WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department served notice Saturday that winners of football parlay cards may have trouble collecting on games played this weekend.

This came to light as revenue agents and local police wound up a nationwide raid—the third such crackdown on gambling operations this year.

About 150 persons were arrested in 56 cities during a 24-hour period. A total of 133 locations in 25 states were raided by the agents and local police, who seized more than $65,000.

An Internal Revenue Service spokesman said about 50 per cent of the operations dealt with football pool betting. Bettors' money as well as records were confiscated by officers.

"A lot of (pool operators) are going to have a problem Monday in paying off bets," the spokesman said.

The coordinated raids for the most were completed according to play Friday. A few more arrests were made Saturday morning. A spokesman said some warrants, all of which charged evasion of federal gambling taxes, were still outstanding and it might take until next week to catch the persons named in them.

The effective cooperation was underscored in Connecticut where a Coast Guard helicopter assisted 26 internal revenue agents, 40 state troopers, three state police. (See FOILED, Page 3)

SOMETHING FOR THE TOTS — Firemen at Central Fire Station have been working numerous hours to ready toys for needy tots at Christmas, but they have hit a snag — folks aren't cooperating — and the job of bringing toys in is lagging. Fire Chief Ernest Winborne urged those who have toys that they wish to give to the cause to bring them to the fire station or, if they are unable to do so, to call the station and one of the firemen will call for them. Negro Boy Runs Amok, Cuts Lad

By JACK V. FOX
United Press International

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A teenage Negro boy, shouting obscenities about the courts and the white people, ran amok with a knife in the famed French Quarter Saturday and severely wounded a small white boy before he was shot down by police.

The Negro, who appeared crazed by dope, slashed away at whites along Dauphine Street — just a block away from famed Bourbon Street—in the latest outbreak of racial violence brought on by tensions over integration of New Orleans schools.

The Negro, identified as Donald Erion, 17, was taken to a hospital in critical condition with a severe head wound.

His victim, Byron Walter Goss, 7, was severely cut under the left arm after the Negro attacked the boy as he stood on his front steps playing a ukelele.

The rampage and shooting drew a big crowd in the streets of the quarter. It was an ominous start for a period which the city had hoped would be peaceful with the schools closed until Nov. 28.

Door-To-Door Dystrophy Hike Set Tomorrow

A city-wide march for Muscular Dystrophy will be conducted in Pampa tomorrow night, A. J. Carubbi Jr., chairman of the campaign, said yesterday.

Units from the local National Guard, the Pampa Jaycees, Pampa Firemen and Beta Sigma Phi Sorority will make the door-to-door solicitations.

To further point up the drive, Mayor Ed Myatt has proclaimed tomorrow Muscular Dystrophy Day and has urged residents of the city to give generously to the effort to raise funds to stamp out this dread disease which is a major killer of youngsters.

The drive will be conducted from 8 to 8 p.m., and all marchers are to meet at the Central Fire Station on Foster Street at 5:45 p.m. for final instructions.

Carubbi noted that some 200,000 persons are victims of the mysterious disease for which researchers have yet to find a reason or solution.

Three Pampa Students In State Choir

Three Pampa High School students have been named to the All-State High School Choir following tryouts at Dumas yesterday, Hugo Sanders, PHS choir director, said.

The three are: Betty Lou McWilliams, second soprano; Jerry Baxter, second tenor; and Jerry Nichols, baritone.

One other PHS student, John Carlson, was named alternate bass.

The three selected from the local school are among the 15 chosen from District 11, which includes the Panhandle area, Sanders pointed out, adding some 200 students participated in the tryouts.

The choir will meet in the Statler-Hilton Hotel at Dallas, Feb. 9, 10 and 11 to present a series of concerts.

structure along nuclear-space age lines.

Kennedy directed Symington's five-member committee on Pentagon reorganization to report to him by the end of this month on its three-month study. The deadline for the report originally was Oct. 30.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., one of the Senate's most interested observers of problems in Latin America also visited the President-elect Saturday. News-men were told that part of their discussion involved developments in Central America, where Guatemala and Nicaragua have been given U. S. Navy protection against Communist attack.

Symington and Smathers both arrived Saturday morning as weekend guests at the estate of Kennedy's father on a beach-front height overlooking the Atlantic Ocean. Kennedy has been vacationing here off and on since last Friday night to recapture some of the energy spent in several months of arduous campaigning.

Symington said he and Kennedy talked about matters other than the report during an hour and a half chat in President-elect's living room, although they did discuss (See PROBLEMS, Page 3)

Boy Scout Excursion Is Tragedy

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (UPI) — A boy scout excursion ended in tragedy Saturday when a giant wave tilted a fishing boat on its side, hurling nine persons into the water. The Coast Guard rescued seven but said two men drowned.

The body of one victim Arthur Howell, about 45, Fresno, Calif., was found late Saturday night, the Coast Guard reported. A search was in progress for the second, Charles Kolbert, about 50, also Fresno.

The party of 16 members and six adult leaders of Boy Scout Troop 57 of Fresno, Calif., was returning from an outing at sea aboard the 60-foot fishing boat Missawit when the swell hit the rear of midship, tilting the craft on its side.

Six adults in the rear were flung against the railing which gave way. Three boys also were tossed into the water.

A Coast Guard tug, the Comanche, rescued four adults and three boys.

Also rescued were Al Coop, 42; Tom Hird, 36; and Don Bishop, 27, the Scout master; and James Belcher, 14, Dean Cowley, 14, and Ken Bender, 14, all Fresno.

The Comanche was less than a mile away when the Missawit was swamped just outside the Morro Bay Breakwater, the Coast Guard said. An unidentified Coast Guardsman on a point of land nearest the mishap happened to see the boat in trouble and hastened to alert the Comanche to proceed with the rescue.

Three Texans Die In Crash In Louisiana

LE COMPTE, La. (UPI) — Three Kilgore, Tex. men were killed and a fourth seriously injured Saturday in a grinding smashup between the car in which they were riding and a trailer truck.

Police identified the dead as B. C. Spangler, 33, Charles W. Johnson, 26, and E. M. Pittman, 35. The injured man is Jack Williams, whose condition was not immediately determined.

Officers said the truck, driven by 25-year-old Billy Deason of Mansfield, La., was traveling in the opposite direction on Highway 716 from the death car, and jack-knifed its empty cattle trailer across the road in front of them.

They also said negligent homicide charges will be filed against Deason, who was hospitalized for observation, but appeared to be in good condition.

Police said Deason's truck was traveling fast. It jack-knifed six miles south of here when he came up behind another vehicle and hit the brakes.

Ghanaians Quit Congo Area

By ARTHUR HIGBEE
United Press International

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Ghanaian diplomats ordered out on Saturday by strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu, began vacating their embassy here Saturday under protection of United Nations troops.

The Ghanaians, ordered expelled for allegedly meddling in Congolese political affairs, sent out a station wagon loaded with suitcases without waiting for the official expulsion order.

The luggage was taken to the United Arab Republic embassy, Ghana's envoy, Nathaniel Welbeck, told UPI he would not leave the country "until ordered to do so by my government."

A group of Ghana police was stationed in the embassy grounds and U.N. troops patrolled outside.

Later three Congolese paratroopers and a civilian appeared at the Ghanaian embassy and gave Welbeck the official notice expelling him from the Congo.

The armed soldiers attempted to enter the embassy grounds but were held back at bayonet point by Ghana police guarding the embassy on orders of the U.N. high command.

Deputy U.N. special representative Gen. Inderjit Rikhye said U.N. troops would provide protection for the Ghanaian diplomats even though the world body regarded diplomatic relations between the Congo and Ghana as an internal affair.

Reports from northern Katanga, meanwhile, said that 80 more mutilated bodies had been discovered near the town of Langwe, raising fears that tribal warfare in that secessionist area might get out of hand.

Spokesmen said a serious situation exists in Katanga where at

'Improper Election' Letters Stir Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI has been ordered by the Justice Department to investigate a number of complaints of alleged voting fraud in the presidential election, it was learned Saturday.

Neither the department attorneys working on voting fraud complaints nor the FBI would comment on the cases of alleged irregularities under investigation.

But informed sources said the department had received a tremendous volume of mail urging investigation of improper election.

The sources said, however, that it was still too early to determine whether mail relating to the election was heavier than normal for presidential election years.

They also said that many of the letters and telegrams received by the department merely suggested the possibility that voting frauds had occurred, without spelling out charges.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, who has been in Florida with Vice President Richard M. Nixon this week, could not be reached for comment. He warned prior to the election that the government would prosecute violations of the federal voting laws.

Rogers instructed federal district attorneys to be on the lookout for possible violations of federal voting statutes.

The Justice Department would become involved in the recount process going on in some states only if recounts turned up evidence of fraud.

On Friday, the Republican National Committee announced it is sending representatives into eight states to take a "close hard look" at the election results. The inquiry would be made in Illinois, Texas, Missouri, New Mexico, Nevada, South Carolina, New Jersey and Pennsylvania—all carried narrowly by President-elect John F. Kennedy.

The latest tabulation by United Press International showed: Kennedy 33,996,082 votes or 50.1509 per cent of the vote; Nixon 33,791,441 or 49.8490 per cent, and others 448,412.

Republican Chairman Thruston B. Morton has asked state and county Republican officials to advise him and the Justice Department if they find any firm basis for complaints.

Nixon Flies To Nassau

MIAMI (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon flew to Nassau, Bahamas, Saturday, apparently concluding his south Florida vacation.

Nixon took off from Miami International airport accompanied by U.S. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and a Miami friend, C.G. Rebozo.

An aide described the trip as "a few days rest." An official at the Key Biscayne Hotel where the vice president had been staying said Nixon was not expected to return there, although he had a round trip ticket to the Bahamas.

Nixon's aide declined to say how long the vice president might stay at Nassau.

Mrs. Nixon and her two children were expected to leave for Washington this weekend.

Nixon and his family, frequent visitors to Key Biscayne, were here about a week. Their stay was highlighted by a visit from President-elect John F. Kennedy, who flew down from his winter home at Palm Beach for a 63-minute talk.

Military Journal Rips Overseas Families Slash; Morale Is Noted

By DARRELL GARWOOD
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An armed forces journal said Saturday that "a morale crisis worse than any since the pay cut of 1933" may result from President Eisenhower's order to reduce the number of military dependents abroad.

The Defense Department meanwhile asked the Army to complete arrangements for carrying out its share of the reduction and to show "positive leadership" in overcoming the adverse effects of the move, it was learned.

The Army-Navy-Air Force Register, published independently but closely associated with the military through reserve and retired officers, said it recognized that the foreign drain on America's gold created "urgent fiscal reasons" for the reduction.

The service journal, in an editorial prepared for publication next week, added:

"But it is sheer folly to ignore the serious morale aftermath. What we must do first is face up to the problem and then do something to remedy the situation."

"The government must do something about the economic situation that caused this crisis. The bringing home of dependents and other steps are only stop-gaps."

"Unless the basic problems are solved the economic advantages gained by these morale-shattering moves will be lost. We hope the new administration can find the solution."

The number of dependents will be reduced by 284,000 through a series of gradual steps.

A weak cold front moved into the Panhandle Saturday, promising slightly cooler temperatures for most parts of Texas Sunday.

The cool front moved to just south of Amarillo late Saturday. Skies were cloudy over South and Central Texas, partly cloudy in North Central and Northeast Texas, but clear over the Panhandle.

U. S. Weather Bureau forecasters said the mercury would drop to around 30 degrees in the upper Panhandle Sunday and to 38 in parts of extreme Southwestern Texas.

Temperatures were expected to rise into the mid 50's to the mid 60's in Northwest Texas Sunday, ranging upward to the mid 70's in other parts of the state.

Churchill Is Mending

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill was able to sit up in bed and chat with his wife Saturday despite a restless night with a broken small bone in his back.

The Churchill ensign showing him to be "lord warden of the cinque ports" flew gaily over his country home at Chartwell, Villagers know that as long as he lives, the flag will continue to fly.

A medical bulletin said the 85-year-old "greatest living Englishman" had a second disturbed night in his London home "but the pain of his injury is less."

He sat up in his special "apical" bed to talk with his wife, Clementine, his physiotherapist, Miss Martyn Jones, and his physician, Lord Moran.

He had been in some pain Friday from the injury suffered Tuesday night when he slipped on a throw rug in his home.

Triple Killer Denies Guilt

OTTAWA, Ill. (UPI)—A former dishwasher who admitted he killed three women in Starved Rock State Park last March Saturday repudiated his confession.

"I didn't do it," Chester Weger, 21, told his court-appointed attorney, Joseph D. Carr.

Carr, a public defender, said Weger made the retraction voluntarily when he visited him in his jail cell here.

Weger's admission early Thursday broke the case of the three Chicago suburban Riverside matrons, whose beaten bodies were found lying in a shallow cave of lonely St. Louis Canyon at the park. Mrs. Lillian Otting, 50, Mrs. Mildred Lindquist, 50, and Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47, vanished shortly after they arrived at a park lodge last March 14 for a brief winter vacation.

Mississippi Leader Balked

BARILOCHE, Argentina (UPI) —Mississippi Governor Ross Barnett Saturday ran into small opposition with a plan to use the South's uncommitted electoral votes to pressure president-elect John F. Kennedy on civil rights.

Two other governors predicted Barnett would fail.

THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International

The firebrands and the few cool heads of seething South Carolina already had been summoned to vote on secession when, on Nov. 21, 1860, a middle-sized Regular Army major of artillery, his dark hair shot with gray, arrived at Ft. Moultrie and took command of the U.S. defenses for Charleston.

Even as he hand-counted his garrison force of 64 men and six officers — he did, indeed, have a surgeon and a chaplain and brass band of 13 in addition — Charleston itself was stoked to the point of spontaneous combustion.

Military companies, old and new, drilled every night on the cobble streets. Hoop-skirted ladies wore frowns to sew uniforms and flags. Slave owners counted their chattels against the time when they would be needed to dig trenches and throw up earthworks.

These sights, which Maj. Robert Anderson saw when he left the steam cars from Washington, must have been disheartening to the 55-year-old Mexican War veteran, a renowned artillery instructor at the Army academy at West Point.

While the forces of secession were mustering, Anderson, if the day was clear, could see his whole command — such as it was — from Charleston's Battery. This command was: one fort, equipped with guns but held only by a caretaker; one manned fort (six officers, 77 men, a surgeon and a chaplain); one vulnerable and run-down; one unfinished fort, and one in ruins.

If he suspected, as many did, that his appointment had been due to the fact that he was a Kentuckian and married to a Georgia-born wife he had left in the North because of illness, he showed no evidence of it, then or ever. His loyalty to the Union would prove unquestionable.

Anderson had been told by Secretary of War John B. Floyd that he must hold these forts. Floyd was a Virginian. Also, Floyd was trying to sell 10,000 obsolete muskets to South Carolina. But, even so, Anderson may have left the secretary's office with the impression that he would be reinforced.

Lt. Gen. Winfield Scott, commander-in-chief of the Army, had been bypassed in issuance of Anderson's orders. When Anderson called on the old general in New York before he saw Floyd, Scott was gracious as he always was but told Anderson that any instructions must come from Floyd. Scott had maintained his offices in New York since he had quarreled with President Franklin Pierce years before.

So the fuse already had been inserted into the powder keg when Anderson arrived on the scene. When it would be set off was anybody's guess.

Capt. Abner Doubleday, second in command of the defenses, thought it would be soon. He was thinking of sending his family north.

Nearest to Charleston in Anderson's command was Castle Pickney, about three-quarters of a mile east of the docks on an island called Shute's Folly. It was equipped with heavy guns. Ordnance Sergeant Skillen, his wife and 15-year-old daughter, Kate, were the only inhabitants. Skillen's duty was to oil the guns.

Ft. Moultrie, Anderson's headquarters and the only manned work around the harbor, was on Sullivan's Island about four miles across the bay from the city. It was like a homecoming for the major. Early in his Army career he had served a tour of duty there in the days when Moultrie was known as the "country club" of the Army.

On the west bank of the harbor was Ft. Johnson, another Revolutionary work, which had been abandoned and had fallen into ruin. But there in the center of the channel, like a cork bottling up Charleston, lay unfinished Fort Sumter. Started in 1839, Sumter was built on a man-made island of granite, the "leavings" of New England quarries, a job that consumed 10 years and $500,000. It was a formidable pile. Its plans called for a garrison of 650 men and 146 guns.

But this masonry shell had neither men nor mounted guns. Strangely, some time before Anderson was assigned to the command, there had been a sudden renewal of interest by Secretary Floyd in the condition of the forts, new appropriations became available and $230,000 was allocated to put the works into good condition, $30,000 to finish Sumter and the rest for Moultrie. Northerners watched this move with some suspicion. Was the Virginian — secretary of war building up the forts so South Carolina would be able to seize a ready-made defense?

Capt. John Gray Foster of the U.S. Army Engineers, 37. West called on the old general in New York before he saw Floyd. Scott was gracious as he always was but told Anderson that any instructions must come from Floyd. Scott had maintained his offices in New York since he had quarreled was well along when Anderson arrived.

Over the years a summer resort had grown up on Sullivan's Island and by 1860 nearly surrounded Moultrie. Charlestonians spent the hot summer months in the sea breezes and some lived there the year around. Many of the houses looked down on the fort, making ideal perches for sharpshooters to pick off the garrison.

Drifting sand had piled against the brick bastions until Capt. Doubleday wrote that a herd of cows could have invaded the fort merely by strolling up the sand dunes. One of Anderson's first orders was to shovel away the sand. Doubleday suggested burning the houses above but Anderson demurred.

Foster's building activities aroused Charlestonians. They set patrols by land and sea to keep his work under surveillance. Wearing the blue cockades of secession, they strolled about Moultrie watching the progress. Officers of the mushrooming military companies visited the work and made notes. More than one remarked how generous it was of the government to repair the forts before they took over. Even Anderson, normally a close-mouthed man, remarked that the secessionists seemed bent on taking the fort.

Anderson inspected Castle Pickney. Here was a fort he could defend. Its guns dominated the city. Then he looked over Sumter.

After that he reported to Washington in terms that would put Floyd on notice.

He recommended: Garrison Castle Pickney immediately to help defend Moultrie which was wide open to attack.

Complete Sumter — the key to the situation — and garrison it.

Sizable reinforcement must be sent and soon.

Five other times before the war started Anderson would request reinforcements. He never got them.

(Next week — The wheels of secession begin turning in the states.)

Reasons For Successful Service Station Business Cited By Survey

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) —What is the prescription for a successful gasoline service station?

It's well known in the industry that all is not harmonious in the retail end of the petroleum business. Service stations change hands often, personnel turns over even more often and gasoline wars and bad salesmanship eat into meager profits.

The market research class of the College of Business Administration of the University of Tulsa, under the direction of Prof. Lloyd R. Saitzman, has released the latest in a series of studies on the problem.

Saitzman's staff interviewed 75 dealers in the Tulsa area, the ones considered to be in the top 25 per cent of all dealers, to find out what makes them tick. Of these 75, the cream of the crop — some 18 stations — were analyzed in detail.

Here are some of his findings: Most of the best dealers have been in business three years or longer, and nearly all did minor mechanical work in addition to pumping gasoline and selling accessories. Only about half of the managers had had previous experience in service stations, either as manager or attendant.

The average monthly gasoline gallonage was about 32,000, with from 150 to 315 gallons of oil sold per month. The average operator did several hundred dollars worth of lubrication and wash jobs and did half or more of his sales volume through credit cards.

But little or no sales were done on personal credit.

Some will be surprised to learn that only half of the dealers offered trading stamps, and an equal number of dealers did not believe the stamps more than paid for themselves.

New driveway salesman were obtained primarily through recommendations of friends, newspaper ads, and "drop in" applicants. In seven cases the dealer received help from his family (usually the wife as bookkeeper).

Most of the stations were open 15 hours or less per day, and a like number of dealers were at the station 12 hours or less each day.

Most dealers used bookkeeping systems not recommended by the oil company.

The average dealers' initial investment was nearly $5,000 — and in the majority of cases no borrowed money was involved. The average investment currently is $11,000, and the average net profit is more than $700 per month.

Summing up, dealers agreed on the following reasons for success: Hard work, good service, good record-keeping, location, incentive plans, and training.

Friendship Tree Cites GI-German Closeness

WUERZBURG, Germany (UPI)—In front of the 3rd U.S. Infantry Division's headquarters here stands a scraggly pine, planted a few years ago as a "German-American friendship tree."

Despite a blighted look, it hopefully puts out fresh green each year. In a way not exactly intended by its planters, it makes a good symbol of the bumpy road to love between GI's and their German neighbors.

A few years ago, American soldiers were spat on now and then in the streets of south German towns, and "ami, go home" signs were no rarities.

Those days are gone now, thanks partly to the passage of time, the Army's massive good will program, and the decent behavior of most soldiers. Frictions remain, though, and crop up every so often in protest meetings, newspaper articles, and even local election campaigns. More often than the frictions stem from crimes by soldiers, money squabbles, or simply cultural differences.

In Bamberg, a pleasant city of many churches in the Bavarian hills, residents are probably more sensitive to crime than in any other garrison town in Germany. Several years ago it was the scene of the Army's post-war "incident"—the rape of a local girl by seven soldiers—and townspeople haven't forgotten.

Many incidents involve taxi drivers, either ones who try to cheat their soldier passengers, or ones assaulted by soldiers who spent their homeward fare on a last bottle of beer.

In Munich recently, the Army had to warn drivers against using clubs or brass knuckles on soldiers unless they could prove self-defense.

Money is another source of friction, with Germans often claiming GI's have too much, and soldiers charging that Germans gouge them on prices and rents.

Differences in culture are another source of friction hard to assess but no less real. Germans often complain that Americans just don't bother to find out anything about them or their country.

Lefors, McLean 'Dimes' Heads Are Chosen

City chairmen, for Lefors and McLean for the 1961 March of Dimes campaign were announced this week by Bob C. Williams, county chairman.

Boyd Beck, who headed the successful drive in Lefors in January, will again be chairman for the Dimes drive for that city, and B. J. McCartney, city manager for McLean, has accepted the post of city chairman for that city.

J. C. Roberts, member of the Gray County Polio Board, and Williams visited the Lions Clubs of Lefors and McLean last week to solicit support for the coming campaign.

Fiery Pickup Brings Alarm

Pampa firemen Saturday afternoon extinguished a fire in a pickup truck owned by A. T. Dooley, 716 Sumner, which did extensive damage to the cab of the vehicle.

Two trucks were sent to the scene at 6:31 p.m. when the blaze was reported as a fire at the residence at 716 Sumner. Firemen said the fire was caused by a lighted cigarette.

Those wishing to participate in the project but who are unable to attend the meeting, are urged to telephone Mrs. Marguerite McLeod at the chamber office, MO-4-3241.

Problems

(Continued From Page 1) cuss timing of the report. He said he planned later "to answer or try to answer any questions" that Kennedy has about reorganizing the Pentagon.

As we all know, the Pentagon today is organized on the basis of World War II. Symington told reporters, "Any organization that is based on World War II could not possibly be the right type and character of organization to have in the nuclear space age."

Symington said that "if you reorganize the Pentagon on the basis of progress, instead of letting it drift in tradition, you would save a great deal of money."

He declined to say at this time whether the report would call for a single chief of staff to replace the existing joint chiefs, or whether it would recommend unifying all the military branches into a single service.

Symington said that despite the differences among members of his group "we are narrowing what you might call the areas of disagreement" and they all agree on two points:

The existing Pentagon organization "is not the right organization."

"If we have an organization which recognizes the great technological developments that have happened...with the proper organization, we will be able to get more for the taxpayers' defense dollar."

Symington maintained that the Defense Department's administrative blueprint is outmoded in an age where warfare now means nuclear-armed jet bombers, intercontinental ballistic missiles and polaris - carrying nuclear submarines. And there are further developments to come in the space field, he added.

Newsmen talked to Symington at a press room set up by the Kennedy party at a hotel several miles from the President-elect's home.

Congo

(Continued From Page 1) least 119 Africans have been killed this week. The new fighting was reported to be between rival Babala and Kanikoa tribes and also between the Babulas and the security force of Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

The announcement that Ghanaian diplomats must get out of the Congo within 48 hours was made Friday night by Commissioner for the Interior Joseph Nussbaumer. After reading the official statement, Nussbaumer privately told some newsmen the Congo was breaking off diplomatic relations with Ghana.

However, a communique issued by the Congolese Foreign Ministry Saturday said the expulsion does not mean a formal rupture of diplomatic relations with Ghana.

"Mr. Nussbaumer simply announced the imminent expulsion of Ghanaian diplomats declared persona non gratae by the president of the republic (Joseph Kasavubu) since last Oct. 4," the communique said.

Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin used the short session to unload a new cargo of propaganda charges against the United States and its Western allies.

He declared that the seating of a Congolese delegation was a question of substance, rather than procedure. This was an apparent attempt to force a two-thirds vote of the Assembly to seat the Kasavubu delegation.

"The United States has revealed its hand for good," Zorin said. "The whole world sees now what kind of a game the United States and the other NATO countries are playing in the Congo. The sense and purpose of that game have been revealed for quite a while by the press and radio of the Western countries, especially in the United States."

"The whole history of the international crisis relating to the Congo is a history of direct U.S. and NATO interference in the affairs of the country..."

Foiled

The helicopter — carrying federal agents and state police — landed at a pig farm to make three arrests in an isolated section of the state.

The agents were seeking gamblers suspected of failing to pay one or more of these taxes: a $50 occupational tax on all gamblers; a $250 levy on coin-operated gambling devices, such as slot and payoff pinball machines, and a 10 per cent tax on gross gambling revenue.

Negro

The week had been one of the unhappiest in New Orleans history.

The admission of the four girls to white schools brought knifings, stonings, cross burnings, hundreds of arrests and use of fire hoses.

It brought consternation to restaurateurs proud of the city's famed reputation for gracious living.

The schools will be closed all next week for teachers' meetings and the Thanksgiving holiday. But New Orleans most likely will be face to face with the integration conflict on Monday, Nov. 28.

NEW MANAGER — D. D. Dillard has been named district manager for the Amarillo District, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., according to an announcement by John Whitcomb, division manager at Lubbock. Film, Bulb Vending Unit Ready

NEW YORK (UPI) — The answer to the problem of thousands of photo fans whose picture-taking has been thwarted because they forgot to buy film or flashbulbs before the stores closed is provided in a remarkable new vending machine.

The first of these electromechanical marvels is about to be put into public use in Miami, Fla. this coming week, and others will follow shortly in New York City and elsewhere. Within two years about 15,000 are expected to be in service across the nation.

The machine, called the Dasco film and flashbulb vender, dispenses nine types of Kodak film for still cameras, four types of Kodak movie film, two kinds of Polaroid film, and three sizes of Sylvania flashbulbs. It accepts in payment not only all U.S. coins but even one-dollar bills.

"The Dasco vender is intended to make film and flashbulbs easily available to the user at the place he will use it — because, resorts, air terminals, railroad stations, parks, zoos and recreation areas, as well as hotels, supermarkets, drugstores and other places," according to its inventor, F. N. James Sr., of Nashville, Tenn.

James, 52, an expert on engineering and mechanical marketing, holds 23 vending machine patents including some of the basic patents for soft-drink vending machines. President of Diversified Automated Sales Corp. (Dasco) of Nashville, he has been making machines since 1946.

Film and flashbulb sales by machine are expected to supplement rather than compete directly with sales by photographic stores, James said at a demonstration of his invention in New York. The reason is that the machine dispenses its products where tourists and vacationers are most likely to use them, and at places where they would otherwise be unavailable.

In addition to Miami and New York, among the first cities to see Dasco machines in action will be Tampa and St. Petersburg, Fla.; New Orleans, and Dallas and Fort Worth, Tex.

Anniversary Of Texas U. Marked Today

By PAT CONWAY
United Press International

AUSTIN (UPI)—On a cold, wet November day 78 years ago, the University of Texas was born—a child of politics.

On Nov. 17, 1882, three thousand people huddled in the cold and wind and shuffled in ankle-deep mud to witness the laying of the cornerstone of the University's first main building.

There, before the shivering spectators, the Masonic Order supervised the laying of the cornerstone. Sealed within the stone were copies of current newspapers, official documents, and token souvenirs of the times.

The story of the University really began in 1827, when Gen. Kelsey P. Douglas introduced a bill into the Congress of the Republic of Texas calling for the founding of a university.

But realization of Douglas' dream was slow. It wasn't until 1879 that Dr. O. H. Cooper, a Yale graduate, encouraged Gov. Oran M. Roberts to establish the school during his administration.

Roberts assimilated a plan for the school and the Legislature took action. Contrary to the customs of the period, a state senator amended the bill to make sure the school would be coeducational.

Then began the battle over where to locate the new school. A bitter duel between the tiny capital city of Austin and the East Texas community of Tyler was waged.

A statewide vote was taken and Austin won the school. A similar battle between Houston and Galveston for the medical center found Galveston victorious.

The University opened its doors to students in 1884 with 13 professors, 218 students and 40 acres of almost barren land.

An early Texas Legislature had granted the school 2,080,000 acres of west Texas land to help raise funds, but by 1915 the school was broke.

A news story appearing in the Daily Texan that year said, "if an appropriation from the next Legislature is not forthcoming, on account of lack of funds, the school will be compelled to cease operations."

Then came the greatest boon the school ever received—in Reagan county, oil shot into the air and Santa Rita No. 1 was born.

The school sold royalties from its barren Texas land and raised more than $3 million the first year.

The money has rolled in ever since, and the Permanent University Fund now contains some $300 million.

The money from the mineral leases that goes into the permanent fund can only be spent for stocks and bonds and the income from these investments is used to operate the University.

Since 1883, the University has evolved into a system which is composed of the main University of Austin, Texas Western College in El Paso, medical branches in Galveston and Dallas, Texas A&M College and a dental branch, M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, and the Post-Graduate School of Medicine in Houston.

This complex institution now employs more than 2,000 teaching and professional personnel and 7,200 classified personnel to operate the system.

Do You Really Understand The Bible?

Many people maintain that the Bible is so simple and clear that anyone can understand it. Yet today the Christian world is divided into conflicting opinions as to what the Bible means.

How would you interpret the following passages from the Bible: "I say to thee, thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build My Church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." (Matthew XVI, 18ff). "For, behold, henceforth all generations shall call me blessed." (Luke I, 48). "Receive the Holy Spirit; whose sins you shall forgive, they are forgiven them; and whose sins you shall retain, they are retained." (John XX, 23). "He who believes and is baptized shall be saved." (Mark XVI, 16).

Howard Named Kiwanian Of The Year

Members of the Top O' Texas Kiwanis Club Friday night presented C. R. Howard, club vice president, the Kiwanian of the Year Award during the club's installation of officers ceremonies in the Coronado Inn. Howard's award came as recognition for his efforts to further activities of the organization throughout the year.

Featured speaker of the evening was the Rev. Carl Hudson, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Miami. The Rev. Mr. Hudson's topic was "The Individual and Our Freedoms."

New officers installed were: John McCausland, president; Howard, vice president; Herbert Whitener, second vice president; Ted Williams, secretary, and H. J. Johnson, treasurer.

Sheriff Rush Anderson, of Borger, Lieutenant Governor of District Six, Kiwanis International, was the installing officer. Some 100 persons attended the meeting and banquet.

$20 Bills Rain On NYC But They're Bogus

NEW YORK (UPI) — It rained $20 bills on upper Broadway Friday night, but those who picked them up won't be any richer. They were counterfeit.

The phony money was thrown out of a 20th floor window of the Manhattan Towers Hotel at 78th Street and Broadway by two alleged counterfeiters who were trying to get rid of the evidence when police broke into their room.

Police said the room was used as an office by Miles Leslie, 51, and William Stewart, 32.

They said Leslie and Stewart made a dive for a bed covered with bogus $20 bills and began throwing them out of the window.

Only 10 of the bills were still on the bed by the time detectives subdued the pair, according to police, who said the two admitted having had 185 of the bills. Police found only 76 on the street.

Rabbits are said to be one of the oldest living mammals on the North American continent.

Spillway Repairs Seen Necessary

A recent survey instigated preliminary steps in the repair of the spillway at Lake McClellan, a project that, to informed observers is one of necessity.

The Soil Conservation Board survey team reported the spillway repairs were mandatory and that if these were not made in the near future the dam could be washed out, inundating many acres of farm and range land.

Satellite Weather Reporting To Get Off The Ground At Snail's Pace Soon

NUMBUS paddle wheel weather satellite probably will follow the Tiros series aloft.

By RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The era of organized satellite-aided weather reporting will begin in a halting, snail's pace when the next Tiros satellite goes into orbit. Scientists will use, however roughly, day-to-day satellite reports to interpret the weather. But what Tiros photographs are transmitted will be unsystematic and fragmentary. Weathermen as yet don't understand how to usefully interpret those pictures and infrared reports.

So improvement in weather reporting will be slow.

Some eight or so experimental weather satellites and five years later, U.S. Weather Bureau scientists and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration believe things will be different.

By then, perhaps a half dozen U.S. weather satellites may be in orbit. Some would race 600 miles above the earth on polar orbits. They would scan every spot on the globe in 24 hours. Others would hover 22,000 miles above the equator in a "stationary" position. In one photo, one third of the earth could be seen. Or the progress of a menacing storm could be pinpointed.

Army Accused Of Stalling On Dependent Order

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The Defense Department was reported concerned today about Army "foot dragging" on President Eisenhower's order to cut the number of servicemen's dependents overseas from 484,000 to 200,000.

The Air Force and the Navy have come up with definite orders to carry out the reduction. But the Army, which has the largest number of dependents overseas, is complaining about the disadvantages of the step.

The immediate problem is to reduce the number of servicemen's wives and children abroad at a monthly rate, beginning in January, of 7,710 for the Army, 6,120 for the Air Force and 1,170 for the Navy and Marine Corps.

The move was ordered by Eisenhower as part of an urgent program to slow the flight of American dollars and gold overseas.

An Air Force order sent to all commands Friday night banned shipment of dependents overseas after Feb. 1 except in "hardship" cases or where families are considered important, such as for air attaches at U.S. embassies. The Air Force also banned extensions of overseas tours for men with families.

Hair Tonic Firm Boss Says His Job Is Fun

By BARBARA BUNDSCHU
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — "I went to Yale, but I have a great sympathetic feeling for Princeton, with this Tiger proposition," said Stephen W. Harris with a twinkle. Harris, tall, handsome and happy, is at 39 president of Lucky Tiger Manufacturing Company, of Kansas City, one of the nation's largest and fastest growing independent manufacturers of drug and toilet products.

"I can still count the zeroes," he said of his income, much of which is going back into the business. "But I've never had so much fun."

Lucky Tiger hair tonic was developed as a backyard hobby by Harris' father, co-owner of a middle western department store chain, and put on the market in 1917. It was named for a Mexican gold mine and advertised with a trademark Harris describes today as "a cross between a lion and a tiger," and the head and shoulders of what might be Lady Godiva. An early label warned: "Do not set in the sun."

When Harris returned from World War II Navy service in 1945, his father had died and the firm had run down during his long illness.

A new formula was put under the old label a few years later, and in the last five years sales of the hair tonic have doubled, reaching more than 4½ million bottles last year. Lucky Tiger butch wax, brought out a few years ago after Harris heard a radio report about a demand for old-fashioned mustache wax to groom short haircuts, is expected to pass the tonic in sales this year. The company has branched into the aspirin and hand lotion business this year with purchase of two other firms.

HERE ARE THE FACTS:

1. WHAT IS THE CANADIAN RIVER MUNICIPAL WATER AUTHORITY?

It is an agency established under the laws of Texas in 1953 to do a special job of developing a surface water supply from the available waters of the Canadian river. The Authority Board is constituted by representatives appointed by the governing bodies of the member cities. The member cities are: Pampa, Borger, Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock, Levelland, Brownfield, Slaton, Tahoka, O'Donnell and Lamesa.

2. WHAT WILL THE CANADIAN RIVER PROJECT CONSIST OF?

The proposed project for the construction of an earthfill dam near Sanford, Texas, 9 miles northwest of Borger. The dam will be 6300 feet in length; the base of the dam will be 1300 feet in width and the top 40 feet wide; the highest fill will be 180 feet above the streambed; the dam will require 13 million cubic yards of earth. The aqueduct system will consist of 322 miles of pipeline varying in size from 15" in diameter to 72".

3. WHO WILL OPERATE THE PROJECT?

The Bureau of Reclamation will design and supervise the construction of the project. Once completed the project will be turned over to the Board of Directors of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority. The Authority will be responsible for operating and maintaining the project works, including any recreational facilities.

4. DO WE NEED THE CANADIAN RIVER PROJECT?

The Canadian River Project is the only major surface supply of water available to the High Plains cities. It is needed to supplement our underground water supply in order that these water deposits might be conserved.

5. WHY CAN'T WE CONTINUE TO RELY ON OUR UNDERGROUND WATER SUPPLY?

Increased population and increased water uses have placed a greater demand upon our water supply. Ground water is becoming increasingly difficult and expensive to obtain. Canadian river water is now competitively priced and by using it we can conserve and extend the life of our ground water supply.

6. WHAT WILL BE THE QUALITY OF THE CANADIAN RIVER WATER?

On the basis of records available for the period 1950-1958 it is most favorable with respect to fluoride content, and is in all respects well within the limits recommended by the U. S. Public Health Service for domestic use.

7. WILL THERE BE SUFFICIENT WATER TO MAINTAIN THE PROJECT?

The project is designed for a maximum water usage of 183,000 acre feet annually. The U. S. Geological Survey Report has kept records of the river flow for a long period of time. The average annual runoff at the damsite for a period of 36 years (1923-1958) has been 276,900 acre feet per year.

8. WHAT WILL BE THE EFFECT OF SILT DEPOSITS IN THE RESERVOIR?

The design of the dam allows 405,000 acre feet for sediment, which will be more than adequate for the 30 year contract. Additionally there is 500,000 acre feet of conservation storage for use of the member cities and 425,000 acre feet for flood control. There is more than a million acre feet of emergency storage above the flood control pool. Should sedimentation encroach the conservation pool, by re-designing the spillway the life of the reservoir could be extended another 100 years.

10. WILL THE LAKE PROVIDE FISHING & RECREATIONAL ADVANTAGES?

The lake area will be open to the public for recreational use. Lands to be acquired for the project will be adequate to permit such access. With water to the top of the conservation pool the lake will extend up the river 20 miles, at spillway crest 28 miles, providing adequately for this phase of community life.

10. HOW LONG WOULD IT TAKE TO BUILD THE PROJECT? WHEN COULD CONSTRUCTION BEGIN?

Assuming favorable action by the voters of the member cities, construction work on the dam could be started in the fall of 1961 and completed in three years. Work on the aqueduct system could be started in 1962 and would require five years to complete.

11. WHAT IS THE PLAN OF FINANCE?

Public Law 898, of the 81st Congress, regular session of 1950 authorized congress to appropriate money for the construction of the Canadian River Project, to be repaid by member cities over a 50 year period with interest at the rate of 2.632 per cent per annum. The contract provides for the repayment from water revenues only. There is no ad valorem tax clause in the contract and none will be required. The reimbursable cost of the project is $92,960,000. First payment will become due approximately one year after the completion of the project.

12. WHAT WILL WE DO WITH OUR PRESENT WATER FACILITIES?

These facilities will continue to be used as a supplement to the reservoir supply, particularly during the summer months when the demands are above normal and as an assurance for further growth of the city.

13. WHAT WILL THE WATER COST?

The proposed contract between the City of Pampa and the Authority calls for the delivery of untreated water to the city limits of Pampa at a point to be designated by the City at a cost of 13.82 cents per thousand gallons. Rates of other cities: Lubbock 17.66 cents per thousand gallons and Brownfield 25.14 cents. This price covers the 50 years of the contract. Pampa will provide water treatment facilities.

14. WILL THIS PROJECT EFFECT THE BILLS OF THE PAMPA USERS?

With the increasing distances to available water, the increasing costs of water rights and the increasing costs of producing underground water, the City estimates that in less than 20 years the Canadian river water will be the cheapest water it can obtain from any source. Assuming there will be an increase when, or before the project is completed, under the contract we will enjoy a fixed price for 50 years. Without the project, it is estimated our capital costs for the next 25 years will exceed our share of the project and we will be faced with continuing increased costs of water.

15. WHO IS ELIGIBLE TO VOTE?

Pampa residents who have rendered property (real or personal) to the City of Pampa for tax purposes and hold a valid poll tax receipt or exemption.

16. WHEN DO WE VOTE?

November 22, 1960.

17. WHAT DO WE VOTE ON?

There are two propositions to be voted.
(1) Authorize the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority to execute a contract with the Federal Government.
(2) Approval of a proposed contract between the City of Pampa and the Authority.

Suicides Creeping Into Our Suburban, Rural Areas Upset Some Statisticians

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Every 40 seconds on American or another tries to kill himself. Who he is and why he tries are common measures of the changing U.S. scene. So, add a few more facts—the disquieting results of two new studies of suicide:

1. From the University of Missouri, Rex R. Campbell reports that more rural residents commit suicide than city dwellers in Missouri.

2. From the University of Michigan Medical Center, Dr. Eugene W. Kinsky reports that suburbanites make up the largest number of suicides in Michigan's total.

Now, at first view these findings seem to be quite reasonable as there is very little point to living in the suburbs. But the fact is that we are traditionally a nation of city suicides. And if the Michigan and Missouri results are an indication of a national trend, the American image is in for a big revision.

Until now, the portrait of the typical suicide as it is painted by experts, looks something like this:

After a run of bad luck, a series of failures or a surfeit of guilt and anger, suicide-prone Americans decide to escape the oppression. The first step is usually to a big city for a fresh start (the golden West Coast has become the suicide capital of the nation for this reason).

At any rate, it takes from seven to 15 years for the new setting and second start to fail. For men, the age is about 45; for women, 45 to 57. The divorced and widowed are more apt to kill themselves than the married or never-married.

The Protestants are more likely candidates than any other religious group. Women are more likely to attempt suicide than men. But men are more likely to do the job than women.

Well, there he is: the gent on the edge of old age, no longer married and filled with regret and sadness. The chances are he'll do it with a gun (the most popular tool, although hanging and gas have been gaining in favor since 1901).

Statistically, he sits down and writes a bitter note first, full of self-recrimination. (If he were 30 years younger, the experts say, his note would be angry, malicious, spiteful — and it's four-to-one he wouldn't have killed himself.)

And that's that. Unless it rains or snows or clouds up. Psychiatrists say that the suicide rate drops considerably in bad weather because it equalizes the pressure on the depressed. "They don't feel so low when nature is sad," as one doctor put it.

Now, beyond these specifics of suicide is a general pattern, a gauge for measuring the sanity of our society. What got suicides to the brink, many sociologists reason, is an anger against an industrial, urban, acquisitive, materialist, unloving society where a man is kept aloof from his own feelings and forced to live by alien standards.

Sociologists using this yardstick point the accusing finger at international statistics which list the U.S. fourth in antisocial destructive acts (suicide and its counterpart, homicide) after Denmark, Switzerland and Finland.

But today, what used to be the sickness of the cities may be spreading to the once-secure farms and suburbs. The reason?

A spokesman for the Missouri Farmers Association sees it this way:

In the past all a farmer needed was a strong back and willingness to work. Today, farming means complicated machinery, heavy expenses, large mortgages, high interest rates, chemicals, gasoline — and declining farm prices and net incomes.

And as for unhappiness in the suburbs, investigators are working on the reasons now. It's probably got something to do with commuter trains, patio dining and all those novels suburban housewives are always reading.

First Hat Is In Ring For Johnson's Post

United Press International

The first hat is in the ring today and from here on it should be a real scramble to see who will take the place of Lyndon B. Johnson in the United States Senate.

U.S. Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth, a man some people think Johnson would like to see in the job, announced in Washington Friday that he was a candidate.

Wright, 37, re-elected to Congress Nov. 8, may have to wait a considerable time to get down to hard campaigning. It all depends on when Johnson decides to resign.

If the Senate Majority leader waits until the last minute — just before he is inaugurated as vice president — Jan. 20 — it could be as late as July before his elected successor is picked.

Gov. Price Daniel has already said William Blakeley of Dallas will be the interim senator if he wants the job. Blakeley held such a job once before, named by former governor Allan Shivers to succeed Daniel when he was elected governor.

Wright said he didn't care for the interim appointment because he didn't want to be "handpicked or subject to the governor to the criticism of trying to dictate the people's choice."

He should have plenty of opponents in the race. Rep. Olin Teague of College Station is being boomed for the job. He has been non-committal, but hasn't said "no."

Republican John Tower, defeated by Johnson in the Nov. 8 election by about 200,000 votes, is still regarded as a candidate, and by some as a dark horse.

Others mentioned include Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, Shivers, former Democratic national committeeman Wright Morrow, Reps. Frank Ikard of Wichita Falls and Joe Kilgore of McAllen, and former Reps. Ed Gossett of Dallas and Martin Dies Sr. of Lufkin.

Franciosa Proves An Honest Man; Shari Lewis Had Ticklish Problem

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — The fan magazines always trot out their juiciest adjectives for Anthony Franciosa — rugged, handsome and like that. But the one they never use, but should, is honest.

ANTHONY FRANCIOSA (with Diana Van der Vlis and Wally Cox, rear) took this TV role in "Heaven Can Wait," to show he can do comedy.

Franciosa — rugged, handsome and like that. But the one they never use, but should, is honest. Honest Tony admits he has never been offered his own TV series.

He says the TV producers simply don't dangle opportunities in front of actors who work steadily in the movies.

Honest Tony says he took his part in the Nov. 16 Show of the Month production of "Heaven Can Wait" because it's a comedy and most of his recent film work has been in "heavy dramatic stuff." He wanted to show that he could do something else.

Honest Tony feels "a void" in his career, because he's usually cast in a modern role — a romantic tough guy, for example — and he never gets a crack at anything even remotely classical. "Of course," he says, "I realize that I'm more commercial in modern parts."

Honest Tony says he turned down a chance at a Broadway musical, even though he took singing lessons, because "I got cold feet."

And Honest Tony, talking about the reason he uses his difficult-to-pronounce name professionally, says that he was already fairly well established on Broadway before he went to Hollywood; nobody even suggested that he change the name.

"Besides, I must be honest," he says, honestly. "Franciosa isn't my real name."

You may be happy to learn, in common with Shari Lewis, that NBC has a very broadminded policy regarding belly buttons.

Shari, whose new show is one of the finest children's programs on the air, had a cute poem about "My Belly Button," which was to be read by her puppet, Lamb Chop.

But some people in her office felt that the subject was not fit for TV. Some others thought it was perfectly all right.

So Shari called NBC's Continuity Acceptance Department, which rules on matters of taste, and asked, "What is your policy on belly buttons?" "They're OK," the department answered.

Shari, whose talent as well as energy seems to be endless, is now embarking on a new career — pop recording. Her friend, Columbia's Mitch Miller, long ago suggested she call him when she was ready for this step.

"So a few weeks ago," she says, "I called Mitch and said, 'I'm ready.' He was very happy. We've cut three novelties already."

The reason she was ready is that she felt all her many efforts — the children's program and guest shots on top variety shows — were missing the older teen-age market.

"I'm very big with old men," she said, "and with children. But I missed the in-betweens. I think the record career will get me to them."

The young teen-age girls have always been her fans. She says they write her about their problems. Most frequent problem: how to keep a pony tail straight in rainy weather.

Nita Talbot, Hollywood's favorite wisecracking blonde of the moment reports on the successful solution of a problem. As Jim Backus' girl Friday on the new Jim Backus Show, she appears in every episode. The producers wanted her to look a bit different each week, feeling that otherwise the public might get bored with the character.

So she uses a different hair-style for each show. As Nita says, "There are a million and one ways to wear one's hair, clothes and cosmetics, and I intend to try them all. Actually, I like changing my hair style, anyhow."

Alcoa Presents, the ESP series with John Newland as host, will go to Europe this summer and film 13 shows there. Producer Collier Young, in New York to work out the details, says the shows will be filmed at places haunted by famous ghosts — castles in England, chateaux in France and perhaps even Elnor in Denmark, where Hamlet's father's ghost had a sub-lease.

"Jayhawker State" Kansas acquired its nickname of "Jayhawker State" from a slang term applied to a group of anti-slavery men during the days when Kansas was a territory.

Belafonte Gives Folk Tunes Bounce

NEW YORK (UPI) — Harry Belafonte, merely one of the best known artists in the world, didn't exactly invent folk singing, but when he barged into it he certainly gave it a new bounce. And he's going to bounce into the folklore of the fabled isle of Manhattan Sunday night.

The show, "Belafonte, New York '19," (that's a postal zone, Clyde) will be the first of two Belafonte specials on CBS-TV this season. Last year, he had only one special but did rather well with it. He got the Emmy for the best musical performance of the year and the show itself got the Sylvania Award.

Belafonte was interviewed as he slugged a bowl of clam chowder in a coffee shop, and between sips he disclosed that in addition to being a top talent he is not one to be timid about venting an opinion or two.

He thinks positively. And rather eloquently. "The show," he said, "deals with the folklore of Manhattan Island in one specific area — postal zone 19. It has a great concentration of national and cultural groups, Puerto Rican, Jewish, Irish, Italian, Greek, a French quarter, and in it you see kids skipping rope all the time — but you also have Madison Square Garden and Stillman's gym, rehearsal halls and Carnegie Hall, Birdland and its jazz, the Museum of Modern Art, and 'My Fair Lady' is running there."

HUNTING SEASON — Once a year at Eastern New Mexico University, the females take a cue from the comic strips and chase after their favorite males. It is called "TWIRL Week" (the woman is requested to pay), and a highlight of the week is a Sadie Hawkins Day dance, at which the students come dressed in costumes typical of Lil Abner's Dogpatch. Seeking "victims" are Lou Ann Taylor of Pampa; Wanda Smith, Fort Sumner; Kayren Lockmiller, Clovis; and Phyllis Shockley, Jal.

Crucial Communist Debate Stir Poser: Who'll Be The Boss?

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Analyst

NEW YORK — (NEA) — A crucial debate has been going on in Moscow, where Red chieftains from around the world gathered to celebrate the 43rd anniversary of the Communist revolution.

Chief antagonists in the Communist drama are Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Red China's party leader Mao Tse-tung.

Mao himself pointedly ignored communism's summit meeting and Peiping is represented in Moscow by its number two man, Liu Shao-chi. But on the final outcome of the conclave's secret deliberations will depend:

Who inherits Lenin's mantle as leader of international communism — Khrushchev or Mao?

Whether the uneasy "atomic peace" now prevailing in the world is to be abandoned in favor of what is known in Red double-talk as "another round of wars and revolutions."

For internal Communist debate, Khrushchev, in the view of U.S. specialists on communism, is now in a weaker position than Mao. He is not likely to be purged in the foreseeable future, but it is now clear the Soviet Premier never achieved the absolute dictatorial power once wielded by Stalin.

For instance, Khrushchev, unlike Stalin, rules primarily by the grace of the Communist party's central committee. He is at best top man of the party's ruling junta. He must now share equal power with 58-year-old Mikhail Suslov and 58-year-old Kozlov who, at 52, is emerging as Russia's strong man.

Suslov and Kozlov backed Khrushchev in his fight against deposed Premier Georgi Malenkov. However, in recent weeks there appears to be a rift — or an uneasy truce — between them and the Premier.

The failure of Khrushchev's managerial policies in industry and agriculture, which have seriously retarded Russia's seven-year economic plan, easily accounts for Kozlov's opposition to him. Kozlov is identified with the Soviet's rising caste of technical experts and economic planners.

international Communist parties, is a dogmatic follower of Stalin and supporter of Mao's tough policies of revolutionary brinkmanship. He is strongly opposed to Khrushchev's so-called peaceful co-existence which is undermining the cohesiveness of the Communist bloc. Suslov no doubt sees Russia's failure to gain a solid foothold in the Congo as another setback for Khrushchev's theory that it is possible to draw the former colonial nations of Africa into the Communist orbit by peaceful means.

Khrushchev's defeat in the Congo strengthened the hand of Mao, who is now at the pinnacle of his absolute power in Red China.

While the Soviet Premier must share his power as one of a triumvirate, a new "cult of personality" is developing around Mao. Mao, like Stalin in his heyday, is now pictured as "infallible" in China's press and propaganda.

More important is the fact that China, with a population of over 600 million, is now working at top speed to produce an atomic weapon without Russian aid.

U.S. specialists are convinced that the representatives of global communism are now working overtime in Moscow to patch up the Soviet-Chinese differences. An open break between the two Red giants might seriously undermine their international positions and even cause an open split in the Communist bloc.

Despite their differences, Khrushchev and Mao have a major common aim — the destruction of Western democracy and control of the non-Communist world.

However, Khrushchev argues that communism can win through subversion (or "peaceful co-existence") without the risk of an atomic war.

The Chinese do not quarrel with this argument. It was Mao — and not Khrushchev — who described the United States as a "paper tiger." But as Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito said, "Mao seems at times positively to rejoice" in the prospects of a war with the "capitalists." Such a war is bound to come sometime anyway, China's Communist chief claims, so better now than later.

Behind the disputes over Communist dogma there is also intense Soviet-Chinese rivalry for spheres of influence in the underdeveloped countries of Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Why was it necessary for Ferhat Abbas, the Algerian Nationalist leader, to journey to Moscow and Peiping and play Chinese off against Russians?

Or take Cuba, where Chinese and Russian agents fall all over each other courting Castro.

The question, then, is not whether Nikita and Mao can agree on their interpretations of what Marx and Lenin said. For the present at least they are compelled to state officially that they are "in full agreement."

The real issue that is of crucial importance to the U.S. and the NATO powers is whether Russia and China can subordinate their rival nationalist and imperialist ambitions to preserve their alliance.

Classy Restaurants Result Of Beaneries

NEW YORK (UPI)—Never has the expression, "class will tell," fitted any company the way it does Restaurant Associates, Inc.

From a chain of beaneries in 1947, Jerme Brody has steered the firm to the top of the gourmet's list with the opening of such restaurants as the Four Seasons and the Forum of the Twelve Caesars.

Newark. It barely subsisted at first, but heavy promotion and "gourmet" foods attracted nearby businessmen and residents.

The success of this operation—$2 million gross by 1955—prompted Brody to look around for similar ventures. First came the Hawaiian Room, which had been losing $100,000 a year; then the Forum, four seasons, Leone's, and only last month, La Fonda Del Sol.

These two restaurants, among the most elaborate and expensive in the New York metropolitan area, top the list of eight relatively new ventures which are expected to lift Restaurant Associates' gross volume this year close to $20 million and a profit of about $1 million. Last year sales were nearly $15 million, and net income about $500,000.

Brody has been opening these "this country within the foreseeable future" "class" restaurants because "this country within the foreseeable future is scheduled for a period of full employment, creeping inflation and fairly uninterrupted prosperity."

His success in these ventures, however, has only come about by strict adherence to one of the most basic principles in the restaurant business: superb food served in a manner to which everybody would like to become accustomed.

The motif is different in each of the restaurants—from Roman and Latin American to old English and Hawaiian—but each is very pleasing to the eye.

The menus, in some cases, run close to two feet high and a foot and a half wide, and not only are fine to look at, but amusing to read.

Brody backs up all this pleasant window dressing with "the finest kitchens money can buy and the best foods money can buy." He noted that the only canned vegetables used are French peas when the fresh are not available.

entry into this field of luxury eating.

Thirty-seven year old Brody's entry into this field of luxury eating was not at all planned. As a matter of fact, neither was his entry into the restaurant business.

After several executives of the Riker's chain of all-night counter restaurants had heart attacks in the mid-1940's, Abraham F. Wechsler appointed his son-in-law, Brody, as president of the chain in 1947.

Brody first reorganized the chain as Restaurant Associates, renovated the stores and upgraded the menus. He later turned to the concession business and then was accidentally forced into the luxury food business.

The port of New York authority in 1953 told Brody he could have the eat-and-run concessions in the new terminal it was building at Newark, N.J., airport if he would also build and operate a luxury restaurant there.

He took the challenge, and, after an extensive search for ideas and people, opened the

Baylor Bounces Stubborn SMU, Await Bowl Bid

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Baylor's three Ronnies, with some capable help from Bobby Ply, gouged out a hard-earned 20-7 victory over stubborn Southern Methodist Saturday to remain an attractive holiday plum for a bowl sponsor.

Ronnie Stanley guided the Bears to the third quarter touchdown that broke open a 7-7 half-time tie. Ronnie Bull scored that one and another one later with some timely assists from Ronnie Goodwin, while Ply engineered two of the scores, counting one from a yard out and flipping to Bull for the other.

Bull pounded a couple of yards for Baylor's go ahead TD in the third, then shouldered his way 21 yards with a screen pass for another that put the game out of SMU's reach in the final minutes.

Kansas Bursts Mizzou's Bubble With 23-7 Upset

By DON SWANSON United Press International
COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI)—The Missouri Tigers' vision of a national championship and the first undefeated and untied season in the school's history vanished Saturday when halfback Bert Coan led the Kansas Jayhawks to a 23-7 victory before 43,000 fans.

The win gave Kansas its first Big Eight conference title since 1930, and may have dampened Missouri's hopes for a berth in the Orange Bowl.
Missouri, No. 1 team in the nation in this week UPI's poll, battled Kansas to a 0-0 stalemate for the first half.
But Roger Hill, a fourth-string halfback, booted a 47-yard field goal 3 1/2 minutes deep in the second half, and then Coan took over.

The 200-pound sophomore halfback caught a 19-yard touchdown pass from quarterback John Hadl midway through the third, and then sealed the win for Kansas with a 2-yard scoring plunge in the final quarter.

Missouri broke into the scoring column with 5:24 left in the game, quarterback Ron Taylor passing 17 to halfback Mel West for the tally.
Kansas added an insurance TD in the final minute of play.
The first half was marked by an exchange of fumbles, as Kansas lost the ball three times in the first on bobbles and Missouri fumbled the ball twice in the second.
Kansas threatened twice in the second, but saw drives bogged

Nebraska Rallies For 17-14 Win

Cornhuskers Blast From Behind To Topple Once-Mighty OU

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Nebraska delivered a 17-14 punch to Oklahoma Saturday, coming from behind with two touchdowns and a field goal in the second half of a Big Eight contest before 41,000.

Nebraska's 185-pound alternate fullback, Bill (Thunder) Thornton, scored twice to lead the Cornhuskers out of a first half slump. Third string quarterback Ron Meade kicked a 28-yard field goal for the winning margin.

Ironically, it was Meade's two field goals last year that gave Nebraska a 25-21 victory which ended Oklahoma's streak of Big Eight Conference games without a defeat at 75.

The Cornhuskers capitalized on fumbles to thwart the Sooners for the second straight year.
Nebraska last year became the first conference team to defeat a Bud Wilkinson-coached Oklahoma team.

The tying touchdown came early in the fourth period when Thornton burst through center for a 68-yard run, Oklahoma end Ronnie Payne blocked Meade's extra point kick.
Thornton made his first touchdown on a 1-yard plunge. With Oklahoma holding a two-touchdown halftime advantage, Nebraska took possession on the Oklahoma 46 and drove to the goal line in 10 plays. Quarterback Pat Fischer ran around right end from a fake kick formation for two points.

Nebraska had gained possession midway in the final period when quarterback Jimmy Carpenter bobbled a pitchout to Mike McClellan which Nebraska's fullback Noel Martin recovered on the Oklahoma 22. Nebraska moved the ball in 12 plays to the Oklahoma 18 to set the stage for the kick.
Scoring:
Oklahoma 7 7 0 0-14
Nebraska 0 0 8 8-17

Buffs Throw Cowboys On Tight-Fought Game

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — Colorado carried the fight to Oklahoma State Saturday and won a close, bitterly fought game, 13 to 6, before a parents day crowd of 22,000.
With only a one-point lead, Colorado drove 32 yards in eight plays with halfback Dave Rife slashing for two through a weary State line for a last minute touchdown.

In the fourth, with 12 minutes left, State, instead of trying for two points which would have given them the lead then, tried for a tie. Jim Davis' kick was blocked, and it looked as that would be the difference in the contest until the final minute.

Colorado powered 54 yards in 13 plays in the second for its first touchdown. Faced with a fourth and seven on State's 20, quarterback Gale Weidner lofted a screen pass to halfback Ted Woods, who scampered to the 10. In two line smashes Colorado bored to the four and gave the ball to fullback Jim Raisis, who busted over center. End Jerry Hillebrand's conversion was perfect.

The game was marred with fumbles. Raisis lost the ball to end Blanchard Reel as the third period ended. Fullback Jim Dillard promptly threaded the Buffalo line for 28 to the 14. He carried twice more to the four and nosed to the two for a first down. Colorado held once but Chester Pittman then popped in for the six points.
Oklahoma State 0 0 0 6-6
Colorado 0 7 0 6-13

Buckeyes Edge Michigan, 7-0

COLUMBUS (UPI)—Ohio State, outplayed for nearly three periods, struck savagely for a touchdown early in the final quarter Saturday to down Michigan 7-0 and take second place in the Big Ten.

Bruising fullback Bob Ferguson scored the game's only touchdown with a 17-yard blast up the middle with only 2:45 elapsed in the fourth period. The touchdown brought a roar from the 82,107 partisan fans and set off a giant celebration in Ohio Stadium. One of the most wild celebrations was Coach Woody Hayes, who jumped up and down and hugged his players.
The victory was Hayes' sixth in 10 starts against arch-rival Michigan and it was as hard earned as any of the earlier contests. The win gave Ohio a final 7-2 overall record and 4-2 in the Western Conference.
Ohio State... 0 0 0 7-7

Terps Romp Past Cavaliers

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Halfback Dennis Conde scored three touchdowns Saturday, one on a 91-yard razzle-dazzle kickoff return, to lead Maryland to a lopsided 44-12 victory over Atlantic Coast Conference rival Virginia.

A glum crowd of 14,600 saw the hapless Cavaliers suffer their 26th consecutive loss, only two shy of the national record.
Adding to Virginia Coach Dick Voris' misery was an announcement to sportswriters during the game that a group of alumni had called for the ouster of Voris, who has won only one game during his three years at Virginia.

Shockers Bomb NT

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI)—Senior quarterback Dick Johnson directed five touchdown drives as the University of Wichita defeated the North Texas State Eagles, 34-6 Saturday to win the Missouri Valley Conference football championship.

A crowd of 10,454 saw the Shockers blunt North Texas State's attack for 3 1/2 quarters as they scored their third conference victory against no defeats.

Willie Mallory blew the game wide open by returning the kickoff starting the second half for 53 yards. Mallory's touchdown sent Wichita ahead 21-0. Mallory also scored the Shockers' first touchdown going two yards over tackle with 9:12 left in the half.
Johnson went the last yard of an 88-yard drive for one TD and passed 31 yards to end Rich Malone for another.

Kentucky, Tennessee Fight To 10-10 Tie

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Clark Mayfield's 26-yard field goal in the final period gave slow-starting Kentucky a 10-10 tie with Tennessee Saturday in a game that ended with a five-minute free-for-all by players and fans for the ball.
The Tennessee Vols, who haven't beaten Kentucky since 1956, struck swiftly and led at halftime, 10-0. But the Wildcats roared back on the deadly passing of quarterback Jerry Eisaman, scoring on a 94-yard march in the third period and then catching up with Mayfield's field goal.
The Tennessee single-wing attack was highly effective in the first half. The Vols marched 58 yards to the Kentucky nine in the first period. But the Cats' defense stiffened and end Cotton Letner put the Vols in the lead with a 28-yard field goal.
Junior tailback Glenn Glass guided the Vols to a second period touchdown which came after a drive of 57 yards. Glass plunged over right tackle with seven nines left in the half and Letner kicked the extra point.

Spartans Spank Upstart Detroit

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Michigan State quarterback Tom Wilson, playing the last game of a three-year collegiate career, shook off a second period challenge and gave upstart Detroit a stinging lesson in power football Saturday, directing the Spartans to a 43-15 victory.
Wilson, the clutch man for Michigan State all season, came to the rescue again today after the Titans had stunned a crowd of 49,102 by striking for two quick touchdowns in the second to move into a 15-15 tie.
Then with Wilson leading the charge, the Spartans marched in for a touchdown with less than a minute left in the first to take a 23-15 advantage and their awesome manpower took care of the rest after the intermission.

The 4-year-old Irene 40 won the nod of veteran judge Charles Araje, Coalinga, Calif., in competition with more than 100 mares and fillies.
The grand champion and reserve champion stallions will be selected Sunday.

Mason Sparks Tulane By Vanderbilt, 20-0

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Halfback Tom Mason, the Southeastern Conference scoring leader, tallied two touchdowns Saturday as he led Tulane to a surprisingly easy 20-0 win over Vanderbilt.
It was the first conference win for Tulane since the Greenies whipped Alabama during the tag-end of the 1958 season. Vanderbilt hasn't won a conference game this year, and hasn't scored on a conference team since its opening game with Georgia.

Mason's two touchdowns give him 72 points so far this season with one more game to go.
Tulane scored the first time it got the ball and was never in serious trouble. The Greenies did not throw a single pass during the first half and only threw three during the game, completing two of them.
Vandy's only offensive weapon was the passing of sophomore several times sparked Vandy quarterback Hank Lesene who drives into Tulane territory.

Mason was the big gun in the Tulane attack, but sat on the bench much of the second half.
Mason and fullback Bill Ary teamed up to lead Tulane to a score the first time the Green Wave got the ball.
Tulane moved 80 yards in 11 plays with Mason going one-yard for the score. Between them Mason and Ary accounted for 77 yards in the march.
Tulane got another score early in the second period after starting on its own 30-yard line. Just as in the first drive, quarterback Phil Nugent stuck strictly to a ground game with Mason doing much of the work. Mason got his second touchdown of the day on a three-yard run after it looked as if he were trapped behind the line of scrimmage.

Tulane 7 7 6 0-20
Vanderbilt 0 0 0 0-0

Stinnett Sinks Pirates, 42-0

Anderson Duo Sparkles In Bi-District Victory

By ARTHUR MAYHEW
Daily News Sports Editor

Andersonville was an infamous Confederate prison camp in the War Between the States that led directly to the death of many Union soldiers.

And Friday night, Stinnett's brutal brother combination — Larry and Donnie Anderson — turned Harvester Park into their own version of Andersonville — scoring 30 points together — as Stinnett of 1-A made Lefors' Pirates of 2-A walk the plank, 42-0, in a Class 2A bi-district game.

Friday's victory advances the Rattlers to regional play where they will meet Farwell, who beat Idalou, 14-12, Friday afternoon in Plainview.

The 50-degree weather which held the crowd down to an estimated 1,500 didn't bother Stinnett — the state's top Class A team — as it rolled up 293 yards on the ground

	Lef.	Stin.
First Downs	7	15
Yds. Rushing	90	295
Yds. Passing	14	26

and held Lefors to 90, 81 of which came in the second half.

Donnie Anderson, who scored 18 points to lead the way, literally got Stinnett off to the right foot when he booted a 28-yard field goal at 7:23 of the first quarter to give the Rattlers a 3-0 edge.

Stinnett was forced to try for the three-pointer after taking an against-the-wind three-yard punt on the 23. The Rattlers moved to the 11 on four plays, but a stubborn Lefors defense, led by Scott Dunnam, Danny Wilemon, Wayne Timms and Kenneth Fields forced the successful field goal try.

The next time Stinnett got its hand on the football, it went 47 yards in nine plays with Larry Anderson going the last seven yards around left end to score at 2:39 of the first period. The Alphonse and Gaston act continued as Donnie Anderson — a left-footed kicker — kicked the extra point.

Lefors' Doug Burrens fell on a Stinnett fumble on the Lefors 13 to kill the next Rattler drive and the tough Pirate defense stopped another later in the second quarter when Stinnett was forced to try another field goal from the 32.

Dunnam, who had one kick blocked and thus ruin a good punting average, got off a 54-yard boomer late in the second stanza

Miami Scalps Coyotes In Eight-Man Contest

By ED HAYES WILSON
Daily News Staff Writer

MIAMI — Miami High School's Warriors snapped the longest football streak in the state Friday night when they slammed past Gail High's Coyotes, 19 to 6, in an eight-man bi-district game here.

This was a bitterly contested affair. Both clubs drew personal foul penalties and 15-yard assessments were abundant; but these boys were out there giving it all they had — that goes for both squads — and if the going became a little out of line it was to be expected.

Miami, in snipping Gail's 4-victory string, turned the trick in a convincing manner; the break that Coach Bill Hines had sought came his way and the A-Boys, Mark Arrington and Gerald Anderson, were quick to accept them.

Anderson, outstanding throughout the contest, directed the Warriors in a drive that began on their own 6 midway the first period after a Gail drive was stopped at that point, and he hustled the club up field to a point 34 yards from pay dirt. It was first and 10 at that point when he decided to go for the works and he hit Arrington in the end zone with a six-pointer. The try for point failed when Scotty Daugherty's drop kick went astray, but it gave the home team a lead it never relinquished.

Gail, a bit sluggish most of the game, couldn't get going. The visitors fought off several Miami drives but Daugherty, a sophomore in relief of Anderson, guided the Warriors downfield to set the stage for one of his passes to Arrington and that tall youngster; also a sophomore, lugged the ball into the end zone. Daugherty then booted a drop kick between the uprights and the host team left the field at the halfway point with a 13-0 lead.

Gail fought back following intermission. It finally gained the double stripe when one of its many drives went all the way. Quarterback Steve Stephens crashed through from the Miami 1-yard line, but it was the last time Gail posed a threat.

Anderson iced the cake in the final period with a rollout jaunt from his quarterback slot, good for 42 yards and the final six markers of the contest. With that, it was over, so done.

Gail knew it, so did all the fans, but it must be said here that the down state group took the defeat in good taste. There was a sight of tears here and there, but no one cried "we were robbed," or issued any alibi. The only thing coach Eddie James said when he congratulated Coach Hines was "You've gotta heck of a ball club, Bill. You outplayed us and you deserved to win."

Throughout the game there were some outstanding plays. Arrington and Anderson, ably supported by Tommy Hollis, especially on defense, and the front liners turned in a remarkable effort for the victors. For Gail it was Steve Stephens, Harold Steadman, a half-back, and Tim Cockerham and Bill Buchanan, guards, and Steve Dennis, a senior end.

Groom Tops Lazbuddie As Littlefields Go Wild

GROOM — Groom's potent Tigers refocused their playoff eyes on Anton today after topping Lazbuddie, 34-6, in a Class B bi-district game at Canyon Friday afternoon.

Date and site of the Groom-Anderson contest has yet to be decided by officials of the two schools.

Groom's two-man gang, Lloyd and Leroy Littlefield, did all the damage as Leroy scored three times and Lloyd twice in bombing the Longhorns.

The Tigers, making their third successive trip to bi-district play, roared off to a 26-0 first half lead, then coasted to their important victory.

Don Case, Groom's 230-pound tackle, set the Tigers' scoring machine in motion in the first quarter when he fell on a Lazbuddie fumble on the Tigers' 45.

The Tigers moved 55 yards in five plays, with Lloyd Littlefield sprinting the last 20 yards for the score at 5:48 of the first quarter. Quarterback Wesley Cornett flipped a two-point conversion pass to Jim Conrad to provide what finally proved to be the winning points.

Leroy Littlefield — Lloyd's brother — got into the act a short time later when he duplicated his kin's 29-yard scoring run to make the score, 14-0, at 8:07 of the second period.

Lazbuddie gambled on a fourth-down situation, lost, and Groom was back in business again on the Longhorns' 46. Leroy Littlefield racked up his second TD of the night minutes later when he pumped over from the one to make the tally 20-0 at 3:45 left.

Again, Lazbuddie — trying desperately to keep the ball — lost on a fourth-down setup on their own 41 and Lloyd Littlefield added his second six-pointer of the night on a 22-yard run to make it 26-0 at half.

Lazbuddie finally got on the scoreboard at 6:32 left in the last quarter when Quarterback Kenneth McGehee hit Halfback Billy Hardage on a sizzling 78-yard pass play but the conversion failed.

Anson Chills Ranger's Bi-District Hopes, 7-0

CHILDRESS — Perryton's Rangers saw two scoring chances go out the window here Friday night as they upset, 7-0, by Anson in a Class AA bi-district game.

Behind the running of Fullback Tim Wright and Halfback Ray McGarrough, the Rangers moved to the Anson one in the third quarter only to have a fumble defuse the drive. Again in the fourth period, Perryton drove to the Anson 29 but two wild pitch-outs nullified the march.

Anson's lone — and winning — score came in the twilight stages of the second half when Dudley White hurled a nine-yard pass to Gilbert Mayfield for a TD. Bobby Edwards booted the conversion for the final score.

It was a defensive battle from the beginning and — outside of its one scoring thrust — Anson never got any closer than Perryton's 20-yard line.

The loss marked the fourth time in five years that Perryton, representing 5-AA, lost in bi-district to a 6-AA team.

Wranglers, Denver Vie

The Amarillo Wrangler Hockey Team, fresh from its double triumph over the Salt Lake City Sea Gulls last weekend, will entertain the Denver All-Stars at the Amarillo Ice Arena at 2 p.m. Sunday.

The Denver All-Stars are the only team who defeated the Wranglers last year. In their five-game series, the teams ended up with two wins apiece and a tie. The All-Stars will bring back their great collection of former All-Americans under the direction of Jack Smith and Bill Abbot.

The Wranglers, after having a fairly easy time on Friday with the Salt Lake City Sea Gulls, went into the final period of the game on Saturday night with a three goal deficit. In one of the fastest and most exciting periods of ice hockey ever played in Amarillo, the Wranglers scored five goals in this final stanza to win 10 to 6.

The Wranglers are fighting the injury jinx this week and may enter the games short-handed. Can-

Jet Age Created 13,000 Jobs In Air Industry

By ROBERT J. SERLING
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The jet age has created more than 13,000 new airline jobs, a United Press International survey revealed.

The survey showed that flight crews are the only category adversely affected by the airlines' switch to pure jet and prop-jet equipment. The reason is simple: one jet does the work of three or even four-piston-engine planes; three jetliner pilots do the work of 12 piston-engine crew members.

Overall figures compiled by the Air Transport Association (ATA) show that airline employment totaled 168,457 as of June 30, 1960 — about a 13,000-man increase over the total of November, 1958, when the United States entered the jet age.

But while the jet age has created more jobs for mechanics, ticket agents and other ground personnel, it has meant fewer jobs for pilots and flight engineers and no increase for stewardesses and stewards.

The Airline Pilots Association (ALPA) estimates that about 1,200 pilots were laid off in the first two years of the jets and the same number still is unemployed. However, ALPA says the picture is not as dark as it appears. Most of the 1,200 currently furloughed pilots were hired within the last two years as replacements for more senior crew members taking jet training.

Eastern, for example, has several hundred co-pilots on furlough and every one has two or less years of service. They were hired to fill the vacancies created when Eastern had to train crews for the Electra and DC3. After sufficient pilots were checked out on the new planes, the newly-hired co-pilots were no longer needed.

The impact of the jet age on crew employment varies from airline to airline. Airlines with long-range routes appear to have been affected less. Those with short-haul routes report greater flight crew unemployment.

Offsetting the unemployment-creating aspects of the jets is the mushrooming growth of the so-called local service or "feeder" airlines like Piedmont, Allegheny, Bonanza and North Central. The major trunk lines have been abandoning certain short-haul routes as fast as the government allows, turning them over to the feeders. And the small carriers have been hiring hundreds of co-pilots to operate their expanding systems.

ALPA says pilot unemployment isn't much greater than the union expected. In 1957, ALPA economists forecast a total of just under 16,000 actively employed pilots by the end of the second year of jet operations. As of Sept. 1960, ALPA's records show 14,167 actively employed pilots — including both domestic and international crews. The union points out that jets aren't responsible for all the lay-offs; many are due to central airline economy moves.

The flight engineers' union isn't as optimistic about the employment situation as the pilots. Ron Brown, president of the Flight Engineers International Association (AFL-CIO) says flight crew employment caused by the jets is "running far ahead of expectations," claims Brown.

"Despite the fact that we are less than halfway through the changeover, we have already lost through furloughs as many men as we expected to lose in the entire jet switchover. The same holds true for pilots."

Forney Grid Player Dies In Car Crash

LADONIA, Tex. (UPI)— Michael Smith, a 17-year-old reserve guard of the Forney High School football team was killed and three other players were injured Friday night in a two-car smash-up just outside the city limits of Ladonia.

The injured players, Martin Popp, 17 and Lonnie Moore, 17, both varsity tackles and Johnny Morris, 15, reserve end, were released from a clinic at Forney Saturday.

The collision occurred as a six-car motorcade carrying the team to Honey Grove for a game passed the Ladonia city limits. The first car in the motorcade missed the oncoming vehicle. But the second one met the other car head-on.

"That other car just appeared out of nowhere, on the wrong side of the road," said Chic Canup, line coach of Forney. The driver of the other car was not identified.

Forney High School forfeited the game to Honey Grove but Honey Grove declined to accept the forfeiture.

Peg O' Pampa

WHETHER YOU WERE AWARE of it or not, this past week was National Stamp Collecting Week. No wonder that the Pampa Area Stamp Collector's Club had its fine exhibit of Stamps at the Library last Sunday! The exhibit was held during the week, and climaxed with an auction on Sunday. Did you ever stop to think what wonders you accomplish when you address a letter? Such a simple act: you put down a name, street and number, city or town, state, and nation. . . and by doing this, you can effectively isolate one person among two billion which reside on this planet of ours. . . this simple formula can pinpoint an African chieftan, or an English duke, or an Alaskan Eskimo, so long as he happens to be among the hundreds of millions available through postal organization. . . just writing an address on a letter, stamping it, and sticking it in a slot in a postoffice building sets into motion hundreds of people. The address is instructions for the performance of operations that will in time bring that envelope to one specific place on the earth. . . the letter sifts down through various sub-classifications until it lands with a snick in a mailbox. . . quite interesting to think of that way, isn't it?

HAVE YOU NOTICED that just about the prettiest street in town last week was Cook Street? . . . a canopy of golden leaves hung over the street, and gentle breezes we have had the past few days blew more gold down the curbs and gutters on onto lawns. . . the pyracanthas bushes are beginning to be in their prime. . . just about everyone has mowed their lawn for the last time, and sighed with relief. . . Fall is just about done for around here. . . and to climax the season, the exhibit of foliage paintings done on the Canadian Fall Foliage tours by local people is to be exhibited today in Canadian. . . from 2:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m. . . local artists will be represented among the approximately fifty entries in the show. . . Ruth Smalley, Virginia Whitten, Alva Satterwhite, Betty Bailey, and Helene and Ruth Huff will be among those from here. . . they have entered oil paintings in the exhibit. . . drive over and see them, why don't you?

INVITATIONS went out for an exciting Autumn Coffee held yesterday in the Pampa Club at the Coronado Inn. . . hostesses were Mrs. Max Bolick, Mrs. Bill Clements, Mrs. Bill McComas, and Mrs. Bob Price. . . guess that the St. Vincent's church Bazaar was a success last week. . . and the turkey dinner they served was marvelous. . . just a few of all the people we saw there were Olive Hills, Lorene Locke, Bernice Ward, Ann Heskew, Ruth Nenstiel, and Al and Becky Schuneman. . . we could go on naming for the rest of the column just about. . . and the turkey and dressing and cranberry sauce surely were good! . . . the bazaar featured some beautiful medallions and wreaths made by Cecelia Gayden that were so intricate that we don't see how anyone could ever make them. . . shows what you can do with nimble fingers and talent. . . the wreaths were metallic fringe on a coat-hanger base, and the medallions were from tin cans and lids, and so on.

NEWS OF PAMPA people. . . Marcella Hudson is the new Contest Chairman for Panhandle Penwomen, chosen in an election held at the October meeting. . . busy gal, that Marcella. . . we found out some details about the book review sponsored by Delta Kappa Gamma. . . one of the Panhandle's famous writers, Loula Grace Erdman, of Canyon, will review her latest book, "Many A Voyage". . . the affair will be held on December first, Thursday, at 8:00 in the Robert E. Lee auditorium. . . although a number of Miss Erdman's books are juveniles, this latest one is an "adult" novel, and the review should be good. . . we have had occasion to hear Miss Erdman before, and she is quite entertaining, to say the least. . . tickets are seventy-five cents. . . and the money earned goes to the Scholarship Fund for a senior girl sponsored by the sorority. . . let's all go.

SPEAKING OF DECEMBER FIRST. . . the Santa Day Parade is scheduled then, at 3:00 p.m., and the Junior Chamber of Commerce annual pancake supper is that evening. . . serving of those delicious pancakes, bacon, butter and syrup begins at 5:30. . . so you can attend the parade, go to the pancake supper, and go right on to the above mentioned book review. . . a fine way to begin the Christmas month. . . the pancake supper is held, at the High School cafeteria this year.

HERE AND THERE. . . Fanny Cree and Harlene Rose have been elected President and Vice-President, respectively, of the "Tri-Delt" Alumnae Association here in Pampa. . . plan to go to the Lovett Memorial Library this afternoon, and see the exhibit of Dord Fitz' paintings hanging there. . . Dord's students from Amarillo, Dumas, Perryton, and so on will be here, and it would be nice if lots of Pampa people turned out, too. . . the exhibit is sponsored by the Pampa Art Club. . . everyone is welcome. . . to this special showing, from 2:00 until 5:00.

BITS AND PIECES of information that have come our way, and which we pass on to you: local angle of the television show which featured the Robertson family of Amarillo, last week, which you must have seen; it seems that the grandmother, Mrs. Ernestine Robertson is a cousin to Tracy Cary's mother, Mrs. Mary Cary. . . by the way, one of Pampa's beautiful, tall, blondes, is Nancy Dodson, Mrs. John Dodson, . . . and she was a Travis Elementary School delegate to the state convention of Texas Congress of Parent-Teachers Associations held last week in Austin.

FOR MANY PARTIES-TO COME, members will be talking still about the party given Wednesday evening to mark the opening of the ultra-smart, new club rooms in the Pampa Country Club. . . it was a much-fun, much-glamor evening. . . and whoever dreamed up the closed-circuit television coverage deserves the "Best Thought of the Year Award". . . Tom and Harlean Rose (he's the Country Club Proxy), Jack and JoAnn Osborne, (chairmen of the Entertainment committee) were the charming hosts. . . we understand that Tom with other male members of the board had much to do with the selection of the fashionable colors used in the new rooms. . . they are tres chic. . . affable Kay Fancher did such an excellent job of emceeing the television appearances of guests. . . television sets were placed in the Front Lounge, the Grill Room, and the Back Lounge and as he roamed around interviewing guests, other guests could see and hear what was going on in the other rooms. . . a hard-working crew from Channel 10-TV kept right up with him too. . . among the gay "first nighters" forming a party of their own were the Carl Hills, the M. L. Halls, the Bob Prichards, the Scott Halls, and the Dr. Charles Ashbys. . . also in the "first nighter crowd" were the Julian Keys (Katy lovely in a smart black cocktail dress outlined around the front and back squared neckline with a border of rhinestones). . . it was nice to see the Elmer Fites out for the opening. . . and the Clinton Evans. . . Billie Don Watkins and Frieda LeMond were simply stunning in red cocktail dresses fashioned with those new, poufed-skirts. . . and Albertine Tripplehorn, always lovely, was especially attractive in a bright green "after-five" dress. . . Harlean Rose's dress of pale yellow complemented with gold accessories was a perfect costume for her dainty beauty. . . and when Lulu Kuhn tires of those dangling, spiral-shaped rhinestone earrings she was wearing, we hope she will toss them in our direction. . . Z. B. (Zobo) and Marguerite Deer of Amarillo made it over for the opening. . . and the Jack Osbornes had as their guests, John and Marcia Dunn of Woodward, Okla., who flew over in their plane from that city just for the event. . . it was an enchanting evening and one, we repeat, that will be recalled pleasantly for months to come. . . especially by those who can recall when the Club was just a one-room affair. . . and parties were usually catered by someone's maid. . . from this has grown a very modern and a very attractive club. . . Have a Happy Thanksgiving.

Love, Peg.

Gala Opening of the Pampa Country Club

Pampa Country Club launched its new club rooms into a sea of social events with its gala opening party on Wednesday evening. Construction of the new club rooms began just after Labor Day and the Wednesday evening party marked the first night of use of the new facilities. Dancing to the music of Eddie Howard's Band was among the features of the evening.

UPPER LEFT PHOTO—Pictured in a tete-tete corner of the Back Lounge during the evening were, from the right, the Country Club president and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rose with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Osborne, Entertainment Committee chairman, who were hosts for the evening. The decor of the lounge is in Antique Ivory with Satin Gold and Pumpkin accents picked up in the furniture, lamps and picture accessories. The room is centered with a massive bar covered in tobacco brown leather backed with a counter-to-ceiling mirror. Pull drapes with a diamond pattern in pumpkin, off-white and tobacco brown on an egg-shell background forms the back drop for one side of the room. At each back corner of the bar are alcoves formed with semi-observe glass enclosing conversation-piece planters.

UPPER RIGHT PHOTO—Pictured in their private office are the managers of the Pampa Country Club, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Herriman, who have been with the club for over four years. It is here that luncheon, dinner and party menus will be planned; reservations for the club's affairs and arrangements for parties will be made under the capable direction of the Herrimans. The office, just off of the Grill Room, is done in egg-shell white with indirect lighting from the ceiling and is carpeted in a Tweed texture of beige, white, brown with gold flecks; the same carpeting extends from the Grill Room into the Back Lounge.

CENTER PHOTO—Highlighting the evening's entertainment was the closed-circuit television program emceed by Kay Fancher, at the right, shown talking with guests, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Robison, chairmen of the club's publicity committee, and Charles Hickman Jr., who were among the many guests interviewed at random throughout the evening. The closed-circuit coverage was provided by Channel 10-TV from Amarillo. Television sets were set up throughout the club's rooms and as each guest was interviewed by the roaming emcee, guests in the other rooms could watch the proceedings.

Pampa Country Club's Entertainment Committee, to whom much of the success for the Wednesday night affair is due, are Messrs. and Mmes. Jack H. Osborne, chairmen; H. L. Gunter; William L. Arrington; Eben D. Warner Jr.; Wiley E. Reynolds Sr.; Gene Fatheree; R. L. Pugh; Rex McAnnelly; Charles L. Robison; Ted Herriman.

AFTER-GAME SESSION—Following the Friday afternoon Duplicate Bridge session, held weekly in the Pampa Country Club, players gathered in an attractive corner of the new Lounge for refreshments and discussions of the afternoon's scores. Speaker Outlines Basic Points For Learning

Sam Houston PTA met Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium with Sam Begert, principal of Horace Mann School, as guest speaker.

Mr. Begert, introduced by Mrs. Dona Cornutt, spoke on the subject "How To Help Your Child Learn."

In opening remarks, Mr. Begert said, "As a parent, we must learn to accept our child as he is and help him to fulfill his own particular potential, instead of expecting him to be a composite of all children."

"All children," Mr. Begert continued, "do not learn to walk or talk at the same time; neither do they all learn to read or spell at the same rate. A testing system is given in the schools to help determine the ability of your child. After the first four weeks of school, the Metropolitan Reading Test is given to the First Grade. Also, after the first four weeks of school, the Otis Mental Ability Test is given to the fourth grade. The second week of the second semester, a mental ability test is given to the first grade and the first week in May the Metropolitan Achievement Test is given to all grades, first through the sixth."

Mr. Begert also pointed out the three basic facts of learning and how, we as parents can help in each one.

On the subject of reading: "Be sure your child is up to par physically. Have him examined regularly and be sure his hearing and vision are proficient. Reading material that is appropriate for a child should be provided in the home. Also, a nice quiet place to read and a place to keep his books, even if it's only a shelf, should be provided."

Regarding spelling, Mr. Begert said, "Discourage baby-talk and encourage children to use a dictionary at an early age. Encourage writing skill and take time to help your children with his spelling."

In connection with arithmetic: "Living itself is arithmetic," the speaker pointed out. "Help your child to see that our whole modern civilization is built on mathematics and how important it is in everyday life. How much, how many, how far, how fast, how big and how small, life is truly a numbers game."

Mr. Begert also advised parents to follow the school nurse's suggestion: 1) Keep the child in school regularly; 2) Do not compare children's ability to learn.

The afternoon's program opened with honor to the flag.

Fourth grade students, under the direction of Miss Eloise Lane, sang "Dear Sam Houston". They were joined by the entire assembly in the singing of "God Bless America."

E. L. Henderson, speaker for the Pampa Citizens Bureau, spoke on the upcoming election regarding the Canadian River Dam Project and urged due consideration and eligible voters to cast a ballot on Nov. 22.

Parents Of America Unite! Here's Chance For Christmas Gift Reprisal

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thanks to the efficiency of Uncle Sam's boys in blue and the energy of the contemporary pony express, parents already have Christmas—with all its joys and bills—prickin' at their consciences.

The mobilized pony express—on pre-Thanksgiving instructions from the local toy store — has stuffed into mailboxes the newest edition of a booklet full of pictures of toys approved by the Toy Guidance Council of America.

Bills aside, this should not be a time to fret. You united parents of America, here's your chance to get back at the little rascals who plague you twelve months of the year.

Just flip through the catalog and select your reprisal weapons. For the kid who likes to make like a prize fighter — instead of an angel — when he sees daddy, there's a TGA-approved punching bag.

It's called a "floor platform striking outfit." What it is: A scientific thing that helps to develop coordination and timing. It's a punching bag on a steel platform.

It includes boxing instructions and has the added merit of being bale to strike the kid back if he gets too close — something a parent can't do unless he gets a psychiatrist's permission.

To relieve the mother who's bothered by a kid who has the wonderlust, there's a TGA approved walking doll — life-like, except you don't have to bank enough to provide a college education for the darling.

For the toddler who seems to keep you going in circles, the TGA recommends a top—a thing that spins and spins into a satisfying hypnotic state. Costs practically nothing and is worth its weight in gold — while it spins its hypnotic spell keeps the kid quiet.

All of these things, in addition to giving parents five minutes of rest, are toys aimed at developing the child's mental, physical, social and vocational qualities. The TGA says so.

Delta Kappa Gamma To Present Guest Reviewer

Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority will present Miss Louisa Grace Erdman in a review of her book, "Many A Voyage" on Dec. 1 in the Robert E. Lee Junior High auditorium at 8 p.m. Tickets for the review may be purchased from DKG members or at the door on the evening of the review.

Miss Erdman, who teaches English at West Texas State College and creative writing courses in Amarillo Center, was born in Missouri and attended schools there. She came directly to Texas, however, from the University of Wisconsin. Her roommate at U of W was a Texas Panhandle girl, and it was her mother's suggestion that she come to Amarillo, where she taught in the elementary schools first and later taught English in a junior high school. During these teaching years, she continued to go to school during the summers and received a bachelor's degree from Central Missouri State College in 1931 and a Masters Degree from Teachers' College, Columbia University, in New York.

She began to write a little, just for fun; stories for small magazines such as Christian Herald, Capper's Farmer, American Girl and others. One day, a junior high school librarian at the school where she taught called her attention to career books for young people and suggested that she try to do one. At first, Miss Erdman gave the matter little thought, but later she took the suggestion and wrote "Separate Star", a career-type book for girls about teaching. It was published in 1944 and was so successful that the publishing company and various people in the educational field urged her to do a sequel. The result was "Fair Is the Morning."

In 1945 Miss Erdman was asked to come to West Texas State College to teach creative writing and freshman English, where she is currently employed but now teaches creative writing only in the Amarillo Center.

Teaching in college gave her a little more free time, so she started to work on her first adult novel, "The Years of the Locust", a story of her native Missouri and which won the Dodd Mead-Redbook $10,000 prize.

This book was followed by "Lonely Passage" another story about Missouri. Then publishers and friends urged her to try a Texas book. After she started, she discovered that the Panhandle is not only stories of the great ranches, but also of "the little man," the homesteader. "The Edge of Time" is a book about these people and dedicated to them.

Miss Erdman had done so much research for "The Edge of Time" that she put the left-over material into a young people's book, "The "Wind Blows Free", which gained the Dodd-Mead-American Girl Award.

In 1953, she wrote another book about teaching, "My Sky Is Blue", a companion book to her other career books on this subject.

"Three At the Wedding," an adult novel, made its appearance also in 1953. Miss Erdman feels that this novel (though it has a Texas setting it could have happened anywhere) is one of her most ambitious books because it went more deeply into the minds and hearts of people.

Rev. Richard Crews Guest Speaker At Sharp Meeting In Swanson Home

An informative program on "The World Outreach Program of Christian Churches" was presented by the Rev. Richard Crews to the Sharp Group of First Christian Church on Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Bob Swanson.

Mrs. Swanson gave the devotion- all from St. Matthews' 2th chapter.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. John Gill, members were reminded of the Christian Women's Fellowship meeting to be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at which time new officers will be installed.

Mrs. Gill also reported 28 adults from the First Christian Church attended the district convention of Christian Churches held last Sunday in Amarillo.

Rev. Crews announced that P. O. Adams, a missionary from Paraguay, will be guest speaker at the evening service today (Nov. 20). He also reminded members of the All-Church Supper to be held in the church on Friday, Dec.

In 1955, she published "The Far Journey", which tells the story of a young woman, who, in the late 80's drove a covered-wagon from Missouri to Texas with only her five-year-old son for company. A sequel to "The Wind Blows Free" entitled "The Wide Horizon" was published in 1956.

All her adult books, have been reprinted in England, Australia and New Zealand. "The Edge of Time" and "Lonely Passage" have been printed in Germany, the former a German Book Club selection. Most of her books have also been transcribed into Braille.

Members decided on a salad supper and Christmas party to be held at the December Group meeting.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Mrs. Swanson announced that the next meeting will be with Mrs. John Gill 1613 Hamilton on Dec. 12 at 7 p.m.; each member is to bring a salad. Attending were Mmes. O. H. Odum, Walyin Gibson, Burt Graham Jr., Cecil Deist, R. E. Converse, W. A. Patton, Walton Bailey, and Leon Howell.

Physical Health And Good Grooming Discussed By TC Cotillion Speakers

"Good Grooming" was the program topic discussed by Mrs. N.J. Ellis and Mrs. James Gallemore at the Twentieth Century Cotillion Club meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Weldon Adair.

Mrs. Ellis emphasized that good grooming should be practiced every day and "not just part of the time." She gave tips for the care of the hair, skin, hands, nails, clothes and brought out that it is equally as important for men to be well-groomed as for women.

"Due to the climate in this area, many people have very dry skin and it is necessary to use hand and body lotion frequently," the speaker said.

"Proper makeup for each individual should be used and special care taken of the hair. To be well-dressed, a woman should be conscious of the appearance of her clothes seeing that they are neat and clean and that she is not overdressed."

Mrs. Ellis said that by spending time each day on good grooming, "a woman may be a self-made beauty."

Mrs. James Gallemore's topic "Satisfied With Thy Mirror?" was a discussion of the physical body. She discussed the importance of caring for the physical body through proper diet, exercise, posture and mental attitude. "The primary function of the physical body is to carry out the tasks that the brain conveys to it. Therefore, to keep up with the demands of the day, the physical body must be kept healthy."

"There is a need for people to learn to pace themselves," Mrs. Gallemore said. "Hard work generally is not harmful to the physical body. However, accepting more tasks than can be done well, usually cause the individual worry and fatigue. Our bodies have been given to us to our advantage and yet, we often abuse the thing that gives us happiness and life itself."

Mrs. Gene Imel was welcomed as a new member.

Members attending were Mmes. W. B. Adair, Gene Barber, Thelma

Women's Prison Association Works To Bring Out The Best In The Worst

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—As the anonymous poet once put it, "there is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us . . ."

A private, non-profit and non-sectarian organization in New York believes that in every person there is the hidden spark to do better no matter what the depths reached in the past.

For 116 years, the Women's Prison Association has worked quietly in this belief—helping to bring that spark to the surface and rehabilitate women criminals, women on court probation, women who may have had only one minor brush with the law.

The association believes it is unique in the nation, although it has had inquiries from other cities on how its program works. It specializes in "case work"—offers a temporary home for women who are out of prison or on probation, provides clothing, financial aid, marital counseling, helps them locate jobs, helps train them in careers if they show sufficient ambition, offers psychiatric aid if it is needed, and above all else tries to "restore the dignity and self-respect of even those the lowest of the low."

"We try to offer love, warmth and understanding," said Miss Doris S. Whitney, executive director. "Women come from prison frightened to death . . . so scared they sometimes try to get back in jail because it offers security."

"We feel we help them tremendously just by offering them a home during that period of confusion . . ."

Shopping Pampa with ELEANORE

With Christmas approaching very quickly, I am having such fun hunting for gifts. I get to see the new merchandise that is arriving daily, and I try to tell you all about it. For gift suggestions, read on down the page and check with me each Sunday. When you shop the stores, mention that you saw it in "Shopping Pampa."

I found something really new and useful this past week. Just arrived at Pampa Glass and Paint is a new color spray for vinyl and plastic materials. It is made by the manufacturers of the famous "Fab-spray", and is especially recommended for playroom or den furniture, couches and lounge chairs that are plastic covered, kitchen and dinette furniture, plastic crash pads in car interiors, plastic luggage, and other vinyl and plastic home and office furniture. It will change color, or renew dull or worn vinyl and plastic materials; making old and dingy looking vinyl like new. It comes in spray cans in twelve colors, will not crack, chip, peel. It is waterproof and flexible. Just $2.98 per can. It will dry dust-free in 30 minutes; objects are ready for use after overnight seasoning. Pampa Glass and Paint also has "Fab-spray" fabric coloring — it puts new color in everything from carpets and cushions to draperies and canvas lawn furniture. It obscures fade streaks, water spots, and is resistant to sun-fading. 18 colors in pressure spray cans, or in quart sizes for brush or spray-gun application. Find both of these and a little re-furbishing before the holidays. PAMPA GLASS AND PAINT 1431 N. Hobart.

You know, I love shopping Bentley's clothing store . . . I find such pretty things there from sports clothes to "after five" dresses. This time Ruth Hitchens showed me her beautiful line of MR. EDDIE sophisticated casual shirt-waist dresses. These Stehli silk broadcloth dresses are perfect for under-the-coat wear now, and will be your stand-bys well into Spring, and just $29.95, too. Ruth has carried this line of dresses for years because they are tops in design and versatility. The designs are long-waisted — and that helps those of us who have that fitting problem. Lovely styles: fly-front shirt-waist with stitched collar and pleated full skirt — in aqua, toast, gold, and green. Another has a wing collar, scarf tie and pleated skirt; in toast and black. One of the prettiest was in soft yellow with multicolor stitching on collar and down the front of the slim skirt. Detailing of tiny tucks on the collar accents one style in black. These beautiful silk broadcloth dresses are just $29.95. I have seen them advertised for much more. New shipments of Mr. Eddie dresses are arriving now at BENTLEY'S, 101 N. Cuyler.

Gifts galore in the cosmetic and perfume line are flooding the shelves at Richard Drug these days: gift sets from $1.00 to $18.00. Take your pick of such pretty aged sets as DuBarry's "Seven Winds" cologne. The bottles are decorated as little angels, and are just $1.75. Or perhaps you will like Ciro's perfume and spray mist set in beautiful gold containers. Ciro also has a complete line of bath oil, perfume, toilet water, and dusting powder in Christmas wrappings. There are Dorothy Gray Christmas wrapped sets from $1.00 to $5.00. One of the most beautifully packaged sets is DuBarry "Seven Winds" and "Deauville" soap, bath oil, talc, packed in clear plastic box with a beautiful huge powder-puff. The set: $18.50. If you want a tiny purse-size cologne, DuBarry Deauville comes decorated with red and white "candy" cane packaging, or a tiny "Champagne" bucket with a bottle of "Seven Winds" and "Deauville" for $2.75. Tussy sets of "Midnight" scent range from $2.25 to $14.50. Christmas packaging has never been so pretty as this year. Choose a "sweet" gift from the selection at RICHARD DRUG, 111 N. Cuyler.

Now is the time to layaway your gift of a Christmas watch while you still have a full stock from which to choose at McCARLEY'S JEWELRY. Any man or woman will appreciate a fine watch as a gift, and I have only to mention the names carried by Paul McCarley, and you KNOW the quality! Wittnauer, Tissot, Longines, Elgin, Hamilton, Omega, LeCoultre and Rolex Prices range from $21.95 to $500.00. For the ladies, what better than a beautiful Hamilton "Medallion" watch: fully adjusted, shock resistant, lifetime mainspring, antimagnetic, and truly feminine beauty combined in a watch you will be proud to give. I noticed a woman's gift: the Hamilton "Thin-O-Matic" watch which comes in a case with TWO bands: a metal expansion band and a fine leather band so the wearer can take his choice as whim or the occasion demands. I am reminding you also that Paul has a limited stock, which won't last long, of the Speed Twist-Flex watch bands. These are hard to find, but McCarley's has a selection now. Free gift-wrapping, and layaway. Also no interest or carrying charges on time payments at MCCARLEY'S JEWELRY, 106 N. Cuyler.

There is something new for teenagers at B & B No. 2 now. It is the special "Demoiselle" cosmetic and skin care preparations for teens. You have seen this advertised in "Seventeen" magazine. Most important is the Dem-O-Derm antiseptic lotion for skin health; it checks blemish-forming bacteria, relieves excessive oiliness, helps remove blackheads, heals disturbing skin, cleanses softly, leaving the skin clear and soft. A special offer is now available, to introduce you to this very valuable product: a free trial size Dem-O-Derm comes with the purchase of the regular size at the special price of $1.75. Try the small bottle: if you are not pleased, return the regular-size bottle for a refund. The "Demoiselle" line of teen-cosmetics also includes powder, bubblebath, lotion deodorant, and cologne. Did you know that the B & B Pharmacies have a bath oil made especially for them — it absolutely does NOT leave a ring in the tub as so many bath oils will, and it does leave your skin so soft . . . it is just $1.49 for a generous amount (it only takes a little bit per tub) in pine or appleblossom scent. Try some. I heartily recommend it! B & B PHARMACY No. 2, 403 S. Cuyler.

I needed a new tablecloth last week, in preparation for the holiday season that is arriving in a hurry, so I went down to Dunlap's to see what they had; and I ran into a veritable gold-mine of beautiful cloths, and tea-sets. The very finest I looked at was a large (72" x 108") hand-embroidered linen cloth made in Portugal, with twelve matching napkins. It is in natural linen with a cutwork design that is truly elegant. Mary Lee Bohlender then showed me the "Contessa" cloths. These lovely cloths in the most popular sizes are DRIP-DRY! They are of Belgian flax and rayon; and are Scotchgard treated for stain repellance and easy care. There are matching napkins in pretty colors, and the cloths are just $3.98 to $6.98; a real buy. There were some special Christmas-design placemats in Toppel rayon and Belgian linen, backed with foam plastic — no-slip, no-iron; also Scotchgard protected to repel oil and water-born stains. Contemporary design of tree ornaments in deep red, gold and white; or traditional red poinsettia on white background. There is a large selection of 45" x 45" tea sets with napkins, and a new shipment of Martex gift towel sets, either standing there, and turn yourself around and around like a rotisserie. For ten minutes, you will be exposed to the tanning, vitamin-D stimulating, healthful ultraviolet radiation of Westinghouse "Fas-Tan" Sun Lamps. Acquire a Fas-Tan gradually with no chance of burning, or retain your tan year-round. The Westinghouse fluorescent Sun Lamps are cool, and tan you safely, quickly and inexpensively with regular ten-minute applications. The Council on Physical Medicine of the American Medical Association states that adequate ultraviolet energy plays an important role in health, and you know it too. The Fas-Tan sunlamps give you the benefits of natural sunshine all year round, and their operation is so cool you won't believe you are actually getting a tan. You can get a uniform tan over most of the body, because you stand before long tubular-shaped lamps which expose all the body at once. So for health and for beauty, try the Fas-Tan machine at LADY-B-LOVELY SALON 2010 N. Hobart.

AAUW Entertains At Holiday Fete

American Association of University Women and their guests met for a Thanksgiving dinner Tuesday evening in the Quivira Room of the Coronado Inn.

Bill W. Waters, District Attorney, spoke on "The Status of Women in Texas," taking up community property law, which he defined as "a rule of law of the state by which property is recognized as being owned half by husband and half by wife. All property acquired during the existence of a marriage is considered community property, except property acquired by gift or by inheritance."

Mr. Waters stated that Texas community property laws give more protection than many other states, but rights are still not equal. A question and answer period followed Mr. Waters' talk. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. A. E. Berry, Miss Inez Clubb, and Miss Eloise Lane.

Nylon will stay "white" longer if it is washed frequently and thoroughly.

Polly's Quiz

By POLLY CRAMER

How long has it been since you really looked at your livingroom? It may be just as comfortable as an old shoe to you and yours. You may love it just because it spells home.

But what would this room say to a stranger? Even making excuses to yourself is a warning sign that something needs to be done. The old story about the bent budget is no excuse.

A new arrangement of old furniture can make a world of difference. Regroup the pictures. Rearrange the mantel shelf. If most of the accessories were wedding presents or Christmas gifts, it may be time to get rid of some of them. Keep only those that really lend charm to the room.

Look at your living room objectively, with the eyes of your next door neighbor or your dearest enemy.

Dear Polly: I have used some of the ideas you gave other people. They have worked out very well. Now, I'd like some help with my living room. I have an aqua divan, a beige chair and a beige floral chair. What color should my walls, rug and drapes be? The walls now are beige.—Mrs. W.T.B.

Dear Mrs. W.T.B.: Your walls and woodwork could be aqua in a shade lighter than the sofa. Have your rug in aqua and beige tweed. A pretty design of aqua, pink, red and green on a natural ground would be a wise choice for draperies and for that one chair that needs recovering.

Dear Polly: I need help with my living room. The sofa is toast, one chair is white and the other a horrible blue with silver threads. Drapes are orange and walls are green. I'd like a color suggestion for a new slip cover for the blue chair. And what color for the walls, please?—Mrs. P.D.P.

Dear Mrs. P.D.P.: White walls would be effective with your orange draperies. Slip cover that awful chair in a fabric combining brown, beige, white and orange stripes. A bit of olive green in accessories would be smart.

Love Of Books Needs Nourishing: PE Speaker

Members of Parent Education Club were entertained Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. E. Steel. Mrs. W. L. Arrington, president, presided at the business meeting as each member was urged to write their legislators in support of upcoming bills concerning Driver Education and Driver Safety.

Enthusiastic response was given to the project of sending Christmas gifts to the State Hospital in Wichita Falls; these gifts will be brought to the December meeting.

Mrs. W. J. Derington, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Bob Carmichael who reviewed "Bequest of Wings", by Annis Duff. "Mrs. Duff tells that as far back as she can remember books have shed a glow of delight on everything she does. We have not used books for the children out of a sense of solemn duty, but for fun."

"Children who have a solid foundation of real literature develop a richness of mental and spiritual texture that enhance their charm as companions and increases their value as people. In the beginning, what one reads is usually familiar from one's own infancy, since jingles and rhymes from Mother Goose, old nursery rhymes and songs, are the natural heritage of the very young. But always when Miss Duff reads them aloud or hears them read, she thinks of the lady who went into the bookshop to buy gifts for nephews and nieces; after she had been shown a great many books she said, 'But these are all old books.' Whereupon the bookseller remarked gently, 'Yes, madam, but the children are always new', related Mrs. Carmichael.

"A book to be good enough for a little child, must have qualities that make it acceptable to an intelligent adult. In only a few instances had it happened that one child or the other has shown great interest in a book that was definitely uninteresting to its parents. To interest children in books, start early. Keep up the reading habit even after the child is able to read for himself. This helps greatly in promoting closer family ties."

"The team, 'fairy tale', as used by Mrs. Duff, does not necessarily mean a story about fairies. It includes along with the literature of pixies, elves and so on, all stories that have the element of magic, of enchantment, of unseen forces governing the course of events.

This is a very large segment of literature. As for it being 'untruthful rubbish', that is a little pathetic," said Mrs. Carmichael.

"If a person is capable of exercising a little imagination she can avoid the error of assuming that because a thing is not literally true, beyond any shadow of a doubt, whimsy or suspicion, exactly according to one's own knowledge and experience, that it is wanting in any element of truth and if told only with intent to mislead and possible to corrupt. Children do not as a rule make this mistake; they are not so rigidly habituated to the distinctions that grown-ups make between what is probable and possible and what is inconceivable and contrary to reason. They still possess the faculty of imagination that makes room for miracles, perhaps because the marvelous novelty of the world and of living has not yet worn off."

Mrs. Carmichael concluded, "The trouble with grown-ups is that they take things too seriously. Where children read about ethical, social and cultural values until all the fun and imagination is gone."

Members attending were Meses. W. L. Arrington, D. T. Beaman, Bob Carmichael, A. J. Carubbi, W. J. Jerington, Warren Fatheree, H. C. Federer, Bill Gething, Rex McAnelly, Jack Osborne, Joe Reid.

COLD TURKEY
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Plenty of turkey is in prospect for Thanksgiving this year, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports. And when you're shopping you probably will find that prices for large size birds compare favorably with last year's prices. Cost of the smaller, Beltsville-type birds, may be a little higher though. There are fewer of them this year, the USDA said.

Instant Obedience Can Save Child From Instant Death: Pediatricians

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Instant obedience can save your child from instant death.

The time factor in obedience — heeding your orders at once — gets big play in the newest safety education program drawn up by the accident prevention committee of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

When instant obedience is absent a child about to pull over a pan of scalding water will pull it over — and perhaps kill himself. But when instant obedience is present, a child in a similar situation can be saved — by heeding his mother's or father's "stop" order.

The instant obedience, as the experts figure it, is most important between the ages of 3 and 6. Until a child is 3 the safety program is largely a matter of keeping baby in a safe environment.

But there's more than teaching instant obedience to children between the ages of 3 and 6.

The committee said that dangerous objects ought to be kept out of reach. Cited as possible killers were medicines, gasoline, kerosene, paint products, matches and dangerous tools.

Such things are supposed to be kept in locked places — and it's up to you to be sure junior hasn't figured out a way to pick the lock — or take the hinges off the door.

The ever-looking, ever-exploring 3 to 6 year old child also needs play supervision. His play area, the committee said, should be free of attractive nuisances or hazards — say old refrigerators, deep holes, construction, trash heaps, rickety structures.

But the age of 3 to 6 is by no means an age of constant "don't touch." The committee said the pre-schoolers ought to be taught safe ways to handle tools and kitchen equipment.

And they can, for example, go near the water — but they should be taught the dangers of water and, if possible, they should be taught how to swim.

The committee also said the 3 to 6 year olds should be taught the rules and dangers of traffic and the danger of open flames. Where older children are concerned, the committee also has drawn up a set of recommendations.

Home handy men and women will be happy to know that there are now waterless cleaners that take off grease, grime, tar, and paint while leaving the skin relatively untouched. These aerosol hand cleaners contain lanolin to keep hands soft and smooth.

Mrs. Baldwin Is Hostess To Circle

Prayer Pal gifts were exchanged and the group was dismissed with prayer offered by Mrs. Mage Keyser.

Attending were Mmes. Mage Keyser, Mildred Stephens, C. J. Brock, Charles Tingle, E. A. Baldwin, Harold Beckham, Glen Day, Elden Geerdes, N. N. Black, John Dyer.

New members welcomed were Mmes. H. W. Smart and E. W. Ammons. Mmes. W. R. Brown, J. T. Richardson Jr., Rose Giffin, Laurine Jackson, C. H. Richardson and Arnold Hale were special guests.

It was announced that the next meeting will be on Nov. 28 at 8 p.m. in Hobart Street Baptist Church.

of hats that will add chic to your holiday wardrobe.

You can make these hats yourself. All you need aside from the flowers is a bit of veiling, a band or comb, and a little imagination.

If you wear your hair in a high pouf, a bow bandeau will complement it charmingly. Just wire a few fresh pompons across the front of a headband. Place the larger flowers in the center, and work the smaller ones toward each side, adding a bit of green. Tie a bow to the band behind the flowers. If you work your ribbon around a bit of wire, you can twirl it out on either side for a piquant touch.

To make a blossom cage is even simpler. Just wire mums into a crown circlet, and after you've donned your veil, top it with the flowers. They can be held in place with a few bobby pins.

For a suggestion of the exotic Orient, you might try a tiara birdcage, made of gladioli florets.

called "glamelias." You might prefer to have your florist help with this one. It's a trifle more complicated. But if you prefer to try your own hand at it, here's how it's done:

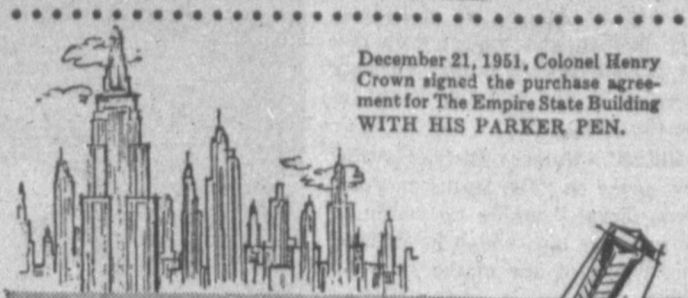

Cut a bud from the stalk and thread a wire through the end. Bend the wire in half, and insert both ends through the center opening of all three florets. This forms the "glamelias." Hold the four pieces together with a wire threaded through the underside of the glamelias. Wrap the wire with green plastic tape and finish your flower with a few green leaves.

Next, wire the glamelias to a comb, and use slim leaves to accent the triangular shape of the tiara. Then set it in place over your veil.

You will probably want to create other arrangements of the gladioli florets and mums that will complement your hair style best. And you can be certain that the charm and fragrance of fresh flowers will add a touch of glamour to your appearance on every dress-up holiday occasion.

Political 'Hot Spots' DKG Program Topic

Beta Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority held its monthly meeting Saturday morning at 9:30 in White Deer High School.

Mrs. G. M. Walls, Book Review chairman, reported to the group on the forthcoming book review to be given by Miss Louisa Grace Erdman of Canyon. She announced that Miss Erdman will review her latest book, "Many A Voyage" on Thursday, Dec. 1, at 8 p.m. in Robert E. Lee Junior High Auditorium, Pampa. Tickets will be sold by DKG members and will also be available at the door.

The program, "Political Hot Spots in the East" was presented under the direction of Miss Nova Mayo with a symposium composed of Mrs. Otto Mangold of Pampa, Mrs. E. C. Montgomery and Mrs. Louis Hill, both of Shamrock.

Mrs. Hill spoke to the group on Iran and reminded them that the name Iran is rather new to this country but originally was known as Persia.

"The country is located in a place that is advantageous to the Free World but Russia would like to control it. For this reason, it is constantly being bombarded by every Russian means."

"If Russian could control Iran,"

Mrs. Hill said, "it would have a link with the Persian Sea and also have in her possession the rich oil fields. The Shah is the supreme ruler and can control the government at will. He has committed himself to the evolution of a modern state. To this end, he has given away many acres of the crown's land and is trying to help the people learn to rule themselves. The problems are many and one that has been recently solved is the recent birth of a son and the people now have an heir to the throne."

"In India democracy is Nehru," Mrs. Mangold said in discussing her topic. "Even when using English, he talks on an Eastern, not Western wave-length. He has a foreign policy of non-alignment and an internal policy of democratic socialism. His non-alignment policy is really a misnomer, it should be non-involvement because India wants peace at any cost. To survive, they must get along with both Russia and Red China."

In the discussion of China, Mrs. Montgomery recalled the prediction that Napoleon made concerning China. "He called China a 'sleeping giant' and then added, 'let her sleep.' China has awakened and moves politically, socially, economically and industrially is playing a vital part in reshaping world affairs."

"China has one-fourth of the world's population," Mrs. Montgomery continued, "and three times as many people as Russia and four times that of the United States. Red China is a police state in which the treat of death or imprisonment is used to insure obedience. There is an all-out campaign to undermine the influence of the West and they have an all-out campaign to 'hate America.' The object, of course, is to rule the world and to this end they are striving to make that dream a reality."

Miss Mayo concluded the discussion with the subject, "Japan." "Since the incident last summer when President Eisenhower was not allowed to go to Japan, we have been interested in the affairs of this land. The Japanese attitude toward the United States is not really 'pro' or an 'anti,' but they resent having lost the war and the fact that they have no choice in the Japan-American relationships."

At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. J. E. Gibson, program chairman, announced that the next meeting will be the study of

Some slightly tarnished Air Corps wings.

Dear Abby... Husband's Insecurity Shows In Odd Way

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When my husband goes out of town he makes sure our car is never left at home for me to use. He doesn't come right out and say he doesn't want me to have it, but he either leaves it with his brother (who has a car of his own) or else he promises it to "one of the boys" at the office.

I've never had an accident or a ticket, so he doesn't have to worry about that. And I've never given him any cause to doubt me or to be jealous. Why does he do this, and how can I change him?

DISCOURAGED: Your husband's insecurity is showing. In the "old days" men would keep their wives pregnant or barefoot to make sure they didn't stray. Today, they remove the "wheels." Bring the subject out into the open and discuss it freely. Once he's gained self-confidence he'll leave you the car.

DEAR ABBY: I am what is known as a "brain." I always get straight A's. This may sound wonderful, but it isn't. The other kids are so jealous, they shun me. Even the smart kids. I try to be friendly and never brag about my grades, but the resentment is always there. I would like to have some friends, but I am not going to get poor grades on purpose to do it.

THE BRAIN: DEAR BRAIN: Face it. There are plenty of "brains" who have lots of friends. If you are disliked generally, there must be another reason. Use some of that brain power to figure out why.

DEAR ABBY: Please advise me if I was right or wrong for accepting a diamond ring from a man who at the time, was still married, claimed he was going to divorce her.

Impressive Ceremony Installs CWF Officers

New officers, chairmen and Group leaders for the Christian Women's Fellowship of First Baptist Church were installed on Thursday evening in an impressive ceremony conducted by Mrs. Shelby Gantz of Amarillo, District One CWF secretary.

As Mrs. Gantz charged each woman with the duties of her office, she asked her to pick up a white streamer attached to a white cross in the center of a red cloth-covered table and to repeat the slogan for the coming year "Set Our Feet on Lofty Places."

TYLER: DEAR TYLER: You were wrong to accept the ring under those circumstances. Return it.

DEAR ABBY: That foolish girl who whined because she has to wear braces on her teeth in high school doesn't know when she's well off. I am 13 years old and will have to wear a 14-pound brace on my back for the rest of my life.

GOLDIE: For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

Pampa Yourself During Holidays

BY ALICIA HART
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A good many women, of necessity, approach the Christmas holidays warily and with mixed feelings. They regard them partly with something less than enthusiasm.

The reason for this is that the burden of holiday preparations falls on the homemaker or the woman who keeps house and holds down a job, too. It is she who addresses card, shops, wraps gifts, often gets the tree in and trims it, plans and cooks holiday dinners for friends and relative. So it isn't a time of pure rejoicing for her.

Since it's a pity to have the work take the fun out of the holidays, try to make life simpler for yourself at this time. About the only way you can do it is by organization. Before you start out to shop or begin to cook a meal, plan everything on paper right down to the last tiny detail.

Allow enough time for proper rest. Even a ten-minute cat nap on a busy day can help.

To avoid that Loggarrd, tired look that comes from too much rushing about, take time out to pamper yourself a bit when you're out shopping for others. Pick up a four-purpose face cream that can be used as cleansing cream, foundation base, night cream and hand cream. Make regular use of it.

Treat yourself to a bottle of turquoise-colored hand and body lotion and use it after each bath or shower. This lotion contains silicones for added protection and emollient oils to smooth out winter-dried skin.

France's Algeria Problem

Seldom in modern history has any nation had a thornier problem than France's difficulties over Algeria.

For six years this has meant a war that has wasted men and substance. It has caused the fall of governments and near civil war among Frenchmen, and it even menaces the authority of the most revered and most powerful French leader of this century, President Charles de Gaulle.

De Gaulle, caught in this crossfire at home now has assailed both camps as "hostile pack" who would lead France to catastrophe. He threatened to dissolve parliament and call for a popular referendum on the Algerian issue if they do not cease their agitation.

He seemed at the same time to have moved even closer to a solution centered on independence for Algeria. He even hinted that the French army might unilaterally declare a cease fire, thus giving the army a face-saving "out" on this question, and allowing true political negotiations with the rebels to independence which is their true goal.

Finally he did actually succeed in luring the rebel leaders into talks over a cease fire, which De Gaulle, had insisted be preliminary to broader peace negotiations. But after five days they broke down in hopeless disagreement.

Since then, agitation has built up anew. Army-rightist groups in France press always to keep Algeria totally French. They are

Material Foundations

People have a lot of romantic nonsense in their minds about living in a world wherein there is little importance placed on material things. This is foolish. All things literally, artistic and even spiritual rest upon material foundations. It is only those who have mastered material things to some degree who are able to grasp non-material values.

Toward Private Schools

In 1952, according to census figures, private education accounted for some 314 pupils enrolled in the States of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia.

By 1958, in a six-year period, the enrollment figures for the private schools in the same states had climbed to 460,000. There's a new count underway now which is expected to push the ceiling up considerable above the half million figure.

Dixie shows a large increase in private school enrollment. But it must be apparent to most that there is a broad reason for the switch from government (integrated), schools to private and, hence, segregated educational institutions.

It would appear that the good people in the southland are in process of abandoning their compulsory system in favor of private education.

Actually, however, the cause is neither that simple nor quite so forthright as it can be made to appear. It would seem that some of our good friends below the Mason-Dixon line are in process of moving toward private schooling out of a general feeling of hatred or prejudice, which is surely the wrong kind of motivation. Granted that the result may be beneficial insofar as the students themselves are concerned, we must hope that in process of the switch-over they will acquire a broader and gentler motivation.

Nonetheless, we can sympathize with them when we recall that the situation they as well as others confront, has been created out of governmental force and violence. And one is prone to forgive a person for lashing back, when a priori of the event force and compulsion has been used against him.

In any case, it seems that the private school is getting a real shot in the arm in our southern states. Dr. Raymond G. Wilson, executive secretary of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, has recently reported that in recent months he has received a number of inquiries from northern addresses asking for his views as to the "best place" in the South to set up new private schools.

Dr. Wilson isn't quite as warm to these Northern educational invaders as one might hope and has even gone so far as to refer to them as "second generation Yan-

Subjects Note Education Dip

Something of the decline that has taken place in educational standards may be seen from the following subjects which have been accepted for doctoral dissertations by one of our leading teachers' colleges:

"A history of competitive rowing in colleges and universities."

"Integrating school lunches into the elementary school curriculum."

"A study of Little League baseball and its educational implications."

"The organization and administration of college bands."

The above and other similar subjects are taken from Human Events, June 30, 1960 and are part of an article reprinted from the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The same newsletter, quoting the Richmond News Leader, Richmond, Va., tells of a grant provided by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare authorizing a study by three eminent sociologists called "a systematic study of socialibility."

The three scholars and their six assistants are said to have attended and "studied" 80 cocktail parties during the past five years.

The studies seem to have centered on the host at the cocktail parties. Each investigator wrote down all he could remember of what he had seen and heard at these parties. Conclusions were drawn, footnotes added and the work finally published.

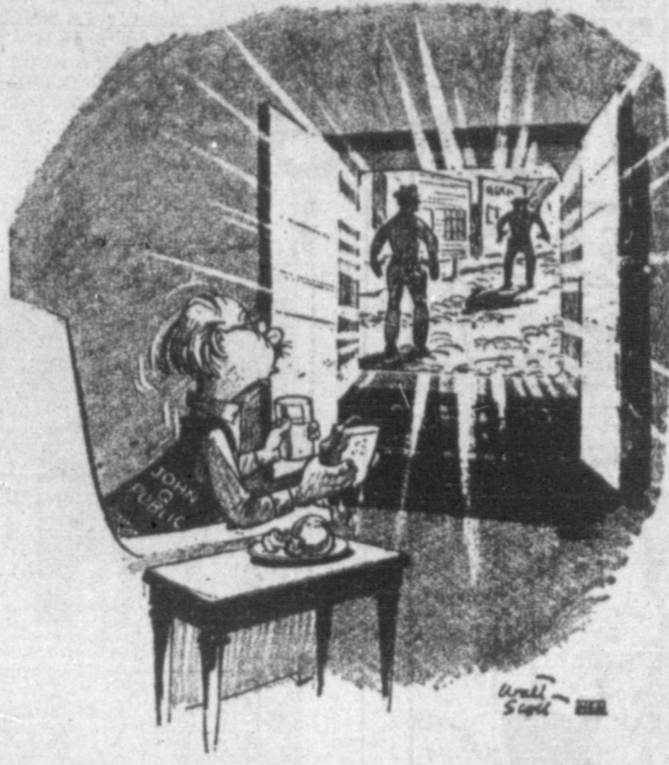

From it we learn that the typical host "feels bound to continue as long as strength endures, sending out for more liquor if necessary."

Some of these parties are said to have provided games and various kinds of entertainment and others were confined merely to liquor and small talk. The latter sometimes continued until five o'clock the next morning.

According to Newsweek three other studies of this nature are to be made, costing the American taxpayer a total of nearly $90,000.

Sober taxpayers deeply resent such foolish and wasteful expenditure of their money. Most taxpayers are convinced that a large portion of the money extracted from them is worse than wasted. If the people do not find a way to demobilize the bureaucracy that has seized control of our bankruptcy and the destruction of our free government is inevitable.

JACKSON FINDS HE LIKES BEING DEM. NATIONAL CHAIRMAN, BUT PARTY LEADERS OPPOSE HIS RETAINING OFFICE

WASHINGTON — Democratic National Chairman Henry Jackson is succumbing to an old Washington malady — stick-arounditis.

From significant hints the Senator from Washington State is dropping to associates, he is now thinking of holding on to his glamorous party job through 1961 and "perhaps even longer."

That is quite an extension of his originally announced intention.

When named National Chairman last July, following the Los Angeles convention, Jackson states he would retain the office only until after the November election. But when recently asked about this, he revealed he had changed his mind and indicated next April as the date of departure.

As explained by Jackson, this first manifestation of stick-arounditis came about as a result of his ardent desire to see that the $1 million debt from the presidential campaign is paid off.

(Actually, he has very little to do with fund raising. That is in the capable hands of veteran National Treasurer Matthew McCloskey, wealthy Philadelphia builder.)

Now it develops Jackson has a full-blown case of stick-arounditis.

To associates he is talking about remaining indefinitely as National Chairman.

As the old Washington saying goes, "Many come, but few return to Pumpkin Center."

However, Jackson may find a big gap between what he wants and what happens.

To many influential party leaders, particularly in the big centers that gave President-elect Kennedy the margins for his hair-line victory, Jackson is no hero. They rate his contribution to the strenuous and bitter campaign as virtually nil.

"The best that can be said for him," remarked a powerful Eastern leader, "is that he kept out of our way and pulled no glaring boners. For that, we thank him."

Cited as a particular instance of Jackson's ineffectualness is that he lost his own state, although controversial Democratic Governor Albert Rosellini won easily.

Similarly, Jackson did no better in most of the other Western states where, as a Westerner, he is supposed to carry a lot of political weight — but definitely didn't.

Democratic congressional campaign leaders are miffed because of his failure to produce the $100,000 he promised them.

They attribute a number of close House losses to this. These politicians are convinced that if this money had been forthcoming from Jackson, some of these seats would have been won.

Representative George McGovern (D., S. D.), who almost deserved by the second of my correspondents, this too is nonverbal in its origins. Experienced physicians observe this nuisance disturbance in the virginal and the chaste.

The husband's assumption that his wife's difficulties are proof positive of infidelity is as unwarranted as it is unkind.

Like the wife of the husband with Reiter's Disease, he is the victim of misinformation if not malicious mischief.

Let me be more specific. There is a type of nongonococcal urethritis that is being encountered with increasing frequency by observant physicians. It is called Reiter's Disease and is, quite likely, a type of allergy that has nothing whatsoever to do with venereal infection.

Much remains to be learned about Reiter's Disease but the fact that it is nonvenereal in its origins has been established beyond a doubt.

If the husband of the first of my correspondents is a victim of Reiter's Disease, the assumption that he has been unfaithful is as baseless as it is cruel.

The Nation's Press

FROM SERVANT TO SLAVE-MASTER
(Christian Economics)

In primitive times, men fought with their stout clubs to preserve the lives of themselves and their families and such property as they possessed. With the passage of thousands of years they learned that they could protect themselves more effectively by combining their efforts. Eventually, courts were established, judges appointed and policemen trained in the art of protecting life and property.

In the beginning, this was the sole purpose of government. Men discovered that by this form of organization their lives and their property would be more secure and they would have more time to devote to the creations of wealth. The business of government was to restrain men from injuring others or seizing their property. All the other functions of society were left to individual initiative and to such voluntary cooperative efforts as men chose to establish.

Through the centuries, unfortunately, government expanded. Strong men found that they could use it to exploit their fellows and so advance their own interests. They discovered that government could be used as a means of securing special privilege for those who could influence or wield its power. Finally, government gained enough power and enlargement of its functions to begin distribution and enlargement of its functions to begin distribution of wealth created by members of the community.

Strong groups obtained special privileges in great variety. As long as only a few exercised such privileges and were in position to exploit their fellows, the brake upon the advancement of civilization was not so apparent, but when the practice became more general so that many groups secured such legislation giving them one advantage or another, the burden upon society became heavier and heavier.

Some of the ways in which this is done are tariffs, subsidies, legalized featherbedding, the payment of money for work not done, pensions, unnecessary government jobs, unwarranted appropriations for private interests, all the intricate ways in which bureaucrats and those who support them find means of feeding from the public trough.

In primitive times men were so busy protecting their lives and their property that they had little time to produce abundantly and there was little incentive to do so for they knew they would most certainly be despoiled. During the days when government was limited to the functions of preserving life and property and punishing those who injured others, men were free to use their ingenuity and time to make the things they needed and wanted and to build civilization.

As government intervention grew, however, we reached the point where government itself became the predator and men now know for a certainty that a large part of the wealth they create will be seized by government. In many parts of the world, moreover, their lives and liberties are no longer secure. Lacking incentive to produce, they are driven as slaves.

It thus appears that men could accomplish but little until they instituted government among themselves. As the latter grew and expanded they found themselves faced with possibly a greater danger from enslavement by the very government they themselves had established. Many attempts have been made to find a happy mean between enough government to protect life and property on the one hand and too much government with its suppression of life and seizure of property on the other.

Our success in building a civilization wherein men may be free, self-governing and prosperous depends upon our ability to discover a political framework which will enable us to have enough government but not too much. One of the most successful attempts ever made to achieve this happy mean was set up by the Founding Fathers of our country when they established the federal Constitution.

To be sure, life is more complicated now than it was then, but if our government had continued to make every man secure in his right to enjoy the fruits of his labor, it surely is not beyond the wit and capacity of men to set up voluntary institutions to deal with the increasing complexity of life. Voluntary organizations are much more flexible and much more capable of dealing with most of the problems encountered as populations increase and civilization becomes more complex than are scheming politicians who seek

Spaghetti School Set For Tourists

By HENRY McEMORE

ROME — A young Italian of my acquaintance soon will add to Rome's already impressive educational facilities.

Before the end of the month he expects to open the doors of his classes at which foreigners will be taught the proper way to eat spaghetti.

There will be a fast course of one day for tourists who are in Rome for a short stay, and one of two weeks for visitors whose time in Italy is not so limited.

The one-day course will cost 3,000 lire (about $3) if the pupil learns from watching an instructor, and 4,000 lira if he learns by participation.

Naturally (the founder explained), the one-day pupil will be guaranteed nothing, for in such a short period only the rudiments of proper spaghetti eating can be taught.

The pupil will get no refund if he spills sauce all over himself, or finishes the day of study unable to eat the stuff without first cutting it up with a knife.

The school will, however, make it as easy for the pupil as possible. Clam sauce, which is far less messy than tomato, will be used by participating pupils and arrangements by which dry cleaning establishments will offer a discount are almost completed.

The two-week, or "University" course, will cover the entire field of spaghetti eating. Napkin-tucking will be taught, as will on-the-spot removing. Advanced fork-whirling will come in the last week, and students will be graded on noodle-know-how and Parmesan sprinkling. And there will be homework.

Post-graduate work in pizza will also be available.

I have paid my tuition fees and will enter with the first class in the long, or "University" course. I believe I will do well, and I even have dreams of making the valedictory address, or at least graduating Summa Cum Pasta.

On many earlier visits to Italy I have managed to master a great many of the fine points of spaghetti eating. Occasionally I have to inhale quickly to gather in flying strands, or resort to flick-snipping bites, but not often.

more power and the cohorts of bureaucrats which they gather around them in ever increasing numbers.

So, it has developed with the passage of time that the government which men instituted to give them freedom to achieve abundance has become the greatest obstacle with which they must contend in the effort to preserve their freedom and to create and enjoy a high standard of living. Right now, the greatest need before us is to demobilize government, restrict its functions and reduce its power. Let us use the power our forefathers bequeathed to us to deprive our government of all right of sizing the wealth of some and giving it to others. By so doing, we will preserve our right to remain free and self-governing while we devote our energy to achieving a much higher material cultural and spiritual well-being.

News Around The World In Pictures

PORTABLE UNDERPASS—Roads on the half-shell are being served up to Illinois motorists. These galvanized steel tunnels, designed by the state highway department and built by U. S. Steel, will soon carry traffic under Interstate Highway 74, near Morton. The tunnels will have 14-foot concrete roadways with pedestrian walkways. They'll be finished in 3-4 weeks, compared with three months or more for conventional construction.

FROM ROADWAY TO ROSEWAY—The driver who slammed his car into rose bushes at 35 mph doesn't have anything against flowers. It was just part of a safety test on the Wilbur Cross Parkway near Union, Conn. The bushes were planted as prospective safety barriers in 1955. Now almost mature, they're being tested to see how well they'll withstand the impact of an auto at high speed.

A SAFETY BONUS—A reflective red band with gold letters on a New York postal truck glows brightly in headlights, a new scheme to reduce accidents involving the trucks. The Post Office Department's accident rate dropped to less than three mishaps for every 100,000 miles driven after the new colors were adopted.

BRIGHT IDEA—Red, white and blue is the patriotic color scheme for the new U.S. postal trucks by day and a safe one at night. The red band through the middle of the truck (with "U.S. Mail" and numerals) is made of reflective material that is brightly visible in the glow of headlights. The Post Office Department, which operates the largest fleet of trucks in the world, reported a drop in its accident rate with the new system.

BARGAIN—Auctioneer rests her nose on an antique stand she purchased in Galena, Ill. She uses both hands to clutch the find as auctioneer gavels another bargain.

TIRE POWER—Balanced individuals quake at this sight—over 50 old tires stacked in a dealer's lot in Franceville, Ind. Attendant Bob Gutwein gazes at the precarious stack.

HE'S A PET'S PET—Perhaps this picture demonstrates the ability of Brazilian capuchin monkeys to win friends and influence Chihuahua puppies. Anyway Jolo the monk has a firm grip on Elmer the pup. They're both 5 weeks old and owned by Mrs. Tressie Pedersen of Pacifica, Calif.

INTERCONTINENTAL—Japanese singer-dancer Misaho Kamiyo is in fine shape for another East-meets-West routine in Tokyo. The 23-year-old will tour Europe with a dancing team this winter.

HAIR-DRYING BREAKTHROUGH—As important to the ladies as the four-minute mile was to men is the four-minute hair dryer, demonstrated in San Francisco. Beautician Don Mills introduced the unit, called the Jetstream Dryer. It has 12 warm air tubes attached to the rollers on which the hair is wound to dry it from the inside out.

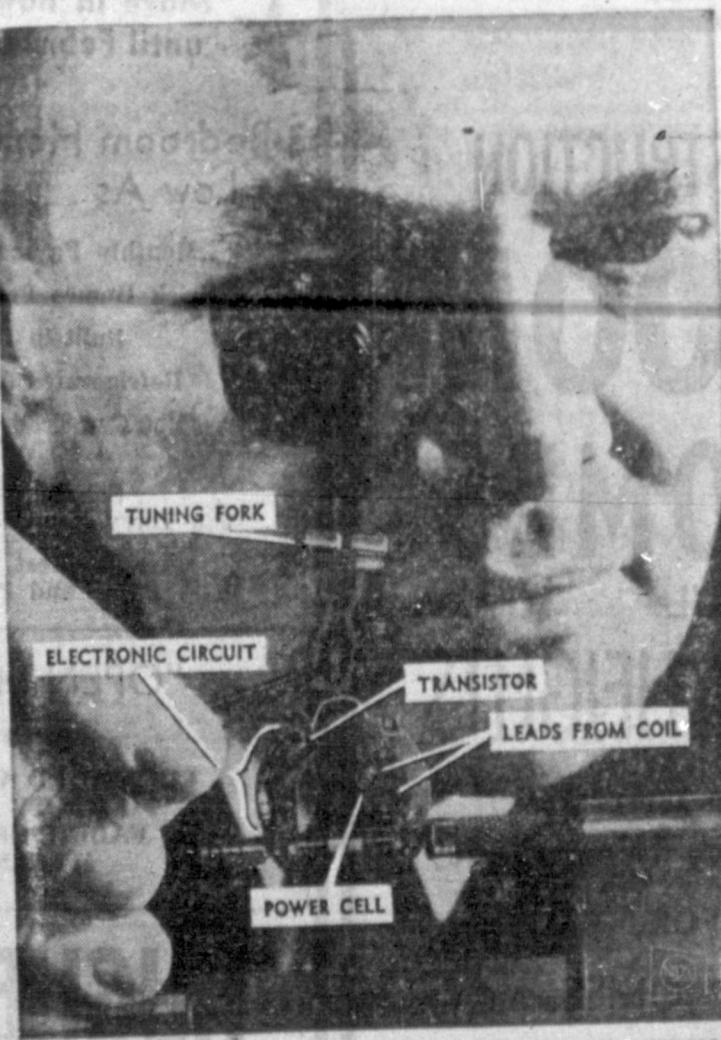

BUT I CAN'T BRUSH AFTER EVERY MEAL!—Toothbrush routine is worked into act with 2,000-pound pilot whale at Marineland, Fla. An example to the nation's children, the whale gets his teeth brushed five times a day.

CLING—Temple pieces are eliminated in these new glasses called Cling. They're held on by "soft comblike projections that slip gently into the folds of the eyelid."

AN HONOR—Indian leader Mahatma Gandhi is honored in this latest U.S. "Champion of Liberty" postage stamp. It will be placed on sale in Washington, D.C., Jan. 26.

THE HUMMING WRIST WATCH—The mainspring and other innards of watches for hundreds of years are replaced with tuning fork, transistor and electronic circuitry in a new electric wrist watch developed by Bulova. The fork, timekeeping heart of the watch, emits a faint hum instead of the familiar tick. A tiny power cell runs the watch for a year and can be replaced easily. The watch is manufactured in Jackson Heights, N.Y.

JET UMBRELLA—An innovation on the flight test line at Chance Vought Aircraft's plant in Dallas is this umbrella for Crusader jet cockpits. It is designed to protect the pilot from the Texas sun until the plane's air conditioning unit is working. The umbrella is mounted on a mobile dolly and is easily moved after use.

Large Front Yards On Way Out;
Privacy, Usable Space Is Reason

NEW YORK (UPI) — A sweeping expanse of velvety green lawn may be fine for the man with extensive property and a full-time gardener but for the average homeowner the traditional front yard is on its way out.

Many authorities on community planning believe the front yard yields the homeowner too little in terms of usable space or privacy for the expense and work involved.

Victor Gruen, the well-known planner and architect, feels land planning is as important to the homeowner as it is to a city planning commission which is redesigning a downtown section. And he feels one of the most challenging problems facing the homeowner is the task of making the most of the front yard.

Gruen urges homeowners to work for repeal of outmoded regulations which, he says, may make it a pleasure to walk down a residential street, but at the same time "conspire to deprive the homeowner of maximum utilization of his property and increase his costs."

Mandatory setback regulations which require that a house be built a minimum distance from the street; prohibitions against fences of more than a prescribed height — usually three to four feet — and regulations specifying a larger-than-necessary lot size make minimum utilization of property difficult and make home-owning more expensive than need be, Gruen says.

GROOM (Sp) — The two-week long Stewardship revival in the Groom Methodist Church was concluded last Sunday.

Visiting speakers and the congregation's expression of further dedication highlighted the meetings.

Imaginative land planning, he says, can treat a small lot so effectively that it is the equal of a lot twice its size. "A well planned 5,000 square foot lot can give greater satisfaction than a badly planned 8,000 square foot lot, and it will cut land costs 30 to 40 per cent," he said. "Seize it no substitute for imagination and planning."

Episcopal
Bishops Hit
Coke Jackpot

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — The soft drink machine went haywire at St. Mathew's Episcopal Cathedral this week and it's getting better all the time.

Dignified church officials attending the House of Bishops conference got quite a kick out of the mixed-up machine. The first day, for example, it was kicking out two bottles for the price of one.

The next day the score was better — three for one. And Thursday, it really went off the deep end, sending four bottles, clanking down one after another.

"Hey, the odds here are better than at Las Vegas," one stately bishop remarked with a sly grin.

Britain's Queen
Marks Anniversary

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip are spending their wedding anniversary this weekend quietly in the country with old friends.

Thirteen years ago Sunday, all the pomp and pageantry medieval England, then-Prince Elizabeth and the newly-dubbed Duke of Edinburgh were married in Westminster Abbey.

They had their ups and downs. At one point five years ago, the were rumors that the royal marriage was on the rocks. But peace sources said Saturday that life of Elizabeth and Philip had developed a new serenity since the birth of their third child, Prince Andrew, last February.

"What a difference that bonny infant has made around the house," said a friend of the family.
