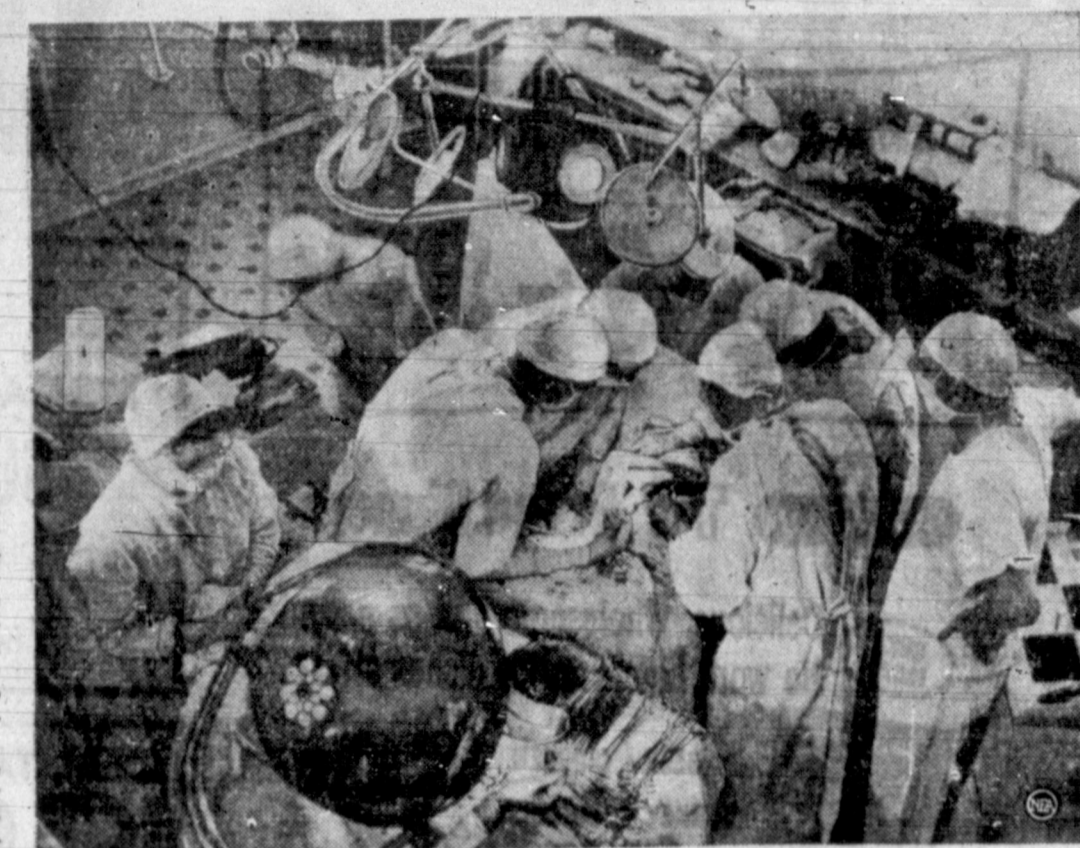

Where are we now in treatment with diet?

A restriction of salt (and all food substances containing much sodium) is at times of great value in those situations where the heart has become weakened and fluid accumulates in the lungs, abdomen and legs. Occasionally, it is also useful for the patient with high blood pressure.

A reduction in fat intake has been advocated by many as one means of limiting hardening of the arteries (arteriosclerosis) which leads to strokes and coronary heart disease. A moderate reduction appears to make good sense and has been adopted by many physicians in their own diets.

What about surgery? Brilliant results have been obtained in correcting congenital heart disease with various surgical procedures. But, surgery cannot cure all types of congenital heart conditions. Many are cured, many are greatly or moderately helped, and some cases are too complex for help at present.

In rheumatic heart disease, surgery is useful where the heart muscle is not greatly involved and the difficulty is chiefly one of damage to the valves. Wonderfully successful results have been achieved with operations on partial closure of the mitral valve. Surgery also can be highly effective in relieving certain cases of high blood pressure which have an identifiable cause such as a tumor of the adrenal gland or a block in an artery.

In strokes and in their prevention, a few patients have been greatly benefited by an operation which replaces the diseased portion of an artery leading to the brain with a graft, or which bypasses the damaged area.

It must be emphasized that these are good grounds for optimism. The label of heart or cardiovascular disease is usually not a dire one—rather, it often only requires a modest adjustment in our way of life.

For those needing treatment, there is much that can be done today to help.

Next: The breakthroughs in prospect.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI)—Scandinavian Airlines System said today it has carried 115,000 passengers in 3,600 flights across the North Pole during the three years it has operated a cross-pole service to Tokyo and Los Angeles.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—You can rate an actress' popularity by the names of her co-stars. And using this measuring device, Gina Lollobrigida ranks among the top two or three.

In the past year the Italian beauty has starred with Yul Brynner, Frank Sinatra and Tony Franciosa. Within a few months she'll be playing opposite box-office king Rock Hudson.

"Whenever I make a picture I always having leading-man approval," the bewitching Gina explained.

"If you have a partner who is not right for the role, or who doesn't go well with you, then you have a wrong picture. And this I don't like.

Gina's English is well laced with a strong Italian accent, but her scrapping black eyes see that nothing is lost in the translation.

"An actor should be able to approve his leading lady, too—if he is a big star. The stars of a movie must like one another and work happily together if they want to be convincing on the screen.

"When I am considering my leading man I look for a sensitive, warm actor who will understand me," she said.

"There are many I would like to work with—Marlon Brando, Cary Grant, Paul Newman and William Holden. For fights I would like Brando. For drama I would like Newman. For comedy I would like Grant. For love scenes I would like..."

and wounded five others: "He was alive when we found him but he's dead now."

Amazingly, Gina stopped to blush. She really blushed.

Urged to name the actor with whom she would like to appear in love scenes, the movies' newest sex goddess refused.

"I will never tell that one," she giggled. "Not even my husband knows which one I have in mind for that."

Gina, who currently is starring in MGM's "Go Naked in the World," then retreated to safer ground.

"I am looking forward to working with Rock," she said. "We have never met, but I have seen his movies. He certainly will become an even bigger star than he is now. Someday he will be as big as Cary Grant."

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—With the bubble of overoptimism punctured a slower business pace in the first half of 1960 implies greater stability in the second half, says Prentice-Hall.

"You can still count on an overall record year in 1960," Prentice-Hall points out in its weekly report on business.

However, the business community will have to sell harder and watch costs more closely than it may have reckoned just a few months back, the report notes.

Richard T. Leahy of J. W. Sparks & Co., favors Liltion Industries as a candidate for near-term appreciation. "The outstanding technical of this stock," Leahy points out, "coupled with its strong market action over the recent past could well lead to a further advance."

Bache & Co. notes that the action of both American Telephone and Bechman Instruments has been outstanding in recent sessions. "We would continue to retain the west issued in trading accounts and add to positions on any dips."

Students Win Merit Certificates

CANADIAN (SpI)—Three Canadian High School seniors have been named finalists in the 1959-60 competition of the National Merit Scholarship program.

The students, who have been awarded certificates of merit, are Johnny Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Glenn; Betty Lee Abraham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malouf Abraham; and Anne Hoobler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hoobler.

We Would Like Uruguay to Crack Down On Reds

By RAY CROMLEY
Paper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Eisenhower has a mission in Uruguay. He wants the Uruguayan government to crack down on the Communists.

That hands Mr. Eisenhower a particularly hot potato. There's one lucky break, though that may make his job less difficult: Benito Nardone will become chief of state of Uruguay on March 1, the eve of Mr. Eisenhower's arrival. Nardone is strongly anti-Red.

Uruguay has tied herself in agreements with the Soviet Union. Some 40 per cent of the country's major export, wool, goes to the Reds. A large amount of petroleum imports comes from the Communists.

One hitch: Uruguay is ruled by a Council of Ministers, a nine-man executive. Nardone, though President after March 1, has only one vote out of nine. But he does have a very vigorous personality. And he's willing to fight for what he believes.

Red underground operations in South America are believed to be centered in Uruguay. The Soviet Legation in Uruguay is extraordinarily large for a country with only a little over 3 million people.

The retiring chief of the Uruguayan Government, Martin Echegoyen, asked President Eisenhower to rearrange his trip so as not to come in February. Reason: the new chief of state, Nardone, won't be inaugurated until March 1. He will need, said Echegoyen, all the prestige he can squeeze from the visit.

That diplomatic pouches move in and out of that Russian Legation. And what some people call "mountains" of other legations to and from.

For energetic Nardone is planning to put into effect some radical changes to fight an inflation that's boomed from 20 to 40 per cent a year. These include:

—A freeing of export-import controls — which would boost sharply the consumer cost of many imported goods.

—A tightening of credit and a clampdown on wages.

—An encouragement of private industry in this traditionally welfare state where one-third of the people work for the government or government enterprises such as meat packing, insurance, fishing, railways, bus lines, milk distribution, fuel refining, alcohol and cement production.

These changes, Nardone knows, will unsettle things at first. He wants whatever help President Eisenhower can give him.

BEACH AT MONTIVIDEO — Also inflation and over-large Soviet Legation.

Byrd Fears Senate Passage Of Strong Civil Rights Bill

By WILLIAM THEIS
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said today he feared the Senate would pass a "strong" civil rights bill that would be a "humiliation" to the South.

Byrd told United Press International that he doubted the Senate leadership would impose gag rules on its southern members. But he said the votes probably are available to do so.

"They'll have to hide over us to do it," Byrd said. The Senate met at 10 a.m. today and was to remain in session until late tonight. Starting Monday, Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson has announced, "around-the-clock" sessions will be held in an effort to force action on the civil rights bill.

The Senate held a 12 1/2-hour session Wednesday, adjourning at 11:09 p.m. Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) held the floor for more than four hours in opposition to the bill.

The marathon featured a vigorous defense by Texas' Johnson of his procedure in bringing the issue to the floor. He dismissed as "hogwash" southern implications that he had engaged in unfair tactics during the maneuvering.

Byrd said southerners particularly opposed the section of the administration substitute bill which would declare the Supreme Court integration decision to be the "supreme law of the land."

Byrd said this would give congressional approval to what he feels is an "illegal decision" — something Congress has never done before.

"That's a humiliation southerners will take bitter offense to," he said. But he voiced doubt that either Johnson or GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who offered the substitute, would find it possible to modify the seven-point measure.

The civil rights people won't weaken it," he said. Dirksen has made it clear he does not like the idea of trying to impose cloture — a gag on debate — because the same rule could be used by the Democratic majority against the GOP minority on other issues.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) leader of the southern bloc, served notice Wednesday his group would use every possible delaying tactic against the bill.

If some private eye were to look for today's criminal he would find two of them. East's heart raise was a serious misdemeanor because it asked for trouble. West's double of three no-trump was practically a capital offense. Naturally West expected some face cards in his partner's hand but West held a minimum opening and knew that his king of diamonds was misplaced.

South might have punished the culprit severely by redoubling but South was not a redoubler and merely contented himself with three overtricks.

He won the opening heart lead and finessed the queen of diamonds. It held the trick and the diamond was finessed a second time. Back to his hand with a club and a third diamond finesse cleared up the suit.

Now South ran off the clubs and diamonds and discarded down to the queen of hearts and ace-queen of spades.

West had to throw a high heart to keep his spade king guarded and so South threw him in with that last high heart and made him lead away from his king of spades.

Stable Prices In Agriculture

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Retail food prices will stop falling this year and remain at about the 1959 level, the Agriculture Department forecast today.

The department predicted the price of food itself would remain about steady in 1960. But it said the cost of processing and distributing the food probably would continue to inch upward.

Food prices last year fell about 2 1/2 per cent below the 1958 level, the department said. This reflected lower prices paid to farmers. Food marketing charges jumped one per cent.

But increases in other prices more than offset the drop in food costs and the cost of living went up one per cent.

Meat, eggs, food fats and oils, fruits, vegetables and beverages were among the food that registered noticeable price declines last year. The prices of sugar, sweets, cereals and bakery products went up. Dairy produce prices remained about the same.

WANTS AUTHORS EXPOSED
COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI)—State Rep. John Hart said he would introduce a bill in the Legislature today to require all South Carolina newspapers to publish names of stockholders owning as much as 10 per cent of the paper's stock because:

"Too many northern carpetbaggers are infiltrating the South and piping their editorial opinions into the homes of southern readers without identifying the author."

ADENAUER TO BE GUEST
PALM DESERT, Calif. (UPI)—The El Dorado Country Club said Wednesday it received word West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his family would be guests March 19-20 at a private home at the club. Adenauer was to speak March 18 at UCLA and visit San Francisco following his stopover here.

Chat'n Snack Peps Up Winter Spirits

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

How to perk up peaked children is a question much discussed by mothers as winter drags to a close.

It must have been a relief to homemakers of an earlier day to turn over the job to a stout dose of sulphur and molasses.

But the problems of flagging appetites, lowered resistance, sniffling that hang on and "cry-baby" crankiness can serve a useful purpose.

Instead of fretting about such symptoms, the first step is to have the family doctor check up on the younger's general physical health. He may uncover a slight anemia which responds rapidly to treatment.

As guardians of the family's well-being, such symptoms also prod us to check up on the children's diet and daily routine. Are we, for example, seeing that they get proper rest and exercise? I know how easy it is to slip into the habit of permitting prolonged passive television when the weather is bad.

You may have to encourage more exercise indoors. A noisy game of hide-and-seek may penalize your nerves but it's good for their circulation. If you have a finished basement, even tricycles can help stretch muscles. Insist on some outdoor exercise, if only for a few minutes.

You may have to walk preschool children around the block but older kids can bundle up and walk themselves to school. The parade of cars by my door every morning is eloquent evidence that we yield too often to the temptation to hustle them to school protected from the brisk weather.

Most homemakers are well aware of the importance of good nutrition and carefully plan their daily menus. In the case of growing children, we might improve their diets and their health with closer supervision of snacks. Studies show that snacks may supply over 10 per cent of the daily calories.

If snacks are planned as a real part of the day's good food, they are advisable, say nutritionists.

A chat and snack at the kitchen table relaxes mother and daughter, a habit that helps fight off winter's jaded feeling.

Morning snacks, for example, for my preschooler really supplement breakfast—most often this means a glass of orange juice and whole wheat or raising toast.

Plan for afterschool snacks, too. Children will eat what's easy to reach and palatable. It's not difficult to steer them away from the highly sweetened snacks which contribute little more than calories.

Citrus fruit is widely recommended for snacking, not alone for its high vitamin C content. The natural fruit sugars it contains makes it a splendid "pick-me-up." Studies made for the Florida citrus people showed drinking orange juice between meals provides a noticeable resistance to fatigue in children and adults. Most kids like fruit juices as well as sugary soft drinks.

In my kitchen, a fruit bowl centers the table—tangerines, oranges, apples, pears and bananas are ready for snack time. To avoid spoilage, I replenish the bowl from fruit kept in the refrigerator. Containers of milk and fruit juice are ready to pour.

Former "Dead-End" Kid Doing Well As Designer Of Feminine Fashions

Woman to Woman
By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
Daily News Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Richard Blackwell, one of Hollywood's Dead End kids, scored early in reel life.

But like so many child stars, he tasted defeat in real life when the role ran out.

"For 12 years," Blackwell said in an interview, "I was broke, broken in spirit and practically friendless."

But fortune's wheel once more is turning in Blackwell's favor. Almost by accident he started designing women's dresses two years ago.

He started at a snail's pace but kept the ground he gained. This year, his firm—Mr. Blackwell Designs—will move a million dollars' worth of togs to market.

"It's far afield from the movies and out of keeping with the 'Dead End' tag that was hung on me," he said.

"But for the first time in my life, I feel that I have control over my destiny. It's almost as if there's a rule in life that you can have just so much failure—and then the tide turns."

"I don't have to beg for bit parts or odd jobs. But best of all, perhaps, I now have a public that appreciates me for what I can do in real life. I'm out of the make-believe world."

Blackwell, 38 and single, admits to a "gift" in the dress designing field.

"I can take a bolt of material and make a good-looking dress for any woman in ten minutes," he said.

Unlike most designers, he does not sketch or use a drawing board when creating a new design. His tools are scissors, pins, clothes pins—better than pins to hold the material—and a live model.

"Inanimate forms of the female body don't inspire me," he said.

Blackwell discovered his talent for fashion design when he was managing the vocalist Wanda Curtis.

She needed a new wardrobe for a nightclub engagement. He bought some remnants and asked Miss Curtis to get into a tight bathing suit. He commenced to create a gown right on her form—draping, pinning, cutting as his ideas took root.

The dress was so pleasing that Miss Curtis urged him to try his hands at making more gowns.

The designer recently named "dressed" in real life. "They overdress and tend to look like clowns," he said. "A great many women try to copy them because they think such over-dressing is high style. It's a dis-service to women."

Five of the actresses, he said, have threatened to sue. "Let them," he said. "I will go to court and defend my position. Any woman who over-dresses is worst dressed."

Among best-dressed women, Blackwell said, are Elizabeth Taylor, Lily Pons and Terry Moore. They wear his gowns.

RUTH MILLETT

You are being disloyal to your husband when you...

Run down his boss, his business associates, or repeat office gossip to your women friends. If your husband tells you everything that goes on at the office it is because he trusts you.

Criticize his parents or any of his other relatives to outsiders. You really do "marry the family" so far as loyalty is concerned.

Deceive him in money matters. After all, you need to be able to trust each other in spending the family income. It isn't clever—it's dishonest—to tell him you've paid a certain amount for a dress if it actually cost more.

Make him look stupid just to get a laugh or to build yourself up as the level-headed member of the family.

Discuss all of his faults with "the girls." Just because they are running down their husbands doesn't mean that you have to join in. You'll forget what you said, but they won't; their opinion of your husband will be influenced by your gossip about his faults.

Give your children the idea that it is you and you alone who understand them, thus making them less close to their father than they could be.

Go around acting like a martyr, giving the impression that your husband is selfish and inconsiderate and that only an angel like you could get along with him.

Make your husband sound stingy when the truth is that he is simply trying to keep the family from going into debt.

Try to give the impression that your background was much better than his; in other words, that you "married beneath you."

This need to command the children's feelings is, I think you're a problem.

Nobody can feel trust of another person who tries to make them feel what they don't feel. This would be particularly true of children whose mother you are seeking to replace. They know that they'll have to live under your authority. Were I one of these youngsters, my attitude would be:

"If this strange woman can't stand my suspicious feelings to ward her now, what will life be like when she's got control of me."

"She won't be able to stand any other inconvenient feelings in me, my hurt, jealous or angry ones. If she thinks I should have different ones, she'll complain to father and get him to help her change them. How awful life with this stranger could be!"

I think that the children may not dislike you so much as they fear the prospect of serving under a military commander.

Perhaps they could be reassured. Perhaps, if you faced their fear of your domination instead of letting it fester between you, it might be reduced. Perhaps you might consider putting your position to them openly one day by saying:

"Look, I know you don't like me. I'm sorry about it—but I'm not going to do one thing to change it. I don't know you well enough to love you either, as yet."

"The person I love now is your father. Just as I'm not going to let you change my feelings about him, you can keep yours about me as long as you want to. If we get this clear, we won't be so scared of each other."

However, until you have developed better respect for feelings, you'd better not claim that you have. It would be foolish to lie to the children.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In Massachusetts ten kisses are equal to a proposal of marriage. If you think that's funny, did you know that it's against the law to blow your nose in public in Waterville, Maine? Check your facts.

LAW STUDENT: Check yours. Many years ago there was an ordinance in Waterville, Maine, which prohibited blowing one's nose in public. But no more! It has been removed from the books. If there is a law in Massachusetts stating that ten kisses are equal to a marriage proposal, I would take a Philadelphia lawyer to make it stick.

DEAR ABBY: Our 17-year-old daughter accepted an engagement ring at Christmas without our consent. She went steady with this boy for two years but we thought it was a puppy love affair.

Now that she has the ring she tells us she is sorry she has accepted it and wants to give it back. Every time she goes out with him she always comes home with the ring. She says when she tries to give it back he cries and sobs his heart out and talks her into keeping it. We don't like to interfere, but we know this child doesn't know her own mind.

Would it be wrong for her father to give the ring to the boy's father. They are nice people and the only thing wrong with the boy is that he's immature. Can you help us?

MRS. W.: A girl who is old enough to accept an engagement ring is old enough to return it. And the young man had better learn to face up to a few major disappointments in life without sobbing his heart out.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow. Quite attractive and self-supporting. I was introduced to a very fine gentleman who is married to a woman who has been ill for about ten years. He is very lonely and unhappy. Do you think there is anything wrong with my going out with him? It would make his life so much happier. His wife is in a sanitarium.

MAUREEN: Sorry, Dear, but he is still bound by a sacred promise to cherish his wife in sickness and in health. This is sickness. Don't tempt him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TAKING A BEATING": Some women are not convinced until they see it in black and blue. If you continue to live with the brute, you are asking for it.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants to Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

Skilled Artist Distresses Furniture For Desired Antiquated Appearance

ly rare because blight has killed off most American chestnut trees. The pseudo-signs of usage are added before the final hand-finishing. "Even there, we are adding to the aged look," said Mrs. Nathan, "because the old hand finishers were not even."

Mrs. Nathan an energetic gray-haired woman with two daughters and two grand-children, has been president of the firm, founded in 1865, since the death of her husband in 1938.

Now a fourth generation is on the staff — her daughter, Rita. A Nathan copy rarely is cheaper than its original, because she said today's labor costs and scarcity of skilled cabinet makers keep the prices high.

Then why such a healthy business in reproductions?

"Because," said Mrs. Nathan, "some people don't like antiques; only the looks of them and the elegance they lend to a room."

The size of the chain depends on the size of the dent the craftsman wants—but the ones I saw the day I toured this unusual factory in what once was a meat processing plant were series of loops about one inch in diameter.

"Distressing" is the furniture maker's term for giving a used, softened look to a new piece of wood.

"The distressing can't be uniform," said Mrs. Nathan. "Scars and dents must go where the normal wear is on furniture. We sometimes nick the edges a little for added realism."

The special wire brushes and nail produce the scratches, and Mrs. Nathan said some reproducers use red hot nails to burn a worm-eaten look into wood. Her firm prefers in this case to use the real thing—warm-oven chestnut, which she said is increasing-

Banking Fraternity To Discuss Inflation

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — In the year-to-year operation of banking, the banker acts as a custodian of dollars without being responsible for keeping them at a certain size in purchasing power.

He can operate with or without inflation. He pays out dollars, be they large or small, with equal celerity. He isn't responsible for the value of the money he handles.

But bankers are the ones who best understand money operations. They know the economic climate best suited to dollar stability.

Hence, the nation-wide interest in the decision of the 14,000-member American Bankers Association to move ahead on a broad front with its long-range anti-inflation program.

John W. Remington, president of ABA, told United Press International that his organization is convinced that "inflation still is our No. 1 domestic problem — one we are going to have to contend with for many years to come."

He found neither the recent leveling off in living costs nor the stock market decline that carried on most of this year as offering any grounds for the belief the inflation problem is about to vanish.

Educated for the law, Remington turned to banking as a trust officer for the Lincoln Alliance Bank & Trust Co. of Rochester, N.Y. 30 years ago. Today he is president of that bank, now known as the Lincoln Rochester

He has been traveling around the country, speaking against the evils of inflation and the responsibility of bankers in educating the people in its dangers.

"There are many people, some in influential positions," says Remington, "who are unwilling or unable to agree that we have had a serious inflation — or who say that if we have inflation, let's have more of it — or who would say that a little inflation is a good thing and that a rising price level is essential to economic growth. Still others say inflation is inevitable."

This situation, he says, "poses a challenge which the banking industry must meet through every resource at its command."

"As bankers, we play a unique role in the functioning of the nation's economy."

"Millions upon millions of people look upon us as guardians of their money — the tangible, bankable fruits of their labors, their savings."

"We represent to them responsible trustees in stewardship of their money — and responsible leaders in the world of finance who handle their money in such a way that it will retain its value for them in future years.

"Because of this trust, which so many people place in us, we must continually strive to earn and justify it."

Remington doesn't see danger of a runaway inflation in the foreseeable future. But, he holds, the continuing threat is "the virus of creeping inflation."

In fighting this threat, the ABA is aiming its informational activities at grass roots education, Remington says. The association plans to use all available methods in its program — nationwide distribution of specially prepared booklets and leaflets, speeches by bankers before local community organizations, special bank displays, advertising, and wide publicity.

"Using both the written and the spoken word," Remington says, "we will seek to explain the factors underlying economic growth, help combat the notion that inflation is inevitable, show why a shrinking dollar is always cause for concern, and advocate policies that are a must if we are to have orderly economic growth in our lifetime."

Robins As Harbingers Of Spring Not Very Reliable

The Lighter Side
By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Every year, newspapers get calls from people getting the arrival of the first robin. It is not surprising that the arrival of the first robin is a cause for celebration. But robins are not as reliable as we think they are. It is only in the last few years that robins have been doing some robin work. It depends on whether they happen to see the right robin. I put it to Deignan bluntly. Are our little red-breasted friends the feathered messengers of spring? Or aren't they?

Deignan, who is no man to equivocate where birds are concerned, gave it to me straight. "They are and they aren't," he said.

Sensing that I was on the trail of something that was bigger than both of us, I urged Deignan to elaborate. He did, to wit:

Robins do head South at the onset of winter but a lot of them stop off along the way. Thus they can be found on the Mason-Dixon line all winter.

At this time of year, there is no sure way of telling whether a particular robin just flew in from the South — a sign of spring on the wing — or whether he had been around since last autumn.

While Deignan was explaining all of this, I began thinking about that old poem; the one that goes: "The north wind doth blow and we shall have snow, and what will the robin do then, poor thing? He'll sit in the barn, and hide his head under his wing, poor thing."

I asked Deignan whether this didn't tend to confirm my boss' theory that robins actually stay put during the winter. Not at all, he replied. The poem, he said, was written about English robins, who are not as footloose as their American cousins.

Foreign News

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

A history of revolutions rampant, one-sided nationalisms, a new era is dawning in America.

Americans have their fixed on a United States of America. Instead of, as they have been called, the dis-United States of America.

The American businessman operating in South America is facing a fundamental change in the summer of which was last year's seven-nation agreement in evidence, Uruguay looking to formation of a common market in South America.

William L. F. Horsey, UPI correspondent in Buenos Aires, reports that the day is when any kind of manufactured product can be shipped to American countries and find immediate and ready market. Lines now are manufactured in the countries themselves.

An example is the current extension of a DuPont affiliate's production capacity for nylon and cellophane. The new factory was built entirely in Argentina and on a staff of 4,000 five are North Americans.

In 1937, there were 50 U.S. foreign and technicians and 400 U.S. engineers.

Van Rie testified he was busy with his radio chores when Miss Kauffman allegedly was slain. He said he gave an incriminating statement to police during a 17-hour ordeal of hunger and exhaustion in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Van Rie, a fluent witness speaking with only a slight Dutch accent, testified five hours in his own defense. The state charges he beat the fun-loving Chicago divorcee unconscious Sept. 18 and threw her overboard in Boston harbor.

He admitted intimacies with the petite brunette during a 44-day voyage from Singapore but denied quarreling or fighting.

He said he was "too friendly" with her.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pan American World Airways Wednesday announced it will start jet service to Alaska March 1 with four weekly non-stop flights between Seattle and Fairbanks.

SAYS COMMUNISM DECLINES
TEMPE, Ariz. (UPI) — Former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee Wednesday night had encouraging words about the success of the fight against communism.

Attlee told a gathering at Arizona State University that communism is growing weaker in Europe, suffering defeats in India

Barometer Of Inflation Steady

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government was expected to announce today that its barometer of inflation practically held steady in January.

Informed sources said there was little change last month in the Consumer's Price Index (CPI) compiled by the Labor Department.

Living costs moved within a narrow range in the closing months of 1959 and government economists expect this trend toward price stability to continue until spring.

The index fell slightly to 125.5 per cent of average 1947-49 prices in December. The all-time high of 125.8 was recorded last November.

Van Rie Under Hard Grilling

BOSTON (UPI) — Willem Van Rie faced rugged cross-examination today in his dramatic bid to clear himself of the murder of pretty Lynn Kaufman.

Assistant Dist. Atty. John F. McAuliffe, master of the sarcastic, boring-in technique, and his staff took copious notes during direct testimony Wednesday by the 31-year-old ship's radio operator.

Van Rie testified he was busy with his radio chores when Miss Kauffman allegedly was slain. He said he gave an incriminating statement to police during a 17-hour ordeal of hunger and exhaustion in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Van Rie, a fluent witness speaking with only a slight Dutch accent, testified five hours in his own defense. The state charges he beat the fun-loving Chicago divorcee unconscious Sept. 18 and threw her overboard in Boston harbor.

He admitted intimacies with the petite brunette during a 44-day voyage from Singapore but denied quarreling or fighting.

He said he was "too friendly" with her.

Crash Survivors Sought In Swamp

SANFORD, Fla. (UPI) — Military and civilian aircraft fanned out over a large section of north-central Florida today, seeking two of three crewmen aboard a twin-jet Navy attack plane which crashed late Wednesday.

Planes from at least seven Florida installations criss-crossed a swampy area some 20 miles north of Sanford Naval Air Station, home base of the missing AS2 attack bomber.

The Civil Air Patrol and sheriff's deputies from two counties were aiding in the search.

The missing men were Lt. G. E. Dotson, 34, Bonny Blue, Va., the pilot; and Lt. (j.g.) C. E. Faulkner, 31, Fort Worth, Tex., bombardier-navigator.

Photographer's Mate 2C R. L. Gaudreau was picked up Wednesday night about 12 miles north of the station. He was suffering from deep shock but otherwise unhurt.

AROUND THE WORLD

CHARGING—Ivan Kovac (33), of St. John's, plunged through West Virginia opposition in an unsuccessful attempt to score during their game in Madison Square Garden. Despite some tough opposition from the opposing team, St. John's won, 79 to 73.

TEACHER TAKES A LESSON—As a special treat for three lads from the Dunne Memorial Home in Dallas, Tex., Sister Thomas Aquinas took them bowling. It was her first attempt at the game, too, so she joined the boys in the bowling fun.

BIG WHEEL—Hoda Nasser, 14, and eldest daughter of United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser, pedaled with a girl cyclist group during Cairo's Third Festival of Youth and Future Organizations.

THIS IS THE LIFE!—Just north of Rochester, N. Y., the ice has formed on Irondequoit Bay, and some young skaters are taking advantage of it. The wintry sun is silhouetting the lads as they glide over the ice that affords them so much fun this time of year.

AROUND THE WORLD—Winter has spread a blanket of white over Budapest, Hungary, but the freezing temperatures are giving ice skaters a chance to enjoy themselves (top photo). Near Glas Maol, Scotland (below), skiing is booming as a sport and as a business. It's a fairly new sport in that country, and has gained swift popularity.

SPECIAL EQUIPMENT—Mrs. Jane Baldasare, 24, is the pretty mermaid from Astoria, N. Y., who recently broke the world's underwater endurance record at Pensacola, Fla. She's shown with some of the skin-diving equipment she used.

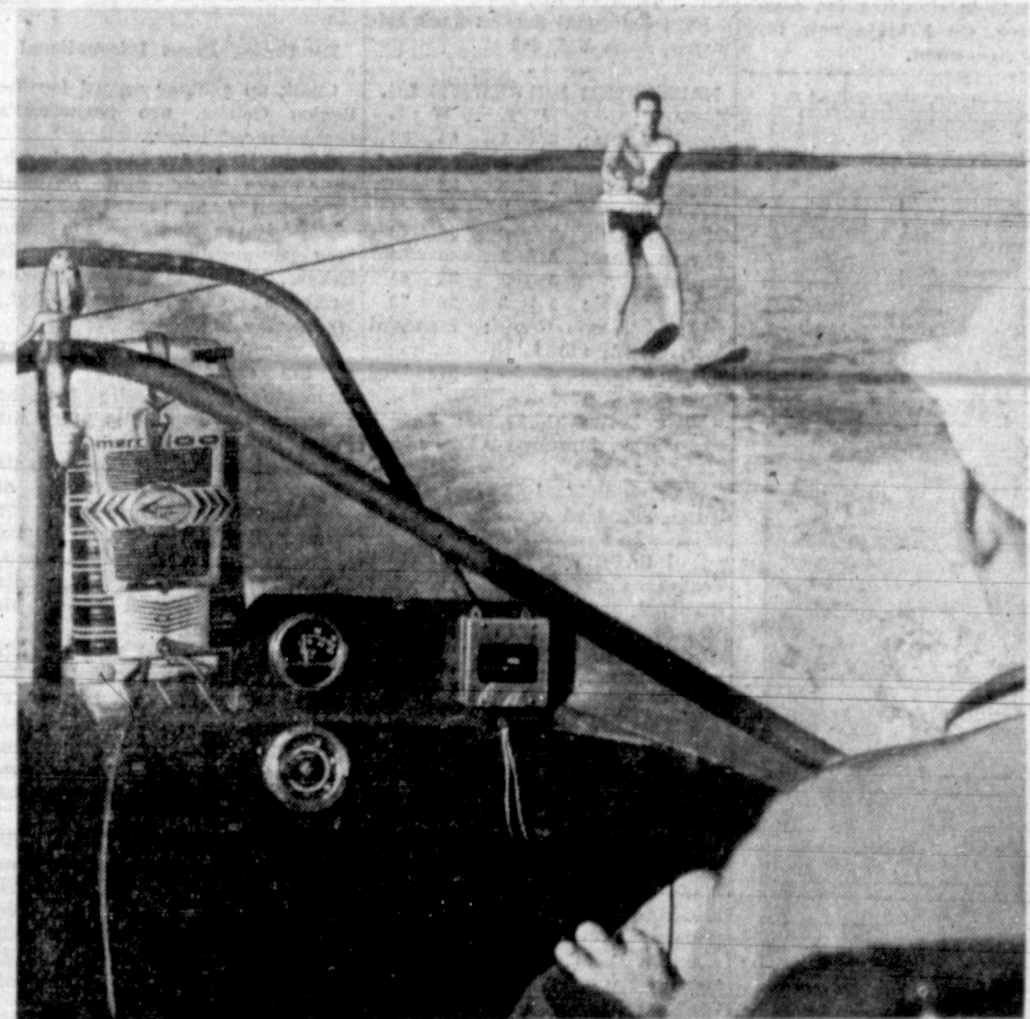

WITH GOOD REASON—Frank Clause, former Old Forge, Pa., teacher, and now a professional bowler, jumped for joy in Glendale, N. Y. He had just made his sixth consecutive strike in a televised "jackpot" bowling competition with a $25,000 jackpot. He also got a bonus of $1,000 for outscoring Jim Schroeder, of Detroit, six strikes to one.

HE HAS IT—The situation, of course, and acrobat Bruno Rede has it well in hand. When he arrived in New York from Germany, he extended a hand for his four-year-old son Frank, and the latter promptly used it to stand on his head. Pop's a member of a group of tumblers which is touring the U. S. Seems like son is already a member.

GOOD TRY—Pat Nelson, a dreamboat, is showing how easy it is to fall asleep by counting real sheep at the Deer Ranch at Florida's Silver Springs. It took a little urging from off-camera assistants to get that sheep over the fence, but the result was worth their efforts.

HANDY GADGET—It's the aqua-meter boat speed limiter, developed to insure uniform full-throttle boat speeds in water-ski competition. The speed governor, which operates by momentarily shorting out the outboard ignition until the calibrated speed is resumed, can be adjusted for any speed. It's shown operating near Hamilton, Bermuda.

THE STRONG ONE—A mighty mite in the citrus league, sawed-off strongman Jack Watkins is hoisting a grapefruit dumbbell with one hand at Cypress Gardens, Fla. The lad probably eats, as well as lifts, the fruit to build energy.

Cross-Fire And Backlashes

BY CHARLIE CROSS

Some of the boys in the back shop have asked me how to make water skis. Not being a skier, I couldn't answer their question, but found someone who can. (In fact, I think they suggested it.)

I talked to Jack Ironmonger, and this is the way he does it. Jack says take a six foot long piece of ash about five-eighths of an inch thick, and six and one-half to six and three-quarters of an inch wide. Build a jig, in the shape of a ladder to fit the ski boards, with one end turned up, and containing two braces over the end. Soak the ash boards in warm water up to about 18 to 20 inches. Jack says if you put in a little vinegar, that helps too. He says soak the boards for about one and one-half to two days, with "C" clamps holding the skis in the jig. After soaking, let the boards dry (in the sun) for two or three days and you've got it. He says you can buy good ash here in town.

O. K., now that you have your skis made, again a word of warning. Fellows, check on weather conditions before you go out in your boat. The life you save might be mine.

For some reason, I can't get you

Howell Quits As Coach Of Giant Squad

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim Lee Howell's successor as head coach of the New York Giants undoubtedly will be a member of his current staff.

The Eastern Division kingpins of the National Football League have always picked men from within the organization whenever a coaching vacancy occurred. That's how Howell got to be bossman of the Giants in 1954, moving up from end coach to succeed Steve Owen.

And now that the popular, ex-Marine from Arkansas is ready to move into the front at the end of the 1960 season, the Giants almost assuredly will follow their long time policy in picking his replacement.

Howell took newsmen by surprise Wednesday when he announced his decision to retire at the end of next season.

"I decided in my own mind it's better quit while I could," said the 45-year-old Howell, who will take over as director of player personnel for the Giants when his present three-year contract as head coach expires at the end of the 1960 season.

"I'm not sick and I'm not angry at anyone," Howell said. "But I now feel that coaching is something I want to get away from. My eyes are beginning to twinkle and I have to wear glasses. When I eat, my stomach burns; I feel butterflies in my stomach."

SIGN TERESHINSKI

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UPI) — The University of South Carolina has filled its coaching staff vacancy with the signing of Joe Tereshinski, who played eight years with the Washington Redskins will be an offensive coach, head coach Warren Giese said.

IN POP'S SHOES—Archie San Romani, Jr., runs the mile daily on the University of Wichita campus where he is a freshman. Archie, Sr. (inset) was one of the top milers of the Glen Cunningham era and just like pop. Junior is running against the best milers during the current indoor season.

guys to call in and give me any fishing news. I know a lot of you do winter fishing, but you don't call. Why not?

Bill Clayton, writing in United Press' Texas Outdoors, says wild house cats, out in the world to fend for themselves, can be a worse predatory problem to small fowl and game animals than mountain lions and bob cats.

Clayton, quoting Earl Sprott, of the game and fish commission, says wild house cats constitute perhaps the largest group of feline predators in Texas.

Professional state trappers have been employed to control the cats as well as other predators in Texas.

Sprott said the state enlisted trappers after it did away with an impractical general bounty system. Besides wild house cats, Sprott said the trappers are also catching bobcats, foxes, raccoons, ringtail cats and possums.

"House cats are one of the worst types of predators we find," Sprott said. "The house cat that runs wild is not afraid of human habitation. He said the cats eat numerous small game animals and fowl, cutting down in some areas on varieties available to hunters.

Speaking from my own experience, I remember when I lived on the ranch and we had cats around all the time. I had an uncle who also lived at the ranch who was very fond of "altering" the tom cats. We had a nice bunch of quail up the creek, and I had been watching them all fall, just waiting for the season to open.

Keep noticing the birds were getting fewer and fewer, but didn't think too much about it until the cooey, (originally about 30 birds) had dwindled to around 15. One afternoon, while riding the pasture, I happened to ride up to a shallow "hole" and in this depression was the biggest, blackest, sleekest, fattest old "steer" cat I ever saw. And, he was about 50 yards from my pet covey of quail. Needless to say, that cat has never eaten another quail since I contacted him.

Don't get me wrong, I'm not a hater of cats. At least not in the home where they belong. But please, keep them at home, and keep them from eating up our quail population.

One fisherman says, "you can catch white bass by just coating any old lure with red fingernail polish."

Many fishermen try jigging for their white bass. The jerky motion of the silver spoon off the bottom of the stream attracts the whites, which become either hungry or aggravated enough to strike at the silvery lure.

When he takes the hook, the white will put up a good struggle, but once it surfaces, it is about gone. A black bass, on the other hand, is a scrapper to do any fisherman's catch proud.

Maybe so, but as far as I'm concerned, whites are for eating, blacks for sport.

Speaking of fishing, City Commissioner Jim Crawford and I were going fishing last Sunday. But when he called, it seemed a little too cold, so we stayed home. I'm strictly a comfort fisherman, myself, so I'll wait until the weather warms up a little.

In case you're planning a trip to New Guinea, a missionary reports from there that real progress has been made in civilizing the cannibals there. On Fridays now they eat only fishermen.

BIG ASSIST—While the scorers of the National Basketball Association get the big play, they still need the men to set them up—like this trio of NBA playmakers. Bob Cousy of Boston, big figure, is the perennial pro leader in assists, followed by Guy Rodgers of Philadelphia, inset above, and Larry Costello of Syracuse, inset below.

East Texas Wins
SHERMAN, Tex. (UPI) — Noel Fainhi's 26-point performance Wednesday night led East Texas State to a 63-60 non-conference basketball victory over Austin College.

Austin held a 32-27 halftime lead, but East Texas roared from behind in the second half. Johnny Glover was Austin's top scorer with 24 points.

Basketball One Pro Sport With Talent To Expand

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — An owner in the proposed new professional football American League asked a veteran scout to compile a draft list of college players.

"To form an eight-club league with the caliber of play remotely approaching that of the National," reads the report, "everyone of these boys would have to be signed."

There will, of course, be robust competition from the 12 clubs in the established circuit.

Raymond J. Walsh, general manager of the New York Giants, tells you the average life of a National Football League player has increased — from four years to a little more than five.

Frank Slocum of Commissioner Ford Frick's office has figured out that the average life of a major league baseball player is six and a quarter years.

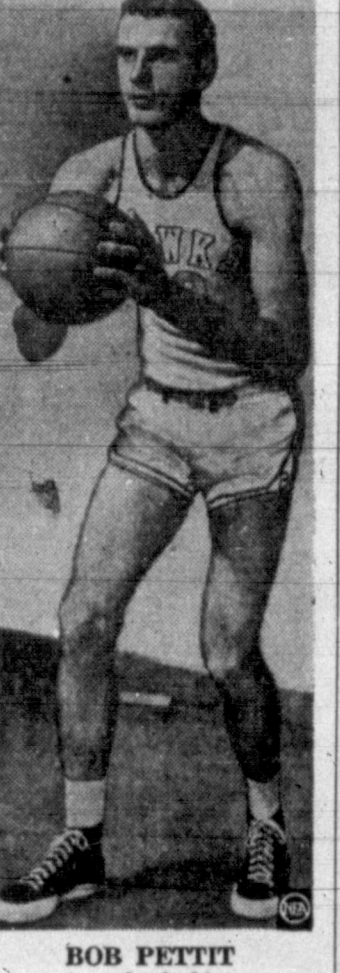

The biggest problem of the proposed new Continental League is where to get players. The affluent Milwaukee Braves winding up with Bobby Avila, waived out of the American League, at second base gives you a rough idea of the competent player shortage.

So, how about the National Basketball Association taking in Chicago next season and planning to expand from eight teams to three five club divisions?

"Basketball," said Maurice Podoloff of the NBA in his office high in the Empire State Building, "is the one professional sport with enough talent to expand."

What is the average life of a pro basketball player? "Less than that of the football and baseball player," replied President Podoloff, "three years average seven because the premium is still on getting the ball through the hoop, but over all the whirl is short and for a different reason than in football and baseball. The season for the brevity of a pro basketball player's span is severe competition."

"Regardless of how good they are, one of them is replaced every four years by a tall kid who stood out in college. Fourteen youngsters broke in with our eight clubs this season and

... only holdover

I need go no farther for an illustration than Wilt Chamberlain, who easily could be the greatest basketball player of all time.

Podoloff cited the St. Louis Hawks in stressing the rapid turn-over in personnel of the squad which was shifted from Milwaukee only five years ago, Bob Pettit, the remarkable shot-maker, is the only holdover.

A couple of older guys, Slater Martin and Clyde Lovellette, were obtained in trades, but like Hawks primarily are a young club.

"The Carl Braun, Paul Arizin, Slater Martin, Doph Schayes, Paul Seymour, Bob Cousy, Bill Sharman, Dick McGuire and Larry Fousta remain in the thick of things for the same reason that a big hitter like Ted Williams or a veteran infielder sticks over in baseball," explained Podoloff. "They score and know how to play the other fellows."

U.S., Canada Vie For Crack At Russia

By LEO H. PETERSEN

Medal Winners

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI) — The medal standings in the Winter Olympic Games (gold for first place, silver for second and bronze for third):

Country	Gold	Silver	Bronze
Russia	5	3	0
Germany	3	3	0
Sweden	2	2	0
United States	1	3	3
Austria	1	2	2
Norway	1	1	0

Italy	0	0	1

The championship round in ice hockey had settled down to a battle among the big three — Russia, Canada and the U.S. — with Russia, the defending Winter Olympic Games champion, now in an underdog role after being held to a 2-2 tie by Sweden Wednesday night.

So the clash between the boys from both sides of the friendly border featured a day in which Russia's puck chasers were favored to swamp Germany, a team battered Wednesday night by the Yanks, 9-1.

Gold medals will be awarded in the men's 5,000-meter speed skating and the 40-kilometer 4-man cross-country skiing relay. And another round of compulsory figures — the second — will be held in the men's figure skating.

Nobody was going to keep the Russians from making a complete runaway of the winter games, for as it picked up its fourth speed skating gold medal Wednesday, it ran up 15 points and boosted its total standing to a massive 120. Far back in second place, in these unofficial team standings, was Germany with 32½, while the U.S. trailed in third with 44.

But a group of valiant Swedes put a crimp in Russia's hope for another hockey gold medal.

Reacting to a partisan capacity crowd of 8,000, which kept yelling "go-go-Sweden," the yellow-shirted athletes from the frozen north battled the favored Soviet team to the deadlock.

With 17 of the 28 gold medals decided, it was virtually imposble to halt the Russian rout.

The developments Wednesday — including the daily rhubarb — were:

—The weatherman forecast occasional snow flurries for today after a week of perfect weather from a fliriting storm moving from Canada to Utah.

—A world record equalling victory for Soviet army Lt. Eugeni Griahin as he nosed out Bill Disney of Alhambra, Calif., in 40.2 seconds to win the 500-meter speed skating race.

—A comeback win for Ernst Hinterseer, an Austrian farmer who hopes to open a gasoline station — in the men's slalom.

—A shaky start for world champion Dave Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo., in men's figure skating, where he trailed two Europeans after the first three compulsory figures but was confident of bouncing to the top in the free skating sessions Friday.

—And a near fist-fight at the speed-skating rinkside as U.S. speed skating officials tried to bar-

Disneys Proud Of Second Place

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI) — The short, square-cut man with the calloused hands smiled proudly and the tiny white-haired woman with the pleasant face had happy tears in her eyes.

It was a proud moment for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Disney who came out of Topeka, Kans., in the long ago to raise their nine children in sunny California. It took a great deal of carpentry by the gray-haired little man and a lot of washing and ironing by the woman still at his side.

But now they stood there, looking in their city clothes a bit alien from the gaily dressed winter sports crowd churning about them, brim full of emotion as their boy Bill received an Olympic medal.

Bill, the "baby" of their brood didn't look quite so happy.

A few minutes earlier, the boy who started skating because he got a free pass to an ice arena thought he had won the first place gold medal in the 500-meter speed skating race. But then, as he stood helplessly by, a Russian beat his time by a shattering one-tenth of a second and Bill's medal had turned to silver.

Bill, 27, now and a rug cleaner in Alhambra, Calif., still showed his disappointment as he left the rostrum with the medal in his hand and worked his way through the crowd to where his parents stood.

"You did real well, son," said his 67-year-old father. "Real well."

His mother reached up, kissed him and patted him on the shoulder.

"I'm not going to cry over it," she whispered. "You were just wonderful, son."

It was the same tender way he had consoled him when he was seven and fell down and skinned his knee, or when he was 11 and had the measles. And it had the same results. Bill smiled again.

Later as the elder Disneys stood watching the unfamiliar bustle they talked proudly of their five daughters and four sons, two of whom made the Olympic ice squad.

Then he turned and, after one more long look around, said "Well, mother, I guess we'd better go." And they did.

But it proved that you don't have to win a gold medal to be a real champion.

Bill Disney's folks never did.

Even In Los Angeles, They're Still The Same Old Dodgers

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

They've taken the Dodgers out of Brooklyn but they can't take Brooklyn out of the Dodgers.

Here it is barely the opening of the spring training season — a real good fast ball has yet to be thrown — and the Dodgers are embroiled in a war of words.

Their antagonist is an old pal — Charley Dressen — who left them as a coach to manage the Milwaukee Braves.

And the "needle which got under the Dodgers' skin was a story in a national magazine in which Dressen stated, "the Dodgers can't repeat."

"What's blabber mouth got to say now?" asked outfielder Carl Furillo. "He's always popping off. That's typical of him. All I can say is that I'll keep us alive."

"You can't win by talking," quipped Manager Walt Alton, who then neatly sidestepped further debate with Charlie the talker.

Alton was more concerned with Wednesday's workout at Vero Beach, Fla., during which Furillo's ailing leg and pitcher Clem Labine's question-mark arm passed the test.

CAGE TOURNEY SET

KILGORE (UPI) — Maud and East Mountain are the co-favorites in a field of eight teams which will compete in the Class B basketball tournament for Region 4 high school teams Friday night. The championship finals will be played Saturday. Other entries are Laneville, Alba-Golden, Frankston, Mount Enterprise, Frost and Burkeville.

ed early tests. "They both looked very good," said Alton, and they'll help us a lot if they remain sound."

Roy Sievers surprised the Washington Senators by agreeing to a $3,000 cut to $33,000 Wednesday while relief pitcher Ryne Duran of the New York Yankees admitted he is a holdout. Duran conceded at San Antonio, Tex., that he's getting "anxious" about his status because of the prolonged negotiations.

Kansas State Makes Strong Bid For NCAA Tourney Spot

By United Press International

Kansas State is going all out to assure the hometown fans of a local entry for the NCAA's Midwest regional basketball tournament at Manhattan, Kan., March 11.

The Wildcats, bidding for their third straight Big Eight Conference crown, took over undisputed possession of "first" place in the league Wednesday night by whipping Kansas, 68-57.

Kansas State alone for a previous loss to the Jayhawks this season by grabbing an early advantage and staying ahead all the way.

Tournament tension continues to build tonight as West Virginia opens its bid for the Southern Conference berth in the NCAA and Utah and Utah State fight for the Skyline Conference crown.

Coach Fred Schaus has virtually written his sixth-ranked Mountaineers into the NCAA Eastern regional.

"It would take an awfully good club to keep us from the title," Schaus said as West Virginia met Virginia Military Institute in an opening round of the Southern Conference tourney.

Utah plays Brigham Young and Utah State plays Montana as they prep for their all-important meeting this Saturday.

St. Bonaventure and Villanova, having secured NIT bids, romped to victory in other big games Wednesday night. The Bonnies, paced by Tom Stith's 29 points, downed Duquesne, 76-70, while sophomore Hubie White canned 26 points in Villanova's 74-52 decision over Toledo.

In other games, South Carolina ripped Clemson, 66-65; Oklahoma beat Oklahoma State, 69-53; St. Joseph's (Pa.) routed Bucknell, 83-63; Dayton defeated Xavier (Ohio), 91-82; and Syracuse won over Colgate, 83-71.

COACHES TO LECTURE

LUBBOCK (UPI) — Tom Landry, coach of the Dallas Rangers pro football team, and Hank Stram of the Dallas Texans will be staff members at the Texas Tech coaching clinic here Friday and Saturday. Other lecturers will be Coaches Warren Woodson of New Mexico State and DeWitt Weaver of Texas Tech. The clinic is free to high school and junior college coaches.

The Short Line

By RED GRIGGS

Australia's Olympic Ice Hockey team will play the Amarillo Wranglers March 1 and 2 at the Ice Arena in Amarillo.

The Australia team is now competing in the Olympics, and will come to Amarillo immediately after the close of the games. Game time for both nights will be 8 p.m.

Tickets for the games are on sale at the Amarillo Jaycee office in the Amarillo building, and at the Herrington Hotel in Amarillo.

Earnie Reusch of White Deer recently set a rebounding record for the McMurry Indians, when he grabbed 21 off the boards against Midwestern, Reusch and teammate Charlie Baker held the old school record of 19 for one game. It was also set this year.

Reusch, a 6-6 player, leads the team in rebounds for the season, with 231. He is also the Indians' number three scorer, with an 11.3 per game average.

An independent basketball tournament will be held at Crawford, Okla., the week of March 14-19. The Miami independent team has already entered, as have Berlin and Reydon, Okla. About 30 invitations have been issued.

People connected with basketball in Crawford are going all-out to make it a first-class tournament.

Anyone wishing to enter a team should send a letter, with the name of the team and a $5 entry fee, to Supt. J. H. Smith at Crawford School.

Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati still holds a wide lead in the national scoring race, with an average of 36.6 points per game. Jim Mudd of North Texas is the only Texas college player in the top ten, with a 27.1 average, good for eighth place.

Brenton Hughes of Texas is the nation's number three percentage shooter, with a .585 mark from the floor. Jay Arnette of Texas is 13th with a .536 average.

'Holdout' Makes Duren Nervous

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Ryne Duran, the New York Yankee's standout relief pitcher, said Wednesday he is getting nervous about his status as a contract holdout.

Duran said he became a holdout after the Yankee front office cut his salary by 20 per cent in the 1960 contract it offered him.

"For the first time in my life I'm a holdout, I guess," he said. "I might be off to Florida in the next hour or I might still be here next September. But I would be kidding you if I said I wasn't anxious to get going."

Gary Bell of the Cleveland Indians, another holdout, said he would not answer his last letter from Indian general manager Frank Lane, but would go to the club's training camp at Tucson to deal personally with Lane.

AFL Meeting Set March 3-4

DALLAS (UPI) — Team owners in the new American Football League will meet March 3-4 at Oakland, Calif., to discuss television rights and plan their schedules.

League Commissioner Joe Foss said Wednesday that the owners probably would discuss both national and territorial radio-television rights and that exhibition games would be included in the schedule plans.

Other topics for the meeting will be post-season games, players, and a centralized scouting plan.

Foss said Oakland would be assigned players from other AFL teams, as well as from the roster of the Minneapolis-St. Paul team, which withdrew from the AFL to go over to the NFL.

He said Oakland had had less chance to sign players on its own, since it was the last club to gain entry in the AFL.

Quotes In The News

By United Press International

HOLLYWOOD — Actor-producer Dick Powell, criticizing the Screen Actors Guild for scheduling a strike against the motion picture industry March 7:

"It's a mistake. The industry will be hurt. The ones who voted for this are unemployed actors."

NEW YORK — Patrolman Thomas P. Bell Jr., who may have contracted meningitis when he gave mouth to mouth artificial respiration to a dying woman, discussing his idea of duty:

"I've given that kind of first aid before, and if necessary I'll give it again."

SAN FRANCISCO — Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, stating that he dreads an elaborately planned celebration of his 75th birthday today:

"I feel the same way about it as the man who bought himself a small boat. His two happiest days were when he bought it and when he sold it."

TORQUAY, England — Mrs. Brian Williams, 20, who wants to lend her 11-month-old son to someone for two years until she and her husband have more money, discussing qualifications for the loan:

"Not just anyone is good enough for Terry—my baby must go to people who have his interests at heart."

INVISIBLE MAN — EXETER, England (UPI)—Major John Sillm was reported missing and hunted for 36 hours after he took part in an army exercise in escape and evasion. Then he phoned headquarters to report he had "completed crossing undetected."

Connally Blasts Those Who Would Repeal Amendment

Hats Off To Senator "Tawn"

Former Senator Tom Connally gave certain proof the other day that he has lost none of his ability and wit in debate. He wrote a letter to Senator J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.), Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, advising the Committee that the proposed repeal of the "Connally Amendment" would be most unwise. He branded the move to support repeal of that Amendment as a propaganda device designed to "win an international popularity contest." Under the Connally Amendment, which gets its name from Senator Connally, the United States reserves the right to determine whether or not the International Court of Justice, referred to commonly as the "world court," has jurisdiction in any case which this country claims is a case of domestic jurisdiction. In other words the United States reserved the right to say to the world court this or that particular case is essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of the United States, therefore you do not have jurisdiction. Many writers call this a veto power over the jurisdiction of the Court of International Justice. I do not agree with that contention, but on the contrary, I feel this country is deeply indebted to Senator Tom Connally for the great vision and foresight which he exhibited in attaching his Amendment to the 1946 Senate Resolution subjecting this country to compulsory jurisdiction of the court in 4 classes of cases. History has again proven that Senator Tom Connally will be marked as one of the great patriots of our time—a man of ability, integrity and foresight.

The great debate as to whether or not this country should give up the right to determine whether the International Court has jurisdiction in any case which this country says is a matter of domestic jurisdiction, rose out of the proposal by Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.) to repeal the Connally Amendment. President Eisenhower has requested repeal of the Connally Amendment and is therefore, in support of Senator Humphrey's attempt to repeal this veto power. Vice President Nixon is also supporting the Humphrey resolution.

It would be most interesting to hear the debate in the Senate. If Tom Connally was still a Member of that Body, I feel that he had no peer as a master in debate. One of the best examples of his ability to cope with an adversary is the occasion when he told one of his colleagues who had been talking a long time without saying very much, the following: "If the gentleman would approach these problems with an open mind instead of an open mouth, he would be much more effective."

Another controversial matter in which the President will, undoubtedly, encounter much opposition is his recommendation in his Budget Message for repeal of the provision of the National Defense Education Act that prohibits payments or loans being made to any individual unless he executes an affidavit that he does not believe in or belong to any organization that teaches the illegal overthrow of the Government. The President said "This affidavit requirement is sent by a large part of our unwarranted and justifiably resented by a large part of our educational community—which feels that it is being singled out for this requirement." With this statement I disagree. Candidates for public office are required to sign a loyalty oath, and rightfully should be. A person going to school on borrowed taxpayers' money should not hesitate to declare his loyalty to the country which provides that money.

Undoubtedly True
In a recent Congressional hearing, a witness vigorously opposed a project involving some irrigation water for an area noted for its ability to grow fine hay. He was asked by one of the committee members why he opposed projects designed to provide food for this country. His answer, "Because the people in my state don't eat hay."

Another alert member of the committee observed to me that there were times in the lives of all of us when hay would be an appropriate diet.

Visitors

Those visiting in Washington from home last week included Sheriff Hugh Anderson from Berger, who was here attending a meeting of the Board of Directors of the National Sheriff's Association of which Hugh is President. We enjoyed seeing some of the Pampa School Administrators and their families who were in Washington en route home from the convention of American Association of School Administrators in Atlantic City. They included Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Mize and daughters Sara and Gil Mize from Perryton; Mr. Nathan Lee Welch of Booker; and Mr. H. A. Wallace, Potter County Superintendent from Amarillo.
