Sweeping Proposal To Halt Nuclear Test Firing Offered By President

Urges Acceptance By Britain, Russia

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower announced today a sweeping new U.S. proposal for a nuclear test ban.
The President told his news conference the plan was being presented to Britain and Russia at Geneva today. He appealed to the Soviet Union to accept it as a "constructive beginning."
The President spelled out the four major features of the new plan which he said would "prevent increases in the level of radioactivity in the atmosphere and so allay world wide concern."
The United States is proposing to end forthwith under assured controls:
All nuclear weapons tests, in the atmosphere;
All nuclear weapons tests in the oceans;
All nuclear weapons tests in those regions in space where effective controls can now be agreed to; and
All nuclear weapons tests beneath the surface of the earth which can be monitored.

Mystery Satellite Is Circling Earth

By DARELL GARWOOD
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A mysterious earth-circling object about the size of a large automobile was being studied today to determine whether the Russians have put up a secret satellite.
American tracking stations detected the object in a near-polar orbit. They are uncertain whether it is a voiceless satellite, or a section of a space rocket that got into orbit.
One theory is that the object might be the result of a Russian satellite or lunar probe firing that was unsuccessful and was never announced. In this case, the mystery probably would deepen because no cooperation could be expected from the Russians in identifying the object.
Another theory is that the mysterious object may be a section of Russia's Lunar III rocket that photographed the moon last October.
The Defense Department emphasized there was no suspicion that the object was a weapon or in any way connected with the "fantastic new weapon" that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev mentioned recently.
An announcement issued at the Pentagon Wednesday night said tracking stations are watching a dozen man-made objects in the sky, and these include "one in a near-polar orbit which we have been watching for some time and which may be of Soviet origin."
"This object is slightly smaller than the U.S. Discoverer carrier rockets of which six are now in orbit in a somewhat similar path," the announcement said.
The U.S. carrier rocket thrown into orbit is 19.2 feet long and five feet in diameter.
The developments came amid hints by House investigators that there was more than meets the eye in a fun-filled Miami Beach convention at which record companies coughed up at least $117,000 to make disc jockeys "richer and happier."

ADOLPH COORS III still missing

FBI Assumes Adolph Coors Kidnap Victim

GOLDEN, Colo. (UPI) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation and local authorities worked today on the theory that millionaire brewer Adolph Coors III, missing since Tuesday, was kidnapped.
The Coors family, one of the wealthiest in the west, was convinced "Ad" had been kidnapped or waylaid. Adolph Coors Jr., who flew home Wednesday night from a Hawaiian vacation, said "money is secondary. The main thing is to get my son back alive."
The FBI entered the case on the assumption that the missing millionaire had been kidnapped.
But if any ransom demand or other communication from kidnapers had been received by the family, neither they nor authorities gave any indication of it.
Adolph Coors III, 45, is board chairman of Adolph Coors Co., owned by Adolph Coors Jr. and his three sons. The brothers operate one of the nation's largest independent breweries and a porcelain plant at Golden.
Coors left home Tuesday at 8 a.m. for the brewery, driving a carry-all truck.
His brothers, William and Joseph, expected him at 9 a.m. conference, but were not immediately concerned when he did not appear.
A few minutes after 8 o'clock, a passing veterinarian noticed Coors' truck parked at the approach to a bridge over Turkey Creek, not far from his ranch and a mile and a half south of the town of Morrison. The veterinarian said he saw no one around the truck.
Three hours later a milkman reported to Sheriff Art Wermuth's (See COORS, Page 4)

FCC Offers Payola Curb

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission today proposed new legislation which would make "payola" and deceptive broadcasting practices, such as rigged quiz shows, criminal offenses.
The FCC proposal was announced shortly after President Eisenhower, at his news conference, condemned "payola" as an abuse of public morality.
"Payola" currently the topic of a congressional investigation, is a term for side payments to broadcasters for plugging phonograph records or other un-sponsored products.
The FCC proposals would amend laws to provide fines up to $5,000 or one year in prison or both for persons engaging in "payola" and deceptive broadcasting practices.
The recommendations were a follow-up of Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers' report to the President on recently disclosed evils in the broadcast industry.
The commission said the abuses had led to "widespread disillusionment on the part of the viewing public." It said that at present "the commission has no jurisdiction over the employees of a broadcast station with respect to this type of activity, nor does it appear that such jurisdiction is warranted."
Existing law makes it a crime for a radio or TV station to plug records or other products without identifying the sponsor.
The FCC's proposed legislation would extend the law to cover disc jockeys and advertisers or record distributors making undercover payments.
The developments came amid hints by House investigators that there was more than meets the eye in a fun-filled Miami Beach convention at which record companies coughed up at least $117,000 to make disc jockeys "richer and happier."

TV Needed For Victory, Says Politico

AUSTIN (UPI) — A grassroots tour of Texas has convinced House Speaker Waggoner Carr that a candidate will have to use television to win a 1960 election.
Carr, who opposes Atty. Gen. Will Wilson's bid for re-election, predicted the outcome of the current campaigns will be determined in the state's living rooms.
"I expect to use television extensively in my campaign," he said.
Carr, in a statement to newsmen, made a handful of observations based on his first extended campaign tour for attorney general.
He said the voters feel the No. 1 issue is the state's money problem, and predicted they would correct the "inertia and apathy" of "longtime officeholders" responsible for the problem.
Carr said Texans are far more interested in politics this year than the experts assume, and said a shortage of contested races for high state offices will cause "an unusual amount of public attention and deliberation over offices such as attorney general — and how such offices are being used or not used."

Youth Struck By Hit-Run Driver Today

Highway patrolmen are searching for a hit-and-run driver who knocked down a Pampa school student with his car at 8:10 a.m. today.
Patrolman Vernon Cawthon said Pete Coombes, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Coombes, 1250 E. Frederic, was crossing U.S. Highway 80 to board a school bus when struck by the car, which sped away. He was taken to Overton Clinic, where he was treated for a skinned knee and released.
Cawthon cautioned drivers to control their speed when school students are crossing streets and highways. He also reminded it is a state law to stop cars when a school bus is loading or unloading passengers.

Stanley, burglary; James Wilson, robbery by assault; Fred P. Coper, theft by false pretext; George L. Brown, sodomy; Kenneth Ray Beesley, robbery; William Frank Smith, forgery and passing; H. F. Third Atom Sub Reaches North Pole

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A third U.S. atomic-powered submarine has reached the North Pole. This one, the Sargo, planted the Hawaiian flag at the top of the world.
The Sargo reached the North Pole at 2:34 p.m. Tuesday after cruising 2,744 miles under the Arctic ice pack in 14 days and 21 hours, the Navy announced.
The two other nuclear-powered submarines that reached the top of the world were the Nautilus and the Skate. The Skate made the trip twice.
The Sargo was able to push only its conning tower through the three feet of ice at the pole. This was enough to enable crew members to scramble onto the ice to take observations and plant the flag of the 50th state.
There is a two-fold purpose behind the voyages of this country's nuclear subs into the Arctic. One is to chart a new "northwest passage" between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The other is to map the area for possible military campaigns.

Rain Prospects In Texas On Heels Of Hard Freeze

United Press International
A hard freeze gripped North Texas today and rain pushed into the state from the West as Texans tried to count the total damage caused by Tuesday's raging dust storm.
There were indications it might run into millions.
The Weather Bureau at Fort Worth said rain would spread slowly into Southwest Texas and South Central Texas today, but it backed down on an earlier prediction of isolated snow flurries in the Panhandle.
Winds over most of the state had died down to normal or slightly above-normal velocities and the last of the dust had settled—some of it as far away as Chicago, Michigan and Indiana.
At daybreak, light rain was falling at El Paso and over the Davis Mountains and freezing temperatures extended well into the state.
Dalhart, usually the coldest spot, was not reported, but Amarillo recorded a low of 23 degrees, Lubbock recorded a low of 25, Wichita Falls 28, Fort Worth 29, Alpine 30, Dallas 32, Abilene 34, Midland 35, Brownwood 37, Waco 38, and El Paso 39. The readings ranged upward to Corpus Christi's 56 degrees.
At last report, the only official estimate of damages from Tuesday's storm was from El Paso Mayor Raymond Telles, who said homes, automobiles and other property there had been damaged to the extent of nearly $500,000.
Winds were officially clocked at 75 miles per hour there Tuesday. Midland and Lubbock also were hit hard by the unseasonable dust, but sources there said it would be difficult to make a dollars and cents estimate because of intangible damage such as soil erosion and damage to future crops.
The cold front that slipped through the state Wednesday caused significant temperature drops throughout Texas.
Readings were mostly in the 30s in North Central Texas, in the 40s in South Central Texas and in the 50s along the coast and in the Rio Grande Valley.

Subdued Greeting For Niki In India

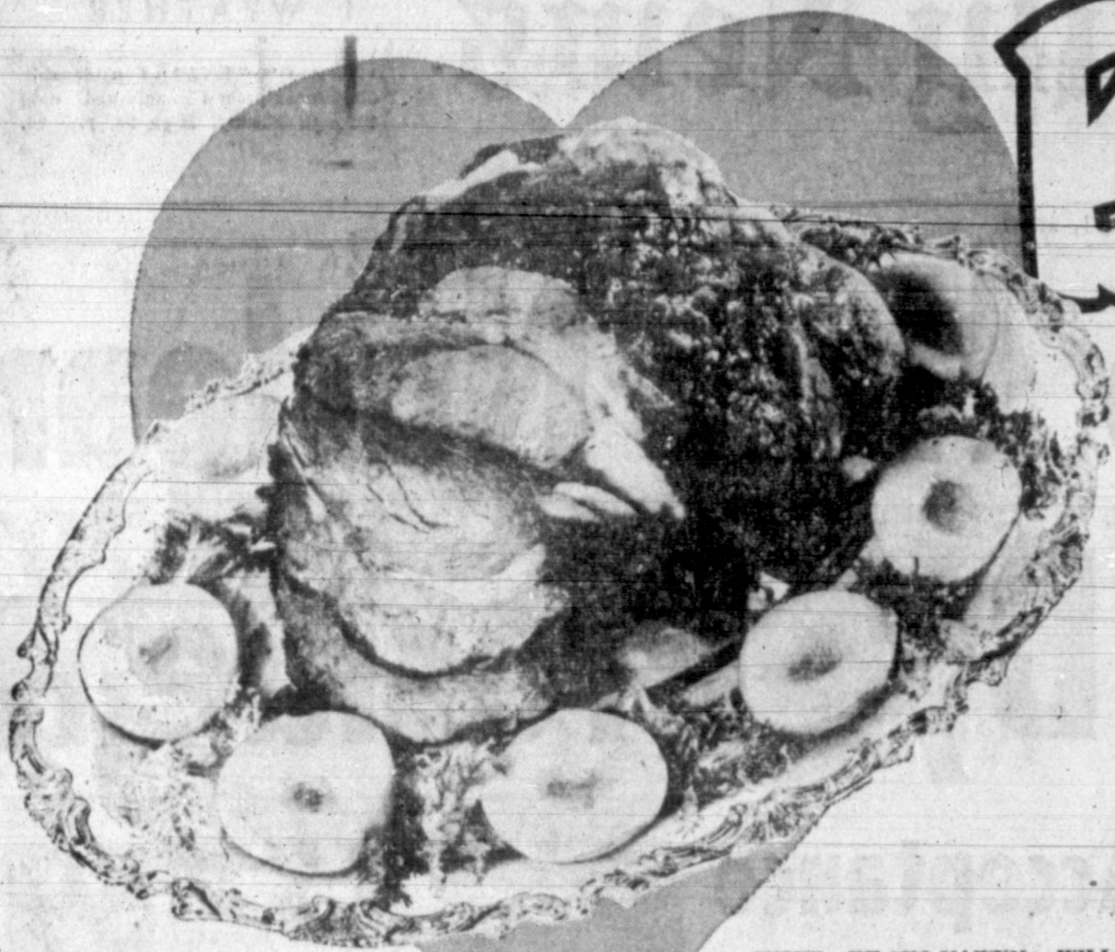

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — The curbs applauded politely as a beaming Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev arrived in New Delhi today for the first stop of his three-week goodwill mission through Southeast Asia.
Police estimated that about 300,000 persons turned out at the airport, and along the 11-mile route into New Delhi to welcome Khrushchev.
The greeting for the Soviet Premier was a subdued one compared with the unrestrained welcome given President Eisenhower on his visit last December.
Eisenhower drew an estimated one million wildly cheering Indians on his arrival here Dec. 9. Millions also turned out for his public appearances.
The crowds were orderly when Khrushchev arrived at the red-stone Rashtrapati Bhavan, the presidential palace more than 30 minutes ahead of schedule.

Scout Executive Brant Hudson said Pampa Scouts who will make the trip include John Neelage, Norman C. Henry, Bryan Lee Martin, Jim Sheehamer, Keith Griffith and Frank Osborne.
The boys will be accompanied by District Executive Jay Leath of Pampa, Roy Hart of Borger, Hobart McMorde of Canadian and Mrs. Fred Tarbox of Perryton.
Activities for the weekend include a check-in at Bergstrom Air Force Base, where the group will stay, a special barbecue, a parade through downtown Austin and an Explorers ball.
Highlight of the trip will be the report to the governor Saturday afternoon. Each Scout will report on scouting activities in the past year in his particular council.
The group will return home Sunday with a stopover in Brownwood to attend church services.
Hudson pointed out the Pampa office serves approximately 4,000 Scouts from 225 units in the 15-county area comprising the council. Scouts from those communities still also make the trip to Austin.

Glossary Of Missilanguage

By WARD CANNEL, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — It is 700 years at least since rocket missiles were first used. The earliest mention is a 13th Century Chinese chronicle called T'ung-t'ien-neng-mu which reports the battle of Kaitung-fu.

We've all come a long way since then. So have missiles. But the language is still Chinese. And according to worried tacticians in our national defense program, our vocabulary of space is the telltale of our diffuse efforts in the missile race.

Take a quick look at some of the missilanguage, picked at random from the latest edition of the Space Age Dictionary:

ABMA: Army Ballistic Missile Agency.

AFBMD: Air Force Ballistic Missile Division — a division of Headquarters Air Research and Development Command.

A-4: V-2.

V-2: Most successful German missile of World War II.

AFMTC: Air Force Missile Test Center. Responsible under the AFBMD for missile launching site at Cape Canaveral.

ARDC: Air Research and Development Command. Responsible for research and development of basic and applied science in human engineering.

ARPA: Advance Research Projects Agency.

ARS: American Rocket Society.

ARS: Advance Reconnaissance Satellite.

HAMC: Headquarters Air Material Command.

NACA: National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

NASA: National Aeronautics and Space Administration, replacing the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

OpDevFor: Operational Development Forces. A Naval force responsible for tactical evaluation of missiles, weapon systems, etc., under fleet operating conditions.

Project Vanguard: Operation Vanguard.

Operation Vanguard: Official U.S. artificial satellite development program, assigned to the Navy Department.

SAC-Mike: Strategic Air Command ballistic missile staff.

BMO: Ballistic Missile Office.

Project Perside: Air Force Program to send a rocket to the moon.

Project Mercury: National Aeronautics and Space Administration project to place a manned space capsule in orbit around the earth and recover him.

Project Muskrat: U.S. Naval Research Laboratory cosmic-ray research program.

NORAD: North American Air Defense.

SAGE: Semi-automatic ground environment. Designation for a control center for continental defense of U.S.

Microlock Network: A network of tracking and monitoring stations used to track missiles and satellites.

Minitrack Network: A network of U.S. stations placed at different points around the world to track the flight of artificial satellites.

MOPTAR: Multi-object phase tracking and ranging system.

To sum it up, listen to Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, the Army's top missile man as he retired from active duty recently:

"The missile job cannot be done with full efficiency unless we all get together someplace."

Finch Has Ready Answer For Prosecutor's Questions

By JACK V. FOX
United Press International
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Prosecutor Fred N. Whitchello put the key question to Dr. R. Bernard Finch. When the doctor finally wrested the revolver from Barbara Jean Finch that night, the district attorney asked, why didn't he either throw it away or take it and run? As he has on every occasion, the doctor had the answers. If he threw it away, his wife might go after it and shoot either him or his mistress, Carole Tregoff, 25. He heard the footsteps of maid Marie Anne Lidholm approaching and he thought she had a rifle. She might shoot him down if she saw him fleeing. Instead, he fractured his wife's skull with the revolver and tackled Miss Lidholm as she came into the garage. That's where the cross examination of the 42-year-old surgeon ended Wednesday. Today Whitchello takes Finch once more over the actual "accidental" shooting of his wife July 18 outside their West Covina home and their last, death-defying conversation. The trial has to be seen to be believed. There is the spectacle of the mild, fatherly prosecutor getting down on his seat pads on the courtroom floor and inviting Dr. Finch to show him with a revolver — but tenderly — how he hit his wife on the head. Finch obliges with cooperative enthusiasm. He calls the man who wants to send him to the gas chamber "Mr. Whitchello." There is respect in his tone of a younger man for an older and wiser one. He tells Whitchello he can't demonstrate how he seized his wife's hair because the prosecutor is almost bald. Finch said the other day: "I don't gamble." That may be true so far as money goes. But Finch is gambling everything that the jury will believe his story of complete innocence with its host of inconsistencies and coincidences. Whitchello pointed at some of those points Wednesday. Finch said he feared Marie Anne was coming with a rifle he had showed her how to use. The doctor said if the maid saw him standing over his wife with a gun, she would almost certainly shoot him. "I didn't want any gunplay," he explained.

Club Members Volunteer As LL Managers

Dick Crews, pastor of the First Christian Church, entertained Breakfast Optimist Club members this morning with a humorous recitation of the poem "Casey At The Bat." During his recitation, Crews mimicked the actions of Casey, the umpire, the fans and other characters in the famous baseball poem. The business half of this morning's meeting, at Johnson's Cafe, also concerned baseball. The club's baseball commissioner, Ben Hamilton, asked for and received a number of volunteers to manage Little League teams this summer. Hamilton also announced that several baseball matters will be discussed at Monday's Evening Optimist Club meeting at 8:30 p.m. at Poole's Steak House. He called for a large attendance of morning club members at the Monday meeting. The membership application of Gene Tollison was approved by the board of directors immediately after the meeting. Bill Hayes was a guest.

Stepinac Dies; Yugoslavs Go Into Mourning

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — Yugoslavia's seven million Roman Catholics swarmed to their churches today to mourn for Aloysius Cardinal Stepinac, who died Wednesday of pneumonia. Thousands of candles twinkled a last farewell to the Yugoslav cardinal, whose followers continued to hold him in reverence through 14 years of political disgrace. Afternoon newspapers had already gone to press when it was learned the 61-year-old primate had died in Krasic, the tiny village near Zagreb where he was born. The Communist state radio for hours made no mention of the death of the man who lived and died an unflinching enemy of the regime of Marshal Tito and of Communism. But somehow the news spread over the nation like shock waves, and little knots of people gathered in the streets to discuss the sad tidings. Priests hurriedly arranged requiem masses and everywhere, the churches filled to overflowing. Hours after his death, the official news agency Tanjug broadcast a sparse, factual announcement, but it refrained from identifying Stepinac as a cardinal of the church and did not mention his 1946 trial on "treason" charges. "Dr. Aloysius Stepinac died today in Krasic village, not far from Zagreb," the announcement said. "He was suffering from pneumonia and had been ailing for some time." Informed sources in Belgrade said the cardinal would be buried Friday or Saturday in Krasic Cemetery after a simple ceremony attended only by representatives of the church and state.

Ex-Sen. Arturo Hernandez Telihache and cattlemen's leader Arturo Caines, alleged "president" and "vice president" of a proposed counter-revolutionary regime drew nine years each. Among those sentenced to serve 20 years were a number of persons said to have been chosen for cabinet posts in the anti-Castro regime. It was not clear why they drew stiffer sentences than Hernandez and Caines.

Fire On Lease

Pampa firemen answered one call yesterday to an oil well fire on a Pan American lease, five miles north of Pampa. Light damage was caused to a cleaning rig at the well. The blaze broke out when a fire workmen had started got out of control.

104 Cubans Sentenced To Prison

HAVANA (UPI) — A five-man revolutionary tribunal has sentenced 104 "counter-revolutionary plotters" to prison for terms ranging from three to 30 years in the biggest conspiracy trial held so far in Premier Fidel Castro's Cuba. The tribunal ordered confiscation of the property of all those convicted — notably the sizeable cattle ranches owned by several defendants. Thirty-six of the 140 persons on trial were acquitted on grounds that they were merely innocent bystanders on the scene of various clashes between secret police and foes of the Castro regime. Defendants at the month-long trial included survivors of the action in August at Trinidad, Cuba, and persons arrested on a variety of charges by raiders in at least three of Cuba's six provinces. Thirty-year sentences were imposed on the nine survivors of the "invasion." Two other invaders and two soldiers were killed in a clash at the scene of the invasion attempt. Nineteen persons were sentenced to serve 20-year terms, 37 to 9 years, 21 to 6 years, and 18 to 3 years. Ex-Sen. Arturo Hernandez Telihache and cattlemen's leader Arturo Caines, alleged "president" and "vice president" of a proposed counter-revolutionary regime drew nine years each. Among those sentenced to serve 20 years were a number of persons said to have been chosen for cabinet posts in the anti-Castro regime. It was not clear why they drew stiffer sentences than Hernandez and Caines.

Bomb Probe Continues In Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Little Rock detectives and FBI agents continued their investigation today into the bombing of the home of a Negro student attending Central High School. The student, Carlotta Walls, 16, is one of five Negroes admitted to the school under token integration last fall. Police had questioned six persons, but Detective Capt. A. M. Haynie refused to disclose any details of the investigation. R. J. Poppleton, an FBI bomb expert flown in from Washington, searched the scene of the blast for four hours, working in the glow of headlights on two unmarked police cars. He and other FBI agents were trying to determine the kind and amount of explosive used in the bomb, which blew a three-foot hole in the brick home of the girl's parents. Little Rock Chamber of Commerce President W. F. Rector announced the chamber will meet Friday to decide whether to offer a $25,000 reward for information leading to the bombers' conviction. The chamber offered the reward originally for information on the identity of the persons responsible for a series of three Labor Day dynamitings. Five men were later captured, but the reward never was claimed.

There were traces of blood on the front seat of the truck, and bloodstains on the ground nearby. A section of bridge railing was bloodstained. Coors' baseball cap and spectacles were found at the water's edge below the bridge. The cap appeared to be bloodstained. Wernuth said laboratory tests showed the stains were human blood — "but I don't know whose."

Embezzlement Trial Begins

DALLAS (UPI) — The first of five men accused of aiding and abetting James Cook Evans, 82, in embezzling nearly a quarter of a million dollars from the Dallas First National Bank was scheduled to go on trial today. Evans, a former vice president of the bank, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of misappropriating part of the $243,949.78 reportedly missing from the bank's accounts. His guilty plea cleared the way for Evans to testify for the prosecution in the trials of the other five men. They are James P. Edwards Jr., scheduled for trial today, and Grady J. Parkerson, Shell E. Sudderth Jr., Mac T. Hall and Fred A. Davis. Edwards is accused of helping Evans embezzle more than $45,000 of the total. According to the FBI, Evans honored worthless checks written by the five men and covered up the shortages by making false entries.

Paar Edited For Good Taste

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Broadcasting Co. censored about five minutes of Jack Paar's "Tonight" TV show just before midnight e.s.t. Wednesday night because of a story that was "not in good taste." Paar's program, taped earlier in the evening, was interrupted at 11:51 p.m. and the network presented a news summary. Paar returned to the TV screen at about 11:56. "Jack Paar told a story that the (network) department of standards and practices felt was not in good taste," the network said in a brief statement. "The deleted portion was filled with a news summary."

Trapped Killer shoots Self

MARSHALL, Tex. (UPI) — Marvin E. Kendrick, a murder suspect who was the object of an East Texas manhunt for nearly a week, shot himself to death Wednesday night as Sheriff Earl Franklin and his deputies closed in on him. He fired a shotgun blast at Franklin "through two doors and a wall," Franklin said, then shot himself with a .38-caliber revolver as Franklin ordered his men to fire tear gas into the house where he was hiding. The gun he turned on himself was the same one with which he killed his father-in-law, Alonso Tew, 55, last Friday. It was Tew's house where the deputies trapped him. Franklin said he and a deputy, N. F. Shivers, talked to Kendrick for "at least 45 minutes" urging him to surrender. "I tried to get him to unlock the door and come out with his hands up," Franklin said, "but he told me 'Let me think about it.' " "Finally I said 'Marvin, are you coming out?' and he said 'yeah, I'm coming out.' " "It was then he fired the shotgun at us," the sheriff said. "I told the boys outside to fire the tear gas inside and Kendrick took the pistol and shot himself through the heart." The manhunt began last Friday when Kendrick was released from jail, stole a jailer's gun and a taxicab, and went to Tew's home looking for his wife. When Tew drove up, an argument resulted and Kendrick killed him. Franklin said he was marking the case closed.

Breakfast Bonanzas Offer Daily Reward

The rewards we have learned to expect as a result of eating a good breakfast daily — increased work output during the late morning, quicker reactions, less inclination to tire easily — are well known. Most of us also know that a good breakfast includes fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter.

Any long-time good breakfast will also wax enthusiastic about the less tangible rewards that only breakfast brings: the wake-up fragrance of percolating coffee, the cheerful rattle of crisp ready-to-eat cereal pouring into a bowl, the flavorome satisfaction of hot buttered toast to accompany cereal, milk and sugar.

Another pleasure afforded by the breakfast table is that of surprise when special hot breads are presented. Those containing ready-to-eat cereal either as a topping or in the batter seem particularly appropriate for breakfast.

with a crisp mixture of butter, brown sugar, bran flakes and cinnamon. Using a biscuit mix for the cake shortens preparation time, but the topping may be used on any favorite quick coffee cake of this size. Waffles, ever a breakfast treat, have new interest when corn flake crumbs are contained in the batter.

CRUNCHY COFFEE CAKE
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 1/2 cups bran flakes
1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 cups packaged biscuit mix
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 cup milk

Mix together butter, brown sugar, bran flakes and 1 teaspoon of the cinnamon. Combine biscuit mix, sugar and remaining cinnamon. Add egg and milk; mix well. Spread half of the batter in great 8 x 8-inch baking pan. Sprinkle half of the bran flakes mixture over top. Cover with remaining batter and top with remaining bran flakes mixture. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 20 minutes, or until browned. Cut into squares and serve warm.

GOLDEN CRUMB WAFFLES
Yield: 9 2 1/2-inch squares.
3 cups corn flakes or 3/4 cup packaged corn flake crumbs
1 1/2 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon sugar
3 eggs, well beaten
2 1/4 cups milk
1/2 cup butter or margarine
Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Mix with corn flake crumbs. Combine eggs, milk and butter. Just before baking, add egg mixture to dry ingredients, beating until smooth. Bake in preheated waffle iron about 8 minutes or until no steam is visible. Serve with syrup, honey or jelly.

LEMON-FILLED HOT CROSS BUNS — Dotted through with currants and chopped citron and filled with a tangy lemon filling, these hot cross buns are a wonderful treat. Cool them just slightly before frosting, then serve them warm and delicious with plenty of butter.

Plan Hot Cross Buns For Pre-Easter Menu

Hot cross buns used to be reserved for Good Friday, but happily their season now seems to have extended into a greater part of the pre-Easter season. The buns made from the recipe below are exceptionally good; besides having the cross of white frosting on top they also have a tangy lemon filling that adds much to their appeal.

The yeast dough for the buns is made with evaporated milk which helps produce a tender, evenly brown crust as well as fine texture. Either raisins or currants can be stirred into the dough and will poke-dot the outside of the buns after they are baked.

LEMON FILLED HOT CROSS BUNS
2 pkg. dry granular yeast
1/2 cup warm water
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup butter, softened
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 cup evaporated milk
2 eggs, beaten
5 cups sifted flour, about
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1 cup currants or raisins
1/2 cup finely chopped citron
2 tablespoons evaporated milk
Lemon Filling
Confectioners Sugar Frosting

Sprinkle yeast on the 1/2 cup warm water. Let stand about 3 to 4 minutes to soften, then sit to blend well. Meanwhile mix sugar, salt and butter in a large mixing bowl. Add boiling water and stir until butter is melted. Stir in the 1/2 cup evaporated milk, then the softened yeast and eggs. Stir in 3 cups of the flour, one at a time, beating until almost smooth each time. Add spices, currant and citron and beat well. Stir in remaining flour. Turn out onto a lightly floured cloth of board and knead until elastic. Place in a large greased bowl, turning once. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 hours. While dough is rising, prepare Lemon Filling according to recipe below. Punch down, then pinch off dough, dividing into 24 balls. Place on aluminum foil covered baking sheets. Make a cross in top of each bun by cutting two slits about 1/2 inch deep. Cover and let rise until doubled, about 45 minutes. Use the 2 tablespoons evaporated milk to brush the buns well. With two spoons, fill slits with the Lemon Filling. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 to 25 minutes. Cool slightly and frost with Confectioners Sugar Frosting. Makes 24 buns.

LEMON FILLING
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
1-3 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon butter
Mix the sugar, cornstarch and salt very thoroughly in a medium size saucepan. Stir in egg and blend well. Add lemon rind. Slowly blend in lemon juice and then water. Add butter. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 10 minutes. Set aside to cool, then chill.

Tired Taste Buds Revived With Dish

The food limitations imposed by the Lenten season can easily tax a homemaker's ingenuity. Here is a dish, featuring prepared herb-seasoned stuffing, that we guarantee will revive those tired taste buds and send plates back for second helpings.

LENTEN SPECIAL

2 cups prepared herb-seasoned stuffing
1/2 cup water
3 tablespoons butter
4 eggs, poached
Hollandaise or Cheese Sauce
In saucepan, heat 1/2 cup water and melt 3 tablespoons in it. Combine with 2 cups prepared herb-seasoned stuffing. Press this mixture firmly against bottom and sides of an 8" pie plate. Bake stuffing shell in 375 degree F. oven for 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from oven; top stuffing shell with 4 poached eggs. Pour Cheese Sauce or Hollandaise over all. Makes 4 servings.

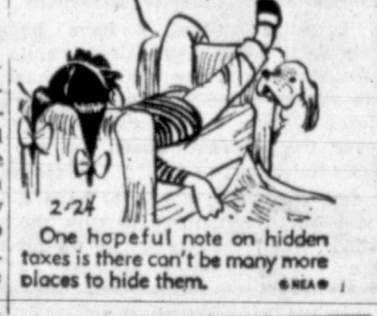

Another pleasure afforded by the breakfast table is that of surprise when special hot breads are presented. Those containing ready-to-eat cereal either as a topping or in the batter seem particularly appropriate for breakfast.

Crunchy Coffee Cake is topped

CONFECTIONERS SUGAR FROSTING
1 1/2 cups unsifted confectioners sugar
Evaporated milk
Blend evaporated milk, about a tablespoon at a time, with the confectioners sugar until frosting is the right consistency to spread. Frost buns forming a cross over the lemon filling.

Using one tablespoon of honey for each egg white makes delicious meringue for lemon pie.

AS MILLIONS CHEERED—These are the Thunderbirds, the official precision flying team of the United States Air Force. More than 20 million persons have seen the team perform its close-knit diamond maneuvers including spectators in a recent tour of Japan, Formosa, Okinawa and the Philippines. The planes are F-100 Super Sabres.

Study Promised On Ways To Halt Bombings On Airliners

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The recent wave of airline disasters has brought a flood of public suggestions to Congress for making air travel safer and thwarting would-be bomb-planters on planes.

The office of Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla.), chairman of the Senate Aviation Subcommittee which investigated air safety, said it received about 1,000 letters from all parts of the nation.

Writers included businessmen, housewives, pilots, physicians, engineers—and many everyday air travelers disturbed by the rising airline accident rate.

A brief survey of the congressional mail showed a broad variety of suggestions, some intelligent and thoughtful, some impractical, but all sincere.

The best ideas have been culled and relayed to the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) for possible study. All will get a response.

Other congressional news: Missiles: President Eisenhower was described on good authority as angry over what he considers congressional "leaks" of secret testimony on comparative U.S. Russian missile strength. The President was reported to have voiced his anger and concern about missile "leaks" at a meeting with Republican congressional leaders Tuesday.

Eisenhower's main target was said to be a columnist's publication of secret testimony to the Senate space-wardness investigation.

Foreign aid: The President's formal request for $4,175,000,000 in foreign aid during the next fiscal year is ready to go to Congress sometime this week.

Administration officials reported the message urges appropriation of the full amount to continue military and economic support of non-Communist nations around the world.

The request for the fiscal year starting July 1 will be for about $2,175,000,000 in economic aid and the rest in military assistance.

Postal: A House Appropriations subcommittee reported that the Post Office Department planned to have the first fully automatic post office in this country in operation early this fall at Providence, R.I.

R.I. Testimony of post office officials made public today also disclosed the department-planned 20 "major priority" modernization projects across the nation at a cost of $40,177,000.

New Cancer Drug Works A 'Miracle'

By KYLE THOMPSON United Press International

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—A few weeks before Christmas, little Cheryl Ann Cain was so near death from cancer that doctors advised her mother to give her an early Christmas party.

The little 2-year-old was afflicted with a malignant tumor known as neuroblastoma, a kind of cancer which has been almost 100 per cent fatal to new-born babies and small children.

Today—more than six weeks later—Cheryl Ann is gaining strength daily and her once greatly enlarged abdomen is shrinking back toward normal.

The reason: A new miracle drug developed in Germany that is so new that doctors still don't know much about it. It has been used with undetermined results in the North, but doctors say it is entirely new in the South.

A doctor at Jefferson Davis Hospital who has been treating Cheryl Ann said some researchers still were skeptical of the new drug for fear it may injure internal organs while fighting the neuroblastoma.

But it appears to have worked wonders for Cheryl Ann, and now the drug is being tried on another little girl in Houston who has the same kind of cancer. And, her doctor reported, she also is improving.

The malignant tumor, which affects the liver and adrenal glands, causes a child's liver to enlarge to enormous size. Doctors say only about one out of 1,000 who contract the disease recovers fully.

Cheryl Ann's doctor said she would have died in days if she had not begun using the new drug on her a few weeks ago.

Today, she has recovered sufficiently so that she has been able to return home with her mother, Mrs. Jerry Sharon, at the San Felipe Courts, and only has to return to the hospital for periodic treatments.

Doctors so far are not sure which is shrinking—her liver or the tumor that was pressing into it. But they hope it is both.

They know the growth of the tumor definitely was arrested, and hope that the new drug will shrink it completely away. But this will not be known for several more months.

If the drug accomplishes what it appears to be doing, Cheryl Ann can return to the life of a healthy, normal little girl—something that seemed almost impossible for her a few weeks ago.

Invention A Foil To Thievery

DALLAS (UPI)—Dan Goodwin, an amateur electrician and spare-time inventor, thinks he has found a way to end thefts of speakers from the nation's drive-in theaters.

Goodwin has perfected a speaker that will work at the theaters, but won't work anywhere else. If it is adopted by the industry, he said, it will save theater owners thousands of dollars a year.

He explained the details of his invention Wednesday at a secret session on equipment at the eighth annual convention of the Texas Drive-In Theatre Owners Assn., which is meeting in Dallas.

Claude Ezell, president of Bordertown Theatres of Dallas, the world's largest drive-in circuit, said Goodwin began working on the new speaker design more than a year ago.

Ezell said Goodwin's idea was to alter the ohm output of the present drive-in speakers and transformers so they would be useless for other purposes.

Ezell and other industry leaders hope the invention will cut off the source of supply for thieves who have been stealing the speakers for use in car radios and home intercom systems.

FRIENDLINESS REWARDED—There was no thought of reward in the neighborhood of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Broge, above, Lewis William Armstrong lived next door to them in Detroit, Mich. He was 71 and the Broges cared for him, cleaned his house and brought him meals. They didn't know he had money. But when Armstrong died he left them $100,000. An equal amount went to University of Michigan and $1,000 to his church from funds amassed in real estate investments.

Adenoid Exercisers Can't Hold An Adult Audience

By DICK WEST United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Show me one of those tone-deaf teenagers exercising his adenoids over the airwaves and I will show you a groaning grown-up turning off his radio.

In the time it takes my hand to reach the dial, I can hear enough smirking, oscillating, side-burned music manglers to last me a lifetime.

I mean I think there ought to be a law against anyone under 21 carrying a guitar without a license.

This is why I find it a little difficult to work up much sympathy for the disc jockeys who were hauled on the carpet this week in the House payola investigation.

From my view, the inquiry could be subtitled "The Listener's Revenge."

Although I never heard any of these particular record spinners, I blame dee-jays as a breed for the recent epidemic of musical miscarriages.

Let me hasten to explain that my acquaintance with the latest form of tonsil torture came about through accident rather than design. I was introduced through a peculiarity of my car radio.

While driving to and from work, I travel one stretch of road where the radio will only bring in one station. This makes me a captive audience of what I judge is one of the nation's principal outlets for unrequited puppy love. It also makes driving unduly hazardous.

I estimate that I have had about a dozen near-misses while leaning across the steering wheel to silence some pimply-faced adolescent who is mooning off-key over the current queen of the pony-tails.

One day I am bound to have a collision in my hurry to turn the knob. When they pick me up off the blood-spattered highway, I shall list myself as "deceased."

Reynolds & Co. notes Pittsburgh Plate Glass is reasonably priced for a growth company. Pittsburgh Plate is a quality company with strong positions in the plate and window glass, paint, chemical and cement fields, the firm adds.

AUTOMATION TAKES OVER

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)—Automation replaced a thousand potato pickers in New Jersey last year, the state Agriculture Department has reported.

The department said 27 per cent of the state's potato crop was harvested by machine in 1959. Most of the displaced workers, the agency said, were farm laborers from the southern states.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Yields on most common stocks have risen substantially since New Year's Day, notes Eldon A. Grimm of Walston & Co.

"Happily," he adds, "there are a lot of pretty good yields around now which should help common stocks to better compete with high-yielding bonds."

He says that perhaps we are pretty close to a level which should bring in some fairly concentrated buying based on "yields" and "values" rather than on exaggerated hopes as to what might happen by 1962 or 1963.

Although not usually thought of as a trading vehicle, American Telephone has put on an exceptionally strong performance in the face of a weak market, according to Bache & Co. "Action of this sort usually presages a more dynamic move once the gen-

$10 Million Offered For Allegheny Corp.

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UPI)—An attorney said Wednesday that Dallas oilman Clint W. Murchison has offered $10,229,933 for Allegheny Corp. stock held by the widow and the estate of Robert R. Young.

Cornelius C. Moore, attorney for Mrs. Young, told of Murchison's offer at a Rhode Island Supreme Court hearing on a petition filed by relatives of Young seeking to prevent the proposed sale.

Moore said Murchison offered to make the initial payment by March 1, and the balance within the following 30 months.

Tuesday Mrs. Young won court approval to borrow $900,000 using the estate's Allegheny stock as collateral.

It will be used, she said, to settle a minority stockholder suit brought against Young in connection with his taking control of the New York Central Railroad.

HALLECK EYES POST

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—House Minority Leader Charles Halleck said Wednesday he thinks he has a good chance of being the next House speaker.

Halleck said that if the GOP doesn't capture the House in the November election "we'll be real close. We have a fighting chance to win." If the Republicans do win, he said, he expects to be speaker.

 Today is Thursday, Feb. 11, the 42nd day of the year, with 324 more days to follow in 1960. The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter, Saturn and Venus. On this day in history: In 1847, Thomas Edison was born. In 1861, President-elect Abraham Lincoln and his wife left Springfield, Ill., for Washington. In 1861, the House of Representatives elected Thomas Jefferson as president for the first time. In 1868, anthracite coal was burned as fuel for the first time in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. In 1945, President Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Churchill and Soviet Premier Stalin signed the Yalta Agreement in the Crimea. In 1943, Dwight Eisenhower was made a full general in the U.S. Army. Key Valentine Party To Leap Year Plans

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

What more logical time to encourage the budding charmer of the family to have a party than Valentine's Day in Leap Year?

If there isn't a special occasion to honor, such as her birthday, you might suggest she invite one or two of her friends to share the hostess duties. It may or may not make preparation for the party easier, but sharing social responsibility will likely make the party more fun for a shy youngster.

The decorative theme is a natural. Protests from the young crowd that valentine decorations are corny and old-fashioned are usually not very strenuous. Decorations do help set the party mood and can often be ice-breakers to get tongues untied.

So sell the young folks on the cheerful red hearts we associate with Valentine's Day as a basic decoration, and have some specific suggestions for their use.

Cupid and his darts inspired a friend of mine to whip up a homemade dart game decoration for a party. The target is a dainty, scrollwork "clock" with a heart-shaped face, easily assembled from a rectangular cardboard box, red construction paper and face paper dolly.

Her instructions are to close the box in normal fashion to use as a backing. Cut the front of the clock from a piece of red construction paper at least one or two inches larger on all sides than the box itself.

Decorate the edges of the paper with strips of lace cut from lace paper place mats or square dollyes. (Use double-faced tape or a spot of paste to attach lace to paper.)

Cut a heart a little smaller than the box and secure to the center of the clock. Number the face in white paint or ink and rule off sections. Cut hands from red plastic for clock face.

Cover exposed sides of the box

Cupid's darts are a "natural" to feature the traditional St. Valentine's party, especially in this, a Leap Year.

with red construction paper, attach clock to box top with double-faced tape or paste. Red ribbon streamers with hearts taped to them are the "pendulums."

The clock can be attached to the wall with masking tape without damaging paint or wallpaper.

In the ice-breaking opener, the dart game, the numbered sections determine how many points the thrower gets. You can set the rules as you prefer, but each thrower might get three darts and the two high scorers be named captains of charade teams.

The young hostesses may have some ideas for games in favor at the moment. Square dancing is a popular pastime with the youngsters in our town, from primary grades up. By the seventh and eighth grades, some are adding ballroom dancing to their pleasures. If you can clear a floor space and stack up suitable records, let them dance.

Refreshments can be on the Valentine beam, too: Heart-shaped cookies, heart-shaped coasters under punch cups. A punch bowl, offset with a pink sherbet in a tempting pink punch and circle with red hearts taped to the edge of the bowl, will draw guests like a magnet.

A punch recipe we tried recently is the right color and tastes good, too: Combine the juice of 12 oranges with one cup of water and one quart of raspberry soda poured over a chunk of ice. Add blobs of raspberry sherbet before serving.

Miss Grace Barber, Bride-Elect Honored At Pre-Nuptial Shower

LEFORS (Sp1) — Miss Grace Barber, bride-elect of Jim Adcock was honored with a pre-nuptial shower in the civic center on Thursday night.

Hostesses were Meses. Tom Florante, H. B. Neill, W. E. Wall, Boyd Beck, J. N. Smith, W. F. Hines, W. C. Breining, Claude Stanton, O. O. Bishop, M. L. Rippey, L. D. Rider, Joe Miller, R. C. McPherson, Gladys Pafford, G. E. Smith, Bernard Johnson, Bill Watson, Joe Watson, and Jess Graves.

The valentine theme was carried out in red and white. The center-piece was covered in white, and striped with red streamers. White streamers dangled from the ceiling with red cupid on the end.

The gift table was covered in white, and adorned with a red cupid shooting an arrow into a red heart.

The honoree was presented a corsage of red and white spilt carnations. A corsage was also presented to her mother, Mrs. Carl Barber.

A white lace cloth over red covered the serving table which was centered with floral arrangement of white spilt carnations, white stock and red hearts intermingled with tiny white flower stems.

The cake was served by Mrs. R. C. McPherson as Mrs. W. C. Breining presided at the silver coffee

Investiture Rites Held By Troop

SKELLYTOWN (Sp1) — Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 51 met recently in IOOF Hall for an investiture ceremony directed by the troop's leader, Mrs. A. W. Shubring.

Presenting the flag for honor were color guards Sharon Ogle, Kathy Allen, Linda Johnson, Sandra Biggers and Nan Harmon. Myrna Shubring played the piano during the flag ceremony.

Miss Linda Crawford, after complying with Girl Scout requirement of attending four consecutive meetings, was invested into Girl Scouts. Miss Sharon Ogle was awarded the rank of first class scout. During the ceremony, red, white and blue candles of Friendship were lighted as each of the Girl Scout laws and the Scout promise were given.

Refreshments were served during the social hour by Lana Brown, Sheila Ernest and Sandra Biggers.

Other scouts in the troop are Wanda Moore, Linda Pitman, Karen Slavens, Judy McKernan, Janice Greenway, Paulette Hinton, Janice St. Clair, and Linda Brown.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about the terribly unsanitary practice of letting children blow out the candles on a birthday cake? One can plainly see the child blows and spits all over the cake. Then it is out up and served to all the other children. No wonder our young people are sick in bed half the time.

MRS. L. If the entire human population hasn't already committed suicide with the mass exchange of germs that must take place while kissing — let's not worry about the few stray ones on a birthday cake.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DOLORES: We both know that he is OLD enough to KNOW better. But the question is: Is he STRONG enough to DO better?

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: I recently got very mad at my girlfriend and I called her up and yelled at her. I used a bit of language I should not have used only to learn that it was her mother I was yelling at. The next day I was told by this girl that her mother never wanted to see my face at her house again. Abby I know I was wrong. But I would like to know if I should call her mother and try to explain. I like this girl very much and I know she likes me.

DEAR FOUL-MOUTH: You've already done enough talking. Forget the ugly incident and maybe the girl's mother will, too. In the meantime, stay away from her house and pray for an "all clear" signal. But don't be surprised if it never comes. Most mothers are allergic to foul-mouthed boys.

DEAR ABBY: I hope this helps "MA AND PA" who wanted to know how much a young working man who lives at home should give his parents.

I am 21. I work in a bank and clear $228 every month. I give my parents $40, which leaves me $188. I do not own a car. I drive my father's. But for the privilege of driving it, I pay for all the gas, oil, insurance and license. I buy all my own clothes and pay my dry cleaning bill. I buy lunch every day and date on week-ends. And I still have a little to put in the bank. What does a son owe his parents? That's simple. All he can give.

The Outboard Boating Club of America says check the OBC recommendation plate which the manufacturer has fixed to your boat and follow its recommendations. It shows the maximum number of pounds the boat is built to accommodate under normal operating conditions.

The way in which you load your boat and mount your motor has a lot to do with its performance. For balance, speed and safety distribute the load evenly from bow to stern and side to side. Don't forget the weight of your motor is at the stern, and that the weight of extra equipment you carry must be considered.

The number of seats in a boat do not necessarily indicate the capacity. They're there to permit a variety of seating arrangements—not to be all-occupied at the same time. Follow the weight capacity recommendations on your boat's OBC plate . . . and don't overload.

Officials of the fifth annual State Bass Tournament announced today that the site of this year's fishing marathon will be Lake Whitney. Dates of the tournament are May 28 through 29. The program will be governed by the same rules used the past four years. Fishermen will compete as teams of two men to a boat. The first three days of the event will be set aside for qualifying rounds, with each team fishing only one day of the three.

Speaking of bass, Jack Childers, over at the Hughes building brought in six of the finny fighters on Feb. 2, that weighed in at "just under 14 pounds." The largest weighed three and one-half pounds. Jack says he will try the secret spot "another time or two" and then let the secret out. "By the way, they were caught on minnows."

Last Sunday, I decided to go coyote calling, so got my rifle, crawled in the car, drove 50 miles away from nowhere, reached into the car pocket to get my call and suddenly remembered I'd loaned it to a couple of friends in Miami. Jackie and Wilford Jackson. However, the guy I was hunting with had his, and besides it didn't make any difference because we couldn't call one-up anyway.

Just noticed that Coke County paid $3,921 in bounty to rattlesnake hunters last year. Some 5,842 snakes were captured. Each hunter had to prove that the snakes were captured in Coke County. Warden Raymond Taylor reports that one hunter collected some $736.50 in snake bounties from October through December. He says this same hunter found and killed 62 rattlers under one rock. He took 253 sets of rattles one day, and 251 sets on another occasion. And anyway you figure it, that's a lotta snakes.

In case you've wondered, bats are not "blind as bats." As far as naturalists can tell, they have fair daytime vision.

Moyer TKO's Tony DeMarco In 'Comeback'

BOSTON (UPI)—Tony DeMarco's third, and probably last comeback try, ended so quickly he may have to ask young Denny Moyer exactly what happened.

Though Moyer, sixth ranked welterweight, absorbed half the force of the head-knocking in the opening round, he could at least explain the wide cut at the hairline above the left eye of the ex-champ.

The severe gash brought the fight to an end at 1:10 of the second round, a TKO for Moyer, his 24th win in 25 fights.

An almost gentle left hand thrown by the Portland, Ore., fighter in the opening seconds of the fight was at first believed to have caused the cut. It was Moyer who set the record straight later. "Just after I tossed the left," he said, "he swung a wide left and missed. We banded heads. I was aware of it, but it didn't hurt any."

The 28-year-old DeMarco, who held the welterweight title for a scant 70 days in 1955, began to bleed profusely. The gore covered his face and the bout was stopped.

Sports Center In Houston Will Cost 20 Million

HOUSTON (UPI)—Houston's 20 million dollar sports center will be located on a 250-acre plot just off South Main St., County Judge Bill Elliott announced Wednesday.

The site is about two miles southwest of the Shamrock Hilton Hotel, on the southwest edge of the city.

A coliseum with seating facilities for about 20,000, designed to house the Fat Stock Show and other attractions, probably will be the first project undertaken.

A stadium for major league baseball and pro football may depend on the outcome of negotiations between the Houston Sports Assn. and the owners of the Houston Buff franchise.

Owners of the Buffs have offered to sell the American Association club for $202,000, but so far the HSA has balked at the price.

Elliott announced selection of the sports center's site following a conference between commissioners, chair and William A. Kirkland, chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners.

The property is being bought from the Hermann estate, oilman R. E. (Bob) Smith, and hotelman Conrad Hilton.

Chamberlain Injured In NBA Contest

By United Press International

An injury to scoring ace Wilt Chamberlain has the Philadelphia Warriors hurting all over today.

"We're just going to have to wait on the doctors' report before we know when or how much he can play," said General Manager Eddie Gottlieb after Chamberlain was knocked out of Wednesday night's 125-117 loss to the New York Knickerbockers at Madison Square Garden. "All we know now is that he was pretty well shaken up."

Chamberlain, the 7-foot, 3-inch whiz who snapped the National Basketball Association's single-season scoring record Tuesday night, was injured when accidentally struck in the mouth by New York forward Willie Naulls' elbow. Wilt tumbled to the floor and threw himself to the ground before the end of the first period after scoring five points.

Also in the NBA, a last-second field goal by Larry Costello climaxed a drive in which the Syracuse Nationals overcame a 16-point deficit in 8 1/2 minutes to beat the Minneapolis Lakers, 116-109, in the first game of the Garden doubleheader.

Tom Heinsohn and Bill Sharman scored 28 points each as the Boston Celtics whipped the Detroit Pistons, 153-121, and Cliff Hagan tallied 32 points and Clyde Lovellette had 31 to lead the Hawks to a 120-110 win over the Cincinnati Royals in other games. It was Cincinnati's 14th straight loss.

Baseball Players' Golf Meet Starts

MIAMI (UPI)—The price of some of the world's highest paid athletes was likely to be hit harder than the ball today as the National Baseball Players' Championship golf tournament opened.

With a few notable exceptions, the players were likely to find more trouble hitting the small stationary ball than the moving one they bat for a living.

Two of the exceptions were Alvin Dark, Philadelphia, and Albie Pearson, Baltimore, both of who play near-par golf. Dark, a three-time winner of this tournament, and Pearson, who won in 1958 and lost in a playoff last year, were favored.

Cincinnati's Eddie Kasko, who won in 1959, was not entered.

Other players entered in the 40-man major league division included Mickey Mantle, Early Wynn, Whitey Ford, Billy Martin, Don Newcombe and Larry Doby.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Henry Kramer has been named to succeed John Plombo a president of the Gator Bowl Assn. Vice presidents elected included J. J. Daniel, Charles Campbell, Joe Sykora, C. Lamar Dean and Conrad Guntli.

Winning Hand For Fighting McAuliffes Is Four Jacks

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International
DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—It's a long way from the Old Sod to Custer's Last Stand on the banks of the Little Big Horn, the prize rings of the Gay 90's and a golf course in Florida, but such is the odyssey of four generations of fighting McAuliffes.

Four Jacks in a row — grandfather, uncle, father and son. All of which was saved, or perpetuated, by the pugnacity of the original Jack McAuliffe.

He, it was, who migrated from Ireland and wound up in Custer's Seventh Cavalry. But just before the last stand at the Little Big Horn, Jack took a swing at an officer and ended in the guardhouse. Only thus, as fate would have it, did he miss the massacre.

Putting the Army behind him, McAuliffe moved back to Brooklyn and there started a coo-perage. In the course of time he had several sons, and one of his workmen in the coo-perage was a man who turned to the ring. This was the original Jack Dempsey, the nonpareil.

The elder Jack's son and namesake idolized Dempsey and the fighter influenced him to take a try at the ring. It was a fortuitous choice. Because even today the memory of Jack McAuliffe is bright. He became lightweight champion of the world and subsequently retired without ever tasting defeat.

"He was really something," says his nephew, the third Jack McAuliffe. "Eventually, after his fighting career was over, he went into vaudeville and in 1929 married Lady Hope, who owned the Hope Diamond."

The retired lightweight champion hit it big for a while. He was earning as much as $2,500 a week on the boards. But as time eroded his drawing ability, he finally faded to the point where one booking agent offered him a mere $75 a week. Jack sacked him, and left the theatre behind. By this time, his nephew had prospered in the business world and he kept the old champion in action until McAuliffe died in 1937 at the age of 72.

But the family still is well represented in the sports world. Jack, the nephew who is president of the Triangle Conduit and Cable Company, long was one of the nation's top amateur golfers.

Advancing years have driven him from the fairways but he still sponsors such events as the current National Mixed Foursome for amateurs and the Triangle Round Robin for women pros — and enjoys the golfing success of his son, the fourth Jack.

Doke Honored By Banquet

WICHITA FALLS (UPI)—Home-town fans of Maurice Duke, University of Texas football player and Rhodes scholarship nominee, planned to honor him today at a "Maurice Duke Day" banquet.

Joe Foss, commissioner of the American Professional Football League, was to be the banquet speaker.

Duke, a senior, was named to Look Magazine's All-America team and was honored in Austin as the Steers' outstanding player last season.

He was nominated for the Rhodes scholarship after being named the senior Longhorn football player with the best grade average.

Urban To Direct SLI Athletics

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI)—A. G. (Whitey) Urban, an assistant coach at Georgia Tech for nine years, has been named athletic director at Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

School officials here said Urban's appointment was "a step toward improving the athletics program to the same high standards the academic program is recognized for."

Urban, 48, has served as offensive line coach at Georgia Tech since 1950. He is expected to take over his duties here in early March.

He will replace Beryl Shipley, who asked to be relieved so he could devote full time as basketball coach. Shipley is the Gulf States Conference "coach of the year" for basketball.

Phoenix Open Begins

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—A field of 150 of golf's sharpshooters tee off today in the four-day, $27,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament.

WORTH MORE BECAUSE THEY WORK MORE!

Compare this list of Chevy advances with the features ordinary trucks are still talking about. You'll see why Chevy trucks get more work done in a day... why they go extra thousands of miles before trade-in time. These Sturdi-Bilt Sixties aren't just new, they're a full scale revolution!

6'S SWORN TO SAVE
Chevy's 6-cylinder engines are set to squeeze extra miles out of every drop of fuel. They're long famous for low fuel consumption, high performance.

SHORT STROKE V8'S
Power-packed for peak performance, Chevy's husky V8's make child's play out of the toughest hauls. They have a mind tuned to economy, too, that keeps costs down, profits up.

SLICK NEW SUBURBAN CARRYALLS
These handsome new haulers "double in brass"—can transport eight passengers or up to 950 lbs. of payload. Rear and center seats are easy to remove and replace when necessary. For work or for pleasure, these double-duty beauties are best for both!

SEE YOUR DEALER
It could be the most important visit you make in '60. When you've seen these new Chevies, you'll agree they're the world's most advanced trucks. Then drive one and find out why.

CABS FOR BIG GUYS
Big guys get a bigger break in a Chevy cab. There's plenty of space inside to stretch out and relax; more room for hats and hips, more room for wide shoulders and long legs. There's horizon-wide visibility through a windshield with 26% more glass area; a new see-at-a-glance instrument panel. Cabs are safer, too, up to 67% more rigid.

TORSION-SPRING RIDE
Each front wheel, suspended independently of the other, is free to ride individually over bumps. And shockproof torsion springs up front soak up the jars and jolts before they reach the body. With three rugged new tailored-to-the-truck rear suspensions to further reduce road shocks, Chevy gives you the smoothest truck ride you've ever felt.

NO SHIMMY, NO WHEEL FIGHT
Drive a '60 Chevy. Just once. Right away you'll notice the absence of I-beam shimmy and wheel fight common on ordinary trucks.

With independent front suspension there's a brand-new, smoother, easier handling feel behind the wheel.

650 Athletes Practice For Olympic Tests

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI)—The 650 Olympic athletes at Squaw Valley turned out early and eagerly today, determined to get in as much practice as possible before another snowstorm reaches the area.

The Weather Bureau reported formation of a new storm in the North Pacific and said it would hit the northwest coast Friday night and might reach Squaw Valley, nestled in the northern California Sierra near the Nevada line, by Saturday morning.

Squaw Valley came to life Wednesday as a storm which had dumped six inches of rain and 28 inches of snow on the area finally abated. Skiers crowded the slopes, and the jumpers were able to leap for the first time, using the 60-meter hill.

Europe's best figure-skaters arrived Wednesday night after competing in the European championships and were eager to get onto the indoor ice today to loosen their muscles after the long flight.

The Winter Olympics begin a week from today.

Red Griggs the pipeline

Can major league baseball and professional football survive in Texas? At the risk of being called a pessimist, I must say I don't think they can, under the present setup.

Texas has already landed three professional football teams and a "major" league baseball team. But whether they can draw major league crowds to see them is the question.

Of the four teams, it's a good bet that three of them will at least begin operation. Those three are the Dallas football teams (both in the American and National Leagues) and the Houston team in the American Football League. It's doubtful if the Dallas-Fort Worth Continental League baseball team will ever get off the drawing board.

Of the football teams, the Houston club would seem to stand the best chance of success. The Houston AFL entry has no competition, and Houston is a good sports town. The club just might have a fighting chance. However, the Rice and University of Houston football teams are very popular in Houston. The pros might have quite a problem in getting fans interested in the professional game instead of, or in addition to, the college game.

Can Dallas Support Pro Football?

In Dallas the problem is even more complicated. Not only is Dallas a tremendous high school and college football town, which would face an even greater problem in wooing fans away from other types of football—but it will be a two-team city.

Both an NFL and an AFL team will be operating in Dallas. Even with tremendous fan interest and two winning teams, it's hard to see how both teams can make money. If New York, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Detroit can't support two teams, how can Dallas?

It's possible, of course, that both teams can stay in operation for a long period of time, since both are owned by wealthy oil men—Lamar Hunt and Ira Murchison. But as long as both are operating, both are likely to lose money, and sooner or later, something's got to give.

If it's the American Football League entry that "gives," as is likely, there's no reason to suppose

Giants Have 30 In Fold

By United Press International

The San Francisco Giants, a tough team to stop on the basepaths, aren't exactly dragging their feet in the contract signing derby.

Catcher Hobie Landrith became the 30th player on San Francisco's 36-man spring roster to come to terms. Acquired last year from the St. Louis Cardinals, Landrith batted .281 in 109 games for the Giants.

The Philadelphia Phillies signed four players to bring their rostered list to 27. The latest to accept terms were pitchers Jack Meyer and Dallas Green, catcher Al Kenders and infielder Bob Malenkus.

Joe Nuxhall became the Cincinnati Reds' 27th player to sign his 1960 contract, while the New York Yankees corralled reserve catcher John Blanchard and rookie pitcher Harold (Rudy) Stowe, and the Boston Red Sox signed shortstop Don Buddin.

Pitchers Harold (Skinny) Brown and Billy Hoelt accepted their new contracts with the Baltimore Orioles.

PLAYER SUSPENSION?—Boston Celtics' Tommy Heinsohn appears to be holding on to the basket as St. Louis Hawks' Clyde Lovellette turns and starts back down court.

Navy, St. Josephs Are Strong Contenders For NIT Tourney

United Press International

Navy and St. Joseph's (Pa.) remained strong contenders for berths in the National Invitation Basketball tournament today, but Kansas State is losing ground fast in its bid to represent the Big Eight Conference in the NCAA championship.

The Middles connected on 83 per cent of their shots from the field in sinking Penn State, 87-71, day while John Egan's 29 points carried St. Joseph's to a 78-73 victory over St. Peter's (N.J.) at Philadelphia.

Kansas, meanwhile, knocked Kansas State out of first place in the Big Eight by outlasting the Wildcats, 64-62, after almost blowing a 20-point halftime lead.

It was Kansas State's second straight upset defeat and dropped them into second place in the Big Eight behind Colorado.

In another major upset, Duquesne rolled to a 79-66 triumph over Dayton, breaking the NIT-bound Flyers' eight-game winning streak. It was only the fifth victory of the season for the Dukes, who were led by the hot shooting of George Brown (22 points) and Paul Benec (19).

Virginia failed to score a basket until the 18th minute of the first half but still managed to eke out a 44-43 victory over Maryland in an old-fashioned defensive game.

A 21-point barrage by Don Kojis earned Marquette a 78-70 upset victory over Louisville. George Washington gained a 78-67 overtime triumph over Georgetown—Niazara—buried Syracuse, 83-64. Lee Sager's 19 points helped Army turn back Boston University, 69-54, and Toledo topped Bowling Green, 74-56.

New York University became the first team to accept a bid to the NCAA tournament Wednesday night, turning its back on the NIT, which also wanted the Violets for the annual jamboree.

St. John's, another New York team being wooed by both tournaments, runs into fifth-ranked West Virginia in one of tonight's feature games. NYU will face Manhattan on the same card at Madison Square Garden.

Kelly Stars For 'Leaf's'

TORONTO (UPI)—Red Kelly was as "jittery as a rookie" in his first game with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Acquired from the Detroit Red Wings in one of hockey's most confusing deals, the 22-year-old defenseman was given a tremendous ovation by 14,652 fans Wednesday night at Maple Leaf Gardens when he skated out for his first turn against the Montreal Canadiens.

The Leafs bowed to the defending Stanley Cup champions, 4-2, but it wasn't Kelly's fault. He was all over the ice as Manager-Coach Punch Imlach of the Leafs alternated him at defense, left wing and center.

Two goals by agile Maurice (Rocket) Richard in the second period carried the Canadiens to victory before the season's largest turnout at the Gardens. Ralph Backstrom and Claude Provost also scored for Montreal while Billy Harris tallied both Toronto goals.

In Wednesday night's other NHL game, the Chicago Black Hawks walloped the New York Rangers, 5-1, to take over undisputed possession of fourth place.

Martin Becomes 'Clutch' Scorer

By United Press International

Frank Martin, who waited four months before scoring his first goal in the American Hockey League this season, has suddenly developed into a clutch sniper for the Buffalo Bisons.

Martin's goal at the 15-minute mark of the final period gave the Bisons a 3-2 decision over the Springfield Indians at Buffalo in Wednesday night's only AHL game.

The victory put Buffalo in a tie with Providence for third place. There are no league games scheduled tonight.

LeTourneau Rides Through College

By ED FITE
United Press International

DALLAS (UPI)—Some students earn their way through college hopping tables. Bill others with the knack for it, attend on athletic scholarships while playing some sport.

Ed LeTourneau is a student all right. And, he has a knack for sports. In fact, he played football, ran track and wrestled as a high school boy.

But, at 156 pounds that's a little light for athletes at the University of California where LeTourneau is studying.

He's adept, however, at a sport few branny football players would dare attempt—bull riding.

LeTourneau is working his way through school performing in rodeos. He's already obtained his animal husbandry degree at Cal and now is in his second year of study as a veterinarian.

That's a sign he has been doing all right at the payoff window.

In fact, LeTourneau was the 11th ranking bull rider in the Rodeo Cowboys Assn. standings when he came here for the National Finals Rodeo.

He left here as the No. 5 man nationally, having pocketed $1,955—second only to world's champion cowboy Jim Shoulders' $2,435 winnings.

At 24, LeTourneau has been rodeoing for nine years, but he's only been in the big time money in 1959. He didn't even break into the top 15 rank until late November, but his climb since then has been sensational.

Naturally, with his schooling to be attended to, the Davis, Calif., youngster can rodeo only part-time, which makes his high ranking even more astonishing.

He finished second in the very first go-round here and won $261, but then he was out of the money six straight times—even being bucked off a couple of times—before regaining his stride.

Then, he finished first, tied for

What About The Continental Loop?

As for a major league baseball team in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, the difficulties here seem to be too great to solve.

In the first place, there's the big question of whether the Continental League, itself, will ever actually get underway. And if it does, will it really be a "major league?"

Right now there are several teams in the major leagues who couldn't get a shortstop for a quarter of a million dollars—yet the new league is trying to collect two hundred more players of major league ability.

Assuming, though, that the third "major" league somehow gets underway, and that in some manner two hundred new major league players are found—the Dallas-Fort Worth team still faces plenty of problems.

In the first place, Dallas would be about as inclined to support a Fort Worth ball club, and vice versa, as Khrushchev would be to allow the Republican party to operate in Russia.

It's unlikely that, if the home dates are split between Dallas and Fort Worth, fans of one city would drive to the other to see the team play. The team, being an artificial "twin-cities" combination, would not really command the loyalty and support of either city.

Locating a stadium midway between the two cities would be even worse. Frankly, how many people will drive 15 or 20 miles to see a game—unless it promises to be a great one.

Neither Dallas nor Fort Worth is drawing in the American Association, and there's no reason why they would draw, as a combination team, in a "souped up" version of the AA. If Dallas, or Fort Worth, or a combination team were added to the existing majors, the fans might well turn out to support that team. But it's unlikely that they'll support a team in a new league, just because that league has a "major league" label.

If Texas is ever to get and keep major league baseball, chances are it will have to be through the American or National League.

Rodriguez Takes 'Surprise' Win Over Hubbard

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Luis Rodriguez surprised everyone but himself Wednesday night when he scored a fourth round knockout over Carl Hubbard of Philadelphia in a nationally-televised bout at Convention Hall.

The 23-year-old Rodriguez, top-ranked welterweight contender from Camaguey, Cuba, had drawn jibes from critics who said he failed to show any punching power in his previous appearances in the United States.

But Rodriguez hanged the 22-year-old Hubbard with a two-fisted attack to register his eighth knockout and run his unbeaten record to 27 straight.

He decked Hubbard twice in the third round, using a left hook for the first knockdown and a right cross for the second. Hubbard, who was touted as a heavier puncher than Rodriguez, went down for the count on another left to the jaw at 1:33 of the fourth and suffered his first defeat after 19 victories and two draws.

UCLA Tennis Slate Released

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The 1960 UCLA varsity tennis schedule will be highlighted by three inter-sectional matches until Texas schools, it was announced today by Wilbur Johns, Bruin director of athletics.

The Bruins, who are eligible for the NCAA playoffs for the first time since 1956, will play host to Trinity University, Lamar Tech and Rice Institute before opening AAWU play April 9 against Stanford.

Defending Champs Advance In Mixed Foursome Match

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Defending champion Jack Fenrose and Marlene Strett played Joe Mitchell and Nancy Roth in the first of a double round in the National Mixed Foursomes golf tournament today.

Fenrose, of Miami, and Mrs. Strett, the Canadian ace, had a see-saw match with Marge Burns, Greensboro, N.C., and George Guy, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., before winning 1-up Wednesday.

The medalists, Bob Cochran, St. Louis, and Barbara McIntire, Lake Park, Fla., had an easier time defeating Don O'Brien, Richmond, Va., and Mrs. Boyd Somerville, Toronto, 8 and 7. Cochran and Miss McIntire today faced Ed Meister Jr., Willoughby, Ohio, and Shirley Lindsay, Decatur, Ill.

Speech That Made Lincoln President

EDITOR'S NOTE: In an electronic age, a potential presidential candidate is in danger of having his face and his voice "over-exposed" to the electorate. But a century ago, a man had to be seen and heard in person for people to form judgments. Here, in this exclusive and original story for newspapers, noted Civil War historian Philip Van Doren Stern recreates the first major public appearance in the East of Abraham Lincoln. Dr. Stern is consultant - editor on the Civil War Centennial for Newspaper Enterprise Association and Pampa News Daily.

By PHILIP VAN DOREN STERN
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

No one paid any attention to the tall, badly dressed man on the ferry that was taking railroad passengers from Jersey City to New York. He had come by train from the Middle West with only one small satchel as baggage. After the boat docked, he walked a few blocks east. He had been in New York before and knew his way. He turned in at the Astor House, which faced City Hall Park. When he signed the register on the page dated February 25, 1860, he wrote: "Abraham Lincoln, Springfield, Ill."

The Great Hall in the new Cooper Union building here in Manhattan. Bowen may have had some misgivings about the gawky-looking Westerner, but he tried to sound encouraging. "Greely has given you a good write-up," he said, handing his visitor a copy of the "New York Tribune."

Lincoln, obviously impressed, read the notice and then said he would have to revise his speech to make it fit the changed surroundings. When he left, Bowen invited him to Brooklyn the next day to hear Beecher preach. Henry Ward Beecher's Plymouth Church was then one of the most celebrated in the country. Its pastor had a remarkable sense of showmanship. Only a few weeks before, he had held a mock slave auction at which a nine-year-old Negro girl was sold from the pulpit. The congregation bought her freedom, enthusiastically donating jewelry and wedding rings as well as money. Lincoln went to the church with Bowen. After the sermon was over, Bowen invited him to dinner, but the Western lawyer, still worried about his speech, begged off and returned to the Astor House to work on it.

and said in a high pitched Middle Western voice: "Mr. Cheerman."

January Moisture Sufficient

AUSTIN (UPI) — Last month was a dry one in Texas, but still the state received more moisture than it did in January, 1959, the State Board of Water Engineers reported. In its monthly water condition report the board said 14 of 21 selected weather bureau stations reported below-normal moisture last month, but 18 recorded below-normal amounts in January, 1959. December moisture was enough to help the soil in most of Texas, the report said. "Heavy rains occurring in late December and early January produced moderate to locally heavy flooding on the middle Brazos, upper Trinity and upper Sabine basins," the report said. "Runoff was not great, although excessive conditions were experienced for the fourth consecutive month in North Central and Northeast Texas. "Runoff was only slightly above average in North Texas and the Panhandle, and this was due to snow melt."

Stock Exchange's Monthly Investment Plan Growing

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The little fellows who make the big markets invested more heavily in the Stock Exchange's monthly investment plan in 1959 than ever before. The plan has rounded out its sixth year, and in each year of its existence small investors increased their purchases of stock and put more money into the market. In 1959, according to New York Stock Exchange figures released today, investors participating in the monthly investment plan bought $63,415 shares of stock valued at $41,900,000. Under the plan investors may buy any of the common or preferred stocks listed on the exchange with periodic payments—ranging as low as $40 a month or a quarter. Nothing here is done on "tick." The investor puts up the money and stock to the amount it covers is purchased for him. Amounts of stock are calculated to four decimal places in the complicated odd-lot system. The broker does the intricate figuring. The investor merely puts up the money. Here is an example of how it works: say one was paying $30 monthly. That would buy 2,626 shares of a stock selling for $18 a share, or 2,621 share of a stock selling at $180 a share. The foregoing assumes purchase at odd-lot rates. If the stock is selling at less than $40 a share, the buyer of an odd-lot pays a differential of 1 1/2 cents or 1/4th point. If the price is $40 or more, the differential is 25 cents or 1/4 point. Here is the record of the plan for 1959 as reported by the Stock Exchange: Investors started some 46,000 plans. That was almost one-quarter of 207,500 plans begun since 1954. It works out to a rate of 180 plans a day, against the previous record yearly high set in 1958 at $145 a day. Investors paid in around $42 million which is more than 25 percent of the $154,500,000 invested through MIP to date. These investors made about 420,000 individual payments which amounts to one-fourth of the total 1,666,568 payments made since 1954. Purchases in 1959 amounted to around one-quarter of the total of 3,725,000 shares purchased to date under the plan. Those who invest in these plans receive dividends or fractions of dividends according to their holdings. A total of 88 percent of the plans provide for automatic reinvestment of the dividends. General Motors tops the list of MIP favorites and is the basis of 4,524 plans. General Electric is second, in 3,915 plans; Dow Chemical, third, 3,653 plans; Standard Oil (N.J.), fourth 3,043 plans; and Tricontinental Corp., fifth, 2,790 plans. American Telephone ranks sixth as the basis for 2,266 plans. Then come Sperry Rand, Phillips Petroleum, International Business Machines, Chas. Pfizer & Co., and RCA. The top 50 favorites include one each in the auto, airline and railroad fields; eight electrical equipment and electronics companies; six chemicals; six oils; three investing companies; nine utilities; three drugs; two mercantiles; four aluminum; two steels and four miscellaneous companies. Sixty-four per cent of the plans are in this top 50. The highest yield comes from Columbia Gas which is in 22nd place. Its return is 4.9 per cent. Only one has no yield — Texas Instruments. The MIP investors showed a preference for issues selling between $50 and $59.99 with 20.7 per cent of the plans in that range. Issues selling at $200 and more accounted for only 4.8 per cent. Market men tell the MIP investors that since they are engaged in investment and not in day-to-day trading intermediate ups and downs in the price of the stock should not disturb planning which operates on the basis of dollar averaging.

For his theme he took Douglas' statement that the founders of the nation had clearly understood the slavery problem. He then went on to show that in framing the government a majority of the 39 men who had signed the Constitution were in favor of federal control. To them, he said, slavery was "an evil not to be extended and was to be tolerated only because its actual existence made such toleration a necessity." One after another he replied to the South's arguments and in doing so denied that the new Republican Party was sectional in interest. He also said that his party had in no way been implicated in John Brown's attempt to start a slave insurrection. It was a long and closely reasoned speech, interrupted only by occasional applause when Lincoln made some good point. He concluded with the ringing words: "Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith, let us, to the end, dare to do our duty as we understand it." This statement brought a burst of applause from the sophisticated New York audience that had come to inspect this wild and woolly Westerner and pass judgment on him. With those often-quoted words Abraham Lincoln was on his way to the presidency. He was elected in November and took the oath of office a few days more than a year after he spoke at Cooper Union. But before 1860 was over, the first Southern state to secede (South Carolina) had left the Union, and 39 days after Lincoln entered the White House the guns roared out at Fort Sumter. That day of fire and thunder, April 12, 1861, marked the beginning of open hostilities in the Civil War.

Under the law what you as a client tell your lawyer in confidence he may tell no one else without your consent. Nor can a judge order him or his professional employees (like secretaries) to reveal such communications in court. Why have such a privilege? Chiefly, to do justice; it encourages clients to tell their lawyers what they have to know to help and to advise them fully; things about their family, business, and private affairs, their hopes, fears, and ambitions. No lawyer may speak of certain things, even after a client dies. For a client may well have given his lawyer details, which if revealed, might harm those he most wanted to protect. Yet, in some very rare cases, to help carry out the client's desires after death, a lawyer may have to reveal a confidence, under certain safeguards, to uphold his client's purposes. What are confidential communications? Anything a client tells his lawyer when he seeks advice about his personal, business, or legal affairs—talks and letters, photographs, charts, and other documents and records. Confidential communications protect you as the client, not your lawyer. If you break the confidence, a lawyer may also have to talk, for the communication is no longer confidential. You may break a confidence by testifying about it, or by having unauthorized persons hear or see what was communicated. No lawyer may keep quiet about a crime or fraud a client has told him he plans to commit. But afterwards, an accused person may talk freely to his lawyer. Even if guilty, he has a right to have his side of the story presented to the court as it may affect his punishment. A person in trouble needs to talk to someone without fear that what he says will become public. In some states certain other professional people, such as physicians and clergymen, may receive privileged communications. However, Texas law makes no provision for privileged communications with physicians and clergymen. (This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Finally Monday evening came. It had been snowing, and the bad weather discouraged attendance at Cooper Union. But 1,500 of the huge basement hall's 2,000 seats were taken. The "carriage crowd" was there, for they could be driven to Astor Place in comfort. Men who formed public opinion were present. Among them were Horace Greeley and George Palmer Putnam, while William Cullen Bryant and David Dudley Field were on the platform. When Lincoln appeared, the audience studied the strange looking figure in silence. One of them said: "His dress... was... unbecoming for a tall, gaunt man—a black frock coat, ill-fitting and too short... a rolling collar disclosing his long, thin, shriveled throat." The suit was not only ill-fitting; it was creased and wrinkled from having been jammed into a small satchel all the way from Illinois. Bryant was quickly nominated as chairman; he then introduced Lincoln, saying that he had made a name for himself in the widely publicized debates with Stephen A. Douglas, the "Little Giant" who was sponsoring state sovereignty as the solution for the slavery problem. Amid applause, Lincoln went to the lectern. When the audience quieted down he turned to Bryant
