Senator Bush Avers

Old Jalopy Won't Cross 'New Frontier'

By ED HAYES WILSON
Daily News Staff Writer
Crossing the "new frontier" in an old jalopy won't get the job done.

That was the pointed up in Sen. Prescott Bush's (R-Conn.) talk here yesterday afternoon in his stump for the Republican Party and, in particular, for senatorial candidate John Tower and for presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon.

"The record stands. The ideas Sen. (John F.) Kennedy is promoting have been tried before. They failed. And if you don't believe they failed, think of this: When Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected President in 1932 there were nine million unemployed people in this nation; seven years later, in 1939, there still were nine million people on the roster of those unemployed," said Sen. Bush.

The senator from the New England state, a eight-year veteran of the senate and a member of the Armed Services Committee, scorned Sen. Kennedy and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Tower's opponent for the Texas senatorial post, in their charge that the United States has become the second military power behind Russia.

"I deplore the downgrading of our nation by Sen. Kennedy in his effort to gain a political position," said the Connecticut senator.

"I have, in my capacity as a member of the Armed Services Committee, heard reports of military officers of all ranks and of all departments of the United States military branches. I tell you emphatically, that we are not second to Russia. That we are the number one military power in the world and, we shall remain so despite this fact that many people have forgotten or overlooked.

"The Democratic-controlled Congress has arbitrarily slashed 1,607,000,000 dollars from the arms budgets that President Eisenhower has requested over the years he has held the presidency," the solon declared.

"Sen. Kennedy must look to a 'new frontier' for he cannot look back. He knows what the record will present him. He knows that the people of Texas know, as do those of the other parts of the nation, that everything he presents has been tried in the past. And these ideas have been found wanting," Sen. Bush charged.

"And he hasn't said what these

Socialism Seen In Dem Plan

Connecticut's veteran Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.) took time off from his swing through the state to answer a series of questions presented to him in Pampa yesterday by a Daily News reporter. In short form he offered the following answers to the queries:

Q-How much Socialism do you see in Senator Kennedy's program?

A-Not much. This will bring massive and extensive intervention by the Federal government, leaving little to the states and individuals.

Q-In the event Senator Kennedy is elected what increases, if any, do you see in income taxes or other taxes?

"I deplore the downgrading of our nation by Sen. Kennedy in his effort to gain a political position," said the Connecticut senator.

"I have, in my capacity as a member of the Armed Services Committee, heard reports of military officers of all ranks and of all departments of the United States military branches. I tell you emphatically, that we are not second to Russia. That we are the number one military power in the world and, we shall remain so despite this fact that many people have forgotten or overlooked.

B-70 Bomber Construction Is Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department, reversing an earlier decision, has decided to spend money voted by the Democratic Congress for a substantial step-up in the controversial B70 super-bomber program.

The action probably pointed the way toward production of the 2,000-mile-an-hour B70 for combat units of the Strategic Air Command by the late 1960's.

The B70 will have a range of 8,000 miles and an operating altitude of 70,000 to 80,000 feet. It will be able to carry bombs, missiles and troops. It also could carry earth satellites to high altitudes and then boost them into orbit.

The Pentagon Monday made available to the Air Force $155 million of the $184.3 million in extra B70 funds approved by Congress.

Under the speed-up, termed by the Defense Department "a substantially augmented development program," the Air Force will build one B70 for structural tests on the ground, one flying vehicle and two fully operational military prototypes.

The first so-called weapons system type B70 will fly within a year after a planned December, 1962, flight test.

Russ-Peiping Truce Seen On Ideology

LONDON (UPI)—A temporary truce is in the making between Moscow and Peiping in their bitter ideological conflict, diplomatic sources reported today.

Russia and Red China were said to have failed thus far to reach a settlement of their differences, and the indications were that prolonged discussions within the Communist camp will be required to bridge the ideological gap.

The two giant Red allies, the reports said, fearful of the effect of their quarrel on the unity of the Red camp were therefore trying as a first goal to reach at least a temporary truce.

Pronouncements from Moscow and Peiping in the past few days have sought to clear the air and narrow down the Sino-Russian war of words.

Both sides were setting the scene for the Red summit due to open in Moscow next week, the sources said.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was said to be personally handling the issue in preparation for the summit.

Murder-Rapist May Have Reached Mexico

LAREDO (UPI)—Police speculated today Curtis Lee Jones, 37, a red-haired convict wanted for murder, rape and kidnaping, has fled into Mexico, possibly with a young boy as hostage.

The manhunt for Jones shifted to Laredo Monday when Jones, fifth and sixth known kidnap victims managed to escape unharmed after he drove with them from San Antonio.

Earlier Monday, he kidnaped at gunpoint Mrs. Rosalinda Sosa, 30, and Carlos Gualdarrama, 30, who works for her at a San Antonio tavern, and drove to Laredo in her white car.

A short while after they escaped, a white car like the one owned by Mrs. Sosa outran Border Patrolman Dick Williams near Rio Grande City and may have crossed the border.

Williams said at the start of the chase, there was a man and two boys in the car. One of them jumped out. When Williams finally gave up trying to catch the automobile and returned to where the boy jumped out, he couldn't find the boy.

He said he couldn't positively identify the man in the car as Jones, but J. H. Price, a Texas Ranger, said the "time element" was about right. Price is in charge of the manhunt along the Rio Grande.

Besides kidnaping Mrs. Sosa and Gualdarrama, Jones is wanted for:

—The murder of a police character at Tezakans, Tex., on Oct. 8, about a month after Jones was paroled from the Arkansas penitentiary where he was serving life for murder.

—Kidnaping and raping his second cousin, Jessie Harist, 21, last Thursday in Fort Worth, Tex., and kidnaping her boy friend, J. V. Verner, 34. He tied up and

Militia Call Threatened If Cops Balk

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York City Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy threatened today to call out the Marines if discontented policemen carry out a massive "sick" strike on election day.

Kennedy, buffeted by a feud with his own force, added that if the Marines were not available Nov. 8, he would call on the militia, the military police or the paratroopers to protect the "sacred" right to vote in peace. He also said he would fire any policemen involved in such a strike.

However, John J. Cassese, president of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association which has long called for Kennedy's resignation, denied any "sick" strike was afoot for election day when the entire 24,000-man force is used because of the voting.

Kids Set New UNICEF Fund Mark

It was a bit brisk last night, but it didn't stall the efforts of Pampa youngsters in their drive to collect funds for needy children overseas. They went out and set a new record, gathering in $1,270.72, to well exceed the old mark of slightly more than $1,000 which was established last year.

"We're very proud of the accomplishment. Of course, we must pay credit to the adults who dug down into their pockets. But the children did the job. They were simply grand, for they didn't miss many residences," said the Rev. David Mills, pastor of Lamar Christian Church and chairman of the UNICEF campaign.

The drive here was a part of the national campaign to solicit funds to help children of foreign lands. Last year $1,500,000 was gained in this switch on the old "trick or treat" trek on Halloween, and if the collections in Pampa are a criterion, a new national mark will be posted.

The final count on the local fund will not be known for a few days, the Rev. Mr. Mills noted, since several people notified UNICEF officials last night that they intend to forward checks by mail, so the record could possibly soar to 1-500, or thereabouts.

The collections started at 4 p.m. with the younger group pecking on doors and, although the little ones didn't do as well as they did last year, the older group made up the difference when it took over at 6 p.m. for a two-hour door-pounding march up and down streets of the city.

"We're highly appreciative of the aid given us by the churches and civic groups, and we are pleased with the efforts of the older children who made a determined drive to exceed last year's total, and with the tots who gave their all to bring in donations," said the campaign chairman.

Funds from donations of people of the United States will be matched in nations where the monies are allocated, and these will be specifically set for aid to children, officials of this United Nations branch for children pointed out.

Republican 'Blitzkreig' Due For New York's Big Vote

Cuba Sets To Repel 'Invasion'

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro's government rushed 2,000 "militiamen" today to central and eastern Cuba, areas which the regime insists are threatened by "invasion."

One thousand armed unionists from Havana went to Las Villas Province in central Cuba. Another 1,000 went to Oriente Province at Cuba's eastern tip, where Castro staged his own "hit-run" revolution.

Many Cubans said privately they believe the troop movement was "just a show" intended to bolster the "invasion" charge Cuba has submitted to the United Nations.

(There has been insistent speculation in the past week or so that Castro was preparing a phony invasion, perhaps as a pretext for attack on the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo.)

(It was reported last week that U.S. markings had been painted on five Cuban planes which apparently were to be used in connection with the invasion. Underground sources in New York said today the false markings had been replaced with the insignia of Guatemala, where the Castro press says "mercenaries" are in training for an attack on Cuba.)

Kennedy Assails Nixon's Proposal To Expand Social Security System

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy scoffed at Vice President Richard M. Nixon's proposal for expansion of the Social Security system today as "the greatest escape act since Houdini."

The Democratic presidential candidate kept up a taunting attack against his Republican rival as he flew here to begin a final two-day bid for California's 32 key electoral votes.

Kennedy headed into California following an arduous four-day drive plugging for the same number of electoral votes in Pennsylvania, one of the major industrial states where Kennedy and Nixon both concentrated their efforts in the final weeks of the campaign for the presidency.

Kennedy's staff announced that today's California swing starts a 17-state tour which "will cover more states in the final week of the campaign than any other presidential candidate in history."

He issued a statement saying Kennedy had "ordered intensification of his campaign in the final week" even though he has been "encouraged by the developments of the campaign in the past weeks."

Kennedy's aides said "stops have been added to the schedule in California, Texas, Virginia and Massachusetts." They also said he would visit Michigan and New Jersey, two states not previously scheduled for the final week.

Without giving city-by-city details, the announcement said Kennedy "will visit California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Virginia, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Vermont, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Maine and Massachusetts in the final seven days."

In a speech prepared for delivery at a clothing workers rally here, Kennedy said that Nixon's "position paper" two days ago calling for Social Security improvements "reversed the consistent policies of 25 years of Republican leadership."

"Mr. Nixon has taken every program which he and his party voted and fought against — and placed them in his position paper — and adopted them for his own," Kennedy said.

"His election week conversion to Democratic programs and away from his own record is the greatest escape act since Houdini," he added.

Kennedy insisted that "election week promises and November

Ike, Nixon, Lodge In The Push

NEW YORK (UPI) — Republicans, battling an apparent trend toward Sen. John F. Kennedy in New York, will assemble the biggest array of political artillery of the 1960 campaign Wednesday for a blitzkrieg swing through the nation's most populous area.

It will be the first "summit" appearance for the GOP high command: President Eisenhower, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, running mate Henry Cabot Lodge and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The occasion is a hurriedly arranged "Your First Team Day" filled with helicopter, motorcade, parade and TV forays throughout the metropolitan area whose voters command a major hold on the Electoral College.

Political leaders frankly admit the mass attack is designed to blunt reports that Kennedy is picking up strength not only in New York City but also in usually Republican suburban and upstate areas.

Eisenhower twice carried New York state. No Republican has won the presidency in recent years without the state's 45 electoral votes.

A New York Daily News straw poll today reported Kennedy was ahead 64.2 per cent in the city and 56.2 per cent statewide compared to the vice president's averages of 35.8 per cent in the city and 43.8 per cent statewide.

Eisenhower and Nixon worked out the final strategy for their New York swing at a White House session Monday.

Monday night, Nixon campaigned in neighboring New Jersey and he headed into upstate New York today before making Wednesday's big push.

Monroe Doctrine Not Enforced, Says HST

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman charged today the Eisenhower administration "refused to enforce the Monroe Doctrine" in regard to Cuba and allowed communism in the White House who knew to move "5000 miles closer to our shores."

"We should have just told them they couldn't come in," Truman said of the Communist-tinged regime of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro. "President (Grover) Cleveland did the same thing in Venezuela."

"There should have been a man where he was going to go and what he was going to do. That is what happened in regard to Korea."

The former President, in the course of his morning walk with newsmen, criticized President Eisenhower and defended his own decision to send American troops to the aid of the Republic of Korea in 1950, after the Communist North Koreans crossed the 38th Parallel.

"We did things in Korea," Truman said.

Truman, here to campaign for Democratic presidential nominee Sen. John F. Kennedy, said he would have invoked the Monroe Doctrine to stop Castro. "I would not have let the Communists in," he said.

The former President said this could have been done without force and without violating the nation's commitments to the Organization of American States (OAS) because "the Monroe Doctrine is specifically protected in the treaty."

He said he agreed with Kennedy that it would be a "good idea" to strengthen anti-Castro forces. He called the bearded Cuban revolutionary "the Khrushchev of the Western Hemisphere."

Truman said he believed Eisenhower had stepped up his participation in Vice President Richard Nixon's campaign against Kennedy because "he's scared" Nixon is going to lose.

"I think it shows he's scared," Truman said gleefully, "and that they (the Republicans) are afraid Nick's going to get lost."

Water, Sewer Bids Received By City Panel

Three bids for replacement of water and sewer lines in the city were received by city commissioners today in their meeting in City Hall and a possible awarding of a contract may come in the panel's session next Tuesday.

The bids were: Brody - Emix Construction Co., Amarillo, $229,004.07; Foran Construction Co., Amarillo, $278,952.50; and R. D. Hodgson Construction Co., Midland, $325,172.57.

Two ordinances also gained final approval during the meeting when third and final readings to permit a 1.8 mill rate hike to Southwest Public Service Co. for electricity to city-owned facilities, and for annexation of a tract of land in the North Crest area were heard.

Another ordinance to annex some 200 feet of land in the Pampa Youth and Community Center tract that borders on Harvesters and Kentucky streets was read, and the comprehensive plan for the future development of Pampa was approved.

New York News Strike Is Averted

NEW YORK (UPI) — A New York newspaper strike was averted early today by a general wage agreement between the American Newspaper Guild and the New York Newspaper Association, but contract settlements were reached at only six of the city's seven major dailies.

Negotiators for the Guild and the New York Post were to meet with a federal mediator again this afternoon. The major issue appeared to be the money provisions of the two-year, $7 package.

Other papers which had faced the possibility of a strike when the old contracts expired at last midnight were the New York Times, New York Herald Tribune, Daily News, New York Mirror, New York Journal-American and New York World Telegram & Sun.

It calls for increases of $3.50 in wages plus 50 cents in pension or welfare benefits this year, and $2.50 in wages plus 50 cents in benefits next year. It also grants a four-week vacation after 10 years' service instead of the present 12 years.

Absentee Voting On CRMWA Set

Absentee voting for the pact between the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority and the U.S. government will begin tomorrow, A. A. Meredith, CRMWA executive secretary said today.

Ballots may be obtained from the city clerk in City Hall. Voting will continue through Nov. 18 at 5 p.m.

Regular voting for Pampa to join the authority will be conducted Nov. 22.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Reported but not confirmed here is the arrival of Russian missiles in Fidel Castro's Cuba.

This report is part of a responsible rundown of the Cuban situation which seeks to measure the strength and weakness of the Castro regime.

Except for the possibility that Castro possesses missiles and the facilities to launch them, this estimate of the situation finds that Cuba possesses no armed forces of consequence. It almost could be said, for example, that Cuba possesses neither a navy or an air force.

Cuban navy leader proved to be less than wholly loyal to the Castro government. Naval operations almost have ceased. The Cuban air force was demoralized by the defection of many officers from

Castro Agents Harass Official Of U.S. At Party

HAVANA (UPI)—The American embassy indicated today that it would not formally protest the near arrest and harassment of charge d'affaires Daniel Brad-dock and his wife at a private party early Sunday morning.

Five Fidel Castro intelligence agents broke into the party being given by embassy secretary Norma Bowers with the announcement "we have orders to detain everybody" shortly after midnight. They argued with Brad-dock for 45 minutes in the presence of the 18 guests — among them several vice-consuls—before leaving, according to an embassy spokesman.

He said that Braddock demanded an explanation from the agents and that one of them claimed that a permit was needed for any party continuing after 12:30 a.m. That was when they broke into the gathering on the roof of the apartment in the suburban Vedado section. They left at 1:15 a.m. after Braddock maintained firmly that no such permit was needed, the spokesman said.

Castro's Communist-slanted administration.

The Soviet Union is reported to have sent Russian MIGs to Castro. There are believed to be no Cuban pilots, however, capable of flying these craft. Pilots could be obtained from Iron Curtain countries. It was suggested that such mercenaries might be Czechs.

Castro's first line of armed defense consists of 125,000 or thereabouts members of the peoples' militia. This militia has had only limited training. The Cuban army, numbering about 35,000, is said now to be engaged largely on public works tasks.

Cuba has a plentiful supply of modern arms. Russian ships continue to unload in Cuban ports heavy arms including anti-aircraft weapons and, reportedly, missiles.

There is an active counter-revolutionary movement in Cuba. Its most prominent leader is Manolo Ray, Castro's first minister of public works and a top man in the revolutionary underground during the rule of Fulgencio Batista, whom Castro ousted.

Ray's activities have not been impressive. They have consisted principally in the placement of small bombs in Havana. Castro's aggressive action against counter-revolutionaries in the Escambray almost knocked them out. Capture of two anti-Castro leaders severely undercut the counter-revolution in Las Villas province.

Castro retains control of the army and continues the training of his peoples' militia. Summing it all up, this estimate of the situation in Cuba states:

"It is not believed that counter-revolutionaries operating on their own in Cuba will obtain sufficient strength to topple the government. Due to the armed equipment which Castro possesses the training of the militia and the control of the army, it would be necessary for the invasion by a massed force equipped with the latest weapons to have any success in overthrowing the present regime."

On the basis of his military position, Castro seems to be in Cuba to stay for some time.

It has been estimated that ter-ritories cause $250,000 worth of damage daily in the United States.

Lefors Firemen To Begin Toy Repair Program

LEFORS (Sp) — The firemen are ready to begin repairing used toys to be given to needy children for Christmas and urged citizens to bring their toys to the fire station for repairs, according to P. F. Blankenburg, city fire marshal.

The clubs of the community are asked to participate in the project by donating paint, small bolts, and clothing for dolls.

A program is now in the planning stage by the department. A "Miss Flame" Christmas Tree burning ceremony is planned for some date after the holidays.

The "Miss Flame" will be selected from members of the school student council.

Kennedy Hits Nixon Strategy For Peace

By ALVIN SPIAK
United Press International

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy derided Vice President Richard M. Nixon's strategy for peace yesterday by insisting "there is no push-button magic" for averting war.

The Democratic Presidential candidate said he is "convinced that peace can be obtained only through a stronger America — an America in which a strong economy, supporting a strong defensive posture, is manned by a citizenry strong in their sense of purpose."

But he said Nixon's "grand strategy is to create a series of committees, conferences, councils and good will tours."

"The next war may be started and won by merely pushing a button — but there is no push-button magic for winning the peace," Kennedy said.

The Democratic standard-bearer spoke out in a speech prepared for delivery while motorcading through Philadelphia in his fourth consecutive day of bidding for Pennsylvania's important 32 electoral votes.

He had a busy day of campaigning scheduled in Pennsylvania's largest city, a Democratic stronghold whose votes must offset those of Republican-dominated areas if Kennedy is to carry the Keystone State.

Kennedy had some reassurance in that direction Sunday attracting large and enthusiastic crowds in populous north and northeast Philadelphia on his way to and from a rally at Levittown in nearby Bucks County, Pa.

State police estimated some 30,000 people turned out for Kennedy's appearance at a shopping center in Levittown — a figure which probably was high but a crowd which was peppy and large despite Kennedy's lateness of three hours.

Kennedy concentrated on the issue of unemployment at Levittown, where a number of workers at the U.S. Steel Corporation's nearby Fairless Works reside. But he failed actually to utter the major campaign pledge set forth in a prepared text released to newsmen.

This pledge, which aides stressed that he stands by, was to set a "full employment" goal of 32 million jobs by 1968 if he is elected president eight days from now. The current number of jobs is something in excess of 68 million and Kennedy's target figure would mean leaving only a bare minimum of 2 to 3 per cent of the working force unemployed.

"I have no doubt that the men of little faith who lead the Republican party will criticize this goal as Utopian and unrealistic," Kennedy declared in his unspoken Levittown text.

"Such criticism comes easily to a party whose candidate has said that 'unemployment is inevitable'. A party which has allowed the unemployment rate to soar to 5.7 per cent — a party which has presided over a continual decline in our rate of economic growth," Kennedy said.

Tragedy Mingles With Halloween Festivities

By United Press International
America donned its traditional Halloween falseface Monday night and watched it become a double mask of comedy and tragedy.

While millions of youngsters turned "trick or treating" into a fund raising drive for United Nations children's work, vandals used the evening for grown-up crime and some grown-ups used children's Halloween bags to carry election year messages.

At Dallas, Tex., Democratic Asst. Dist. Atty. Lee Pearson passed out apples and several hundred Kennedy-Johnson buttons to trick or treaters.

Anti-Catholic literature hid behind a Halloween mask at Pueblo, Colo. One tract which found its way into youngsters' bags termed the Roman Catholic Church "everything contrary to the U.S. Constitution."

Vandals cut a swathe of destruction across four New England states. Police charges six York Beach, Maine, youngsters with $3,000 damage to summer resort cottages. Several Hudson, N.H., youths depleted already-low water supplies by opening fire hydrants.

At Hampden, Mass., a fire truck stalled on the way to a fire. Vandals had drained gasoline from the truck's tank. Chicopee, Mass., police investigated reports that bullies were stealing Halloween candy from younger children. Another group of vandals set fire to 40 tons of hay at East Charlotte, Vt.

Automobiles turned the falseface into a death mask for at least four youngsters. A minister's car struck and killed Terry Carnowski, 6, in St. Paul, Minn. The clergyman said the costumed youngster "just ran right out in front of me. I didn't have a chance to stop."

At Lawrenceburg, Tenn., Robert Mattox, 17, a high school football player, was fatally injured when he jumped or fell from the rear of a pickup truck on its trick or treat rounds. Henry Lee Hamilton, 7, was killed by an auto on

Cemetery Wrecking Gang Jailed

PORT WORTH (UPI) — Police jailed about 35 teen-agers Monday night — Halloween — following extensive damage to Rose Hill Cemetery in Fort Worth.

All of the youths had been released by early today after lectures by Fort Worth Authorities. Police Sgt. Noble Shepherd said the teen-agers were arrested inside the cemetery or while trying to enter the grounds.

Authorities estimated some 400 youths were in the vicinity of the cemetery Monday night. However, only those inside the grounds or trying to get in were arrested.

The arrests climaxed several nights of disturbances at the cemetery. A number of tombstones were knocked over during the raids.

Grateful Pampa Police today looked back upon Halloween Night, the traditional night of mischief, as "one of the quietest in recent years," according to Jim Conner, chief of police.

"There was the usual soaping and egg throwing," Conner said today, "but overall, it was a quiet night."

Larry Brawley, of 428 N. Nelson was hit in the eye by a thrown egg and was taken to an eye specialist in Amarillo this morning.

In another incident; Dow King, 13½ Christine, reported this morning that vandals had evidently used a water pistol to squirt ink on his porch and part of the house sometime during the night.

Petroleum now represents 56.7 per cent of the total value of all U.S. mineral productions.

a busy Rockford, Ill., street during a misty rain.

Pittsburgh, Pa., police sought a hit-run driver whose auto killed 8-year-old Michael LaMark. The boy wore a skeleton costume.

Coors Murder Suspect Returned

DENVER (UPI) — Joseph Corbett Jr., charged with kidnaping and slaying Colorado millionaire Adolph Coors III, was flown here early today in the custody of U.S. deputy marshals.

Corbett was whisked away from Seattle, Wash., aboard a commercial airliner Monday night. There was no advance notice.

Immediately upon his arrival here, the much-sought suspect in the Coors kidnaping and murder was taken to Denver city jail.

Coors was kidnaped in February of this year and a ransom note demanding $500,000 was sent to his family. Negotiations with the Coors family were not carried through by the kidnapers.

'Demonstration' Auto Drive Ends In Florida

A car taken from Clyde Jonas' Used Car lot on September 27, ostensibly for a "demonstration drive," has been recovered in Bradenton, Fla., according to Jim Conner, police chief.

Conner said that two men, Jackie Coleman Camplain and David Bufington, no addresses given, were picked up by Bradenton officers yesterday in the car, a 1957 Mercury.

The pair is also wanted by the sheriff's office in Spearman on a burglary charge. The Bradenton sheriff called Spearman and the Spearman sheriff in turn called Conner.

Conner made a call to Bradenton and Camplain admitted that he took the car from Jonas' lot.

When taken, the car had dealer's tags but police told Conner that the car now had Georgia license plates and a Georgia car title.

Spearman officials plan to go to Bradenton today to pick up the pair and Conner said he would go to Spearman to question them when they return.

Controversial Executive Dies

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sewell L. Avery, unyielding champion of conservative business management through 24 stormy years at the head of Montgomery Ward and Co., died Monday at 86.

A cerebral hemorrhage felled the veteran financial warrior five days short of his 87th birthday and ended 18 months' convalescence after surgery for a malignant tumor.

Avery, son of a wealthy Saginaw, Mich., lumberman, took over the depression-rocked mail order house and defended his conservative policies against wartime government seizure in 1944 and later beat financier Louis Wolfson in a bitter proxy battle shortly before he gave up absolute control of the firm in 1955.

Avery remained a director of the nation's second largest mail order house until last year.

tried to choke to death Vernon with his own necktie.

—Kidnaping Mrs. Margaret Sears, 24, a pregnant housewife and her 23-month-old daughter, Cynthia, and taking the Sears automobile from their home near Aledo, Tex.

Mrs. Sears and her daughter were released unharmed in San Antonio while a search was under way for him in North Texas, where he raped Miss Harist.

Mrs. Sosa said Jones came into her tavern early Monday and ordered her and Gualdarrama to accompany him. En route to Laredo, she said he bought cleaning tissue, wadded it up and stuffed it in his cheeks to change his appearance.

She said they managed to escape on the outskirts of Laredo as Jones started to tie them up. Jones had tied Gualdarrama's hands, and was starting to tie up Mrs. Sosa when a truck came along. She said she fought him, and ran to the truck. Jones fled in her car. Gualdarrama ran to a farmhouse and was released.

She said he took her purse with $200 in it, and told her he was going to swim the Rio Grande, which is the boundary between the United States and Mexico.

Mexican authorities, as well as FBI agents, Texas Rangers, and county officials and border patrolmen searched both sides of the river and used two airplanes trying to find the white automobile.

"Sen. Kennedy's wealthy friends have established this price for a psychological reason. However, I would prefer to believe the (George) Gallup Poll, the latest of which places the opinion of the people at 48-48 per cent, with 4 per cent undecided. It is the 4 per cent that can turn the tide," he said.

Lubbock Paper Will Back Nixon

LUBBOCK (UPI)—The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal in its Sunday editions editorially endorses the Republican presidential candidacy of Richard M. Nixon.

The "Independent Democratic" newspaper in a Page One editorial where they formerly lived.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Miller and daughter Mrs. Jack McBride, visited several days with his brother and family, the Alva Mil-al, told its readers that "party labels are meaningless," and urged that the choice between the two main candidates be made "on the basis of comparison between the men and the records in public and private life."

The Avalanche-Journal said the basis of its endorsement of the Republican candidate is the belief that Nixon is "the better able of the two candidates to lead the nation in the light of the three great issues of the day: Foreign affairs; the battle against international communism and the problems of the national economy in both the United States and the world."

Cover Girl Turns Page For Peek At Future

Candy Jones

By GABE KAIMOWITZ

NEW YORK — (NEA) — What will the woman of tomorrow be like? What will she think, say, do?

Candy Jones, once New York's leading "Cover Girl," who sees many of tomorrow's women in her career girls' school, thinks she knows:

"She'll return to the Greek ideal of femininity. Her rounded figure will be the only outward difference between her and the man next door.

"In the space age, she'll have to be more athletic. Many girls will learn basic judo holds to properly defend themselves. It's something every girl should know.

But don't think the little woman will want to "rule the world" or be more masculine.

"The girls at my summer boarding school in Nyack, N. Y., were unanimously opposed to a woman president. Most women dislike working for, or taking orders from another woman. It would be dreadful if we didn't have a man to look up to," she stated.

To keep that man on the pedestal, she suggests that the woman will have to take care of her hus-

Shoes for Baby come in easily washable materials. For those of felt, remove cardboard inner soles and laces and wash gently in suds. It is better to wash laces in separate suds. band first and the home second. "He needs tender, loving care. Cooking and housework talents are secondary."

In the woman's world to come, the old-fashioned finishing school training will be finished. So says Candy Jones. And here's how she explains why it's goodbye to yesterday, as far as the traditional finishing school routine is concerned:

"Until now, girls have been taught how to get their men and how to be invited back again.

"But a career will be her first consideration in the future. After all, it's something she can always fall back on." (Miss Jones made her first million before she was 30.)

A woman's ability will rate over her appearance, in Miss Jones' estimation. She goes on to say:

"Appearance is just a matter of adding (make-up) or subtracting (weight). Talent of some kind will stand her in good stead in most circumstances."

To prepare for that future, a girl should concentrate on getting good marks in English and learning how to speak properly, Miss Jones says. Even though she cannot be taught warmth, sincerity and honesty, she should be led in that direction.

Miss Jones expects to see the day when high schools offer a wrap-up course in these traits which direct women toward "beauty, brains and breeding."

To explain exactly what she means, Miss Jones has written two books, "Make Your Name in Modeling and Television," and "Finishing Touches." The latter will be released in December.

Miss Vivian Warminski Receives State 4-H Safety Honor For 1960

GROOM (Spl) — Miss Vivian Warminski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warminski of White Deer, has been named State 4H Safety winner for the year 1960 in an announcement by the State 4H Club office.

The award entitles Miss Warminski to an all-expense paid trip to the national 4H Club Congress to be held in Chicago Nov. 27 Dec. 1.

Donor of the award program is General Motors Corporation. The same donor also provides medals for county winners and eight $400 college scholarships for as many national award winners.

Miss Warminski joins her brother, Norman, to become the first brother and sister to win the state's top safety award. Norman was a state and national winner in 1958. Farm and home safety has been a family concern for many years and the Warminski home has been described as a model in safety.

The latest among their many safety activities has been the introduction to the family by Miss Warminski of the Federal Civil Defense Administration Family Action Program. A basement room is the headquarters and its construction and storage facilities easily meet the requirements for safe fall-out shelter. Each member of the family, except the baby, has a specific assignment in case of emergency. Miss Warminski has completed a course in home-nursing in order to give her the training needed to take care of the family or neighbors. The state winner reports the Family Action program is spreading throughout the community.

Miss Warminski has won many other honors for achievements in leadership, foods, gardening, clothing, home improvement, poultry, and others. She has been a member of three state winning demonstration teams; is a Gold Star Girl and State Fair Honor Award winner. She has been cited by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council for services rendered in the farm safety field. She has also an active role in church, school and community affairs.

In summarizing her 4H experiences, Miss Warminski said, "I am very grateful to all the people who have been so helpful to me. I have learned the value of good citizenship, sportsmanship and friendship. I have had my share of honors along with some disappointments, but have enjoyed every part of the 4H work. In the future I hope to share with others what I have learned. My major in college will be home economics and my 4H experiences were a determining factor."

Her successful 4H career has been supervised by County Home Demonstration agent, Mrs. Janie Fletcher, who describes Miss Warminski as a talented and sincere 4H member and a natural leader.

Dear Abby... Blow Out Fuse On Powder Keg!

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a college student. Last year I met a student who attends another college. We were strongly attracted to each other. I sent him my picture, signed "Love, forever." He came to see me many times. We got very serious and then I heard that he had been married all along. He denied it. When I got proof he admitted he was married and the father of a little boy. I told him it was hopeless for us but he insisted he loved me and things could be worked out. Now his wife knows about us because he confessed everything. If she names me in her divorce suit my reputation will be ruined because we went beyond kissing. What should I do?

DEAR RUINED: All you can do is wait. If you are involved in the divorce, you will need a lawyer to represent you. In the meantime, talk to the chaplain at your college. He will give you the moral support you need.

DEAR ABBY: Some friends of ours invited us to their daughter's wedding in 1957. We sent the bride a very lovely wedding gift. In 1958 she had a baby, which they announced with those little printed "hints" (this also burns me up) and I had to send a gift. In 1959 they got a divorce. Now get this — last week this girl's parents sent out announcements of their daughter's marriage to another man. Do we have to send another wedding gift?

DEAR BURNED: No one HAS to send a gift for any occasion. Rich gifts wax cold when giver is burned up.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a man who wants to marry me. I think I love him but he does something which I neither love nor understand. He likes to hunt deer and shoot wild birds. I know lots of men hunt and no one thinks it is cruel, but I cannot marry a man who will take a gun and kill defenseless birds and animals just for the sport of it. Maybe if I were starving to death I would kill in order to eat, but I can't see any excuse for it today. When I told him I would marry him if he gave up hunting, he laughed in my face. Was I so foolish?

DEAR SOFT-HEARTED: You were not foolish. If you feel that way, don't marry him.

DEAR ABBY: I know it is your job to give advice, not mine, but I hope you will print my story for all teen-agers who are in a hurry to get married. I fell in love with Tom when I was 15. He was 18. I fought with my family because I wanted to quit school and get married. He wanted to go to trade school, but I begged him to take any kind of job so we could get married. We ran off and got married and broke our parent's hearts. Tom wasn't ready to settle down so we started to fuss at each other. I got pregnant. He couldn't stand my whining so he left me. Now he wants a divorce because he says he missed out on his youth and it was my fault. He is right. I still love him, but his love for me has turned to hate.

Please, girls, stay home and finish school and let the guys grow up before you start nagging for marriage. I am 16 years old, pre-

The one '61 car built to back up a long-term warranty

Ford led the way with the one car beautifully built to take care of itself... and you

On September 29, Ford Dealers set an industry trend—were first to extend their 1961 car warranty from the conventional 4,000 miles or 3 months to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first.

Why? Because Ford built the one car to support such confidence. Ford for 1961 is the one car beautifully built to take care of itself!

The '61 Ford was designed and built to the more exacting standards necessary to offer an extended warranty. Ask to see this warranty at your dealer's.

It is significant that Ford has so many take-care-of-itself features not found in other cars, regardless of price. These new Ford features are a triumph of exhaustive research, fine engineering, and quality construction that give you the most reliable Ford ever built. Drive a '61 Ford 1960.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

Lubricates itself—You'll normally go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications. Then a quick, inexpensive Ford Dealer lube job (which costs about $4.00*) will get you set for another 30,000 miles.

Cleans its own oil—You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

Adjusts its own brakes—New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves automatically for the life of the lining.

Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even so galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.

Takes care of its own finish—New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax.

Barring a reversal of form, Pampa's Harvesters seem well on their way to a winless season. In fact, if the Green and Gold plays like it did Friday night, it can be almost assured of that fact, for none of the Harvesters last three opponents are easy touches.

And, should the season come to an end without a win, the Harvesters will have set a modern record of sorts. Not since accurate records started being kept in 1930 has a Harvester football team lost all its games. The closest they came was in 1958 with a 1-9 won-lost record.

Rocky Road Ahead

Pampa goes to Lubbock Friday to meet Tom S. Lubbock, 28-0 conquerors of Plainview last weekend. The Westerners are still battling for the District 3-4A lead with only one conference loss and the Harvesters can be positive that Lubbock won't hinder its championship aspirations by taking Pampa lightly.

The next week, Plainview will bring its thus-far winless team to Pampa in a game which will decide the cellar. Plainview has been the real surprise of the district this year in that they have been unable to win, despite the fact that its line averages 205 pounds per man.

And, nobody is kidding anybody when they tell you that Berger, the Harvesters' last opponent, won't pull out all the stops in an effort to wrap up the district title and advance to the 4A playoffs.

Returning to the Palo Duro

Answer Hard To Find

The answer is hard to find. The Harvesters had four good days of drills last week, called by Coach Babe Curfman, "the best of the year." Several of the injured Harvesters were back in uniform and the open date seemed to have helped the team's mental attitude.

Yet, when the game started, Pampa fell apart like five-year-old sock. Harvester backs couldn't find handles on the football and before they could settle down, the game was way out of reach.

While we do not profess to be a football expert—far from it—and we deplore Monday morning quarterbacking, still it seemed Friday rump, we find it hard to put our finger on any one thing that caused Pampa to crater in that disastrous first quarter when the Dons scored three times—twice within 37 seconds—to chill the game.

A fumble and a pass interception set up the lightning-fast Dons TDs in the first period and two more fumbles set up scores in the second quarter as Palo Duro turned Harvester Park into a race track.

In the second half, it was a different story entirely. Pampa pushed Palo Duro all over the place, although in all fairness it was against a predominately-reserve Don unit, and regained some of the first-half pride that Palo Duro had abused.

As one official said after the game, "How can a team look so bad the first half and look so good in the second?" It's a good question.

Returning to the Palo Duro night that the Harvester's downfall was due to a lack of fundamentals.

Opponents cannot be huffed down; they must be tackled low and hard. And no Harvester is going to score when blockers stand around and watch the play rather than hit the man in a different hue jersey.

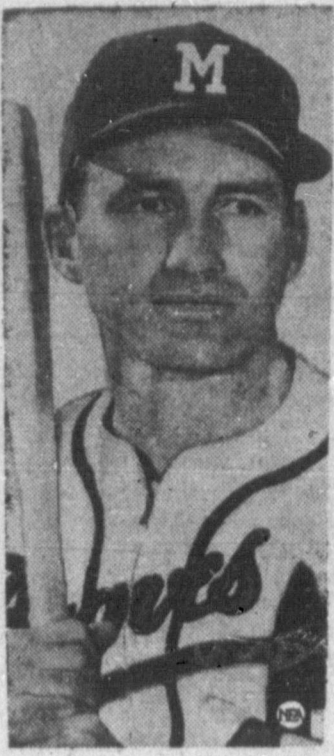

Whatever the reason or reasons were for the defeat, Curfman and his aides have only four days to find out and correct them. If Pampa doesn't find the answer, it can rest assured that Lubbock will be more than glad to point them out Friday night.

Bantam Bout Is Postponed

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The bantamweight championship fight between Eder Jofre of Brazil and Eloy Sanchez of Mexico has been moved back one night from Thursday, Nov. 17 to Friday, Nov. 18.

Promoter Cal Eaton announced the switch Monday in order to facilitate the travel plans of Mexican nationals who requested the change so they might see the bout.

Eaton said the one day postponement was agreeable to both boxers who are here now preparing for the bout which the National Boxing Association recognizes as being for the title vacated by Jose Becerra of Mexico.

AL DARK ... takes over

New SF Giant Manager Plans Summit Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Alvin Dark, a veteran ballplayer who all of a sudden found himself rookie manager of the San Francisco Giants, planned a "summit conference" today with two of his old bosses.

"I'm going to talk to Leo Durocher and Bill Rigney about running this club," Dark said Monday shortly after the Giants had tendered their former shortstop a two-year contract at an estimated $30,000 per season. "But I'll be talking to them as manager to manager, not as a ballplayer to a manager."

Durocher managed the Giants to two National League pennants and one World Series victory when Dark was his shortstop. Alvin also played for about two months under Rigney in 1956 before the Giants traded him to St. Louis.

Durocher had been mentioned prominently as a successor to Rigney, whom the fifth-place Giants dropped last June 18 when the club was second in the standings. Chief scout Tom Sheehan, who is getting his old job back, managed them during the interim.

"Rig is a good friend of mine and I respect his judgment," Dark said, after getting the former Giant skipper's phone number from a reporter. "I sure hope he lands that job managing Detroit."

Dark, 38, a devout Baptist, returned to the Giant organization from the Milwaukee Braves after considering the offer for a week. He said he did not know if he would keep on playing.

"I talked things over with my wife, Adrienne," Dark said. "We make all our decisions together and we considered this religiously. Then we prayed that it would be a good move."

It marks his first time out as a manager. The deal was consummated Monday when the Braves, the fifth National League club he had played with since breaking into the majors 14 years ago, traded him to the Giants in exchange for utility player Andre Rodgers.

Dark said that he always wanted to be a manager and had picked up as much information as he could listening to Ed Stanky, his roommate for four years, Durocher and Charlie Dressen.

'O' Tops Scorers

NEW YORK (UPI)—Oscar Robertson, a prolific scorer during his college days, readily demonstrated his smooth switch to the pro ranks today when he dominated two of five statistical departments in the National Basketball Association.

A clever ball handler, as well as a dead-eye shot, Robertson topped the first week's scorers with 185 points and led in assists with an amazing 9.6 average. The Cincinnati Royal rookie was directly responsible for 67 baskets racked up by his teammates.

Elgin Baylor of the Los Angeles Lakers trailed the "Big O" in scoring with 180 points while Jack Twyman of Cincinnati was third with 165.

Arnold Bockhorn of the Royals was runner-up in assists with 37, followed by Richie Guerin of the New York Knickerbockers with 36.

Larry Staverman cantiqued Cincinnati's surprising surge as leader in field goal percentages, netting 11 of 20 shots for a .550 mark.

Baylor outshined the league in rebounds, grabbing 121 caroms. Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors had 81 and Robertson nabbed 78.

Harris Roadblock May Derail Rice's SWC Train

By BRYCE MILLER
United Press International
Wayne Harris may be just the guy to put the brakes on Rice and keep the Southwest Conference from highballing into a traffic jam.

This Arkansas linebacker, a small guy as defensive specialists go, could have a lot to say about that Owl attack this weekend at neutral Little Rock in one of the two top games in the league. The other headliner is at Waco where Baylor's Bears try to bounce back against Texas, and the Bruins are favored to do it by two points.

Arkansas goes against Rice a three-point underdog, but Coach

Frank Broyles is getting the team up for this one. And the Hogs know full well this is the last major hurdle.

An upset would put the Pigs back in front with a 4-1 record and a tie with Baylor if the Bruins can tumble Texas. A Rice win would give the Owls an enviable 4-0 league mark, but Texas A&M, Texas Christian and Baylor to face. Arkansas has only Southern Methodist and Tech after Rice.

Harris could be a big factor in stopping the crushing Rice ground attack and the Owls' sharp-shooting passers.

"I wouldn't trade Wayne Harris for any lineman in the country—size notwithstanding," says Broyles. "The combination of almost incredible judgment, amazing speed and quickness and power that jolts you on impact is rare in one football player."

Texas Christian, after its fine 14-6 upset of Baylor, takes the week off to prepare for Texas Nov. 12. A&M was made a 5½ point favorite over SMU, and Tulane reigned a five point favorite over Texas Tech.

The Owls took it easy in drills Monday, with quarterback Randall Kerbow the only regular taking part in a scrimmage between reserves and freshmen.

Abe Martin showed his Horned Frogs moves of the Baylor game, then dismissed the team. Baylor worked briefly on blocking and defensive assignments, then also watched movies. Ronnie Bull was hampered by a sprained ankle, but should be ready for Texas. Bert Tate, Bull's replacement at right halfback, was doubtful.

At College Station, the Cadets watched movies of the Arkansas game and Coach Jim Myers lauded tackles Wayland Simmons and Joe Eilers, and guards Carter Franklin and Jim Phillips for their line play.

Coach DeWitt Weaver warned his Red Raiders about Tulane's talented Tommy Mason, leading conference gainer in the Southeastern Conference, then sent them through a brief drill. He said halfback Dick Polson probably will be sidelined with a neck injury, and fullbacks Charles Harrison and Larry Jones are both doubtful. They were on crutches with ankle injuries suffered against Rice.

Chicago goalie Glenn Hall, who never has missed a game in his previous five years in the league, continued to lead all netminders with a goals-per-game average of 2.45, despite giving up eight Saturday night in Toronto and 14 in his last three games. Toronto's Johnny Bower closed in on Hall with a 2.54 mark.

UPI Poll Shows Other Teams To Keep Flying

NEW YORK (UPI)—College and professional football teams which normally travel by plane are not changing their future flight plans because of last weekend's air crash in Ohio that claimed the lives of 16 California Poly players.

Sports officials regarded the crash as "tragic" and "unfortunate," but they also agreed unanimously with Al Masters, athletic director at Stanford University, who pointed out that "people don't quit flying now because of one accident."

"Our teams will keep on flying," Masters added. "The odds are with you."

Members of the top-ranked Iowa team will fly to Minneapolis for their "game of the year" with second-ranked Minnesota Saturday. Other teams in the Big Ten Conference also will rely on planes for their future road games this year, according to a survey conducted by United Press International.

"That Ohio crash was unfortunate but I don't think we'd change our flying plans because of a single accident," said William Aspinwall, athletic business manager at the University of Wisconsin. "We try to fly with the best airlines and we have a lot of confidence in their planes."

Wilbur Johns, athletic director at UCLA, said he hadn't given any thought to a change in his team's flights "because we have flown all over the country for years. And accidents can happen on buses or trains, too."

Pro football officials shared the same view. "We will continue to fly," said a spokesman for the San Francisco Forty-Niners. "We have every confidence in our system of transportation."

Don Kelleit, general manager of the world champion Baltimore Colts, said, "We don't contemplate making any changes in our transportation schedules," while a spokesman for the Pittsburgh Steelers declared, "The (Ohio) crash was a tragic thing but the airplane is here to stay."

Two Share NHL Lead

MONTREAL (UPI)—Dickie Moore and Bernie (Boom-Boom) Geoffrion, a pair of high scoring Montreal Canadiens wingmen, today shared the National Hockey League scoring lead after the first month of action with 19 points.

Official NHL figures showed that Moore and Geoffrion, both former scoring champions, lead a group of five Canadiens in the top 10 scoring parade.

Detroit center Norm Ullman is tied with Montreal center Jean Beliveau four points off the pace with 15.

Chicago goalie Glenn Hall, who never has missed a game in his previous five years in the league, continued to lead all netminders with a goals-per-game average of 2.45, despite giving up eight Saturday night in Toronto and 14 in his last three games. Toronto's Johnny Bower closed in on Hall with a 2.54 mark.

Houston Hires Bragan To Head Farm System

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—Fiery Bobby Bragan swapped his playing flannels for a business suit today and vowed to give the new Houston baseball franchise in the National League "a strong team in the nation's strongest league."

Bragan, 43, was named director of player personnel and manager of the farm system by Gabe Paul, Houston general manager, at a press conference Monday. "Whether to take this job was a hard decision for me," energetic Bragan said.

"But there is such a bright opportunity in Houston, I could not afford to turn down the offer."

No salary terms were announced for the former Pittsburgh and Cleveland manager and Los Angeles Dodgers coach.

Nation's Top Two Teams Make History Saturday

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — For the first time in history, the college football teams ranked 1-2 in the nation by the United Press International Board of Coaches will clash head-on next Saturday. The first meeting of the No. 1 and 2 teams in the 10 years that the board has been rating the country's major college teams was set up today when Iowa retained the top ranking in the board's weekly ratings and Minnesota vaulted from fourth to second.

Iowa held on to the top rung by rolling up 343 out of a possible 350 points in the board's ratings. That's the highest point total in any week by any team since Nov. 16, 1953, when Notre Dame had a point score of 345. A warning for Iowa — Notre Dame was tied, 14-14, by Iowa the next week and wound up second in the season's final ratings behind Maryland.

Minnesota's spectacular jump was caused by the failures of last week's No. 2 and 3 teams — Mississippi and Syracuse. Ole Miss was held to a 6-6 tie by Louisiana State and dropped to sixth place this week. Syracuse, last year's national champion which had won 16 straight games, took a 10-0 beating from Pittsburgh and slipped to ninth place.

Iowa received the first-place votes of 29 of the 35 coaches who make up the UPI board. Coach Forest Evashevski's Hawkeyes also received five second-place votes and one third-place vote. Of the six first-place votes missed by Iowa, two each went to Missouri and Ohio State and one each to Minnesota and Navy.

Navy, which had to battle to down Notre Dame, 14-7, moved up from fifth to third and will face 12th ranked Duke this week. Missouri followed Navy in moving two places, from sixth to fourth, and Ohio State jumped from eighth to fifth.

Washington moved up from ninth to seventh and Tennessee came from 11th to nail eighth. Rice crashed the elite circle by jumping from 12th to 10th.

Under the AFL's six-point efficiency point system, Davidson scored 30.5 points of a possible 60, up from 47.0 last week, and compared with 47.5 for Kemp and 43.5 for George Blanda, who had been in second place a week ago. Blanda had thrown the most scoring passes; 14.

Eddie Macon of Oakland and Austin Gonsoulin of Denver lead in interceptions with eight each. Tom Greene of Boston in punting with a 41.7-yard average; Blanda in scoring with 75 points, and Ken Hall of Houston in kickoff returns with a 41.5-yard average.

'Little Abner' Haynes Rearranges AFL Stats

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Scatback Abner Haynes of the Dallas Texans had a field day as the Dallas Texans knocked off division pacesetter Denver Sunday and as a result he moved into the No. 2 spot in rushing and pass receiving in the American Football League.

Haynes was a virtual workhorse as he carried the ball 27 times on the ground for 76 yards and hauled down seven passes for 96 yards to give him a season total of 331 yards rushing and 35 receptions for 403 yards. Haynes also is the punt return leader with a 15.1-yard average.

He still was well behind the leaders in both categories, however. New York's Don Maynard leads the receivers with 48 catches for 339 yards, while Dave Smith of Houston, who gained 107 yards Sunday in a losing cause against Buffalo, has gained 411 yards on the ground.

Cotton Davidson of Dallas widened his lead as the top passer after almost losing it while idle a week earlier. The Texan threw 12 of 23 for 187 yards against the Broncos to boost his season output to 113 of 220 for 1,509 yards, seven more completions and 202 yards better than runner-up Jack Kemp of Los Angeles.

Two firms, Bryan Oil Company and North Plains Electric Co-op, will definitely enter teams. Several other firms have made tentative plans to sponsor teams. Also present at the meeting were representatives of some teams who still need sponsors.

Rules and regulations were discussed and approved. The league is scheduled to begin play the last week in November. Games will be played in the new Perryton High School gymnasium on Monday and Saturday nights.

Another meeting will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Y.M.C.A. Hub, according to the 'Y' Secretary, Jack Maxey. At this time final plans for the league will be made.

Quarterbacks Move Meeting

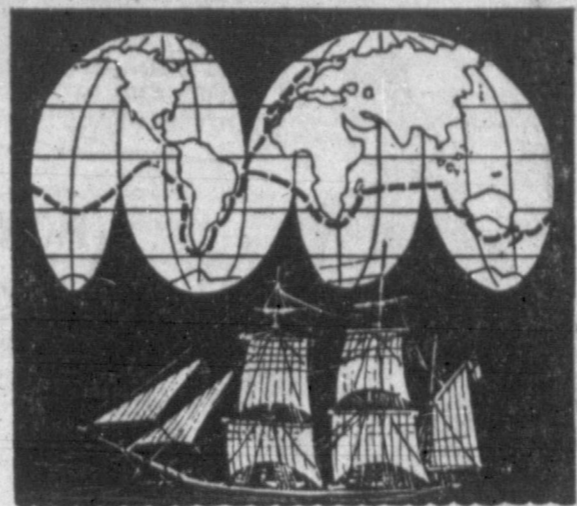

The faces will be the same, only the place will be changed when the Harvester Quarterback Club meets at 7:30 tonight to see movies of the Palo Duro-Pampa game and hear a scouting report on Friday's game with Lubbock.

'Y' Sets Date On Basketball

PERRYTON — A meeting to organize a men's basketball league was held October 27, in the Y.M.C.A. Hub.

Two firms, Bryan Oil Company and North Plains Electric Co-op, will definitely enter teams. Several other firms have made tentative plans to sponsor teams. Also present at the meeting were representatives of some teams who still need sponsors.

Earth, Stars and Man (9) Voyage of the 'Beagle'

ROUTE OF THE 'BEAGLE'

In December, 1831, His Majesty's Ship Beagle left England on a surveying and scientific trip around the world. On board was a 22-year-old naturalist, Charles Darwin. The Beagle's voyage ended five years later, but in Darwin's mind a trip into the unknown was just beginning that was to last a lifetime and eventually affect every branch of human knowledge.

As the Beagle touched at little-known places, Darwin was struck by the seemingly limitless variety of animals and plants in the world. Yet among the differences there were disturbing likenesses. It was as if two separate species—of birds, for instance—had sprung from the same distant ancestor. Could this be possible?

THE ARGENTINE PAMPAS — A VAST CEMETERY OF EXTINCT SPECIES

THE GALAPAGOS ISLANDS — BIRTHPLACE OF NEW SPECIES

THE KEY: NATURAL SELECTION AND THE STRUGGLE FOR LIFE

Armed with Lyell's Principles of Geology, Darwin noted how time had changed the character of South America and its animal life. In Patagonia he found the fossil bones of an ancestor of the llama. In the Andes there was evidence that the foot of these mountains had once been the shore of the Pacific, now 700 miles away. On either side of this barrier lived different species of the same animal.

In the Galapagos Archipelago, 500 miles from the mainland, entirely new species of tortoises, birds and lizards abounded, yet they were definitely related to those on the continent. What was more, they differed on each island. Was each a separate "creation"?

the data he could find. It was Thomas Malthus' Essay on Population which gave him the clue: In nature, more individuals are born than can possibly survive. In the struggle for life—between themselves and other organisms and against a changing environment—the best-adapted ones are favored. They are more likely to survive and reproduce themselves. Over a period of time, slight, beneficial modifications give rise to wholly new forms.

Still, for more than 20 years, Darwin withheld his idea from publication. He well knew the reaction his theory would cause. It was almost an accident that it was finally made known.

Showdown Looms In Class 2A Grid Play

By United Press International

Two showdown battles for district leadership headline the Class AA Texas schoolboy football program this week—the next to last on the regular season schedule.

Rockdale and Cameron tangle with the 19-AA leadership at stake, while Sinton and Refugio get together to settle the 31-AA issue.

Six other showdowns aren't due until next week, when Floydada and Olton meet in 2-AA, Dublin and Comanche in 8-AA, Taylor and Georgetown in 20-AA, Hallettsville and Gonzales in 27-AA, Hondo and Devine in 29-AA and Freer and Hebronville in 30-AA.

Five teams already have assured themselves spots in the playoffs and 19 other districts boast undisputed leaders, although, upsets in the final two weeks could cloud the pictures.

Already assured of playoff spots are Anson, which last week became the first AA club to beat Stamford since Seymour turned the trick in 1957; Denver City, which boasts the highest scoring outfit in the AA ranks with a 49.2-point per game average; pre-season favorite Olney; Terrill, a perennial title contender although it isn't as strong as usual this season, and Lancaster.

Undisputed leaders include Dimmitt, Crane, Perryton, Coleman, Azle, Plano, Hooks, Daingerfield, Gilmer, Gatesville, Brady, Bellville, Crockett, Liberty, Little Cypress, West Columbia, Sweeny, Kennedy and Donna.

Floydada, Olton, Denver City, Dublin, Olney, Hooks, Daingerfield, Taylor, Bellville, Kennedy and Hondo are undefeated and untied, while Daingerfield and Crockett are unbeaten but have been tied.

Sensing The News

As Americans prepare to go to the polls to elect a president, they should ponder the state of affairs in Michigan where a laborite regime has been in power for a decade.

Under Governor "Soapy" Williams, Michigan has been the exemplar of Reutherstyle democracy. Everything that "liberals" want to do on the national scale has been tried out in Michigan. A soak-the-corporation attitude has prevailed in the state legislature. Public welfare has been fantastically bountiful. Vast sums have been spent on state universities, enormously increasing their enrollment capacity and thereby leading to a cut in academic standards so that the student dorms could be filled. Michigan is the state where fly-casting is a college-level course for credit.

Michigan also is the state where the per capita cost of supporting public employees is double what it is in nearby industrial states.

Though Michigan is the home of the automotive industry and other great enterprises, its state government has paid no attention to business needs. Walter Reuther, head of the United Automobile workers and the real boss of Michigan, is a doctrinaire state socialist who wants government to put its meddling fingers deeper and deeper into individual and corporate pockets.

The results of this public philosophy have been what one might expect. Michigan has used up all methods of taxation and is in terrible financial condition. Whoever is elected governor this November is faced with a tragic situation. A decade of bad government has created problems that even the wisest of chief executives will require years to solve.

Yet the "Soapy" Williams kind of government is what "liberals" want to put into practice on the national level. The gone-mad wel-

Gross National Product

There is a dandy bit of foolishness going the rounds these days which seems to have beguiled no end of economists and other forecasters.

This foolishness comes under the heading of "Gross National Product." It is considered true in government circles that by means of GNP we can find out comparatively how well off we are; how business is rising or falling; what the cost of living index is, and so on.

We have long since been accused of throwing cold water on scores of government devices and we suppose we will be accused here. So we are accustomed to the chill. But the fact is that gross national product is a term which has no meaning, and which, in a precise way, can never have any meaning.

Economically speaking, all exchanges occur on the basis of individual value judgments. And each individual exchanges that which he has (money, goods, time, energy) for something else that he doesn't have. And he makes the exchange at the exact moment when he values what he doesn't have more than he values what he has.

But the important thing to realize is that in spite of man's ceaseless exchanges, never does he value anything exactly the same twice. He may pay the same for it. But his sense of value is forever in a state of flux. It ebbs and flows and shifts back and forth.

And as it is with him, so it is with every other individual on earth. Thus, something which occurs at a given moment in the market place is something that will never occur again in precisely the same way in relation to all other things.

In the physical sciences, experiments can occur under controlled conditions at almost limitless number of times. In economics, no two events of identical significance can ever or will ever occur. Yet, economics is also a science, a science of logic. It exists in the realm where self-evident truths are accepted, and from these self-evident positions, deductions and inductions can lead us unerringly to a right answer.

THE CHURCH'S CONCERN FOR FREEDOM

RICHARD W. DUSENBERG
New York University
(Christian Economics)

An interesting feature of the American political tradition of the separation of church and state is that in the hands of American church leaders the insistence on independence for the churches is not complemented by a similar concern for the individual. Look at the current literature from church sources commenting on political issues, and you will discover a startling omission of reference to the freedom of the individual.

What is genuinely disturbing on the political scene is the endorsement which the political authority is getting in its eternal struggle for power. In public housing, in public education, in race relations, in economic issues of labor-management and social welfare, the dominant political voice of state supremacy is receiving the blessing of ecclesiastical counsel. Let me cite some examples.

Right-to-Work laws will continue to be a political issue for some time. In 1958, when several states submitted their existence to the electorate, the dean of the divinity school of a large eastern university was reported to have said that "economic freedom was being jeopardized by Right-to-Work bills, that under them economic freedom can be exploited in a way that entry into the labor market threatens many of the gains of organized labor."

Aside from the illogic of these remarks, they are indelicately stupid. The opposite of a Right-to-Work law is either a union shop, requiring membership in a union within a prescribed amount of time after taking employment, or a closed shop, a now illegal form of coercion requiring union affiliation before getting employment. Either constitutes coercive pressure to join, or to remain unemployed, though the employee is willing to work, and the employer is willing to do the hiring. If freedom of choice, freedom of movement, and freedom of contract are to mean anything, a prospective employee ought to be able to seek out employment on terms dictated by the economics of the market, not by the policy of unwanted union organizers. Remember, it is only in the contact of an undesired union that a Right-to-Work law means anything. If unionization is desired, it can be had with or without the Right-to-Work statute.

In race relations, the exemplary progress of American churches is seriously jeopardized by their short-sighted support of coercive and restraining legislation. In New York City, where these remarks are being written, church leaders are the principal supporters of anti-discrimination legislation in the renting or selling of dwelling units. Such laws constitute an alarming restriction on the liberty of an individual to use his private property according to his own desires, unrecognized. Yet it is this contract right which underlies every basic freedom that western civilization has fought for, and is the very framework of Anglo-American liberalism.

When such legislation first became seriously advanced, it was assumed that only those places which were "quasi-public" would be affected, the multi-unit dwellings. This is the typical deceitful tranquilizer of the advocates of the great Leviathan, and its fraud was in this case rapidly unveiled. For only recently it was announced that the city would seek to eliminate the element of choice in the sale and rental even of single units. Think of it. Unless the legislation is a sheer hypocrisy of the politically powerful, designed to lure an electorate, we have a gigantic grab of power over a large area of individual choice. Let us not deceive ourselves; if discrimination flourishes under individual choice, flourish it will under concentrated power, for "power corrupts, and absolute power corrupts absolutely."

I mention these merely as two of the many available examples for the successful inclination of politicians to seek out the endorsement of churchmen and church bodies has produced case after case of irresponsible formulas for social action. With all that there is to learn and think about in theology, it has always appeared strange, and irritating, that so many churchmen purport to display a competence for counsel in issues of foreign relations, public housing, social planning, labor relations, business management, economics, and others. But where exists the basic recognition that it is a matter of ethics to listen when to speak can be done only with a competence inferior to that of the average, but the average has no significance to them. If we understand the true nature of value as a personal thing we won't be so readily misled.

O.K. To Ask One Little Question?

The Allen-Scott Report

ROBERT S. ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

EISENHOWER OVERTURES AS ISRAEL-ARAB PEACEMAKER REJECTED BY NASSER, BUT RENEWAL POSSIBLE
WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is trying to bring Israel and the Arab countries together for peace talks, but the results have been discouraging so far.

Premier Ben-Gurion readily agreed to such discussions. But President Gamal Nasser not only flatly refused but told the President, "Israel will always remain a barrier to any rapprochement between your country and mine."

The United Arab Republic ruler said that during his recent conference with the President at the United Nations. It was the President's hope Nasser could be persuaded to meet with Ben-Gurion, and this would be announced on designated date.

The President had in mind some time around November 1. That was acceptable to Ben-Gurion, who had been sounded out on the matter by the State Department.

But these plans were dashed by Nasser's truculent recalcitrance. The President still feels he can make some headway in using his "good offices" to mediate between Israel and the Arabs. Vice President Nixon is credited as also holding that view.

But State Department authorities are privately much less hopeful. Meanwhile, Senator J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, has learned of this backstage endeavor and is making inquiries regarding it.

He particularly wants to know "how and why this was undertaken at this time."

Fulbright stresses that he strongly favors such peace negotiations, and would heartily support them. But, at the same time, he is curious why no special effort along this line was made before.

Bluntly he points out that those trained in another sphere? Maybe if churches recognized the other side of the coin, they would regain their sobriety. It is a fool's folly to think that churches do not endanger their own liberty by urging the confiscation of another's. As desirable as the demise of discrimination is, to make it the conscious objective of legislation is risky business for churches. The centuries-old Oberammergau Passion Play was recently attacked as bigoted. The danger of state control over institutions of education, of which some of our most competent are church-owned, is very real, and may well manifest itself in some specious argument of academic freedom to attain the ends of some group able to reflect its policy through government legislation or administration. Legislation has an insidious consequence in a society which looks to government to achieve ends, in a society whose government does not know that the only security of freedom is the limitation of government.

The guiding principle of church comment on social issues should be a policy of maximum freedom for the individual. This is the only genuinely progressive policy, and the only one which can prevent the chaotic and heinous consequences of a planned or controlled society. That I do not like what another does, is in the final analysis, much less important than his disliking what I do, and having the power to make his dislike my crime.

Everybody's Money

By MERYLE STANLEY RUKESYER

When presidential candidates delve into money matters, a specialist has an obligation to set the record straight.

Both major personalities in the campaign are informed and have considerable gray matter, but the necessities of politics sometimes make them squishy in probing analytically into delicate areas which might antagonize numerically large groups. There is reluctance to pursue to the logical conclusion issues which run counter to the frozen ideology of labor unions.

By way of illustration, in his third debate, Sen. John F. Kennedy, in referring to the adverse balance of international payments and the loss of gold, said: "I believe that we must be able to compete in the market, in steel and in all basic commodities abroad. We must be able to compete against them because we always did because of our technological leads. We have to make sure to maintain that."

Now there is a material omission in the senator's diagnosis of our economic problem. The senator neglects to point out that the technological gap between advanced U.S. industry and that in competitive countries, including West Germany and Japan, has been narrowed.

Prior to this post-war period, it is true that we possessed a unique capacity to convert high hourly money wage rates into low unit costs of production through the magic of mass production.

The U.S. uniqueness consisted of superior tools and power technology, on the one hand, and the benefits conferred by a huge consuming market, on the other. Now free Europe, Japan and Hong Kong are emulating the American success recipe, and for the first time it is difficult to offset vast differentials in labor rates at home and abroad.

Thanks to the Marshall Plan and other economic aid, developed by the Truman administration, we helped former belligerents to rebuild their demolished industrial plants. Thus the old obsolescence of plants and equipment overseas has been replaced by machinery and power equipment as modern, if not more modern, than our own. Thus the wage gap becomes more challenging.

When management of the steel companies referred to this changing economic situation during the steel strike, David McDonald, head of the steel union, dismissed the subject as management propaganda. Accordingly, a deal was consummated which widened the wage gap, and recently Mr. McDonald, who supports Sen. Kennedy, suggested an investigation of why there is unemployment in the U.S. steel industry.

The Executive Council of the AFL-CIO has endorsed the Kennedy-Johnson ticket, and there is reluctance to flaunt union prejudice by tough objective analysis of economic problems which face the nation.

Even Vice President Nixon, who did not receive such endorsement, seems squeamish about offending union ideology. Thus, when he was asked what could be done to accelerate economic growth, Mr. Nixon abstained from mentioning one factor, which Gov. Nelson Rockefeller had highlighted in an earlier telecast. In delineating the removal of obstacles to growth, Rockefeller, like Nixon, stressed tax reform, and the New York governor risked trading on the toes of organized labor by mentioning the topic of featherbedding.

My own view is that the future promise of American life hinges on our genius in solving problems — not in ducking them.

If we are to compete in world markets without slashing high U.S. wage rates, then we should objectively undertake to eliminate other types of waste from the cost sheet such as paying for work not performed. In addition, we should take a fresh view of the costs imposed on business by government policy and laws, by outmoded consent decrees, judicial precedents, and popular pressures.

The way to break the deadlock is to foster cooperation between the unions and management to ferret out these wastes and to demand corrective action. There is no profit in destructive class warfare as advocated by Karl Marx. Hope lies in the reverse doctrine of stressing the "harmony of interests" of all segments, as preached by Henry C. Carey, the great Philadelphia economist.

It doesn't make sense to ignore the fact that competitive foreign countries have tremendously reduced the former technological gap. (Mr. Rukesyer will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self-

The Doctor Says:

DR. HAROLD T. HYMAN

Unless you've read and understood the first of these columns, I'm afraid what I have to say today won't make much of an impression. And, since I can't give you an adequate summary at this writing, will you please get hold of the previous column so that you'll know why you're doing what you're doing, when and if you adopt the following suggestions for dealing with the problem of bed-wetting.

Until the child is 2 years old, make no effort to teach bladder control. Indeed, if you must do something, encourage the child to hold its urine within reason, or since fullness of the bladder, by exerting tension on its walls, may hasten its capacity to hold the nightly output of urine. By placing the child on the toilet seat at short intervals, as is usually recommended, you may be defeating the purpose you hope to accomplish.

When the child is 3, instead of restricting fluids, encourage the youngster to drink during the day. Then try to build up the child's bladder capacity to eight ounces (tumblerful) by progressively lengthening the time between voidings. In Dr. Mueller's experience, this goal may be reached after three to six months of sustained effort. You may check the child's progress by making an occasional measurement of the amount of urine passed.

If bedwetting continues beyond the fourth year, your doctor may advise consultation with a urologist since the persistence of enuresis may suggest the possibility that the youngster has some organic disturbance of the urinary system that requires instrumental or surgical treatment.

Unless there is some other reason for suspecting that the child needs psychiatric attention, do not expose the youngster and yourself to psychotherapy. Dr. Gesell's studies at Yale indicate that the average child does not usually awaken with a dry bed until after its third birthday.

Unless your doctor has great faith in drug treatments, don't dose the child with the usual prescriptions that are more apt to make the youngster's mouth uncomfortably dry than exert any influence on his urine output or his urinary system.

And if you've raised your child sensibly and lovingly don't let any one give you a feeling of inadequacy or guilt because your youngster's bladder capacity is not yet sufficient. You hold the total urinary output of a single night. And don't make urinary function an issue of importance in your child's life. Don't be cross with him or scold or punish him if he wets. Don't praise or reward him if he's dry. And, if you love him, don't discuss the problem with the family who may think bedwetting a great subject for teasing or mockery.

Passangers Should Use Nautical Terms

By HENRY McLEMORE

graphically, though. We reached it through the Straits of Gibraltar and, going the way we are, Spain is on our left and Africa on our right.

I should have said "on our portside" and "on our starboard," for those who run ships cannot abide the landlubber who uses land terms for nautical ones.

My brother-in-law, a Commander in the Navy, never has quite approved of my marriage to his sister since the day I called his submarine's galley a kitchen, and wondered aloud how one managed to keep one's feet on the floor when the weather was rough.

I have learned a great deal about a ship on this trip. No more do I call portholes windows, and the stern the back porch. I even have been to the wheelhouse several times, and that place is a revelation.

The more I see of it, the more I doubt one portion of the Christopher Columbus story. Not the part about Isabella and Ferdinand lending Columbus the money, or about his ships being named the Pinta, the Nina, and the Santa Maria. That part all holds water with me.

What I doubt is the part about his having crossed the Atlantic in such ships. Frankly, I don't believe he made it.

Take a look at the modern ocean liner and you'll share my doubt. Not only does the liner of today have size, power, and immense strength, but a thousand other scientific gadgets to guide it, keep it on the right road, and protect it.

What did Columbus do in a fog? He didn't even have a foghorn to blast away with. The Queen Frederica has one that would blow a bull right out of a china shop, but she doesn't need it. Two radar devices — one for close scanning, the other for distant — keep traffic pin-pointed for her.

There are more compasses on the Frederica than there are in a compass shop. Fifty could go wrong, and there would still be that many more at work.

If Columbus really did make it across the ocean — and as I said, I have my serious doubts — he must have worn out fifty helmets holding and turning the wheel. The Frederica has an "iron mike" for that job. A mechanical wheel keeps her on the right road, and the right side of it, all the time. She never wanders over the centerline, or slips off on the shoulder.

Fire is something that sailors dread, and rightly so, and the Frederica has two systems of fire detection. One is for heat, and one is for smoke. Both controls are visible in the wheelhouse and the location of a fire, should there be one, can be spotted in a second. That's mighty reassuring to a fellow who smokes in his bunk.

Then there are things that keep the Frederica from rolling and pitching, and others that keep her as quiet as a mouse walking on tiptoe.

Of course, Columbus may have made it in the ships he had. Lots of people say he did. I can only say that I am very thankful that I wasn't ther to book passage.

Swim Star Takes Pill Overdose

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — An emergency operation on one-time swimming champion Eleanor Holm was credited today with saving her life after she had taken an overdose of sleeping pills.

Miss Holm, 43-year-old ex-wife of showman Billy Rose, was reported resting comfortably at St. Francis Hospital. Physicians said she probably would remain there the rest of the week.

An ambulance company spokesman said Thomas J. Whalen, 44, telephoned them late Thursday night and shouted, "There's a woman here who has taken too many sleeping pills."

Ambulance attendants raced to the scene and took Miss Holm to the hospital. Surgeons in the emergency room cut into her chest and inserted a breathing tube. The former showgirl was reported out of danger 24 hours later.

Whalen, indicted for first degree murder in 1941, said he and Miss Holm were occupying separate bedrooms in his luxurious $300-a-month apartment at fashionable North Bay Village. Police said they had been watching Whalen for two years.

Presidential Race Bookies Favor JFK

By United Press International

Sen. John F. Kennedy was the professional betting choice today to win the presidency Nov. 8.

Bookmakers who set the wagering odds for major sports events sized up the presidential race as a victory for Kennedy in the latest quotations from California to New York and Miami to Philadelphia.

The odds, which are determined by the amounts of money bet by individuals or groups with the bookmakers, ranged from 9 to 3 in Las Vegas, the gambling capital of the nation, to 2 to 1 in Dallas and 7 to 5 in Richmond. Bookmakers in Boston, Kennedy's hometown, were offering 6 to 5 odds with the better taking his choice between the two candidates.

A week ago, Kennedy was a 3 to 2 choice in Las Vegas which means the latest 9 to 5 quotation rates him an improved favorite.

Las Vegas gamblers also were wagering 8 to 5 that Kennedy would carry the key states of California, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Illinois and 3/4 to 1 he would win in New York State.
