sentiment has slipped, not because the news has been bad, but because it has not been as good as anticipated, says Lucien O. Hooper of W. E. Huton & Co.

They're talking of the "grinding sixties" instead of the "soaring" sixties," Hooper points out, because now it seems you have to grind out any real earnings gains against the tide of stiff competition and surpluses.

"It is notable," he says, "that corporate executives are marking down their earlier estimates of earnings. They say business is good or fair but that the boom element is lacking."

HOW HE MANAGES—First job after his tenure as secretary of state ends nine months hence will be "to get my legs fixed up," says Christian A. Herter. An arthritic condition makes walking or standing for any length of time extremely painful for him. Herter resorts to use of a high stool for relief when speaking, as shown, above, in his first press conference as secretary of state following the death of John Foster Dulles.

Eat Breakfast and Lose Weight!

Science has demonstrated that you can eat a good breakfast and still lose weight. Research at The State University of Iowa demonstrated that skipping breakfast or eating breakfast did not make the subjects lose weight provided the day's total calories remained constant. Subjects on a weight-reduction program felt better and performed better, especially in the late morning hours, when they had an adequate breakfast. What is an adequate breakfast on a weight-reduction program?

It has been established that such a breakfast should provide one fourth of the daily caloric requirements and protein allowance, with not less than 15 grams of protein. Here is a breakfast which meets these requirements for women 25 to 65 years of age on a moderate weight-loss plan.

(center) of the evening hairdo is this one, done with bandeau hair; the others for fine hair.

This spring, hair styles are reminiscent of the 1930's and there are two major styles: the longer length and a version of the chingle. There are many variations of both. The advantage of the longer hair style is that it can be worn up or down, day or evening. This gentle and beautiful hair style (left) suggests the Carole Lombard era. Easy though it looks, it is based on an expert cut and a permanent. The 1960 version of the evening hairdo is this one done with handard hair the others for fine hair.

Yes, it is wonderful to buy what you want when you want it ... just by signing your name and saying "Charge it."

But surprisingly enough, thousands of purchasers every year, lose this buying advantage because they neglect to pay their bills on time.

Many of these are genuinely honest people whose difficulties stem more from carelessness than any desire to be deliberately deceitful.

That's why we urge everyone to please be careful and prompt in credit matters.

Didn't Pad Show With Own Records

By TOM NELSON United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) - House pavola investigators set out today to show that an analysis which Dick Clark had made of records played on his TV show was weighted in the disc jockey's favor.

The statistical report indicated that Clark picked records for his program on the hasis of their pop ularity and not because he had a stake in many of them through music and record holdings.

The investigating subcommittee which got mired in a bog of confusing statistics in questioning a co-author of the report Tuesday; called three of its own experts, t testify today in an effort to knock down its findings.

The subcommittee said experts would be asked their views on the report prepared by Computech Inc., New York City.

Bernard Goldstein, a vice president of the firm, said the 28month study of Clark's ABC net work "American Bandstand" program showed that Clark may have had a financial interest in 27 per cent of the songs played. However, Goldstein said, when these figures were related to rec ord ratings prepared by Billboard and Cashbox magazines, it was apparent the playing of the Clark discs was "consistent with the popularity of these records."

The subcommittee has been told that Clark had an interest in 1 music publishing and record com panies before he got rid of them at network orders late last year His income from these outside ac tivities has been estimated at $500,000 a year.

A member of the subcommittee charged Clark was accepting payola and counsel Robert W. Lisa man said the TV personality of his companies had been dishing i
