Bombing Of Negro Home Shatters Calm In South

Incident In White Section Of Atlanta

United Press International

A Negro home in a white section of Atlanta was bombed Wednesday night in a fresh outburst of racial violence in the South.

The incident shattered an uneasy calm that prevailed over most of the South where Negro college students have been demonstrating against segregated lunch counters.

In Nashville, Tenn., police arrested seven Negroes after a young white man was attacked on a mid-town street. He told officers the Negroes ganged up on him, cut his pants with a knife and hit him with a piece of hose.

A Negro man was wounded in the arm by a gunshot in Nashville, and police first blamed a carload of white teen-agers. The youths were questioned and released.

No one was in the house at the time the dynamite charge went off. A Negro family had moved in furniture and planned to occupy the house in the near future.

However, it was reported that residents of the all-white neighborhood were disturbed over the purchase of the home by Negroes. While the family was moving in furniture Tuesday, several white youths pelted the home with rocks. One of the Negroes poked a shotgun out the door and threatened to shoot if they didn't stop.

The dynamite blast was concentrated beneath the house and blew out part of the foundation. Police said apparently only one stick of dynamite was used. A 100-foot length of wire leading to a six-volt battery in a nearby field was found.

A Negro leader said the chance of anti-segregation protest demonstrations in Roanoke, Va., has increased. The Rev. R. R. Wilkins, president of the local NAACP branch, said that after meeting bi-racial groups in recent weeks, he believes the hope of improving race relations without demonstrations, boycotts or lawsuits is fading.

Collins Seeks To Restore South Dignity

PRINCETON, N. J. (UPI) — Gov. LeRoy Collins urged the South Wednesday night to avoid racial uproar and lose its "political inferiority complex" in order to take its rightful place in the nation's leadership.

The Florida governor said the North should recognize that the South is capable of providing a fine example to the world of economic and educational progress.

"But if the South should wrap itself in a Confederate blanket and consume itself in racial fury, it would surely miss its greatest opportunity for channeling into a wonderful future the products of change now taking place."

"It would also bury itself politically for decades to come," Collins said.

Collins addressed a conference at Princeton University on the (See COLLINS, Page 4)

C of C Plans Program To Aid Clean-Up

Members of the fire prevention committee of the chamber of commerce met this morning to complete details of the yearly clean-up campaign, scheduled April 25 through May 10.

George Neef, Jr., chairman, said the campaign will begin in ward four April 25, with pick-up dates set for April 25, 26 and 27. Pick-up dates in ward three are April 28 and 29 and May 2. Ward two, May 3, 4 and 5, and ward one, May 6, 9 and 10.

Sound-car program coordinator is Jiggs Cooke, assisted by Jim Conner, James Gallemore, Ernest Winborne and Melvin Jayroe. Jack Nichols is in charge of the educational program in schools and service clubs.

Neef said the city will furnish all trucks and labor to pick up trash and debris placed in the alleys.

He said in the event inclement weather stops the operation, the remainder of the schedule will be followed and after May 10, workers will return to the area missed and its trash and debris picked up.

The sound truck will precede workers into the wards giving instructions on the placing of trash and debris in alley containers.

A Younger HST Just Might Run

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman said today that if he were 15 years younger he might again seek the Democratic presidential nomination.

"But, as it is," he said, "it's not fair to the country to hog it."

Truman, feeling in "excellent health," took his traditional morning walk covering 15 blocks at a brisk pace and talked to newsmen all the way.

Asked if he might be persuaded to run for president again, he replied:

"There's an old woman who keeps following me named Anno Domini and she's going to count 78 this May."

"If she could turn back the clock 15 years, I would have no doubts about making up my mind again. But it's not fair to the country to hog it."

As for the possibility he might accept a draft, he said, "This draft business is a lot of hokey. There never was a man drafted for the presidency in the history. The draft is created by a fellow who wants it and is willing to fight for the presidency."

HOME DESTROYED — The Rev. Murlie Rogers, pastor of the Sunnyside Baptist Church, his wife and their son stand in the wreckage of their home destroyed by a tornado that ripped into Sunnyside, Tex., and killed three persons and injured many others. Rev. Rogers was inside the house when the twister struck, moving the house some 100 feet off its foundation. The pastor received some cuts, but was not seriously injured.

Ransom Deadline Nears In Peugeot Heir Kidnaping

PARIS (UPI) — Roland Peugeot carried from his father's house to his own apartment today an unmarked black satchel that may have contained $100,000 kidnapers demanded for the ransom of his four-and-a-half year old son, Eric.

Police and members of the family refused to comment but a member of the family asked a newsman and photographers maintaining a vigil outside not to follow Roland if he left again.

Just when Peugeot went to the home of his father, millionaire automobile industrialist Jean-

Pierre Peugeot, could not be determined. But newsmen saw him leave there and return to his own home with the satchel.

A source close to the family said at 10 a.m. that there had been no contact with the kidnapers in 11 hours.

Roland, 34, made it clear to newsmen Wednesday night he was willing to give up just about all of his considerable fortune if necessary to get his son back.

"I am only seeking one thing—to get back my boy, for the fact is there, I have lost my child," he said.

Police and the Peugeot family, owners of a 300 million dollar a year automobile empire, dropped a veil of silence over the case today as the end of a 48-hour deadline approached.

The kidnapers warned in a note left at the scene of the crime that the chubby-faced, blue eyed boy would be slain if police were notified.

Presumably the deadline would run out between 4 and 5 p.m. today (10 and 11 a.m. e.s.t.). For it was between those hours on a pleasant Tuesday afternoon that a man believed to be in his early 20's walked up to Eric at play and said "come." And Eric went.

The pleas of the distraught father persuaded police not to try to interfere with negotiations for the youngster's return "for a reasonable time."

However, the commissioner of the Paris 1st Mobile Brigade, Andre Pierangeli, and Director General Rene Verdier of the Surete Nationale French equivalent of the FBI, marshaled 3,000 policemen throughout France to be prepared for an all-out hunt at a moment's notice.

Eric's father, Roland, vice president and son of the owner of the Peugeot works, appeared on television Wednesday night and appealed to the kidnapers not to harm his son.

Show Of Humility By Pope In Foot Washing

ROME (UPI) — Pope John XXIII gives an example of Christian humility today by washing the feet of 13 priests representing races from the four corners of the world.

For the first time, Negro and Asiatic priests were included in the traditional Holy Thursday ceremony in the Pope's own basilica, St. John's in Lateran.

The Pope's choice of African priests at a time of racial strife in South Africa and the United States appeared to be a protest against intolerance, which the Pontiff often has condemned in sermons. It followed his naming of the first Negro, Filipino, and Japanese cardinals in modern Roman Catholic history.

The pre-Easter ceremony is as old as Christianity itself. The rite commemorates Christ's own act of humility in washing the feet of 12 disciples of the eve of his crucifixion.

Popes have performed the ceremony through the centuries with 13 men taking part, although there were only 12 apostles of Christ.

The extra man was added by a 4th Century pope, St. Gregory the Great, who discovered a 13th pair of feet among those he was (See POPE, Page 4)

Malaya Swears In New King

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (UPI) — Sultan Sir Hisamuddin Alam Shah was elected king of Malaya today and sworn in in a simple ceremony at his new official residence.

The election of Sir Hisamuddin by the chiefs of the nine Malay states came as a mild surprise. Syed Hassan Jamalullail, chief of Perlis state, had been rumored to be the favorite.

The new king, Malaya's second, is sultan of Selangor and had served as deputy to the late ruler Tuanku Abdul Rahman.

Under the constitution adopted when Malaya became an independent member of the British commonwealth in 1957, the heads of the Malay states elect a king from among their number to serve for a five-year term. A deputy ruler also is elected.

FBI Holds Two More 'Jokesters'

By United Press International

A construction company sales engineer and a mild-mannered glass worker became the fourth and fifth persons arrested within seven days for "joking" that bombs had been planted on airplanes.

Julius Roudolph Radwanski, 35, of Hunting Valley, Pa., was arrested by the FBI Wednesday night at Columbus, Ohio, for allegedly telling an airline clerk his suitcase was heavy because it had a bomb in it.

Glass worker William A. Grant, 45, of Belmont, Calif., was arrested earlier in the day in San Francisco.

Both were freed on bail. They face possible one-year prison sentences and $1,000 fines if convicted.

Crucial Empire Parley

Race Conflict To Test Unity

LONDON (UPI) — South Africa's bloody race conflict will confront the multi-racial British Commonwealth with a critical test of unity next month.

A falling grade could start a split-up of the loosely linked worldwide association of nations. The test will come at a 10-day conference of commonwealth prime ministers opening here May 3—the first since 1956.

To Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will fall the delicate task of trying to prevent an angry showdown between South Africa and the commonwealths Asian and other African members.

Although the conference was called long before the present South African racial crisis and the attempted assassination of Prime Minister Hendrik P. Verwoerd, officials here agreed that South Africa's controversial apartheid policies of racial segregation will be the major issue.

Apartheid has been denounced in violent terms by many of the Asian and African commonwealth leaders — particularly Ghana's (See PARLEY, Page 4)

Embargo On Arms Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. British and French foreign ministers today debate the merits of a plan to seek an agreement with Russia to limit arms shipments to turbulent Africa.

They also planned to consider a French suggestion to invite the Soviet Union to join the West in a cooperative program of aid to underdeveloped areas.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter considers both ideas "unrealistic" but the United States has not definitely turned down either one.

American officials may decide there is enough propaganda mileage in the ideas to make proposals worth while, even if they have little chance of being accepted by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville were holding the final meeting of their three-day strategy session here to hammer out a united Western front for the May 16 summit conference in Paris.

Cuba Prepares For A Seige In Oriente

HAVANA (UPI) — The Army is building barracks for 3,000 men in Oriente province, apparently in the belief that the struggle against anti-government guerrillas there will be long and arduous, it was reported today.

Well-informed sources said the barracks are being built at Palma Soriano, one of eastern Cuba's principal garrisons and headquarters of the Oriente provincial regiment.

Word of the apparent troop buildup coincided with reports of mounting anti-government activity in the eastern province, traditionally Cuban "hotbeds of revolution."

The sources said a band of about 12 men tried Tuesday night to blow up the water tanks at Palma Soriano. Another band of about 50 guerrillas was reported operating in the vicinity of the logging town of El Uvero and a third group of about 35 men in the vicinity of Baitiquiri.

Premier Fidel Castro himself has been reported leading troops and militia against an anti-government force led by ex-Maj. Manuel Beaton, a former Castro aide.

CBS newsmen Richard Bates reported from Santiago Wednesday that Castro had vowed in a short-wave radio interview he would "liquidate" Beaton's guerrillas "by Friday night."

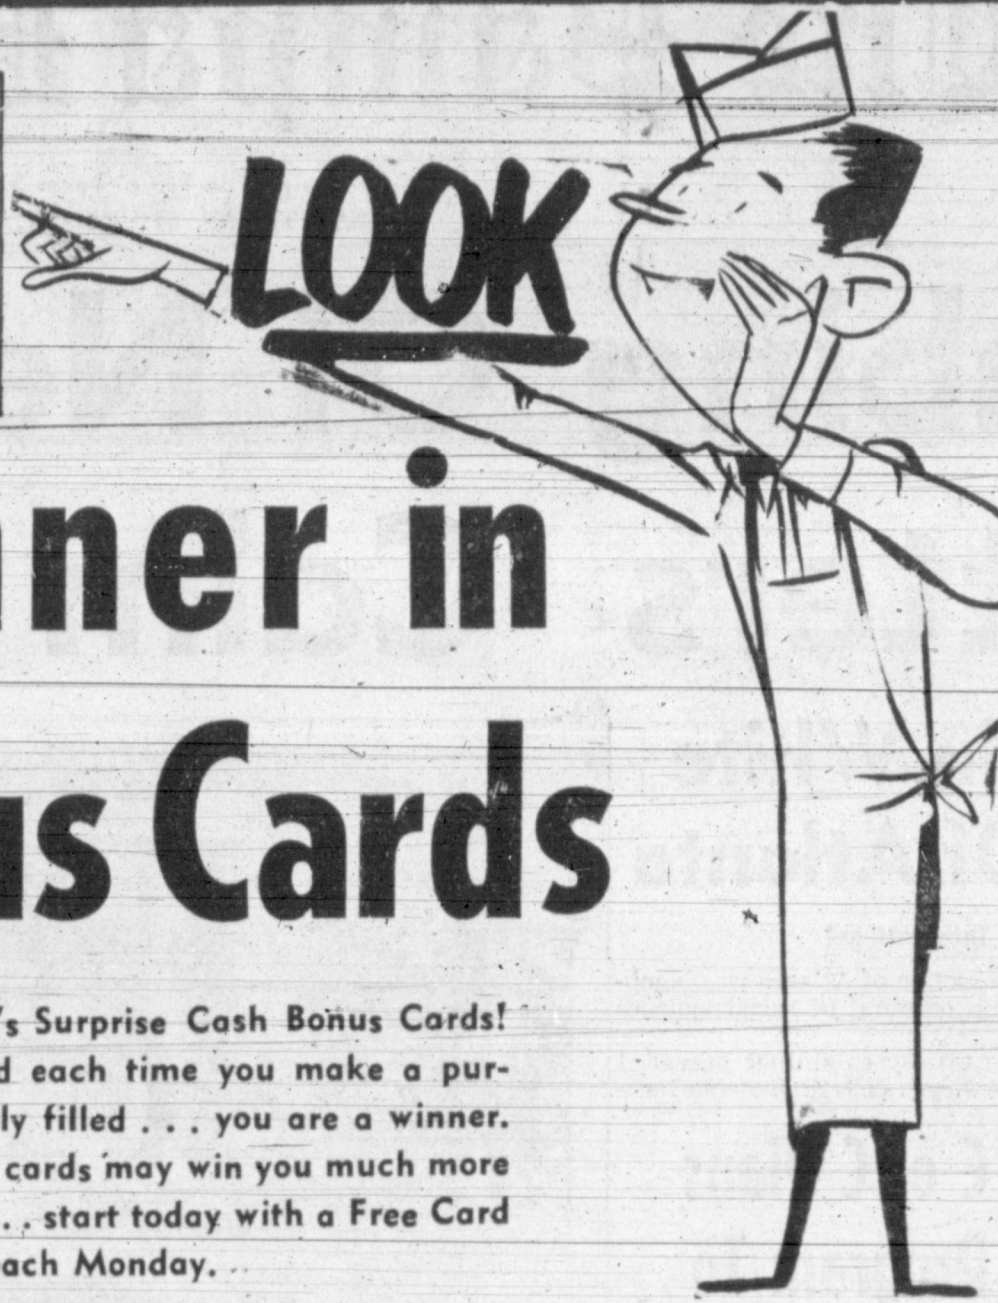

Bates quoted Castro as saying that his forces already had captured Beaton's "chief lieutenant" and two other guerrillas. None of the three was identified by name.

None of these reports could be confirmed officially. In answer to a question from UPI, the officer of the day at Palma Soriano said that "no operations" are going on.

The official story is that Castro is "inspecting land reforms" in Oriente. Observers here believed the government was waiting to see whether the operation against Beaton was successful before confirming his role in the manhunt.

Reports from Santiago said the hillmen of the Maestra mountains who once sheltered Castro himself, are now aiding Beaton because of dissatisfaction with stiff taxes levied by the Castro regime.

Lions To Fix Up Ball Park

LEFORS (Sp1) — Plans were made to prepare the ball park for Little League baseball teams this summer at a board of directors meeting of the Lefors Lions Club Monday morning.

New dugouts will be added this year, in addition to backstops for the bases, cement bases for water fountains, and general clean-up.

It was also decided to continue the Gun Club throughout the summer months every second and fourth Sunday.

Ray Chastain, first vice president, presided over the evening meeting.

The district meeting will be held in Berger April 22, 23, 24. Talent from Lefors public schools furnished the program of the evening. The Barbershopbers, Dickie Archer, Bill Nichols, and David Roberts, gave three numbers.

Cold Front After Moisture Laden Air

By United Press International
Rains up to more than three inches were recorded in North Texas today as a weak, stationary cold front extended north and south across Texas from Wichita Falls to Del Rio. The rains fell on the heels of heavy thunderstorms and tornadoes in the Panhandle Tuesday night and Wednesday.

The heavy rain it had received no reports of trouble. Skies were clear west of the cold front and the temperatures plunged to freezing—an even 32 degrees at Dalhart early today. Skies were cloudy to the east of the front and temperatures were in the 60s and 70s. Blinding thunderstorms raked North Texas Wednesday and early today, but the rains were spotty. Wichita Falls recorded 1.48 inches for the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. today.

Businessmen Becoming Participants Instead Of Spectators In Politics

PRESIDENT AND MRS. EISENHOWER greet Republican leaders who took time out from their duties to attend a Young Republican training school in Washington.

By BRUCE BOSSAT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — American businessmen in 1960 are coming out of their walnut-paneled shells and junior executive cubby-holes to plunge in large numbers into the political arena.

Started by organized labor's huge triumph in the 1959 Democratic sweep, seeing their business affairs tightly enmeshed in politics, they've been spurred to build strength.

They're tired of pressing their case on lawmakers elected with somebody else's help, of being the "victims" instead of the makers of political weather.

Today battalions of businessmen who for a generation looked on politics as a spectator sport are invading the lowly precinct, getting calluses on their doorbell fingers, burning the late oil and dingy, converted stores and even running for office.

As of now some 70,000 businessmen in perhaps 4,000 companies have taken or are taking workshop courses in practical politics. They learn the basics (What is a precinct? How do you pass a law?) and then slip out into the field.

One big company pioneering in politics has seen 300 of some 2,000 course members jump in. Two-thirds of these hold office.

A workshop plan in Syracuse, N.Y., led 91 per cent of 300 participants to get their feet wet. Before their study, only 17 per cent had ever taken part.

Reports of businessmen active in politics filter in from Schenectady, N.Y., Pittsburgh, Tampa, Fla., St. Louis, Minneapolis, Sturgis, S.D., Marshalltown, Ia., Marinette, Wis.—an endless list.

They focus on the precinct, the ward, the school district, the political ground floor. It's the spot where the most can be done in a man's spare time—a vital factor for businessmen holding other regular jobs. Ninety per cent of the country's elective and appointive political jobs, mostly at the local level, are part-time.

At the local level, too, many business problems have their key: zoning, taxes, community facilities, worker housing, etc.

The time factor keeps most top executives out of active participation even in the small local units. Most recruits come from the men 35 to 45 in "middle management."

They have their own hazards. Company presidents and directors of "public affairs" may encourage their taking part. But immediate supervisors who count the times a man goes to the water cooler often frown on rising executives who sneak off early to headquarters, or use the telephone for politics in business hours.

Intra-company worries over promotion and pay are not the only concern of the businessman in this

While alarmed at labor's success, business fears its participation may stir new counterforce in the larger ranks of the working man.

Long persuaded their public image is poor, businessmen also fear hostile reaction from other elements. And they wonder whether professional politicians may look on their effort as a move to "clean them out."

Yet surveys tell them 70 per cent of the people approve businessmen in government posts but only 39 per cent like to see labor leaders so placed. More good labels than bad attach to businessmen, in the public's view.

Others remind shaky novices that messy-business skills—administration, organization, promotion, public relations—are highly adaptable to politics.

But the businessmen's long background of inactivity makes their doubts and fears understandable. A steel company measuring its managerial brains found 87 per cent of its supervisors didn't understand the kind of government they live under. 55 per cent didn't know how federal laws are passed. Nationally, more than two-thirds of the businessmen recently questioned had never spoken with their Washington representatives, and half had never written them.

Of 63 companies replying to a 1958 query, just 14 had policies favorable to employ political activity.

But by late 1959 a bigger test showed most of 200 companies favorable. Following the pioneers like

Johnson and Johnson, General Electric and Ford, hundreds of companies are shaping their own political education programs, installing public affairs directors, encouraging the big plunge.

Thousands of others are making use of the package workshop programs devised by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the National Association of Manufacturers, and others.

The November election will show whether all this late-blooming activity can have major effect on the big choices at the polls. Even if it does not, however, many believe the businessman's political liberation is over for good.

Brokerage House Profits By New Attitude, Dress

By LEROY POPE
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of the oldest and most staid Wall Street brokerage houses is giving itself a face-lift because of a motivational research report it ordered from a brush outfit in Chicago.

After hearing what some of its customers and its competitors' customers thought about Hornblower & Weeks, the company has started changing its habits drastically.

The report brought many sharp—even harsh—criticisms of brokerage houses in general. The fact that most of those questioned—like Hornblower & Weeks or the broker they were dealing with—couldn't gloss over the fact that lots of people either are abysmally ignorant about brokerage houses or have a bad opinion of them.

Some of the folks interviewed complained they had visited brokerage houses, but never had found one that offered much encouragement to a stranger to open an account. Women complained they felt out of place or ill at ease in brokers' boardrooms.

Others said the folks in brokers' offices are far too presumptuous of the average person's knowledge of stocks or bonds. Many complained of "indifferent" customers' men. Other said customers' men weren't well enough trained or even educated.

One obviously prosperous man said he opened a $500 account in one of the big national houses and that the account executive was about "as interested as a dime store clerk" in his order. So he took his next order—for $42,500—elsewhere.

Another said—"I believe most brokers today recommend certain stocks not knowing themselves why the customer should own it."

Another griped—"you have never sought me to offer me profitable investment advice." A woman said she had changed to Hornblower & Weeks years before because she often had felt other brokers and banks "deliberately gave me bad advice to further their own interests." Since becoming a Hornblower & Weeks customer the lady said she had prospered.

Hornblower & Weeks executives used to sit primly in their offices, trying to look busy even when things were dull. Now orders are out to accept invitations to spread the gospel of investment in good securities by speaking at public gatherings, even at ladies' bridge clubs.

The company is shaking up its offices, throwing out old furniture, and making them bright and cheery, so the ladies as well as men, will feel more at home.

Texas Navy To Be Reviewed

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. Price Daniel said the Texas Navy, some 300 boats strong, will hold its second annual review one week from today on San Jacinto Day.

The power boats will maneuver in the Houston Ship Channel and will be reviewed at the San Jacinto Battleground. Each craft will fly the Texas flag and bear the Texas Navy insignia.

The fleet will be reviewed by Gov. Daniel and his party from the deck of the USS Sam Houston.

The Commandant of the Eighth Naval District has assigned the destroyer USS Wren to participate in the maneuvers.

Daniel reorganized the Texas Navy two years ago as a patriotic organization and Civil Defense arm for flood and disaster relief.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

Law Day Proclaimed

For the third consecutive year, May Day has a special significance in this country. By proclamation of President Eisenhower, May 1st is again to be observed as LAW DAY U.S.A. This is a special day dedicated across our nation to observance of the fact that we have a government of law instead of men. It is particularly appropriate that Americans set aside this day each year to demonstrate to the world — and to ourselves — that our belief in individual freedom under law remains strong and unshakable.

Why is it that some men are able to live in freedom while others cringe under a rule of tyranny? We owe our rights and freedoms to our state and national constitutions, our laws, and our courts. In other lands, there are no rights and people are subjected to the edicts and whims of individuals unhampered by legal restraints.

Most of us tend to take it for granted that an individual is free to think for himself and that his rights are protected by law. We know without actually admitting it that our whole way of life is governed by this rule of law.

Law is the intangible force guaranteeing all of us freedom, peace and progress — ideals which have been, and are, dependent upon the adequacy of our legal system and the protection of the individual by our courts.

On May 1st, then, this year and every year, with the nation's attention focused on LAW DAY U.S.A., it behooves us to rededicate our belief and faith in this rule of law that is the birthright of all Americans.

It is this liberty and equality under law that distinguishes our system of government from communism. Without laws and the courts, these freedoms we take so for granted would be meaningless.

Our respect for law is vital to the continued growth and strengthening of our nation: our thoughtful observance of LAW DAY U.S.A. in a real sense distinguishes America from those who today live under tyranny; it is our answer to communism. LAW DAY U.S. is the American way.

(This column prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Mothers Sponsor Cage Banquet

LEFORS (Sp) — Mothers of high school basketball players sponsored a banquet for players Monday at 7 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

The informal affair was under the direction of Mrs. Earl Atkinson.

Schools superintendent Jerry Jacobs was master of ceremonies. G. N. Moulter, high school principal, was the speaker for the evening.

Joe Wagner was accompanied by Pat Berry at the piano as he gave a medley of numbers on the electric guitar. Sandy Call, Pat Berry, and Jan Atkinson sang several songs.

Gifts were presented to basketball coaches Ronald Adams and Dale Prescott.

Dr. Worthington Sheffield, a dentist, invented the toothpaste tube in 1892.

Adlai Making Like Candidate

By RAYMOND LAHR United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Adlai Stevenson reclaimed a share of Democratic attention Wednesday while the two active campaigners for the presidential nomination took a rest.

Despite denials that he is a candidate, Stevenson is holding the reins for the Democratic National Convention to draft him for a third try at the White House if other candidates falter.

After touring Latin America while the 1960 campaign warmed up, he made the first speech since his return Tuesday night at a Founder's Day celebration at the University of Virginia.

He translated many quotations from Thomas Jefferson, founder of the university, into a 1960 campaign document which was an indictment of the Eisenhower administration.

Stevenson accused the administration of deception and concealment which he said was denying the American people information they need about the world crisis confronting them.

"Our foreign policy has been dominated by sterile anti-Communism and stupid wishful thinking, our domestic policy by fear of inflation and mistrust of government," he said.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), who won the Democratic presidential primary in Wisconsin last week, and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), the loser, broke off campaigning to rest until after Easter.

Humphrey announced he would return next Tuesday to West Virginia, where he faces a second two-man contest with Kennedy in the presidential primary May 10.

Crackdown On Red Army

By K. C. THALER United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet officials apparently are getting ready for a new crackdown on Red Army commanders who refuse to buckle under to Communist Party directives.

An issue of the official Red Army newspaper Sovietskaya Armiya which has reached London complains about officers "who forget party instructions."

The newspaper admits that renewed friction has cropped up between professional army men and the political "commissars" who are assigned by the Kremlin to keep them under thumb.

A conference of party secretaries will be called soon to take up this situation which "cannot be tolerated," Sovietskaya Armiya said. The meeting was expected to set the stage for a Kremlin crackdown against army leaders viewed as too independent.

Army resentment toward the Communist functionaries who attempt to guide training and organizational policies is not new in Russia. However, it had thought to be on the wane under the more liberal policies of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The conflict was greatest under the late Joseph Stalin, especially during the war years when commissars exerted supreme control over army units and frequently countermanded orders of the field commanders.

At issue is a paradox which confronts all totalitarian regimes who use a strong military to enforce their tenure in government. They take a chance their commanders will someday feel that politicians are just an added encumbrance.

Even With Speed-Up, Saturn Rocket Won't Be In Outer Space Until 1964

By RAY CROMLEY, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The giant Saturn rocket towers on the stand at Huntsville, Ala., where two of its engines were found tested successfully March 28.

The big space booster with its cluster of eight engines and 1 1/2 million pounds of kickoff thrust is America's hope in its drive to start to catch up with Russia in space.

But the way it looks now—even with the speed-up and overtime—it will be the summer of 1961 before there's an actual Saturn rocket sent into the air from Cap Canaveral. And that will be only the first stage—with dummy second and third stages to give the proper weight and balance.

It will be three years and 10 test firings later—the summer of 1964—before the first Saturn rocket fires off into space on its first mission. On that mission it will probably have only five first and second stages.

The three-stage Saturn probably won't be fired into mission until late in 1964, the five-stage Saturn probably several years after that.

But beginning in 1964, and for five years after, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will send four Saturns a year into space on scientific jobs—a total of 24 in all before the end of this decade.

This assumes that Congress votes the money and that things go according to schedule.

But even the Saturn won't bring the U.S. up with the Russians in space. The way American scientists calculate, the Soviet will do by 1962 what Saturn will be able to do in 1964.

When the bugs are ironed out of Saturn, it will have some manned jobs.

It's scheduled to be used to boost into space the new test nuclear rockets that are now on the planning boards.

It will "kick" giant multi-ton communications satellites 22,500 miles above the earth. Each will have "in-view" 70 million square miles of the world's surface. Eventually, there will be three of these evenly spaced around the world above the equator.

It's going to put a giant 40-ton laboratory into orbit 300 miles above the earth. This would be large enough to carry several scientists. But the first Saturn-boosted satellite will probably be unmanned.

Saturn will "shoot the moon" in a three-stage Saturn rocket should be able to gently land a three-ton cargo on the moon itself—to put a super one-ton satellite circling around the moon.

It is scheduled to hit Mars. A full-powered Saturn rocket with stages should be able to land almost a ton of scientific instruments on Mars or a goodly-sized package on Venus. Or circle one or either of these planets.

Sometime, Saturn will have five stages. These super rockets will be able to land on the moon, then take off and land softly back on the earth. That's providing everything works perfectly and no one makes any mistakes. The super rockets are even calculated to be able to make round trips to Mars or Venus.

The Saturn will be the work horse of the space field. Two hundred feet high and 31 feet across, it will do most of the big unmanned space jobs in the mid-1960s. It will put up weather and navigation satellites, reconnaissance and missile-warning stations.

In the long run, scientists figure, a major Saturn task will be putting up space platforms, piece by piece, into 300-mile-high orbits around the earth.

There's one group that argues these platforms will themselves be the best starting stations for space flights. They also would have military use—they could be missile launching platforms.

The three-stage Saturn will have about three times the "cargo" carrying capacity the scientists were calculating a year ago. The reason: a super powerful fuel of liquid oxygen and liquid hydrogen. The blast-off stage won't use it. But the second and third stage rockets will.

Invention of the acceleration has been credited to both Frederick Buschmann of Berlin and Daniel of Austria in 1829.

Plane Crash Fatal To Four

MINERAL WELLS, Tex. (UPI) — A four-place private plane, possibly from Odessa, crashed northwest of Mineral Wells Wednesday and killed four persons — two men and two women.

Bill Houghton, one of the publishers of the Mineral Wells Index, saw the bodies of a man and a woman about 150 yards from the wreckage and the bodies of another man and another woman in the plane.

Officials said the plane hit a tree, broke up and dove into the ground. Houghton talked to a school bus driver who said he saw a wing come off in the air.

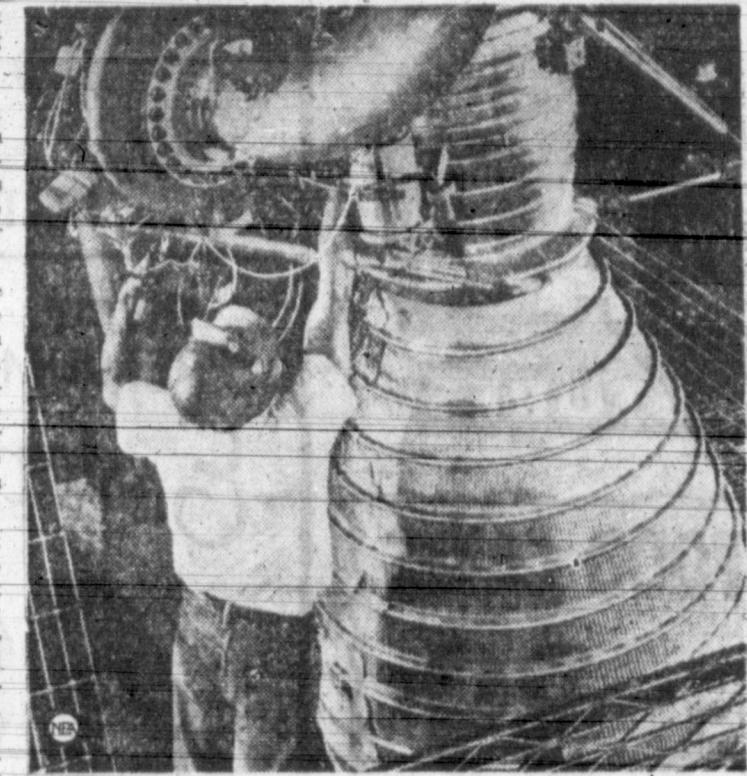

One body was identified as that of Dr. James William Rainer of Odessa.

The plane was maroon colored. It was windy, but the weather was not rough. Wreckage was scattered for a quarter of a mile.

The plane crashed three miles south of Bradford, which is northwest of Mineral Wells in Palo Pinto County.

Capital Is Crowded For Cherry Blossom Festival

Easter

Spring in all its glory is bursting forth in the nation's capital. The annual cherry blossom festival is in full swing, although the cherry blossoms have not yet blossomed.

However, nature will surely take care of this little matter before Easter. It seems each year that man and nature have difficulty in their timing. If the festival is set late, the blossoms bloom early and if the festival is set early, the blossoms bloom late. In any event, it is always a festive occasion and one which is enjoyed by all.

But the big event this year, as it is every year in the lives of Christian people is Easter Sunday. The world, like many of its inhabitants, is blossoming forth in a new spring wardrobe, and a beautiful one it is. I have always felt that it must have been around Easter that George Washington made his final decision to locate the nation's capital at the confluence of the Potomac and Annapolis Rivers. There has been a lot of water under the bridges of both of those rivers since that decision was made, and there have been many changes in the world; especially in those things of which man has had control. But there has been very little change in the natural beauty of the country.

The churches will be crowded to overflowing on Easter Sunday. It's too bad that the same cannot be said of every other Sunday in the year. One pastor here is reported to have preached his sermon on Easter Sunday by wishing all of those present a merry Christmas. He explained his reason for doing this that he would probably not see many of them again before that time. This is a thought which could well be pondered in the minds of many in this country, and there is no more appropriate time for such meditation than the Easter season.

The many revelations of wrongdoing in several segments of our economy would indicate that the moral structure of our nation needs some repair work, if not a complete overhaul job. And the defects which need correction are not confined to local areas. They are statewide, in many instances, and nationwide. When favoritism from some regulatory agencies of the federal government can be purchased like potatoes in a grocery store, something is wrong. When violations of the criminal laws are winked at because someone has been paid off, something is wrong. When public property is misused to the profit of a few unscrupulous individuals, something is wrong. When young people and little children are used in the practice of fraud and cheating, something is wrong. When obscenity becomes an everyday occurrence, something is wrong. When people obtain government jobs through examinations taken by others, something is wrong.

Legislation can go a long way in setting up guide lines to help cure the ills reflected by the practices which have been revealed. However, legislation alone cannot cure these ills. They can only be cured by the searching re-appraisal of the individual moral code. It has been said many times that you cannot legislate morals. This is as true today as it was when it was first uttered. It is being proven at the present time by the difficulty which is being experienced in trying to write into law a "code of ethics" for the independent agencies of the federal government. It is another case of the trouble man will always have in trying to improve upon the Ten Commandments. A scoundrel, a mountebank, and a crook will always be just that, regardless of the law, until he changes his own moral code and decides to live by the teachings of Christ.

Many good people who are morally and basically sound have had occasion in the last few years to keep with the teachings of wink at practices which they knew

Drug Firm Advertising Style Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators were told today that some companies use the same advertising techniques to peddle new drugs to physicians that are used to sell new automobiles to the general public.

Dr. Chauncey D. Leake of the Ohio State University Medical School said drug prices could be reduced if manufacturers toned down advertising and promotional campaigns.

He said drug advertisers "seem to think that physicians are simpletons and that they can be persuaded to use new drugs in the same way that people generally are persuaded to buy new clothes and new automobiles."

Leake made his statements in prepared testimony to the Senate Anti-Trust and Monopoly Subcommittee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), which is investigating prices and profits in the drug industry.

Drug companies should provide more "helpful" information, he said, rather than concentrating on what he termed "persuasive, exaggerated advertisements; concealing for commercial reasons what is really essential for physicians to know."

Leake also recommended that every new drug be tested first on healthy adult humans — "preferably by those advocating the new drug" — before it is used on sick people.

Other congressional news:

Influence: Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) urged that House influence investigators recall Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall of the Federal Power Commission to testify under oath about behind-the-scenes talks between FPC members and utility representatives. Moss said he wanted to know if it was customary for commissioners to have outside discussions with industry officials about pending cases.

Manfield: Asst. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield (Mont.) said the nation has "suffered a long night of national neglect under President Eisenhower. Mansfield told the Senate in a prepared speech that the next administration will inherit a "monumental accumulation of unfulfilled needs for public action" in domestic and foreign affairs.

Minimum Wage: A House labor subcommittee planned to hear Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell next week on controversial proposals to raise the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 and expand

Dangerous Weather Pattern

By United Press International

Hurricane force winds with gusts up to 95 miles an hour lashed Tatoosh Island off the coast of Washington state Wednesday night.

The sheriff's office reported the squall line, which dumped more than an inch of rain on the island, knocked down trees and telephone lines. But there were no reports of injuries.

Spring storms also struck Texas and Kansas before moving northeastward.

Tornadoes knocked the roof off a frame building at Salina, Kan., and knocked over a ranch house chimney and destroyed several sheds four miles south of Pratt, Kan.

An airline pilot reported sighting two funnel-like clouds high in the sky 65 miles southwest of San Angelo, Tex., but neither coverage to an additional 7,500.

000 workers. Organized labor has backed the proposals. Commerce Secretary Frederick H. Mueller Wednesday opposed the $1.25 figure as "inflationary." Mueller favored only extending coverage.

touched ground.

Thunderstorms accompanied by hail hit the San Angelo area. More than three inches of rain drenched Sherman, Tex.

Two airmen were killed but two others parachuted to safety when their B-47 jet bomber crashed during a heavy rainstorm in northwest Missouri.

A light plane crashed on the 10,000-foot summit of Fishers Peak near Trinidad, Colo., during a snow storm but the two Las Vegas, N.M., men aboard were rescued.

Thundershowers were forecast over much of the Eastern third of the nation today.

Scattered showers were expected in the northwest.

LAWYER INCOMES LAGGING

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — John C. Satterfield, president-elect of the American Bar Association, claims a lawyer must charge his clients at least $20 an hour to keep a take-home pay of $15,000 a year.

Satterfield, a Jackson, Miss., told a lawyers' meeting Wednesday attorneys' incomes have failed to increase as fast as those of other professions. He said physicians are getting 157 per cent more than they got 25 years ago while lawyers are only making 58 per cent more.

Cute Bunny Faces Will Brighten Easter Table

Cute Easter bunny faces — all smiles and perky ears — are the prettiest decorated... what could be more delightful fare for Easter Sunday breakfast?

The eggs aren't real eggs (though you might want some of those, too), and the bunnies aren't candy ones. Instead, they're all sweet rolls, come to the table in appropriate holiday guise.

Think they're tricky to do? Not at all — not when the ingredients for the dough come ready to use from a package of Hot Roll Mix. There's no measuring, no sifting, no tedious mixing — no elaborate kneading or folding with these simple recipes, either.

For instance, to make the cute bunny faces, you just take strips of dough and tie them in knots — the ends of the strips form the ears! Raisins and cherries make the eyes and smiling mouths — and the bunnies even have an appealing texture, because they've been dipped in coconut.

As for the Easter eggs, they're sweeter and richer with their moist pineapple filling and their icing decorations. And with Hot Roll Mix doing the work of the basic dough, you'll have plenty of time to lavish on transforming the baked sweet rolls into gaily decorated "eggs". A simple confectioners' sugar and milk frosting is all it takes; make patterns of straight or wavy lines, dots, crosses, and so on; or make each person's name the decoration, so that the eggs become personalized Easter "gifts". An icing applicator can be easily made from a 12" square piece of waxed paper. Fold it diagonally to form a triangle, then roll to form a cone. Cut off end to make decorating tip. Fill cone with icing and squeeze gently to apply.

With just such simple tricks and Hot Roll Mix at hand, you can make all manner of wonderful breads, rolls and cakes. These Easter morning surprises are just one example — but what a wonderful start for a joyful day!

SUNSHINE BROCCOLI

Sunshine Broccoli is a blend of vegetable Lenten fare. Serve it for lunch, with crusty rolls and hot coffee or tea. It also makes a tasty dish for bridge club luncheons, with its combination of sharp cheese sauce, stuffed eggs and broccoli.

Each individual serving is done up in its own aluminum foil casserole. Cook and serve in one container to save dishwashing time!

CHEESE SAUCE:

2 10 1/2 ounce packages frozen broccoli spears, cooked, drained
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1/2 pound sharp Cheddar Cheese, shredded, about 2 cups

1. Melt butter; blend in flour, salt.
2. Add milk gradually; cook, stirring constantly until thick and smooth.

Smorgasbord Pie Has Simple Crust

The best known of all Scandinavian dining customs is the smorgasbord. Here is a simplified adaptation of it in a Ritz Cracker crust. It's fun to make and you can use your imagination with the endless possibilities of fillings.

SMORGASBORD PIE

CRUST:

1/2 cup Ritz Crackers, finely rolled (about 2 cups crumbs)
1/2 cup softened butter or margarine
2 tablespoons water

Blend Ritz Crackers crumbs, butter or margarine and water. Press firmly against bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Bake in oven at 375 degrees F. for 10 minutes. Cool.

FILLING:

Soften 1/2 teaspoon unflavored gelatine in 2 tablespoons cold water, dissolve over hot water. Add to 1/2 cup mayonnaise, mix well. Combine 1/2 cup of mayonnaise mixture with a 7-ounce can tuna, flaked; 1/2 cup chopped celery and 2 tablespoons Dromedary Pimiento chopped. Arrange tuna mixture in a ring around the outer portion of the Ritz Crackers crust.

Combine remaining 1/2 cup mayonnaise mixture with 3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped; 1/2 cup chopped celery, and 1 tablespoon minced anchovies. Arrange egg mixture in a ring next to the tuna salad.

Fill center of crust with 1/2 cup cottage cheese. Add a ring of 1/2 cup chopped stuffed olives between the tuna and egg salad; and a ring of 1/2 cup chopped ripe olives between egg salad and cottage cheese. Refrigerate for approximately 10 minutes. Cut in wedges to serve. Makes 8-10 servings.

Easter Menu Is Keyed To Special Tradition

Like a glorious sunrise, Easter seems to fill every corner of our lives. From the new spring wardrobe to the dinner menu, everything connected with this special day is keyed to custom. In many homes, lamb is traditionally the meat choice for the Easter dinner. Because Easter is a family day, you may be planning dinner for a crowd. You'll find a roast leg of lamb is easily prepared and its delicate flavor will harmonize with other dishes on the menu. When buying, count on about 1 1/2 to 2 pounds of lamb leg per serving and allow plenty for seconds and those wonderful next-day dishes. It's important, too, to look for a well-known packer's stamp on the fat covering for assured fine eating. Easter plans usually include a trip to church. Because a lamb leg roast needs so little watching, you can place it in an open pan in a 325 degrees F. oven before leaving after church. The thin, paper-like covering you'll find on the lamb roast may be removed before roasting if you wish.

To make sure the meat reaches just the stage of doneness your family prefers, use a roast meat thermometer. The point-of-the-thermometer should be inserted into the center of the thickest part of the meat, making sure it does not touch the bone. Lamb is best served at either the medium stage (175 degrees F.) or the well-done stage (180 degrees F.).

1 1/2 teaspoons cornstarch
2 cups water
1 cup packed light brown sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice
10 dried apricots
1/4 teaspoon mint flavoring
10 whole cloves

Make a small incision in meat and insert a glove of garlic. Roast in a slow oven. Glaze in last half hour of cooking.

Prepare a glaze by stirring water into cornstarch in a saucepan. Add sugar, lemon juice and apricots. Boil 20 minutes until thick. Add mint flavoring. Remove apricots from sauce and arrange halves on top of meat in a circular pattern, cut side down. Pierce the center of each apricot with a clove. Pour a thin coat of glaze over lamb. Return to oven for 15 minutes. Glaze again just before serving. Serve remaining sauce with lamb.

Christening Garments Require Special Care

Getting ready for baby's big day, mother carefully washes and irons heirloom christening garments.

BY RAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Of all the fashions in the world, few are more enduring or treasured than christening clothes. The delicately beautiful little garments may be heirlooms which are used for all the children in the family and passed on to the next generation. Some young mothers will start the tradition either by choice or necessity in their families with a brand new outfit which will be the heirloom of the future. My robust, vitamin-packed babies couldn't slide into the tiny little gowns of their forbears.

For each wearing of the garments must be laundered and freshly ironed, then laundered again and stored carefully for the time when another new comer is ready for baptism. Christening garments often are handmade of delicate fabrics, consequently it is safest to hand wash them in warm water. First, check the garments for rips and tears and mend these. Remove any ribbons or bows. They will look better if done up separately, then resealed to the garments. For these fragile pieces, prepare a sudsy solution by dissolving mild soap or detergent in water (using about one heaping-tablespoon of fragile clothes, you can dissolve one-quarter cup instant cold water laundry starch to two quarts of cold water and dip and squeeze the cottons in the mixture. Squeeze out excess moisture and roll dress in a turkish towel before ironing. For baby garments, I hope you know the trick of using a small traveling iron and a sleeve board which makes it easier to press tiny baby sleeves and ruffled or lace-edged caps. Iron sleeves and collars first, then lace, and finally the dress. Hang ironed garments on small padded hangers and stuff crushed tissue paper in sleeves to help hold shape. And last, replace ribbons and bows. Christening robes of wool or silk are handled somewhat differently. They may be washed gently. Use the special wool soap if you're concerned about the fragility of the fabric. To keep them soft, add a smidgen of fabric softener to the final rinse. Let them dry flat on towel pads, so moisture won't drag fibers out of shape. Press out wrinkles, using a steam iron and a soft pressing cloth. After the baptism, the finery goes back to storage. Check for spots and remove these, wash garments again but don't starch or iron. Store woollens in a tight container with a moth protective.

Swish garments around. If the fabric is very old or delicate, put the sudsy solution and garment in a large jar, cover the jar and rock it back and forth. Rinse garments in warm water by running water into jar until suds are removed. If garments are yellowed, bleach in the sun or with the mildest type of prepared bleach. New or old, cotton baby dresses look fresher and crisper if given a light starch finish. For these

DEAR ABBY: I am a Junior in High School and I came home with a bad report card last month. My parents cut off all my enjoyments. No soccer Tuesday night. No basketball games Saturday mornings, and no dating Friday and Saturday nights. They make me stay home and study all the time.

And they won't let me go out until my next good report card. The next doesn't come out for two months. Abby, I can't keep my mind on my studies when I think of all the fun I'm missing. What should I do?

"A PRISONER" DEAR "PRISONER": If misery loves company, this may comfort you a little. I received no less than 100 letters like yours last week. I suggest you buckle down and study. If you let your mind wander to all the fun you are missing, you'll get a bad report card again and you'll be "a prisoner" serving an extended term.

DEAR ABBY: Don't be too hard on the Korean girls of easy virtue. The Korean girls are hungry, affectionate and pathetically poor. They are lucky if they eat four times a week. Is it any wonder they are willing to be a slave to an American soldier for a good meal?

Yes, there are many Korean babies born to these girls and American soldiers. But the babies can't help it if their fathers go off and forget about them. Those half-Korean babies are the sweetest most adorable babies in the world. We ought to know — we adopted

Auxiliary Completes Plans For Annual Nurse Scholarship

Gray County Medical Auxiliary held its April meeting in the home of Mrs. Felix Vendrell with Mrs. N. J. Ellis assisting with hostess duties.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Julian Key, Future Nurses Club co-sponsor, reported that the club entertained with a party for their mothers in the Key residence. They also made plans for a field trip to Lubbock to visit the Methodist hospital there and are making plans for a final program and installation of officers.

Plans were also discussed for the annual presentation of Gray County Auxiliary scholarship, which is given to a deserving graduating senior girl. The scholarship is awarded on a basis of grades, club record and general character and ability. Following discussion, members voted on their scholarship student for this year; their recommendation will be made to a committee in high school and the award will be made in the high school assembly in May. Plans were also formulated for the sponsorship of the club next year.

RUTH MILLETT

Individually John and Jane are pleasant, likable human beings. But as a couple they are uncomfortable to be around.

Instead of bringing out the best in each other or showing each other off to good advantage, they are always running each other down. If Jane starts to tell a story John is sure to tell her that she has her facts all wrong, "as usual," and corrects her as though she were a half-wit.

If another wife is bragging about her husband's do-it-yourself jobs, Jane is sure to point out that John started a project months ago; it still isn't finished and she doesn't suppose it ever will be.

If Jane is admiring some other woman's possession she is sure to wish out loud that she could afford the same thing, making John look like a poor provider.

If John starts to talk about his work, Jane is sure to ask him not to talk shop.

Phrases such as "I've tried to make Jane understand..." and "I've told John over and over..." keep cropping up in their conversation.

Neither ever misses an opportunity to take the other down a notch or to try to build himself up at the other's expense. Somehow they have failed to see that in low-rating each other they hurt themselves. And that in tearing each other down instead of building each other up they make themselves less attractive as a couple than they are individually. "Killing" one of the worst mistakes a husband and wife can make.

Can Giants Win Pennant?

By SCOTT DALLIE United Press International

Well, can the San Francisco Giants win it this time? Last season they led the National League for almost 10 weeks, then collapsed in the late stages and finished third when the pitching staff ran out of gas.

Now Manager Bill Rigney, who only has a one-year contract this time, has been neatly placed on the spot by a pair of off-season deals which make the team look sharper than ever. On paper, that is.

The pitching staff was strengthened by the acquisition of southpaw Billy O'Dell (10-12) and Billy Loes (4-7) from Baltimore.

And the club also got Don Blasingame, one of the league's best second basemen, from St. Louis.

"I'd think they'd win the pennant now," Johnny Temple, the former Cincinnati second baseman, recently said at the Cleveland training camp. "They got two good pitchers which they needed and gave up nothing for 'em."

Rigney, naturally, isn't saying anything like that.

"All I feel is that we'll be a contender," the tense manager declares. "The experience of last year helped us and our defense is better. Our pitching is deeper."

But we still need a stronger bench."

O'Dell figures in Rigney's plans as an extra starter or middle-inning pitcher. Erratic Loes, it is hoped, will be the late-inning rally-stopper. That means that the Giants now have a premium starting staff which includes Sam Jones (21-15), southpaw Johnny Antonelli (19-10) and Mike McCormick (12-16) and right-hander Jack Sanford (15-12).

George Zuverink, former Baltimore right-hander now on a "look" from the Miami Marlins, also has shown well in spring games and might give the staff added depth.

The infield could be the best in the league. Willie McCovey, who batted .254 last year while winning the Rookie of the Year award, is installed at first base. He hopes to have a better all-around season, which means that his fielding still needs some improvement.

Blasingame, a sharp leadoff man, is at second and much is expected of him. Ed Bressoud is at shortstop and Jim Davenport, the little master of the big play, holds down third.

In the outfield, the big question mark is in left field where Orlando Cepeda will open his first full season at that position. Winner of the 1958 Rookie of the Year award as a first baseman, he was bumped off the job last July when McCovey checked in. Cepeda has had limited outfield experience.

"We'll try to correct any weaknesses Cepeda might have," Rigney said. "And don't forget, there is Willie Mays in center to help him."

On the other side of Mays, baseball's highest salaried player, will be either left-handed hitting Willie Kirkland, who has the power, or right-handed batting Felipe Alou, who possesses the speed and glove.

In order to add some badly needed left-handed batting strength, the Giants acquired outfielder-first baseman Jim Marshall in a deal with the Red Sox and purchased first baseman Dale Long from the Cubs. Both are expected to be used in pinch-hitting roles.

Hobie Landrith was listed as the Giants' starting catcher, but broke a finger in spring training and may miss opening day. Bob Schmidt, who had the job in 1958 but lost it to Landrith last season, will take over. Schmidt is a long-ball hitter but not as good a receiver as little Hobie.

Andre Rogers, who failed to make the grade as a shortstop last year, now is being tried out at third and first base as a possible utility man. Joey Amalfitano, whom the Giants signed as a bonus player in 1954 then drafted last winter from Toronto where he hit .308.

Can Rigney make his club live up to its advance notices?

"We'll do our best, that's all," he barks.

Pampa To Meet Plainview Friday, Tascosa Saturday

The Pampa Harvester baseball team, with its hopes revived by a win over Borger and Monterey's loss to Lubbock, plays one road game and one home contest this weekend.

The Harvesters travel to Plainview Friday to meet the Plainview Bulldogs in a 2 p.m. game. Then they come back to Pampa for a 2 p.m. Saturday contest against the Tascosa Rebels.

Pampa must win both games to keep alive its already slim hopes of winning the District 3-4A crown. Left-hander Kippy Williams (3-1) will start against Plainview, and right-hander Mike Clark (1-1) will go against Tascosa.

Pampa, Plainview, Tascosa and Borger are all tightly bunched in the District 3-4A race. The Harvesters and Tascosa are tied for third place, two games out of the lead, with 4-3 records. Plainview and Borger are a game behind, with 3-4 marks. Pampa's two weekend games could break the deadlock one way or another.

The first time the Harvesters met Plainview, Williams threw a one-hit shutout at the Bulldogs, allowing only four balls to be hit out of the infield.

It was a different story, however, in the first time Pampa played Tascosa. The Harvesters had a 5-2 lead with two out in the seventh (final) inning, but allowed the Rebels to score four runs as the result of errors and walks, and lost to Tascosa, 6-5.

Saturday against Tascosa, Clark will be shooting for his first complete game of the year. He has looked very good in spots (especially in Tuesday's Borger game when he came in with the bases loaded and none out in the seventh inning, and got the side out without further damage).

The Harvesters seem to have regained their batting eye this week. In Tuesday's 5-4 win over Borger the Harvesters batted in all five runs, and all were earned. In the previous six district games, only eight of their runs had been both batted in and earned.

Larry Stroud was the big gun of the Borger game, as he drove in the winning run with a 400-foot homer in the eighth inning. He also batted in another run, and scored a third run.

Others who hit well were Wendell Ridgway, who drove in two runs with a single; Ruben Strickland, who hit a ground rule double which just missed being a home run; and Bobby Nutt, who collected a pair of singles, and stole two bases. Roy Stephens got

Hart Defeats Rocky Kalingo

CHICAGO (UPI)—Welterweight Sugar Hart beat only name fourth of a fighter, vanquished Rocky Kalingo of the Philippines declared today.

Kalingo, who suffered his seventh loss in 32 pro fights while making his United States television debut Wednesday night, blamed cold weather for his loss. And Hart, who broke a two-fight losing streak, said his foreign foe was "the hardest puncher I ever met."

The fight packed plenty of action into its brief 12 minutes. But Kalingo was tagged with a solid right hook near the end of the fourth round and finished the session on his knees against the ropes, when the bell sounded at the count of seven.

Hart, who weighed 152 pounds, seven more than his rival in winning his 29th fight in 35 bouts, was pleased with the result because he "felt good" all the time.

Referee Bernie Weisman stopped the bout for a fifth round TKO win for Hart on the advice of Illinois Athletic Commission physician Dr. Irving Slot, who said Kalingo "isn't fit to continue."

Snead, Venturi Both 'Jinxed' In Major Golf Tournaments

By OSCAR FRALEY United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—There is a pathetic parallel today between the U.S. Open miseries of Siammin Sammy Snead and the Masters woes of slender Ken Venturi.

Both should have won these respective tournaments the very first time out. Each of them kicked it completely away when he had it virtually wrapped up.

For Snead the psychological barrier has become impenetrable as far as the Open is concerned and Venturi must be building up the same kind of a mental moat in the Masters.

The misfortunes of Snead in the Open have become one of sports' saddest legends. The sweet swinger from the West Virginia hills has won just about everything in posting more than 100 tournament triumphs. These include three Masters, a trio of PGA crowns and the British Open. But not the U.S. Open.

He should have had it the first time out when, at 25, he sat in the clubhouse at Oakland Hills accepting congratulations only to have Ralph Guldahl come swinging through the dusk to beat him out. It was to get worse.

Two years later, in 1939, he came up to the final hole at Philadelphia's Spring Mill course needing a par five to win. Sam chopped out an agonizing eight to blow it all. At St. Louis in 1947 he tied Lew Worsham, and lost the playoff on the final hole. Two years after that he finished second to Cary Middlecoff and, one stroke back of Ben Hogan starting the final round at Oakmont in 1953, he again finished a grimed second.

That's four seconds and one "almost" and Sam still parrots that he can win it. This, anybody in golf will tell you, is whistling past a cemetery and the fact that he will be 48 next month has nothing to do with it. Sam is as fit as ever, and always a threat, until they hand him the pencil and the scorecard in the Open. Nerves and the "never-never" image take over then and he is beaten before he leaves the first tee.

"Give him a 10 shot lead going into the final round and something undoubtedly would happen to beat him," one tee tourist summed it up.

The Masters is becoming this kind of a mental torture chamber to the 28-year-old Venturi even though he would be the first to shrug it off.

Because Ken has been second twice in five years and only two shots away on another of these occasions, he, too, should have won it the first time.

That was in 1956, when, still an amateur, he had a fat eight shot lead over Jackie Burke going into the last round at Augusta. The pressure was too much and he went around in a nightmare 80 blows, climbing six over par to the final nine holes, to lose it to Burke.

The next year as a pro he finished 11 strokes off the pace, shooting his best round on the final day when it was all over but the shouting.

Coming up to 1958, Venturi had it going for him again with an opening round 68. But once more the end of the rainbow turned off and he finished two sorrowful shots behind the winning Arnold Palmer. Ken didn't even survive the cut in 1959.

Then came this one just concluded and the parallel between Snead in the Open and Venturi in the Masters was strengthened.

Venturi — as did Snead in that long-ago Open — sat in the clubhouse for an hour being congratulated on his "victory." It seemed even more certain as Palmer came up to the final two holes needing birdies on both of them to beat him.

How Palmer got them has been well told.

But the way in which Venturi's countenance reflected Snead's "Open look" is another story. It well could be just as bitter too.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Eddie Sawyer unexpectedly resigned today as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies and was succeeded by Gene Mauch.

The news was announced at a hurriedly-summoned press conference by President Bob Carpenter. Mauch, 33, has been manager of the Minneapolis Millers, a Boston Red Sox farm, in the American Association.

"I have an announcement to make that will be a shock and a great surprise to you," Carpenter said. "And I might add a great disappointment to me."

"I spoke to Eddie Sawyer on the phone last night and he resigned as manager."

Sawyer then spoke for himself. "I just don't care to manage a major league club," he said. "I would like to stay in baseball but have no plans at this time."

CHEVROLET

OVER BACK-COUNTRY ROADS AT 45 WITH A SKY-HIGH LOAD OF TIMBER

Chevy middleweight shows the big rigs how it's done!

That's a 6303 medium-duty Chevrolet powered by a 283-cu.-in. V8. But there's sure nothing medium-duty about the load. Mr. J. E. Blankinship, Arkansas logging contractor, says both of his torsion-spring 6303's "mooe along at 40 to 50 miles per hour with 55,000 pounds gross weight and maintain a 5-trip-a-day schedule with no trouble at all." Figure the money you save when you've got a medium-duty truck that can cover 30,000 back-country miles a year with a high-tonnage load!

We've never seen anything like the amount of praise truck owners are heaping on Chevy's new torsion spring suspension. Owners like the fact the truck handles a whole lot easier, can move faster off the road without beating the driver to death and shaking loose all the sheet metal. They like the idea of extra thousands of miles before trade-in. Drive a '60 Chevy just once. It's a whole new experience.

Chevy middleweight averages 200 miles of back roads a day dogging timber out of the woods and delivering it to the mill at Crossett, Arkansas.

Inflation And Taxes In France

Since the United States is having so much inflation and our taxes are constantly increasing, the 4-year experience in France should be a warning as to what we are facing. As a matter of fact, inflation is just a temporary form of taxing certain groups for the benefit of other groups. For this reason I want to continue to quote from Melchior Palyi's booklet published by The Economists' National Committee on Monetary Policy.

And the causes that bring on inflation are causing capital to leave the United States. During the last year the net gold decreased from nearly $7 billion to about $2 billion. When people begin to realize their government is their enemy and is not interested in promoting justice, but only keeping itself in power, capital tends to leave the country, just as it did in France and is now doing in the United States.

THAT MAD IRRESISTIBLE URGE—Small boy vents his small fury on a large rubber container in New York's Museum of Modern Art. It was part of "artistic packaging" exhibit.

From Bad To Verse A La Beat

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ballad for a Beat. He read his verse in Washington Square, and found he owed the city dough. Because making a speech with the public there, without a permit just don't go. Disorderly conduct was the charge against William Morris, 28, a poet, artist avant-garde, and beatnik quite irate.

In the court his lawyer roamed, said this was verse, judge, not a speech. And poets, reading their own poems, are out of legal reach.

The judge considered, checked the law, read classics to decide the case, and yesterday let Morris off, said poets CAN read in a public place.

Making a speech and reciting an ode, are not the same, we must be fair.

But I'll not comment on what Morris wrote, said Magistrate Walter J. Bayler.

Morris, arrested nine months ago, was not on hand when he was cleared.

To San Francisco he decided to go, the home of the beat and the beard.

Political Charges Heating Up As Texas Race Draws Near

By PAT CONWAY

United Press International
Gov. Price Daniel and Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey went back on the stump today facing torrid blasts from their respective political opponents.

Jack Cox, accused Daniel of trying to lead Texas toward socialism, and Don Yarborough charged Ramsey used his control over the senate to pad the pockets of his friends and bring shame to the state.

Cox moved into Laredo today from San Antonio. Yarborough also spoke in San Antonio and moved into Houston for speeches. Both Daniel and Ramsey were quiet Wednesday, but the governor scheduled a talk before a Houston civic club and Ramsey campaigned in Corpus Christi today.

House Speaker Waggoner Carr, running against Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, moved into Waco today after a speech at Houston.

Cox said Daniel's abandoned property bill introduced in the last general session of the Texas legislature "represents a step toward socialism in Texas."

"If the state can take a citizen's bank account after seven years, the next step might be to cut it down to five years, or even three," Cox said. "I don't want to see any bill passed that forces a citizen to prove that he owns his own money."

Yarborough charged that Ramsey has exercised his control over the senate "in such a manner as to bring hardship on the people of Texas."

"He has exercised his powerful control...to bring private gain to his cronies and shame to the entire state of Texas," Yarborough said. "His powers are such that he can dominate the entire legislative process. He can thwart the wishes and goals of the vast majority of the nine million citizens of Texas."

Cox told personnel executives in Houston that Texas must have non-partisan administration of labor-management relations.

"If we are to have continued industrial growth, continued harmony in most of our management-labor relations, political partisanship must be kept out of the administration of the laws of Texas which apply to this vital field," he said.

He said when candidates pledge themselves for or against one side, "the effective result is a repeal of laws which exist on our statute books."

Wilson moved into the Midland-Odessa area today and Land Commissioner Bill Allcorn continued

Father Takes Son From Kin Who Adopted Him

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Police

said an Oklahoma oilfield worker kidnaped his son and threatened Wednesday night to kill the people that adopted him if they tried to get the boy back.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ricks, the boy's aunt and uncle, adopted him last Friday after Mrs. Ricks' sister, the boy's mother, died of cancer in an Austin hospital.

They filed a kidnapping complaint against Jack Green, 37, of Duncan, Okla., who also goes by the name of Altus J. Green and Mac Parker.

Green reportedly took Jackie Don Ricks, 8, from the Olmos Elementary school as the youngster arrived for classes with his cousin, Ricky Ricks. Green and the boy's mother have been divorced for six years.

Deputy Sheriff Rex May said Green called the boy's uncle from Ada, Okla., Wednesday night and said: "I have the boy and if you try to take him away from me I will kill you."

Mrs. Ricks said Green has never contributed toward the support of the boy since the divorce.

ELECTED MALAYA KING
KUALA-LUMPUR, Malaya (UPI) — The 62-year-old Sultan of Selangor was unanimously elected King of Malaya today.

on his swing through West Texas. Jerry Sadler, Allcorn's opponent, continued to solicit votes in El Paso.

Sadler said he would make the general land office responsible for a perpetual inventory of all state lands, and charged that management of the lands "is now so mixed-up and divided that no one in authority can say exactly how much land is actually owned by the state."

Reason for Worms
Probably the season for so many earthworms appearing on the ground after a rain is that their tunnels are flooded and they come up for air.

Steam Blast Kills 2 Men, Injures 10

HOUSTON (UPI)—A boiler at an oil refinery exploded Wednesday. It killed two men instantly and sent scalding steam spewing over another 10 workers.

"The two dead men had been literally blown to pieces," said Jerry Clingan, 25, a plant maintenance man. "There wasn't a shred of clothing on either of them."

Killed were Robert J. Lee, 47, and Raymond L. Maxwell, 40. Ray Smith, 64, and Stanley Westlow, 46, were hospitalized, but the other eight men were treated at the scene and released.

The explosion occurred at the Crown Central Petroleum Co. refinery, the oldest plant in the new Houston Ship Channel industrial area.

Clingan said the crew was putting a condensate drum back into service. It was under 350 pounds of pressure.

"Apparently, the 24-inch pipe on the drum was weak at some point and all that pressure blew it up right in the faces of those men," Clingan said.
