State Payroll Tax Proposed

AUSTIN (UPI)—A 1 per cent payroll-earnings tax was recommended today by Gov. Price Daniel's Finance Advisory Commission as the means of solving Texas' growing money problem.

In a report to the governor, the commission estimated the proposed tax would raise $217 million during the 1961-63 biennium.

The commission said the tax will need at least $100 million in new revenue during each of the next two years.

The 1 per cent tax would be divided between employer and employee—each paying one-half per cent.

It would be levied on all earnings of more than $1,000 per year.

Self-employed persons would pay one-half of one per cent on earnings less costs of operation.

The tax would "cost the average citizen and business less than a general sales tax or graduated income tax," commission chairman John S. Redditt of Lufkin said.

Daniel instructed the commission to avoid a sales or income tax in their revenue recommendations.

Redditt said the payroll tax would also be cheaper to collect. He called it a "reasonable compromise between opposing tax philosophies" and "as fair to all taxpayers of Texas."

As an alternate to the payroll tax, the commission proposed an increase in many present excise taxes, plus some selective levies on items currently free of taxation.

The alternate plan would yield about $226 million over the next two years.

The commission also recommended a $400 teacher pay raise; improved college programs including a faculty pay boost; medical funds for the needy aged; expanded state hospital facilities; new buildings and funds for the (See PAYROLL, Page 2)

Reds Ask Release Of Lumumba

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The Security Council was summoned into urgent session today, on a Russian demand for the immediate release of leftist Premier Patrice Lumumba of the Congo and the disarming of the troops of Col. Joseph Mobutu that arrested him on charges amounting to treason.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld planned to go before the council for a personal defense of his Congo policy which has been under attack by the Soviet Union ever since U.N. intervention in the troubled African country.

The council was summoned at the demand of Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin, who also is its president for this month. If he follows the precedent he set last Saturday night by giving the floor to himself first, he was capable of tying up the 11-nation group for hours before even Hammarskjöld is recognized to speak.

Russia served notice in the General Assembly that it will force a new Congo debate in the world parliament also. Soviet Delegate Alexi A. Roschin said the council would debate the Congo today and it would be taken up "two days later in the General Assembly."

The Western powers stopped cold his "arbitrary" attempt to force the council into a session Tuesday night on Lumumba's plight. Zorin notified Hammarskjöld that he was calling a session at 8:30 p.m., EST. But the United States and seven other council members told the secretary-general they did not want a meeting without proper notice affording them time for consultation. The meeting was postponed until this morning.

The Congo crisis overshadowed the main political committee debate on the Algerian question and the General Assembly's discussions on the issue of colonialism.

Westerly Winds May Usher In Rough Winter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The high westerlies have changed course again, and instead of a generally mild winter it looks as though we're in for a generally nasty one.

The high westerlies have a lot to do with what kind of weather we have. They are great air currents which swirl around the northern hemisphere from west to east.

During the first half of November they blew straight and fast across the northern U.S. border, fending off invasions of cold air from the polar regions.

If they had stayed on that track, the continental United States would have enjoyed a generally mild winter — "generally mild" being a term meaning "occasionally mean."

But they didn't. Jerome Namias said today. Namias, chief of the Weather Bureau's extended forecasts section, said the westerlies took to meandering about 10 days ago in great north-south loops.

As a result, cold air from Alaska and Canada has broken through to trigger an early onset of winter. This is in contrast to last winter when the bad weather held off, generally until the mid-February to mid-March period.

Hiroshima Bomb Now 'T-Model'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At 8:14 a.m. on Aug. 6, 1945, a lone American B29, the "Enola Gay," dropped on Hiroshima, Japan, a single black bomb 120 inches long, 28 inches in diameter, weighing 9,000 pounds.

It was nicknamed "Little Boy." It killed 70,000 Japanese and maimed 70,000 others.

For the next 15 years the world did not know what that first atomic bomb dropped in war looked like — the bomb that hastened the end of World War II and opened a new era of hope and horror.

But now the Hiroshima bomb and the slightly different "Fat Man" bomb that killed 35,000 persons in Nagasaki three days later are "Model T" types compared to the later nuclear death weapons.

So, Tuesday — the eve of the 15th anniversary of the atomic attack on Pearl Harbor — the Defense Department and Atomic Energy Commission, with reluctant State Department agreement, released the first photographs of the type of bombs dropped on Japan.

The pictures disclosed that the awesome weapons were not elaborate constructions from the pages of science fiction. Rather, they looked much like ordinary fin-tailed bombs.

The statistics revealed that modern American nuclear missile warheads weigh only one-fifth as much, but release 150 times the explosive power of the Hiroshima-Nagasaki bombs.

Officials said the photos of the Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombs had been kept secret for the past 15 years because of fears of possible diplomatic repercussions, particularly in Japan, now a U.S. ally.

A Pentagon source said the pictures have had no military value for years.

N. O. Pupils Returning To Classrooms

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — White mothers, their blockade of an integrated school smashed by police, stood by silently today when carloads of white children arrived for classes.

After more than two weeks of screams, curses, and stonings, the silence around William Frantz elementary school today was startling.

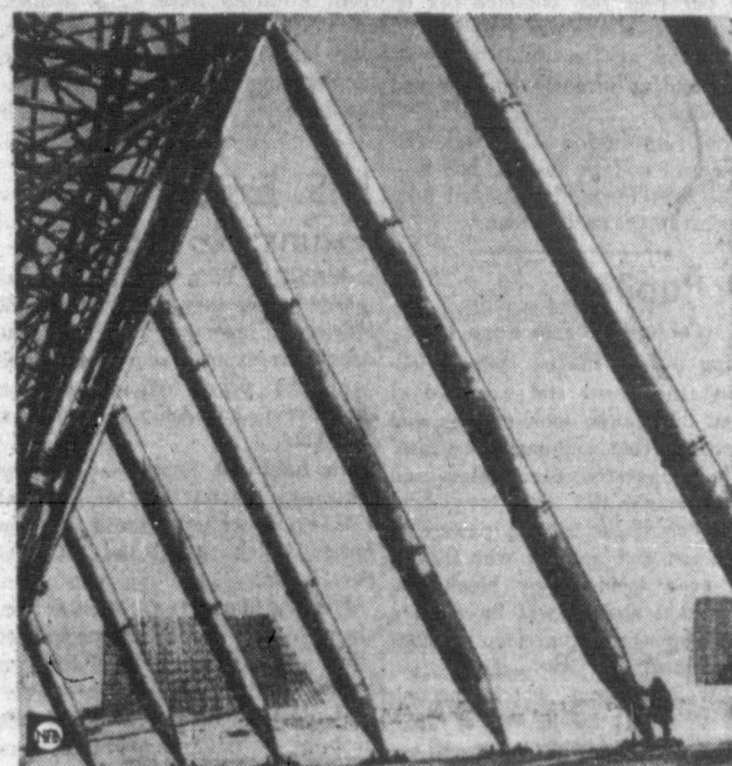

At least six cars brought white children to the school to attend classes with Ruby Nell Bridges, the lone Negro girl in the school. Newsmen counted at least 20 children going in, but it was believed more had entered through side doors.

Police kept up their barricades a block away from the school. About 20 white women stood on a lawn across the street from the school, but made no noise when the children arrived.

Buses came by the schools to pick up children attending private classes for the first time today in a corrugated steel building in St. Bernard Parish (county). Authorities running the private school wouldn't say how many children attended. All were in the first through third grades.

Chicago Vote Probe Deepens

CHICAGO (UPI) — Federal agents lurking in disputed precincts heightened the mystery today in Chicago's probe of alleged Democratic double-dealing at the polls.

Evidence that vote fraud helped Sen. John F. Kennedy win in Illinois Nov. 3 could call for a federal grand jury investigation, the Justice Department said as it announced FBI agents are at work in both Chicago and Texas.

The department said in Washington Tuesday it plans no "widespread investigation" but was following up a "substantial number" of complaints from voters or would-be voters. The department cited alleged irregularities that "appear to be a violation" of federal election laws.

Federal intervention dovetailed with a full in the month-old vote squabble, as new Democratic state attorney Daniel Ward suspended Cook County grand jury sessions for a week in order to examine evidence of alleged poll wrongdoings.

The GOP promptly charged the suspension would eat up a week of the jury's 30-day extension and said the suspension was added indication of Democratic attempts to conceal a "stolen" election.

Ward said he was forced to suspend the grand jury until he could decide whether to disqualify himself on grounds the validity of his own election was involved. "I don't know where my duty lies until I have examined the matter fully," Ward said. "If the grand jury were to meet tomorrow, the investigation would be conducted in the name of Daniel P. Ward, even if I never went near the jury."

He said there was a possibility of a "lawyer's allegation of error later in the proceedings."

The religious argument is that blue laws constitute an establishment of religion — that is, the religion of those Christian sects which observe Sunday as their holy day — in violation of the religious freedom guarantee in the Constitution.

The contention is that they violate the religious freedom of such groups as Jews, Seventh Day Adventists and Seventh Day Baptists, who keep Saturday as the Sabbath.

This approach was taken by Crown Kasher Super Market of Springfield, Mass., which won a ruling in a lower federal court overturning the Massachusetts blue law. This case, appealed to the high court by the Springfield chief of police, is the first one up for argument.

The non-religious argument is that the blue laws discriminate in favor of certain types of sales and certain sellers against others. For instance, the lower court noted that the Massachusetts law, which has been amended 70 times, permits digging for clams but not dredging for oysters. Although stores like Crown Market must close after 10 a.m. on Sunday, news dealers and druggists may sell milk and tobacco all day. Bakers also may stay open.

Those who favor the laws argue that the states under their police power may decree a "day of rest" for the welfare of all the people. Adv.

Texas Shivers

Snow And Sleet Fall Over State

The worst weather of the winter dipped deep into Texas today spreading a light blanket of snow throughout the western half of the state, freezing rain and sleet across the northern half, and bone chilling temperatures and drizzle into parts of the southland.

Moist warm air from the Gulf slowed the movement of the frigid mass of Canadian air that slammed into Texas Tuesday. As the warmer air crossed the path of the cold front, it triggered minor turbulence in the form of thunderstorms in some parts.

Gentle to locally heavy rain soaked other sections, generally across the north and eastern parts of Texas.

Driving was considered dangerous in the Panhandle and northwest. An icy glaze covered many highways. Snow up to two inches whipped by winds gusting up to 35 miles per hour was expected at Amarillo.

Light snow and sleet also was reported at Childress, Dalhart, Muleshoe, Adrian and Vega.

While freezing and below temperatures chilled the northwest and extreme north, the weather hit the south and east along the Gulf Coast early today was the warmest in the nation.

Corpus Christi had 72 and Brownsville reported 71. Coldest in the nation was five degrees below zero at Fraser, Colo., and Drummond, Mont.

The snow storm that dumped up to four inches along the eastern slopes of the Rockies, changed to freezing rain in a narrow band from the Lower Pecos Valley stretching through Western Oklahoma, and to rain through North Central and Eastern Texas and a narrow shoof through Southern Arkansas and Northern Louisiana.

During a six-hour period between 6 p.m. and midnight Tuesday, Tyler, had 1.56 inches and Laredo, reported 1.40 inches, with half of that amount in one hour.

The front was expected to bring much colder weather today to southern parts of Texas and produce some freezing rain and drizzle as far south as the north portion of Southwest Texas. Temperatures were expected to warm a bit in the Panhandle today, but the forecasts still called for light snow in the northwest and freezing drizzle across the top of the state into the North Central part.

Elsewhere, light rain or drizzle was expected to continue through tonight.

The rain at Dallas was the heaviest in more than two months. Amounts for the 24 hour period ended at 6 p.m. included Dallas 2.60 inches, Abilene 64, Amarillo .02, Austin .12, Beaumont .22, Childress .10, Dalhart .22, Fort Worth .19, Junction .09, Lubbock .02, Lufkin .56, Midland .02, Mineral Wells .01, San Angelo .14, San Antonio .01, Wichita Falls .02 and a trace at Houston, College Station, Brownsville and Alpine.

Daniel Takes Reigns Of Oil Compact Unit

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Gov. Price Daniel of Texas was elected chairman today of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission to succeed Gov. George Docking of Kansas.

Daniel will serve a one-year term. Other officers elected were Dr. Walter Jones of Tuscaloosa, Ala., first vice president, and Fred Moran of Owensboro, Ky., second vice president. Lawrence Alley and Earl Foster, both of and decreased production and depressed markets contribute to abandonment of the costly marginal stripper wells which are so important to conservative and maximum recovery from domestic oil reserves.

"These wells and these reserves had just as well be marked off as total losses if they have to compete without protection."

The governor said there was evidence of federal concern for the domestic oil producing industry and its national security role. He called the mandatory imports program "a vital, restricting influence." He said current conditions indicate a need for strengthening the program.

Concerning natural gas producers' problems, Daniel said the recent area pricing policy of the Federal Power Commission may prove of some help, but a "full and adequate solution rests on the prospect of freezing the gas producer from the depressant of utility-type regulation."

He said, concerning the third real danger, "I do not know how long the major proring states can preserve what we think is an essential conservation measure to prevent over-production and above-ground waste when other producing states ignore the measure of controls."

Gov. Docking, in his final report as commission chairman, said the organization was "setting an example for other agencies which could be developed in other lines of human activity in order to maintain regulation and management at levels wherein federal or international bureaucracy will not have a chance to take over the management of business to the detriment of the owners and operators."

Udall Put In Major Position

By MERRIMAN SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—President-elect John F. Kennedy today named a young congressional liberal, Rep. Stewart L. Udall, of Arizona, as secretary of the interior. He said Udall would bring "vigor and imagination" to the post.

The 48-year-old Udall met with Kennedy in the Carlyle Hotel before they held a joint news conference to announce Udall's appointment.

Earlier, Kennedy had spent 90 minutes in a breakfast conference with U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld for an extended private discussion of international conditions. Kennedy called Udall "an authority in the field of conservation and natural resources" and praised his record in Congress as outstanding.

"The coming years will witness an enormous increase in our need for natural resources if we are to meet our expanding commitments to our own people and to the free world," Kennedy said.

"Only a vigorous and imaginative administration of the department of the interior can assure us of the strength to meet those commitments."

The cabinet appointment was Kennedy's third. Previously he had named Gov. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut as secretary of health, education and welfare, and Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina as secretary of commerce.

Kennedy said resources development was a national, not a western or sectional problem. He said Udall, as a Westerner, had valuable background in the conservation field.

Udall, who pledged his support to Kennedy early in the presidential campaign, had carried the Arizona delegation at the Los Angeles Democratic national convention for the Massachusetts senator.

Kennedy said he met with Hammarskjöld because "the United States has a great stake in the United Nations."

"I wanted to talk with him about some of the problems facing the U.S. delegation in the coming sessions of 1960-61," Kennedy said.

Harvester Band Slates Concert Saturday Night

Pampa High School's Harvester band will give a concert at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium, the same program it will present at the Mid-West National Band Clinic in Chicago next week.

There will be no admission charge for the Saturday night concert. Band Director W. E. Tregos and band members are giving the program to express appreciation to the people of Pampa, The Band Boosters Club, the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and all those who have contributed to make possible their trip to the Chicago clinic.

The Pampa band is one of eight in the nation to receive a bid to the invitational clinic.

Saturday night's program will be the same the band will present next Wednesday night in Chicago's Sherman Hotel.

The Pampa group comprised of some 94 band members, school authorities and parents will leave next Monday and remain in Chicago through Dec. 17.

Principal Cameron Marsh said today school officials and band members felt Saturday night's free concert would be their best way of expressing appreciation to band supporters.

"The people of Pampa have given us wonderful support," Marsh said, "and we want to show them we appreciate it by inviting them to come and hear the program the band will present in Chicago."

Dying Boy's Prayer For Watermelon Is Answered

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — For more than a month now little Danny McDougald has been lying in his hospital bed dreaming about the clean, sweet taste of a sun-ripe watermelon.

Danny, just six years old, apparently is dying. He has cancer, and the doctors hold little hope for his recovery.

Before the disease turned him thin and pale, Danny was known around his hometown of Bluffton, S.C. as a real scourge of the melon patch. He and his friends were never able to get enough watermelon.

Lying in bed with nothing to do Danny began thinking about those melons. He begged his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McDougald Sr., to find him some.

A nurse at Savannah's memorial hospital had a melon in her food freezer, but it didn't taste right to Danny. His parents managed to find a few late or quick-frozen melons on the market, but Danny tasted them and said "it's not the real thing."

In desperation, his uncle, Wilbert Roland of Savannah, called a friend in Miami to see if there were any melons available in south Florida. The friend could find none, but somehow Miami Mayor Robert King High heard about the dying boy's request.

Mayor High tried fruit dealers in Cuba but found no melons. Then he contacted dealers in Honduras. They had some.

The mayor, at his own expense, arranged for a supply of watermelons to be flown by commercial airliner from Honduras to Savannah. They arrived Tuesday night.

U.S. Export Gains Noted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Frederick H. Mueller reported today that American exports scored a major gain this year, helping to ease the drain on American dollars and gold.

He held out hope that further increases would be possible in 1961 even without some of the forces which fueled the 1960 export boom.

For the long run, Mueller declared "we must raise our export trade by at least $3 billion a year."

To do this, he urged the $5 per cent of American manufacturers who sell only in this country to get into foreign markets. "There is a basic receptivity for American goods abroad," Mueller said, "the sales climate is better now than it has been for many years."

Texas Dems Answer GOP Complaints

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas Democrats prepared their formal answer for filing today in the election contest filed by the state Republican party.

Austin lawyer Jake Jacobsen said the Democratic answer would be filed this afternoon with Secretary of State Zollie Steakley, who is chairman of the Board of Vote Canvassers of Texas.

Democrats said GOP charges of vote-counting irregularities were "ridiculous," and did not allege any irregularity which would change the Texas vote which gave the state's 24 electors to President-elect John F. Kennedy.

The Republicans charged 100,000 voters were "disfranchised" because of the discarding of ballots considered mismarked. They allege mutilated or unvoted ballots were disregarded and not tabulated correctly, and said election judges were inconsistent in their treatment of mismarked votes.

Scribe 'Warms Up' Ears Boxing Probe Ideal For Auditory Training

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With a new session of Congress coming up in just four weeks, it seemed advisable to start getting my ears in shape for their annual bending.

So I hied over to the Senate caucus room to take a little aural exercise at a hearing being conducted by the Senate subcommittee on antitrust and monopoly.

The subcommittee currently is investigating the monopolistic aspects of professional boxing, which makes an ideal training camp for anyone in need of an auditory workout.

It normally takes only a couple of fast rounds with senatorial circumlocutions to put my eardrums back into condition, and the subcommittee has among its members such champions or leading contenders in this field as Sens. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.).

Kefauver, as chairman, weighed in first with a statement proclaiming the subcommittee's determination to discover whether there had been "a continuing conspiracy between underworld elements and licensed promoters, matchmakers and managers to exclude competition and maintain monopoly control over major boxing contests."

Then Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) climbed into the ring. In a statement read for him by one of his seconds, he asserted that "the spirit of sportmanship is part of the spirit of democracy" and a heritage from the "ancient Greeks and Romans."

He went on to say that while he favored the investigation, he hoped that "in attempting to clean boxing of corruption we do not kill the patient himself."

I had to spar around with this a few minutes before I recognized that Wiley was aligning himself on the side of clean living while standing firm against wickedness. That shows how flabby my hearing facilities had become during the congressional recess.

The main witness of the day was Truman K. Gibson Jr. of Chicago, former president of the International Boxing Club, an organization which used to provide gladiators for the television networks.

IBC had charged, of casting two TV shows a week and thus needed "a free flow of fighters," Gibson said. Therefore, he said, it had to learn to "live with" certain underworld figures who had become interested in the manly art.

The name most frequently bandied about was that of Frankie Carbo, who had a record of 17 arrests, including five for murder. He finally was convicted of acting as a undercover fight manager.

Other promoters and managers whose activities are being scrutinized by Estes "The Keef" Kefauver include "Hymie the Mink" Wallman and "Blinky" Palermo. There seems to be a suspicion that they have not been properly inspired by Wiley's ancient Greeks and Romans.

Wisdom From Business

We have been heartened by noting a consensus of expressed wisdom coming from the heads of businesses who are experiencing considerable in the way of competition from abroad.

Competition—the condition which exists when a monopoly does not exist — is usually healthy.

But when a businessman is facing stern and uncompromising price cutting from a foreign competitor, it is a little difficult for him to retain his stance. While almost all of us admire competition in theory or for the other fellow, it's a pretty difficult thing to insist on the rights of the other fellow when he is in the process of giving you a financial shellacking.

Yet, to their credit, a number of outstanding business leaders have made statements within recent months which indicate that they have finally grasped the principles of a free market and free trade and are willing to stand by these principles, even when their own toes are being trampled.

E. J. Hanley, president of the Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporation, brought out an important point last month in an address given at the University of Pittsburgh.

Among other things, he remarked: "What of the situation in government? What can be done in this area to make our nation more competitive? A great deal, to be sure. The American businessman looks almost immediately toward better depreciation allowances in our tax laws. Actually, the costs of plant and equipment are out-running depreciation allowances in American industry by 8 billion dollars a year. The total bill for capital replacement not covered by depreciation since the end of World War II in America is estimated at 50 billion dollars. Just think what wonderful new plants this money could have built for American industry over the years, to compete with the brand-new plants overseas!"

Hanley has made a point well, even if only by inference. The American businessman has been taxed so ferociously that he has not even been able to replace his tools of production.

But the taxes wrested from him have been shipped overseas to build up the productive potential

Three British Vignettes

Britain, which in language, heritage and antecedents is akin to the U.S.A., is frequently the locale of events which are of more than passing interest to us in this country.

The experiment of the British people with the socialism of the Labour Party did a great deal in that country to dispel all illusions concerning it, yet even so, the British left-center politicians continue to sound their notes of disapproval for everything that occurs which is contrary to socialist design.

An instance of this occurred only last month when Mr. Enoch Powell a minister of health for Her Majesty's government, was appointed. Mr. Powell is staunchly conservative. In consequence, the "New Statesman," a magazine of left-center viewpoint, summed up the case against Mr. Powell:

"He has an intense feeling for the individual. . . Anything that harms the individual. . . is, generally speaking, wrong. The individual can provide for himself and should be allowed to. The state is a machine to provide protection for life and property and also a safety net for the unfortunate individuals who stumble. But it is not a community. The only community, to Powell, is the family. The logic of this probably leads Powell into distiking free public education, trade unions and trade associations, national insurance and a free health service. On the whole, Powell thinks, individuals today should be able to pay their way without doles from the state."

This summation of inferred villainy from the pen of the "New Statesman" causes us to want to know Mr. Powell better. He sounds like the kind of man we could use out here in Texas. Typical of the British temper for individualistic behavior and absolute unconventionality when it appears to be warranted, has come a report from Brownstone, England. Bill Wheel, who calls himself chief executive of the independent state of Shoreham, has declared a sort of cold war against the British government. Wheel objects to paying taxes. . . any kind of taxes. He says that money the government spends on hydrogen bombs could much better be used on medical research. What makes Wheel's case unique is that he bought some six empty cottages at Shoreham-by-the-Sea, named the six cottages Brownstone, and then announced: "All this property was bought in the name of the independent state of Shoreham. The British government does not recognize it. So how can you tax something that does not officially exist?"

The break in diplomatic relations between Wheel and the big wheels of the West Sussex Council occurred sometime ago over a wall Bill had put up around his Shoreham home. The council didn't like the wall and told Bill to knock it down. Instead, he proclaimed the sovereign state of Brownston, hoisted the Union Jack and armed a garrison of his friends with shot-

Central Heating Comes To Rome

ROME — Roman women are cold. Roman men are warm.

This has nothing to do with biology whatsoever. It is the direct result of central heating and the mysterious, unwritten, but strictly adhered to, rules with govern it.

Up until a few years ago central heating, save in a few de luxe hotels (and they charged half a buck a day extra when it was turned on), was almost as rare in Rome as a lion in the Colosseum.

Now it is to be found almost everywhere, but this does not mean that when winter comes Rome is a cozy spot. It could be, were it not for the unwritten rule mentioned earlier. This rule — thought by many to have originated shortly after Nero burned Rome and everybody was TOO hot — has this as its principal clause: "On November 15th, and not before, no matter what the temperature is, heat shall be turned on, but only — repeat only — between the hours of five and nine in the morning, and five and nine in the evening. This applies, of course, only to apartments and homes. Business offices may have heat all day."

This is the reason for the difference in temperature between Roman men and women. The men get out of bed when the heat is on, and leave for the office long before it is turned off. And at their offices they enjoy central heating all day.

But not the women, career ones excepted. At nine in the morning the heat begins to fade, the cold winds come down from the Seven Hills, and the women begin to cool off. By noon, at the very latest, they are chilly, and they stay that way until five, when the radiators start bubbling again.

By the time the men get home — office hours run well into the darkness here — the place is snug once more. Snug, that is, by European standards. Not by ours in America. I was thinking of spotting charcoal braziers about our house when I happily discovered that the company which manufactured our kitchen stove had beaten me to it, sort of. Over to the right of the gas burners there is a charcoal brazier, put there, I suppose, to keep soup warm.

The devil with soup — it's my family and me I am interested in keeping warm. I have bought a 500-pound sack of charcoal and keep a splendid barbecue fire going during all my waking hours. It doesn't keep the whole house warm, but it helps, and it's a great comfort to back up to and warm the hands over.

One cold day I asked the porter of our building if he could possibly start turning on the heat a bit earlier in the morning. I might as well have asked him to paint the hammer and sickle on St. Peter's. He said it was against the rules. "What rules?" I asked. "The rules, that's all," the porter said.

Oh well, who am I to complain? Rome didn't ask me to come over here, and neither Romulus nor Remus has called on us yet.

bellion against predation which has been showing up in these United States in recent years and which have, in the case of John Prather brought the U.S. Army to a halt, and in the case of Stanley Yankus has resulted in the abandonment of the U.S.A. by Yankus.

From the same general part of the globe has come another bit of news from Shannon Airport in County Clare, Ireland. For what has been happening at the airport is worthy of note anywhere in the world.

It seems that there's a 250-acre site adjacent to the landing strips which, through some kind of legal maladventure, are not on the tax rolls. And the result of this discovery is turning this site into an industrial mecca to which firms from a number of places the world over are attracted.

But the principal joy in the area of Shannon airport is found in the fact that everything brought into Shannon which goes to this special tax-exempt location is duty free. No tariff.

In consequence, in addition to Irish and British firms, factories and businesses are coming in from Germany, Japan, Holland and America. Apparently, in spite of socialist animosity which still exists, the folks in the British Isles are moving away from governmental dominance and socializa-

HUGE WINDFALL PROFITS IN CCC COTTON UNDER JUSTICE DEPT. SCRUTINY

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department is casting a critical eye on the transactions of certain exporters who have sold large quantities of government-financed cotton abroad.

These shipments are estimated to have netted as much as $50 million in "irregular profits" the past few years.

The lush gains were reputedly obtained by buying the cotton as one grade from the Commodity Credit Corporation, the Agriculture Department agency that handles the billions of dollars of surplus products, and selling it abroad as a higher grade — with the government paying the difference.

These highly lucrative transactions have been possible because the Agriculture Department does not check exporters' claims on the quality of the cotton.

The Justice Department is making its unannounced scrutiny at the instigation of the hard-hitting House Government Operations Subcommittee, headed by Representative L. H. Fountain (D., N. C.). Under his forceful probing, numerous scandals and illegalities in the handling of the government's multi-billion dollar stocks for farm surpluses have been uncovered, and millions of dollars recovered in "windfall" profits, fines and other payments.

Fountain's committee has extensively investigated these cotton exports and its findings are the basis of the Justice Department's critical interest.

Highlights of these findings are: The Agriculture Department has financed exportation of more than 4 million bales of cotton at a cost of over $700 million. However, unless it was specifically requested by the importer, to the best of our knowledge none of this cotton was inspected by the Department to make sure it was the quality it was represented to be.

"The committee has found a number of instances where cotton purchases from the CCC were sold as a much higher quality.

"In one case, the General Accounting Office traced cotton sold to an exporter for about $95 a bale. The exporter claimed the cotton was a lower grade than represented in the CCC catalogue and received an average refund of $20 per bale, making the cost per bale to the exporter approximately $75. The same cotton was then sold as a much higher grade, and CCC financed this transaction at a price of $125 per bale, a gross margin of $49 per bale.

"The head of the New Orleans Commodity office told the committee that he recommended the CCC inspect all cotton being financed under Public Law 480, but that his recommendation was not adopted.

"It is interesting to note that the International Cooperative Administration (foreign aid) which deals with the same firms on the same kind of transactions, does not have a 90-day limitation on claims for excessive pricing. Most of its claims, in fact, are made after the 90-day period has passed.

"It is also interesting to compare the records of the Agriculture Department and the ICA with respect to claims collected. ICA collected $1.6 million in claims, approximately 80 per cent of those filed. . . CCC, on the other hand, collected $24,000, or 2 per cent.

"Although some refunds have been made as a result of complaints by importers, to the best of our knowledge CCC has never made a single claim on the more than $700 million in cotton transactions it has financed."

PAUL SCOTT

The Allen-Scott Report

STILL DOING NOTHING — At recent Fountain committee hearings, Agriculture Department officials admitted these cotton exports still are not being inspected.

Ralph Raper, Acting director of the Cotton Division, disclosed that under questioning by James Naughton, general counsel of the investigators, in the following testimony:

Naughton: "The General Accounting Office examined 3,045 bales of cotton shipped by seven different companies on 18 different Commodity Credit-financed shipments, and found the exporters claimed a higher grade for 2,488 bales than the reclassification grade assigned to these bales by the government. For 1,246 of these bales, the invoice grade was also higher than the original grade at which the cotton was carried in the CCC catalogue. Do you dispute these findings?"

Raper: "I made no investigation of them myself."

Naughton: "To what extent has the department received complaints from foreign buyers about the quality of their purchases?"

Raper: "Our complaints have largely been of a general nature about the quality of the cotton. . . We have been investigating that, to ascertain how well-founded these charges are and what can be done?"

Naughton: "The ICA, apparently does not consider it has adequate protection without making at least a spot check on the cotton shipments it finances. . . Have you ever checked with ICA on working out a proper procedure for the Agriculture Department?"

Raper: "Yes, we considered the procedure that ICA uses."

Naughton: "If ICA is able to make spot inspections, why isn't that practical for CCC?"

Raper: "Because we feel that system would work a serious hardship on the smaller firms as well as the larger ones with a limited line of credit."

Naughton: "Well, it is a matter of record that ICA has collected a lot of money in claims on cotton transactions."

Raper: "We have considered their method as well as one or two others, and we think the program we have is the best we know how to operate."

Raper also revealed that the CCC expects to buy 8 or 9 million bales of cotton this year. Last year's purchases totaled 8.6 million bales.

New Nations Changing UN

The admission of 16 African nations to U.N. is changing the character of that organization. Some of these new member countries are very small and contain only a few educated people. Many of the others might be described as savages or not far removed from that state. A grouping of a million people on that cultural level, in some instances, has as big a vote in the conduct of U.N. affairs as the United States, France, West Germany, England, Canada and other large and small countries where civilization is already far advanced. The USSR, of course, has three votes, which is another insupportable situation.

Communist influence, both Russian and Chinese, is already very strong in many of these newcomers to U.N. Hatred of white men is acute in many parts of Africa and this makes a fertile field for the spread of communism. How long will it be until the Communist anti-American bloc, animated by the desire to get their hands on American wealth and to distribute it in their own interest, will be strong enough to outvote the Western group in U.N.? What will happen when that time arrives?

Our country contributes 38 per cent of the cost of running U.N. itself and even a larger percentage of associated costs for subordinate organizations and special operations such as aid to Congo at the present time, the Suez Canal affair and the Korean War. In a very real sense, therefore, we are financing the operations that are directed against us. In like manner, we have contributed over $600 million to our Communist enemy, Poland, and even more to another Communist enemy, Yugoslavia, not to mention Indonesia and other countries which oppose us.

Our money is being used to the extent of billions of dollars to destroy the individual freedom in which we believe. We have voted to take into U.N. a great many countries which oppose everything we stand for and whose chief ambition is to bring us down.

Our country is officially trying to repeal the Connally Reservation and so make certain that sooner or later we shall be hauled before the International Court. The Communist nations do not approve and have not submitted themselves to the jurisdiction of this Court, but their nationals are, nevertheless, eligible to serve as judges on it. Russia might demand Alaska, Cuba might demand our base at Guantanamo and Panama might demand the Canal. If the Connally Reservation is repealed, we could not stop such matters from being tried before the International Court, a body most certainly hostile to our country. At any given time the Court may have a majority of Communist judges and would be very likely to render decisions against us in all three of these matters and others of a similar nature.

These are not wild imaginings. If we repeal the Connally Reservation and keep on building up the power of U.N., they may well face us in the not-distant future. Moreover, many people in U.N. are ambitious for that organization to obtain the power to tax nationals of member nations. They are ambitious also for U.N. to grow strong enough, militarily speaking, to enforce its decisions upon member nations. If the legislative, judicial and military powers herein mentioned are achieved, our independent republic will be but a glorious page in history, our country will be reduced to puppet status and the living standard of our citizens to worldwide levels. In that event, our capacity to help underdeveloped countries and hungry, suffering people throughout the world would be gone, possibly forever.

Even as the Constitution of the United States was not adopted until the Bill of Rights protecting the individual rights and liberties of our citizens and prescribing bounds which the central government could not trespass, so we need an international Bill of Rights protecting the sovereignty of member nations and forever establishing their inviolability and freedom, from taxation or military or other coercion before we further exalt the power and the functions of U.N. Anything short of that is equivalent to suicide. It is the very least that any American patriot will demand before removing any of our present safeguards, such as the Connally Reservation, or voting one iota of additional power to U.N.

What Has Happened To Our Individual Responsibility?

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — The Catholic Bishops of the United States recently issued a long statement deploring a decline of individual responsibility in moral affairs and the delegation of authority to organizations presuming to speak and act for masses of individuals. I think I detect a pointed reference to the long and depressing examination of "labor-management" skulduggery by the McClellan Committee in this passage:

"Among the evident instances of the breakdown of personal responsibility most deplorable has been the widespread cynical reaction to the revelation of dishonesty, waste and malfeasance in industrial relations."

I would have preferred some other word than "industrial" just there because "industrial" smacks of "industry" and "management" and excludes "labor" from its meaning. And it is a fact that "labor," meaning millions of human beings with moral and spiritual responsibility for their individual conduct—that these millions have pooled themselves in the AFL-CIO and thus tried to escape guilt of the "dishonesty, waste and malfeasance" which the bishops mentioned. It is a mass delegation of conscience.

I have no temptation to absolve "management" or "capital." Employers met crooked unionists at least half way in some corrupt deals. This is a familiar note in the melancholy history of "industrial relations" or "labor relations." But the fact should be observed that the Anti-Trust Law and all the labor laws impose severe restrictions and penalties on management. But government assumes that the crooked unionist somehow derives virtue from the millions of individual workers whose power he wields. On the contrary, these millions derive a guilt from their crooked union agent by authorizing him to speak for them for immoral purposes.

Wrong done in their name is done on their moral responsibility up to a point where they lose their social and political power to withhold themselves from the unions. On this point there have been unmistakable admonitions from The Vatican.

In view of the heavy balance of power and privilege in favor of the union bosses the guilt of the individual worker in the AFL-CIO certainly is more personal and greater than that of a small shareholder in, say, United States Steel in some hypothetical situation. Unions are notorious. Big steel was notorious long ago but is not now.

The shareholder is no better able to restrain the management of steel than a lone worker is to restrain President McDonald of the United Steel Workers. But he may sell his stock and absolve himself, possible at a loss of money, whereas the worker who disagrees with McDonald may first be beaten up at the convention and, upon expulsion from the union, may be boycotted from all unionized jobs. The shareholder who sells steel may reinvest in General Motors or General Electric.

But the worker finds that the job-trust unions can exclude him from Reuther's empire and Carey's without the slightest respect for the merits of his original moral protest against McDonald. The laws try to maintain this terrible force of ostracism from every "organized" job in the country with no enforceable right of the victim to a trial in any tribunal fairly comparable to the public courts.

It is true, nevertheless, that millions of shareholders are morally "aggregated" by the managing executives of business. But it is a pleasant fact that the rogue industries which were caught in crooked collusion with criminal unionists were cats and dogs. They were not great American business firms. The Teamsters Union, by contrast, and the Auto Workers, which were revealed in flagrancy, are as big in their way as any big business.

Who would presume to say that a typical small shareholder would protest and take a loss on moral grounds on learning that his "management" was taking a dishonest profit? I don't know.

On the other hand, I have had many letters from citizens apparently otherwise good declaring that they are glad to get theirs through the power of a crooked union—and let all others do likewise. Teamsters are the most exuberant among them, but no knowing person would argue that individual teamsters are bad people.

Observe that the bishops deplored the "widespread, cynical reaction" (such as this) more than the revelations themselves.

LOQUACITY AND LEARNING (World Herald, Omaha)

Recently, Americans had an hour-long television exposure to the latest trends in education, including team teaching, the college lecture method for elementary school pupils, and televised instruction.

Not the least surprising was a seminar of fifth-graders solemnly discussing the state of America's prestige while the moderator, television's Howard K. Smith, looked on in beaming approval. He seemed to indicate that he would like to have been one of the panel, which, as we saw it, would not have been inappropriate.

The little human guinea pigs in the educational experiments were glib and loquacious. But all communication by the children was oral. There was not the slightest evidence that the youngsters can read, write or spell, although it was proved beyond a doubt that they are ready for "College Bowl."

"Meet the Press" and "The Price Is Right."

In fact, the only mention of books was a reference by a Ford Foundation official. He said there hadn't been a real advance in the technology of learning since the invention of the book. This gave some viewers the uneasy feeling that in modern progressive education, books—along with reading writing and spelling—are considered rather primitive manifestations of culture.

BOSTON (UPI) — "What is mother's native tongue?" was one of the queries on a questionnaire submitted to first-graders at a Dorchester grammar school.

One boy's answer was: "Red."

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Four San Antonio bandits had to push their getaway car down the street yesterday before escaping with 1,865 from Keko's Grill. Sergio Carrillo, 46, owner of the grill, said two bandits with handkerchiefs over their faces grabbed the money from a cash register and raced for their car. Two other men were waiting. One was behind the wheel and the other jumped out, Carrillo said. He said three of the men pushed while the other guided. Finally the old model car started and the four bandits made off with their loot.

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth has adopted a new personal flag. Buckingham Palace announced that it displays her initial "E," surmounted by the royal crown within a wreath of gold roses on a blue field. It will not supplant the royal standard. "The flag will only be flown when the Queen is present in person or from buildings where her majesty is in residence," the announcement said. It will be flown for the first time during Elizabeth's visit to India and Pakistan in January.

Texas Death Falls May Reach 560

Statistics indicate that this year we can expect approximately 560 Texans to die from injuries sustained in falls. In 1959 there were 595 such deaths — down from 627 in 1958.

There is no guarantee that the downward trend will continue.

The sad fact is that these are not injuries to workmen on telephone poles or oil derricks. Except for a few they are mostly same-level falls occurring to older persons.

Older people are naturally more prone to falls because of varying degrees of infirmity accompanying the aging process.

However, many home falls are preventable provided a sound plan of battle is followed to combat this number one home-accident killer.

For instance, in stairwells and hallways adequate light must be provided night and day to avoid tripping or missing a step. A lamp or flashlight should be handy by the bedside. Another safety factor is to have had rails even for a one or two step stairway.

Carelessness with electric cords make ideal trippers. Make sure no cords are exposed in walking areas.

Throw rugs should be tacked down or have non-slip pads underneath.

Spilled liquids need to be wiped up immediately.

Many accidents occur in the bathtub or shower. A rubber mat and grab bar for the bathtub or shower makes good sense. Put a grab bar by the toilet also. A practical Christmas present for grandparents would be the installation of such bars in their home.

More than seven million pounds of vitamins are produced annually in the United States.

Flamingoes feed with their heads turned upside down.

CERTAIN SATISFACTION — When you take your dry cleaning to Service Cleaners, 312 S. Cuyler, you know that when you walk through the door you're heading toward one thing: the best dry cleaning in the Panhandle and Pampa.

Service Cleaners

Superior Work Is Guaranteed

When one has one's clothing cleaned one wants the job done correctly. And for this reason Service Cleaners, 312 S. Cuyler, makes every effort to see that its customers receive but one thing: the best in cleaning.

The equipment the firm has at hand assures this, and when you add that to the expert craftsmanship of the employees, you may be assured your clothing or any items that may be dry cleaned will be returned in splendid condition.

Oliver Jonas, owner of Service Cleaners, takes great pride in these facts. He pointed out:

"Service Cleaners has been at the same location some 25 years. In that time it has steadily improved its equipment, and is continuing to do so. It is our goal to offer our customers only the best in dry cleaning: we are ever seeking to give 100 per cent satisfaction."

That your clothing will be cleaned to the "mth" degree is noted by the fact that Service Cleaners has the Minneapolis-Honeywell firm's electronic control system for adjusting humidity—an important factor in properly cleaning clothing, and this, plus the use of petroleum cleaning fluid, results in an "all clean" garment.

Each week, Jonas offers a special, and the one now being presented is most appropriate—women's and men's top coats cleaned and pressed for 85 cents each.

Another big factor in seeing that Service Cleaner customers are fully satisfied is that Jonas is a member of the Texas Dry Cleaning Institute and the local organization.

This means that Service Cleaners is constantly kept up to date on proper ways to clean new fabrics which are coming on the market in ever increasing numbers, and the possibilities of new equipment which will better the service of the firm.

"We receive test fabrics and suggestions for cleaning garments made from these materials. We find that these are most helpful," said Jonas.

Among the other "specials" Service Cleaners has to offer are: One-day service, pick up and delivery, and proper storage for "off season" garments, the last being at a nominal fee, among other things.

Jonas has three employees who are experts in their field, Bessie Inman, Gene Woodruff and Juanita Whitson. The four are ready to serve the needs of Pampans six days a week, 7 a.m. until 6 p.m. and it is assured one won't be dissatisfied with the work done by these persons who represent Service Cleaners.

So there it is, a firm ready to serve, ready to guarantee satisfaction, and always seeking new ways to please the customer.

'Satellite' Phone Talk Possibilities Told To Jaycees

Pampa Jaycees yesterday heard a report on the advancement of telephone communication, and the possibilities it offers for the future in their noon meeting in the Palm Room of City Hall.

Glenn Scott of Southwest Bell Telephone System explained in detail the possibilities of communication by telephone via satellite, especially the Echo satellite type.

A report also was heard on the club's annual pancake supper during which some 600 persons were served. Funds derived from this venture are used for downtown street decorations at Christmas time.

Three new members were inducted into the organization: Tom Snow, Bob Ewing and Darrell Seitz.

Jaycees for the month of October and November were Ken Peoples and Jim Christie, respectively. Some 55 members and guests, Bob Clemmons, Edgar Pronto, James Bowers, Bob Gordon, and Dick Barnett attended.

Walter Rogers Reports

Conference On Aging To Meet In January

A much heralded and long expected event will occur here in Washington on Jan. 9, 1961, when the White House Conference on Aging convenes in Constitution Hall. With its announced theme of "Aging With a Future," the conference will culminate many months of hard work and research accomplished by dedicated persons all over the United States. Since the authorization for the conference by Congress in 1958, much fruitful work has been done by communities, counties and by all of the states and territories. Each of the states and territories has conducted its own conference on aging and named some 2,500 delegates to the White House Conference. These delegates have made reports and recommendations which will form the basis of the studies undertaken at the conference.

The inception of the White House Conference on Aging envisioned that it would provide a focal point for bringing together the problems, recommendations and resolves of an informed citizenry representing the grass roots all over the country. At the Governors' Conference on Aging in September, our own State of Texas made some 60 recommendations and named delegates to the White House Conference.

While it is to be hoped that the White House Conference will permit an exchange of ideas and of the aforementioned problems, recommendations and resolves, it should not be expected that it will, in any manner, culminate in a solution of them. In my opinion these problems, like many others, should be approached at a local level with a solution arrived there if possible. Whatever the outcome of this conference, one prime fact will be apparent—that our population lives longer than it once did. This is a pleasant truth, but has unquestionably altered our American society and must be dealt with intelligently. In 1900 there were only three million Americans over the age of 65. Today there are 16 million, and in 1970 there will be an estimated 20 million. In Texas there are an estimated 700,000 people 65 years of age or older, and it is expected this will increase to 1,200,000 by 1975. At the turn of the century, some four per cent of the United States population had reached the age of 65 compared with nine per cent today. With our expanding population and our continuing advances in the field of medicine, these figures will undoubtedly increase.

These facts are inescapable as is our obligation as individuals to recognize them and to continue our age-old practice of making the Golden Years of our senior citizens useful and happy ones. It was pointed out by the keynote at the Texas Conference in September that "We don't have a problem with the aged. Some of the aged have problems."

Two Airlines Buy Short-Range Jets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two airlines signed deals totaling $350 million with the Boeing Airplane Co. Monday for fleets of new, shorter-range jet airplanes to serve U.S. cities where jets have never landed.

Eastern Air Lines and United Air Lines each bought 40 of the new Boeing 727s, with deliveries to begin before the end of 1963. It was one of the biggest transactions in American transportation history.

Levine's Slate 10c Dividend

Levine's Inc. directors have declared a 10 cent dividend on common share stocks for those on record as of Dec. 15, it was announced today by William Levine, chairman of the board of directors. Levine also said that a four per cent dividend would be paid April 14, 1961 to stockholders on record as of March 10, 1961.

FASTER THAN THE SUN—Sidetracked for a while by a spending cut, work is now progressing on the Air Force's B-70 Valkyrie bomber. Wind tunnel model above shows the plane's streamlined profile. The huge craft, weighing twice as much as a transoceanic jetliner, will cruise at 80,000 to 100,000 feet at a speed of 2,000 m.p.h.—faster than the earth revolves. It will be capable of flying 8,000 miles nonstop and could fly from Los Angeles to Moscow in three hours. Being constructed by North American Aircraft, the first B-70 will take to the air in 1963. Cost of development: one billion dollars.

Hulen Jack Fined $25,000 On Loan Count

NEW YORK (UPI) — It had been seven months and one hung jury since Manhattan's first Negro borough president, Hulan E. Jack, had sat behind his desk in the Municipal Building, but still he was jaunty and smiling Tuesday when he entered a courtroom a few blocks away.

The smile vanished at 5:05 p.m. Jack, who receives $25,000 a year and is the nation's highest-paid Negro in elective office, will probably never sit down at that desk again.

A jury of five women and seven men, after deliberating less than five hours in his second trial, convicted him of two counts of violating the city charter by accepting a $4,400 loan from a white real estate operator, who was seeking city business, and of one count of conspiring with the real estate man to keep the loan a secret. The money went for remodeling Jack's six-room Harlem apartment.

Jack was acquitted of a fourth charge — accepting an illegal gratuity — but conviction on even one count meant he must give up his job.

Jacques Soustelle Eyes Ex-Pal DeGaulle's Post

By TOM A. CULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PARIS — (NEA) — "Get this straight. I am not a Fascist," cried Jacques Soustelle, glaring at his interviewer.

But after talking to Soustelle for an hour, one is not so sure. He appears cunning, dynamic, ruthless. His eyes have a fanatical gleam from behind spectacles with colorless rims.

"I am neither a Fascist nor a subversive plotter," he continues, fixing me with his cold stare. "I have fought fascism and racialism in every form for 20 years."

"As for plotting, I believe in legal, democratic opposition, which has nothing to do with plots. I write articles. I make speeches. I have many followers in a legal, democratic way. Do you call that plotting?"

A startling change has come over Soustelle since I last interviewed him two years ago. Then he was still loyal to Gen. de Gaulle, a loyalty dating from Soustelle's wartime service with the Free French in London and in North Africa.

Now he is De Gaulle's most bitter enemy, the final break coming a few months ago when Sou-

JACQUES SOUSTELLE
"... I'm no Fascist!"

stelle resigned as Minister of Information from the De Gaulle government.

Then he was charming and affable when I interviewed him. Now the smile has disappeared. Now he is hostile and tough.

"The situation in Algeria has gravely deteriorated since the general's speech," he was saying. He referred to De Gaulle's recent television appearance, in which the general spoke of an independent Algerian republic for the first time.

"The Moslems who were loyal to the European settlers are now deserting to the rebel F.L.N. They feel that they have been abandoned by France and now they fear for their lives. That is why they are going over to the other side."

Nor were the callers who occasionally stuck their heads around the door during the interview reassuring. In a gesture of bold defiance, Soustelle has opened offices directly opposite the French Ministry for Algerian Affairs.

Here, in rooms that still smell of fresh paint, he is organizing the National Regroupment, as he calls it, a movement which he hopes eventually will honeycomb France.

Its purpose is indoctrination as well as political action; but when I questioned Soustelle closely about the National Regroupment, he was evasive, other than to claim that its strong points were in Lyons, Clermont-Ferrand, Marseilles and Avignon in the south.

As for the callers, they were thick set gentlemen, some apparently of Corsican descent. In the Chicago of the 1930s they would have passed for gangsters.

Soustelle objects to Gen. de Gaulle's policy for Algeria on four grounds:

1. De Gaulle has abandoned the principle of self-determination, which he announced on Sept. 16, 1959, in favor of Algerian independence.

2. All possibility of Algeria remaining French, even if she wants to and expresses her will freely, has been thrown aside.

3. Algeria, as De Gaulle sees it, will take the form of an independent republic with its own government, institutions, laws and foreign representation.

4. De Gaulle, as head of state, is resolved to impose his solution of the Algerian war at any price, if necessary dissolving the National Assembly, and assuming emergency powers, which Soustelle claims is unconstitutional.

"I tell you, it will not happen, this Algeria independence which De Gaulle has set his heart," Soustelle cried, pounding his desk. "The entire European population of Algeria and many Moslems will not accept it. To them it is a matter of life and death."

I left with Soustelle's harsh voice still ringing in my ears. In front of the Ministry for Algerian Affairs across the street, four policemen were on duty. It was hard to tell whether they were guarding the ministry from Soustelle or vice versa.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Top American authorities on Soviet affairs said today the new Communist manifesto apparently foreshadows a militant Red drive for greater influence and eventual control in underdeveloped countries.

They said the document also shows that Red China has won a greater voice in the council of Communism.

The manifesto was issued in Moscow after 21 days of secret wrangling by representatives of Communist parties in 81 countries.

U.S. authorities who have studied the full text of the communique said it was true the document endorsed Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's view that Communism could triumph without nuclear war. This contrasts with China's belief that war with the capitalist West is a virtually inevitable prelude to Red domination of the world.

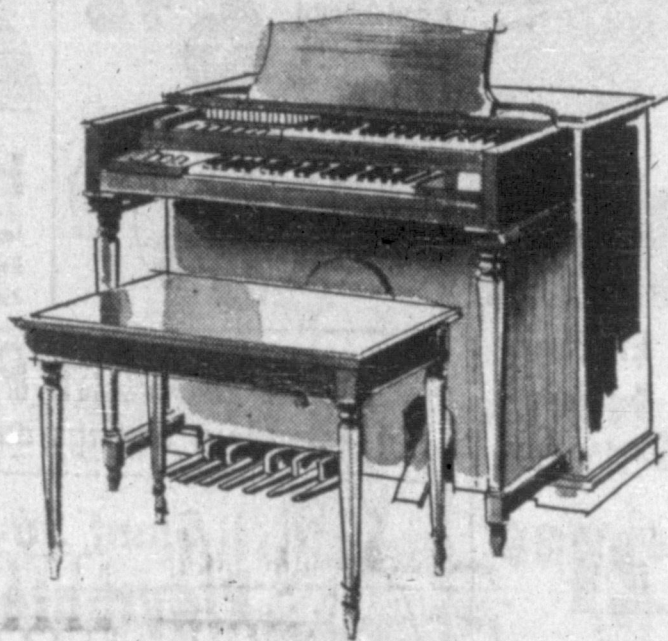

However, U.S. authorities said they believed China endorsed the "no war" part of the manifesto with tongue in cheek, in exchange for a militant tone against the United States and a demand for more vigorous anti-government measures in the underdeveloped countries in Latin America and Africa.

Kennedy Leases Virginia Estate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President-elect John F. Kennedy has leased a country estate near Middleburg, Va., as a weekend retreat where his wife can ride horseback and his children can romp after he enters the White House.

The country home—which Kennedy is leasing for one year—is located in the heart of Virginia's hunt country, where riding to the hounds is a principal sport. Jacqueline Kennedy is an excellent horsewoman.

Kennedy said he was not sure of the retreat's precise location. Presumably the leasing arrangements were handled by an aide.

48 Rescued As Sinclair Tanker Sinks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Forty-eight survivors were rescued from a Sinclair Oil Co. oil tanker that burned and sank off the coast of Brazil, the U.S. Coast Guard reported today. Two crew members were killed.

The Coast Guard identified the ship as the S.S. Petrolore, a 50,000-ton vessel that was en route from the Cape of Good Hope to Port of Spain, Trinidad.

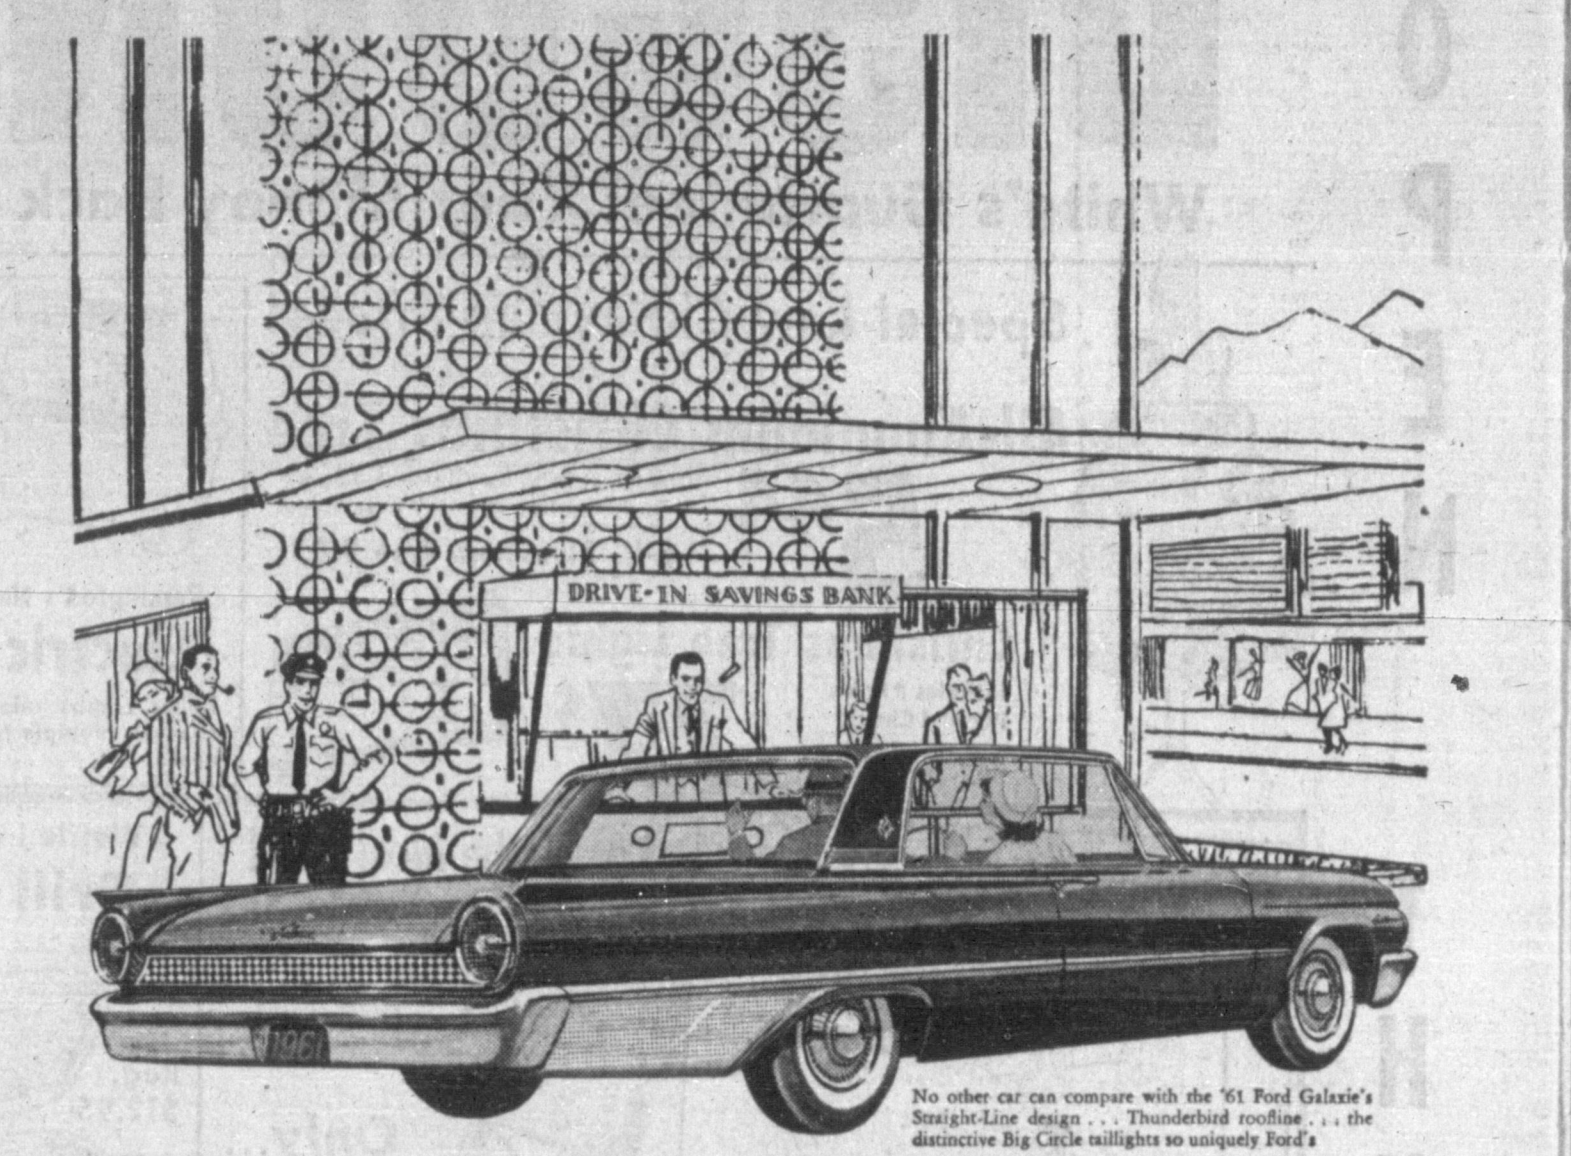

The survivors had abandoned the doomed, blazing tanker and were picked up in lifeboats by the S.S. Mary Ellen Conway, a merchant ship that responded to the Petrolore's SOS.

They had been afloat in two lifeboats for about six hours when the merchant ship rescued them Tuesday night.

The Petrolore's death agonies had lasted nearly nine hours.

A tank exploded on the 600-foot ship about 6:30 a.m. EST Tuesday, the Coast Guard said. The explosion was followed by fire, perhaps the most feared hazard of all faced by oil tanker crews.

The Coast Guard in Miami said the missing men were reported to be the first mate and a deck hand. Their names were not available immediately.

East Meets West Head-On When Oriental Designer Shows Hats

NEW YORK (UPI)—East meets West in the first collection of millinery by a young Japanese-born designer now living in Baltimore.

Her name is Fumi Hayashi, and the former model's first designs have an oriental flavor. Some are inspired by the bulky, elaborate headpieces of the Japanese bride, the sunshade hats of the peasants in the rice paddies, and the high crowned hats of the temple priests. She does artful adaptations of Japanese fans, made of pleated organza and held to the head with a comb.

All have a light and airy look, no matter what their bulk, and all are designed not to crush the bouffant, the beehive or the French twist hairdos of American women. Her favorite materials are organzies, organzas and satins.

"There is only a hint of the oriental in the design," said Fumi who pronounces her first name, "who me?"

"Otherwise it would be too much to go with Western dress, and they would be too elaborate for Japanese women who wear many bright prints."

Fumi is the wife of an American of Japanese descent. He is a teacher and the couple has one son, Robert, in the third grade.

The designer, a delicate beauty with her black hair piled high in a pompadour, is so Americanized that she wouldn't tell her age during an interview — but she looks a woman in her late 20's. She didn't mind recording that she is five feet, four inches tall and weighs 113 pounds.

Dear Abby... Mother Ashamed Of Her Mistrust

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was very angry when I found a letter on my daughter's desk addressed to "Dear Abby." I was very hurt to think that my daughter would write to you about her problem instead of coming to me. So I did an in-excusable thing. I steamed open the envelope, and after reading the letter, I wanted to die of shame. I guess parents just have to trust their children. When you read her letter you'll know why. Here it is:

A PROUD MOTHER
DEAR ABBY: All my friends say I have a strict old-fashioned mother, but I think she is wonderful. She doesn't let me do all the things my friends do, but I know she is holding me back for my own good. Sometimes I scream and carry on, but it doesn't do me any good. I love both my parents very much and wouldn't trade them for the world.

A LUCKY TEEN-AGER
DEAR ABBY: I disagree with your remarks about shooting wild birds and game. They are not "defenseless." Nature provided them with camouflage - coloring which changes with the seasons in order that they may hide. Birds can fly and deer can run as swift as any arrow. Hunting is a sport and there is nothing "cruel" about it.

LOVES TO HUNT
DEAR LOVES TO: What you say may be true, but have you ever seen a duck that could shoot back?

DEAR ABBY: Fifteen months ago we had a little boy who was born with club feet. We have him in casts up to his hips. Everyone who sees him wants to know what's wrong with his legs.

We have our house up for sale now and when people come into the house, instead of looking at the house they run right over to the baby and say, "Oh, what's wrong with his legs?"

I'd like to tell them it's none of their business, but I avert the nerve. They all have the same story that someone in their family or someone they knew had the same trouble. Please tell me what to say. I don't want to be rude, but I can't take it any more.

VERY VERY WEARY
DEAR WEARY: Your visitors don't mean to be rude, so you shouldn't become upset. It's perfectly natural to ask "what happened" when a baby is in casts up to both hips. Your best answer is this: "When he was born, his little legs were not quite normal - but he'll be fine soon."

CONFIDENTIAL TO HERB: If that is "togetherness"—try "apartness."

For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Who pays for what? For Abby's pamphlet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Higher Living
CHICAGO (UPI) — College students are living high these days. Take 678 coeds at the University of Wisconsin, for example. They've moved into a new, 11 story residence hall. Pennsylvania State University, among others, also is building tall dorms.

The editors of College and University Business, a trade publication, report that more and more college students will be living in high-rise buildings as enrollments increase and available campus space decreases.

Counselors Speak At PTA Meeting

Pampa Junior High PTA held its tri-yearly meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria with Mrs. B. J. Lambert, president, presiding.

The Rev. Richard Crews, pastor of First Christian Church, gave the invocation.

Paul Payne, Junior High School principal, introduced Mrs. Ruby Capps, Pampa Junior High counselor and Mrs. Essie Mae Walters, Robert E. Lee counselor, who spoke on "Aptitude Tests" which are given in local schools. The speakers pointed out the value of these tests in determining the future careers and vocations of students.

Both Mrs. Capps and Mrs. Walters stated that parents are welcome to come to their offices for consultation.

During the business meeting reports were given by Mrs. J. H. Trotter, secretary and Mrs. Murray Sealy, treasurer.

It was announced that the next PTA meeting will be held Mar. 14, 1961 at which time two foreign exchange students will head the program.

Party Plans Set By Moose Women

Plans for a Christmas party for members and their husbands were discussed at the Women of the Moose meeting held Thursday evening in the Moose Home, 401 E. Brown.

Mrs. Charley Webb, senior regent, presided as plans were set for the party to be held Dec. 15 at 8 p.m. in the Moose Home.

"There will be a gift exchange with a price limit of $2," Mrs. Webb announced.

Mrs. Webb also announced that at the next meeting night, members would decorate the hall for the holidays. She also expressed appreciation for helping with and donating to the recent rummage sale.

Letters of appreciation were read from Mooseheart and Moosehaven for the Christmas gifts sent to the children and aged by the local lodge.

Meeting closed with the Endowment Fund pledge.

Attending were Mmes. Charley Webb, W. C. Brown, Ed Gething, Benny Corey, Bill Mose, Sam Williams, B. W. Lard, Frank Arthur, Alvin Driggers, Jeff Lard and Ray Cates.

Stability Report
NEW YORK (UPI) — Stress may produce hirsutism — hairiness — in some women, report Doctors Arnold M. Moses and Charles W. Lloyd of the University of New York Upstate Medical Center, in Syracuse.

"Some patients become hirsute following emotional stress, such as termination of a love affair, and the stress may trigger some minor but basic adrenal defect," the doctors said at a recent meeting here of the Endocrine Society.

Paris has a new use for jeweled ear clips: they're worn in the hair rather than on the ears.

Christmas Plans Formulated After Election Of Rebekah Lodge Officers

Mrs. Joe Stembridge, noble grand, presided at the Thursday evening meeting of Pampa Rebekah Lodge No. 355 in the IOOF Hall, 210 W. Brown.

Mrs. Roy Kretzmeier presided in the office of vice grand.

During the business meeting, nineteen sick calls and visits were reported made.

Mrs. Bonita Brown's name was drawn from the Friendship Fund. Report was made on the two Thanksgiving Baskets delivered to deserving families and it was also reported that $306.51 was made on the Nov. 18 turkey dinner served by the lodge in VFW Hall.

Members were asked to cooperate with the blood-typing program to be in progress Dec. 16-17.

Election of officers for the Spring term of office was held with the following named to office: Mrs. H. N. Mayo, noble grand; Miss Grace NeCase, vice grand; Mmes. Connie Lockhart, recording secretary; Harold Thornhill, treasurer; Bill Ladd, lodge deputy; Ola McAfee, representative to Grand Lodge to be held in San Antonio in March with Mrs. Homer Kessinger as alternate; Joe Stembridge as trustee.

Mrs. Ross Neugin, Mrs. Homer Kessinger, and Mrs. Dean Monday were appointed by the noble grand to serve on the advisory board of the Theta Rho Girls' Club.

The following announcements were made: Rebekah Christmas Party will be held in the hall on Dec. 15; Past Noble Grand's and Husband's Christmas Dinner at 5 p.m. in the hall on Dec. 11; Esther Club Christmas Party in the home of Mrs. Ruby Wylie on Dec. 12 at 7:30 p.m.; Panhandle Circle meeting for December to be held in Amarillo postponed until January.

Plans were also made to show a cancer film at the January meeting and to prepare Christmas baskets and cheer baskets for shut-in members.

Thirty-six members attended the meeting.

Debate Forms Program For RS Day Held At Women's Missionary Union

LEFORS (Spl) — "To Die Without His Word," was the title of the program presented for Royal Service Day in the Baptist Church on Tuesday, with Mrs. Howard Marlar and Mrs. Joe Archer in charge.

The program, concerning Israel and Ahab, was carried out in a debate, with Mrs. H. L. Teel, R. N. Cyfert, and Mrs. W. B. Minter, taking the affirmative; Mrs. B. J. Spradlin, Mrs. O. C. Mills, and Mrs. Frank Cooksey, the negative side.

Mrs. Joe Archer, as moderator, sang the national anthem of Israel in connection with the program. Mrs. Howard Marlar dismissed the group in prayer.

"Falling Leaves," was the theme of the prayer calendar, with a Missionary's name written on an autumn leaf and distributed to those present, followed by sentence prayers for the individual missionaries.

In the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. R. N. Cyfert, it was decided to have the Senior citizens Christmas party on Dec. 14, at 2 p.m. in the civic center.

Others present were Mmes. Jake Leggett, W. E. Dumas, J. F. Morris, and Bill Rippetoe.

Longhorns Place Spotless Record On Line Tonight

By BYRCE MILLER
United Press International

The University of Texas, only Southwest Conference team with an unblemished record, puts it on the line tonight against the powerful Oklahoma City Chiefs, a team also undefeated in a pair of clashes with league teams.

The Chiefs opened their season beating Southern Methodist and Monday night squeaked past Texas Christian. Texas has beaten Howard Payne and Trinity.

In games Tuesday night, Baylor launched its season as 84-38 victims of the Memphis State Tigers, Oklahoma State rallied in the closing minutes to deadlock Arkansas and win the game 39-39 in overtime. Texas A&M edged Houston's Cougars 66-61, and Southern Methodist whipped Florida's Gators 74-64.

The game tonight will give the Longhorns their first real test of the season. And it's the only game involving a conference club. A win would keep the Steers on top of the league. A loss would drop them into a three-way tie at 2-1 with Rice and Texas A&M. Arkansas, TCU, Texas Tech and SMU have 1-1 season records.

Memphis State, led by Skip Wolfe's 25 point production, jumped to an early lead and was in front 47-21 at halftime. The Tigers had too much firepower for the Bruins, hitting 53 per cent from the floor while the Bruins could manage only 28 per cent.

Richard Tinsley, the only returning starter from last year's squad, led Baylor with 24 points. Arkansas held a slim 26-25 edge at halftime, and in the final five minutes was ahead 46-41 and began a stall. It backfired. Oklahoma State stole the ball twice for easy layups and added a free throw to know the count 46-46 at the end of regulation play. The final margin of nine points was the widest of the hard fought game.

Clyde Rhoden led Arkansas with 15 points. Cecil Eppery tossed in 18 points for the Cowboys.

Steve Strange, the Mustang's hook-shot artist, poured in 32 points to pace the Ponies. He hit 22 points in the first half to keep SMU within striking distance, but Florida led most of the first half and was on top 40-38 at halftime.

James Thompson and Jon Larson helped fill the gap in the second half for SMU, but the actual margin of victory came at the charity line where the Mustangs hit 20 of 30 and the Gators tossed in 12 of 17. Bobby Shiver led Florida with 18.

Brown Overwhelming Pick As Top Lineman

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tom Brown, a Minnesota lineman in the tradition of Leo Nomellini and Ed Widseth, was an overwhelming selection today as the "Lineman of the Year" by the United Press International.

A 6-foot, 225-pound guard from Minneapolis, "Terrible Tom" received 147 of the 422 ballots cast for the honor by sportswriters and broadcasters participating in the annual voting. End Mike Ditka of Pittsburgh was a distant second with 45 votes and center E.J. Holub of Texas Tech was third with 44 points.

Brown, already drafted by the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League, is the latest in a long line of All-American Minnesota linemen.

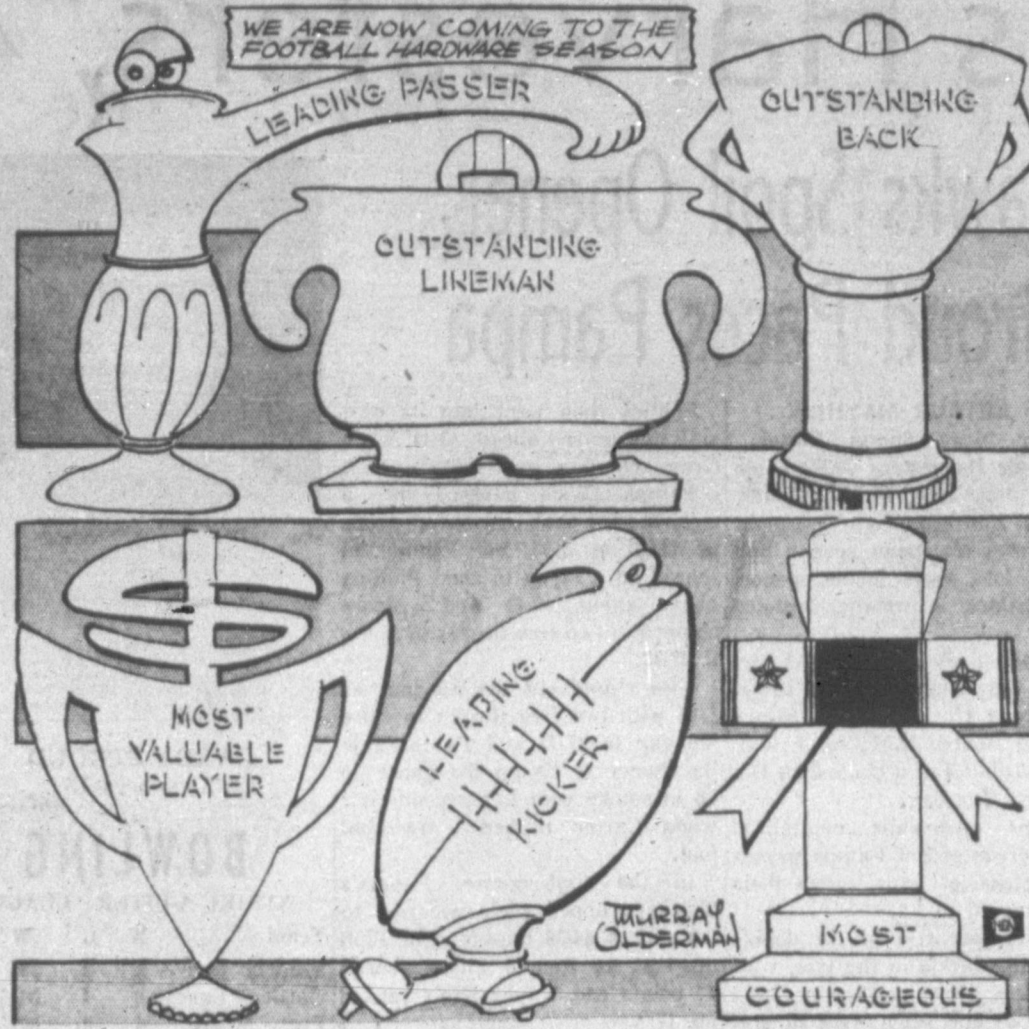

"This boy's strong points are his tremendous power and competitive spirit," commented Gopher Coach Murray Warmath. "His only weakness is that he can't play two positions at the same time. Tom is a cinch to make the professional ranks next season."

"He's the finest lineman I've ever had the privilege of coaching," added Minnesota line coach Denver Crawford.

Foss Denies Fold Rumors

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Don't believe it if you hear that one of the American Football League franchises is going to fold, according to AFL Commissioner Joe Foss.

The AFL completed two days of meetings on player draft and business affairs Tuesday, and at the conclusion of the session, Foss said the owners of the loop's eight teams showed more optimism than any time since the league was organized.

"The future of the league was discussed at length during the past two days, and there is strong agreement that the American Football League's prospects for the future are second to no sports organization in the country."

"All eight franchises are soundly based," Foss said. "And much of the discussion at this meeting was not about this season or next season, but of the seasons beyond that."

"I could not be more pleased with the attitude of our people, nor could I be more sure that the American Football League is firmly established."

Apparently the owners agree with Foss, for at their business meeting they voted to set aside a "five-figure" sum as the start of a player benefit fund, which one league spokesman said would probably go toward establishment of a player pension fund similar to that enjoyed by major league baseball players.

The league declined to specify the amount set aside, but the same spokesman said it "ran into five figures."

AFL directors also set the date for the loop's first annual championship game at Jan. 1, but did not name the site because the participating teams have not yet been decided.

Houston has clinched a tie for the Eastern Division title and Los Angeles is assured of at least a share of the Western Division crown. But it is still possible for New York to tie Houston in the East and Dallas to catch up with Los Angeles in the West.

Club directors and owners will meet again in Houston Jan. 12-Jan. 14.

H-SU Whips ENMU, 72-61

ABILENE (UPI)—The Hardin-Simmons Cowboys chalked up their third straight win of the season Tuesday night, whipping Eastern New Mexico 72-61.

Dave Kissinger led the Cowboys with 21, and Darrell Fouser scored 20 for the Greyhounds, but it was the defense that made the difference.

Both teams were deadly accurate from the floor. The Cowboys hit 71.8 per cent of their shots, and Eastern New Mexico rammed in 69.8 per cent.

Nine Inducted Into Grid Hall

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former President Herbert Hoover, who once forgot to supply the Stanford team he managed with a football, was honored along with nine of the game's immortals Tuesday night at the third annual awards dinner of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

Nine former stars were formally inducted into the Hall of Fame during the ceremonies and Murray Warmath, coach at the University of Minnesota, accepted the MacArthur Bowl awarded annually to the nation's top college football team.

Those inducted into the Hall of Fame were Fred (Buzz) Borries of Navy, Charles (Ki) Aldrich of Texas Christian, Charles Gelbert of Pennsylvania, Gordon Locke of Iowa, Johnny Lujack of Notre Dame, Sid Luckman of Columbia, Neil Snow of Michigan, Clyde (Bulldog) Turner of Hardin-Simmons and Lou Little of Columbia.

Sportswriters' Poll Gives Kelso 1960 'Horse Of The Year' Honors

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—Kelso held all the post season thoroughbred awards today after the nation's sports writers and sportscasters voted him "Horse of the Year" for 1960 in the Turf and Sport Digest's 25th annual poll.

Kelso, owned by the Bohemia Stable of Mrs. Richard DuPont, received 94 first-place votes from the 195 sports authorities who participated.

He easily beat second place Bald Eagle who got 48 votes with 31 going to the ill-starred Bally Ache. Others receiving one or more votes were Hall To Reason, Berlo, Sword Dancer, Bowl of Flowers, Carry Back and T. V. Lark.

Earlier, staff members of Triangle Publications selected Kelso as "Horse of the Year" and the racing secretaries of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations vote him "American Champion."

Kelso, who closed out the season with six consecutive stakes victories and had an overall record for the year of eight wins in nine races, also was chosen 3-year-old champion.

Terry Quits As Manager

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Bill Terry resigned Tuesday as president of the Jacksonville Braves because of the way Houston is setting up its new major league baseball organization.

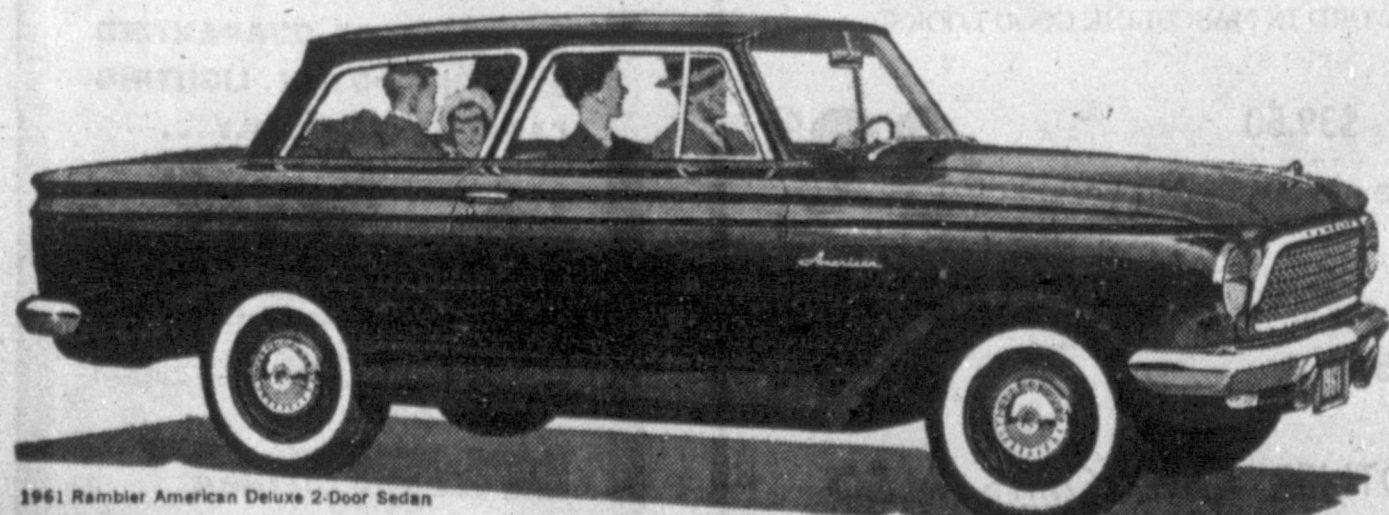

Terry, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, said he wired his decision to step out to Craig Culnan of Houston, owner of Jacksonville's Class A South Atlantic League club.

"I feel there is no place for me the way they have the new organization set up," Terry said.

North Carolina Tumbles Virginia As Pair Sparkle

By DICK JOYCE
United Press International
There's powerful evidence today that Frank McGuire is building himself another "Yankee powerhouse" at North Carolina. McGuire, the one that stormed unbeaten to the NCAA basketball title in 1957.

The fifth-ranked Tar Heels, led by a pair of New Yorkers—Doug Moe and York Larese—scored their second straight victory Tuesday night in outclassing Virginia, 81-47.

Moe, a senior from Brooklyn, tossed in 20 points and Larese, also a senior and a native of New York City, clicked for 15 points.

North Carolina built up a 45-21 halftime advantage and then won going away.

McGuire, who persuaded some of the East's top high school prospects to heed his words of "go south, young man," during his eight-year reign, is hoping for some of the success which took place during the 1956-57 campaign. Then his Yankee-stocked quintet hit the jackpot with 32 consecutive victories.

St. Bonaventure and Cincinnati, other teams ranked among the top 10, strengthened positions with triumphs Tuesday night.

The Bonnies, tied for sixth in the rankings, chalked up their 94th straight home-court victory in downing Villa Madonna, 93-73. All-America Tom Stith, heir-apparent to Oscar Robertson's national scoring title, poured in 32 points as the Bonnies won their third consecutive game of the season.

Cincinnati made it three-for-three by defeating Miami (Ohio), 70-62. Tom Thacker's three-point play and Bob Wiesenbahn's five straight free throws clinched the victory for the Bearcats, ranked No. 8.

The Citadel upset West Virginia, 83-80, in a Southern Conference game. Gary Daniels scored 24 points for the Bulldogs while sophomore Rod Thorn topped the Mountaineers with 26.

Autry In Expansion Showdown

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Gene Autry, the cowboy star turned baseball owner, rides into Los Angeles today, come hell or high water, with the grudging approval of "sheriff" Walter O'Malley.

So instead of the threatened showdown at high noon, the major leagues were expected to settle their expansion by means of a compromise in which O'Malley would permit Autry to invade his rich Los Angeles territory.

The American League thus would complete its 10-team expansion program and solve the most strife-ridden squabble in baseball history.

Autry, the famed radio, movie and TV singer, and his partner, radio executive Bob Reynolds, were granted a Los Angeles franchise Tuesday and said they were "ready to go" as the "Los Angeles Angels" in 1961.

Reynolds, 46-year-old former Stanford football tackle, met with O'Malley in secret session Tuesday night in an attempt to reach an agreement that would dispell the influential Los Angeles Dodger owner's last remaining objections to AL invasion of his backyard.

Unprecedented separate league meetings, designed to resolve the final details of the compromise, were scheduled today prior to the start of the regular joint meeting of the two leagues at 11:30 a.m. EST.

If both leagues agree to the "Los Angeles compromise," it would take Ford Frick off the biggest spot in his 10-year career as baseball commissioner.

Should any hitch develop in the preliminary separate meetings, however, it would be left to Frick to decide whether the AL could move into Los Angeles without satisfying O'Malley.

Lovellette, Hagan Push Hawks Past Detroit As Records Fall

CLIFF HAGAN ... paces Hawks

By United Press International
Wilt Chamberlain and Oscar Robertson proved to a large New York crowd Tuesday night that they are still their same exciting selves, but it's the St. Louis Hawks who earn the plaudits today for a record-breaking performance.

Chamberlain scored 31 points and had a game high of 22 rebounds to lead the Philadelphia Warriors to a 113-107 victory over Syracuse in the opening game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader played before 14,847 fans at Madison Square Garden.

Robertson took the floor in the second game and paced the Cincinnati Royals to a 117-112 decision over the New York Knickerbockers. He had 27 points as Cincinnati broke a six-game losing streak.

St. Louis Western Division leader, trounced the Detroit Pistons, 146-110, and set the following Kiel Auditorium records:

Most field goals in one quarter — 23
Most points in one quarter — 48
Most field goals in a game — 65

It was the fourth straight victory for the Hawks over Detroit and gave them a 15-6 overall record for the season. Ten men hit in double figures for St. Louis with Cliff Hagan and Clyde Lovellette tossing in 18 points each. Bailey Howell also had 18 for the Pistons.

TV Villain Is Permanent Actor In 'Klondike' Cast

NEW YORK — (NEA) — You can keep those apple-cheeked, slick-haired heroes—this is The Age of the Villain on TV. And you can't help wondering what this will do to the kiddies. What brought this to mind was a consideration of Klondike, the first regularly-scheduled television show to boast a permanent heavy. It's as though Khrushchev was given a life membership in the D.A.R. for here we have a reasonably respected television show honoring evil with a copstarring role.

James Coburn plays a chap named Jeff Durain, who in the past few weeks has tried to rig the Skagway elections, worked a phony religious revival racket to bilk the Skagwayites of their hard earned gold dust, stolen the heroine's beloved piano and generally acted mean.

Through all this, he has managed to stay alive and, in fact, to exude enough charm that the show's audience apparently tunes in to see him rather than the nominal hero, Ralph Taeger as Mike Halliday. The latter always emerges triumphant, and our last view of Durain featured his frustrated, defeated scowl. Nevertheless it is the figure of the villain which lives in our memory, not that of the hero.

Whether this is a reflection of the times—or whether the glorification of the villain created these terror-stricken times—is something for history to decide.

But the fact is clear that in recent years it is the villains who have been the most intriguing characters in all forms of entertainment.

Peter Falk, a professional actor who specializes in heavy parts, told me he does so because those are the best parts.

Mother Who Doped Tots Due Exams

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Mrs. Lillian Frantantonio, 29, found guilty Tuesday of feeding her two daughters coma-inducing barbiturates, must undergo psychiatric examination.

A juvenile court jury of six women and six men, after deliberating less than two hours, found her guilty of feeding drugs to Bernadette, 3, and Venita, 6.

The little girls were dubbed the "sleeping beauty" sisters after gaining national attention when doctors were unable to discover the cause of the intermittent comas from which they suffered. Examinations were conducted at two hospitals here and at New York City's Columbia Medical Center without success.

Finally in August, it was found the comas were induced by barbiturates.

People of the United States consume more than two billion pounds of candy a year.

It has been estimated that some 47 million Americans eat ice cream every day.

Chemical Society Meets Saturday At Amarillo Site

The Panhandle Plains section of the American Chemical Society will meet at 7:00 p.m. Saturday in the Amarillo Helium Plant, which is located on U.S. Hwy. 86 three miles west of Amarillo. Helium Plant ACS members will be near the parking lot to guide visitors to the recreation building for the meeting.

Lowell Stroud, chief of the Branch of Phase Equilibrium and Thermodynamics, of the Helium Research Division, will present a paper entitled "Phase Equilibria in the Helium-bearing Natural Gases." Phase equilibrium and compressibility data developed by Stroud's group are of vital interest to designers and builders of new helium extraction plants. Methods and equipment developed by this group are applicable to a wide variety of gas liquefaction processes.

Stroud holds an MA degree from Duke University and has taught sciences in the Hillsboro High School and Amarillo Junior College. He has been employed in the research division of the Helium Activity for eight years. Several of his scientific papers have been published nationally, and he is co-inventor of a high pressure, windowed cell for conducting phase equilibrium studies.

Another feature of the meeting will be a tour of the research facilities of the Helium Activity with special emphasis on the equipment employed to obtain data for Stroud's paper.
