

Record Voter Turnout Predicted In Texas

Election Interest Mounts Listing Of Candidates

The presidential election Tuesday is expected to establish an all-time record above the overall 62,077,040 votes in 1956. However, the excitement will be for offices for other than Gray County and the district posts, since all incumbents are unopposed.

For Governor: Gov. Price Daniel, Democrat, and William M. Steger, Republican.

Location Of County Polls

The 12 polling locations in Pampa and Gray County and the election commissioners were announced yesterday by Gray County Clerk Charlie Thut.

The polling places are:

Lefors, No. 1, Mrs. Jimmy Davis; Baker School, No. 2, Mrs. L. R. Davis, and Grandview, No. 3, Johnny Johnson.

Alamored, No. 4, Marvin Hall; McLean, No. 5, Charles Cousins; and Laketon, No. 6, Ernie Jones.

Pampa, Horace Mann School, No. 7, O. A. Davis; Hopkins, No. 8, Charles Gatland, and Pampa, No. 9, Purley Building, directly behind the First National Bank, Ed Anderson.

Gray County Courthouse, No. 10, Art Rankin; Phillips Camp, No. 11, Mrs. H. B. Neill, and Pampa, No. 12, I.O.O.F. Hall, N. P. Brown.

That pointed-out the only location change from previous years is that of the No. 9 location which was formerly placed in Woodrow Wilson School.

Hours for voting, Thut emphasized, are from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. Voters must be residents of Texas one year, have paid their poll tax, and have resided in a district or county for six months to be eligible to cast their ballots.

The county clerk also again pointed out that voters may split their ballots, regardless of how they are registered, since this is general election and the "bound" vote only applies to primary elections.

Film, TV Star Dies In Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Ward Bond, 57, husky, white-haired star of motion pictures and the television show "Wagon Train," collapsed in a motel bathroom Saturday and died of a heart attack.

Bond and his wife arrived Friday night by plane to attend Sunday's Dallas-Los Angeles professional football game.

"It appears to have been a natural cause," Justice of the Peace Lem Brotherton said.

Bond had been under treatment for several years and always carried nitroglycerine pills.

Khrush May Be In Hot Spot At Red 'Summit'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — High American officials said Saturday that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's position at home and abroad may be at stake at the Communist summit conference beginning today in Moscow.

They said that Khrushchev, fighting a diplomatic war on two fronts, must find some solution of his ideological dispute with Red China before he will be in a really strong position to renew his diplomatic assault against the West on Berlin and Germany.

If he fails, the deterioration in his position could lead eventually to his fall from power as top official in Russia.

U. S. officials said they did not believe reports of a narrowing of the gap between Khrushchev and Red China's President Liu Shao-chi. The latter arrived in Moscow Saturday for the meeting of world Communist leaders to celebrate the 43rd anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

State Department officials expect that Khrushchev and Liu will try to gloss over their differences in public while staging a behind-the-scenes showdown on ideological and operational differences.

These divisions are beginning to spread to other parts of the Communist world.

Albania, North Viet Nam and the Communist party of West Germany sided with Red China against Russia at a Bucharest meeting last June. Since that time Albanian officials have been trying to recruit anti-Khrushchev sentiment in other East European countries.

One top official here, commenting on the glowing tributes to Russia paid by Liu upon his arrival in Moscow, said: "They are trying to paper over that big crack in the wall, but it's still there."

U. S. authorities believe the Sino-Soviet dispute over whether war against the West is "inevitable" — Khrushchev says it is not — is only one part of the disagreement between Moscow and Peking. They believe it goes beyond doctrine.

Communist China has become an outright competitor of Russia in its effort to take the primary role in spreading communism in Asia, Africa and Latin America. Peking's more dynamic approach appears to be an extension into the operational field of the more aggressive ideological stand.

Extension Courses To Be Offered Here

A Pampa Chamber of Commerce committee has established to bring to this city college extension courses from West Texas State College, James Hart, committee chairman, said yesterday.

"There are many people here who have had to travel to Amarillo or to Canyon to take courses to either complete their college degrees or to further their knowledge. The chamber has been urged to bring this much desired educational program here and the college has agreed," said Hart.

A preliminary meeting for those interested will be held in the Palm Room of City Hall, Monday, Nov. 21. At that time Hueyn Laycock, of West Texas State College, will explain the courses to be offered and to answer queries.

The courses will be instructed by professors and instructors from the college.

In the event one is interested in taking a course or courses and cannot attend the meeting, he is urged to contact Mrs. Marguerite McLeod at the chamber, MO 4-3241.

Among the courses to be offered are art, accounting, secretarial science, economics, education, English, French, German, Spanish history and mathematics.

The minimum number of students for each class will be 26, with a $30 fee for each course plus a fee of not more than $2.50 for janitor service for the classes which will be held in Pampa Junior High School.

Business and professional people are requested to make this information available to their employees.

Kennedy Tapers Off; Nixon Plans Telethon

By United Press International

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy Saturday night stepped up their final drives for votes in the closing days of the election campaign.

Nixon, touring California, announced plans for an unprecedented nationwide four-hour appearance Monday afternoon, during which he will answer questions telephoned to his TV studio in Detroit from all parts of the country.

Democratic National Chairman Henry M. Jackson estimated the TV time will cost the Republicans $500,000. He said it indicated the GOP has become frantic over election prospects.

The American Broadcasting Co., which will carry the telethon, offered to sell Kennedy equal time but the Democratic National Committee said it had to reject the plan.

"We are not negotiating with ABC for the purchase of this time," a spokesman said. "We cannot afford it. We have hoped that Mr. Nixon would accept the senator's invitation to a fifth radio-TV debate."

An ABC spokesman said the network had offered to sell an equal amount of time to the Democrats, and suggested that Nixon, who had been scheduled to appear from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. est. be on the air from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. It offered Kennedy the periods from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. 5 to 5:30 p.m., and 7:30 to 7 p.m.

The network declined to disclose the cost of the program.

Kennedy, in a speech Saturday night in New York before a national television audience, pledged to "get this country to work" if elected and said he wanted to be known as a president "who not only prevented war but won the peace."

Nixon's telethon, which will be paid for by the Republican National Campaign Organization, will be the first such program ever attempted on a national scale by a presidential candidate.

Volunteers will man the 100 telephones at station WXYZ in Detroit and will relay the questions to the Vice President.

Bill Stover, a Nixon aide setting up the program in Detroit, said the volunteers "will take calls from anywhere in the country" and can be expected to handle as many as 8,000 calls during the time the program is on the air, from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. est.

"But of course the Vice President wouldn't be able to answer that many questions," Stover said. He said it had not yet been determined who will select the questions for Nixon to answer or how the selection would be made.

Stover said he did not know whose idea the telethon was, but added "most of the ideas in this (See CANDIDATES, Page 3)

Running Mates In 'Finest Hour'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, told a pre-election rally here Saturday night that the 1960 campaign had been his party's "finest hour."

Johnson joined Sen. John F. Kennedy in their first campaign appearance together outside Texas at a huge rally at New York's Coliseum.

The rally followed a torchlight parade up Broadway.

President Eisenhower, who swept Texas in 1952 and 1956, also visited the state on a brief tour tagged as "non-political" in connection with his harder meeting with Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Johnson, senate Democratic leader and his party's vice presidential candidate, came up under heated attack by his GOP foes for running for two offices at the same time — on the national ticket and for re-election to his third year term as Texas' senior U.S. senator.

Political tempers flared openly Friday when a crowd of men and women shouted "turncoat" and "Judas" at Johnson and his wife, Lady Bird, as they strode to a downtown hotel.

Congressman Bruce Alger of Dallas, the state's only Republican congressman, took part in the demonstration with a sign saying, "LBJ Sold out to Yankee Socialists."

Texas Democrat leaders denounced the demonstration as a "shameful outrage," and some said it would help propel the state into the Democratic column.

Alger said Saturday that "if any jostling or any other sort of really unseemly conduct occurred during Sen. Johnson's visit here... I am sincerely sorry." He said he intended no "insult" to Johnson or his wife, but Alger added he had "no apology" to make, because only 24 hours before an ad appeared in Dallas newspapers involving "unauthorized use" of names in support of Johnson.

Largent Parks Jr., filed a $310,000 damage suit against Johnson Saturday as a result of the political advertisement. Parks said his name was published without his "knowledge, consent or approval."

Texas elective state officeholders were joined in support of the Democratic ticket for the first time since 1948. Gov. Price Daniel campaigned actively, as did Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and other members of the state's official family.

But former governor Allan Shivers, who led the state into the Republican column in 1952 and 1956, campaigned vigorously in Texas and throughout the South. He headed the "Democrats for Nixon" movement in Texas.

Reds Slay U.S. Envoy

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — Communist terrorists killed a U.S. operations-mission official Saturday in a machine-gun ambush on a main road some 70 miles east of Saigon.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said the Vietnamese driver of the American official's jeep also died in the ambush attack near the beach resort town of Long Hai.

The International Cooperation Administration identified the American victim as Dolph B. Owens, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., who arrived in South Viet Nam recently to serve as public safety adviser.

His wife and two small daughters were en route to join Owens overseas when they learned of his death. Mrs. Owens was notified at the airport at Memphis, Tenn. She returned to Tuscaloosa.

Owens was the third American to be killed in Communist attacks in this Southeast Asian nation in the past 18 months.

Shortly after today's attack a group of deputies, expressing concern over a resurgence of Red activities, introduced a bill in the National Assembly to strengthen the armed forces and increase security against the Communists.

The embassy spokesman said the fatal ambush occurred this morning as Owens and his driver were leaving Long Hai where he had been advising civil guard personnel.

According to first-hand reports, three quick bursts of machine gun fire killed both men instantly and set their jeep afire.

Officials said several other public safety division advisers who were at a hotel nearby noticed a column of smoke rising from the ambush spot. Two of the advisers got into a jeep and drove down the road to investigate.

The advisers stopped 50 yards from the burning vehicle and as they crept cautiously down the road toward the jeep a man jumped out from bushes in front of them. They opened fire on the man and succeeded in wounding him before he leaped back into the bushes.

Chamber Workshop Scheduled

The United States Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a workshop at the Coronado Inn, Monday, Nov. 14. E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, announced yesterday.

The meeting is designed to improve chamber of commerce endeavors in the nation. Wedgeworth pointed out.

Among those who will be present to direct the sessions will be Dwight Havens, manager of the U.S. C of C Service Department, Washington, D.C.; Lodge Craig, manager of the southwest division of the sponsoring organization, and Bob Reilly, district manager of the Denver office, U.S. C of C.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. and the first discussion period will begin 30 minutes later. A luncheon will be served at noon and an afternoon meeting will conclude the meeting.

Reservations are being made from cities throughout the Panhandle and local civic leaders who wish to attend the sessions are urged to call the chamber office, MO 4-3241.

Revolt Leader Falls From Grace

HAVANA (UPI) — Cuban labor leader David Salvador, an early Fidel Castro supporter ousted from power by more militant Communists, Saturday was arrested as he tried to flee Cuba in a yacht.

Salvador, former head of the Cuban Labor Confederation (CIC), was seized by Fidel Castro agents at Jaimanitas Beach near Havana. Six other persons were arrested with him. The government radio confirmed their seizure.

Ellis Charged With Murder In Slaying Of Stepfather

John Lewis Ellis Jr., 19, was charged with murder with malice aforethought by Justice of the Peace J. W. Graham when the youth appeared Saturday afternoon for arraignment.

Ellis shot and killed his stepfather, Hugh Worthington, 49, of 809 Malone, Thursday night following a tussle and dispute over the youth watching the family television set.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan said that Ellis is being held in Gray County jail in lieu of a $5,000 bond that was attached in the arraignment.

Ellis, during his interrogation by city police and the sheriff, said that he climaxed the argument when, he said, Worthington reached for a portable record player with which to hit him.

At that point Ellis shot his stepfather six times with a single action Colt .22 calibre revolver.

Prior to that, Ellis told the officers, he was watching the television set in the living room when Worthington entered the home and berated Ellis for doing so. During this time, Ellis said, the pair scuffled but that he left the room and went into his bedroom where (See MURDER, Page 3)

Hottest Contest In Years

DALLAS (UPI) — A record voter turnout of upwards of 2.5 million Texans appeared assured Saturday for the climax Tuesday of one of the bitterest general election campaigns in the state's history.

With the state's 24 electoral votes at stake as well as the question of whether the Lone Star state would go Republican for the third consecutive time, new charges and counter-charges swirled in the wake of a boisterous, jeering demonstration against Sen. Lyndon Johnson's appearance in downtown Dallas Friday.

The campaign was marked by two visits to Texas by both Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy and GOP nominee Richard M. Nixon, as well as a swing through the state by Nixon's vice presidential running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge.

President Eisenhower, who swept Texas in 1952 and 1956, also visited the state on a brief tour tagged as "non-political" in connection with his harder meeting with Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Johnson, senate Democratic leader and his party's vice presidential candidate, came up under heated attack by his GOP foes for running for two offices at the same time — on the national ticket and for re-election to his third year term as Texas' senior U.S. senator.

IN A NUTSHELL — The maps above explain, simply, the reason why presidential campaigns are aimed at the northern states east of the Mississippi. There are 18 represented in the top map, including vital New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Michigan. Their weight is balanced off against the remaining 32 states, including Hawaii and Alaska.

Electoral College, Not Popular Vote Elects President Of U.S.

By RAYMOND LAHR, United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The candidate who polls a majority of the popular vote Nov. 8 probably will be elected President of the United States.

Probably—but not necessarily. Because of a little-understood institution called the Electoral College, it is always possible for a man to be elected President even though he fails to win a majority of the total popular vote.

Under the Constitution, the one-time electoral vote, ranging from and only requirement for election three in the smaller states to 45 as President is a majority vote of the presidential electors who will first be chosen in each state in the state's vote. Nothing in the Constitution requires this winner take all procedure, but state laws determine how the electoral vote is cast, and all the states have adopted it.

The voters in each state choose a number of electors, equal to the number of the state's U.S. senators and House members; (Alaska and Hawaii since their admission to the Union in 1959 and 1960 respectively raised the total number of presidential electors to 537. A majority will be 271.)

Each of the states gives its electors the right to choose the President and electors who will first be chosen in each state in the state's vote. Nothing in the Constitution requires this winner take all procedure, but state laws determine how the electoral vote is cast, and all the states have adopted it.

The present law in Georgia bars voters from casting their ballots for a presidential candidate from the ballot, and the electors are chosen by the House.

In this century, Woodrow Wilson in 1912 and Harry S. Truman in 1948 received a majority of the electoral vote while polling a plurality, but less than a majority, of the popular vote. In both cases, a substantial popular vote was cast for third party candidates.

In 1876, Rutherford B. Hayes was judged the victor by an electoral vote majority, although he lost the popular vote. In 1824, Samuel J. Tilden, the Democratic nominee, received a majority of the popular vote, but lost the election to John Quincy Adams, the Whig nominee, because of a deal struck between the House of Representatives and the Senate.

for years a controversial figure in Venezuelan politics, won his office in a landslide victory marking Venezuela's first free election in 12 years.

The Administration launched sweeping economic and social changes, including a vast program of agricultural reform.

Since assuming the presidency of Venezuela for the second time in February 1959, Rómulo Betancourt and his government have been frequent targets of attack. Predictions freely have been made that his regime could not last out its term. There were good reasons.

In April of this year a small segment of the army rebelled and seized control of the garrison in the southwestern provincial capital of San Cristobal del Tachira. Betancourt charged the short-lived rebellion had been fomented by the Dominican Republic.

Last June a bomb intended for Betancourt exploded near the political hot-bed campus of the University of Caracas. Some of Betancourt's aides were killed and he himself was cut and burned.

Last month student agitators hoping to force the government's downfall poured into the streets of Caracas. When the demonstrators turned rioting and burning, the government called out army troops.

Thirteen persons were killed and 100 injured. One thousand were arrested.

Betancourt, whose relations with the Fidel Castro Cuban government have been deteriorating steadily, placed the blame at the door of Cuba and the Soviet Union.

"We weren't born on the island of Cuba, nor in the Ural mountains nor the Siberian steppes, nor Moscow nor Peking," he said. Venezuela's problems "must be tackled according to the country's needs, without any influence from abroad."

From the outset, the opposition coalition through which Betancourt rules Venezuela has been a shaky one. Last week the Republican Democratic Union said it wanted out.

Betancourt, a left-winger, and

State Highway Deaths 1,804

AUSTIN (UPI)—A car-train accident that killed four persons near College Station last weekend pushed highway deaths to a total of 1,804 for 1960, the Department of Public Safety reported Saturday.

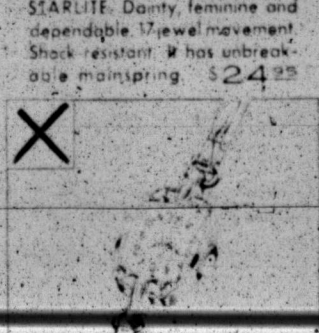

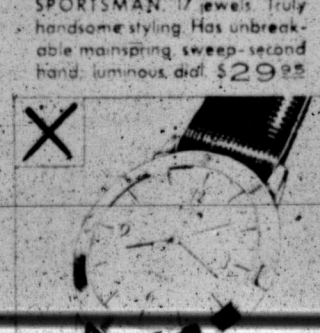

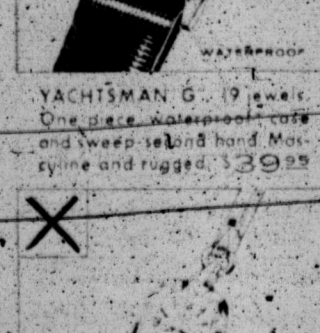

The four persons were returning home to Schulenburg after the A.M. Arkansas football game of Oct. 29 when their automobile collided with a freight train. The accident was among 1,463 fatal crashes this year.

At the same week in 1959, the DPS said 1,924 persons had been killed in 1,605 fatal accidents. The 1960 record is a 9 per cent decrease in accidents and 6 per cent decrease in deaths.

Stardom On Separate Roads

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Ten years in the business world was Michael Rennie's training for the stage. And he thinks it did him good. "Acting is a business today," he says, "so business training is valuable."

This has been brought home forcibly to Rennie since he started his own series, the syndicated "The Third Man."

"Nobody ever does a series for any reason other than economic," he says. "We shot 'The Third Man' in Hollywood and half in England. And economies were always with us. We wanted to make this a good quality series, of course. Most TV series are shot as B-pictures; we tried to make this an A-picture."

"In Hollywood, we took a day to rehearse and three days to shoot. And we wanted to adopt the same schedule in England, but shooting there takes longer. Hollywood crews are more proficient and they're also better paid — this means they want to protect their jobs, so they work harder and faster."

Rennie's business career in his native England began with five years in the woolen business that has been fun by his family for five generations. "It was generally expected," he says, "that I'd go into that. I did give it a try, but I wasn't cut out for it. I tried the steel business for three years and the car business for another two years, but I still wasn't happy. So I quit and, for reasons that I don't know, I decided to be an actor."

Rennie says he has a theory that nobody is a born actor, except perhaps a few who come from theatrical families; most actors get into it more or less accidentally. That was his experience. It has been a good career for him. Now, Rennie has his pick of parts, he works on TV in the lead roles in "The Scarlet Pimpernel" on the big new CBS show, "Family Classics."

But he's already looking ahead to his next career. He wants to direct. And he has dabbed in it and has more opportunities coming.

Rennie is frank about his reasons for becoming a director. "I'm not getting any younger," he says. "I get tired of going to bed earlier and earlier, so I'll still look fresh, and putting on heavier and heavier make-up to look, my best. And, of course, acting isn't really creative; directing is."

"One gets tired of being a puppet on a string." Another actor of the late-blooming variety is the fine character comedian, John McGiver, now in Broadway's "A Thurber Carnival." But his story differs from those of other actors who tried something else first.

McGiver always wanted to be an actor. And, at 22, he started an Irish repertory company in New York. "We rented a hall, put on 'Luno and the Paycock,'" he says, "and acted the lead, directed, painted the scenery and did everything an eager young actor does. We lost our shirts."

He decided the theater wasn't a good place to make a living, so he became a teacher. And he taught for 17 years, winding up on the faculty of a New York high school in the English department.

"I wasn't a very good teacher," he says, with a little sadness. "I felt the frustrations of teaching. You think you've done well and put your point across, then a little boy puts up his hand — but it isn't to ask a question."

"Acting has similar frustrations. You think you've given a good performance and then you find

We Seem To Feel Some Pride In The 'Waste Makers' Label

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — The following morsels of information have been gathered by a reporter named Vance Packard. They come from his latest book, "The Waste Makers," which leaped halfway up the best-seller list in its first two weeks on sale.

Packard's thesis is that we have been made a nation of voracious, wasteful, compulsive consumers.

Actor Spends Day Emoting, Teaches Night

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Paul Lukather conducts meetings, at night for some 25 students of his drama school — and spends many of his days before the cameras as an actor himself.

Three of the handsome Lukather's pupils were signed for a recent television show, but no part could be found for Paul. His students range from teenagers to young grandmothers.

He started his teaching career when he was asked to take over a few classes in one school that later opened his own workshop. His students include housewives, photographers, salesmen and business executives, and his classes frequently are being raided for talent.

Teaching came naturally to Lukather who received a master's degree at Yale after being graduated from Drake University. He toured the U.S. for a year, playing everything from "Macbeth" to "Mr. Roberts" and appeared in television roles before getting the top spot in "The Answer," a psychological suspense drama.

PACKARD: Howls from Madison Ave.

The angry screams against Packard from Madison Avenue indicate he has touched some raw nerves. And the sales of the book show how fascinated we are by illness — even if it's our own.

Packard says we have yielded to campaigns aimed at making us need more of everything. For example, a study shows that telephoning can be increased about 20 per cent by the use of phones in color rather than black.

Auto mufflers are now burning out far faster than they did 10 years ago — opening the way to a half-billion dollar industry. Meanwhile, gas mileage has dropped about 14 per cent, so you need a approximately 100 more gallons per year.

A throwaway spirit has crept in to our lives, Packard feels. More goods come in disposable metal cans, pans, tins, squarable containers. Many must be thrown away with usable foods still in them. The toll is $300 per American monthly a year just for jacking up.

"We didn't get to this state by accident," Packard finds. We are involved in a huge obsolescence campaign, often masked by confusion, chaos and credit buying. Stereo was brought in to rescue lagging hi-fi sales. But stereo has almost saturated its market, so three-track stereo has appeared and plans are being projected now for four, five and even eight-track stereo.

A portable radio company admits its product is designed to last not more than three years. Women's styles in clothes, shoes, heels and neckties, costumes are an old story of seasonal change but men's fashions are in the same line now.

Autos again illustrate the story. A four-year-old car with two-thirds of its active life left sells for one-third of the original price. Today, the tendency to junk cars before they are 10 years old is the pattern. U.S. made cars depreciate almost twice as fast as many low-priced European cars — which don't change their styles yearly.

The national average of service over three years. A guided missile engineer says that TV sets could be built to run for eight years without need for repairs. Coin-operated washing machines are usually made to last about 14 per cent, so you need a lot longer and take more abuse than home models. At the same time, rugs used to be family heirlooms. Today, according to manufacturers, 10 years is the commercial promise of rug life.

By 1961 at the present rate Americans will be spending two-and-a-half times as much for TV service, parts and installation as they will pay for new sets. A spot check of repairmen in a big U.S. city showed 20 out of 22 overcharge 18 1/2 to about $11,000.

Appliance repairs are difficult, making has made in the American way. There are more parts, less accessible, harder to purchase, more expensive than they were a decade ago. Style-making confuses the consumer. So does "last price" and used in the 4,000 years preceding.

discount. We are buying on credit more than ever — an average of $750 per year. A typical teen-ager girl will spend $35 on Christmas present shopping. The average U.S. child gets $26-worth of toys per year.

The typical U.S. family is exposed to 1,514 selling messages each day. The immediate demand will pay for new sets. A spot check of repairmen in a big U.S. city showed 20 out of 22 overcharge 18 1/2 to about $11,000.

Aside from the change, making has made in the American way. There are more parts, less accessible, harder to purchase, more expensive than they were a decade ago. Style-making confuses the consumer. So does "last price" and used in the 4,000 years preceding.

California Park To State Events Out Of The Past

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Plans have been unveiled for construction of a large family amusement center which will depict colorful historical and fictional events from around the world.

The Land of Colossus amusement park will be located on a 123-acre site near Fontana, Calif., according to Sandy Howard, president of Colossus, Inc.

He said that present plans call for construction to go on over the winter with the opening scheduled for May 1, 1961.

The park will feature such events as chariot races, parades and duels of Roman gladiators, jousting of the knights of King Arthur's Round Table and other spectacles representing 30 countries, Howard said.

Stuntmen from the movies and television will be used to re-enact many of the events, said Howard. He also announced that a traveling unit of the year-around park will tour the major cities of the United States for 40 weeks each year.

With the election only three days away, the Republican assessment of the four states which the GOP now regards as most critical goes this way: Michigan, with an edge in Ohio and Illinois, and Pennsylvania too close to call.

Forecasters from both camps have been cautiously hedged by uncertainty about the impact of the religious issue. Opposition to Kennedy because of his religion is regarded as a significant part of Nixon's strength in the South, in border states like Kentucky and Oklahoma, and in the farm belt.

The issue is expected to cut both ways; however, and give Kennedy strength in areas with heavy concentrations of Catholic voters. Some of these are in heavily populated states with the most prized blocs of electoral votes.

4 States Hold Winning Key In Election

By RAYMOND LAHR
United States International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign lieutenants pointed Saturday to four states — Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Illinois — as the keys to next Tuesday's presidential election.

They virtually conceded New York's most-wanted bloc of 45 electoral votes to Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, but claimed California and Texas, with a combined total of 56 electoral votes, for Nixon.

buoyed by public opinion polls indicating Kennedy in front. Democratic campaign managers still rated Kennedy ahead in all seven of these pivotal states as they have confidently been doing for the past month.

These seven largest states have a combined total of 205 electoral votes. The winner Tuesday will need 269.

Republican hopes for a Nixon victory start with the assumption that he will carry almost all of the Midwestern farm belt states and will at least match President Eisenhower's success in the South. Eisenhower carried four of the 11 normally Democratic Southern states in 1952 and five in 1956, including Texas in both years.

Few Southern States Could Swing To Nixon

ATLANTA (UPI)—The election outlook in 12 Southern states which have a total of 138 electoral votes:

Virginia—(12 electoral votes): Most experts call it for Nixon, but it may be very close. Democrats are counting on Friday's visit by Kennedy to help, but privately are worried over the silent voters and the imponderable religious question. Nixon-Lodge Democrats have been carrying the campaign ball, citing Nixon as "more conservative" than Kennedy and the Democratic platform. Sen. Harry F. Byrd, key Democratic leader, silent campaigning.

North Carolina—(14 electoral votes): Neutral political observers still class North Carolina as doubtful on basis of past experience. Kennedy would be favored, since the state had gone Democratic in presidential elections since 1928. The doubtful 1952 time stems from the closeness of the 1956 race, despite the national Democratic platform, a more active and vocal Republican effort this year, an intangible groundswell of GOP strength that may or may not materialize in the presidential column. A strenuous Democratic campaign at the state-office level may help Kennedy.

South Carolina—(8 electoral votes): Most experts now think Nixon will give GOP its first presidential victory in South Carolina since reconstruction but all say it will be very close, and the Democratic tradition alone may be enough to swing it for Kennedy. Gov. Ernest Hollings, Sen. Olin Johnston and Rep. Robert Hemphill are the only elected Democratic officials actively campaigning for Kennedy. Sen. Strom Thurmond and five Democratic congressmen have kept hands off. Former Governor and U.S. Secretary of States James F. Byrnes is campaigning for Nixon.

Georgia—(12 electoral votes): Charges of alleged interference by Kennedy in connection with the arrest and imprisonment of integration leader the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. have hurt the Democrats, as admitted by Gov. Ernest Vandiver. Nearly everyone believes the Democrats will still carry the state but perhaps by not as large a majority as previously forecast. Georgia electors are unpledged by law. Seven of the 12 say they will vote for Kennedy-Johnson; the other five may or may not.

Florida—(10 electoral votes): The presidential race is considered neck-and-neck. Nixon is still given a slight edge privately by poll experts. Democratic Gov. nominee Farris Bryant says he believes the two candidates are less than 1,000 votes apart. GOP state chairman G. H. Alexander says Florida is safe for Nixon. Kennelly state manager Fred Dickinson says Kennedy-Johnson will carry Florida by 50,000 votes or more. Most of the state's big city dailies have endorsed Nixon.

Alabama—(11 electoral votes): Alabama is expected to remain faithful to the Democratic party, but most political forecasters believe the vote will be the closest in the state's history. The big issue is religion. Metropolitan areas—Birmingham, Montgomery, Mobile—voted Republican in 1952 and 1956 but the rural vote kept Alabama Democratic. This time prognosticators say the influence of Protestant churches on the rural vote will be felt. If the Democrats win only five of the Alabama electors are pledged to support the Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

Mississippi—(8 electoral votes): Racial segregation is the big issue in the minds of most Mississippians. Since neither party sees eye-to-eye with them on this, a slate of unpledged electors is on the ballot under a plan supported by Gov. Ross Barnett. It is expected to fare well, although Sen. James Eastland and most other political veterans are remaining in the Democratic ranks. Republicans have made an all-out campaign to expect more GOP votes than ever before in Mississippi. A close three-way race is almost certain.

Tennessee—(11 electoral votes): Democrats have gone all out to put Tennessee back in the party column after two consecutive defeats in presidential elections. But most experts rate the state a toss-up, mainly because of uncertainty as to the effect of the religious issue. Street polls by newspapers and radio stations have shown Kennedy leading on some spots, Nixon in others.

Texas—(24 electoral votes): Another toss-up. One statewide poll shows Nixon leading, another gives the nod to Kennedy. Most observers think a last-minute swing by Kennedy and native son Lyndon Johnson would carry Texas for the Democrats. Democrats appear to be running best in the rural areas, but Dallas is expected to go Republican.

Arkansas—(8 electoral votes): Politicians generally agree Arkansas will go for Kennedy, continuing its traditional Democratic vote. Heavy registration in north-west Arkansas indicates a hearty Republican turnout. Other influencing factors: Refusal of Gov. OFval Faubus to endorse the national Democratic platform, his lukewarm endorsement of the national ticket, his repeated emphasis that voters have a choice of voting Democratic, Republican or unpledged national states rights electors.

Louisiana—(10 electoral votes): A special legislative session, opened Friday by Gov. Jimmie H. Davis in an effort to avoid integration of New Orleans schools, Nov. 14, threatens the lead most experts believed the Democrats had. Late September estimates gave the Democrats about half and three leaning districts each gave the vote. Nixon less than 30 per cent, and a state's rights slate on the rest. Developments at the special session, where states rights issue, and by what appears to be will be in command, may sway a lack of drive and direction in enough voters at the last minute state Democratic headquarters to change the electoral vote.

Kentucky—(10 electoral votes): Cooper considered safe for Nixon.

Johnson Closes Drive At Home

AUSTIN (UPI)—Democratic vice-presidential candidate Lyndon B. Johnson "closes out his campaign here Monday night at an election eve 'Welcome Home' reception sponsored by Travis county Democrats.

The reception will be open to the public and will mark the end of Johnson's 63,000-mile nationwide campaign. He will make a final television appearance following the reception.

Johnson is scheduled to arrive in Austin about 5 p. m. Monday following visits in Houston, San Antonio and San Marcos.

Courier-Journal analysis of last Sunday, which gave Kennedy and Nixon one safe district each gave the Democrats about half and three leaning districts each gave the vote. Nixon less than 30 per cent, and a state's rights slate on the rest. Developments at the special session, where states rights issue, and by what appears to be will be in command, may sway a lack of drive and direction in enough voters at the last minute state Democratic headquarters to change the electoral vote.

Drillers Have Lucky Week

AUSTIN (UPI)—Watauga drillers had a lucky week with six oil and four gas discoveries, the State Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

Two of the oil finds were in the Houston area and two in the San Angelo District. Single discoveries were made in Kilgore and Abilene fields.

Three gas discoveries were made in the Corpus Christi area and one in the Wichita Falls District. There were another 46 dry holes.

The commission said it received 67 regular drilling applications during the week for a 1960 total of 13,284—some 3,000 less than last year at the same time.

There were 179 oil and 40 gas well completions during the week, bringing 1960 totals to 8,407 and 1,735, respectively.

A MESSAGE FROM "YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD" PHARMACY

WHY PRESCRIPTIONS ARE BARGAINS

In this election year some political headline hunters are implying medicines are overpriced. Can this be true?

WHAT PRICE THESE RESULTS?

Mastoid operations almost unknown. Maternal Mortality greatly reduced. Polio and Tuberculosis lessening every year. Our Life Span longer. And, millions of people now alive because of modern prescription medicines.

WHAT ABOUT RHEUMATIC FEVER?

A new steroid, taken for only seven days, almost always reduces the heart complication and lessens sickness time. Result is less permanent invalids. Cost of medicine about 82% but isn't that a bargain?

AVERAGE PRESCRIPTION COSTS $3.40

Six out of every 10 filled cost less. About one out of every 7 costs more than $5 and only one out of every 65 filled in 1959 cost more than $10.

PHARMACY IS PROUD OF RECORD.

We will continue to dispense the exact medicine physicians prescribe and keep our prices as low as the operation of a good pharmacy permits.

Should President Order Retaliation In Advance?

By RAY CROMLEY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. WASHINGTON (NEA) — Top government circles close to the White House are urging that by 1965 field commanders be authorized under certain circumstances to launch a nuclear retaliation attack without immediate word from the president or secretary of defense. These officials, both inside and outside the Pentagon, would have the president issue orders in advance on what to do in case of a massive Communist sneak attack in the U.S.

These orders would outline precisely when the commander of a missile or strategic bomber group could use his atomic and hydrogen weapons. The plan's proponents argue that under this system the U.S. would be helpless even if the president were dead, his successor unavailable and the Pentagon hierarchy blown up in the initial raids.

These officials also argue that the plan does not mean the decision to retaliate with nuclear weapons would be taken from the president but that the president would make the decision in advance.

Some would go further, allowing non-American European forces in NATO to control U.S. manufactured atomic weapons and use them without direct command from the U.S. president. This extreme view has not gained wide acceptance here.

What would be the circumstances under which field commanders could take this awesome step without an immediate command?

Details aren't yet worked out. In general, commanders could act in general, could act against A- and H-bombs but the Pentagon, key continental U.S. military installations and industrial cities simultaneously and communications from the top military command and the president were "out."

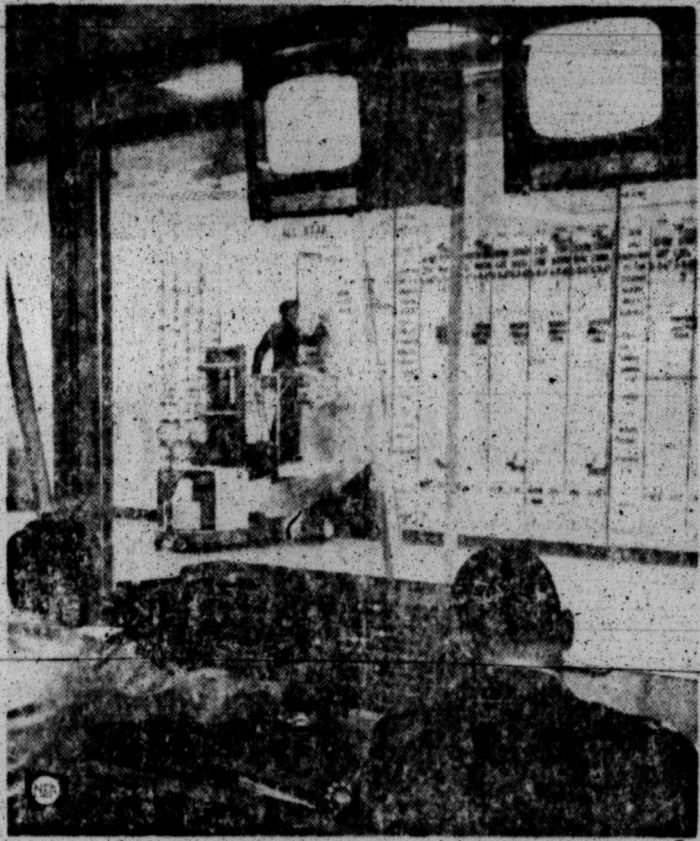

The planners face major problems.

How to define an attack in advance accurately enough so war won't be touched off by accidental explosions.

How to make certain field commanders know which enemy nation has set off the attack.

The men proposing this are confident definitions can be made fool proof.

Before such orders could be issued to field commanders, there would have to be some understanding with Congress. Military men say they see little difficulty here. They told the president and his military commanders have the right now to defend the country, and then they are under direct attack. They recall that defending even without a declaration of war has been common practice since the American Revolution. They maintain that advance orders will meet requirements of the law which say "there must be a presidential order before a nuclear weapon can be fired."

THE REINS of the Strategic Air Command's alert force around the world are held in this operations control room. Given previous orders for counterattack, SAC could instantly retaliate.

A poll of some key congressional planners, however, indicates there's a different opinion on this. Some of the U.S. legislators believe the president has authority to issue advance orders on firing nuclear weapons, some question it. There probably would be considerable debate on Capitol Hill.

If agreed on, the Pentagon strategists would want the conditions under which field commanders could set off their nuclear missiles and leave this country even temporarily without an operating chain of command. But the Reds, it is calculated, might have that ability "Suppose," said one Pentagon planner, "Khrushchev knew even a sneak attack knocking out the central civil and military authority of the U.S. would set off retaliation orders on firing nuclear weapons. Then wouldn't he think a long time before ordering war?"

According to the planners, the orders-in-advance program isn't necessary yet. The Russians haven't the capability to knock out all central U.S. nerve centers.

Guantanamo Riddled With Fidelista Agents

GUANTANAMO NAVAL BASE, U.S. Navy installation, riddled with a band of potential Cuban Premier with a band of potential Fidel Castro has an espionage network operating within, this through the gates every day.

Intelligence officers frankly admit there are many Fidelista informers among the 4,000 Cubans who work here. They also concede they must constantly be on guard for some spectacular sabotage attempt which could come either by land or sea.

Guantanamo's particular point of vulnerability is its water supply. The base depends for its water from the river reservoir located four and one-half miles outside the compound. The water is tested and treated before it enters the base system, but nothing could prevent the Cubans from cutting off the supply completely.

This could bring the tense Guantanamo situation to a head which is what Castro apparently is hoping for, officials said.

But Rear Adm. Allen H. Smith, the American Navy's commander in the Caribbean, said the base could be kept in a state of readiness to repel any attack.

Smith said no excursion from the only gateway, the said Guantanamo would be made without the Marine's out-of-order from Washington.

Many Expected To Renege On Duty Nov. 8

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If past experience is a guide, millions of Americans will renege on their duty as citizens of a democracy by failing to vote Nov. 8.

The best showing this country has ever made in turning out the vote was in 1952, when 62.7 per cent of the civilians of voting age actually went to the polls.

Only 60.7 per cent voted in the last presidential election year, 1956.

The lowest turnout of any recent presidential election was in 1944, when 51.5 per cent of the electorate participated in the balloting which gave Harry S. Truman an upset victory over Thomas E. Dewey.

In off-year elections, when the White House is not at stake, voting falls off sharply. In 1958, only 47 per cent of the adult civilian

"What will my new home be like?"

We all ask that question, even when we plan the home ourselves. Well, the Church Men's Committee of the First Christian Church in Stratford came up with the perfect answer when they built a new home for their pastor and his family. They built a Live Better Electrically Medallion Home. And that's pretty easy to understand, because men, as well as women, enjoy the every-day comforts and conveniences that make a house a home — and electricity provides most of them.

Ask your builder — or Public Service manager — to help you plan a Medallion Home — hallmark of home building excellence.

Texas Blasts Bear's Title Dream, 12 To 7

WACO, Tex. (UP) — James Saxton set up two Texas touchdowns on long gainers Saturday as the Longhorns virtually knocked the Baylor Bears out of the Southwest Conference title race with a 12 to 7 defeat before 30,000 fans.

Beal Leads Mizzou Win Over Buffs

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Missouri halfback Norm Beal scored 55 yards for a third-quarter touchdown Saturday to help the Tigers defeat the Colorado Buffaloes 16-6 and take a long stride toward the Big Eight Conference championship and an Orange Bowl berth.

Missouri spotted Colorado a 6-lead in the first when a 38-yard pass from Gale Weidner to Gary Benson clicked for a touchdown.

But the Tigers stormed from behind, scoring in the second Donnie Smith, adding their second 100-yard run by halfback Donnie Smith, adding their second touchdown on Beal's 55-yard punt return.

Missouri sealed the victory with a fourth-quarter safety. The win gave Missouri the nation's fourth-ranked in this week's United Press International poll.

The loss snapped a five-game Colorado winning streak and dumped the Buffs into third place with a 4-1 record.

Colorado marched for a touchdown the first time it got the ball with fullback Chuck Weiss and Weidner, pacing the drive.

Weiss carried six times for 21 yards in the 29-yard drive. Then Weidner capped the march with a perfect 35-yard strike to Benson in the end zone. It was the first time this year that Missouri had been scored on in the first quarter.

Jerry Hillebrand's kick for the extra point was no good.

The Buffs muffed another scoring opportunity later in the same quarter, reaching the Missouri four before running out of gas.

Missouri drove 49 yards midway through the second for its first score, with Smith circling left end for the final two. Bill Tobin stacked on the 20-yard punt, his 15 consecutive conversions.

Beal hauled in a Colorado punt early in the third, shook off two would-be tacklers, and sprinted 55 yards for Missouri's second touchdown. Tobin converted.

Missouri put the game out of reach late in the fourth when Danny La Rose tackled Weidner in the Colorado end zone for a safety.

Scoring: Missouri 12, Colorado 6. Air Force 36, Denver 6.

Gophers Use Mistakes To Bury Iowa, 27 To 10

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Minnesota's hard-hitting defense set up three touchdowns and a determined offense drove for another Saturday to beat Iowa, the nation's number one football team, 27-10, and post a claim to the top spot.

The Gophers, ranked No. 2 nationally going into the game, now hope to take over the number one spot next week by virtue of the triumph, their first in the last six games against the Hawkeyes and the first defeat this season.

Minnesota wasn't a stellar offensive club before a local record crowd of 65,610. It moved into Iowa territory only twice under its own power, but had pass from center on a punting situation gave Minnesota possession.

WELL, Halloween is over and by now the election excitement is at fever pitch, as you all know. The spooks were out in full force. Traffic is always heavy and it was fun to see the children and one thing we noticed as we drove our little ones out to trick-or-treat friends, was how pretty and bright the city looked. All the porch lights were on, and the streets looked so friendly and bright not dark and withdrawn. The welcome was for both the tricksters, and the UNICEF fund collectors, and some places there was a jack-o-lantern on the porch with a friendly grin. Wouldn't it be nice if the porch lights were turned on more? We were thinking particularly of the Christmas season, when lights in the windows are appropriate, but just turning on all the porch lights gives a sense of welcome and friendliness to strangers.

SPEAKING OF SPOOKS we ran across an item about an organization called the Spooks. It is a service group at the University of Texas, comprising three members from each sorority, and thirteen independents. The members move through the dormitories, sorority houses and boarding houses each year around Halloween, selecting new members. Spookets, the Spooks wear masks and sing the Spook song. One of our Pampa girls is a new member of this organization. She is Glenda Finklestein, from the Alpha Epsilon Phi sorority, daughter of Dave and Betty.

WE WERE SORRY to learn that the Episcopal Church will not hold its annual bazaar this year, but we understand the reason everyone is just too busy with the Cotillion which is so worthwhile. But there is to be another fine Christmas or Holiday Bazaar to be held by St. Vincent de Paul church on November 12. We love these bazaars. We will have to get our children's silhouettes made by Mrs. Tom Snow at the St. Vincent's bazaar.

LOCAL ALTRUSA Club members had something to crow about recently. They brought back five honors from district meeting held in Marshall. The club bulletin, which we told you about a few weeks ago, done by Doris Wilson and the Altrusa Views Staff, won first place among all the club bulletins. It will now be entered at state meeting and we just know it will win and go on to the national meeting. Art work on the bulletin was done by John McCausland. A group skit presented at a January meeting received an award from the District Altrusa information chairman. It was presented at Marshall by Van Vanderburg, Adrienne Foster, Gladys Harkins, and Inez Carter. Other honors were for Grants-in-Aid and Founders' Fund participation. Orchids to our Altrusa Club.

We would accomplish many more things if we did not think of them as impossible.
— C. Malesherbes

SQUARE DANCING seems to be coming into its own again lately. With very active clubs now, and everyone can get into the swing of the thing. For instance, the Galico Capers Square Dance Club had a very successful "beat-nik" dance a week or so ago. Don Alston was caller and master of ceremonies for the evening. Some of the dancers were so "beat" looking that it took quite a while to figure out just who they were in ordinary life. Beth Karr and Jim Powell were two such characters. Refreshment "fixes" were served (coffee and donuts) by two hip couples, and this was one time the "cool cats" really enjoyed being square. The clubs ask anyone who is interested to join the fun. Watch the papers, of course, for meeting times. We are indebted to Clydene Reed for telling us this.

PARTIES Mrs. D. V. Burton had some friends in for coffee and talk last week. Invitations went out for a Coffee and Book Review to present Kathyrn Steel reviewing on Saturday, November 12th, in the Starlight room. Hostesses are Mrs. Jerry Boston, Mrs. G. E. Branson, Mrs. W. R. Campbell, Mrs. Clarence Lutes, Mrs. Bob McCov, and Mrs. Charles Wooley. We can't wait for the date. Emily Hugg entertained the monthly birthday party meeting of the Winsome Class of the First Methodist Church honoring all those members with birthdays falling during the month.

WE RAN ACROSS AN INTERESTING item last week. Top one of those "overheard" conversations. Francis Hofess was heard raving about some fabrics that are really interesting sounding. They are designed from the fabric used on the sets of the fabulous movie, "Ben Hur." They are designed for use as upholstery fabrics, or drapery fabrics, and have stunning designs, rather classical, that will look simply gorgeous in any decor. From contemporary to traditional, handsome colors. We surely wish we could see the movie, but we HAVE seen pictures of some of the sets, and the fabrics look beautiful. Perhaps you will remember seeing the movie "The Story of Ruth" and may have noticed the pretty fabrics in the movie, that had the homespun and handwoven look we would love to have some of THOSE fabrics available by the yard too.

HERE AND THERE Azelle Loftus and her mother have moved into the beautiful large home the Fred Vanderburgs recently left when they moved back to the ranch. Libby Shotwell, attending the Junior Red Cross meeting in Waco, a few days ago, reported seeing Lina Lee Moore, who had driven over from New Baden, because she just knew that somebody from Pampa would be there. Rimp Lee is enjoying her new home, enjoying fishing, and hopes that Pampa people will come to see her and hash over the happenings. A letter received from friends of Chuck and Kay Bruce, who are now in Corpus Christi. She says she would love to hear reports of goings-on in town, too.

MORE HERE AND THERE Peggy Griffin, Jim Mpile, Lynn Taylor, Jerry Heard, Lou Morris and Gene Key, members of the St. Matthew's Junior Cotillion, won prizes at the Halloween party given a week ago Thursday. and we have heard that Nell Kelly has an adorable addition to her family. A captivating black French Poodle. Martha Marsh has been given the lead in a production at Eastern New Mexico University. The play will be "The Rope Dancers" we are still hearing raves about the local production of "Oklahoma!" by the way. One cute little second grader is Hunter Malson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Malson. Hunter has two charming little brothers, too, and they enjoyed the school Halloween party in Hunter's second grade room, and got chocolate cakes all over their selves. The big second graders had to laugh. Of course, they are TOO BIG ever to do anything like that any more!

WE KNOW WHERE EVERYONE IN THE WHOLE COUNTRY WILL BE on Tuesday night watching TV and the election returns!

See you next week.

'This Was The Civil War'

A Loose Confederation Became A Nation

EDITORS NOTE: The following story introduces a Civil War centennial series which will be published weekly. The writer is Merton T. Akers, author of the War Between the States and former day editor of United Press International. Soon the Civil War will be a century old.

At once the first of the modern wars and the last of the old-fashioned wars, the Civil War marked the greatest emotional experience of the American people.

It was a war of brother against brother, literally in many cases. Families split down the middle, half going south to fight under the Stars and Bars, half turning their faces north at the call of Abraham Lincoln. Fathers disowned sons, sisters turned brothers' pictures against the wall, all in the name of left or right.

No man now living fought in the Civil War. But about four million men did fight in it, first and last. About half a million of them were killed in it. No one knows how many of the four million carried their scars to deaths before their appointed time.

What happened to the four million from Bull Run through Shiloh and Gettysburg to Appomattox affected every one of the nation's 31,000,000 inhabitants, North and South. Never again would life be the same in any household in these United States for any one then living or born since.

For with the Civil War, the United States turned the corner. From then on it would be a nation, not a confederation which any displeased state might threaten to disrupt by leaving. From then on Americans would place their allegiance in the United States, not in Virginia or South Carolina. The boundary of patriotism would be the oceans, not the Mason-Dixon line.

Stripped of extraneous issues, the causes of the Civil War were secession and the extension of slavery, or the extension of slavery and secession, the one being part and parcel of the other.

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International
Election news filtered into Springfield, Ill., slowly on the night of Nov. 6, 1860.

In the early evening, Abraham Lincoln, the Republican presidential candidate, reading the telegraphic dispatches with political friends, first learned he had lost his own county, Sangamon. Other early news was better — he had won his home district.

Around midnight the party broke up on a jubilant note with receipt of this telegram:

"Hon. A. Lincoln, Pennsylvania: 70,000 for you, New York safe. Glory enough, S. Cameron."

Lincoln then walked through celebrating party workers in the streets to his white clapboard house on Eighth St. and told a beaming Mary Todd Lincoln:

"Mary, we're elected."

That night, 100 years ago, this week, the American Civil War became inevitable. But no one, not even Lincoln, was conscious of this.

The "S. Cameron" who signed the telegram was Simon Cameron of Pennsylvania, an ex-Democrat, a Republican, who would be Lincoln's first secretary of war, until quietly removed and sent to Russia as U.S. ambassador.

The presidential campaign, a contest that November night was the bitterest in memory. Four candidates made the race. The Democratic party, which had held the presidency except for a few intervals since Thomas Jefferson, split two ways. The wedge which shattered the party was the extension of slavery.

U.S. Sen. Stephen A. Douglas, the "Little Giant" of Illinois, led the moderate Democrats. Nominated in Baltimore June 23 by the northern wing of the party, Douglas undertook to reward the Democrats and stave off a strife by running on the platform of Popular Sovereignty, which would leave any extension of slavery to voters in the territories which were clamoring to join the Union. Popular Sovereignty had been blooded in Kansas in the middle '50s.

Five days later in Baltimore the southern wing of the party — the fire eaters who sensed the South was losing its grip on the government — nominated Vice President John C. Breckinridge of Kentucky. His platform in essence was that slavery was legal anywhere in the nation.

Lincoln was nominated by the new Republican party on May 18 in Chicago. He went into the convention running second to William H. Seward, a former governor of New York and a favorite of the party which was entering faces north at the call of Abraham Lincoln. Fathers disowned sons, sisters turned brothers' pictures against the wall, all in the name of left or right.

Douglas sensed the crisis, and went to work early. Until 1860 no presidential candidate ever had stumped the country, following the precedent set by George Washington. But by July Douglas was on the hustings on the pretense that he was going to visit his mother in New York State.

Breckinridge and Bell followed Douglas to the stump. Lincoln never stirred from Springfield. He issued no statements. Questioners were referred to his previous utterances.

Douglas stumped New England, the East coast into the Carolinas, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana — at least a speech a day, sometimes more. But it was in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in early October that he faced the political realities. There he learned the Republicans had elected a governor in Pennsylvania. A little later came word from Indiana that the Republicans were victorious there, too. The Pennsylvania victory was impressive, a majority of 32,000. That day Douglas told his secretary:

"Mr. Lincoln is the next president. We must try to save the Union. I will go South."

He did, by way of St. Louis, Memphis, and on into the Deep South where the newspapers breathed editorial life and the crowds were hostile, but willing to listen.

Election night found the Little Giant in Mobile, Ala. He sat with an editor reading election dispatches. By midnight he too knew the result.

As George Fort Milton put it in The Eye of Conflict, "that night secession was born."

Electoral	Popular	States	Vote	Vote
Lincoln	17	180	1,865,352
Breckinridge	11	72	845,761
Douglas	2	12	1,375,157
Bell	3	39	589,581

Lincoln had won a clear majority of the electoral vote, the figure which elects, but in popular vote he would be a minority president.

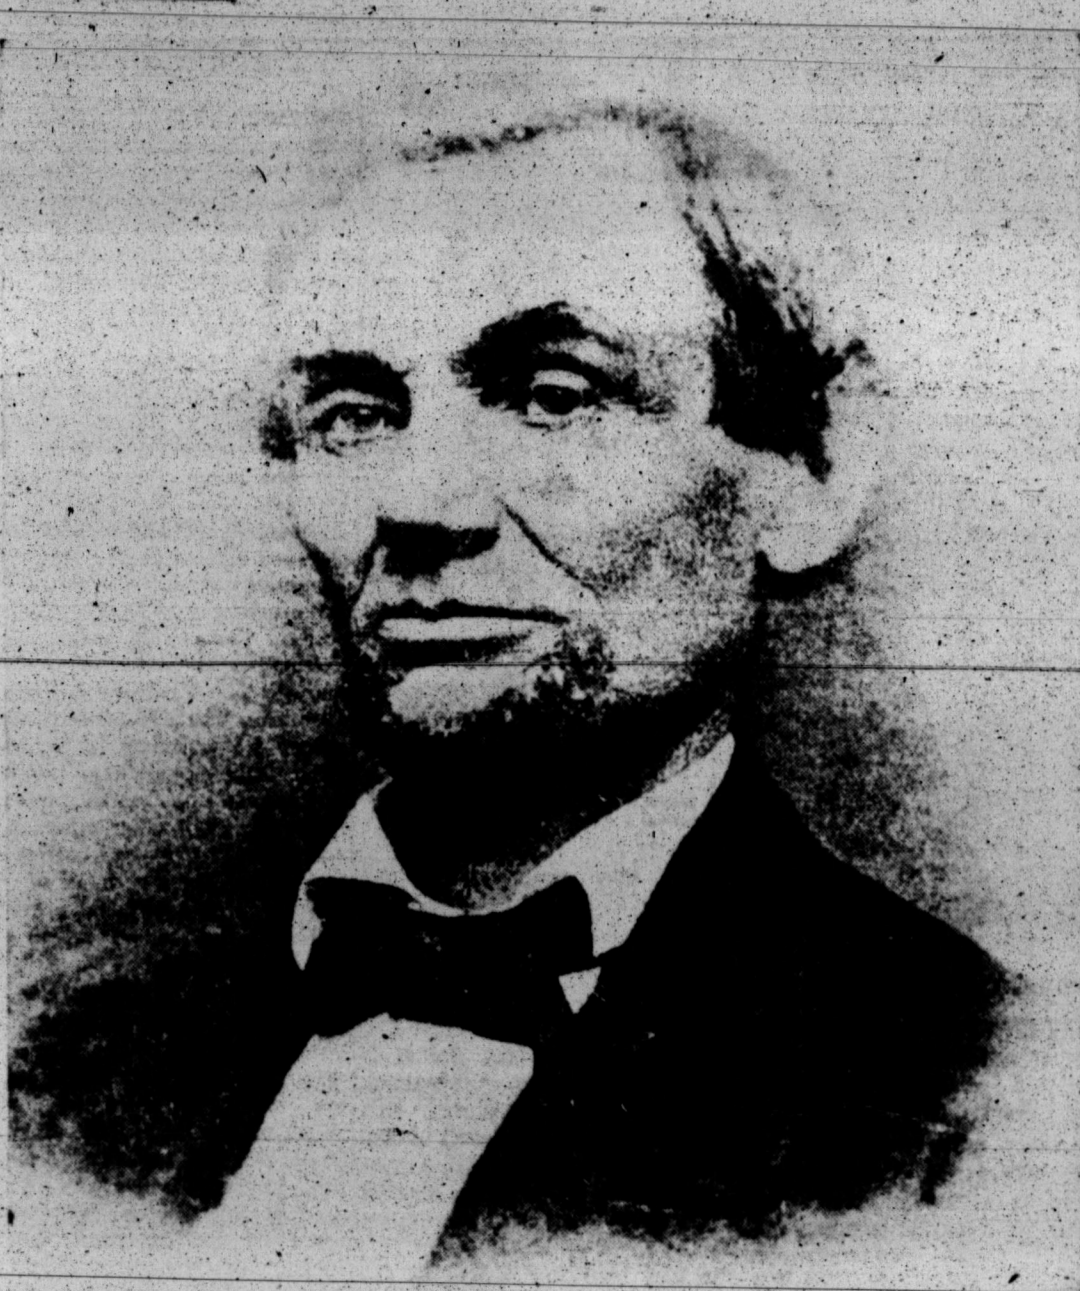

Lincoln Faces Divided Country
Politically, Lincoln faced a divided country. The Republicans carried neither the Senate nor the House. But what Lincoln could not know then was that by the time the Congress elected with him met on July 4, 1861 in special session, enough states, all Democratic, would have seceded and that the Republicans would control both houses.

No president, before or since, faced anything similar.

South Carolina was readying the action which would lead into civil war five months hence.

The day before election, William Pickens, South Carolina governor, recommended leaving the Union.

Before the week was out a committee of the South Carolina legislature had recommended a bill for a convention to consider secession. The state's two U.S. senators had resigned, a federal grand jury had Lincoln won the election that brought on a war.

'Covering' Presidential Candidates Is No Snap

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

ON THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL (NEA) — Ever feel you'd like to chase after a presidential nominee as he crisscrosses the country? Come on alone.

We're coming in for a landing at a big city airport. The press throngs to a halt near the terminal. "Not another crowd!" moans one refused to act, a federal district judge had closed his court, and quit.

The secession parade was gathering in the side streets. It would start marching in little more than a month.

— Election figures from Bates and Leaders of the Civil War. Popular vote figures from the sources show only minor differences without affecting the electoral count.

(Next week — South Carolina turns on the secession machinery.)

NEXT WEEK IN THE CIVIL WAR
Nov. 5—Governor of South Carolina recommends leaving the Union.

Nov. 6—Abraham Lincoln elected president.

Nov. 9—The South Carolina legislature votes to call secession convention.

Nov. 10—Committee of South Carolina legislators votes a bill to call secession convention.

man as he spots a horde of the candidate's admirers awaiting his arrival. Some can take the sight of massed humanity only so long.

On the field, newsmen — aided by handy police officers — try to guess the numbers on hand. They call this "crowdmaning."

After one liberal stab by a policeman, a wag commented: "We've got the estimate, now we'll have to wait for the crowd."

A shout goes up and the bands play. The nominee's plane, dubbed "the mother ship," hits the runway and taxis over. Out he steps, with a wave and a smile. Local politicians zero in, hoping for a sliver of spotlight.

He wears the dignities and now and then something special, like a prize bull. At Kansas City he stepped on Vice President Nixon's foot.

The candidate plants himself in the folded down top of a convertible and the motorcade is off. Newsmen get aboard press buses eighth of ninth in line, and hope they can see what's happening ahead.

After you've done this awhile you get a kind of floating, dis-embodied feeling. Cities merge in the mind. (Said one man: "All I've seen the last two weeks are Memphis and Sioux City.") You have no real bearings. ("What's that river—the Missouri or the Mississippi?") The only realities are airplanes, buses, motorcades, blaring trombones, screaming onlookers, arched overworked policemen. Sleep is a brief recess in the endless cycle.

"Where's Jim?" a newsman asks. A friend answers: "We lost him. The coward wants to get some sleep."

Campaigns by train in the old days were more leisurely and orderly. There was a sense of order, as the hand unfolded beneath you. It wasn't so hard to answer the question: "Where are you stepped on Vice President Nixon's foot?"

Anyway, let's get back to that press bus. Handling it takes all the skill a driver can muster. Overeager local candidates and mooncherry try to sneak in ahead. When they do, the cry goes up: "Get 'em outa there! Pass 'em!"

YOUNG SINGERS — Members of the newly formed Boys Choir of St. Vincent de Paul Church, are pictured above shortly after going through a choral training period with Sister M. Aquina, C.C.V.I., for singing in the church. The boys are from grades four through eight of the Catholic school. The boys joined the Girls Choir in singing the High Mass for the Feast of Christ the King, and in the future will sing the High Mass every fourth Sunday.

Migration Will Pare Dixie Negro Balloting

ATLANTA (UPI) — Out-migration has caused a slight decline in the number of southern Negroes who are eligible to vote in the region, a net loss of 1,000 voting age Negroes during Tuesday's presidential election, U.S. Commerce Department figures disclosed Saturday.

Approximately one out of five persons in seven southeastern states eligible to vote are Negroes, by far the largest group of Negroes in this bracket in any region.

Almost 3,750,000 Negroes are of voting age in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee, the agency said.

Georgia, because of its 18-year-old voting privileges, has the largest number of Negroes of voting age with 613,000.

Other states, according to the federal agency's figures, are: North Carolina 547,000, Alabama 500,000, Florida 477,000, Mississippi 423,000, South Carolina 379,000, Tennessee 293,000.

The report showed that, while Alabama, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee have just voting-age Negroes in the past decade, Georgia and Florida show increases.

Losses included 10,000 for Alabama, 14,000 for Mississippi, 3,000 for North Carolina, 11,000 for South Carolina and 21,000 for Tennessee.

Dem Asks GOP To Be Courteous

AUSTIN (UPI) — State Democratic director Gerald Mann Saturday called on Republican leaders in Texas to appeal to their followers to permit Democratic voters to go to the polls Tuesday unimpeded.

"The shameful display of organized discourtesy to Sen. and Mrs. Johnson in Dallas had done Dallas and our state irreparable harm in the eyes of the state, the nation and the world," Mann said. "Not only should Republican leadership publicly apologize to the senator and to Mrs. Johnson, but they should do their very best to appeal to their followers to avoid any other planned and organized incident—any kind of incident—born of such desperation."

Walter Evans Jr., an attorney for Mrs. Garrett, has requested that bail be set and a hearing is scheduled for Monday at 2 p.m.

There are nearly 650 trade unions in Great Britain.

KENNEDY and DEPLETION

Senator Kennedy has voted in the past to reduce depletion allowance for the largest producers. HOWEVER, for those producers from five million dollars down, he would maintain the depletion allowance at 27 1/2 per cent.

What does this really mean to the Independent Oil Operators of Texas?

There are more than 7,000 independent oil operators in this State. They are responsible for more than 90% of all wells drilled in Texas. Of these 7,000 producers, less than 10% of them have a production income of more than 1 million dollars per year, less than 1/3 of 1% have a production income of more than 5 million dollars per year. I contend that Senator Kennedy's ideas on depletion would aid the Texas oil operator for the following reasons:

At this time there are a few extremely large companies involved in producing and importing foreign oil. Some of these companies produce as much as 1 million dollars per day, or more, in these foreign areas; I do not believe that oil produced in other lands should enjoy the same depletion percentage as domestic production. In 1952 Texas producers had almost 3 times as many producing days as we have now. There were almost twice as many rigs running than there are now. Producing days are now the lowest in history. Unemployment among drilling crews has never been higher.

I do not believe that the oil business can afford another 4 years under the Republican administration!
