

Korean Mobs Rage Through Seoul

Strife Caused By Recent Elections

By CHARLES R. SMITH
United Press International

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — Anti-government mobs raged through Seoul today, placing President Syngman Rhee under virtual siege in his presidential palace, attacking government buildings, newspapers and police stations and setting fires.

Government troops and armored cars firing at point blank range rolled them back with heavy casualties but the mobs attacked again and again. Two Americans were known to have been injured.

Authorities at six major Seoul hospitals reported at 9:30 p.m. that at least 81 persons were dead and 300 seriously injured.

Republic of Korea authorities declared martial law in Seoul and five other cities as demonstrations protesting last month's national elections spread from the south into the capital itself.

The other cities were Pusan, where the Orient Press reported five dead, and Taegu, Kwangju, Taejon and Masan.

Orient Press said rioting involving 30,000 to 40,000 demonstrators still raged in Pusan as of 9 p.m.

In Seoul, the fighting came close to American Army installations and homes occupied by Americans but there was no known attack on any of them. U.S. troops were kept in their bases as a precaution.

Outside the Korean government's Anti-Communist Center the mob tried but failed to topple a statue of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

This evening, American Ambassador Walter P. McConeally called on President Rhee to express "concern" over the day's rioting.

As night fell, most of the streets were quiet. Streetscars stood idle, with lights burning but empty of passengers. On some streets, the dying flames of burning automobiles flickered.

The government radio warned against further violence, and ROK soldiers in full battle dress rode in jeeps, warning by loudspeaker against more mob action.

The Communist radio reported that rallies were being held throughout Red North Korea to pledge "full support" to the rioters south of the 38th Parallel.

Continual gunfire echoed through the streets of Seoul, scene earlier in the day of mob violence which included an attempted assassination of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Furor Over Missiles

Macmillan's Decision Hit

LONDON (UPI) — The Labor opposition and some Conservatives today turned their fire on Prime Minister Harold Macmillan for his government's decision to drop its nuclear missile program.

Britain abandoned its 182 million dollar "Blue Streak" missile last week and was expected to seek new American rockets for its defenses. American Thor's already are stationed here.

But Macmillan faced attack from two sides on the Blue Streak program, which had been a symbol of prestige and independence among Britons.

Labor made a motion of censure, charging the government with wasting tens of millions on the project and with general mismanagement of defense. The motion will be debated April 27.

At the same time, many government supporters were reported deeply disturbed that Britain may abandon its independent nuclear deterrent entirely and rely solely on American atomic and hydrogen weapons.

A complicating factor was the demand to do away with nuclear weapons entirely, as expressed by the 100,000-strong rally in Trafalgar Square Monday, the biggest since the war.

Rights Bill Headed For Quick Passage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The embattled civil rights bill headed for a quick trip through the House Rules Committee today on its way to a final congressional vote Thursday.

Committee sources said the rules group was all set to clear the measure promptly and send it to the House floor for passage.

Pending before the committee was a resolution calling for House acceptance of changes made by the Senate in its original bill to assure Negro voting rights.

The House was expected to agree to all 18 Senate changes and send the bill to the White House for President Eisenhower's signature.

Some Southerners hailed the Senate modifications as a "victory for the South."

Civil rights leaders in the House agreed that the Senate had softened the measure. But they did not plan to make a fight to send the bill to a Senate-House conference for fear that the entire measure might be lost in a controversy over the revisions.

The key provision of both Senate and House versions is a plan for federal referees to insure Negro voting rights. Federal courts would be authorized to name referees in areas where they found a "pattern of discrimination" against Negro voting. The referees would assist the courts in passing up Negroes' applications for voting certificates.

NEWARK, N. J. (UPI) — New Jersey Republicans decide today whether they support a candidate who will be incumbent Sen. Clifford P. Case, a liberal, or Robert Morris, self-proclaimed guardian of the party's conservative wing.

The primary was marked by apathy on the part of the voters and intense interest on the part of national GOP leaders, who view it as a major test of liberal vs. conservative strength.

The polls open at 7 a.m. e.s.t. and close at 8 p.m. Despite a forecast of fair weather, only about a quarter of the state's 2,743,742 registered voters were expected to turn out.

The anticipated light vote was attributed to the fact that for the first time in 12 years the New Jersey primary does not include a presidential contest.

The contest for nominees for the state's 14 congressional seats involved mainly local organization issues.

South Africa Workers To Jobs Under Threat

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — African workers threatened with loss of their jobs and schools poured out of their townships and went to work throughout South Africa today in an apparent mass disregard of a stay home call from native nationalist leaders.

There were no reports of Africans remaining away from their jobs anywhere in the country.

Africans flocked to work in the port city of Durban, scene of much racial trouble, and in Johannesburg, where the stay-home campaign had been concentrated.

At East London, about 500 miles from Johannesburg, four magistrates were busy sentencing 400 Africans at the rate of one a minute. They were arrested in police raids Monday.

Most sentences were fines of $2.80 or eight days in jail for Africans who were caught without identification passes. The trials were conducted in the prison and newsmen were not permitted to witness them.

Indications were that the white government of South Africa, which had threatened economic and educational reprisals and banishment to tribal reserves, had won a major victory for its racial laws.

There was no indication any blacks had joined a protest demonstration which the outlawed African Nationalist Congress called for in an underground leaflet campaign.

Police were so confident their advance measures would kill the demonstration that police stations were staffed only by sergeants during the night.

Police broke the first stay-home demonstration the week before last by going into native townships and whipping blacks who refused to go to work.

Concert Ass'n. Kicks Off Drive

The Community Concert Association today opens a one-week concerted drive for members during which the group seeks to enroll "a capacity audience" which will insure another full series of concerts for the coming season. "Standing room only" is the motto for this year's concert drive.

The association held its annual dinner meeting last night at the Coronado Inn.

The purpose of this year's drive, as in other years, is to accept renewal memberships from past subscribers and to enroll new members for a series of concerts to be given during the 1960-61 season.

Following introduction of board members and drive chairman, Dr. Carl Lang, association president, introduced Mrs. W. G. Waggoner, secretary, who outlined the mechanics of the membership drive and informed the group that concert headquarters has been set up in Southwest Public Utility Co. with open hours of 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. through Saturday. She urged workers to complete work on their renewal lists before beginning solicitation of new members. "These renewals should be turned into headquarters immediately," she said.

Mrs. M. Daniel, membership drive chairman, announced that check-in meetings will be held 4 p.m. Wednesday and 10 a.m. Thursday in the public utility office. "Attendance at concerts is by membership only," she pointed out.

For the evening's entertainment, Robert Hoffman, head of the music department of Amarillo College and concert pianist, played Bach's Fugue in D Minor; a group of three Brahms' Intermezzi; a group of four Preludes (Chopin) and concluded with a Ballade by Chopin.

Curt Beck, president-elect of the association, introduced Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor of Greenville, representative of Community Concert Ass'n. of New York City, who will be here all week to assist with the membership campaign.

"We sell memberships, not tickets," Mrs. Taylor said, "because we are exempt from paying income tax; thus, all the money obtained for memberships goes for drive expenses and for securing the fine."

Outcry Against Castro Increases

By MATTHEW T. KENNY
United Press International

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro, back in Havana after a fruitless hunt for guerrillas in eastern Cuba, was greeted today by new reports of opposition to his government.

Refugees in Miami said 5,000 armed men in Cuba are ready to "declare war on Castro-May-2" unless he purges his government of Communists and schedules early elections for a new Congress.

"The materials of war are in our hands throughout the six Cuban provinces," said Fernando Lopez del Toro, self-styled secretary of the "Cuban anti-Communist rebel army."

The point of attack has "already been decided."

Anti-government guerrilla activity has been reported during the past week in Oriente province, at Cuba's eastern tip; in Pinar del Rio province to the west and in the central province of Las Villas.

A government announcement said anti-government forces in Oriente destroyed several thousand dollars worth of heavy public works equipment in the Maisi area and raided a government cooperative farm.

In Pinar del Rio, 17 persons were reported under arrest on charges of sabotage and other anti-Castro activity.

Travelers arriving from Oriente reported seeing the bodies of three peasants labeled as "informers" hanging from trees. It was assumed that they had been trying to guide government forces to guerrilla hideouts.

In Havana, Jose I. Raso, leader of the predominantly Catholic MDC party, sought asylum in the Ecuadorian embassy as a political refugee. Raso had been under heavy attack by the pro-Castro press and radio, apparently because of his charges of Communist influence on the government.

Late Filers May Be Forgiven Forgotten,

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you missed Monday night's income tax deadline Uncle Sam probably will forgive and forget.

But don't keep him waiting too long. Returns and taxes on 1959 income were supposed to be postmarked no later than midnight. The Internal Revenue Service postponed the deadline from April 15 because that was Good Friday.

Officials said today that taxpayers who got their returns in only one or two days late probably would not be penalized.

Technically the government could require tardy filers to pay a 5 per cent penalty on the amount they owe. There also is a 6 per cent interest charge on unpaid back taxes.

Some taxpayers failed to make it under the wire even with the three-day reprieve. Thousands of others mailed in their returns just before the deadline, swamping Internal Revenue Service offices throughout the country.

There was no breakdown available on the number of persons who waited until the final day to file their tax form. But the revenue service estimated that about one-third of the 60 million returns were mailed in during the last two weeks before the deadline.

The last-minute flood of returns will keep tax workers busy for some time. They have been processing returns and making refunds since the first forms were filed in January. About one in every 30 returns is spot checked for accuracy.

DeGaulle Meets With Canadians

OTTAWA (UPI) — French President Charles de Gaulle sits down today with Canadian government leaders to give them a detailed report on the recent visit to Paris of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Disarmament and close cooperation between Canada and France in NATO are two other topics looming large in the discussions with Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and External Affairs Minister Howard Green. Canada will take this opportunity to expose some specific views on the forthcoming summit conference. It is believed de Gaulle is anxious to coordinate with Canada prior to discussions in Washington.

Coach's Death Report Called Boyish Prank

BURKBURNETT, Tex. (UPI) — The principal of Burk Burnett High School today blamed a "boyish prank" for reports that the school's track and football coach had died.

Roy L. Silkwood, principal, said reports that Coach Jack Robertson died Monday night were "not true." Silkwood said Robertson reported to school today on his regular schedule.

Silkwood said that the report originated Sunday when an unidentified "boy" at the high school telephoned newspapers and radio stations in Wichita Falls that Robertson, a former professional football player, was dead.

The school principal said that on Sundays the Burk Burnett telephone system is tied into the nearby Wichita Falls, without long distance toll cost.

United Press International received the report from a Wichita Falls radio station, one of the points-the-boy-called.

Bomb Blast Wrecks Home Of Negro Leader In Nashville

By United Press International
An early-morning explosion today wrecked the home of a Negro attorney who has fought many anti-segregation suits in Nashville, Tenn.

Police said a bomb apparently was tossed at or placed under the house of Z. Alexander Looby, a city councilman. The Negro leader and his wife, who were asleep in a back room, escaped injury.

The force of the explosion shattered windows for blocks around the Looby home and damaged two houses next door.

Racial violence also erupted Monday night in Savannah, Ga., where Negro and white youths battled with knives and ax handles in a public park. Four youths were injured, one seriously. Police estimated 20 Negroes and 13 white boys took part in

A 50-question examination will be given to Pampa High School students at 3 a.m. Thursday. Lefors and McLean Aves., who will also participate here, will be given their tests in their respective schools tomorrow.

He said the purpose of the event is to interest young drivers in safe driving and teach them safety consciousness on the highway.

New CC Study Group To Meet

The second meeting of the Congressional Activities Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will be held at 7 a.m. Thursday in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

Committee Chairman Don Beaman said the group will discuss "Federal Subsidy for School Construction."

He said the public is invited to attend, and interested persons should call the chamber of commerce office for reservations.

Double Life Unfolds In Stabbing Probe

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — The double life of a middle-aged traveling book salesman unfolded Monday after police found him stabbed to death in the bedroom of a $75,000 riverside home he rented for a woman half his age.

Detectives believed the woman's story that she was the dead man's wife until his real mate of 16 years, described as a "typical housewife," walked into police headquarters.

The 48-year-old wife, who drives a Ford, said she came here from her home in Daytona Beach, Fla., to meet her husband but read in the newspapers he was dead. The 27-year-old other woman, who had a 1960 Cadillac in her garage, was held for questioning in the death.

Joseph M. Clark, 57, $25,000-a-year sales manager for five states, died in a bedroom of the mansion with a 12-inch butcher knife in his chest. The younger woman, who identified herself as Mrs. Carol Nadine Clark, said she stumbled and fell on the knife. She called a doctor who notified police.

After telling her version of his death, she refused to answer any more questions because "they might incriminate me."

In Springfield, Ill., attorney John Curren said he had been hired to represent the woman, whom he knew as Carol Nadine Rogers, formerly of Springfield.

'UN Look' For Celanese Plant

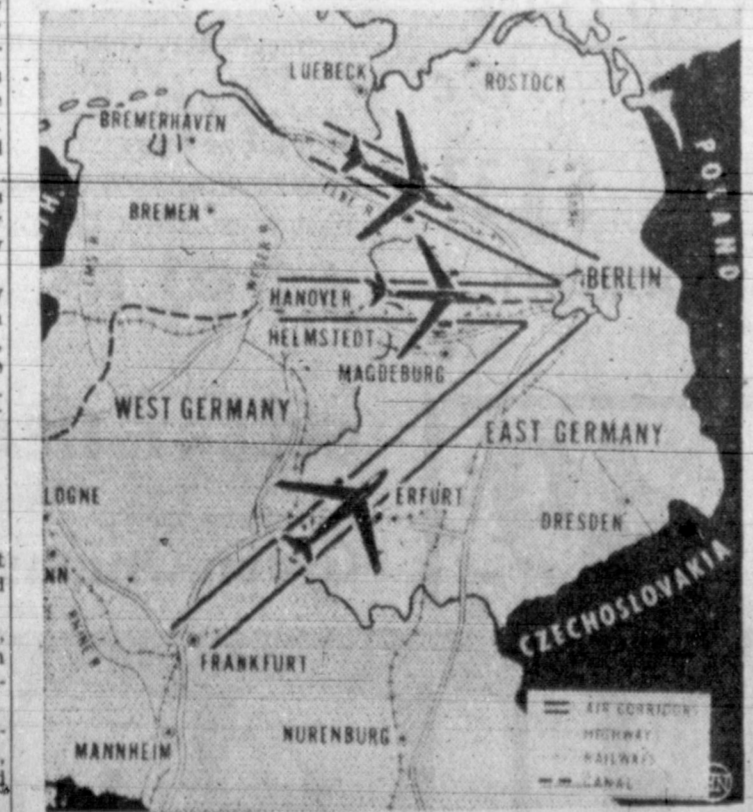

The Pampa Celanese plant will look very much like a United Nations meeting April 28.

Don Beaman, personnel director, said 29 persons from 23 foreign countries will attend a sales conference at the plant on that day.

Beaman said some of the countries include Australia, Austria, Belgium, Argentina, Cuba and others.

The conference is being held for sales representatives of the Celanese Corp. throughout the world.

Women Take Flower Bulbs From Grave

Two stylish women driving a two-tone brown late model Chevrolet station wagon yesterday were caught in the act of digging up flower bulbs surrounding a grave at Fairview Cemetery.

Ed Moran, superintendent, said he and a workman were preparing a grave and paid no notice to the women, who entered the cemetery at the old entrance until they started to walk away with several crocus bulbs, taken from the perimeter of a grave.

Moran said he halted the women but they ran to their car and sped away. He gave chase in a pickup truck, but lost the pair in the vicinity of Lefors and Broyming Sts.

Moran said this is not the first time that graves have been so desecrated. He pointed out that there is a standing reward for information leading to the arrest of such culprits.

Students Ape German Nazis

By United Press International
A group of high school boys in Jacksonville, Fla., who wore swastika arm bands, and a run-away 15-year-old from Dayton, Ohio, who led a new Nazi-like movement, were the objects of police concern today.

The latest outbreak of neo-Nazi activity came into the open the day before Adolf Hitler's 71st birthday and 27 years after Hitler became chancellor of Germany.

Seven students at Ribault High School in Jacksonville were arrested on charges of delinquency and possession of material for an organization detrimental to the public interest.

STRIFE

lack on the presidential palace.

The rioters were protesting last month's allegedly "fraudulent" vice presidential election, which was won by government candidate Lee Ki-Poong. A poster pasted on Lee's door by the mobs described the election as "murderous."

Police fired into the mobs at least four times during the day, killing an estimated 29 persons in the battle outside the South Korean "White House" alone. The smell of gunsmoke lay heavy over all of downtown Seoul.

The city's martial regime tightened curfew regulations and banned all outdoor gatherings. Mayor Yim Heung Soon resigned, saying it was his fault that the rioting had gotten out of hand.

James Wilcox, of Quincy, Mass., former president of the American Chamber of Commerce here, was shot in the abdomen while watching the riots from the roof of the Bando Hotel. A U. S. embassy spokesman said his condition was "quite serious."

Hugh F. Blaney, of New York City, chief of the U.S. Army's Seoul fire department, was "hit in the forehead by a stone."

Martial law also was proclaimed in Pusan, Taegu, Kwangju, Taejon and Masan. Rioting was known to be in progress in at least some of those cities, but no details were available immediately.

There was a possibility that martial law might soon be imposed on the entire nation.

La Gen. Song Yo Chan, chief of the army staff, ordered tanks and upwards of 10,000 troops to the combat-ready 18th Division in Seoul, where student rioters were wrecking and burning almost at will.

Heavy gunfire broke out within minutes of the arrival of the first troops from the division's base at Yangpyung, about 30 miles from Seoul.

A particularly heavy clash near the Interior Ministry, about a block from the UPI bureau, littered the streets with bleeding bodies.

Passersby who had watched the rioters calmly through the day, often applauding them, raced madly for cover from the hail of bullets.

The crackle of small-arms fire was punctuated every few seconds by the blast of heavier weapons mounted on the armored vehicles.

I sat on the floor of the UPI office, while bullets whistled past the windows. An armored car rolled past, and a blast from its heavy-caliber gun rattled the windows.

A fire engine set ablaze by the rioters burned directly in front of the bureau.

The curfew hour was advanced from midnight to 7 p.m., placing Seoul under the same 10-hour nightly curfew as Masan.

The only known American casualty of the riots was Hugh F. Blaney, of New York City, civilian chief of the U. S. Army Fire Department in Seoul.

Blaney was hit in the forehead by a stone thrown by rioters as he drove a fire department jeep past South Korea's bombed-out former capitol.

U. S. servicemen were restricted to base as a precautionary measure. The U. S. Embassy refused to say what measures, if any, were being taken for the protection of U. S. civilians.

Although no U. S. installation was known to have come under direct attack, there was continual rioting and occasional gunfire near buildings and homes used by Americans.

Withholding Tax Author Ruml Dead

DANBURY, Conn. (UPI) — Beardsley Ruml, 65, who in 1943 talked the government into the pay as you go income tax plan, died at Danbury Hospital after a short illness Monday.

Ruml was a life-long "idea man" and had held such varied positions as chairman of R. H. Macy & Co. Inc., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board of New York, and dean of social sciences and professor of education at the University of Chicago. He left Chicago to join Macy's in 1934, and devised the withholding tax scheme while treasurer of the huge department store. He believed it would be easier on taxpayers and would relieve persons who had just retired or entered the armed services of the burden of paying a large tax out of a reduced income.

New Market For Narcotics?

'Junk' Peddlers Knock On Doors Of Suburbia

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (NEA)—The "junk" peddler knocking at the door has disturbed the serenity of suburban life in Westchester County, on New York City's northern border.

The "junk" being pushed is narcotics; marijuana for beginners, opium derivatives (chiefly heroin) for advanced users and addicts.

Until recently a "local" problem confined to metropolitan areas, dealers in illegal narcotics seem to have found that the grass can be as green on the tree-lined streets of a wealthy commuter-haven as in the garbage-can-dotted slum areas of the cities.

Westchester County officials, following a raid on a teen-age "marijuana party" attended by youths from a number of towns in the county, have taken positive steps to familiarize the communities and law enforcement agencies with this type of crime before it spreads.

About 250 law enforcement officials attended a narcotics seminar taught by the New York City police department narcotics bureau. Interested citizens are being oriented by medical and welfare agents.

New York City officials know that neighboring communities, heretofore barely touched by narcotics, are woefully ignorant of the facts. Sgt. Vincent Hawkes notes that while most towns are familiar with alcoholics, narcotic addicts have been a comparative rarity. Only recently, a check on narcotics traffic by Sergeant Hawkes in Westchester County produced little evidence of addiction. "But things have changed now," he says.

Officials of two other "homes away from work" centers in the New York City area, Long Island's Suffolk and Nassau Counties, report they have found no substantial increase in narcotics addiction. But New York City Inspector Edward F. Carey has answered requests for information from some island communities.

In the 1950's, a Congressional committee estimated that there were 40,000 addicts in the U.S., 47,000 of them in New York State. Sergeant Hawkes says that today few would venture a serious guess, the figure being much higher.

So New York and federal agents, operating on the theory that familiarity breeds knowledge, are trying to correct wrong impressions, concerning this type of crime. The straight "dope" presented at the seminar today:

There is little difference between the "poor, sick addict" and the "heinous criminal." Addicts must associate with criminals and most operate in the only business they know—dope peddling.

Hospitals can only attempt cure for four or five per-cent of addicts who come for treatment voluntarily.

While marijuana itself is not in the upper arm or thigh caused habit forming, those who take it by "injecting" the drug into the are likely to "graduate" quickly to habit creating opium derivatives after the initial "kicks" of marijuana prove ineffective.

FEDERAL AGENTS look over a $100,000 haul of heroin and equipment used to dilute and measure it. It was seized in a New York raid.

MARIHUANA LEAF: The kicks end quickly.

Only the street "pusher" is likely to be seen in the suburbs. Usually a junkie himself, he may have adds. His superiors will be far removed from the scene. Marijuana cigarettes can be readily separated from the tobacco kind at a glance. Marijuana is green, usually contained in "cigarettes" that are much longer and thinner with crimped ends.

Some combinations of hypodermic needle, eye dropper, syringe, matches, bent spoon, bottle caps on a string, or safety pins can mean danger. These are the "works" of a narcotic addict.

While there are narcotic symptoms (emaciated condition, body stench, running nose and eyes, etc.), addicts cannot easily be ment voluntarily. [recognized except by thigh tracks in the upper arm or thigh caused habit forming, those who take it by "injecting" the drug into the are likely to "graduate" quickly

Whether other suburbs around the country will be hit by the "disease," as Westchester has, is difficult to answer.

But Thomas A. Facelle, familiar with the problem first as an assistant district attorney in Westchester, has an answer for the complacent. Referring to the wide New York area encompassing parts of Connecticut, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, he says: "Those communities which do not have the problem now, will have it soon."

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Harry S. Truman got the message of the Wisconsin presidential primary. HST's politically calloused hand is on one of the throbbles of the stop-Kennedy movement.

He can't win is HST's word for Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.). The former President seems to have a throttle in either hand. He is chief engineer of another stop operation.

This one is to prevent the re-nomination for president of Adlai E. Stevenson. He can't win, either is HST's word for Stevenson.

Truman did not say directly of either Kennedy or Stevenson that they couldn't win, did not say it that is, in just those words. What HST did say was that Republican newspapers were conniving to promote the nomination of Kennedy or Stevenson by the Democrats.

"But our party is going to nominate somebody who can win," Truman told tag-along newsmen on a recent early morning hike in New York City. Herebefore HST has insisted that ANY Democrat could lick Vice President Richard M. Nixon next November.

It is obvious by now that HST's boy is Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.). Politics being a fabric of gossamer delicacy, it could be which would damage Symington's eligibility for the nomination before the Democratic national convention July 11 in Los Angeles.

If such transpired, HST would need another boy and it is not impossible that the former president would reverse himself on Kennedy and promote the young man from Massachusetts for the Democratic nomination. It is not likely, however, that HST would change his mind about Stevenson.

Harry S. Truman is a political realist of character and determination. He is endowed liberally with an attribute of character without which no feudist can amount to much anywhere. That attribute is pride. Stevenson stabbed Truman in the pride in the 1952 presidential campaign although HST more than any other

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The most unusual cast in TV history can be seen tonight when Vice President Richard Nixon, Senator John Kennedy, Governor Nelson Rockefeller and Adlai Stevenson "star" on the same show.

These four political leaders will appear on the "Ford Startime" (NBC-TV) show to agree on a single theme: "Get out and vote."

It may be the first and last time the distinguished gentlemen agree on anything until after the November elections.

Responsible for lining up this array of "talent" is producer Dore Schary, an active Democrat, who personally supervised and wrote the hour-long program titled, "Well, What About You?"

"The show is free of partisan politics," Schary explained. "It's perfectly balanced and fair to everyone."

"I wrote the individual statements for everyone except Gov. Rockefeller who insisted on saying things his own way. And I must admit he did a fine job."

How did Schary go about signing up his stars? He began with Kennedy and Stevenson, both personal friends man was responsible for Stevenson's nomination. What Stevenson did in 1952 was brush off HST after the nomination and by pass HST's hand-picked chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Frank E. McKinney of Indiana. Those things Stevenson did for sure.

It seemed to some others, perhaps including HST, that Stevenson delicately held his nose as though offended by foul stench whenever he was reminded of President Truman or of the Truman administration.

The second volume of Truman's memoirs tells about the Truman-Stevenson rift. It can be summarized in a single Truman sentence: "Stevenson's attitude toward the president (Truman) he hoped to succeed was a mystery to me for some time and I believe Stevenson made some mistakes."

As Rare A Group As One Will Ever See Tonight

of the producer. They agreed to the idea readily. Next he contacted Vice President Nixon's office, and was told the Veep would go along. At first Gov. Rockefeller's advisors refused, but later came around.

"We taped the individual segments over a period of about two weeks," Schary said. "They were most cooperative."

"Mr. Stevenson will read an editorial from Walt Whitman. Sen. Kennedy will quote from Mark Twain, and Vice President Nixon reads a statement from Teddy Roosevelt. Gov. Rockefeller speaks for himself."

"I think their brief talks will be most effective in getting out the vote. Each segment was made individually. They do not appear together."

The balance of the show is filled with such entertainers as Eddie Albert, Polly Bergen, Mike Wallace, Marion Anderson and Fred Clark.

Idea for collecting the politicians for the show began with Henry Ford II (who is sponsoring the program). He asked Schary to get the ball rolling, and the show became a reality.

"Unlike show business people, none of the men asked to see a script. Nor was there a question of 'bidding,'" Schary grinned.

The producer is confident one of his quartet of stars will be the next President of the United States.

Opponents To Meet At Houston 'Roast'

United Press International — Although it's less than three weeks until the Democratic primary election, most of the candidates for state offices have called off their campaigns for tonight. They plan to attend the annual "roasting" staged by the Houston Press Club. It's the Gridiron Show and Dinner where news men hold the candidates' feet to the fire with off-the-record songs and tales.

Gov. Price Daniel and his opponent, Jack Cox, have both said they plan to attend. So does Atty. Gen. Will Wilson and his opponent, House Speaker Waggoner Carr; Don Yarborough, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Land Commissioner Bill Allicorn.

Daniel took it easy Monday, but announced a heavy speaking schedule during the next 10 days which will take him to Houston, San Antonio, Beaumont and the Rio Grande Valley.

Cox was feted at a testimonial banquet in Dallas, where he was introduced by former Gov. Allan Shivers.

Yarborough made a pitch for increased old-age pensions and Wilson, who has championed the Texas tidelands battle, warned "Texas must fight hard against federal encroachment of states' rights."

Carr stumped San Antonio Monday, and said he was "cheered" by the editorial endorsement of the Houston Post. Allicorn campaigned in Fort Arthur, and his opponent, Jerry Sadler, worked in Abilene.

Yarborough, who is a director of the Harris County Old Folks Home, said he would fight for improved pensions if elected.

He reiterated that "Texas is losing $18 million a year in funds it could distribute to our needy old folks because of its failure to match available federal funds in that amount."

U.S. Gov. Gen. Ramsey spoke in Waco and called attention that under his leadership a 300 per cent increase in funds has been approved by the legislature for operating correctional institutions for juveniles.

He said this new law to make parental neglect punishable helped in the battle against juvenile delinquency.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Tuesday, April 19, the 110th day of the year, with 256 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Mercury, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1775, the American War for Independence began. The British arrived at Lexington, Mass., and found a small company of Minute Men awaiting them.

In 1861, the first blood was shed in the War Between the States in Baltimore when a mob of Southern sympathizers attacked a contingent of Massachusetts soldiers parading through the city.

In 1892, Charles E. Durea of Springfield, Mass., turned the last screw on his horseless carriage and took it out of his shop for a successful drive. He called the first American-made automobile in history the buggaut.

In 1936, actress Grace Kelly married Monacan sovereign Prince Rainier III.

A thought for today: President Abraham Lincoln in his first inaugural address said: "While the people retain their virtue and vigilance, no administration by any extreme of wickedness or folly, can very seriously injure the government in the short space of four years."

helping the Cvetics.

When the Cvetics' hotel reservations fell through because of a mixup, Henry, a bachelor, put the family up in his trailer and moved in with friends.

Fidel Overture Is Not Cheered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has reacted coolly to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's expressed desire to discuss U.S.-Cuban relations with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Harter.

Department Press Officer Lincoln White said Monday that U.S. Ambassador to Cuba Philip Bonsal was "prepared to discuss any question of Cuban-U.S. relations at any time."

Castro was quoted Sunday as saying that he believed talks with Eisenhower and Harter might help to ease tensions between the two countries. His statement apparently was not a formal bid for such discussions, however.

Two Schools Of Argument On Safety Of Jet Prop Airliners

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government and private aviation experts today contended Sen. Vance Hartke's contention that jet-prop airliners — the Electra in particular — are not as safe as other passenger planes.

The Indiana Democrat said accident statistics showed that two-thirds of the air crash deaths last year and 75 per cent of the airline fatalities in the first three months of 1960 occurred in jet-prop. Such planes have conventional propellers powered by jet engines.

Hartke said in a Senate speech Monday that while he was a layman in the air safety field, "I certainly know that when a type of airplane flies only about 10 per cent of the total hours and accounts for 75 per cent of the deaths its safety record is not good."

Aviation experts agreed with the Senator's statistics. But they said his interpretation was wrong.

Government air safety officials said that of the five jet-prop accidents since 1959, two could have happened to any airliner and the cause of the other three has not been determined.

The officials said total fatalities did not provide a fair measurement because jet-prop such as the Electra carry more passengers than many older conventional petitions pending before the CAB.

Stamp Plan: Rep. Leonor Sullivan (D-Mo.) has urged the House Appropriations Committee to prod the Agriculture department into starting a national stamp plan to distribute surplus food to needy persons. She said it would take only a small amount of money to set up the program.

Mrs. Sullivan asked the committee, in testimony made public today, to write a report expressing the "intent of Congress" that the stamp plan be established.

Heart Patch Operation Successful

DALLAS (UPI) — A surgeon put tiny plastic patches on the walls of the ailed heart of 3-year-old Ruth Maria Cvetic Monday, in an apparently successful effort to enable her to lead a normal life.

A heart-lung pump substituted for Ruth Mari's heart for 30 minutes.

Outside the operating room, a German-speaking Dallas cab driver helped the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cvetic, of Austria, worry through the four-hour operation until the girl was wheeled out in satisfactory condition.

The cabbie is W. H. Henry, who found the Cvetics stranded at the Dallas Greyhound Bus Station, unable to speak a word of English. Cvetic works as a metallurgist in Mexico City, where Ruth Maria was born.

Henry had learned some German while stationed near Frankfurt as an Army sergeant for five years. He said he saw an opportunity to repay kindnesses done him by Europeans, and began

YVONNE "often strolls the streets of Paris incognito."

Mme. Yvonne: France's First 'Little Woman'

U.S. Will See 'Great Unknown' Behind French Chief de Gaulle

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PARIS (NEA) — The little woman behind the biggest man in France, President Charles de Gaulle, can be expected to remain in the background when she and her husband arrive in the United States on April 22.

Americans will see a shy, handsome woman of 60 whose coal black hair is flecked with gray. A simple dresser who prefers tailored suits to formal evening gowns, Madame de Gaulle, now mindful of her rank as her wardrobe designed by leading fashion creator Jacques Heim.

But unlike many leading French women, she never dons jewelry. Since moving to the Palais de l'Élysée (France's "White House"), Madame de Gaulle has been seen less rather than more in accordance with her husband's desire to separate his state and family life.

There is no readily available biography of her life nor is she likely to hold a press conference. She often strolls the streets of Paris incognito, her favorite pastime. Despite protocol, she has asked that no tricolored honor marks be placed on her auto; that Palace guards refrain from presenting arms for her.

To some she is known as the "great unknown," to intimates as "Aunt Yvonne, the great mute one," but to most of the world, she has been Mme. Yvonne de Gaulle since she married her husband, then a lieutenant, 22 years ago.

Born Yvonne Vendroux in 1900 in a provincial town in Northeast France, the daughter of a prosperous businessman was raised quietly with her three brothers. Her background sharply contrasts with that of a professor of philosophy and French literature.

They met over a spilled teacup. After World War I, the Vendroux family came to Paris to celebrate. At a party, the gangling officer de Gaulle, deeply engrossed in conversation, accidentally knocked the tea on Yvonne. He apologized. She bore three children: Philippe, a Naval officer stationed at Toulon with his family; Elizabeth, the wife of an Army colonel serving in Algeria; and Anne, who died at 20. Anne was buried at a little cemetery near La Boissière, about 200 miles east of Paris, the home of the de Gaulles, acquired in 1933.

In Anne's honor, Madame de Gaulle founded a home for mentally deficient girls near Paris where she spends much of her working time.

World War II forced Yvonne from La Boissière in June, 1940. She joined her husband who escaped to England and then went to Algiers.

But soon villagers noted that the family's black auto left for Paris more frequently. They said, "When she (Madame de Gaulle) goes with him, that will be the day the country will again call upon him to take over."

That day came in May, 1958.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — The point has been made many times over that this is a new and different market environment, one reacting to an economy of current demand and current growth rather than the accumulated wants of the immediate postwar period.

The investor therefore has been concentrating on a search for the unusual — companies free from the doubts and fears of an economy thought to have lost its luster.

Josephthal & Co., however, reminds us that while this search will continue, the financial headlines being made by some of today's success story candidates have obscured a couple of elementary points:

The corporate unusual isn't confined strictly to the new technologies and there are several "plebeian" companies that are growing dynamically elsewhere in Europe, for example.

Few realize, Josephthal says, that Colgate-Palmolive obtained 51 per cent of last year's sales and 64 per cent of its profits outside the United States. Foreign profits in this case have more than doubled in the past five years.

Another firm taking advantage of the burgeoning European economy is Singer Manufacturing Co. with almost half of last year's

The people of the United States get a chance this week to see the "other" Charles de Gaulle. This is the warm-hearted man who emerges from behind the screen of mysticism, stubbornness and pride which mark his words and actions as leader of France and shows himself one who delights in the human touch, be it a ticker-tape parade of a handshake between individuals.

This is one of the qualities which enables him to maintain his popularity and authority despite the iron discipline and economic sacrifices he has demanded of 45 million individualistic Frenchmen.

This will be de Gaulle's first visit to the United States since 1945. Ticker tape parades await him in New York and San Francisco. The warmth will be there for this man who has become a legend in his own lifetime, even though his enthusiasm may not match that which greeted him in those first pent up months after the war.

De Gaulle's visit to Washington and the hours he will spend with President Eisenhower, just about wraps up the high level consultations which have been preceding the four-power summit meeting scheduled for May 16 in Paris.

De Gaulle then will have conferred separately with Premier Nikita Khrushchev of the Soviet Union with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain and with Eisenhower.

Each of the others also have held their separate conferences, so much so that it almost might be said that the summit meeting already has been held.

As the most recent to have seen Khrushchev, de Gaulle may be expected to relay his impressions to Eisenhower.

An important one, shared last fall by Eisenhower, is that Khrushchev plans no immediate new pressure on Berlin.

Another topic between the two will be the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance which Eisenhower regards as a keystone of U. S. foreign policy. De Gaulle believes that relaxing world tensions have reduced the importance of NATO.

Army Developing Baby Atomic Arms That Could Revolutionize Ground War

(Second of Four Dispatches) By RAY CROMLEY Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It's still deeply hush-hush, but the Army and the Atomic Energy Commission are developing a series of mystery "baby" atomic weapons that may revolutionize war on land—the way intercontinental missiles are revolutionizing air war.

First, there is a group of mysterious back room atomic weapons no one will talk about. They are so secret they're not even named but are called Missile "A," Missile "B," and Missile "C."

Each would have some day a whole series of atomic warheads, a different warhead for each job. That means a little bang, a medium bang and a big bang for each missile. A commander would take his choice.

Missile "A" is now under active development, but Army men still haven't decided how it will be guided or propelled. A crude early experimental model will be fired within months.

Missile "B" is in the planning stage on paper.

Missile "C" is still in the dream stage. Only the Army's advanced planners are even thinking about it today.

Second, there's "ADM" or Atomic Demolition Munition. It would be a sort of super atomic dynamite. It would replace dynamite in tough jobs like blowing up reinforced concrete bridges, blasting down cliffs to make roads impassable, and destroying block houses.

"ADM" also would be carried in "innocent" suitcases by saboteurs ranging deep in enemy territory. They would use the small atomic charges to blow up power plants, missile factories and rail junctions.

Third, there's the whispered-about Davy Crockett, mention of which an Army general apparently let slip in a speech. No one has talked since about exactly what it is.

Davy Crockett is not a missile, nor a mortar, nor a rifle in the usual sense. But it would be fired from a tube and would pack an atomic wallop. The G.I. would have it at the front.

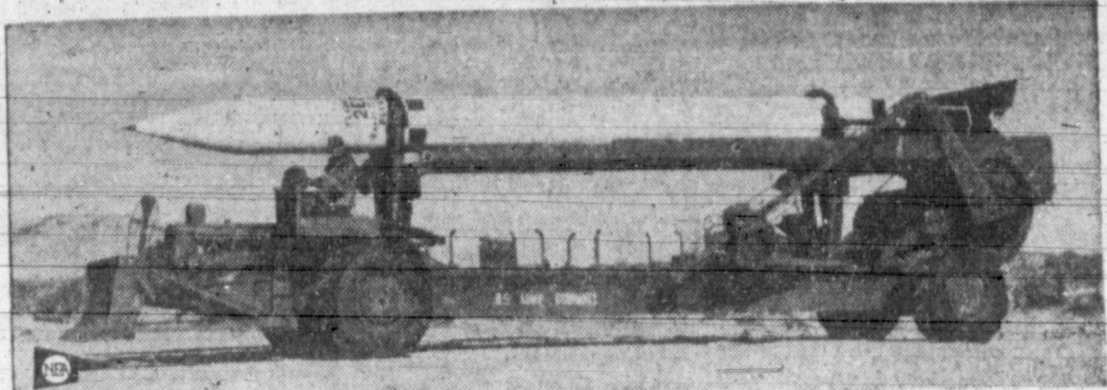

The Davy Crockett is well along in development. The Army would like to order 5,000 or so sometime in the next 16 months if they could get an extra six or seven million dollars for the purpose. Presumably this is without the atomic warheads.

Fourth, there will be atomic shells for that old standby, the 8-inch Army howitzer. There won't be any atomic cannon. The cannons are obsolete already. The Army won't sell the ones it has, but it won't buy any more.

If these plans all work out, here's the close-in atomic punch the infantryman would have to back him up on the battlefield: —There would be the atomic Davy Crockett — ready for troops in about 18 months to two years — depending in part on when the Defense Department and the Congress OK the funds. The Davy Crockett often would ride right up with the "front line" infantry company. It would be used about the same way a 90-mm recoilless rifle is used by troops today. There are some who think it would have a range of one to three miles.

Right back of the front-line infantryman would be atomic Missile "A." Best guess is it will have a range of about 15 miles and come equipped with a series of "low yield" atomic warheads. Beefed-up, "super battalions" now called Battle Groups might have Missile "A" attached. Everything about Missile "A" is secret. It's understood to be rugged, simple, self-propelled, transportable by helicopter, and to weigh less than 500 pounds.

The "A" would be used against tank concentrations, bunkers, caves, gun emplacements. Missile "A" would do the job of the long-range artillery of World War II but would have a lot more punch.

Missile "B" would pack a bigger atomic punch than "A" normally. Army divisions would carry "B"s for firing 20 to 30 or so miles back at what may be part of the "front lines" in a battle fought in the late 1960s.

Atomic Missile "D" would not be down with the front-line troops. It would be with a corps—which commands two or more divisions. It would be a 75-mile "big gun" for knocking out distant strong points or troop concentrations. But it would be self-propelled, transportable by plane or helicopter.

Don't count on the Army having these weapons quickly. It will be a long, costly process to develop and integrate these weap-

Language Is Being Heavied Up

By EVERETT R. IRWIN United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI) — Old Noah would grab the dudidobber and take off into aerospace if he could see what's happening to the king's English.

The language is being heavied up by earth-men who whiz around the circumurbans, orbiters who use the wet sell and future planners more concerned with soft landings than with slobbism.

It's getting so a fellow of the Wonyy crowd can't make himself understood any more.

A sib isn't just for fodder, you one-time farmer boys. It's a concrete nest for launching an inter-continental ballistic missile.

Twelve plus two isn't fourteen. It's a Jersey dozen.

A kidult isn't an adult who never grew up. It's Madison Avenue's word for a television adventure series that attracts—it says here—both young people and adults.

A sales kit no longer is something a traveling salesman carries around. It's the whole process of entertaining a prospective customer.

Encyclopedia Britannica brought us old-fashioned up to date today with a "New Words and Meanings" article in its 1960 Book of the Year, a volume that updates its reference sets.

Most of the new words, phrases and meanings on the current list, Britannica said, blossomed out in 1958 or 1959 or first became prominent then. Some will live, others soon will die.

In case you're not hep, the book says a dudidobber is a part of the seat-ejection mechanism of the X15 rocket plane. Aerospace is, as the name suggests, the atmosphere and outer space.

Orbiters are polished in drinkmanship and make extensive use of the wet sell and Britannica explains, is the use of alcoholic drinks to grease business deals. The wet sell, it follows, is a business transaction facilitated by alcohol.

A soft landing is a controlled landing—on a planet, of course. A space broom sweeps radiation ahead of a space vehicle. If you're identifying and reporting space vehicles, you're categorizing.

County buster is a nickname for a nuclear warhead. Decoupling is a procedure for hiding a nuclear explosion.

Expressive new verbs include heavy up (to increase in size or strength), harden (to protect by putting underground) and paperize (to put into office operation).

Unplanned Obsolescence Gives Manufacturers Shakes

By LEROY POPE United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Economists can worry about "planned obsolescence" in merchandise if they want to, but it's unplanned obsolescence that gives many manufacturers sleepless nights.

Take president Henry Rand of International Shoe Co. of Saint Louis, the world's largest shoe manufacturer. In New York the other day on a visit, Rand talked about style obsolescence with United Press International. He shuddered at the suggestion that shoe manufacturers deliberately planned for their shoes to go out of style so folks would have to buy more.

"It's tough enough worrying about when your line's going out of fashion without planning it," he said emphatically. "The blunt truth is that we usually are completely in the dark when a style stops selling — and most of the time we never do find out why the public turned against it."

Rand said manufacturers can make some calculations about probable obsolescence of their styles by studying the way retailers have to mark down styles that don't sell readily at full price.

"By studying the amount of goods that has to be marked down we can arrive to some degree at a formula for taking style obsolescence into account in pricing," he said. "But as for planning shoes to last a certain length of time or stay in style a certain length of time so folks will have to buy more, it just isn't done. Shoes are planned and priced to fit what people will pay for them."

Styling has become enormously important in shoes over the years, Rand said. "This is particularly true of children's shoes. Before World War II, children's shoes were remarkably stable from the standpoint of styles. Now they require almost as much styling as adults' shoes. We even have to make pointed toes for quite young girls."

Mention of pointed toes reminded Rand again of the haunting spectre of obsolescence — unplanned. "I'd like to ask you a question — one nobody in the shoe business er, 'When are women going to can answer," he told your report-stop wearing pointed toe shoes? I'm convinced that sooner or later they will stop without warning — and perhaps the whole shoe industry will be caught with big inventories of pointed toes and take a bath in red ink." Your reporter later asked several females about this. Most of their reasons for wearing pointed shoes seemed vague and evasive, but one business woman snorted — "no woman would wear 'em if she could get good shoes without pointed toes. After all, the manufacturers had to make the pointed toes and the stores had to stock 'em before women could buy 'em."

AROUND THE WORLD

GYM JAM—Some British sailors formed this herringbone pattern on the "window frame" of the gymnasium of the Royal Naval Barracks in Portsmouth, England. All under 18, these Junior Ratings have to pass a grueling series of exercises on the floor-to-ceiling contraption as part of a new program.

COCK OF THE WALK—A rooster that's anything but chicken, this cocky bird seems to be taking its life in its hands as he strolls in front of a line of deadly marksmen at St. Petersburg, Fla. The men on the firing line were competing in the National Mid-Winter Small Bore Rifle Championships. The rooster is a stray-type mascot and not gun shy.

FULL CYCLE—At home on land or sea, this unusual motorcycle sidecar was demonstrated at Romford, Kent, England. The aquatic sidecar wheels along in normal fashion when attached to a motorcycle (below). But it becomes a boat, too, (top). It can be detached from the motorcycle in a few seconds and is powered by a two-cycle engine.

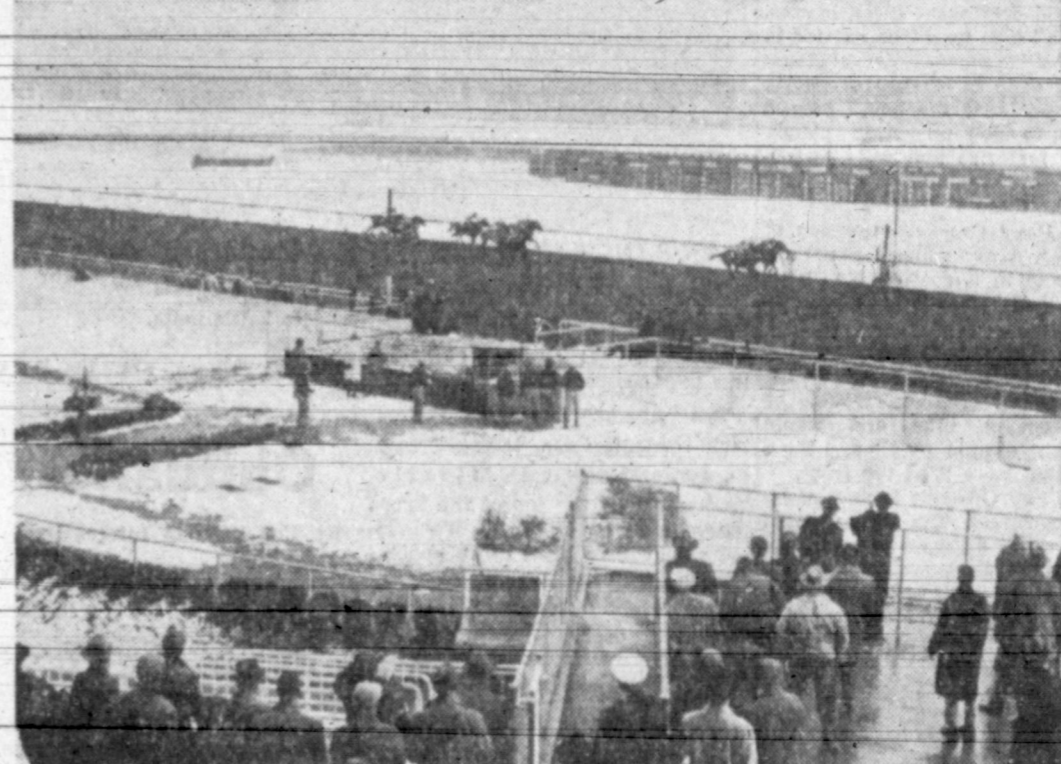

DISC JOCKEY—He's Ed Corns, heading for a soft one-point landing in the snow at Centerport, N. Y. He's jockeying his own version of a flying saucer and became airborne when he slid his disc sled over a big bump.

COME SUMMER—This golfer is wearing a colorful outfit made cool and lightweight. The short-sleeve shirt has a spread collar and the golf shorts have "Western" pockets. It's the coolest outfit in which to pursue that ball over a hot golf course.

CONVERSATION PIECE—Hooked up for talking as well as water-skiing, Judy DePew holds a new system for two-way intercommunication between boat and skier at San Francisco. The device puts the skier in command of action through the microphone-speaker unit on the tow line.

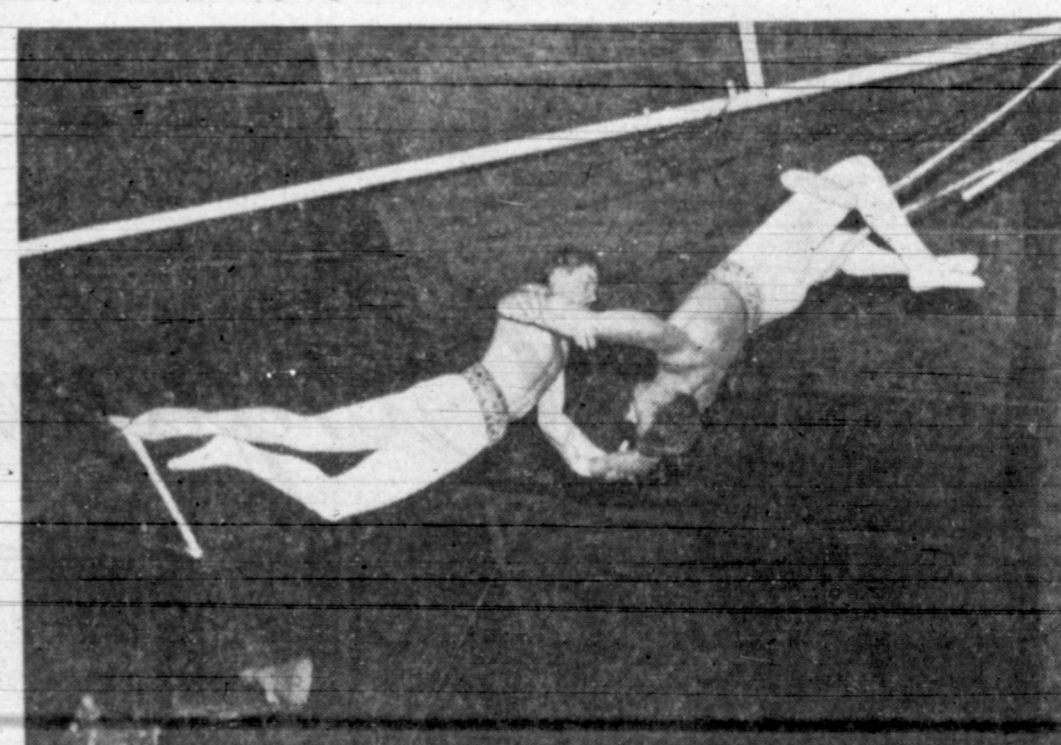

GO-IN SNOW—The weather seemed more suitable for skiing, but spectators watched the horses run at New York's Aqueduct Race Track. An unexpected snowfall had blanketed the city and its environs, giving the race track an unusual appearance.

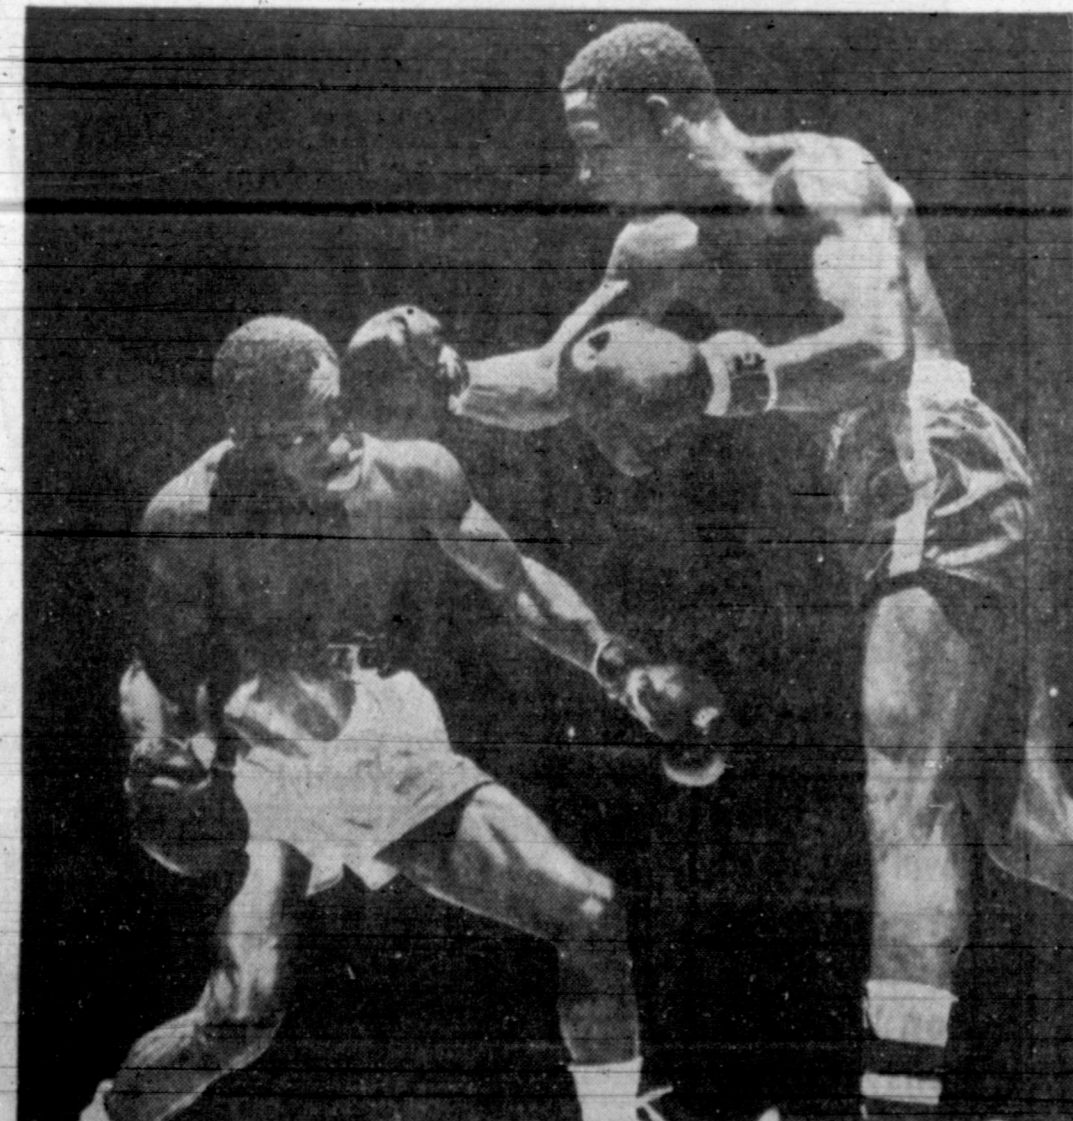

FAMILY AFFAIR—Side by side during spring training in Phoenix, Ariz., are Mateo Alou (left) and his brother, Felipe, of the San Francisco Giants. The lads are from Ciudad Trujillo, in the Dominican Republic.

LYING LOW—Utah State's Ralph Cullimore (5), and Providence's Leonard Wilkens are scrambling after a basketball like a couple of soccer players in Madison Square Garden. Providence won, 68-62, in the National Invitation Tournament.

THE SACK OF ROME—The sack is back—not as a dress, but an outsized handbag held by Debbie Reynolds in Hollywood. Inspired by the 1960 Summer Olympics in Rome, the Italian import has the five-ring Olympic insignia. It's the official carrying bag for Olympic teams.

SKID GO—Taking to the ice by accident, this boat kicked up spray as it skidded across a thick ice floe at Candlewood Lake, Conn. Piloted by former race boat driver Bob Bogle, the new jet-powered boat has neither propeller nor rudder.

Fanning the Flame... or Maybe Blowing It Out

Junior Loop Opens Season Behind Nats

Johansson Signs For Title Defense In June

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ingemar Johansson, jubilant over adding an airplane pilot's license to his accomplishments, plans to sign today or Wednesday for a return heavyweight title bout with Floyd Patterson the week of June 20 at the Polo Grounds.

"I feel fine and I hope to sign for the bout Tuesday or Wednesday," Johansson said after arriving by jet Monday night from Europe. "I plan to fly back to Europe Wednesday and will return to the United States May 3 to finish my training at Grossinger's."

After what appeared a leisurely training stint last summer at Grossinger (N.Y.), Ingo stunned Patterson and the boxing world by taking the heavyweight title from Floyd on a third round knockout June 26 at Yankee Stadium.

Since then, Johansson, the New York State Athletic Commission and the state attorney general's office have been sparring with various promoters, would-be promoters, managers and TV magnates.

The controversy-plagued path to the return bout appeared cleared Monday when Feature Sports and Jim Massey of Me Anz, Inc., which plans to promote the fight, reached a full agreement for the purchase of 100 per cent of the stock of Patterson Enterprises, Inc. The deal must be approved by the State Athletic Commission and the state attorney general.

Champ Sox Open With Athletics

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

The American League starts its 60th season in four cities today with everybody trying to catch the Washington Senators.

An estimated 125,000 fans should turn out in good weather hoping for at least partial answers to three big questions:

—Are the American League champions Chicago White Sox really that good?

—Are the New York Yankees really that bad?

—Has Frank Lane traded away the Cleveland Indians' pennant chances?

The American League, left at the post when the National League started its race on April 12, staged its "presidential opener" before President Eisenhower in Washington, D.C., Monday when Camilo Pascual set a club record of 15 strikeouts in a 10-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Washington fans thus were assured of rooting for a first-place team at least one day of the season.

An estimated 35,000 fans will see the White Sox open at home against the Kansas City Athletics but the day's top crowd—about 40,000—is expected at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium where the fans apparently are debating whether to hoist the American flag or Frank Lane to the center-field flag pole.

The Indians will have American League batting champion Harvey Kuenn playing center field and batting second while the Tigers will have ex-Cleveland favorite Rocky Colavito in right field and batting fifth. Kuenn and Colavito were the principals in Sunday's sensational trade that brought the fury of many Cleveland fans down on Lane's head.

A crowd of about 20,000 will see the Yankees open against the Red Sox in Boston and another 80,000 will see the Senators play the Orioles in Baltimore.

Early Wynn, 40, a 32-game winner in 1955, has been named to pitch for the White Sox against 16-game winner Bud Daley, a left-handed knuckleballer who beat the AL champs three times last season.

The Indians will have Gary Bell, 16-game winner as a rookie, on the mound. The Tigers are countering with Frank Lary, 17-10, in 1959.

The Yankees, who won 11 games and lost 13 during one of the worst exhibition showings in their history, are sending Jim Coates (6-1) against Tom Brewer, who has a 6-14 lifetime record against New York.

Jerry Walker, 11-10 with a 2.92 earned run average last season, is starting for the Orioles. The Indians are sending Pedro Ramos out to keep their winning streak intact.

The National League resumes with its first "crucial" (or at least more important than ordinary) meeting between pennant contenders as the Los Angeles Dodgers play the Giants at San Francisco, Chicago is at St. Louis and Philadelphia at Pittsburgh in other games.

Indians To Try Reclaiming Score

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Herb Score, once-known as the pitcher with a million dollar arm, today is the reclamation project of Chicago Manager Al Lopez.

Score, who has won 13 while losing 15 in the past three seasons, was traded Monday to Chicago by Cleveland Indians General Manager Frank Lane, who completed two major swaps in less than 24 hours.

In return, the Indians obtained youthful righthander Barry Lantieri, who in his first season won eight games for the American League champions last year.

"I reached the point where I felt Score could not win in Cleveland," Lane said in explaining the swap.

White Sox owner Bill Veeck said he wanted Score "because two of his finest years he had with Cleveland where when Lopez was manager there and he has the potential of being a really great pitcher."

Lopez said he was "very happy to get Score. He'll be a very valuable addition to our pitching staff."

"(Joe) Gordon didn't like me, Lopez does, and I'm sure I'll get along better with him," was Score's comment on the transaction.

When the senior was managing the Tribe, Score, during the 1955-56 season amassed 508 strikeouts and won 36, while losing 19.

The Indians rejected a million dollar bid made in 1957 by Joe Cronin, then general manager of Boston.

Score's star started to dim early in '57 when he was struck in the eye by a line drive from the bat of Gil McDougald of the New York Yankees. He returned to action late in the season and won several games. The following year an elbow injury sidelined him most of the season. In 1959, while appearing in 30 games for the former $60,000 bonus baby, won nine games in the first half and failed to win a game after July 3. He wound up the season with a 9-11 mark.

Boxing's Bad Boy Gets Long Denied Chance For Title Go

BOZEMAN, Mont. (UPI)—Joe Giardello, one of boxing's bad boys, gets a long denied title chance Wednesday, and the Brooklynn middleweight was confident today that he would win against middleweight champion Gene Fullmer.

"I've got peace of mind," he said, "for the first time since maybe 1954. I've got determination to win. I'm in the best shape I've been in for maybe five years, and I don't see how I can lose."

Giardello, 29, twice previously lost chances at the middleweight crown. Once he withdrew from a bout with champion Carl "Bobo" Olson because an injured knee stiffened up.

The second time he was not permitted to go through with an Olson fight because he was under charges of assault and battery in 1954 following a scrap between a group of his friends and a filling station attendant. He eventually served nearly four months of a six to 18 month sentence in the case.

Fullmer, who will be defending his national boxing title not recognized in New York and Massachusetts, was a 5-2 favorite despite Giardello's optimism.

He won the world crown previously with a decision over Sugar Ray Robinson, then lost it to statistics released by the NABA. Don Styron cracked the world's 220-yard hurdle mark with a 21.9 in a dual meet with Louisiana State April 2. His time was 2 of a second better than the mark of 22.1 set last May by Elias Gilbert of Winston-Salem (N.C.) Teachers.

Brother Dave Styron already has posted the best 220-yard dash time of 30.5.

The freshman who has turned in outstanding performances are Joe Paust of Occidental (Calif.), who has high jumped 6 feet 9 inches to top the best 1959 mark by an inch, and Northeast Louisiana's John Pannel, who has pole vaulted 15 feet 1/4 inch.

Four men have surpassed the top discus throw of 1959. Mike Lewis, Occidental, leads with 171 feet 5 1/2 inches, followed by Fred Smasher, Whitworth (Wash.) at 164 man on. But the Miller's Shop feat 11 inches, Al Santio of Maryland.

Morrow's Dash Record In Jeopardy At NAIA Meet

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—The 100-meter dash record held by Bobby Morrow, is likely to fall in the 1960 National Amateur Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) track and field meet.

Dave Styron, Northeast Louisiana, has bettered the 10.3 second mark set in 1958, and Sidney Garton, East Texas State, has tied the record. Styron has been clocked in 10.2.

The national meet is scheduled for St. Louis, S. D., June 3-4. Northeast Louisiana's track twins, Don and Dave Styron, and a pair of freshmen have been the outstanding performers this far.

Denver Keeps AA Record Unmarred

By United Press International

Denver was alone in maintaining an unmarred winning record today as American Association competition tightened.

The Bears scored an 8-3 win over Dallas-Fort Worth for a third straight victory, while Charleston downed Houston, 5-2, and Minneapolis defeated Indianapolis, 4-3.

A home run with two men on in the third gave Denver an early lead in scoring. The Bears followed through with one run in the fourth and three more in the third, capping the evening with one more in the eighth.

Indianapolis lost its first game of the season, despite a 2-0 lead in the second when Bart Dupon smashed a home-run with one man on. But the Miller's Shop Frazier evened the score in the

Shakeup In ABC Ratings

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI)—There is a chance that the American Bowling Congress standings, which have remained unchanged since April 12, may have an alteration some time today.

Peyton Printz of Muncie, Ind., had a 678 series in team events Monday night and carried this fine total into his minor events competition.

Printz started with a 248 game, then had a 243 and slipped to 187 to lead the Muncie Metal Spinning Club to a 2842 score, tops in open team play.

Rio Grande Tops Tulsa

By United Press International

The Rio Grande Valley team topped Tulsa from the ranks of the unbeaten, but the Oilers still held the top spot in the Texas League today.

If the Giants can repeat the performance tonight, they'll exchange places with the Oklahoma club.

The Giants pounded three Tulsa twirlers with a 12-hit attack and won the series opener 13-4. In other games, the Amarillo Gold Sox won their first game of the young season, whitewashing Austin 12-0, and San Antonio nipped Victoria, 6-3.

Ducote clouted a two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth to wrap it up for the Missions and put San Antonio into a deadlock for third place with Austin.

The same teams play again tonight.

Foreigner Has Good Chance To Win River Oaks Tourney

HOUSTON (UPI)—The 26th annual River Oaks Invitational Tennis Tournament moved into high gear today with defending champion Bernard (Bud) Barzen facing the strongest foreign contingent to ever compete in this swank tourney.

The field is jammed with American and Australian Davis Cup stars, and overseas figures this might be the first year for a foreigner to take the title in this prestige-laden meet.

Barzen, a crafty little southpaw from Dallas who plays best on the clay surface, used here, is top-seeded. Right behind him are seeded Fraser of Australia, the U.S. Singles champion, big Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, and Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn.

Roy Emerson, Fraser's Davis Cup doubles partner, isn't seeded, but he's ranked as the No. 1 dark horse and the pair is seeded first in doubles. Emerson has won three tournaments in the Caribbean circuit.

MacKay, who won this tournament two years ago, is drawing a lot of support because of his straight set victory last Sunday over Barzen in the finals of the Atlanta Invitational.

In first round matches today, the four top-seeded players go against collegiate stars. Barzen plays Tim Heckler of Lamar Tech, Fraser tackles Harry Parton of the University of Houston, MacKay faces Jim Watson of Pan American College, and Holmberg plays John Sharpe of Pan American.

The tournament actually opened Monday with non-exempt players, mostly collegians, battling for slots in the 32-berth draw. Among

Possible End To A Dynasty Phrased In 'Casey' Parody

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American League pennant race starts full blast today and with apologies to Ernest L. Thayer—herewith an ode to the possible end of a dynasty.

The outlook isn't brilliant for the Yankee club this day; the pennant score stands nine to two with one season more to play.

—And now that Bauer went out west, and Larsen did the same, a sickly silence fell upon patrons of the Yankee game.

A gasping few have given up in deep and dark despair. The rest cling to the hope which springs eternal in the human breast.

They think if only Casey could but get the wacks with bat, they'd put up even money, now, that Casey'd get it back.

Yet Neun preceded Casey, as did also Harris, Buckley, and the former was a lulu and the latter was unlucky.

So upon the stricken multitude grim melancholy thrives, for there seems but little chance this time of Casey getting first.

Sure Neun finished in the show spot, to the wonderment of all, and Buckley brought 'em home on top when they tore the cover off the ball.

Yet when the dust had lifted and the men saw what occurred, there was Buckley out of work because the Yankees finished third.

Then from a million throats and more there rose a lusty yell; it rambled through the valley, it rattled in the dell.

It knocked upon the mountain and recoiled upon the flat, for Casey, mighty Casey, had put on the pilot's cap.

There was ease in Casey's manner as he stepped into his place; there was a smite on Casey's face, and while they beat the bushes, and jiggled here and there, Casey stayed with most his old ones, and ignored their falling hair.

And when, responding to the cheers, he lightly doffed his hat; there were strangers in the crowd who sneered "Who in the world is that?"

Ten million eyes were on him and he double-talked them wide; five million tongues applauded as he got them on his side.

Then while his writhing rivals ground their teeth and did a flip, defiance gleamed in Casey's eye, a sneer curled Casey's lip.

Through nine of those next 11 years they hurtled through the air; and Casey stood a-watching it in haughty grandeur there.

His double talk got tribals and it was a joyous life, his Yankee knocked 'em over, even out too late with 'em.

The Opening Move?

The tight little knot of men were angry. Their voices were tense and an occasional fist was clenched.

"We've got to get more business and industry into this city," one of the men, a short, thick-set individual, was heard to say.

"Of course, we are," admitted a younger fellow, crew-cut and red-headed. "Industry doesn't have to come here. We've got lots of advantages which are here naturally, such as climate, scenery and so on. But for every advantage, it looks as though our governor and the rest of the politicians have deliberately tried to create an even greater disadvantage."

"You need two things," he observed. "You require some means of communicating your wishes to the public at large. Your wishes must be well reasoned and well presented. But they must be offered via some mass communicating medium. A newspaper is best. You must have a newspaper with you."

Rivers And Passion

Let us concede that there are many things wrong in human affairs. There are deeply-laid convictions that some persons must rule the affairs of others, however impractical or impossible this may be.

There are persons who seem almost to enjoy cruelty. And almost all of us fall far short of our hopes and expectations for ourselves. Human passions are deep seated and surge forward, sometimes sweeping us into rash statements or foolish acts.

Let us make an analogy. Here is a stream, rushing down the mountain, side. It rises high in the snow-packed ravines, gathers moisture from the dew-laden moss and ferns, gathers speed in precipitous plunges, and finally becomes a mighty river, hurling itself in headlong abandon to the sea.

Along the route of the stream's mad course man decides to erect a dam. In the case of the river, man well knows that the dam will merely restrain the river at that point. In no-way does man imagine that by erecting a dam, he will cause the river to stop running.

Talk On Taxes To A Rotary Club

In the last issue I was explaining some of the things I had said before the Rotary Club of Anahim on the subject of taxes.

Tax-Supported Schools Of course, the thing that shocks more people than any other part of limiting the government is tax-supported schools. They have been taught so long to believe that the government can educate while it can only train.

As Leonard Read remarks: "If the government for 100 years had been supplying shoes without any direct cost to the parents, and the government decided to stop supplying shoes, there would be a great clamor that those who opposed shoes being supplied were expecting children to go without shoes."

As an illustration, the roads are supported by the government and they are woefully inefficient, while there are plenty of automobiles and gas and oil and service stations that are owned for a profit motive.

The reason, of course, that private ownership of production is more efficient in that, in order to be successful, the private owner has to have an incentive in proportion to what the different units contribute to the operation.

When the youth of the land is taught to believe that he is going to get an education by attending school a certain number of days a week for a certain number of years, he doesn't realize that it is that he has to make the effort before he can get an education.

Known full-time "organizers" of Senator Stuart Symington are traveling about West Virginia offering to help anti-Kennedy leaders and groups line up votes against him. Also, considerable Symington campaign literature is appearing there, particularly in labor quarters, although the Missouri is not running in this primary.

Former Senator Earle Clements, Ky., a leading backer of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, is very active behind the scenes in his behalf in West Virginia.

Working closely with Clements, now Highway Commissioner of adjoining Kentucky, is Senator Robert Byrd, W. Va. He is in the forefront of a big Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner at Clarkburg on May 7, just three days before the primary. Senator Johnson is the guest speaker at this statewide fund-raising gathering.

Former National Chairman Frank McKinney, Ind., and William Boyle, Mo., who are leading Symington boosters, also have been in contact with Clements and Byrd. MORE OF SAME - The Kennedy camp is aware of other backstage "stop Kennedy" moves.

One is Senator Robert Byrd's effort to persuade a group of West Virginia senators to attend the Clarkburg rally. Two Westerners warily able to indoctrinate the youth of the land to believe in any form of welfare-statism, and the youth would grow up to believe that man must live by the sweat of his own brow and not by the sweat of somebody else's brow by exploitation.

I explained that it was only a few years ago that I knew, after I had graduated from a high school and from a Methodist college, that tax-supported schools was the principal plank of the Communist Manifesto.

The truly effective way to deal with crimes of passion, brutality, evil, whatever their nature, is to work to eradicate such passions by means of proper education and the awakening of desires within individuals to practice self-control. ONLY this is practical. The rest is foolish.

Looking Sideways

by WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK - The fierce old man used to try to teach me that the English language, in spite of the violence visited upon it and the snobbish bledges that surrounded it, was and is a sublime instrument also used to add that if you needed a word painting to describe a place, it did not exist in reality. He would say: "Start the thing this way: The village was there. Why do you have to say what kind of village and exactly where and how many houses and on what days the garbage was collected? It is a village and it is there. The Anglo-Saxon brutality for plain, blunt speech was a healthy force."

So this place was there. It was in 48th Street, since I must disturb the ashes of my ancient mentor. It was a day of cold, slashing rain in Manhattan and I wanted an Irish coffee. The window placard they had it. I went in. It was dark in there, gloomy and dank and some of the damp had fingered its way into the air of the place. I took a seat at the wood and a man with Mayo plainly written in the dirt of black hair over his forehead and the cold, blue eyes came over.

"Name the creature," he said. "It is a day for a bout with it." "I named it and it came, as hot as tenement hallways, redolent and inviting. He said since we were alone, he'd join up, and he did. We twisted the noggin stems declined on the ground of "pre-vious commitments." Another is that James Rowe, one-time New Deal brain-truster and a top Humphrey strategist, is urging an "all out" fight against Kennedy in West Virginia. Rowe advised doing this to a limited extent in Wisconsin, which Humphrey did over the strenuous disapproval of other important leaders.

Foremost among them is Joseph P. Kamp, director of Americans for Democratic Action. He vigorously opposed Rowe's counsel in Wisconsin and is doing the same regarding West Virginia.

Also labor leaders, spearheading Senator Wayne Morse's campaign against Humphrey in the District of Columbia primary, are being asked to use their influence against Kennedy in nearby West Virginia. So far nothing has come of these overtures.

Kennedy is still undecided about having his mother and sisters campaign for him in West Virginia as they did in Wisconsin. His younger brothers, Robert and Theodore, will do so. But with the exception of Kennedy's wife, the other ladies of his family may "skip this one" — on the advice of state lieutenants.

HOLD-OUTS - The big unions are staging a sitdown against the $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner of the Senate and House Democratic Campaign Committees on April 30. Democratic legislative chiefs had counted on labor's buying at least 100,000 of tickets. Aim of the party leaders is to raise $500,000 for this affair for fall electioneering purposes. So far the unions have cold shouldered it.

Some individual liberties have a right to be "kept" but that's all. "Bunt" reason union chiefs are giving for not forking over is that a portion of these campaign funds will go to Southerners. Senator George Smathers, Fla., and Representative Michael Kirwan, O., heads of the two Campaign Committees, are saying Southerners will get a "pro rata share" of this money for election expenses.

To that labor leaders are retorting: "We will contribute to individual Democratic candidates. But we are not going to give money to a fund that will go to candidates who will cut our throat after they are elected."

Around 2,000 tickets (approximately $200,000) have so far been sold for the April 30 dinner. This is far behind the anticipated sale, which was expected to be more than $300,000 at this point.

POLITICAL - District of Columbia campaign leaders for Senator Morse have employed 30 workers, at $1 an hour, to distribute literature for him. Explains A. L. Wheeler, head of both the Morse campaign and the District Democratic Central Committee, "I always hire people to hand out literature, because they are a lot more reliable than volunteers."

Senator Stuart Symington's campaign has one publicity distinction his rivals can't boast of. It's a "Youth For Symington Newsletter," published at Columbia, Mo. The masthead lists, in addition to a sizable staff, a big National Executive Board and a National Advisory Board, headed by Representative W. R. Hill, Mo. The glossy-paper publication is being mailed throughout the country.

BID FOR A SMILE - If there's anything unpleasant about a smile, it is the fact that the poor man gets to see a lot of smiles. This particular morning he stared over the top of his head into the smiling eyes of one of the best customers, a man who previously had been a regular customer. The customer, however, was not smiling. He was frowning. He was frowning because he had just seen a man who was smiling. He was frowning because he had just seen a man who was smiling. He was frowning because he had just seen a man who was smiling.

THE PRICE OF FREEDOM

Excerpts From an Address by THE HONORABLE NELSON S. DELWORTH

Editor's note: Intended quotations are from the official United States report on brainwashing of American POWs during the Korean conflict.

"The thing to be afraid of today is that we do not give an effective testimony to our youth of the value of American institutions and what they cost in the history of our race."

American Freedoms and Liberties are the product of the highest form of government ever achieved by mankind, but they require the highest type of citizens to make them work.

To be a good American requires a love of truth and justice, a willingness to sacrifice personal advantage for honor. The only secret police we have are the voices of conscience in the hearts of our loyal citizens who love our land and its institutions.

Our Constitution guarantees no results. It is primarily a series of rules of the game, a means of fairly determining the will of the people. Our Constitution will not work itself. We can no more have liberty and peace without effort than we can have bread without toil and labor. Our Constitution is entirely in the language of opportunity, a chance for the ambitious to achieve for the people of America.

Each new generation must be persuaded to keep America free, or America as we know it will perish. America is not a land of the air and in the air are powerless to preserve freedom, if it is lost in the hearts of men.

"The causes of the war, United Nations' objectives and the need for American intervention were not clearly delineated in the public mind. This lack of understanding prevailed among citizens and American fighting men."

Liberty is an achievement. It is not the natural state of man on this earth. It took long centuries of the continued sacrifice of blood and lives by our bravest and best youth to establish the principles of human rights and freedom. But like a great and magnificent temple or capitol that has taken a score or more of years to build, freedom can be destroyed in a moment's explosion of popular upheaval led by crafty schemers in organized groups that seek dictatorial power in times of national confusion or weakness.

Liberty once lost can only be regained by sacrificial toil of rebuilding, brick by brick, and column by column. Both in states and in the hearts of the people at a renewed cost of patriotic sacrifice.

"When plunged into a Communist indoctrination mill, the average American POW was under a serious handicap. Enemy police officers forced him to read Marxian literature. He was compelled to participate in debates. He had to tell what he knew about American politics and American history. And many times must he stand in the hearts of the Chinese or Korean instructors knew more about these subjects than he did. This brainwashing caught many American prisoners of guard. To most of them it came as a complete surprise and they were unprepared. Lectures—study groups—a blizzard of propaganda and hurricane of violent oratory were all a part of the enemy technique."

It is not only by sudden political coups that our institutions may fall, but by any great building, by lack of care of its structure and neglect of careful preservation of its foundations. If we fail to serve our political institutions faithfully and voluntarily in peace as in war, they will decay and fall.

THE CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

Young Negro
Gets Chair

AUSTIN (UPI)—Criminal Dist. Judge Mace Thurman Jr., pale and nervous, formally sentenced a young Negro Monday to die in the electric chair for raping a white grandmother.

The judge was nervous because Sammy Holmes became the first person he has sentenced to death since he became a judge three years ago.

Holmes, 21, has maintained his innocence and last week called a press conference in his cell to say that he would starve himself if sent to death row rather than "go through a living death."

Holmes exhausted his last appeal in Texas courts last week. The Court of Criminal Appeals turned down his plea for a rehearing, leaving only an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Johnnie B. Rogers, former state senator who represented Holmes, said he did not know whether a further appeal would be made.

DANIEL TO ATTEND DINNER

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. Price Daniel plans to be in Houston tonight to attend the Houston Press Club's annual Gridiron Dinner.

MILTON HUNKIN
... church dinner speaker
Teacher From
'Down Under' To Speak Wednesday

Milton Hunkin, exchange teacher from Australia, will speak at a semi-annual dinner in honor of new members at the Lamar Christian Church Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Hunkin will show color slides of Australia and close with some words of challenge, said David Mills, minister of the church. Hunkin is the headmaster of a school in Matiland, Australia, which has an enrollment of 820 pupils (grades 1 through 11) and 22 teachers. He has a wife and three children who remained in Australia. He has been teaching for 23 years and is now a Full-bright exchange teacher teaching in Perryton. He will return to Australia at the close of this semester.

Hunkin has been much in demand as a speaker the past seven months, having given 78 talks to various groups. In Australia, he is also a lay preacher for the Methodist Church. His visit with the Lamar Church promises to be most interesting, said Rev. Mills. The program will begin with a covered-dish meal to be brought by the members. Ernest Pulse, chairman of the membership committee, will introduce the new members who are being honored. Visitors are welcome.

Byrd Says
Kennedy
'Too Young'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-W. Va.) says Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) is too young and inexperienced to be president.

Kennedy, who is 42, and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), 48, are the only contenders in the May 10 Democratic presidential primary in West Virginia.

Byrd is backing Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.), 51, who is not campaigning in any of the pre-convention presidential primaries.

Returning from a five-day tour of 27 West Virginia counties, Byrd said that Kennedy "lacks the age and experience to be president in these perilous times."

Byrd said in a statement that he could not feel secure in the thought of Kennedy "sitting down with the Adenauers, the de Gaulles, the Macmillans and the Khrushchevs as our country wrestles with important problems in the field of international affairs."

Lowest Draft Call

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department has issued the lowest draft call since the start of the Korean War: It asked Selective Service Monday to induct 5,800 men into the Army during June.

This was 500 below the draft call for each of the previous four months. The Defense Department said the low June draft was caused by the Army reducing its strength to meet budget requirements.
