'Man Capsule' Rocket Fails Again

Astronauts See Effort Go Awry

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.
United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—America's seven Mercury Astronauts watched the escape equipment designed to protect their lives in space flight fail for the second straight time today as a Mercury-Redstone rocket malfunctioned on the launching pad.

There was no man inside the space capsule in today's test, but all seven of the Astronauts picked to ride into space sometime next year were on hand to watch. None was available for comment.

A cluster of three rockets designed to jerk the one-ton space capsule free of the giant Redstone in event of major failure, such as an explosion, went off by mistake when the Redstone failed to fire. The attachments apparently broke and the escape rockets soared out of sight, leaving the man-capsule behind.

The Redstone was supposed to boost the bell-shaped capsule more than 100 miles into space on a 220-mile flight over the Atlantic in today's test.

The flight, which would have lasted 16 minutes, was the first full-scale trial for the rocket-and-capsule combination that civilian space agency head T. Keith Glennan said would carry a U.S. Astronaut into space in January.

But today's mishap marked the second straight failure for the critical escape system, and may have set the Mercury program back even further.

Earlier this month, a test of the buoy-shaped capsule and escape rocket from Wallop's Island, Va., fizzled at high altitude.

The emergency rocket was supposed to pull the capsule free of its booster rocket in that flight, but separation did not occur on schedule.

In today's test, the escape tower was wired so that, under normal circumstances, only the blockhouse could trigger the escape mechanism.

The small rocket soared into low-hanging clouds and fell to the beach about 2,000 feet west of the launching pad.

Success today was mandatory if the top-priority Mercury program, America's $350 million dream for matching Russia in perhaps the most dramatic lap of the space race, was to meet a revised schedule.

Mercury already is far behind its original time-table, and today's shot has been plagued by months of electrical and mechanical woes. The attempt was postponed twice earlier this month because of a leak in a control gas system.

Scientists hope to send chimpanzees aloft in Mercury capsules aboard Redstone and Atlas missiles within a few weeks in preparation for the manned Redstone flight in January. The schedule now calls for putting a man into orbit from an Atlas late next year.

CRMWA Balloting In City Tuesday

Pampa residents tomorrow will go to the polls to decide once and for all if the city will join the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

The two propositions on which qualified residents will ballot are:

- 1 - To approve the City of Pampa to enter into a contract with the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.
- 2 - To approve the contract between the Authority and the federal government which permits the Authority to procure the funds with which to construct the project.

City Secretary Ed Vickers today announced the following voting locations:

Ward One. The commission room of City Hall.

Ward Two: The North Fire Station, 17th and Aspen streets.

Ward Three: Ward's Cabinet Shop, 323 S. Starkweather St.

Ward Four: South Fire Station, 610 S. Barnes St.

Balloting times will be 8 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Voters must be residents of Pampa, have paid their poll tax and have personal or real property within the city taxable property.

The damming of the Canadian River into a 20-mile lake, for use as a metropolitan water supply, will also be voted upon by 10 other Panhandle and High Plains cities. In approving the two issues, the cities will be entering a 50 year contract to purchase water, with the debt of the authority to be retired entirely by the sale of water to the member municipalities.

Much has been pointed out in recent months about this project, but city officials have relied heavily on the fact that no taxes will be attached to the CRMWA contract if the City of Pampa gains approval to be one of the cities served by the Authority.

Another factor that city officials believe is a selling point for entry into the pact is that the growth of population here will place Pampa in possible dire straits for water within 20 years, since the city cannot rely entirely upon the present underground water supplies.

City Manager John Koontz also points to the 13.52 cents per 1,000 gallons as an item of major importance.

Koontz noted that, in time, this figure will slightly decrease, while it is highly probable that rates for well supplies will climb higher.

Vickers, in talking of the voting, said that it appears that interest in it has soared in the past few days. He reported that 20 absentee ballots had been cast, and that he thought it possible that "several thousand" persons would cast their ballots tomorrow.

Lawyer May Be Top Aide Of Kennedy

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—President-elect John F. Kennedy worked today on a complicated blueprint of his new government with Clark M. Clifford, a hand some Washington lawyer who could end up as one of the powers of the administration he is helping to construct.

Clifford arrived late Sunday from a series of Washington conferences with representatives of President Eisenhower on the orderly transition of government. This is a problem that involves not only getting new people into key jobs, but getting the current job-holders out.

Before Clifford had been in town more than a few minutes, he handled an important chore for Kennedy—receiving from the Louisiana Legislature a hot political potato involving civil rights.

With much of the South watching, a delegation of Louisiana lawmakers flew to Palm Beach in a state National Guard plane with a resolution asking Kennedy's views on the action of a federal judge in restraining the state legislature in connection (See LAWYER, Page 8)

Nixon Hopes Spending Spree Won't Start

MIAMI (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said in a filmed television interview that he shared the hope with millions of other Americans that President-elect John F. Kennedy would not start a spending spree after taking office.

Nixon granted the first personal interview of his Florida vacation to WPST television news director Bill Bayer, an old friend, before leaving Saturday on a trip to Nassau. It was shown here Sunday night.

Nixon said he hoped that big-spending programs of the Democrats would have "tough sledding" in Congress and added, "That's as it should be. It would be bad for the country."

Nixon urged the Kennedy administration to keep a watchful eye on Fidel Castro's moves in Latin America.

"We cannot stand by and see Communists infiltrate and take over in Latin America," the vice president said. "If countries request aid we should step in and give them the assistance they need."

Nixon said Nikita S. Khrushchev would make a fatal mistake if he believed "he can push us beyond a point where we will react."

"We'll react very strongly if they attempt to push us around," Nixon said. "We must stand firm and outlast those who are the enemies of the free world."

Nixon said he could not determine the exact reason he lost the presidential election to Kennedy. But he indicated Kennedy told him at their meeting here last week that key Democratic victories came in states where there was considerable unemployment.

"They were able to promise more than we were," Nixon said.

Americans Stabbed By Congolese Better

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Two Americans were reported recovering today from stabbings by a mob of screaming natives who tried to lynch them in the spot where their automobile killed an African boy cyclist.

The two men, Chief Warrant Officer Clyde St. Lawrence of New Bedford, Mass., and Frank Carlucci of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., members of the U.S. Embassy staff, were stabbed and beaten by an enraged throng Sunday.

Both men were taken to Lovanium University Hospital—St. Lawrence with stab wounds of the chest and shoulder and Carlucci with a stab wound in the back.

A doctor who treated them said that if St. Lawrence's wounds had been "a bit lower he would probably have been killed."

The renewed anti-white violence here and reports of troubles in three other provinces—Katanga, South Kasai, and the Eastern Province—seriously worried U.N. authorities.

They feared that if the situation were allowed to go unchecked it might build up to an explosion of the proportion that plunged this country into chaos shortly after it won independence from Belgium July 1.

Albert Kalonji, self-styled president of South Kasai, was reported to have met with his European army officers in Brazzaville, capital of the adjacent Congo Republic, Saturday.

Kalonji has an army of 750 plus an estimated 5,000 Baluba irregulars. The Balubas in northern Katanga have been battling other tribes and the forces of Katanga President Moise Tshombe for weeks.

In Stanleyville, capital of the Eastern Province and hotbed of support for deposed Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba, the 500 local military police force was reported "roaring around town" showing off its power.

The attack on the Americans in Leopoldville occurred when St. Lawrence and Carlucci were driving with Col. Edwin Dannemille and his wife to Ndjili Airport to see U.S. Undersecretary of State Loy Henderson off on a visit to Elisabethville.

Mexicans Celebrate Revolution

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Millions throughout the nation Sunday celebrated the 50th anniversary of Mexico's revolution.

In leading ceremonies here, President Adolfo Lopez Mateos attended the reburial of the remains of President Francisco I. Madero at the monument to the revolution, watched a giant sports parade, and inaugurated a cattle exhibition and a book fair.

Highlight of the day was the reburial ceremony, Madero, called "the Apostle of the Revolution," was assassinated in 1911, less than one year after the start of the social movement which shook the country and cost more than one million lives.

His remains were exhumed from a private cemetery and lay in state all night at the Chamber of Deputies before being transferred with full presidential honors to their final resting place.

After the Madero ceremony, attended by thousands including workers, farmers and representatives of all federal employes organizations, Lopez Mateos gave the signal for the start of the four-hour sports parade by more than 30,000 Mexico City athletes.

Johnson Tells NATO Democrats To Use Funds In Peaceful Efforts

PARIS (UPI)—Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson assured the Atlantic Alliance today that the "new leadership" of the United States would use all its resources for a free and peaceful world.

In a speech cleared in advance by President-elect Kennedy, he called on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to direct more of its energies into the cultural and economic battle against Communism.

He said the change in the administration decided by the U.S. electorate was "in no sense a repudiation" of America's military alliances.

Johnson addressed 200 delegates from 15 free world nations at the 6th annual conference of NATO parliamentarians. It was his first speech at a major international conference since the U.S. presidential elections.

Johnson emphasized that he was speaking strictly as a "parliamentarian" and that until next January "the full and sole executive authority remains with the administration of President Eisenhower himself."

But the delegates were expected to interpret his speech as an indication of the future alliance policy of the administration of President-elect Kennedy. A spokesman for Johnson said Kennedy had read and approved the speech in advance.

"Beyond mutual military purposes we can do much more to implement concepts of economic progress and social gain," Johnson told the conference.

He paid high tribute to President Eisenhower, declaring "he will leave public office with the continuing respect, trust and esteem of all his countrymen without regard to domestic partisanship."

In a reference to the significance for America's Allies of the U.S. presidential elections, Johnson said:

Scout District Banquet Slated Tomorrow Night

The annual banquet of the Santa Fe District, Boy Scouts of America, will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the First Methodist church.

This is the annual district meeting for the installation of district officers for the ensuing year. District officers for 1961 will be Art Smalley, district chairman; Wyatt Lemons and Allen Wise, district vice chairmen, and Dr. George Snell, district commissioner. The installation ceremony will be conducted by E. E. Shelhamer, president of the Adobe Walls Council.

The group of Scouts, their wives and friends of Scouting will be entertained by the Pampa Medrigo-Singers, comprised of Miss Rosemary Lawlor, Mrs. Louise Richardson, Mrs. Mary Wilson, Mrs. Helen Conway, Carlton Atkin, the Rev. David Mills, Bill Haley and Jim Dailey.

The banquet will also honor unit leaders and Den Mothers. Carlton Nance was arrangements chairman and Wayne Irwin was ticket promotion chairman for the banquet. The dinner will be served by the Clara Hill Class of the church.

Integration Rule Due In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A federal ruling on New Orleans school integration was awaited uneasily today as scattered incidents of Negro-white violence kept the city on edge.

Police were seeking a band of six or seven Negroes who were roaming a Mississippi riverfront area of the town and chasing whites off the street. One white man was hit by a car while running away. White boys driving a green car were reported taking shots at Negroes in the same area.

The public schools were closed today for teachers' meetings. The recess will last through the Thanksgiving weekend so there was no prospect of new trouble at the two grade schools to which four Negro girls were admitted.

The three-man federal court may hand down a ruling today on actions brought by the State of Louisiana and the New Orleans School Board to halt the integration. However, the ruling may be delayed. Judge Richard T. Rives, chief judge of the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals who presided over the three-man court, spent the weekend at his home in Montgomery, Ala.

A Negro who went berserk Saturday in the French Quarter and stabbed a seven-year-old white boy before he was shot down by a traffic patrolman was reported still in serious condition at Charity Hospital.

Rayburn Foresees Congress Aiding Depressed Areas

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., predicted today that the new Congress would pass bills to aid depressed areas, housing and school construction and raise the minimum wage.

Rayburn also listed a farm bill and medical care for the aged as among "the principal things that we will try to get to early in the session and get through with as early as possible."

The veteran House leader indicated he foresaw no chance of a tax cut but said he hoped Congress would close some tax loopholes. He said he did not look upon the oil depletion allowance as a loophole, however.

Rayburn, 78, who has served as speaker longer than any man in history, made the statements in a copyrighted interview with U.S. News & World Report at his home in Bonham, Tex.

He predicted that President-elect John F. Kennedy and the Democratic leadership in Congress would work well together.

Japs Steel U.S. Ties As Liberals Triumph

TOKYO (UPI)—The Japanese electorate swept the ruling Liberal-Democratic party back into power with a bigger parliamentary majority today in a vote that endorsed the country's military ties with the United States.

Final unofficial returns gave Prime Minister Hatayoi Ikeda's Conservatives 296 of the 467 seats in the lower House of parliament, a gain of 13. The major opposition Socialist party won 145, a gain of 23, mostly at the expense of the splinter Democratic-Socialists who dropped from 40 to 17. The Communists increased their seats from one to three and the other six seats were scattered among minority candidates.

In the popular vote the Liberal-Democrats got about 22 million ballots to 10 million for the Socialists.

Ikeda said he considered the election, held Sunday, as a "mandate from the Japanese people (to continue) close ties with the free world based on the U.S.-Japan security treaty."

The election also reflected the fact that Japan is riding a wave of prosperity, and the Ikeda government has charted an economic course which it said would double the nation's income within the next decade.

The Socialists claimed a "moral victory" on the basis of their gains and a party spokesman called on the Liberal-Democrats to "become aware of the spectacular gains of the neutralists in Japan."

Among the Socialists elected was Mrs. Kyoko Asanuma, widow of Inejiro Asanuma, Socialist parliamentarian.

Russ Setback In U.N. Seen Over Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The General Assembly appeared ready today to deal the Soviet Union and its friends another sharp setback in the campaign to return Patrice Lumumba to power in the Congo.

The United States and its Allies hoped that before the day was out the 99-nation parliament would authorize President Joseph Kasavubu's delegation to take the seats in the General Assembly assigned to the Congo.

The seats have been vacant since Sept. 20 when the 15th session of the assembly convened. Rival delegations appointed by Kasavubu and Lumumba, the premier he has declared deposed, have been battling for authorization to sit in them.

The assembly's Credentials Committee voted 6-1 two weeks ago to recognize the Kasavubu delegation. The full assembly must approve this decision before it becomes effective. The Soviet Union cast the lone dissenting vote although three other countries abstained.

Recognition of the Kasavubu delegation would enhance the president's position to the point he would have to be regarded as the supreme authority in the Congo, Western diplomats believed.

Conelrad Alert Overhaul Okayed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's Conelrad alert system will be updated to the missile age today by an agreement allowing for a nationwide alert in less than 18 minutes, the Air Force announced.

The agreement, to be signed in New York today by the Air Force, the Federal Communications Commission, United Press International and the Associated Press, will permit use of the radio wire facilities of the two major wire services for a few minutes as an alert system in event of a national emergency.

LA Transit Strike Ends

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The first of nearly 1,500 Metropolitan Transit Authority (MTA) buses and trolleys resumed service today to end a five-day mechanics strike.

The strike had affected more than 400,000 daily commuters in 141 communities serviced by MTA in the four counties of Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange.

Striking members of the Amalgamated Transportation Union voted 451-73 to accept a 15-month work contract Sunday.

The contract provided for an immediate wage increase of 18 cents an hour, with 11 cents an hour more on Jan. 1, and 10 cents more in July 2, 1951.

Before the new contract top-rated mechanics earned $2.61 an hour.

The Planning To Hunt Quail

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — President Eisenhower was reported today to be considering a quail-hunting trip to southwestern Georgia Tuesday before ending his Deep South vacation and heading back to Washington.

The White House said there was nothing definite on the Chief Executive's travel plans but conceded there was a possibility he may visit elsewhere before returning to the White House.

W. Alton (Pete) Jones, board chairman of Cities Service Corp. and an old friend of the President, was reported to have invited Eisenhower to shoot quail on the Jones plantation near Albany, Ga. The season on the game bird opened Sunday in Georgia.

Eisenhower went to morning services at the Reid Memorial Presbyterian Church and played golf Sunday in sunny, 70-degree weather.

Washington Vote Recount Possible

SEATTLE (UPI) — State Republican leaders will meet sometime this week to decide whether or not to ask for a recount in the 7th Congressional District where incumbent Democratic Rep. Don Magnuson apparently won an eye-lash victory.

The count of absentee votes ended Sunday and showed Magnuson had a 116-vote edge over Republican John Stender. The final figures were Magnuson 95,639 votes to Stender's 95,523.

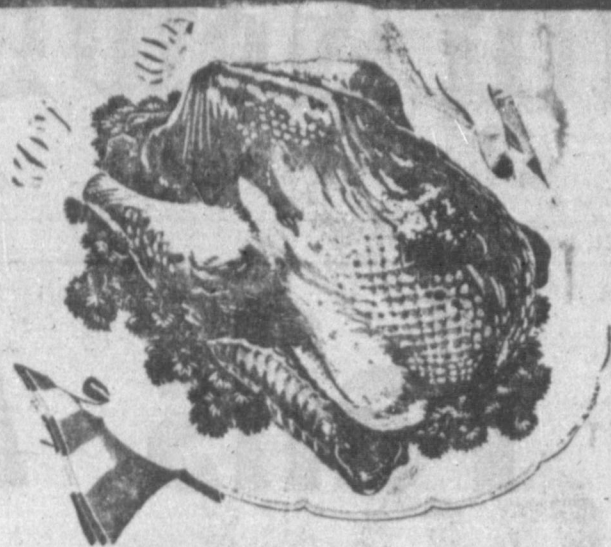

When the absentee count began Nov. 15 Stender was leading by 385 votes.

DURING FIRST 'TERM' — Allen began it all with President Franklin Delano Roosevelt. It marked his first of seven times in 'office.'

George Allen's Finale

'Crony' Of Presidents
Plans To Leave 'Post'

By PETER EDSON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — George E. Allen says he's through as the White House pal. "Because of constitutional limitations," he wisecracks, "this is my last term. A lot of people will be delighted to read that Allen is being retired legitimately." The genial Mississippian has been the buddy and confidant of two Democratic presidents, Roosevelt and Truman, and of Republican President Eisenhower. A look of smiling relief wreathed Allen's face. "For the first time in 28 years," he said, "I can sit back and criticize. Ever since 1932 I've had to defend every president for every thing he ever said or ever did." The tone of his voice intimated that sometimes this can be trying, and there's no pay. "To record for history some of the pleasanter experiences of his work, Allen wrote a book with the dash and characteristic title,

"Presidents Who Have Known Me." The first edition came out in 1950, covering his years as a Democrat.

His publishers wanted him to do a second book. Reluctantly he concluded he didn't have it in him. Early this year he compromised on a second edition, adding a few new chapters to cover his years as a Republican.

Some critics, resentful of his intimacy with the great, have referred to him as "clown" and "Court jester." Privately he considers this unkind. But he admits, "Nobody has had more fun than I have had."

In the new edition of his book he devotes only a few lines to the two 1960 presidential candidates. In a chapter on "Politics by Electronics," meaning the TV debate style of campaigning, he writes that this election is simply a beauty contest.

He reports that the voters will find Nixon, "vigorous, intense and self-possessed. There is nothing amateurish about him."

"On the Democrat side, John Kennedy will be boyish, bright and immensely appealing, particularly to women, except those who dislike his Boston accent. And who knows how many women do dislike a Boston accent?"

Certainly not a man with a Mississippi accent. But that's all he says he knows about the 1960 presidential candidates.

It was suggested that maybe the trouble was that here were a couple of young fellows from a new generation that didn't have any of the vices he had. He wouldn't admit he had any vices.

But he agreed that neither Nixon nor Kennedy was known as a good bridge player. Nixon tried golf, but was no good at it. And Nixon wasn't rich enough to play for money.

Kennedy swims and sails a boat for sport. Allen doesn't sail a boat and he doesn't swim, although he is well built for floating, preferably with the tide. Neither Kennedy nor Nixon plays the ponies or goes to the races personally.

"When I really retire," says Mr. Allen reverently, "it will be to live beside a race track."

But, "Retirement is the worst occupation in the world," he says. So, until he is forced to retire, he will keep on doing what he has always done before.

He will keep his office with a Washington law firm. It's just three blocks from the White House and he can walk by on the outside to look in, for old time's sake, any nice day.

He will keep his official residence in a hotel in Washington — where he has no vote — his New York suite, his California home, his farm near Ike's in Pennsylvania. And he will keep his 34 corporation directorships.

"The big difference," he says, "is that I just won't be spending any time in the White House."

ORDINANCE NO. 447

to swim into the path of the submarine.

Besides the canoe, which will be in the Thames River, site of the Ethan Allen launching, there will be at least one other boat on picket duty. Other members will carry signs and distribute leaflets at the gates of the electric boat shipyard where the ceremony will take place.

"We're focusing attention on these submarines because the United States is relying on them for massive retaliation in case of attack," said CNVA member Kenneth Meister.

"We believe that massive retaliation is not the right way to handle our problems. It will wipe out civilization. Disarmament is the answer."

A Navy spokesman said the civil disobedience participants will not be arrested, as in the past, because it would only be giving them more publicity.

Last week, however, the Navy sent the group a letter warning that if members attempted to board a Polaris submarine they would face a one year jail sentence and-or a 15,000 fine. CNVA followers boarded two such vessels briefly last month in an attempt to set up a "peace vigil."

The spokesman said that the "usual precautions" will be taken Tuesday, as in all submarine launchings, to insure no one will be injured. They include Coast Guard patrol boats, and Marine and company guards on electric boat property.

Clouds constantly change in shape because parts of them evaporate when they come in contact with warmer air that is not saturated with water.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — The declining trend in earnings of the chemical industry is likely to continue for another six months at least, the Value Line Investment Survey reports.

It says that price increases necessary to offset higher costs are just not possible under today marketing conditions.

In addition, Value Line points out that available supply exceeds demand by a large margin in almost every chemical commodity.

Bache & Co. reports that the recent action of Industrial Rayon both on the ticker tape and on its chart shows signs of slow but steady accumulation. Bache recommends this issue only for those willing to assume a high degree of speculative risk, noting that chances of a significant trading move should continue favorable as long as the issue remains above 16.

B. K. Thurlow of Winslow, Colo. & Stetson says that S. H. Kress shortly may agree to be taken over by another retailer at around $32 a share and sees little risk at the stock's current price (around 24) even if this particular move doesn't pan out. He also believes that American Viscose is a candidate for liquidation and should fetch upwards of $53 a share.

Reynolds & Co. estimates full year earnings of Peabody Coal at $1.20 a share against $1.15 in 1959. Reynolds attributes the gain to Peabody's close relationship with the growing electric utility industry and expects earnings and dividends to increase in future years.

Jurors Return 'No Bill' In Fatal Shooting

John Lewis Ellis Jr., 19-year-old Pampa youth, was to be released today from Gray County Jail after the Gray County Grand Jury returned a no bill verdict Friday afternoon in the Nov. 3 death of Hugh Worthington.

Ellis had been charged with the fatal shooting of Worthington, his 49-year-old step-father, after an argument over a television set. Worthington was shot six times with a .22 caliber pistol.

In other indictments Friday, George Carmack Jr., and David Fred McLaughlin, both of Oklahoma, were indicted on safe burglary charges in connection with break-ins at the Sealtest Creamery and Coca-Cola Bottling Co. last spring.

Lucies Denkins of Pampa was indicted on a charge of assault with intent to murder in connection with the shooting of his wife, Dorothy Denkins, last Tuesday.

Alvin Wayne Crume of Pampa was indicted on a charge of driving while intoxicated, a felony since it was his second offense.

Ray Floyd Martin Jr., of Amarillo, and Jewell M. Walker of Pampa were indicted on burglary charges and Donald Wayne Cook, also of Pampa, was indicted on a burglary charge stemming from the theft of a car from Clyde Jones' Used Car lot recently.

Welfare Unit Asks Baskets For Holiday

Pampa's Welfare Index, which distributes Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets to needy families in the city, still is 21 baskets short of its Thanksgiving demand, John Gikas, chairman of the committee, said today.

"We presently have 40 Thanksgiving baskets ready to be delivered Wednesday — Thanksgiving eve — but the index lacks 21 baskets of matching the need," Gikas stated.

"If anyone wants to donate a basket, they should call MO 4-7121 by Wednesday morning at the latest. And, if someone already has a family picked out, we would appreciate a call so there would be no duplication of baskets," he said.

Gikas said that the baskets may either be prepared by the individuals giving them or cash donations would be used to buy baskets by the Welfare Index committee.

Kennedy Irks Louisiana Group

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—A five-man delegation of Louisiana lawmakers left here Sunday night — apparently in a huff — after delivering a resolution asking for President-elect John F. Kennedy's views on the New Orleans school integration crisis.

One member of the delegation told newsmen he was "not happy" about their reception by a Kennedy representative, Clark M. Clifford.

Clifford met with the Louisiana delegation for half an hour at their hotel and said he would present the matter to Kennedy.

The delegation, which had been instructed by the Louisiana legislature to get an "immediate answer" from Kennedy, left Palm Beach in a National Guard plane for New Orleans.

The resolution asked what Kennedy thought of Federal District Judge J. Skelly Wright's actions in ordering integration of New Orleans schools.

The Louisiana legislature has branded Wright's actions as "judicial tyranny."

Council Agenda Has Two Items

Two items top tomorrow's city council meeting at 9 a.m. in the Chamber of Commerce conference room.

The council will set a bid date on the paving of the 1100 block of S. Christy and opening bids on pipe and fittings, according to John Kootz, city manager.

The site of the meeting was changed because the council room will be used as a Canadian River Dam voting place.

with the integration of the New Orleans schools.

Clifford met the delegation at their hotel, listened to their explanation of the resolution and urbanely promised to present the matter to the president-elect.

Then he drove to Kennedy's seaside winter establishment where he will be a guest through tonight.

Kennedy, according to his aides, earmarked today for a long and intensive conference with Clifford about his transition discussions with Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, chief assistant to Eisenhower.

Reporters were curious about the selection of Clifford to represent Kennedy in the face-to-face dealings with the Louisiana delegation instead of the president-elect turning the job over to one of several close aides already named to the new White House staff, such as Kenneth C. O'Donnell or Theodore Sorensen.

Acting Press Secretary Donald M. Wilson said only that Clifford was "one of Senator Kennedy's leading advisers." Asked if Clifford was in a position to speak for Kennedy on a matter of basic federal policy pertaining to the judiciary, Wilson said he was not.

Clifford, who will be 54 years old on Christmas Day, is an old hand at Democratic politics, and the White House where he served as special counsel to President Truman until 1950 when he set up a lucrative private law practice in Washington.

ty chairman who was slain by a right-wing fanatic at a political rally last month. The teen-age stabber later committed suicide in jail.

Ikeeda and his predecessor, former Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi, were re-elected easily.

The Socialists had campaigned on a platform calling for abolition of the U.S.-Japan security treaty and adoption of neutralism as Japan's foreign policy.

It was Socialist agitation at the time of the revision of the U.S.-Japan security treaty that sparked the wild anti-government riots. These led to cancellation of President Eisenhower's trip to Japan last June and resignation of Kishi as premier and ultimately were the reasons for the elections Sunday.

Financial Review

By HENRY J. BECHTOLD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—The food processing field finally is benefiting from the nearly $100 million invested annually by food companies in research.

There now is a busy spurt of technological improvements being made in food processing, a field which achieved relatively few startling technical innovations since World War II.

Ice cream, butter, caramel corn candy and even feeds for farm animals are only some of the instances where complex automated production systems have gone into service in recent months.

Grocery men are not at all hesitant about investing in costly computer systems if it ultimately lowers production costs or improves the product.

A good example is found in the dairy industry where H. P. Hood & Sons, Boston, recently put into full-scale operation an automated ice cream plant where a computer system "thinks out" the recipe requirements for each ice cream mix. It takes into account such variables as butterfat content in the milk to be used and then codes the correct formula on a punch card.

The card then is "read" by other electronic devices which open flow of ingredients, and direct other processes involved. Engineers of Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., who helped perfect the system, say it can be adapted for use in making candy and bakery and meat products.

A New York butter producer early in November placed in service the first continuous-processing plant for turning out whipped butter in a single start-to-finished package operation. The closed automatic system, engineered by Girdler Process Equipment Division of Chemetron Corp., now is producing more than 500 tons of the fluffy spread weekly.

General Foods Corp. has developed an automated system for a relatively plian product — caramel corn candy. A hot air-rotating drum system reduces the process to a single step. The former process involved cooking in a kettle—probably not much different from grandma's method.

The computer also has invaded the realm of chicken feed: Nutrina Feeds, a division of Cargill, Inc., use an electronic brain to figure out the ideal and most economical combination of ingredients to provide the exact nutritional requirements of the various animal and poultry feeds it makes.

As changes in prices of the needed ingredients occur, the brain, which knows the nutritional end-result desired, tells Nutrena how to adjust its ingredient buying and calculates a revised feed formula. This information is quickly transmitted to Nutrena's plants around the country via internal private-wire teletype.

Corn Products Co. cites a fully automatic process for making marmalade, in which all of the great number of materials are kept completely enclosed during the process, helping to assure freshness. Nuclear techniques also are being called into play by food technologists. Until recently, moisture content of dried products, such as corn starch, could only be determined by tedious laboratory techniques. But today there is an instrument derived from nuclear technology that gives this reading in a matter of seconds. Although technological improvements may have some downward effect on prices in the food store, grocery manufacturers are quick to point out that other price factors such as rising wages and raw material costs could more than offset any advantage.

Governors Say More Knowledge Of South Americans Necessary

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — A group of 28 U. S. governors who spent eight days touring Argentina leave today for Brazil on a similar visit.

The governors, in summing up their reactions to their stay in Argentina, agreed that more person-to-person contacts are needed to bolster relations between the peoples of the North and South American continents.

The average North-American said Gov. Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, thinks of the average South American as "a kind of sleepy persons, playing the guitar and drinking rum and Coca-Cola. That, of course, is dead wrong and we have seen for ourselves here, for instance, that in many ways they are more advanced culturally than we are."

Gov. Stephen L. R. McNichols of Colorado, chairman of the National Governors Conference and leader of the group of governors, said he had found general feeling that the United States was galvanized into new interest in Latin America by events in Cuba.

All of the governors interviewed by United Press International said they were greatly impressed by what Argentina was doing to rebuild its shattered economy along free enterprise lines.

Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina said he was "inspired" by the free enterprise tactics and ideas outlined to the governors by Argentine Economy Minister Alvaro Alsogaray.

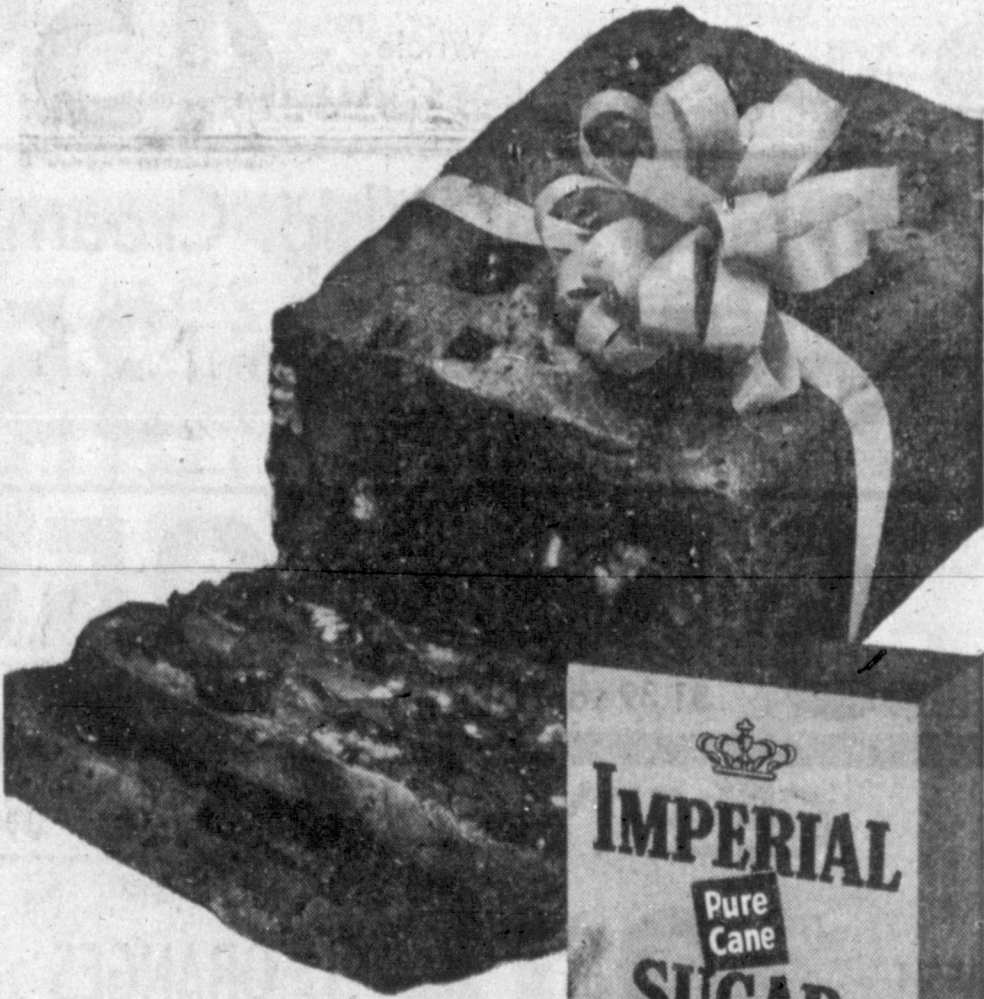

All the governors said they planned to report fully to the people in their states on what they have seen here. Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho said: "Almost nobody in my area knows anything about Argentina. I plan about six weekly talks about Argentina so the people back home will know something about this part of the world."

LOSE PRIVATE LINE
HEIDELBERG, Germany (UPI) — Police jammed communications between an American soldier and his German girl friend Sunday.

They confiscated a complete Army radio sending and receiving set from the girl's apartment. Another transmitter and receiver was stashed away in the soldier's clothing locker.

Names of the two were not disclosed.

HOLIDAY REFRESHMENTS

Fruit Demitasse-Cakes

(Courtesy Meadow Gold Dairies)

Delightful refreshments for the holiday season are these yuletide fruit cupcakes. Though the tiny cakes are well fruited and crunchy with nuts, dairy egg nog helps keep them moist and tender. Glaze and decorate the miniature fruit cakes just as you do the larger traditional cakes.

Miniature Fruit Cakes Are Answer To Your Holiday Baking Problems

Let miniature fruit cakes answer your holiday-baking plans if you find the larger ones are just too much for your family. This way you can have the traditional home-made cake at Christmastime but not necessarily for weeks and months following.

Actually, the miniature can be every bit as tasteful and handsomely decorated as the larger cakes. You may notice, however, that the batter needs a little more liquid than usual to prevent drying out.

Here's a recipe developed in the Meadow Gold test kitchen for yuletide fruit cupcakes in which dairy egg nog is used to supply extra moistness and flavor. The heavily fruited cakes are tender, with a pleasing nut crunchiness everyone will like.

The batter is baked in two and one-half inch paper cup lined muffin pans. When cool, the little cakes are glazed and trimmed with pieces of fruit and nuts. You'll find these are just about the right size to provide a couple of crunchy bites. Since they do not need aging to develop mellow fruit flavor, you may bake the little fruit cupcakes just a few days before serving.

YULETIDE FRUIT CUPCAKES
(24 cakes)
¾ pound candied mixed fruits
1 cup coarsely broken walnuts
2 cups sifted all purpose flour
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup butter
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
3 egg yolks, beaten
1 cup egg nog
2 teaspoons rum flavoring
3 egg whites
½ teaspoon cream of tartar

GLAZE:
¼ cup white corn sirup
2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon pineapple juice
Combine mixed fruits and walnuts. Sift together flour and nutmeg. Then mix ¼ cup flour with fruit mixture. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks; beat until well mixed. Combine egg nog and rum flavoring. Add alternately with remaining flour to creamed mixture. Fold

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Beef Round Steak.
Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It is from the beef hind quarter, from the section called the round. It is round or oval in shape with a small round bone. It has one large muscle and three small ones.
Q. How is it prepared?
A. By braising. It may or may not be dredged in seasoned flour, then browned on both sides in 2 to 4 tablespoons lard or drippings. A small amount of liquid is added, the utensil is covered tightly, and the meat is cooked slowly until tender, 1 to 1½ hours.

Just Take A Baker's Cake To Start And Add A Fancy And Fast Pudding

Fancy and fast is this Proven Recipe that starts with a baker's cake. Mocha-Sherry Wine Cake, made with angel food cake, is filled with a mocha-sherry pudding and topped with a frothy pudding frosting.

MOCHA-SHERRY WINE CAKE
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon instant coffee
1 package chocolate pudding
¼ cup Sherry wine
1 large angel food cake
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
¼ cup crushed English toffee or molasses chip candy

Combine milk, coffee, pudding and Sherry in a (1-quart) saucepan. Bring mixture to a boil over low heat, stirring constantly. Boil one minute and remove from heat; cool. Slice cake horizontally into 3 equal-sized layers. Whip cream. Fold ½ of the whipped cream into pudding mixture. Divide pudding-cream mixture, reserving half for the frosting. Spread about ½ cup of the pudding mixture between each layer. To the other half of the pudding-cream mixture, add the remaining whipped cream. Cover top and sides of cake with lighter chocolate mixture. Sprinkle crushed candy on top of cake. Chill in refrigerator until ready to serve. Yield: 12-14 servings.

Notes: (1) Instant Pudding may be substituted for cooked pudding, in which case the milk, coffee and Sherry should be mixed with the pudding according to package directions. (2) This cake freezes satisfactorily.

It's more fun to cook with a seasoned hand, according to the Texas Beef Council. Pinches of herbs and spices can add great weight to your reputation as a cook.

Prepare casseroles and meat loaves well in advance of serving, the Texas Beef Council says. Refrigerate and re-heat just before serving, to give flavors time to blend and mellow.

Plan your menus as you do an important costume, the Texas Beef Council suggests. Build your menu around one exciting dish, and keep the rest of the meal simple.

Dear Abby...

 To The Right, Fellas
 ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR READERS: On October I ran the following letter:
 DEAR ABBY: I am a 55-year-old spinster, and I want to buy my husband... I am not bad looking. I can give him a car of my own... a good allowance to live as he pleases and no questions asked. I want a man between 20 and 40 who doesn't drink, I own a house and a drive-in and have money in the bank... There is nothing wrong with me. He doesn't have to work... and he can be as late as he pleases. I am not playing hard to get. I believe in putting all my cards on the table and I want a man who do the same.
 JUST PLAIN LONESOME:
 Here are some of the replies:

DEAR ABBY: I am 20, a pre-dent student, and crave the company of a mature woman. Love is a state of mind. I know I could truly love a woman with her qualifications.
 PRE-MED STUDENT (Madison, Wisc.)

DEAR ABBY: My client is interested in the party who signed herself "Just Plain Lonesome." This is a mature, responsible, 33-year-old citizen who will furnish character references. Please contact this office.
 NAME WITHHELD - Attorney at Law, San Mateo, Calif.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "JUST PLAIN LONESOME" she can have my husband. He's in his late 30s, goes to sleep, doesn't care for sex, would appreciate a car and allowance, would like to come to go as he pleases with no questions asked, and prefers women who are "not hard to get."
 "JUST PLAIN FED UP"
 DEAR ABBY: We are not for sale, but we are for rent. There are seven of us who will offer "Lonesome" companionship at the rate of one per day.

CRMWA Project Topic For Altrusa Meeting

Mrs. Dona Cornutt, and active worker in civic affairs and Mrs. Wiley Davis, president of the Pampa Council of Clubs, were guest speakers at the Altrusa Club luncheon meeting held recently in the Cibola Room of the Coronado Inn.
 The ladies, members of the Pampa Citizens Speakers' Bureau, discussed the proposed Canadian River Dam Project, which will be presented for vote tomorrow.
 The speakers brought out that the Canadian River Dam Lake would be approximately the size of Conchos and would take a minimum of 100,000 acre feet. "This would give billions and billions of gallons of water for the 11 cities interested. The construction of this dam and aqueducts would take somewhere between three and five years and would employ between three and four hundred people."
 "It is necessary," the speakers informed the club, "that the 11 cities involved come to a unanimous decision on rates that would apply for 50 years. This would not affect Pampa's individual water bill very much more, as the raw water rate for Pampa would be $1352 per 1000 gallons; Borger's rate would be $1290 and Lubbock's rate would be $1766. The average rate is $1611."
 "If the dam project fails to be approved by the voters, there is no telling how much water bills in Pampa will go up, as it is impossible to forecast how much underground water is available. As Pampa is dependent upon the oil industry and the manufacture of related products from petroleum, this industry must have plenty of water for continued operation. The underground water is a precious commodity and the water table level is depleted yearly as the per capita use of water is increasing enormously. Every type of industry requires water and the first question a new prospective business to Pampa asks is about the availability of water."

 "The Canadian River Authority will only build a lake, which would give wonderful recreational facilities for those in the Panhandle of Texas. Any Lake Cabin sites, parks or roads would need to be taken up directly with the property owners near the lake site, and naturally the roads would be a state responsibility. This location on the Candian River is the only place in the Panhandle where we could have a lake of this size. It would fulfill not only the needs for water, but also for recreation."
 Mrs. L. L. Harkins, vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Clyde Vanderberg and read the president's report of the district meeting of Altrusa Clubs held recently in Marshall.
 "First on the agenda was the President's Luncheon and workshop at which Mrs. Ernest Milner, president-elect of Altrusa International, was in charge. Mrs. Milner presented many new ideas slanting toward stimulating interest in projects and programs that would be rewarding by increasing attendance and "Making Your Shadow Spell Service," which was the theme of the conference."
 The Pampa Club received two awards; one for the Grants-In-Aid project, designed to give financial assistance for education to Latin American and Asian women; and the Founders' Fund, which permits the mature American women to secure vocational training which enables them to enter the labor market of this country."
 Mrs. Harkins described the performance of the skit "Getting To Know You Via the Party Line," which was presented at the district meeting by the delegates Mrs. Vanderberg, Mrs. Inez Carter, Mrs. Harkins and Mrs. Jack P. Foster. This skit won for the local club an award, also.
 "And when the award for the best club bulletin was given to Pampa, our cup runneth over," Mrs. Vanderberg's report continued.
 "We were especially proud of Mrs. Jack P. Foster, who is a district officer and district chairman. Naturally, she was active in the workshops and took an official capacity in the proceedings as well as with the local delegation."
 Miss Mary Helen Ayres, Altrusa Girl of the month for October, introduced, Miss Ann Hutchens, who was selected by the Pampa Throw the record books out the window, ignore the betting line and don't believe a word you hear. It's Thanksgiving time again, and the Texas Longhorns and Texas Aggies are set to meet again for the 67th time since 1894.

The Longhorns, 6-3 on the season, will be heavily favored to hang up another win in this most storied of all rivalries in the Southwest Conference. But that was the situation last year, too, and the Longhorns had to score a touchdown in the last two minutes and then intercept an Aggie pass on their own two yard line at the gun to win, 20-17.

Hansen Is AL Rookie

BOSTON (UPI) — Ron Hansen, the slick-fielding shortstop who helped lead the colorful Baltimore Orioles to second place, today was named the 1960 American League rookie of the year.

The 22-year-old Hansen received 22 first place votes out of the 24 ballots cast by a committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America. The two other votes went to two other members of the Baltimore "Kiddie Corps" — pitcher Chuck Estrada and first baseman Jim Gentile.

Hansen, who lives in Albany, Calif., batted only .255 but drove in 86 runs and hit 22 home runs while anchoring the fine Baltimore infield.

NMSU Aggies Go For Crown

By United Press International

New Mexico State bids for its first undefeated season and the Border Conference championship this Saturday night when the high-powered Aggies tackle Texas Western as the Border loop moves into the final weekend of the 1960 campaign.

Not only do the Aggies need the win over the Miners to protect their perfect record, but should they lose while Arizona State beats arch-rival Arizona University, the New Mexicans wouldn't even get a share of the loop title.

West Texas State, idle last week as was Arizona State, seeks its fourth win in 10 games this year Thanksgiving Day when the Buffaloes travel to Wichita, Kan., to meet the University of Wichita Wheatshockers. Hardin - Simmons, 40-3 loser to New Mexico State last weekend, has completed its disastrous season, failing to win a single game in 10 tries.

Arizona State's chances for the loop crown depend on its beating Arizona and an Aggie loss to Texas Western. In that case, the Sun Devils would end up with a 4-1 record compared to the Aggies 3-1.

Texas Western dropped in an even 4-4 season record last weekend when the Miners dropped a 21-0 interconference game to powerful Bowling Green. Arizona set the stage for this week's intra-state battle by whipping Kansas State, 35-16.

The Wildcats are not eligible for the conference title because they do not play enough games against conference competition. However, the club stands 2-0 against Border rivals.

Coach Joe Golding, who is rumored getting ready to retire from active coaching after 14 highly-successful seasons at Wichita Falls, has seen his teams with 137 games against 23 losses and one tie, and take three state titles. The only team to beat him more than twice has been Breckenridge, which turned the trick five times and also holds the only tie game with the Coyotes.

And it was Breckenridge that turned in the only regular season defeat of the Coyotes during the current three-year span — in 1958. The Coyotes haven't lost a district game since 1955.

Golding's boys lost in the state finals to Corpus Christi Ray last year, but they shape up now as the prime favorite to make a successful bid this year. They rank

Pairings Made In Tennis Play

BRISBANE, Australia (UPI) — The draw for Tuesday's opening singles matches of the inter-zone final between the United States and the Philippines was made today with Barry McKay of Dayton, Ohio paired against Eduardo Dungo and Earl Buchholz of St. Louis against Johnny Jose.

In the doubles on Wednesday, it will be the American team of Chuck McKinley of St. Louis and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., against Jose and Dungo.

In the final two singles matches which wind up the inter-zone final on Thursday, Dungo will play Buchholz while McKay, the oldest member of the U.S. Davis Cup squad at 25, will take on Jose.

The winner of the best-of-five series will meet Italy, the European zone champion, for the right to play Australia in the challenge round at Sydney.

But last year, Texas was playing for the conference championship and a trip to the Cotton Bowl as well as the pride that goes to the winner of the game. This year, they're playing for the fun of it, for Arkansas has already wrapped up the loop title.

Rice, the only club left in the conference with a chance to tie the Razorbacks for the championship, puts its hopes on the line Saturday against Baylor in Waco, and Texas Christian and Southern Methodist play their annual grudge affair in Dallas as all four teams wind up their seasons.

Arkansas sacked up the crown and the host berth in the Cotton Bowl by crushing Texas Tech 34-6 at Lubbock last week end. The quick little Hogs wound up their regular season with a 6-1 league record and an 8-2 overall mark.

George McKinney was the big gun for the Razorbacks, tossing touchdown passes of 61, 22 and 44 yards in the rout. There was no indication who the Pokers would face Jan. 2, but Navy appeared to be the top prospect, with Duke, Alabama, Florida, and Syracuse all in for consideration.

Rice kept alive its hopes for a share in the crown by stealing everything but the helmets off a befuddled Texas Christian team. The Owls swiped six Horned Frog passes and romped away with a 23-0 shutout, the worst defeat ever suffered by a Froggie club under coach Abe Martin.

Baylor struggled and shuffled for over a half before finally solving the spread formation of the Southern Methodist Mustangs and handing the Ponies their eighth loss against a tie in nine starts, 20-7.

Both Texas and the Aggies took the weekend off, resting for their clash this Thursday in Memorial Stadium in Austin.

Missouri, the nation's top-ranked college football team, suffered the fate of four previous occupants of the No. 1 position when Kansas beat the Tigers, 23-7, to clinch its first undisputed Big Eight championship since 1930. Syracuse, Mississippi, Iowa and Minnesota fell from the top rung earlier this season.

Washington, despite bagging the "Big Five" conference title on the West Coast three weeks ago, had to beat Washington State before being officially named to the Rose Bowl for the second successive year. The fifth-ranked Huskies nipped Washington State, 8-7, for their third one-point victory of the season.

Arkansas, ranked eighth by the United Press International Board of Coaches, defeated Texas Tech, 34-6, to cop an automatic bid to the Cotton Bowl. The Razorbacks clinched a tie for the Southwest Conference crown and received the nod because they beat their nearest rival, Rice, this season.

Minnesota gained a tie with Iowa for the Big Ten title by sweeping past Wisconsin, 26-7. Iowa gave coach Forest Evashevski a farewell present with a 28-0 lacing of Notre Dame. Either fourth-ranked Minnesota or third-ranked Iowa will get the Rose Bowl invite despite a contention that "teams across the nation" are being considered for the berth.

Syracuse, with possibilities of an Orange, Cotton, Liberty or Gotham invitation, defeated Miami (Fla) Friday night, 21-14.

Early bowl returns today placed Missouri in the Orange, Washington in the Rose and Arkansas in the Cotton classic. Reports from Syracuse, Iowa and Minnesota still were inconclusive despite weekend victories.

Second-ranked Mississippi needs a victory over Mississippi State this Saturday to nail down a Southeastern Conference title and a Sugar Bowl berth, while Navy may be in line for as many as four bowl invitations should it beat Army in their traditional game Saturday at Philadelphia.

Yale won the Ivy League and Big Three titles and accomplished its first perfect season since 1923 with a 39-6 triumph over Harvard. However, the Elis will not be invited for post-season play because of the Ivy League ban.

Utah State was not as lucky. The Aggies dropped a 6-0 decision to Utah that cost them a clean slate and outright possession of the Skyline Conference championship. Utah State wound up the season in a tie with Wyoming.

Penn State also moved into the bowl picture with a 14-3 win over Pittsburgh. The Nittany Lions were extended an invitation by the Liberty Bowl committee Sunday night and will decide by Tuesday. Pittsburgh's loss ruined its chances of being named Florida's opponent in the Gator Bowl.

Garwol Sounds Future Warning By Capturing Pimlico Futurity

By United Press International

Louis Wolfson's Garwol will have to be added to the list of promising 3-year-olds next year on the basis of his driving victory in Saturday's $110,250 Pimlico Futurity.

The bay colt, a son of My Babu and Fleece, charged from fourth place at the halfway mark to defeat Bal Musette by 1 1/2 lengths.

Trainer Burley Parke explained Garwol's victory as a change of style from his previous outings. "He didn't try to go to the front so soon," Parke said. "We will now ship him to Florida for the winter season."

Garwol, a second-place finisher in the Champagne and National Stallion, received good handling from jockey Ismael Valenzuela as he took command in the stretch approach and held off Bal Musette's challenge. The winner earned a purse of $68,256. He covered 1 1/8 miles in 1:45 4/5 and paid $6.00.

At Aqueduct, Argentine, bred Don Poggio took advantage of Bald Eagle's and Kelso's absence to score an easy seventh-length triumph in the $83,000 Gallant Fox handicap.

The triumph was the third successful marathon race for Don Poggio as he outdistanced Manassas Mauler in the 1 1/2 mile event. Don Poggio was timed in 2:55 4/5 for the distance and returned $4,000. A winner's share of $53,950 raised his earnings for the year to $145,925.

Wichita Falls Leads Gridders Into Play

By ED FITE
United Press International

The Wichita Falls Coyotes, who have been beaten only twice and tied once in 33 games over the past three seasons, lead the Texas schoolboy football playoff brigade into action that will be spread all the way from Thursday afternoon through Saturday night this week.

Coach Joe Golding, who is rumored getting ready to retire from active coaching after 14 highly-successful seasons at Wichita Falls, has seen his teams with 137 games against 23 losses and one tie, and take three state titles. The only team to beat him more than twice has been Breckenridge, which turned the trick five times and also holds the only tie game with the Coyotes.

And it was Breckenridge that turned in the only regular season defeat of the Coyotes during the current three-year span — in 1958. The Coyotes haven't lost a district game since 1955.

Golding's boys lost in the state finals to Corpus Christi Ray last year, but they shape up now as the prime favorite to make a successful bid this year. They rank

No. 1 in the state in Class AAAA. The Coyotes open their title bid this Saturday afternoon as hosts to the Berger Bulldogs, one of eight bi-district games in the AAAA division. There'll be eight others in Class AAA and an equal number of second round tilts in each of Classes AA and A over the long holiday weekend.

The Port Arthur Yellow Jackets, the pre-season AAAA favorites, are generally figured as the most likely finals foe for the Coyotes. The "Jackets start their playoff program Friday night at home against Galena Park.

In Class AAA, the state's No. 1 rated outfit — the Jacksonville Indians — are expected to meet second-ranked Bay City's Black Cats in the finals. This division is the only one in which a defending champion is still around to bid for a repeat.

The Cleburne Yellow Jackets, who shared the AAA crown with Breckenridge last year, made it back to the playoffs and will tangle with Huntsville at Cleburne Saturday afternoon.

AAAA champ Corpus Christi Ray and Breckenridge failed to get out of their districts this season, while Class A title kity Katy graduated to AA and found the going a bit tougher. Brady, which won the AA title via forfeit when Stamford was ruled ineligible, got into the playoffs but lost a 16-14 bi-district tilt to Gatesville last week.

Olney and Belleville are the top choices for the Class AA finals, while Stinnett and White Oak shape up as the top A choices.

Coin tosses were necessary Saturday to decide playoff berths in four districts — Lufkin winning the flip over Tyler and Texarkana in 3-AAAA; Galena Park besting Baytown and Brazosport for the 11-AAAA spot; Snyder beating Sweetwater and Colorado City in 3-AAA and San Antonio Sam Houston winning out over Uvalde and Del Rio in 14-AAA.

Two other district berths also were settled on the playing field Saturday in AAAA with Berger beating Pampa to get the nod over Amarillo High in 3-AAAA and Odessa Permian backing into the 2-AAAAA spot as Odessa High and Abilene knocked Midland and San Angelo out of title contention.

Baylor Hits For 52, Erases Wilt's Mark

Elgin Baylor will not be content until he breaks all of Wilt Chamberlain's National Basketball Association scoring records.

Baylor erased Chamberlain's mark of 43 points in San Francisco's Cow Palace set last season by scoring 52 Sunday while leading the Los Angeles Lakers to a 135-131 victory over the Detroit Pistons.

Last week the former Seattle University All-America topped Chamberlain's early season NBA high of 46 points by setting a league record of 71 against the

Jolting Eagle Wins Highlights NFL Play

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press International

There is some bad blood between the Philadelphia Eagles and the New York Giants which is bound to spill over in their return battle next Sunday in the National Football League.

The angered feelings grew out of a savage jolt by Philadelphia linebacker Chuck Bednarik, who sent halfback Frank Gifford of the Giants to the hospital with a concussion following the Eagles' 17-10 come-from-behind victory Sunday.

Philadelphia won the key game and widened its Eastern Division lead to 1 1/2 games when defensive back Jim Carr plucked Giant fullback Mel Triplett's fumble out of the air and raced 38 yards to a touchdown with only 2:37 left to play.

A minute later as the Giants struck back, Gifford caught a pass from George Shaw on the Eagles' 30-yard line and was hit from the blind side by Bednarik. Gifford hit the ground so hard he was knocked unconscious and fumbled the ball. Eagles linebacker Chuck Weber recovered to douse the Giants' last threat.

Although Bednarik insisted that the play was "clean all the way" and that the movies would bear him out, several Giants, particularly Charlie Conerly, felt the burly Eagles defender had taken a "cheap shot" at Gifford.

The Giants also were annoyed at the manner in which the Eagles sent two and three blockers upfield to rough up placekicker Pat Summerall each time he kicked off.

Coach Buck Shaw of Philadelphia called it a "psychological weapon." Coach Jim Lee Howell didn't think much of the stunt, although he said Summerall "is big enough to take care of himself." But the trick may have had its effect. Summerall missed three field goals.

And so the Giants probably will be weaker in manpower but stronger in desire to get even when the teams play again next Sunday. Another win for the Eagles will put them within easy distance of their first division title since 1949.

In the Western Division of the NFL, the idle Baltimore Colts took a one-game lead as the runner-up Green Bay Packers were upset by the Los Angeles Rams, 33-31. The Pittsburgh Steelers also sprang a big upset by defeating the Cleveland Browns, 14-10. The Chicago Bears trounced the Detroit Lions, 28-7; the San Francisco Forty-Niners sent the winless Dallas Cowboys down to their ninth straight defeat, 26-1 and the St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Washington Redskins, 26-14.

Houston Rookie Stars As Oilers Beat Denver

By United Press International

Quarterback Jackie Lee of the Houston Oilers, a rubber-armed rookie who before Sunday had played only a few minutes of pro football, is the latest sensation of the surprise-every-week American Football League.

Lee, filling in for the injured George Blanda, threw touchdown passes of 78, 92 and 73 yards on a muddy field Sunday to lead the Oilers to a 20-10 victory over the Denver Broncos. In the AFL's other game, the Buffalo Bills upset the Los Angeles Chargers, 32-3.

Houston's victory was its seventh in 10 games and kept the Oilers two games in front of the Eastern Division race. Los Angeles (6-4) remained one game ahead in the Western Division despite the defeat, with Dallas and Oakland tied at 5-5 each.

Lee, a 185-pounder who was the nation's second leading major college passer last year at the University of Cincinnati, connected with Bill Groman for his first touchdown and with Charlie Heenan for the third.

His 92-yard TD toss to Groman in the second period was the longest in the AFL this season. All three of his throws sailed to 40 yards through the air.

The feat was remarkable view of Lee's limited pro experience and the condition of the field. A heavy rain fell through out the game. After pitching to Oilers to a 20-3 halftime lead, Lee curtailed his passing activity the second half.

Lee's only previous game experience was one series of downs against the Chargers Sept. 18. That game, he threw three passes a completed one for 10 yards as had one intercepted.

A surprisingly large crowd of 20,778 turned out for the game. Houston despite the weather, accepted six passes to snap the Chargers' four-game winning streak. Archie Matsos and Jim Wagstaff each stole two passes Matsos running one back 20 yards for a second-period touchdown.

Wray Carlton ran for two Buffalo touchdowns and Tom O'Connell and Johnny Green each passed for one before a crowd of 16,161 that speckled the 104,000-seat Los Angeles Coliseum. Bo Agajanian kicked a 31-yard second-period field goal for the Chargers' only score.

Six Hurt In Crash

LOUISA, Va. (UPI) — Six persons injured when a hot-rod racing car hurtled into a crowd during a drag race Sunday were reported in satisfactory condition today.

Four of the injured were hospitalized in nearby Charlottesville with broken legs or multiple lacerations. Two others, cut about the face and head, were treated and released.

The accident occurred when the racer's clutch and flywheel exploded as it made a solo run at the Louisa raceway during the Central Virginia championship meet.

Smoke and shrapnel-like hunks of metal erupted from the speeding car. It careened off the side of a ditch separating the "racing" strip from the "return" strip, crashed through a fence and bounced off two other cars before coming to rest.

The driver, Henry Southworth, of Richmond, Va., escaped injury.

"It happened so fast I didn't realize what happened until I got up," said Edward Price Perry, 18, of Charlottesville, whose car was one of those hit in the wreck. He was struck on the hip by a piece of flywheel.

The injured were identified as Charles T. Herndon of Free Union, broken leg and facial lacerations; Edward E. Deane of Earleystown, two broken legs; Diane's wife, burns and facial lacerations; and Michael W. Worley of Charlottesville, facial lacerations; John W. Gibson Jr. of Charlottesville and Winston H. Collier of Standardsville, lesser injuries.

Copa Tiger Wins In Record Time

SUNLAND PARK, N. M. (UPI) — Copa Tiger roared through the last sixteenth of a mile to win the featured Jueves Purse in the track record — tying time of 1:36 flat at Sunland Park Sunday.

Yale, NMSU End Unbeaten

NEW YORK (UPI) — Yale and New Mexico State boasted the only perfect records among the nation's major college football teams today on a list which includes 17 such schools.

Yale whipped Harvard, 39-6, Saturday to complete its first unbeaten and untied season since 1923, while New Mexico State, which still has one more game to play, defeated Hardin-Simmons, 40-3. Both Yale and New Mexico State had won nine games.

SEVERAL BAGS FULL—The wine of the last two years filled all the casks in the West German town of Bergzabern. Resourceful villagers turned to plastic containers which must be submerged in water to equalize pressure on their thin skins lest they burst. And that is how 270,000 gallons of wine came to be placed in the city swimming pool.

Bi-Racial Unit Slaps Southern Police Policies

ATLANTA (UPI)—A bi-racial organization which favors integration charged today that "existing, traditional, Southern police attitudes and training are not likely to be adequate for dealing impartially with the young generation of Negroes."

The Southern Regional Council said in a published report that "the greatest danger to law and order in the South is a public official... trying to meet the new problems with old, unassessed ideas."

The warning came in an analysis of police handling of racial violence in Chattanooga, Tenn., Montgomery, Ala., and Little Rock, Ark., by George McMillan, a South Carolina writer.

"Negroes may demonstrate in any Southern town," McMillan said in his report, "and Southern Negroes are prepared to take over steps to change their status, even at the risk of personal safety."

"If the lessons of Little Rock, Chattanooga and Montgomery are to be learned," the report said, "then each community must re-examine its public policy in racial disputes."

"For too many years, in the South, the police were assumed to be an arm of the white race to keep Negroes in their place. Where this attitude lingers, there is scant chance for the orderly resolution of racial controversy."

Weekend Violence Toll In Texas Climbs To 21

By United Press International Drenching rains soaked Texas over the weekend, making highways hazardous and shortening tempers and sending the violent death toll for the period soaring.

A United Press International survey for the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday showed 21 persons died violently in the state. Traffic, aided by bad weather and wet streets, again led the list of killers, accounting for 13 of the deaths.

Other traffic deaths included: Mrs. Helen Gunnels, 60, of Houston, killed late Friday night when struck by a car; Katy Juanell Durham, 17, of Wylie, Tex., killed in a wreck just outside Wylie Saturday.

Forney High School football guard Michael Smith, 17, killed when the car in which he was riding on his school's bi-district football game was involved in a head-on collision with another vehicle Friday.

Egbert Wilkins of Quanah, Tex., died of injuries suffered in a wreck near Quanah last Wednesday. 8-month-old Dennis Ring of Kermit, killed in a wreck near Wickett Saturday; Fred Wilkerson, 80, of the Pleasant Grove Community in Rusk County, killed when his car slid off a rain-slicked highway near Henderson Sunday.

And Glenn Fisher, 4, killed Saturday when a truck ran over him at a street intersection near his home in Houston, and Ben Wathen, 80, of Athens, killed in a head-on collision Sunday in Athens.

Ignacio Del Toro, 51, was shot to death with three bullets from his own gun while trying to break up a brawl in his tavern in Fort Worth early Sunday; Della Ruth Bishop, 21, was shot to death in a brawl in Dallas Sunday.

The body of a man tentatively identified as Earl F. Estes, 54, of California, was discovered near Seminole in far West Texas Sunday. Officials are investigating his death.

James Randall, 26, was knifed to death in an altercation outside a downtown Houston shoe shine parlor Saturday, and Norman Black, 45, of Weatherford, was shot to death in a hunting accident near Weatherford Sunday.

Mrs. Donna Fullerton, 74, of Paint Rock, Tex., died in a Balinger hospital Saturday of burns suffered in a fire at her home early in the day; Jose Gonzales Leman, 27, was killed Saturday night at Santa Rosa, Tex., when he was run over by a freight train.

Norman L. Black, a 45-year-old Weatherford groceryman, was killed Sunday morning 13 miles north of Weatherford while he and four companions hunted deer. A Fort Worth man, Terry Wilson, told officers he fired at a deer and heard a man cry out some distance away. Black, struck in the back, died en route to a hospital.

Three youthful fishermen were missing in the Houston area today after having disappeared from a Lake Houston fishing camp Sunday afternoon. They were identified as Lewis Lyles, 18, his brother-in-law, James Albright, 17, and Gilbert Hedge, 14.

Sammy Gene Richardson, 36, a Littlefield truck driver, was killed Sunday night in a one-car accident north of Littlefield.

Tommas Andrade Garcia, 43, of O'Donnell, was killed in a pickup truck wreck on a dirt farm road near O'Donnell Sunday night.

Background Surpasses Acting In Two-Hour 'Macbeth' Epic

By FRED DANZIG United Press International NEW YORK (UPI)—"Macbeth" was delivered to our TV screens Sunday night as a lovely looking special delivery picture post card from Scotland.

The two-hour "Hallmark Hall of Fame" presentation on NBC-TV unraveled, in color, eye-catching, genuine scenes of Scottish countryside, castle interiors and costumes. But the swirling, dark, blood-drenched, violent world that Shakespeare created around his Thane of Glamis was submerged by these scenic treats. This was, perhaps, one case where a smaller budget would have helped.

Space limitations prevent me from paying extended tribute to producer-director George Schaefer, the sponsor and producer crews for making this classic available as a TV program. If they will take this for granted, I'll proceed to the specific quibbles and kudos.

Since it was on color film, I was disappointed by the failure to surround the central characters with more imaginative blood-soaked mantles of light, mist and shadow, which the words and moods invoke. Many outdoor scenes were punctuated with superb textures of torch-light-touched stone. But too often, attention to close, internal conflicts was disturbed by those same background achievements. The imagination wasn't aroused. The dripping, demented world that emerges from a reading of "Macbeth" rarely emerged on the TV screen.

Of course, much cutting and scene-changing was required in order to get the play into its required length. Some of the editing hurt. I thought, for example, that Macbeth's last meeting with the witches should not have been so clearly defined as a nightmare for it resulted in the loss of badly needed servings of earth-trembling laments and other-world illusion.

As Macbeth, Maurice Evans was clear, artistically correct, but not inspired or moving. Judith Anderson, as Lady Macbeth, conveyed more intensity, more torture and was less eternalized than Evans. Michael Hordern's portrayal of Banquo was thoroughly effective. Ian Bannen's Macduff ended with enough fire during the over-produced, stilted battle at the finish, although he started badly. Contributing strong performances were Malcolm Keen as the doctor and George Rose as the porter.

Much may be known of a man's character by what excites his laughter.

- IT'S HOW YOU RELAX
LONDON (UPI)—Boston's Dr. Paul Dudley White, the heart specialist who treated President Eisenhower when he had his heart attack, said Sunday that it's how you relax while playing golf and not the game itself that gives medicinal value to the sport. White said it's the "relaxation—not the exercise—which counts."

CHIN IS PROP — To Kirk Douglas his chin is an acting tool as well as an asset in arguments. Cast and crew of his latest film, "Spartacus," took refuge when the angle of Kirk's chin warned them that, as producer and star, he was going to have HIS way in the filming.

Give CRMWA 'Yes Vote'

The election tomorrow, to determine whether or not Pampa joins into the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, is one decision in Pampa's development which will carry with it a meaning for the next two generations. The reason for this broad observation is that Pampa will decide, for an indefinite period of time in the future, whether or not it has a claim to the only surface water available for municipal development in the Panhandle.

Ten other cities in the Panhandle and North Plains areas will also be deciding their future, from the standpoint of water supply, tomorrow. They, like Pampa, are faced with the problem of a continually lowering underground water reserve and, in some instances, their problem is serious.

Happily, Pampa's position is not at the hardship point, but it isn't difficult to foresee that in fifteen or twenty years, our underground water situation could be approaching the gravity, for instance, of Lubbock's.

In approving the contract between the City of Pampa and the Authority as well as the authorization for the Authority to borrow the funds for the project, there is no tax liability accepted by the property owners, for the sole source of loan repayment is from the sale of water to the member cities. The rate per thousand gallons Pampa will agree to pay the Authority is 13.62 cents which, over the fifty years of the contract, compares very favorably with the estimated cost of at least 18 cents to 20 cents for well water in fifteen to twenty years.

Pampa's present cost of delivering a thousand gallons to the edge of town is around 10 cents and by the time the Canadian River dam project is completed, in eight years, this rate could easily be approaching the Authority's rate.

As we stated in an editorial recently on this issue, we think it is always a mistake to look to the federal government for functions which rightly belong to the market place, and the loaning of money is certainly a function of a free economy. By going to the federal government for a loan to finance this project, we are encouraging the Potomac Monster to further intrusions, and the idea that the subsidized interest rate of 2.622 per cent is a "must" to make the venture feasible is another way of saying that possibly the project is economically premature.

The choice, however, facing us is the necessity of accepting the circumstances as they exist, and being put in a position of being excluded to a claim in this surface supply of water offers little choice but to approve the issues at hand. The pressure of a lowering water table and scarce water rights, when combined with the needs of a growing city, give the ring of urgency to tomorrow's election. We suggest a "yes" vote.

Inherent Responsibility

Responsibility is an inherent characteristic of man. It is not a matter of having each person assume the responsibility for his actions. By virtue of the fact that each man controls his own energy, each man is responsible for his actions whether he cares to admit it or whether he likes it.

The Philosophy Base

We do not know how many times during the years we have pointed out the facts and figures which indicate that our massive and ever enlarging bureaucracy is wasting money. It seems to us that on a countless number of occasions we have warned of extravagance, of high living among politicians, of foolish projects and of outright waste and apparent duplicity.

But in the end, all of these facts and figures will prove meaningless unless there is a genuine understanding of the principles of private ownership which underlie our entire social and economic structure.

Even George II recognized the validity of this argument when he canceled all taxes against the colonies, saving only the tax on tea. And then as an added inducement, he subsidized the tea, trying to make it advantageous for the colonists to buy the tea with the tax on it, rather than paying the higher price for the smuggled article.

But the colonists recognized the principle involved and we had a giant tea party in Boston following which the colonists turned to drinking coffee. We recognized then, although we seem to have forgotten it since, that IF the principle of taxing is recognized, the amount of the tax or the nature of its collection is of little importance. Once we grant to government the power to tax, we have surrendered our economic freedom.

Amounts of taxation thereafter become of interest to people who wish to deal in and play politics. If we are ever going to solve the maddening dilemma we are in, it seems we must sire a whole race of philosophers who will be able to cope intellectually with the challenge.

Let us keep in mind that as things stand, the facts of the case are not in question. Every well-informed American KNOWS the general that we are in debt up to our eyebrows and that we are throwing money around in such manner as to make the proverbial drunken sailor look like a modern-day Scrooge.

The question of our times is a philosophic question, not an arithmetic one. We must decide, and on moral grounds, whether the man who earns the bread retains the right to eat it.

giving, which after all depends upon wholesale plundering, is good or bad. What we must at last recognize is that the number of dollars collected by government is NOT a means of discovering whether government is either wise or necessary. What must be debated and finally concluded is whether or not government should have the power to tax at all.

Principles are never determined by amounts. There can be no possible way of saying that if a government taxes us 1 per cent of our incomes this is good, but that if it taxes us 2 per cent it is bad.

Every time we cite the fact that several billion have been given away to foreign powers the socialist can trot forward to show that a several hundred thousand people were fed, clothed or housed, that several thousands of bureaucrats have fine jobs, that all the folks getting money from us must love us for they depend on us and so on ad nauseum.

In other words, while we decry the spending of funds in this manner, the socialist applauds the spending. What appears to us to be waste, appears to the socialist to be a positive gain in the field of human goodness.

In short, what is at issue is certainly NOT the facts in question. It is known positively that our nation is now in debt more than $280 billion. The sum is much much larger if U.S. contingent liabilities are added to the book-keeping figure.

It is also known that we have spent billions in foreign aid which fact is, to us, a serious blight on our economy and raises a serious question as to our sanity.

But the socialist views this as a major achievement. The facts are not in question. It is the interpretation of the facts that matters. Firm at the base of any understanding of the problems of our times must lie an ideological comprehension of principles. We must understand the nature of man and the nature of man as he is economically viewed.

To be able to recite statistics as to the sums given away or loaned, proves nothing. This fact is not in dispute. What is in dispute is whether such wholesale

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK—Now that you have voted and the campaign as such is ended, let me take you to a man of consequence here in his own country, as well as in many other places in the world, who took an acid view of the high flying and wildly disputed words from both sides concerning national prestige or dropping of it. He thinks it was, in reality, no issue, never achieved being an issue and that talking about it by both sides gave it an incongruity that distorted it all out of proportion.

He has only since May finished traveling for what amounted to four years—as far as Istanbul to the East, the Scandinavian countries, Central and South America and Mexico, Cuba and the West Indies and, of course, the major countries of Europe.

We sat in his library in New York the other afternoon and he consented to talk freely.

"I have to think that neither side in the race for the White House has been realistic," he said. "We have done many good things and our allies did not applaud us, much less support us. We have done many stupid things and our allies were the first to leave us behind in scorn. When we decided to embargo certain items to Cuba, for example, it took our nearest ally, Canada, to have us, not even a full day, publicly to say they would not join us, had no intention of joining us and saw utterly no reason, in sense, economics and world strategy, to impose such an embargo. Canada moved swiftly and firmly. Whatever countries I discuss, I shall avoid mention of France. Our situation there is so abysmal and French emotion so unstable as to make discussion idiotic.

"In England we are held as uncultivated bores by the so-called upper classes, just tolerated by the lower classes. The middle, the merchant layer, likes us. In Spain they accept our money in exchange for bases and treat us on that coldly realistic foundation. They have space for sale, we have dollars to hire of it, Cold Turkey.

"In Latin America we have been foolhardy to the extent that it is tragic. Leave out Cuba, for the moment, but two years ago Castro loved this country, its ideals, even its baseball. He was the best pitcher the University of Havana ever had. It's too complex to go into our errors there. They were multiple. But we say out loud we fear infiltration of Communism into Latin America. What have we actually done to be sensible down there? Money? It's no answer. They are abysmally, direfully poor in the main. And the money doesn't reach down to them. Once they looked up to us, remembering history; we were a revolutionary country that successfully broke away from our imperialist England. They respected that, gloried in it. We were an example of how to become free. But we did not share education, health knowledge, interchange of scholars and teachers, we did not help them free themselves as we had done. Most Americans forget our nation is a product of a revolution. Why should we, then, look with contempt on another's revolution? Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln were heroes to the Latins. As one Ecuadorian government official said to me: 'If the United States had not existed, to the North, we would have invented it. But you have let that work two ways; you took away our wish to use you as a shining, perfect example and substituted the rich, thoughtless villain as the image.' They would like us to lead them to stature, not give them aims. Our kind of stature—not Russia's.

"Are we liked anywhere? Yes, Switzerland and the Scandinavian countries and Turkey. End of the list. They genuinely like us as people and as a nation. They were not, in Scandinavia, even really upset when we made that public gaffe about the suicide rate in Sweden. Belgium dislikes us about as thoroughly as does France, which is saying a good deal. I don't know where we go from here or who will lead us there. But I do know that for a concept built of deeds, had best come along soon."

Principles are never determined by amounts. There can be no possible way of saying that if a government taxes us 1 per cent of our incomes this is good, but that if it taxes us 2 per cent it is bad.

Every time we cite the fact that several billion have been given away to foreign powers the socialist can trot forward to show that a several hundred thousand people were fed, clothed or housed, that several thousands of bureaucrats have fine jobs, that all the folks getting money from us must love us for they depend on us and so on ad nauseum.

NEW NUCLEAR ATTACK WARNING SYSTEM BEING TRIED AT 100 CITIES, MILITARY INSTALLATIONS

WASHINGTON — The Air Force is installing and testing a new nationwide warning system against surprise nuclear attack. Three of the highly sensitive alarm devices, about the size of a fire hydrant, are being installed around 100 of the principal cities and military installations throughout the country. Later others will be added.

Each warning instrument is linked directly to five top command centers — the White House; the Pentagon; the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), Colorado Springs; the Strategic Air Command (SAC), Omaha; and the Emergency Military Headquarters, Ft. Ritchie, Md.

The nuclear alarm system is under the operational control of NORAD. The warning devices and communication lines are leased from Western Union for around $2 million a year.

This new network is not part of SAGE, the "semi-automatic ground environment" communications system that American Telephone & Telegraph Co., through its subsidiary Western Electric Co., built for the Air Force several years ago at a cost of $2 billion. In addition to providing thousands of communications circuits, this far-flung project also erected numerous technical facilities.

Purpose of SAGE is to guard against surprise air and missile attack. This nationwide electronic alarm system ties in directly with the DEW (distant early warning) line in the Arctic, that extends from Alaska across Canada to Greenland.

The nuclear attack warning devices are designed to react only to such explosions. The concept behind them is that in the event of nuclear attack, communication lines would be destroyed and civil and military commanders would not know the location of these devastating blows. The new alarm devices would supply that all-important information.

These instruments are so constructed that they would report a nuclear explosion between the time it occurs and their own destruction by it. They are now undergoing rigorous tests to ensure effectiveness and accuracy, particularly against sounding false alarms. It may be some time before this new system is deemed wholly fool-proof.

DEFENSE INCREASE — President Eisenhower's last defense budget is tentatively set at $43 billion — an increase of $1.5 billion over what the military services are currently spending. He will send this budget to the new Congress early in January before he leaves office on the 20th of that month. His successor is not bound by these recommendations, and can cut or raise them as he desires. President Eisenhower sharply reduced the armed forces funds proposed by President Truman before the quit the White House. . . . The president's departure will take a big load off Lieutenant General Leonard Heaton, Surgeon General of the Army. As the President's personal surgeon, Heaton has stayed close to Washington to be available for a possible emergency. But after the President retires, Heaton will be free to make long-overdue trips to Europe and the Far East to inspect medical facilities and operations. Language Bar Helps Tourists

ROME, ITALY — The healthiest Americans to be found anywhere are the tourists who can't speak a word of a foreign tongue. When it comes to body-building, vitamins, tonics, and even electric belts cannot compare with the benefits one receives from an inability to speak a foreign language. Take me for example. I have been coming to Europe since Elmo Lincoln was "Tarzan," and since from a hesitant "Oui, oui," and a faltering "Si, si," I have had to depend entirely on English.

"Yet I am quick of foot, have a sparkle in my eyes like the bottom of a copper kettle, and look good in a leopard skin. I give all the credit for this to my complete ignorance of any foreign tongue, and having to depend on sign language to make known my wants.

Sign language is the greatest conditioner in the world. It's far better than rope skipping, horse-back riding, bike pedaling, or bag punching. For such a simple thing as buying a bag of grapes in, say, Italy, a sign-languager first has to act out a vine, and then a bunch of grapes hanging on the vine. If that fails, he must form a bag for a non-existent grape, bite it, and then spit out the seeds.

After that, he must use gyrations to inquire the cost. By the time he gets the grapes, the sign-languager has done the equivalent of twice around Central Park Reservoir, or fifty back and knee bends.

And grape buying, mind you, is as nothing compared to asking directions to a cathedral, or to some buried bones, or to an optician where one can get one's glasses repaired. By the end of a day the sign-languager is as weary as an infantryman after a day's march, and is ready for the sack.

You won't find us non-linguist in night clubs or hot spots spoiling our health. We are too tired at night for that. When we rhumba, it is off to bed. Even if it were not for the health angle, I would strongly advise Americans coming to Europe to come with their heads clear of the language of the countries they are to visit.

Who wants to read a Rome newspaper and find out about a new incinerator they're building way out on the Tiber, or how spaghetti is doing on the stock market, or who won the bicycle race in Lombardy? That business about how knowing a language will enable the tourist to listen to gossip in restaurants and at sidewalk cafes, is stuff and nonsense. It must be the same sort of gossip one overhears at home, and that's great, isn't it? All about how Giuseppe was terribly late for dinner last night, and how Lucia stood Antonio up, and how the bus system is getting more impossible every day.

Nixon Responsible For Election Loss

If Vice President Nixon could run within one-half of one per cent of the popular vote for Senator Kennedy with his hands in his pockets, the fault and the blame for this defeat, and the implied additional danger of war and inflation, are Nixon's. As some of his friends observed to him soon after the first of his so-called debates with Kennedy, he was mimicking around on his toes like Dewey in '44 and Kennedy was carrying the fight to him. He could and should have stood footed and belted Kennedy with his party's treacherous and reckless responsibility for the rise of Soviet Russia, Red China, and the Iron Curtain.

It was a terrible performance and Nixon has no excuse except, in my uncharitable opinion, the malady which ballplayers and fight managers call throat trouble. He choked up and tin-canned. So now the hope of the country rests in Congress, which almost continuously since 1933 has been a docile instrument of the presidential will. The popular vote shows that every second voter in the country is opposed to Kennedy, many of them to the degree of absolute hatred for the heartless, personal nature which he revealed in his betrayal of Senator Joe McCarthy long after McCarthy's death, and in other ways.

Thus, Kennedy has no such "Mandate" as Roosevelt assumed on the strength of the panicky and somewhat sullen vote which dispossessed President Hoover in 1933. There were many idle breadwinners in 1932 including, be it always remembered, the usual proportion of Ne'er-do-wells and incompetents who always make up a hard core of any emergency of unemployment. But there were also many Republicans or uncommitted voters then who would have voted Republican if Hoover had been frank enough to admit that prohibition had not only failed of its declared purpose but had brought upon the country a criminal condition which for the first time required the services of two national police forces, the FBI and the Alcohol Tax Unit of the Treasury. We have never got the G-men and the T-men out of our hair and Congress has continued busily to pass laws which create additional opportunities for these and other such federal forces to intrude in criminal situations which normally would be the business of the state and municipal cops.

With roughly half of the population against him, this new President will proceed at the risk of his own political success if he has the effrontery now to bid to the White House—Frank Sinatra and the rather sinister band freely described by the knowing journalists of the Hollywood-Vegas Axis as the rat pack. It will not take strange world and remain a stranger. In your ignorance the man with the waxed mustache remains a baron, not a plumber. If you can't read the cornerstones, every building remains a B.C. one. Even the menus take on glamour. If you can't read that you are eating eels, what's wrong with thinking it is stuffed nightingales' necks? If I spoke the language, I'd stay at home. All the fun, romance, and adventure would be gone. Not to mention the frustration.

long to rally against the Kennedy family a solid element of citizens who, smugly or not, regard themselves as "decent" if the White House is given over to bongo, express and weird characters wearing Castrovian beards.

The connection here is wispy, for the only link between Kennedy and Sinatra is the marriage of Kennedy's sister, Pat, to a hitherto unknown or at best obscure Hollywood figure, sometimes an actor, named Peter Lawford. Lawford runs with Sinatra and Company as any ambitious ham well might considering Sinatra's amazing control of the entertainment industry. But it was hardly necessary to line up Sinatra and others of his "pack" in actual groups with Kennedy and his mother at Los Angeles and there is a plain social commitment between the presidential family circle and an element which ramifies into the underworlds of Las Vegas, Los Angeles, New York and Florida. It used to have a big chapter in Havana where Sinatra and his underworld friends, the Fischetti, raised historic hell for five days with Lucky Luciano.

There will be touch football on the White House lawn and other developments reminiscent of the days when Jimmy and Elliott were using the White House as a boiler room for their Kathleen Bovernormen loans and other pressures and the Old Lady and Anna were grinding the crank for dough in the sudden access of literary grace which descended on them with the election returns.

Jack Kennedy is such a notorious ingrate that he is bound to curdle the adulation of many of those who had to learn the hard way.
