

Dear Abby...

If You're Over 16
Just Be Subtle, Dearie!

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If a girl has had quite a lot of experience with kissing and a fellow goes to kiss her, is she better off pretending she doesn't know what it's all about? Or should she just use what she knows and let him think the worst? Please answer before Saturday night.

"LITTLE ACTRESS"

DEAR "ACTRESS": Do what comes naturally — but don't put on your best performance. (What will you do for an encore?)

DEAR ABBY: On the first of September my husband's brother's son came to stay with us. He is attending college near by. His parents said they would pay us for his keep. So far all they sent was ten dollars for the first month and five dollars for the second.

Tell me, do you think this is enough for the boy's room, board and laundry? I've asked my husband to write to his brother but he doesn't want to appear money-hungry. Would it look bad for me to write?

The boy is 18 and, bless his heart, he eats like a lumberjack. By the way, they have more money than we have.

UNDERPAID

DEAR UNDERPAID: You should have had a clear-cut financial arrangement with the boy's parents beforehand. Fifteen dollars for two months hardly covers the milk bill for an 18-year-old boy. If you don't write, you're wrong.

DEAR ABBY: My child made a low grade on a test at school and the teacher wrote across his paper — "THIS IS A DISGRACE!" Abby, I want to ask you is it a disgrace to get a low grade? Do you suppose the teacher knows the meaning of the word "DISGRACE"?

My child is deeply hurt. To the extent of not wanting to continue school, I am heart sick. I've talked with some people about her and they said I should report her to the principal. But I'm afraid he will call the teacher on the carpet and she will be harder on my child.

How should we handle this problem?

HURT PARENTS

DEAR HURT: See the teacher. Teachers are only human, and perhaps she hurriedly wrote those words not realizing how deeply hurt the child would be. She might appreciate your going directly to her instead of "reporting" her to the principal, and would be more thoughtful in the future.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to the 14-year-old "Cinderella" who complained about having to be in by midnight: We are a group of G.I.'s between the ages of 18 and 35, and we are required to be in bed for bed check by 12:15 p.m. If we are not there, we are subject to court martial. So tell Cinderella to put that in her glass slipper and dance on it.

Presbyterian Circles Bring Toys For Christmas Giving To Children's Home

Members attending circles of the Presbyterian Church Wednesday brought toys wrapped for the season to be sent to the Embudo Children's Hospital in New Mexico.

Mrs. A. D. Hills was hostess for CIRCLE ONE with seven members in attendance. Study from the "Hymnbook of the Ages" was continued by Mrs. Paul Wiley. Mrs. Will Graham led discussion of "Conversations of Ecumenical Mission" pertaining to the chapter on "Going and Growing Together." The December meeting will be a luncheon in the home of Mrs. Warren J. Beale, 2131 N. Faulkner.

CIRCLE TWO met in the home of Mrs. R. E. Thompson with twelve members answering roll call. Mrs. Glen Ritchhart guided a study of the Psalter, which emphasized the dominant note of praise and thanksgiving in all Psalms. Mrs. Ritchhart defined the word "Psalter" as meaning

Miss Martin Feted On 13th Birthday

LEFORS (Spl) — Miss Sue Martin celebrated her thirteenth birthday with a party given by her mother, Mrs. J. B. Martin, and sister, Mrs. Gene Robertson of Panhandle on Saturday afternoon. Charades were played by the group, followed by serving refreshments of birthday cake and ice cream.

Guests were Glenna Gee, Neoma Collins, Shiela Collins, Ricky Robertson, Larry Palmiter, Wanda Rippetoe, Linda Shew, Sharron Harrington, Darlene Martin and Ruth Martin.

Wisconsin Baby Gouda cheese with its bright red paraffin coating will add a festive note to any holiday snack or cold cut tray. Surround the party — bright cheese with assorted crackers, cold cuts, relishes and the like. Have plenty of Wisconsin Gouda on hand for bed check by 12:15 p.m. If we praises. The Ecumenical Mission lesson told the story of Christians from different nations serving together in Thailand. Mrs. Warren Hasse gave this study. Mrs. Stanley Brandt reported about the first-aid kit that the circle finished had been turned into the United Church Women of Pampa. She also gave the Yearbook of Prayer dedication. Plans were made for a luncheon at the next circle meeting to be held in Mrs. Bruce Pratt's home at 905 N. Gray.

Hostess for CIRCLE THREE, Mrs. Wm. Chambliss, welcomed nine members and two guests, Mrs. Ralph Ludwick and Mrs. Don Loshier. Presiding over the business meeting was Mrs. Carl Hills, who followed with the Bible study. Leader for the Ecumenical Mission study was Mrs. R. E. Dobbin.

A luncheon in the home of Mrs. S. P. Caldwell, 1812 Fir will be the format for the December meeting. Twelve members attended CIRCLE FOUR meeting, with Mrs. H. S. Alexander, Mrs. John Nutting and Mrs. Lillian Hopperstad were guests. Mrs. J. C. Richey presented the Bible lesson on the place of thanksgiving in religion as exemplified in the verse "Enter into his gates with thanksgiving and into His courts with praise." Mrs. H. C. Federer guided the members in an understanding of the meaning of Ecumenical Mission as it is lived in Thailand.

The afternoon CIRCLE FIVE met with Mrs. E. L. Biggerstaff with nine members in attendance and the hostess's mother, Mrs. N. H. Krohne, as guest. The Yearbook of Prayer was read by Mrs. W. B. Colwell followed by her discussion of the thanksgiving Psalms. Mrs. George Friauf taught the lesson on Ecumenical Missions showing the excellent example of Thailand as an ecumenical mission coming to life. Circle Four and Circle Five will meet December 14, the scheduled circle day, in the home of Mrs. W. L. Heskey, 1120 N. Somerville.

Skellytown Scouts Have Troop Meets

SKELLYTOWN (Spl) — Brownie Scout Troop No. 53 visited recently in the home of Mrs. Mae Allan, an elderly lady, who is known locally for her china painting and for her ability to write and recite poetry. The girls took gifts of fruit juices and each one introduced herself and presented a flower which was later used to make a bouquet. Group singing was enjoyed and Mrs. Allan shared the Brownies refreshments.

Attending were Charlotte Allen, Jackie Gamble, Donna Huckins, Brenda Lemons, Kathy Luther, Vicki Ogle, La Donna Russell, Phyllis Robertson, Lynda Stephenson, Lynne Hand, Linda Nelson, Billie Woodward and leader Mrs. G. E. Huckins.

Brownie troop 52 held an Investiture ceremony recently in the Brownie Promise in unison, and with the scout hand clasp and salute they received their Brownie pins. Several Brownie songs were sung.

Mothers attending were Mmes. Leroy Allan, J. H. Wedge, D. Manning, George Beckloff, K. E. Tietz, Margie Sangster and assistant leader, Mrs. Roy Segar.

Gouda chicken shortcake... quick, easy and delicious. Serve for a quick lunch or dinner or late evening supper. Top piping hot biscuits, the refrigerated kind, with hot creamed chicken and place a thin wedge of Wisconsin Gouda on each serving and allow to soften.

The honoree and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Wright, were presented with corsages fashioned from kitchen gadgets. Miniature gadgets were used as favors. Cake and punch were served from a table appointed with an arrangement of yellow and bronze mums with a bridal tree on a white lace cloth over yellow. Mmes. Bybee and Attaberry presided at the cake and punch service.

Approximately 20 guests attended or sent gifts. Birds are an offshoot of reptile stock that was laying eggs millions of years before the first bird flew.

Lord's Prayer Forms Topic For WSCS Meet

Circles of the First Methodist Church met on Wednesday morning for mission book study.

CIRCLE ONE met in the home of Mr. Joe Donaldson with Mrs. Glenn Radcliff, chairman, presiding. Gifts were brought by members for Joyce Hill, a missionary who fled Cuba. Mrs. Don Cain presented the program based on "The Lord's Prayer" assisted by Mrs. Malcolm Douglass. "We must think of the meaning of the Lord's Prayer and think of each phrase," Mrs. Cain said, and followed her remark with definitions of the meaning of the Prayer. Mrs. Donaldson read scripture from Matthew followed by the singing of two hymns prayer was offered by Mrs. Frank Carter Jr. and Mrs. Ed Juenger sang "The Lord's Prayer." The worship center was prepared with books and candles, by Mrs. L. M. Hicks, who dismissed the group with prayer. Attending were Mmes. W. A. Wagner, D. M. Lawrence, Frank Stallings, Don Lane, Elmer Radcliff, H. H. Butler, Victor Keyes, Luther Pearson, Gene Hall, Ray Wells, Charles Brauchle and Carl Williams.

The next meeting will be a salad luncheon on Dec. 7 at 10 a.m., in the home of Mrs. Gene Hall, 2511 Mary Ellen.

Wife Of President-Elect Reluctant Fashion Leader

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy says she has no desire to be a fashion leader. But the betting in this corner is that the 31-year-old beauty will top or place high on that annual best-dressed list when it comes out in 1961.

No matter how reluctant the wife of the president-elect is to become a symbol of chic, the role inevitably is hers. For two reasons — the limelight of the White House, and her natural flair for wearing clothes.

Already Mrs. Kennedy's bouffant hairdo and wardrobe have created quite a lot of talk. There was the "great debate" over who spent more on clothes, Mrs. Kennedy or Mrs. Richard M. Nixon. And Mrs. Kennedy's bouffant locks drew sharp criticism during the campaign from some letter writers who described the coiffure as a "floor mop."

But even so, the effect of her coiffure already is there; it seems that almost every brunette fashion model now showing spring clothes in New York's garment district has a similar "do."

No hairdresser, at this writing anyway, has come out with the "Kennedy bob," but just give the boys time. Look what happened when Bess Truman suddenly converted to a poodle cut. Thousands of other matrons went out and had their locks shorn and short-curved.

Or, look at Mamie's bangs. When Mrs. Eisenhower first moved into the White House, more women demanded bangs across their foreheads than ever copied the Veronica Lake bob.

Kennedy 12th 'Minority' President

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. John F. Kennedy will be the 12th "minority" president in U.S. history because he received less than half of the votes in the Nov. 8 election. An unofficial, but almost complete tabulation showed today that Kennedy fell short by more than 100,000 votes of getting a majority of the ballots cast for president.

The UPI tabulation showed:
Kennedy 34,054,059
Nixon 33,857,091
Others 503,199
Total 68,414,349

Kennedy's numerical margin of 196,968 was the smallest since 1888. But when computed as a percentage of the two-party vote, the margin was lower than any recorded in a presidential election. Kennedy had 50.145 per cent and Nixon 49.855 per cent — a difference of only 0.29 per cent.

Oil Import Program Changes Are Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Changes in an oil imports program being considered by the Department of the Interior were recommended Monday by an organization representing 6,500 Texas oilmen. The Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association joined with the Independent Petroleum Association of America in presenting its case at a public hearing.

The oil imports program would cut 60,000 barrels a day from foreign supply to alleviate depressed conditions among domestic producers. J. F. West, president of TIPRO, said the proposed cut was not enough. He said that under present regulations, imports tend to feed on themselves.

Bears Take Aim On Rice Record

By BRYCE MILLER
United Press International

Those burly Baylor Bears are in position to be a double-barreled spoiler in the Southwest Conference wrapup this weekend, and the way the Bruins are feeling today it wouldn't be too surprising.

And it just goes to show that, even in the city of the size of Waco, there's still a lot of country left when you want to spread the word. It got around so fast you'd thought the whole town was on a party line.

Even before it was officially announced Monday that Coach John Bridgers had accepted for Baylor a bid to meet Florida in the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, they were whooping it up in the streets.

Bridgers put in a long distance telephone call. And the operator broke in. She congratulated him. Bridgers gaped.

"That's supposed to be a secret for another hour or so," he said. "How did you find out?"

"Oh, my girl friend just told me," the operator said. "She's from the same home town as the girl friend of one of the players. Isn't it wonderful?"

With the bowl bid in the bag, Bridgers said he hoped it would "inspire" the team to beat Rice this weekend. Professional odds-makers rate the Bears a slim one point underdog.

Coach Jess Neely worked the Owls in sweat clothes, then also went indoors and showed movies of last week's game—against Texas Christian. He scheduled a heavy session today.

Texas and Texas A&M, which wind up on Thanksgiving Day in a traditional clash at Austin, had their troubles. Rain forced the Cadets inside where Coach Jim Myers worked as best he could on offense and defense.

At Austin, Coach Darrell Royal announced that Bobby Oliver, the Longhorns' safety man, will also be sidelined because X rays revealed he has broken his hand.

Lee Opens Basketball Play Against Lefors

Robert E. Lee's ninth grade Rebels, with the help of Lefors High School's 'B' team, open their 1960-61 basketball season at 4 p.m. today in the Lee Gym.

Coach Joe Perryman, who guided the Lee seventh graders to an unbeaten first season, will be the ninth grade basketball mentor and will start a taller-than-average aggregation against Lefors.

Working out of a tandem post offense, Perryman will start Gary Sikes, 6-1, at high post, Mike Bridges, 6-1, low post, Larry Gregory, 5-10, and Gene Storr, 5-10, at forwards or wings and 5-9 Ricky Stewart at guard.

Sikes still has a small cast on his right arm, which he broke playing touch football near the end of the grid season and should he not start. John Triplehorn, 6-0, will open in Sike's place.

Today's game is the first conference action of the season, also. Other teams are Pampa, Borger, Austin, Borger Houston, Perryton and Phillips.

Wilt Back In Lead

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors regained his old slot at the top of the National Basketball Association scoring race today despite a record-breaking 71-point spree by Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles.

Chamberlain climbed past Baylor in the scoring column with a total of 549 points to 513 for the former Seattle University All-American. But Baylor had a slight edge average-wise, 36.64 to 36.60, making this the highest scoring rate in the 15-year history of the NBA.

The Chamberlain story was the same in the rebound department. The Stilt leading with 417 retrievers to 298 for runner-up Baylor.

Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals clung to his slim lead in assists with an 8.4 average. Guy Rodgers of Philadelphia remained in second place at 8.1.

McLean Places Five

Lefors Bucs Put Six On All-District Team

Lefors' Pirates, who advanced to bi-district before losing to powerful Stinet, placed six men on the 2-A All-District team released today.

Memphis, co-champ with Lefors, and McLean were second in number of positions won with five each, Canadian had three and Clarendon placed two.

For Lefors, James Blair made all-district at end, both offense and defense; Tackle Kenneth Fields won honors both ways and Halfback Scott Dunnam made the offensive dream eleven.

Lefors' Jimmy Fields was named as the all-district selection at middle guard.

McLean's winners were Ken Wingham at quarterback; Jim Watson at halfback on offense and Clyde Windom at linebacker. Don Woods at cornerback and Watson at defensive halfback.

The complete teams: OFFENSE: Ends: James Blair, Lefors and Phillip Abel, Clarendon; Tackles: Kenneth Fields, Lefors; and Earnest Wilson, Memphis; Center: Ronnie Tyra, Clarendon; Quarterbacks: Bunky Adcock, Memphis, and Ken Willham, McLean; Halfbacks: Scott Dunnam, Lefors, and Jim Watson, McLean; Fullback: Sparky Eckles, Canadian.

DEFENSE: Middleguard: Jimmy Fields, Lefors; Tackles: Kenneth Fields, Lefors, and Earnest Wilson, Memphis; Ends: Dee Miller, Memphis, and James Blair, Lefors; Linebackers: Sparky Eckles, Canadian, and Clyde Windom, McLean; Cornerbacks: Lacy Montgomery, Memphis, and Don Woods, McLean; Halfbacks: Jim Watson, McLean and Terry Brown, Canadian.

HONORABLE MENTION: Halfbacks: Eddie Jones, Memphis, Neil Carter, Lefors, and Robert Line, Lefors; Fullbacks: Robert Gardner, Memphis, Danny Wilemon, Lefors, George Patton, McLean; Tackles: Tommy Lemons, Canadian, Glen Hostutler, Canadian, Jerry Gray, Clarendon; End: Tommy Waters, Canadian; Guards: Doug Burrell, Lefors and Leon Gibbs, Clarendon; and Middleguard, Sam Goodnight, Memphis.

Houston Back Regains Hot AFL Rush Lead

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Dave Smith of Houston regained his American Football League rushing leadership from Dallas' Abner Haynes over the weekend, but neither of the runners ripped any enemy lines apart.

Smith netted only 32 yards in a dozen tries against Denver, while Haynes gained only 17 in nine against Boston to push Smith's season total to 555 yards to Haynes' 540 yards.

Houston's Billy Cannon outgained them both with 54 yards against the Broncos and pulled within 61 yards of his pace-setting teammate with a 494-yard total.

The rushing performances took a back seat to the passers over the weekend as Denver's Frank Tripucka displaced Jack Kemp of Los Angeles and George Blanda of Houston in the No. 1 spot and Boston's Ed (Butch) Songin soared all the way from No. 6 into a tie with Blanda for second place.

Tripucka had 45 1/2 AFL efficiency points to 44 for Songin and Blanda and 42 for Kemp; Songin hit a fat 25 out of 33 passes for 250 yards in a Boston slaughter of Dallas last week to boost himself into contention.

Blanda, who didn't play an offensive down because of a knee injury, got into the Denver victory long enough to kick two extra points and boost his season scoring output to 89 points, 20 ahead of Denver's Gene Mingo.

Two other leadership changes were made over the weekend with Denver's Leon Taylor replacing Don Maynard of New York as top pass receiver with 59 catches to 57 for the idle Maynard; and New York's idle Leon Burton taking over the kickoff return lead from the Ken Hall of Houston with a 33.7-yard average to 33.2 for Hall, 45-42 at halftime.

Jockey 'Hall' Picks Loftus

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—Johnny Loftus, the first jockey to win the Triple Crown but the only one to lose with Man O'War, today was elected to the National Jockeys Hall of Fame at Pimlico.

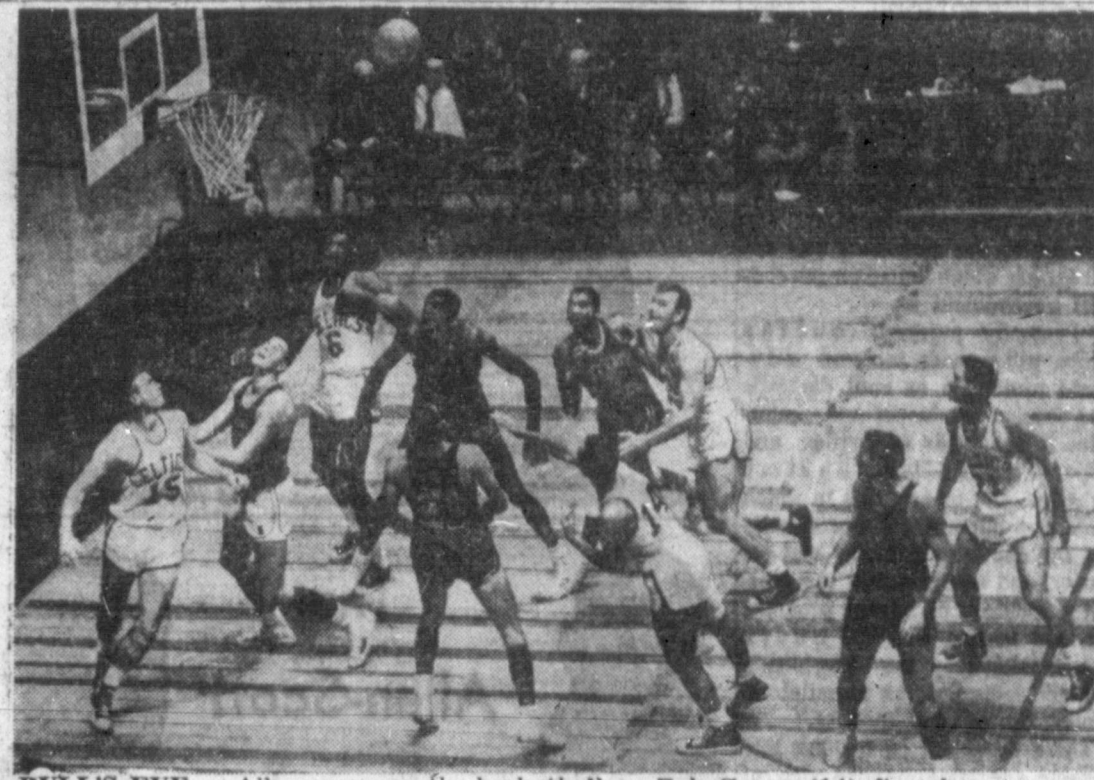

Sports writers and broadcasters throughout the nation gave 194 first place votes to Loftus, who won the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes aboard Sir Barton in 1919 after Earl Sande turned down the mount.

Loftus was one of three jockeys to ride Man O'War. He rode the wonder horse in all his races as a 2-year-old and it was his misfortune to be aboard the great chestnut the day he was beaten by Upset in the Sanford Stakes.

Kangaroos Win

AUSTIN (UPI)—Stephen F. Austin College romped from behind in the second half Monday night to nip St. Edwards 90-55 in the opening basketball game of the season for both clubs. The Kangaroos trailed St. Edwards 45-42 at halftime.

Minnesota's Gophers Bounce Back Into Major Football Lead

BULL'S EYE—All eyes are on the basketball as Bob Cousy (14) fires home a one-hander against Detroit in New York's Madison Square Garden. The other Celtics, in white, are Tom Heinsohn (15), Bill Russell (6), Jim Luskoff (across from Cousy) and Bill Sharman (21). Pistons are, from left, Bally Howell, Gene Shue (21), Walter Dukes (across from Shue), Shellie McMillon (6) and Chuck Noble (14).

Baseball's Top Brass Convenes On Thorny Los Angeles Problem

NEW YORK (UPI)—Baseball's top brass meets today to consider a "package" that may enable the American League to expand to Los Angeles in 1961.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, league presidents Joe Cronin and Warren Giles and league expansion chairman Del Webb and Walter O'Malley are scheduled to confer this morning and then turn over their recommendation to a vote of the owners.

Webb, co-owner of the Yankees and an early supporter of expansion, issued a hopeful statement Monday after a conference with O'Malley in Los Angeles. At the same time O'Malley made it clear that the Dodgers oppose sharing their Coliseum resources with an American League club next season and also attached several provisos to expansion whenever it might occur.

"It is my hope that the two leagues will be able to present a package" to the commissioner which will be satisfactory to all parties and which will be for the overall good of the game of baseball," said Webb after the meeting.

Baylor Accepts Gator Invitation

Penn State accepted a bid to Philadelphia's Liberty Bowl and Baylor will meet Florida in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., as a result of the latest developments in the annual rush for holiday gold and glory.

Penn State players voted unanimously to play in the Dec. 17 Liberty Bowl, and university president Eric A. Walker and the board of trustees made it official Monday night. The Nittany Lions who have a 6-3 record this year, beat Alabama, 7-0, in the first Liberty Bowl game last year.

Baylor announced Monday it had accepted a bid to go to the Gator Bowl and coach John Bridgers said he was "tickled for the boys." The Bears (7-2) have a game left with Rice next Saturday, Florida, also 7-2, has a game with Miami.

Syracuse's refusal to accept a bid this year apparently has doomed the Gotham Bowl, scheduled for New York Dec. 10, although an unexpected acceptance by Army or Navy could change matters. Army, however, has never accepted a bowl bid and Navy is more interested in the possibility the Middies will be invited to play Washington in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. Navy beat Washington, 15-14 this season.

U. S. Netters Go For Title

BRISBANE, Australia (UPI)—The United States Davis Cup team, superior in its first two singles matches against the Philippines, may team Chuck McKinley of St. Louis and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., in doubles play today in an effort to clinch this inter-zone tennis series.

Veteran Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, and Earl Butch Buchholz of St. Louis completely dominated the first day's matches.

MacKay, despite the slippery footing caused by rain, defeated Dugo in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1, 6-0.

Bucholz was extended to four sets before beating Jose, 5-7, 6-1, 6-0, 6-2.

Jumbled Ratings Find Porkers In Sixth Slot

NEW YORK (UPI)—Minnesota's Golden Gophers after one week's absence, bounced back to the No. 1 berth in the national football ratings by the United Press International Board of Coaches today but only by a whisker over Iowa.

Iowa actually nailed down more first-place votes than any other team in this week's balloting by the 35 famous coaches who comprise the board, getting the nod from 13 of them while Minnesota and third-place Mississippi had 11 each.

However, the Gophers, who dropped to fourth place last week after being upset by Purdue, outscored both Iowa and Mississippi in votes for second through 10th place and thus emerged with 314 points against 311 for Iowa and 287 for Mississippi.

A three-cornered fight thus was in prospect for the national champion in the final 1960 ratings to be announced next week, with just a chance that Rose Bowl-bound Washington could make it a four-way scrap.

Minnesota, Iowa and Washington have finished their regular seasons. Unbeaten Mississippi, however, still has a final game against rival Mississippi State this Saturday.

Minnesota's vote triumph today was nothing like the 247 points rung up by the Gophers two weeks ago, which established an all-time record for the UPI ratings in their 12-year history. This week the nod went to Minnesota, chiefly on the basis of 16 second-place votes, against 12 for Iowa and only four for Mississippi.

These three teams were the only ones to receive first-place votes, Iowa and Minnesota were mentioned on all 35 ballots, Mississippi on 33.

Missouri, which had taken over the national lead last week, dropped all the way to fifth place as a result of its 23-7 loss to Kansas. Another major casualty.

Palmer Is Big Winner

NEW YORK (UPI)—Arnold Palmer is professional golf's big winner and big money-maker as 1960 nears its end, according to statistics released today by the Professional Golfer's Association.

The 30-year-old Palmer has won seven of the 24 tournaments in which he has competed and has finished in the first five in 18 others to earn himself approximately $77,200. Ken Venturi is second in earnings, having picked $46,400 for winning two of 26 tournaments and finishing in the first five on 14 occasions.

Dow Finsterwald is third on the list with $41,200.

Labor Losses

TOP union leaders around the country are happy about the obvious importance of the co-called labor vote in the election to the presidency of Sen. John F. Kennedy, but many of them were disappointed that more labor-backed candidates for Congress did not share in Kennedy's success.

Union lobbyists — the men responsible for steering labor's legislative programs through Congress — also are worried that the influence they enjoyed in the 85th (1957-58) and 86th (1959-60) Congresses may have been weakened by the Nov. 8 elections. They go into the 87th Congress facing a possible deficit in the ratio of "pro-Labor" and "anti-Labor" congressmen for the first time in several years.

The largest and most influential body of unionists, the AFL-CIO, relies on its Committee on Political Education (COPE) for determining labor's "strength" in Congress. Shortly after the conclusion of the 86th Congress in September, COPE put out an analysis of key House and Senate votes for the purpose of showing union members which congressmen were "friendly" to labor.

On the 10 House votes selected by COPE, the study showed that 216 Representatives voted "right" at least half the time they answered roll calls. It also showed that 215 Representatives voted "wrong" when they answered roll calls on the COPE-selected issues.

Of the 216 "right" Representatives, 185 were reelected to the 87th Congress; of the 215 "wrong" ones, 185 also were returned to office.

ANOTHER important function of COPE is to determine which of the non-incumbents running for House seats are deserving of Labor support.

Useful Adversity

We do not favor adversity as an end in itself. Yet it is true that human beings have managed to deal with adversity far better than they have managed to deal with success.

Looting Becomes Policy

Whenever we get large amounts of money in the hands of people who have not produced that money and who have no conception of what it takes to make a profit, corruption seems inevitable. Whenever we have large governments, which base their power upon mammoth abilities to tax almost without limit, one can be certain that corruption is to be found almost everywhere. One only has to know where to look.

While some have bemoaned the fact that worthless sons occasionally inherit considerable sums from their fathers, and thus call for some kind of law to prevent such happenings, this is not the kind of action which breeds harm. The son, if he truly is worthless, is nonetheless the apple of his father's eye. And father has a right to give to a stranger if he so desires.

The prodigal will either mend his ways or he will run through the money quickly and put it back into circulation. This situation poses no real problem.

The problem occurs when money is accumulated as the result of plundering. Here is, invariably, a loss of a sense of values. For the person who loots or who obtains the loot after the fact, can have no real appreciation of what it takes to earn. He is always inclined to suppose that money has little value since through the looting process he can always get more.

Perhaps this is the kind of philosophy, or psychology, if you will, which is behind some of the horrendous financial mismanagement which is constantly being brought to light in the Agriculture Department.

The House investigating Committee has recently come up with this finding. The Agriculture Department spent more than $27 million to ship grain to the Pacific Coast for storage, although there were ample storage facilities in

Down South

By THURMAN SENSING

Industry Asks Consideration

The statement on trade and tariff policy made at Hot Springs recently by the sixteen Southern Governors was a simple and basic request that American industries receive some consideration from the American government.

Heart of the statement was the paragraph which called on the federal government to:

"Promptly establish quotas which will provide fair and adequate protection to both domestic and foreign producers and industries in the fields of textiles and apparel, menhaden and shrimp fisheries, and other areas in which excessive imports are now damaging the domestic economy and security, and assuring that the present mandatory oil import program be held in line with the quota recommended by the President's cabinet committee as essential to protect the national security."

There could not be a more reasonable and statesmanlike view of the situation than the resolution adopted by the Southern governors. They did not ask that towering trade and tariff walls be thrown up in order to bar foreign manufacturers from this country. The resolution recognized that in other countries must trade with the United States. What the resolution did call for was a federal policy of moderation and restraint on foreign imports. Today, the foreign import situation is out of hand. As the governors asserted, "Many foreign-produced goods continue to usurp the American Market place." Unless some moderation is built into U.S. trade laws, entire industries may disappear from the United States.

This statement is not an exaggeration. After all, the U.S. textile industry, for example, is operated by working people who enjoy a high standard of living. The employees of textile mills must be expected to live on wages paid to Oriental workers. Even Japan itself, which represents such a severe threat to the U.S. textile industry, is facing grave competition from textile shops in Hong Kong where living standards are even lower than in Japan. Surely, the Japanese would not allow Hong Kong textile operations to capture their own domestic market. If that were threatened, the Japanese, for their own economic security, would call for quotas.

Every country mindful of the well-being of its people must give some degree of protection to its industries. It is all very well to favor allied lands, as the U.S. has favored Japan, if the nation doing the favor is not crippled by its own generosity. But a nation cannot let its own industry deteriorate, with resulting unemployment and loss of national income, simply out of the desire to win friends and influence people on the international scene.

Some portion of the U.S. market should be open to foreign traders, but they cannot be permitted, as the governors said, to "usurp" the entire market.

This is a real and present danger, and not in textiles alone. Ask any home-builder who goes into a dwelling these days. He will tell you that he buys nails from Belgium, light fixtures from Japan, window glass from France, and wire from Germany. It is getting to the point where the principal American contribution is the cash paid out for the finished product.

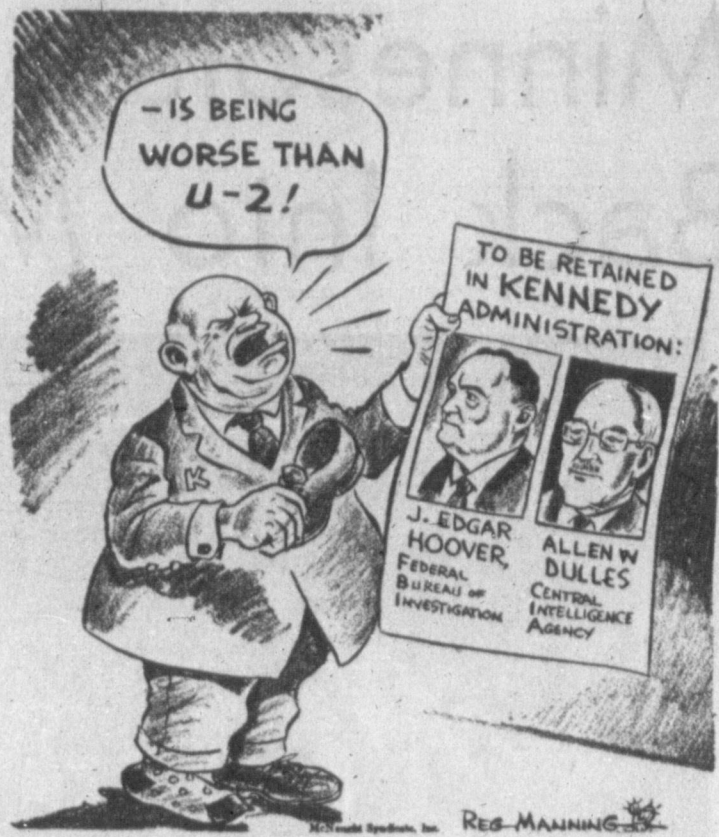

At this time, the conditions of competition between American and foreign companies engaged in many lines of business are grossly unequal. They are to the disadvantage of American firms. The Japanese, for example, can buy cotton from the U.S. government at a lower price than the American textile manufacturer can purchase it. This may seem incredible to the man in the street, but it is true.

attitude on the part of the department heads. It was almost as though they were saying: "Sure, we're been spending money like water shipping grain around the country. But think of the jobs it provides. And think of the good this does the political party, letting some of the favorites pick up some pretty healthy slices of cash. This way, when the party needs more money, we've got a guy with the chips who is under obligation."

Not that this was said. But the disinterest in the procedure, the shrugs and the general attitude of the responsible parties all too clearly told the story.

When looting becomes high policy, who cares where the chips fall?

ALLEGED VOTING FRAUDS IN ILLINOIS, INDIANA BEING PROBED BY GRAND JURY, SENATE ELECTIONS COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON — A federal grand jury is secretly investigating alleged Democratic voting frauds in Cook County, Ill., and adjoining Lake County, Ind.

In a counter move, the Senate Elections Committee, headed by Senator Theodore Green, 93-year-old Rhode Islander who is retiring this year, has quietly sent investigators into southern Illinois to check on reputed Republican balloting irregularities.

The federal grand jury was empaneled in Chicago on direct orders from Attorney General William Rogers. He based this action on complaints from Republican leaders in Illinois and Indiana.

President-elect Kennedy carried Illinois by slightly more than 6,000, while Senator Paul Douglas, D., was re-elected to a third term by upwards of 450,000, and Otto Kerner defeated Republican Governor William Stratton by over 500,000. Kennedy lost Indiana by more than 200,000, but the Democrats, in one of the surprise upsets of the election, captured the governorship.

Particularly under study by the Chicago grand jury are Republican charges that numerous Cook County voters also cast ballots in Lake County across the Indiana state line.

The GOP claim to have evidence that one of these Cook County "floaters" voted more than 20 times in Lake County.

So far the Republicans have not asked for a recount in either Cook or Lake County. For the former alone, it would cost them an estimated $500,000. Instead, they plan to seek recounts in precincts based on information uncovered by the grand jury.

The Senate Elections Committee's unannounced probe in strongly Republican southern Illinois is based on Democratic complaints of "widespread vote juggling."

Representative Edward Boland, Springfield, Mass., is credited by Kennedy insiders with the inside track as his successor in the Senate.

Representative Wayne Hays (D., Ohio), who worked with Boland in that State during the election campaign, is saying flatly the latter will get the senatorial appointment when the President-elect resigns that seat shortly. Boland, a member of the potent House Appropriations Committee, was selected by Kennedy as his personal campaign coordinator in Ohio.

Byron ("Whizzer") White, Denver attorney, Rhodes Scholar and one-time All-American football star — for Secretary of Defense One of the President-elect's closest friends, White headed the highly effective Citizens for Kennedy-Johnson Committee that conducted the nationwide registration and election day telephone drives.

Governor Orville Freeman, defeated for a fourth term although Minnesota was carried by both Senator Humphrey and Kennedy — for Secretary of one of the armed services. After Humphrey withdrew from the presidential race, Freeman declared for Kennedy and was active in lining up Midwestern support for his nomination.

Joseph Keenan, Secretary of the AFL-CIO Electrical Workers, and head of the AFL League for Political Education — for Secretary of Labor. Also being mentioned for this place are Harvard law Professor Archibald Cox, one-time Labor Department Solicitor, and Representative John Shelley, San Francisco, and early and ardent Kennedy backer.

Paul Nitze, New York investment banker, and former head of the State Department planning staff — for Undersecretary of State. An authority on Russia, Nitze was named by Kennedy to direct an advisory group on national security.

'Lions' Feast

ROME, ITALY — Christians are still being fed to the lions in Rome. True, the lions have motors, not manes, and the victims are called pedestrians, not martyrs, but the contest is just as unequal as those held in the Coliseum in Titus' time.

Some say more unequal, pointing out that Italian automobiles are a trifle bigger than the average lion, are quicker on their feet, and never retreat, as a cowardly lion sometimes does.

And there are a lot more automobiles in Rome than there ever were lions. The Coliseum cages would accommodate no more than 3,000 wild beasts, but the garages of Rome house what seem to be millions of cars, and they are almost always on the prowl.

About the only safe place to walk in Rome these days is the same place it was centuries ago—the Catacombs. Deep in the dark caverns of the Catacombs a pedestrian may relax, but not completely, for there was a story in the papers not long ago of a tiny Fiat that sneaked in the Catacombs behind a group of tourists and mauled half a dozen of them before being subdued.

Rome's automobiles roam the streets, piazzas and avenues in dense herds. During the rush hours a man could walk on the top of them from St. Peter's to the Olympic Stadium, from the Baths of Caracalla to the Pantheon, and never have to take a long step.

Ownership of the streets has never been settled in Rome. The cars claim them for their own, but are hotly disputed by the pedestrians.

There are as many people in the streets as there are on the sidewalks. And, once in a while, there are as many cars on the sidewalks as on the streets.

This makes for an eternal battle royal in the Eternal City. Rome policemen are admirable in their refusal to take sides. They stand in the safest place they can find on the sidewalks and watch the man versus automobile gladiatorial contest with unprejudiced eyes.

To heighten the brilliance of the contest, the cars often turn on one another when no pedestrian is handy. Fiat bays its fangs at Fiat, and motor scooter lowers its handlebars to lock horns with another scooter.

Rome's streets have middle lines of white paint, but they are as ignored as a buck-toothed girl on a hayride. There are white stripes to mark pedestrian crossings, too, but no sane pedestrian would cross at such a point. The stripes only serve as a bull's-eye for the cars, enabling the cars to score direct hits without having to swerve.

The bravery of the pedestrians brings tears to the eyes of a visitor. They are totally without fear, and meander in the sea of cars as carefree as a gull amidst the waves. They must bridle slowly and heal quickly.

Horns have no effect on them, and neither does the screech of brakes. I have actually seen a five-foot-two Italian stare down and covet an onrushing automobile.

For a visitor to cross a busy square is madness. Far better for him to hire a taxi, if only for a distance of 100 yards. Taxis are much more reasonably priced than funerals or hospital bills.

The Nation's Press

TEXTBOOKS OUR DETERIORATING Russell Kirk writes in National Review: "Anyone who has bothered to save school and college textbooks over the past 40 or 50 years — or who will go to the trouble of turning over such textbooks as have accumulated in the attics of an old house — can see for himself that there has been a dismaying deterioration of quality with the passing of the decades. The paper binding, illustrations, and type-face all have improved; but in style and substance, the text itself, in nearly all disciplines, has been reduced to boring and deceptive generalizations. Really first-rate textbooks for high schools now are difficult to obtain; the educationist pressure-groups have persuaded every big publisher in the field to adapt his textbooks to 'progressive' and 'permissive' standards."

Election Religious Issue Termed Myth

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The religious issue in the recent campaign was a complete myth and a pathetic commentary on the intelligence of the people and the press. There was absolutely no expressions on religion or morals by either candidate. The fact that Kennedy professes the Catholic religion means only that he stands up to be counted among Catholics. But he failed to preach his religion and on the contrary associated himself with the Hollywood tradition which is notoriously hostile to Catholic moral standards.

The most conspicuous of his Hollywood devotees is Frank Sinatra, who, like Kennedy, comes from a Catholic family with roots in a Catholic, country-of-origin. But Sinatra's own conduct has been contrary to Catholic religious and moral teaching as Kennedy's, of course, knows very well. Thus, far from presenting an issue of religion, Kennedy lent the prestige of his personality and position, if prestige he had, to influences which his religion can not tolerate.

I recall no political campaign in which morals, religious piety and the obligations which Kennedy's religion imposes found less expression. Not a word was said in favor of decency in the plots and action of movies and radio-TV or in protest against plots and action which Catholic organizations have condemned as immoral. I think a frank, honest rebuke by Kennedy would have been generally applauded.

Vice President Nixon was a conventional political nominee, neither moral nor immoral in anything he said or did. If there was a public prayer he stood up and observed decorum as we all do. But that is not really a religious expression by a candidate. He was neutral.

If Kennedy had said something unconditional in favor of chastity and morning and evening family prayers he would have done some moral good among the people. As a Catholic he has an apostolate. But it might have cost him votes among people without the intelligence to realize that this was a courageous and religious work. But Catholics are told that it is safer to follow Christ alone the hard way of duties than to walk along the easy road of the world, sacrificing conscience to false popularity. Would he have repelled the beatniks? Not necessarily. They seem lost, bewildered.

All the way, through his primaries and down to the end, whenever I caught Kennedy, I listened for the slightest note of religious inspiration and expression of his faith. I never heard a word, on the contrary, he seemed to shy away from any thought that might have been construed as a rejection of the grossness which has been identified with the phenomenon called "Hollywood." That phenomenon has been constantly hostile to all Religious moral teaching. Jack's own Church has fought it without encouraging results. And no Cardinal could have aroused the American Catholics, to say nothing of a problematical element of non-Catholics, as Kennedy could have by a few minutes taken from the Gable about Quemo and Matsu and the state of our "prestige" abroad.

He dwelt on "sacrifice," but by that he plainly meant an American version of the British "austerity" under their Socialist regime after the war. It meant, however, fewer new cars, and thus fewer work-hours and less pay for all the workers who produce and sell cars. Fewer electrical and other "appliances," too, and again fewer jobs and less pay. And yet he snarled about the idleness of a large proportion of our capacity to manufacture steel when the only imagination would be to manufacture weapons, vehicles and ships for war, which was Roosevelt's way of absorbing idle labor and creating war profits to be taxed.

Kennedy said nothing about "sacrifice" in the true sense, the religious sense which his Church teaches. Beginning, let us say, with the sacrifice of luxuries, including booze and extravagance on travel, by offering of elderly parents so that those parents need not look to "the government" for the cold and heartless ministrations of the public doctors and pill dispensaries.

The Kennedy campaign could not have been less religious.

Assuming that he does believe in his Church, he chose the easy road of the world to false popularity.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 22, the 327th day of the year with 39 more in 1960. The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Mars. The evening stars are Jupiter, Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history: In 1819, George Eliot, an English writer whose real name was Mary Ann Evans, was born. In 1852, the second French empire received public recognition when more than seven million persons voted to back the government of Emperor Napoleon III.

In 1850, Lillian Russell made her debut in vaudeville in New York City. In 1906, delegates to the International Radio Telegraphic Convention adopted the SOS . . . three dots, three dashes, three dots, as a distress signal for ships at sea. In 1909, Helen Hayes made her New York stage debut.

Thought for today: English writer Anthony Trollope said: "Those who offend us are generally punished for the offense they give; but we so frequently miss the satisfaction of knowing that we are avenged."

TO PLAY FOR QUEEN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joey Alfidi, 11-year-old conductor, composer and concert pianist from Yonkers, N.Y., flew to Europe Monday to conduct a special concert for the queen of Belgium. Joey, who conducted at Carnegie Hall when he was seven, will play his own Piano Concerto No. 2 at the special concert in Brussels Dec. 1.

JUST BRUSH IT ON — The easy way to destroy roaches is shown by this housewife. All she does to erase these pesky insects is to brush on No-Roach, the sure preventative that works every time.

No Roach Paves The Way

Garbage Cans Trap Bugs

A local housewife writes: I've invented a trap for roaches that works every time — I use Johnson's No-Roach, and it's as simple as that!

after I picked up the lid, and lo and behold, the roaches were having a regular feast of No-Roach! Soon they were all dead as door-nails, and that's the last I've seen of these pests for several months now!

This new formula is effective against all crawling insects, including the new resistant roaches, easy to use, safe to use around children and pets and stays effective for months with only one application.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

From the foreign editor's notebook:
Delayed Summit:

The guessing in London is that if there is a Big Four summit conference next spring, it will come considerably later than first thought. The reason is that the West wants no repetition of last spring's Paris fiasco and will take plenty of time to prepare, probably arguing that the first contact with Russia be at the foreign ministers' level.

Scare Propaganda:
The Communists have drawn up plans for establishment of a civil defense air raid corps in East Berlin. The step is in line with the Communist campaign to convince East Germans they are threatened by an attack from West Germany.

Gaitskell Wins:
Hugh Gaitskell, at least temporarily, has quashed his opposition among Britain's Laborite parliamentary delegation. He now can be expected to go all out to attempt to convince the national party that it must drop its newly-adopted policy favoring unilateral nuclear disarmament.

Labor's poor showing against the traditionally weak Liberals in last week's by-elections show that voters won't support a feuding party or one favoring unilateral disarmament.

Diplomatic Bloop:
The Nationalist Chinese face a major diplomatic challenge in establishing smooth and cordial relations with the administration of U.S. President-elect Kennedy. Since World War II, Chiang Kai-shek has found some of his staunchest American supporters among the Republicans. Conversely, they fear the Democratic party to be too liberal to stand firm against the Communist Chinese. The Nationalists apparently believed Richard Nixon would win the election and allowed themselves to become careless.

Red China Trade:
Tokyo observers are predicting stepped-up trade between Japan and Communist China. An increasing number of ruling Liberal-Democratic party members are lining up trips to Red China, apparently in the belief the new U.S. administration will take a more flexible view toward Red China.

Driver Gains Applause In Ticket Case

NEW YORK (UPI)—A forgetful motorist was commended in court Monday for making sure a forgetful patrolman issued him a traffic summons.

Patrolman Frank P. Jost wrote out a summons Aug. 31 to Murray Rosenthal for passing a red light, then handed Rosenthal his license and registration but forgot to give him the summons.

Rosenthal told Magistrate Manuel Gomez Monday he had driven through Central Park when he discovered he did not have the summons. He said he drove 30 minutes through the city's heavy traffic to return to the intersection to get the summons from Jost.

"Instead of getting a ticket, you ought to be awarded a medal for civic virtue," the magistrate told Rosenthal — and dismissed the case.

Footnote: Rosenthal forgot to pick up his driver's license from the court clerk and had to return to get it.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Standard & Poor's Corp. reports that the deteriorating business picture has been taken largely into account by the stock market, but a sustained upside move seems unlikely to get underway until the economy is nearer to a bottoming out phase.

The list might anticipate such a turning point by several months, the advisory service says, but is believed not ready as yet to do so.

A series of erratic fluctuations in seasoned stocks as a prelude to a traditional year end rally would seem logical, according to Hornblower & Weeks. The firm sees no reason for revising its view that on any setback below 575 in the Dow-Jones Industrial Index the market should be considered in a buying range.

The Trend Analyst reports the following likely to have substantial price increases soon, regard less of the general market: Gerber Products, Gillette, Chance Vought, Cities Service and Crowell-Collier.

Investors Research Co. says the market is giving an excellent account of itself in the face of a cautious investor psychology and should hold up quite well through November-December. The service believes the big opportunity in the market will occur early in the new year.

GOP Bid To Impound Ballots Is Refused

AUSTIN (UPI)—A Republican request to impound the Nov. 5 general election ballots for an investigation of fraud was rejected Monday by Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, who said the GOP petition may not fall within the jurisdiction of his office.

The request was made by a group headed by GOP national committeeman Albert B. Fay of Houston and M. Sims Davidson, of Dallas, general counsel for the state GOP.

Hardy Hollers, special counsel for the group, told Wilson that Republicans may also contest the canvassing of the Texas vote Friday by Secretary of State Zollie in Montgomery, Starr, Smith, Steakley. Election irregularities in Montgomery, Starr, Smith, Hum, Wichita and Tarrant counties were alleged in the brief.

The major issue raised by the Republicans was the percentage of ballots thrown out in various counties. The Republicans estimate 100,000 had their ballots disqualified for failure to strike the prohibition party from the presidential list.

The Republican group said they did not believe a statewide check would change the outcome of the presidential campaign in Texas, which was won by the Kennedy-Johnson ticket, but said it would point up a more accurate vote of the people.

Wilson and a group representing the GOP, including national committeeman Albert B. Fay of Houston, agreed there were 34 of Wichita County's 56 boxes that merit investigation.

The formal brief said "certain frauds and irregularities occurred in the conduct of the general election . . ."
