Kennedy Pushes Personnel Plans Cold Front Drills Deep Into Texas

Warmer Weather Due Here

By United Press International
A double-barreled cold front hit Texas with a one-two punch and sent temperatures into a nose dive as it shoved southward today leaving in its wake the coldest weather of the season.
Snow forecast for the Panhandle failed to develop. Skies were clear over Texas except for patches of partly cloudy to cloudy overheads along the Gulf Coast.
The sub-freezing readings extended generally over the upper half of the state while in the extreme south the temperatures were in the 50s. The range at 6 a.m. today was a frigid 16 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle, and a 57 degree maximum at Brownsville.

The cold front was part of an intense storm that roared out of the Plains States during the night lashing the north central part of the nation with snow driven by winds that peaked at 63 miles per hour at Grand Forks, N.D.
A blob of frigid Canadian air knifed into the northwestern part of the state on the heels of a Pacific cold front and brought a hard freeze to the Panhandle.
Gilbert Pitts, a U.S. Weather Bureau meteorologist, said a slow warmup would begin today in the Panhandle and spread over most of the state by Wednesday as the fronts move on out of Texas and into the Gulf.
Temperatures were expected to be in the 50s over the northern half of the state today and range in the 50s and 60s in the south.

Lumumba Chased By Congolese

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Congolese strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu ordered his forces today to catch Patrice Lumumba before he reaches the protection of his supporters in Stanleyville.

The hunt was spurred by the fear that the deposed premier would set up a rival regime and spark a civil war to seize control of this newly independent nation again.

The 34-year-old Lumumba, a former beer salesman, slipped out of his Leopoldville home Sunday night through U.N. troops protecting him and Congolese troops on guard to prevent just such an escape.

He left behind a message saying he was going to Stanleyville—capital of Orientale province 1,000 miles up the Congo River—to attend the funeral of his infant daughter and that he would be back. Few here expected he would return voluntarily.

Mobutu, who has maintained shaky control over much of the Congo for 2½ months, had possibly 72 hours to track him down.

It would take Lumumba about five days to get to Stanleyville by speedboat up the Congo River. If he traveled all the way by car it would take about three days.
A check showed he did not leave by U.N. or commercial liner but he could have taken a small plane from any of a number of

IN HIDING—Fearing the underworld may take revenge on his family, Antony Alessio, wealthy San Diego, Calif., sportsman who recently was held for $200,000 ransom, has taken his wife and daughter to an undisclosed location until the FBI clears up the case.

Kidnap Suspect Grabbed

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Frank Marrone, convicted murderer named as the mastermind of the bold $200,000 kidnaping of wealthy California sportsman Anthony Alessio, was captured without a struggle today by FBI agents.

The 31-year-old Marrone was carrying "some" of the ransom money paid last Wednesday for the safe return of Alessio, the FBI said. Some $77,000 of the $200,000 had been recovered Friday with the arrest of three other persons, including Marrone's wife.
Marrone was stopped by agents as he drove his 1953 auto along a Los Angeles street. He was unarmed.

"I knew the FBI was smart but I have never seen so many men in one place," he said.

Marrone was free on an appeal bond from his 1959 second degree murder conviction in Alaska. He has arrest record dating back to 1946.

The abduction took place Tuesday afternoon outside Alessio's San Diego home when the 210-pound sportsman was forced into a car, blindfolded and handcuffed by two armed men.

He was released about 32 hours later uninjured after one of his brothers drove to Hollywood and left $200,000 in $100, $50, $20, and $10 bills in a duffelbag at a parking lot.

The kidnaping was kept secret by authorities until Friday when John Gorman, 29, his wife Ruby, 29, and Marrone's wife Selma, 25, were picked up by agents in Hollywood.

Accurate Vote Count: Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President-elect Kennedy says he is not worried by GOP efforts to get vote recounts in several states because he has information "that the count has been accurate."
If the ballots from the Nov. 8 election have been tabulated correctly, "you can count them any number of times" without changing the outcome, he told reporters Monday night.

Although voicing confidence that GOP-inspired recounts would not upset his narrow victory over the Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Kennedy said he favored recounting ballots whenever "they ought to be counted" so the public would have full confidence in the results.

Sugar Planters Pressing Castro

HAVANA (UPI)—Cuba's 60,000 small sugar planters were reported preparing today to urge Premier Fidel Castro to try to regain the United States market before it is too late.

The planters — comprising the only substantial segment of the Cuban economy which has not been taken over by the government — were expected to urge Castro to try to recover Cuba's U.S. sugar quota before it is assigned to other countries.

They argue that they must have dollars to finance the milling of their sugar and to pay their employees.

Sales to Russia are no help, sugar sources said, because the Russians pay far less than the premium prices Cuban growers used to get from the United States — and 80 per cent of Soviet payments take the form of barter.

Planter spokesmen are expected to express their views at the industry convention scheduled by Castro for December and January to shape Cuba's sugar policy.

The planters believe Cuba must regain its share of the U. S. market by 1961 if it is ever to do so. Once the Cuban quota has been reassigned to other countries, they say, it probably will be impossible to recover.

They also fear that by 1962 plantations now being established in southern Florida will be able to produce enough sugar to sup-

U.S. Seeks Help To Curb Cash Outgo

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Eisenhower administration will continue to seek "partial" help from Allied governments to reduce the outflow of dollars.

But President Eisenhower has completely abandoned the request to West Germany for $600 million toward support of U.S. troops there as a dollar-saving measure.

Presidential press secretary James Hagerty said Monday that this request would not be pursued further "because the Germans are not prepared to discuss it."
Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson made the request in a trip to Bonn with Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon last week. The Germans rejected the idea.

Women Try To Block Minister's Child's Entry Into N. O. School

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Jeering housewives tried to block a white minister from taking his daughter into an integrated elementary school today but it appeared that a white student boycott may be broken.

Police cleared a path for the Rev. Andrew Foreman and his 5-year-old daughter Pamela Lynn through a crowd of about 25 angry housewives so Pamela could attend her kindergarten classes at William Frantz school.

Pamela and one other white child were attending Frantz with one Negro girl.

At McDonogh 18 school, which three Negro girls had all to themselves for the last two days when the 467 white students refused to attend, a white mother entered with two boys carrying books,

Hot Debates Expected

AMA In Fight Over National Health Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supporters of conflicting voluntary nationwide health insurance plans squared off today for a fight at the American Medical Association's (AMA) annual clinical meeting.

The health insurance conflict was one of several touchy professional issues to be discussed during committee meetings of the AMA policy-making house of delegates at the third session of the five-day conference.

Other resolutions before the committees deal with a medical scholarship and loan program, accreditation of foreign medical schools and a possible increase in AMA annual dues from $25 to $50.

The committees will send resolutions to the House of Delegates which will act on them later in the week.

The hottest debate was expected on an AMA board of trustees' recommendation that all health insurance agencies consider merging into a single voluntary prepaid health insurance plan.

The board suggested that negotiations be started by bringing together representatives of the

Scots Protest Polaris Base

DALLAS (UPI)— Rear Adm. Frederick B. Warder Monday branded as "ill-advised" a decision to station a Polaris missile submarine tender in Scotland.

Warder, commandant of the Eighth Naval District with headquarters in New Orleans, said that protests about the planned move in February were in his opinion coming from a minority of British and Scottish groups.

"We were foolish to consider putting the tender in Scotland, because we don't need it," Warder said. "Our nuclear power submarines have enough endurance to be serviced in the United States."

and it appeared they might stay. Other white children were in Frantz, but mothers have been taking their children into the schools to get their belongings and transfer records prior to entering them in other schools. It was difficult to tell how many—if any—intended to go to class.

A crowd of women, braving the first cold snap since integration began Nov. 14, was waiting in front of Frantz for Foreman, a Methodist minister, and his daughter. An unidentified man accompanied them as they approached the school.

The women, yelling insults, tried to block their way. Police guarding the building went across the street and opened a path. Tight-lipped, the minister led his little girl down the path and warned the women, "Don't you put your hands on us."

Plans To Meet With President

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration began to show the first real signs of taking shape today with the incoming President and his advisors tackling personnel and policy with a new sense of urgency.

President-elect Kennedy scheduled a breakfast meeting with a man expected to play an important part in foreign policy of the administration, Rep. Chester Bowles (D-Conn.).

Arrangements also were completed for Kennedy to meet a week from today with President Eisenhower to discuss the change of administrations.

Kennedy, himself, said the meeting with Bowles would have no bearing on whether the Connecticut congressman is named secretary of state or to any other job. He said primarily he wanted to talk with Bowles about conditions abroad as reflected in the President-elect said he would have something to say "one way or the other" by Wednesday on his choice of either a budget director or an interim consultant to begin working with the outgoing administration on fiscal matters.

Cabinet selections also seemed to be imminent. Kennedy said he expected to have announcements on one or two cabinet posts "within a few days." Selection of a secretary of state may have figured in his meeting late Monday with Dean Acheson, head of the State Department during the Truman administration.

"We discussed the responsibilities I am bearing at this time," Kennedy said after Acheson ushered him out of his stylish Georgetown home, nine blocks from Kennedy's own house. The President-elect sought to depress any idea that the meeting involved a job offer to the former cabinet officer, saying "that is not what I came to see him about."

Another item on Kennedy's agenda today was a late morning meeting at his home with Governor Terry Sanford of North Carolina and Bert L. Bennett, chairman of the North Carolina Democratic executive committee. Bennett is from Winston-Salem.

Area Study By German Editor Due

Dr. Paul Robert Noack, German editor and political commentator, will arrive in Pampa tonight for a visit of several days.

While in the city he will tour the surrounding area, inspect farms, ranches and study various stages of oil producing operations.

Dr. Noack will breakfast at 7:30 a.m. tomorrow with Mayor Ed Myatt, other city officials and several civic leaders of Pampa.

He is presently touring sections of the nation as a participant in the Foreign Leader Exchange Program of the Office of Cultural Exchange of the Department of State, Washington, D. C.

Bombers Off On Trial Warnings

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Two B58 Hustler jet bombers were scheduled to make training runs today with residents between starting points and destinations warned of possible sonic booms.

The Air Force said one plane would fly from Lake Buchanan, Tex., to Amarillo, then from Texarkana to Amarillo, with both flights between 1 p. m. and 7 p. m.

Another plane will fly from Phillips, S. D. to Amarillo, and from Plainview to San Antonio, between 9:40 p. m. and 3:50 a.m. Wednesday.

CRMWA Pact Formally Okayed By Commission

Authorization for Pampa to enter into a formal contract for supplying water to the city was approved by the city commission today.

The contract will be between the city and the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority which will build a dam at Sanford and a 222-mile long aqueduct to serve 11 cities in the CRMWA area.

The $2-million dollar project was authorized by voters of the cities at an election on Nov. 22.

Prior to the contract authorization the city commission canvassed and approved results of the election in Pampa which gave a final total of 2,466 for and 90 against the proposal.

The commission also approved a request from the Authority for a 15-cent per meter assessment to provide money for preliminary expenses. Pampa's share of this assessment, based on 7,955 meters within the city limits, will be $1,193.25. It will be paid out of the city's water revenue fund.

In other action in today's commission meeting second reading was given to an ordinance providing for paving in the 1100-block of S. Christy.

Santa Asked To Bring Us Things We Need

Dear Santa Claus:

It hardly seems possible that Christmas is here again, but the calendar reminds me that you will be making your annual trip in a very short time. In fact, we don't really need a calendar to remind us any more, because the department stores start mentioning it around Halloween.

I was just thinking how different my letters to you are than they used to be. As I remember, the things I asked you for (and which you nearly always remembered to bring me) were things that I was thrilled to have, but deep down I could do without. This year I am really hopeful that you can see your way clear to bring us some things which are really necessary for us to keep going.

One thing we would like to have very much is some foreign aid. We have sent some of this as gifts several times, but there doesn't seem to be any for domestic consumption. It occurred to me you might have some at the North Pole.

Another thing which we used to have a lot of but can't seem to locate these days is a supply of States' rights. We are not asking for a large supply because we don't want to appear selfish. In fact, they don't even have to be brand new; we would be tickled with some used ones.

When I started writing this letter, my wife told me she wanted me to ask you for a few fringe benefits or a few travelers checks, or anything else you might have which would help balance the household budget. She has already changed her mind, however, and would like instead a new arithmetic book — one of those kind which everybody seems to be using these days to balance their budget, no matter their income.

I don't know what sizes they come in, but it would be nice if you could bring us a little package of debt reductions. I would be happy with the size that would fit into my wallet, and my wife would be delighted with the handbag size. Come to think of it, those are the two places we need it most any-where.

We could use a lot of things, but I don't want to make this letter too long because I know you have so many requests from all over the world. I know you have more calls for this from folks everywhere than for any other single thing, but I can't close this letter without telling you that we want it too more than anything else and, as you have probably already suspected, it is true world peace. I do hope that you will dispense it generously on Christmas Eve.

My neighbor just dropped by to take my order for a Christmas tree. When I told him what I was asking you for, he reminded me of something with which I wholeheartedly agree, after due reflection. It was that you can't bring us any of these things we have asked for, even though you are a kind and wonderful fellow. He says the only way we will realize these desires is to really pitch in and work for them. My wife also agrees, and we have decided we are going to do just that. Since we hope to get these things otherwise, there really isn't much need of mailing you this letter, but I am going to anyhow. You will hear from us again next year if we can still afford the postage. We wish you and Mrs. Claus a Merry Christmas, and you can certainly expect your usual fruitcake and coffee when you visit our children on Christmas Eve.

Yours very truly,

J. Americus Jones

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is an excess of bearishness marring the investor's outlook on next year's stock market, according to Gerald M. Loeb, partner in E.F. Hutton & Co.

"The market's technical situation has improved," he notes, "and I anticipate many short-term investment opportunities in the balance of this year and early in 1961."

Loeb says danger of a steep market decline has temporarily passed "but we must study the signs as we go along in 1961."

"The traffic light has changed from red to amber," he said, "and my guess is that it will make the change to green."

Loeb cautioned, however, that the popularity of many growth stocks selling for high-price earnings ratios "are due for further reappraisal in 1961."

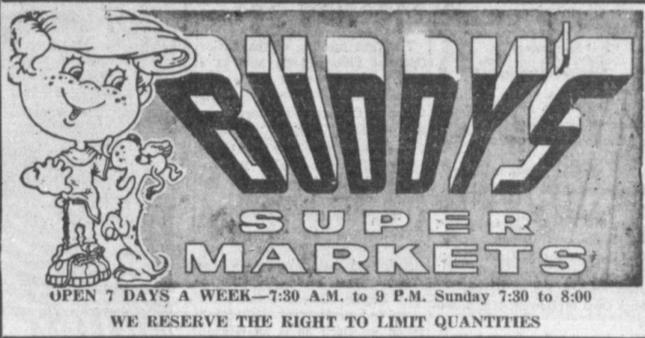

Chartcraft, Inc. says that Collier & Aikman seems to have completed a top of distribution. The advice is to sell short at the market or on any rally.

The Value Line investment survey reports that normally, October represents a low point for the line with heavy inventories and auto industry, but it may stand as the high-water mark for the 1961 model year. The assembly rate is now being cut back in line with heavy inventories and sluggish sales, the survey notes.

"With this slender prop for the economy falling, a resumption of the overall downtrend would appear likely in the months ahead. We do not look for a severe erosion, but it may be a prolonged one."

Cold Wave Nips Season's First Major Storm

By United Press International
A cold wave froze the season's first major storm in its tracks today and replaced gale winds with an icy calm.

Weather Bureau reports including data relayed back to earth by U.S. weather satellite Tiro II placed the storm center high above Wisconsin and the horseshoe formed by Lakes Michigan and Huron.

At ground level within the horseshoe, lower Michigan and the western Upper Peninsula were slated for some icing and rain storms today. To the south, snow headed for southern Illinois and southeastern Indiana.

At least eight deaths and heavy property damage were attributed to the storm that began during the weekend and swept from the southwest across the Great Plains into the Great Lakes.

East Coast rains tagged behind a cold front extending from New Orleans, La., to Providence, R.I. However, above-freezing temperatures were in store for the Atlantic states except in extreme northern New England.

Washington and Oregon were alerted for rain along the coast changing to snow near western Montana.

Los Angeles reported a high of 68 degrees and prospects of continued sunny, warm weather. Blizzards in the plains states and Midwest Monday closed schools, blocked roads and cut power and communications for thousands of homes in 12 states from the Rocky Mountains to Michigan.

Pampan's Mother Dies During Visit

Mrs. Sophie Mosley of Deadwood, S.D., who had been visiting here since Friday with her son, John Mosley, 1928 N. Christy, died in a local hospital at 8:15 last night following a brief illness.

She was born Aug. 15, 1889 in Chicago and was married to Richard T. Mosley in November, 1908. He preceded her in death on March 14, 1952.

Mrs. Mosley was a past matron of the Order of the Eastern Star in Deadwood and had been a member of that order for 48 years. She was also a member of the First Baptist Church in Deadwood.

In addition to her son here, she is survived by two other sons, Richard of Osage, Wyo., Fred H. of Lead, S.D.; four grandchildren and two nephews.

The body will be sent to Lead, S.D., where funeral services will be held Friday in the Masonic Temple. Eastern Star services will be held at graveside.

Interment will be held in the Lead Masonic Cemetery, beside her husband.

Texas AMA Sets New Awards Plan

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Medical Association announced today the Anson Jones awards for medical journalism will be divided into four categories this year to give more journalists a chance at the cash awards.

The awards this year will include divisions covering daily newspapers in cities of a quarter-million or more, daily newspapers in cities of less than a quarter-million, weekly or semi-weekly newspapers, and magazines and trade journals published in Texas.

The awards will be a $250 cash prize to the writer and a bronze plaque to the publication for the category No. 1 winner, and $100 cash and a plaque for winners in each other category.

First Junior Optimist Club Meeting Set

The first meeting of the Junior Optimist Club will be held at 4 p.m. Friday in Travis Elementary School, officials of the Evening Optimist Club, the sponsoring organization, announced.

The club, for boys 13 to 14 years old, will be under the direction of Bill McDonald and Bill Hayes.

Featured speaker for the meeting Monday of the Evening Optimist Club was Felix Gibson, assistant regional director of the Boys' Club of America, Southwestern Region. Gibson detailed the aims and projects of the organization in which he is an official.

New Secret was honored during the meeting when he was awarded a wrist watch by Optimist International for being one of the outstanding Optimist Club presidents for the preceding year.

Guests were: Kendall Green, Forrest Cloyd, Henry Gindorf and Glen Ward.

Two Are Fined In County Court

Edgar Lee Morris of Pampa, was fined $10 and costs yesterday in Gray County Court after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of shoplifting.

In the only other case on the docket, Rhiney Mack Grange of Skellytown, pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and was fined $100 and costs and given the mandatory three-day jail sentence.

Both had been arrested earlier by city police.

airstrips in the area of the capital.

Lumumba got a 12-hour jump on his pursuers. Mobutu did not learn of his escape until Monday morning and then he had to rush back from Brazzaville—across the river in the neighboring independent Congo Republic—to launch the hunt.

He tried to cable all towns on the route to Stanleyville ordering police and soldiers to set up road and river blocks. But this was delayed because of a national holiday, an indication of the careful planning which went into the escape.

The minister ignored the hooting of hecklers, but the priest, carrying a Bible, confronted them. He approached four husky men seated on a lawn and asked "do you have anything to say to me?"

When they said they didn't, the priest continued following the minister, but a group of housewives shouted to him that the Bible makes no call for racial integration. When he paused to discuss it with them, one of the women shoved him, and another called him "stupid" and threatened to spit on him.

Segregationists fear Catholic schools, which teach more students than public schools, will integrate this year. The archdiocese earlier pledged to integrate schools when public schools did, but this month said it would wait until public school integration proved "effective."

Efforts to withhold Louisiana's electoral votes from President-elect Kennedy fizzled Monday when lawmakers said the proposal made Louisiana a "national laughing stock."

The resolution was written after Kennedy turned down a demand by Louisiana lawmakers that he take a stand on whether federally ordered integration was "judicial tyranny."

Toastmaster Honors To Forrest Hills

The topic "The Unions and You" gained Forrest Hills top speech honors Monday night in the meeting of the Toastmasters Club in the Coronado Inn.

Other speakers and their topics were: Bill Ellison, "Numismatic Fever;" W. A. Morgan, "The Uncommon Man;" Bob Swanson, "The Sands of Time;" and George King, "Passive Defense."

Three new members, John Darnell, Joe Cree and Tom Snow, were inducted into the organization during the program.

Guests were Lloyd Laramore and Jim Morris. Toastmaster was Jim Brown and general evaluator was James Hart.

BLAME MICKEY MOUSE

BERLIN (UPI)—Mickey Mouse now has been blamed by the Communists for promoting juvenile delinquency in East Germany.

The Communist newspaper Volksstimme said Monday that two youths tried to obstruct traffic in Karl-Marx-Stadt (formerly Chemnitz) by placing telegraph poles across the streets.

Sturdy furniture and bright colors are in demand for a boy's room. Bunk bedspreads in red tattersall check are inexpensive and machine washable. Note the wall hook for pajamas and his bathrobe.

Older children who turn up their noses at mother's ideas for a "cute" little room have definite ideas of what they do want. A girl's dream room usually revolves around a colonial tester bed with canopy.

Mother Doesn't Always Know Best About Furnishing Children's Room

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Interprise

Enthusiastic young parents who have lavished the best in nurseries on their first-born may be laboring under a comfortable, shortsighted delusion.

This is to assume their little angel will remain an adoring baby and never question the excellence of their taste in decor. The folly of this assumption won't be apparent immediately but I can tell you from experience what to expect.

In a few years, and long before the bloom is off the furnishing, the little angel grows up and goes off to school. Here he or she enters the larger social life.

This involves bringing home swarms of little pals to wrestle (boys) or to giggle and experiment with fingernail polish (girls). Don't kid yourself that they'll shed tears if the polish spills or a boot gouges the bed.

In turn, your angel will see other children's rooms. The comparison between his and theirs won't be in your favor. You'll be asked why you can't provide extra sleeping space to accommodate that enduring institution of "having a friend spend the night." (Boys can be conned into sleeping bags on the floor.)

Then both boys and girls will demand more of a say in their room furnishings. The growls I hear from the nine-year-old male condemn the "cute" toy drum and soldier approach to wallpapers and bedspreads.

He wants everything "plain" in red or blue, bunk beds, strong shelves, pegs for hanging up clothes (closet hanger are too much trouble) and no interference in his arrangement of collections even though they are messy. I insist that he accept a hounds tooth check or a plaid in curtains and bedspreads.

To a ten year-old girl, there is apparently only one one desirable piece of furniture: an early American tester bed.

Now I wonder why we overlooked such obvious points when we so carefully selected that lovely provincial walnut single bed a few years ago.

What purchasers of tester beds soon discover is that the initial investment in the bed is only the first step towards the romantic dream room. The next step is a canopy and the prescribed flounced bedspread and these can cost as much or more than the bed if you're not alert.

Dear Polly: A year ago we painted our living room with semigloss paint. We were proud of it until a friend said, "Nobody but nobody uses paint like that on living room walls." We like the gloss finish. It's easier to wash off sticky finger marks. We'd like to know what your opinion is before we paint the bedroom. — Mrs. L. Q. W.

Dear Mrs. L. Q. W.: Pay no attention to your meddlesome friend if you like the semigloss paint. However, I do agree that flat paint makes a far softer and prettier background.

Dear Polly: I'm a high school girl. For one of my projects, I'd like to redecorate my room. Furniture is dark mahogany; accessories and curtains now are pink. I'd like to paint an old desk white. What color should walls, woodwork, floor and accessories be? I'd like to use pink in my scheme and I have mother's permission and support. — J. H.

Dear J. H.: What a joy to hear from a teen-ager who wants to take the responsibility for her own decorating!

Dear Abby...

Romantic Love
Not Always Best!

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 25. I have a son who is 6. He was born out of wedlock. We live with my mother and I work. I have grown fond of a man who is 50. He's the kindest, most considerate man I've ever known. He wants to marry me and adopt my son. He never mentions my past, is good to my son, and you won't believe this, Abby, but he's never gotten fresh or made an indecent suggestion to me. My one experience with "romantic love" was with the baby's father. He ran like a rat when he learned I was pregnant. My friends say I'll be sorry if I marry this man. I think I'll be happy. Can a marriage based on mutual respect and understanding work? Or must there be "romantic love"?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: I've heard from many couples whose marriages — based on "romantic love" — collapsed in less than a year. No marriage is perfect. Mutual respect and understanding is a solid enough foundation for a lasting marriage.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a husband who is going back to his second childhood. I am 57 and he is 59 and we live in a rural community. My husband walks half a mile down the road every morning to catch a ride with a fellow worker who drives right past our door.

The reason my husband goes to this man's house to wait is because he hopes to catch the man's wife in her baby doll pajamas. He has kidded me about this, but I wouldn't put it past him. What action should I follow?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: Get yourself a pair of baby doll pajamas.

DEAR ABBY: We have in our circle of friends a fine man who has a very bad habit. He monopolizes every conversation, in his own home, or anybody else's. He seems unhappy unless he has the floor. We often enjoy the presence of a well-traveled visitor, but we are robbed of the wonderful experiences he has to tell because this man insists on doing all the talking, asking all the questions or changing the subject. He is well-to-do, respected and intelligent, and we wouldn't hurt his feelings for the world. He can be correct without offending him? HIS FRIEND.

DEAR FRIENDS: If he is truly "intelligent," do him a favor and tell him, privately. He might be a little "hurt" at first, but if he

Polly's Quiz

When decorating time rolls around, imagination and ingenuity are as important as money.

A tight budget was indirectly responsible for the handsome dining room of one newlywed couple. Their dining table had a top made of a slab door and a base of two porch columns. They painted the table black and spattered it lightly in gold. They used inexpensive peel cane tub chairs around the table.

For a storage and serving piece, there was a marble-topped Victorian chest rubbed down to a natural dull finish. They painted the walls of the room hot pink and hung two black coach lights on one wall.

Cover the walls with pink-and-white candy striped cotton (dress fabric will do) and have matching curtains. The fabric is easily applied to the wall. Put the paste on the wall instead of the fabric. Wipe paste spots off while cotton is still damp.

Cover the floor with white vinyl tiles and put a fluffy dark green rug by the bed. Use a striped dust ruffle and white quilted bedspread.

Paint your desk white with a dark green interior. A piece or two of green glass would be pretty.

When baking a cake, use a toothpick for testing. Pierce the cake and if the pick comes out clean, the cake is ready.

HERE! THE TRUCKS THAT RIDE SMOOTHER, WORK HARDER, LAST LONGER!

ORDINARY 1-BEAM FRONT AXLE transmits road shock and vibrations between wheels and to chassis and cab.

CHEVY'S INDEPENDENT SUSPENSION. Each wheel flexes independently, minimizes stress and strain on chassis and cab.

Just a year ago, Chevy came up with independent front suspension and has already put some 300,000 Chevrolet trucks with it out on jobs.

The ride that results from Chevy's suspension design is making life a lot easier for drivers. (Just ask them.) It's taking better care of loads, the fragile kind that cost somebody money if they are bounced around. Chevy's ride also enables truck owners to revise their buying habits and work their trucks longer before they trade. This follows naturally. The trucks take less of a beating. There's less stress on sheet metal. Less abuse to tires. Less pounding that wears out parts before their time. The upshot of it is, you either save money or earn more of it or both. And you couldn't ask a truck to do more than that. See your dealer. CHEVROLET

Final UPI Grid Poll Places Minnesota Team On Top

By Art Mayhew

Texas Tech faces one of its biggest decisions since its founding in 1925 this week with the selection of a new head football coach to replace DeWitt Weaver, who resigned last week to enter private business in Alabama.

Upon the mentor's shoulders will ride the hopes of Tech alumni that the Raiders will pick up their feet and make a strong bid for the Southwest Conference title in years to come.

Although "those who know" in the coach-choosing circles are trying to build up suspense in the new head man, there seems to be little doubt but that J. T. King, present first assistant, will get his chance.

King has served as assistant coach for three years, coming to Tech from Texas U., and before that Texas A & M. He is a good recruiter and well-liked by most high school coaches around Lubbock, which is quite important when it comes to soliciting support in attempts to get good high school talent.

Tech Has Potential

However, it would be an understatement to say that King is a "big-name coach." And, for this reason, we feel that Tech will be little bettered by the King-for-Weaver change.

Tech has one of the greatest drawing areas of any major college in the state. By and large, West Texas produces more good football players than any other section of the state — or Southwest — for that matter.

In order for Tech to come up to SWC standards, West Texas boys must be lured to the Lubbock school. Some of the better boys within 200 miles of Tech that have gotten away recently were Stinnett's Larry Dawson, who went to TCU; Hale Center's Monte Lee, who starred at Texas; Abilene's twin terrors, Boyd and Rufus King; who went to Rice; Midland's Wahoo McCaniel who starred at Oklahoma two years ago; Odessa's Ronnie Goodwin, who is making a

What About Kerbel?

"As a member of the Southwest Conference, we (Tech) must follow SWC procedure in naming a coach, that is, the athletic council — composed of students, alumni, a faculty representative, etc. — makes a recommendation to the president, who in turn informs the athletic committee which brings the matter to the board itself. The full board must vote on recommendation then.

"But, any decision will be influenced by our new athletic director, Polk Robison. After all since he must work closely with the new coach, Polk's recommendation must be considered strongly," Lindsey added.

Hot Stove League Warms Up

American League Set To Enter Los Angeles; Drafts Continue

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The American League has decided to enter Los Angeles and operate as a 10-team structure in 1961, the United Press International learned today.

The action will be taken on or before Dec. 5, the date which the American League set as a deadline for its answer to a proposal made to the National League last week.

That proposal asked the NL to join the AL as a nine-team league and engage in inter-league play next season. If the NL adopted the plan, the AL promised to defer entering Los Angeles until 1962. Otherwise, the AL insisted it would go into Los Angeles for the 1961 season.

Although the NL has not given its official answer yet, it is no secret here at the baseball meetings that it will reject the nine-club plan on Dec. 5. That will instrument the American League's action.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Texas League teams picked up two players and lost four to Triple-A clubs Monday in the annual minor league draft.

Amarillo drafted Ray Geiser, a pitcher from the Allentown team in the Class A Eastern League, and San Antonio picked up second baseman Elder White from Savannah in the Sally League.

Drafted from Texas League clubs were Tulsa Pitcher Ted Thiem by Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League; San Antonio pitcher John Goetz by Tacoma in the PCL; and Amarillo pitchers Phil Murdock and Robert Wasko by Houston of the American Association and Montreal of the International League, respectively.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The International League has extended its boundaries to Puerto Rico by moving the Miami franchise to San Juan.

Despite a proposal that the league make Caracas, Venezuela, the eighth member, there is a strong movement among IL officials that some way be found to keep a franchise in Montreal.

TIME OUT — Possible Air Force stars of the future, Johnny, 11, and Jeff Engbreton, 8, covered themselves with mud during a Little League football game sponsored by the Forbes Air Force Base in Topeka, Kan. They seem to be wearing roughly half the gridiron as they settle down with a couple of hot dogs to watch a second game.

3-4A Teams Hit Floor In Near-Full Schedule

District 3-4A, showing a 4-2 record after the first round of games last week, sends out three new teams tonight in non-conference warfare on scattered points.

Pampa's Harvesters open their belated season Friday night in Quanah.

Amarillo's Sandies, pre-season choice to take the district title away from Borger, meet Clovis in Amarillo, Plainview goes to Dimmitt in its opener and Borger takes on high-scoring Hereford in Hereford tonight.

Also on tap tonight, Tascosa (1-0) travels to Dumas (1-0), Monterey (1-1) hosts Seminole and Lubbock (1-1) hosts to Midland.

Palo Duro (1-0) is idle until Friday when they go to Odessa Permian.

Borger may have a stern opening test against Hereford's Whitefaces (2-1). Undeclared until Palo Duro stopped them, 101-85, last week, the Whitefaces possess a high scoring outfit that shoots first and asks questions later.

Moore Drops Weak Turman

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Archie Moore, the 188-pound champion of the 175-pound light heavy weight division, hinted today he might return to Dallas in the near future to defend his championship — possibly against Willie Pastrano.

The 46-year-old Moore indicated interest in such a match Monday night after shuffling through a dull, lackluster unanimous 16-round decision over unranked heavyweight Buddy Turman of Tyler, Tex.

Monday night's fight, Archie struggled on fairly even terms with Turman for the first three rounds. But after the 186-pound Texan clipped Moore with a left in the fourth, the champ quit tony and went to work.

Royal Admits UT Cautious

AUSTIN (UPI) — Coach Darrell Royal Monday discounted the idea that his Texas Longhorns have a characteristic second-half let-down.

He admitted, however, that the Steers appear to take a conservative course after they get in front.

"I don't think it (a letdown) is something we'll encounter in the Bluebonnet (bowl) game," Royal said.

The Longhorns will rest until Dec. 5 before returning to the practice field to limber up for the Dec. 17 game with Alabama. Royal said the team would return to the field in sweat togs, then put on pads probably the next day.

Texas has not scouted Alabama, so Royal said an agreement had been worked out with Coach Bear Bryant to swap five game films for study.

Texas survived a tremendous last half effort last Thursday to beat Texas A&M 21-14 and close out a 7-3 season. Texas lost two games — to Nebraska and Arkansas — in the last half and showed signs of deterioration in several others.

Bowl-Bound Hogs Rank In Nation's 7th Spot

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Minnesota's Golden Gophers are the national major college football champions of 1960 and — according to Coach Murray Warmath — "will try to demonstrate we deserve the honor against Washington in the Rose Bowl."

Minnesota was named to receive the permanent UPI trophy emblematic of the national championship in the final vote of the United Press International 35-man board of coaches. The Gophers, who rose to the top after a disastrous 2-7 record in 1959, were picked first by 21 coaches and beat out Iowa, 326 points to 300. Minnesota and Iowa each had an 8-1 record and they share the Big Ten title.

Unbeaten, once-tied Mississippi ranked third with 284 points, followed by Missouri (194 points), Washington (181), Navy (180), Arkansas (137), Ohio State (89) and Kansas and Alabama which tied for 10th with 44 points each.

"That's just wonderful," said Warmath when he learned of the news in Buffalo, N. Y. "Now we've got to demonstrate that we deserve it by beating Washington in the Rose Bowl. No, I don't think the burden of carrying the national championship will hurt us — I don't think winning ever hurts a team."

Warmath paid tribute to his assistant coaches — Denver Crawford, Jim Camp, Wallace Johnsons, Dick Larson and Dick Bor-

Bears Take Short Rest

WACO (UPI) — For the next nine days, Baylor's Bears can forget about football. Then it's back on the practice field to prepare for the Gator Bowl game against Florida.

Coach John Bridgers said the Bruins will return to practice on Dec. 7, then be recessed for Christmas on Dec. 21, the last day of classes. They will return to the campus for a short work out on Dec. 26, then fly the next day to Jacksonville, Fla.

ELGIN BAYLOR ...leads Laker win

Baylor, Wilt Battle For Top NBA Honors

By United Press International

Elgin Baylor and Wilt Chamberlain show early indications of carrying their battle for the National Basketball Association scoring championship right down to the wire.

Baylor scored 42 points to Chamberlain's 43 Monday night as the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the Philadelphia Warriors, 137-112, in the only NBA action.

The scoring performance of Baylor was more remarkable because of the fact that he played his ninth game in 10 nights.

Baylor received sizeable support from Jim Krebs, who was deadly on jump shots from the corner and scored 30 points.

Chamberlain's point total set a new Sports Arena record, but failed to prevent the Lakers from winning their first game from Philadelphia in four meetings this season.

The teams travel to New York for a doubleheader tonight, with Detroit and New York paired on the other half of the twin bill. Syracuse plays Cincinnati and Boston meets St. Louis in a St. Louis doubleheader.

Holub Tops Shrine '11'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — E.J. Holub of Texas Tech heads the 24 football stars from colleges and universities west of the Mississippi named today to the West team of the Shrine All-Star game here Dec. 31.

UCLA placed three men on the list. Two players were named from Southern California, Texas Christian, Utah, Southern Methodist and Stanford.

Holub, a 250-pound center, has been lauded by professional scouts as the greatest center and linebacker to come along in years.

Named to the West team: Quarterbacks: Richie Mayo, Air Force Academy, Bill Kilmer, UCLA.

Halfbacks: Glynn Gregory, Southern Methodist; Keith Lincoln, Washington State; Jerry Hill, Wyoming; Charlie Fuller, San Francisco State; Dale Messer, Fresno State.

Fullbacks: Tom Watkins, Iowa State; Skip Case, Stanford.

Ends: Marlin McKeever, Southern California; Jim Johnson, UCLA; Marvin Luster, UCLA; Aaron Thomas, Oregon State.

Tackles: Don Hinshaw, Stanford; Bob Lilly, Texas Christian; Jerry Mays, Southern Methodist; Ken Peterson, Utah.

Guards: Tony Polychronis, Utah; Carl Kemmerer, College of Pacific; Robert Miett, Southern California; Dale Urell, Oregon. Centers: E. J. Holub, Texas Tech; Arvie Martin, Texas Christian; Fred Hageman, Kansas.

Navy Star Wins Award

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Bul-let Joe Bellino, Navy's high-scoring halfback, has been unanimously named winner of the Robert W. Maxwell Trophy.

Bellino, hero of last Saturday's Army-Navy football game when he scored the field's first touchdown and saved the day with a last-second interception, will receive the trophy at the Maxwell Club's 24th annual dinner here Feb. 6.

The 22-year-old first classman from Winchester, Mass., averaged 4.96 yards per carry as he gained 834 yards on 168 attempts.

Richie Lucas of Penn State won the award last year.

Evolution In Action

Julian Huxley has a reputation as a biologist and an evolutionist far too elevated for us to damage it in any way. Indeed, his efforts in these fields have been exemplary and he is stongly to be commended for his adherence to strictly scientific thinking and his unwillingness to accept non-scientific points of view in his own special areas of knowledge.

We have finished reading a book from his pen which, while it has much to recommend it, also contains an utterly unscientific boost for UNESCO which causes us to wish that he had stuck to his position as a scientist without trying to presume in areas he has not yet thoroughly explored.

The book we mention is called "Evolution in Action" and is available in a paper-backed edition on most newsstands for a mere 50 cents. The book is worth every penny of it and its first chapters are excellent.

Here in simple and non-technical language the author sets forth the processes of evolution, explains how natural selection works and introduces scientifically the concept of evolutionary improvement which we found to be one of the better things available in this field.

We might point out, as Mr. Huxley does, that some scientists regard the term improvement since it seems to them to call for a value judgment rather than a firm scientific finding. Yet, in the usage put to the term by Huxley, he manages to show that within his own usage the word is precise enough to convey precisely what he means to convey.

But when Mr. Huxley finishes presenting his scientific argument and assays the difficult realm of prognostication and fortune telling, he comes to grief. And this is tragic, for there will be some unkind souls who may imagine from this book that Julian is out to implement "Brave New World," the shocking prediction in novel form written by his brother, Aldous. Actually, we would demur from this conclusion without better evidence. Yet, the inference could be drawn.

What Julian does here is to presume that on the strength of his obvious knowledge respecting our evolutionary past, he can predict with certainty what man's evolutionary future "ought to be." We

Who Will Run The GOP?

It appears there is going to be an horrendous struggle for control of the Republican Party.

Having failed to win a majority of votes both on the popular count (tho it was mighty close) but especially via the electoral route, it appears that three mighty men are going to enter into a great bout for the leadership of the losing organization.

Vice President Nixon will be the nominal head of the party, of course. This is his due by virtue of the office he still holds and by virtue of his experience from any avenue of approach.

But Barry Goldwater, at the head of his legions of conservatives, will be charging in from the west to take on Rockefeller and his cohorts of liberals in the Empire State of New York.

Nixon represents, in this conflict, the welding element which sought to join these divergent factions. Now it is claimed by both Goldwater and Rockefeller that had the party been further right or further left, as the case might be, a victory could have occurred.

Despite the national interest in the scene, we take a dim view of the struggle. For it is our considered verdict that even if Mr. Goldwater should carry the day (and we would certainly feel more friendly to his policies than to those of the free wheeling do-gooder from Albany), the victory for him would be without meaning.

As we view the political scene we can say with some degree of accuracy that approximately half of the people in the nation shared the views of Kennedy for one reason or another, and voted for him. We believe we can also say

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — There are so many neurotic dogs around these days that people are even writing books about them (one "people" has, at least) and all I have to say is that if you have a neurotic dog on your hands it is your own fault. You can cure this condition yourself. It takes only 14 months before improvement shows.

A year ago last September some people, who felt compassion for us because a beloved Pull died, called up and said if we would drive to the kennels in Connecticut we could have a Skye terrier, registered, son of champions, grandson of champions, a lively, intelligent, faithful little fellow who would be a blessing in the house. Naturally, we drove to Connecticut. The dog from this kennel run around $350 each and this one was for free. I'd drive to Maine for that.

He was one year old, charming, undoubtedly beautiful. He was washed and combed, slicked and ready to show. The kennel manager said, "He is likely to turn to one member of the family, once he has settled down, and that member will be his major focus of affection. He will tolerate others. It is the Skye nature."

Since I had to drive, I turned this youngster over to my wife, who wisely had brought along a stack of papers and some old towels. Kennel dogs tend to become ill in cars. He was ill in the car. We didn't mind that and felt sorry for him. When we got him home we discovered that he had made his fix — he didn't wait to settle down. My bride was his fix. She had held his hot little head when he was ill in the car, this was his Florence Nightingale, his heroine. She could do anything with him—no one else could do anything. He would not come closer than 30 feet to any other member of the family and if we tried to wheedle him into closer contact he would run until he was 60 feet away. He even, if my bride was away, would sleep outside even though snow and sleet were falling and the temperature was below freezing. He never even caught cold, although one morning, when she returned from Boston at 5 o'clock, he followed her into the house, his legs encased in packed, frozen snow that had to be melted off. He would rather have frozen to death than come into the house with her absent.

Naturally, this grieved the rest of us. We felt asleep worried about the poor little thing out there in the wind-driven snow and piercing cold.

When we moved to Iowa, things became complicated for him. Now he was in an apartment and could not run away. We decided to play it cool. Let him come to us. Three of us deliberately ignored him. The girls went away to school last September after two months in the apartment and, as far as he was concerned, they didn't exist when they were there and didn't exist now that they were gone. Disdain. We almost called him a Great Disdain. Families often make feeble jokes like that.

Now he was down to two persons and the walls: his beloved heroine and me. She went away for a few days and I managed to corner him twice a day to harness him to go out. It was a struggle. He didn't even want his meals from me.

Not one thing improved until, just five days ago, suddenly and without warning, at breakfast, he wagged his tail, came over, put his small, stubby legs up on my left thigh and looked me right in the eye. I looked him right back. No rancor on either side, no tension. He looked for two solid minutes, then his tail began wagging furiously and fast and he licked my hand.

Since then, we have been inseparable and night and morning he has to race me to find the living room, snapping his teeth at my hands as I get down on all fours and growl at him. He never touches my hands — just snaps at them. He is terribly hurt if this game is overlooked or curtailed.

So you see, it works. You can cure a neurotic dog. It takes only 14 months, reserved manner and never a harsh or impatient word.

make a delineation on the basis of political belief, then we would have to say that there are about 46 million liberals who might be attracted to follow either Rockefeller or Kennedy, but that there are, perhaps, only about 11 million conservatives, with a possible middle group of about 11 1/2 million which represents the straddled segment of the GOP led by Richard Nixon.

While this group could conceivably go over to the Goldwater camp, even so, the totals there would indicate something like 22 1/2 million conservatives and almost-conservatives who in a contest would confront something like 46 million liberals.

The contest is hopelessly uneven. Thus, it seems to us that if Barry gets control of the GOP he will reduce the party in size to a fragment, but he will instill something of a new spirit in it, which may or may not be decisive.

If Rockefeller gets control of the party, then there would be no need for the party, for he and Kennedy would always approach problems with a similar framework of reference.

But if we are going to try to

KENNEDY TO ASK CONGRESS TO INCREASE STUDENT LOAN PROGRAM TO $100 MILLION
WASHINGTON — President-elect Kennedy proposes to ask Congress to expand the federal loan program for university students to $100 million — approximately double the $58.4 million appropriated for this fiscal year.

That's what he strongly indicated in his conference with Vice President-elect Johnson, who heartily approved.

During Kennedy's election campaign, he repeatedly advocated more government aid to increase the number of college students, particularly in science, engineering and medicine. He contended this is essential to meet the great increase of Soviet graduates in these fields.

To Johnson and other leaders the President-elect is now saying he considers this a "top priority commitment," and he is talking in terms of boosting the student loan program to $100 million.

Since being launched in 1958, it has been a resounding success. This year more than 150,000 university students sought these government tuition loans of up to $1,000. They are available for any field of accredited study, with $5,000 the maximum over a five-year period. Repayment does not start until a year after graduation.

James Moore, head of the Office of Education loan program, estimates next year's applicants for this educational assistance will total around 200,000 — up $6,000 over this year.

To meet this anticipated big increase he has asked the Budget Bureau for $73 million.

That is still being deliberated by the bureau, which is formulating President Eisenhower's final budget that he will submit to the new Congress before leaving the White House on Jan. 20. That budget is not binding on his successor, who can increase or cut it as he desires.

The Commissioner of Education in the Kennedy Administration may very likely be a woman.

Two are under consideration. According to Kennedy insiders they are Miss Lucia Cormier, former schoolteacher and Democratic leader of the Maine legislature, who unsuccessfully opposed Senator Margaret Chase Smith; and Velma Linford, Wyoming State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who was defeated for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

WHO'S GETTING WHAT — Myer Feldman, brainy and pleasant long-time legislative assistant of President-elect Kennedy, is credited by insiders as a strong possibility for Budget Director. Feldman has extensive budget and congressional experience, and is one of Kennedy's closest aides.

Governor Abraham Ribicoff has definitely decided not to be Attorney General in the new cabinet, which was offered him. He prefers a judicial appointment, eventually to the Supreme Court. This backstage Ribicoff decision opens the way for Democratic State Chairman John Bailey's being named Postmaster General. One of the earliest and most active Kennedy supporters, Bailey is rated in his party as one of its ablest politicians.

Despite Senator Henry Jackson's indicated intention to continue for a year or so as Democratic National Chairman, the odds are strongly against that. Best bet is that he will step out in the spring and be replaced by Lawrence O'Brien, Boston attorney and chief dynamo in the national headquarters during

Students Now Conservative

For more years than today's adults can remember, campus radicals have been advocates of massive government intervention in the affairs of individual citizens. In other words, politically alert youth, in the main, has been socialist in outlook.

But all that's changing — and just in the nick of time. The brightest minds among the younger generation of college youth are finding inspiration in the principles of conservative government.

John Chamberlain, brilliant writer on economics who in his own youth was a fiery radical, recently discussed the young people who are definitely right-wing and definitely drawn to political leaders like Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Mr. Chamberlain reports that there is a new radicalism abroad in the land. "The new radicalism," he said, "is a radicalism which looks with favor on free freedom and responsibility for individuals and more power over taxes and spending for local political units — is already on the attack in the college communities."

Most of today's academic leaders — the professors and researchers — see the 1930s — the New Deal — through a purple haze. Their dream of the ideal commonwealth is one where Franklin Roosevelt is the perpetual ruler, proposing and disposing for a mute, accepting electorate.

These academicians are still very influential in the United States. They are almost certain to play a major role in the Kennedy administration. But their time is running out. Four, eight or 12 years from now today's youth will have a major say in U.S. elections and U.S. government, and their conservatism will drive out "liberalism."

Mr. Chamberlain notes, for example, that at Harvard University, the home of such Fair Deal professor-politicians as Arthur Schlesinger Jr. and John K. Galbraith — the new president of the student council turns out to be anti-Schlesinger and anti-Galbraith, a conservative crusader of a kind Harvard hasn't seen in a generation.

The Yale Calliopean Society, once a sad little group of conservats surrounded by numerous eggheads of the Fair Deal variety, has a long roster of members. At Jackson, Mississippi, students from several southern colleges have joined together to publish "The Campus Conservative," a publication that speaks the language of a new day.

Much of the vigor of the new collegiate conservatism comes from an organization known as the Intercollegiate Society of Individualists. Its publication, "The Individualist," keeps students advised of the developing conservative movement at the college level. It helps students avoid indoctrination by the old-line "liberals" who dominate so many college departments and seek to bar conservatism from the thinking of a new generation.

It's only natural that college students of today should turn to conservatism and find their most popular reading in "The Consensus of a Conservative," Senator Goldwater's book which is the rage on the campus. Youth certainly ought to see the appeal of individualism. And all around them, today's young people see the frightening meaning of collectivism.

Youth is beginning to realize that the biggest battle for individual liberty — possibly the last chance to preserve it — will be fought in this country and in our time. By studying the writings of a contemporary conservative like Barry Goldwater, college youths are putting on the armor of knowledge with which they will be protected when they go out into the world to fight and keep this country the kind of Republic our forefathers intended it to be.

RED OFFICIALS ARRIVE

HAVANA (UPI) — Charge D'Affaires Huang Wen-yu and four lesser officials from Peiping arrived here Monday night to establish Red China's first embassy in Latin America.

The Doctor Says:

DR. HAROLD T. HYMAN

Unlike symptomatic treatment, psychotherapy aims to discover and then remedy the causes for disorders in our conduct, emotional upsets, personality defects and neuroses.

But psychotherapy, to be effective, is both time-consuming and costly. In the case of psychoanalysis, the most searching form of intensive psychotherapy, the patient may be required to spend an hour a session with the analyst every weekday for months and even years.

On this account, the conscientious analyst can care for no more than a handful of patients each year. And, even if his hourly fee to the individual patient is relatively modest, considering the length and hardships of his training program, the total cost of a complete analysis is prohibitive to all but those with high income.

Furthermore, a recent "research," published in a leading journal of psychiatry, imposes an additional limitation that has never been given consideration in any form of medical treatment with which I am familiar. Persons of a "lower class level," the authors write, are unlikely candidates for "insight psychotherapy."

Applicants of the "lower class," the article goes on to say, are of lower intelligence and have a limited educational background. On these counts, they cannot understand the nature and objectives of treatment. Hence, they lack a desire for psychotherapy. Well now!

What form of treatment then is available to those of us who are ineligible for "intensive psychotherapy" because of considerations of economics or "class"?

Reliable surveys indicate that one of us in each group of 10 will require some type of formal psychotherapy at some time in the course of our lives. At any given time, therefore, the case load for the nation might approximate a million children, women and men!

To care for this vast army of patients, we have fewer than 6,000 accredited specialists in neurology and psychiatry. It is well possible to make an even division of the calculated case load, each specialist would have the impossible assignment of caring for almost 200 patients.

But the distribution of our specialists is anything but equitable. With few exceptions, they congregate in the largest of our metropolitan communities. For example, Greater Los Angeles (including Beverly Hills and Hollywood) has a larger population of accredited neurologists and psychiatrists than the combined total of those who practice in Alaska, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North and South Dakota and Wyoming.

Can it be, as the "research" suggests, that our fellow-countrymen in these states are of a "lower class"? Or that they lack a desire for psychotherapy?

Or, conversely, is it that big city victims of this "Age of Anxiety" (such as those who make up the motion picture colony, for example) are of a higher cultural and educational level than the rest of us and hence more desirous of getting rid of their anxieties, tensions, depressions and the like?
