

Republican 'Good Faith' Is Queried

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic National Chairman Henry M. Jackson today questioned the good faith of the Republican National Committee in seeking recounts and fraud investigations of presidential balloting in a number of states.

—Delay through "dilatatory proceedings" the certification of electoral votes from enough states to reduce Sen. John F. Kennedy's total below the necessary 269.

—By publicizing allegations of fraud, create a public impression that Kennedy did not win and that "a real cloud has been cast on his right to assume the presidency."

The second of these efforts, Jackson said, would provide the Republicans with campaign ammunition for future use.

He made these statements to newsmen in commenting on GOP National Chairman Thruston B. Morton's review Thursday of Republican checking of the presidential election in several states.

Morton said there had been "shocking irregularities and fraud in this election which constitute a national disgrace." He named Illinois, Missouri, Texas, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New Mexico and Nevada as states where inquiries were being conducted.

Jackson told reporters that the GOP appeared to be trying to do either or both of these:

Pope, Anglican Primate In History Setting Talk

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The primate of the Anglican Church of England and the Roman Catholic Pope held an unprecedented 35-minute meeting today which was described officially as "a notable event in the history of church relations."

Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury, conversed with Pope John XXIII in the sunny papal library, the first meeting between the spiritual leaders of the two churches and the first between an archbishop of Canterbury and a Pope since the Reformation more than 400 years ago.

A communique issued by the Church of England information office, agreed to by the Vatican, said the meeting "was marked by a happy spirit of cordiality and sympathy such as befitted a notable event in the history of church relations."

But the statement made clear that "it was never intended that this should be an occasion for consideration of particular problems or issues, and the meeting retained throughout the character of a visit of courtesy."

A separate Vatican statement, similar but not as long, spoke of the "cordiality" of the meeting and stressed that Dr. Fisher was a "distinguished" and "illustrious" visitor.

"His Holiness expressed to the archbishop his great desire, as he did on many other occasions, to increase brotherly feelings among all men and especially among all Christians," the Anglican statement said.

"The archbishop confirmed out of his own knowledge and experience how keen and widespread was the desire in many churches to act for the same purpose."

Thursday night, the 73-year-old archbishop said in a sermon that the "cold war" between the churches "is passing."

The archbishop, accompanied by two ecclesiastical aides and a British Diplomat, was received simply in the Vatican and introduced to Pope John by Msgr. Antonio Samore, secretary for extraordinary ecclesiastical affairs of the Vatican secretariat of state. Msgr. Samore acted as interpreter.

Asked if she and her friend would continue driving parents to school, she said "as long as anyone wants to go we will take them." She said there is no shortage of persons willing to risk their safety.

"People call up volunteering to do anything. They even want to go over there (to the school) in big groups. But that would be a terrible mistake. I'm afraid all hell might break loose."

Three elderly SOS women and Louisiana Civil Liberties League President George Dreyfous, and an elderly man, were forced to flee when someone identified them in the crowd outside the school.

Police rushed to their aid as Cheerleaders shouting "communists!" and "nigger lovers!" closed in. One woman spat at Dreyfous and missed. Officers ushered them out of the vicinity of their own safety.

The women also attacked New Orleans Times-Picayune reporter Jerry Hopkins. One woman claimed he hit her. Hopkins said he bumped into someone while taking notes in the crowd. He fled under a barrage of tall and weighed about 170 pounds.

Police were unable to prevent the stoning of the car or other incidents, including the kicking and pummeling of a college student and the chasing of newsmen, three elderly women and bystanders. The cheerleaders said were integrationists.

"I've never felt so much hatred directed toward me," said an SOS woman riding in the car with Mrs. Gabrielle and her 6-year-old daughter, Yolanda.

The woman, who asked that she and her friend driving the car not be identified, said the brick hit the window as the Gabrielles were going toward the apartment house with two plainclothes policemen.

Lumumba Captured; Trial Due

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Congolese Col. Joseph Mobutu said today that fugitive deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba has been captured and will be returned to Leopoldville to face trial.

Mobutu told reporters at his Camp Binda residence that Lumumba, who slipped out of Leopoldville past Mobutu's guards Sunday night, was captured Thursday night by a company of gendarmes at Port Franconi, 420 miles east of here.

Mobutu announced he has sent a plane there to pick up Lumumba and bring him back. He said Lumumba was being held at Port Franconi and not Lulua-bourg as earlier reported by his office.

President Joseph Kasavubu signed a warrant for Lumumba's arrest two months ago, but United Nations forces prevented it from being served on the deposed premier so long as he stayed in his residence here.

Kasavubu ordered Lumumba's arrest on grounds the premier has plunged the country into chaos and threatened civil strife.

Mobutu said there may be a delay in returning Lumumba here because the airfield at Port Franconi is believed too small for the DC3.

Mobutu said the gendarmes told him by telegram and by phone this morning that if the plane did not arrive by 2 p.m. today they would shoot Lumumba. Mobutu said he replied that he was the one giving the orders, and not to harm him.

"I formally ordered them not to harm Monsieur Lumumba," Mobutu said. "He is a Congolese as I am. I cannot judge him. He must defend himself before the courts."

However, Mobutu said Lumumba will be held without trial until the release of Alphonse Songo, former communications minister, and other anti-Lumumba legislators who were arrested by Lumumba's gendarmes at Stanleyville five weeks ago.

"If that makes me a criminal so much the worse," Mobutu said. "But I don't think it does."

Asked if she and her friend would continue driving parents to school, she said "as long as anyone wants to go we will take them." She said there is no shortage of persons willing to risk their safety.

Dixie Electors May Block JFK

CHICAGO (UPI) — A plan by several Southerners to rally 46 electoral votes and block Sen. John F. Kennedy's election as president was reported today by the Chicago Tribune.

The Tribune said its survey indicated the movement would not depend on a shift of Illinois' 27 electoral votes away from Kennedy but also would not necessarily send the 46 - vote bloc into Vice President Richard M. Nixon's camp.

The newspaper quoted "at least two prominent Southern electors" as indicating Nixon could win the bloc by modifying the Republican civil rights stand. One elector indicated Kennedy would snare the bloc by softening the Democratic civil rights plan, the Tribune said.

The paper did not specify expected sources of all 46 votes.

An added 46 votes would give Nixon 269 electoral college votes—the required minimum—while Kennedy's total would be cut to 268, the paper said.

The Tribune said it had learned details of the plan from J. Bruce

Henderson of Prairie, Ala., cotton and cattle farmer and one of six unpledged Alabama electors. The paper also quoted Earl Evans Jr., of Canton, Miss., a manufacturer and designated spokesman for eight unpledged Mississippi electors.

The paper said an alternative to election of either Nixon or Kennedy would be to "throw the election into the House of Representatives where some hope of electing a conservative like Sen. Harry Byrd, D-Va., or Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., is envisioned under the plan."

Henderson was quoted as saying the Southern leaders believe they "have somewhere around 30" electors who would agree to block Kennedy, including the 14 Mississippi and Alabama unpledged electors. Thirty-two electors beside the 14 unpledged would be needed.

Evans, the Tribune said, thought Byrd was the most frequently mentioned alternate, although there "is a possibility" the delegates might vote for Goldwater.

The Soviet radio's correspondent Gury Galperin, who made the "still alive" broadcast, said data aboard the sputnik means "the cosmos is safe, a man can be sent there."

The Tass news agency followed up the broadcast with many statements by leading scientists heralding the achievement and predicting early manned space flights.

"Now in its second day, the new Soviet spaceship, a star of the first importance, is racing in the expanses of the universe, brighter than all the stars—our pride and glory," Moscow radio said in a domestic broadcast.

"Somewhere at this moment the light blue screens of television sets are flickering, registering the data from the most accurate instruments."

But if the spaceship was still hurtling through space it was not heard in Western capitals or at Bedford.

Two Killed As Street Fighting Breaks Out Again In Caracas

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Government security forces clashed with armed street mobs in widely separated sections of Caracas Thursday night. Two persons were killed, boosting to 15 the death toll in a week of violence fanned by Communist and leftist opponents of President Romulo Betancourt.

One of the latest victims was a 16-year-old girl, an innocent onlooker.

The outbursts shattered the relative day-long calm in tense Caracas and appeared to be part of a carefully preconceived plan to maintain alarm, confusion and fear.

In both incidents, group of rioters formed suddenly and attacked troop patrols with firearms and stones. Troops retaliated by opening fire.

Guillermo Echenique, 16, was shot and killed by a stray bullet as she stood in the door of her home watching armed rioters battle national guardsmen in suburban Catia.

Bell Given Important Position

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President-elect John F. Kennedy pushed the formation of his administration over a major hurdle today with the selection of David E. Bell, Harvard University professor and former Truman aide, as budget director.

Barring a last-minute hitch, Kennedy was expected to announce Bell's important fiscal assignment shortly after the two men met at the home of the President-elect this morning.

Kennedy planned to fly to Palm Beach, Fla., with his 3-year-old daughter, Caroline, in the early afternoon. Another high-level appointment to the new administration will be announced in Florida by noon Saturday.

Selection of Bell for the budget job should break a log-jam of administration planning for 1961. Normally the budget director is appointed quickly after a national election so he can start working with the outgoing regime on budget.

Bedford, Mass. (UPI)—The Russian zoo satellite disappeared from its normal orbit today and U.S. Air Force space trackers here said radar sightings showed that the space craft was returned to earth, transferred to a new orbit or "burned up in the atmosphere."

Despite a Moscow radio announcement that the zoo space-ship was still "alive" at 5 a.m. EST, the national space surveillance control center reported that its more than 100 tracking stations could not hear the satellite's radio and could not locate it by radar.

An Atlantic missile range radar reported to the center that at 9:30 a.m. it tracked the "rocket body" of the spaceship but could find no sign of the spaceship itself in the sky nearby.

A spokesman said the two could be differentiated because the rocket body had been tumbling once every 2 1/2 seconds while the satellite itself had been stabilized.

Only a tumbling object was tracked when the radar checked on what should have been the two objects' 21st revolution around the globe.

The sighting at the Atlantic missile range radar was under what a spokesman described as "good conditions."

Peter Pan's Christmas Story

By Walt Disney

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — What Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller seems to be trying to tell Vice President Richard M. Nixon is that Nixon should go get himself a reputation. Perhaps Rockefeller thinks Nixon now should run for governor of California to prove his vote appeal. Nixon is not going to do that.

Go get yourself a reputation! That is what a champ says to a preliminary fighter who is so important as to ask for a title shot.

Rockefeller's announcement this week that he would be a 1962 candidate for re-election in New York was notable chiefly for what the governor said about Nixon. Rockefeller did not mention the vice president's name. It was not necessary.

What Rockefeller conveyed was that he did not recognize Nixon as the national leader of the Republican party. The governor, of course, is under no compulsion to recognize Nixon as his political leader nor as the national Republican leader. But the vice president's claim is substantial. Nixon has just emerged from an election in which he split the presidential vote right down the middle with his Democratic opponent.

To say that Nixon's associates were shocked if not surprised by Rockefeller's repudiation of their man's leadership probably would be to put it too mildly. The play of the Nixon camp, however, will be to play it coy unless Rockefeller roughly forces the issue. The showdown must come in time, of course, and it should be spectacular. Rockefeller is properly judged to be a statesman eager to be elected president. Nixon likewise. The Republican party may prove to be too small to contain two such lively ambitions. Rockefeller bowed out of this year's contest for the presidential nomination with a statement which by implication tagged Nixon as the choice of the party bosses whereas Rockefeller, still by implication, was the choice of the rank and file. Later at the convention delegates milled around in Chicago, Rockefeller yanked Nixon into line on Republican platform principles.

Next day, Rockefeller flew into Chicago, emerged from his airplane brandishing a copy of the platform proposals to which Nixon had agreed. Rockefeller said to the welcoming throng:

"If you think these do not represent my ideas, you're crazy." Nixon pushed the panic button when he brought about the huddle with Rockefeller which produced the Rockefeller Republican platform. If Nixon pushes that button again between now and the 1964 Republican national convention, the vice president probably will cease to be the party leader. The new leader could be Rockefeller of New York.

Making A Door 'Tree' Is Easy.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Interested in trying a do-it-yourself Christmas decoration. A colorful 8-foot Christmas tree for the door isn't too hard to make with a couple of yards of latex foam sheeting, some colored plastic sheeting and some rubber cement.

Cut a giant cone out of the latex foam sheeting 4 1/2 feet high and 2 feet wide at the base. Tack it to the door, pointed end up, as the "tree." Trim with criss-crossed strips of gold ribbons cut from a sheet of plastic. Glue to the foam rubber with the rubber cement and add a row of gold bows or little gold balls.

Cut a graceful urn from the gold plastic sheeting and tack in place directly below the tree.

Military Told To Stop Buying Foreign Liquor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department has ordered U.S. military exchanges overseas to stop buying Scotch, Canadian and other foreign liquors. It indicated, however, that it might permit the continued sale of foreign alcoholic beverages in officers' and non-commissioned officers' clubs at home and abroad "for consumption on the premises."

Foreign beverages have traditionally been bought by U.S. military stores abroad for sale at low, tax-free prices to servicemen and other eligible persons. They became a casualty, effective today, of President Eisenhower's program for slowing down the flow of dollars to foreign countries. Under the same program, Eisenhower has ordered the number of servicemen's dependents overseas to be reduced from 484,000 to 200,000 by July 1962.

Santa Back Home After Day In Pampa

Santa Claus is back at the North Pole today after making his first official contact with the children of Pampa and other Panhandle towns in a Santa Day observance yesterday afternoon.
Old St. Nick made his first appearance atop a fire department truck and then greeted the children personally on the Courthouse lawn. This followed the annual Santa Day parade which wound through downtown streets.
The Pampa Boat and Ski Club won first prize for entries in the parade. The Junior Red Cross took second and Boy Scout Troop 4 placed third. Davco Toyland won first prize in the commercial division.
Beginning Dec. 16 Pampa stores will start remaining open until 8 p.m. through Dec. 23, but will close at the usual time on Christmas Eve.

Puerto Rico Demands UN Investigation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Puerto Rican nationalists took advantage of the United Nations debate on colonialism today to demand an investigation of the island's relations with the United States.
A letter signed by Juan Mari Bras, Gabriel Vicente Maura and Vicente Jolanco, three leaders of the "Puerto Rico Pro Independence Movement," which is headquartered in New York, was sent to all delegations in the United Nations this morning.
The Puerto Ricans complained that "for the last 63 years the United States has kept Puerto Rico as a colonial possession of her own, subjecting the Puerto Rican people to her political, economic, financial and military power."
Although Washington informed the United Nations in 1953 that Puerto Rico had attained full self-government, the letter said, the conditions for independence had not been met.

Bell, an economist and professional expert on federal government, was not available immediately after the election. There remained some possibility that his active participation in the new administration might be delayed. In this case, Kennedy would have to name an interim liaison budget representative to start familiarizing himself with current planning of the bureau which plays a vital part in federal finances.
The first cabinet appointment, Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut as secretary of health, education and welfare, was announced Thursday by Kennedy on the windy, cold steps of his home in the Georgetown section of Washington.

Non Governmental Elite

Professor David B. Truman of Columbia University has come forward with an interesting and useful term. In his Political Science Quarterly contribution (December, 1959) entitled, "The American System in Crisis," he offers the phrase: "non-governmental elite."

We are not particularly impressed with his definition of his own term. But, nonetheless, we thoroughly appreciate the thought he originates even though he doesn't follow through to our satisfaction.

He says: "Those who occupy leading positions within the group, constituting the intervening structure of American Society are, in the technical and neutral sense of the term, elites. Being more influential, they are privileged; and, being privileged, they have, with few exceptions, a special state in the continuation of the political system on which their privileges rest."

Here we find Professor Truman grievously in error. For privilege does rest in government, but a privileged elite drawing its prerogatives from the "continuation of the political system on which their privileges rest" is not a non-governmental elite but a governmental elite.

The technical distinction which would emphasize that these persons are not drawing salaries directly from the taxpayers, but are able to maintain their sinecures simply BECAUSE taxes are being drawn from the taxpayers in some particular way, is a distinction without a difference.

We do think, however, that the professor is right in that there is in existence a non-governmental elite. And we would go further in believing that this elite is of ever greater importance than the professor says it is.

To quote him again: "Within that system, owing to peculiarities of the governmental scheme proper, the challenge to political maturity and sophistication is peculiarly the lot of those in positions of privilege in the structure of elites intervening between the government as such and the ordinary citizen. The capacity of that structure to respond appropriately is the crucial matter. We can demand and with considerable assurance expect vision and initiative from within the governmental sector. But we cannot confidently expect to see qualities of action governmentally unless they are supported from the ranks of the non-governmental elites by a broad, consensual perception of the threats to the system that the partially obscured in the responses to external events. Without that support the nation may survive, but the values embodied in its political system will be in constant jeopardy."

As we understand the above, the professor wants us to believe that government knows best, but that government is dependent, even in its superior knowledge, upon a firing area of elite, who while not directly in government, owe their positions of privilege to the government and hence are constrained to support it and render it perpetual.

Here we take issue at a number of points all at once. We deny positively that government contains or indeed can even offer evidence of vision and initiative, saving only as it plans to spend money it hasn't earned.

To presume there exists this kind of an elite within government is to mock at the true nature of man and his government. Government is a plundering, coercive agency. If men in government ever genius in any other framework of reference, we have yet to learn it.

But we do concur with the professor respecting the importance of the non-governmental elite although we do not find that elite though the professor says it ought to be.

We think the non-governmental elite consists of America's great entrepreneurs. And we do not mean the ones in business who continually run to Washington to get a tariff or a law passed or to pick up a government contract.

The great non-governmental elite of this nation are the men and women who hold the economy together, not because of a privileged position but in spite of the privileges of others. They are the productive geniuses on whom everything depends.

And we believe they most show their genius and are most inspiring as the elite they are when they refuse utterly to cooperate with the central monstrous agency of coercion, and make their own way, independently and unafraid.

We think this is a particularly noteworthy way of proceeding and we liked especially Davis' views as to the place of higher education in this country. He said: "Let me emphasize the fact that General Electric in particular — and I trust industry in general — does not look upon its contributions as out-and-out gifts. It considers them an investment."

"As for its dependence upon higher education, General Electric looks to higher education as a source of new knowledge — through research and teaching. It depends upon our colleges and universities for a continuing supply of educated manpower."

In previous years, G.E.'s employees have responded to this incentive program of support. More than $800,000 contributed by employees has been matched by gifts from the special fund set aside for that purpose. And Davis says that 104 other companies have now adopted similar fund-matching programs.

All of which brings us to a most pertinent point. Most of our readers know that we advocate voluntary and free educational institutions and strongly oppose any kind of educational program which

The Nation's Press

THE FARMER SAYS "NO"

Chicago Daily Tribune

If there is any clear mandate for Mr. Kennedy in the election returns, it is a negative one and it came from the farm belt. By decisively defeating him, the farmers showed what they think of his farm program, which calls for extreme regimentation and promises a fuzzy something called "parity of income."

The only states in the midwest which Mr. Kennedy carried are the four with large industrial areas which are traditionally Democratic and where a special effort was made, in this election, to get out the labor vote.

If religion played a part in the farm vote, it was not a decisive one. Other Democrats considered much more likely to win than Mr. Kennedy were defeated. Notable among these was Gov. Lovelace of Iowa. Mr. Kennedy's farm adviser who lost his race for the Senate to a Republican, Jack Miller. Two other Kennedy stalwarts, Governors Docking of Kansas and Freeman of Minnesota, ran for reelection and likewise lost to Republicans. Republicans captured the governorships in Iowa and South Dakota, one congressional seat in Iowa, and two in Kansas.

The few Democrats who did get elected in predominantly farm states—such as the candidates for governor in Indiana and Nebraska—were, perhaps significantly, unassociated with the Kennedy program. At any rate Mr. Kennedy's defeat in these states proves that whatever issues were involved, the farm program was not one of them.

Fortunately for the farmers (who would pay for it all), there is reason to hope that the program is not as close to Mr. Kennedy's heart as he made out during the campaign. It was handed to him, word for word, by the left wing National Farmers union. It was accepted because the Democrats were campaigning on an anti-Benson platform and it seemed to be about as anti-Benson as possible.

Until the campaign, Mr. Kennedy had said little about the farm problem. Indeed, until 1956, he supported the policies of Secretary Benson, who has tried to relax controls in the hope that they will eventually be abolished.

Because Mr. Nixon himself disowned Mr. Benson, the farmers had no chance to vote directly for or against the Benson policies. But their decisive rejection of the anti-Benson program leads to the hope that they are not ready for a nursemaid yet and this should offer a measure of satisfaction to Mr. Benson. The question now is whether Mr. Kennedy will respect the farmers' wishes.

is controlled and managed by the guns of government. Many who criticize our viewpoint admit that it is morally sound, but claim it to be impractical. They base their claim at times on the rather well believed thesis that education is just one of those things that costs more than would be provided voluntarily.

We believe that this assumption is in error. We believe that if aluminum, even of high schools, were brought up to realize that education costs money and that even though he has been provided that it represents an investment in them which should be paid back, many a graduate would want to turn around and repay the institution which assisted him thru his studies.

If young people were taught right from the beginning that education was costly, but that what ever the cost, the student could repay, we believe it entirely different attitude would develop, and soon.

G.E.'s incentive matching fund provides impetus toward that kind of thinking. Were it followed closely enough, we could find more and more self-reliance and reliance upon private and independent schools on the abandonment of the compulsive, politically dominated institutions.

Few there are who argue that government schools are better. They simply urge that to get the money, violence must be used.

G.E. is helping to prove that this theory is false.

Our reputation with Europeans has suffered badly from the conduct of repulsive civilian parasites which we rushed off to Germany, Italy and other European places after the second war.

The conduct of the occupation troops in Germany and Italy was humiliating, and the damage to our national "character" both in the British isles and on the continent was largely the penalty of their misdoing. Both officers and enlisted men were far below the standard of the fighting units which needed by communists and New Dealers at home, soon were close to mutiny in their clamor for demobilization. The press did a terrible job in this phase, refusing to tell the ghastly truth about undisciplined, uniformed tourists dumped on the beaten and helpless Germans and Italians.

It was a disgusting spectacle from which our "prestige" never has recovered. Most of these rable were imbued with a notion that they were conquerors whereas few of them had ever heard a shot fired in anger. Women of the conquered populations surrendered almost eagerly to some bum to get sugar, soap and cigarettes and advantages in living quarters for their relatives. It was a rotten American performance.

Generals Eisenhower and Clay cannot be compared with Pershing as managers of a victorious Military occupation. These fellows presided over the worst damage to our reputation among the people of Europe, but the White House earned terrible guilt, too, in permitting flagrant black markets in American currency, looted treasure and K.P.'s wares.

In Germany even yachts were lashed on the decks of American freighters and shipped home in the cigarette economy. Actually, the bad impression was created not by the combat soldiers but by the occupation waves, especially M.P.'s, and civilians and their families. The Europeans naturally thought they were typical Americans.

The words "bilious" and "biliousness" ought to be thrown out of our language. They're often used to describe conditions with which bile has nothing to do.

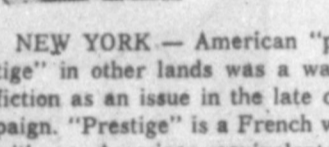

I must have a dozen or more letters on my desk requesting suggestions for the relief of "biliousness" and I'm quite sure that, in each instance, the writer's true complaint could be more accurately described as a feeling of being "blue" or "down-in-the-mouth."

Fair Enough

Battle of Prestige Works Both Ways

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — American "prestige" in other lands was a watery fiction as an issue in the late campaign. "Prestige" is a French word with no American equivalent, although senator Barry Goldwater tried to equate it with dignity and reputation.

In our true national character and personality as of 1920, the only important consideration among Americans was not what others thought of us, but what we thought of them. Frankly we did not think much of "them," although the French made a fine impression on our emotions by their bravery against invasion in 1914 and got fabulous returns from the services of Lafayette in our revolution. We did not examine his motives and many a thousand of American soldiers individually gave greater measure to France in '17 and '18 than Lafayette gave us. After all, he lived to go home unharmed.

The British and Germans were held to be our inferiors for reasons which are instantly clear to native Americans of that time. They were not sensible reasons, but they were sufficient to us. The Italians then stood very low in our scale. About 1912, Woodrow Wilson spoke ill of assorted breeds from the southeast of Europe and though he later inhaled his words in the Versailles process, not quite eating them, actually his disparagement of the Balkan and Italian peoples was a fair expression of our public opinion of them. Collectively.

For the Russians our sentiment was not quite hateful, but we vaguely resented episodes called "pogroms," a word beyond our own ken, conducted by the imperial government employing Cossacks. Russian people had no more guilt in these matters than we had. They were but recently released from serfdom and were mostly illiterate clods.

So it was not unreasonable of us to despise the opinions of us which foreigners held at that time and to measure matters by our opinion of them. One American could lick a dozen Germans or Englishmen — and so forth.

Actually, our two wars brought most peoples closer together. There was a great deal of intermarriage; and association of Americans with many peoples the world over has taught us and them the virtues and faults of all sides. The "foreigners" learned that we were not all pioneers or, say, rough riders, a mob of romantic enthusiasts whose battle record was exaggerated into something like the charge of the light brigade, though not as embarrassing. The combat soldiers on both sides in our civil war ranked high among military students, but they did not figure in our new popular reputation abroad. Instead, we brought about San Juan hill and the Philippines and the long series of horrible little fights with Indians on the plains.

Our reputation with Europeans has suffered badly from the conduct of repulsive civilian parasites which we rushed off to Germany, Italy and other European places after the second war.

The conduct of the occupation troops in Germany and Italy was humiliating, and the damage to our national "character" both in the British isles and on the continent was largely the penalty of their misdoing. Everybody's Money

By MERYLE STANLEY RUKESYER

President-elect Kennedy, as he prepares to take over the White House Jan. 20, faces conditions -- not theories. For example, a fact of life to be dealt with is the international pressure against the dollar and the foreign demand for gold.

This can't be handled by fancy words from Professor Seymour Harris, Keynesian economist, and Professor J. Kenneth Galbraith, a noted phrasemaker, both of Harvard, who were high in the ranks of the candidate's economic advisers. Facing market pressure against the dollar, the senator can get more practical counsel from his knowledgeable father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, who stayed conspicuously in the background until after the votes were counted. In the words of the advertising slogan for Sweet Caporal cigarettes, it is again timely to "Ask Dad — He Knows."

As a first step, psychological approaches are indicated. If the incoming administration can make any progress toward creating an image of financial prudence, it would allay current speculative nervousness. This calls for believable accent on balanced Federal budgets, and pragmatic money management. A symbolic short cut to this would be a dramatic dismissal of the Harvard Keynesian dreamers in favor of personalities who have demonstrated monetary soundness.

Of course, now that the campaign oratory is behind us, there must be a reappraisal of President Eisenhower's effect on creating a mood for long-term investment. What political critics disparaged as a tendency toward complacency and soothing syrup techniques was in reality a constructive contribution. By dint of personality and attitude of confidence which induced investors and industrial executives to make long-term commitments for capital expenditures (for factories and machinery) and for research projects. These creative developments promoted job availability.

Incidentally, the Eisenhower approach also psychologically delayed the critical eyeing of the dollar by foreigners. Besides psychological methods, it is desirable for the new Administration to pursue economically sound procedures. If this is done, the Administration will be successful, but in the process it will offend some of its widely publicized pressure group supporters.

The United States still has primacy in the industrial field, though its uniqueness has been challenged by the emergency of other nations in the free world whose industrial plants have been rebuilt with American economic aid. Now that other nations have equipment as modern or more modern than our own and now that they are emulating methods for promoting their own domestic market, they are in a better position than ever before to compete with the United States. For the first time the hourly wage rate is becoming of outstanding importance.

In the circumstances, the complaint of Dave McDonald, president of the Steel Union, to Sen. Kennedy about unemployment in the steel industry should be related to the union strategy which resulted in the settlement which widened the gap between U.S. and European wages. If men will forget the shibboleths and face realities, then there should be cooperation between the unions and management to take a new look at non-wage items that go into the cost sheet, including the impact of tax and social legislation, outmoded consent decrees and judicial precedents, and prejudices based on mass propaganda.

If the pressure on the dollar is to be reversed, the post-war adventure of carrying the world on the shoulders of American taxpayers must stop. Six per cent of the world's population in our land can't permanently support others. Immediately our NATO allies should assume a fair share of the cost of collective security.

If we are to achieve in the 1960s the quickened tempo of national economic growth to which Kennedy aspires, then it is important to create a climate of confidence conducive to investment. The national economy is dragging because the support from pent-up war and post-war demand has been met. We are now producing primarily for current consumption, and the hope of an approach to full employment depends on creating new products and services — on innovation. This can be fostered by stressing the traditional American system of rewards and incentives. It can't be done through promoting class warfare, punitive taxation, or excessive overhead costs resulting from socialization.

German Goods Banned At PX

By HENRY McEMORE

MUNICH, GERMANY — "There's a bright side to everything," the American bird Colonel said, "even to Ike's order cutting out the sale of German stuff in the PX's over here."

The Colonel was referring to the cancellation of about $24,000,000 worth of German goods as part of the scheme to preserve the flow of gold from the United States.

From now on, the PX's will be stocked mainly with American merchandise. This means goodbye to bargains in foreign cameras, binoculars, sweaters, sports equipment, phonographs, radios, china, silver and just about everything else one can name.

Wouldn't this be a blow to the GI and his officers, the Colonel was asked?

"It surely will," he said. "We'll miss those good buys but, as I said, there's a cheerful side to it."

Would he mind explaining this silver lining, for it was hard to believe that the Colonel was thinking only of America's preserving its gold.

"Not a bit," he said, "and I'll start with cuckoo clocks, which will be on the forbidden list, and of which at least a hundred million have been shipped home by Army personnel. I have read that there is such a thing as a country's having too many imported cuckoo clocks — that there eventually comes a day when a country, no matter how big it is, begins to sink under the weight of the pendulums and birds."

Did the Colonel think that America had reached that danger point?

"Very nearly," the Colonel answered. "I hear that tides have been higher than usual in Florida, for example, and it could well be that the vast number of cuckoo clocks between Jacksonville and Key West is the reason."

Were there other facets to the cheerful side?

"Plenty of them. Leather pants is one. You know. Lederhosen — those shorts with suspensenders that Germans wear. Nine-tenths of the Americans over here have bought them. No one knows why, unless they plan to celebrate their return home with a costume party. They look fine and natural on Germans, these pants, but on Americans they are just short of gruesome. Off-but, if followed, it will run athwart many economic illusions. If Kennedy decided to test his reputation against events at home and abroad, his single-minded devotion to the national interest might indeed alienate Walter P. Reuther, Professors Galbraith Harris, and Schlesinger, and other theorists who preach in the cult of financing the nation by soaking the rich.

Prudent economics embrace the principles which appeal to the common sense of mankind, and cause people to behave in a manner that promotes the objectives of constructive leaders.

(Mr. Rukesyer will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self-addressed envelopes should be sent in care of this newspaper. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

hand, I'd say that an American major, a trifle short and with knobby, turned-in knees, and wearing lederhosen, is just about the saddest sight a man will ever see."

The Colonel said the government edict would have a drastic effect on the sale to Americans of those green Bavarian suits.

"I can't say that they look worse on us than lederhosen," he said, "but there isn't much to choose. In them, with their belted backs and braids, we look like sad, defrocked burgomasters, or deserters from the army of a mythical and bankrupt kingdom."

I know what the Colonel means about the Bavarian suits. I bought one in Berchtesgaden three or four years ago — in a store which did not have a full-length mirror. Dressed in it, I wouldn't be allowed at a clown's convention. I never tried lederhosen. There is a limit to a man's madness. This man's, anyway.

In 1823, President James Monroe in his annual message to Congress presented the Monroe Doctrine to the world.

In 1927, Henry Ford unveiled his model A Ford, successor to the model T.

In 1940, a self-sustaining nuclear chain reaction was demonstrated for the first time by scientists working in great secrecy below the stands at the University of Chicago's Stagg Field.

In 1952, President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower arrived in Korea keeping a campaign promise to visit there in hopes of ending hostilities.

A thought for today: Greek philosopher Aristotle said, "Even when laws have been written down, they ought not always to remain unaltered."

It's Time To Hunt Yule Baubles To Add Gaiety To Christmas Meals

BY KAY SHERWOOD
Staff Correspondent

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Back of the sparkle and festivity at my house at Christmas-time lies a hard scramble in the dusty corners of the attic or basement to unearth boxes of holiday trappings.

Each year after such a scramble I marvel at the confidence I had in my ability to remember which box contains what trinket. Blowing dust from the cardboard, the black printing tells me this box contained canned soup. But does it now hold the platter I'm searching for? Ah, me, why didn't I mark it last January?

Well, this is another year and resolve is firm to improve packing habits. My felt-tipped marker flowing with black ink will be clutched in hand.

I usually dig out Christmas things piecemeal. Holiday dishes which will be used all month emerge first (after much rummaging) with house decorations, tree ornaments and lights following later.

Inexpensive dishes and linens with Christmassy motifs are fun to use with a young family. Milk poured from a Santa Claus pitcher into a Santa Claus mug tastes specially good. Maybe a brightly printed holiday towel does lighten dish-drying chores.

To avoid a confusing jumble, try to clear shelf space for special dishes before you unpack them. In my case, this means packing away some of the everyday glassware and mugs to make room for gayer ware. All unpacked Christmas dishes, glasses and serving pieces should be washed before shelving.

New tableware also will need washing to remove particles of dust and packing materials. A well-lathered brush helps rout the dirt from crevices or curlicues. Much of this inexpensive holiday tableware is prone to chip. A folded dishcloth in the bottom of the dishpan will help prevent this.

As boxes are unpacked, nest smaller ones into larger cartons. Discard flimsy boxes, those which are damaged or excessively dirty. Ask your grocer for strong clean corrugated boxes. For delicate knickknacks and ornaments, partitioned boxes such as those used to ship jars of food or bottles of liquid offer real protection against breakage.

Unpack decorations with loving care and a damp sponge or cloth to wipe off dust. Some may need soap and water washing to regain last year's sparkle. Wear a rubber glove on one hand to get a better grip on delicate pieces such as the bubble thin glass balls.

If pearls or glitter stones have come loose from jewel-encrusted baubles, I reglue them with glue or nail polish applied with a toothpick. If colored foil ornaments show tears or frayed edges, mend them with cellophane tape or trim rough edges with pinking shears.

Figurines or carvings, artificial wreaths or dried pine cone ornaments can be dusted quite effectively with the vacuum cleaner brush. Vinyl ribbons for outdoor use and vinyl roping for garlands may be washed in suds and left to drip dry over the shower rod.

Dear Abby... Never Mind Title As Long As He Talks!

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband hasn't used my first name for 13 years. He calls me "Mama." He's a good provider, a good father, to the children, doesn't drink or go out on me, but this one fault is getting me down. He calls me "Mama" all the time. Even in front of company. I feel more like a mother to him than a wife. I've tried to tell him, but it doesn't help. Please let me know how I can handle this, as it is beginning to affect our marriage.

"MAMA" — It's easier to change your attitude than to change your husband's habits. There's nothing wrong with being called "Mama." It's a "title" that outranks Darling, Sweetheart... or even your first name. It's his way of telling you what a wonderful "Mama" you are to his children. Enjoy it, and call him "Daddy."

Getting married? For Abby's new pamphlet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper. She answers ALL letters.

The Mature Parent Father's Irresponsibility Will Soon Be Apparent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: Five years ago when my husband left me for another woman, I took an apartment with my sister who looks after my two boys while I work.

What worries me is the bad example their father is giving them. He criticizes me whenever he sees them so that I have trouble with them afterwards. Though he's months behind with his support money, he buys them expensive presents instead of the practical things they need.

The knowledge that I gave them this irresponsible man for a father is an endless sorrow to me.

ANSWER: Did you plan to give them an irresponsible father? On your wedding day did you say to yourself: "Now I am making an arrangement to expose my unborn children to a broken home, to confusions in discipline and loyalties, to trust where trust is not deserved?"

Of course you didn't. You married your husband in the belief that you were going to give your

Catholic Bishops Attack Filmland's Morals Code

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Church Editor

Remember when movies were considered family entertainment. Hollywood had a self-enforced moral code in those days, and its products, while often banal, were seldom blatantly indecent.

You could take the kids to the neighborhood theater without much fear that they'd be exposed to promiscuity, perversion and psychopathic brutality.

A committee of Catholic bishops called attention this week to a fact that has long been obvious to outraged parents: Hollywood's moral code has gone into the wastebasket.

Today, unless you are extremely careful in choosing the films you patronize, you find yourself looking at stuff that should shock the sensibilities of a reasonably broad-minded adult, let along an impressionable child.

Tut-tutting by religious leaders will not stem this deluge of filth. But there is one tactic that church members can use effectively to fight dirty movies. It is by starting away from them.

Church leaders don't like the term "boycott" because it has acquired controversial connotations. They prefer to speak of "withholding patronage" from morally objectionable films.

But the distinction between a boycott and a patronage-withholding-campaign will not be readily apparent on a movie exhibitor's account book.

"A call to action" on this front was sounded last Tuesday by the bishops' committee which represents the U. S. Catholic hierarchy in matters involving mass entertainment.

The bishops called on 40 million an unimpeachable national protest—American Catholics to "Support an unimpeachable national protest" against films which glorify adultery and prostitution or otherwise flout the "basic Judeo-Christian norms of decency."

They made it quite clear that they were talking about an economic, not a verbal, protest.

To date, major Protestant bodies have been unwilling to do what the Catholic Legion of Decency demands—pass judgement on the moral-acceptability of specific movies. They feel that this is a type of "censorship" contrary to Protestant tradition, and that it may result in publicizing rather than suppressing attendance at objectionable films.

But some large Protestant denominations, including the 10-million member Methodist church, are promoting through their educational programs the idea that each church member has a moral responsibility to choose carefully the movies he patronizes - or lets his children see.

"Any Christian who helps to make indecent movies profitable, by paying his money to see them, is a partner to the offense against morality committed by the producers and exhibitors of such films," said the Rev. Dr. Caradine R. Hooton, head of the Methodist division of temperance and general welfare.

Christmas Time Is A Good Time To Reacquaint One's Self With Bible

NEW YORK (NEA) — The Christmas season is a good time for people to get reacquainted with their Bible. Most people own a copy, but quite a few have it only for show and not to know. If possible, read the story of the Nativity to a child. Surely, the child will love it and it just may rekindle a flame in your heart for the Book.

James Z. Nettinga, doctor of theology and secretary of the American Bible Society, reminds us that the Bible is the most wonderful book ever written.

"It is full of beautiful songs," says Dr. Nettinga, "like the 23rd Psalm; romantic poetry, like the Song of Solomon; fascinating stories, like the tender story of Ruth and her mother-in-law, Naomi; good, sound how-to-do-it directions for living a better life, like the Sermon on the Mount. Yet, foolishly, many of us keep our Bibles carefully put away somewhere—and seldom, if ever, open them."

"Maybe," continues Dr. Nettinga, "we neglect this wonderful book because we think it is out-of-date, or too hard to understand. This is nonsense!

"The Bible is really a whole library in one volume—66 books by many different writers. They are all worth reading, not just once but many times over.

"Every book is included because it was believed to be important and God-inspired by the devout and learned men who put our Bible together. But this does not mean that all the books are equally understandable and enjoyable to a person who is just beginning to read them. Some of them are tough going, even for professors in theological seminaries.

"Fortunately," Dr. Nettinga says,

Two Topics Announced By Dr. Carver At Central Baptist Foreign Mission Fund Drive Begins Sunday

The annual special offering for foreign missions will be started Sunday morning in the Central Baptist Church. "God's Global Goal" will be the subject of the message to be delivered by the pastor, the Rev. T. O. Upshaw, in the morning service at 11 o'clock.

Those young people who have dedicated their lives to religious service will be given special recognition. The church choir, under the direction of Hugh Sanders, will begin the service with the hymn "The Whole World for Jesus."

The pastor will continue his Sunday evening sermon series with a sermon entitled "The Smitten Rock." He is preaching under the general title of "God's Mighty Hand" as he follows the journeys of the children of Israel from bondage to the promised land.

Sunday School will begin at 9:45 a.m. Training union will convene at 6 p.m.

The brotherhood of the church will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday for the regular monthly meeting. Curtis Liles is brotherhood president.

Wednesday at 7 p.m. the Sunbeams, GAs, RAs, YWAs, and the Sunday School officers and teachers will meet. The mid-week service and monthly church business meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Sanctuary Choir rehearsal will be at 8:45 p.m.

The annual offering for foreign missions is begun on the Sunday following the Woman's Missionary Union week of prayer for foreign missions. It is held open throughout the month of December for those who desire to make an offering. It is commonly known as the Lottie Moon Christmas Offering in honor of a pioneer Southern Baptist missionary to China Miss Lottie Moon.

Mrs. Jack Cullison, WMU president, and Mrs. L. Tyson have prepared a special display for the church auditorium focusing attention upon mission needs around the world. The display features a world globe revolving in a beam of light against a background of blue.

Scientists To Underscore God's Supremacy

The completeness and supremacy of God will be underscored at Christian Science church services this Sunday.

Highlighting the Lesson-Sermon "God the Only Cause and Creator" is the Golden Text from Psalms (146:5-6): "Happy is he that hath the God of Jacob for his help, whose hope is in the Lord his God: which made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that therein is which keep the truth for ever."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following will be read: "All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God" (275:14-15).

Selections from the Bible will include: "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created" (Rev. 4:11).

Pentecostal Revival Now Under Way

Evangelist Wayne McDaniel of Bossier City, La., is currently conducting a revival in the Pentecostal Church here.

The pastor, Nelson Frenchman, in announcing the revival, said the public is invited to attend.

Sunday School is at 9:45 a.m. worship service at 11 a.m., and the evening service is at 7:30 o'clock.

Church To Mark 'Women's Day'

Mrs. Frederick's topic will be "Be My Witness." Women of the church will be in charge of the services which start at 10:40 a.m.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Rev. Earl Maddux

AND GOD SAID

I would like to speak to you today on the power of God. If you will turn with me in your Bibles to Genesis, Chapter One, beginning with the first verse. "In the beginning God created the Heavens and the earth", we read here that in the beginning God Created the Heavens and the earth.

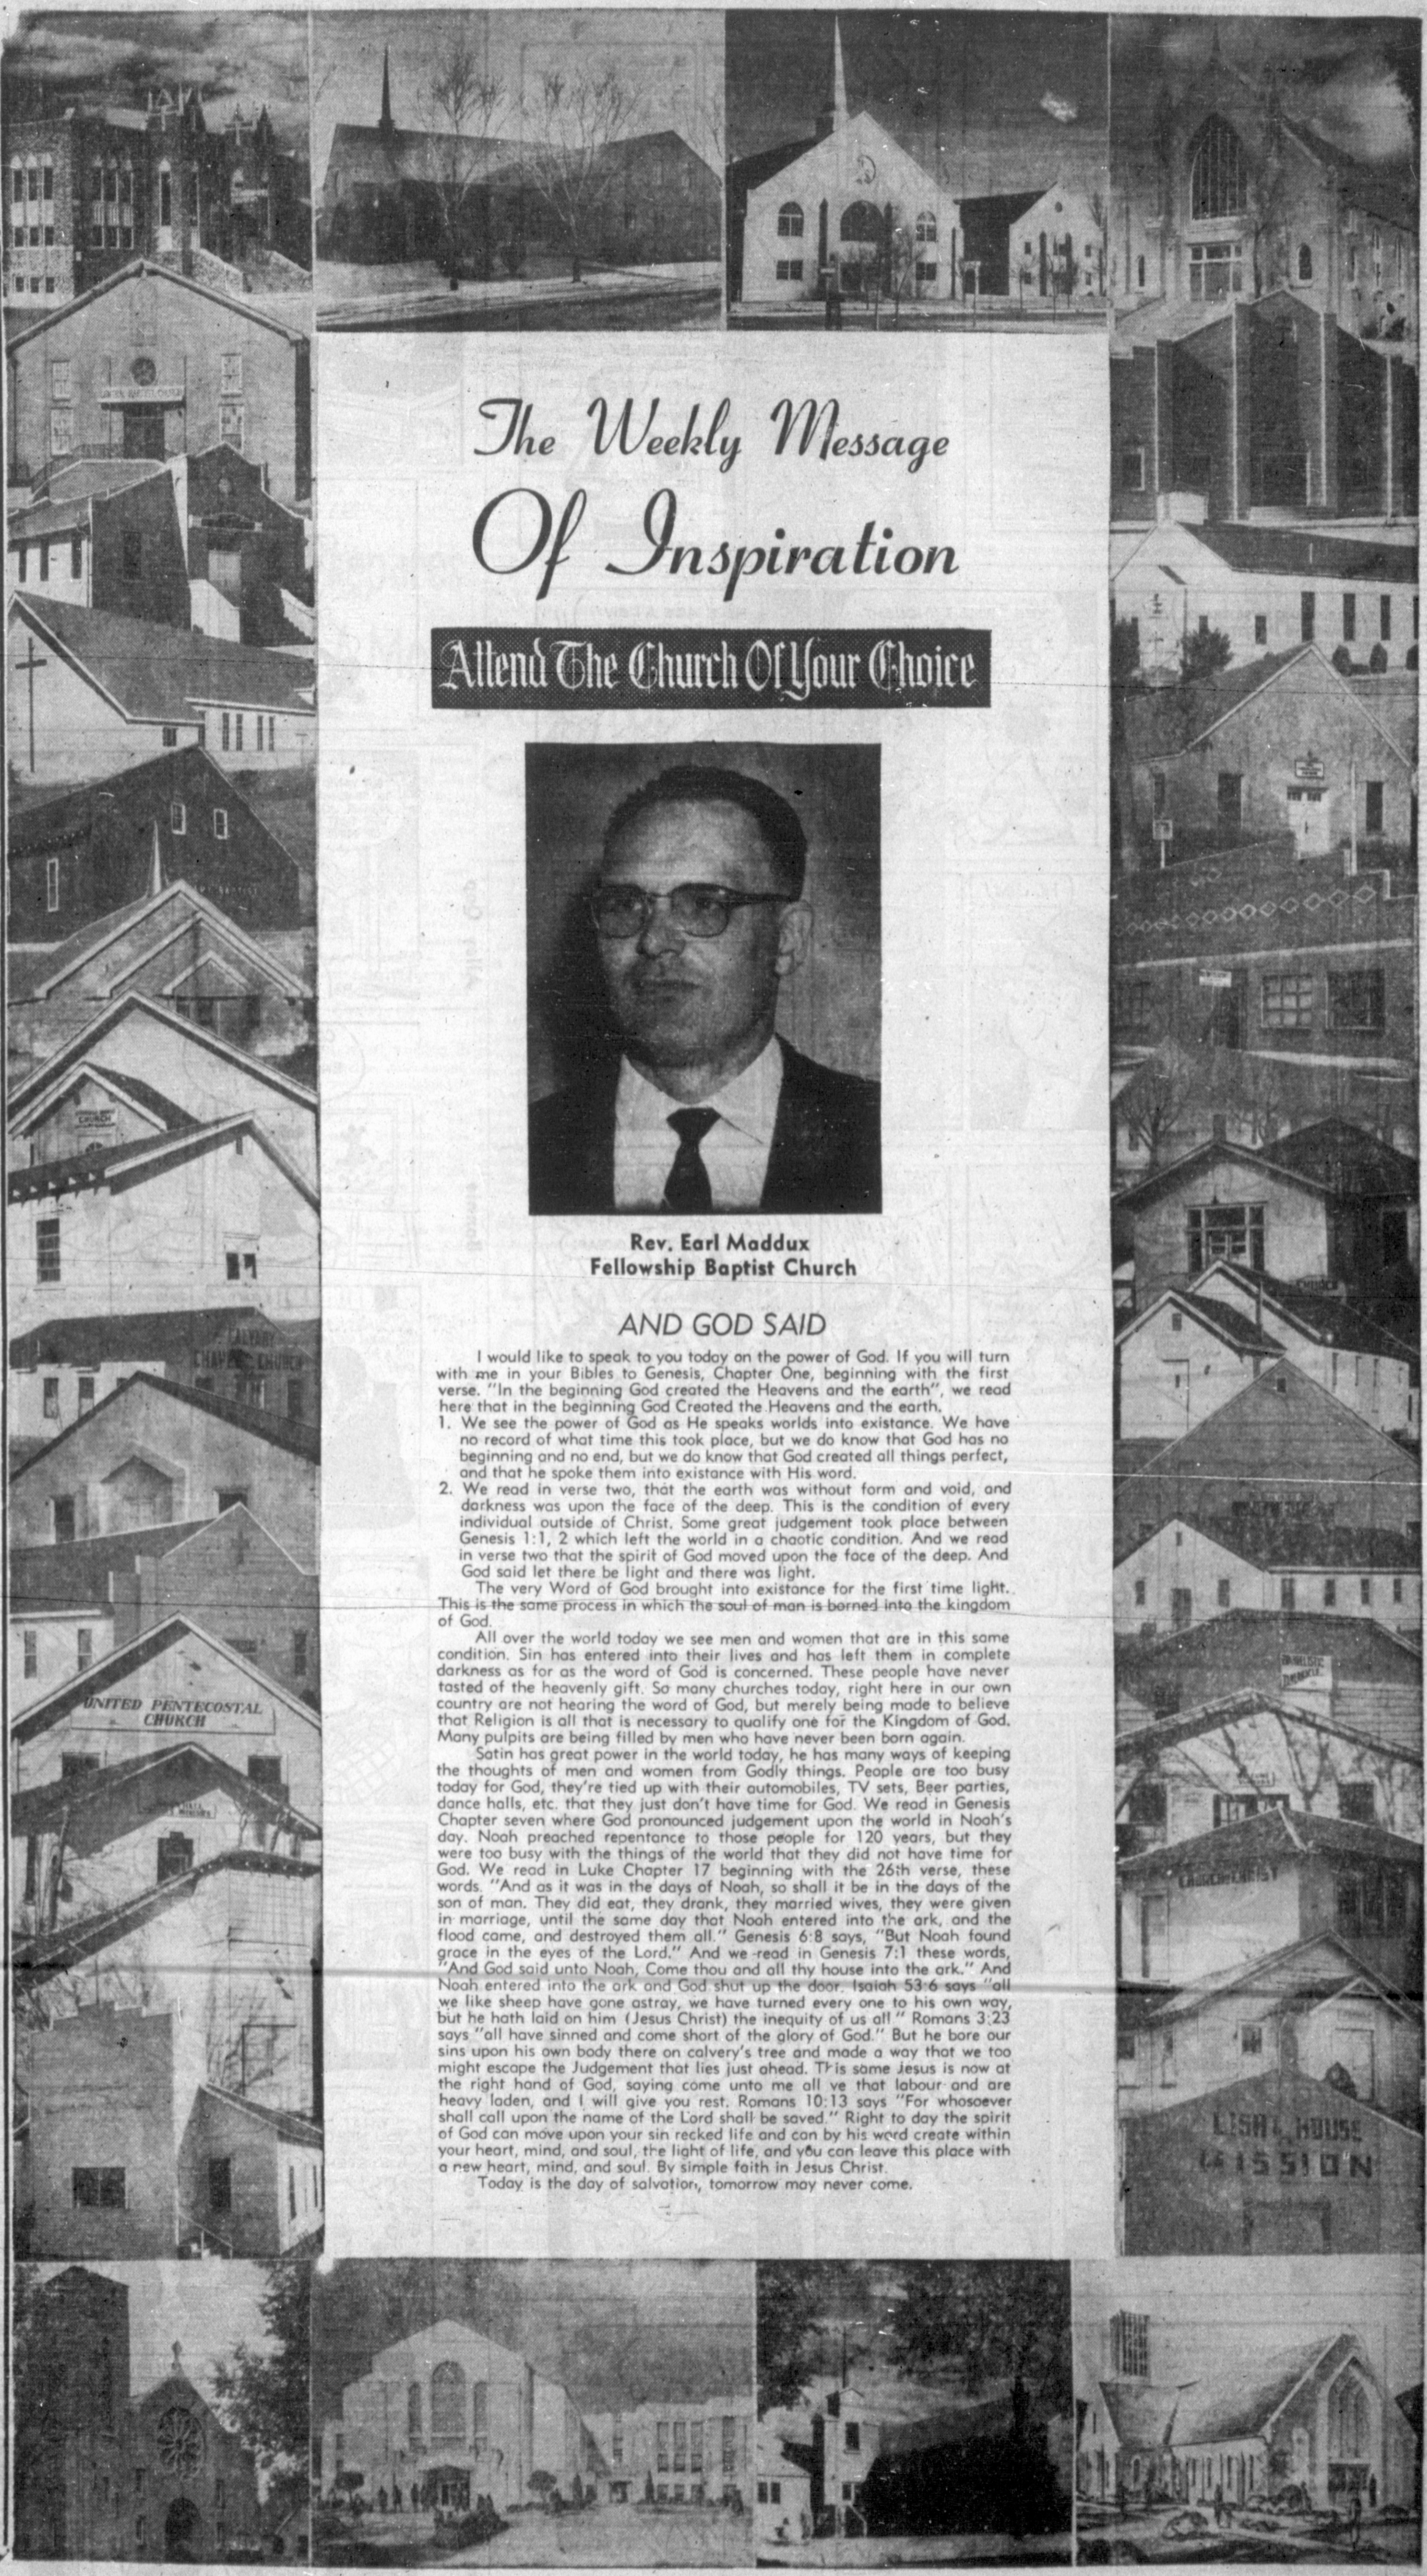

1. We see the power of God as He speaks worlds into existence. We have no record of what time this took place, but we do know that God has no beginning and no end, but we do know that God created all things perfect, and that he spoke them into existence with His word.
2. We read in verse two, that the earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the face of the deep. This is the condition of every individual outside of Christ. Some great judgement took place between Genesis 1:1, 2 which left the world in a chaotic condition. And we read in verse two that the spirit of God moved upon the face of the deep. And God said let there be light and there was light.

The very Word of God brought into existence for the first time light. This is the same process in which the soul of man is borned into the kingdom of God.

All over the world today we see men and women that are in this same condition. Sin has entered into their lives and has left them in complete darkness as for as the word of God is concerned. These people have never tasted of the heavenly gift. So many churches today, right here in our own country are not hearing the word of God, but merely being made to believe that Religion is all that is necessary to qualify one for the Kingdom of God. Many pulpits are being filled by men who have never been born again.

Satan has great power in the world today, he has many ways of keeping the thoughts of men and women from Godly things. People are too busy today for God, they're tied up with their automobiles, TV sets, Beer parties, dance halls, etc. that they just don't have time for God. We read in Genesis Chapter seven where God pronounced judgement upon the world in Noah's day. Noah preached repentance to those people for 120 years, but they were too busy with the things of the world that they did not have time for God. We read in Luke Chapter 17 beginning with the 26th verse, these words: "And as it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be in the days of the son of man. They did eat, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the same day that Noah entered into the ark, and the flood came, and destroyed them all." Genesis 6:8 says, "But Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord." And we read in Genesis 7:1 these words, "And God said unto Noah, Come thou and all thy house into the ark." And Noah entered into the ark and God shut up the door. Isaiah 53:6 says "all we like sheep have gone astray, we have turned every one to his own way, but he hath laid on him (Jesus Christ) the iniquity of us all." Romans 3:23 says "all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." But he bore our sins upon his own body there on calvary's tree and made a way that we too might escape the Judgement that lies just ahead. It is some Jesus is now at the right hand of God, saying come unto me all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Romans 10:13 says "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." Right to day the spirit of God can move upon your sin reeked life and can by his word create within you a heart, mind, and soul, the light of life, and you can leave this place with a new heart, mind, and soul. By simple faith in Jesus Christ.

Today is the day of salvation, tomorrow may never come.

Pampa Tests Quannah In Basketball Lidlifter

Shocks Open Cage Action At Quannah

QUANAH — Pampa's Shockers, under a new coach for the first time in eight years, hope to make his debut a winning one at 6:15 tonight when they meet Quannah's 'B' team here.

Dean Evans, coach at Robert E. Lee last year, moved up to the Shocker post last year with the elevation of Terry Culley to Harvester head coach.

Evans will take a 9-man squad to Quannah — and Childress the following night — with Bob Neslage the only junior on the otherwise sophomore squad.

Neslage, in all probability, will see action on the varsity too before the season is too far gone, but Evans feels that the more experienced Neslage will help the Shockers in early games.

At 6:2, Neslage will be the shockers tallest man and will start at center. He will team with Darrell Doss, 6-0, and Jerry Glover, 5-11, at forwards and Ronnie Chase, 5-7, and C. E. Cantrell, 5-8, at guards.

However, Larkin Miller, 5-8 guard may push either Chase or Cantrell out of their starting spots by tonight, according to Evans, if Miller continues his stellar play in practice.

Others who will see extended action in the two weekend games are Guard Keith Swanson, 5-8, Guard Larry Clifton, 5-7, and Center Dwight Thompson, 6-0.

WILT CHAMBERLAIN ... tops scoring

Wilt Hikes Point Lead

By United Press International

Wilt Chamberlain is back on top again in his individual scoring duel with Elgin Baylor.

The 7-foot, 2-inch scoring whiz of the Philadelphia Warriors went 12 points ahead of the Lakers' star when he tallied 41 points Thursday night in a 117-114 triumph over Los Angeles. Chamberlain now holds a 798-796 point lead over Baylor, who scored 28 points Thursday night.

The New York Knickerbockers snapped the Boston Celtics' nine-game winning streak with a 116-111 triumph and the Syracuse Nationals downed the Cincinnati Royals, 127-126, despite Oscar Robertson's 41 points, in other games.

Hogs Place Three Juniors Head SWC Dream '11'

By ED FITE United Press International

DALLAS (UPI) — The 1960 United Press International All-Southwest Conference football team boasted the largest undergraduate makeup in a decade with six juniors winning places on the mythical eleven picked by conference scouts and UPI writers.

Not since 1950, when seven juniors won all-conference honors, has the all-star team had such a youthful tinge. But, it was the second time in three seasons that the UPI's balloters have voted in an all-junior backfield.

All-America linemen E. J. Holub of Texas Tech at center and Bob Lilly of Texas Christian at tackle were among the five seniors on this year's team, which had three players from champion Arkansas, two each from Texas and Baylor and one each from Texas Tech, Rice, TCU, and Southern Methodist. Only the Texas Aggies failed to scratch.

The makeup of the team: Ends—Johnny Burrell, Rice, and Jimmy Collier, Arkansas, the other two juniors.

Tackles—Lilly and Jerry Mays, SMU.

Guards—Monte Lee, Texas, and Wayne Harris, Arkansas.

Center—Holub.

Backs—Ronnie Stanley and Ronnie Bull, Baylor; James Saxton, Texas, and Lance Alworth, Arkansas.

Lilly, Lee and Harris were repeaters from the 1959 UPI team, although Lee was an end at that time and Harris won the center slot.

AL Prepares For LA Move

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Imminent solution to the expansion problem strengthened the belief among baseball men today that the American League will promptly move into Los Angeles and throw out its "frozen" rosters so everyone can get on with trades.

American League officials were encouraged by word from Commissioner Ford Frick in New York Thursday that several amendments to the expansion rule had been worked out and will be presented for approval to the major leagues on Monday when they officially open their meetings here.

Frick didn't reveal whether he was for or against the amendments which were promulgated in conjunction with National League President Warren Giles and American League President Joe Cronin, but it was apparent he had no serious objections to them as long as he sanctioned their relay here to the majors.

"If the two leagues can work out a satisfactory change to Rule 1," Frick said earlier, "I will be perfectly willing to go along with them."

A long-time exponent of expansion, Frick even hinted he would cast the necessary vote for expansion in the event a deadlock developed between the two leagues. That would clear the way for an AL franchise in Los Angeles for 1961.

When Rule 1, which covers expansion procedure, is amended, as it has a good chance to be Monday, the AL has indicated it will immediately permit its two new franchises to select players from the pool into which the eight other AL clubs have contributed. The players will go at $75,000 apiece.

Since the American League rosters have been frozen up to now and AL clubs officials aren't sure which of their players will be picked by the two new franchises, they have been loathe to do any trading.

"How can you possibly talk trade when you don't know which players you're going to lose?" inquired General Manager Roy Hamey of the New York Yankees.

"As soon as they change the expansion rule though, we can get the show on the road."

Holub Heads Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Senior Bowl officials today named 25 gridiron stars, including All-America center E. J. Holub of Texas Tech and Auburn fullback and field goal star Ed Dyer, to the South squad for the 12th annual post-season clash here Jan. 7.

The Southeastern Conference dominated the roster with 17 players. Mississippi took team honors as four members of the undefeated Sugar Bowl-bound team were named.

The Atlantic Coast Conference and the Southern Conference each placed three men on the squad while two players were selected from the Southwest Conference.

ALLEN WISE ...returning regular

Aces Top Cage Poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — Evansville, Ind., winner of the NCAA small college tournament two straight years, today were named by the United Press International Board of Coaches as the pre-season choice to be the nation's No. 1 small college basketball team this season.

The Purple Aces, who won the Indiana Collegiate Conference title before moving on the NCAA tourney last season, received the first-place votes of 16 of the coaches who comprise the board.

Tennessee A&I received 12 first-place votes, but Evansville was named second and third by a greater number of coaches to compile a 421 point total with Tennessee A&I second with 281.

Harvesters Meet Tall Childress On Saturday

By ARTHUR MAYHEW Daily News Sports Editor

QUANAH — Pampa's Harvesters take the wraps off their 1960-61 basketball bundle here at 8 p.m. today against Quannah, one of District 5-AA's stronger teams.

Next stop on the two-day opening road trip will be at Childress Saturday night where the Pampans will face one of the tallest teams in the state, bar no classification. Childress is also in 5-AA.

Pampa Coach Terry Culley, entering his first year as head coach of the Green and Gold after eight years as first assistant to Clifton McNeely, will floor a team that averages an even 6-0.

However, only two of the starting quintet were regulars off last year's team that posted a 16-9 record and finished in fourth place in District 3-AA play with a 6-4 mark.

Returnees are Allen Wise, a 6-3 senior, who will operate at high post and Pat Carter, a 5-10 senior who was the team's second leading scorer last year with 193 points. Carter will start at guard.

A third senior will be in the lineup in the 6:2 form of forward Larry Stroud, who alternated between the varsity and the Shocker in 1959-60.

The other forward will be Lloyd Balch, a 6-1 junior, making his first starting role for the Harvesters. Bill Neslage, a 5-11 senior, will be at guard opposite Carter.

Quannah will be smaller than the visitors, but they were tall enough in their first encounter, dumping Chillicothe, 50-38, Tuesday.

Coach T. J. Bailey's Quannah team will be a junior-dominated crew, led by Darrell Barnes, a 1-2 junior center, Danny Scarborough, 5-11 guard, and Guard Joe Salkeld, 5-11.

The two seniors starting will be Noel Brooks, 5-11 forward, the only returning regular off last year's team that won 16 while losing ten and finished in second in the District 5-AA race; and Gary Swindell, a 6-1 forward.

On Saturday night, the Harvesters may have to take their scythes with them to cut Childress down to size.

The Bobcats, who were 17-6 last year and went to regional before losing to Dimmitt, will start a first team that averages 6-3 and a second unit that hits 6-0, tall by any standards.

On the first five—Coach Joe Warren says he uses both units about equally—is Center Jimmy Hamm, a 6-7 junior; Forwards John Myers, 6-5, and Homer McLaugh, 6-3, both seniors; and Guards Travis McCain, 6-3, and Jerry Harmon, 5-10.

Harmon is a senior and was honorable mention all-district performer last year. McCain is a junior.

Heading the second quintet is John Manuel, another 6-7 lad at center; Keith Sanning, 6-2; Bob Foard, 6-0; Glen Beal, 5-7, and James Self, 5-8, the latter two are guards.

Score by quarters:
Pampa 14 19 6 7—46
McLean 6 17 13—37
Aust Ninth 8 9 9 10—38
Lustin Ninth 2 2 1 6—11
Lee Eighth 10 6 4 6 (4)—30
Aus. Eighth 4 2 11 9 (9)—28

PAWTUCKET, R. I. (UPI) — Charlie Boland booted home four winners at Narragansett Park Thursday, the second straight day he has accomplished this feat on the nine-race program.

The 20-year-old Canadian jockey scored Thursday aboard Doreen L. ($5.80) in the second, Teresa Ruler ($15.90) in the third, First Minister ($4.60) in the sixth and Poms Joy ($5.20) in the feature seventh.

Ticket Rush Precedes Sugar-Fullmer Battle

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A late rush for tickets to Saturday night's Gene Fullmer-Ray Robinson middleweight title fight indicated today a possible 15,000-seat sellout at the new Los Angeles Sports Arena and a gate of more than $165,000.

Tickets range in price from $5 to $25 for the scheduled 15-round bout, which will be televised and broadcast nationally over ABC networks at 10 p.m. EST, with a 100-mile local TV and radio black-out.

In addition to the gate, the promotion receives $100,000 in TV-radio money. The champion gets 40 per cent of all net receipts; Robinson, 20 per cent.

Both boxers are now on the scene for their "rubber match"—third fight — in which 39-year-old Sugar Ray will try to wrest the National Boxing Association (NBA) California version of the 160-pound championship from 29-year-old Fullmer.

Each scored a victory in their two 1957 title fights. Robinson won the second on a fifth-round knockout with a left hook.

Muscular Gene, a mink rancher of West Jordan, Utah, is favored at 13-5 to win again because of his age advantage, his persistent bullying attack, his stamina and his ruggedness. And it's "even money" that the bout doesn't last 15 rounds, no matter who wins.

The Buckeyes, ranked No. 1 in the pre-season ratings, led a parade of college teams in ushering in the 1960-61 basketball season Thursday night by trouncing Ohio University, 85-64.

Bradley, St. Bonaventure, Auburn and Kentucky — other teams ranked among the top 10 in the nation — also won their openers as did Cincinnati.

All-America Lucas in top shape after a summer with the U.S. Olympic team in Rome, gave Ohio University the same treatment he doled out to his Olympic opponents. The 6-8 junior poured in 29 points and was a tower of power on the boards in the Buckeyes' season opener.

Lucas got some help from a pair of scrappy guards, Mel Nowell and Larry Siegfried, who tossed in 15 and 15 points, respectively.

Bradley, ranked No. 2, displayed some of the same teamwork which earned the Braves the National Invitation crown last season when they tripped Minnesota, 62-58. The Braves' Chet (The Jet) Walker led the scorers with 25 points but it was Mack Herndon's three points in the final minute which broke up the close battle.

Sixth-ranked Utah was upset but eighth-rated St. Bonaventure and Auburn and Kentucky, tied for ninth, all rolled up easy victories in their openers. The Utes were beaten by Loyla (Calif.) 85-64 as Ed Bento scored 30 points for the winners; the Bonnies scored their 93rd home-court victory in whipping John Carroll, 109-49, Auburn ripped Livingston, 90-50, and Kentucky downed VMI, 72-56.

Paul Hogue, Cincinnati's huge center, scored 23 points in the Bearcats 90-51 romp over Indiana State.

Texas Gridders Resume Playoffs

By United Press International

Port Arthur's Yellow Jackets meet Houston Bellaire tonight in the feature event of a 10-game program that opens the quarter-weekend of the Texas school-boy football playoffs.

Coach Clarence Underwood's Jackets will be trying to live up to their No. 2 rating in the Class AAAA ranks and move another step toward a predicted finals showdown with top-ranked Wichita Falls.

The Jacket-Cardinals game at Port Arthur is the only one to night involving AAAA teams.

The others are scheduled Saturday along with two in Class AAA and one in Class AA.

Wichita Falls takes on upstart Yaleta, the club which stunned Odessa Permian last week, at Wichita Falls in the feature contest Saturday afternoon.

The Coyotes will be heavy favorites. In other AAAA Saturday games Fort Worth Paschal will be favored over Lufkin at Fort Worth and Corpus Christi Miller over San Antonio Jefferson at Corpus Christi.

Tonight's AAA spotlight will be on Commerce where top-ranked Jacksonville tries to shed some of the gloom brought on by last week's tie with Corsicana by ending Greenville's bid for glory.

Aggies Win, Rice Loses

LUBBOCK (UPI)—The Red Raiders from Texas Tech raced from behind midway through the last half last night on a fast break by Del Ray Mounds and went on to whip touring Hamline University 92-78.

The St. Paul, Minn., school led the entire first half and piled up a 47-40 advantage at halftime before the Raiders went to work to move ahead 56-55 on Mounds' crisp shot.

Mounds, 5-10 junior guard, rammed in 29 points for the night, but gave up scoring honors to teammate Harold Hudgens, Tech's 6-10 junior post man.

Mounds is defending Southwest Conference scoring champion, and ranked sixth in the league's individual leaders in overall play with a 16.4 point average. In conference games he averaged 18.9 points.

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI)—Brian Ethridge, Oklahoma's hook-shot shooting pivotman, dropped in 16 points Thursday night to lead Sooners to a 70-58 season opening victory over the Texas Western Miners.

Al Tolen, Western's senior forward, took individual honors with 20 points, and might have made it more except for an injury.

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Carroll Broussard, the Texas Aggies' sensational shot-maker, poured in 18 points Thursday night to lead A&M to a 66-48 victory over Trinity University.

The game was the varsity debut of A&M's heralded 7-1 center, Lewis Qualls. He was held to four points, but dominated the backboard play while in the game.

Tom McNeely led Tiger scoring with 13 points and John Canavan added 10 more. Pat Stanley chipped in 14 for the Aggies.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (UPI)—Southeast Missouri State opened its basketball season Thursday night, whipping Wayland College of Plainview, Tex., 81-54.

Pampa Wins 4 Bouts

Lefors, paced by its peewee battlers, won six matches last night to highlight the Optimist Club's boxing card against teams from Pampa, Hereford and Canyon.

In an unintended mismatch, Elmer Clements, last year's Texas light-heavyweight Golden Gloves champ from Canyon, decisioned Glen Ward of Pampa. Clements weighed 210 and Ward 165 but despite the weight disadvantage, Ward worked Clements over pretty good before losing the bout.

In a battle of 230-pounders, Roy Rogers of Hereford TKO'd Dale Veal of Pampa.

The choice was made by sports writers who have covered all or most of the 24 games leading up to this season's Arkansas-Duke silver anniversary clash in the big Dallas stadium.

REDS BEAT CANADA

MOSCOW (UPI) — The touring Chatham Maroons of Canada suffered a 5-4 defeat to the Moscow Dynamis in an exhibition ice hockey game Thursday.

80-pound: H. D. LaRue, Pampa, decisioned Jimmy Watson, Pampa; Royce Henderson, Lefors, decisioned Phillip Long, Pampa.

85-pound: Clifford McDaniels, Lefors, decisioned Allen Lindsey, Pampa;

90-pound: Warren Pittip, Pampa, decisioned Jackie Thompson, Pampa;

125-pound: Waddell Hudson, Hereford, decisioned Tommy Woodruff, Pampa. (close decision)

130-pound: Billy Matthews, Pampa, decisioned J. C. Booker, Hereford. (good fight) won all three rounds;

145-pound: Johnny Weitz, Hereford, decisioned Gene Shipman, Lefors.

150-pound: Ross Bond, Hereford, decisioned Charles Coffee, Pampa, close fight; Dickie Wills, Pampa won a default of Zeke Clements, Canyon.

Light-heavy: Ken Miller, Lefors, decisioned Earl Perry, Hereford.

Heavyweight: Roy Rogers, Hereford, TKO'd Dale Veal, Pampa, in first round; Veal's first fight; 230-pounders.

Elmer Clements, 210, Canyon defeated Glen Ward, Pampa, 165, Pampa.

Doak Walker Is Honored

DALLAS (UPI)—Doak Walker, former Southern Methodist All-American, has been named the most valuable all-around football player ever to perform in the Cotton Bowl game.

The choice was made by sports writers who have covered all or most of the 24 games leading up to this season's Arkansas-Duke silver anniversary clash in the big Dallas stadium.

DENTON (UPI)—Ted Luckenbill led the University of Houston to a 73-53 victory over North Texas State Thursday night, scoring 19 points.

He grabbed 18 rebounds to lead the Cougars in that department, too.

Houston Signs Murref

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — John (Red) Murref, who pitched briefly for the Milwaukee Braves from 1956-57, has been signed as a scout with the new Houston club of the National League. Murref pitched for Dallas of the Texas League from 1953-55 and in 1955 he tied Dizzy Dean's league record of 11 shutouts.
