Kennedy Hammers B70 Bomber Funds Release

Says Act Made To Get Votes

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy accused the Eisenhower administration today of releasing an additional $155 million for development of the B70 bomber "to increase Republican votes."

The Democratic presidential candidate said the administration's decision a week before election day to release funds made available a year and a half ago by the Democratic-controlled Congress was "a transparent political maneuver" rather than an effort to increase national defenses.

"Far from being credited for moving now, the administration should be blamed for acting so slowly on such a vital weapon," Kennedy said.

His comment came in a statement issued as he began a second and final day of campaigning in Vice President Richard M. Nixon's home state to capture the 32 electoral votes which California gave in 1952 and 1956 to President Eisenhower.

In a speech prepared for delivery at a "Key to Victory" breakfast of Democratic women in Los Angeles, Kennedy detailed an educational program he would put into effect if elected president and charged that "the current crisis in our educational system" was caused by "failure to meet our responsibilities over the past eight years."

The Los Angeles speech was the first in a series planned by Kennedy in an airborne tour of the state which was scheduled to take him also to San Diego, San Jose, and San Francisco where aides said he would make a major address in the Cow Palace tonight.

Kennedy got a tumultuous ovation in Los Angeles Tuesday from a downtown noon-hour crowd which police estimated at about 200,000. He made a series of

Monkey Tosses Tantrum Over Picture Taking

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—It was serious monkey business, but it resulted in a sore thumb and wounded pride and they blamed it all on a photographer.

Dr. Irwin Rothman, a Philadelphia psychiatrist, was demonstrating results of his research with animals and hypnosis Tuesday at the American College of Osteopathic Surgeons Convention.

Pierre Fontaine, director of the Dallas zoo, brought in a three-year-old squirrel monkey for him to hypnotize. Dr. Rothman dangled some keys in front of the monkey. He seemed to be doing the job.

Then a photographer moved in for a picture and said: "Could you move your head a little more to the left?"

That sent the monkey off on a shrieking, biting fit; Fontaine got a set of sharp teeth marks on his thumb. Dr. Rothman insisted he had been successful with other monkeys.

He said hypnosis was practical for zoo and circus officials in restraining animals for treatment, as well as in the more scientific field, and laboratory animals could be anesthetized this way rather than with drugs which would insure purity of experiments.

He said rabbits and snakes are the easiest to hypnotize because they are less curious about their surroundings. Dogs are about the hardest.

Cubans Remain Tense

By MATTHEW T. KENNY
United Press International

HAVANA (UPI)—Warlike preparations kept Cuba on edge today, but there were indications the revolutionary regime might be preparing to drop the "invasion" charge it has been dishing out to the people.

President Osvaldo Dorticos told a group of "White House" employees Tuesday night it would be a victory for the regime if the U.S. invasion it has been predicting failed to occur. It was the first time any Cuban official had expressed doubt about the inevitability of the rumored attack.

"If they do not invade us, we have won a battle because our virile denunciation has impeded the invasion for now," Dorticos said. "If they do invade us, we'll win the battle in a few days."

The Cuban official scoffed at President Eisenhower's warning that the United States would fight if necessary to protect the Guantanamo naval base, saying "this government is not going to commit the folly of physically attacking the big base in eastern Cuba."

The official radio-TV network continued to press the claim that attack is imminent, exhorting Cubans to "remain calm in the face of the impending imperialist invasion."

An estimated 1,000 Cubans—the largest group ever to apply in a single day — flocked to the U.S. Embassy Tuesday to apply for visas to enter the United States. About 100,000 Cubans have fled to the United States this year.

The government has cleared hospitals here of all but the most seriously ill, making space available "to receive casualties." An estimated 250,000 militiamen are meeting nightly to learn to use the Communist-made automatic rifles and submachineguns handed out by the government Sunday.

Soviet U.N. Boycott Threat Due Pressure

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Pressure from smaller nations may force the Russians to call off their threatened boycott of United Nations disarmament talks, diplomatic sources said today.

The sources said reaction to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's warning that he would pull his delegation out of the Main Political Committee debate unless disarmament were decided his way and quickly had stirred a lot of resentment among lesser and uncommitted nations. Hungary, the last of the nine Soviet bloc nations to hammer home the Communist theme in the 99-nation committee, was listed to speak today.

It had been expected that the Soviets would pull their walkout after all the Red speakers had finished, but diplomats said it appeared unlikely now that it would come today.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth and Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin talked privately for about 15 minutes Tuesday but informed sources said the Russian refused to back down on his insistence that a disarmament treaty be agreed upon before discussion of controls.

In the General Assembly Tuesday, Zorin supported Cuban charges that the United States planned an imminent invasion of the Caribbean island.

The assembly, in an obvious expression of disbelief that the problem was as urgent as Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa and the Communists depicted, rejected by a vote of 45-29, with 18 abstentions, Cuba's demand for direct debate by the Assembly.

It then voted 53-11, with 27 abstentions, for a U.S. motion to send the issue to the Political Committee where it probably will not come up for several weeks.

Producer Tried To Hire Man To Kill Wife; Asking For Money Said Cause

GLENDALE, Calif. (UPI) — A movie and TV producer, tired of asking his wealthy wife for money attempted to hire a man to kill his 78-year-old spouse, police reported.

James R. Howlett, 64, was held in jail today on a felony charge of soliciting a crime — murder.

"I was sick and tired of asking for every nickel from my wife," officers quoted Howlett as saying. "Every time I wanted anything I had to ask for it. She had control over all the money."

His wife Leone was near tears when she heard of Howlett's plot.

"I don't believe it," she cried. "When my husband read crime stories in the newspapers or saw them on television, he would say, 'those darn fools should know they can't get away with things like that.'"

"He must have just gone haywire."

Mrs. Howlett, widow of a wholesale drug executive, said she and Howlett were wed secretly three years ago. She told police she had named him sole beneficiary in her will.

"James was a man of great humor, so pleasant and agreeable," she sobbed. "I'll do anything I can for him."

Howlett was arrested Monday night when he met Henry Lucero, 32, of nearby Harbor City, and gave him a $40 down payment for murder, plus a diagram to the Howlett home and a key to the front door, police said.

The slaying was to take place next Monday, Lucero said.

Capt. Walter E. Hegi and Sgt. W.R. Stenberg observed the meeting and a short time later took Howlett into custody and confronted him with the items which Lucero turned over to them.

Lucero said Howlett wanted him to enter the home and beat Mrs. Howlett to death with a lead pipe. The slaying was supposed to look like it had been committed by a burglar, he said.

Police said Lucero informed them when Howlett first contacted him and offered him $2,000 to commit the slaying. Howlett got in touch with Lucero last month after Lucero placed an ad saying he would do almost anything to earn money.

"What this man (Howlett) wanted me to do for $2,000 deeply shocked me," said Lucero. "I immediately went to the police."

Riots Laid To Reds

CARACAS (UPI) — President Romulo Betancourt said Tuesday night the riots which killed at least five persons here last week were fomented by "extremists controlled from abroad" — Clearly meaning groups directed by remote Russia and Cuba.

Betancourt told 100,000 Venezuelans massed in Silencio Square that his government would tolerate no attempt to fasten either a "fascistic or a communist" dictatorship on this country.

"The Venezuelan people got rid of their own dictator (ousted ex-President Marcos Perez Jimenez)," he said. "The Venezuelan people decided to adopt the democratic form of government."

"The Venezuelan people are in no frame of mind to take orders from any foreign quarter."

At another point, emphasizing Venezuela's determination to deal with its own problems, Betancourt indicated what "foreign quarters" he was talking about.

"We weren't born on the island of Cuba, nor in the Great mountains, nor the Siberian steppes, nor Moscow nor Peiping," he said. "Venezuela's problems must be tackled... according to the country's needs, without any influence from abroad."

Protestants Seek Peace In Algeria

PARIS (UPI)—The Protestant Federation of France threw its weight behind a labor-student drive for peace in Algeria today with a resolution calling for new attempts at a truce.

Marc Boegner, president of the federation, was seeking an early meeting with Maurice Cardinal Felin, Roman Catholic archbishop of Paris, to propose a joint appeal to President Charles de Gaulle and Algerian rebel leaders.

Boegner acted under the terms of a resolution passed at the close of a federation meeting Tuesday, warning that continuation of the Algerian war was creating a dangerous situation within France.

The Protestant initiative came two weeks after French Catholic leaders had expressed mounting concern over the Algerian imbroglio and condemned excesses being committed by both sides.

Calls Kennedy A 'Liar' Over Social Security

NEW YORK (UPI) — Vice President Richard Nixon, having called Sen. John F. Kennedy a "bare-faced" liar over Social Security Tuesday night, charged today his opponent would "soak the poor" to pay for Democratic campaign promises.

Nixon attacked the Democratic presidential candidate anew on economic grounds at a Republican breakfast meeting in Brooklyn before joining forces with President Eisenhower in a power-house drive for New York's 45 electoral votes.

After some of the most strongly worded speeches of his campaign, Nixon flew into the city early today from Ithaca, N.Y., for a few hours rest before joining the President, vice presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Together the GOP's Big Four will stump New York and its suburbs and parade through the heart of Manhattan as a prelude to a nationwide, joint television appearance tonight.

Nixon, before setting out to meet the President, fired one more economic blast at Kennedy.

The vice president has maintained for days that Kennedy's overall federal programs would cost the government an extra $15 billion annually and lead to higher prices, higher taxes or deficit financing.

"Who would pay the bills?" Nixon asked in a statement issued in Brooklyn.

"If anyone thinks the bills would be paid by a 'soak the rich' policy, he is wrong," the vice president said. "The Kennedy program is one of the cruelest and most vicious 'soak the poor' programs ever advocated by any presidential candidate."

He cited Treasury Department studies to show that the largest share of a $15 billion added tax load on the public — 37 per cent or $5.6 billion — would have to be raised by doubling the federal tax on incomes of between $10,000 and $15,000 while only about $600 (See CANDIDATE, Page 3)

Navy on the possibility that Castro would do the unthinkable and order an attack on Guantanamo.

Although Navy officials believe such a move is highly improbable, they are equally determined to repel it if it comes.

Rear Adm. Allen M. Smith, commandant of the 10th Naval District, which includes Guantanamo, and Capt. C. W. Schoenweiss, commanding officer of the base here, went to great lengths to emphasize that the precautions are not aggressive.

Both pointed out the Navy is going ahead with plans to bring families of servicemen here on the assumption that Cuba will honor its treaty obligations.

They admitted, however, they cannot read what is in Castro's mind and they will not rule out an assault.

They feel that Castro is more likely to conduct a campaign of harassment, with some sabotage possibly thrown in. Everyone at Guantanamo is edgy because there are 4,000 Cubans on the base every day. All but 800 of them go home at night.

"We don't want to get the people alarmed actually," Smith said. "I don't think the situation is much different than it was six months ago, but Castro has been stepping up the tempo and we have been stepping up our defense preparations. As a result, I wouldn't say the situation is dangerous. That is a relative term. It is tense and we are just waiting to see."

"He won't tell you, so I will," was Truman's theme.

Truman said that under the Eisenhower administration the federal debt went up $20 billion, while under his administration it was reduced $10 billion.

He also told the suburbanites, "You might ask Mr. Nixon if he thinks $1.25 an hour is too much to pay a working man..."

"If he agrees with the Eisenhower votes of the depressed areas bill..."

"If it's true that in 1948 he voted for the Gearhart amendment to take several hundred thousand people off Social Security..."

"If it's true that in 1949 he voted to cut out benefits for those who were disabled..."

"(And) if it's true that in 1960 he took the lead in defeating a Senate bill to provide health care insurance for the aged under the Social Security System..."

Truman said Tuesday that some of the Republicans' 1960 slogans sound like the party's "prosperity is just around the corner" theme of the early depression years, despite almost four million unemployed and "the lowest economic growth rate of any major industrial country in the world."

speeches in the area, winding up before about 35,000 persons inside and outside the stadium at East Los Angeles College where he was introduced by Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic standard bearer in 1952 and 1956.

Earlier, before perhaps 8,000 cheering supporters outside the Douglas Aircraft Co. plant at Long Beach, Calif., Kennedy for the second consecutive day teased Nixon for his use of Eisenhower in the campaign.

Amid laughter from the crowd, Kennedy said he understood Nixon spent two and a half hours at the White House Monday "asking the President to go with him to Pittsburgh and Cleveland." In his prepared remarks on education today, Kennedy said Eisenhower had officially proclaimed this coming week as American Education Week, a time for Americans to rededicate themselves "to the principles of equal educational opportunities for all regardless of race, place of birth or wealth."

"Today the front line of the battle for freedom is not in the trenches - or by the missile launching pads," Kennedy said. "It is in our classrooms, and universities - in the jungle schools of Africa or the remote instruction huts of northeast Brazil - it is wherever free societies are struggling to train the minds of the young."

He said two basic principles underlie any discussion of American educational problems. First, he said, "the federal government has responsibilities to help ensure a decent education to all Americans." And second, "the nation is committed to complete local control of our school systems."

Disability S.S. Clause Pointed Out

If you are totally disabled but have not been able to draw disability insurance benefits under the Social Security program because you are not yet age 50 years old, or if you know of someone in this situation, the recent changes in the Social Security law are of vital importance to you, Hal Gledon, manager of the Amarillo Social Security office, announced today.

Disability insurance benefits have been payable to severely disabled workers age 50 and over since July, 1957. These payments are equal to the amount the worker would receive if he were already 65. Under the new amendments, disabled workers can be paid benefits regardless of age, and their dependents will also be paid the same benefits they would receive as if the worker were 65 and receiving retirement benefits.

Only workers with at least five years coverage under social security are eligible for disability payments," Gledon pointed out. He further emphasized that no change was made with regard to the severity or duration of the disability that the worker must have in order to qualify.

million would be raised by a 100 per cent increase in the income tax on those making over $50,000 annually.

"It is the millions of people in the lower income brackets - not the wealthy - who would really pay the bill for my opponent's platform if he tried to finance it by new taxes," Nixon said.

Nixon made a free-swinging open attack most of the time in storming across Pennsylvania into upstate New York Tuesday and Tuesday night. Large crowds welcomed him in Lancaster and Erie, Pa., and later in Syracuse and Rochester, N.Y., all normally Republican.

He said Kennedy told a "barefaced lie" when the Democrat said on Oct. 24 in Illinois that the Republican party had "attempted to wreck Social Security" with Nixon as the leader of the "wrecking crew."

During his upstate New York swing, Nixon also accused Kennedy of "never-never" economics and "quack" theories about federal finances. He first attacked Kennedy for his "barefaced lie" in Syracuse and repeated the charge in Rochester: "It is a falsehood, it is a lie and that is what I call it here tonight."

His critical fire was broadened to include newspapers, columnists, "so called experts and hand-wringers" who predict his defeat. Nixon told a cheering audience estimated by police at 14,000 in Rochester there is "a great tide running in our direction."

Book Found Not Obscene

LONDON (UPI) - A jury decided today that "Lady Chatterley's Lover," D. H. Lawrence's novel about the intimate love affair of a high-born lady and her gamekeeper at an English country estate, is not obscene.

'Example' Dealt Man In Bomb Hoax

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) - Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson Tuesday sentenced James Van Der Waddle, Pine Bluff, Ark., to six months in prison, as "an example" for making a false bomb report.

Van Der Waddle admitted he reported that a bomb was aboard a Boeing 707 jet airliner preparing to take off from Amon Carter Field in Fort Worth. His story was that a man named "Charlie" told him the plane was going to blow up, and he merely relayed the information to authorities.

Judge Davidson ordered him to serve his sentence in the Federal Correctional Institution in Seagoville, Tex.

"The thing you've done creates fear on the part of the public," Judge Davidson said. "I want to make an example of you."

The youth was transferred to the reformatory after the Tokyo prosecutor's office sent his case to the family court with the suggestion he be tried by a criminal court.

Officials said Yamauchi took his life between 8 and 9 p.m. Yamauchi had been held, for questioning since his arrest at Tokyo's Hibiya Hall immediately after he stabbed Asanuma.

Ideas For Safety Talked At Seminar

Mrs. Jack P. Foster, Altrusa Club second vice governor, returned yesterday from Oklahoma City where she attended a two-day seminar on Traffic Safety conducted by the Presidents' Committee for Traffic Safety, Traffic Institute of Northwestern University with the assistance of the Oklahoma University division.

The seminar, held in the Hotel Skirvin, was attended by representatives from women's organizations in Texas, Louisiana, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico.

The agenda for the meeting was a discussion of present and future traffic problems. It was brought out that by 1970, there will be 90,000,000 motor vehicles in the United States; 75,000,000 of these will be personal cars.

The sessions were an exchange of ideas for soliciting public support for the growing traffic safety problems in the United States.

Killer-Rapist Caught; Taken To Texarkana

LAREDO, Tex. (UPI) - Curtis Lee Jones, 38, a red-haired killer who spread a wave of terror from border to border during a giant manhunt throughout Texas, was to be returned to Texarkana, Tex., today to face a charge of killing a police character as he knelt with his hands tied behind him.

He is also accused of rape, six kidnappings, assault to murder and two car thefts during the past six days in his frantic flight across Texas to the Mexican border. Less than two months ago, he was paroled from the Arkansas penitentiary where he was serving a life sentence for murder.

Three highway patrolmen and a deputy sheriff crashed a new police car through a barbed wire fence and ran him down in a brushy field north of Laredo Tuesday, where he was trying to escape on horseback.

The horse stumbled and fell. As Jones tried to scramble away, Jack Carpenter of the Texas Department of Public Safety, fired a single shotgun blast over his head. Jones gave up without a struggle, although he still had a loaded .22-caliber pistol with him.

Jones said he had tried to swim the Rio Grande into Mexico, but recent cloudbursts in the area had turned it into a raging torrent.

Medical Kits For Health And Peace To Be Given At Church Women's Meet

"Freedom from Hunger" is the title of the five year campaign launched this summer by the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations. Almost simultaneously with this beginning, President Eisenhower signed the international "health for peace" bill. This new program undertakes the staggering project of increasing and improving the food intake of 1,000,000,000 men women and children. The campaign will aim at stimulating agricultural output, particularly in underdeveloped areas, by improving yields, opening new acreages, providing more irrigation and better seed, and training farmers in better methods of cultivation. The bill, signed by President Eisenhower, calls for a global program to combat disease through co-operation in international medical research. Senator Lister Hill, measure said it "would produce Alabama, who sponsored the measure said it "would produce dividends that are beyond price. . . dividends that can be expressed only in terms of the hundreds of thousands of lives that can will be saved in our country and throughout the world to the years ahead." Church women are in line. More than a year ago, the national Christian World Relations Committee of

Dear Abby...
Take Your Choice For Stopping Clock
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The tradition of stopping the clocks when someone died stems from an old Irish superstition. It was said that if the "devil" could hear a sound in that house, he would return to claim another spirit. They also turned all the mirrors to the wall so they wouldn't get dark and smoky. Then they went out to the beehive (if they had one) and whispered the news of the death to the bees, lest they leave the hive. Don't ask me why they did all this. I just know they did.
FROM IRELAND

DEAR ABBY: According to my grandmother, who is 92, only one clock was stopped in the house when a person died. The reason being that when the coroner came around to write up the death certificate there would be no question as to the exact time of the death. There was no superstition to it.
MONICA

DEAR ABBY: The custom of stopping the clocks when a person died originated in Scotland in the 17th century. In those days all clocks were the loud ticking type, and out of respect for the deceased, they kept complete silence.
M. Mc T.

DEAR ABBY: Stopping the clock at the moment of death is an old Jewish practice. It is symbolic that "time" has run out for that person and, therefore, in his honor, everything "stands still" until he is laid to his eternal rest.
HAD JEWISH NEIGHBORS

DEAR ABBY: Where do people get the idea that stopping the clock when someone dies is an "old superstition?" It is still done today and the reason is a good one. When friends make condolence calls, they don't have to ask, "What time did he pass away?" They can just look at the clock.
"DOC"

DEAR ABBY: When I was a little girl, I recall seeing my mother stop the big grandfather clock that stood in our hallway. I asked her why she was stopping the clock and she told me my brother had died, and there should be no chiming or bells in a house of mourning. She was Hungarian-born, so I imagine this was an old Hungarian custom.
OVER EIGHTY

DEAR ABBY: If you kind out why they stopped the clocks when a person died, please print it. And while you are investigating this superstition, also find out why they throw out all the water that happens to be in the vases at the time of death, and why they cover up all the mirrors and pictures.

Iowa, Middies Narrow Choices To Subdue Foes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Top-ranked Iowa is a 1½-point choice over Minnesota and third-ranked Navy is a one-point choice over Duke in two of the key games on next Saturday's college football program.

The Iowa-Minnesota game is the No. 1 game of the day inasmuch as it pits the first and second ranked teams in the nation against each other. Each carries a 6-0 slate into the game.

Navy, which barely squeezed past Notre Dame last Saturday, will be up against a tough Duke squad that has lost only one game.

Greenberg Makes Bid For Park

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Hank Greenberg, spokesman for the American League's proposed Los Angeles baseball club, goes before the Coliseum Commission today seeking to share dates in the huge stadium with the Los Angeles Dodgers during 1961.

Groundwork for the application was laid Tuesday by Greenberg when he conferred with commission president George Kinsey and Coliseum manager Bill Nicholas, who said there were 81 dates available without interfering with the Dodgers' National League schedule or other tenants of the stadium.

Greenberg then told a press conference that if the American League dates are granted the first big problem towards bringing a franchise here would be solved.

As representative of the American League's realignment committee, Greenberg also was charged with seeing that suitable financing was available for a proposed franchise and he said that was promised by C. Arnold Smith, San Diego, Calif., banker and owner of the Padres club in the Pacific Coast League.

Greenberg emphasized that no franchise had been granted yet and it would be up to him to satisfy the American League that he had arranged to meet the qualification for a club here before a franchise could be granted.

So far as his own connection with the proposed new franchise was concerned, Greenberg said he would first have to divest himself of his stock in the Chicago White Sox and then he hoped to become a member of the new organization.

'Cat' Williams Notches Win

HOUSTON (UPI) — Cleveland (Big Cat) Williams of Houston whipped a quick left hook to the jaw of unbeaten George (The King) Moore of Detroit, Mich., Tuesday night and knocked his heavyweight opponent out in 19 seconds of the fourth round.

Moore, who wears a crown and a red velvet robe into the ring before every fight, hit the canvas with a heavy thump and was out cold several minutes before regaining consciousness.

Minutes later Williams brought a laugh from the crowd when he strode over to Moore's side of the ring, jammed the crown on his own head, and held up his hand as the winner.

It was the first loss for "The King" in 12 professional fights and the first time he had been knocked out in his amateur and pro career.

The win was the 48th of 52 for Williams, and his 41st by knockout.

Williams weighed 209 and Moore tipped the scales at 210½.

Denies Kickback Rumors

DALLAS (UPI) — Don Rossi said Tuesday Lamar Hunt fired him as general manager of the Dallas Texans because he opposed giving away free tickets to American Football League games.

At the same time, Rossi denied what he called "rumors" that he was taking kickbacks from airlines and sporting goods companies.

Hunt, owner of the Texans, said neither of these had anything to do with his decision to oust Rossi. He declined to make public his reasons, but stressed that kickback rumors had nothing to do with it.

Hunt earlier had said that Rossi, 42, former chief of sports for the U.S. Air Force, had resigned the post he has held since the Texans were organized last year.

But at a news conference, to which Hunt was invited, Rossi read a prepared statement that he and Hunt "had a disagreement on policy" and that he "did not resign, I was fired."

Although Rossi didn't go into detail, he said "I want to clarify rumors regarding kickbacks from the airlines and sporting goods companies."

"This (rumor) I want to deny definitely, unequivocally, emphatically, and positively," he said. "I was no part of any such action."

Rossi said the big fuss between he and Hunt were over the free tickets.

He said the Texans were in an "enviable position to sell tickets" early in the season when the club came home from the West Coast with a 1-1 record after winning all of its exhibition games.

"Against my pleadings, he (Hunt) embarked on a give-away program," Rossi said. "We gave away tickets by the thousands. I wanted to protect the season ticket holders and pointed out... you can't pay salaries on free tickets and it would be impossible to sell season tickets for 1961."

"This give-away program has resulted in very limited ticket sales and the club is going to lose considerable money."

The statement bore out fairly common knowledge that the Texans had given away large quantities of tickets to make pro football fans out of people in the area in a fight for patronage with the rival Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.

Warriors Dump Royals As Wilt Hits For 33

By United Press International
Wilt Chamberlain's serving notice on National Basketball Association rivals that it'll take more than a sophomore jinx to stop him.

The Philadelphia Warriors' 7-foot, 2-inch scoring machine is picking up right where he left off last season when he rewrote the NBA record book with a 37.6-point per game average. He stuffed in 33 points — and snared 25 rebounds for good measure — Tuesday night to lead the Warriors to a 131-113 victory over the Cincinnati Royals.

That outburst gave Wilt 130 points, in four games for a 32.5 average and vaulted him into sixth place in the individual scoring race. Wilt has played at least two fewer games than all five players who have scored more points than he, and none matches his average.

A record crowd of 10,077 at Cincinnati Gardens failed to see an anticipated duel between Chamberlain and Oscar Robertson, the sensational rookie who averaged 26.4 points in his first seven games. Robertson, hobbled by a bruised ankle, connected on only three of 14 field goal attempts and wound up with only 14 points.

It was the fourth straight victory of the season for the Warriors and the third loss in eight games for the Royals.

Tom Gola scored 25 points and Paul Arizin tallied 24 for the Warriors while Phil Jordan led the Royals with 18 points. The Warriors sewed up the game with a 35-point third-period burst that sent them into the final quarter with a 101-85 lead.

New York plays Los Angeles and St. Louis plays Detroit in a doubleheader at Detroit tonight.

Ring Magazine Honors Rinaldi

NEW YORK (UPI) — Giulio Rinaldi of Italy, the first light heavyweight to beat champion Archie Moore in nine years, was named "fighter of the month" today by the Ring magazine and boosted from fifth to second among contenders.

Rinaldi, who outpointed 46-year-old Moore in a non-title fight at Rome last Saturday, is now rated just below unbeaten Chic Calderwood of Scotland.

Calderwood today replaced Harold Johnson of Philadelphia as top contender for the 175-pound crown. Johnson, who had been top man since September, 1959, was dropped to third because of inactivity — only one fight this year.

Erich Schoepner of Germany was pushed down a notch to fourth place because of his inactivity.

Rickey Wants Congress To Act

NEW YORK (UPI) — Commissioner Ford Frick promised future National and American League cooperation on expansion today while Branch Rickey called for Congress to supervise the job.

At the same time the disappointed official who tried to get Dallas-Fort Worth declared a major league territory declared they are no longer interested in the attempt and might get out of baseball completely.

These were the latest repercussions of the American League's bombshell announcement last week that it will expand into a 10-team circuit with new franchises in Washington, D.C., and Los Angeles and with the Senators shifted to Minneapolis-St. Paul effective in 1961.

"I don't want the right hand not to know what the left hand is doing because we get into trouble that way," said Frick, who announced he had obtained an agreement from league presidents Warren Giles and Joe Cronin to take future expansion moves jointly. "When one group goes off half-cocked on expansion, there is fighting and recrimination. You ruin the city you're going into and you hurt expansion."

"I am interested in one thing — expansion. I don't care who goes where."

Cox's 'Army' Preps For Arkansas Raid

By BRYCE MILLER
United Press International
Billy Cox is well on his way to rewriting record books at Rice and he's one man the Arkansas Razorbacks are planning to stop in the Southwest Conference showdown Saturday at Little Rock.

The Owl quarterback, playing his first year of varsity ball, is already throwing at a more accurate clip than did the great Tobin Rote in 1949 and the early 50's when he had All-America flanker James "Froggie" Williams on the other end.

Rote set most of the passing records at Rice in 1949 when he completed 66 of 141 for 468 percentage. Nisbet bettered the percentage record with 36 of 62 for 581 in 1954. Cox is already throwing better than that. So far he has 34 of 57 for 596, and there's four games left.

The last time Rice played Arkansas in Little Rock, incidentally, was in 1954 when the Porkers whipped a fine Owl club led by Dicky Moegle 27-15. It was one of three losses for Rice that year, and the Porkers went on to win the conference.

It could happen again. Arkansas is practically conceded no worse than a share of the crown if it can upset the Owls, favorites by two and one-half points in the line released today.

Broyles is gearing his defenses to stop this sophomore chunker, but so far he says the Porkers are too bruised and battered to have a decent practice.

"We can't do much about Rice until we heal a little," he said after Tuesday's short workout. Fullback Joe Paul Alberty worked out in sweat clothes for the first time in three weeks, but still isn't expected to see action.

Trainer Bill Ferrell said the rest of the injured probably will be able to see action. They include fullback Curtis Cox, ends Steve Butler and Les Letsinger, center Billy Gramlich, guard Charley Moore and tackle John Childress.

Jess Neely sent Rice through a hard scrimmage Tuesday. It was the longest session of the season. He said it was a "spur-of-the-moment" decision on his part, but felt the team needed a lot of work particularly on downfield blocking.

Coach John Bridgers promoted end Bobby Lane to the first string on the right side Tuesday and gave the Bruins' ground game a thorough review.

About half of the practice was spent on setting defenses for Texas' running attack.

The Texas Aggies kept contact work at a minimum, working against Southern Methodist plays in a dummy scrimmage. Coach Jim Myers gave the Cadets a particular workout on passing and pass defense. Ends Russell Hill and Bobby Huntington and halfbacks Jack Estes and Babe Craig missed the drills, but all but

Boosters Bring Back Halloween With Movie

By ARTHUR MAYHEW
Daily News Sports Editor
Halloween made a belated appearance at the Harvester Quarterback Club last night with movies of the Pampa-Palo Duro game rivaling any horror epic and predictions for Friday's game with Lubbock being about as bright as the inside of a witch's cauldron.

Scout Deck Woldt wasted little time in dispelling any false hopes that Lubbock would be an easy team.

"Lubbock has the best backs, overall, in the district," Woldt said. "They have two good interchangeable units and both are about the size of Palo Duro backs and all have good speed."

"The biggest man on the team is the fullback, Gary Knowles, who weighs 195 and does his damage between the tackles," he said. To prove the speedy aspect of the big fullback, Coach Norm Phillips added that in the Lubbock-Borger game, Knowles caught Glenn Woody, Borger's fastest man, from behind to stop a potential TD run.

However, Woldt said, Halfback

Max Gatlin is the Westerners' chief running threat and likes to perform his duties around end.

"If the defense bottles up Gatlin or Knowles, Lubbock will pass, although it is not as good a passing team as Monterey," Woldt pointed out.

Defensively, Woldt feels that, based on the scouting reports, Lubbock is not as strong as Palo Duro.

"Lubbock won't stunt like Palo Duro did and they'll give you short yardage passes, but they get tough in their end of the field. Against Borger (Borger won, 14-0), Lubbock twice held the Bulldogs off from a touchdown within Lubbock's 12-yard-line," Woldt added.

Woldt said that Jerry Balch is the key to Lubbock's defense. "In one game, he made about 25 unassisted tackles. He does a fine job moving laterally to stop wide plays and also excels at pass defense."

"Lubbock can score on you just about any way, including punt returns. They have all the potential in the world and one thing's for sure: they're not going to get worse," Woldt concluded.

On that cheery note, the boosters turned their attention to game films of the Palo Duro game.

Pampa was hitting the Dons as hard as possible the first quarter and Charlie Giese, Dickie Willis and Duke Garra stopped up the middle so well that Palo Duro was forced to go outside where a weakness was discovered and the rout was on.

Once Palo Duro spread out Pampa's defense with the wide plays, Don quarterbacks began mixing up the plays, especially faking a wide pitchout and then handing off to the fullback and halfbacks on draw plays.

Pampa acquitted itself in the second half and viewers could only wonder how the score would have been if the Harvesters had played four good quarters instead of two.

Michelson Cops Prize

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — With any kind of a break, his team could have one of the best records in the country but they've had two ties and two losses to tough teams by a single point each.

He was up against the defending national champions—Syracuse University—with the longest winning streak in the nation, 16 games. Syracuse hadn't tested defeat in 22 straight games dating back to the middle of the 1956 season.

But coach Johnny Michelson's Pitt Panthers smashed both winning streaks by beating Syracuse, 10-0, last Saturday, and today Michelson was honored for this triumph by being named college football's "coach of the week" by United Press International.

Pitt struck for both its scores in the big victory after getting the ball on breaks. In the first quarter, Pitt intercepted a Syracuse pass and drove 15 yards for a touchdown with Jim Traficant going the last 14. In the third period, the Panthers recovered a Syracuse fumble to set the stage for a 38-yard field goal by Fred Cox.

Frick Promises Expansion Aid

Frick made his statements after a five-hour meeting with Giles and Cronin, which he said he called four or five days ago. He also outlined three rules concerning franchisees:

1. No new club shall be entitled to any major league privileges until it qualifies for membership in the American or National League and is so certified by the commissioner.
2. Immediately upon acceptance for membership, new clubs will be entitled to sign free agents and to exchange or purchase contracts under the existing rules of baseball. In addition, they will be given preferential treatment within their league on all waiver claims.
3. Following completion of the major league draft, each new member may select two players from minor league clubs for the regular selection price of $25,000 for each contract.

"The American League did not choose a single one of the Continental League group," said Rickey. "And they did not expand except to move the Washington club into one city that had not previously been in either major league. This is not expansion. This is simply extension. It is difficult to understand how reputable gentlemen will explain this breach of good faith."

J.W. Bateson of Dallas and Amon Carter Jr. of Fort Worth said they were "so disappointed over recent events that left our area out of National and American League expansion, we have decided no good purpose will be served by continuing our efforts."

Dallas-Fort Worth Gives Up Fight For Major Club

FORT WORTH (UPI) — The men behind the move to bring big league baseball to the Dallas-Fort Worth area have given up the fight, and there were doubts today whether there would even be a Triple-A club around next year.

Amon Carter Jr. of Fort Worth and J. W. Bateson of Dallas, owners of the Dallas-Fort Worth Rangers of the American Association, said Tuesday they are so disappointed over being left out of expansion plans by the National and American Leagues they may get out of the baseball business completely.

"We have decided no good purpose will be served by continuing our efforts," they said in a joint statement.

"We still believe this is the finest big league territory outside of the major leagues as they are constituted during the 1960 season, and will give our enthusiastic blessings and support to anyone who comes in to reap its potential but we believe the best interest of the most people will be served by withdrawing from the picture."

They said they would have accepted any one of the four franchises recently created, but thought while two team expansion in both leagues was practical, four team expansion in either league was unsound.

"So, we believe it proper at this time to clarify our position," they said.

They said they were not interested in speculative reports of further expansion in one or both of the leagues.

Bateson and Carter pointed out an option on a stadium site expires at midnight tonight, and they said they will not ask for an extension.

In fiction, coincidences are not allowed. But in the story of the search for the origin of life, coincidence has played a major role.

In 1858, Charles Darwin received a manuscript from a naturalist working in Malaya, one Alfred Russel Wallace. It duplicated Darwin's findings almost point by point.

Darwin wanted to publish Wallace's paper and disclaim all credit for himself. It was the only honorable way. His friends, the botanist Joseph Hooker and the geologist Charles Lyell, would not hear of it. They urged Darwin to write a brief summary to be jointly presented with Wallace's before the Linnean Society of London.

It was not until the next year, however, when

Darwin at last brought out his Origin of Species, that the storm broke. For a scientific work, it caused an amazing sensation. The first edition was sold out on the day of publication. "Evolution" was on everyone's lips, although the idea had been discussed long before Darwin. And, although Darwin had referred to man in only one sentence in his book, people drew their own conclusions. "Monkeys and men" became synonymous with evolution.

The leading thinkers rapidly took sides. Staunchest defender of the new faith was the biologist Thomas Henry Huxley. It was in many ways a faith, for much in Darwin's theory (as with any new theory) was as yet unsupported by direct observations.

A major skirmish was the meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science in 1860. Huxley was asked whether it was through his grandfather or his grandmother he traced his descent from a monkey. Admiral Robert Fitzroy, former captain of the Beagle, brandished a Bible at Huxley and no doubt rued the day he had allowed the young Charles Darwin to set foot on his ship.

There was one big hole in his theory that Darwin was never able to fill. That was how organisms could change. What was the mechanism that allowed offspring to differ from their parents? Darwin never knew that the answer had already been found in a little monastery garden in Austria.

Washington Window

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A responsible and to a degree an official rundown on the overall economic situation now prevailing in Fidel Castro's Cuba — makes these points:

Castro's nationalization of Cuban industry has created several difficult problems for the Cuban economy, such as:

1. The government-controlled administration of nationalized industries has imposed a program of leveling of salaries in which the skilled employes are reduced to or near the level of the unskilled. The ensuing displeasure of the skilled technicians has tended to weaken their support of Castro and to cause them to escape Cuba if they are able to do so.
2. Most of Cuba's industry is being equipped with U.S. machines and is operated with U.S. manufacturing techniques. Therefore, the U.S. embargo against replacements and spare parts to Cuba is likely to apply a heavy brake to the Cuban economy.

Sugar is the basis of Cuba's agricultural economy. It has cost Cuba in the past about four cents to produce a pound of sugar. The current world market price is approximately 3.25 cents a pound. Cuba received in its barter deal with Russia only 2.90 cents a pound. Until a policy change this year, the United States bought a great quantity of Cuban sugar at a subsidized price ranging from two to three cents above the world market price.

Cuba now is producing sugar at a loss, unless the difference between production costs and prices is made up by two advantages of the nationalization program:

First, the nationalized sugar operations need not pay taxes and, second, they need not pay interest on any debts incurred by private management.

KEEP THE VOICE OF TEXAS STRONG

Texas' dominant position in the Democratic Party has been a major factor in the amazing growth and prosperity of our State during the past 50 years.

Count our blessings that have come because TEXANS were in the RIGHT party at the RIGHT time.

Count the jobs... educational opportunities... military installations... defense projects... water and soil projects... rural electricity and telephone systems. Count our ultimate potentials for development.

Now the Democratic Party has selected a TEXAN for one of the two top offices our Nation has to offer. As Vice President, Lyndon B. Johnson will be in a position to render the greatest service any Texan has ever been able to give his State, his Party, his Nation.

Our Nation needs the dynamic leadership of John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson. And Texas needs to be counted in the Democratic column November 8 to keep its voice STRONG in the party that has honored its sons and nurtured its growth. Texas has no such stake in any other party or any other candidate.

Texas' future — and America's — lies in your response November 8.
